TRUST COMPANY DIRECTORS SEEK DEPOSIT SURETY

Call Meeting of Stockholders To Endorse Petition For Government Insurance—95 P. C. Liquid.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Manchester Trust Company was called today by the directors of the bank. The meeting will be held at the office of the company on Tuesday, November 28, at 4 p. m. and is called to see if the stockholders will vote to ratify the action of the directors in applying to the Federal Deposit Guaranty Corporation for temporary insurance of deposits for the period from January 1 to July 1, 1934.

The directors of the bank have voted to apply for Government Deposit Insurance feeling that depositors who desire this benefit and protection as provided for by the Banking Act of 1933 passed by Congress last spring and believing it to be a patriotic duty to cooperate with the administration in its recovery program.

It will be evident to depositors who are familiar with the bank's condition that this action at the present time is little needed, except as a matter of policy. The bank on September 30, 1933, had on hand cash, U. S. Government r. d. other high grade securities immediately available totaling $478,000, in addition to its loans and discounts with which to pay deposits of $488,000, giving to the bank's statement a particularly liquid condition of approximately 90 per cent.

It should be understood that under the recent ruling by Deputy Attorney General Averill of the State of Connecticut, banks incorporated under Connecticut law may not participate in the permanent insurance plan effective July 1, 1934. It is felt, however, that before this date the situation in this regard may be modified and that the local bank should, through its proposed action, be in a position to give every protection possible to its depositors.

WEALTHIEST GIRL IS 21 YEARS OLD

Doris Duke Comes Into Her Fortune Of 53 Millions In New York Today.

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Doris Duke, who became today the wealthiest girl in the world, is spending her twenty-first birthday "just like any other day."

She isn't even having a party—this daughter of the late James B. Duke, who left her a $53,000,000 tobacco and water power fortune.

The fact that she is beautiful and her fortune probably will not be mentioned at the great stone house of Central Park where she was born.

This tableau typifies her birthday: Early in the afternoon a tall slender girl with gold-blond hair and blue eyes comes down the curved stair, through the lofty vestibule and tall iron-grilled doors, and goes quietly to lunch with her mother.

She is spending her birthday in New York because the stone house of her fortune probably will not be mentioned at the great stone house of Central Park where she was born.

ALL-STAR PICKERS FOR ALL-STAR TEAMS

The annual indoor sport of picking all-star teams is under way—and The Herald through NEA Service, Inc., and seven of the country's leading coaches, starts today on the Sports Page a series of all-star selections that carries authority and football acumen of these coaches.

The first selection, the All-East squad, is that of Jack Sutherland, noted Pitt coach.

PLEADS SILVER'S CAUSE; BANKERS ARE DENOUNCED

Chamber Members Hear U. S. Senator And Congressman Exploit Bi-Metalism And NRA.

A plea for a return to the bi-metallic standard by United States Senator Patrick A. McCarran of Nevada, and a bitter denunciation of bankers by United States Representative Herman P. Koppelman of Connecticut, were the outstanding features of speeches by the two Democratic members of Congress before a group of 125 members of the Chamber of Commerce, at its annual meeting at the Country Club last night.

"Coin of the Poor"
In making his plea for a return to first principles Senator McCarran asserted that "silver from time immemorial has been the coin of the poor, the coin of the masses, the poor man's refuge and hope. The re-establishment of the honest money standard (silver) he said, "is the teammate to recovery."

The mining of silver, he asserted, would return three million miners to work, taking care of their four million dependents. It will mean much to the producer, farmer and manufacturer. More than half the population of the world uses silver as money of ultimate redemption and yet we stand idle. Uncle Sam, the miner of silver, allows the countries of Europe to rob us of markets in the Orient.

Look To Markets
Silver, he said, will open the ports of the Orient and the surplus commodities our farmers will move across the Pacific into the markets there. We would have no surplus if we look to the markets that want our commodities, if we return to first principles.

Senator McCarran opened his eloquent attack on the bankers by asking in an hour and the time when political lines that divide us must be obliterated. America comes first in the minds of thinking Americans and 180 millions of people are looking to the government to lead them out of this depression. We lead the world today and the world is looking to us. We came to the rescue in the World War and this is the aftermath, the result of the other.

Death Knell of Depression
When, on March 4, President Roosevelt said we are at war with depression, it was the death knell of depression. The mental attitude of the people has improved ninety per cent. For we have an unconquerable people.

Senator McCarran then pointed out the benefits of the NRA, namely, the elimination of child labor, the shortening of hours of labor of the worker, the opportunity for increased employment. Four million of ten million idle are back to work and it is only a question of time when the others will return.

The period through which America has passed in the past four and one-half years has caused us to take inventory of ourselves, not only as persons, but as a nation. That which we centered upon has gone overnight. The depression has been a crucible from which we will come out cleaner and purer and a stronger and better people and nation. If other nations had gone through the same thing, their streets would run with blood. America has endured down to the dregs of poverty and hunger.

Faith in Leadership
In my travels through the country, he said, I have found faith everlasting in the leadership of our country, a leadership of action and purpose. The NRA can go only so far. When we raise prices to consumers and fall to place in his hands the wherewithal to buy we have an unbalanced situation and must use the one available weapon, the Thomas amendment, the Roosevelt bill, the Dr. Edward G. Dolan, chairman of the state recover, board and collector of internal revenue, in introducing the speaker, thanked the Chamber of Commerce for its splendid work in "bringing recovery back to the United States. Land Safely After 11-Mile Ascent Into Stratosphere

Safe and happy after their historic 11-mile ascent into the stratosphere, Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Fordney (right) and Major Charles L. Fordney are pictured beside the gondola of their balloon just after landing near Bridgeton, N. J. Feared lost after their take-off at Akron, O., the balloonists were hunted by the Navy, Coast Guard and more than 50 airplanes in one of the most extensive searches in history.

WOMAN DRIVES PLANE TO PLANNED SEA DEATH

Florida Junior Leaguer, Widowed By Auto Crash, Flies Out Over Ocean To Find Out "What It's About."

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Atlantic today apparently formed a grave for Mrs. Louise Turk Stanton, who yesterday borrowed a plane and flew seaward to meet death wherever the craft's fuel ran out. The 30-year-old Junior Leaguer had recently lost her husband in an automobile accident.

In notes left behind she asked that it not be called suicide—"I particularly dislike the word suicide"—and explained she just wanted to go "out into space and find out what it's all about, and if there is not anything—that is O. K. too."

