FRANCE FEARS HITLER MOVES MEAN TROUBLE

Foreign Minister Declares
Chancellor's Acts May Turn Out a "Menace to European Stability."

Paris, Nov. 14.—(AP)—French fears of Chancellor Hitler's danger to peace were openly acknowledged by Joseph Paul-Boncour, minister of foreign affairs, in the Chamber of Deputies today. He declared German "excitation" was "fraught with adventurous possibilities."

"It is perhaps," he said, "a menace to European stability."

Paul-Boncour implied that a face-to-face talk between France and Germany had been refused by declaring: "No accord or alliance can be made except within the framework of the League of Nations."

Referring to the German elections Sunday, which expressed German confidence in their governmental policy by an overwhelming vote, he said:

"Hitler's victory Sunday will accelerate the demands. Despite repeated assurance of peace and regardless of the government which will be the underlying principles of the movement create risks which the neighbors dare not disregard."

It was regarded as significant that Paul-Boncour carried to the rostrum documents enclosed in the red, white and blue of the French flag.

The foreign minister said France did not demand an investigation under Article 213 of the Versailles Treaty of alleged German rearming because it would run the risk of the red, white and blue of the French flag.

He declared flatly against any arrangement outside the League and said ambassadors could negotiate but that the result would be submitted to the League of Nations.

SAVES WIRELESS COSTS BUT STARTS TROUBLE

S. S. American Legion at sea, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A newspaper correspondent sought to save money today on his report of the activities of the American delegation to the Pan-American conference.

He referred to Secretary of State Hull in a wireless message to the newspaper as "S.O.S."

But the message never got ashore. Operators on other ships, hearing the distress call left us, kept interrupting to ask the American Legion's position.

SAYS RECOVERY ACT IS LAW OF PEOPLE

General Johnson Declares
NRA Is Mostly Concerned
With "Little Fellow."

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Gov. Hugh S. Johnson, National recovery administrator, today turned toward Washington and the problems awaiting settlement there after declaring the Recovery Act is "the people's law" and is most concerned with "the little fellow" in the final address of his tour of the Mississippi basin.

Speaking before more than 10,000 persons and interrupted several times by applause, Johnson in his speech last night denied that NRA "has censored the radio" and said the public is not being misled "by the tom-tom beating of powerful people whose own purposes are crossed" by statutes such as the NRA.

4 Million Back
Johnson said American Federation of Labor figures show that 4,000,000 men have returned to work since the recovery administration began operations. The NRA, he continued, "perhaps bears heavier

IL DUCE TO OUST ITALY'S DEPUTIES

Chamber to Be Replaced by National Council of Corporations, He Says.

Rome, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini said today the Chamber of Deputies of Italy, which does not please him, is to be replaced by the National Council of Corporations.

He said this transformation of the legislative body would not be accomplished immediately by that when the new Chamber meets next year it will be called upon at once "to decide its fate."

Il Duce made this announcement in a speech before the convention of the National Council of Corporations and said the Council, as the chief body of the powerful corporative system, must become a substitute for the Chamber.

He commented in his speech that the Chamber had never pleased him.

Net at Once.
The reason that the proposed reform will not be made immediately, he said, is that there is insufficient time before the election in March which, therefore, will take place in the customary fashion.

Mussolini termed the rise of the corporative state as "coincident with the decadence of Socialism."

The new system, he said, was adaptable also to introduction into foreign countries, but that its adoption must be conditioned on three facts:

- (1) The occurrence of revolutionary ideas.
- (2) The existence of a humanitarian form of government.
- (3) The existence of a period of high tension.

Europe, he stated, in referring to the present difficult economic and political situation, "could still progress if it would display even the least possible quantity of cooperation among its component nations."

Stampede For Liquor Permits Is On In Nation's "Wettest State"

NOTED DOCTOR FINDS CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

Dr. S. J. Maher Describes
Method of Changing Deadly
Germs Into Harmless
Bacteria.

Shelton, Conn., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The promise of a "specific cure" for tuberculosis was held forth today by Dr. Stephen J. Maher, international authority on the disease and was hailed by his colleagues as "epoch making."

Dr. Maher announced to a meeting of physicians, called by the Connecticut Tuberculosis Commission of which he is chairman, that he has developed a technique for breaking down the tuberculous germ into a harmless cell.

"This new field contains, in the opinion of some of us," he said, "the long sought and greatly needed specific cure for tuberculosis."

Dr. Maher, sturdy and erect in defiance of his 73 years, his ruddy face set off by a white Van Dyke beard, read the paper, announcing his discovery, last night in the sterile, white auditorium of the Laurel Heights Sanatorium.

Three physicians, Dr. Edward J. Lynch of Shelton, Dr. Cole B. Gibson of Meriden and Dr. Hugh B. Campbell of Norwich—to whom he communicated his secret for verification, reported their experiments corroborated the findings.

Albert E. Lavery, a state tuberculosis commissioner, said of Dr. Maher's report: "It will mark an epoch in the study and treatment of tuberculosis."

Others of the 125 physicians present, those to whom the work was being shown for the first time, called it "epoch making" and "a tremendous achievement."

Langley Report
Well into the second hour of the meeting, Dr. Maher read his "ten thousand word" paper, telling the story of his work in transmitting the acid-fast tubercle bacilli into

LINDBERGH TO FLY BACK OVER OCEAN

To Use Southern Route Recently
Used by General
Balbo and His Armada.

Cadiz-de-Ty, Spain, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh said today he is thinking of making an exploration tour across the Atlantic ocean by the southern route, similar to his recent stage-by-stage flight of the North Atlantic.

Colonel Lindbergh, who with Mrs. Lindbergh stayed aboard their seaplane last night after they were forced down by fog on a flight from Santiago, Spain, to Lisbon, was taken ashore today by the launch of the Spanish galleon; Prater and he said Mrs. Lindbergh were entertained by village authorities.

The prevailing fog and constant rain would keep them here until tomorrow at which time they hoped to continue their trip to Lisbon toward which they set out from Geneva Saturday.

Original Route
The forthcoming Lindbergh transatlantic flight, according to aviation officials, is the one originally mapped by the late Captain Allen Winslow of Pan-American Airways in which Lindbergh, the Lindberghs are making their present aerial survey.

The Winslow route included halts at Bermuda and the Azores.

It was this route which Italo Balbo, former minister of aviation of Italy, and his great air armada followed on their return from Chicago this summer. Similarly, both Lindbergh and Balbo followed closely paralleled routes in their crossings of the North Atlantic in opposite directions by way of Greenland and Iceland.

Through Check-Up
This aviation authorities feel this year will have seen a thorough check-up of flying conditions in both directions across the northern and southern routes over the North Atlantic ocean.

Thousands of messages are pouring in here today from all parts of the world addressed to the American and British governments, asking that Lindbergh be allowed to receive them, much less to answer them.

The Society of Transatlantic Operators invited the Lindberghs to visit them on the Atlantic coast.

BEER OF 3.2 P. C. NOT INTOXICATING

Scientist Completes Four Months' Test; Enough Cannot Be Drunk, He Says.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A four months' test of beer drinkers was concluded today with the report of Dr. Anton J. Carlson, chairman of the Physiology Department at the University of Chicago, that one cannot comfortably drink enough 3.2 beer to become intoxicated.

Subjects of the tests ranged from 16 to 60 years of age, weighed from 100 to 225 pounds, representing every walk of life. They drank, under observation, from two to sixteen 12-ounce bottles of legal beer in periods ranging from 15 minutes to 18 hours.

Dr. Carlson said tests were made of the amount of alcohol in the blood, of the effect of beer on mental and physical reactions, and general behavior.

Intoxication
"People had to be forced to drink sufficient beer to exhibit the marked changes of behavior which are classed as intoxication," said Dr. Carlson. "The forced drinking of large quantities was accompanied by such discomfort, nausea and vomiting as to make it highly improbable that the people would consume similar amounts voluntarily."

The experiments were conducted at the invitation and cooperation of the United States Brewing Association, but entirely under university control. Cooperating were Dr. F. C. Mohr and Dr. Nathaniel Kleitman of Chicago and Dr. C. W. Mendenhall of the University of Wisconsin.

SMITH'S PARLEY IN WASHINGTON STARTS RUMORS

Political Leaders Wonder
Why Conference With
Roosevelt Was Arranged;
May Be About New York.

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith meet today at the White House for the avowed purpose of having a social chat.

But the politically-minded nevertheless held the meeting was more significant than that. They took that position despite agreement by White House officials and Smith that they were wrong.

Their reasons, said the doubters, were numerous.

First, and newest, was the fact that neither the President nor Smith took public part in the recent New York City mayoral election in which John P. O'Brien, Tammany Democrat, was roundly defeated.

Earley Backed McKee
At the same time, it was recalled, James A. Farley, President Roosevelt's good friend and post-master general, backed Joseph V. McKee, Recovery candidate who lost to Filippo LaGuardia, Fusionist, but ran ahead of O'Brien.

Some held the Roosevelt-Smith meeting might develop talk about reorganization of the New York City Democratic lineup.

Others At Conference
Smith, John J. Raskob and Dr. Raymond Miller of New York, were invited to the capital to attend a dinner of Catholic University trustees. Raskob the wisecracking rambler, was Smith's presidential campaign manager in 1928 and a man who lost his post as Democratic National committee chairman about the time Franklin D. Roosevelt won the party's nomination for the presidency.

FAMOUS SURGEON KILLS WIFE, SELF

German Specialist Who Operated on Mrs. Gene Tunney
Figured in Tragedy.

Berlin, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Professor Arthur Wold Meyer, 48, chief surgeon of the West End hospital, killed his wife and himself today.

He was one of the best known surgeons in Germany and in 1928 went to Italy to perform the successful operation on Mrs. Gene Tunney, wife of the former heavyweight champion.

Reason for the double shooting was not immediately explained.

It took place at the Meyer residence in Charlottenburg, the surgeon using a sporting rifle. Both died instantly.

Police said Meyer, shortly before the shooting, asked a woman assistant to telephone his hospital that he would be somewhat late in arrival there.

Mrs. Meyer was 31 years old, born Charlotte Soheimeyer, the daughter of a well known piano manufacturer of Stuttgart. They had a seven-year-old son, Horst.

The noted surgeon was born in Wiesbaden and served during the war as body physician to Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria.

EUROPE'S POLITICS OUT FOR AMERICA

U. S. Not Interested But
Ready to Take Arms Cuts
With Any Nation.

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Norman H. Davis reiterated to newsmen today that the United States would not participate in any European political discussions but was ready to talk disarmament with any nation.

The ambassador at large, who has just returned from the Geneva disarmament conference, said the future of that meeting would depend upon the crystallization of public opinion and that the disarmament cause was not hopeless by any means.

