Civil Works Head Explains to State Executives Federal Plans to Put Four Millions to Work Soon.

Washington, Nov. 15.—(AP)—A realignment of relief funds already granted and still to come was suggested by Harry L. Hopkins, as the "civil works administrator" spoke to 500 governors, mayors and relief workers gathered here as a relief convention.

To the officials that thronged a huge meeting room of the Hotel Mayflower, he urged that relief funds, both state and Federal, be transferred whenever possible into wages for work done instead of direct grants.

Secretary Ickes, himself the administrator of the $3,000,000,000 public works fund, joined Hopkins in unfolding administration hopes. Later the meeting was to move to the White House to receive the ideas of President Roosevelt.

Hopkins explained that the types of work to be handled include all types of public projects "provide they are socially and economically desirable and that they are undertaken quickly."

"Wherever state or local laws permit," he said, "it is urged that state and local relief funds be similarly used. If this is not possible it is suggested that the funds received from the Federal Government be used to carry out such projects."

"We intend to go through with this regardless," Hopkins told the officials. "I do not anticipate that any one will endeavor to inject politics or personal gain into the plan. We do not intend to tolerate it."

JURY CONVICTS ISADOR KRESEL, NOTED LAWYER

Charged With Aiding in Misapplication of Two Millions in Funds of Closed Bank of United States.

New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Isador J. Kresel, the fiery little lawyer who in 1930 crusaded with Samuel Seabury against corruption in the Magistrates courts, was convicted today of aiding and abetting in the misapplication of $2,000,000 in funds of the defunct Bank of United States.

The eminent attorney—he has often been called one of New York's most talented criminal counsel—was emotionless when shortly before seven o'clock this morning the Supreme Court Jury which for two months had heard testimony in the case returned its verdict.

Just before the case was given to the jury at 12:15 a. m. Judge George H. Taylor had delivered the longest charge ever heard in a New York court, nine hours being required. Judge Taylor remained on his feet during the entire delivery of the charge, an unusual procedure in New York courts.

During the trial ended today Kresel was represented by John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President in 1924, while Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential candidate in 1928, headed a host of character witnesses.

It was charged, Kresel, involved in litigation resulting from failure of the Bank of United States, had resigned from the Magistrates courts investigation that Seabury, referee of that inquiry, turned prosecutor and drove forward to the revelation of municipal corruption which won him public favor and led finally to the resignation from the magistracy of James J. Walker.

One charge emphasized in the prosecution of Kresel was that he, against the advice of the state banking department, advised Marcus and Singer to go ahead with the transaction which formed the basis of the indictment.

Kresel's contention throughout the trial was that he had not been told of the loan on which the indictment was based, and that it was made without his approval.

Immediate removal to the Tombs was avoided when the prosecution agreed to continuance of Kresel's $100,000 bail.

Judge Taylor ordered the payment of added compensation of $250 each to the jurors in view of their patience during the long trial. Jurors in the trial of Marcus and Singer were given added compensation of $500 each.

REFLATION AND CREDIT WOULD ASSIST FARMERS

National Master of the Grange Says Common Ground Is Needed; Backs President's Gold Policy.

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Urging "immediate reflation of our currency and credit," Louis J. Taber, National master of the Grange, asserted today agriculture had failed to receive the full benefit of the Federal recovery program.

"No sensible man," he said, in an address before the National convention of the Grange, "wants uncontrolled inflation. Between the deflationists on one hand and the unlimited inflationists on the other, there is the sensible common ground of controlled reflation and managed currency in accordance with justice and the times."

The President's gold policy he described as a step in the right direction, but asserted "it does not reach the heart of the problem."

Reasons For Strikes "The strikes earlier in the year and their recent recurrence," he said, "are the result of inequalities too long endured."

EARLIER SUNDAY THEATER HOURS ASKED OF BOARD

Selectmen Told Something Must Be Done; Summit Street Job Project Voted at Last Night's Session.

Constantly decreasing patronage extending over a period of several years was the reason attributed by Manager George C. Hoover of the Warner Brothers State Theater last night for an appeal to allow the local theater to open for an extra show on Sunday afternoons.

Mr. Needles stated that the local theater was the "worst paying plant" in New England of the 68 Warner Brothers units and that the total losses in operating costs alone during the past two years were $48,000.

Mr. Needles said, despite the fact that many improvements had been made in the interior of the theater and in the service to its customers, of any fall season in the history of the house.

The Warner Brothers management had been puzzled for years over the inability of the local theater to climb out of "the red," Mr. Needles stated to the Selectmen.

Various managers have been tried out to try and stem the loss, with little success. The speaker intimated that the company had thought of closing the theater last summer when the receipts were at low ebb, and he frankly admitted that while everything had been done to try and boost the business, he could not definitely state how much longer the theater would remain open if relief in some form was not obtained.

The petitioner said that the Manchester Warner Brothers theater was one of the best in a town the size of Manchester, and the pictures had been selected with the purpose in view of stimulating interest, locally. Pictures "out of the can," said Mr. Needles, using the show business expression for first-run films, had not had the desired effect. He said that local showings were but one to two weeks out of the original releases.

Seeking a "chance to break even" and not desiring to look for appreciable gains, Manager Hoover stated that he had been informed that in many as 52 Manchester persons were seen in a Hartford theater lobby waiting for the show to open on Sunday afternoons when the local theater was closed, due to the restrictions embodied in the town by-laws.

He stated that Manchester was a "nine-o'clock town," meaning that due to the fact that most of those who patronized the theater were mill and shop workers, they attended the first show and retired early.

The dropping dollar was carrying down the local market, and the price of new mined gold was set at $33.50, unchanged from yesterday.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE GRANTED WOODIN; PICK MORGENTHAU

Secretary of Treasury to Leave Post Because of His Health—His Offer to Resign Not Accepted by the President — Undersecretary Acheson Quits to Make Way for Woodin's Successor.

Washington, Nov. 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today announced that Secretary Woodin would begin a "complete leave of absence" at the end of the week and pending his return, Henry Morgenthau, Jr., would be acting secretary of the Treasury.

Undersecretary Deah Acheson has resigned and Morgenthau will be appointed to that post. Mr. Woodin tendered his resignation to the President several days ago, but Mr. Roosevelt declined to accept it, suggesting instead that the secretary be completely freed of all governmental responsibilities while he takes a complete rest.

He has been suffering from a throat infection which has required constant treatment of New York specialists. During his absence, Woodin will accept no remuneration from the government.

In tendering his unaccepted resignation, Woodin said he had attempted to "stay away from the desk of late and so far as possible recuperate from his ailment." He added, however, that he was unable to do this fully, and that since his physicians had ordered rest and a change of climate, he was submitting his resignation.

In reply the President said that "the first consideration" was Mr. Woodin's "complete recuperation." "While Woodin could not attain this end at the same time continue with his duties the President suggested that he take a "complete leave of absence" and "do all you can to get full health and strength," President's Reply "The first consideration" was Mr. Woodin's "complete recuperation." "While Woodin could not attain this end at the same time continue with his duties the President suggested that he take a "complete leave of absence" and "do all you can to get full health and strength," Without any responsibility or thought of work." Morgenthau has been at the head of the farm credit administration.

Recently he was given a prominent part in working out administrative monetary policies and placed upon the committee which daily fixes the price at which the Reconstruction Corporation makes purchases of newly mined domestic gold.

Acheson came to the Treasury from the legal profession. During Woodin's absence he has carried almost the entire burden of directing the Treasury. Mr. Roosevelt today expressed great satisfaction with the services he has rendered and spoke his regret that Acheson was leaving the government.

MCLEVY TO ATTEND PARLEY ON RELIEF

Bridgeport's Socialist Mayor in Washington in Search of Federal Funds.

Washington, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Jasper McLevy, Bridgeport Socialist mayor, came to Washington today to see what the Federal civil works program offers the city which installed him in its highest office two days ago.

A conference with Major Philip Fleming, of the public works administration as well as attendance at the conference of state and municipal officials called by Harry L. Hopkins, Federal civil works administrator, was on his day's schedule.

Those In Party The mayor was accompanied here by Mayor Joseph F. Dutton of Bristol, Angus Thorne, Bridgeport superintendent of charities, and William M. Harris, head of the Waterbury relief department.

May William J. Rankin of Hartford has also expressed his intention of attending the conference. McLevy said he would discuss

NO CHANGE MADE IN PRICE OF GOLD

Weakness in Government Bonds Develops as Dollar Drops, Officials Cautious.

Washington, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The administration today fixed the price of domestic newly mined gold at a point far below the dollar figure abroad.

The dollar, meanwhile, fell from $3.77 to the pound at the London opening to $3.73. This in turn carried the dollar value of gold at London from $34.08 to $34.68.

By contrast, the price of RFC purchases of new mined gold was set at $33.50, unchanged from yesterday.

Only once before has the Washington figure been put below the world price. Then, the circumstances were similar to those of today, weakness in government bonds had gripped out the day before.

Storms In East, Mid West Put Many Ships In Danger

Widely separated areas of the nation were recovering today from the after-effects of another series of weather disturbances which endangered shipping and gave the east and midwest a new preview of winter.

The Great Lakes region, swept by winds that reached a velocity of 40 miles an hour, was particularly hard hit yesterday, one steamer, the D. S. Calender, manned by a crew of 25, was grounded off Long Point, Ont., while two freighters also reported they were in trouble.

ASKED TO SUBMIT PROJECT PROGRAM

Must Name Proposed Job Under Relief Fund Not Later Than Tomorrow.

Chairman Aaron Cook of the Board of Selectmen today received a telegram from W. E. Hulse, state aid agent of the Connecticut state highway department, in which Mr. Hulse asked that one local project to cost approximately $5,000, to be undertaken by the state highway department co-operating with the Federal Relief, be made known to him not later than tomorrow. The telegram was as follows:

"Federal administration contemplates intensive work under program to provide immediate employment of the unemployed and partly employed now on relief roll. This department has been requested to formulate program for this state. Will you submit one project of approximately $5,000 to be undertaken by this department co-operating with Federal Relief. Projects may include grading and draining roads or streets largely by hand labor, widening shoulders and curves, installing cobble gutters and rubble drains, surfacing and resurfacing with local materials or materials supplied by other, and relief funds, construction of footpaths of local material and production of maintenance material. It is to be noted there will be no cost to the town except where other than local material is required. Contemplated labor will be recruited from relief rolls. Information must be in this office not later than Thursday next. We expect your full co-operation."

Town Treasurer George H. Waddell today frankly expressed complete ignorance of the particular fund from which the above mentioned $5,000 is to be taken. He said he did not know if it was to come out of the State Emergency Relief Commission's fund, which he said had a check for $10,000 to Mr. Waddell yesterday to be used for relief purposes.

Much overlapping. "There are so many funds and so much overlapping in this relief business that I personally do not know where we stand," Mr. Waddell said. He said perhaps a definite idea of the Federal government's participation in municipal relief work may be obtained following the Washington conference today in which President Roosevelt was expected to outline the civic works program to mayors and other municipal officials.

However, the Summit street extension comes under the specifications described by Mr. Hulse, and the town will probably project within the required time limit, it was said today.

Under the proposed civic works plan, unemployed men now on municipal relief rolls would be put to work on general improvements, not of permanent nature necessarily, for 30 hours a week. The minimum wage scale would be 50 cents an hour for common laborers and $1.20 an hour for skilled workers.

Work on the Summit street extension, Mr. Waddell said today, probably would be started next Monday.

"We expect an avalanche of applications for jobs on this project during the rest of the week," he predicted.

Conflict With Hartford. Basing his appeal for the extra two hours in which to run an extra Sunday show on Mr. Hoover's statement that he was in constant conflict with the Hartford theaters which permit an earlier Sunday afternoon opening, it was his opinion that if the by-laws of the town of Manchester were amended to allow an extra show before the regular 7 o'clock Sunday evening program, the theater should show an increase in patronage and a resulting increase in its receipts.

Later, in executive session, the Selectmen directed the clerk to call a special hearing at which time opponents and proponents of the 5 o'clock by-law may express their views.

Work Projects. The completion of Summit street, through from Henry street to William street as a work project for local unemployed was approved by the Selectmen last night, together with 12 other jobs on the town streets. Frank Bowen, will be $12,376.20 and will supply 139 men with 201 days work.

The Adams street culvert and the Hamlin street storm sewer jobs will be allocated to the regular highway and storm sewer appropriations and will supply work for men who from an appealing for town charity. The regular town workmen will also be used to do the major part of the later jobs.

South Main street (west side widening) 1080 man hours labor, 10 men for 12 days, cost $324. Gravel and widen roadway, Line street (east end) and Gardner street (south end widening) 1800 man hours labor, 10 men for 30 days, cost $540. North Main street, (north side) excavate for gravel walk, 658 man hours labor, six men for 15 days, cost $197.40.

The cost of the 13 work projects is exclusive of truck hire. The Summit street job is considered by town engineer Bowen as especially suited to hand labor. Fill material is obtainable in three nearby banks. The work on Summit street and other projects will be begun at once.

Allen Dougherty. Allen Dougherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Dougherty of Hartford, all former residents of Manchester, was buried here this morning with military honors. From his adopted home in Nutley, N. J., came a delegation of sixteen men, members of Nutley Post, No. 7, American Legion, of which post he was a member. A delegation of eight Elks from the same place and a delegation from the Dilworth-Cornell Post of Manchester added further to the military aspect. The firing squad was provided by the State of Connecticut and a band of Naval Reserves from Hartford, as his war service was in the navy. The Rau-Locks Post, American Legion, Hartford, sent their vice commander with a delegation of men.

The Legion post of Nutley had taken charge of the funeral arrangements and that they might be represented at the funeral, sixteen of them left New York City by automobile this morning and went to the Dillon Funeral Home, Hartford. They were transported from the funeral home as an escort to the body from Hartford to St. James' church where a funeral service was celebrated by Rev. William P. Reidy. Reserved seats were provided for the military men.

