McLEVY TAKES OVER BRIDGEPORT OFFICE

First Socialist to Win Mayoral Race in State Is Inaugurated— Full Text of His Address.

Bridgeport, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Jasper McLevy, first Socialist to win a mayoral race in Connecticut, took over the affairs of the third largest city in the state today and warned that "ample and prudent planning for the immediate future is imperative."

The elimination of unnecessary municipal offices, establishment of civil service and merit system in all departments, itemized accounts of all public expenditures and strict adherence to the city charter were promised by the 55-year old mayor as he was inducted into the mayoralty for a two year term.

McLevy, who achieved the mayoralty after nine previous defeats, told the large crowd in the auditorium of Central High school that the administration would plan "an important part in caring for our unfortunate citizens who are the victims of the breakdown of the industrial system."

"I believe," he said "that the city should take advantage of the Federal Unemployment Relief Act to the end that as many of our citizens as possible can be given employment on vital and necessary and public improvements."

Lower Rates
The administration will also strive to secure lower public utility rates and will wholeheartedly cooperate with other towns working to that end, or to the ultimate goal of complete municipal ownership of public utilities.

His face tanned and deeply lined by years of exposure during the pursuit of his trade, the son of a Scotch dominie was sworn in by Fred Schwarzkopf after the latter had been inducted into office as the new Socialist town clerk. Socialists also took over most of the other important city posts.

Mayor McLevy's first official act, was to issue a proclamation urging

GOVERNOR SETTLES PACKING CO. STRIKE

2,500 Employees Decide to Go Back to Work Following a Conference.

Austin, Minn., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Agreement to arbitrate differences between 2,500 employees and the George A. Hormel and Company packing plant here was reached early today after a long series of conferences with Governor Floyd B. Olson.

The decision virtually ended the strike as the workers agreed to arbitrate the grievances of the men, who, after asking an increase of ten cents an hour in wages and being refused, had seized the company's plant for a time Saturday, the day the strike began.

Gov. Olson came here last night to direct the negotiations for a settlement, and after numerous meetings with both sides, agreement finally was reached to submit the matter to the state commission.

Another Conference
While leaders of the workers accepted the plan, along with the company's board of directors, the former said it would be submitted to a mass meeting of the employees later today for formal ratification.

Pickets who had been placed at the packing house were withdrawn. The agreement includes a plan to take back the workers as rapidly as possible without discrimination. It also provides for drafting of a code by the industrial commission to insure a collective bargaining system.

BERGIN APPOINTED TO FEDERAL POST

Majority Leader of State Senate Named District Attorney.

New Haven, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Senator Frank S. Bergin, majority leader in the State Senate and chairman of the State Liquor Control Commission, has been appointed district attorney for Connecticut.

His appointment, announced last night from the White House, dropped the third major plum from the rich tree of Federal patronage into the laps of the "New Guard" of Connecticut's democracy.

Archibald McNeil, National commander and leader of the New Guard, said: "Naturally, I am greatly pleased with the news of the appointment, for which we have been working since spring. Senator Bergin is ideally equipped for the office of district attorney, and his appointment will bring credit to the administration."

"He had the endorsement of Mrs. Fannie Dixon Welch and myself, as members of the Democratic National committee, and others have been active in the so-called New Guard wing of the party."

"Easier a Surprise?"
The new district attorney himself, however, termed the appointment "rather a surprise, although it was expected," and declined to make any comment.

This "New Guard" appointment followed that of Dr. Edward G. Dolan as collector of internal revenue, and Mrs. Fannie Dixon Welch as collector of customs. The post of United States marshal alone remained of the major offices to be filled.

GOVERNMENT BUYS PORK FOR NEEDY

10,000 Hogs Purchased on Chicago Market to Break Sellers' Strike.

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Agents of the Federal Surplus Relief Administration and the Farm Credit Administration purchased 10,000 hogs on the Chicago market last Saturday, at from $4.35 to $4.50 for hogs averaging 250 pounds each.

Although denials of such purchases were made Saturday, it was asserted by the relief agency today that the purchases—by Captain E. H. Cope, assistant director of procurement for the Surplus Relief Corporation, and S. U. Baxter, of the Farm Credit Administration—relieved a situation created by a sellers' strike on the Chicago market.

Few Purchases.
For several days there have been no sizable purchases on the Chicago market, and it was stated today that when the two men went to Chicago to handle distribution of wheat allotted for animal feed in drought areas, they found such a serious situation that they asked permission to intervene and it was given.

The meat from the hogs will be cured as smoked Wiltshire sides by a Chicago packing house and will be distributed to needy unemployed. The announcement today said that processing had been arranged for and that the action was a part of a joint program of the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

2,000 Women Steal Flowers From Tex Guinan's Coffin

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Miss Guinan suffered cuts that required hospital treatment. A Broadway funeral parlor was jammed with stage folk and others for the services yesterday.

No sooner had Miss Guinan been laid to rest in the hillside vault than women by the hundreds jumped out of hurriedly parked cars. Stumbling, losing their hats in the rush, they swept aside a dozen policemen and jammed into the vault. Then they ran out, clutching sprays of orchids, chrysanthemums and roses.

Cuban Citizens Run For Lives To Escape Shells

Routed from their homes by shot and shell, inhabitants in the vicinity of Fort Atares, Havana, are pictured fleeing for their lives as government troops began bombarding the fort in an attempt to rout rebels holding it. This was during the latest uprising in which more than 60 were killed and hundreds wounded.

TREASURY IS BACKING GOLD BUYING POLICY

Secretary Woodin Tells Reporters He Is Heartily in Favor of Program—Denies Rumors.

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—A vigorous denial that the Treasury is opposing President Roosevelt's gold buying policy was made today by Secretary Woodin.

Coincident with another increase in the RFC purchase price for newly mined gold to $33.45 an ounce, the Secretary of the Treasury was a white House visitor. Later he called reporters to his desk at the Treasury and said:

"The President has been good enough to consult with me in his program."
"I am heartily in sympathy with all his policies and will back them to the limit."

Published Reports
The move apparently was occasioned by published reports that Secretary Woodin, as well as Governor Black of the Federal Reserve Board and Henry Bruere were not in sympathy with the government's monetary program.

Woodin said he was speaking only as Secretary of the Treasury and for the Treasury Department itself.

He expressed dissatisfaction that rumors of discord between the various fiscal agencies of the government had arisen from time to time, declaring these deterrents to business recovery.

But One Point
It developed further that the Treasury has raised but one point throughout the government's gold buying program—that of its legality—which the Department of Justice has found to come within the law.

The secretary promised further that the gold policy would be elucidated at a conference which he will hold with the press later on in the week.

PRESIDENT BLUFFING
London, Nov. 13.—(AP)—British treasury officials, says the Daily Mail, are beginning to think President Roosevelt was bluffing about buying gold abroad.

"They think, inasmuch as no trace of gold purchases by the President can be found, that he merely was relying on the psychological effect of a bluff to depreciate the dollar," the Mail added.

NEW FEDERAL ACT TO CREATE JOBS

All State Highway Departments Ordered to List Small Jobs at Once.

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—In a move to create employment through road building, T. H. MacDonald—chief of the Bureau of Public Roads—today called upon all State Highway Departments to submit by wire projects for each county in their jurisdiction to cost up to $5,000.

To highway department heads, he wired the Federal Relief Administration through its local agencies would furnish sixty-five per cent of the cost and that there would be a set-up of "Federal funds in the State Highway Departments possibly to the extent of thirty-five per cent of the total expenditures."

The program will be under general supervision of maintenance officials of State Highway Departments and will be in supplement to the bureau's main $400,000,000 program, under way for months.

The work will include: Grading and draining roads and streets, widening shoulders of highways, widening inside curves and flattening bank slopes, laying the underdrains, constructing cobble-gutters, fencing right-of-way, constructing dry masonry guard walls, surfacing and resurfacing with local material, and with material supplied from other than relief funds, roadside cleanup and cutting brush and trees, building footpaths on outlying streets and suburban roads, clearing up streets and trimming trees, producing road and maintenance material.

Answer By Wire
Macdonald urged state highway departments to recommend such projects by wire, selecting six or eight per county and more if necessary in the more populous counties, and added:

"This is a big order, but on the November 10th I received from Mr. Ickes the following letter dated November 9, 1933:

"On October 7 I wrote you relative to the lag at that time in your state between public works approval of recovery highway projects and the placing of these projects under actual construction."

"I note as of Nov. 8 that road contracts have been awarded in your state in the amount of $572,000. This is approximately 19.9 per cent of the funds allotted to Connecticut by Public Works Administration for highway purposes, which money has been available since July."

"It further appears that the amount of your allotment which has

GERMANY VOTES 90 P. C. TO BACK CHANCELLOR

Arms Parley Doomed, Say Italy and Hungary

Geneva, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Italy's contention that the present disarmament conference is sterile without the presence of Germany was backed up by Hungary today.

As a result, observers said they believe present negotiations were doomed to failure in their existent form.

The Hungarian effective committee announced that it would maintain the attitude of an observer strictly and Italy announced that it ignored everything approved by the great powers since July 15, when Germany accepted the original plan of Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain as a basis for discussion.

This means that Hungary, like Italy, deems that the conference without Germany is sterile and Italy rejects the London and Paris agreements and the plan of Sir John Simon of Great Britain which was submitted the day Germany left the League.

Meanwhile, today, delegates were concentrating on expected proposals from Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany. It was reported in German circles that Hitler will offer France a non-aggression pact preliminary to talking disarmament from a fresh angle.

General Zeigler of Hungary said "we cannot take a positive attitude because of the special position of Hungary. Moreover, it is undesirable to discuss the problems at present."

Hand Picked Candidates Win as There Was No Other Ticket in Field—Largest Voting Turnout in History of the Reich.

Berlin, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Elected by a nearly unanimous ballot, 661 Nazis and near-Nazis will march into the Kroll Opera House on or about December 1 for the opening session of the largest Reichstag ever assembled.

There is one seat there for every 60,000 votes cast in the election yesterday and hence the largest voting turnout in German history also means the largest number of seats ever elected.

Not only the great election of Reichstag representatives was heartening to Chancellor Hitler and his aides, but also the overwhelming vote on the plebiscite which showed more than 90 per cent of German voters were favorable to the governmental policies advocated by their chancellor.

All Hand Picked
Despite their number, nothing but a unanimous vote may ever be expected on any measure proposed by the government, all are hand-picked men, "blindly devoted to Chancellor Hitler's policies," as described on November 11 by Rudolf Hess, official head of the Nazi Party.

The Kroll Opera House will continue as the meeting place of the Reichstag because the plenary hall of the Reichstag building had not yet been rebuilt following the incendiary fire last February.

Hitler's first visit after the election yesterday, was to President von Hindenburg, to whom he officially reported the result of the ballot. They discussed pending political questions.

Issue Statement
An official communique stated: "President von Hindenburg heartily expressed his deepest gratitude and highest appreciation of Chancellor Hitler's accomplishments in unifying the German people. He voiced the confident hope that the tasks at home and abroad would be consummated successfully and rebound to the blessing of the fatherland."

The Boerse was stimulated by the election results and by declining foreign sales.

Although the new members of the Reichstag are hand-picked, not quite all are actual members of the Nazi Party. All of them have professed adherence to Hitler, however, and the presence of the non-Nazis is not regarded as likely to lead to the introduction of any anti-government proposals in the Reichstag.

Hitler is now armed with the almost unanimous support of his people to press his bold drive toward a new deal for Germany.

More than 90 per cent of the qualified voters cast ballots in yesterday's Reichstag election and foreign policy plebiscite—and well over 90 per cent of those electors rung up a resounding "Ja!" for the chancellor and his program.

Today the entire nation joined in a celebration of the event hailed by Nazi party leaders as a "miracle of Germany becoming one people."

No sooner had the result been indicated than Propaganda Minister Goebbels called for a day long demonstration.

Jubilant Nazis saw Hitler increase the party following from 17 to 40 million voters as they contrasted yesterday's results with the elections of last March 5.

Besides he got another Reichstag which will take orders willingly.

For the Nazi slate of Reichstag candidates the vote as reported by Wolff's Agency was 39,621,437 or 92.2 per cent of the total ballots cast; invalid votes 3,248,125 or 7.8 per cent. It was a total vote of 42,869,562.

As To Foreign Policy
In the plebiscite by which the nation approved Hitler's foreign policy stand, the count was "yes" 40,583,430 or 93.5 per cent. "No," 2,287,130 or 4.7 per cent. Invalid vote 789,999 or 1.8 per cent. Total 43,425,299.

Unmarked ballots or those which were not marked properly or were marked were thrown out as invalid.

The plebiscite was interpreted as approval of Germany's withdrawal from the League of Nations, of her breakaway from the disarmament conference—and it was interpreted, too, as ratification of Hitler.

Separated Seventeen Years Hitch Hiking Brothers Meet

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Two men hitch-hiked into Raleigh last night, one from the North and one from the South, two of a small army wandering restlessly as winter approaches.

Separately they sought shelter from a chilly night in a Salvation Army hall.

Preparing to take a bath, they met in the bathroom. An incredulous look came on their faces. Louis had never stopped forward

ATTORNEY ACCUSED OF BEATING WOMAN

Wife of Retired Naval Commander Causes Arrest of Prominent Lawyer

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Keith Carlin, 41 member of a prominent Virginia family, and an attorney in the Internal Revenue Bureau, was at liberty today under a $1,000 bond on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Marne Frazer, 31, wife of a retired naval commander.

Carlin is the son of Charles R. Carlin, former member of the House of Representatives from Virginia, and now publisher of the Alexandria, Va., Gazette.

Mrs. Frazer, the wife of Lt. Commander Hugh Frazer, retired, in her charge against Carlin asserted that he had beaten her severely about the eyes and face during a struggle in his apartment about 1 a. m., yesterday morning.

During the struggle Mrs. Frazer told headquarters detectives, most of her clothes were torn off, and she was forced to run from Carlin's apartment virtually unclothed.

Detective William J. Dubusky, who took Carlin into custody, said Mrs. Frazer told him several of Carlin's friends had been at his apartment during the evening, but that he had insisted she remain behind when they left.

The Green Sewing Club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Irving Wickham, Jr., of 71 Bridge street.

SAYS POLITICAL CLUB NOT A PATRIOTIC CLUB Mayor Buckley Makes Ruling on Hartford Application for Liquor Permit.

Hartford, Nov. 13.—(AP)—A Republican club is not a patriotic organization within the meaning of the State Liquor Control Law. The Liquor Control Commission at a hearing today had before it consideration of an application for permit for a Republican Club, based on the contention that it is a patriotic organization.

"Good a Republican as I claim to be I cannot subscribe to the principle that only Republicans are patriotic," said Mayor John Buckley, adding that he hesitated to take on Chairman Frank S. Bergin, Democrat in executive session, on that theory.

SURRENDERS TO POLICE Waterbury, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Imprisonment at home is better than liberty in distant lands believes Lettore Fontana, 22, of 986 South Main street, fugitive from Cheshire Reformatory who "bummed" his way back from Mexico had before it consideration of an application for permit for a Republican Club, based on the contention that it is a patriotic organization.

Fontana, hungry, shabby and worn from more than 10,000 miles of freight train riding walked into the detective bureau here at 11 o'clock this morning and said to Detective William Follard.

"Here I am Bill, I knew you'd get me sooner or later so I came back to face the music."

Fontana escaped from Cheshire Reformatory December 27th, 1932.

ATTORNEY HOUSE DESCRIBES TRIP

He and College Chums "Rough It" On Way to California.

Attorney Charles S. House, son of Herbert B. House, gave in the limited time that was allotted him at the Kiwanis club meeting today, an interesting and graphic account of his trip to California last summer, during which he and several college chums camped out at night and enjoyed the novel experience of "roughing it."

Attorney House, a Harvard graduate, made the transcontinental trip in a Ford automobile and only twice spent the night in a hotel. Once as when he viewed the World's Fair at Chicago.

California "burned" Looking upon the natural splendors of Yosemite National Park, the Grand Canyon and other scenic spots of majestic beauty, Attorney House was able to see the country at a minimum of expense. He said that after hearing about the wonders of California he was disappointed to find that state "burned down" because of a few months' drought. New England showers were needed there, the young lawyer said, and he longed once more to see the verdant hills and fertile fields of Connecticut.

Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego and other California cities were visited by the university men, and then the return trip was made by boat via the Panama Canal. The owner of the automobile lives in California. While homeward bound, the young travelers took the opportunity to stop off on a route, and thus they visited Panama, Honduras, Nicaragua and other isthmus countries. The people in those coun-

WOODS FIRE DESTROYS 12 HOMES IN OAKLAND

Oakland, Cal., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Fire in the heavily wooded Oakland hills destroyed about a dozen homes and caused an exodus of several hundred residents today. It swept quickly out of control while a general call for assistance was being sent out.

Fire fighters said the home of Mrs. Joseph Miller, widow of the poet, was destroyed, but that "The Abbey" where Miller once lived apparently had escaped. The studio of Grace Fountain, widely known artist, was among the first structures to burn.

Emergency calls were sent out for Civilian Conservation Corps workers, all available ambulances and firemen not on regular duty.

The fire originated in eucalyptus and redwood timber in the Sequoia park region and soon spread more than half a mile, fanned by a north wind.

LUMBER WHOLESALERS PROTEST TRADE CODES

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—With protests of wholesale dealers and contractors against the retail lumber and building material code before it, the hearing on proposed changes in the document was recessed several hours today to give the complainants an opportunity to iron out their difficulties.

Wholesalers and contractors joined against the inclusion of the former in any code which is designed to regulate the retail business.

Representing the Association of General Contractors, B. L. Knowles, of Worcester, Mass., declared that inclusion of wholesaler dealers in the retail code "is an attempt to create an artificial monopoly and, if permitted, would force every wholesaler out of business."

M. G. Truman, wholesale dealer of Chicago, characterized the proposal "as regulation without representation."

Harris G. Gilman, Fitchburg, Mass., and J. W. Garrity, Boston, both wholesalers, agreed their business needs a "wholesale authority" but demanded freedom from retail supervision.

Deputy Administrator Ralph Fogge recessed the hearing later in the day, echoing the statement of William Compton of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, and others that wholesalers and retailers should be able to come to an agreement "without much difficulty."

Caught After 9 Years in Attic

Hidden in the attic of his mother's home for nine years, Charles Youngblood was arrested on a charge of slaying his young wife, in February, 1924. Barsford, pale as a ghost, he was captured by Nashville, Tenn., deputies, and is shown, with his captors, trying to conceal his face. The suspect, who had stepped out of the house in all his years of hiding, relatives said. He goes on trial soon.

VICTIM DESCRIBES KIDNAPING PLOT

Tells Court One of Captors Offered to Help Him If Ever in Jam.

St. Paul, Nov. 13.—(AP)—An offer to help him if he "ever got into a jam" was extended to William Hamm, Jr., by his kidnapers when he was held hostage for $100,000 last June, the millionaire St. Paul brewer testified in Federal Court today. "Sunday, June 18," Hamm testified during the trial of four Chicago gangsters charged with kidnaping him, "a man came to me and said 'I have good news for you. We leave tonight. You better shave.'"

"Two or possibly three men then ordered me to take off my clothes and walk to the wall. I understood and I guess they searched my clothes. Then one of them said as far as they were concerned, I was immune. One of them said 'if you ever get into a jam, we will do all we can to help you out.'"

Hamm, chief government witness, testified as the trial resumed after being in recess since Friday. He told of his seizure and trip to a hideout believed near Beloit, Wis., and said he could not identify a picture as being that of the car in which he was taken away.

He told of his seizure and trip to a hideout believed near Beloit, Wis., and said he could not identify a picture as being that of the car in which he was taken away.

Hamm said two men helped him out of the car at the hideout and that he was positive a woman led him upstairs with two men following.

In a second story bedroom, he said, he was offered a pork sandwich and a glass of milk and a few minutes later undressed and went to bed with cotton lined goggles on his eyes.

Under cross examination in a packed courtroom guarded by officials, Hamm retorted previous testimony that one of the defendants, Edward McFadden "resembled" one of the men who accosted him last June 15 and compelled him to enter an automobile.

"You are unable to identify the second man?" defense counsel asked. "Absolutely, yes," Hamm answered.

The defendants are McFadden, Gustav Schaeffer and Willie Sharkey.

Hamm was suffering from a severe cold and sore throat and once interrupted examination to ask Judge M. M. Joyce for a glass of water.

George Sullivan, United States district attorney, brought out from Hamm that $100,000 was paid for his freedom. Hamm testified "none of the money ever has been returned to me."

17 CHILDREN BURNED Ponce, Puerto Rico, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Seventeen persons, mostly children between the ages of four and nine years, were severely burned today when an improvised motion picture house, operated by children, burned at Caguas.

Because snakes in a San Antonio reptile garden showed a preference for brown rats, children collected 15 cents a pair for rodents delivered.

OBITUARY

ALLEN DOUGHERTY DIES IN N. J.; FUNERAL HERE

Word was received in town today of the death this morning in Nutley, N. J., of Allen Dougherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Dougherty, of Hartford, formerly of Manchester. Death took Mr. Dougherty in his 35th year after a brief illness of pneumonia. He was married and leaves his wife and three children. Mr. Dougherty was born in Manchester, his mother being the former Miss Catherine Young of Manchester Green. The body will be brought to the Dillon Funeral home in Hartford and the funeral will be held Wednesday morning at St. James' R. C. church here. Burial will be in St. James' cemetery.

DEATHS

Mrs. Margaret Kellner, of 63 Union street, died at the Manchester Memorial hospital, yesterday morning at 8:20 after a lingering illness that had extended over a period of three years, but which became more acute recently, making it necessary for her removal to the hospital.

Born in Leeds, N. Y., May 31, 1878, she moved with her family when a young girl to Rockville and in that city in 1899 she was married to Charles Kellner. They moved to Manchester a few years after their marriage and have since continued to make this town their home.

Five children were born. The children are: Mrs. Eva Schroem, Mrs. Margaret Gaby, Mrs. Katherine Felchner, and Calvin Kellner, of New York city and Harry Kellner of New Haven, also thirteen grandchildren; two cousins, Mrs. Oscar Szymender of Philadelphia and Mrs. Jacob Wagner of Stafford Springs.

Mrs. Kellner was a member of the Woman's Benefit Society and the North Methodist church and previous to her illness was active in both.

The funeral will be held at the Leclerc funeral chapel on North Main street Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and at 2:30 from the North Methodist church. Burial will be in Grove Hill cemetery, Rockville. The funeral chapel will be opened Monday and Tuesday for the convenience of friends who wish to view the body, the hours being from 8:30 to 9 o'clock.

FUNERALS

Charles R. Griffith Funeral services for Charles R. Griffith, of 55 Pleasant street, were held Saturday afternoon at the Dugan Funeral Home on Holl street. Burial was in the West cemetery. Rev. T. Stuart Neill, of St. Mary's Episcopal church, officiated and the burial service was in charge of Manchester Lodge of Masons.

Parish attendees at the services and the number of the floral tributes attested to the high esteem in which Mr. Griffith was held by his associates. The bearers were: Carl Carlson, Joseph Sharpe, Fred Sankey, Harold Garrity, James Egan and Arthur Coseo. Burial was in the Buckland cemetery.

William F. Isleib The funeral of William F. Isleib, of 24 Madison street, who died suddenly Saturday morning, will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home at 2 o'clock. Rev. Watson Woodruff of the Center Congregational church will officiate. Interment will be in the East cemetery.

DISMISSED FEDERAL OFFICIAL Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes today dismissed Harry S. Berry, public works engineer for the state of Tennessee, asserting that Berry in a circular letter to civic organizations had expressed the opinion loans for non-Federal projects would not have to be repaid.

The circular letter, a statement by Ickes said, was written on a letter-head of the Tennessee State Public Works Advisory Board.

The secretary reiterated the loans made by the public works administration "are loans the government expects to be repaid."

PINCHOT APPEALS FOR BOOZE CONTROL

Will Keep Needy Profits from his proposed state liquor stores would yield further unemployment relief, permit partial pensions for old age and a preliminary study of unemployment insurance.

Beyond announcing that either the state liquor stores or tax on liquor must provide $20,000,000 for unemployment relief by next spring, in addition to the $25,000,000 bond issue just voted, the governor did not indicate what tax the state should levy on liquor to be manufactured after next spring.

In listing his 13 pressing problems for this special session, the governor bitterly denounced deputies employed by soft coal and steel companies of western Pennsylvania; held them responsible for wanton killing and shooting for beatings which narrowly missed plunging the whole of Western Pennsylvania into chaos and strife; and urged Legislature to prohibit these "private armies" x x x "trained to look for trouble and eager to find it."

Discussing milk control which the 1933 session debated and investigated without producing regulatory laws, the governor said:

"Milk producers and milk consumers in Pennsylvania have long suffered unjustly from an unfair distribution of costs and profits. On the whole, many consumers have paid too much, many distributors have profited too much and many farmers have received less than they should for their milk x x x to deal fairly with the consumer, producer and dealer, much legislation is required. The profits of the dealers should be restricted to a reasonable point, and the receipts of the carriers should be increased to a reasonable point, and the benefits of milk to the consumer should be kept down. I recommend the creation of a milk control board."

FURTHER PLANS OF NRA Chicago, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace envisioned today a complete control, acre by acre, of all America's farm land with only rich soil used for farming and the remainder devoted to forests, recreation, residence and the like.

"The things which this administration has done thus far in 1933 may seem spectacular but they are only a faint foreshadowing of some of the things which will ultimately be necessary before the United States has finally made for herself her new true place in the family of nations," Wallace said.

YUGO-SLAVIAN LEGATION IN ROME UNDER GUARD

Rome, Nov. 13.—(AP)—A strong guard was placed in the neighborhood of the Yugo-Slavian Legation today as a result of the Italian rejection of a anti-Italian demonstration in Belgrade.

The Belgrade demonstration marked the anniversary of the Treaty of Rapallo between Italy and YugoSlavia by which Fiume was ceded to Italy and Borash to YugoSlavia.

Local newspapers gave the demonstration much front page space, accompanying the reports with bitter editorials.

The incident was considered in diplomatic quarters as particularly unfortunate at this time because of the presence in Rome of the Yugo-Slavian commercial mission headed by Commerce Minister Pilja.

The hope has been entertained that this mission might settle the commercial difficulties between the two countries, thus paving the way toward a settlement of their political difficulties.

Virginio Gayda, writing in Giornale D'Italia, said however: "We, therefore, are faced with an act of deliberate and ostentatious aggression against Italy, a violent and stupid provocation, and an irrevocable affirmation of war for imperialistic purposes."

"Once more, Serbia, by these manifestations, reveals herself as the dangerous powder magazine of Europe."

TWO HURT IN CRASH Westport, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Two Waterbury women were injured when their automobile overturned in the Post Road in Greens Farms early this morning.

Miss Marion C. Bagley, 25, of 12 Laurel street, Waterbury, told police the right wheels of the machine swung off the shoulder of the road and in an effort to return to the highway, the vehicle turned sharply and overturned.

Miss Bagley and a companion, Evelyn Lawlor, 25, of 47 Wildwood avenue, Waterbury, received minor cuts and bruises and suffered shock.

TO PRESENT TWO PLAYS TO AID SUNDAY SCHOOL

North Methodist Officers and Teachers Giving Program Tomorrow Evening.

Mark Holmes and his associate officers and teachers of the North Methodist church school is arranging an unusually interesting program for tomorrow evening, the object of which is to raise funds for the depleted school treasury. He has secured the consent of the Friendly Class of the Union Congregational church of Rockville to repeat a program they gave recently with good success. It will consist of solo dances by Priscilla Roberts Turner, readings by Marilyn Wells, trumpet selections by William Herzog and Frederick Schlott, and two plays, "The Minister's New Car" and "They Made an Impression."

Mrs. Mary Gregus directs the former, which is reported to be a scream from start to finish.

Mrs. Gregus takes a prominent part and the others in the cast include Mrs. Hattie Kingston, Miss Grace Bell, Miss Priscilla and Miss Wilma Szaolanti, Miss Helen Kynoch, Miss Gertrude Fuller, Miss Elizabeth Drummond, Mrs. Dorothy Stoneman, Mrs. Alice Wells. In the other play, "They Made an Impression," Miss Bell, Miss Drummond, Miss Stoneman, Miss Kynoch, Miss Wilma Szaolanti and Mrs. Kingston play the different parts.

The admission is nominal so that whole families may attend. However, home made candy, cake and coffee will be sold, and tables arranged around the large vestry for guests

THE BARGAIN HOUND

Looking for a roaster, big or small, for your Thanksgiving turkey? There are some very good reasonably priced ones at the Blish Hardware Company.

For Wilhelm's Apples—6 large cooking apples, 9 Holland rusks, 1-2 cup strawberry or raspberry jam, 3 tbsps. butter, 1 cup water. Core and peel apples. Crumble three rusks fine and mix with jam and butter. Fill cored apples with this mixture and place each on a rusk. Place in a buttered baking dish, pour water over them and bake covered in a moderate oven (375 degrees F) 30 minutes or until apples are tender. Uncover and brown in a hot oven (450 degrees F). Serve in the baking dish. 6 portions.

The newest thing in jewelry is an orchid pin, a small cylinder of gold, silver or green enamel about three and one-half inches long with a long thin pin down the back. A single orchid without ribbon or greens is placed in this cylinder with its closed lower end and the orchid wrapped in moist cotton is kept fresh and protected.

It's not too early to buy your Christmas cards, especially those that are to be sent to distant points. The Dewey-Richman Company has an unusually good selection including a few cards in French, German and Swedish.

When your cake recipe calls for 1-3 cup butter, an easy way to measure it is to fill a cup 3-4 full of water and add enough butter to bring the water to the top of the cup.

NORTHERN IRELAND LECTURE TUESDAY

Rev. Robt. Bell to Give Illustrated Talk at St. Mary's Tomorrow Night.

Rev. Robert Bell, of the Church of the Epiphany, New Haven, will deliver an illustrated stereopticon and moving picture lecture tomorrow, Tuesday evening, at 8:00 o'clock, at St. Mary's Parish House.

McLEVY TAKES OVER BRIDGEPORT OFFICE

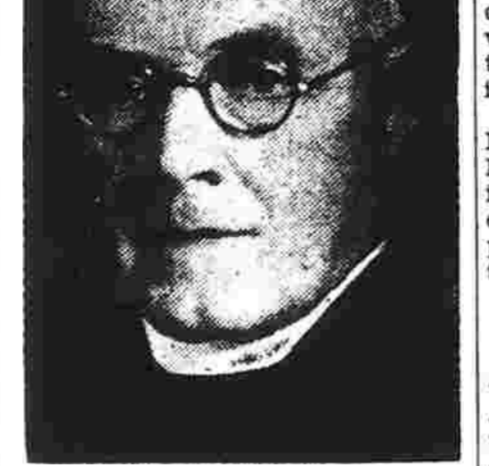

Bridgeport citizens to support the Community Chest drive.

At 11:45 o'clock the Central High school auditorium was filled to seating capacity, many were standing in the rear and crowds then approaching indicating to officials a record throng for a meeting at this place.

The stage where the inauguration took place was deeply banked with flowers and made an especially attractive setting.

McLevy arrived alone in his own car and met the others of his party who were to participate with him in the inaugural at the school building.

Accepting the invitation of the Board of Apportionment, Mayor McLevy said he would attend a meeting of the board tonight for a discussion as to municipal finances and policies for the new administration.

Rev. Robert Bell

INAUGURAL ADDRESS

Bridgeport, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The text of the inaugural address of Jasper McLevy inducted today as the first Socialist mayor ever elected in Connecticut:

"My fellow citizens: I am extremely grateful for the honor you have bestowed upon me in electing me to the highest office within your gift in the City of Bridgeport. And I want to join with my associates who were elected on the Socialist ticket in thanking all of you for the vote of confidence given to the Socialist Party and it is my sincere wish that your faith in us will be justified by our administrative acts.

"This administration enters office keenly recognizing pressing financial problems that the city is facing and fully realizing that ample and prudent planning for the immediate future is imperative. We again reaffirm our pledge to the citizens of the city to eliminate as far as it lies within our power all unnecessary municipal offices; to install the civil

MRS. MARY DANIELS DEAD

Windsor, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Louise Daniels, widow of the Rev. Charles H. Daniels, long home secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions, with offices at Boston and New York, died yesterday at the home of her daughter here. Since her husband's death in 1921 she had lived in Tolland.

Mrs. Daniels was president of the Congregational Women's Board of Mission in the east from 1905 to 1909 and traveled much from Maine to Florida lecturing on work in the mission field. She also studied a year at Union Theological Seminary in New York.