He said talk of war in Europe frequently heard two or three months ago, had diminished considerably before he sailed and attributed the change to the reflection of public sentiment in European governments.

Talks With President
Davis expressed the views gained as chief of the American disarmament delegation to President Roosevelt at Luncheon, after conferring at length with Undersecretary William Phillips of the State Department and Pierpont Moffett, chief of the western European division.

Declining to set any time limits on the future of the Geneva conference, Davis declared he could not forecast which nation might take the initiative in the present situation.

PRESIDENT READY TO PUT IN ACTION BIG RELIEF PLAN

BRITAIN TO BUILD
TWO NEW CRUISERS

First Lord of Admiralty Tells Commons of Change in Naval Program.

London, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The British Admiralty today announced revision of its 1933 naval program to include two new type 9,000-ton cruisers with increased armaments and one cruiser of the 5,200-ton Arethusa class.

Sir Bolton Meredith Eyres Monsel, First Lord of the Admiralty, made a statement of this decision of the Admiralty in the House of Commons.

He said the decision was made after reviewing the latest cruiser programs of other countries and "following the most anxious consideration and with much regret."

London Naval Pact
Eyres Monsel emphasized that the United States and Japan, under the terms of the London Naval Treaty, were entitled to build the ships which those two countries contemplated but that, nevertheless, it would be the policy of the British government, by agreement, to restrict the vessels of larger sizes as much as possible.

He also said it would be the British policy to reduce the maximum size cruisers to be constructed in the future by agreement.

He stated that revision of the 1933 program of naval construction would not increase its cost but, on the contrary, would result in a small reduction of the same.

Sir Bolton—preparing his announcement by recalling that the 1933 program included one cruiser of 7,500 tons, of the Leader class and three of the Arethusa class of 5,400 tons, each armed with eight and six-inch guns respectively.

"The policy of building cruisers of comparatively small tonnage," he said, "has been adopted in the hope that other nations will follow our lead."

Proposed at Geneva
"Also it will be recalled that in July, 1932 the United Kingdom delegation at Geneva put forward proposals for a reduction of further cruisers to 7,000 tons, with a maxi-

"MR. X" WITNESS IN NAZIS' PROBE

Mysterious Figure Introduced at Investigation of Hitler's Acts in U. S.

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Hearing a witness identified only as "Mr. X," a committee of Congress today opened an investigation of alleged propaganda activities in this country with testimony about a letter purporting to deal with Nazi plans to further their cause.

At the direction of Chairman Dickstein (D. N. Y.), the witness read from a translation of the document bearing what he described as the signature of "Walter Haeg," an assistant to Heinrich Spanknobel, reputedly a member of the Nazi movement.

Dickstein announced that Clarence A. Halshaw, editor of the "Daily Worker" in New York, had advised the committee that he would bring the original letter before the group.

Start of the hearing was delayed while the chairman conferred be-

FRIENDLY WARNING GIVEN TO AUSTRIA

U. S. Envoy Declares Americans Are Against a Boycott Against Jews.

Vienna, Nov. 14.—(AP)—United States Minister Earle warned today that the American sympathy to Austria would be immediately forfeited if this country goes anti-Semitic.

The diplomat said the United States looked sympathetically upon Austria's growth and independence and is anxious to help Austria in every way, but he cautioned against anti-Semitic.

"Ninety-five per cent of all Americans," he said, "are either fugitives from persecution or descendants of people who crossed the ocean because of religious or racial persecution. They cannot cooperate sympathetically with a country where people are persecuted on account of birth."

He communicated this friendly warning to representatives of newspapers in all provinces of Austria.

He said that during a recent motor tour through the country, "it was assured that there was political sympathy to anti-Semitism anywhere in Austria except Vienna."

He said he found Chancellor Dollfus "popular throughout the country" and that the chief problem everywhere was economic—how to dispose of America's products, particularly timber.

He said the United States was not likely to import timber, but that there were many other products, especially Vienna waffles, which Austria exports to the United States.

N. Y. Musical Critics Rave Over an 8 Year Old Pianist

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Sacramento-born prodigy whose music critics told in superlatives today the story of eight-year-old Ruth Sienkewicz's Town Hall piano recital.

Child prodigies come in time to be short-lived, but the little California girl with the long mane and short legs which barely reached the pedals lifted the critics into rapturous notes.

"A musical phenomenon," and "this amazing child" were expressions used by the "Musical Tribune" critic in reporting her performance.

"One went to town," said the Herald-Tribune critic, "and came away astonished."

Wealthy Oil Man Asked to Explain Operation of a Gigantic Pool.

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man, was questioned by Senate investigators today about the payment of $300,000 to a rival oil operator in 1929 from pool profits of $12,000,000.

He was called for questioning about the $2,000,000 profits to him and other $200,000 operations in the Sinclair stock. He was chairman of the Sinclair Corporation in 1928 and 1929.

Stolen Auto Recovered in N. Y. State Robbed, Owner Believes, After Being Found.

William Fortin, of The Herald, whose Graham-Paige sedan was stolen in Hartford on September 23, went to Mechanville, N. Y., yesterday to claim the machine, which was recovered by police there. He found the car stripped of virtually every movable part, including the front and back seats and also the entire upholstery, leaving just the bare body.

Fortin learned that the car had been recovered three days after it was stolen but he was not notified until last Thursday. The Mechanville police reported that the machine had been pushed down an embankment into a quarry by the thieves.

HENDERSON SAYS HELL QUIT PARLEY

British Statesman Disgusted With Action of Italy on Arms Cuts.

Geneva, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Arthur Henderson, a Great Britain, discharging his threat of yesterday to resign as president of the disarmament conference, today accused the nations of the world of unwillingness to conclude an arms convention now that Germany has withdrawn from the parley.

At the same time, Henderson voiced his disappointment that Italy has become merely an observer in the conference.

Despite his expressions of disappointment and discouragement, however, it was believed the fighting British Laborite would demand a national session of the League of Nations Council before allowing the conference to collapse.

Italy's shift to the position of an observer generally was deemed today to have wrecked the united front and the opinion was expressed on all sides that disarmament now must be tackled anew.

Mr. Henderson said today that he could not remain in Geneva indefinitely under conditions such as he has experienced recently.

He said that unless much greater progress is forthcoming, there will be no alternative but for him to place his resignation in the hands of the Council of the League by which he was appointed.

9 LOST IN WILDS FOR NEARLY WEEK

Schooner Speed, drifted for two days in a rubber lifeboat on Great Bear lake with a member of his crew and the rest wandered along its bleak shores for three days before catching up with seven other members of the crew who had made their way to shore on a scow. Two of the crew of the Speed lost their lives when they were trapped in the cabin as the ship's supply exploded.

Bitter Hardships. Ingraham and his companion, a man named Currie, faced bitter hardship in their tiny lifeboat and after they reached shore. The captain, suffering from burns and exposure, was barely able to make his way along the barren shores of the lake. Neither had any food for five days, and when they finally joined their companions all they had to eat were dried potatoes.

The survivors were rescued last Friday by an airplane piloted by John Blythell. All required medical attention when brought here.

Dr. T. O. Byrne, who attended the men, feared that Captain Ingraham's leg might have to be amputated. But Pilot Blythell was a standing in eagerness to fly to Akavik with Ingraham if the doctor deemed it safe.

Besides Ingraham and Currie, the members of the Speed's crew here are George Matthews, Joe Wallace, William Parker, Stanley Hooker, Neil Collins, Harold Asseltine and W. Walthing. The explosion took the lives of James Potts and Harry Jebb.

The schooner was carrying supplies to mining posts and a fire broke out and caused the explosion.

Following the close of the convention this afternoon, the birds are to be sold to local butchers. The winner of the first prize in the contest will be placed against the winner of contests in other Connecticut cities with the best turkey in the entire state to be delivered to Governor Cross.

Among those present at the session today were Roy E. Jones of Connecticut State College, Sidney A. Edwards of the Department of Markets of the State Department of Agriculture, Leroy M. Chapman of the Fairfield County Farm Bureau.

SMITH'S PARLEY IN WASHINGTON STARTS RUMORS

(Continued from Page One) ing, too, was the fact that New York's delegation to the Democratic convention at Chicago held out for Smith last year until the end; that Smith for a long time was silent about the Democratic presidential nominees.

Whether all that was fresh enough in the minds of the successful and unsuccessful Democratic presidential nominees to be even mentioned today, nobody would say.

TILE FROM CEILING DROPS FROM U. S. COURT

Hartford, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Steel helmets or football headgear may be worn in United States court at its next session, unless a thorough inspection of the court room ceiling is made and loose tiles are repaired. It was announced this morning by Assistant U. S. Attorney George E. Cohen after an accident yesterday afternoon, which might have resulted in serious or fatal injury to a court spectator.

A tile, weighing more than two pounds, fell from the high vaulted ceiling of the court room in the new Federal building and landed point down on one of the seats in the middle of the room. There was no court at the time and the room was empty. Usually, when court is in session, the seats in the vicinity of the fallen tile are filled.

Considerable concern was felt among Department of Justice officials, all agreeing that if the tile had struck a person serious injury or death would have resulted.

The accident recalled to many the fact that several complaints have been made, officially or otherwise, regarding the construction of the new building. At least twice, the floor of the main first floor lobby has been repaired, the second time being last week. In many of the offices the floor covering has bulged upward, creating hazards to office workers and others, and in a few of the offices, handles of the casement windows have broken off with ordinary handling.

APEX OF NOISE.

What next to expect from Hitler seems to be a subject of absorbing interest for pretty much everybody in this country who is not up to his eyes in this country's own affairs.

Frankly it is our belief that there isn't very much more of anything to be expected. In the Sunday election, with its comic opera endorsement of Nazi emotions, Hitler will seem to many to have done to the highest peak of the barn roof which his wings are capable of reaching, and to have crowded his very loudest crow. If the rest of the world unites in just paying no attention to the clamor there wouldn't appear to be much left for this noisy rooster to do but, in the course of time, fly down and go to pecking corn again.

After all, Germany is ringed round with steel. Nobody in Europe trusts her. And as long as that condition continues it is substantially impossible to see how she can do any harm except to herself. Once let this situation impinge on the German national consciousness, as it is certain to do before very long, and the hysterical craze for Hitlerism will die down as rapidly as it developed.

Hitler seems to us to have shot his bullet. His tumult and his shouting cannot much longer intrigue the ear even of Germans. Like men in a boiler factory feeling the approach of lunch time, the people of the Reich must soon appreciate that stomachs are not filled by words nor the economic and political necessities of a nation met by long sequences of noises—that they cannot live by uproar alone.

GIVE THEATER A CHANCE.

