MERIDEN MAN HIT BY NAZI SOLDIERS

Struck Twice in the Face Because He Did Not Salute as Parade Passed Him in Berlin.

Berlin, Oct. 10.—(AP)—An American business man, Roland Vais, a native of Meriden, Conn., who now lives in Berlin, was struck twice in the face by storm troopers because he did not salute a Nazi procession, he reported today.

The incident occurred in Düsseldorf on Sunday while he was walking with Mrs. Vais in a street. He notified George S. Messersmith, American consul general here, who complained to police authorities and both the Reich and Prussian ministers of the interior.

WINKLER IS KILLED IN GANGLAND WAR

Chicago Racketeer Meets Death at Hands of Foes of the Underworld.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The body of Gus Winkler, 42-year-old, was found today in a morgue to Capone gang lay in a morgue today—mute evidence of the gangland rule that dead men tell no tales.

It was the theory of investigators that his enemies pumped four volleys of shotgun pellets into his body yesterday to keep him from telling what he knew about the $250,000 mail robbery in Chicago last December.

Winkler was the second person linked with the robbery to die. The other was Edgar E. Lebensberger, owner of a club on Chicago's near north-side. Lebensberger was found shot to death shortly before it was disclosed he was under indictment in connection with the robbery. Some investigators said he might have been murdered, despite a coroner's verdict of suicide.

London Discusses Rumor and What Effect It Would Have on Market.

London, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The possibility of the refunding of more than $6,000,000,000 outstanding of the Fourth Liberty Loan, as rumored in Wall street today, has been discounted by the press in the London financial district.

ARREST SUSPECTS IN MAINE HOLDUP

Ex-Convict and Two Women Caught After Grocer Is Shot by Bandit.

Houlton, Me., Oct. 10.—(AP)—An ex-convict and two women, apprehended at Houlton early today, were detained by authorities in their investigation of the shooting of James Young, grocer, in a hold-up at Blaine last night.

They were: Edmond Cote, 32, Nellie Browning, 26, of Mars Hill and Matilda Burlock, 23, formerly of Mars Hill, but who gave her present address at (52 Eastern Avenue), Lynn, Mass.

In addition to the trio, the 15-month-old son of the Burlock woman was also in the car which officers caught in the dragnet they threw about the area after Young was shot.

Young went down with two .22 caliber bullets as he lunged at a man who ordered him to turn over the money from the store's cash register. The holdup man then scooped $200 from the till and fled in an automobile which was driven by a confederate—said by witnesses to be a man. Young was reported in a serious condition at a Mars Hill hospital.

Officers who stopped the car driven by the Burlock woman at two o'clock this morning said they found a .22 caliber revolver in a suitcase. In the heel of one of her shoes the officers said, they discovered $33 in the and $40 in change in her pocketbook.

Authorities said Cote was released from the State prison at Thomaston in August for serving a two-year term for robbery and that he had previously served nine years in a penitentiary in Pennsylvania.

EXPERTS CONSIDER BRITISH WAR DEBT

Great Britain to Try to Persuade U. S. to Scale Down on Obligations.

Washington, Oct. 10.—(AP)—British war debt spokesmen armed themselves with documents and statistics today for their first effort to persuade the United States that the obligations of the London government to this country should be scaled down.

Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, of the British treasury, with his aides, had an engagement with Undersecretary Dean Acheson at the Treasury for the formal opening of negotiations. Accompanying Sir Frederick were Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, and T. K. Bewley, economic expert of the British Embassy. Mr. Acheson's assistants and economic adviser to the State Department, and Daniel Bell, commissioner of accounts and deposits, in the Treasury.

FALLING STARS EXCITE EUROPE; NOT SEEN HERE

Showers of Meteors Lasted Over Two Hours; American Astronomer Gives His Theory of the Cause.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The chances are 99 in 100 that the rain of falling stars in Europe last night is a shower of space-wandering stones which the earth never encountered before, according to Dr. Charles P. Olivier, astronomer of the University of Pennsylvania.

Whether this stream of meteoric stones is so large that the earth is still within its borders with possibility of more meteoric displays tonight, he said, is not certain but seems unlikely.

STRIKERS RETURN TO STEEL PLANTS

But Workers in Cotton and Lettuce Fields in California Quit Work.

Return to work of several thousand steel company employees in West Virginia and Ohio, strikes in the cotton and lettuce fields of California, marked the industrial scene today.

Escorted by 50 state policemen, the first day shift of Weirton, W. Va., steel company employees went back to work after a week's strike and a scattering of pickets made no attempts to interfere.

Following decision of union leaders to recall pickets, workers in the company's Steubenville, Ohio, unit began to break back to work, approximately 10,000 workers in California's lettuce and cotton growing regions were reported on strike, demanding substantial increases in pay. State Labor Commissioner Frank C. MacDonald described the situation as "dangerous" and said cotton growers had rejected all mediation offers.

Interest of the strike-plagued coal fields of western Pennsylvania was focused on a conference in Pittsburgh between Thomas M. Jones, president of the H. G. Frick Coke Company, and Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers.

Educators At Haverford Centenary

Representatives of 113 colleges and universities attended the 100th anniversary celebration of the founding of Haverford College at Haverford, Pa. Among the 46 college presidents at the ceremonies were Presidents William W. Comfort (left), of Haverford College; James Roland Angell (center) of Yale, and William Mather Lewis of Lafayette.

STUDENT SAW ONE MAN SET REICHSTAG BLAZE

German Youth Firm in His Belief That Only One Person Was in Plot — Today's First Witness.

Berlin, Oct. 10.—(AP)—A typesetter, Werner Thaler, testified today at the resumption of the Reichstag fire trial that he saw two persons enter a broken window in the Parliament building on the night of the blaze and that later he saw two lighted torches, being carried about a yard apart, move through the building.

Soon after he saw the torches, Thaler said, the building was in flames. The typesetter's testimony was diametrically opposite that of Hans Floeter, a university student, who said he saw an unidentified person, smelt a window and carry in some sort of firebrand.

Thaler testified there was no light visible when the two persons entered in the window. The trial resumed here in the main committee room of the Reichstag after sessions before the Supreme Court at Leipzig. Large forces of policemen patrolled the vicinity as the five defendants were brought to court.

N. E. Hunters are Warned To Watch for C. C. C. Camps

Boston, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Moose hunters would be hunting in New England fields and forests, where approximately 20,000 youths of the C. C. C. are at work.

LABOR ACTS TO KEEP SCHOOLS ON HIGH PLANE

Officials Fear the Reduction of Budgets May Break Down Present United States Standards.

Washington, Oct. 10.—(AP)—To prevent what it termed the threatened "passing of the public free schools" as a result of budget balancing, the American Federation of Labor convention today adopted a 12-point educational program calling for "the utmost endeavor for the protection of education from kindergarten through to university."

The program called for "truly professional standards" in the classroom, small classes taught by trained teachers, a broader curriculum, an equitable wage for all instructors with security of tenure and "decent" working conditions, the establishment of teacher unions, maintenance of educational standards, old age pensions and opportunity for teachers to help formulate educational policies.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN IN A NEW WRANGLE

Tokyo Declares Soviets Are Circulating Rumors of a Plot to Seize Railroad.

Tokyo, Oct. 10.—(AP)—New differences between Russia and Japan arose today to clutter the path to continued peace in the Far East.

Tentatively, said a Japanese foreign spokesman, Japan will content itself with an investigation of the circulation at Moscow of documents which allegedly described a Japanese plot to seize the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Then, he added, "stronger measures may be necessary" unless guarantees of "good faith" immediately are forthcoming from the U. S. S. R.

MILLIONS VANISH IN RAIL STOCKS

Senate Probers Hear of Heavy Losses by the Public Since 1929.

Washington, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Railroad stocks sold by Dillon, Read & Company to one of its investment trusts when prices were plummeting in 1929 were shown in the Senate investigating today to have depreciated millions in value since.

Tracing the devious transactions through testimony by E. B. Tracy, President of the banking firms investment trusts, the committee learned that the portfolio of the United States and International Securities Corporation last December 31 showed a $26,562,000 shrinkage of assets.

Of this, said committee counsel, Ferdinand Pecora, about 40 per cent or $11,192,000 was in stock of railroads that have since gone into receivership; stock that largely was purchased from other Dillon, Read interests. The roads were the Rock Island and the Frisco.

FLORIDA VOTING ON REPEAL TODAY

LIQUOR SEIZURE

Norwich, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Three New London men were arrested and a cargo of liquor was seized by State Police of the Groton barracks today in an automobile on the Military highway.

FLOCKING TO MCKEE

Mayor O'Brien, in an acceptance speech, declared at the outset that he had every confidence of winning the election.

"Add right here," he said, "I want to say this: The Democratic candidate for mayor in 1933 is John P. O'Brien."

"Let's deal with reality, not with hot feelings, straw man, Frankenstein or mythical figures. I ask for the support of the people of New York upon the repeal of the 18th Amendment."

Farley called upon "Florida to join the parade of states restoring toward early accomplishment of the repeal" and predicted that the state would go two to one for repeal.

He said Florida should have repeal to "show confidence" in President Roosevelt, and to hasten the return of prosperity to more persons "can take Florida's situation."