Mrs. Daniels was born in Tolland 75 years ago, and prior to marriage taught school there. Her husband had had pastorate in Portland, Me., and Framingham, Mass.

THREE CRITICALLY HURT WHEN PLANE CRASHES

Kansas City, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Four Kansas Citians were injured, three critically, when their private plane crashed into a tree in a forced landing in a dust storm near Olathe, Kans., last night.

They were Dr. B. L. Sulzbacher, prominent surgeon, his son, Louis Sulzbacher, Lee Lyon, wholesale fur dealer, and Walter G. Taber, pilot. All but Louis Sulzbacher were dangerously injured.

The men lay in the wreckage six hours until Mr. Lyon, glimpsing the signaling lights of a searching party, flickered the navigation lights of the plane. He alone was conscious when four searchers, one his son, Leslie M. Lyon, reached the wrecked ship early today.

The plane was returned from Muskogee, Okla., where Dr. Sulzbacher had performed an operation. The injured were brought to a hospital here.

When the ship failed to arrive at the Kansas City Airport, the searching party started out in a car.

Members of the party were told by a railway conductor that he had seen a plane circling over Olathe then disappear in the storm. Soon several searching parties were combing the countryside.

LATEST STOCKS

By VICTOR BURBANK

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Discretion overshadowed valor in today's rather colorless financial markets although prices, as a whole, maintained a steady to firm position despite unenthusiastic trading.

The fact that the R.F.C. lifted the domestic gold price 13 cents an ounce seemingly did not stir either stocks or grains to any particular buoyancy. Sterling moved up nearly 6 cents to about $5.15 1/2 and the French gold franc firmed some 1/2 cent to about 6.28 1/2 cents. Wheat got up about 1 cent a bushel and cotton gained 1/4 a bale before easing. Silver futures were strong. Federal bonds rallied moderately, but other listed loans were irregular.

Shares of International Silver advanced 3 points and fractional gains were recorded by American Can, U. S. Steel, Westinghouse, American Tobacco B., Liggett & Myers B., Socony, Seaboard Oil, Standards of New Jersey and California, Patino Mines and American Commercial Alcohol. Issues of American Telephone, General Motors, Chrysler, General Electric, Montgomery Ward, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, N. Y. Central and many others were virtually unchanged.

The financial district was highly interested in word from Washington that Secretary Woodin expected to discuss the administration's monetary program in a formal statement to be issued later this week. The assistant chief of the secretary, as quoted in Washington dispatches, that

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Nov. 13.—Today marks the fourth anniversary of one of the most violent declines in the Stock Market since the close of trading on the 13th that John D. Rockefeller was willing to purchase up to one million shares of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey at $50 a share.

Wall street hears that the Norfolk and Western railway may show net income of $1 a share for October, which would bring share earnings for the first ten months of the year to $12 against $8.14 in the 1932 period.

A New York Cotton Exchange membership sold today for $16,500, up $500 from the previous transaction.

Sales of Kroger Grocery & Baking Co. for the four weeks ended Nov. 5 totaled $16,119,227, an increase of 2.8 per cent over a year ago. Sales for the four weeks ended Oct. 7 were up three-tenths of one per cent from the previous year.

Chrysler Motors Corp. sales to dealers and distributors in October totaled $4,170 cars and trucks compared with 3,265 a year ago. For the first ten months of this year units sales aggregated 420,766 against 177,871 in the corresponding period of 1932.

The Sept. 30 statement of Stone & Webster, Inc., including subsidiaries, shows cash of $9,709,500, an increase of $1,808,500 over a year ago. On Dec. 31, last, the system's cash totaled $8,080,000. Loans were reduced $4,708,500 from Sept. 30, 1932, and $2,473,500 during the nine months of this year, standing at $4,327,500 as of Sept. 30. An underlying bond issue of Fund Sound Power & Light Co. amounting to $1,924,000, was paid off. About 60 per cent of the reduction in notes payable was effected through sale of bonds of Louisiana Steam Generating Corp.

ship of United States Senator Augustine Lonergan.

Succeeds Buckley

The appointment of Senator Bergin, long expected, seemingly was delayed until some compromise should have been arranged. The announcement indicated that a solution to the problem had been reached.

Senator Bergin succeeds John Buckley of Hartford, a Republican holdover from the Hoover administration.

Bergin was born at New Haven in 1887, and attended the public schools. After his graduation from the New Haven high school, he prepared at Exeter Academy, and then went to Princeton.

He played quarterback on the Princeton's Varsity eleven of 1908 and 1909, when Ted Coy, one of football's immortals, played for Yale. Later he coached at Bowdoin, Exeter and Princeton, while studying law.

Admitted to the Connecticut bar in 1914, he has practiced law since then. He is married and has three daughters and two sons.

The CREAM OF THE CROP
IT'S Crowning Glory

INSURING FINE TOBACCO FOR future Lucky Strikes

Not many smokers have seen a fine tobacco plant in full bloom, so we show you this picture. Only a few of these fine plants are permitted to flower and to produce seed. These carefully selected seeds reproduce the following year the "Cream of the Crop" for your Lucky Strike, for tobacco must be grown from seed each year. This careful breeding of fine tobaccos explains why Luckies maintain the same fine, uniform quality from year to year—so round and firm and fully packed—free from loose ends.

ALWAYS the finest tobaccos

ALWAYS the finest workmanship

ALWAYS Luckies please!

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 18.

or, rather, it is capable of two exactly opposite interpretations. The kind of "stabilized" dollar sought by the New York propagandist and the Wesleyan boys is a dollar stabilized with relation to gold and to foreign exchange. What the administration is striving to create is a dollar stabilized with relation to purchasing and debt-paying power.

So, if President Roosevelt should send back a message to Wesleyan saying, "I shall be delighted to stabilize the dollar," he might be ever so much in earnest, he might flatter the vanity of the students immensely, and he might at the same time have in mind any conceivable sort of dollar but the one advocated by Wall street and the Wall street banks.

There are a great many people who are parroting the words "stabilized dollar" just at this time who have little or no conception of what they themselves mean by them—and considerably less of what the same words mean to the other fellow.

WHAT A HELP!

If the Honorable Wilbur F. Cross, instead of being governor of Connecticut, were the head of a fire department, it is to be surmised that the fires would go out when there was nothing left to burn. The worthy governor's idea of promptitude in answering an alarm would probably be that any time within the next half dozen hours would be time enough. Which might contribute to the chief's comfort and serenity of mind but would be rather bad for insurance rates.

Having been jacked up by Public Works Administrator Ickes over a month ago because of Connecticut's dilatoriness in getting jobless men to work on the federal-aided state roads program, and having given little if any evidence that the jacking-up had penetrated his skin, Governor Cross has now received a public bawling out from Administrator Ickes because, a full month after the warning, this state has let less than 20 per cent of the road contracts and has asked for bids on only a small amount of the balance.

And now the governor replies to Mr. Ickes that all the contracts will be let and work started on them by December 15.

A reasonable amount of energy on the part of a governor who was fully alive to the emergency and who was determined to do every possible thing to meet it would have resulted in thousands of men being at work right now on the federal-aid road program. Dr. Cross, however, almost swells with pride over his promise to have them to work ten days before Christmas.

It is very much to be hoped that even that promise to get on the job three months behind time will not prove to be as empty as the recent one to build the Merritt Highway at once—which turned out to be a promise to build eight and a half miles out of thirty-eight.

EUROPEAN GOLD.

Readers of these columns may recall that on the day following the announcement that President Roosevelt would extend the government's gold purchasing operations to Europe, this newspaper expressed the view that the movement was merely by way of showing European governments that they must cease interfering with the devaluation of the dollar by buying dollars to boost their price. We said, on October 30:

Only the bare announcement that the United States is prepared to stand off interference is likely to be necessary. We shall probably buy no European gold at all, certainly not more than enough to prove that we mean business. It will not be necessary.

Since then there has been any amount of wonderment expressed as to the extent of the European gold purchases. Some lugubrious souls have been pulling long faces over the United States spending vast sums of money to buy gold for the sole purpose of burying it in vaults.

Today the cables tell us that British treasury officials are beginning to think that President Roosevelt was bluffing about buying gold abroad, being forced to this conclusion by the fact that, search as they may, they can find no trace of gold purchases by the American government.

Which would seem to indicate that our guess at the probabilities was a little better than some others.

"STABILIZED" DOLLAR.

Standing alone the action of the Wesleyan student body in sending to President Roosevelt a resolution urging the administration to "adopt a definite monetary policy" is probably not of the greatest importance to anybody but Wesleyan students and faculty. But when it is taken into consideration that the action followed an address at the college by a vice-president of a New York bank in which the banker enlarged upon the "danger of an unstabilized dollar" the incident takes on some significance.

It would not be surprising if we presently had Wall street vice-presidents buzzing about the country, thicker than flies, working on audiences of college students and endeavoring to influence the sending to Washington of just such resolutions as that dispatched by Wesleyan.

The oddity of the thing is that the term "stabilized" dollar is the most unmeaning phrase imaginable; pile, smoothly flattened out. As each voter is checked by the polls clerks his name is given a pencilled number on the tally sheet in the order in which he votes. When the polls close it is only necessary to check the ballot at the bottom of the heap with the name of the first voter, the 121st ballot with the 121st voter, and so on, in order to ascertain how every individual in the precinct voted.

Since the Nazis permitted it to be known that any voter foolish enough to cast anything but a "yes" vote in yesterday's election, or to fall to vote at all, would be certain to lose his job, at best, or have his name turned over to the secret police "for future reference"—and since the secret police have a way of throwing people into jail and treating them to a daily horsewhipping if it, perhaps, not so much to be wondered at that Herr Hitler received a highly gratifying endorsement.

There is only one hopeful sign in the situation in Germany at this time. If Hitler can long continue to rule, by these methods, a people as courageous as the Germans in the World War repeatedly showed themselves to be, he will be the first human being in the history of the world to do so. Tyranny and oppression can sometimes go on for a long while so long as they recognize the danger line and do not overstep the limits. Hitler appears to be blind to the peril of going too far.

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON
 New York, Nov. 13.—It's a strange procession of people that goes down to Major Anthony Fiola's sporting goods and outfitting store, and thence into a sub-basement to blaze away at targets. Bankers, physicians, cashiers, bodyguards, now and then a society woman, burly policemen, fledgling Nimrods planning big game hunts, private detectives, Central American diplomats—they all seem to want to learn how to shoot.

Frequently, too, some gangland toughie barges in to get wised up on the better handling of his gat. One such precious playboy tried it the other day. "Send in this guy Mayer," he commanded the blue-eyed, slightly built, meek looking young man who was putting with a telescopic sight. "Tell him he's got a new pupil."

"I'm Captain Walter Mayer, and I'm the instructor at this range," grinned the mild-mannered fellow. "Have you any character references, or have you got a license to carry the gun which I see you have on your hip? Otherwise I can't take you." The gangster laughed, then blustered, finally made threats. A few minutes later he was out on the sidewalk, disarmed and trying to remember just what had happened. You see, nobody had tipped him off that Captain Mayer is the only American who has been awarded Japan's Black Belt for proficiency in jiu-jitsu.

He came from Louisiana, where he had practiced shooting from the time he was 9 years old. He enlisted in the Marines as a buck private, chased bandits and insuranceists over many a tropic landscape, and emerged from the World War a captain. He has been wounded four times; there's a silver plate where part of his skull ought to be; he's blind in one eye, deaf in one ear, and half a dozen of his lower teeth were cracked recently during a jiu-jitsu workout with a little pal of his named Lieutenant Saki, of the Japanese navy.

For all that, Captain Mayer still looks only about 30 of his 40 years. He swims every day, plays a fast game of tennis, and smokes teeth cigars almost continuously. Never touches liquor, though. He was a member of the National Rifle and Pistol Team for twelve years, the Olympic team in 1912, American Legion Rifle and Pistol champion in 1926, and the quick draw champion for 16 years. His record of 1-8 seconds for draw and the firing of six shots has never been broken.

In revolver and pistol work, all his pupils are taught to shoot with either hand, and from the hip. He coaches most of the police departments hereabout, as well as the guards of practically all the big financial institutions. Sometimes he has volunteered to guard places where robberies have been recurrent. He is supposed to be on the erasure lists of several gangs, and has been shot at five times in the six years he has been in New York. He is convinced that gangsters are the scariest marksmen in the world.

Captain Mayer says he'd rather instruct a woman than a man, "because men believe they already know how to shoot." Alice Longworth was one of his pupils. So was Mrs. Martin Johnson. Mrs. Joseph P. Gest was such an inept pupil that he begged her to look for some other hobby. She stuck to shooting, though, and now is one of the best amateur pistol shots in the country.

Dozens of prominent business men keep costly guns at the Fiola range and hold matches for amusement. Mayer's star pupils, though, are Cary H. Bok, the publisher, and Dr. R. Bogran, Consul-General from Honduras. Perhaps the best marksman and close-quarters scrapper he ever developed was Antonio Jimenez who, if you remember, became head of Cuba's terrorist secret police and finally wilted under rebel fire. Jimenez studied with Mayer for a year, practiced drawing a sawed-up .45 which he affectionately termed a "belly-bugster."

HEALTH--DIET ADVICE
 BY DR. FRANK MCCOY
 Questions in regard to Health and Diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper. Enclosure stamped, self-addressed envelope, for reply.

BAD WEATHER NOT MAIN CAUSE OF INFLUENZA.
 A news story which interests me tells how one of the world's greatest astronomers who is blind, used a Chinese cricket to tell him the temperature when he could not see a thermometer. The cricket chirped once every second at 42 d. above zero and when the temperature rose to 68 d. he chirped twice each second and so on, increasing his speed as the weather grew warmer.

The temperature of the weather is of interest to many people, for business reasons, who pay for having the weather forecast for them.

One company now offers to tell what the weather will be for three years in advance. A doctor is also interested in weather, as cold, damp, unsettled weather is known to bring a sharp increase in certain winter disorders, such as influenza.

Influenza, also called La Grippe and Flu, is a common acute contagious disease which attacks the mucous membranes lining the breathing passages. The symptoms are somewhat the same as those of a bad cold, except that the patient is much weaker. It is found among those whose resistance has been lowered by enervation and self-poisoning.

The disease is easily avoided if the resistance of the body to disease germs is kept high by good habits of living. The state of the weather such as cold or damp is a pre-disposing cause of influenza but can not be considered the only cause, and one of good health will completely escape this troublesome disorder no matter what the weather may be.