Organist Charles Packard presided at the organ and was assisted by Ira Bronson on the violin as the mass was sung. At the offertory Arthur E. Keating sang "Ave Maria" and at the consecration a violin solo "Pens-Angelus" played by Mr. Bronson. At the close of the mass Arthur E. Keating sang "Softly and Tenderly" and as the body was being taken from the church Mrs. Clara Brennan sang "Going Home."

As the funeral cortege left the church the delegations from Nutley, Hartford and Manchester left the automobiles and marched ahead of the hearse the naval men following in the rear and in this formation the procession proceeded from Main street west on Center street to Griswold street and to St. James' cemetery. The committal service was read by Rev. W. P. Reidy followed by the ritual of the Legion. With the family and friends standing on the south side of the grave the firing squad, from the north side, fired the usual three volleys. As the sounds of the shots died away the sounding of taps from a far distance in the cemetery was heard, sounded by a bugler from Nutley post. The flag was removed from the casket and the body lowered into the grave.

GOVERNMENT APPROVES CONNECTICUT PROJECTS. Over $700,000 Will Be Expended on Three Plans Which Will Make Many Jobs.

Bridgeport, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Approval of three Connecticut public works construction projects under the NRA on which $700,000 will be expended, was announced by the public works administration in Washington today, through the state public works advisory board here. Projects approved are a High school in Greenwich to cost $24,000; a grade school in Monroe to cost $70,000, and a grade school in Mansfield to cost $25,000.

Leslie A. Higman, chief engineer of the state public works advisory board which approved the projects before they were sent to Washington, estimated today that 200 men would be given employment on a 30-hour week for five months on the Greenwich project and that approximately 50 men would be given employment for the same length of time on the Monroe project and 20 on the Mansfield project.

HOSPITAL NOTES. Max Nowoh of Vernon and Benedict Kupchunas of Wapping were admitted yesterday.

CONNECTICUT HIT BY A COLD WAVE. And Weather Man Predicts It Will Be Much Colder Tomorrow.

New Haven, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Connecticut residents turned up their coats today as temperatures tumbled far below the freezing point. While motorists tried to coax life into recalcitrant engines and thawed out frozen radiators, reports of the coldest temperatures of the season came from throughout the state.

To Be Colder. And the weather man at the New Haven branch of the Weather Bureau said the worst was yet to come. He reported the mercury at 23 degrees at 8 a. m., three degrees above the record for this date, and predicted that by tomorrow morning the mercury would hit 14 degrees. The drop, he said, would follow after a day of rising temperatures.

The lowest mark reached on November 15 in the history of the New Haven branch was 19 in 1909. Torrington reported its minimum reading as 18 degrees, and a maximum of 20 degrees. Along its mercury tumbled to 19 degrees. Above the shore, the temperatures were somewhat higher, New London reporting a low of 22 and a high of 35.

14 ISABELLA CIRCLES TO INSTALL JOINTLY. St. Margaret's of This Town Discuss Ceremony in Hartford on Nov. 19.

St. Margaret's Circle, Daughters of Isabella, held its regular business meeting last night, and the chief topic of discussion was the joint installation of officers of 14 circles throughout the state, to be held at the Gardes Hotel, Hartford, Sunday, November 19 at 2 o'clock. Any of the members will be welcome to attend the ceremony which is the first of its kind to be held in Connecticut. The installing officer will be the state regent, Miss Beatrice Shea of Waterbury. When it is realized that each circle has 400 to 500 members, and that many others will attend, between 400 and 500 are confidently expected.

The committal service was read by Rev. W. P. Reidy followed by the ritual of the Legion. With the family and friends standing on the south side of the grave the firing squad, from the north side, fired the usual three volleys. As the sounds of the shots died away the sounding of taps from a far distance in the cemetery was heard, sounded by a bugler from Nutley post. The flag was removed from the casket and the body lowered into the grave.

GOVERNMENT APPROVES CONNECTICUT PROJECTS. Over $700,000 Will Be Expended on Three Plans Which Will Make Many Jobs.

Bridgeport, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Approval of three Connecticut public works construction projects under the NRA on which $700,000 will be expended, was announced by the public works administration in Washington today, through the state public works advisory board here. Projects approved are a High school in Greenwich to cost $24,000; a grade school in Monroe to cost $70,000, and a grade school in Mansfield to cost $25,000.

Leslie A. Higman, chief engineer of the state public works advisory board which approved the projects before they were sent to Washington, estimated today that 200 men would be given employment on a 30-hour week for five months on the Greenwich project and that approximately 50 men would be given employment for the same length of time on the Monroe project and 20 on the Mansfield project.

HOSPITAL NOTES. Max Nowoh of Vernon and Benedict Kupchunas of Wapping were admitted yesterday.

CONNECTICUT HIT BY A COLD WAVE. And Weather Man Predicts It Will Be Much Colder Tomorrow.

New Haven, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Connecticut residents turned up their coats today as temperatures tumbled far below the freezing point. While motorists tried to coax life into recalcitrant engines and thawed out frozen radiators, reports of the coldest temperatures of the season came from throughout the state.

To Be Colder. And the weather man at the New Haven branch of the Weather Bureau said the worst was yet to come. He reported the mercury at 23 degrees at 8 a. m., three degrees above the record for this date, and predicted that by tomorrow morning the mercury would hit 14 degrees. The drop, he said, would follow after a day of rising temperatures.

The lowest mark reached on November 15 in the history of the New Haven branch was 19 in 1909. Torrington reported its minimum reading as 18 degrees, and a maximum of 20 degrees. Along its mercury tumbled to 19 degrees. Above the shore, the temperatures were somewhat higher, New London reporting a low of 22 and a high of 35.

Any of the members will be welcome to attend the ceremony which is the first of its kind to be held in Connecticut. The installing officer will be the state regent, Miss Beatrice Shea of Waterbury. When it is realized that each circle has 400 to 500 members, and that many others will attend, between 400 and 500 are confidently expected.

FUNERALS

Allen Dougherty. Allen Dougherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Dougherty of Hartford, all former residents of Manchester, was buried here this morning with military honors. From his adopted home in Nutley, N. J., came a delegation of sixteen men, members of Nutley Post, No. 7, American Legion, of which post he was a member. A delegation of eight Elks from the same place and a delegation from the Dilworth-Cornell Post of Manchester added further to the military aspect. The firing squad was provided by the State of Connecticut and a band of Naval Reserves from Hartford, as his war service was in the navy. The Rau-Locks Post, American Legion, Hartford, sent their vice commander with a delegation of men.

The Legion post of Nutley had taken charge of the funeral arrangements and that they might be represented at the funeral, sixteen of them left New York City by automobile this morning and went to the Dillon Funeral Home, Hartford. They were transported from the funeral home as an escort to the body from Hartford to St. James' church where a funeral service was celebrated by Rev. William P. Reidy. Reserved seats were provided for the military men.

Organist Charles Packard presided at the organ and was assisted by Ira Bronson on the violin as the mass was sung. At the offertory Arthur E. Keating sang "Ave Maria" and at the consecration a violin solo "Pens-Angelus" played by Mr. Bronson. At the close of the mass Arthur E. Keating sang "Softly and Tenderly" and as the body was being taken from the church Mrs. Clara Brennan sang "Going Home."

As the funeral cortege left the church the delegations from Nutley, Hartford and Manchester left the automobiles and marched ahead of the hearse the naval men following in the rear and in this formation the procession proceeded from Main street west on Center street to Griswold street and to St. James' cemetery. The committal service was read by Rev. W. P. Reidy followed by the ritual of the Legion. With the family and friends standing on the south side of the grave the firing squad, from the north side, fired the usual three volleys. Havana, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Government troops were fighting or trailing rebel bands in at least six provinces today in a vigorous drive to stamp out what threatened to become a serious movement.

QUIGLEY ELECTED MAYOR OF CHELSEA

Democrats Win in Republican Woburn—Other Bay State Election Results.

Boston, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The Democratic sweep in nominally Republican Woburn and the re-election of Mayor F. Quigley in Chelsea were the outstanding results of the balloting in the nine Massachusetts cities.

Edward W. Kenney, Democrat, who formerly served as president of the city council, defeated his Republican opponent, Mayor W. Peterson, in the Woburn election. Kenney polled 4,441 votes to Peterson's 3,825.

Chelsea passed through one of its most exciting city elections as Mayor Quigley was re-elected for his eighth term. He defeated Representative William H. Helleby by 639 votes in a non-partisan contest. Nine were arrested, chiefly for illegal voting, during the balloting.

Former Mayor Andrew J. "Bossy" Gillis was runner-up in a four-cornered fight for nomination in Newburyport's municipal primary. Mayor Gayden W. Morrill, who defeated Gillis in the last election, headed the ticket.

OPEN FORUM

THE "FORGET-ME-NOT" GIRL

She stood on the cold street corner Holding a slender can And her eyes were as blue as the forget-me-nots She held outstretched in her hand. "Won't you help the veterans?" Scotty came her plea Calling to all that passed her by Calling to you and me. We need to tell any story Of why this work need be done Still fresh in our mind is the story Of gas mask, trenches, "Hum." The hands that reached out were many Some were old, fringed, work scarred Again 'twas the manhood hand on the wheel Of a high powered pleasure car. One veteran tells the story Of a lad scarce up to his knee Proudly held up his offering And dropped in his pennies—just three. Out on another corner A girl shabby of coat and shoe Shyly held up her pennies And the box was richer by two. Its just the oft proven story One well known to us all America's voice was raised in appeal And her children answered her call. "Forward."

Atlanta, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Al Capone again is seeking his release from the Federal penitentiary here where he is serving a term for tax evasion.

His attorney, Frank Doughman, has notified the district attorney he would present a second petition for a writ of habeas corpus in Federal Court, probably some time today. Doughman said the petition would argue that Capone's trial was barred by the statute of limitation and claimed that new evidence, uncovered since a previous hearing, would prove his case.

Upon receiving such a petition, the court merely acknowledges it and sets a date for the hearing.

Betty's Neck Sore and Itched Constantly

Resinol Healed It

"When my little Betty was two months old, she began to suffer from a skin trouble on her neck which lasted several months. It was very sore and itched constantly. I tried many recommended treatments, but nothing seemed to help. Finally I bought a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap. In a short time her neck was very much improved, and it was amazing to see how quickly it healed." (Signed) Mrs. F. A. Resinol, Pa.

ADVERTISE IN THE HERALD—IT PAYS

FLUE OVERHEATED. THREATENS HOUSE

Deat Family Driven from Apel Place Home by Early Morning Blaze.

Fire, thought to have originated in an overheated chimney caused considerable damage to the home of Fred Dent on Apel Place at 2 o'clock this morning. The firemen spent the better part of an hour fighting the blaze that continued to break out in the wall that divided the kitchen and living room and also between the ceiling of the first floor and the flooring of the second floor.

When the blaze was discovered by members of the family the parlor was full of smoke and the fire was burning in the southeast corner of the room, close to a coal heating stove. An effort was made to get into the room to reach a telephone to send in an alarm, but this was not possible. The cries of Mrs. Dent and her daughter awakened Aloysius Murphy who lives next door. He dressed and in order to send in an alarm had to run from his home on Apel Place to the boiler room of the Bon Ami factory to tell the watchman to sound the alarm.

This gave the fire an opportunity to spread further, but while waiting for the arrival of the department, Willard Mack, who lives next door, assisted by a few neighbors, carried water to the upper floor. By wetting down the floors in the vicinity of the chimney the blaze was checked. Both companies of the north end department turned out and chemicals were used. It proved a mean fire to fight and Chief Coleman working on the second floor directing men and his assistant, William McGonigal taking care of the first floor, the fire was extinguished just as fast as they broke through the sidewalls or floor. It took an hour of this kind of work before the fire had been extinguished and the recall sounded.

The members of the Dent family escaped with little more than their night clothes and a few articles that they were able to pick up on their way out. They were given shelter in the homes of families in that vicinity.

It was piercing cold. No water was turned on, which was fortunate for the firemen as it would have been a hard night to handle a hose because of the weather and also because of lack of sufficient light in that vicinity.

SHIP STILL AGROUND

Long Point, Ont., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Her keel wedged fast on a sandbar off the Norfolk county peninsula near here, the steamer D. E. Callander of the Valley Camp Coal Company was still aground today.

One steamer, the Nelson, and a patrol boat from Erie, Pa., strove all night to free the grounded craft. At dawn the lake was tossed by the whipping gale and efforts to remove the Callander appeared for the time being to be useless.

The Callander has been held on the lake shoal since Tuesday morning with its crew of 20 men. Its position is still not considered precarious.

HEBRON

Mrs. Mary E. Teft, who has spent several weeks with Mrs. Rosella Waldo, returned this week to her home in Wethersfield. Mrs. Gertrude Simmons, of Willimantic, is acting as companion for Mrs. Waldo, arriving before Mrs. Teft's departure. Mrs. Waldo passed another birthday last Sunday. The day was spent quietly. The evening service at St. Peter's was omitted.

Mrs. Helier White attended the funeral services of her brother, Arthur C. Hills, last Thursday, at East Hampton. Mr. Hills, a teacher of music, and an accomplished musician, was well known here, and his death was a shock, not only to his relatives, but to all who knew him. He was instantly killed in Branford by a trolley. In former years he conducted singing classes in this and other nearby towns. He visited the White family here only two weeks ago. Mrs. White has also received word that her sister, Mrs. Faith Burlingame, of Charlton, Mass., is seriously ill at the home of her mother, Mrs. Jane M. Hills, in New Haven.

Frederick A. Rathbun was home from Hartford for the week-end, which he spent here with his family. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McDonald and daughter, Elaine, of Hartford, also spent the week-end here as guests of Mrs. McDonald's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel G. Horton have closed their bungalow and returned to New Haven for the winter months. Mrs. Horton has spent the summer and fall here. Mr. Horton coming for week-ends and vacation.