Notes Found Too Late
It was hours after she flew eastward in the borrowed plane with about enough gasoline to last four hours and take her some 350 miles to sea, that airport authorities found the notes and began a search. It was too late then. Then, too, in her notes she had begged them not to undertake a dangerous search which she said "wouldn't do any good."

She was a graduate of National Cathedral School, Washington, D. C., and was considered an artist of exceptional ability. Last summer she and her husband spent several months abroad.

Mrs. Stanton, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Raymond C. Turk, had been interested in aviation for three years. She obtained the plane from Lauri Yunge, a local flier who had been teaching her. She took off at 10:20 a. m., and headed toward the beach. When she had not returned at 2:20 p. m., Yunge and other fliers, knowing Mrs. Stanton had fuel for only four hours, went to her parked car and found the letters, one being addressed to Yunge.

Three pilots made a search over the ocean, although they were convinced Mrs. Stanton's long start made futile any hunt for her or her plane if both had plunged into the water, the purpose she had indicated. She had arranged for replacement of the plane.

Mrs. Stanton held a special dispensation license for flying, being slightly crippled from the effect of infantile paralysis. She was a leader in the work of the local Junior League. She left notes for her own parents and those of her husband.

C. C. O. CAMP WRECKED

Anniston, Ala., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Nine members of the Civilian Conservation Corps were in hospitals here today with injuries suffered in a storm which struck their camp, six miles east of Oxford last night and virtually demolished it.

One of the youths, Cecil Ford, of Birmingham was in a critical condition. The others were expected to recover.

Captain William D. Britt, commanding officer of the camp said the wind struck with sudden and amazing force. It demolished the mess hall, garage and power plant, and damaged the barracks and the recreation hall.

The injured youths were in the mess hall at the time the storm struck.

Fordney Prepared to Jump On Stratosphere Journey

Bridgeton, N. J., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Back from a region where air is thin and cosmic rays are thick, Major Chester L. Fordney, Marine Corps mathematician, says he almost joined the "caterpillar club" near the close of his successful flight to the stratosphere with Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. (Tex) Settle.

"I had just looked out a hatch and seen a large body of water beneath when Commander Settle remarked perhaps I'd have to take the parachute and go overboard as bailout because we were falling rather fast," Fordney related.

"What about that water?" I queried. "Why we're over that already, that was Delaware Bay," he answered. "But I didn't have to jump after all."

Jubilant over the success of their flight, on which they reached an altitude of 59,000 feet, more than 11 miles, Commander Settle flew to Washington late yesterday, leaving his companion to supervise transportation of the balloon and its strings, metal gondola from the Jersey marshes to the Naval Air Station at Lakehurst. Thence it goes to a New York exhibit.

With its departure, South Jersey settled back in its workaday calm, so far from the perpetual sunshine of the stratosphere, after hours of hectic excitement during the search for the balloonists who, landing at 5:30 p. m., Monday, spent the night with their craft and made their way to a farmhouse and the outside world the next day.

WOODS FIRE RAGES IN 2-MILE FRONT

California Fire Warden Reports That Blaze Is Now Out Of Control.

Los Angeles, Nov. 22.—(AP)—County Fire Warden Spence Turner at 3:30 a. m. (P. S. T.) today informed his headquarters here a brush fire raging along a two-mile front in a foothills residential district was out of control, and asked for more fire fighters.

Turner called from his field headquarters at La Crescenta. He expressed fear for the safety of at least two palatial estates in the Alta Canada section.

Sanitarium Menaced
Preparations were made for the evacuation of the Hillcrest Sanitarium which is near the fire area. About 20 patients, most of them suffering from tuberculosis, are confined there.

One of the estates in the path of the flames was that of Joseph Dabney, multimillionaire oil operator.

Various reports said that several houses in the path of the flames had been destroyed, but these were denied by Turner who said the only casualty so far was a cabin in Pickens Canyon, where the blaze started.

A stiff northeast wind fanned the flames.

VICTIM OF MURDER NEWARK RACKETEER

14 PERSONS DIE WHEN LARGEST PLANE CRASHES

Russian Machine Designed To Carry 128 Passengers Falls—Few Details Of Accident.

Moscow, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A dispatch from Khar'kov said the newly constructed airplane K-7, said to be the largest airplane for overland flying in the world, crashed there yesterday killing 14 persons.

The dead were reported to include the chief pilot and mechanic and several Khar'kov aviation officials, but beyond these bare facts no details were given out.

A Soviet government commission was appointed immediately to investigate the cause of the crash and establish responsibility for it.

This is the second major aviation disaster in the Soviet Union in the past few months.

On Sept. 5 eight executives of the aviation industry were killed in a plane crash at Podosk. Among the dead were three of Russia's leading aviation figures.

Had Six Motors
The K-7 was a 16-motored monoplane without the orthodox fuselage. Instead all accommodations for luggage and fuel space as well as controls were in the wings. Only a slight framework of steel composed the structure on which the rudder was anchored. The airplane's capacity was designed to carry 128 persons including its crew. It was designed with sleeping accommodations for 64 persons, divided into 18 cabins containing four berths each. During day flights the cabins were convertible into eight seating compartments on the order of the modern European sleeping car.

These 18 cabins looked out onto two corridors running lengthwise through the wings which also housed a powerful radio plant.

The mammoth plane was built in seven months entirely with Russian materials and by Russian labor at the Khar'kov aviation plant.

It was commissioned only last week, on November 14, after undergoing a series of test flights which Joseph Stalin, head of the Communist Party, and other leading figures in the Soviet Union acclaimed as a new victory for the Soviet aviation industry.

They called the plane the pride of the Soviet air fleet.

The designer was Constantine A. Kalinin, one of the most prominent Soviet air technicians but no relative of the Soviet president, Michael Kalinin.

MORRIS OUTLINES MILK PRICE PLAN

Head Of State Board Says It Will Do Much To Solve The Problem.

Greenwich, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Charles G. Morris, chairman of the Connecticut State Board of Milk Control, today outlined the board's plan to remedy problems of the milk industry in the state.

Speaking before the League of Women Voters at the opening session of the convention here, Morris termed the plan "the best we can devise to carry out the purposes of the Legislature that created the board."

"Our plan is as nearly perfect as we can foresee after months of study," Morris continued, "but we expect to make changes in it as experience proves the need."

"We believe that it is fundamentally sound, and that it will do much to cure the disease that afflicted the milk industry last winter and early spring."

Under the plan, the board expects to guarantee the farmer the same amount per quart as is paid all other farmers for all milk of like quality that is delivered to the market.