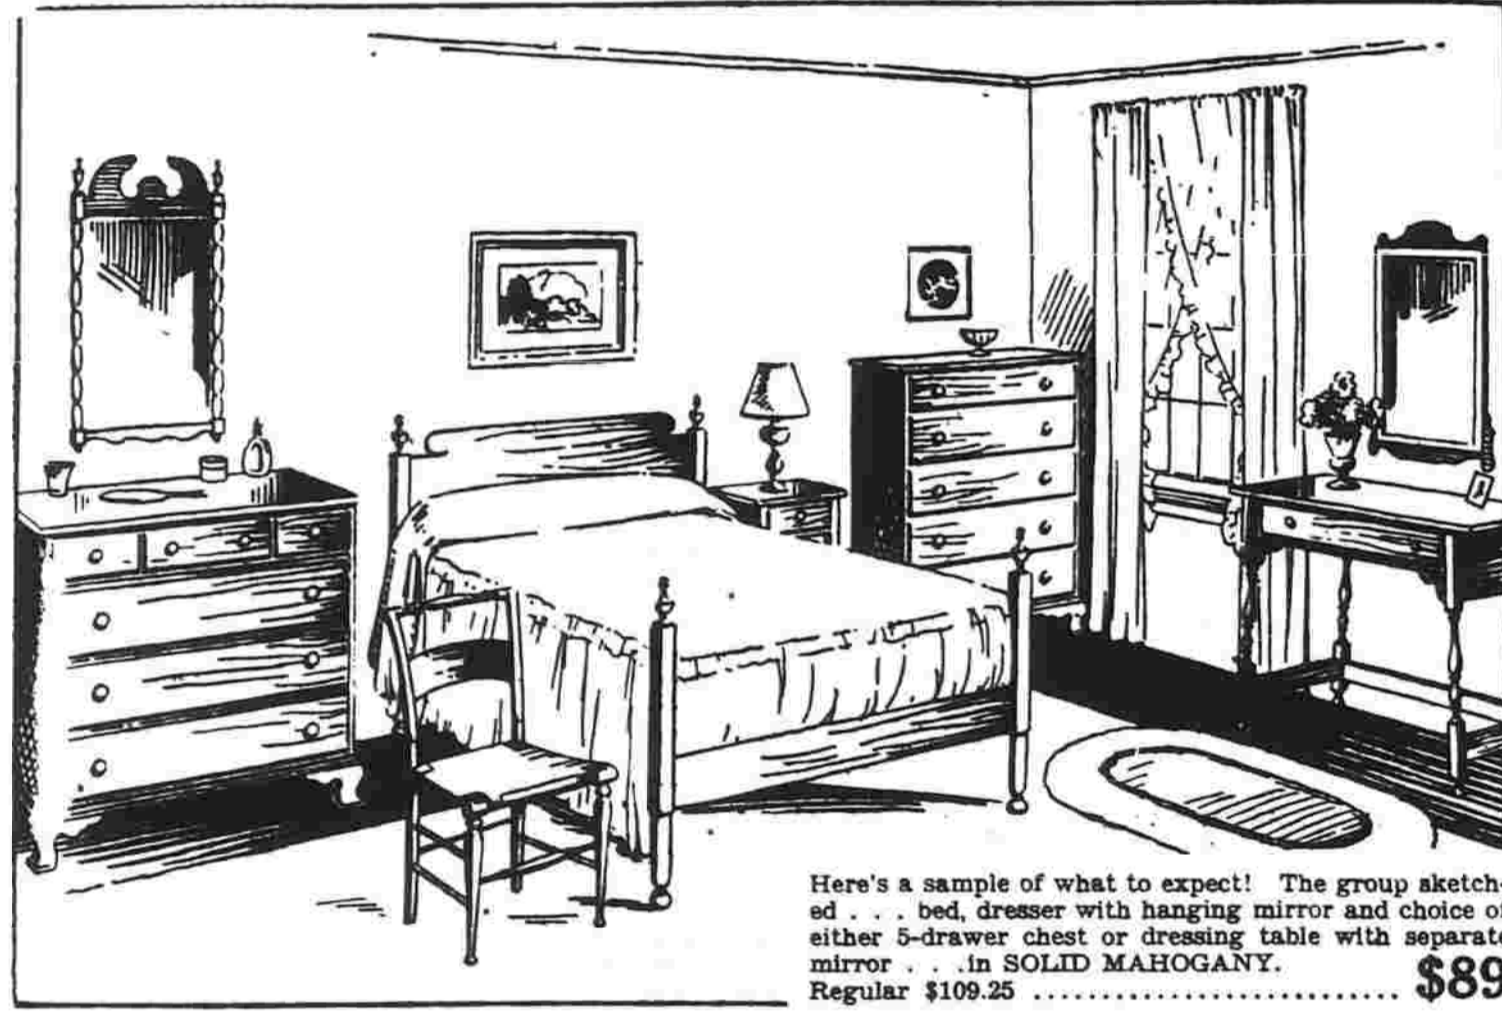

While influenza may occur in waves, or epidemics, which affect thousands of people, it is never entirely absent during the winter months and a certain number of cases always occur. The average case of plain influenza practically next causes death; however, the disease may cause after-effects such as extreme weakness, nervous symptoms, mental depression and a tendency to bronchitis and if these are to be avoided, it is important to use the best treatment. The most serious complication which may occur is broncho-pneumonia, but in handling many hundreds of cases of influenza I have never seen a death occur from this complication when the correct, common-sense treatment was used.

The symptoms of influenza may be present in varying degrees; in a severe case the patient is flat on his back and has all the symptoms of a grave toxemia and becomes so weak that he appears exhausted. A typical case may hit the patient like a shot. He first has a chilly sensation which may become a definite chill which makes him shake like a leaf. A fever appears which may rise to 103 d. Fahr. or higher. His eyes feel heavy and the eyeballs burn as though scorched with burning sand. He has a general aching and soreness of every bone and muscle in his body. The nose and throat are parched and dry; later a secretion of mucus occurs. A quick, hacking cough exists which further irritates the sore, tight region behind the breast bone. The symptoms so commonly found with fever are present, such as coated tongue, foul breath, headache and loss of appetite. The fever may gradually lower but generally remains high from 3 to 5 days. A copious sweat is often noted.

Following the attack, the patient is weak, drowsy and greatly troubled over his loss of strength. At this time he should rest and follow a good plan for him to stay in bed for 3 to 6 days after all acute symptoms are gone as this will prevent the most common mistake made after an attack, which is to return too soon to regular activity.

If you develop influenza the first thing for you to do is to go to bed. You are to keep warm at all times. Your chances for a cure are very good if you follow the correct treatment. To those who are interested, I will be glad to send my article "Curing Influenza" which outlines the directions you are to follow. When you write to me, be sure to follow the correspondent's instructions as given at the heading or end of this article, and enclose one large, self-addressed envelope and 1 loose 3c stamp.

HOLIDAY FURLOUGHS FOR FOREST MEN

Woods Workers to Be Allowed to Spend Christmas and New Year's at Home.

Hartford, Nov. 13.—(AP) — All men in Connecticut camps of the Civilian Conservation Corps will be permitted to spend either Christmas or New Year's day at their homes, officials announced today.

The probable procedure, it was indicated, will be to allow half of the men in each company to go home for Christmas and the other half on New Year's. The holiday periods prescribed are from December 22 to December 26 for Christmas and from December 20 to January 2 for New Year's.

Men will have to pay their own transportation home, but they will receive their regular pay during their absence from camp.

Captain John D. O'Leary, U. S. Marine Corps, is being hailed as a hero by the boys of Camp Toumey in West Goshen. He has invented a mechanical peeler, which in short order does the work that formerly kept two K. P.'s busy an entire day.

The old Nathaniel Lyon house has been completely remodeled by a detail of C. C. C. men. Repairs to the 200-year-old structure located a quarter of a mile from Camp Fenow in Hampton included a new shingled roof, new side boards, re-finishings of all rooms and a coat of paint on the outside.

A large part of Tolland county was started last week by an explosion. Men from Camp Graves at Stafford Springs fired simultaneously 158 sticks of dynamite on a ledge of Soapstone Mountain where a truck and a fire trail is under construction.

Several camps participated in August 15 day celebrations Saturday. About 160 men from Camp Fenow marched in the Danielson parade behind a huge crimson and green banner. In this same parade marching the personnel of Camp Lagergren in Voluntown, the unit being led by a float symbolizing the C. C. C. and depicting the conquest of "Old Man Depression" by the Forestry Army.

Stills have other uses besides turning out liquor. A 10,000-gallon still seized by State police of the Danielson barracks was loaned to Camp Fenow last week and is being used to store a reserve water supply.

The erection of a subsidiary camp at Fort Shantok State Park in Montville is planned. Since early summer, 30 men from Camp Lagergren have been working at this site, located about 25 miles from camp. But with winter weather here, daily transportation of men and their food for such a distance is regarded impracticable.

Camp Chapman, not so socially inclined as other C. C. C. outfits will hold its first dance next Wednesday.

NORTH COVENTRY

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Kingsbury and George Maskell, motored Montgrove, N. Y., Friday, to visit Rev. and Mrs. Andrew M. Shea for a few days.

Friday evening the Ever Ready Class met at the home of their teacher, Mrs. A. J. Vinton, for their annual meeting. Officers elected were: President, June Loomis; vice-president, William Edmundson; secretary, Marion Hill; treasurer, Kathryn McKnight; social committee, Lester Hill and Ruth Vinton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Shaw and family left Saturday morning for Lexington, N. C., where they will make their new home. The furniture left Friday.

Miss Grace Reed visited Cora Kingsbury this week-end. Miss Mary Ames and sister, Dora, spent the week-end with her chum, Mrs. Wilfred Hill.

Sunday afternoon representatives of the various organizations of the North Parish met at the parsonage to plan a calendar for the next three months. This calendar will be posted on the church bulletin board and plans for extra event are urged to be arranged for non-conflicting dates.

Choir rehearsal was held following the regular Christian meeting led by Rev. Hill. The topic for the evening was "A Program for Peace."

Queer Twists In Day's News

Somerset, Pa.—A disgusted thief abandoned a stolen car near here after vainly trying to drive it on distilled water—also stolen.

Running out of gas after driving 100 miles the thief broke into Will Ross' garage and removed a gallon of water which he apparently believed was gasoline. Stalling 300 yards away, he left the car in the road.

Pittsburgh—Once again Max Catt, 42, is without a home. Penniless and homeless, Max had just completed a shanty for winter headquarters on the steep Duquesne heights overlooking the Ohio river when a ton boulder toppled down last night, demolishing it. Catt received a fractured collarbone and several broken ribs in the crash.

Chicago—The police report an epidemic of fan dancers, following in the wake of Sally Rand, who created a sensation at a Century of Progress.

The latest arrest was that of Fred Grey, 21, who was dancing in a tavern. A detective and a policeman saw him dancing in the nude.

Trac, Minn.—It's an ill wind—its carburetor and motor fouled by the "it" carried by strong winds in this vicinity and South Dakota, a moto bus literally "blew" into Tracy Sunday. The driver reported he coasted four miles over the flat, level highway west of here, propelled by the wind.

Frederick, Ill.—For health, try Frederick. The town clerk, Roscoe Stephens, has just signed a death record—the first since May 3, 1932.

The population is listed as 350. Kenosha, Wis.—Curtis Schilling, 21, left home 14 months ago in search of work. He hitch-hiked about 20,000 miles over North America and Europe. Three days after he returned he got a steady job in Racine, 12 miles from his home.

New York—The folks at the Zoo had a little excitement over the week-end when they added a new member to the animal family—a python. It slept most of the way over from Africa but when they dumped him into his cage at the Zoo he lashed around furiously for nearly an hour. Then he went back to sleep and the Zoo people expect to see him that way for some time.

Oakland, Calif.—T. H. Johnson stood up Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar G. Rehl at their golden wedding just as he did for them 50 years ago in San Francisco. The trio also talked over their childhood days in Stockholm, Sweden.

Philadelphia—A faithful shepherd dog and a boy with a police whistle proved the undoing of Aloysius Cassidy. Police said Aloysius so far forgot himself as to "jimmy" his way into William J. West's home.

The dog started barking, Mrs. West started shrieking and her husband galloped downstairs after Aloysius. The din aroused neighbors and while Fred Jonas ran to help West, Fred, Jr. stuck his head out a window and blew shrilly on the whistle, bringing police who supplied the coup de grace.

Seattle—Corporal W. P. Lokey, 27, of the C. C. C. camp at Lester, faces a charge of "kicking a fawn deer and causing injuries which resulted in its death."

Lokey denied the accusation, saying the animal persisted in invading mess shack and he merely "pushed" it out of the door.

He was for jolly charged in Edmundlaw Justice Court and brought to the jail here by V. W. Bolke, state game protector.

Denver—The story, and the way Little Nell Davis of Longmont, Colo., told it, brought tears to the eyes of the hard-crusted police sergeant, Neil Lightly less than 20, and her husband-to-be came to Denver to buy her trousseau. They spent all but their last two dimes on it—$35—placed the bundles in their dilapidated siver and then went to get a dime soda. When they came back only a package containing a suit of red flannel underwear—for the bridegroom—had been left by the thief.

WILL PRESIDE IN CHICAGO AT SOIL SURVEY MEETING

LEGION CIRCUS HERE THURSDAY

Wallace Brothers Trained Wild Animals at State Armory Three Days.

The American Legion Circus which opens at the new State armory here in Manchester Thursday evening at 8:15 has many features acts direct from the largest circuses that travel under the big white tops in the summer time.

The Wallace Bros trained wild animal circus will furnish the entire show and it is the largest indoor circus of its kind now traveling the country. The same show is booked for a whole week in Hartford later in the month.

The circus will arrive in Manchester early Thursday a. m., and will at once begin to move its equipment from its motor trucks into the armory for its first performance Thursday night. About fifty people are carried with the show and each and every act is of the highest standard in the circus world.

Merchants throughout Manchester have half-price circus tickets. Notices in the windows of the merchants show that the store has tickets and will be pleased to give them to patrons. These tickets are good for any performance of the circus.

BARTENDERS' BALL BACK IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP) —The Bartenders' Ball is back. After 13 years without cause for celebration, the Bartenders' Benevolent and Protective Association will revive the annual ball this year.

On November 26 the "who's-who" behind the brass rail will dance their own thanksgiving to the music of "Professor," Henry Kleigast and his band that played at the first ball exactly 33 years ago. Tickets for ladies and gents: one dollar.

"Here we are again," says the announcement, "emerging after 13 years of hibernation. This even is going to be of the old-fashioned gala times, given by the Bar Boys, where everybody will meet somebody and will be attended by 'Who is Who' behind the bar." And of course, the old quartet will sing "Sweet Adeline."

When prohibition came in, said John Speciale, the association's president, the ball was abandoned and "pretty dismal" smokers were held instead. The membership dwindled to 260. Now the organization has 1,400 members and more are joining every day. Speciale says he expects about 6,000 to attend the ball.

Florida state employees who travel on expense accounts are limited to $4.50 a day for hotel rooms and meals.

CHAMBER EXPLAINS ITS CIRCUS STAND

Warned Merchants Through Herald News Story of Violations of Code.

Chicago, The Herald: We regret that a news story appearing in last Friday's issue of the Manchester Evening Herald might cause some to believe that the Manchester Chamber of Commerce was not in sympathy with the American Legion Circus, which will be conducted the last three days of this week. It is not the function of this organization to voice approval or disapproval of any such program. We realize that any program adopted or sponsored by a responsible organization such as the American Legion, if permitted by law, does not call for action by this Association.

We believe our position in this case should be explained, although we have not been criticized from any official source of the American Legion. However, due to the fact there will not be a meeting of the Legion Post before the circus dates, we prefer to publish this explanation of the incidents from which this Friday's newspaper story originated. We do this to avoid violent and possibly misunderstanding on the part of any person who may not be familiar with our activities and course of procedure.

On several days during the past week the Chamber office received requests to furnish information as to whether or not it was permissible to dispense free merchandise, coupons or tickets or other things of value as a trade inducement and to encourage increased sales. Finally on Thursday a certain gasoline Station Operator requested such information and was entitled to same as informational service from the Chamber of Commerce Office. He encouraged a proposition made to him by a representative of the Circus Promoters whereby he would receive through some transaction, dispensing with same in connection with his business and as an inducement to trade. The law relative to this practice as prescribed in the Petroleum Code of the NRA under article 5, rule 17, seems to prohibit such a practice and, therefore, he was informed to this effect.

It is generally known that conviction of violation of a Code carries a penalty of a $500 fine or six months imprisonment and the loss of the privilege to display the Blue Eagle. Therefore, to be of assistance to our Members and business concerns in general in aiding them to avoid violations of their NRA Codes, we suggested that a news item be carried in Friday's Herald, reminding business concerns of their Code requirements which are designed to eliminate unfair trade practices. As material for such a news story, we furnished the Reporter with the paragraph from the Petroleum Code and the paragraph from the Retail Code, both of which were published in Friday's news story. These were merely furnished as they appear in the NRA Code and with no interpretation by the Chamber. We believe there are some business operators in the community who may not be familiar with some parts of their code and, therefore, as many from the Retail and Gasoline Station lines of business were asking for information on the subject, it seemed to us a necessary informational service that we were giving out through the press which would probably prove of benefit in avoiding unintentional violations of a new law.

In an interview on Thursday with a person representing the Circus Promoters he admitted that the ticket proposition was being presented to Gasoline Station men, as reported to the Chamber Office and he further admitted that he was not aware that it was a violation, if put into operation, of the Petroleum Code. Upon being permitted to read said Code, he agreed that it apparently was out of order and he would, therefore, make a change in their plans for distribution of tickets.

In an interview with another representative of the Circus Promoters on the following day, which was Friday, and at an hour after the Herald had been printed, this person presented an entirely different outline or plan for the distribution of the Circus Tickets by business firms. This plan seemed to be a permissible one and so long as it was not apparently in violation of rules of the NRA Codes, he was advised that the Chamber of Commerce had no objection whatsoever to that plan. This gave cause for the story appearing in Saturday's edition of the Herald. Both of the previously referred to gentlemen are from out of town and are here working in promoting the publicity of the Circus.