Horace Porter is working on re-assembling an old house which he moved some weeks ago from Windham to Talcottville. Students of the Trade school at Willimantic did most of the work in moving the house.

Notices were read in the churches last Sunday, and have since been given out in the schools, announcing a free X-ray tuberculosis test for school children, which took place today at the Town Hall, Hebron Green. Parents were urged to take advantage of this check-up, which is under the auspices of the State Board of Health. J. Banks Jones, head of the local Board of Health, arranged with the town authorities to assume the expenses of the project, as it was thought that in large families, especially among the poor, parents would be unable to bear the expense of $1 or 75 cents per child for examination and it is felt that the examinations are needed most of all in such cases. Reports of the tests will be given later. Mr. and Mrs. J. Kellogg White and family, and Aleck White, of Gilead, were Sunday guests at the home of their mother, Mrs. Helen White.

FORMER MAYOR IS SHOT BY BAPTIST MINISTER

Ringling, Okla., Nov. 15.—(AP)—C. L. Tidwell, 55, former mayor of Ringling and now justice of the peace, was shot and seriously wounded today by the Rev. C. D. Bigbie, pastor of the First Baptist church here. The shooting, which occurred in the office of the Ringling Eagle, weekly newspaper, was reported to have climaxed a political misunderstanding. The minister drove to Waurika, the county seat, and surrendered to Sheriff L. F. Goza. "I had to do it," the sheriff quoted him as saying. Dave Spradling, editor of the Eagle, told officers that Bigbie entered the office and said: "Look here, Tidwell!" When the justice turned toward the preacher, the latter fired a pistol. Spradling said. The bullet entered Tidwell's chest about two inches above the heart. He was taken to a hospital, where his condition was reported critical. After the shooting, the preacher drove away in his automobile.

MANY CASES OF GRIP ARE REPORTED IN TOWN

Freakish Weather Held to Blame for Prevalence of Respiratory Disorders. An outbreak of grip appears to have invaded Manchester. Scores of residents are reported to be suffering from severe colds, while others have been stricken with true grip and are confined to their beds. Pneumonia is said to be on the increase. Sudden changes in weather conditions are held responsible for the outbreak. Comparatively warm one day, raining the next, snowing on the day after that, with sudden and drastic drops in temperature—the weather during the past week or two has been made to order for the catching of bad colds.

NO LIMIT TO LICENSES ISSUED IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Chairman Edward P. Mulrooney, of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, today set at rest reports that the board had decided to limit the number of liquor licenses issued at this time. "We have authority under the state law to make limitations, but we are not using the power," Mulrooney said when asked about reports circulated yesterday that a limit had been decided upon. The chairman explained that the board merely had stated numbers of each type of license certificate printed in an attempt to estimate the number that would be needed. This was done, he said, so that there would not be any waste of forms, which were quite expensive. Mulrooney said that if, when the present supply has been exhausted, there is need for additional licenses they will be printed.

WILL ATTEND McCOLLUM LECTURE IN HARTFORD

Manchester Group Organized by Miss Buttle, Public Nurse, to Go from Here. A group of Manchester people interested in the subject of nutrition will go to Hartford Thursday evening, November 16, to hear a lecture at the Bushnell Memorial Hall by Dr. E. V. McCollum, of Baltimore, noted biochemist. Miss Dorothy Buttle, public health nurse in Manchester, is organizing the party from this town, which will include members of the staff of the Manchester Memorial hospital, social workers, and probably some members of the medical and dental professions. Dr. McCollum's lecture is free and is being presented under the auspices of the Connecticut Dairy and Food Council, the health education organization of Connecticut dairy industry. The speaker is regarded as a high authority on the subject of foods and their relation to health. The talk will start at 8 o'clock in the Colonial room of the Memorial. After hanging in a Thunderley, Essex, church for 340 years, a bell was taken down in 1828 and dispatched for recasting to the same London firm which had cast it in 1588.

STELLAR ACHIEVEMENT.

Connecticut bids fair to lead the world in one of the most important scientific achievements of all time. While the medical profession has come to be inordinately cautious toward any announcement of "cures" which it may have discovered or evolved, there is much in the statement of Dr. Stephen J. Maher, chairman of the Connecticut Tuberculosis Commission, concerning his discoveries in the bacterial destruction of tuberculosis bacilli to support the belief that Dr. Maher is announcing in, reality, a specific cure for human tuberculosis. The splendor and blessedness of such a discovery would be beyond calculation.

It is especially gratifying to us of Connecticut that not only is the principal actor in the working out of this agency for the eventual elimination of the white plague a man of this state and the head of the state's tuberculosis board, but those who have worked with him are all likewise men of Connecticut and persons entrusted with the care of the state's tuberculous wards. Perhaps it may be a little time yet before the technique is completely worked out by which Dr. Maher's contribution to human well being shall be brought to full operation. But it appears to be reasonably certain that to Connecticut physicians, and perhaps to the facilities provided and to the stimulus to research inherent in our Connecticut system for the care of the victims of this dread disease, will soon be due the gratitude of the world.

FORGOTTEN.

When the Merritt Highway is under discussion, which is frequently, we are told what Highway Commissioner Macdonald plans and what Governor Cross proposes but we hear nothing about what the Merritt Highway Commission plans or proposes or even thinks about the plans or proposals of others, unless some individual member of the commission lifts his voice in protest at the way the commission is being ignored.

In 1931 this commission was created by special legislative act. There are nine members of whom the State Highway Commissioner is, ex officio, one. The commission is to be the controlling body after the highway is built. The law also provides that it shall "co-operate with the State Highway Department and other departments in the development of such highway and the land in the vicinity thereof."

Apparently it is not the intent of the Highway Department to permit any such co-operation. The Highway Department, indeed, appears to have forgotten that there is such a commission; or, if it remembers its existence, to think very poorly of any such superfluous assistance.

There are indications that the Merritt Highway Commission does not relish being ignored in the planning of the much-discussed road. It is beginning to make faint noises. Possibly it may get up ginger enough, by and by, to challenge in the courts the right of the Highway Commissioner to be a complete autocrat in this matter of road building at least in this particular instance where the law seems to place considerable of the responsibility, and perhaps some of the authority, on the shoulders of the very special commission for this very special stretch of roadway.

HOME LOAN WORK.

If, as a good many people believe, the Blue Eagle angle of the NRA received an undue amount of publicity, to the end that the country was led to expect altogether too much from this feature of the recovery plans, it is possibly true that there are some other activities of the federal government which get less than their rightful measure of public notice. One of these may be the Home Owners Loan Corporation.

It will probably be news to most Connecticut folks that, in this state alone, during the first nine days of this month more than 100 loans were closed, every one of them representing the saving of somebody's home from impending foreclosure.

It will equally be news that up to the tenth day of this month a total of 13,000 applications for government relief through the readjustment of mortgage loans had been received from Connecticut home owners and that of these no less than 6,200 had been taken under consideration as apparently eligible for Home Loan Corporation loans. It is evident that, at this rate, before the year is out a tremendous amount of distress and loss will have been averted and that the Home Loan Corporation will have proven itself to be an institution of the highest beneficence.

A great deal has been accomplished with very little noise.

QUIZZING MR. JONES.

Jesse H. Jones has been chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation since April, 1932. Previous to that he had been chairman of the Bankers Mortgage Company of Houston, Texas. He is understood to have severed his connection with the Mortgage Company when he entered the RFC. In November, 1932, a subsidiary of the Bankers Mortgage Company was formed, the Midland Mortgage Company, chartered in Delaware. Two days afterward it received permission to do business in Texas. Last June an RFC loan of $1,070,000 was made to the Midland Mortgage Company and another loan of $430,000 was "authorized" to the same company.

The Senate Banking Committee is interesting itself in these and possibly other loans to the Houston institutions. One of the members is responsible for the statement that Mr. Jones' brother is the operator of the Midland company. It is pointed out that some banks have created subsidiary companies in order to obtain loans from the RFC without having the public know that they are getting them.

One of the things the Senate Committee is liable to ask Mr. Jones is whether his brother's Midland Company was organized to obtain a loan for the benefit of the Bankers' Mortgage company which Mr. Jones used to head before he was appointed to the RFC. There has long been an impression that some of the wrong kind of people got into the Reconstruction Finance Corporation—especially among those who have suffered, as depositors in closed banks, from the ruthless methods by which that body "aided" so many banks to their final undoing.

LIQUOR LAW FIGHT.

That paragon of legal, social and economic wisdom, the Connecticut Liquor Control Law, develops new squeaks and sputters almost daily. Now the druggists are planning a test case in the courts to determine the right of the Liquor Control Board to classify drug stores as package stores in the sale of liquor other than on prescription.

As to the merits of this particular controversy the druggists are, perhaps, more concerned than the public, but it is quite generally interesting to note that an official of the State Board of Pharmacy Commissioners has publicly said that the druggists can and will successfully evade the law if the ruling is not changed. He pointed out that no permit is needed for the compounding of medicines and that it would be easy enough to add an ounce or two of peppermint to a pint of liquor and make medicine out of it.

This is only one of a score of ways in which the Liquor Control act puts a premium on law evasion. Incidentally, if there is any citizen who would like to know exactly what the Liquor Control Act is, let him apply to the Control Board for a copy of the law. He will discover that no copies are available and will be told that if he wants information on the law he must consult his lawyer.

Which is an interesting little situation, all by itself.

SMEARING.

Criticism of the mechanics of the various recovery measures, when the animating desire is to discredit, is easy. For example, the Washington correspondent of a Connecticut contemporary points out that the expense of administering the Home Loan Corporation activity had, up to the time of "the last available figures," almost equaled the amount of the loans made.

There is in this plenty of implication of bureaucratic waste. It would, however, be just about as fair to make the statement that a private manufacturing enterprise had expended $600,000 in producing one four hundred dollar lathe—which perhaps might be true enough if we struck our balance at the hour of the completion of the first unit of product after the building and equipping of the factory.

The Home Loan Corporation has only just now, after many weeks of preparatory work, got down to the actual making of loans in quantity. It took a good while to set up the machinery; it could not have been otherwise. Meantime expenditure necessarily went on.

When, at the end of another month, a new total of loans is published, it is highly improbable that the correspondent who made the statement referred to above will see any particular advantage to the smearers in comparing the amount of money loaned with the amount spent in loaning it—much less at the end of another year. He will, no doubt, keep entirely mum on the subject.

TOT EXPLOITATION.

Of Ruth Schlenzyk, eight year old prodigy pianist who plays Bach concerts, her father is quoted as saying: "I won't have my little girl worn out before she reaches her teens. She has only a little time to be a little one—and she will have such a long time to play music!"

A beautiful sentiment. One may wonder, however, to what extent it has ruled the decisions of parents whose child, at eight, plays Beethoven, Mendelssohn and Chopin with sufficient skill and finish to set the critics agape—and draw big "box office."

No doubt Mr. Schlenzyk is sufficiently sincere about wishing his little girl to have some childhood, but to postpone that gift until the unfortunate little creature has made a fine wad of cash for the old folks is to take some of the bloom off the rose, so to speak.

IN NEW YORK.

New York, Nov. 15.—One good thing appears to have come out of these troublous times. At last manufacturers of clothing are looking over-long suits for the over-fat figure. One department store announces shirts and collars for men in quarter sizes—also shaped shirts that come somewhere near fitting a man's torso. In addition there are suits in six feet four or more and could never before get his trousers or coat sleeves long enough.

A girl's shop in another store has launched a drive to fit the over-fat adolescent girl. Many a debutante has gone through this trying period of over-fatness when Mother and she have been worn out trying to get a dress that is wide enough but not too long. Short-waisted women throughout the country, too, seem to be recognized for the first time and several firms are specializing in dresses and coats that are from one to four inches shorter from the waist to the arm-hole. Last, but not least, a furniture manufacturing company now has "beds to accommodate the six-foot-three gentleman."

Even old Carnegie Hall is making plans to make the most of the end of prohibition. A buffet supper lounge is being installed behind the second tier boxes where folk can gather during intermission—after the manner of similar halls in Europe.

Some Light on Day. At a literary tea the other day conversation centered around "God and My Father," one of the two books that Alexander Woolcott recommended out of a whole year's crop. No one present knew the author, Clarence Day, except Henry Seidel Canby, editor of The New York Review. The reason for this it seems, is that Day has been an invalid for years, a victim of arthritis, meets no newcomers, sees only his old friends. Until recently his arms were so affected that he couldn't use them, though now he can. He spends most of his time in a wheel chair. But with all his suffering, he never loses that quiet, sustained humor that lends distinction to his writing.

Mrs. Raakob's Necklace. Other women may boast of their crown jewels, but Mrs. John Raakob has a necklace that she prizes above all other jewels in the world. It is made of platinum links and has 12 moonstone medallions, intaglio carved, each with a child's face. Beth Benton Sutherland carved them, employing a fine art known to only a few experts in the world. Each of the moonstone faces is a miniature of one of Mrs. Raakob's twelve children.

This and that: Several of New York's department stores have colorful flower wagons, presided over by girls dressed in gay European peasant costumes, which have tiny bouquets of fresh flowers. One department store sold 20 loads of these in one single day. Le Matson Lafitte, favorite speak-easy restaurant of theatrical and literary people, has the picture of a pirate over its price list. It is the famous First LaFitte for whom the restaurant is named and has no connection with the prices under it, the proprietor assures his customers. Navigation of the Flint River in Michigan was attempted as early as 1839.

HEALTH--DIET ADVICE

BY DR. FRANK McCLOY
 Questions in regard to Health and Diet will be answered by Dr. McCloy who can be addressed in care of this paper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, for reply.

