36th STATE VOTES REPEAL

BRIDGEPORT ELECTS A SOCIALIST MAYOR

Jasper McLevy Wins Three-Cornered Fight; Republicans Win in Hartford, Democrats in New Haven.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Jasper McLevy, Socialist son of a Scotch dominie, sat in the saddle of Bridgeport politics today—the first Socialist mayor in the history of Connecticut.

In his tenth bid for the post McLevy ended 28 years as the "perennial candidate" by becoming the new mayor, out-distancing a Democrat and a Republican in a three-cornered fight.

Unofficial returns gave McLevy 22,445 votes to 16,375 for James L. Dunn, the Democrat who sought to succeed his fellow party man and retiring mayor, E. T. Buckingham; and 7,321 for the Republican, John G. Schwarz.

His Statement
A conservative Socialist, with iron grey hair and a seamed face, McLevy said after his election:

"This is the happiest hour of my life. I have never sought political positions for the office itself, and now that victory is ours, I feel repaid for the many years I have battled in a minority party for the principles of good government and a higher social system."

Starting when there was scarcely a handful of Socialists in Bridgeport, McLevy worked through his years as a roofer and a union official until he was named mayor in the largest vote ever cast in the city—a vote that also carried Socialists into most of the other municipal offices.

G. O. P. Wins in Hartford
The Democratic administration of another Connecticut city was overturned as Hartford Republicans took advantage of a split in the city's Democracy to elect J. Watson Beach to the mayoralty.

City and Town Clerk John A. Gleason who ran on the Republican ticket after he was denied renomination by his Democratic colleagues, won by an even greater margin over John J. McKone, the Democratic nominee.

In New Haven, the only other Connecticut community to hold an election yesterday, Mayor John W. Murphy was returned to office by an unofficial plurality of 7,814 votes over the Republican candidate, Mayor Edward W. White.

While McLevy became the first Socialist mayor ever elected by a Connecticut city, his will not be the first Socialist administration.

Back in 1912, the borough of Naugatuck elected a Socialist, A. Barton Cross, as warden together with the rest of the party's ticket. The Socialists repeated their success in 1913.

TAMMANY TO ASK SMITH TO RESIGN

Former Leader Kept Out of Campaign—His Friend Hoey May Be Ousted.

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The New York Herald-Tribune said today that a movement had been started in the Tammany organization to ask Al Smith to resign his membership.

The former presidential nominee remained aloof from the New York mayoral campaign, in which Tammany got a first-class trouncing, the Herald-Tribune said a resolution asking him to get out was in preparation and that similar action was being taken against James J. Hoey, close friend of Smith, who ran against Tammany for borough president of Manhattan on the Recovery Party ticket headed by Joseph V. McKee.

Tammany's beating was bad tasting medicine for the members of the wiseguy, who have been accustomed to almost unbroken victories since the post-revolutionary war days. The Hall's first major defeat was in 1871, when William "Boss" Tweed, leader of the politico-social Tammany organization, was thrown into prison following an investigation of municipal graft.

Tweed Ring Smashed
The Tweed Ring was completely smashed. But Tammany always exhibited astounding recuperative powers. Within three years, John Kelly, Tweed's successor, had reorganized it and led it into control again.

Tammany's next boss was Richard Croker, who was elected in 1890.

ELECTION INTEREST AT HIGH PITCH HERE

The Herald Deluged With Phone Calls on Results; Hartford Scrap Leads.

Evidence of the high pitch of local interest in the mayoralty elections in Hartford, Bridgeport, New Haven, New York and even Boston, and in the repeal vote in Ohio, Pennsylvania, the Carolinas, Utah and Kentucky, was manifest in the deluge of telephone calls that poured through the Herald switchboard between 6:30 and 10 o'clock last night.

Interest in Hartford
Three telephones were kept ringing continuously for nearly four hours as interested townfolk, having nothing more at stake than curiosity over the outcome of the voting, inquired the results in the different cities. Considerable interest was shown, of course, in the Hartford contest and the remarks made after it was known that the Beach-Gleason ticket had won by a substantial majority, indicated the victory was a popular one.

Comments on the results, in some cases, really were amusing. One woman, after being told that Beach and Gleason had been elected, that LaGuardia in New York had scored a smashing triumph over the Tammany hosts, that the Carolinas on the face of early returns were voting dry while Ohio and Pennsylvania were rolling up huge wet majorities, inquired how the repeal vote was coming along in Hartford and New York. After receiving the answer, the reporter who had started the phone advised the lady that Connecticut long ago had gone

TO ARRANGE HELP FOR FOUR MILLION

President Announces New Plan to Take Families Off Relief Rolls.

Washington, Nov. 8.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today announced an expansion of the Federal relief program aimed at taking four million men off public relief rolls.

The plan involves the creation of a civil works administration and the use of $400,000,000 of public works funds.

Through these additional funds the administration is intended to increase the part time work of men upon relief rolls so that they may be put on a self-sustaining basis.

It is intended that two million men shall be put on a self-sustaining basis by November 15 and that an additional two million men may be put on this basis by December 15.

Harry Hopkins, the Federal relief administrator, will direct the civil works administration.

The President also laid down the principle of a thirty-hour week for the workers he intends to employ.

By One Stroke
Mr. Roosevelt believes that by this one stroke at least two-thirds of the families in the country now receiving relief will be removed at least in part from relief rolls.

Approximately three million families are now being cared for by public relief agencies, under White House estimates.

Litvinoff In America

Rotund, genial Maxim Litvinoff, Foreign Minister of Soviet Russia, here is shown in an excellent character close-up as he arrived in New York harbor enroute to Washington for a history-making conversation with President Roosevelt on resumption of diplomatic relations between the two nations.

PRESIDENT, LITVINOFF ARRANGE FOR MEETING

Special Envoy for Soviet Union to Confer With Roosevelt Later in Day on Russian Recognition.

Washington, Nov. 8.—(AP)—President Roosevelt hopes to begin talking over the business of mending Russo-American relations late today with M. M. Litvinoff, the special envoy of the Soviet government.

Mr. Roosevelt made known his intentions just as Secretary Hull received Litvinoff in his office at the State Department to begin the preliminary conversations over bridging a break of 16 years in relations between the two countries.

It was indicated at the White House that Mr. Roosevelt would leave to his secretary of state discussions on the multitude of detailed problems between the countries.

After a process of elimination of these more or less mechanical details, Mr. Roosevelt will deal personally with the Russian emissary on questions that are expected to relate to recognition of the Soviet government.

Parley Later in Day
The President intends to have a chat along these lines with Litvinoff after the formal White House luncheon today. He will see him again tomorrow night at the White House.

Attending this morning's conversation between Hull and Litvinoff was the group designated by Mr. Roosevelt to advise him in this government's approach to the question of diplomatic recognition. It included Under-Secretary Phillips, Assistant Secretary R. Walton Moore, William Bullitt, special assistant to Hull, Henry Morgenthau, Jr., governor of the Farm Credit Administration and Green H. Hackworth, State Department's solicitor.

Receipts for the fiscal year since July 1, $1,038,335,897.03; expenditures $1,192,197,151.98, including $461,961,126.78 for emergency relief. Excess of expenditures $801,861,194.95.

12 ARE KILLED, 33 ARE HURT IN CUBAN BATTLES

Revolt Put Down After Six and a Half Hours of Fighting—Attack on Palace Unsuccessful.

Havana, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Twelve persons were known to have been killed today in a revolt against the Grau San Martin regime which apparently was put down after six and one-half hours of fighting which included an unsuccessful attack on the palace.

Thirty-three persons were wounded, the majority of them soldiers, as the spectacular anti-Grau movement was beaten back by the army and then degenerated into spasmodic fusillades which threw up-town Havana into a panic.

Eight dead and six wounded soldiers were in the military hospital, while two dead soldiers and other wounded were in Emergency hospital and other institutions in the uptown and suburban districts.

Hundreds of Shots
Crowds which poured, gesticulating and shouting into the streets when the apparent Grau victory became known—knowing that a coup during the unsuccessful and bloodless attack against the palace during which hundreds of shots were fired.

Although admitting defeat, the ABC secret society retained possession of the city.

IVES FOUND DEAD AS SEARCH BEGINS

87 Year Old Farmer-Philosopher Disappeared Three Days Ago from His Home.

Brantford, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Charles Romerly Ives, 87 year old farmer-philosopher, and last surviving member of the Yale law school class of 1872, was found dead today, three days after his disappearance from his Pine Orchard farm.

The body was found behind a barn a mile and a half from his home. Death apparently was caused by exhaustion and exposure.

Find His Rubbers
A search for Ives in marshland when his body was found by Robert Linsley, 17. The decision to augment the searching party of Boy Scouts, high school students, private citizens and police with planes was reached last night after a pair of rubbers and a slipper identified as belonging to Ives were found at the edge of a marsh located between his farm and an old driving park. The body was found a short distance south of the park.

Found Newspaper
Ives founded the old Meriden Herald and at one time practiced law in the office of the late U. S. Senator Orville H. Platt. He abandoned his law practice in favor of farming and became an authority on poultry breeding.

Immediately after his disappearance, his family felt no alarm over his safety, believing that he had merely left home for a short visit to relatives.

Search was organized Monday, however, when inquiries disclosed he had not been seen in either of those cities.

How the Mayors Fared
In Yesterday's Election

Speaking generally, the ins and outs of yesterday's mayoral elections.

Frank Cousins, 31 year old son of United States Senator James Cousins, became Detroit's mayor-elect, defeating Philip Brantmeier after a non-partisan campaign.

UTAH JOINS IN PARADE; MAKES DECISION FINAL

TIGER CLAWED OWN CANDIDATE, FUSIONISTS SAY

New York Victors Accuse Tammany of Knifing O'Brien for County Jobs—Curry Faces Eclipse.

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Tammany dynasty in New York city has fallen—swept from power in yesterday's elections which gave Fiorello H. LaGuardia the mayoralty by a 250,000 vote plurality and crushed the Farley-endorsed candidacy of Joseph V. McKee.

Never in the recent political history of Tammany Hall has the wreckage of its city-wide machine been so complete.

Tammany salvaged from the election upheaval only its New York county ticket. In victorious Fusion quarters, the assertion was made that Tammany had passed the word to "vote from the right"—to knife Mayor John P. O'Brien and "trade him in" as a desperate attempt to save what it could from the Fusion landslide.

The Tammany mayoral candidate failed to carry one of the five boroughs and finished third in the three covered races.

On the other hand, the Fusion ticket carrying its opponents behind it under the dynamic rush of Fiorello H. LaGuardia—the fiery LaGuardia—gained complete control of the municipal government.

GOLD PRICE IS UP AT NEW HIGH MARK

Increase of 69 Cents Over World Figure—Dollar Slips Further Back.

Washington, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Responding to an increase of 54 cents an ounce in the world market, the price of RFC purchases of newly mined domestic gold today was hiked to a new high mark of $33.05 an ounce.

The new figure was 29 cents in excess of yesterday's price, and represented an increase of 69 cents over the world price.

Bar gold advanced one shilling, ten and one half pence on the world market, the available supply of 400,000 pounds sterling being taken at 131 shillings 10 pence for a United States equivalent of $33.36 an ounce, calculated on the basis of sterling opening at $4.91 to the pound.