It is understood that at its meeting tonight the Board of Selectmen will have occasion to act on an application from the owners of the State theater for permission to open the doors of that house at 5 p. m. instead of 7 p. m. on Sundays. It is decidedly to the interest of the community that such permission be granted.

The theatre situation in Manchester is not, generally speaking, very well understood. The people have become so accustomed to having the State theater right there, always on the job of providing entertainment whenever they are in the mood for it and when they have the price of tickets to spare, that it has come to seem like a fixture, the same as a public park or the view of the surrounding hills—something that, having once been created, necessarily continues.

attend the Hartford theaters after their afternoon dinner on Sunday, the theaters in the neighboring city being then open while in Manchester they are required to be closed. The State frequently has large audiences at its 7 o'clock Sunday show but the second performance is usually slimly attended. It is the belief of the management that if the theater were given the additional two hours late in the afternoon a great many of the people who now go out of town for their Sunday afternoon entertainment would visit the State, importantly increasing the week's receipts.

For obvious reasons the management has been reluctant to hold up the spectacle of a closed theater lest it might sound like a threat, but it is clear that this institution cannot go on forever doing business at a loss, and it is up to the selectmen and the business interests of the community to consider the potential effects of such a closing. That it would be a bad thing for the town is only too apparent. No week passes that hundreds of residents of outlying towns do not come here to combine their trading with a visit to the movies. The effect of the closing of the theater upon these people is not difficult to imagine.

The theater, open between the hours of 5 and 7 o'clock, certainly would not come into competition with the churches any more than it now does and it is not easy to see why the application should be opposed on any religious or moral grounds.

THE BEAR GROWS.

While there is a technical differentiation between the utterances of the Communist party in Russia and the verbal commitments of the government of the Soviet Union, there is actually so close an understanding that any formal declaration by the Communist organization can usually be relied on as expressing the ideas and purposes of the government.

It is impossible, then, to regard as anything but the thought of Russia the manifesto recently issued by the Far Eastern section of the Red party in which notice is served on Japan, in so many words, that if the latter persists in aggressions against the Soviet Union Russia will proceed to the bombing of Japanese cities from the air.

"The Red Army," says the manifesto, "is supplied with the latest means of defence. We possess a sufficient number of weapons and our technical achievements enable the army to make wide use of new forms of military operations. Our air fleet has assumed one of the first places among world aircraft and is prepared to deal decisive blows at enemy centers of population. Our sea and river fleets also are ready to undergo any test. With such an array of terrible armament the Soviet Union would readily kill any desire to compete against our program of peaceful labor."

BUSY DEFLATIONISTS.

The deflationists are busier than the traditional one-armed paper hanger with the itch, lining up propaganda against inflation. Encouraged by their success in getting at two or three national officers of the American Legion and getting that organization to adopt a resolution which could be twisted into a semblance of a "sound money" declaration, they have now prevailed on the national head of the Crusaders, anti-prohibition organization, to declare that the Crusaders are opposed to any issue of greenbacks.

Of course the Crusaders have not actually taken any action to warrant such a declaration and probably not one in ten of their members has any convictions whatever on the subject; but it sounds important to say that the hundreds of thousands of Crusaders are prepared to die in defence of the Wall street dollar and "sound" is what counts with the deflationists.

of Whitewashers and Kalamozers to memorialize the government in the interest of the statutory gold dollar a fine start will have been made on swinging public opinion away from inflation.

McLEVY'S START.

No doubt some of his political enemies will snuff scornfully at Mayor McLevy of Bridgeport for sending home the official mayoral sedan sent to transport him to his inauguration yesterday and for telling its two police chauffeurs to report for regular police duty since this mayor would drive his own flivver, but Mayor Jasper probably won't worry much about the sneers.

The new mayor is able bodied and has good eyes; in all likelihood he can drive a car as well as any cop. The combined salaries of the two police drivers amount to some two-thirds of the mayor's annual stipend of $7,500. Apparently McLevy saved that two-thirds of his year's pay to the city even before the inauguration ceremonies were performed. Which is an excellent start. Nobody has been fired, the policemen merely being returned to the work for which they were originally appointed; but the saving is none the less real.

If McLevy can do one Boy Scout deed a day at all like this starter the Park City will be pretty likely to give him more than one term.

Health and Diet Advice
By Dr. Frank McCoy

COVER BURNS AND KEEP THEM MOIST

You may not know that changes in the way we live are cutting down the number of people burned, but this is true. For example, the use of electric lights prevents the large number of burns which were once so common when the kerosene lamp was in every home. Due to the wearing of fewer clothes, we do not have as many people burned by catching their apparel on fire, as was once quite easy when heavy, cumbersome clothes were worn. Although fewer bad burns occur each year, many children are still injured by playing too close to unguarded heaters. It is always a good plan to protect an open fire with a screen so that no article of clothing may be possibly ignited.

In clothing a person who allows a child under 7 to stay in a room alone with an open fire has committed a punishable offense.

Mos' burns following searing of the skin by some form of heat such as a steam, hot fire, hot metal, etc., but it is possible to be injured by a cold substance such as "dry ice," which is so cold it burns. You may also be burned by electricity and by too much sun.

The best symptoms of a burn are stinging pain and reddening of the skin. A blister may form in some cases, and if the burn is a deep one, the underlying tissues are affected. A serious burn not only affects the outer surface but also has a systemic reaction and may produce those symptoms of profound shock which frequently occur—severe burns.

When you see the sticky fluid oozing out of a burn you are watching a part of it bleed. In the red blood cells float in a large burn the slow loss of this liquid part of the blood will result in the blood becoming thicker and more concentrated and this is another important result of a severe burn.

The home care of the ordinary burn is very simple and consists of washing the burned area with sterile water and then applying Carron Oil. This is a mixture of oil and lime water and is supplied to you by your drug-gist. If you cannot get the Carron oil, you may use vaseline, Unguentine, or make a paste of baking soda and water and apply it. In caring for a burn it is advisable to cover it so that the outside air does not get to it. This will reduce the pain. The Carron oil serves this purpose and will be found to help to keep the burn moist, to help it to heal, and to protect it from dirt and germs.

IT'S AN ILL WIND—

and third, a burn may leave an ugly scar.

Here are some good rules to follow in preventing burns: when handling a gas stove, be sure all the outlets are turned off; when searching in the dark, use a flashlight rather than matches; keep matches out of the reach of small children; never leave a child alone with boiling water or very hot foods; place screens in front of open gas heaters and fireplaces; use care in handling hot irons, toasters and in removing dishes from the oven; when washing clothes at home, and using inflammable cleaning fluids, do the work outside away from fire.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Nitrogen Foods and Potassium Broth)

Question: Mrs. Bernice M. writes: "Please tell me a list of nitrogen foods. For what ailments is potassium used and how is it made?"

Answer: Nitrogen foods are foods which contain protein. Some of the better types of protein foods are: chicken, rabbit, turkey, lean beef, mutton, fish, eggs, cottage cheese and cream cheese, and gelatin. A potassium broth might be theoretically useful in any ailment caused by lack of potassium in the diet. Clothing may be possibly made by stewing together various vegetables rich in potassium, such as lettuce, kale, tomatoes, celery, rutabagas, water cress, mushrooms, sorrel, cabbage, dandelions, Swiss chard, turnips. A lack of potassium in the diet produces a lack of nervous and mental vitality. Potassium assists in forming glycogen in the body, storing fats, and converting pentones and proteoses into proteids.

(Varicose Veins)

Question: Y. N. S. asks: "Is it possible that underaction of the suprarenal gland is the cause of varicose veins? Have taken a half grain of suprarenal extract every day for about three months but cannot see any improvement. I follow a diet of non-starchy vegetables."

Answer: Varicose veins are produced by a breaking down of the walls of the veins. If the veins extend over both legs, it is sure to be due to a lack of organic minerals in the body's food supply, or due to an edema which distends the vessels after they are assimilated. If any of the ductless glands over-secrete, it is bound to affect metabolism to some extent, but the use of glandular extracts will not correct the mineral deficiency from which the veins suffer. The trouble known as varicose veins.

(How Can Limbs Be Reduced?)

Question: Miss Neva writes: "I have learned a great deal about keeping well from reading your articles, but I have a little problem about which I would like your advice. Please tell me how to reduce my legs and ankles."

Answer: In order to reduce your limbs I would suggest soaking the limbs in hot water and epsom salts for fifteen to twenty minutes, followed by a massage without the use of oil, although mineral oil may be used if you desire, and rubbing the leg from the foot towards the hip. Walking is also advisable. The best exercise to use is to stand on one foot, balancing the body by placing one hand against the wall and rising alternately on the toe and heel. Use a diet in which starches, sugars and fats are reduced to the minimum. You may use large amounts of non-starchy vegetables, also proteins and fresh fruits.

(Wen)

Question: H. S. writes: "I have a wen on the left side of the neck just back of the ear. Will you please tell me the cause, as I seem perfectly healthy. Also, how can I get rid of it?"

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

By RODNEY OUTCHER
(Herald Washington Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 14.—Big, rawboned Walter Teagle of Standard Oil can be a terror to arrogant small-fry industrialists.

More than once, in secret hearings of the National Labor Board, he has silenced noisy employers who protested the board's authority to intervene in their disputes with workers.

Indignant protests from labor members are expected and discounted. But when Teagle, who brooks no disrespect for that board, booms out in his slow, powerful voice, "Well, now, gentlemen—you can't say that!"—the whole might of big industry seems to come down on the little fellows, like the side of a house.

Teagle works hard for settlements.

Swope Not So Happy
Gerard Swope of General Electric doesn't seem as happy in his job on the board as Teagle is.

When the Westinghouse strike came along, he was willing at least, to have the hearing stayed off indefinitely. Finally, Chairman Wagner made it plain that the dispute must be considered without further delay, and Swope withdrew from the case.

A few more days and the strike might have been broken.

Garner Plays Safe
So far, no one has caught up Postmaster General Jim Farley on that line in his Texas speech which said that "Every person connected with the administration is grateful for what the vice president has done."

The one thing Jack Garner has done since Congress adjourned is to keep out of Washington and the national limelight.

Soviet 'Godless Acres' Bare As Peasants Hold to Beliefs

Moscow, (AP)—Soviet Russia's attempt to grow a "godless crop" this year has ended in dismal failure and aroused leaders of the country to militant action.

Early last winter the All-Union Godless Association, which promotes anti-religious work in Russia, organized a campaign among the collective farms for cultivation of small plots in addition to their regularly planted areas, a contribution to the society's work.

These units were called "godless acres." The proceeds from them were to go to further the association's propaganda among the peasantry, the majority of whom stubbornly stick to their religious beliefs.

"But," bemoans the association's official organ, "Godless," a week's newspaper, "carelessness in cultivation and guardianship caused the loss of the godless crop and discredited the work of the godless people."