Outlines Other Aids
Other aids for the farmer are: "That with his fellow farmer, he will share proportionately in all of the fluid milk market that there is in the state."

"That, for the greater part of his milk, he will know before each month begins exactly how much money he is to be paid."

"That he will receive his fair share of what the consumers pay for his milk, whether it is used as milk or as cream."

Produce Dealers
Relative to the producer-dealer, the plan embraces the following: "That as a producer he must cooperate with his fellow producers."

"That as a dealer, he may expand his operations freely and may profit from his sales in that capacity."

To the merchant-dealer the plan will mean: "That he must pay his farmers the same price for fluid and excess milk that all other dealers pay their farmers. The average price to producers will be raised rather than lowered without increasing the price to consumers."

"That he must fully account to the board of milk control for the use to which all of the milk is put."

"That he can be certain that every farmer will receive a fair

Body Of Young Woman Found On Operating Table—Had Been Shot.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A baffling murder mystery in which the victim, a 23-year-old woman, was found shot to death on an operating table of a physician's private office faced police for solution today.

The body of the victim, Mrs. Rheta Wynkoop, was discovered last night by her mother-in-law, Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynkoop, well-known physician, in her offices in the basement of her West Monroe street home.

Aside from the fact that Mrs. Wynkoop was almost entirely stripped of her clothes police said they found no evidence of a struggle and admitted that they were at a loss for clues.

In fact, the killer had evidently taken pains to handle the body as carefully as possible as it was covered with a blanket that had been tucked in at the ends and the head, face down, rested on two small pillows.

Nearby lay a revolver covered with a cloth, but police scoffed at the suggestion that Mrs. Wynkoop might have killed herself for she had been shot in the back just below the left shoulder. Three bullets had been fired from the weapon, but her life had been taken with a single shot.

MAN FOUND KILLED IN SOMERS

Identified As Albert Silverman, "Big Time" Gangster—Fingerprints Disclose Name—Reason For Being In This Vicinity Is A Mystery.

Hartford, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The man found murdered in the Hall Hill section of Somers Monday noon was identified from fingerprints to be Albert Silverman, 31, alias T. Lubin, known to New York and New Jersey police as a "big time" bootlegger and gangster of Newark and New York City, with police and Sing Sing records.

State police of Connecticut worked two days to identify the man, since his nude body, beaten, strangled, and stabbed, was found near the Springfield highway.

The identification was established by the police of New York City through fingerprints furnished by Captain Walter Stiles of the Connecticut State police.

Silverman, who lived at the Riviera Hotel, Newark, N. J., at the time of his death was the object of search by agents of the United States Department of Justice for questioning incidental to his bootlegging activities.

Silverman had no known criminal record in Connecticut, and the state police are finding difficulty in checking his movement in this state because of the absence of a state bureau of identification.

The murdered man, according to the police records, was 31 years old, and served two terms in the New York state prison at Sing Sing.

Though conviction put twice in New York courts, the records disclose that Silverman had seven times been arrested.

Crime Still Mystery
How his body happened to be found in Somers, Connecticut, where he actually was killed, the reasons leading up to his assassination, who were his associates just prior to the killing, are questions the police are now endeavoring to solve, and State Police Commissioner Adolph Pastore today in New York in a continuation of the investigation into the case.

When Pastore returns to New York, an effort will be made to link up Silverman with Connecticut associates. Those who have seen his picture entertain the belief that he has frequently been seen in and about Hartford.

MANIC ANGLE

Several residents of Somers reported to the State Police yesterday that a man whose queer actions created suspicions that he was insane and probably had escaped from some institution, had been seen in the vicinity of the murder spot around 9:30 o'clock Monday morning, about three hours before Tony Molinsky, a Somers newsboy, discovered the nude body in the ditch. Institutions were requested to report to the police immediately if any inmate had escaped during the past week.

KIWANIANS TO MEET AT SHERIDAN MONDAY

Members of the Manchester Kiwanis club will hold their luncheon meeting at the Hotel Sheridan next Monday noon instead of at the Country Club.

It is expected that a decision will be reached Monday on the question of holding the winter meetings at the Sheridan or continuing at the Country Club. In the past, meetings always have been held at the Sheridan during the winter and spring months and it is believed this precedent may be followed out again this year.

MAY DECIDE TO HOLD WEEKLY LUNCHEONS THERE DURING THE WINTER SEASON.

Delicious food is now being served at the Hotel Sheridan and the prices are extremely reasonable. The new manager, Joseph Loefler, formerly connected with the Highland Hotel in Springfield, famous for its cuisine, is exerting every effort to make the local hotel popular among local residents.

As a majority of Manchester's business men are in favor of giving every support to the Sheridan, so that the town can continue to boast of having a first-class hotel, there is reason to believe the Kiwanis Club will decide to hold the winter luncheon meetings at the hostelry.

Prominent Amateur Theatrical To Be Seen In "And Mary Did" At St. Mary's.

"And Mary Did," a three-act play sponsored by the Girl's Friendly Society, will be presented Friday evening, at eight o'clock in the parish house of St. Mary's Episcopal church. All the members of the cast have appeared in numerous plays given by local organizations, and their ability as amateur players is commendable. They have been requested to present the play in Rockville on December 13, for the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church.