YOU MAY HAVE THIS DISEASE, AND NOT KNOW IT.
 We do not know if earliest man had bad breath, but we do know that he had tuberculosis of the bones for the scare of this disease are found in some of the prehistoric skeletons. Tuberculosis of the bones is still present among human beings but is not as common as that form of the disease which attacks the lungs. Tuberculosis of the lungs is our foremost chronic lung disorder and is a germ disease which at one time ranked first as the cause of death. The death rate is dropping, due to the fact that with the correct treatment, many cases are cured. The average case lasts between 2 to 5 years and the disease is most frequently found between the ages of 15 and 25. Young women who are too thin are most likely to develop it. Insurance companies point out that the disorder occurs more often in those who are underweight before the age of 30 and there is little doubt that normal weight up to the age of 30 helps protect one from it.

It is unquestionably true that almost every adult person living in a large city has already had tuberculosis of the lungs, but in such a mild form that the body has healed itself without the patient ever knowing he had it. One who has had a gentle attack and recovered develops a special substance in the blood which helps protect against further attacks. Of the millions who have had light attacks, only a few whose resistance is low ever actually succumb to tuberculosis of the lungs and the healthy body is well able to overcome the germ. After the germ enters the system it is first carried to a lymphatic gland or node. Here the bacillus is inspected about the same as criminals are looked over in the police "line-up." The healthy lymphatic gland is able to handle the germ, but there is some evidence that the invader may stay in the lymph node for a long time, causing no trouble, but waiting for a chance when the resistance is lowered, to get past the lymphatic gland and the patient gets well, which is what happens in most cases. When the body is weakened and the germ wins out, they break down the lung tissue and the symptoms of the disease become noticeable. If the right treatment is used, the body still has an excellent chance to recover, as it has an undoubted power to greatly increase its fighting forces, given the right conditions. Because tuberculosis responds to treatment it has been called the most curable disease.

Those habits of living which pull down the resisting power and pave the way for the development of tuberculosis are: wrong diet; wrong habits which produce weakening such as over-work, late hours, too little sleep, waste of nerve force through worry or strain; intestinal poisoning and lack of sun directly on the skin. The last partly explains why people in cities who are shut indoors, suffer more from tuberculosis than those in the country, other contributing causes are lack of fresh air, narrow chest, lack of exercise, strain of early pregnancies and poor digestion. A tubercular patient usually does not get the good from his food and if his digestion is improved this will be of the greatest aid in recovering from the disease. Tomorrow's article: Use Common Sense in Treatment of Tuberculosis.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 (Foods for Nerves)
 Question: Mrs. Harold H. asks: "Is it true that there are certain foods reputedly beneficial in the treatment of nervous diseases? What are they?"
 Answer: Possibly you are thinking of Vitamin B1, the absence of which causes Polyneuritis; other than this there is no special food which has any specific effect upon the nerves outside of all those foods which contain organic minerals, such as the non-starchy vegetables. Nervous people are in such a condition because of a toxic irritation of their nerves, or from destructive thinking.

(Hay Fever)
 Question: C. C. asks: "Will you please state the underlying causes of hay fever?"
 Answer: Hay fever is primarily caused by a condition of acidosis in the body, which comes entirely from using wrong food, or food in bad combinations. You may have a complete article on this trouble by forwarding a large, self-addressed stamped envelope with your request.

(Potatoes With Meals)
 Question: Mrs. Naomi E. asks: "Is it all right to serve potatoes with every meal like so many people do?"
 Answer: Potatoes are the least starchy of all the so-called starchy vegetables, and may be used with a protein meal with less harm than that caused by the indiscriminate use of the other starches. Still, an ideal protein meal would exclude potatoes. The best way to use potatoes is to bake or boil them with the skins on and use them as the principal part of a meal, combining with them some of the cooked and raw greens.

(Whole Wheat)
 Question: Mrs. Naomi W. asks: "Can you recommend hard, red wheat when cooked until edible after having been soaked for twenty-four hours? What vitamins or food elements does it contain?"
 Answer: The use of whole wheat is an excellent means of furnishing the cereal part of a meal. It contains vitamin B in abundance which is needed for healthy digestion and nerves. The whole wheat may be prepared by soaking it over night and boiling it in the morning until it bursts open. Hard wheat contains about 14 per cent protein, 1 1-2 per cent fat, 88 per cent carbohydrates and 2 per cent mineral matter.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
 The 1933 Iowa potato crop will be less than half that of the 1932 season, the state horticultural society reports.
 Riot guns using either long or short range ammunition have been added to the equipment of Missouri state highway patrolmen.
 Both blossoms and nearly mature fruit are borne by an apple tree in the garden of J. W. Dankroger of Sacramento.
 Slabs and markers erected on graves of Kentucky pioneers at Harrodsburg are still decipherable.
 In 1932 unemployed Jews in Palestine totaled 1363 as compared with 9568 in 1931.

being reached and will be relatively static.
 NRA will cause no second or third jump, whereas agricultural program will take as many jumps as necessary to restore farmers to price parity.
 Chief effects of major steps in AAA program will be felt in future and realistic authorities think outlook is rather good.

More Congresswomen
 Voters elected only five women to the House last year—Messdames Florence Kahn of California, Edith Rogers of Massachusetts, Mary Norton of New Jersey, Virginia E. Jenckes of Indiana, and Kathryn O'Loughlin McCarthy of Kansas.
 But there may be seven or even more in the next session. We're sure, after special election, of Mrs. Isabel Greenway of Arizona. And Mrs. B. Bryant, member of the Vermont State Board of Education, expects to win the old seat of Congressman Ernest Gibson.

"Interested Reader"
 President Roosevelt, to hear him tell it, often gets some of the most important Washington news from the newspapers.
 "I just know what I read," he frequently says, as he did at first, when questioned about NRA Administrators Johnson's latest plan with Henry Ford.

 The president's acceptance of the annual New Year resolution of his physician's hearty endorsement. Hoover and Coolidge are times used to wear their arms in slings after those long sessions of handshaking.

Manufacturers operating under NRA will be protected from unfair competition of foreign goods, and the recommendation of Secretaries Hull, Woodin, and Bopp for strengthening and partial reorganization of the tariff commission has behind it a strong desire to get the country back into foreign trade.
 And that involves an intention to remove trade barriers, where possible.

NO ERROR FOUND IN PALLOTTI CASE

Supreme Court of State Upholds Ruling of Lower Court—Other Decisions.

Hartford, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The Supreme Court of Errors today gave five opinions in which error was found in one appeal argued before it. The opinions were: Lester E. Shippee, bank examiner, vs. Pallotti, Andretta and Company (Hartford), no error, opinion by Justice Hinman. Junius C. Rochester vs. Nora Stanton Barney, (Greenwich) error and new trial ordered, opinion by Justice Avery. Frances E. Burns vs. Thomas M. Reardon (Hartford), no error, opinion by the court. Pasquale Decicco, administrator, (Estate of Pietro Perugini), Waterbury vs. the Connecticut Company, error, opinion by the court. Grace Fisher vs. Florence W. Sargent (New Haven) no error, opinion by Chief Justice Malbie.

The Shippee-Pallotti action was decided on the reversibility of the private banking firm. A claim was made for priority in payment of drafts sent with bills of lading attached to the bank for collection. These latter were delivered before payment. Judge O'Sullivan ordered the claim paid but disallowed claim preference over deposits and general claims. The claimant appealed.

The Shore lines near Mead's Point in Greenwich were in dispute in the action of Rochester vs. Barney which was for an injunction and judgment declaratory of riparian rights of the parties. This was tried before Judge McEvoy with a plaintiff's judgment. The parties have adjoining estates. The plaintiff sought to restrain Barney from interfering with his riparian rights in building a sod dyke. The opinion, after dealing with shore lines, held it was in the province of the trial court to determine the line which will best answer requirements and the case was sent back for retrial.

The Burns-Reardon action was one to recover damages for personal injuries tried before Judge Borden in Hartford Common Pleas Court with defendant's judgment. The plaintiff was hurt when her car ran into the defendant's horse which was in the highway. She claimed a verdict despite the adverse result, under a doctrine in law. The opinion said the evidence was that the defendant used reasonable care and custody of the horse.

The Decicco-Connecticut Company's case which the latter won was to recover $10,000 in damages. Perugini was struck by a trolley car while waiting to board it. The case was heard before Judge Ingalls and jury at Waterbury. The plaintiff claimed the court did not fully charge as to exercise of reasonable care by the car operator. The opinion held the law does not require a street car operator to exercise a higher standard of care than that which is reasonable to avoid injury to one in the claimed situation of the plaintiff's decedent.

The Fisher-Sargent action was an appeal from a compensation commissioner's finding at New Haven denying the claim. Judge O'Sullivan confirmed the commissioner. The opinion said the sole issue was whether the case was within the compensation law, which it was not. Less than five persons were employed.

Among the arms, munitions, etc., which Germany has either handed over to the Allies or destroyed are 14,000 airplanes, 315 submarines, 83 torpedo boats, 6,000,000 rifles and small arms, and 107,000 machine guns.

New Haven, Conn.—Medical men eagerly discuss the possibilities of a specific cure for tuberculosis offered by experiments in which Dr. Stephen J. Maher changed germs responsible for the disease into a harmless bacteria.

Boston.—Director Snyder of the New England milk shed under the agricultural adjustment administration, says the recently inaugurated milk code will undoubtedly prove its value in time.

Boston.—Police say they have uncovered an organized "racket" for using children 10 and 12 years of age in swindling automobile insurance companies through fake accident claims.

Everett, Mass.—District Attorney Bishop of Middlesex county considers asking Canadian authorities to aid in locating Miss Nathalie Cross, 23, charged with illegal voting in the recent mayoralty election.

ADULTS SHOULD GUARD EYESIGHT AGAINST STRAIN

State Protects Children from Blindness, But Older People Must Take Own Responsibility.

After describing the methods now used for the prevention of blindness and eye troubles among Connecticut school children, the State Department of Health in its weekly bulletin today concluded that, while the community at large is now doing fine work in protecting child eyesight, people of all ages should guard their eyes well throughout life, paying attention to such conditions as light of the right candle power and proper position for reading, freedom from glare, sufficient rest and avoidance of undue strain from close work or fine print.

Thus, even though the invaluable sense of sight may come through birth and childhood unimpaired due to the protection of modern science, it is not free from injury in adult life. Here the community's responsibility has ceased, however, and protecting the sight is entirely a matter for the individual.

During the past twenty-five years, blindness in infants due to gonorrhea or other infection at birth has been cut seventy-three per cent by the use of a prophylactic solution of silver nitrate dropped into the eyes of new-born babies. The enforcement of this preventive measure has become obligatory in several states. Connecticut provides special prepared ampules containing the drops for use of physicians and midwives.

Infant eye ailments due to syphilis infection have also been greatly decreased. If syphilis is detected early enough in the expectant mother and controlled by proper treatment there will be little danger of eye trouble in the child due to this disease. There transmission of this disease has occurred, early treatment of the child is necessary to avoid blindness.

One of the most progressive steps made in the promotion of good eyesight in children is the introduction of the vision test into pre-school examinations. This leads to early discovery of optical defects and their reference to the family physician for correction. Yearly vision tests for all school children are required in Connecticut. Much has also been done in the schools to aid eyesight by the installation of proper lighting systems.

The bulletin strongly advises parents to have corrected at an early age any optical defects which occur in their children and not to be misled by the opinion that they will outgrow them. Among the defects which should be treated early are crossed eyes, since treatment while young will not only strengthen vision, but will save the child from the anguish caused by this degrading handicap. The older the child the more difficult it is to treat this condition successfully.

Divorces in England and Wales average one in every 100 marriages; in the United States, one marriage in every 10 ends in the divorce court.

THE BARGAIN HOUND

Mrs. Lettney's mink coat has a taste all its own. It's 35 cents for the first pint and with the return of the jar, 30 cents a pint thereafter. Dial 4481 before the holiday.

Lelong's sports dresses, fashioned of angora wool, feature intricate designs of contrasting polka-dotted foulard and bows such as a navy blue and white dot on a grey-blue angora jersey.

We're due to have skating and skiing in a few weeks. It's looking smart in a new ski suit. The suits I saw at Hale's this morning just naturally call for compliments and are the warmest and most practical outfits ever. They are made of duroy and built wool sizes 7 to 20 and are water repellent. Prices: $8.95 to $10.95.

Here's a new idea in dessert cakes—chocolate upside down cakes. Clever little individual ones topped with apricots and a large one topped with bananas. Dried apricots soaked until tender will be O. K. and two bananas sliced will be needed for the chocolate-banana-upside-down. Cup cake tins or custard cups may be used for the small cakes. Serve both with whipped cream. They are good enough for your bridge desserts and economical enough for frequent use.

To go with those ski suits or with a sports coat, Hale's has some wool boucle gloves and mittens at 59 cents to $1.00.

Accorded sun-ray platings are making a timid reappearance and it is probable that this feature will be widely used in spring clothes.

Watkins are now, having their Thanksgiving Sale and the display in their north window will suggest to you something for which to feel thankful. Here is an opportunity to get a new two piece living room set that is in a neutral shade and most attractive in appearance as well as price.

Augustabernard's evening dresses still stress the very feminine notes with the use of luxurious satins in unusual shades of grey, green or black. The princess line dominates here with cascading bustle effects at the back and trainy all her evening models have trainy.

Sometimes it isn't the turkey, but how you bake it that makes or breaks your Thanksgiving dinner. Tomorrow at 2 p. m. Mrs. Rowe, the Home Economist of the Manchester Electric Company is giving a cooking demonstration in the Odd Fellows Block, East Center street. Why don't you attend and get some helpful hints on the preparation of your holiday dinner? Menu on Page 3, last night's paper.

CALL OFF WEDDING IN TIGERS' CAGE

No Couple Willing to Go Through Ceremony at Circus Here.

Tomorrow will be circus day in Manchester and tomorrow night the American Legion Circus opens at the Armory with all its circus atmosphere. The Wallace Brothers Circus has this season one of the finest shows on the road and it will bring to Manchester a number of well known, high class circus performers.

The circus has had to turn away business wherever it has played this season and a large crowd is expected by the Legion on the opening night.