The complaint was made after a formal report to the association's central council revealed the failure of the venture.

"We must inject real organization methods into the cultivation of godless acres in 1934," the paper continues. "Personal responsibility for carrying on the work must be imposed on the presidiums of local godless organizations and shock brigades must be designated in each cell in the example."

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON
New York, Nov. 14.—Meanderings back to Broadway—if you want to risk being slapped—and you'll see that those tiny blue beauty patches some of the women are wearing are NRA eagles. . . . And you may notice that many of the show-girls going about Broadway are stockinged; seeming to prefer a coating of some kind of make-up on their shanks.

Recovery note: a stroller past the Fifty-fourth street home of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., reports that from an upper window, borne clearly on the rarified air of that neighborhood, came the blubbery strains of "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?" . . . Stranger noises issue from the three-million-dollar home of Charles M. Schwab, the steel man, near Riverside Drive. The mansion is kept open most of the year as the residence only some servants, two dogs and a parrot. . . . Society's already strapping on its runners; several new indoor ice rinks are being built; and the sport promises to become as popular as the summer's roller skating. . . . Prince Mike Romanoff (this is definitely the last mention of that impostor for at least a month) has gone Democratic to the extent of becoming master of ceremonies, and quite a clever one, at El Garron, a night club. . . . Behind his broad back, they call Radcliffe Romeyn, the Four Thousands' handsome bachelor, "G. G. G."—God's Gift to Girls. . . . Thomas Melgan is going back to Hollywood and the movies, which he deserted while they were still speecheless. Thinks he'll only stay a few months; then back to his Long Island home and his golf, which he plays very badly.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce is wearing all—or at least they look like all—of her diamonds again.
Hobo College Note
Meanwhile, down on the east side Dan O'Brien, white-haired and silver-tongued "King of the Hoboes," is back in town and looking for winter quarters for himself—and the Hobo College. . . . And Urban Ledoux, the famous Mr. Zero of the slums, is having his troubles finding a location for a new "Tub," where he may keep on feeding down-and-outers for a cent or two each. Mr. Zero was evicted from his last place because he built a fire right in the middle of the floor to heat some soup.

Success From Rejections
Two of the newest success stories concern a song and a play. The former is "The Last Round-Up" and longer it was written by Billy Hill it gathered dust on the shelves of a music publishing house. Song-pluggers, those men who make a business of persuading orchestra leaders to play certain pieces, timidly introduced the lament into a few night spots—and you know the rest. The song now is expected to earn $150,000. It was tried out in several scenes of the Joe Cook show, "Hold Your Horses," and rejected. Now, though it seems saturated of a piece in the revival of the Ziegfeld Follies.

The play, which went through much the same cycle of rejections, is the racy comedy called "Salvor, Beware!" Nobody even seemed willing to read the manuscript for a long time. Then John Golden, did and decided it was too rough. Sam Harris thought it was terrible. So did Lee Shubert. Billy Rose said it might be a good idea for a musical comedy. Max Gordon was frantically afraid of it. Then Courtney Burr bought it and is now making in a gross of $15,000 a week.

Many a Broadway hit is born like that. "The Green Pastures" and "Rain" were two others that had many a chilly turn-down.

Logged Determination
Mrs. Patrick Campbell, grand lady of the English and American stage, swept into Schrafft's not long ago for luncheon, carrying her white Pekinese. A doorman stepped up and announced deferentially that dogs could not be admitted.

"THIS DOG," declared Mrs. Campbell, "goes to BUCKINGHAM PALACE!" And in they went.

Sandino Transforms Jungle Fighters Into Cooperative Plantation Workers

Managua, Nicaragua. — (AP)—General Augustino Sandino, defiant foe of American Marines, has become Senior Augusto Cesar Sandino, co-operative planter and peace officer.

The man who for several years escaped every net spread for him by Uncle Sam's "devil dogs" and the nation's guard of his own country, is back in his old stamping ground on the Coco river.

Leads Picked Men
His headquarters are at Willwil, a river town near Bocay. Under him are 100 men picked from his former followers and allowed to retain their arms so as to aid him in patrolling the region.

But the erstwhile jungle fighters seldom shoulder a rifle these days. Their hours are taken up with farm work.

They are banded in a society which Sandino named "El Co-operativo Rio Coco." It operates on a collective basis for raising crops and exploiting the natural resources of its district.

Beta Government Aid
The enterprise is backed by a monthly government bonus of $1,000. With this money Sandino buys clothing, medicine, seeds and farm tools for his men.

Products consist of grains, garden truck and cattle. Attempts also are being made to exploit the region's pine and hardwood timber lands, rubber, steel, gold and silver. The outfit for the district is by river to the Atlantic coast.

Sofonias Salvatierra, minister of agriculture, who went to Sandino's aid in northern Nicaragua last January and arranged a truce with the jungle chieftain, maintains a friendly correspondence with him.

Senior Salvatierra is sure that Sandino is through with politics except as a patriotic individual. He has been assured by the general himself and by relatives and close friends of the latter, that he has no idea of running for the presidency in 1936.

"General Sandino truly desires to see his country standing on its own feet," said Senior Salvatierra. "But he would not reject sincere co-operation to this end from outside sources, if such help was necessary, and this includes the United States."

Hunt for 10-Mile-a-Minute Air Lane Lures Spaniard On Stratosphere Trip

Madrid—(AP)—Lieut. Col. Emilio Herrera, noted Spanish flier, is planning a trip into the stratosphere in a combination attempt to outclimb Prof. Auguste Piccard and the Soviet stratospherists, and to explore the possibilities for tremendous forward plane speeds at extreme altitudes.

Recognized as an authority on lighter-than-air craft, Herrera believes speeds of 800 miles an hour possible in rarefied atmosphere, and hopes his observations will lead to scientific support to his contentions.

He believes he has conceived a means which will enable him to ascend to 78,000 feet.

His conveyance will be a balloon of much greater dimensions than those hitherto used in stratosphere ventures. It will be 100 feet in diameter and hold 26,000 cubic yards of non-inflammable gas.

It will carry an open basket instead of a hermetically sealed globe and the Spaniard will fly alone.

Invests Heated Gist
He has, he said, devised an air-tight, electrically-heated water which will afford him, he believes, greater freedom in making observations than would a globe with small glass apertures.

EMILIO HERRERA

in reaching 88,000 feet, and then there on up 5,000 feet more observations on the possibilities of a balloon flight at more than 80,000 feet.

The bag will be made of a material that will not be affected by the sun's rays.

WILL FACE TIGERS ENTIRELY UNARMED

Trainer Has Been Attacked Several Times But Still Unafraid.

The Wallace Brothers circus which comes to the Armory Thursday for three days under the American Legion has something never seen before in that it is a den of tigers that go through an act under Capt. Proke.

Capt. Proke puts the cats through one of the finest acts in the circus without the aid of whip, chair or gun. Although Capt. Proke is only a young man the tigers have put him in the hospital a half dozen times but still he comes back for more.

This act is only one of the many thrills that Wallace Brothers circus has to offer its patrons as the show is a complete circus, the clowns perform their funny antics and keep you in an uproar from the start and hand out plenty of laughs.

Carlos with his ponies and leaping dogs furnish some beautiful pony drills and has one of the highest class pony acts in the business. Many stores are now giving away half rate circus tickets and these tickets are good at any performance of the circus during its engagement in Manchester, so be sure and plan on seeing the circus on the opening night, the show will start at 8:15 each night and the doors open at 7 p. m., there will be a special matinee for the kiddies on Friday at 4 p. m., and another matinee at 2:30 Saturday, doors opening at 1 p. m.

THREE STATE ROAD JOBS ANNOUNCED

Work on Highways in Easton, Lebanon and Norwalk Ready.

Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald yesterday called for contractors' bids on three highway projects which will be completed under the Public Works Section of the National Industrial Recovery Act. The jobs will be undertaken in Easton, Lebanon and Norwalk.

These projects are to be distinguished from the 16 road improvement jobs which will be done with Connecticut's $2,865,000 share of the $400,000,000 NIRA Highway Fund. The Public Works Section provides for the construction of public works by political subdivisions of the country with the Federal Government paying thirty percent of the cost of labor and materials as an outright grant. Through the efforts of Commissioner Macdonald and State Aid Agent M. E. Hulise the administration was prevailed upon to consider highways under the Public Works Section and to make the outright grant of thirty percent of the cost. Connecticut's share of highway improvement projects undertaken under the Public Works Section will thus be only seventy percent of the total cost.

In the notice asking contractors for bids attention was called to the fact that the Public Works Administration has drawn up special regulations governing the conduct of the jobs, as well as minimum wage rates for all classes of labor. Bids on the three projects will be received until 2:00 p. m., on Monday, November 27, at the offices of the Highway Department in the State Office building, Hartford. The jobs are briefly described as follows:

- Town of Easton: About 16,810 feet of bituminous macadam on a trap rock base on the Easton Sport Hill and Easton Center Roads.
- Town of Lebanon: About 22,998 feet of bituminous macadam on a trap rock base on the Lebanon-Wilimantic road.
- Town of Norwalk: About 2,875 feet of sheet asphalt paving, including replacement of sections of concrete base on West avenue.

WOMAN KILLS SELF

Bridgeport, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Miss Nan Huntley, prominent Monroe resident, committed suicide last night by drinking a quantity of disinfectant in the bedroom of her home in Monroe. She died ten minutes after being admitted to St. Vincent's hospital here.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

What were the present day stars of the radio doing when the Armistice was declared 15 years ago? It is of interest to note that our own Albert Spaulding, noted American violinist, was serving in the United States Aviation Corps in Italy and had been decorated with the Cross of the Crown of Italy, the highest honor that can be bestowed on a foreigner.

Wendell Hall admits that when he heard the news he was strumming a "uke" in Ploud air'zeau, near Brest.

Little Jack Little was playing a piano for the entertainment of the boys at the Great Lakes Training station.

Louis Dean was in the Hospital Corps at Hampton Roads, Va. Irving Cobb was on the Western front in the capacity of war correspondent. With mingled emotions of despair and happiness, he wrote of the cessation of hostilities.