DEPOT SQUARE SKUNK BROUGHT BACK ALIVE

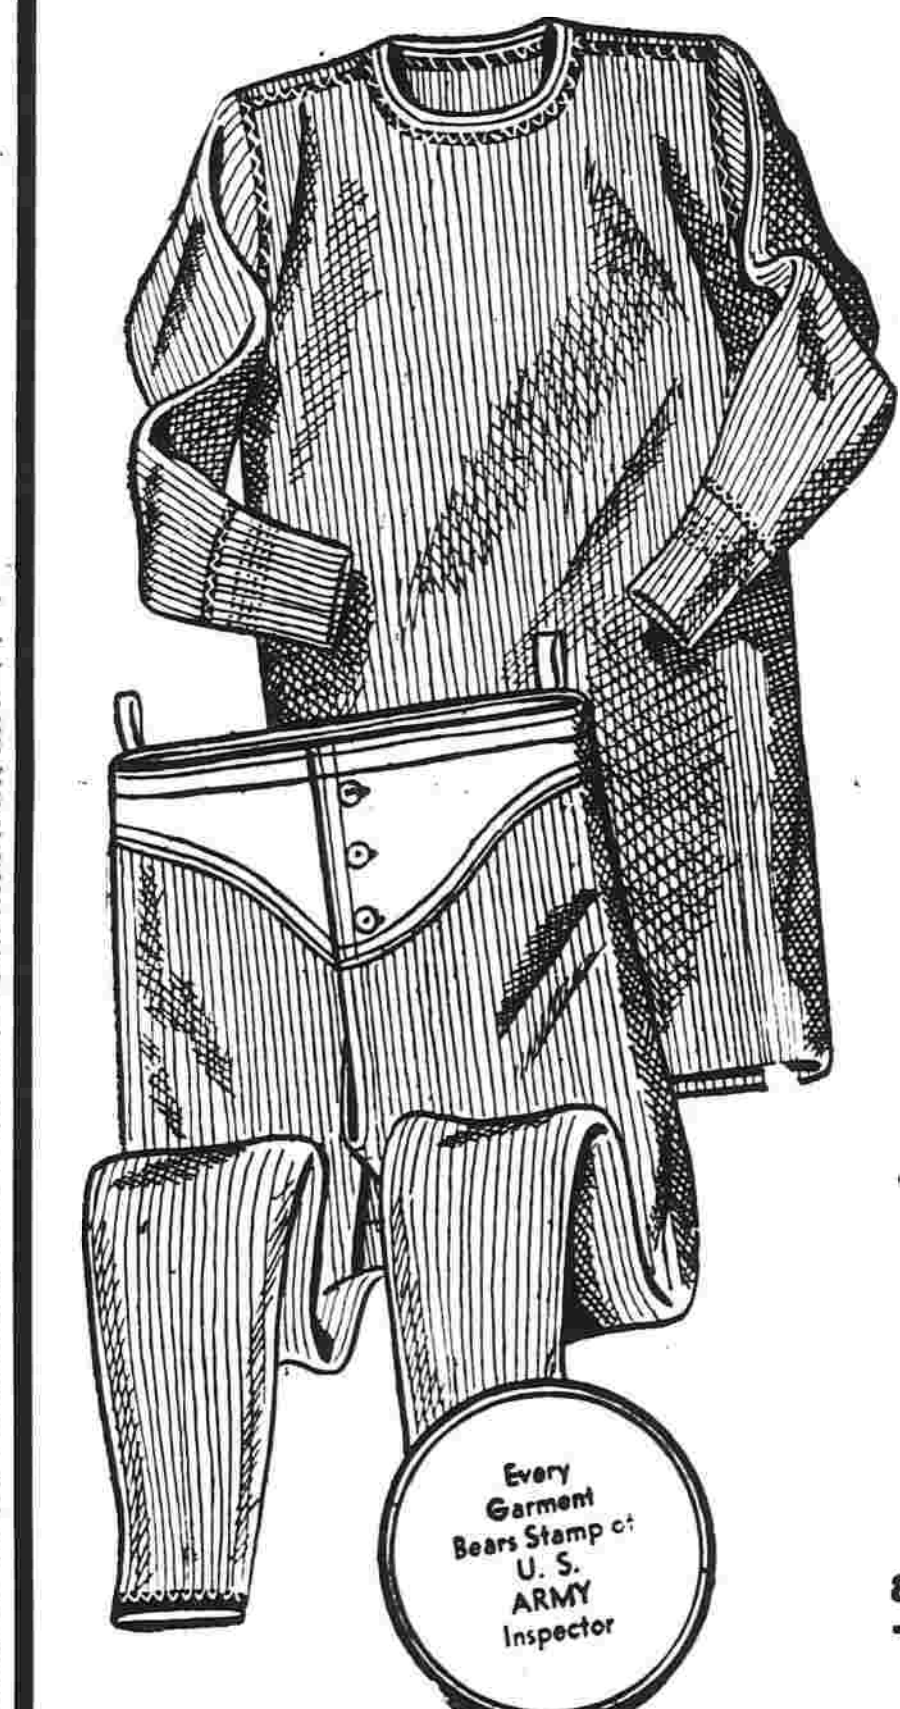

Nuisance Ended As Youth Captures Polecat This Morning In Sack.

The skunk that has been visiting in the vicinity of Depot Square in the early hours of the morning and taking his departure along towards dawn, overstay his usual hours and as a result has been captured alive, but not before ample evidence that a member of the skunk family had been in that vicinity. At 6:30 this morning Joseph Archway, 19 of 23 North School street, was coming through the yard at the rear of the Mintz building and saw the skunk. He ran home, secured a bag and returning found the skunk still around. The young fellow, wrote while the skunk went back under the Mintz building and as it again came out captured it, placed it in a bag and took it home. He was in a hurry to get to work so the skunk was not killed. He is going to wait until tonight after he has completed his day's work before killing it as he wishes to save the fur.

ST. BRIDGET'S CANVASS FINISHES THIS WEEK

The special canvass of members of St. Bridget's parish to raise funds to meet obligations that are about to mature will carry on other church work will end this week. Over an area that goes as far north as South Windsor and into that township, the campaign occupied considerable time. The few parishioners unreported at the meeting of the committee are being called upon this week and by Friday it is expected the final report will be completed. Reports already turned in shows that the canvass was a success and the amount set out to raise has been secured.

CIVIL WORKS WAGE 45 CENTS PER HOUR

Officials Here Were Under Impression Laborers Would Get 50 Cents Scale

Men employed on the Summit street extension and other local projects coming within the scope of the program of the Civil Works Administration, will be paid 45 cents an hour instead of 50 cents an hour as thought at first, close pursuit of the letter to Town Treasurer George H. Waddell reveals.

Fixed Rates Attention was called today to the following paragraph embodied in the letter: "On road projects the wage rates shall be those which have been fixed by the State Highway departments in accordance with Sec. 204c of the National Industrial Recovery Act. In Connecticut they are: Skilled labor45 Unskilled labor40

Construction Projects Heretofore it has been generally thought that the men would be paid 50 cents an hour for common labor, while skilled workers would get $1.20 an hour. This is covered in the following paragraph in the letter: "The hourly wage rates to be paid construction projects in these zones shall not be less than the following: Connecticut being in the northern zone, the wage rates are: Skilled labor $1.20 Unskilled labor60

MARLBOROUGH

The Dorcas Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Gustav Johnson Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Walter Chapman is recovering from an operation at the Middlesex hospital, Middletown. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Korgiebel were in Springfield at the home of her sister the first of the week. George Levin, the tax collector, has sent out bills for the personal taxes which are now due. The Ever Ready group met at the home of Mrs. E. Allan Bligh Friday night. Mrs. Myrtle Huntington and son, of Northampton, Mass., have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Blakelie. The Dorcas Society held their annual Harvest Supper at the vestry of the church Thursday night. A large crowd from surrounding towns attended. The teachers from this place attended a teachers' meeting in Colchester Monday afternoon. A drive for Red Cross membership will be carried on here this week. A special town meeting is called for Monday afternoon to vote on whether or not the town will ask for federal aid to erect a new central school building.