As the result of conferences with American Legion Officials and Chamber representatives, it now appears that an attempt will be made to learn definitely just what sort of plan is being submitted, by these representatives to the business concerns of Manchester who it appears are willing to co-operate with the Legion in their plans for the circus but who cannot afford to violate the new rules of business under which they are compelled to oper-

THREE VIOLENT DEATHS OVER THE WEEK-END

By Associated Press. A week-end of alternate sunning and snow brought reports of three violent deaths in Connecticut. A man tentatively identified as Charles Rutkauskas of undetermined address was killed by an automobile in New Britain during the snow storm Saturday night.

John Parda, 19, of New Britain, the driver of the car was held in $1,000 bonds on a charge of criminal negligence.

Charles Winchell, retired railroad brakeman was burned to death in his Warehouse Point home when a kerosene lamp overturned in some undetermined manner. He was badly burned on the head.

On the sixth anniversary of his wife's funeral, Leroy Hover, 54, Stratford real estate dealer, committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas. Police were told he had been melancholy since his wife's death.

Officials found cracks in the kitchen and pantry doors stuffed with towels. Six jets of a gas stove had been turned on.

Anna Stephanosky, 19, of Waterbury also died during the week-end from automobile injuries suffered last Thursday.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO BE A CHAMPION BRONK RIDER!

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

EDDIE WOODS, one of the "top hands" of the cowboy world, says: "Ten seconds on the back of an outlaw horse is about the hardest punishment for a man's nerves that anybody can imagine. To have nerves that can take it, I smoke only Camels. I've tried them all, but Camels are my smoke! They have a natural mildness, and I like their taste better. Most important of all, Camels do not jangle my nerves, even when I light up one Camel after another."

If you are nervous... jumpy... inclined to "fly off the handle"... change to Camels. Your own nerves and taste will confirm the fact that this milder cigarette, made from costlier tobaccos, is better for steady smoking.

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

SETTLE POSTPONES STRATOSPHERE HOP

Big Balloon and Its Gondola Taken to Akron — May Start from There.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The huge balloon and gondola in which Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle hoped to reach the stratosphere in an ascension from the World's Fair grounds was crated today for shipment to Akron, O.

The projected flight was called off with the closing of a Century of Progress exposition after one unsuccessful attempt and several months of waiting for favorable atmospheric conditions.

The flight was not started by December 15, a contract provided that the huge balloon and airship gondola become the property of Auguste Piccard of Belgium, the first man to fly into the stratosphere.

Have Facilities Sponsors of the flight pointed out that the balloon, 164 feet tall when inflated, could be made ready inside the Goodyear Zeppelin corporation's huge hangar at Akron.

Inside the hangar, inflation could be accomplished without the hazard of winds which have prevented Settle from taking off for the past two months on a landing field at the World's Fair grounds.

Settle attempted the flight alone last August 14, but a faulty valve control forced the balloon to land after a few minutes.

GERMANY VOTES 90 P. C. TO SUPPORT CHANCELLOR

ler's stand for "freedom and equality" with other nations.

Speculation today was centered on European politics. The general belief was that Germany would play a watchful, waiting game—expecting foreign powers to make the first move.

There was less doubt concerning probably early developments within Germany. Far-reaching constitutional reforms to complete the work of remodelling the government to Nazi specifications were expected without delay.

Many voters endorsed the government's foreign policy who did not vote on the Reichstag constitution. This method of estimating opposition strength in calculating plebiscite votes and the number of votes Nazi candidates received.

The Chancellor thanked the nation for its "historically unmatched confession of love, peace, honor and equal rights," and reassured the voters he and his collaborators would continue "bravely and unwearingly" to fulfill their duties.

CALLED A FARSE

Vienna, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Pro-government and Socialist newspapers, with few exceptions, today discount the result of the German election yesterday as "a farse" or "a hoax" on the part of the Reichstag.

The semi-official Politische Korrespondenz, referring to the balloting as "the so-called Reichstag election," announces that "private advices from Germany conclusively show Hitler would not have received anywhere near 90 per cent of the total vote if the balloting had been really free."

Meanwhile, the foreign office vigorously denied rumors that an Austrian election was being planned. The last nationwide election was in 1930, 18 months before Dollfus became chancellor.

A meeting scheduled for tonight, at which the followers of former Vice-Chancellor Engelhardt planned to advocate a democratic form of state has been forbidden.

Police also mobilized to prevent Socialist demonstrations at the City Hall in connection with the 10th anniversary of Karl Seitz' investiture as burgo-master of Vienna.

Aside from a shooting near Seefeld, Tyrol, where the son of the Heimwehr leader, Richard Steidle, narrowly escaped death, reports from the provinces indicated the weekend was comparatively quiet.

NATION STANDARIZED

London, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The British government and press view the German election result today as inevitable.

The London Times said editorially that "Herr Hitler has standardized the Nation. Germany is Nazi. Officially, there is no other sort of German."

The Laborite Herald said "Hitler has the overwhelming vote of confidence which Nazi methods and Nazi machinery made certain."

NO INFORMATION YET ON P. O. SUB-STATION

Postmaster F. B. Crocker Has Not Received Replies to His Washington Queries.

Postmaster Frank B. Crocker has yet to receive reply to two letters which he has sent to postoffice authorities at Washington regarding the awarding of a contract for a postal sub-station at the south end.

On October 4, Mr. Crocker dispatched a letter to Washington in which he made known the fact that only one bid was submitted for the sub station. There was no reply.

Again on November 4 he wrote Washington and still there has been no answer. Mr. Crocker is awaiting instructions from Washington as to whether he should advertise again for bids or award the contract to the sole bidder.

No announcement has come from Washington, Mr. Crocker said today, regarding the awarding of the contract for the job as mail messenger. There were several applications for this position, which returns a lucrative income but calls for work 365 days of the year.

M. E. E. A. AWAIT ACTION BY BOARD OF SELECTMEN

Expect Session Tonight Will Be Adjourned Soon After It Is Called.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Manchester Emergency Employment Association Inc., will be held tonight as scheduled, but it will be adjourned again after it has been called to order, to allow the Board of Selectmen time to act upon the unemployment program for this wintering.

The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock at the Municipal building and President Frank Cheney, Jr., expects that it will be adjourned immediately.

DICKSTEIN TO KEEP UP NAZI INVESTIGATION

New York Congressman Visits President to Confer on Hitler Propaganda.

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Representative Dickstein (D., N. Y.), told reporters today that he will continue his investigation of alleged Nazi propaganda in this country, to be made by the House immigration committee headed by him, will be in executive session.

His assertion was made at the White House executive office, where he had just seen President Roosevelt for a short time in an engagement which the White House said later had been requested by Dickstein.

It was pointed out by assistants to the President that there was nothing to indicate whether Mr. Roosevelt favored or disfavored the scheduled investigation.

He was accompanied to the White House by Representative Crowe (D., Ind.), a member of the committee.

Asked whether the President approved or disapproved of his course Dickstein said: "We are going ahead with the inquiry. You can draw your own conclusions. That's all I have to say."

The White House made no comment. Dickstein said he had not completed a list of witnesses and declined to give out any of the names of those he proposes to call.

MRS. JOHN COOLIDGE HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Chester, Conn., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Cynthia Coolidge settled down to the routine of home life today in this hill-surrounded rural town.

The two-week old daughter of John and Florence Trumbull Coolidge was discharged from the New Haven hospital yesterday. Both she and her mother were reported to be doing "very nicely."

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, widow of the former President, came to Chester from Northampton, Mass., for her first grandchild's home-coming. Waiting for Cynthia also was her maternal grand-parents, former Governor and Mrs. John H. Trumbull.

SOCIAL CONCLUDES HOLIDAY PROGRAM

Ex-Service Men Entertained at Army and Navy Club Saturday Night.

Clearing a day of activity in which the major event was the dedication of a new World War memorial to their fallen buddies, Manchester veterans enjoyed an evening of entertainment and sociability at the Army and Navy club Saturday night. The affair was attended by 150 ex-service men and the evening was spent in singing the songs made famous in 1918 and special selections by a number of the more talented.

Storm Interferes The snowstorm which began early in the evening kept many at home who had planned to attend, but those who spent the evening as the guests of the club were amply repaid for their visitation on the stormy night.

Director Frank Busch and his junior, intermediate and senior boxing classes put on several bouts and the show was climaxed when Frankie boxed three fast rounds with Dr. Cuyler Y. Hatch, resident physician at the local post office.

Andrew Holzhelm was master of ceremonies at the club affair.

Fund Contributions Contributions to the Manchester Veterans Memorial Fund, reported over the holiday were as follows: Army and Navy club, $10; Mons-Ypres Command, British War Veterans, $5; British American club, $5; Anderson-Shea Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, $5; Dilworth-Cornell Post, American Legion, $5; James Leggett, $5; Fred A. Verplanck, $5.

A concerted effort will be made by the local groups concerned in the drive to dispose of the remaining buttons during the week. All veterans are requested to turn in all money secured through the sale of buttons as soon as possible to Frank E. Bray, State Theater building, or to the treasurer of the committee, Frank Creiner, 216 Oak street.

About 50 members of Mons-Ypres Command, British Veterans and Auxiliary, attended a Memorial service in honor of the British dead of all wars in the First Congregational church, Court Square, Springfield, Mass., Sunday morning. The local group was transported to Springfield by bus and participated in a joint parade to the church with the Springfield Post of British Veterans.

Members of Mons-Ypres Post, British War Veterans, attended an Armistice Night celebration at the Oasis club, Hockanum, Saturday night. A turkey dinner was served by Chef Urbano Osner.

PYTHIANS PLAN SPECIAL SESSION FOR WEDNESDAY

Turkey Supper to Be Served in Conjunction With Joint Meeting.

Memorial lodge, K. of P., and their auxiliary are to have a joint meeting Wednesday night, when the men's lodge will have as a special speaker Past Grand Chancellor Herbert J. Evans, of Watertown. The meeting will open at 6:30 and a turkey dinner will be served. There will be visitors present from East Hartford, Thompsonville and Rockville. The committee in charge of the dinner includes David Armstrong and Mrs. Frances Chambers.

The gathering Wednesday not only brings to Manchester many out of town visitors, but it also is a joint meeting with the local Pythian Sisters. Arrangements are being made for one of the largest gatherings of its kind held in Manchester. Both are among the most active lodges in the local fraternal field.

SEES IMPROVEMENT IN IDLE SITUATION

the picture we had of the outlook up to two weeks ago. We will experience a substantial reduction in the relief load to a greater extent than we had anticipated.

No. All On Rolls "On the other hand, there is a situation which I believe comparatively few persons have realized, and that is that the majority of the unemployed have not been on relief rolls. This is something that I do not think could have happened in any other country but this. They have succeeded in maintaining themselves, but they are now getting to the end of their rope.

"A certain proportion of them will come on the relief rolls—how many no one can say. They will form an entirely new group."

Referring to the approval of the $80,000,000 relief bond issue in last Tuesday's election, Commissioner Adis said:

"It is very fortunate that we have endorsed the bond issue. It will be a tremendous help to all of us in the sense that the state will be able to continue its 60 per cent grants of relief costs to the localities, which in turn means a lessening of the pressure on local taxes."

One new angle of the relief situation this winter will be the taking over of the problem of transients by the Federal government. Municipal lodging houses, the Salvation Army and similarly designated units will function as Federal contact agents with transient relief cases, the cost to be paid from Federal funds.

INDUSTRIAL BALANCE IS NRA OBJECTIVE

Sec. Perkins Tells Merchants Association How Program Is Being Carried Out.

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Secretary Frances Perkins today told the Merchants Association of New York that the industrial balance recovery program will be a factor in carrying it to success.

Business, wage earners, industry, agriculture and consumers all, she said, for the first time in American history, have their rights and interests protected through cooperation with government under the codes and other agencies designed to bring about recovery.

"The distribution of National income is a problem of better balance, she said. "Our economic machine needs balance just as much as any machine if it is to function properly. The NRA and the AAA, which were a primer, provide the industrial balance which should gradually effect readjustment and recovery."

"Greater cooperation, more consideration for the whole economic structure rather than intense rivalry to its parts is the necessary path to modern prosperity based on sufficiency for the many. An important share of the money product of industry to the wage earners is essential to a renewal of fair and steady profits and to that balance of economic life where a large wage earner market is necessary to maintain the even flow of production which makes profits for industry."

MERCHANTS NEED $600 FOR CHRISTMAS LIGHTS

Special Committee Meets But Adjourns Until Next Friday Morning.

The special committee of the Merchants' Division of the Chamber of Commerce, appointed to raise funds for the Christmas street lighting project, met this morning at the Chamber office, but no announcement as to the amount raised was made. Another meeting will be held Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock, at which time every committee member will make a complete report of his canvass.

If the $600 which, it is estimated, will be necessary to carry through the project, has been raised, the program of lighting will be continued. Otherwise it will be dropped.

PRENTICES OBSERVE 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Manchester Green Couple Surprised at Their Home by 60 Friends Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Prentice of Manchester Green were surprised at their home Saturday evening by about 60 of their friends from this town and Talcottville. The guests brought with them a chest of table silver in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Prentice, which was performed by Rev. David L. Yale, pastor at that time of the Talcottville Congregational church but now of Middletown. Mrs. Prentice was the former Miss Sadie Wood.

A mock marriage ceremony by a local musician, cards and other social pastimes whiled away the evening. A buffet luncheon was served.

REPORT ON RUSSIA EXPECTED FRIDAY

(R. N. Y.), foe of Russian recognition, predicted that any loans or credit to the Soviet government by the administration would become "a National political issue in the next campaign."

In a statement to newsmen, he said that as ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, he would fight any advances to Russia, whether $1 or $500,000,000.

"I am opposed to lending one cent, either in cash or credit, when people at home need the money," he said. "It would be just as opposed to a loan to any other country as I am to one to Russia."

FALL OF SNOW HEAVY BUT ROADS KEPT OPEN

One Car Skids and Hits Tree But Little Damage Was Caused.

Snow removal is not going to cost as much this year as last year, if plans followed Saturday night are continued through the remainder of the winter. It seemed about 11:30 Saturday night that there would be a heavy fall of snow. The snow came in large flakes and soon covered the ground. Trolley cars and buses were running behind schedule and private cars were making slow time. Garages were keeping open expecting calls for the workers.

The town's snow plows were not called out as there was not sufficient snow on the ground to call for their use. In some places the roads were slippery but there was little snow on the streets. The car being driven from Manchester to Hartford skidded and went into a driveway at Krause's greenhouse. It knocked down a tree planted at the driveway, near the road, although the driver, Alphonse Rona, of Hartford, agreed to pay for the damage.

The snow let up shortly after midnight. The Connecticut Company sent out a plow to open the lines and one plow, owned by the state, came out from Hartford as far as the Center and went back again. There was no trouble clearing the roads. Three women, bound for Willimantic, had driven from Torrington. They were tired when they reached Manchester and were surprised to find the car in a garage. The car was left in the Center garage and they took the bus from Manchester to Willimantic. The snow was kept many at home, and the number of people on the street Saturday night, small compared to the usual Saturday night crowds.

TO USE BROOKFIELD ST. "FILL" ON SUMMIT STREET

Material from One Project Can Be Used on Another Some Selectmen Believe.

Much of the surplus "fill" material to be taken out of the Brookfield street improvement job can be used on the extension of Summit avenue, according to Selectmen Aaron Cook and David Chambers. While the amount of "fill" from Brookfield street will not sufficiently take care of all that is to be done on Summit street, it nevertheless can be put into Summit street instead of being thrown away.

Chairman Cook, Saturday that, while he is not wholly satisfied in favor of going ahead with the Summit street extension at this time, he will vote for the project because of the pressing need to provide employment, financially handicapped by the depression, as quickly as possible. It is expected that the Summit avenue project will come up for consideration at the meeting of the Selectmen tomorrow night. Efforts also will be made, Mr. Cook said, to procure a share of the Government $150,000,000 civic works fund at once.

BOLTON

The regular morning worship was held at the Congregational church with Rev. Harold Wilts, pastor of the church, leading the worship. The sermon was based upon peace. An organ prelude was played by the organist, Mrs. Thomas Benley. Mrs. Myron Lee sang a solo. Sunday school was held after the morning worship. The adult class is taking up the study of the Bible. Rev. Harold Wilts is the leader in this group. Several different Bibles including versions, authors, etc., were demonstrated Sunday. Questions were given out to be answered next Sunday.

Mrs. Harold Wilts, superintendent of the Sunday school, has invited the teachers to the parsonage Friday evening.