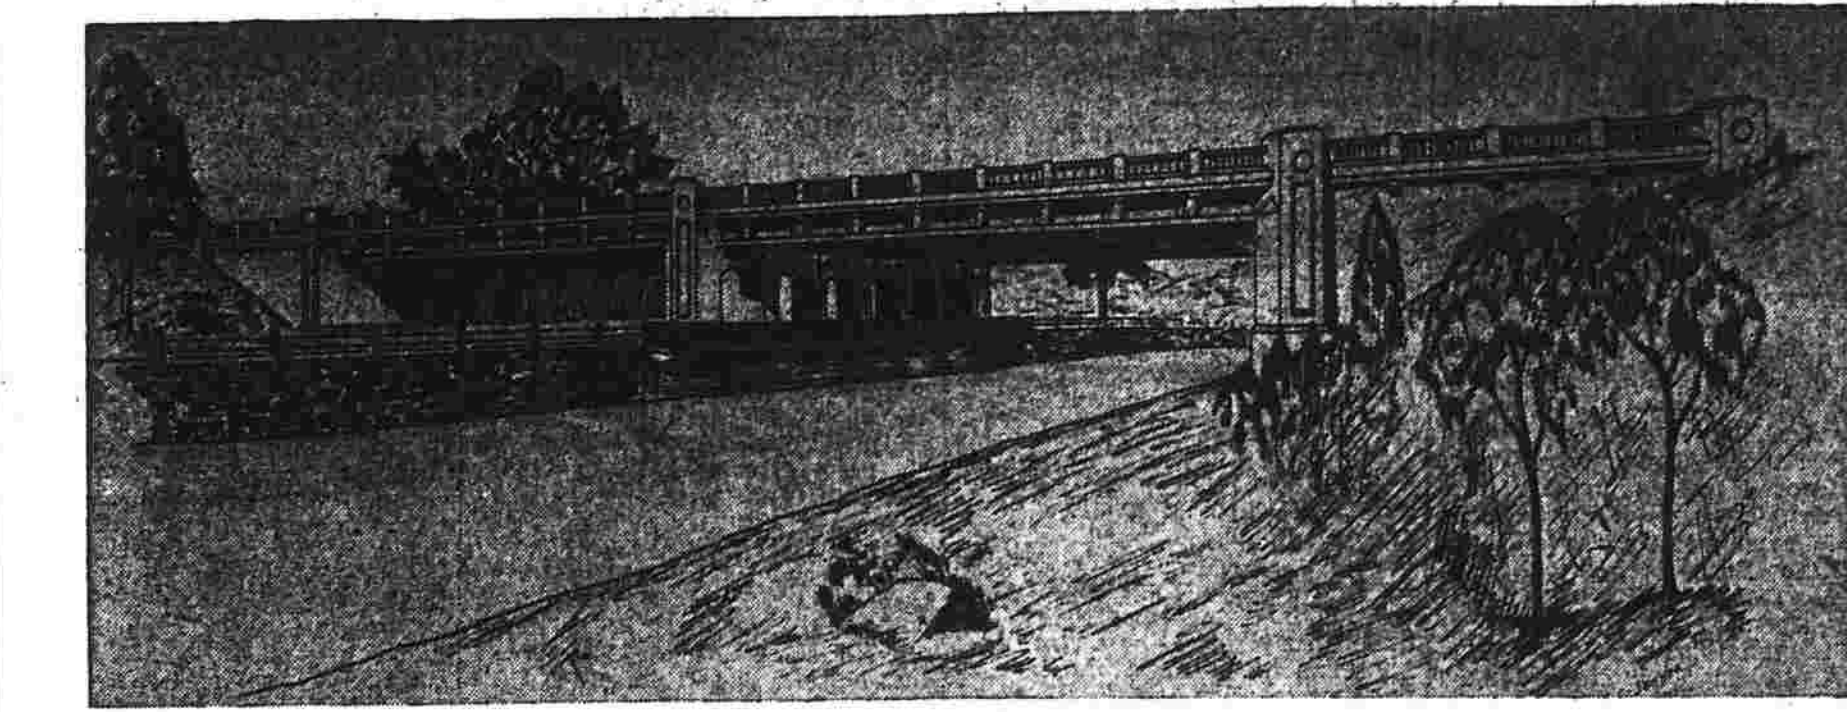

Evan Evans was in the British Marine Artillery and was attached to the French Army, anti-aircraft section.

Jacques Fray of the Fray and Braggiotti piano team was on the staff of General Jourdan at the French War office.

BYRAM RIVER BRIDGE—TYPICAL OF MERRITT HIGHWAY STYLE

Above is the architect's drawing of the bridge which will carry the Merritt Highway over the Byram River and the Riverville Road in Greenwich. It will have two 45-foot spans, the Riverville Road being kept at a width of 45 feet and the pedestrian sidewalk being cantilevered over the river on the opposite side of the central abutment. The architectural style is typical of that to be used for water crossings and rail and highway grade separations.

NAVY MANEUVERS

Naval base, San Pedro, Calif., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Clear, warm weather, with light winds, was reported today in the area of Point Arguello, where 100 ships of the navy were to concentrate tomorrow for one of the spectacular events of the navy year.

The tug dirigible Macon will join in the maneuvers between the two opposing fleets, Blue and Brown. Blue's mission is to effect a landing and establish air bases somewhere between San Luis Obispo and San Diego, this coastal region being a theoretical island in the naval problem. It is Brown's mission to prevent the landing.

Philipinos, Freed, Ask No U. S. Aid

Leader Declares They Will Need No Protection After They Are Independent.

Tokyo, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Manuel Quezon, dominant political figure in the Philippines, declared today that a majority of Filipinos neither expected nor desired American military and naval protection after independence.

Quezon spoke at a luncheon given in his honor by the Pan-Pacific club. His audience was largely Japanese, but United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew was in attendance.

"If the Philippines ever attain their freedom," Quezon said, "the Filipinos must make up their minds to assume full responsibility for their life as an independent nation."

Quezon came to Tokyo during a few hours halt at Yokohama of the Steamer President Hoover on which he is traveling to Washington to appeal to President Roosevelt and Congress for a new independence act.

Significantly implying his confidence in Japan's willingness to keep hands off the independent Philippine, Quezon continued:

"Fortunately, there are no longer any governments—however, powerful—that will boldly assert their right to conquer simply because they have the power and the will."

"Any nation, however small and weak, may properly hope to be permitted the full enjoyment of its independent life if it follows a wise, just and friendly policy toward its neighbors, a policy giving no excuse to any nation to interfere in its domestic and international affairs."

ANOTHER 11 CENT RISE IN THE PRICE OF GOLD

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The dollar dropped to new low levels again today while the administration, undeterred, advanced the price for RFC purchases of domestic gold to another new high.

Meanwhile, officials kept close watch upon the market for government bonds bearing in mind President Roosevelt's injunction that the gold operations must not have the effect of unduly depressing Federal securities.

A price of $33.56 was established for RFC purchases, 11 cents higher than yesterday.

The dollar value of gold was $33.27 at today's opening exchange rate.

The dollar was weak, however, and fell off after the opening from $5.17 1/4 to $5.21 1/4, at which the gold price was $33.53.

CRUSADE AGAINST 'JACKING' OF DEER

State Game Warden Determined to End Illegal Hunting.

Hartford, Nov. 14.—State game warden today had entered upon their second week of a state-wide campaign against deer "jackers" with 13 arrests to their credit since the State Board of Fisheries and Game on Monday of last week ordered the force to begin all-night patrols to stamp out what Chief Warden A. Joseph Williamson termed the worst epidemic of this illegal hunting with spotlights in his experience.

Complaints received from farmers up to yesterday showed that a total of four cows, four sheep, two heifers, a goat, horse and turkey had been shot by the clandestine deer hunters recently. A Lebanon farmer, investigating reports of a gunfire, was attacked and struck upon the head with a rifle, he declared.

A cow, the property of a Southbury justice of the peace, was one of the first of the farm stock to suffer, but since then casualties have been listed from Willington, Oakdale, East Lyme, Old Lyme, Baltic, Wallingford, Winchester, Lebanon, Naugatuck, Chester and Mystic. Answering an appeal by the Board for cooperation with the regular warden force, members of sportsmen's clubs, enlisted in the volunteer game guardian force of over 300, have also joined in the campaign. Chief Warden Williamson said.

RED RECOGNITION MEETS OPPOSITION

Campaign to Open on Saturday by Members of the American Alliance.

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Making ready for the agreement to be attempted before President Roosevelt heads southward on Friday, Soviet and American officials today pursued their separate studies on questions of recognition and subsequent relations.

Opposition to recognizing the Moscow government, meanwhile, headed up in a campaign announced by "The American Alliance" to defeat Senate confirmation of any ambassador that is designated by Mr. Roosevelt.

No notice of the impending campaign has been taken by the government. There was a possibility of conversations between the Soviet commissar, Maxim Litvinoff, and State Department officials, being resumed late today.

Organized three years ago and headed by Mark L. Hersey—a retired major general—the American Alliance has arranged with Representative Fish (R. N. Y.) to open its campaign by radio Saturday night.

Other opponents Edward A. Hayes, National commander of the American Legion, is scheduled the following Saturday for the second of a series of four speeches.

Walter L. Reynolds, secretary to Fish and secretary of the Alliance, described the organization as a clearing house for 1,500 groups interested in combatting Communism.

Reynolds said the conversations between Roosevelt and Litvinoff have brought to the White House thousands of protests against recognition. If recognition should be granted before the Alliance speeches begin, he said the talks will be adapted to the situation then existing.

The Alliance lists the members of its advisory committee to include William Tyler Page, Ely Culbertson, the Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, Martin Littleton, Nathan D. Perlman, Rabbi Abram Simon, the Rev. Edmund A. Walsh and Grover Whalen.

DEMANDING FOOD, MAN SHOWS GUN

Mysterious Doings of Strangers in Bolton Reported to Constables.

Justice of the Peace L. D. Eaton, of Bolton, on Sunday evening was notified that a stranger carrying a Massachusetts marker was seen on the road near the home of Charles Sumner. There were two men in the car, the report given to Mr. Eaton said. One of the men left the car, taking with him several blankets, and went into the woods.

Mr. Eaton at once notified the constables to make an investigation. Constable Chesterfield Prie was one of the first to get the message. He started out in his automobile, and arriving at the point where the car was said to have stopped, saw the machine but noticed that one of the men was in the car.

All notices sent out regarding Alex Kaminski jail guard murderer, warned that he was armed. Mr. Prie being alone, decided to continue on and get additional help. He rounded up four more constables and they all returned to where the car was parked, only to find it gone.

They followed wheel marks that went off into the woods, but these were lost and they saw no more of the car or men.

Couped with this report, comes another of a woman being attracted by a knock on the door of her home, which is located on the Shoddy Hill road near the Bolton and Andover line. On opening the door she was confronted by a man with a revolver who demanded food. He kept her covered with the gun until the food was provided, then backed away into the woods and disappeared.

EUROPE'S POLITICS OUT FOR AMERICA

(Continued from Page One) preside it of the conference, Davis recalled that Henderson previously had said he would not be able to continue if the conference was not concluded by Christmas.

Davis said his refusal in Europe to participate in political discussions occasioned no surprise to the foreign governments which have been aware of the attitude.