WAPPING

Miss Dorothy Simler, who has been ill at her home with a severe cold and cough for the past two weeks, is improving and will soon be able to return to her school duties again. Benedict Kupchunas, who been confined to the Manchester Memorial hospital with an infected foot, for several days, returned to his home in Wapping last Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Snow and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Snow, of Wethersfield, attended the funeral of Mrs. Snow's sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred Bishop, at the Andover church Tuesday afternoon. The Y. M. C. A. boys held a meeting at their club rooms last Monday evening. Roger Spencer, who returned to his home from the Hartford hospital recently, was their honored guest. A plot of land, containing one and one-half acres in South Windsor, on the Wapping road, about three hundred feet east of the Hartford-Springfield highway, was sold by William B. Goodwin to William D. Barton recently. Mr. Barton has already started the construction of a large frame house for his own use.

LINDBERGH'S ARE RESTING IN THE AZORES TODAY

Horta Azores, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, rested after their nine hundred mile flight from Lisbon, laid plans today for a half dozen side trips during their stay here. The colonel expected, it was said, to conduct survey flights over the Islands of Tezera and San Miguel with Horta as a base. His seaplane was anchored in the bay. Both members of the renowned American flying team, however, declined to discuss their plans—including the projected two thousand mile flight to Bermuda. When they left Lisbon yesterday, their homeward route to the United States was said unofficially to lay by way of the Azores and Bermuda. They spent last night in a hotel, declining offers of private hospitality.

RURAL POPULATION IS ON INCREASE

Catholic Clergymen Told To Devote More Time To Country Towns.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Leaders of the Catholic hierarchy in America were told by representatives of their numbers that the time has come for the church to devote more attention to farm life. Addressing the Catholic Church Extension Society yesterday, Bishop Edwin V. O'Hara of Great Falls, Mont., said the back-to-the-farm movement had resulted in an increase in rural population of from two to three millions, and he predicted larger totals as the Roosevelt administration progresses. Present at the sessions presided over by George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, were a dozen archbishops, a half a hundred bishops and the Most Rev. Anselmo G. Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States. The Rev. W. Howard Bishop urged rural priests to give their support to farm cooperative enterprises which he said offered the church opportunity to introduce its principles of reconstruction.

KILLS BROTHER-IN-LAW THEN COMMITS SUICIDE

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Max Henry Wurtzel, 53, an insurance broker, shot and killed his brother-in-law, Henry Madfis, while Madfis lay asleep in the Wurtzel apartment at 110 Riverside Drive today and then committed suicide by swallowing a vial of poison. Mrs. Madfis, sister of the suicide and wife of the slain man, found both men dead. After a hurried investigation Inspector Edward J. Lennon said that Madfis' continual dependence upon his brother-in-law and indifference to work as long as Wurtzel had money were responsible for the double tragedy.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE SESSIONS BEGUN

Voters Group Starts Annual Conventions In Greenwich This Morning.

The thirteenth annual convention of the Connecticut League of Women Voters opens in Greenwich this morning. Eight pre-convention conferences of the League's program departments were held last evening at the homes of Greenwich League members. The business sessions got under way at ten o'clock with Mrs. Edith Valet Cook of New Haven, state president, presiding. A welcome was extended to the state League by Mrs. H. Newton Whittlesey, president of the Greenwich League and general chairman for the convention. Women Lawyer The morning session included a talk by Miss Dorothy Straus of New York City on "Nationality Laws Affecting Women and Children." Miss Straus is a lawyer who has attended several international conferences for the codification of international law as a representative of the International Alliance for Suffrage and Equal Citizenship. A luncheon at the Pickwick Arms Hotel was followed by a four-sided discussion of problems of milk control. The speakers were Charles G. Morris, chairman of the Connecticut Milk Control Board, E. G. Woodward, Salisbury producer, George H. Robertson of Coventry, president of the Connecticut Branch of the Farmers National Association, and Thurman Arnold, Yale professor of law, now acting for the federal agricultural adjustment administration in connection with the drafting of milk marketing agreements. The close of this afternoon's business session will be marked by an address by Paul Harris, Jr., director of the youth movement for world recovery of the National Council for the Prevention of War. Mr. Harris will speak on "Prospects for War and Peace" giving a summary and interpretation of the present international situation. Dinner Tonight A dinner at the Pickwick Arms Hotel at 6:45 this evening will conclude the day's session. George Soule, editor of the New Republic, speaking on "The N. R. A.—Where is it Leading Us?" will give an analysis of the political, economic and social philosophy of the New Deal. A high light of tomorrow's sessions will be the talk on "Protecting the Consumer from Fraud and Fakery" by William M. R. Wharton, Chief of the Eastern Division of the federal food and drug administration. Mr. Wharton's talk is scheduled for 10:30 a. m. and will be accompanied by exhibits, similar to the chamber of horrors shown at the Century of Progress in Chicago demonstrating the harmful qualities of foods, drugs and cosmetics which escape regulation under the present law. Miss Katharine Ludington of Old Lyme will give the closing address of the convention following luncheon at the Pickwick Arms tomorrow. Miss Ludington is finance chairman of the National League of Women Voters.

HITCH-HIKER KILLED BY HIT-RUN DRIVER

Bridgeport, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Stepping out into the road to flag a motor car, police say, Xavier Rakuskes, 16, of 16 Green street, Waterbury, was struck and killed at Nichols, a suburb, early today, by the car in which he had hoped to hitch-hike. The driver of the car fled the scene without stopping, according to a companion of the youth killed. Nichols authorities, learning from Rakuskes' companion that both boys were runaways, took the surviving companion to Waterbury. The body of the victim was brought to the city morgue here, pending an investigation.