Dollar Goes Down
Later foreign exchange transactions saw the dollar slipping further to $4.94 to the pound on the London market, the lowest level reached by it since 1914.

London financial circles ascribed the new weakness to the uncertainty of the American monetary program, and to reports that this country was engaged busily in buying world gold.

North and South Carolina Vote Dry, Latter by Less Than 2,000—Ohio and Pennsylvania Wet—Kentucky Vote Being Counted Today—Within Month States Will Have Ratified—More Than Half of States Will Remain Dry Under Their Own Laws—Government Already at Work Framing Regulations.

BULLETIN!
Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—(AP)—An early trend toward repeal was shown today in reports from 18 Kentucky counties on yesterday's election. Reports from 48 precincts of the state's 4,204 showed:

For repeal—3,478.
Against—2,587.

Washington, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Disillusioned, the country has turned away from National prohibition as a solution of the age old liquor problem and within 28 or 29 days that problem will be back upon the states.

With an irresistible impact of ballots, yesterday's elections again showed that the hope and confidence with which the 18th Amendment was put into force almost 13 years ago was transformed by events of the passing years to something far different.

Although the unanimous succession of states favoring ratification of repeal was broken by the opposition of North and South Carolina, margins in favor paralleled to the north and westward in Ohio, Pennsylvania and finally Utah.

North Carolina went more than two to one against a change, while South Carolina's majority was less than 2,000.

Pennsylvania rolled up a more than three to one repeal majority, with Ohio following by a two to one advantage, and Utah was somewhat less than two to one with about half the precincts reported.

Only three weeks ago, thirty-three states had already voted to obliterate the 18th Amendment. So only three more were needed to write it into history as the first amendment repealed, and to attach the 21st to the Constitution as the first one approved by state conventions.

The Kentucky votes are being counted today. If claims of foes of the dry laws are borne out there, the Ohio, Pennsylvania and Utah conventions of December 5, will signal the formal approval of repeal, inasmuch as the Kentucky convention meets along with that of Texas, on Nov. 27.

If Kentucky upholds the present law, then the Maine convention December 8, will be the 36th and provide the repeal finale.

Ohio Goes Wet
Thus, in some what less than a year, the dry cause has been swept away the major bulwark that crowned the many score years of its striving. And on the last constitutional states to the sweep, ironically enough, is Ohio, where militant organizations as the Anti-Saloon League and the W. C. T. U. had their inception and flourished from late in the last century onward.

New regulatory machinery has been or is being set up in a few states, others are falling back on the laws in force prior to the National law; and still others—more than half—will remain dry under their old laws.

Responsibilities of the Federal government will revert to those of pre-war times, protecting dry states from shipments of liquor, raising of revenue by taxation and the tariff curb on imports.

Legislative Policy
It is not to be allowed to rest at that, however, President Roosevelt has before him now a voluminous report from a study made at his direction in anticipation of guiding Federal legislative policy.

Mistakes of the past have been reviewed with an eye to profiting thereby, on such questions as how much revenue can be obtained from liquor without at the same time giving bootleggers a continued lease on their illicit business.

REPEAL COMMENT

Washington, Nov. 8.—(AP)—A flood of comment poured today over the broken National prohibition dam. Speaking for the Anti-Saloon League, F. Scott McBride, its general superintendent, said:

"From now on the wet will be on the defensive. The repeal of the 18th Amendment will do more to make prohibition popular than anything else that has happened so far. The history of the dry movement proves that prohibitionists always strengthened when a wet period follows a dry period.

promote genuine temperance." Senator Bone, (D. Wash.): "The matter now has become a case for remedy and control, which is a problem for the states as far as the traffic is concerned. From now on Congress no doubt will confine itself with regard to liquor legislation to matters of taxation."

ance. Now that repeal is here, the principles and teachings of temperance must be renewed in every possible manner." DRYS MUST UNITE Chicago, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Edward J. Blake, chairman of the National prohibition committee, in a statement today declared the defeat of the 18th Amendment makes prohibition again a political question and added that drys who formerly voted with the major parties were flocking to the Prohibition Party to start a battle of ballots for the return of prohibition.

What happened was that Bone addressed letters to candidates for the Republican nomination asking their liquor views. In his reply, Hoover promised vigorous and sincere enforcement of the law, adding: "Our country has deliberately undertaken a great social and economic experiment, noble in motive and far-reaching in purpose. It must be worked out constructively."

Washington, Nov. 8.—(AP)—President Roosevelt noted the voting of prohibition repeal by the Nation with a call today for a special meeting on Friday of federal officers to devise the Federal policy for liquor in expectation of making recommendations to Congress. He will confer on Friday with representatives of the State, Treasury, Commerce, Justice and Agriculture Departments.

FIRST SOCIALIST

MAYOR OF STATE

Jasper McLevy of Bridgeport Has Been in Politics for 30 Years.

Bridgeport, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Jasper McLevy, son of a Scotch dominie who emigrated from Glasgow to Bridgeport...

Fellow party members regard McLevy as a conservative rather than an extreme, or even militant Socialist. His thirty years of activity in Unionism and Socialism tend to confirm this view.

McLevy has preached Socialism as a faith rather than a panacea. It has been his expressed opinion that principles of Socialism promise more help to the worker than those of other parties.

McLevy after a common school course was apprenticed to his uncle who was a roofer. He is now an employer although working with journeymen. His early affiliations were with unions.

As a union member, he with others, began twenty years ago to fight for workmens compensation, widow pensions and kindred legislation before the General Assembly.

His experience on stump and platform gave him prestige to an extent that at discussions of political creeds before civic gatherings he was usually the exponent of Socialism.

ANNUAL FARM BUREAU HARVEST SUPPER NOV. 15

Affair Will Be in Hartford and Attractive Program Assured Those Who Attend.

The annual harvest supper of the Hartford County Farm Bureau will be held at the Hotel Bond, Hartford, Wednesday evening, November 15, at 7 o'clock.

Food will be supplied by the members and will include 400 pounds of chicken and all the fixings. The hotel furnishes the room and serves the meal at a nominal cost.

The speaker of the evening will be the Rev. E. Scott Farley, pastor of the Suffolk Baptist church, who is widely known for his talks filled with wit and wisdom.

A brief report of the year's activities will be given by Charles D. Lewis, manager of the Hartford County Farm Bureau, and the 1934 membership returns will be reported by the town chairman at the call of County Chairman Frank Kearns.

In announcing the plans for 1938, President C. Fred Woodford made the statement that he knew of no occasion when three or four hundred farmers can get together in Hartford County for an evening of entertainment such as is supplied at this meeting.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered at the Center Congregational church Sunday.

Rev. Harold Wilts preached a sermon and the choir sang "Holy Holy." The organist, Mrs. Thomas Bentley, played the prelude.

A kitchen and pantry shower was given Rev. and Mrs. Harold Wilts Tuesday evening at the parsonage by the parish members.

ONLY 19 STATES MAY SELL LIQUOR

Others Have Either State or Constitutional Prohibition; The "Wet" States.

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Liquor may legally be sold in 19 states when the last step in repeal of the 18th Amendment is taken in December.

These states are: Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, Washington, Wisconsin.

All the other states have either constitutional or statutory prohibition, and repeal of National constitutional prohibition leaves them unaffected.

Thirty-three states were dry when National prohibition was adopted. Now, only 28 will be dry.

Control Laws Most of the 19 states in which liquor can be sold after the 18th ratifying convention is held have already set up laws to control the sale. Others have such laws under consideration.

Tennessee comes technically under the listing of states that do not have prohibition, but a law that forbids the sale of liquor within four miles of a school makes it in fact a dry state.

Under the 21st Amendment, which will repeal the Eighteenth, no liquor may be transported into dry states. There is one exception—South Carolina—where the law allows the importation of one quart of liquor per month to anyone who makes application to a county judge.

Several hours later, however, he became extremely ill and was brought to New Haven. Physicians said death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage.

He leaves his widow, a son, his mother, three sisters and two brothers.

BLOW-OUT FORCES AUTO OFF ROAD

Used Car Being Taken to Hartford for Repairs in Mishap on Center St. Yesterday.

Raymond Carmichael of Hartford, employed by the Cole Motor Company, was on his way to Hartford last evening bringing a used car that had been taken by the Cole Motor Company to Hartford.

Some repair work was necessary on the car and the tires were not good. While going down Center street the left front tire blew out.

The automobile darted across the road, mounted the curb and came to a stop in the driveway at the home of R. E. Carney at 228 Center street.

Notice was sent to the Cole company and the wrecker was sent to move the car away. The accident took place about 5:20.

KILLED BY BUZZ SAW

New Haven, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Frank Kaszner, 31, of Shelton, died yesterday in St. Raphael's hospital of injuries suffered when a buzz saw he was using flew into the air and struck him.

After the accident Saturday, he was admitted to Griffin hospital and was discharged two days later.

EXTRA HELP BUDGET FOR P. O. NEARLY $400

Will Give Work to About a Dozen During Week of Christmas Shopping Rush.

Postmaster Frank B. Crocker made it known today that the special allotment to pay for extra Christmas help at the postoffice totaled $383.52.

He estimated this would give work Christmas week to between 10 and 12 additional employees.

However, if the amount of mail handled at the postoffice this Christmas does not justify hiring many extra helpers, fewer than ten or a dozen would be taken on and part of the special allotment would be saved.

$25 REWARD

Will be paid for any case which Great Christopher Positive Cure cannot remove. Also good for chloasma, warts and moles.

RANGE & FUEL OILS

We Handle Only The Best! When In Need Of Range Or Fuel Oil PHONE 5293 The Bantly Oil Co. 155 Center Street Manchester

Why don't YOU climb on the bandwagon? USE THE HIGH-TEST FUEL that pleases more families in the homes shown here than any other fuel they have ever used

THE DOCTOR SAID: "IT WON'T BE NECESSARY FOR ME TO COME TO THE HOUSE AGAIN. I'LL JUST TELEPHONE FOR THE REPORT." SHE REPLIED: "BUT DOCTOR, WE HAVEN'T ANY TELEPHONE."

"Strange they don't have a telephone; they have practically every other convenience."

IT IS strange how some people think of a telephone as something needed only in emergencies, when it is an every-minute convenience for all the family to use.

Why not notify our Business Office today that you would be willing to have a representative call and explain this valuable home service? You'll be under no obligation and he will call at your convenience.

ANNA BELL Says: It probably costs you as much to do without a telephone as to have one. Figure it out for yourself in carfare, making calls from coin boxes, invitations missed, time lost.

Right now you have an opportunity to make your home more comfortable all winter — and save as much as $20 on your fuel bill.

The way to do it is to follow the crowd — switch to Koppers Connecticut Coke when you fill your bin for the winter.

Every year this high-test fuel increases in popularity — because it gives more heat per ton.

And this winter, when you want every room warm as toast — you'll be able to have every corner of your home more comfortable than it ever was before.

Using the high-test fuel is like driving a 16-cylinder car. You can idle along at 20 miles an hour — but you've always got 80 miles an hour when you want it.

It's the same with Koppers Connecticut Coke. You can take the chill off your house now — with almost no fire at all. And you can warm up your house while you're shaving in the morning when cold weather comes.