Governor Sholtz called upon Floridians to "nullify the pledge of the Democratic party and vote for the repeal of the 18th Amendment."

The voters today was halted by 47 delegates from the state at the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers.

George H. Center, Jr., chairman of the National Association of Manufacturers, said that the repeal of the 18th Amendment would be a "disaster" to the nation.

TO ACT ON HIGHWAY POSITION ON OCT. 17

Selectmen Deferred Town Engineer Appointment at Their Last Meeting.

At the next meeting of the Board of Selectmen on October 17, the vote on the appointment of Superintendent of Roads and Bridges will be taken up.

Selectman George E. Keith nominated J. Frank Bowen, the present incumbent, for the position of Superintendent of Roads and Bridges.

Civil Engineer J. Frank Bowen has held the office of Superintendent of the town's roads and bridges for the past 15 years and during the past several winters has completed a large amount of work in connection with the various projects sponsored by the town and the Manchester Emergency Employment Association.

It appears that the impulse created in the Board of Selectmen arises from the acquisition of the water and sewer companies. Both of the new companies are familiar with the sewer and water lines and especially the reservoirs and water properties in town and in Glastonbury.

Selectman Frank V. Williams at the organization meeting objected to the re-appointment of Engineer Bowen and stated that Mr. Griswold was better qualified for the office of superintendent of roads and bridges, due to the extra qualifications that he has in connection with his several years of service in constructing the sewer disposal plant and in the operation of the water company.

Selectman John L. Jenney spoke in favor of Engineer LaBerge Gear, whom, he said, had a wide experience in the actual engineering problems connected with the two projects.

TO ALLOT SALT PORK TO MANCHESTER NEEDY

Total of 3,900 Pounds to Be Distributed - Applications Now Being Received.

A total of 3,900 pounds of salt pork will be allotted to the town of Manchester by the government for distribution among the charity cases in town.

Charity Superintendent George H. Waddell said this morning that the salt pork will be distributed only to those on the charity lists, as an addition to the menu.

The allotments per family will be based on the number of persons in each household, three pounds to each family under five in number and six pounds to families over five in number.

STUDENT SAW ONE MAN SET REICHSTAG BLAZE

and drooping shoulders. He seemed uninterested in the proceedings. The fiery Georgi Dimitroff, one of three Bulgarian defendants and former Communist leader, enlivened the courtroom at the opening today when, in response to Judge Williams' question, he declared:

"I conduct my own defense. Buenger at the outset stated that from now on the witness will have the floor." "Let them remember they are independent and responsible only to God and conscience."

The witness then added, "I have been a member of any party." Judge Buenger objected to Dimitroff's next question, "To what student organization do you belong?"

The justice said it was immaterial. Karl Buwert, a police sergeant, testified that he was on outdoor duty before the Reichstag building on the evening of the fire and that Floeter excitedly gave the alarm of the blaze. The sergeant said he fired his revolver at a figure which carried a firebrand, but missed.

ROSA PONSSELLE TO SING IN HARTFORD SUNDAY

Famous Soprano to Be Presented in Annual Kellogg Concert Course.

Rosa Ponselle, the famous prima donna soprano, will sing at Bushnell Memorial Hall, Hartford, next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the opening concert of Robert Kellogg's eleventh annual course.

Seven world famous artists are to be heard in the Kellogg series of six Sunday afternoon recitals. They are Rosa Ponselle, dramatic soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company; Tito Schipa, lyric tenor of the Metropolitan; Fritz Kreisler, violinist; Lily Pons, coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan; Sergei Rachmaninoff, pianist; Richard Bonelli, baritone of the Metropolitan and Efram Zimbalist, violinist.

Back from new triumphs in Europe, Miss Ponselle was the "artist night" attraction of the 74th music festival in Worcester last Friday night, and she received enthusiastic applause from the 3500 people who packed the new auditorium there.

The celebrated prima donna is now starting on a coast-to-coast tour. One of the high spots of the international music festival at Florence, Italy, last spring, was the appearance of Miss Ponselle, singing in the land of her ancestors for the first time, the famous diva of the Metropolitan Opera Company scored a tremendous success in the leading role of the opera "La Vestale."

She is expected to sing this winter at the Metropolitan again this winter for the first time in several years. In Italy, she was entertained several times by the crown prince and crown princess, the first professional artist to receive such honor. On one of these occasions she gave a concert in their home and according to cable dispatches, took the prince to task for smoking a cigarette during her performance.

The noted diva has sung on the Kellogg course every season, and her annual visits here have come to be regarded in the nature of home coming celebrations. Born and brought up in Meriden, she began her career by singing in a nickerodean and in a church choir there. Her father and brother still live in that city.

Over 2,000 delegates at French convention. Hartford, Oct. 10.—(AP)—More than 2,000 gathered in the Fort Guard armory this morning for the opening business session of the thirteenth National convention of L'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique and among those who were present to greet the delegates from all parts of the country were Governor Wilbur L. MRS. C. A. CARNEY HURT IN FALL AT HER HOME

Mrs. Catherine A. Carney of 78 Walnut street, widely known widow of John M. Carney, suffered a fall at her home late yesterday afternoon and has a fractured right shoulder in consequence. Coming out of the back door of the house in company with her daughter, Mrs. Jacob Corvillius, Mrs. Carney took a backward step or two as she closed the door, misplaced her foot at the top of the three steps of the porch and fell to the ground.

Mrs. Corvillius helped her back into the house and summoned Dr. Edwin C. Higgins and Dr. LeVerne Holmes, who set the broken shoulder. Mrs. Carney withstood the shock well but will be confined to her bed for a few days. Her arm and shoulder are in a cast.

AGAINST LARGER NAVY

Torrington, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The Litchfield County Ministers' Union today forwarded to President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Senators and Representatives of Connecticut resolutions asking that the United States delegates at Geneva be urged to co-operate with the other nations in securing the utmost possible reduction in naval armaments and expressing regret that the United States government feels it necessary to carry on a naval building program to the limit of present treaty rights. The resolutions were adopted at a meeting yesterday, when the Union elected the Rev. Thomas Street of Winsted, president for the coming year.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Ernest Fairbanks, 20, was dying today while his father, O. K. Fairbanks, a Keene grocer sat by his bedside. The elder Fairbanks has four sons, Ernest, the youngest. During their years of schooling, one by one the boys asked their father's permission to play football. Each was refused. Ernest pleaded he wanted to try for the Keene high school team. The father yielded. Ernest was sent into the game against Concord high here Saturday and in making a tackle a vertebrae in his neck was broken. Doctors say he cannot live.

Rev. Stella B. Crooks to Conduct Revivals at Nazarene Church.

Beginning with a grand Sunday school rally next Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock, the Church of the Nazarene will conduct a one-week revival service from October 16-19 inclusive. The evangelistic services will be in charge of Rev. Stella B. Crooks of Chicago, one of the greatest of the women evangelists in the United States.

Accompanying the Chicago speaker will be Prof. J. Bryon Crooke and a number of other speakers.

CHILDREN UNDERNOURISHED

Hartford, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Demand that communities take steps to alleviate the condition of undernourished, poorly housed and sick children, the percentage of which has increased as a result of unemployment, and that reform of the character of motion pictures be brought about by public refusal to patronize pictures which are regarded as detrimental to children and which tend toward making people "hard and cruel" was voiced today at the opening of the National convention of the American Humane Association by Sydney H. Coleman of New York, president of the association.

About two hundred representatives of humane societies in the United States and abroad are in attendance at the convention, which will continue through Thursday. On the program are papers and discussions on every phase of child welfare work, and animal welfare.

10 P. C. SALARY INCREASE

New York, Oct. 10.—(AP)—A ten per cent salary increase was granted 800 employees of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company today in recognition of improved company business.

In announcing the increase, Malcolm Muir, president, said, advertising billings of the company in September showed a 25 per cent increase over August, and the October trend indicates continued improvement.

INCREASE IN PHONES SHOWS BUSINESS TREND

Past Three Months Indicates Conditions in Manchester Are Getting Better.

A noticeable trend upward in local business conditions is indicated in the fact that during the past three months there has been a pronounced increase in the number of telephones installed in Manchester homes. "Our business during the past three months indicates that there is a pronounced upward trend in conditions here," Mr. Hallett said.

The telephone company recently distributed to subscribers a small folder upon which was printed the toll call rates to the leading population centers of the United States, Canada and, as a matter of fact, the entire world. A portion of the folder was set aside to be used as a memorandum for subscribers to jot down outside phone numbers for ready reference in case they put through a toll call. This booklet is proving very popular with telephone users, especially business men who frequently have occasion to make business calls.

TO EXTEND SEWER SYSTEM

Stratford, Oct. 10.—(AP)—New Town Council organizing for the year last night adopted for a first reading an ordinance for extension of the sewer system which will cost about $300,000. It is proposed to guarantee the loan to be obtained for the work.

RUNLESS HOME RUNS

We don't know much about baseball any more, since we date back to that Noachish period when Connie Mack was the receiving end of Hartford's "Bome Battery," Gilmore and Mack, but there's one thing about the game that we'd like to get clear: Why is it that, when a batter knocks a fair ball over the fence and out of the umpire's sight, thereby ringing up for himself one incontestable home run, practice, custom, traditions, superstitions—or maybe some ancient interpretations of the rules—requires that the batter shall proceed to run around the bases, touching each bag as meticulously as though there were a ball in play and no arbitrary rule existed making his wallop a "home"?