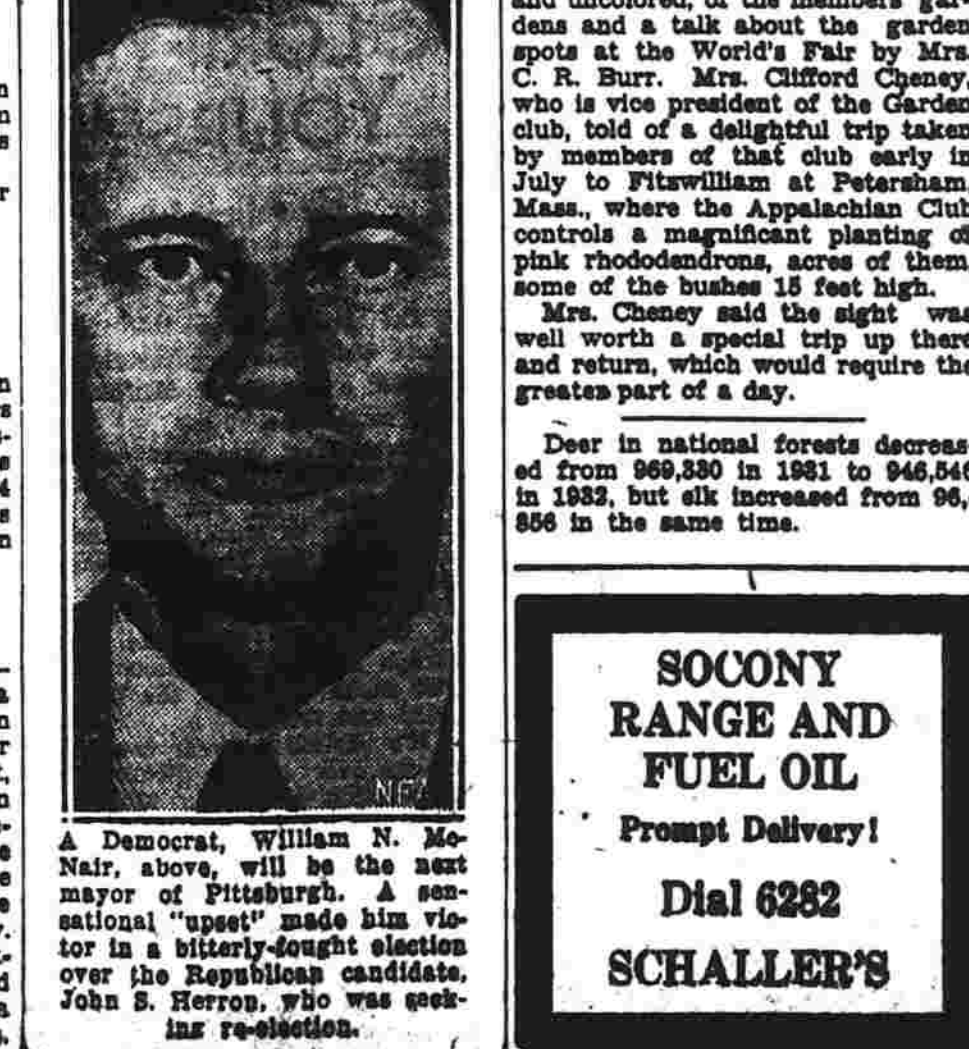

Asked whether the conference had proved "a funeral or triumphal procession," as he had described its prospects before going to Europe, Davis said he still could not tell.

The arms delegate made it clear that while the United States was not entering any pact with anybody, it was ready to discuss a convention on disarmament and cooperate toward a disarmament agreement with two, three or a dozen nations.

He expressed the opinion the German plebiscites would not affect Germany's attitude toward the arms conference, which he maintained would depend on German public opinion.

Davis said he had no plans for retiring from public service. Asked about reports that he would head a committee to settle Krueger and Toll affairs, Davis said he had considered such an offer but that his present public position came first.

WIRTALLA ELECTED GARDEN CLUB HEAD

Mrs. Herbert B. House Returned as Treasurer and Miss Buckley Secretary.

Walter C. Wirtalla was re-elected president of the Manchester Garden club at its annual meeting held last night at Center Church House, and Mrs. Herbert B. House was returned as treasurer. Miss Mary Hutchison declined the office of vice president which she has held for several years.

The program consisted of a showing of old and new slides, colored and uncolored, of the members' gardens and a talk about the garden spots at the World's Fair by Mrs. C. R. Burr. Mrs. Clifford Cheney, who is vice president of the Garden club, told of a delightful trip taken by members of that club early in July to Fitzwilliam at Peterham, Mass., where the Appalachian Club controls a magnificent planting of pink rhododendrons, acres of them, some of the bushes 15 feet high.

Mrs. Cheney said the sight was well worth a special trip up there and return, which would require the greatest part of a day.

SELECTMAN COOK SEEKS FUND FACTS

Quest for Information Ends in Failure; Town Gets $10,000.

Just how Manchester is to get any part of the $400,000,000 allotted for civil work, which the government is to furnish, has not yet been learned by the local Selectmen.

Yesterday afternoon Chairman Aaron Cook spent considerable time in Hartford in touch with all government aid associations which he knew of in the hope of getting some information regarding the steps necessary for Manchester to take in order to start different projects under the government civic works plan.

He was unable to secure any information, nor did the Connecticut representative on such work know anything about it. He had not received, Selectman Cook was told, official word of any kind and the only information that he did have was what he had seen in the papers.

He promised to see the Connecticut representative as soon as he received official notice.

In the past, it was explained, when there was an unusual project to be presented, there would be a call for a full explanation of the plan. But no such call came yesterday, and he did not expect there would be anything to report until he had been called to Washington and had the details explained to him.

$10,000 Check Arrives It was learned authoritatively today, however, that a check for approximately $10,000 had been received by Town Treasurer George H. Waddell from the State Emergency Relief Association, which is handling this particular fund for the government. This money will be used, it is expected, in putting through the Summit Street extension at once.

Four Financial Condition The financial condition of Manchester is not any too bright just at present, and this will be made known at the Selectmen's meeting tonight. The Board has been holding executive meetings and considering Relief Association proposals that could be started in order to give work to men and relieve the drain already being noticed in the charity appropriation.

Seeking Loans The trouble just now is getting temporary loans to carry over until the taxes come in through the tax collector's office in April. It was expected it would be possible to borrow $100,000 on temporary notes, but the most that could be secured was $70,000.

About $30,000 Left After paying the bills last month there remained about $30,000 in the treasury to meet current bills. These include pay for the school teachers, town employees, police and other departments. This will leave little money, it is felt, to pay for proposed projects from town funds.

The United States five-cent piece contains more copper than does the penny.

PEARSON EXPLAINS GOLD EXPERIMENTS

Cornell Economist Says There Will Be No Wild Inflation in U. S.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The world is now conducting a "gigantic" experiment in varying the price of gold to overcome the "devastating effects of the rising value of gold and declining commodity prices," Professor F. A. Pearson of Cornell University said today.

Speaking before the Cooperative Grange League Federation, Professor Pearson, who collaborated with Professor George F. Warren, now private financial adviser to President Roosevelt, in his study of gold and the price level, said that even though this world wide experiment is being conducted "during the most severe economic depression in history, no country has run the printing press and depreciated the currency until it became worthless."

"In fact," he said, "modern history records no instance of wild inflation in a free class nation, except in time of revolution."

Professor Pearson said "the primary cause" of the depression was the collapse of commodity prices and that commodity prices are controlled by the supply of and demand for gold and the supply of and demand for commodities.

Professor Pearson said that during most of the history of the United States the price of gold had been fixed by law regardless of supply and demand while the value of a bushel of wheat—that is the amount of commodities, taxes, debts and services for which a bushel of wheat is exchangeable—varies from day to day.

LUTHERAN BAZAAR OPENS HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

"Bargain Days at Bloomstein's" Expected to Prove Many Laughs During Entertainment.

Tomorrow evening the three-night bazaar and entertainment at the Lutheran Concordia church will get under way. All organizations of the church are cooperating, and some novel ideas are being worked out in the decoration of the booths.

The big attraction both tomorrow night and Friday evening will be the one-act comedy "Bargain Days at Bloomstein's," directed by Mrs. Karl Richter, wife of the pastor, and by Organist Fred Werner. Thursday night Mr. Werner and the German Mennerchor will be the headliners and a German play will be presented.

When it is known that Oscar Anderson, well-known comedian, is to play the role of Bloomstein, the success of the farce as a laugh provoker is assured. Other well-known performers will have a part in the fun-making.

The season tickets, as their advertisements indicate, carries with them a chance on coal, fuel oil and other useful things, and the advance sale office a good crowd each evening. Peter Frey is chairman of the general committee.

Dr. Meyer specialized in diseases of the appendix and the gall bladder and also in the prophylactic treatment of gonorrhea with iodine introduced here from the United States.

He personally was very popular and the only motive immediately advanced for the shooting was the possibility of a sudden nervous collapse.

PILES

The safe way—the right way to be free of piles is to treat them internally—remove the cause—don't get cut up.

Read what this thankful Illinois man writes: "I suffered with piles for a long period—had three operations—was always in pain—I used less than a bottle of Hem-Roid tablets and the trouble is gone besides my bowels are in the shape."

Sometimes just one bottle of Hem-Roid causes piles of long-standing to disappear. Hem-Roid gives brings blessed relief—try just one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied, J. W. Hale, Co. Drug Dept., or any up-to-date druggist will return the purchase price. Ask for Hem-Roid—Dr. Leonard's effective discovery.

One of Chamberlain Hitler's first moves is expected to be in the direction of making the Federated states under Berlin's complete control.

It also was learned Hitler is likely to approve a political amnesty soon. A resolution drawn up at a large Nazi Christian mass meeting last night demanded segregation of Jewish German Protestants in " ghetto churches."

The UNKNOWN BLOND

On a stormy November evening DAVID BANISTER meets a pretty blond girl and offers her a lift in the cab which he is riding.

Next morning Banister reads that TRACY KING, orchestra leader in a movie theater, has been found dead in his apartment.

She saw at once that he had read something into her words that she had not intended.

"That's impossible," Banister said brusquely. "Oh, but there must be a way! There must be some way!"

"Suppose," he said gently, "you tell me what it was you left there?"

"Listen," he said, leaning forward. "Maybe it's not so bad as you think. Maybe there is something we can do!"

"But if the police know—don't you see? They'll find me here and they'll arrest me and take me to jail!"

"I haven't any friends," she told him slowly. "There's no one—no one at all."

"You don't have to worry about that," he said. "I'll take care of you."