Owing to the fact that Wallace Brothers circus is carrying tigers the proposed wedding in the cage is omitted, it being so hard to get a couple to get married in the cage with the jungle animals. The merchants of Manchester are giving away half rate tickets and many people are taking this opportunity of getting tickets and saving money. There are about 15 stores giving these tickets away.

CONCERT TO SERVE DUAL PURPOSE

Will Aid Hospital and Also Give Music Lovers. Unusual Treat.

It is expected that the coming concert on Monday, November 27 which is being given jointly by the Beethoven and the G. C. G. clubs in aid of the Manchester Memorial Hospital will attract a large patronage because of the purpose behind it as much as for the musical treat which is certain to be offered.

It is well known that this past year has been a difficult one for the hospital and it has been hard pressed during this trying time to keep up its acknowledged high standard of service because of shortage of funds. The hospital in its work has an ever open door for suffering humanity and no deserving case will ever be refused admittance.

Its record for service to those unable to pay is an admirable one, and the work of its medical staff in this respect is most commendable. The joint clubs feel that in assisting this excellent project they are also being benefited in the satisfaction which is obtained by helping some who through adverse circumstances which may be beyond their control, are in need of a helping hand. Those sponsoring this concert feel assured that a worthy response will be accorded the offering.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Snow Hill, Md.—When neighboring farmers and volunteer firemen could not put out the fire in the farm house of Walter Shockley, the milkmen did the job.

Shockley's electric pump broke down. The Snow Hill fire company ran out of chemicals. But a fleet of milk trucks was passing. The drivers drove to Snow Hill, filled their milk cans with water and rushed back to the farm to put out the flames.

Seattle—Roy Cromwell found his radiator cap missing and he started a hunt for the culprit. Two little boys, each eight years old, dropped a paper bag and ran as he accosted them.

In the bag were 20 radiator caps, including Crowwell's.

Pittsburgh—Members of the Ontonagon Society of western Pennsylvania detect a new desertion from the gold standard. In annual convention they report that stainless steel is replacing silver as a substitute for gold in the dental profession.

Erie, Pa.—It may have been a joke to the voter, but it's a pain in the ballot box to C. S. Pringle, elected justice of the peace of North Girard by one vote written in "for fun."

Mansfield, O.—When his eyes failed two years ago John Geringer, 19, had his mother read to him, learned to operate a typewriter, and kept up his school work, so he'll be graduated in January from High school.

But he doesn't intend to learn Braille.

"Why should I learn to read with my hands?" he says. "That is only for the blind. I can't see now, but the doctors tell me I'll see sometime. Two years is a long period of twilight, but I don't sit around and worry about it."

Cleveland, O.—A rabbit nibbled the cabbage in the backyard of Doris Keeky, 40 an unemployed Bridgeport man, and Weekly trapped it.

That was a game law violation and he was fined $25, later being ordered to serve 31 days in jail in lieu of the fine. Then Conservation Commissioner William Reinhart stepped in, remarked that the man was hungry and evidently needed the food, and ordered the fine suspended.

Byron, Calif.—A Thanksgiving turkey jumped out of R. J. McDonald's automobile and ran through a cement culvert pipe. McDonald started through the pipe after the fowl, got about as far as his hips and then couldn't go forward or backward.

He told a truck driver who pulled him out he had been stuck there for hours—14 he said.

Cleveland, O.—"The lowly skunk" has at last befriended man. M. S. Hollis, owner of a chicken ranch, was troubled with rats devouring his small chickens. All efforts to rid the ranch of rats were fruitless until a family of skunks moved in beneath the chicken house.

Now the rats do not live there anymore.

Camden, N. J.—A thief who entered the cellar of Herbert Richardson, 61 of Camden's Chance Court, apparently had his mind on the social and sporting prospects of the coming winter. He stole a dress suit and a sled!

Hartford, Nov. 15.—(AP)—On his way to work in an industrial plant here this morning, a workman discovered a broken rail on the west-bound main track of the New Haven railroad. His prompt action in notifying the police and the railroad company resulted in the flagging of West-bound traffic until a new rail was installed. The break was described by the railroad as being due to a transverse fissure in the steel.

DR. C. F. WILLIAMS DEAD
Hartford, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Dr. George C. F. Williams, 76, long prominent in the official and social life of Connecticut and an authority on New England history, died early this morning at his Prospect avenue home.

Until ill health necessitated his recent retirement, he was chairman of the Connecticut Tercentenary commission and only this week asked the governor to relieve him of his duties as president of the Department of Public Welfare.

BRINGS FINE REPORT ABOUT 'ORANGE' HOME

George Murdock of Walker street has returned from two weeks spent in Philadelphia, Pa., and Camden, N. J., where he visited relatives and friends. While in Philadelphia he had occasion to visit the Orange Home there where he found conditions ideal. He brought back a copy of a poem about the home written by one of those living there.

Thinking it would be of interest to members of the fraternity here he has asked The Herald to publish it. It follows:

The Orange Home
A beautiful spot in nature's bright realm, and grooming with tender care,
The rays that light a brotherly hand
seem glowing everywhere;
Mid the peaceful scenes of this quiet rest,
are those now old and grey,
Who breathe the charms of enchanting bliss,
that drive the shadows away.

With fleeting time in this social abode,
comes many a moment of cheer,
A kindly tone and cheering smile of many friends that are dear.
They bring sweet light that cheers the way,
in that Waiting Home so fair,
And the golden rays their love displays, leaves a rich message there.

The early dawn of those days that are gone;
wing endearing scenes to you,
Darkest clouds are fading fast,
and the sun is shining through,
It brightly beams the care worn paths,
that years have wasted and torn,
And gladdens the heart that welcomes you,
there in the Orange Home.

A beacon light for the weary one when the ways seem dark and cold,
It may be it will shelter you,
when you too are growing old,
You may find a safe and sure hide in that bonded World so true,
That bread upon the Waters cast,
will again return to you.
—Charles Edwin Moore.

CAPT. HAWKS TALKS BEFORE RADIO CLUB

Members of Local Organization Thrilled at Meeting Famous Flyer.

It was a red letter evening for the members of the Manchester Radio Club last night. No less a personage than Captain Frank Hawks, noted transcontinental speed aviator, paid a surprise visit to the club at its meeting at the East Hartford home of Jack Lenox, deputy commissioner of aviation for this state.

Captain Hawks spoke to the members for two hours and one-half on aviation and radio, the members listening with close attention from start to finish. He told of the value of radio in flying and related his experiences in spectacular airplane dashes across the continent.

Captain Hawks is an amateur radio operator himself, his station call being W2GKL. He has been interested in radio since 1921 and has been devoting time to it on and off ever since. He has a complete transmitter and receiver in his newest airplane and is planning to do much experimental work with radio in airplanes.

John L. Reinhart was also present at the meeting, having just returned from conventions of the Amateur Radio Relay League at Birmingham and Memphis. He gave an interesting report of the activities of the league at these conventions.

Mr. Reinhart also told a human-interest story of a young fellow crippled since a boy. Mr. Reinhart has written an article on how to make radio tuners back in 1921 and the boy had read it in a magazine,

AUTO VICTIM DIES

Norwich, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Joseph Kelly, 44, of New Bedford, Mass., described by police as a transient, died today in W. W. Backus hospital of automobile injuries.

He suffered a fractured skull when struck last night by an automobile driven by Charles M. Sauer of Middletown. Earlier in the day, the New Bedford man had been arraigned in police court on a charge of intoxication and ordered to leave Norwich.

Sauer told police Kelly staggered from the sidewalk into the street. Joseph Ryan of Pawtucket, R.

A PRESSING ENGAGEMENT

Bridgeport, Nov. 15.—(AP)—An apple-passing engagement and a judge's knowledge of rural regions combined today to save Thomas W. Crane of Danbury from jury duty in the Superior Court.

Crane was called to sit as a juror before Judge Frederick M. Peasley. He asked to be excused as this was his season as an apple passer. Judge Peasley declared that he should be excused as this was the only time in the year that an apple-passer was busy and had an opportunity to make some money. Judge Peasley lives on a rather large farm in Cheshire.

TOO MANY INACTIVE IN CHURCH AFFAIRS

Rev. John M. Phillips Deplores Number Out of Touch With Religion.

Seventy-five members and guests of the Men's Friendship Club of South Methodist Episcopal Church, assembled in the church parlors last evening, and listened to a timely and inspiring address by the Rev. John Milton Phillips, D. D., of the Center Church, Hartford.

The bowling league as reported by Archie Haugh, chairman, revealed a group of twenty-five men actively engaged in the operation of the league which bowls each Tuesday evening at the Y.M.C.A. A nominating committee was appointed to bring in a slate of new officers for the coming year.

Dr. Phillips took as his subject—"The Man and His Church," and in characteristic humorous and forceful manner, presented a strong case for the place of the church and religion in the life of the manhood of the day.

He said that three great problems were pressing heavily upon the church for some sort of guidance and solution: the international unrest, the rising tide of nationalism, and the economic system which is based upon selfishness and greed.

His closing words were in regard to whether Christianity were really a religion for men. He said the world was largely run by man-power; women have taken a large share of the world's work, but in a true sense it is still a man's world.

Men are equipped and endowed with capacities to do certain things in the realm of business and construction and government, as women are in the finer arts of home building and family rearing. Men are the adventurers by instinct and nature. Religion of Christ is an adventurous thing. It calls for daring, courage, heroism.

New London, Nov. 15.—(AP)—An injury received in a fall, November 8, proved fatal yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Eugene Comrie of Noank. She passed away at 4:30 o'clock and death was pronounced caused by a fractured skull. She was 56 years old and was the widow of Frank Comrie.

A life insurance policy based on the life of a male resident of the state of Delaware is regarded as the largest in the world; he is insured for $5,000,000.

Student Hopes To Earn Cash Writing Song Hits

Sheet music is an important item in these days of merchandising stagnation, especially when we realize that the average price of a sheet of popular music is thirty cents, whereas ten years ago a dime was the standard cost. Thirty cents for a piece of paper. Yet the "hits" are bought as rapidly as they appear—depression and radio notwithstanding.

The song material required for talking pictures has offered a new incentive to aspiring song-writers. A multiple-sales craze has resulted from countrywide theater performances, combined with a demand for the printed songs, is increasing royalties for the writer.

Publishers want hit-songs, regardless of how or where they are obtained. Reputation of a writer means little—it's all in the song. Many future musical "hits" will be created by people at present unknown. Naturally, there is but one way to write songs; that is to sit down and actually make an attempt at composing. What if the first few are thrown into the basket. Before you finally complete one to your satisfaction remember that "practice makes perfect."

Some writers report that the inspiration for their best music came while they were engaged in writing on an entirely different subject—probably in searching their brains for a word or phrase—and that continued and concentrated effort brought about success.

I, myself, have written many songs, as well as song-poems, from which I expect to make money. I am convinced that such composing would be worth considering, among people who have talent, and whose other interests would not interfere with their spending time on music-writing.

NAMES FAVORITE FLOWER FOR HITLER

Edelweiss, Found High in Alps, Stands for Purity and Novelty Says Student.

High in the Alps, in the spring-time, a white woolly leaved flower, known as edelweiss, pushes its way through the snow. It grows on crags and precipices and it is said that men have risked their lives to pick it. The edelweiss stands for purity and nobility. Herr Hitler let it be known that his favorite flower was the edelweiss. On Hitler's last birthday, when he was 44 years old, the National Socialist party proclaimed his birthday as Edelweiss Day. All over Germany, the people wore edelweiss in honor of Hitler and people sold artificial bouquets of edelweiss on the streets. The money made by selling these bouquets, in accordance with Hitler's wishes, went to help out a fresh air fund for the children. Hitler did not want any great celebrations but he said that he would be happy if no German went hungry on his birthday. Accordingly, hotels and restaurants were thrown open, housewives gave "handouts" and anyone who went to the Nazi barracks was fed. No one, not even the great Kaiser, was ever honored by such a national celebration of his birthday before.

WEAVER IS OUTCLASSED IN MEET WITH M. H. S.

Victory Speaks Well for Training and Ability of Local Runners Against Hartford Team.

As an encouraging prelude to the state track meet next Friday, Manchester's cross country team defeated Weaver High of Hartford, in a surprise victory by 20-35. The team was running exceptionally well on Friday with Packard coming in an easy first.

The victory certainly speaks well for the training and ability of the M. H. S. Team. The manner in which various Manchester men finished made the team's chances next Friday seem promising.

Packard finished first for Manchester with a time of 13:27. He had the race clinched from the start. The best man was Donahue bringing himself up to second place from last week's twelfth, which was due to an illness. Leary, who finished third, had been running with Bing and Byron of Weaver, but, when he arrived at the state meet, he surprised the Weaver men, who could not hope to equal it. Likewise Carpenter, who has not been winning so much this year, but is potentially a strong man, exerted all his ability and sprinted in, to finish ahead of Kennedy, of Weaver. Peckham, of Manchester, came next, finishing in the eighth place, running in the steady manner which had carried through the race and has earned a meritorious record for him in cross country and track.

Both teams finished as follows: Packard, Donahue, Leary, (Manchester), Byron, Bing, (Weaver), Carpenter, (M.), Kennedy, (W.), Peckham, (M.), Levers, Show, (W.).

Coch Wigen was elated over the victory which brightened Manchester's outlook for the state meet.

TRACK SQUAD IN STATE TOURNAMENT

Coch Wigen's track squad will journey to New Haven, Friday, to participate in the State Tournament at the Yale Bowl. All members of the team are in excellent form and it is expected they will place high in the coming meet. On Bill Murch will rest the strongest hope for victory. Very likely he will come home with his usual quota of first places. The team will include: Murch, Packard, Donahue, Leary, Carpenter, Coburn, Peckham, Manager Tureak, and Assistant Manager Donahue.

SUBMARINE TRIP FULL OF THRILLS

Janice Hefferman Was In Conning Tower When Craft Took Dive.