We have taken this up with the sports editor, the paper's attorney and the office cat, but we remain in the dark.

If a hit over the fence is a home run, why doesn't that settle it? Why doesn't the batter thereupon retire to the bench and enjoy a well earned rest? What earthly sense is there in compelling him to chase his shadow—or be chased by it—over 360 feet of base line when by no possibility could he be put out during the journey?

Suppose he didn't ever get all the way round. Suppose he tripped over second base and broke a leg. Suppose he was struck by lightning or somebody shot him. Wouldn't the homer still count in the score?

Then why shouldn't he go sit down, instead of hobnobbing all the silly way around those bases?

The fact that out of the millions of over-the-fence homers that have been hit no such problem has arisen as a player claiming the run without the merry-go-round doesn't prove that one might not, some time or other.

What would the umpire do then, poor thing?

This is all by way of inquiry. We really should like to know.

the story of Green's men trying to take by assault a too-strong British position—and thereby helping to win a war.

Four young men of the neighborhood "had some trouble" with a Negro in a drinking place. It isn't difficult to imagine what kind of trouble. South Carolina Negroes don't go about stinging seeking trouble with quartets of white men. At all events the Negro drew a pistol. It being a wicked thing in that country for a Negro to defend himself against the aggressions of whites, the colored boy was arrested. When the sheriff had taken his gun away and locked him up, and there was no longer any risk in it, the four returned to the affair. They went to the jail and demanded that the Negro be turned over to them. The "chief of police" told them to wait till dark and then come back and they would find the jail unlocked. They did this, took the Negro out, drove with him down the road and beat him to death.

Perhaps Ninety-Six would have done as well if it had kept out of the news for another hundred and fifty years.

APPLES WHOLESOME FRUIT

Apples are often mentioned in popular sayings, as for example, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away." Of an especially choice object we say, "It is the apple of his eye," and a clean housewife keeps things in "apple-pie order." It is only natural that the apple should become known in familiar proverbs. It is widely used almost by nearly everyone. In North America is the greatest apple country in the world; over one hundred million barrels are produced each year and the apple crop is a very valuable one.

This fruit is an everyday friend and when eaten, has earned the reputation of being a gentle regulator. Those who wish to overcome a mild constipation find that eating two or three apples will bring good results. Apples are classed as subacid fruits, contain 10 to 15 per cent sugar and are especially rich in the mineral elements needed to build healthy blood.

In today's article I am going to discuss some of the different varieties. Some kinds are best for baking, some best for eating, some best for applesauce and some are good for both eating and cooking. By knowing which ones to buy for the purpose for which you are going to use them, you will obtain the most satisfactory results.

The Baldwin is possibly the most popular apple of them all, especially with those who grow apples for their own use. Some of the best for both eating and cooking and for both purposes, you will be well satisfied. It has a bright red peel, crisp, juicy flesh of a yellow tint and the acid content is low.

The Northern Spy is well-liked by many who insist it is the finest winter apple. Handsomely colored, the skin is a striped red and may carry rich red patches. The apples are large and easy to pare as the skin is thin and tender. Good for both cooking and eating raw.

The Winesap is a well-known favorite having been used for a long time. It is relished as an eating apple with a crisp, tart flavor. A deep red in color, with a glossy shine to the skin, its flesh is hard and yellow. The Yellow Newton had the honor of being sent to Queen Victoria from Virginia. This apple was selected for close during the time the country was being settled and is now recommended for cooking and eating. The flesh is smooth and fine and the skin is a yellow, tinted with bluish pink.

The Roman Beauty is a juicy apple, almost white inside and red and yellow on the outside. Many chefs place it first for cooking. The flavor is splendid after baking. The Delicious is a mellow eating apple which is one of the sweetest and best liked, but does not cook well. It is large in size, a deep rich red and yellow in color, the odor is tempting, the taste sweet. Those who do not care for the tart or tangy sour pies will find it one of the other good varieties are the White Pearmain, Stayman's Winesap, Jonathan, Grimes Golden, Spitzenburg, Yellow Bellflower as well as many others.

Over a thousand varieties of apples are known and from among them you should be able to find several which appeal to you.

I would suggest that you use the apple as a meal either by itself or in combination with other foods, especially the non-starchy vegetables. I do not consider it a good plan to add the apple to the ordinary meal unless it has first been baked or made into applesauce.

In preparing applesauce, cook the apples very slowly without sugar in a heavy aluminum pan. The flavor is most delicious and the sauce may be used as a dessert for dinner with the meat, or for breakfast.

Baked apples should be cooked slowly and go sugar added.

In giving facts to children it will be found that they improve while on a fast using nothing but ripe apples. These may be taken as three times a day, using all desired, or an apple or two may be eaten every two hours. Using apples in this way, the child does not miss his meals and feels satisfied.

In giving apples to your family, I would advise you to combine them as I have suggested, when you will find them highly beneficial. If improperly combined with other foods, both the value of the apple is likely to be lost and the digestion of the other foods may be hindered.

Wattson's Children Toy With Ideas of Industrial Recovery?
By JULIA BLANSHARD
New York, Oct. 10.—The NRA label cannot be made part of a plaything. But the Blue Eagle drive to start industry going again has had a tremendous effect on the realistic industrial trend in toys children ask for this fall, according to store reports.

Increased sales of toys such as miniature phones, cash registers, filling stations, building sets, cement mixers, lead foundries, train systems, all point to an industrial recovery in playthings.

"Jim," the 11-year-old son of Mildred Gilmore and Robert Wolforth (both authors), is just finishing his first novel, the romance of a graceful steam-engine who married a dashing yellow taxi-cab. The steam-engine mother, trying to bring up her little yellow taxi children to be Spartans, admonishes them not to cry. "Wipe off your wind-shields," she says to them, peremptorily. "If you don't, I'll spank you on your rumble-seats!"

Whether or not there ever will be enough industrial recovery for such things to become general, it nevertheless should be reported that a here filled floor, tables with clothes that always look as if someone else had used them, and the massive chair of the inventor, all give a lusty, big-man atmosphere to the place. The size of the steak you order carries this out. Or even if you take a breakfast sandwich, you can hardly get your mouth around the huge slices of bread, the steak and Bermuda onion. But America's most famous men have gone there and still do.

For the Ladies—Maybe!

most interesting new book is a book by a woman who has been a lady for many years and a native of New Haven. He was a prominent drygoods merchant. His widow and a daughter survive.

Open cases are always enclosed with sheets when they carry Mohammedan women in Arabia, TOWN REPORTS.

Long years ago, in the era before there were many newspapers, there grew up in Connecticut the practice of presenting in pamphlet form the annual report of the selectmen of each town, for the information and the delectation of the voters in yearly town meeting assembled—more properly, to be assembled; because the voters wanted their reports early enough so that they might digest them and well survey the stewardship of the town fathers, then go to town meeting prepared to speak their minds out of sufficient knowledge.

The state law has always required that town selectmen "shall keep a true accounting of all expenditures and exhibit it, truly verified by their oath, at the annual town meeting." Perhaps in the earlier days the selectman complied with this command of the law by having one fair copy of their report made by the town clerk or the schoolmaster, swearing to it and posting it on the wall of the town hall—a mode which apparently would be in full compliance with the law. But as the towns grew and most of them came to have some hundreds of voters, the custom of providing printed copies of the annual report became established. And it has persisted to this day, even in towns which have newspapers and in which the pamphlet town report is as redundant as a shirt on a pig's back.

This year Manchester's town report cost the voters between $900 and $1,000—and the last of the issue was distributed on Saturday, five days after the town meeting was held. Almost all of the contents, all the sub-reports of major significance, had already been printed in the columns of this newspaper well in advance of the town meeting—a service, by the way, for which the Herald received nothing.

The Herald has a circulation of more than 5,000 copies and is read in almost every family in Manchester. The issue of the town report pamphlets is not more than that. Hardly anybody read it.

We do not contend that the town authorities pay more for the printing and distribution of the annual Town Report than, in reason, should be paid if such a service is maintained at all. What we do hold is that the whole system is archaic and wasteful.

It is our belief that the proper place for the printing of the Town Report of Manchester is in the columns of this newspaper as being the only newspaper published in this town, as being an immensely better medium of publicity than the cumbersome and immensely expensive Town Report. And we make no bones about asserting the belief that the Herald because it can give in this connection immensely better service and give it in proper season and never belatedly, and because the printing of such matter is distinctly in the line of publishing legal notices, the service should be paid for.

This newspaper for years has been providing the people of this community with their information on town accounts without receiving the slightest compensation, while the town has been throwing away an annual $900 or so on a pamphlet report which always comes stately along too late to be of any service. It does not make sense.

This newspaper is prepared to print every line of the matter that goes into the Manchester Town Report, well in advance of the annual town meeting each year and would consider itself well compensated if it were paid for that service merely a substantial percentage of the cost

REGRETTABLE.