And it does a better job in any furnace — whether you heat with steam, hot water, vapor or hot air. No special equipment, no adjustments needed. And less work to do! Just a jiggle of the shaker — and such a small amount of ashes that you can carry out a week's supply in a little pail about a foot high.

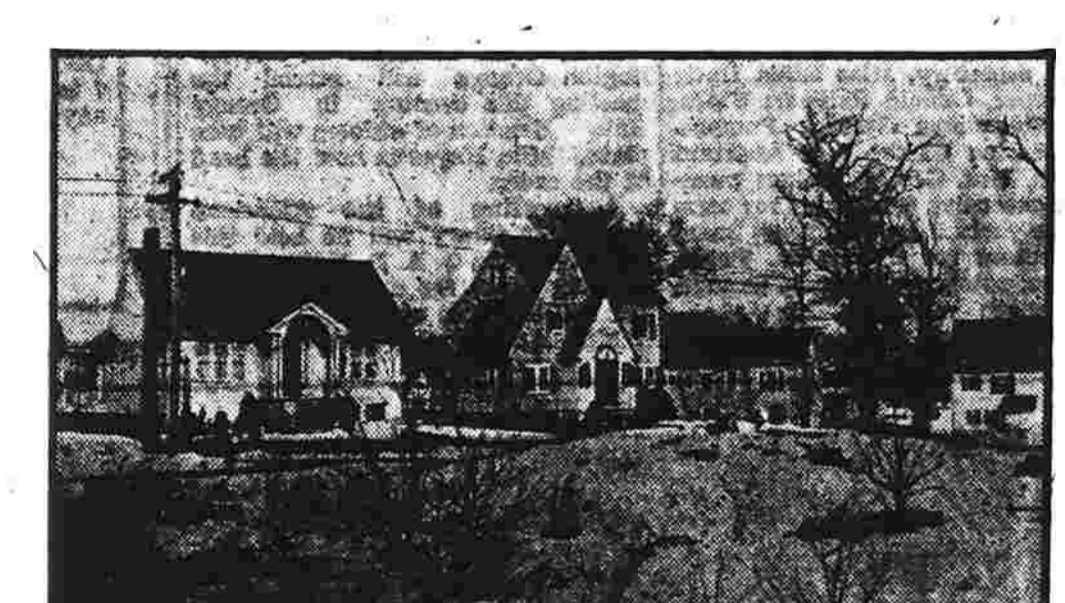

Decide now to have a more comfortable, more healthful home this winter. Call us — or your own fuel dealer — and have your first order rushed to you.

Call your dealer or the Koppers Connecticut Coke Company PHONE 5-3191 If you live in Glastonbury, Windsor or Manchester, use area phone number Enterprise 1450

FORGET-ME-NOT DAY TO HELP VETERANS

Funds Raised in Drive to Be Used for Welfare of Disabled Soldiers.

The Commander of the local chapter of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, Albert Downing has just received a stirring statement from the chairman of the organization's National, Rehabilitation Committee, Ralph L. Chambers, Munroe Building, Washington, D. C., reading as follows: "The future welfare of thousands of disabled World War veterans is dependent upon the success of this year's Forget-Me-Not Day drive of the D.A.V. Every chapter must maintain a Service Officer; in every Regional Office of the Veterans Administration, there is a crying need for a full-time Rehabilitation Officer, particularly at this time, when the Economy Slashes, even after modification by the amendments of June 15th, are very drastically reducing or completely eliminating the purchasing power of World War veterans suffering with disabilities rated as of service origin.

"It is estimated that, because of the unprecedented speed with which compensation cases were being reviewed under the so-called Economy Bill, errors have been made in at least 25 per cent of the cases. These will not be automatically reviewed; the errors must be pointed out by the affected claimants and their representatives.

"Many very complicated questions arise. Legal justice has not been accorded in many equitable cases, and this situation will not be corrected unless the thousands of individual cases are ferreted out and re-prosecuted. To do this properly requires expert knowledge and much technical work.

"Contrary to the general impression created by confusing syndicated articles, the direct service connected cases have, on the average, suffered a reduction of about 20 per cent. Naturally, most of them will seek assistance to secure a higher rating.

"Moreover, during the remainder of this year, Special Review Boards will consider the matter of continuing the service-connections in about 50,000 cases where a presumption of service origin had previously been granted. Most of these men will need to submit additional evidence now—fifteen years after the Armistice—to prove that their disabilities were caused by military service.

"If we fail to see to it that this large group of seriously disabled men are given such expert advice and assistance as will result in legal justice to those who have justifiable claims, then trouble and burdens will only be stored up for the future. "The civic-minded citizens of your community will, I believe, very quickly comprehend that its welfare is closely related to the purchasing power of its disabled veterans. The public will understand and support this cause if the facts are made known."

CHURCH GATES, GIFT OF GOVERNOR, STOLEN

Hebron Blames Halloween Hoodlums for Damage to Valuable Relics.

Hoodlums removed the large iron gates of St. Peter's churchyard in Hebron, which were the gift of former Governor John S. Peters on Halloween night, and although a thorough search for the gates has been made only one has so far been recovered.

The gates are highly prized for sentimental reasons by the people of Hebron because of their association with the only resident of that community ever to be elected governor of the state. Governor Peters was chief executive of the state from 1831 to 1833.

One of the gates, after being torn from its massive hinges, was found in front of the church door. The other apparently was carried away, as it has not yet been found. Repairs already have been made to the gate that was not taken, and it was replaced in its original position at the entrance to the churchyard.

Not content with perpetrating this wanton destruction of valuable property, the hoodlums broke into the schoolhouse on Hebron Green, threw the papers of the teachers about the room and partially destroyed some of them.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 8.

TEN WASTED YEARS.
 The long, hard fight against federal prohibition is ended. It is now only a matter of days and formalities that intervenes between the rule of the Eighteenth amendment and its disappearance from the Constitution.

There is nothing about this achievement to crow over. It is too much like winning a war. It may have been desperately necessary to win it but in the hour of victory there is the sombre shadow of the losses, the wreckage and the ruin.

This country emerges from the thirteen year experiment of federal prohibition definitely farther away from the goal of temperance and good order than when the experiment was entered upon. It has been a costly and enormously injurious departure.

And now that the wrangling and dispute is over and the country must set itself to the task of handling this great social problem of alcohol in some entirely different way, who is there who can honestly tell himself that the consequences of prohibition have not been perfectly obvious for ten years?

For a full decade we have been operating under a system which had already demonstrated its impracticability. During that time incalculable harm has been done to the morale and the habits of the American people whereas these ten years might have been devoted to the upbuilding of public opinion in the support of an attitude toward liquor as enlightened and rational as that toward narcotic drugs.

Three years of prohibition was enough. It proved all that has been proved since. But since 1923 the original advocates of prohibition have been obstinately refusing to recognize facts and, long supported by the contributions of a handful of rich men and women among their numbers, their professional have fought with every weapon at their command to prevent their followers from sensing the truth. Until, within the last year or so, this financial support was largely withdrawn. Then the obstructive leadership faded.

Now, with the handicap of ten wasted years during which the nation has suffered immense demoralization, we face a future in which society must find a rational and a workable answer to the liquor problem.

We shall do well if we start off from the position that the use of alcohol is ingrained in human custom through an experience running far back beyond the beginning of history; that it is about as practicable to forbid it as to forbid hair to grow on heads. We shall do well if we rid ourselves of the spirit of the Eighteenth amendment in the establishment of our state regulations—for we know full well how that kind of thing works.

America, in this business of alcoholic liquor, faces in 1933 a very great puzzle toward the intelligent solution of which, for half a score of years, she might well have been devoting herself. We may make, probably shall make, mistakes—many of them.

But we shall never in this world again make such a mistake, or so costly and injurious a one, as federal prohibition.

THE ELECTIONS.
 Besides electing as mayor that intriguing figure Fiorello LaGuardia, New York yesterday laid the Tammany bogey. As with most such machines, which depend on the complete organization of political immorality, the actual Tammany control of ballots was shown to be far weaker than had been supposed. Out of a little less than two million votes cast in the metropolis

Tammany and its auxiliaries were able to control only a little more than half a million. Which shows that the presumably all-powerful Tiger has been getting by for years with considerably less than a third of the voting population as its hard-and-fast shock force. This will be a revelation to an immense number of people both in and outside the city. It may, as a matter of fact, put an end to Tammany prestige for all time.

But the Tammany bogey isn't the only one that went to the cleaners yesterday. The Mellon Republican machine in Pittsburgh and the Vare machine in Philadelphia both crashed, while to come nearer home the grip of Thomas J. Spillacy and his Tammany-modeled little machine on the government of the city of Hartford was pried loose, and in Bridgeport the voters expressed their opinion of the old scratch-me-scratch-you system of running municipal business by electing the dour and straight laced McLeary, Socialist though he is.

All in all, it was not a very fine day for "the boys." Their "influence" took an awful beating.

THE NEXT WAR.
 The world may shrink from thoughts of war, or it may perhaps think that it ought to shrink from such thoughts, but it is probably nearer to witnessing a first class military conflict at this moment than it has been since the armistice. Japan and Soviet Russia have about reached the stage where it is only a question of which will strike the first blow.

There are heavy concentrations of Russian forces along the Manchurian frontier in Siberia. The other day the Japanese moved an entire division from North China into the Harbin area of Manchuria. Now the Japs are unctiously suggesting that it would "make for better understanding" if the Soviet government would take its massed troops away from the border—which is not only enormously cheeky but palpably "for the record."

At a time like this, when no statesman of a country anxiously seeking to avoid war would permit himself a single carelessly belligerent word, it is grimly startling to hear a spokesman for the Soviet government in a public address at Moscow, give expression to such sentences as these:

"There will be complete destruction of the enemy and complete victory for the Red Army in case of an attack. We do not consider Manchukuo responsible for the aggressive tactics in Manchuria. We realize Japan is the directing force. We are fully prepared for unexpected attack."

Which words were openly and publicly applauded by Joseph Stalin, sitting on the same stage with the speaker.

This is fighting talk. It is the kind of talk in which the Soviet regime in Russia has never indulged before. It is the kind of talk in which no government anywhere would indulge while it believed there was still a chance of avoiding a war—and desired to avoid it.

We do not believe, as so many profess to, that a conflict between Japan and Russia would involve the world. There are too many strains and counter strains operating to keep every other power out of such a war. But if there is any force reasonably likely to prevent the very early development of a major war between Red Russia and the Japanese empire it certainly is not in plain sight.

And if it devolves upon Russia to fight Japan what better time for her to strike with her hardy Siberian soldiers taured to the climatic rigors of Northern Asia, than the coming winter.

THE FUR RACKET.
 The extent to which a legitimate business can be converted into a huge racket is likely to be shown up in the trial of one of the largest anti-trust actions ever brought in the New York federal courts following the bringing of a batch of indictments yesterday against sixty-eight corporations, eighty individuals and five labor organizations all connected with the fur industry.

For three months special assistants of Attorney-General Cummings have been investigating the fur trade in New York. As a result of their efforts come the indictments. Collusion is charged between manufacturing concerns, skin dealers, trades unions, strong arm men, in maintaining a monopoly of the fur business in all its departments from the field buyers to the garment manufacturers, by methods of terrorism, coercion, hijacking.