GILEAD

J. Banks Jones, substitute mail carrier for Albert Hilding, was on the route several days last week. C. Daniel Way is ill at his home. Dr. D. C. Y. Moore and a nurse from Manchester are attending him. The sudden cold weather caught many farmers with their fall work unfinished. Turnips are frozen in the ground and fall plowing is undone. Mrs. Alfred H. Post had the misfortune to fall on the door step recently and seriously sprained her ankle. There were four tables of bridge at the card party, held at Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Fogli's last week. Clarkson Bailey and Mrs. Mark Hills won the first prizes. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fogli and daughter, Patricia, spent Sunday with Mrs. Fogli's parents in Wallingford. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Foote were visitors Sunday afternoon at Mr. and Mrs. George B. Miller's in Colchester. Miss Lovina A. Foote, a senior at Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt., in one of seven in her class to be elected to Phi Beta Kappa for high scholarship. Miss Foote is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Foote. The schools were closed Monday afternoon as the teachers attended a teachers' meeting conducted by Supervisor Robinson in Colchester. Mr. and Mrs. Leon Fogli, of Manchester, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Fogli. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fogli, with William, Olive and Ellens Warner attended the dance sponsored by the Juvenile Grange in Andover Friday evening and captured some of the prizes.

AUTOISTS MUST GET PASSENGER PERMITS

Public Utilities Commission Gets Authority Over Liv- ery Vehicles Jan. 1.

Under an act passed at the 1933 session of the General Assembly motor vehicles in livery service were brought under the regulation of the Public Utilities Commission and all operators of vehicles in livery service, whether individuals, companies, associations or funeral directors must obtain a permit from the commission before January 1, 1934 to obtain livery markers. Beginning January 1 every motor vehicle carrying intrastate passengers for hire without a certificate of permit from the commission is in violation of law. This includes the operation of cars where in one worker owns and drives an automobile between home and work and carries with him other persons for hire. The provisions of the statute do not apply, however, to the transportation of school children by virtue of a contract with a municipality or municipal board. The commission has held hearings on 69 of the livery applications and 76 more applications have been assigned for hearing between November 22 and 28.

Does Your Foot Spread Forward?

Do you think this surprising? HAVE you ever been told that your foot must be fitted standing? You are told this because more than 50% of women have weakened muscles under the main arch which allows the foot to lengthen when they stand. Special Measurements by W. B. Coon Co. W. B. Coon Co.'s Special Measurement shoes are built for such feet. These shoes are specially designed through the instep so that they gently hold the foot back instead of allowing it to spread forward—features heretofore found only in expensive shoes. Price $6.50. ROCKVILLE

20 WILL BE TAKEN OFF TOWN AID THIS MONTH

15 Additional Men Not On Charity Lists Also Eager to Obtain Work.

Nearly a score of residents of the city of Rockville and the town of Vernon are expected to be taken off the city and town aid this month and put to work on government relief projects, according to information just received by local authorities.

There are also fifteen additional men able to do work on highways who are not seeking town aid although eager to obtain work.

First Selectman Francis J. Fritchard is in charge of the relief work in the town of Vernon, while the work in the city of Rockville is in charge of Alderman Kerwin A. Little, chairman of the public works committee of the Common Council.

Should this number of men be put to work in this section on the two projects which are now under contemplation, it would practically eliminate all relief work for men in this section.

Detailed plans of the work contemplated in Rockville and Vernon are to be announced this week. Approximately $10,000 to $15,000 will be expended in this section.

Democrats Hold Special Meeting

A special meeting of the recently re-organized Democratic City Committee was held last evening in the Police Court room, Memorial building.

Former Mayor Frederick G. Hartenstein is chairman of this committee. Alderman Francis B. Cratty was secretary of the meeting last evening while former City Clerk John N. Keeney acted as treasurer.

Plans for the coming city election were outlined and a general discussion held of the point raised by the Republicans that the Democratic ward committees failed to post their notices in sufficient time for the recent ward caucuses.

Announcement was also made last evening of the city committee naming Wallace LeMieux as a candidate for alderman in the third ward and also Louis Neuman as candidate for councilman in the same ward. No candidates were named at the caucus.

Campaign Started Yesterday

The annual membership campaign of the Tolland County Farm Bureau was started yesterday in the thirteen towns of the county and it will continue for the remainder of the week. The campaign is in charge of Alexander Bunce, of Bolton, who has set out for a goal of at least 300 new members. The final results of the drive will be announced Friday evening at a get-together to be held at the Bunce home in Bolton.

Mayor Waite Improving

Mayor Albert E. Waite, who has been confined in the Rockville City hospital for the past few days, expects to return to his home Friday of this week. Mrs. Dorothea Abbey Waite, wife of the mayor, when interviewed yesterday, stated that her husband was able to sit up for a short time yesterday and was showing marked improvement. Dr. R. C. Ferguson, who is attending Mayor Waite, said yesterday that he has hopes of permitting him to return to his home early Friday morning.

Mayor Waite is suffering from a severe attack of heart trouble.

Ready for Wedding

Miss Grace Kierstead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Kierstead, of Hartford and Marlborough, and Kenneth Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Little, of Cornwall-on-Hudson, N. Y., will hold a rehearsal this afternoon for their wedding which is to take place Friday afternoon. The wedding is scheduled to be held at the home of the uncle and aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Grant U. Kierstead, of Wiltshire Lane, West Hartford, Friday afternoon. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Dr. J. N. Lackey, pastor of the Central Baptist church of Hartford, who will be assisted by Rev. Elmer T. Thienes, of Marlborough.

The attendants will be Miss Eileen Murphy and Paul Roden, close friends of the bride party, who are also members of the Rockville High school faculty, as are Miss Kierstead and Mr. Little.

Funeral of Frank H. Milne

The funeral of Frank H. Milne, 57, superintendent of the Rockville division of the Rockville-Willimantic

Lighting Company, who died suddenly at his home at 57 West street, Sunday morning, was held from his late home yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. George S. Brooks, pastor of the Union Congregational church, officiated. Burial was in the family plot in Grove Hill cemetery.

The pall bearers were as follows: Kirk Reinhardt, John Wadsworth of Willimantic, John Hancock of Stafford Springs, George Rathke and Robert Brown of Rockville, and William Slattery of Hartford, all co-workers in the Rockville-Willimantic Lighting Company.

Delegations were also present from Damon Lodge, No. 17, Knights of Pythias, and Rising Star Lodge, No. 51, I. O. O. F., and also from former Company C, First Regiment, Connecticut National Guard, of which Mr. Milne was a member.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Catherine (Doyle) Milne, Mr. Milne is survived by two sisters, Mrs. John Nichols, of Springfield, Mass., and Mrs. Richard Champion, of Cheshire, Mass.; three brothers, State Senator John D. Milne, of South Norwalk; Charles B. Milne, of Hartford, and Fire Chief George B. Milne, of Rockville.

More than sixty cars were in the funeral procession from the Milne home on West street to Grove Hill cemetery. The police kept Main street open for the procession out of respect for Mr. Milne, who had a host of friends in this city.