Last summer I had the opportunity to submerge in a submarine when the student officers went out for a practice dive on the New London Submarine Base on board the U. S. S. R-11.

After proceeding down the river, we continued out into the sound to a position about opposite Black Point, where we submerged to a depth of 90 feet. The angle at which we descended was so slight that it was barely perceptible. We ran under water for quite some time and then came to the surface. After cruising around for a few minutes, we made a second dive.

My uncle and I, accompanied by a sailor, went up into the conning tower, which is the small compartment that projects above the submarine. There are small glass portholes in the side, through which we could see the water, which was a very pretty shade of green. As we submerged deeper, it became very dark because we were so far under the surface of the water.

When a submarine is running along the surface and comes so close to another boat that it cannot avoid a collision, an officer rings a gong and gives the order for a "crash dive"—that is, a dive under the boat. Often, in that case, the conning tower is knocked completely off, so they close the hatch to prevent the water from flooding the submarine.

When we submerged the second time, I was in the conning tower when they called for a crash dive. The hatch was shut, but I did not mind as I knew it was only practice. Nevertheless, it was a very thrilling experience.

CLASS HOLDS CAUCUS

Having been studying election systems, Miss Oberempts' civics class was turned into a caucus on November 10 to elect a chairman and secretary. Speeches were made by different pupils giving facts about persons nominated. Fred McCarty was elected chairman, and Charles Bassler was elected secretary. Each officer elected made a speech thanking the class for putting him into office, and asking for the cooperation of the class in doing his work.

STUDY HALL HELPS

Miss Casey's room had a discussion about how to make the best of our study periods. The following things were suggested: (1) Do not bother anyone else; (2) Take plenty of work with you; (3) Know what subjects you are going to study; (4) Decide how long a time you will take for a lesson; (5) Concentrate—if you cannot concentrate on reading, try writing notes.

He will, however, be at his office on other Wednesday evenings in the marking period if appointments are made with him.

PRIZE CAKE TASTED GOOD

The high school cooking class, at the Hollister street school last Wednesday, enjoyed one of Dorothy Wagner's cakes made from the recipe of her prize-winning cake.

Dorothy has for two years, taken prizes with her plain layer cakes. She submitted her cakes through the 4-H Club, of which she is a member. In 1932 her cake took first prize at the Grassy Park. This year her cake took second place.

At the end of the period, the cake was divided among the members of the cooking class. The class all agree that Dorothy surely can make a winning cake.

NOISES WAVES

Oh, the whispering and the whizzing and the whistling of the wind, As it swoops upon the leaves, unaware; And the bustling and the bustling and the rustling of the leaves, As it teases them about into the air. Oh, the snapping and the crackling of the brittle, bare, tree boughs in the rasping and the gasping of the flurry; And the scolding and the chattering of the squirrels high above While they scamper to and fro without a worry.

We have these noises 'round us every day, and they are so many. We know the reason— The blustering trumpet of the racing wind.

Heralds winter's season.

SQUIRRELS AMUSE PUPILS

They say a straight line is the shortest distance between two points and evidently one of the squirrels which inhabit the trees of the Cheney grounds beside the school thought so, too. Miss Walsh's third period French class was astonished to see a small squirrel perform a feat which merited one of the rings of the three-ring circus.

Mr. Squirrel wanted to get to the school grounds, and that right away. Looking about for a path by which it would not be necessary to go around the high fence he caught sight of an electric wire strung across the tennis courts.

No sooner seen than done! Mr. Squirrel attempted the practically impossible and succeeded. A finer tight rope artist probably doesn't exist.

—E. Montie, '34.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

A squirrel's skeleton was found by my father in an old tree which had just been cut down. Being unlike an ordinary skeleton, it caught his interest right away. An upper tooth had evidently been broken off. Finding no tooth to keep it well rounded, he looked for a path by which he could get it up, and he did, until it punctured the squirrel's brain, killing it.

LOCKS TEACHER IN CLASS ROOM

Students Release Mr. Perry Kept a Prisoner Unintentionally.

Should school teachers be put under lock and key? Some pupils have thought so from time to time, but the senior geometry class, reciting in Franklin Building third period, found such a situation an accomplished fact last Friday.

Miss Oberempts was just locking the door of her room to go to Franklin Building assembly, Friday morning, when Mr. Perry asked if he might look out of that window. After admitting Mr. Perry, Miss Oberempts closed the door and absent-mindedly turned the key in the lock.

The geometry class coming from the Main Building was greeted by a vigorous banging from behind the door of Room 13. After identifying the prisoner, members of the class obtained a key and released Mr. Perry.

ASSIGNMENTS IN ADVANCE

Some of the teachers of Manchester High school are giving assignments a month in advance in certain subjects. This gives the student who is absent a day or so a chance to look back and find out what work he has missed. Then again, if a pupil has extra time and is ambitious, he may do some extra credit work which, if satisfactory, will help bring his mark up. Again he may do his written assignments ahead of time. Then it is all ready when that day comes.

—Melvin Derrick, '37.

S. A. A. DUES LOWER

At our Armistice Day assembly on Friday, Mr. Illing announced that full membership in the S. A. A. would be $1.50, instead of $1.75.

The reason for this change was because of the response which the pupils have made in joining Manchester High's new cause. Out of about 1,500 pupils, over a thousand are members. Full belonging to the S. A. A. is seen all home athletic contests free besides having many other privileges.

SOCK AND BUSKIN PLAYS SUCCESSFUL

Full Program of Events Mapped Out for Coming Week.

With the very recent and highly successful presentations of November 10, behind them, Sock and Buskin begins work on an A. A. Milne program.

This project which will be presented to grammar school pupils at the Nathan Hale school, Wednesday afternoon, November 22, consists of "Missing," "Busy," "John," "Sneezles," "Vespers" and two selections set to music which are "Three Foxes" and "Hail Way Down."

The girls to present the project are Ethel Mohr, Alma Andriulot, Jean Woodruff, Barbara Stoltenfeld, Agnes Donahue, and perhaps, Eleanor Stiles and Marcella Kelly. This casting is subject to revision.

Friday evening, November 17, will stand out in the club annals for this year. On that evening representatives of the club will go to two different places. One group will go to the dress rehearsal of the new play, to be presented by the "Trinity Jesters," while another will view the finished performance of the Meriden Dramatic Club entitled "There Was a Princess." On Thursday evening, November 16, the club will attend a book festival which is to be presented by the Bloomfield Dramatic Club.

The cast of "The Mad Breakfast" expects to go to the Auditor to present the play, November 24. Mr. Gatchell arranged this engagement.

He pleaded for application of the tariff principle to protect the home market for agriculture.

FENCE DISPUTE UP TO COUNSEL

Selectmen Ask If They Have Authority to Order One Constructed.

Construction of a fence on the dividing line of adjoining properties owned by William J. Ferguson, at 401 Center street, and by Mrs. Tillie Hauschul, at 391 Center street, which the Board of Selectmen ordered last night, will be held up until Town Counsel William S. Hyde renders an opinion as to whether or not the Selectmen are empowered to go ahead with the work in the event that Ferguson and Mrs. Hauschul fail to reach an agreement on the matter.

The town was brought into the controversy between the property owners when the latter could not agree on the fence separating the properties. Ferguson is said to have removed a green hedge and grapevine, which were on the dividing line, and sometime ago is reported to have told town officials he would shoot anyone who ventured to put up a fence. Later he modified this threat with the statement he would tear down a fence if one was erected, town officials said.

It was estimated that the cost of a fence as required by law, of woven wire, would be $150. Mrs. Hauschul wanted an iron fence costing $127.50, the sum of $60 to be paid by Ferguson and the remaining $67.50 being borne by herself.

Mr. Ferguson does not want to share the expense of any fence, however, and to determine whether the Selectmen are empowered to order the erection of the fence, when the property owners cannot agree, is the reason why an opinion from Judge Hyde was sought.

In view of this fact, it is doubtful if work on the fence will be started until, after the opinion is rendered. The matter comes under Sections 6051 and 6054 of the General Statutes.

In the previous instance, the trend was reversed after the domestic gold policy had been temporarily eased off. The dollar strengthened and bond prices made up some of their losses.

The solitude, with which officials are watching the bond market was revealed after Sunday's White House conference of presidential financial advisors.

The gold program was reviewed and a decision reached that it was to be continued, but with a caution from President Roosevelt that care must be taken to protect the market value of the government's securities.

The menu for tomorrow's demonstration will include cranberry cocktail, cream of onion soup, roast turkey, salt pork dressing, giblet gravy, mashed potatoes, squash croquettes, Thanksgiving pudding, Neapolitan hard sauce.

DOES SIGNAL HONOR TO TRADE SCHOOL

Textile Foundation Lists It as Only Such School Equal to Testing Problems.

The Manchester State Trade School has been recognized by the Textile Foundation of Washington as one of twenty-five places in the United States that have educational laboratories capable of handling textile testing problems, according to a directory recently issued by the Foundation. This is a signal honor as the local school is the only trade school in the country to receive this recognition.

In listing the local school, the following comment is made: "Commercial testing is conducted on a fee basis. Equipped to make all sorts of tests on silk, wool and cotton. A complete manufacturing machinery set-up is connected with the testing laboratory."

Special Institutions

The other twenty-four educational laboratories are at polytechnical and technological institutes, state colleges, textile schools and state universities. The following are listed from New England: Bradford

Durfee Textile School at Fall River; Lowell Textile Institute at Lowell, Massachusetts; Institute of Technology at Cambridge, Middlebury College at Middlebury, Tufts College at Medford.

This recognition by the Foundation is accepted as an indication of the general excellence of the local textile department. Already manufacturers are beginning to recognize the value of the extensive equipment of the school and requests are being received at the school to solve textile testing problems of all kinds.

The directory was compiled by the Textile Foundation to meet the needs of manufacturers and consumers alike. It lists separately commercial laboratories and laboratories in educational institutions. The information presented has been supplied almost entirely by officials of the laboratories concerned. Efforts were made to make this list complete and authentic by announcements in technical journals as well as through consultation with more than a score of men who are considered by the trade as authorities in matters pertaining to textile testing.

18 On Honor Roll

A total of eighteen students is listed on the Honor Roll of the Trade School for September and October. It was announced today by Director J. G. Echmalian. The electrical department has the largest number, eight.

The honor pupils are as follows: Drafting Department: Marshall Finlay, Walter Kayen, Albert Krause, Austin Krause, Alexander Misaliko; Carpentry Department, Albert Boothroyd, Robert Farwell, Woodrow Saccoccio; Electrical Department, John Adams, George Baulerwitz, Roger Belmont, Everett Brewer, Alphonse Kirka, Fred Lugo, Joseph Schelen, Adolph Storm; Machine Department, Allen Schaefer; Textile Department, Walter Staklinski.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE IS GRANTED WOODIN

(Continued from Page One) "I have tried faithfully to carry out your suggestions but it has been a failure, as evidenced by the relapse which I have just suffered. Therefore, I feel that I must tender my resignation and seek complete rest and a change of climate. My physician has told me that unless I do this, he will not be responsible for the outcome. I can not express the intense regret I feel in writing you this letter. I have been so happy in serving you, and if I only could continue I would be the most grateful of all people. You will know that every policy of yours has had and still has my best and most loyal support, and I have never doubted that you are the one man that can lead this country out of its difficulties. "Faithfully yours, "WILLIAM H. WOODIN." President's Reply. The reply, dated November 3, follows: "Dear Will: "It does not need to tell you that I am deeply grieved at the thought of your continuing, but, at the same time, as I have told you, I would not for anything in the world injure your health by any insistence on my part that you carry on the impossible task of running the Treasury Department and simultaneously giving full obedience to the doctor's orders. "The first consideration is your complete recuperation and this can only be accomplished by giving up all work for the next few months. "If you will do this, it is not only my hope but also my sincere belief that in a few months you will be able once more to give to the government the fine unselfish service which all of us in Washington so greatly appreciate. We need you back again, and the country needs you back again. "For this reason, I am going to ask you to withhold your resignation, to take a complete leave of absence and to do all you can to get full health and strength, without any responsibility or thought of work. "I hope that you will do this for me because of my own personal affectionate regard for you and because of the very great services which you have given to our country during a critical period of our history. While you are away I can well appoint some one with government and financial experience to be acting secretary. "Very sincerely yours, "Signed, "FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT." Woodin told Treasury newspapermen that he would leave for Arizona within a week or ten days, where he hoped to effect a permanent cure for his ailing throat. "My personal affairs here will be wound up in a few days," he said, "after which I will go to New York to wind up my affairs there. Then I shall go to Arizona where the climate is particularly suitable to my condition." He appeared in jubilant spirits. "No official explanation of Undersecretary Acheson's resignation was given. However, it appeared that he had to make room for Morgenthau. Mr. Roosevelt wanted to make the latter chief of the Treasury in Woodin's absence. He could not appoint him secretary without completely displacing Woodin. Similarly he could not name him to a post below that of Acheson. The impression given in official quarters was that Acheson learning of the situation, withdrew to make room for Morgenthau. In connection with today's Treasury changes, observers were inclined to place some importance upon the White House visit last night of Bernard M. Baruch, friend of the President. It was recalled that there was extensive talk last year of his being offered a post in the Cabinet. The discussion between him and the President lasted more than two hours. There was no comment afterward by either.

MINISTERS OPPOSE SUNDAY FILM PLAN

Generally Against Granting 2 Hour Earlier Opening for Theaters.