The whole picture of the New York fur trade brought out by the Department of Justice investigators is involved in the extreme, but the effect is that of a far reaching conspiracy to create a monopoly against which no outside dealer, manufacturer or worker could hope to enter any branch of the fur trade in the New York area.

It is stated that the value of the furs handled by this practical monopoly is something like $85,000,000 a year.

When these cases come to trial it is probable that the country will get as fine an illustration as it possibly could receive of the kind of practices against which the NRA movement is directed.

POSING AS OAFS.
 "Shake hands, please. Mr. Jones, just look at Mr. Brown, if you will. Mr. Brown, will you look at the camera?"

So Mr. Jones looks at Mr. Brown and Mr. Brown looks at the camera and the news weekly shows Mr. Jones with sickly meekness submitting to a gross slight at the hands of Mr. Brown instead of spitting in his eye, and Mr. Jones committing an act of ill breeding of which never in the world would he, a friendly and courteous man, have been guilty.

No man can shake our hand without looking at us. If he does we'll darned soon jerk it away. If he insists on hanging onto the paw while he grins at the horizon or gawks at the other end of the room we'll kick him in the shins if necessary to get free of his loathsome grasp. And we have complete faith that in feeling this way about inattentive handshakes we're exactly like 1,000 human beings out of 1,000.

Why should the newsreels expect well mannered people to become boors just because they are having their pictures taken? And why shouldn't well mannered people, asked to pose as ill-bred oafs, tell the cameraman to go to hell? Is it because they are too polite? Let them be too polite to to.

Health and Diet Advice
 By Dr. Frank McCoy

In the body are several organs which act as "purification plants, whose duty it is to screen or filter out wastes. The kidneys and liver belong to this class and are wonderful purifiers, removing from the blood many poisonous waste products. The filters for the lymphatic circulation are the lymphatic glands which screen out impurities found in the lymph. The tonsils belong to the family of lymphatic glands, as does the adenoid tissue, and also the glands of the neck.

You were born with two healthy tonsils which were placed in your throat for the definite purpose of screening out wastes from the lymphatic circulation. You might call the tonsils the guard line, or defense line. Upon them falls the very important work of helping to protect the breathing passages from harmful invaders. A sound, healthy tonsil has an active resistance against bacteria and destroys many of them. Enlarged tonsils result when the patient lives in such a way as to cause a poisoning of the body; in trying to screen out the extra impurities, the tonsils work harder, and increase in size. Enlarged tonsils are not always diseased tonsils and are the easiest type of tonsil trouble to correct.

When the poisoning has gone further the tonsils are bathed in so much morbid material that they are overworked. They also fail to receive the nourishment which they need. As a result of both factors they often break down. At this stage they no longer screen out wastes and lose their fighting resistance to germs. Bacteria then enters and flourishes until generally the entire tonsil becomes filled with pus. The tonsils may develop crypts in them filled with a hard, cheesy substance and there may be many attacks of tonsillitis during which large quantities of pus are discharged into the throat.

Diseased, pus-filled tonsils may easily throw poison into the general circulation and the presence of such tonsils is likely to make worse any tendency to rheumatism or heart trouble, although the condition of the tonsils could not be considered the sole cause of such a tendency. There is also a greater likelihood of colds, sore throats, and that tired feeling than there would be if the tonsils were sound and healthy.

A temporary improvement may follow when the sick tonsils are cut out but this method of treatment does not remove the original cause of the trouble. To bring about a permanent improvement it is first necessary to remove the underlying poisoning which must be present before the tonsils will become diseased. Whenever rheumatism and tonsil trouble are found together, they are both due to a primary toxic condition. The common-sense method of treatment is to remove the toxemia, which has the beneficial effect of improving the health as a whole, and also will return the tonsil to as nearly normal a condition as possible.

Cutting out the tonsils does not always insure perfect health; instead, in some cases, other more serious disorders may develop, such as sinus trouble, mastoiditis, or ear complications such as discharge from the ear or deafness, or there may occur enlargement of the glands of the neck.

While the treatment of tonsils chronically diseased takes longer than the treatment of tonsils which are only enlarged, I firmly believe that almost every case of diseased tonsils can be cured by the fasting regimen followed by the right diet. This treatment brings about improvement in tonsil disorders in both adults and children. It is designed to remove the true causes of the trouble and when this is done, the glands will go back to normal.

IN NEW YORK
 By PAUL HARRISON

New York, Nov. 8.—Manchester: That's a funny story about the disgruntled butler at a swanky Long Island estate who revenged himself by slipping away only an hour before the daughter of the house was getting married, taking with him the bridegroom's wedding attire.

While society guests were gathered downstairs, the distracted household rummaged vainly for something to fit the groom, finally discovered that the only gentleman of his size was the best man. So the latter surrendered his striped trousers and cutaway, and sat gingerly upstairs in a dressing gown while one of the ushers substituted as best man and the wedding finally got under way.

For his forty-fifth birthday, Eugene O'Neill received from his wife a present he has wanted for years—a tin-panny electric piano which once did discordant duty in an old-time saloon. Serving punches, and other concoctions, in the Surf Club these evenings is Jack Renault, who once was high in the list of contenders for the heavyweight championship. To this and other clubs come another former ring figure—Georges Carpentier. With him, usually is Lita Gray Chaplin.

There's still no sign of the Mae West figure, which is supposed to be setting the fashion pace. Charles Miller, the music publisher who paints portraits as a sideline, used to be a baseball pitcher in the Western League. Frank Merlyn, author of thirty plays and producer of nearly thirty on Broadway, began his theatrical career as an usher.

Cab's Swanky Cab
 Cab Calloway, dusky high priest of hi-de-ho, is back in Harlem's Cotton Club, and his amazing automobile is again drawing the envious glances of the natives of darkest Lenox avenue. With its chromium trimmings, red upholstery and cut-glass mirrors, Cab's private cab is somehow reminiscent of a soda fountain. From the famous Ritz bar in Paris has come the man whom most travelers remember simply as "Frank" to negotiate for the management of New York's Ritz bar.

Back on Broadway, Paul Whiteman recalled the other night that it was Lew Cody, old star of the silent movies, who landed him his first job on the thoroughfare. The two had been friends in California, and Cody talked so much about Whiteman whenever he visited New York that several managers made him offers before they even had heard him play.

Tin Soldiers Her Hobby
 Society people are still finding odd things to do. For example, Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, whose husband was afflicted throughout his adolescence by the Sunday supplement nickname of "the richest boy in the world," collects tin soldiers. Has more than 3000 of them now—tiny, brightly-colored figures representing most of the famed military units of nearly every nation, from the dragoons of Louis XV to the Egyptian desert patrol. Then there's Mrs. Beatrice Townsend, of another famous family, who's going in for astrology in a big way. She trained under the late Evangeline Adams. She's also concerned with a new "science" called colorology, a study of the influences of various colors on individuals.

Mrs. Arthur Claffing, however, has found a more active work. She's founder and president of the Outdoor Cleanliness Association of the City of New York Inc. Nearly every day she leaves her Park avenue apartment to make the rounds of the public markets and other places where litter abounds, trying to persuade people to clean up their premises.

PROHIBITION GOES OUT AS QUICKLY AS IT CAME

Its Life Span Was 13 Years, 11 Months and 11 Days; Some Say the War "Put It Over."

By MORRIS WATSON

New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Constitutional prohibition went out as it came in, with unexpected swiftness.

Its life span—ending December 5, when the 36th state carries out the doom pronounced yesterday—will have been exactly 13 years, 11 months and 11 days.

Not since the early days of the union have the states acted with such speed on constitutional amendments. The 18th amendment was ratified within 13 months. The 21st Amendment, repealing the 18th, was ratified in less than 9 months.

Saloons closed their doors "forever" on January 16, 1920. They had been closed before for wartime prohibition.

The wartime act was adopted on November 21, 1918, when people still were whooping it up over the signing of the Armistice. It became operative on June 30, 1919, to last until the completion of demobilization.

Before the wartime ban had been lifted, the 18th Amendment, submitted on December 17, 1917, was ratified. Its terms made it inoperative until a year later.

There are some who say the war put prohibition over. There was a fear that grain and other foodstuffs used in the manufacture of alcohol might be needed by the American army or by America's allies.

Behind prohibition lay more than the war. There was almost a century of moral agitation. There were praying bands of women in Hillsboro, C., who marched from church in 1873 and invaded the town's saloons to implore the drinkers to shun the demon rum.

They became the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the White Ribboners, in 1874. The movement spread. College boys organized the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association in 1892, and then came the Anti-Saloon League of America in 1893. Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes already had turned the White House wine glasses down.

Carry A. Nation came out of Kansas with a hatchet to ruin many a saloon and sleep in many a jail. The Prohibition Party polled 250,000 votes in 1892.

Back in 1851 Maine started the legislative history of prohibition with a state law banning the sale of liquor. By the time National prohibition came 33 states were dry, 18 of them with a law written into their constitutions.

The National Ban The National ban radically affected only 31.7 per cent of the population and only 4.8 per cent of the area of the United States; 90 per cent of the townships and rural precincts, 85 per cent of the counties and over 75 per cent of the villages, or 68.3 per cent of the population and 85.4 per cent of the land area, already had local option or state prohibition.

The Prohibition Party polled 192,000 votes in 1920. America ventured into its era of Volsteadism with an estimated enforcement cost of $250,000,000. New words came into use: "Speakeasy," "Speekee," "Bootlegger," "Rum Chaser," and "Noble Experiment," to describe how manifestations in American life.

Bootlegging became a major industry, and a profitable one. Smugglers dotted the coast and ran their stuff in on swift launches under the cover of night. Border patrols were increased, but Canadian and Mexican spirits filtered through.

Prohibition agents smashed speakeasies and stills and breweries. More sprang up as fast. The Prohibition Party rolled 48,000 votes in 1924.

America's thirst for beer and whiskey and bathtub gin brought more and more persons into the business of satisfying it. Alcohol colored with brown sugar, near beer needed with alcohol, good or bad, brought huge profits.

report was inconsistent with the majority of individual reports from its members.

Modificationists made headway. Milwaukee brewers grew hopeful and began modernizing their beer-making equipment.

In March, 1932, the House defeated a resolution to restore the right to the states to abolish or continue the 18th Amendment, and the Senate refused to legalize 2.75 per cent beer.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., chief financial support of the Anti-Saloon League, agreed with Dr. Butler that the 18th Amendment should be repealed. Both the Republican and the Democratic conventions took wet stands, the latter demanding outright repeal.

The Prohibition Party polled 15,000 votes in 1932. California voters began to store up wine stocks. Canadian distillers stored up whiskey stocks. Speculators began dabbling in warehouse receipts.

Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected President. The 21st Amendment, repealing the 18th, was submitted to the states on February 20, 1933. The electorate of the necessary 36th state voted for ratification yesterday.

ELECTION INTEREST AT HIGH PITCH HERE

"Sure, and that's foine," a voice rich with the brogue of auld Erin said when advised that Beach and Gleason had been swept into office. Then he went on to say the Spillane-Rankin faction deserved defeat for excluding Gleason from their ticket because Gleason had supported James J. McIntyre in the primaries.

Repeat Vote Tavern proprietors and owners of package stores in Manchester evinced great interest in the repeat vote. They were jubilant when informed that the cabbage butterfly is the most common of all butterflies; yet it was imported to this country only 70 years ago.