MORGENTHAU'S GAG

The only conceivable excuse for the action of Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., in clamping down a news gag on the Treasury Department is that Treasury officials or employees were giving out information to be used by enemies of the administration's policies, perhaps in garbled form. The excuse, if that be it, is not a good one. Mr. Morgenthau will have to rescind this ill considered action or his usefulness to the administration, no matter what the extent of his loyalty or ability in some ways, will come to an end before he is fairly settled in his new position.

It is undoubtedly true that the Treasury Department is full of people who are far out of sympathy with Mr. Morgenthau's fiscal views and with those of Mr. Roosevelt. It is to be recognized that an enthusiastic refashioner like Mr. Morgenthau would naturally feel resentful at discovering that among his subordinates were many who would not hesitate to spike his guns if they could. But it is not by any means to be admitted that the right way to silence such people is to issue a general ukase forbidding all intercourse between the department and the press except through a system of news handouts emanating from a single source.

Mr. Morgenthau knows very little about newspaper work if he imagines that he can draw down the shades of the Treasury Department against the inquiries of the newspapers of the country without creating a serious breach between the press and himself and, inescapably, between the press and the administration of which he forms part; or without creating in the minds of the people suspicion and apprehension which neither administration or press could control.

It would be infinitely wiser for Mr. Morgenthau to combat from within any disloyalty and sabotage in his department, by weeding out and eliminating those bureau chiefs or other departmental servants who may be trying to defeat the administration's purposes, than to attempt to get at his assailants by any such short-cut as a press gag. The newspapers won't stand for it and the public won't stand for it—and without the support of these elements Mr. Morgenthau will be nothing short of a complete failure unless he has found some way of making two and two equal something other than four.

As to Secretary Morgenthau's rule requiring Treasury Department officials to submit to him the manuscript of any public speeches they may have in contemplation, that is a matter between him and them. It is one thing to insist that Treasury Department servants, high or low, shall not use their positions to combat the objectives of an administration. It is something widely different to attempt to close the avenues of news gathering to the representatives of the American press who act for the American people.

MR. SPRAGUE FADES

Oliver Mitchell Wentworth Sprague, who was introduced into the United States Treasury Department by Secretary Woodin early in the summer in the capacity of "adviser," is no longer even nominally a figure in the administration, having walked out and left the government flat yesterday. His deepest regret, apparently, according to his explanation of his resignation, is that the President would not sit in with him for a private confab. If he could only have got Mr. Roosevelt off in a corner, Mr. Sprague feels sure, he could very quickly have convinced the chief executive of the error of all his fiscal ideas and the complete wisdom of those Sprague theories which made him a valuable laborer in the vineyard of the Bank of England until just before Mr. Woodin imported him back again. But for some obstinate reason Mr. Roosevelt would not let Mr. Sprague talk to him. Perhaps he felt that the country was already sufficiently suspicious of the extent of deflationary influence in the administration.

At all events Mr. Sprague is full of sorrow over the opportunity that the President thus cast away—the opportunity of learning how to run the monetary machinery of the nation from one who, having rubbed elbows with Montagu Norman, is of course best qualified to steer the American fiscal ship. It is all very sad.

Mr. Sprague was, for many years, professor of banking and finance at Harvard, where he taught the worship of those very ideas which have brought the nation to its present situation. He had about as much place in a liberal administration as a reincarnated Louis IV.

WIDOWS

That is a tragic tale about Mrs. Louise Stanton, the widow who, bitterly grieving over the accidental death of her husband, flew an airplane straight out to sea at Jacksonville yesterday, deliberately seeking a lonely and unwatched death. The circumstances surrounding this unusual and dramatic suicide indicate the possession, on the part of the widow, of uncommon determination and of extraordinary courage—of a sort. But there is one quality which neither the circumstances nor the tragedy itself do indicate—fortitude; and there is serious question whether it is a quality likely to be developed, except in the rarest cases, in people like Mrs. Stanton.

She was a Junior League—which indicates not only that she had some training in the realities but that she had been brought up in some luxury. She flew airplanes as a recreation, which would indicate that she was at least well-to-do. She was used to getting those things that she wanted.

It is not among people who are used to getting whatever they want that one must look for the possession of that grim, unspectacular and unbeatable courage which expresses itself in simply carrying on. Fortitude is born of the experience of frustration, it is nurtured on disappointment, it matures in the ability to suffer the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune in continued dignity and self respect.

One widow borrows a plane and flies out to a theatric finish in the ocean. A million dry their eyes and, with leaden hearts, go on and on and on. Shall our admiration run to the turgid resentment that explodes in self destruction, or to the fortitude that enables the really strong to pack the burden of life to the end of the trail?

BORROWING-TROUBLE

The Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, great sports governing body, is taking a long look into the future when it votes to boycott the 1936 Olympic Games, scheduled to be held in Berlin, unless there is a change in the Hitler government toward Jews in sport. To anticipate that Hitler will be in control of Germany in 1936 and that, in such case, there will still be an Olympiad, is to take a tremendous lot for granted. It is more than two and a half years to the presumptive date of the Berlin Olympic Games and the chance of Herr Hitler being at the head of the government at that time will strike most people as being about as likely that he will be chancellor in the year 2000.

Even now the revolt of the Protestant church against Nazism is growing with remarkable celerity and to great effect. No less than 3,000 Evangelical pastors, after proclaiming on Sunday their opposition to Nazi "paganizing" of the church, yesterday met with their parishioners to renew their offensive. The history of Germany is full of crises precipitated as the consequences of religious intolerance and her longest war had no other basic cause. Religious schisms have pulled down rulers fully as powerful, relatively, as Hitler and less transitory in their quality.

The fears of the Amateur Athletic Union that athletes may not get a square shake in the Berlin Olympiad of 1936 because of the religious fanaticism of Hitler's Nazis are almost fantastic. If there is a Hitler by that time there probably won't be any Olympic games. The people will be too poor—and the Herr Boss too busy fighting for his job.

SOMERS MURDER

The Somers murder mystery would seem, from its nature, to be unlikely to long remain a mystery so far as the identity of the victim goes. The condition of the body indicates that the dead man was one who lived rather lavishly and at the same time he was apparently of foreign extraction, South European or Semitic.

Such a person, it would appear, would be unlikely to disappear from his own community for any great length of time without report of his absence coming to the police. Moreover he would be likely, whether a racketeer or respectable business man, to be known to the police and the broadcasting of his picture would probably lead to inquiry and resulting identification. The rather extensive dental work done for the victim at some time or other is a clue the usefulness of which depends largely on luck. But altogether it seems improbable that, if the murdered man lived anywhere within the zone of public or police interest in the crime, identification can be much longer delayed.