Clergymen of Manchester, queried by the Evening Herald today on the subject of advancing the opening hour at the State Theater on Sundays to 5 p. m., instead of 7 p. m., which has been the case in the past, seemed to be in general agreement that the proposed change should not be made. Elsewhere in this issue an outline of the local theater situation as given to the Board of Selectmen by Manager George C. Hoover of the State Theater, may be found. A 2 o'clock opening hour proposal, it will be remembered, was voted down several years ago. The Board of Selectmen did not take final action on the matter last night, but announced that a public hearing to give the citizens an opportunity to voice their opinions. Clergymen's Views. An outline of what the clergymen said is as follows: Rev. Frederick C. Allen, pastor of the Second Congregational church: "I don't feel that I am qualified to express a view on this question. But I do know that certain types of pictures shown here are not worthy of being shown to any public. While I am against enacting Sunday, a day reserved for religious worship, I also feel that if pictures of a uplifting type were shown it would be a good thing. I understand it is difficult to do this, however, because of the block booking system of motion picture producers. Through this system a local theater must take all or none of the pictures offered over a period of months. Elimination of this system would mean local theater managers could book any picture they liked, or thought their public would like." Rev. William P. Reidy, pastor of the Center Congregational church: "I am entirely out of sympathy with the motion picture industry because of the type of pictures they produce. The general run of pictures are opposed to what the churches are trying to do. Some of the pictures are of great value and give much pleasure, but the majority are 'awful.' I am not in favor of advancing the opening hour Sundays at the local theater to 5 o'clock. Blames Producers. "My attitude is not governed by the fact that Sunday is a holy day. To the contrary, I believe people should have wholesome recreation on Sundays and feel that recreation should be made part of the Sunday program. It could be made into a day of rest and a holy day. But I do not think the picture industry shows any of an awful type. I am out of sympathy with motion picture producers. They could make themselves prosperous by changing the type of their pictures. They are trying to bring the crisis in the motion picture industry down upon themselves." Would Close Theaters. Rev. K. E. Erickson, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran church: "My feeling is that the Sabbath Day should be a time given over to things pertaining to our relationship to God. It would be a great blessing, in my opinion, if the theaters were closed entirely on Sunday." Rev. William P. Reidy, pastor of St. James's Roman Catholic church, said he did not care to enter into the matter of the picture industry. Father Reidy spoke in favor of the picture industry, but he was not in agreement with the matter among themselves and was opposed to clergymen entering into the subject in the press. Rev. L. Harris, pastor of the South Methodist church: "I think that the sporting and amusement interests have already been given a generous share of the Sabbath. I was going to say, the Lord's day, but it doesn't seem that the name of Christ Himself, 'for man,' for man's good, mental, physical, spiritual, I would confine these features to the afternoon hours wherein the churches do not have their established services. This would seem a reasonable compromise upon the part of all. Certain hours should be vigilantly safeguarded as belonging to the sacred ministrations of the church. "If a commercial enterprise cannot exist without sacrificing spiritual values, then it has no right to operate in a community. It is simply selling its birthright by making concessions which are a denial of its religious ideals. "No Worse Than Now "As to the immediate problem of further extension of hours for the movies on Sunday, why in simply be no worse than the present arrangement, but I am wondering if it is not the beginning of an attempt to extend the time even beyond that which is mentioned. If the movies are good and clean as many of them

GIVES IRISH PROGRAM IN SONGS AND STORIES

Rev. Robert Bell Entertains Large Audience at St. Mary's Last Evening.

St. Mary's parish house was filled to capacity last night for the travel talk, illustrated by stereoscopic and motion pictures, by Rev. Robert Bell of the Church of the Epiphany, New Haven. Previous to the lecture Mrs. Bert Judd sang "Sweet Rose of Portland," "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," and John Chambers sang "The Old Bog Road." The singers were accompanied by Miss Dorothy Russell. The entertainment was under the auspices of the Men's Bible Class of the church. Rev. J. Stuart Neill introduced the speaker in a witty speech, admitting that he could not figure out whether Rev. Bell was an Irishman or a Scotchman, or whether he had crossed the old land 27 times or 57. The lecturer explained in the same witty vein that he was born in Glasgow and brought up in Derry, and that Mr. Neill must be referring to Heinz's 57 Varieties. The marvelous scenery on the rugged West coast resembled that of Norway. At the close of his instructive and interesting lecture Mr. Bell was given a hearty round of applause. Students in India comprise 3.5 per cent of the population. There are 227,189 schools there. Clear Up Those ITCHY PIMPLES! Princeton Heads Toward Unbeaten, Untied Season

WIFE INFLUENCES SOPWITH TO RACE AMERICAN YACHTS

She Will Be Member of Crew as Official Time Keeper; Challenger to Sail Own Boat in Classic.

London, Nov. 15.—(AP)—A man whose chief hobby is sailing has entered the lists to accomplish what others have failed to do in 82 years—bring back "The America's cup" from the United States.

He is T. O. M. Sopwith, a newcomer to this classic of sporting history but no newcomer to the ranks of amateur yachtsmen.

Mr. Sopwith, who has been sailing since he was a small boy in Scotland, is best known as a pioneer flier and aircraft constructor and it was as a flier, in the days when planes were fragile craft of linen, wood and wire, that he toured America in 1911.

It is his challenge is accepted, Mr. Sopwith, a tall, clean-cut man of 45 whose hair is whitening around the temples, will be there to sail his own boat.

But it will be more of a family affair than that for Mrs. Sopwith, who admits on the side that perhaps she has been the greatest influence in getting her husband to challenge for the cup, will be a member of the crew as official time keeper.

There "won't be any root for non-workers in the crew," she said. "Everyone will have more than enough to do."

Of the "Endeavor," Mr. Sopwith will say nothing for the present—though plans on a drawing board in his home indicate the racer is daily finished on paper and to be built at Gosport, probably for launching in April.

Looking Ahead Pursuing the trend of wrestling events as they are conducted nowadays, it may not be many years, according to our prognostication department, before we are reading some such chronicle as this:

"Savoldi was wearing a spiked helmet, spiked shoes and a spiked belt and collar when he entered the ring for his match with Gentleman Jack Washburn. Washburn wore a jerkin of tempered steel and among the equipment in his corner, besides the usual halberd, were an axe and a brace of chisels.

"They pushed for an other's breaths adding the hoarse cries of the bull ape. The first 15 minutes of the bout were spent in the exercise of various gizzards, throttling and garrotting holds. Savoldi managed to twist Washburn into a picture wire, and Washburn wore a jerkin of tempered steel and among the equipment in his corner, besides the usual halberd, were an axe and a brace of chisels.

"Washburn leaped into the offense, whacking the former. Note the fullback about the head and ears with the axe. Savoldi laughed. "There were 'oh's' and 'ah's' from the effete ringside section when Washburn followed up this lead with a flurry of three-legged punches which he dug into Savoldi's ribs.

Headache Awaits Rose Bowl Pickers; Six Teams Still In Line For Honor

By GALE TALBOT (Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—If the Far West thinks its own football affairs are in a tangle this season, just wait until the Rose Bowl committee begins casting around for an eleven to represent the balance of the country in the New Year's Day extravaganza at Los Angeles.

With only a few more week ends to go, at least a half-dozen teams in the mid-west, south and east shape up as Rose Bowl timber, but there's a "catch" somewhere to almost every one of them.

Princeton and Army apparently stand head and shoulders over all contenders from the Atlantic seaboard, yet there's only the faintest likelihood either would accept an invitation to the coast. It would be against the established policy of both schools in the first place, and, in the second, either or both would be mighty well pleased to complete their regular schedules without defeat and call it a season.

For many, anxious to get the call, loomed as "natural" until the St. Mary's Gael came along and blunted the Ram's horns. Now they are out.

Duke and Georgia, both undefeated in the south, are in line for serious consideration, but again there are elements to be considered. Georgia already has a game booked with the University of Southern California on Dec. 2 at Los Angeles.

Even should the Bulldogs win America in 1911, that one and incur the pleasure of the Rose Bowl officials, they would be in an awkward spot. They either would have to make the long trip back to Georgia, then return or wait around on the coast for nearly a month, away from their class rooms.

Duke, providing it doesn't slip up between now and the finish, looks like a logical choice and undoubtedly would jump at the chance. The only dubious point there is whether the Rose Bowl officials would care for the Blue Devils' schedule.

Coach Wallace Wade's lads have stuck to their home section, beating such teams as Tennessee, Kentucky and Auburn. Undoubtedly it is a fine team that Duke has this year, but an inter-sectional tilt or two would have helped.

That leaves the powerful Michigan and Nebraska eleven, providing always that they survive the heavy firing of the next fortnight. Either winner gets a good account of itself, and Nebraska, at least, is said to be in a very receptive mood.

Spectator in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day might see a lot of one of these young men. LeVan, a sophomore, has been a sensation in Princeton's backfield. Cox is fullback of Duke's unbeaten team.

GARDEN PLANS TO HAVE CARNERA DEFEND TITLE

Would Hold Bout in Miami Against Sharkey, McCorkindale, or Levinsky in February; Seek Max Baer as Primo's Foe Next June.

By EDWARD J. NEIL New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Along with reports of industrial progress under the NRA comes boxing's infallible contribution to the signs of better times—Madison Square Garden has about decided to promote another winter heavyweight fight in Miami, Fla.

"We would like to go to Miami this winter," said Colonel John Reed Kilpatrick in guarded tones today. "We are definitely seeking a match."

But Jimmie Johnston, the man in the iron-hat, who runs boxing for the garden, is anything but reticent.

"We're receiving fine reports from Florida," he said, getting all worked up and breathless over the prospect. "Business is much better. Believe me there's a lot more people getting dough together right now than there was a year ago, and I wish I could get my hands on some."

The garden's plan, grammatically speaking is to have Primo Carnera defend his heavyweight title late in the year in a fight against either Jack Sharkey, Doc McCorkindale or King Levinsky in the Miami bowl built for Sharkey's $200,000 effort against Phil Scott in 1930. The year before that, carrying out plans first made by Tex Rickard, the Garden staged a $400,000 show at Miami Beach, featuring Sharkey against Young Bull Stripling.

Stanley Grochmal, Windham's high quarterback who scored one of the three touchdowns against Manchester High last Saturday, was struck by an automobile in Williamsburg Saturday night, when he was on his way to his home. He was taken to the hospital with lacerations of the scalp.

British Debate Waxes Hot Over New-Old Turf Rulers

London, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Con-sand fatiguing to ride after a long journey, and he also was unable to participate in the same number of meetings as early as Richards.

On the other hand, others point out, Archer probably did not have to meet the same competition which faced Richards.

Archer, most admit, undoubtedly was a genius in that he had to fight against great physical drawbacks. He was 5 feet, 10 inches in height and had to sacrifice health, leisure and pleasure to keep down his weight. When a season started he "walked" at 154 pounds, but was always ready for the opening race to ride at 122 pounds.

Archer was only 13 years old when he won his first race. During his career he won the Derby five times, the St. Leger six, the 2,000 Guineas five and the Oaks four times.

He was at one time worth about a million dollars, but lost heavily in speculation and died worth about $300,000.

Archer, therefore, they say, probably found it much more trying than the modern turf ruler.

Throughout the latter part of the racing season one question has been uppermost: "Will Gordon Richards beat Fred Archer's long standing record of 246 victories?"

Now, with that question settled and Richards the new ruler, the controversy over the merits of the two, hitherto kept more or less in the background, dominates the British equivalent of "the hot stove league."

Some claim for Archer that he lived at a time when travel facilities were not so great as today. He possessed no fast sports car, such as Richards has, to dash from one race meeting to another. Neither could he use an airplane to attend races in Ostend or Paris and be back at British race meetings the next day.

Faces Three More Teams, Navy, Rutgers and Yale

ORGANIZE BOWLING TEAM AT Y. M. C. A.

To Consist of Six Players; Bon Ami Still Leads Y League Pin Topplers.

A Y. M. C. A. bowling team, consisting of six players, has been organized to compete against leading teams throughout the state.

The local team will consist of Bert Gibson, Harold Norton, Fred Harvey, Steve Miller, Edward Segar and David Hamilton. The players will wear white shirts with "Manchester Y. M. C. A." lettered in red across the front.

The latest standing in the Y bowling league was announced today, showing the Bon Ami still in front with fourteen games won and six lost. Brunner's Market is second with a straight game, beating others, Columbia, Brown and Dartmouth, have scored 151 points against none for the opposition, and in the process have played just about as impressively as any team in the east with the possible exception of Army.

Fritz Crisler has developed a magnificent line and a fleet array of backs, mostly sophomores, who can go places with that ball. No rival, in the east at least, has played more alertly just as no rival can boast the wealth of material that Crisler has on hand in his second season as Old Nassau.

It was way back in 1922 and the days of Jack Cleaves, "Mand" Crum, Jack Gorman and Howard Gray, that Princeton last finished with a perfect record. The Tigers of that year pushed for a year in Hopkins, Virginia, Colgate and Maryland in succession and they went west to nose out Chicago in that famous 21-18 duel. Back to back again, Princeton eased with a 1929-30 campaign, pushing to beat Harvard 10-3 and Yale 3-0. There were good Princeton teams after that until the "depression" set in starting with 1930, but those could "finish" undefeated. Those dreary campaigns, however, were when the Tigers won only four games against 16 defeats and two ties, are too recent to need any comment. Crisler's first season failed to produce a major victory last year, but the Tigers, the Yale, Cornell and Navy and were beaten only by Columbia and Michigan.

There's nothing quite so untrustworthy as comparative scores but the Princeton-Columbia-Navy round robin seems to indicate Princeton's superiority over Navy. Princeton rolled Columbia, 20-0, and Columbia beat Navy 14-7, making the Tigers about four touchdowns superior to the Middlemarchers, on that basis. Crisler, however, prefers to wait until Saturday's game before marking the Tars down as another victim of Princeton's power.

Except for the Oregon State-Fordham and Pitt-Nebraska games, the eastern program this week is entirely devoted to sectional battles, many of them rich in traditions. One of the greatest "raffies" of them all will be renewed at Hanover in the clash of Dartmouth and Cornell. These foes have battled in many a sensational duel, the most spectacular of which was the 24-22 victory Cornell won in 1926. Free-scoring has come to be the rule when these two meet. They've averaged 25 points a game in 12 clashes since 1900.