IT'S washable, of course, and any such material will do to make a mother's pet particularly lovable.

CALL YOUR EMOTIONS WITH A READY OUTLET

Proper Control of Worry and Various Harmful "Phobias" Is Necessary for the Good of Your Mental Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

You may recall the story of the highly emotional young man who was told to eat an apple every time he became worried or frightened.

The man rushed down to the hotel desk and cried: "A chambermaid has hanged herself in my room. For goodness' sake give me an apple, quick!"

Of course this is an exceptional example, but it points to the necessity of controlling your emotions by finding some outlet for them.

In your case, it may be counting to one hundred before expressing anger, or walking off worry and unsatisfied desires. In any event, it is important to control and direct your emotions before they get the better of you.

Unpleasant incidents occur in the lives of all of us. The man who trains himself to take each situation as it comes without too much stress is likely to live longer than the one who literally hammers himself to pieces over every trivial disturbance.

It is far better to try to do something about every situation over which you worry. If it is such a matter as sickness or death, in which no amount of brooding or worry can be of help, it is best to accept a philosophical view of the situation and try to be helpful by taking over some of the duties and responsibilities of the sick or dead person as can be assumed.

Many a person has taken himself out of the worry associated with the loss of someone beloved by similar constructive work for the good of the community.

Indeed, worry may become so all-absorbing as to develop eventually a state in which a person enjoys worrying, exactly as fear and worry over a disease may develop that condition called hypochondriasis, in which one enjoys his ailment.

A hypochondriac is a person who is over-anxious concerning his health, who constantly is washing himself and everything about him with soap and antiseptics, who buys every gargle and mouthwash available on the market, who brushes his teeth 10 times a day, and falls a ready victim to every cure-all, panacea and health builder that anybody has for sale.

Such persons enlarge every tiny ache into a major disease, and they are constant possessors of phobias concerning tuberculosis and cancer.

Almost everyone has a stomach-ache at some time or another. The hypochondriac magnifies every stomach-ache into appendicitis.

Scientific observers know that your digestion will get on much better if you pay relatively little attention to it.

YOUR COLOR SCHEME'S RIGHT IN WHITE

Chaste Touches Give Restful Contrast After Era of Vivid Hues

The white vogue lights a room done in brown by adding a white-upholstered chair and stool, a white faced chest and fireplace and white accessories.

By JULIA BLANSARD

The chaste white touch is the very latest thing in interior decorating. Perhaps the best thing about the new vogue for white is that it doesn't necessitate changing an entire room or house to inject it into the scheme of things.

For the home-maker who is actually re-arranging things, the pure white vogue may hold many new ideas. It is a living room that is somewhat somber, perhaps using old pieces that have been in use since the children were babies.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barrett

"Should a boy stick up for his brother when he has done some thing wrong?"

"My oldest boy, Don, was hit a crowd on Halloween so they took the spare tire off a man's car and then threw it in the street."

"What Bill did doesn't matter so much as Jack's telling. Jack is in wrong with the boys now. Bill isn't bad boy. Don's not either. I think they all lost their heads a little."

"But I hate to think of Jack as a tattletale—double-crosser," the boys call him. Don's not a tattletale there are times when it's better for a boy to keep some of the things he knows to himself? I don't know what to say to Jack because I'm sure he'll be glad to hear that I'm not a tattletale."

"Don't you think a boy ought to be loyal to his brother, no matter what he does? Or do you think he felt it was better for Bill and everybody else for all to know? I'm sure he'll be glad to hear that I'm not a tattletale."

"I would lay my motives to any real desire to hurt Bill as much as to keep clear himself."

But aren't there times when a boy or girl owes a certain loyalty to members of his family even when they have done wrong? Every stand-patter on ethics probably will rise up and shout, "No!"

I am not that way. I don't like concealment at all, but I think still more the man or woman or girl who will snugly betray a loved one in the name of righteousness.

I should like Jack far better if he'd kept his mouth shut this time, too, as well as the other times I give him credit for.

But I rather imagine it if not the younger brother's habit to "sneak" about everything that happens, or this episode would not have upset his mother so much.

So I would be inclined to lay Jack's motives to two things. The frank answer and one which he didn't like the responsibility of such a secret. And it may be, too, he wanted to keep his own shoes clean if the truth were discovered and it became known he too knew all about it.

I would lay my motives to any real desire to hurt Bill as much as to keep clear himself."

WHEN I was small street-lighters came. With magic wands that made the corner lamps walk down the street in sudden bright parade.

AND all the folks with homing hearts, And boys and dogs and tramps Were gayer when the dusk hung out its row of yellow lamps.

TONIGHT my path runs dark and long, Beneath close-crowded trees. Oh, lift your wand, dear God, And light a lantern, please!

GOOD GROOMING ESSENTIAL FOR SUCCESS OF TODAY'S BUSINESS GIRL

By ELIZABETH GREGG MacGIBBON

ONE of the days when there was thought to be some virtue in being dowdy, though competent. Now, to get a job or to hold one, a girl has to look her "bang-up" best.

For modern employers are beauty-conscious—not in the wrong sense, unless it is wrong to prefer to be surrounded with good-looking, well-groomed and appropriately dressed people, and I don't think it is.

Even the university placement bureaus admit that their most scholarly graduates fail to get positions in competition with dumber but better groomed applicants.

Today's business girl doesn't have to be a ravine beauty, thank goodness, although looks do help. But she must be well put together and her clothes must be the correct sort for business wear, not a compromise between afternoon and evening dress.

This means that she must select simple, smart office attire, not necessarily expensive, but certainly not conspicuous in line or color. It is considered in better taste to wear long sleeves to the office, except in hot weather when short sleeves are permissible. But no sleeveless frocks, and never low necks!

During the past summer the personnel director of a downtown New York bank had to issue an order against sunbaked dresses which she considered in as bad form as evening gowns for office wear. The girls were told they must wear little jackets over these dresses, when in the bank.

Good grooming is so closely linked with correct dress that one cannot be discussed without the other. It is hard on girls in the lower salary brackets that business men expect all women who work to be equally well groomed, regardless of what they earn, but such is the case. At all times their hair must be neatly combed and their nails well cared for. Of course nails can be done at home, but wherever they are done, only the lighter tint polishes should be worn during office hours. And perfume is decidedly out of place.

One of my friends enjoys talking what she considers a good joke on herself. In applying for a job she said to take a physical examination, and the doctors promptly informed him that his heart was very, very bad. If he would go to a hospital at once, he might last out the year. Any excruciating strain inevitably would kill him.

Palmer thought it over—and went to Alaska anyhow. He went over the famed Chilkoot Pass, mushed on to Dawson with the mercury far below zero, and endured all kinds of hardships—and then went on for the next two decades to lead one of the most active lives imaginable. Today he's so healthy he takes 10-mile walks for relaxation.

He talks about it all in "With My Own Eyes," and it is an exceedingly interesting book.

Col. Palmer is the dean of American war correspondents. He started out in the '90s, covering a war between Turkey and Greece. He got back just in time to cover the gold rush, and went from there to the Philippines to have a look at Aguinaldo's insurrection.

Then came the Boxer uprising, followed by the Russo-Japanese war. There were a few years of inaction, then he went to the Balkan wars, and after that he covered the World War, in which he wound up as chief censor for Pershing.

It was an amazingly full life, and Col. Palmer tells about it amazingly well. What a reporter the man is—and what a flock of stories he has had to cover!

And he has seen the full development of modern war. When he started out as war correspondent, there still was romance in it, as in the old days. He saw the romance, killed, saw warfare become unchained and horrible—ah, it might be added, he hates war with a passionate intensity.

He has written a most thrilling book of the war. It is published by Bobbs-Merrill and it sells at $3.00.

PITT-COACH PUTS COLLEGIANS AHEAD OF PRO GRIDDERS

Sutherland Gives Latter Credit for Greater Skill; Counts on Spirit to Aid School Team.

By JOCK SUTHERLAND
Coach, University of Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Nov. 14.—In every football coach's life there comes a time when he feels like comparing collegiate football with professional football. And despite the over-zealous criticism which such a comparison is sure to awaken, that's exactly what I propose to do.

In the first place, the professional player has certain advantages which insure him greater skill than the college player. He is generally three to six years older, and those years have unquestionably brought a wealth of football experience that the college player cannot hope to combat.

In the second place, the professional is able and more likely to concentrate upon the sport more intensely than does the collegian. To him, football is his means of livelihood, and for four months out of the year he thinks of nothing else. His fear of being snuffed forces him to train, and knowing that the only way he can remain in the lucrative profession is by constant practice, he directs all his energies toward improvement and efficiency.

Once more the familiar situation of the Big Ten, having to depend on Minnesota to "do something about Michigan" in their annual late-season struggle is evoked.

And Michigan, though it doesn't wish to appear cocky, nevertheless can't seem to work up more than average apprehension over the invasion of the Gophers November 18. The long history of the Wolverine-Gopher duelling—it started in 1896 and there have been 20 meetings—is liberally punctuated with chapters relating how supposedly superior Minnesota teams have been beaten by the wily Wolverines.

The famous Michigan "pass-punt-prayer" system has worked to confound physically superior Gopher eleven probably oftener than any other Michigan opponent.

Granting, then, that professional football should be superior to college football, I now feel obliged to explain why I believe that in reality it sometimes is not. If you take the outstanding college team of the country, whose players are all big and heavy and experienced, and in addition imbued with the typical college spirit (which no professional team has), I believe that by virtue of its spirit and enthusiasm, it will be able to oppose a professional team successfully.

All we know of spirit here is demonstrated in the typical college player. I for one still believe in that old Roosevelt slogan, "If you won't be licked, you can't be licked."

Take the instance of Red Ruzick, the great fullback of the New York Giants. A few weeks ago I saw him tear the line of the Pittsburgh Professionals to shreds. Yet in 1928 when he was playing for Nebraska, an inspired University of Pittsburgh team held Nebraska scoreless and without a first down for the entire game, and there were no Pitt substitutions. In 1930 I saw this same Russell, then playing for Northwestern, held on the two-yard line for four successive downs by a Notre Dame team.

In professional football, the emotional appeal of the sport ceases with the final whistle of the game. In collegiate football, the jubilation of victory and the pangs of defeat extend into the very hearts of the players. To one group the game is a producer of revenue. To the other it is something to be endured. To the other it is something for which to live.

To say that it is unfair to compare professional football with collegiate football, purely on a basis of excellence of play, is to summarize the obvious. Good sportsmanship, friendship, love of the game unadulterated by monetary motives, are only a few of the factors that must be considered. I sincerely believe that collegiate football, because of the things for which it stands and motivates, should be placed ahead of professional football.