TO STUDY NURSING IN BOSTON HOSPITAL

Miss Nora Addy of Garden St. to Take Course at Booth Memorial Institution.

Miss Nora Addy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Addy of Garden street left for Boston today, where she will train to be a nurse at the Booth Memorial hospital.

Miss Addy was presented with a farwell gift of a pin seal purse and blue silk umbrella by the Songsters Brigade of the Salvation Army recently. She received another pleasant surprise last night when her association at the toilet goods department of G. Fox and company gave her a chicken supper at the home of Francis Miner, and presented her with a traveling bag and a purse of money. Miss Addy has been employed at the store for a number of years.

that Ohio and Pennsylvania were voting wet, and apparently downcast when advised that North and South Carolina were registering dry majorities. This focused their attention on the results in Utah, for this state last night was in the pivotal position of determining whether the Eighteenth Amendment would be repealed, two states having gone dry and two states wet, with the Kentucky results not being known until today. First bulletins of the early Utah returns, showing a pronounced wet trend, were greeted with whoops of joy by those whose livelihood is more or less dependent upon the repeal of prohibition.

Even the Presidential vote of last November, when Franklin D. Roosevelt rode into office on an overwhelmingly Democratic landslide, failed to catch the same amount of interest as the elections yesterday. At least, it seemed that more telephone calls came in last night than a year ago. Only at one other time was there such a rushing business the fact that he won by 5,000 votes caused much comment. Not until after 2 o'clock did the first returns from Boston come over the wires. Three or four times a man called to inquire about the Boston vote, and when finally told that Mansfield, Democrat, was leading the five other candidates for Mayor, he asked, "and how about that fire in Boston?" He apparently was referring to the Boston waterfront fire yesterday.

Despite the fact that an straw votes Jasper McLevy, Socialist candidate, was given a slight edge over his Democratic and Republican rivals,

For French Pancakes—One cup flour, 1-2 cup powdered sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 2 whole eggs, yolk 1 egg, grated rind 1/2 lemon. Sauce: Six tablespoons butter, 1 cup powdered sugar, 1 large orange. Mix and sift flour, powdered sugar and salt. Slowly add milk, stirring with a wire whisk until perfectly smooth. Add eggs well beaten and the grated rind of lemon. Beat mixture with beater. Drop by spoonfuls on a hot well buttered griddle, making the cakes very thin and about the size of a bread and butter plate. Brown quickly on one side, turn and brown on the other. Make the sauce by creaming butter and sugar. Then add grated rind and juice of orange a few drops at a time, beating constantly. If it curdles it will do no harm. Heat a tablespoon of sauce, lay in a pancake, turn it over in the sauce and when hot, roll, sift over sugar and serve.

For Spanish Chocolate—One square bitter chocolate, 1 tablespoon condensed milk, 1 cup evaporated milk, 1-2 cups strong coffee infusion, few grains salt, 1-8 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 drops vanilla. Melt chocolate over hot water and add condensed milk to a point where slowly stirring constantly. Add evaporated milk, salt and cinnamon and heat almost to the boiling point beating with a Dover beater. Add vanilla and serve. The cinnamon and vanilla may be omitted or just one or the other used.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Financial markets generally sat on the fence today and viewed distastefully economic and political events both at home and abroad.

While stocks, as a whole, maintained a steady to firm position in extremely dull trading, and grains and cotton rallied moderately, equity buyers and sellers usually stood aside and waited for "something to happen." The slumping of the dollar to new low levels in foreign exchange dealing, and another advance in the domestic gold price engendered little if any enthusiasm. Bonds drifted aimless.

Shares of Auburn got up about 2 points, and Case, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Allied Chemical, McIntyre Porcupine and a few others improved nearly as much. Gains of fractions to around a point were also recorded by U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Chrysler, General Motor, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse, International Harvester, Western Union, Bethlehem Steel, Montgomery Ward, National Distillers, U. S. Smelting and Union Pacific. The rails did little and the tobaccos and utilities were inclined to ease.

Cotton recovered on government estimates of the crop, as of Nov. 1, of 13,900,000 bales compared with 12,888,000 on Oct. 1. The increase

URGE R. J. SMITH FOR FIRE BOARD

Annual Meeting of District to Be Held Tomorrow Night—Cheney Retiring.

Robert J. Smith is being mentioned as the possible successor of Frank Cheney, Jr., who will retire as president of the South Manchester Fire District at the annual meeting tomorrow night.

Mr. Cheney is retiring after thirty-six years as chairman of the Board of Fire Commissioners. He hoped to resign three years ago, but was prevailed upon to hold over while changes, then under consideration, were taken care of.

In Mr. Smith the district will have a man who, as a former active fireman, operator of the first automobile fire fighting apparatus in the district and an executive of the district, knows the problems of the district and by past experience, is already familiar with the activities of the department and the manner in which it is operated, his supporters maintain.

Erickson, pastor of the church, will act as toastmaster.

Ernest Kjellsoff will speak on behalf of the fathers and Arthur Johnson will speak for the sons. An octet, under the direction of Helge E. Pearson, will sing, and Fred Lavey will present several piano solos. John I. Olson and his son Jackie, will sing a duet. Several other numbers have also been arranged and the anniversary of Armistice Day will also be observed.

MAE WEST SAYS PUBLIC DEMANDS PLAIN FACTS

"Call a Spade a Spade" Is Her Theory— "I'm No Angel" to Come Here Sunday.

Calling attention to an amazing swing-about in the moral viewpoint of the cinema, Mae West, the screen's newest sensation, whose second starring picture for Paramount, "I'm No Angel" will open a five day engagement at the State Theater, Sunday, Nov. 19, believes that the American people have reached that time in their consideration of life and love when they want to hear a spade called a spade. She cites the sensational success of her last film, "She Done Him Wrong," as an argument in proof of her belief.

Miss West asserts, however, that the public is uninterested in sex, crudely presented. It wants laughs, comedy and wit along with it, she theorizes, and that's what she aims to give 'em in her pictures and plays.

Miss West exemplifies her theories in "I'm No Angel," an original story. In it, she portrays a circus lion tamer, hardboiled, ambitious, captivator of man after man. But when the film ends she has one man for keeps, a millionaire bachelor, "tall, dark and handsome" Cary Grant. The picture was directed by Wesley Ruggles.

In her exposition of the constant sinner with a peary smile, whose love-making harvests diamonds, masquerading adulation, triumph and glory, Miss West has created a revolutionary screen type.

The screen has boasted many "bad women" from the days of Theda Bara. But they sinned in a heavy, sultry manner, and they always paid! But Mae West always gets her man. Regardless of her transgressions, she comes out on top!

"That's the way it often works out in life," Mae avers. "The movies, in picturing erring women as doomed to suffer heartbreak and misery, have been only half right. Maybe years ago that situation prevailed. But not today. People are

TEACHERS HERE ELECT ASSEMBLY DELEGATES

Choose Three and Three Alternates for Conference to Be Held in Hartford Dec. 9.

At a meeting of the local public school teachers last night in the High School, three delegates and three alternates were elected to the representative assembly of the State Teacher's Association, to be held in Hartford, Saturday, December 9. Principal Arthur Hing of the High School presided and Miss Corinne Davis was secretary.

The delegates elected were: Chester Robinson of the High School faculty, Miss Mary Maguire of the High School faculty and Miss Ethel Robb of the Lincoln School. The alternates are: Miss Madeline Brown of the Lincoln school, Miss Ellen Shay of Manchester Green and Mrs. Marion Pierce of Buckland.

The meeting is held annually to transact business connected with the Association, to elect officers and to discuss policies of the Association.

SOUTH COVENTRY

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Bennett were pleasantly surprised Monday evening when a group of their friends dropped in on them for a house warming. Lawrence Little presented the Bennetts with a beautiful fern and read a very appropriate poem written for the newcomers to town by Miss Florence Whalen one of the local teachers. Games and cards were played after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Bennett. Those present were the Misses Florence Whalen, Anna Mae Krizanek, Eleanor Graham, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Graham, Lawrence Little, Wilfred Boudreau, Billy Graham and Herbert Couch.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church held a surprise party for Mrs. Mary Newell at the home of Mrs. Stella Wood last Thursday. Eight members were present and Mrs. Newell who celebrated her 83rd birthday was the recipient of eight presents.

POLICE COURT

There was but one case before the local police court this morning. That was a case of driving an automobile without a license. The offender was Charles Gamble, of Holyoke, Mass., who was arrested by Traffic Officer Joseph Prentice last night. The officer was informed that there was a drunken driver in the neighborhood of the Twin Hills. He lost no time in getting there and found Gamble driving in a big-sig fashion. But the young fellow was not intoxicated. It was the steering gear on the car that was at fault. But he had no license to drive and never did have. He was detained at the station until court opened this morning. Gamble pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs.

12 ARE KILLED, 33 ARE HURT IN CUBAN BATTLES

tion of the Tenth and Fifth police stations and possibly others. The ABC, among the most active in the revolt, joined with army units led by Guillermo Martull, former aviation captain. More than 200 rebels were arrested, among them two score ABC members who entered the airport at Camp Columbia on the outskirts of the capital, the focal point of the rebellion, expecting to greet their fellow rebels but who found loyal troops instead.

Soldiers went on guard on all highways, stopped and searched automobiles and jailed those found carrying guns. Forty prisoners were taken to Cabana fortress. Although the die-hard ABC political group, the most active in the revolt, continued sporadic attacks, the loyal troops of Colonel Fulgencio Batista, army chief of staff, at Camp Columbia on the outskirts of the capital, charged and routed rebellious aviation units.

Detachments from the Dragones and the San Ambrosio barracks, which also joined in the movement in the town of staff, negotiations looking toward surrender. Reason for Revolt

The movement, which was intended to reinstate Carlos Manuel De Cespedes as the legal president, was headed by former aviation Captain Guillermo Martull. The former captain for a time was among the several hundred former army and naval officers who were besieged in the National hotel in defiance of the Grau regime. He left the hotel before the battle there October 2 which resulted in the ousting of the defiant officers.

De Cespedes, who became president following the flight of Gerardo Machado, gave way to a so-called radical junta which ruled Cuba for a time. This group in turn made way for the Grau regime.

The rebels apparently received a deathblow to their hopes when the rebellious force at the airfield at Camp Columbia broke and fled under heavy fire from Colonel Batista's infantrymen.

Used Police Quarters At the height of their movement the rebels held the police headquarters, three other police stations, the provincial government building, the Dragones and the San Ambrosio barracks, and possibly the Atares barracks.

Failure to swing over the Cabana and the De la Fuerza fortresses and the palace guard also spelled disaster by the revolt's forces. Shortly after daybreak President Grau harangued the palace guard and was cheered.

Thereafter, Pablo Rodriguez, the presidential aide, announced that the aviators had fled and that "the police situation was satisfactorily settled."

Loyal troops surrounded the Dragones and the San Ambrosio barracks and the negotiations aimed at surrender proceeded. Previously, a commission of policemen had informed the president of their intention to remain neutral.