PROS HIT WINTER GOLF TRAIL TO SEEK $55,000

Fourteen Tourneys Slated This Year; Prize Money Doubled Over Last Year; Bobby Jones to Stage Comeback Next March.

By AET KRENZ With two winter tournaments already behind them the National Capital Open at Bethesda, Md., and the mid-south open at Pinehurst, the nation's top golfers are ready to hit the winter golf trail in "full cry."

Including the two just played, there are fourteen tournaments scheduled this year. These contests will pay off about $55,000, or $25,000 more than last year—which indicates that the NRA influence has been felt in golfing circles.

The choicest plum of the campaign will be the Miami-Biltmore event, to be held at Coral Gables, Fla., Dec. 8-10, carrying $10,000 in prize money, the 27000 Argus California Open, Feb. 1-4; the Los Angeles $5000 Open, Jan. 6-8, and the Augusta, Ga., Open, March 22-25, for which no prize has been announced.

Features of this year's trek of the pros will be Bobby Jones' comeback in the invitational open he is staging on his own golf course at Augusta, and trial of a proposed P. G. A. code which would bar traveling caddies, locker room squaws and "profanity" on the course without hearing of spectators.

Jones' comeback will be watched with interest. It will be his first tournament competition since his voluntary retirement in 1930, and in the tournament he will meet the best of the world's pros, many of whom have reached stardom, since Jones' retirement.

Other wonders whose effect the new code will have on the game. There doesn't seem to be much ground for objecting to traveling caddies other than they keep local bag-tenders out of a job in tournaments. As for locker squaws and the invitational open he is staging on his own golf course at Augusta, and trial of a proposed P. G. A. code which would bar traveling caddies, locker room squaws and "profanity" on the course without hearing of spectators.

Old hands are expecting to earn quite a slice of dough in this year's circuit, though they were somewhat surprised by the antics of a couple of youngsters in the 1932 round.

EXPLOSION PASS' IS USED BY S. M. U.
By AET KRENZ NEA Service Sports Writer
Ray Morrison of Southern Methodist University has become famous over the country for his passing attack. The play diagramed is one of his favorite scoring passes.
This pass has a tendency to draw the secondary defense into one group at the center of the field about 12 yards from the line of scrimmage. Then as the pass is drawn into one bunch, the ends and No. 1 back will explode in different directions, and on a good many occasions one will be open.
The two ends, Nos. 5 and 3, come down the field and to the center at a point about 10 yards down the field with the No. 1 back coming through the line and straight down the field at the same point.
The two ends, Nos. 5 and 3, come down the field and to the center at a point about 12 yards down the field with the No. 1 back coming through the line and straight down the field at the same point.
The ball comes to the No. 3 back, who backs straight to make the pass. The No. 5 and No. 3 backs and both guards drop back to block for the pass. Just as the two ends and the No. 1 back reach the line, the No. 5 and No. 3 backs and the No. 1 back are going straight in the company of the secondary defense.

SIGNALS NEW CONTRACT
Chicago, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Tommy Armour has been signed to a new three-year contract as golf professional at the Midland Country Club, Chicago.
The "Silver Shoe" came to the club last year and was given a long contract in recognition of his popularity after one of the club's most successful seasons, officials said.
BOSS STILL FAVORED Chicago, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Barney Ross' friends don't like the way he's showing up in his season, but he is still as a 3-1 favorite to retain his junior "waterford" title against Sammy Fuller of Boston in a 10-round battle at the Carcano Stadium Friday night.
Ross' season is off to an impressive start, didn't look as impressive as Fuller did in yesterday's main title and set all drills from six to four rounds daily.

DRIVE AGAINST LOTTERY IS NEARING THE END New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—A whirlwind of activity marked the climax of a Federal government campaign against alleged lotteries conducted by fraternal orders.

These things happened: Conrad H. Mann, president of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, arrived in New York to surrender to Federal authorities and, unless there is a last-minute intervention by President Roosevelt, to serve a 30-month sentence on the conviction for participation in an alleged lottery by the Order of Eagles.

An indictment pending against United States Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, in connection with an alleged lottery by the Moose, was nolle prossed. Davis was acquitted on a similar charge October 12.

Bernard C. McGuire, convicted with Mann in the Eagles case, survived in a last-minute intervention by the Pennsylvania State Police, where there is a Federal penitentiary. His sentence is a year and a day.

An indictment against the Western Union Telegraph Company, involving charges that it was a factor in an alleged lottery conducted for the Shriners, was nolle prossed. Lewis Mead Treadwell, youthful chief of the criminal division of the United States attorney's office, who was in charge of the prosecution of the cases, said that today's developments cleared the courts of all cases involving the lottery campaign.

NEW YORK SHIVERS New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—A record that stood for 50 years was shattered today when the temperature here dropped to 23 degrees above zero.

The figure was two degrees below the mark for 1883, heretofore the coldest Nov. 15th on record. The normal average temperature for the date is 44 degrees.

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY On a stormy November evening DAVID BANNISTER meets a pretty blond girl and offers her a lift in the cab in which he is riding. Her handbag opens and he sees a revolver inside.

Next morning Bannister reads that TRACY KING, orchestra leader in a movie theater, has been found dead in his apartment. Police are searching for an "unknown blond" who visited King the night before.

Bannister had been sitting with his chair tipped back. He brought the two front legs of the chair to the floor now, straightened and said quietly, "You want more reporters, do you? Well, I'll take the job."

Bannister nodded. "I'd like to take a thing at it," he said. "But what were we talking about last night—about the thrills and excitement we used to have? Well, I'm bored. I've been bored for months. Haven't a thing to do with myself or my time. Here's a cracking good murder break and I'd like to get in on it. Maybe it's because I'm back in Tremont."

"Why, Lord love you, Dave! You don't mean you want to be a reporter on the Post again, do you?" "Why not?" Bannister was talking eagerly now. "I'd like to find out who killed Tracy King—and why. Oh, I don't suppose I'll be much help to you! Probably I'm stale; been out of harness too long. But I can do leg work. I'd like to be on the inside of a murder story once more and see the whole thing around. I used to have a pretty good standing with McNeal and I'll bet I still know half the force."

"Go to it!" Paxton told him curtly. "There was never a better police reporter in Tremont than you were, Dave. Maybe you'll get some ideas you can use in a novel."

"Yes, and maybe I'll get my neck broken." Suddenly Dave Bannister grinned. "This is going to be fun! Going to be—" He stopped. "There's one thing," he said, "I don't want to put in on any of your boys. I mean whoever is handling the story. Your man can write all the by-line stories. All I want to do is work with him. Whatever it is I'll turn over for him to write."

Ten minutes later Paxton and Bannister were in the city room. The same large, square city room, scarcely changed, where Bannister had worked years before. The city desk was set at a different angle. Bannister recognized some of the men gathered around it. Deans and cabinets covered most of the floor space. They had been rearranged, too, but the room had the same air of activity, of disorder and preoccupation that he remembered. From beyond came the muffled roaring and whining of grinding machines. Oh, it was all quite familiar.

But the faces of the men and women about the room were different. Paxton strode a few steps forward, then called, "Oh—Galney! Got a moment?"

Down came the outspread pages of a newspaper. Down came the tipped-back chair. A young man with a brown felt hat tipped back at a rakish angle upon a head of very red hair emerged from behind the newspaper. He crashed out his cigarette and got to his feet. "Yes, Mr. Paxton," said J. Randolph Galney. "Sure is there anything that I did not finish the sentence. A pile of eyes of unusual business searched Paxton's. J. Randolph Galney was slender and slightly below average height. His cheeks and the ridge of his nose were amply sprinkled with the freckles that so often accompany red hair and a fair skin. J. Randolph Galney was 22 years old but he had packed into those 22 years a list of activities that was amazing. Confidence and energy he never lacked. One subject, and only one, was the city room in which J. Randolph Galney was susceptible to the world's darts and that, at least in the office of the newspaper, was unguessed. No one of the Post knew that the "J" in the wirey little reporter's name stood for Jamaica. No one would ever know it if it were possible for J. Randolph Galney to prevent it.

"Galney," Jim Paxton was saying, "this is Mr. Bannister—David Bannister. Used to work here. Since then he's been to New York and written some novels and made a name for himself. Been to Mexico, too, and Hollywood and I don't know where else."

A cheerful grin overspread the reporter's face. "Sure," he said. "I saw the picture they made from 'Cheerful Lie.' Called it 'Slave of Desire,' didn't they? It was a good picture, too. I heard that you were in Tremont."

"Wait a minute," Paxton said. "I'd better get Austin." Austin was the assistant city editor, carrying on in place of his chief.

In another moment the four men stood together while Paxton explained Bannister's status as a sort of ex-member of the staff. Austin was holding understandingly and Galney looked pleased. Boss of this perplexity faded as Paxton repeated, "It's still your story, Galney. Bannister's not to write any of the copy. He's to work with you, take part at headquarters now, by the way?" "Cunningham," Austin informed him.

"I came in to write the lead," Galney explained. He glanced at the clock on the opposite wall—a quick, nervous glance. "Guess I'd better be getting back," he went on.

"Bannister will go with you," Paxton spoke briefly. "And see if you can't get something this time! Make Henley talk. He must have something he's holding back! Try to get the description of that girl they're looking for. How do they expect to find her if they don't let us know what she looks like? For God's sake, give us something new for the final!"

THE THUNDER MAN

"The Thunder Man struck out his chest and said, 'I always do my best to send down lots of rain, so pretty things on earth can grow.'"

"Of course, right now, the summer's gone and winter is about to dawn. The rain that we are spraying now may turn right into snow."

"Oh, it's too early," Dotty said. "The season now is fall, instead of winter." Course there may be frost, but hardly any snow.

"I'll be glad when winter's here. On days when it is dry and clear, we'll have a chance to hop a sled, and—then, away we'll go!"

Some other clouds came floating by and Scouty shortly said, "See, I wish it would clear up. I'm afraid we'll get caught in a storm."

"I'd like to see the sun come through. It feels good when it shines on you. Right now I'm kinda chilly and Old Sol would make me warm."

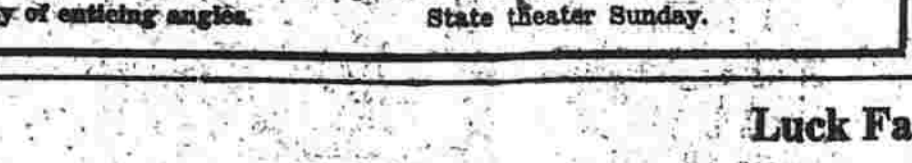

Just then they heard a whirling sound, and Duncy, as he looked around, exclaimed, "What's that coming? What a funny-looking man!"

SENSE and NONSENSE

The naked hills lay exposed to the breeze. The fields are nude, the groves un-clothed; Bare are the limbs of all the trees. No wonder the corn is shocked.

Recently a colored woman walked up to the railway ticket agent at Salisbury, North Carolina, and said: "I want two round trip tickets to Charlotte and I want one to be marked 'corpse'." The astonished ticket agent asked if she did not want just a one-way ticket marked "corpse." Her reply was: "No sah, I'm taking my dead husband down there so his folks can see he's dead and I'm going to bring him back yere and bury him, 'cause I don't want 'at bunch comin' down yere and eatin' offen me for three or four days."

A woman who openly wears the pants isn't a pretty sight. But usually she wouldn't be wearing them if she didn't have a man the pants were too much for.

Junior—Mr. Tringle, what baseball club do you belong to?
Mr. Tringle—I don't belong to any. Why do you ask?
Junior—Well, I heard sister tell Mother you were a good catch.

The federal government is very kind to offer to loan us money so that we may spend more to relieve unemployment but as we have spent our life striving to keep out of debt, we still believe it the better policy to live within our means in business as well as in private life.

She—She says she went abroad to finish her education. I wonder if she learned very much?
May—She told me she had six new ways of fixing her hair.

A girl who marries a regular fellow often finds he keeps irregular hours.

Country Clergyman (to the man who sat beside the road breaking stones)—Well, George, that pile doesn't seem to get any smaller.

Old Man—No, Parson. Them stones are like the Ten Commandments. You can go on breaking them, but you can't get rid of them.

If a girl can put on a new winter dress and look pretty in it, she has looks; but if she can put on a last year's dress and make you think it is this season's model, she has style.

Burglar—I want your money, not your life, madam.
Heiress—Oh, go away. You're just like the rest of the men.

Ever listen to two persons talk over the telephone? If one is trying to tell the other something the chances are ten to one the conversation will be repeated word for word at least three times.

Every neighborhood has a woman who packs a suit case for an 8-mile trip while her husband fumes.

Tight corsets used to worry mothers. The only tight thing that bothers daughter is her husband.

Geraldine—I can only be a sister to you Cleveland. I hope you won't take it too much to heart.
Cleveland—Oh, no, in fact, I have your sister-in-law all picked out.

Things have certainly come to a pretty pass in this country when three or four men in a barber shop can't tell offhand, who is the heavyweight champion of the world. Yet that happened right here the other day. Well—right quick, now—who is heavyweight champion.

Doctor—You are undernourished. You should eat more substantial food.

Patient—The spirit is willing, but the grocer's confidence is weak.

A good joke is better than a soft answer provided the humor is not at the expense of the wrathes.

Mr. Growler—What is the extra $5 on my bill for?
Dentist—For squeezing the arms of my chair out of shape.

ENDS and backs who have to go down for passes get quite a few hard knocks from opponents on pass defenses who, too often, try out to get the receiver rather than the ball. Of course, illegal interference is promptly penalized when seen by the official, but a penalty will in no way save the injuries. Receivers, therefore, should be taught how to "take it"—how to go up after a pass, get knocked down hard, and still be able to get up from the waist up and have the arms and the body soft and liquid. Wrists must be relaxed and the hands and arms should be set, although not tensed, in the ball when it reaches the passer. If knocked down, a relaxed body gets braced much less quickly than a tensed one. Sketch shows the way to catch a pass.