A very sincere feeling of regret is aroused by the resignation from the chairmanship of the Connecticut Torontarian Commission of Dr. George F. C. Williams of Hartford. Dr. Williams possesses qualities of personality, scholarship and affection for his state which have peculiarly fitted him for the position he has filled with such marked success and with so much gratification to his associates. He has been an exacting job and one calling for the expenditure of vigor as well as industry. It is regrettable that its demands have proven so great that Dr. Williams does not feel warranted, in view of some delicacy of health, to continue in the work.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington
BY RODNEY DUTCHEE
The Evening Herald Washington Correspondent.

Washington. — Washington has become a statisticians' paradise. Both the statistic and its manager have been given enormously enhanced dignity and prestige under the New Deal.

This administration is concerned vitally with the figures that show progress or lack of progress in its recovery. NRA economists working on a code, must know approximately how many persons a given maximum of working hours should re-employ; then they must learn how many have been re-employed with the code in operation.

Prices must be measured against purchasing power and the only way the AAA can tell how its farm program is going is by gathering gobs of figures to show the ratio between the farmer's income and living costs. And so on.

Without such statistics, the whole recovery program might go to pot in a fog of ignorance and confusion. That's why the new Central Statistical Board, which includes the ace statisticians-economists of the federal agencies, is one of the most important groups in town.

Even statisticians can kid themselves. Some of them match the one about "if all the economists were laid and to end they'd never reach a conclusion" with the assertion that "if all the statisticians were laid and to end it wouldn't make any difference."

Despite Bol Bloom's great bi-centennial effort last year, less attention—thanks to the depression—is being paid to George Washington.

Washington's old home and tomb at Mount Vernon from May to August were visited by only 165,000 persons.

There were 280,000 in the same period of 1931 and 239,000 in the bi-centennial year of 1932.

Stories that Governor Henry Morgenthau, Jr. of the Farm Credit Administration had been designated to carry out trade negotiations with the Soviet Union involving $50,000,000 or more were somewhat exaggerated.

So many government agencies were being bothered constantly by persons representing or claiming to represent Russia itself or an interest in Russian trade that it was decided to send them all to Morgenthau, since negotiations would involve farm credits. So the State Department, Agriculture Department, R. F. C., and other agencies now are doing that.

Expanded trade and Russian recognition are in the air, but there's nothing definite.

Asked about the political situation in New York, where Tammany is threatened with loss of control, President Roosevelt replied: "There's nothing I can say, but there's a lot I'd like to say. I just can't take part in local politics."

Now the politicians are hoping for a sign from Postmaster General E. A. Tamm, Democratic national chairman.

HILLQUIT

In the death of Morris Hillquit American Socialism has lost a figure of major significance. There are a good many Marxian Reds and a good many emotional Pinks but not in this country, any overwhelming number of Socialists who resemble as closely as did Hillquit the kind of Socialists represented by Ramsay MacDonald and the more convincing leaders of the British Labor Party.

The Marxians call such Socialists as Hillquit "opportunists" and affect to hold them in contempt. The Pinks do not like them because of their hard fisted practicality. The conservative group them with revolutionary Communists and anarchists, indiscriminately, after the good old conservative fashion. So Socialists of the Hillquit brand haven't, as a rule, any great amount of emotional following. They are not quite Utopian enough for the pinkish variety, not nearly violent enough for the scarlet group and a very long way from being submissive enough for the Tories.

Morris Hillquit did command the respect of a great many Americans, particularly New Yorkers, who are far removed from being Socialists in any degree at all—or even liberals. But he did not excite admiration as, for instance, Norman Thomas does. That may have been because he lacked the personal charm of Mr. Thomas. He certainly was an able exponent of the cause they both advocated than Thomas is, and not on the whole, a particle more intolerant.

As an intellectual and skilled theoretician and thinker, Hillquit is by many credited with having been the spearhead of practical Socialism in America.

NINETY-SIX.

It is more than a century and a half since the tiny village of Ninety-Six, South Carolina, got itself conspicuously into the news. During the Revolutionary War it was a strategic point and was seized once or twice by Marion—or was it Sumner?—and it was the scene of one of those singular repulses of General Greene whereby he succeeded in winning the war in the South. Such little familiarity as the country has had with the odd name of the little back-country settlement, then, has been as with a very inconspicuous shrine. There has always been, to students of the nation's early struggles, something heroic about the sound of "Ninety-Six," as there is about a hundred other names of otherwise little known spots where American colonists shed their blood in the struggle for freedom.

Now there comes, for the first time in memory, a news story from Ninety-Six. It isn't as heroic as

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
(Ulcerated Varicose Veins)
Question: Mrs. Edith L. writes: "I have had ulcerated varicose veins for the last twenty-five years and have had three operations for removing the veins. There are veins sticking out and I have often healed the wounds, which are always on the ankle. Can you tell me why the wounds, which are always on the ankle always reopen? Also I have a terrible pressure over the lower back. I am fifty-one years of age."
Answer: Varicose veins are caused by a sluggish circulation in the legs which is frequently produced from protracted abdominal organs which interfere with the normal flow of blood as it returns from the legs to the heart. Such protrusions may be causing the pain in your back. If the veins continue to ulcerate, it can only be because of a morbid condition of your bloodstream. A clean, curative diet will bring about a permanent cure.

Question: T. U. G. inquires: "Will you please tell me something about Addison's Disease? I am getting brown spots on my left side, mostly on the chest, shoulder, arm and neck, some on my face. I have never asked any doctor about it, but a friend told me I had Addison's Disease."
Answer: First go to a doctor and have a correct diagnosis made. There are several other skin disorders which resemble Addison's Disease. Then write the again giving your name and address on a stamped envelope, and the rest of

WISE, SMITH'S SALE
OUTSTANDING EVENT

Each Year Anniversary
Brings Exceptional Merchandise Values.

Wise Smith's greatest merchandising event of the year is their anniversary sale and this one marks their 36th. This number of years is only a short period of time compared with the span of time that other businesses have been established, but in these years the business has prospered under able guidance and foresight until it now stands pre-eminent in Hartford and the vast trading territory, served by that city. Several times it has outgrown its physical make-up and each time that the store has been remodeled and enlarged it has emerged as an even finer one until it now stands at its present size with nine great floors and basement.

Shopping has been made very easy at Wise Smith's with all the improvements and facilities that have been added in recent years. Their restaurant on the ninth floor has enjoyed an enviable reputation for years for its food and service. Anniversary time finds the store just packed with new merchandise for Fall and Winter and the annual breaking and officials of the store are confident that this year's event will in turn exceed all others.

ANDOVER

There was quite a little excitement Thursday afternoon when a large truck owned by the State Highway Department and towing a sanding machine while turning the curve at Lewis Phillips garage, overbalanced and the sanding machine tipped over in the road. Fortunately no one was on the machine and no one was hurt. It took two hours to get the machine out of the road. The machine had some parts bent but no serious damage was done.

Rev. Wallace I. Woodin, who was ill with grip last week, was better and preached Sunday morning. Mrs. Woodin is also recovering from a bad grip cold.

Leslie Standaish is improving and comes to his store three or four hours a day, they return to Willimantic where he is staying in a better home with Mrs. A. C. Brown at the Ridges.

Among those who attended the 200th anniversary of the Ellington church Saturday and Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Lester, Mrs. Hyde, Mrs. Ward Talbot, Mrs. Rachel Stanley and the Misses Vera and Marion Stanley.

Mrs. Mary Holt is suffering from an attack of neuralgia in her face. Dr. William E. Cramm of Mansfield Center was called to attend her.

At the town meeting at the Hall Saturday it was found that the town did not need the Federal money as there was enough money coming to the town to build the road up Long Hill to meet the state road. It was voted to let the road started as soon as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McPherson of Hartford spent Sunday with the latter's mother, Mrs. Clarice Yeomans. Other guests were Stanley Fisher of Danvers, Mass., a student at Trinity, and Russell Gould of Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Lundgren of Chicago spent three days last week with Mrs. Lundgren's aunt, Mrs. Clarice Yeomans.

WAPPING

The Federated workers met at the home of Mrs. Albert E. Stiles at Pleasant Valley, last Friday afternoon, with thirty-two members present and they received two new members at this meeting. The subject for the afternoon was "Edgar Guest". Several responded by reading his poems, and Mrs. David Carter gave a brief talk on his life.

After the business meeting, Mrs. John A. Collins, in behalf of the Federated Workers presented Mrs. Frank E. House with a beautiful bouquet, as it was the thirteenth anniversary of her marriage. It was voted to give a card party on Wednesday evening, October 11 at the home of Mrs. Augusta Burgess.

A few sand or wood violets were picked on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Nevers last Saturday October 7, and they also have an apple tree in bloom.

The "Old North School Reunion" was held last Saturday afternoon at the Wapping School Hall with about seventy-five present. The meeting was called to order by President George A. Collins and all joined in singing "America". Reports of the Entertainment Committee, Mrs. Madeline Collins, Oscar D. Strong, and Mrs. Alice Johnson. A short entertainment was enjoyed by all. A play was presented by members of Manchester Grange, which was enjoyed by all.

Rev. and Mrs. David Carter attended the funeral of Rev. Dudley Snowman, last Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Eva C. Stoughton was the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Collins last Saturday.