Wednesday evening, Rev. Harold Wilts will present "Moving Pictures" at the basement. All those in laws between the ages of 15 and 30 are cordially invited. Group work will be taken up after the meeting. The Ladies' Society of the Congregational church will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Sumner. A quilt will be made at this time.

The Home Bureau meeting to plan the next year's work among the ladies will be held at the home of Mrs. Alexander Bunce Wednesday afternoon.

The seventeenth annual meeting of the Tolland County Farm Bureau will be held Thursday evening, November 15, at Vernon hall, Vernon Center. Senator E. R. Dimick is chairman of the committee on arrangements. The program is as follows: Meeting of committee at Farm Bureau office, reception committee at Vernon Center. The president is Mrs. E. E. Foote. There will be group singing, reports and business carried out. Singing will be led by L. D. Eaton. Reports of officers will follow, then the election of officers. Walter Stemmons will give a talk on organization. Rodney Wilcox spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilcox.

COLUMBIA

Mr. and Mrs. Halsey Natch and son, of Brooklyn, spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Mr. Natch's mother, Mrs. Elisabeth Natch.

Miss Anne Dix spent the weekend in Springfield.

LINDBERGH'S FORCED TO LAND IN SPAIN

Loss Their Way in Clouds and Rain—To Wait for Clearer Weather.

Madrid, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed safely today near Caidalg de Tuy, Province of Pontevedra, on a flight across Spain.

Original reports were that the American fliers, who took off from Santona, Spain, for Portugal had been forced down near the little village of the fork of the mountains. The Lindberghs descended to a landing because they lost their way in the clouds and rain, which enveloped the Spanish coast.

The colonel landed the big sea plane expertly on the sheltered beach near the fishing village and he and his wife said they expected to spend the night there before proceeding tomorrow morning to Lisbon, provided the weather cleared up sufficiently to permit a flight at that time.

The Province of Pontevedra, where Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh were reported to have landed on a flight from Santona to Portugal, is one of the most mountainous in Spain. Its woody heights are still the haunts of wolves and wild boars although the country about Caidalg de Tuy is regarded as a perfect garden of vineyards and dairy farming.

The ruins of abbeys and castles hundreds of years old, are among the famous antiquities of the province. Despite its picturesque delights however, the area is not extremely well supplied with communication facilities.

FORD MAY SEE PRESIDENT Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The prospect of an early visit to Washington by Henry Ford for a talk with President Roosevelt over his controversy with the NRA was being discussed today in some official quarters.

A Senator who has interested himself in the argument said the visit had been under consideration for some time.

There was no definite information forthcoming, however, whether the President and the manufacturer would get together.

The Floyd Rifles, Company C of the 121st Infantry of the Georgia national guard, at Macon, is 92 years old as an organization.

Weddings

Doyle-Moss

Mrs. Emma Moss, of 248 East Middle Turnpike, was married Saturday evening at 7 o'clock to James J. Doyle, of 85 Olmstead street, East Hartford. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Brennan of St. Mary's church of East Hartford. The bride wore a gown of ecru gray with accessories to match. Mrs. Edward Doyle, daughter-in-law of the bridegroom, who with her husband attended the couple, wore jungle green and matching accessories.

A reception for the members of both families followed at the home of the bridegroom. On their return from a wedding trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle will live temporarily at 248 East Middle Turnpike.

Mrs. Doyle was the widow of Hendrick B. Moss.

DEMOCRATS IN CONTROL West Haven, Conn., Nov. 13.—(AP)—For the first time in nearly half a century, the government of West Haven passed into Democratic control today.

First Selectman George W. Charman promised fulfillment of the Democratic promise of a businesslike administration as he was inducted into office with his fellow Democrat, Selectman Curtis K. Thompson, and Selectman John W. Curran, Republican.

More than 300 persons attended the ceremonies in the Town Hall.

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAVID BANNISTER returns from Hollywood to his former home, Tremont, for a rest. He is trying to forget ADELE ALLEN, film actress, who has jilted him.

Bannister goes to dinner with his old friend, JIM FAXTON, now editor of the Tremont Post. Later he takes a cab home. The cab is headed in front of the Shelby so light. A girl comes out of the hotel and rushes to the cab. When she sees Bannister she is embarrassed but agrees to ride with him to her destination. In the cab she drops her handbag and Bannister sees that it contains a revolver. A few minutes later she leaves.

Next morning Bannister reads that TRACY KING, orchestra leader in a movie theater, has been found dead in his apartment at the Shelby Arms. Police are looking for an "unknown blond" who visited King the night before.

Bannister, remembering the girl in the cab, is puzzled. Downtown later that morning he meets her again.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV

The girl paused, chin lifted a trifle defiantly. "Well," she said steadily, "why don't you take me to the police? That's what you've come for, isn't it?"

Somehow Bannister couldn't find the words he wanted. "But—" he stammered, "I mean—"

"I'd rather get it over with," the girl assured him. "Right away. What are you waiting for?"

She was dressed exactly as she had been the night before, in the gray suit with the bit of fur at the throat and the close-fitting green hat. A little of the blonde hair showed below the hat at each side of her face. It gave her an air of innocence, Bannister thought.

Suddenly he was moved to action. He might be making a mistake but he couldn't help it.

"Listen," he said, "you can't stay here! And you shouldn't be wearing those clothes. Don't you know that? You're taking a terrible risk—"

The defiance dropped from the girl's face. She stared at him. Then, in an unbelieving tone, she asked, "You mean—you aren't going to arrest me?"

It was so simple that Bannister laughed. "I'm not a policeman," he said. "Did you think I was? I don't know any reason why I should take you to the police but I warn you that if you keep on wearing that green outfit you're likely to find your self at headquarters."

The girl's eyes sought his. "I know!" she said. "But I haven't anything else to wear. I'm afraid to go out to buy anything. I'm afraid someone will see me. Oh, I don't know what to do. I can't even see to think!"

Suddenly despair and pleading came into the girl's eyes. "Will you help me?" she begged. "Oh, will you?"

David Bannister hadn't expected anything of the sort. A few moments before she had seemed a thoroughly poised young woman, simply sure of herself. She had been sure of herself the night before, too—except for that instant as she turned to go into the hotel. Bannister had made up his mind to keep the affair of the night before strictly to himself. Helping her to evade the police was another matter.

"Why, I don't know—" he began.

"Oh, please! You must!"

"Listen," Bannister said soberly, "maybe you'd better tell me a few things. We ought to go somewhere where we can talk."

"There's a room right here," said the girl eagerly. "Nobody will be in it when I left a minute ago. I'll tell you all about everything—but promise you'll help me!"

"I'll do what I can," he assured her, and was amazed at himself.

She led the way to the writing room, a small, irregularly shaped retreat with few desks shaded by green lamps. The room was furnished rather like a small hotel parlor, and, in fact, was used chiefly for that purpose.

There was a piano also there. At the far end of the room two large club chairs had been turned so that they faced the street. Only the backs of the chairs were visible from the doorway. Bannister saw them and strode forward.

"Here," he said, "let's sit here."

They settled themselves and Bannister, screwing his neck about uncomfortably, concluded they were safe from observation for the time being.

"Take off your hat," he suggested to the girl. "It will make you look different."

She drew off the cap-like bit of felt and ribbon and automatically raised one hand to her forehead, with gleaming, golden high lights and darker, richer tones in the shadow. It lay in smooth, soft waves about the girl's face.

For the first time Bannister inspected that face closely, and registered approval. She was pretty—but by no means the prettiest girl he had seen. Hundreds of perfectly featured Hollywood faces routed that claim. This girl had something else—character and distinction. He liked the rather high forehead, the tilt of the nose, the lips drawn generously and, though undoubtedly covered by rouge, of a shade approaching naturalness.

And this girl was wanted for murder.

"Well," he said uneasily, "you were going to tell me about it—"

She nodded. "I'll tell you everything," she agreed. "If only you'll help me. I—I must tell someone. I can't stand it any longer!"

"Maybe we'd better begin with names," he suggested. "Mine is Bannister, by the way—David Bannister."

"Oh!" She eyed him inquiringly. "I've heard that name somewhere. You're not—?"

"No one of the slightest importance, I assure you. I'm—well, just now I'm out of a job."

He thought for a moment there was sympathy in the gray eyes. Then they turned away. "Out of a job," the girl repeated. "That's why I came to Tremont. I thought I could get a job here—"

"But you haven't told me who you are?"

"My name," she said, "is Juliet France. I don't live in Tremont. I've never been here before, but I had to have a job. That's why I came."

She was reciting the words slowly, intently. "I sing a little," the girl went on. "Not professionally, but I've often sung in public."

"You knew Tracy King?" Bannister asked.

Her face, that had seemed pale before, whitened. "I'd never seen him before in all my life!" she exclaimed. "Never—before last night. And I didn't kill him! I swear I didn't! Oh, please believe me when I tell you that!"

Bannister leaned forward. "Then you were there!" he said. "You were in King's apartment. You're the girl the police are looking for!"

"But I tell you I didn't kill him! I didn't!"

"The gun—?"

"It wasn't loaded. I told you that last night! My father gave it to me years ago. It's—one of the few valuable things I own. I could sell it—"

An extremely unlikely story, Bannister very well knew, but he must hear the rest of it.

"And so you went to King's apartment?" he prompted.

The girl hesitated, eyeing him as though uncertain whether or not to continue. Then the words came with a rush.

"Yes, I saw his name outside a theater. Tracy King. I've sung in benefits in theaters and thought maybe he could give me a job or help me get one. I was afraid they wouldn't let me talk to him if I went to the theater, so I looked up his address in the telephone book."

"Last night I went there. It took me a long time to find the place but I finally did. The clerk told me Mr. King's apartment number and over the telephone he said I could come up. I mean Mr. King said so. He let me in and I asked about getting a chance to sing in the theater. He wasn't very encouraging but he told me that if I would come there—to the theater—this morning about 11 o'clock he'd hear my voice."

"Then I thanked him and said good night and came away. When I got outside I saw that it was raining. There was a cab out in front and I ran for it. You—you know the rest—"

"There wasn't anyone else there with King?" Bannister asked.

"You didn't see anything in the least suspicious anything to explain—what happened afterward?"

"No, there wasn't anyone else there. Just Mr. King. He didn't seem worried or anything. I don't know anything about what happened after that. I didn't know until this morning—"

"Well, then," and Bannister easily, "I don't see that you have much to be frightened about. The best thing for you to do is to tell the police the whole story. Just as you've told it to me. Oh, there'll be some routine questioning, of course—"

"Oh, but I can't!"

"Why not?"

"I can't!" Juliet rance repeated fervently. "And—there's something else. I've got to go back there again. I've got to get back in that room!"

KILLS SON WITH AXE

Mount Morris, N. Y., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Hacked by an axe wielded by his apparently insane father, Samuel Ruffo, 8, died this morning in Danville hospital. His father, John Ruffo, 39, killed himself with a shotgun after he had attacked his wife and four other children with the axe. All are in the hospital in critical condition, with the youngest child, Mollie, 4, not expected to live.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

COURAGE IN CHILDREN MAY COME FROM ILL HEALTH

"Jimmy, aren't you ashamed of not fishing kitty out of the fountain that bad boy threw her in? You had to run and call mother and I just got her in time."

Jimmy said nothing. He merely shivered. Water in bulk always made him shiver. Even the bathtub could only have a very few inches of water in it when he took a bath.

Another time his mother said, "Why don't you get your baseball bat and learn to play ball? There's nothing to be afraid of—the ball won't hit you."

Jimmy, according to his parents, was a coward. He was afraid of water, afraid of a ball, afraid of a height, of a rough game with the boys, of almost everything.

Coward by Comparison

The worst of it was that right next door lived Harry, a rough and tumble little fellow who was afraid of nothing on earth. He would climb to impossible places and then stand on his head. He was so tough he could eat nails and so brave he would have gone bare-fisted at a lion if he had the chance.

Every day Jimmy was compared to his doughty neighbor. And Harry had learned to scold and call Jimmy "frail cat" and now all the fellows called him that too. He was very wretched and unhappy. He tried to fight his cowardice, but on the few occasions when he proved his worth, and when he was not being some desperate attempt to baffle his reputation, he always got sick afterward.

One day his father was playing golf with Dr. Smith. "Say, Doc," he said, "how do you cure a kid of the jitters? That boy of mine is the big disappointment of my life. He turns green with fear at the least little thing. I think his mother bashed him too much, or else he was scared about things when he was a baby. He's been sick a lot and he has a hard time getting a start—do you remember? Do you s'pose it would help any if I took him to one of those psycho-what-do-you-call-'em chaps and get it all talked out of him?"

Health Secret of Courage

Dr. Smith put his score card in his pocket and lighted a cigarette. "Maybe," he said. "But do you s'pose after all Jimmy has had it would be a miracle, I think, if he had much physical courage. I'm beginning to agree with some of these new medical men who think that a good many of the virtues, including bravery, depend on healthy gland action. We have all sorts of deep-seated mysterious glands in our bodies and heads, that seem to be dictators of how we feel and how we act. Health, my dear man, good strength, and health is the secret of a lot of things."

"Don't ride your boy too hard. Don't call him a coward. He can't help it and it won't improve things any. If you build him up and go about it in a sane way, you'll find him more normal later on. No use making him feel too bad about something he absolutely can't help. Give him a hand-up, encourage him, tell him he's a swell fellow."

Somehow Jimmy's dad felt ashamed. He had a lot of restitution to make.

A MAKE-UP KIT HOLDS SPIRITUAL TONIC FOR "DEFEATED" WOMEN

By HELEN WELSHIMER

If somebody wanted to do something nice for jobless, homeless women it could be arranged by establishing an emporium which would supply them with hats and powder-puffs. For there is nothing that destroys a woman's pride like the knowledge that her hat resembles one of the inarticulate objects that came out of a 1776 missionary box and her lips have given up their perk because there wasn't any color to them any more.

There are 175,000 women in New York City alone, who have no jobs. The thousands of them are homeless. They walk. They curl up on benches or in the corners of subway trains. Subways are fairly warm, they have learned. They aren't crowded after the theater crowds go home. So the women go under cover.

Each pair of shoes should have its own shoe trees. And put the trees in the shoes each time you take them off. That simple gesture keeps them in shape until they are worn out.

Shoes should be aired in the sun a couple of times a week. And party slippers never should be put away until the little bags until they have been aired.

There are hard, cotton pads which fit into the toes of your party slippers. You can make them yourself, and, stuffed into the toe of each slipper, they'll go far toward keeping the slippers dainty and in their original shape.

Washing stockings every night and wearing a fresh pair each day is practically a universal habit now. This probably isn't a woman in the country who would think of wearing a pair of hose the second day without washing them.

However, the same woman who slips into clean stockings every morning will contradict her daintiness habits by giving her shoes little or no attention.

Of course they should be shined at least twice a week. And suede shoes have to be brushed every day. But what about the insides of them? Is the lining discolored? If it is, armed with cleaning fluid and a rough cloth, you can erase the stains of your negligence in about three minutes.

Keep Up Morale By Preserving Charm

The disappointed, weary women who have nowhere to go would hold their heads so much more proudly if they carried intriguing hats. They use their sense of charm. Food and shelter they need, of course. It is every woman's right to have hearthfire and walls to shut away the rain. But women need more than that.

If something would give them new complexes and wardrobes they wouldn't be afraid to face themselves in the mirror—so they would stop looking into it darkly—they would prove that sartorial interest isn't a publicity take. They could step through the looking glass and find a new world on the other side.

An endowment for providing jobless women with weapons with which to obtain jobs is worthwhile. Much more worthwhile than erecting drinking fountains on public squares.

Whether a girl should marry for love, money or because a man has a nice telephone voice used to be a romantic question. Now that Germany and Italy have gone in for mass marriages, and have replaced wedding marches with national anthems, and orange blossoms with colored flags, the grand old emotion that makes two hearts beat as one wouldn't recognize itself.

The dictators along the Rhine and the Tiber think that it was all very foolish anyway. Some people didn't fall in love. Then they didn't get married. And what was worse, oh, very much worse, they didn't beget sons who could carry guns for the fatherland and daughters who could beget more sons to carry more guns!

It is queer that Hitler and Mussolini have never learned that while you can regiment people into almost anything you can't force them into love. Maybe the two dictators have been so busy with other things they haven't had time to read magazines or go to the movies or take courses in psychology. If they had they would have known—and never, never would have made the mistake of ordering wholesale marriages.