MANSFIELD VICTOR IN HUB'S ELECTION

Mayor James M. Curley, ran 7,000 votes behind Nichols. The complete vote for the city's 362 precincts gave the leaders: Mansfield (D.) 60,408 Nichols (R.) 57,499 Foley (D.) 60,371 Boston normally votes Democratic and political observers regarded the Nichols vote as surprising.

Once State Treasurer Mansfield served once as state treasurer and twice was a candidate for governor. He was an unsuccessful candidate for mayor four years ago.

Election day in several other Massachusetts cities brought disappointing returns to incumbents. Mayor Patrick J. Duane of Waltham was defeated in his attempt to gain a third term by the man he started in political life, Dr. Frederick L. MacDonald. The physician Duane appointed director of the public welfare several years ago, polled 4,456 votes to Duane's 5,532.

The Republicans swept Springfield as Henry Martens gained the majority over his Democratic opponent, Theodore V. Quinnivan. Democrats had ruled there for two years.

Old favorites continued to rule the fronts in Lynn and Cambridge. Mayor Richard M. Russell of Cambridge was re-elected over School Committeeman John D. Lynch by 18,361 to 16,571.

ard Croker. Under him, the group flourished. Then Rev. Charles E. Parkhurst, crusaded against Tammany's alliance with vice and gambling. He made personal investigations which revealed that from such illegal businesses, Tammany harvested millions.

Strong Elected William L. Strong, bank president, was elected mayor over Tammany's candidate, and Croker went to Ireland.

The reform administration did not function efficiently and Croker came back, again assumed command of affairs and had a Tammany candidate elected mayor.

Croker fell into disrepute again—"milking" large corporations was the reason this time and he returned once more to Ireland. He stayed there.

Tammany ascended to power again in 1902 and retained it until 1914 when John Purroy Mitchell, Fusion Party candidate, was named mayor.

He lost his next election to Tammany candidate John F. Hylin. After that, Tammany held absolute reign over New York City's politics—until last night.

Election Smiles

(By Associated Press)

Put-In-Bay, O., Nov. 8.—Citizens of this Lake Erie island village, a part of the northern Ohio grape territory, have a bit of a puzzle today. The town's vote on repeal: For, 118. Against—One.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—The voters in the county seat of President Roosevelt's home county did an about-face when they elected a Democrat, George V. L. Spratt, mayor against Alexander Cave, Republican, who has been mayor four years.

Last year, when Roosevelt ran for the presidency, the city went Republican. He's a newspaper reporter and co-ed of the local paper.

He defeated Samuel A. Carlson, who has been mayor for 24 years. Cortland, N. Y.—For the first time since its incorporation as a city 33 years ago, Cortland has a Democratic mayor. He is Frederick R. Thompson, a retired dentist.

New York—Fiorello H. LaGuardia, victor in New York's mayoral campaign, didn't do so well in his home district. He ran second to Mayor John P. O'Brien.

The needn't feel so badly about it. O'Brien failed to carry his own district, LaGuardia winning, and to make things complete, Joseph V. McKee, recovery candidate, lost his precinct, also to LaGuardia.

Erie, Pa.—After voters in one district found a polling place still locked half hour after opening time, they called the judge of election. "Gosh, I didn't hear the alarm clock," was the sleepy-voted explanation.

Meadville, Pa.—Several hours after the polls closed, the vote count showed that Republicans had won under the Democrats. A few hours later three inches of flaky precipitation had snowed under Meadville.

New York—It cost the city $500 to give Rebel Nathan Wolf a chance to exercise his right to vote. A special voting machine had to be set up for his exclusive use. Three election officials sat around five hours waiting before he got around to casting his ballot. The rabbi, who lives above his temple, is the only resident of the 40th election district.

erament by winning 13 of the 15 votes on the board of estimate, the policy determining body of the city. The final mayoral vote gave LaGuardia 868,551 votes; McKee 804,045; O'Brien, 838,190 and Charles Solomon, Socialist 63,450.

Outstanding in the election was the failure of John H. McCooey, Democratic boss of Brooklyn, to carry his own election district; the overwhelming defeat of Ferdinand Pecora, National known Senate banking committee counsel; and McKee candidate for New York county district attorney; the blow to the prestige of Postmaster General James A. Farley, who endorsed McKee; and LaGuardia's sweeping victory in every borough, including McKee's home borough of the Bronx, and the Tammany stronghold of Manhattan.

W. A. Cunningham, Fusion candidate for comptroller, turned in an upset victory over Frank J. Prial, who won the Democratic nomination in the primary over the opposition of Tammany.

Other victorious Fusion candidates were Bernard S. Deutsch, as president of the Board of Aldermen; Raymond V. Ingersoll, as president of the Borough of Brooklyn; George U. Harvey, as president of the Borough of Queens, and Joseph A. Palma as president of the Borough of Richmond, Staten Island.

Tammany's sole victory of city wide importance was turned in by Samuel Levy, who retained the presidency of the Borough of Manhattan.

The election was accomplished with the liberal use of blackjacks, brass knuckles, lead pipe, bricks, knives and hob-nailed boots. It marked the most violent election period in a generation, but failed to halt the largest turnout of voters in any New York city mayoral election—nearly 2,100,000 of the 2,300,000 registered voters.

W. Kingsland Macy, Republican state chairman, interpreted the Fusion victory as a "rebuke to the arrogant attempt of Washington personages to dictate to the people of this city."

Up at the National Democratic headquarters, Farley, the National chairman remarked cryptically: "Well, we lose but Tammany doesn't win."

The voters showed they are thoroughly dissatisfied with the present Democratic leadership in the city of New York. The cheering crowds which jammed Broadway at Times Square in a double celebration over repeal and the Fusion victory, were far removed from the gloom of Tammany Hall.

There, surrounded by his schemes and his braves—among whom former Governor Alfred E. Smith was conspicuously absent—John F. Curry pondered an uncertain future. It is generally believed his election losses spell his retirement.

DR. GUILFOYLE IS BURIED; WIDOW AT THE FUNERAL

Philadelphia, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Dr. Harold N. Guilfoyle, life prisoner at the Connecticut State Prison at Wethersfield, who killed himself Monday, was buried at Woodlawn cemetery today, after a service at the home of his widow in Camden, N. J.

The body was brought to Camden yesterday. Mrs. Tille Guilfoyle for a time had corresponded with her husband at the prison, but in recent months had not done so. The prison authorities granted her request that she attend to the burial and services.

NO DEFINITE ACTION TAKEN ON PROJECTS

Various work projects were discussed at the informal meeting of the Board of Selectmen last night, but a final decision was reserved by the board in view of the fact that no definite knowledge is obtainable at present regarding the amount of money required to be expended. It was the consensus of the Selectmen that those receiving aid and applying for work should be supplied with the same, but a better understanding of the financial course of the town for the next few months should be obtained before such action could be taken.

FARMER IN SIMSBURY KILLS SELF BY GAS

Simsbury, Nov. 8.—(AP)—George Strong, 52-year-old farmer, was found dead today in his closed garage, the victim of carbon monoxide poisoning. Dr. O. L. Murphy, medical examiner, gave a verdict of suicide, but the motive was undetermined.

Francis Strong, a brother who lived with him, found the farmer. He was attracted to the garage by the sound of the running motor. George was seated next to the driver's seat. The doors of the garage had been stuffed and the windows of the automobile opened. Dr. Murphy expressed the opinion that the automobile's motor had been running since last night. There was only a pint of gasoline left in the tank.

OVER 1,500 KILLED TO ENFORCE DRY LAW

Washington, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The death toll from America's effort to enforce prohibition probably will remain a subject of controversy, with some estimates past the 1,500 mark. Early in 1931 Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland in the Senate numbered at 1,850 the lives that had been lost until then from what he called "shot-gun enforcement." His figures did not include deaths from poison alcohol.

Government figures, however, show only a small fraction of that total, and friends of prohibition have never conceded the number was anything like so high.

KENTUCKY'S VOTE SETS REPEAL DATE

If State Goes Wet It Will Be December 5—Otherwise the Next Day.

Washington, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Whether actual repeal will be had on December 5 or on the next day remained today in the balance of inconclusive early returns from Kentucky.

The first precincts reported a close division. If opposition to the constitutional change was voted there, it would make the Maine convention December 6 the conclusive 36th state action.

If Kentucky goes wet, its convention held in late November will make Utah the 36th state convention to act in favor of repeal, in the afternoon of December 5, after Pennsylvania and Ohio have ratified earlier in the day.

Counting all the returns available from the 39 states that have now voted, the repeal vote had almost an 8,800,000 majority out of over 18,700,000 votes cast. The figures are 18,800,000 for repeal and 4,880,000 against.

More than 3,800,000 votes had been completed, with over 2,500,000 repeal and slightly over 1,140,000 against, a repeal majority of over 1,360,000.

First Returns First Kentucky returns gave the Repeals by a margin of less than 40 votes in a total of almost 1,300. Ohio, nearly complete, ran up more than a 1,250,000 votes in favor as compared with slightly more than 550,000 against.

Pennsylvania returns, with almost half the total precincts counted, showed a majority of almost 750,000 in favor of repeal in a total of more than 1,200,000 votes.

Late returns from North Carolina and South Carolina made very little change in the size of the vote, but the prohibition forces in those states, with their count almost complete.

In South Carolina the margin against repeal was better than in Utah, while in North Carolina the majority for prohibition was more than 140,000.

In Utah with the state's vote almost completed the repeals had a majority of around 38,000.

PLACE WHERE KAMINSKY GOT RIFLES IN COVENTRY

That Was Why Hearing Was Held in That Town and Not Mansfield. Although the rifles that were found in the car of John Kaminsky when he was arrested here Sunday morning, were said to have been taken from a school located in Mansfield, the trial of Kaminsky was held before Justice of the Peace John Kingsbury, of North Coventry.

The reason that the court was held in North Coventry it was believed was because the school building is located in that town and not in Mansfield. The school, closed for four years, has been known for years as the Mansfield City School. It was this school that both John and Mrs. Kaminsky wanted brother Alexander, attended. Both Coventry and Mansfield, the majority coming from Mansfield, went to the school before it was closed.

FEDERAL OFFICERS WILL ENFORCE NRA

Gen. Johnson Outlines Plan to See That Blue Eagle Fliers Obey.

Des Moines, Nov. 8.—(AP)—General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA commander today said a "complete and efficient organization" would be set up soon to enforce observance of the Recovery Act. "The plan is to make some Federal officer in every community the executive officer of enforcement," Johnson said. "This officer will have the authority to withdraw the Blue Eagle from any firm not complying with its code."

"We will still retain the local NRA committees," he continued. "These units will have charge of investigating complaints. It will be their job to report code violations and make reports to the community's executive officer."

Enforcement System "Likely, this officer, will report non-compliance incidents to higher executives. His recommendation for withdrawal of a Blue Eagle will be approved by them. That's the way it looks now for the enforcement system to work."

"I'd like to say this here, too. The investigations that have been made of complaints so far show that in about 80 to 95 per cent of them have had little foundation except misunderstanding," he continued.

General Johnson re-asserted a plea voiced at St. Paul last night that the administration's farm program be given a chance.

The Farm Strike "This farm strike thing won't get the farmer anything," he said of the Midwest non-buying, non-selling campaign. "All it can do is obstruct the farm program, and that's just beginning to bite now."