Mrs. Barbara was the guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Collins over the week-end. The Federated Workers will hold a set-back party at the home of Mrs. Augusta Burgess, Wednesday evening, October 11, at eight o'clock. Six prizes will be awarded and also door prizes for both ladies and gents.

Edward Sullivan was the guest at the home of his father, Morris D. Sullivan last Saturday.

Miss Dorthea Nevers was the maitre d' where he is staying in a better home with Mrs. A. C. Brown at the Ridges.

Mrs. Anne C. Gilbert and her sisters, also a number of friends from this place, were present at the christening of Mrs. Gilbert's grandson, Horace Wells Sellers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Sellers of New London and Hebron, which took place at St. James' Chapel, New London, at 4 p. m., Sunday, the Rev. P. M. Kerridge, rector of the church, officiating. The baby wore a christening robe which has been handed down from his ancestors.

At the town meeting at the Hall Saturday it was found that the town did not need the Federal money as there was enough money coming to the town to build the road up Long Hill to meet the state road. It was voted to let the road started as soon as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McPherson of Hartford spent Sunday with the latter's mother, Mrs. Clarice Yeomans.

COLBERT TORRID STAR
IN HER LATEST FILM

Displays Talents Not Hitherto Revealed in "The Torch Singer" Coming to State.

Claudette Colbert has been given a real chance to display her talents. The opportunity came to her in "Torch Singer," which begins a two day engagement at the State theater tomorrow, in which she plays a character with two definite personalities—a tender, loving mother—and a hard-hearted, vindictive man who's left her.

The picture was adapted from the Liberty Magazine story, "Milk," by Grace Perkins. Featured in the cast are Ricardo Cortez, David Manners, Lyda Roberti and Baby LeRoy. Ralph Rinzler, composer of "Moanin' Low," this country's first torch song, has written several songs which Miss Colbert sings in the picture.

"Torch Singer" tells of the travails of Sally Trent, whose man leaves her just as she is about to give birth to his child. Impoverished, she is forced to give the baby up for adoption when the father's family refuses help, and her character undergoes a definite change.

Assuming the name Mimi Benton, Sally becomes successful in the night club scene with her singing songs.

With fame in her grasp, she finds that it means nothing to her compared with the great longing for her child. When she goes back to the hospital to learn the names of its adopted parents, she is refused the information.

Then come the thrilling events leading up to the emotional climax which gives Colbert a real opportunity to show what she can really do with a good part.

QUEER TWISTS
In Day's News

Chicago—Apparently Charles C. Bitter is the kind of man who takes pride in his work.

He testified before Federal Judge James H. Wilkinson that he had been making quarters that put the real ones to shame.

"They," he said, "were good quarters. They had more silver in them than the ones that mint makes, and the design was just as pretty."

Eight years in prison was the coin's way of making answer.

Milwaukee—A few more burglars like the last one would help the Family Welfare Association to do some additional welfare work.

He left the association's headquarters so hurriedly during the night he forgot to take with him his sheepskin coat and a pair of overalls. Neither did he steal anything.

Avia, Okla.—If Judas had created a trust fund of one dollar and interest of four per cent, had been compounded semi-annually and allowed to accumulate, the estate today would be worth $10,000,000,000,000,000,000.

Farrell, Pa.—Peter Kudelkol is beginning to believe one can't put one's trust in anything or anybody. First, a stranger told him not to trust his $500 to the Postal Savings Bank. Then the government was close to ban'uptcy and offered to put the $500 in an safe deposit box.

Kudelkol asked the police to help him find the stranger, the $500 and the safe deposit box.

Fishburg—A 72-year-old man died Saturday while digging a ditch. Hours later he was identified at the morgue as Francisco Negoni. A search of the weather bureau shack in which he lived as a resident disclosed papers and books indicating he left an estate of $100,000.

Buffalo—There will be no more birds twittering Mayor Frank M. Schwab's campaign this fall—not if the Mayor knows it. Until recently, whenever the mayor made a public appearance the amplifier on his balding head blared forth "Tweet, Tweet, Tweet, like the birdies sing." To announce the mayor's arrival.

"We'll just open the cage and let the birdies out," the mayor said, ordering a new record.

SOUTH CHURCH MEN
INAUGURATE SEASON

GETS SIXTY DAYS
New Haven, Oct. 10.—(AP)—William McDonald, 45, former orderly at the New Haven hospital, was sentenced to sixty days in jail after he pleaded guilty today to theft of $222.50, which his wife had hidden in a hope chest.

Mrs. McDonald's complaint alleged that after she had been married only four months, she returned home from work one night to find the chest in which she had placed the money for safekeeping, ransacked and her husband missing.

McDonald, who surrendered last night said he had been in New York since the robbery two years ago. He was arraigned before Judge Raymond J. Devlin in City Court.

There is a lack, he contended, of ability to get the right slant on persons and circumstances because some folks live with half drawn curtains to permit the light of full grown and intelligent judgment to play on existing realities. Man sees in life largely what he wants to see. His perspective is determined by the inner attitude of his mind and heart.

FIRST NATIONAL STORES HAVE SAFETY CAMPAIGN

THE CLOSE OF THE FIRST YEAR OF AN intensive safety program for all 2800 stores and markets and the four plants of First National Stores shows a reduction in accidents of 13.2 per cent compared with the previous year, according to E. R. Sherburne, the Company's safety director.

Motor vehicle accidents were 18.39 per cent fewer than the preceding year. The four divisions of the Company, Bridgeport, Hartford, Providence and Somerville are competing for a silver trophy which will be kept by the division with the best safety record for three successive years. The Providence division finished first in the past year's contest.

Following the address, there was a serpentine introduction stunt engineered by the president in which every man present shook hands and exchanged their full names in greeting. A community sing preceded a march to the Parish Hall where hot dogs and coffee were served under the supervision of head "Chef de-Kitchen" Jim Hutchinson. Harry Kitching, president of the Men's Club of Center church was a guest of the President, Fred Rogers.

Airmail activities at Detroit have been taken away from other fields and concentrated at the city airport.

Chicago—The promoter of Eleanor Benninger's mirror-drafted nudity in Venus on the Half Shell" exhibited at Century of Progress, was described as an "aesthetic inspiration" for World Fair throngs in a bill filed in Superior Court.

The actor seems to restrain police from forcing Eleanor to drape her figure.

MONSIGNOR INJURED
Bellingham, Wash., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Monsignor M. W. McKinnon, of Vancouver, B. C., was critically injured Monday in an automobile collision on the Pacific highway at Allen.

Monsignor McKinnon suffered a broken back, fractured collarbone and possible fractured skull, physicians reported. With four priests he was on his way to Seattle to attend installation ceremonies for the Most Rev. Gerald M. Shaughnessy, newly consecrated bishop of Seattle. The other priests escaped injury.

"We Rent All Three... But Most People Want Plymouth"

AN INTERVIEW WITH ALBERT M. ZUCH, MGR., U-DRIVE-IT CO., AKRON, OHIO

"When twice as many patrons ask for PLYMOUTH as for any other car... there must be a reason!"

ALBERT ZUCH's branch of the Ohio U-Drive-It Company today is operating nine Plymouths to four each of the other two low-priced leaders.

"I can see why people are sold on hydraulic brakes," Mr. Zuch says. "We have fewer accidents with cars that have them."

"Then, too, no other car we have can beat Plymouth on low maintenance. We hardly ever have to touch the engines."

"And that's something, when you remember our cars have different drivers nearly every day!"

Salesmen want a restful ride, and Plymouth's Floating Power engine mountings eliminate vibration. Women like the style, room and easy-handling quality.

Everyone wants a car that's solid and dependable. Plymouth's Rigid-X double-drop frame is many times stronger than the ordinary type, and its body is steel reinforced with steel. Greater safety and longer car life.

Yes, there are reasons why twice as many people ask Mr. Zuch for Plymouth. You can see them yourself, in fifteen minutes behind the wheel.

Why not accept your dealer's invitation to see why Plymouth is the country's fastest growing car. Sold by Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler dealers.

STANDARD PLYMOUTH price from $445 to $515. Delivery in 10 days. $50. All prices C. O. D. factory, and subject to credit investigation. Government time payments.

ABOUT TOWN

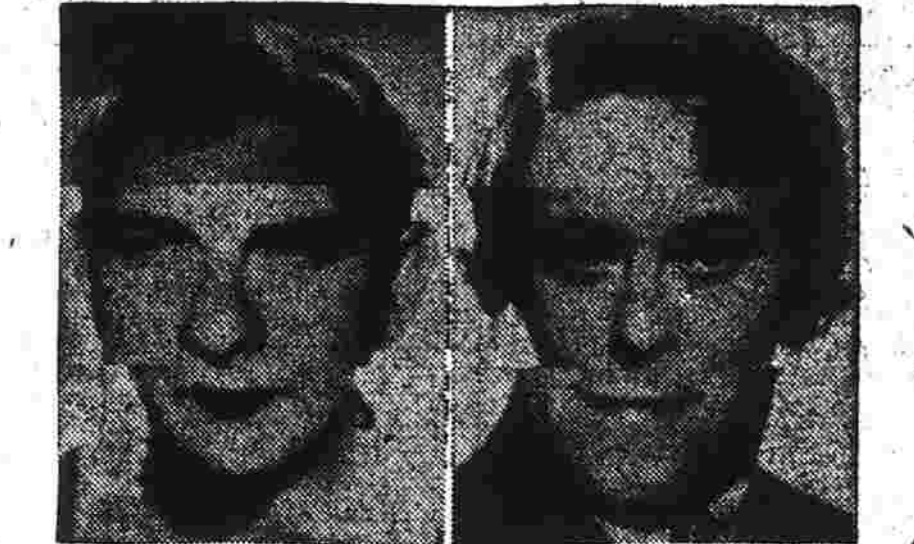

Manchester Grange members interested in bowling are requested to meet tonight at 7 o'clock at Murphy's alleys. The weekly whist party at St. James' church will be held tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock. Suitable recognition will be given the winners and refreshments will be served.