It isn't surprising that they want to control love-life—and make it productive. But marriage happens to be a problem that is peculiarly up to two people. If a princess falls in love with a cobbler, she may marry a duke. But she won't be happy. When a government lines up its two and two, with the same purpose that Noah had in mind when he chose two of every living thing to stock the ark, it is creating wholesale unhappiness.

Maybe Heaven has been too busy looking after the jobless and the orphans in the last few years to you'll remember; as new as the dress that will appear next spring. It is the reason that small girls dress up in lace curtains; shopgirls eat sandwiches instead of steaks so they can pay installments on fur coats; and every woman has something nice that she wears when it is candle-lighting time and she steps out with a man who makes her play-time interesting.

Josephine couldn't have done anything, with Napoleon if she hadn't understood coiffures and dresses, and Ninon de l'Enclos probably owned more tailors than dressmaker than historians tell. Yes, clothes make the woman, pretty much. Beauty may be only skin deep, but it is the surface view that gets the first glance.

The House of Lords, England may transact certain business when there are only three members present, not necessarily including the Lord Chancellor.

On Time

It is so easy to be on time if you wear a smart frock like this one. It is easily donned and made the figure admirably fashionable by being bangleline with revers in a contrasting hue.

EASILY and quickly donned and very charming is this frock which is effective in silk, wool, crepe, satin, or taffeta. Designed in six sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20 (with corresponding bust measures of 34½, 36, 38½ and 40) and also in 40 and 42 bust. Size 18 requires 3¾ yards of 54-inch material in monotone, or four yards of 39-inch material for the dress, plus ¼ yard contrast for the collar.

To secure a pattern and simple sewing chart of this model, tear out this sketch and mail it to Julia Boyd, 103 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y., together with 15 cents in coin. Be sure to enclose, on a separate sheet of paper, your name, full address, your size, the number of this pattern (No. 51082), and mention the name of this newspaper.

EUROPE'S MASS WEDDINGS MAKE MOCKERY OF LOVE

Drive To Speed Birth-rate In Germany and Italy Is Seen As Vicious Threat To Sanctity of Marriage.

By HELEN WELSHIMER

Whether a girl should marry for love, money or because a man has a nice telephone voice used to be a romantic question. Now that Germany and Italy have gone in for mass marriages, and have replaced wedding marches with national anthems, and orange blossoms with colored flags, the grand old emotion that makes two hearts beat as one wouldn't recognize itself.

The dictators along the Rhine and the Tiber think that it was all very foolish anyway. Some people didn't fall in love. Then they didn't get married. And what was worse, oh, very much worse, they didn't beget sons who could carry guns for the fatherland and daughters who could beget more sons to carry more guns!

It is queer that Hitler and Mussolini have never learned that while you can regiment people into almost anything you can't force them into love. Maybe the two dictators have been so busy with other things they haven't had time to read magazines or go to the movies or take courses in psychology. If they had they would have known—and never, never would have made the mistake of ordering wholesale marriages.

It isn't surprising that they want to control love-life—and make it productive. But marriage happens to be a problem that is peculiarly up to two people. If a princess falls in love with a cobbler, she may marry a duke. But she won't be happy. When a government lines up its two and two, with the same purpose that Noah had in mind when he chose two of every living thing to stock the ark, it is creating wholesale unhappiness.

Maybe Heaven has been too busy looking after the jobless and the orphans in the last few years to another much about the marriage mill. But just the same, making connubial contracts in a state house isn't going to make them any more sacred. Marriages must be based on a strange emotion which we call love if it is to survive. There is a verse in an old, old book which says, "Love suffereth all things, believeth all things, endureth all things." Mass marriage, lacking this vital emotion, neither hopes, believes or endures. But it suffers!

When people marry because somebody in authority has commanded them to make their tribe increase, wedding ceremonies lose their beauty. When a man and a woman know that they must bear children, because maybe some day their country will want to fight a war and have men to face the enemy's guns, those children become a grim duty instead of a privilege.

There is a danger in this wholesale, state-backed, I'll-be-your-brother-in-law marriage. Neither hope, belief or infatuation may be mistaken for love. Such an emotion is fleeting as April snow, transitory as the flake gleam of a tinsel ball on a Christmas tree.

Women, finding that their husbands are useful merely as fathers of their children, will transfer their affection to these children. It won't be much fun, either, to coax a small boy to eat his spaghetti or liver-wurst so he can grow up to be a real soldier who may be sent down by a great steel gun. Just the same, they must raise their boys to be soldiers. Otherwise they wouldn't have had husbands to help produce those boys.

When human beings are urged into mass marriage on the assumption that marriage is synonymous with reproduction, life becomes as animalistic as a barnyard. That is all there is to marriage, why bother about ceremonies? Why not have breeding farms? Then good dictators could have their lines of marching soldiers and nobody would have to wear a wedding ring that didn't fit.

London policemen are to be trained in the work of firemen so that they may be able to face the risk of rescuing persons from burning buildings; they are already required to have a practical knowledge of first aid, car driving, swimming and life saving.

PNEUMONIA DEATH ROLL IS SECOND HIGHEST

Medical Science, Efforts to Prevent This Disease, Is Encouraged by Discoveries That May Lead to Cures

By DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

More persons die from pneumonia in the United States than from any other disease—except tuberculosis. In the 10 years from 1926 to 1935, the deaths from various forms of pneumonia in this country alone amounted to more than a million.

Control of pneumonia has not been established completely by the medical profession. It was thought for a while that the quarantining of people with the disease would stop it, yet this has not proved practical. Means have been sought for developing inoculations against the disease, but thus far all have been ineffective. One attack of pneumonia does not protect. This means that the immunity, created by an actual infection does not last very long, and the artificial immunity created by inoculation would not endure long, either.

The most that medicine can do, therefore, with the present state of our knowledge, is to try to bring about recovery in every case of the disease. In this, medicine has been aided greatly by the discovery of the fact that there are various types of pneumococci—the organisms which cause the disease.

Moreover, it has been possible to develop specific methods of protection against certain types. Some investigators have found that the germs called "Type I" and "Type II" are most often present in the noses and throats of people who live in families in which there are cases of pneumonia.

These germs are much less often present in summer than in winter. Apparently, also, there is some relationship between appearance of frequent colds among members of a family and the appearance of pneumonia.

Not all types of pneumonia yield equally to the serums that are available. A Boston physician developed a concentrated solution of the substances that can be developed from the pneumococcus. When patients with pneumonia caused by Type I pneumococcus were treated with this solution, the deaths were only 10.8 per cent, as contrasted with a death rate of 28.5 per cent of patients not treated with this serum.

Such statistics are very encouraging in the attack on this exceedingly fatal disorder. Interestingly enough, the type of pneumococcus producing pneumonia in children varies from the type that produces pneumonia in adults.

Much of the attacks by modern medicine on various types of infectious diseases depends on making the most careful and detailed study of the germs which cause the disease. In laboratories everywhere studies are being made of the nature of the germ which causes pneumonia.

It seems likely that this condition will be brought under much better control when the immunable types of pneumococci that are known are classified properly.

Lloyd George thinks the World War should have ended in 1916. And Woodrow Wilson would have gone down in history for having kept us out of it.

ONLY 7 MAJOR GRID ELEVENS REMAIN UNDEFEATED, UNTIED

ARMY SEEMS SURE OF KEEPING SLATE CLEAN THIS WEEK

Other Contenders for Crown Lost by Trojans Face Traditional Rivals; Week-End Program.

By HERBERT W. BARKER

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Seven major undefeated and untied teams had moved into the throne room of American football today, ready to pick up the scepter relinquished by Southern California.

But of these seven, only Army's golden helmeted warriors seemed certain, in advance, to preserve their unblemished record for another week. All the others, Oregon, Michigan, Georgia, Duke, Princeton and Nebraska, were booked against traditional rivals of formidable power.

Briefly here's what these contenders still have in front of them:

Army—Fought military in a breathless this week after which the Cadets face Navy and Notre Dame.

Michigan—The Wolverines must get past powerful Minnesota this week and then Northwestern to clinch Big Ten honors and possible national championship recognition.

Oregon—Her apparent to the Pacific coast throne and the Rose bowl assignment, Oregon must tie the weak Southern California in its week-end web-foot final game with St. Mary's Gaels.

Georgia—The Bulldogs have Auburn to meet this week and then Georgia Tech and Southern California.

Duke—North Carolina, North Carolina State and Georgia Tech is a big order for the Blue Devils.

Princeton—Navy this Saturday, then Rutgers and Yale.

Nebraska—The Cornhuskers have Pitt and Iowa to face on the next two Saturdays.

Eastern Features
Here are the outstanding features in the east, of this week's program:

East-Fit, having won possible national championship recognition, will start a slight favorite over Nebraska, as will Princeton over Navy. Army's reserves probably will take care of Penn State.

Washington—The Huskies will take the care of Washington at the Polo Grounds and George Washington's tussle with Tulane completes the inter-sectional battle but the principal stress is laid on such domestic duels as those in which Dartmouth and Cornell, Syracuse and Colgate, Harvard and Brown, Penn and Penn State, New York University and Rutgers and Columbia and Lafayette.

ROSS TO RISK JUNIOR WELTERWEIGHT TITLE

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Barney Ross steps out in another championship appearance this week but it's only his junior welterweight crown he'll be risking.

The youthful Chicagoan who won, and then successfully defended, the lightweight title in a slim-bang battle with Tony Canzoneri, will give Sammy Fuller of Boston a chance at the somewhat synthetic junior welter weight championship in a ten rounder at the Chicago stadium Friday night.

On the same night, Madison Square garden will resume fistic activities featuring a ten round mid-weight bout between Ben Jey of New York and Young Terry of Trenton, N. J.

Otherwise the National boxing program is marked only by a 10-round non-title bout involving Freddie Miller of Cincinnati, National boxing Association featherweight king, and Lew Feldman of New York at the Ridgewood Grove arena here Tuesday.

HIT AT CHAIN STORE SYSTEM IN BASEBALL

Kansas City, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Directing a blow at the chain store system in baseball, the American Association has imposed drastic penalties for clubs which acquire player strength from their major league affiliates except during the early stages of the annual pennant race.

By a vote of six to two, association club owners in voting on the new regulation would be subject to a fine of $1,000 for each game, and games won by the offending team would be thrown out.

Snow Storm Postpones Opener Of Town Series

The town series opener was cancelled at the last minute. Many local fans traveled to Mt. Nebo but were disappointed. The Eagles did everything possible to play but could not get Jack Dwyer to send his charges on the field.

Many semi-pro games were played around the state. Ed Dwyer and Tommy Hayes of the Eagles, witnessed a game at the State Prison in Wethersfield. The Trojans of the Prison defeated the highly touted Bristol North Ends by a score of 13-12.

Ed Dwyer and Tommy Hayes, who had been named a member of the newly created State Racing Commission by Gov. A. Harry Moore.

PROS WISE UP ON WHAT FOOTBALL FANS DESIRE

Could Not Depend Alone on Star Players to Fill Stadiums; Run Game on Basis Similar to Big League Baseball Competition.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a series of articles on pro football, which is showing a tremendous increase in popularity.

By JIMMY DONAHUE
NEA Service Sports Writer

New York, Nov. 13.—Five years ago professional football began to realize that it could not depend alone on the color of its star players. There was something missing which could supply the spark necessary to fill its stadium to the capacity of college athletes.

College coaches were enlisted. Fines were imposed on players who failed to train properly, or who failed to show their best in games. Spring and fall training camps were established, similar to those of college teams. Team rivalries in the league were ballyhooed. Scouts were sent to scout minor pro outfits throughout the country to enlist fresh material, and some teams even established "farms" similar to those of major league ball teams in which to develop future players.

Each was signed to a contract. When a player accepted the terms of one club, no other club in the league could barter with him. Contracts were executed in triplicate; and one copy each was retained by the player, the club and the league.

The National League was in 1933 composed of ten teams. This league, it was understood, was to be augmented by organization of leagues with Memphis, a Texas city which was a New England center, as hubs.

The National League teams were Chicago Bears and Cardinals, Portsmouth Spartans, Boston Braves, New York Giants, Green Bay Packers, Brooklyn Dodgers, Pittsburgh Pirates, Philadelphia Eagles and Cincinnati Reds.

With rosters of all-star players on these teams, it was easy for ballyhoo agents of the league to build up a reputation for themselves.

For instance, two of the greatest forward passers, ever to grace the game are playing pro football. These are Benny Friedman of Brooklyn, and one of his Michigan pupils, Harry Newman, the All-American quarterback of the Wolverines last season, who now plays for the New York Giants.

When these two teams meet, there is always a lot of noise about the pass rivalry between the two players, with the result that a lot of customers walk through the turnstiles to watch a possible duel.

Sponsor Of Hambletonian Named to N. J. Race Board

Hackensack, N. J., Nov. 13.—(Special)—William H. Cane, noted New Jersey sportsman and impresario of the rich Hambletonian Stake at his Goshen, N. Y., track, has just been named a member of the newly created State Racing Commission by Gov. A. Harry Moore.

Open Rec Senior League Thursday Of Next Week

Rules and Regulations of Loop Settled; West Sides May Enter Team; Dancing to Follow Games With Small Admission.

There is an excellent chance that the West Sides, a bulwark in town sports activities, will again enter a team in the Rec Senior basketball league for the coming season.

That much was disclosed at a meeting held Friday night at the East Side Rec at which time representatives of the Laurs, Collegians, Ansdills, Masons, Knolls, and Dills were on hand to discuss the rules and regulations for the league.

To Open the 33rd Although there is a considerable bit more business to be enacted before the league gets under way it was voted upon at the meeting to open the league on Thursday, November 23rd and to continue playing its schedule on Thursday and Saturday nights providing the league is composed of eight teams which looks most likely at this time.

The manager of each team must submit a list of eligible players of more than 12 men at the Recreation Center office on or before Friday, November 17, also the sum of five dollars, this sum to be forfeited by any team which does not fulfill its schedule. The only restriction on the players list, regardless of basketball ability, that he must be a member of the Recreation Center.

Football Stars

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Doug Nott, Detroit—Scored on 50 yard run with intercepted pass and threw passes for two touchdowns against Catholic.

Bill Corbin, Stanford—Kicked two field goals in last five minutes to beat Southern California 13-7.

Jack Buckler, Army—Led attack that overpowered Harvard, scoring two of four touchdowns.

Local Sport Chatter

Georgia's highly-touted 7-0 eleven only whipped Yale by 7-0 score in the Yale Bowl Saturday but to this observer it seemed as though the potential power of the visitors was unlimited and that the southern Bulldog just didn't feel like "shooting the works" against a team it was sure of beating.

Coach Harry Mehrs must have told his charges to get a lead as soon as possible and then coast along. Georgia chalked up its touchdown and point after in the first ten minutes of play, mainly through the spectacular ball carrying of the diminutive Homer Key. From then on Georgia played safe. Yale made several long marches between the 80-yard lines but as soon as the Georgians were threatened, the Ellis ran smack up against a defense that without effort as usual, it certainly looked as though the southerners could have tallied a few more times, had they so desired.

A substitute fullback by the name of Brown, playing in a sleeveless jersey that made him a prominent figure on the field, provided the thrills of the afternoon with two brilliant runs. He had been stopped several times without a gain in his first attempts at carrying the ball. Soon after Yale punted and Brown dashed down the sidelines for forty yards and then on the next play ripped off thirty-five more. Georgia kicked repeatedly on the third and last down, when it had only one or two yards to make a first down.

It has been announced that Walter "Ty" Holland will not do a basketball uniform this season, having planned to go into refereeing in a serious way. However, this department learns that "Ty" is trying out with the Fabus Blue Ribbons of Hartford and will probably be with that team this winter. It is understood that the Blue Ribbons have considerable financial backing and will pay the players cash and expenses for every game, something that most semi-pro teams in this vicinity have been unable to do as they are dependent entirely on the gate receipts.

Middletown High lost every game on its League schedule this season but, technically, finished in third place in the C.C.I.L. standing due to the fact that West Hartford, East Hartford and Meriden tied for second place, while Manchester and Bristol tied for first. The final standing is as follows:

W. L. T. Pts.
Manchester	0	1	13
Bristol	4	0	13
West Hartford	2	3	6
East Hartford	2	3	6
Meriden	2	3	6
Middletown	0	5	0

The St. Mary's basketball quintet, one of the local Guards greatest rivals, will not return to action this season, reason unexplained. The team had a lineup that included such stars as Hurley, Briggs, Stangle, Cronin and the Malloy brothers. Last year St. Mary's met the Guards four times and the latter won three games.