He was asked: "What have you to say to the demand of E. H. Harris, secretary of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, that you include a 'free press' clause in the newspaper code? Harris said if you were sincere in your declaration for a free press, you would have such a clause."

"What right has any man to question my sincerity?" Johnson demanded heatedly. "There's been a lot of contention about that thing. But it's been settled now. I have made an administrative interpretation that clears the question of liberty of the press."

SAYS FIRM OWES LARGE TAX BILL

Rossia Insurance Co., Behind $17,454 in 1930 Income Taxes. The Rossia company was originally assessed a deficiency of $22,454. The company appeals, claiming it had overpaid $57,469 in taxes, and charged the internal revenue bureau with four errors, including disallowance of a deduction from taxable income of $2,481,464 as losses on insurance contracts.

Lassen was originally assessed taxes and penalties totaling $21,887. In his appeal he charged error in computing his income from various securities and salaries, and disallowance of deductions from taxable income for traveling expenses and debts that cannot be collected.

Adjourned Annual Session to Be Held at Municipal Building Monday Night.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Manchester Emergency Employment Association will be held Monday night at eight o'clock in the Municipal building. It is expected that definite action will be taken at this time on whether or not the association will function this year in raising funds and expending them on "made work" to relieve unemployment distress in Manchester.

NEWMARKER PROMOTED BY ROCKVILLE BANK

Made Treasurer and Secretary of Savings Institution—Succeeds A. T. Bissell. Edward L. Newmarker was today elected treasurer and secretary of the Savings Bank of Rockville, Md. when Smith was the party's presidential candidate, and Arthur Lehman, brother of Governor Lehman of New York, a member of the investigating committee said.

The evidence submitted by the bank did not give any of the details of the transaction or show clearly the stocks in which the syndicate was operating.

It indicated, however, that a loan of $336,000 was made to the group in November, 1929, and was subsequently enlarged.

According to the evidence, a large balance still was outstanding when the records were submitted to the committee. Committee members said the list of syndicate participants also included the name of Norman H. Deane, American ambassador at Paris. If the evidence is correct, the committee record it will be the first time that Smith has figured in the Stock Market inquiry, though the names of the others have figured several times in the past.

SMITH'S NAME UP IN MARKET PROBE

Evidence Shows Several Hundred Dollars Were Loaned to Leader. Washington, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Senate Stock Market investigators said today the Chase National bank has submitted evidence showing loans of several hundred thousand dollars to Alfred E. Smith and other participants in a syndicate stock account shortly after the market collapse of 1929.

Other participants included John J. Rankin, who was chairman of the Democratic National committee when Smith was the party's presidential candidate, and Arthur Lehman, brother of Governor Lehman of New York, a member of the investigating committee said.

STOPS ECZEMA

Ends Itching in 3 Minutes. Never mind how long you've had that maddening skin itch, or what remedies you've tried, here at last is the relief you've been praying for. When amazing PETERSON'S OINTMENT is applied to the sore skin, healing starts at once. Itching, burning, smarting stop in 3 minutes. Scales loosen and come off—soon the skin is smooth and clear. One 35c box proves it—or money back. And remember, PETERSON'S gets overnight results for itching, sore feet, cracks, between toes, and often stops Athlete's Foot in 3 days. At all drug stores.

POLITICAL MACHINES ARE UPSET BY ELECTION

By Associated Press Three of the best known political machines in the country were stopped yesterday by Tammany in New York, Vore in Philadelphia and Mellon-Republican in Pittsburgh.

The Democratic machines in Boston and Cleveland also broke down. The O'Connell machine in Albany put over its Albany mayor, but failed to function in the nearby city of Coho, N. Y. The Republican machine of Westchester county, New York, went smoothly over its goal.

The Tammany machine lost everything but borough president of Manhattan district attorney of Manhattan and a few minor offices. The Philadelphia works, headed by William S. Vore, lost the offices of city treasurer, city controller, coroner and others. William N. McNair, Democratic candidate for mayor, stopped the Mellon-Republican roller in Pittsburgh.

Mayor James M. Curley's machine in Boston arrived third with its candidate for mayor, District Attorney William J. Foley. Internal contentions beset the Cleveland Democratic machine and let Harry L. Davis, Republican, speed past it to the mayoralty.

Pitt Coach Stumped In Picking 2 Games

BY JOCK SUTHERLAND, Coach, University of Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 3.—Next Saturday's games give the football department two tough ones to pick—in fact, those two battles are so close that I can't pick a positive winner and the contest between Duquesne and our Pitt Panthers.

The Purdue-Notre Dame get-together is anybody's game. Hunk Anderson's squad is on the upturn, and Noble Kiser's fine backs will not gain at all. No matter who wins, it will be a close score.

We've been doing a little fretting about Elmer Layden's Duquesne outfit here at Pitt. The Dukes have some tough games under their belt, they can match us in weight and experience, their kickers are better and their passers have been more successful.

As for the rest of the games in the spotlight—Fordham-N. Y. U.—Jimmy Crowley's Rams should have little trouble with this one, although the intense rivalry between the two schools will make the score close.

Northwestern-Illinois—Dick Hanley will not continue to get bad breaks. His Northwestern eleven should win over Bob Zuppke's improved Illinois team.

Penn-Ohio State—This will go to the Buckeyes. Sam Williamson has bigger, better and more men. It will likely be quite decisive.

Oregon-Oregon State—Any team that holds U. S. C. to a scoreless tie gets my vote. Oregon State, Princeton-Dartmouth—close one, but I'll pick the Tigers.

Iowa-Michigan—Michigan continues to march toward the Big Ten title. Too many sophomores in the Hawkeye lineup.

Kansas State-Iowa State—Bo McMullin's team should win this one without much trouble.

Nebraska-Kansas—Nebraska is again the pick of the Big Six, with its best team in the last five years. Too tough for Kansas.

Southern California-Stanford—The Trojans will have too much power for Tiny Thornhill's sophomore Cardinal team. It will be close, however.

Carnegie-Michigan State—This will be close, but I think Michigan State will win.

Colgate-Ohio Northern—Another easy one for Andy.

Columbia-Navy—Close. Probably Columbia.

Bucknell Captain Played in That Many Tilts Without Being Removed or Calling for Time Out.

Lewisburg, Pa., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Bucknell University's spurge in football this season is not the first time the local institution has been in the gridiron spotlight. In fact, ever since 1883, when Bucknell played its first game against Lafayette, the Blons have figured from time to time in the national picture.

Few grid fans, even Bucknell alumni know that Bucknell played in the first three selected football captains at the University of Chicago. That was back in the "minuties" when football was a more exacting pastime than it is today.

Never Had Time Out—A. A. Stagg was the first captain at Chicago, but not the first elected one as many believed. That honor is held by "Andy" Wyant, the real "iron-man" of the game.

ICE SEASON OPENS TOMORROW NIGHT—New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Like a stimulating blast from winter, the National Hockey league will blow into the leading cities of the United States and Canada tomorrow for a season that will last until close to the end of March.

OHIO STATES FINE SOPHOMORE KICKER LIVES AT STADIUM—Columbus, O., Nov. 3.—(AP)—High in the west tower of Ohio State university's gigantic stadium lives John Kabealo, Youngstown sophomore, who in the last two weeks has punted his way to Western Conference football fame.

LEAGUE MATCH TONIGHT—The Charter Oak Girls will entertain the Meriden Girls in a State League match at the Charter Oak alleys at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

Eagles-West Sides Fail To Agree On Officials For Town Title Series

Managers and coaches of the Eagles and West Sides, who are scheduled to open hostilities for the town gridiron title at Mt. Nebo next Sunday afternoon, met last night and discussed, argued and disagreed on officials for three hours.

Collegiate Spirit Makes Bears Sensations of Pro Gridiron Circuit—Chicago, Nov. 3.—(AP)—These inevitable happy endings of motion-picture football stories no longer bring a tolerant "there ain't no such animal" grin from Chicago football fans.

BLOW WITH OPEN GLOVE IS FOUL, SAYS REFEREE

Argument Comes Up After Maxie's Bout With Walker; Forbes Gave Latter Edge Due to Champ's Slapping Method; In Rule Book.

By EDWARD J. NEIL, Associated Press Sports Writer. New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Eddie Forbes, veteran referee, has an idea that a rule is a rule, and when it comes to enforcement in a prize fight, the best is exactly the same as the worst.

Soberly today enjoyed another entertaining argument, similar in shape and form, though scarcely in size, to the debates that still occasionally flourish through the years over the accuracy of decisions that once gave Harry Greb's light heavyweight title to Gene Tunney and Tiger Flowers' middleweight crown to Mickey Walker.

So accustomed have the experts and general run of ring officials become to Rosenbloom's unorthodox style, similar as far as the open glove is concerned to that of Greb and Flowers, that they take it for granted it doesn't count anymore as far as he is concerned.

At the end of the fifteen-round contest Judge Jim Buckley gave Rosenbloom nine rounds and Walker three. The experts about the ring-side averaged about 11-11, on the basis of Harry's consistent whacking around of him with open gloves.

Argument Changes—But from this point on the argument changes. "Why," demands Bill Brown, new member of the New York State athletic commission, of Referee Forbes, "didn't you leave Rosenbloom from the premises before 15 rounds were up, he was fouling so consistently that he was penalized half a dozen times?"

There, it will be taken up, with all points already considered and all parties questioned thoroughly, at tomorrow's meeting of the commission.

RANGERS PRACTICE—The Rangers Basketball team will practice Friday night at 8 o'clock sharp at the School street Gym. There will be an important meeting at the Rec. Thursday night at 8 o'clock sharp.

Forgotten Sweetheart

by MARY RAYMOND

CHAPTER XXXVI
It was Bob's father who broke the news. "Confound that boy of mine!" he said to Barbara. "He wants to turn the boat around and head for home."

"But Mr. Weston!" Barbara exclaimed. "I thought you said we were to keep him away a long time! I thought you said it would be good for him!"

"I've changed my mind about that," the man said dryly. "I've decided Bob may find a cure for his moodiness at home—a permanent cure." He couldn't resist letting the satisfaction he felt show in his tone.

Barbara's face hardened. Suddenly, with the sense of defeat weighing upon her, she cast diplomacy to the winds. "I can't say I'm surprised at anything," Bob might do," she retorted. "After all, he has neglected me on this trip."

"But Dan Maxwell hasn't neglected you," Mr. Weston said quietly. Shaken by disappointment, raging inwardly, Barbara nod to her cabin and she looked at the door and would admit no one during the afternoon, nor did she appear at dinner.

The maid, bringing a tempting tray, found her with swollen eyes and flushed cheeks. Barbara said she was having a touch of seasickness but the maid had seen the results of rage and disappointment before and was not deceived.

It was the hardest blow Barbara had ever known. For once her self-confidence was thoroughly shattered. She had come so close to her heart's desire and then lost it all—to a little nobody! Barbara had not a doubt that Bob was rushing back to Joan Waring. He had seemed changed since the day they had seen Joan's sister in Havana.

Bob had gone to the table where Pat and the captain were sitting. When he returned he had told Barbara that the couple were on their honeymoon. It seemed quite unimportant to her but Bob had been terribly excited about this news some reason.

Next morning Barbara was out on deck with all traces of the emotional storm erased. She wore one of her most becoming outfits and she was gay and smiling. She tried to play with her wifely interest. He was attentive and courteous but wrapped in thoughts that shut Barbara out completely.