Workmen are busily engaged fitting out the interior of the grill room on the ground floor of the Hotel Sheridan, but although it is announced that the grill will open tomorrow, there still is so much work to be done that doubt exists if the alterations will be completed before Saturday at the earliest. A bar is being erected over which beer, sandwiches and other food-stuffs, making up a quick lunch, will be served. There also will be tables for the use of patrons who desire more elaborate meals and prefer to drink their beer in a leisurely manner.

The regular meeting of Troop 3, Boy Scouts, of the Center Congregational church, scheduled for tonight, has been cancelled, due to the convention of the King's Daughters, now being held at the church.

The Ladies Sewing Circle of the Highland Park Community Club will hold a setback party at the clubhouse at 8:15 o'clock, tonight. This is the fourth sitting of a series of six, and three cash prizes will be awarded. Refreshments will be served by the hostesses, Mrs. Annie Stinson and Mrs. Frances Tedford.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

With the change from daylight to standard time, we note more and more people are interesting themselves in the season's new radio programs. This season promises many new voices and instrumentalists, features and what-not. Leading the dixie whirl for the next 30 weeks will be the Sunday afternoon concert of the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, heard over WJAC every Sunday afternoon from 3 until 5. The conductors for 1933-34 will be Arturo Toscanini, Bruno Walter and Hans Lange.

Terry Signs a 5-Year Contract To Pilot Giants

M. H. S. MUST BEAT MERIDEN TO RETAIN HIGH STANDING

LOCALS ARE TIED WITH BRISTOL FOR LEAGUE LEADERSHIP

Red and White May Gain Undisputed Possession of First Place This Week; Eleven Vastly Improved.

After an inauspicious start, Manchester High's 1933 football edition displayed a sudden reversal of form in its last two contests, which, if continued, may carry the Red and White to the top of the Central Connecticut Interscholastic League before the week is out. Two league battles are slated this week, the locals facing Meriden High at Mt. Nebel field Friday afternoon, while Bristol High meets West Hartford, May Lead League.

Both games will probably have a bearing on the final standing of the League. If Manchester can turn back the Silver City outfit, the locals will still be deadlocked for first place with Bristol, providing, of course, that the Bell City eleven defeats West Hartford. It will be the first league tilt for the latter team. A defeat for Bristol and a victory for Manchester will give the locals undisputed possession of first place.

Show Much Improvement Beaten 12-0 in the season opener against Hartford High, Manchester seemed destined for a disastrous season but extensive practice sessions strengthened the team considerably and in the next encounter Middletown High was trounced by a score of 18-0. The Red and White showed its greatest improvement against Bristol last Saturday, playing football in a manner that caused fans to believe that Coach Tom Kelley has developed another championship eleven. It's too early yet to figure that way as Manchester still has three league games ahead, with Meriden, East Hartford and West Hartford. Nevertheless, the local team is certainly one of the best in the League and should prove the outstanding contender for the title.

Meriden's Record Meriden High was held to a 6-6 tie in its first game and bowed to East Hartford, 18-12. Meriden has a fine passing combination in Pasinski and Gormley, the duo almost tying the score. East Hartford with an aerial attack that netted much yardage. The team lineup will probably be as follows: Pasciera, lb.; Majowski, lt.; White, rg; Caulkins, c; O'Brien, rg; Brooks, rt; Coleman, re; Pasinski, lb.; Johnson, rb; Schee, fb.

The East Hartford-Middletown battle has been postponed from Friday until Monday.

RULES ON TICKETS

To Corporations, Clubs, Associations and Persons engaged in the conduct of boxing exhibitions and wrestling bouts in this state: I am enclosing herewith an amendment to rule four of the professional rules of the State of Connecticut, which has to do with the sale of tickets. This amendment has been approved by the Governor, and is effective immediately. May I draw your attention to the change which requires that you forward to this office sample copies of the tickets to be used by your organization? Tickets not bearing the approval of the State Athletic Commissioner cannot be used in this state after October 15th. An extension to November 1st is granted in which to submit your tickets for approval. In the meantime, however, no tickets other than those on which the price, number and year of the state appear may be used. Your co-operation in this matter will be appreciated. Joseph H. Lawlor, Athletic Commissioner, October 6, 1933.

FORM CAGE TEAMS

The Middletown Scholastic Speedboys basketball team (formerly the 1932-33 M. H. S. five) will this season play under the name of Jack's Lunch Speedboys. "Jack" Fitzgerald, proprietor of Jack's Lunch in Middletown, is sponsoring the team. He is also putting a fast girls' basketball team on the floor which will be known as Jack's Lunch Speedgirls. Both squads will be completely outfitted and insured by Jack's Lunch. "Morris" Higgins, manager of Jack's Lunch, says he expects to outfit the two teams with the most appealing uniforms ever seen on a basketball floor. "Bing" Miller, Woodrow Wilson High school coach, has been secured to direct the drills of the two teams. He has called the first practice for next Wednesday night at the local State Armory. The Speedboys squad is made up of such court briliants as Charlie Miller, Mike Malone, Jolly McCarthy, Larry Cicciola, Johnnie O'Rourke, Pat Amenta, Jigger Dowling, Sal Catalano, and Nifty Neville. The Speedgirls will carry such colorful court performers as "Elsie" Kline, Skeets Cayeside, Ange Chalk, Bea White, Emma Anderson, Marion Wells, and Kay Baldwin. Joseph Carta is the manager and Frank J. Neville is assistant manager. They will book games for both the girls' and boys' team. Manager Carta can be reached at 64 College street, or phone Neville at 1108 between 5 and 6 o'clock. Manager Carta expects to open the 1933-34 season on Thanksgiving night with two first class teams. Carta wishes to hear from such teams as the Fordham "Flashers," Rhymers, Sport Centers, St. Mary's, etc. He is also interested in teams from Hartford, New London, East Hartford, Galesburg, Knights of Lithuania, All-Burseries, Meriden North Ends, Bristol Boys' Club, West Haven Athletic Club, Bridgeport Trojans, Bristol High Alumni Athletic Club's All Stars, and all other outfits that class themselves in this group. Girls' teams in the class of the Stamford Holy Names, Aetna Life, Aetna Fire, Lee Hatters, Meriden Athletic, etc., are requested to get in touch with Carta or Neville for booking. Last year the girls defeated Adrian Brennan's crack Aetna Life team and also toppled their erstwhile girls' quintets in the state.

Yours in sports, JOSEPH CARTA.

THE TOWN SERIES

Sports Dept., Dear Editor: I wish to know why the Manchester Green baseball team considers itself a contender for the town championship? What have they done to earn the right to play? The only offensive threat it is in this newspaper and their favorite saying "Champions of the Manchester American League." That so-called American League consisted of nothing but second-rate teams. The Green was formally pushed out of the series when the Green's first team beat their four games out of five played, all by large scores. The Pirates even beat them. Joe Hublard ought to be manager of the Columbus baseball team and we might find the American Association champs playing the New York Giants for the world championship. Still the Green prints such statements as these: "Bluefields-West Sides-Alpines series will be settled to the extent that one of the trio will be qualified to meet the Green." I like the word "qualified" there. Another phrase—"Green has been waiting the determination of a proper opponent for the town title." Why, fans who didn't know they had a team by reading their write-ups. In last night's paper it read, "The West Sides by defeating the Alpines yesterday morning earned the right to meet the Green." Maybe the depression is falling off, but the money bag is so good that "beggars can be choosers." I don't blame the West Sides in the least for playing the Green. It's a good chance to pick up some easy money. Perhaps if the Green wins the second game, the money bag will weigh a little more. Hoping that Santa Claus brings nice new balls and bats for the deciding game of this series, I remain,

VINES BOOKED TO PLAY PRO TENNIS WITH BILL TILDEN

Deposed Net King Signs One-Year Contract After Most Disastrous Season of His Brief Career.

New York, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Elliott Vines finally has taken the plunge into professional tennis. Hard on the heels of the most disastrous season of his comparatively brief career, the 22-year-old Pasadena youngster has signed a one year contract with Big Bill Tilden on terms Tilden declines to disclose, but which possibly will net Vines about $25,000 for 1934. The tall Californian, amateur champion of the United States in 1931 and 1932, and Wimbledon title holder in 1932, will make his professional debut in a match with Tilden in Madison Square Garden, Jan. 10. Tilden exhibited a written statement from Vines, dated at Pasadena several days ago: "Goeh, I'm glad I turned pro," the statement read, "Why did I slip last season? I wasn't slipping. I was dead, killed by too much tennis and too many officials. All I needed was a little rest and to be let alone to play tennis my way."