Clay Lavigne, manager of the All-Burnside cage five of last year, has severed his connection with the team. He announces that he will manage a team of college all-stars during the winter vacation period, including George "Jojo" Stangle, who is gaining gridiron fame as signal caller for the Dartmouth Indians.

The Pawnee A. C. football team scheduled to play the Baldwin A. C. Sunday morning at Mt. Nebo, had to cancel the game because of snow but hopes to play them next Sunday morning at 10:15 at Mt. Nebo. The Baldwins will meet tonight at their clubroom.

Merr's Millers take on the Bolders in a practice game at "Y" tomorrow night. The following players of the Millers are asked to report: "Boney" Davis, "Phil" Morarty, "Mickey" Clark, "Red" Sheldon, "Mickey" Kalkaveck, "Charlie" Nowack, "Wado" Varrick, "Joe" Green and "Walt" Kompanik. Game time, 8:00.

The members of the Olympic Juniors are requested to report at the West Side Rec tomorrow for a meeting. The meeting will start at 7 o'clock sharp.

The Raiders basketball team will practice tomorrow night at the School Street Rec at 7 o'clock. Every member is requested to report as the team will open its season the week of November 26 and Coach Hugh Greer wants his team to be in the best of shape. Last year the Raiders had a record of 14 wins and only 4 defeats. They won the Hartford County YMCA Senior "B" League. They have two new members on their squad in the presence of Eugene Harris and Joseph Sartor both who last year played with the High School.

Carl Isaacs, North Carolina State College tackle, wears a size eight and one-half shoe.

The Raigers basketball team will practice tomorrow night at the School Street Rec at 7 o'clock. Every member is requested to report as the team will open its season the week of November 26 and Coach Hugh Greer wants his team to be in the best of shape. Last year the Raiders had a record of 14 wins and only 4 defeats. They won the Hartford County YMCA Senior "B" League. Milwaukee—Marquette's football fans are calling Wayne and Becker the greatest and that has turned up here since Verge Dilweg and here's one of the reasons why. In a recent game Becker punted three times in succession and each time raced down the field and tackled the receiver.

Saratoga, Pa.—If you're checking up on the East's leading teams, don't overlook St. Thomas. The Tommies have won six straight games, numbering among their victims such strong teams as Western Maryland, Springfield and Geneva. And they have allowed their opponents only eight points, a safety by Western Maryland and a touchdown by the Pitt.

JUNIORS GAIN 6TH VICTORY IN A ROW

Whip East Glastonbury, 2-0; Olympics Game Is Cancelled, Due to Snow.

The Olympic Juniors marked up their sixth straight victory at the expense of the East Glastonbury Juniors on Saturday afternoon by the score of 6 goals to 0. The losers were much heavier than the local boys but had not the same teamwork. Samuelson in goal for the Olympic Juniors excelled. The rest of the team played finely against their heavier opponents. Pat scored in the first half and Scott registered number two in the second half.

Three to four inches of snow at Hartford caused the postponement of the junior league game between the Hascoc Rangers and the Olympics. Both Olympics teams will meet on Tuesday at the West Side. Important business will be transacted and all members are requested to be present at 7:00 p. m. sharp.

TOURNEY MAY FINISH IN A THREE WAY TIE

Manassas, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The possibility that the national pocket billiard tournament would end in a three-way tie for first place, necessitating a playoff, arose as Charles Seaback, Astoria, N. Y., and George Kelly, Philadelphia, squared off in the final.

A win for Kelly, now in third place, over the leader, Seaback, would put them at William Mosconi, Philadelphia all in first position each with seven victories and two losses.

In event of such a tie a three-game series would be played, the first tonight and the other tomorrow. However, all three are assured of the right to compete in the world's championship billiard meet at Chicago next month.

Punts and Passes

By Associated Press
Detroit—There may be a moral to this story. Norbert Reisterer, the end who receives a lot of Doug Nott's passes, came to the field because John Tooker, who hit home considerably on the gridiron in their high school days in Kalamazoo chose it as his college. When they came out for the varsity, Reisterer developed into a star end but Tooker, finding plenty of competition, has been only a part time fullback.

Williamstown, Mass.—Williams and Amherst, little three rivals, put in a claim to having the oldest of the football rivalries that will be renewed this week. They started playing in 1884 and have missed only three years since then, 1887, 1902 and 1903.

University, Ala.—It may have been a football game for the rest but Saturday's Virginia Polytechnic Alabama clash was just a big reunion for Henry Crisp, Alabama assistant coach and athletic director and Coaches Reed and Younger of the Bobbers. They used to be roommates of V.P.I. but now they seldom get together unless their teams meet.

Greencastle, Ind.—Here's an example of real teamwork in football. In 1930 when the Depauw freshmen were playing the Wabash Yearlings, Frank Kotman, Depauw tackle, blocked a punt, George Lorts, center, caught the ball on the fly and ran 40 yards for a touchdown. This year as seniors they worked exactly the same combination against State only this time Lorts dashed the entire length of the field.

New York.—It will be the entire Pacific Northwest against New York at the polo grounds Saturday when Oregon State meets Fordham. The Beavers haven't enough alumni here to get up a real cheering section so they have invited the graduates of Oregon, Washington and Washington State to join them in a special section and root against the Rams.

Milwaukee—Marquette's football fans are calling Wayne and Becker the greatest and that has turned up here since Verge Dilweg and here's one of the reasons why. In a recent game Becker punted three times in succession and each time raced down the field and tackled the receiver.

Injuries, Ineligibility Cripple Red and White; Visitors Run Up Score With Smooth Working Attack That Crushes Local Forward Wall Reserves.

Crippled by injuries and ineligibility, a make-shift Manchester High eleven succumbed to a powerful Windham High grid machine in the football season's finale at Mt. Nebo Saturday afternoon, bowing by a score of 19 to 7. Seven Red and White players, who have seen action during most of the season, were unable to play and lack of capable reserves proved one of the factors in Manchester's downfall.

Willamantic sent a smooth-working, well balanced team into the fray and played heads-up football to chalk up its sixth triumph in eight starts this season. Thereby avenging the 20-13 defeat which it suffered last year. Manchester finished the season with a record of four victories, one tie and three defeats, one of the most successful seasons in the history of the local school. Unbeaten through its C. C. I. L. slate, Manchester is co-holder of the League title with Bristol. Its other two defeats were received from Hartford High and Bulkeley High, both of Hartford. The latter team captured the greater Hartford championship Saturday.

Saturday's game at Mt. Nebo was one of the most thrilling of the season, due to the passing and kicking of Ray Mosser, the spectacular play of "Chucky" Smith and Arlon Jude squared off in the final.

A win for Kelly, now in third place, over the leader, Seaback, would put them at William Mosconi, Philadelphia all in first position each with seven victories and two losses.

ANOTHER TANK AFIRE

AT TIVERTON PLANT. Tiverton, R. I., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Tank Number 4 at the New England Terminal Company farm burst into flame at 1 o'clock this morning but was quickly brought under control.

The tank flared without warning from an unknown cause, no one was injured. Tank 4 was one of six that were swept by fire earlier this month. Three men lost their lives in the explosion and fire at that time and damage was estimated at $1,000,000.

The tank was believed empty, company officials said, and no one was working in the vicinity when the fire broke out today. The explosion threw gasoline over a 300 yard radius and a large area of the plant flamed. Nearby residents made ready to abandon their homes, but within a half hour of the start of the fire it was brought under control.

The gasoline-soaked ground and partially demolished tank continued to burn but fire officials said there was no danger of it spreading.

YALE STUDENT INJURED

Stamford, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The Sun, in a special dispatch from the liner Pennsylvania at sea, said today it was indicated that Brig. General Pelham D. Glasford, U. S. A., retired, is under consideration by Mayor-Elect F. H. LaGuardia for police commissioner.

Under consideration with him, the Sun said, was Major General James E. Fechet, former chief of the Army Air Corps. General Glasford was in charge of Washington police when the bonus army was camped in the National capital last year.

The mayor-elect and Mrs. La-

Guardia are aboard the ship for a rest after the campaign. They are expected to leave the vessel in Panama and fly back to the United States, landing in Washington, D. C.

FLOYD ELUDES NET

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Acting on a tip that Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd was hiding here, police and Federal officers raided a home here today and arrested two women, one of whom they believed was a sweetheart of the desperado.

Police maintained silence concerning their raid, but the man they were advised was Floyd apparently eluded the net prepared for him.

AL SMITH TO VISIT PRESIDENT TUESDAY

Washington Wonders What They Are Going to Talk About; No Information.

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Washington was interested today to hear of a prospective visit to the White House.

Political observers were inclined to link the meeting with the recent Democratic upheaval in New York city. Smith declined public support of the defeated Tammany Hall ticket in the New York city election.

While the President kept an asserted hands off policy in this contest, his principal aide, Postmaster General James A. Farley supported Joseph V. McKee, in opposition to the Tammany slate.

Democratic leaders are now wondering if the President and Al Smith may not be looking to the reorganization of the party in New York city.

However, there was not the slightest intimation of what they intended to talk about or what brought about the conference.

MISS HEWITT IS HELD FOR SUPERIOR COURT

Charged With Shooting Negro Stableman—Says She Was Afraid of Him.

Greenwich, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Miss Eloise Hewitt, riding instructor, who shot at Jordon Cook, her negro stableman several times September 24, indicating three wounds today was held for Superior Court trial in $1,000 bonds on a charge of aggravated assault.

Cook had worked for Miss Hewitt seven years. Testifying before Judge Barton today Cook said he went to the house where his employer lived and knocked on the door of her apartment. Several shots were fired through the door and he was wounded. He was discharged from the hospital last week. He has been placed under bonds as a material witness in the case.

The contention of the woman is that she was afraid Cook was going to enter her room, that he had his hand on the doorknob and that she fired the shots at random to scare the man.

GLASSFORD MAY HEAD POLICE IN NEW YORK

Washington, Nov. 13.—There are no hard feelings between President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull over the Moley incident.

The President has taken pains to make clear his anxiety to have Hull here for the Russian recognition conferences with Maxim Litvinoff, as well as at the opening of the Pan-American conference in Montevideo, Dec. 3.

There was some question whether Hull to keep both dates. He probably can. Early reports indicated that Hull would not sit in Roosevelt and Litvinoff, and Washington gossip have imagined a coolness between the White House and Hull since the latter insisted on Moley's resignation as assistant secretary of state.

Ambassador Sumner Welles, until recently regarded as an ace diplomat in Latin America, will get to Montevideo if the Cuban situation straightens out in time. But his prestige has been somewhat tarnished by the upset of his plans for Cuba and his presence at the conference isn't considered as important as it was.

His friends in the State Department wish he had returned here soon after the overthrow of Machado.

MAY LIMIT SHADE TOBACCO GROWERS

Plan to Prevent Them from Restricting Acreage and Then Planting Stalk Tobacco.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—In-teraction of a clause in the tentative marketing agreement for Connecticut shade tobacco growers which would prevent their encroachment upon stalk growers who have already signed contracts to limit acreage, seemed probable as a result of complaints filed with the secretary of Agriculture by Connecticut stalk growers.

According to Senator Loneragan, who presented the complaints for the stalk growers, immediate consideration will be given by the department to all their protests, but the marketing agreement appears to be the only vehicle offering immediate relief.

Following a conference with J. B. Hutson, in charge of the tobacco division of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the Senator said that Hutson was of the opinion that the objection of the stalk growers to the encroachment by outside packers and dealers who are now becoming stalk growers, would be much more difficult to adjust. There is no contract with such dealers at present which the government can control their activities, but the Agricultural Adjustment Act is being carefully studied to find a way, if possible, to solve this problem.

With respect to fixing a minimum price for the stalk tobacco at 25c per pound in the bundle, the Senator said that the Administration has indicated no definite policy. Western agricultural leaders were here for several weeks, he said, endeavoring to establish minimum prices on certain crops, but were unsuccessful. Pressure for such prices is continuing, however, and tobacco demands will be included in any policy the government may ultimately adopt.

Senator Loneragan said that the contract with stalk growers to limit crops contains a clause prohibiting them from entering other production of the same type. This clause has not been inserted in the pending marketing agreement for the shade growers, and unless it is inserted before final approval, shade growers could restrict their acreage on that crop and then begin planting stalk.

The complaint from the Stalk Growers Committee has indicated that they expected such competition from the shade or leaf tobacco growers both in and outside the state, thus offsetting their own reductions under their contract.

The stalk growers, in presenting their complaints to Senator Loneragan, state that they represent 30,000 acres of stalk tobacco, about three-fourths of the tobacco farm investment in the Connecticut Valley. They represent 4,000 farm houses and approximately 20,000 settled people.

Famous Author Assigned Birthday to N. Y. Woman

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—This is the anniversary of Robert Louis Stevenson's birthday, the rights and privileges of which would belong to the President of the United States except for Mrs. W. Bourke Cockran.

The famous author of "Treasure Island," "Kidnaped," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and a great many other stories, assigned his birthday anniversary to Mrs. Cockran in 1891 in a whimsical document which charged her "To use my birthday with moderation and humanity et tamquam bona filia familiae, the said birthday not being so young as it once was, and having carried me in a very satisfactory manner since I can remember."

Observance of the birthday, the Stevens document said, must be by the sporting of fine raiment, eating of rich meats and receipt of the gifts, compliments and copies of verse, according to the number of our ancestors."

If Mrs. Cockran fails to follow the instructions, Stevenson charged, the privileges of his birthday are to go to the President of the United States.

Mrs. Cockran, however, has no intention of permitting such a trust to escape her. She is on a motor tour today, having left her New York home several days ago; but before departing she left word that wherever November 13 might find her, she would carefully follow out the rules laid down by the post-author.

Robert Louis Stevenson who assigned a rights of his birthday to Mrs. Cockran upon learning that she was born on Christmas, was himself born in Edinburgh, Scotland, November 13, 1850.

Mrs. Cockran is the widow of former Congressman W. Bourke Cockran of New York, one of the best known orators of his time.

The design of some looms is: "Let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth. With that as a motto, the unadvised loom weaver sets all sorts of traps to fool the weaver. The deftweaver looms has many opportunities to try each duty work, and one of his pet practices is illustrated in the accompanying sketch.

As far as the right arm is concerned, the deftweaver loom is making a legal play. It is being used as a means of lifting the opponent legally, but the left hand is about to be used illegally in striking across the opponent's face to help straighten him up, (over him off balance, and...)

Since the only defense the opponent has against this type of play is to change law and lose the head down.

HENRY SCHALLER HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Car Skids on Wet Pavement and Plunges Down Embankment in South Coventry.

Henry Schaller, proprietor of Schaller's garage, was injured early Sunday morning when answering a call for an accident in South Coventry. A Hartford man, driving towards Manchester, skidded on the slippery road and went down an embankment. Mr. Schaller drove out in his car and the wrecker followed him. The car was beaded down the embankment and was being held from a further plunge by a wire fence. It knocked down three state highway poles in its drive.

Mr. Schaller started down the embankment to see what was the trouble. He slipped and started to try and save himself. In doing so he struck a wire fence, was hurled over it and thrown into the lot below. He struck with much force on his shoulder. He was helped into his car and drove back to Manchester. Dr. Howard Boyd was called to attend him. It was found that a shoulder blade was injured, which was causing much pain. He was examined at the Manchester police station. The car that had skidded down the bank was not badly damaged.

50 CENTS MINIMUM FOR FEDERAL WORK

Hourly Rates Specified in Administration Emergency Aid Projects

Wage rates ranging from 50 cents an hour for laborers to $1.20 an hour for skilled workers are specified in all construction projects let out by the state highway department under the Federal Emergency administration of public works. Manchester already has applied for $150,000, which comes under this particular fund. The government will donate 30 per cent outright and extend a loan for the remaining 70 per cent to be repaid over a period of years.

Workers will be classified as follows when Manchester decides upon a project, and receives the government money: Class A, minimum rate, 50 cents an hour for common labor, stone spreaders and truck drivers. Class B, minimum, 60 cents an hour for asphalt rakers, bulldozer operators, compressor operators, cement bin operators, drill operators, firemen, from setters, grade operators, others, screen operators, stationary mixers, distributor and pump operators.

Class C, minimum, 70 cents an hour for blacksmiths, road finishers, mechanics, etc. Class D, 85 cents an hour for roller operators and rough carpenters. Class E, minimum of $1.20 an hour for carpenters, crane operators, stone masons, shovel operators, paver operators, etc.