Soon the captain's resolute never had been seen with impatience over the gradual diminishing of distance. "We're making good time," the older man had growled when, for that seemed the hundredth time, Bob asked how long it would be before they were in.

Bob laughed. He knew he was being an infernal nuisance. It was dark when he said good-bye to the captain. Barbara had rushed Bob's offer to drive her home. She had recovered her composure and told him sweetly of hearing thereon, by publishing a copy of a circulation in said district, at least five days before the day of said hearing, to appear if they see cause at said time and place and be heard relative thereto, and make return to this court.

WILLIAM S. HYDE, Judge. H-11-8-33.

EXPECT MANY AT DANCE AT ST. JAMES'S SCHOOL

Class Presidents Make Effort to Arouse Interest in Tomorrow Night's Party at School.

John Gorman, president of the Alumni Association of St. James's School, met with all of the presidents of the graduating classes of the school on Wednesday evening to arrange for the party and dance that is to be held in the school hall tomorrow evening. Each president of the class that has graduated from 1927 through to 1932 were present with two exceptions. It is intended to allow the members of the association to invite friends and an effort will be made by each class president to get in touch with the members of his class and try and have a big gathering with as many members back for the party as possible.

ANDOVER

Competitive programs were presented at Grange here Monday night by the whole Grange body divided into three groups. Each group had a member of the executive committee. Frank Hamilton presented his group first with the following numbers: Song by the group, an original poem written and read by Doris Hutchinson, a duet by Ila Hamilton and Donald Duffie, a short sketch by Mary and Olga Lindholm, a short talk on agriculture and climaxed with the entrance of Elizabeth Coyell, Howard Stacey and Frank Hamilton dressed very ridiculously as women.

George Wilson had his group enticed onto the stage by a brother dressed as a farmer standing on the stage and with his former guardian, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Kibbee, Mr. and Mrs. John Magee, superintendent and matron of the Middlesex County Home, Haddam, and their daughter, Miss Dorothy, also Reuben Bosley and John White, of Hebron.

Ed Lindholm read a large group of original rhymes, telling all the secrets of the members, a girls' quartet sang and then the whole group pantomimed a huskiness while Eugene Thompson read "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin." Mr. Hilliard's group featured a birthday party and the stage was very pretty with candle lights and big yellow chrysanthemums. Behind the curtain was drawn we heard from behind the scenes a trumpet solo "The Star Spangled Banner" after which the curtains parted and Amy Randall stepped to the front dressed as "Liberty" and sang "As the Flag Passed By." This was followed by a reading by Mrs. Jennie Brown, another by Mildred Leary and a violin solo by Everett Hutchinson, a duet by Worthy Lecturer Sister Stowes of Central Pomona, Worthy Lecturer Sister Church of Twinnebaug Pomona and Brother Harold Allen, assistant steward of East Central Pomona varied the first choice to Mr. Nelson's group though they were very close in marking. The losing groups will put on a supper in the near future for the winning group. The working unit served home made doughnuts and coffee after the meeting closed.

The next regular meeting to be held November 20 will be the annual election of officers.

Mrs. Nellie Tuttle is back at her son's Donald Tuttle, after a two months' visit in Hartford. Little Barbara White is recovering from an infected knee. Olive Tuttle will entertain on Wednesday a group of children at her home here in honor of her seventh birthday.

Mrs. Helen Gatchell has received word of the serious illness of her father, Mr. Orris at Long Beach, California.

Mrs. Clifton Church and son Bernard of Chapin and Mrs. Alice Smith and friend of Springfield and Mrs. Emma Hall of East Hartford were recent callers on Mrs. Mary Holt at the home of Mrs. Allen Holmes. Mrs. Holt celebrated her 87th birthday on November 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Thompson received word of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Thompson, Jr., of Chancellors, Va., born Tuesday morning, November 7. Both Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are Andover and young people. Mrs. Thompson before her marriage was Miss Dorothy Cook, daughter of Edwin Cook. Mr. Thompson is superintendent of a large forestry estate in Chancellors, Va. Mrs. Thompson named her son, Roger Walker Thompson.

MOTHERS' CLUB PLANS MEETING FOR FRIDAY

Mrs. Mabel G. French, Graduate of London College of Music, Will be Speaker.

The Manchester Mothers' Club will hold its monthly meeting at the Center Congregational church, Friday evening, November 10, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Mabel G. French, L. L. C. M. will be the speaker. Mrs. French is well known in Manchester and Hartford, having appeared in musical programs on several occasions. She is accompanist for the Holywood Quartet and the Pratt and Whitney Choral Club, and is a graduate of the London College of Music in England.

Her subject Friday evening will be, "Music and the Child," bringing out the educational side of music as well as the cultural side. She will devote the latter part of the program to pianoforte selections from the master composers, Beethoven, Schubert and Chopin; also the more modern composers, Tchaikowsky, Liszt and Debussy and Sibelius.

Mrs. W. G. Crawford will be chairman of the hostesses, who are Mrs. Joseph Telford, Mrs. E. J. McIntosh, Mrs. Axel Carlson, Mrs. W. R. Mitchell, Mrs. Fred Strong, Mrs. Levi Wheaton, Mrs. J. C. Cary, Mrs. William McCann, Mrs. George E. Wallace, and Mrs. George E. Arnold.

HEBRON

Robert Schuyler, an employee on the farm of First Selectman Claude W. Jones, is limping about with a crutch because of a recent accident. Schuyler got one foot caught in a tractor in operation on the farm and was thrown and twisted about violently. Fortunately he suffered only bruises, but for a time it looked as if he would not escape with his life.

Fred Davis, a student at the Watkinson School, Hartford, spent the week-end with his former guardian, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Kibbee, Mr. and Mrs. John Magee, superintendent and matron of the Middlesex County Home, Haddam, and their daughter, Miss Dorothy, also Reuben Bosley and John White, of Hebron.

Professor Eugene P. Chase, of Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., visited his country home here over the week-end. He also visited his father, who has just been operated on at a Hartford hospital. The father's condition is said to be very favorable.

N. J. Uhl, of near Westville, O., works a bull and a horse together as a harness team.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

On Ozmo Island all the bunch soon landed. One said, "I've a hunch that we will see some strange things here. Let's start to walk around."

"The trees seem funny as can be. They're just like clouds if you ask me. I hope some friendly person very shortly will be found."

Then Scouty said, "A hike's all right, but first let's fix our log real tight. You see, we may not want to stay on this place very long."

"If we find there is nothing here, or find something that will cause fear, we'll want to come back to our log and travel right along."

And so, they pushed the log into the island. "There, that ought to do," said Doty. "Now, come following me. I'll gladly take the lead. 'I'm just a wee bit frightened. Yet, there's no real cause for it, I'll bet. If we all hope to see new sights, it's courage that we need.' They walked for just a little while and then one 'Tny' with a smile, said, 'I just felt one of the trees. Each one is just a cloud.' 'For goodness' sakes, don't touch them now. We'll get into a mess again,' said Cobby. 'How do we know? Maybe touching's not allowed.' Just then the Tinies heard a sound and, as they turned and looked around, two little fellows ran out from behind a great big tree. 'Well, who are you?' said Cobby. 'Say, we hope that you'll join us in play. We hoped that we would find someone. We're happy as can be.' 'I'm Rattle,' one wee man replied. 'I'm Rumble, miss,' the other cried. 'We're servants of the Thunder Man, who lives here in the sky. 'If you would like to meet him, you must do just as we say to do. Then we will gladly introduce you to him, by and by.' (The Tinies arrive at the Thunder Man's home in the next story.)

SENSE and NONSENSE

Florence—I shouldn't dream of marrying such an intellectual monstrosity and physical mist as you—on no-account nit-wit! Do you get me?

Alexander—From the general trend of your remarks, I should judge not.

Americanism: Complaining about the summer heat at home; traveling hundreds of miles in winter to bask in tropical sunshine.

Antonio Scraggs: When I asked Antonio Scraggs why he called out: "Bottles and rags," his smile was sad as he wagged his head, "Wherever there are bottles, there are rags," he said.

"There are counterfeit Blue Eagles". But you can tell the earned ones by the unusual size of the bill.

Business Man—Get my broker, Miss Jones?

Stenographer—Yes sir. Stock or paws?

Officers with drawn swords and soldiers with fixed bayonets formed the guard of honor at a recent wedding in Paris. It turned out that such a military display was unnecessary, however, as the bridegroom chose to go quietly.

Florence—So the Sanders had to sell their beautiful summer place in the country?

Elizabeth—Yes, so many of their friends came to visit them that they saw they would go bankrupt if they kept the place.

"Age don't change men as much as we think." An old fool isn't much different from a young fool."

Professor (after a very bad recitation)—Class is dismissed; don't flap your ears as you go out.

Adelaide—Ambrose used to be quite talkative but lately he manages to keep his mouth shut.

Pennington—He's afraid someone will see all that gold in his mouth and accuse him of hoarding.

Teacher—Junior, I think I'll keep you in after school.

Junior—It won't do you no good; I'm a woman hater.

Clerk—A very handsome woman, that Mrs. Miller.

Grover—You ought to have seen her fifteen or twenty years ago, when she was ten years younger.

Teacher—What is a censor?

Oswald—A censor is a man that goes from house to house to increase the population.

Our idea of a shell-shock is something that the cook suffers when she cracks open an ancient egg.

Eve—Look here, Adam, I will do my own shopping after this.

Adam—What's the matter?

Eve—The last skirt you got for me was poison ivy instead of Ag leaves.

There never was a product made, this truth you must confess, but what some bird could make it worse and sell his stuff for less.

CLEAN FOOTBALL by JOCK SUTHERLAND
FAMOUS PITTSBURGH COACH

A LOT of dirty football players are experts in their line. They can pull off unfair tricks in a pile-up that the keen-eyed referee cannot detect.

A good knowledge of self-defense is valuable to a player, if he is playing against just such an opponent. A fellow who can roll away from a punch and throw his opponent off balance can put him down under the pile-up.

I don't mean to advocate an "eye for eye" policy in this connection, but I do believe that a dirty player who persists in punching all through a hard-fought football game should be punished when he is guilty and after his offenses have been reported repeatedly by officials.

Sketch shows how to avoid a straight punch and upset the opponent with a low charge.

GIRLS FRIENDLY GROUP OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY

Social Hour in Celebration of 27th Year Held Following Business Meeting.

The Girls' Friendly Society of St.

Mary's church celebrated its 27th anniversary Monday, November 6, with a social which followed the regular business meeting. The new G. F. S. room was attractively and appropriately decorated in blue and yellow; the colors of the society.

At the close of the business meeting a group of Younger Members, under the direction of Associate Margaret Stratton, enacted the meeting of the first Girls' Friendly Society 27 years ago. During the roll call of this "early meeting", Mrs. Howard Briggs, an active and appreciated member of the society since it was founded was presented with a lovely bouquet of autumn pom-poms.

Florence Cockerham and her assistants served the members with baked beans hot rolls, jelly, and tea. As the last course was being served, the lights were turned low and a large, lighted, birthday cake was placed in the center of the seated group.

Tickets for the play "The Merry Widow" have been distributed among the members. It is to be given November 24 at eight p. m.