PAWNEES TEAM WINS

The Pawnees football team led by Johnny McCarthy easily trounced the Burnside Athletics Sunday afternoon at Mt. Nebel, the score being 16 to 6. The Pawnees played a grand brand of ball and the fans stand that it was a good game and they were pleased. The Burnside team fought every minute of the game but the Pawnees were too strong for them. The Pawnees made 11 first downs and the Athletics only made five. The officials were Siamondo, referee; the umpire, Mike Sverteno and the head linesman was Joe Seratano.

Cornell and Wolverines Bitter Foes Since 1889

New York, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Cornell expected from Pitt and Notre Dame, picked before the season opened as two front rank contenders for national honors. The Panthers have been far from impressive in beating Washington and Jefferson, and West Virginia and Notre Dame were even less so in the Rambler's shocking scoreless tie with Kansas. Pitt, however, may open up against Navy and Notre Dame should show improvement in its second game against Indiana. Dixie Elevens Travel The South is making certain of topping all other sections in the number of inter-sectional games in contracts for this week no fewer than seven outfits will sail north or west of the Mason and Dixon line. Vanderbilt's Tussle with Ohio State leads the way with Mississippi at Marquette, Kentucky at Cincinnati, Washington and Lee at Yale, Center at Boston College, Virginia at Columbia and Clemson at George Washington. Tennessee Gets Ex-Army Mentor While Alabama Learns Notre Dame Style of Play from Rockne Protege; Is Reason for Grid Rise. he's at Duke, and Alabama has Frank Thomas, another pupil of Knute Rockne. Kentucky got Harry Gamage from Illinois, L. S. U. only recently brought Ed Jones and Bert Ingwersen from the Army and Iowa, respectively. Notre Dame furnished Chet Wynne to Auburn. And so on down the line. It wasn't long before the high-powered principles of football taught by these men brought results, and with them came bigger squads and bigger crowds and bigger gates. With the increased prestige, many scholastic prep school stars came south, and southern boys who had been going north and east for expert instruction stayed at home. Hence, better records and reputations. About all needed for a successful football season is a coach who knows his stuff and a squad of sufficient size and ability to scatter through a tough schedule. Southern schools have both now and therein lies the reasons they can play the topnotchers in other sections with assurance of a nip-and-tuck battle. It is my sincere belief that you can pick the five outstanding teams in the south and the five outstanding teams in any other section and the lads below the Mason-Dixon boundary will take the majority of decisions.

SUCCESSFUL DEBUT

New York, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Don McCormick, tall, game heavyweight from south Africa, has cleared the first obstacle in what may turn out to be a successful, if not specially lucrative American tour. While a rare four thousand fans looked on, McCormick boxed his way to a ten-round decision over Patsey Perroni, young Cleveland battler, in Madison Square Garden last night. L. S. U. and the South African displayed an educated left hand and a strong disinclination to assume a horizontal attitude when he was tagged full on the chin.

The Sub-Alpine baseball team closed another good season Sunday afternoon at the Charter Oak field. The record of the team this year is 23 victories, 12 defeats and one tie. The Alpines had a hard time getting along this year due to the lack of a permanent manager and coach. Next year, however, a coach will be sought and a good manager will also be found. The Alpines have the material but lack the punch in the pinch and it is that punch that wins ball games. The following men are requested to report at the Sub-Alpine hall on Eldridge street Thursday night at 8:15. REPORTS SAY SCRAPPY MANAGER TO RECEIVE $40,000 CHECK YEARLY Claims "Huddle System" Main Thing That Developed Confidence and Cooperation Among His Players During World Series.

By ALAN J. GOULD New York, Oct. 10.—(AP)—For a young man going on 38 who has the reputation of fighting for what he wants—and getting it—Memphis Bill Terry has done pretty well for himself. On top of leading the New York Giants to a pennant and world championship with one of the greatest marches in baseball history, Terry marched out of club headquarters today with a new five-year contract as player-manager. He will get $40,000 a year, it is reported. Back of Terry's remarkable success of 1933 is the story of some new in the ancient game of baseball—the "huddle system." "Huddle System" Worked "You can call it the huddle system that's all right with me. The main thing is that it developed confidence and a feeling of co-operation among the players. The crowning example of how this system worked for me, was when our infield pulled that double play in the fifth of the fourth game of the world series in that tough eleventh inning. Bolton, a pinch-hitter was coming up, with one out, the bases filled with Hubbell pitching. So we went into a huddle. We talked about a double play, but didn't know how fast Bolton was. Then word came that Charley Dreesen on the bench, that he knew Bolton was a slow runner. That settled it. Ryan and Critz went back, Hubbell beat Bolton hit into the ground and the double play was a cinch. Double Play Settled It "You ask me for the three outstanding turning points of the series? That double play was one of them. The others were my stab of Goetz, my drive, chinking off a threat by the Senators in the eighth inning of the first game, and Gus Mancuso's successful execution of the squeeze play in the sixth inning early, we staged for six runs in the second game. Boy, I don't mind telling you I got a real thrill out of them." Terry does not contemplate any major changes in the Giants for 1934.

DOUBLE PLAY SETTLED IT

"We must have a winning club in New York," he says. "That's simply good business. This team is mostly young and has just found itself. There are only a few old fellows like Critz and Ryan, but we are not through yet, by a long shot. "Verges will be back in shape in the spring. Players like Joe Moore, George Davis, Gus Mancuso, Moody Ryan, Hal Schumacher and Roy Parmelee, are just developing. They will be better next year. And as for Hubbell, he will remain the greatest pitcher in baseball for some years to come. There's only one like him."

EAST SIDE TIED

The East Side's football team traveled to Southington and played the Southington Blues to a tie game, 6-6. The Blues were fast and the East Sides outplayed their opponents all through the game. Bob LaCoss passed a ladder and intercepted a pass on his own 45-yard line and ran 65 yards for a touchdown. The East Sides played like they had always had a football in their hands. The starting lineup for the East Sides: Giglio, rg; McCormick, rt; J. Johnson, rg; Mann, c; P. Sullivan, lt; H. Schumacher, lb; Bedard, qb; Walsh, rb; Coon, rb; McCann, rb; Sullivan, lb; Lovett for Sullivan, Sullivan for Bedard, Haney for Sullivan, Sullivan for LaCoss.

Practices to be held tonight at 8 o'clock. Season ticket prices have been slashed about 50 per cent for the variety of North Carolina football this year.

TRIES TO KILL SELF

Bridgeport, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Charles Tomkins, 50, one-time city clerk of Waterbury, according to police, was taken to St. Vincent's hospital today after he had slashed his throat several times with a safety razor blade in an attempt to kill himself.

DIES AT AGE OF 98

Torrington, Oct. 10.—(AP)—E. J. Hopkins, 98, one of the oldest residents of Litchfield county, died suddenly at his home here last night. He was for many years a deacon of the Center Congregational church here. He formerly conducted a general store in Plainville, and later was manager of a co-operative store here. He had lived in Torrington over sixty years. His wife died in January, 1913, three years after they had celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Forgotten Sweetheart

by Max Raymond

BOB WESTON, son of a millionaire, is in love with JOAN WARING, pretty Memphis girl. Bob has come to Memphis in connection with his father's new textile plant. He first saw Joan on the train when she was returning home from College because of her family's financial difficulties.

The Westons have little money. Joan's father, a member of an aristocratic family, killed himself years before. MRS. WARING longed for her daughters to have the social position denied her. Joan's younger sister, FAT, loves pleasure and pretty clothes. She is infatuated with JERRY FORRESTER, son of her employer.

BARBARA COURTNEY, a society girl whom Bob knew in New York, is scheming to win him. Barbara invites Bob to a home party. At first he refuses to go because of plans which include Joan. Then Barbara obtains an invitation for Joan also, hoping Bob will be disillusioned when he discovers Joan does not belong to their crowd.

The first afternoon of the home party Joan stays home because she has no riding suit. She meets JIM WARFIELD and learns that Bob's friends believe he is in love with Barbara.

CHAPTER XI

Joan looked at the stranger and smiled. "Hello," she answered. "I don't remember seeing you this morning," the young man went on. "Was I blotto?"

Joan decided this was a variation of "Where have you been all my life?" and was intended to be flattering.

"I came this afternoon," she said. "Oh—with Barbara's Bob?" Joan hesitated. "Yes."

"I heard he brought an extra along. But who would ever imagine anyone as beautiful as you being an extra? You should be the leading lady. By the way, I'm Jim Warfield."

"I'm Joan Waring." "I'm your friend. Will you please explain why I find a nice girl like you roaming around like a little lost ghost? You really give me quite a start!"

Joan answered simply: "I didn't bring riding clothes, but you go with the others." "These merry centers are a pain in the neck to me. I'm incurably lazy, as they'll tell you. Just bored by all these pretense of having a good time."