KELLY SHOOT A NEW HIGH RUN MARK, 125

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 14.—(AP)—George Kelly of Philadelphia, today held a new national pocket billiard championship tournament high run mark of 125, and a one third interest in a three way tie for the title.

Both were achieved last night when he defeated Charles Seaback of Astoria, N. Y., and went into a tie with him and William Mosconi also of Philadelphia for first place. As the final standings stood each had won seven and lost two matches.

A play-off was arranged for today with Mosconi and Seaback pitted this afternoon followed by a match between the loser and Kelly after which the two winners meet.

Big Ten Again Depends on Gophers To 'Stop That Bunch From Michigan'

Year after year Minnesota's Gophers find themselves 'on the spot' when they engaged Michigan, and there will be no exception when the powerful Western conference rivals clash Nov. 18 at Ann Arbor. The result likely will decide the Big Ten title, as usual.

Centenary Great Defensive Team; Unbeaten in Last Sixteen Games

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Minnesota, it appears, is "on that spot" again.

Once more the familiar situation of the Big Ten, having to depend on Minnesota to "do something about Michigan" in their annual late-season struggle is evoked.

And Michigan, though it doesn't wish to appear cocky, nevertheless can't seem to work up more than average apprehension over the invasion of the Gophers November 18. The long history of the Wolverine-Gopher duelling—it started in 1896 and there have been 20 meetings—is liberally punctuated with chapters relating how supposedly superior Minnesota teams have been beaten by the wily Wolverines.

The famous Michigan "pass-punt-prayer" system has worked to confound physically superior Gopher eleven probably oftener than any other Michigan opponent.

Granting, then, that professional football should be superior to college football, I now feel obliged to explain why I believe that in reality it sometimes is not. If you take the outstanding college team of the country, whose players are all big and heavy and experienced, and in addition imbued with the typical college spirit (which no professional team has), I believe that by virtue of its spirit and enthusiasm, it will be able to oppose a professional team successfully.

All we know of spirit here is demonstrated in the typical college player. I for one still believe in that old Roosevelt slogan, "If you won't be licked, you can't be licked."

West Sides Reply
Sports Editor:

I resent very much what was said about the West Side football team having cold feet. How could you, Eddie? And as for sawdust, Eddie, the first place I heard of sawdust was in the writup last night in The Herald. You might have mentioned it to your team, you might have dreamed about sawdust, but when we met you, Mr. Nebo yesterday morning (Sunday morning) nothing was mentioned about sawdust nor when I again met you halfway north. Personally I believe the only place you could have gotten sawdust yesterday was under your hat. I am sorry, truly sorry, that a town title series had to be postponed, Eddie, but if you imagined that I was going to send out my team, on Mt. Nebo yesterday afternoon and all the scenes made in competition and he adjusts handicaps accordingly. The scores of all major tournaments since 1924, when the club was founded, are available.

The fine old tradition of the town title series was evidently shattered on Sunday. As a matter of cold fact, Eddie, there never has been any fine old tradition as you put it. Of course I realize that you are named the Eagles, so has the NRA & blue eagle and your Eagles will probably feel as blue as the Blue Eagles after the game next Sunday. Now don't say that the West Sides have a yellow Eagle or cold feet, Eddie, because that would not be true in any sense of the world and I do not to have you think that the West Sides have cold pedal extremities. As a matter of fact the team wanted to play and even offered to hire scrapers to do the work and you were not at that conference Eddie, because you were not sure that you had a full team until just before the game.

I almost forgot that we were talking about a fine old tradition. The only thing that carries on this tradition is an effort to get out of the "red" at the end of the season. The Eagles have played now, almost continuously since 1913. Only once were the games played in bad weather and then the north end got a licking. I remember that one, do you? Then again Eddie, if you do not want them next Sunday, and that your team is willing to play for the dear old Alma Mater or blue eagles or whatever Eagle you happen to have "over north" regardless.

However, Eddie, we have not played "big games" this year, and are very frank to state that we need the money to get out of the red. We also gave some consideration to the fans that have supported us this year and refused to play unless they had a fifty-fifty chance of seeing us win, or lose as the case may be. Therefore I thought and still think so, that we did use a bit of common sense, refused to place the burden of guilt, if there be any, on the shoulders of anyone. I did refuse to let my team play Sunday because of the extra hazardous risks and an added chance of getting pneumonia.

Therefore we shall meet you next Sunday please refrain from trying to bully or the game any more and I shall be glad to meet you on Nov. 18 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

So long,
John E. "Jack" Dwyer.

Eagles to Play Prison Eleven on November 26

The Eagles football team has booked the Connecticut State Prison at Waterfield, Sunday, November 26. The prisoners have defeated many strong semi-pro teams in the state but were beaten by All-Burnside by a small margin, the score being 7-6. The Eagles were the only team to beat the State prison's Trojans last season and hope to defeat them again this season. Sunday the Trojans defeated the strong North Ends of Bristol by a score of 18-12.

Bramham to Be Elected Head of Ball Clubs

Galveston, Texas, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Delegates to the 32nd annual convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues were to try their luck at deep sea fishing today while President William C. Bramham of Durham, N. C., and his executive committee, were deep in discussion of pre-convention affairs behind closed doors.

The convention proper does not convene until tomorrow. It will continue through Friday.

Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis arrived yesterday, asserted "baseball is no worse off than anything else," and scoffed at the suggestion golf and other sports were making permanent inroads into baseball interest.

'Tin Whistles' Not Afraid Of National Golf Champ

Pinhurst, N. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—George T. Dunlap, Jr., the third national amateur golf champion to be a member of the Tin Whistles, ancient golfing society here, never has won a tournament held by that organization in 15 attempts.

Of the other two champion members, Bobby Jones, too, has been unsuccessful, while W. C. Fownes, Jr., has taken only three prizes over a stretch of 15 years.

Scores Of All Tournaments
The reason for the failure of these champions to do better is a system of handicapping which is perhaps more exact than any other in existence.

The Tin Whistles have one man, a club secretary, who does nothing but record all the scenes made in competition and he adjusts handicaps accordingly. The scores of all major tournaments since 1924, when the club was founded, are available.

Fun To Trim Champ
Thus, if a player wins a tourney, his handicap is lowered for the next event, which if he plays in a certain number of events without success, his handicap is raised. Dunlap, who was rated at scratch when he was admitted to membership three years ago, now is handicapped at three.

With such an exact system of handicapping in effect, the Tin Whistles fear no golfer. Some of them may not be able to break 90 all the time, but what do they care so long as they can trim the national amateur golf champion regularly?

PANTHERS TO MEET NEBRASKA AS RAMS TACKLE OREGON ST.

Both Eastern Teams Given Good Chance of Winning from Grid Rivals; Purdue Has Great Record.

By Herbert W. Barker.
New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Fordham Rams and the Pitt Panthers, whose schedules annually give them a large share of the task of upholding Eastern football prestige in intercollegiate games, stand by again this week to repel invaders of no inconsiderable power.

Fordham, victor over Alabama but beaten by St. Mary's Gaelic, winds up a highly successful season against the Beavers of Oregon State. Pitt, beaten only by Minnesota, and conqueror of Notre Dame and Centre from other sections, hopes to add Nebraska's undefeated and untied cornhuskers to the list.

Nebraska's first win, but not won a game from the Panthers in that time although the games of 1923-30-32 ended in scoreless ties.

Talking about precedents calls attention to the fact that Purdue still is going strong, unbeaten in twenty games against the Beavers in 46. Nobody's whipped the Bollermakers since Wisconsin earned a 1-14 triumph early in 1931 and nobody has shut them out since Minnesota won 10-0 in the second game of the 1928 campaign.

SHORE'S RETURN MAY HELP BOSTON TO WIN

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Surprisingly beaten in their first two starts, the Boston Bruins will see whether the return of Eddie Shore won't help them into the winning column tonight.

His salary differences adjusted and in condition despite the fact he did not train with the Bruins, Shore is expected to step right into his usual defense position with the Hub outfit Red Wings. Boston was soundly trounced by Toronto in its opening game, 6-1, and then dropped a 3-2 decision to the Montreal Maroons. Detroit has split even in two games, losing to the Montreal Canadians but beating the New York Americans.

Simmons Didn't Ask For Change in Park

Chicago, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Al Simmons is all "burnt up" over reports that he requested the White Sox management to move home, plate out 14 feet toward center, and so he could get more home runs.

The distance of the fences at Comiskey Park, home of the White Sox, never bothered him, he insists. It was the breeze that swept over Lake Michigan into the park, giving unpleasant plenty of time to camp under his drive.

"I deeply resent the implications that I requested the change," Simmons asserted as he talked to newspaper reporters. "I've never asked for any change in the park, I simply went on an exceptionally long drive under the sun of the day."

Owner Lou Comiskey is announcing plans to move the home plate out 14 feet, and it was a rumor that Simmons requested a change in the distance of the fences.

We have it on fairly good authority that recently in church, a man whom we shall call Tompkins, was passing the collection plate, when a woman came in the door, dropped a penny in the plate and sat in a pew.

Suddenly she jumped up, walked up to Tompkins, who was standing at the rear, took a penny out of the plate, and started towards the door. "What's the idea?" asked the amazed usher.

"I'm in the wrong church!" the woman snapped.

MacTavish was very shy. When he went to his first dinner party he made frantic efforts to begin a conversation with the attractive woman at his elbow, but it wasn't until at least ten minutes had passed that he managed to utter the opening words: "Does your brother like cheese?"

"I haven't a brother," she replied with a very sweet smile.

Dead silence for another spell. "If you had a brother, do you think he'd—like cheese?" MacTavish asked.

A certain fearless and athletic man was going home late at night recently. He was warned not to go the usual way, as there had been several hold-ups. He went just the same, and presently was met by a man who asked him what time it was. Thinking this was the prelude to a hold-up, he hit him a very heavy blow, and said: "It has just struck one!"

"Gracious," was the quick reply. "I'm glad I didn't ask you an hour ago."

BANKS SEEK FACTS ON UNPAID TAXES

Tax Collector George H. Howe Kept Busy Giving Information.

Tax Collector George H. Howe is being asked daily to furnish statements to different banks and mortgage companies as to the amount of unpaid taxes on property in which a mortgage is held, the requests coming mostly from out of town banks. One bank has sought information on over thirty pieces of property and, having secured the information, has written a notice to the person or company holding the mortgage to pay the taxes and also be ready to meet interest on the loans in January. In nearly every case this interest is asked for in advance. This is not unusual but it is the first time such information has been asked regarding unpaid taxes of so many property holders as is being done today.

The banks claim that the necessity of having taxes paid on time or before the interest date is important. The law provides that taxes come first in all claims against property, and when there is a bill against the property the first mortgage becomes a second mortgage, being preceded by the unpaid taxes, against which a tax lien can be filed.