"Then why did you come?" He smiled. "The penetration of these young things! Well, if you must know, my child, I like the wiles these fine old mansions afford. And the opportunity to lounge around in comfortable surroundings. But I was very bored until you came. From now on I'm at your service. What's the program?"

"The dark, friendly eyes met hers. There was a humorous gleam in them. "Great Scott, she comes on house parties to see gardens! It simply isn't done except in moonlight." Joan. But to show you what a good sport I am, lead the way."

He moved on beside her and presently they were in the garden, sitting on a stone bench while Joan amused him with her knowledge of the flowers and shrubs.

"So those little green things showing through are narcissus! Imagine your knowings that. And that bush yonder is a peony. Oh, my!"

"He was absurd but entertaining. And he really liked her. Joan felt better already, comforted by his friendliness and interest. Suddenly the lawn resounded with gay voices as the riders straggled in by twos and fours.

Carl and a stenoer, blond girl Joan had not seen before met her and Jim as they came out of the garden. "Joan, I've been looking all over for you! Was this a conspiracy of Jim's?" Not waiting for a reply Carl went on. "Joan, this is Emd French."

"You all weren't riding?" queried Emd.

"You couldn't drag Jim on a horse," said Carl. "And Joan was tired. Emd on Joan's horse as well dressed. He probably kept waiting for Barbara and Bob. I forgot to tell them we were going to Kay Troost's barbecue."

"Why?" asked Emd curiously. "Carl's laugh was a little embarrassed as he glanced at Joan. "There's no telling when those two will come in. We haven't seen a shadow of them since they left. Isn't it ridiculous the way people will pair off?"

"Jim beginning to be quite in sympathy with it," Jim grinned. "Nice, sensible pastime."

Joan was glad they were moving toward the house, glad all this meaningless chatter made it unnecessary for her to talk just then.

A few minutes later she was mechanically beginning preparations for a bath, tucking up her hair, securing the cloudy mass with hair pins. The dark, troubled eyes in the mirror met hers and she smiled faintly. Fat would be calling her a prize sap to show her feelings so plainly. Anyone could see she was unhappy.

When she returned to the bedroom she found Barbara sitting cross-legged on the bed, still in riding clothes. "Oh, we had a huge time! Too bad you couldn't have been with us," Barbara said. "How do you feel now?"

"Much better," Joan told her. "That's good," Barbara replied, her eyes still on Joan. After a moment she opened the closet door and began studying the colorful contents. Joan took a dark blue skirt and short, youthful jacket from a hanger. It was becoming out of fashion but tonight it looked home-made—as it was. Barbara had selected a light green woolen affair, trimmed with large metal buttons. She laid beside it a smart, dark green leather coat.

"It will be cool enough for a wrap," Barbara said carelessly. "I thought of her dark traveling coat with a sense of misgiving. Well, what was the difference? Her whole costume was wrong any way."

"All aboard, everybody!" Carol said, entering the room. "Oh, you're dressed, Joan. Would you mind running down and rounding up the bunch? I must help this helpless infant dress. If I don't we won't reach Kay's until time for breakfast."

Joan saw Carol glance sideways, taking in her appearance in one brief, appraising look. Then she lifted Barbara's frock. "Barbie!" she exclaimed, "what a love!"

"Well, I won't let a dress ruin the evening for me," Joan thought. She started down the stairs and was half way down when a door closed from the other side of the upstairs hall.

A voice called, "Wait a moment, Joan!"

It was Jim. "Joan," he said, "I hear the gang's going to a farmhouse. Will you drive out with me?"

Joan hesitated. They were down stairs now. In the music room a radio was turned on and several couples were dancing. Others were playing bridge. She heard Barbara laugh and looked upward. Barbara was coming down the steps with Bob, her arm linked through his.

"One of those two has a perfect sense of timing," Jim said. Joan said abruptly, "I'll be glad to go with you." She thought his eyes met hers with a flash of understanding.

"Hurry!" he said. "You really mean you'll drive out with me?" "Why of course." Joan tried to appear enthusiastic. "I'd love to."

SENSE and NONSENSE

From here to there I madly dash.
For what or whom I've quite forgotten.

It's just tear the live-long day;
Sometimes I wish that I were rotten
In a nice deep quiet place
Where I could quit this hectic pace;
But here I am and there I go Sometimes I think I've reached the brink
With so-so time to catch a breath,
But then—thank God, not time to think.

"There is one thing more aw-ward even than a man learning to dance," says a local man, "and that is a woman learning to swim."

Man—Is that new watch dog of yours any good?
Neighbor—If I see you with a suspicious noise at night, you've only got to wake him and he barks.

"The game of love," commented
Miss Mamie Hardtosqueeze of Brushville, "is never called on account of darkness."

When you get into a discussion with a friend and you find the discussion has developed into an argument, it is better to lose the argument than to lose the friend.

Jasper—They say whiskey shortens a man's life.
Casper—Yes, but he sees twice as much in the same length of time.

After the question, "Shall We Do
It?" comes the question, "How Can
We Finance It?" which is the reason they so often don't.

Judge—I understand, madam, that you want a divorce, but on what grounds?
Woman—Any, your honor, as long as he ain't allowed on them.

The two great agencies used to redistribute great fortunes are taxation and offspring.

Young Man—Now, darling, do tell me how you first came to know of your love for me?
His Sweetie—Oh, suddenly I noticed that I became angry when everybody called you an idiot.

"Congress has over-taxed about everything in this country," says a local politician, "but nothing quite so much as the public's patience."

The young man had asked the big business man for his daughter's hand.
Big Business Man—You work, I believe, for Blank and Company.
What are your prospects of promotion?

Young Man The very best in the whole office, sir. My job is the lowest one we've got.

Man—I think that when a man marries he should give up his club.
Neighbor—Great Scott! That's just the time he needs it most.

IF SOMEONE ELSE DOES
YOUR THINKING FOR YOU, YOU ARE PROBABLY DOING THEIR WORK FOR THEM.

LAW OF IMPROVEMENT: Your
"best" today isn't good enough for tomorrow.

Mother Smathers of Brushville said she quit her job just as soon as she married Pap Smathers and neither of them have worked since.

THERE ARE TWO KINDS OF PEOPLE. ONE SLEEPS WITH OPEN WINDOWS AND THE OTHER WITH OPEN FACES.

Mrs. Nerdore—My daughter has arranged a little piece on the piano.
Old Grump—Good! It's about time we had a little peace.

If a girl's skirt did not creep up when she is seated that would be news.

Well, when an irresistible force meets an immovable body, we're betting on N.R.A.

Mother (at college)—What does the college man do with his weekend?
The Dean—Well, madam, sometimes I think he merely hangs his hat on it.

ABOUT TOWN

The members of the Bluefields baseball team will hold a meeting at the home of Coach Jim Foley, 451 Center street, Friday at 6:30 p. m. A full attendance is requested.

Members of the local Milk Exchange held a regular meeting last night in the Hillside Inn at Bolton. Only routine matters were discussed.

Doctor and Mrs. Thomas H. Weiden have returned to their home on Porter street after spending the month of September at their cottage at Crescent Beach.

The merchants' bowling league will begin playing tonight at the Charter Oak alleys. Six teams have signed up.

Manchester Grange will hold its regular meeting tomorrow evening in Odd Fellows hall. The degree work will be omitted but a program will be presented during the lecturer's hour. It is hoped as many of the Grange members as possible will be present.

Mrs. O. G. Anderson, Mrs. A. L. Reed and Mrs. Elsa Koehler are the committee in charge of the harvest supper which the Coventry Fragment society will serve tomorrow evening from 6 to 8 o'clock at the Chapel hall in North Coventry. There will be a wide choice of fall vegetables, cooked in various ways, meats and several varieties of pies. A generous supper at a moderate price is the rule with the members of the Fragment society.

Mt. St. Joseph's Alumni association is sponsoring a week-end retreat for Catholic women at the academy of Hamilton Heights, Hartford, Friday evening, October 27 to Sunday evening, October 29. The fee is $5 and only a limited number can be accommodated. It is urged that those desiring to attend make reservations as soon as possible by addressing Mt. St. Joseph's Alumni association, Hamilton Heights, Hartford, or by conferring with Miss Marguerite Bengs, 1200 Main street.

The Cecilia club will hold its regular Tuesday evening rehearsal tonight at the South Methodist church.

Mrs. Walter Weeder of Adams street entered the Hartford hospital yesterday and expects to undergo an eye operation tomorrow.

The Charter Oak girls will bowl the Wooster girls of Hartford at the Charter Oak alleys tonight. The local girls defeated the visitors at Hartford last week and they are out for revenge.

The Ladies Aid society of the North Methodist church will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Nellie Marks of 97 Main street. Mrs. Wittmann and Mrs. McRay will assist.

The Manchester Mothers' club will hold its regular meeting Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Center Congregational church. The guest speaker will be Town Treasurer George H. Waddell, and his subject, "Welfare Work in Our Town." Mrs. Frederick C. Allen is chairman of the hostesses.

Sunset Rehoboth drill team gave a successful bridge in Odd Fellows hall last night. First Prizes were won by Mrs. Parker and Rudolph Swanson, second by Mrs. F. Nelson and J. Andre and third by Miss Ella Engleman and C. O. Fran. At the close of the games cake and coffee was served.