If the man's identity is not speedily established, it would seem to be a fair guess that he was not a resident of this part of the country. In that event it might be worth while for the police to look into the records of recent kidnappings, of which there are more than get conspicuously into the prints. There may be an outside chance that the victim was brought from a distance to some place not very far from Somers as a captive, held there for an unguessable length of time and finally disposed of as indicated by the circumstances.

At all events it does not appear to be likely that, if the murdered man lived in Connecticut or Massachusetts, it will not become known within a few hours who he was. If he came from a long distance he must have come while alive. How, and why?

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON

New York, Nov. 22. — Odds and ends, mostly ends: Every afternoon on his way down to Wall street, a shabby old dealer stops at a newsstand in City Hall Park and asks how the market's going. Then he shuffles off to the district where, it is said, he used to be a plunging operator. He doesn't beg as he moves through the familiar canyon; his handling is done over on the east side. But he says he does hope he'll meet two former associates, both still prosperous, who owe him $3000 each. . . . There are more than a dozen deaf mutes who run newsstands in New York, but the best known of them all is George Sherman, at Herald Square. His stand has become a meeting place for others so afflicted, and after 5 o'clock most of the mutes for many blocks around come there to chat in the manual language with flying fingers. Home-bound workers, nerves frayed by the din of traffic and the elevated overhead, many envy these people their sanctuary from the harsh voice of the city. . . .

Signs of the Season

The goose, as well as the turkey, hangs high these pre-Thanksgiving days, but there are a lot of other birds that come still higher. Down in Washington market a brisk demand is reported for pheasants from England, at $2.50 each, partridges from Russia at $2.50 the pair, and for Scotch grouse which come from the bonnie moors of South America, and bring $2 each. Swanky clubs and hotels buy most of these delicacies. But some find their way to taxidermists to be mounted for the trophy rooms of unlucky sportsmen returning from abroad. . . .

While others are relying on almanacs and the length of the new crop of hair on the yaks in the Bronx Zoo for prognostications of the coming season, we turned to the Manhattan telephone directory. It looks like a long, cold winter. There are, in fact, exactly 102 Winters in the book, together with 23 Storms, 34 Snows and 3 Blizzards. There also is a Jonas Wind, a Jefferson Hall History Club and a Gladys Sleet. . . . And if you don't mind another reference to the Big Bad Wolf, there are 12 Huffs, 1 Puff, and 3 Blows. And 357 Wolves. Or is it Wolves?

The police are making things pretty hot for the pushcart men, vendors of fruits, neckties, nuts, dusty in the most crowded section of the city—the garment district. There, where progress along the jammed sidewalks is almost impossible anyway, pushcarts fill the side streets at every intersection. "They help keep down riots," a cop explained. "Agitators are always trying to make trouble here, but the carts take up so much room that crowds can't gather at the corners." . . .

Great Shakes

A story about a little girl in the big city concerns the naive daughter of a wealthy Nevada family who came here, after completing a costly art education, to become a costume designer. In no time at all she had been turned down by all the prominent prospects. Being a determined sort, though, she finally went to a big burlesque office. The man she saw was faintly interested. With no chorus girls available at the moment, he suggested she model a few of the costumes. A little worried, but still game, she stepped into the next room, locked the door securely, and changed. Then she found she wouldn't open the door. All her mother's warnings rose up in her mind in dire reproach. She beat on the door. She screamed. The man outside chuckled. It sounded like an ominous chuckle. . . .

When he finally opened the door she realized that the lock had stuck, and that she really hadn't been in the slightest danger. But she found herself still trembling with fright as she emerged in the skimpy ballet costume. . . .

The man stared at her critically, finally said: "The costume? Well, I don't want to hurt your feelings, sister, but it ain't so hot. But if you can keep on shakin' like that I'll put you in the show at thirty bucks a week!"

Overnight A. P. News

Fall River, Mass.—Fire swept through Academy of Music building, causing damage estimated at $100,000 and forces evacuation of 1,500 persons watching a motion picture. . . .

Springfield, Mass.—Springfield police asked to protect trucks while unloading after several machines were put out of commission while drivers made deliveries. . . .

Springfield, Mass.—Milk price war in Springfield area ended by agreement of local dealers and chain store representatives. . . .

HEALTH-DIET ADVICE

 Questions regarding Health and Diet will be answered by Dr. McCloy who can be addressed in care of this paper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, for reply.

GUARD CHILD AGAINST RICKETS IN WINTER MONTHS

Even today, some parents believe that to cure a baby of rickets, you must find a young ash tree, make a long split in it and then the next morning at sunrise, you must pass the baby between the split parts. The tree is tied back together, plastered with mud and the healing of the child from rickets is supposed to take place at the same time as the healing of the tree. If the tree lives, this will mean that the child will live. . . .

To us, this is only a curious story and it is hard to understand that anyone would prefer to believe it. We now know how to prevent and cure rickets in young children and if our present knowledge about this disease were applied to every day, rickets would almost completely disappear. That many mothers do not know how to protect their babies from rickets is shown by the fact that in cities from fifty to seventy-five per cent of all bottled babies show some signs of rickets during the winter months. The time of year during which rickets is most likely to occur is from November to May, with the peak of the cases coming in March. The age at which it develops is between the sixth to the eighteenth month. . . . While rickets is a disease of the whole body, the bones are the parts most noticeably affected and it is from the softening of the bones that the disease takes its name, which comes from an Old English word, "wricken," which means to bend or twist. This probably refers to the bending of the legs as bow-legs is one of the most characteristic symptoms of rickets. . . .

with rickets does not stand up nor walk as soon as he should and the abdomen becomes large and flabby. Every mother should learn these early symptoms of rickets and watch for them, especially during the winter. . . .

The cause of rickets is a lack of vitamin D in the body. Vitamin E has been called the "sunshine" vitamin and in many ways it is the most remarkable vitamin we have. It is the only one which man may make artificially for himself and it is the only one which we may obtain in two ways. Vitamin D may be put into the body through eating foods containing it, or your body may make it for you when the ultra-violet rays of the sun are allowed to bathe the bare skin for a sufficient time. It is the only vitamin to be built up by exposure to sunlight and the sun must be considered an immense source of vitamin D, especially during the summer months. . . .

The intense, year-around sunlight which floods down in the tropics furnishes the unclouded average baby with an abundance of vitamin D and he is, therefore, not in the slightest danger of rickets. The Eskimo infant, shut away from the sun six months at a time during the northern winter, could not depend upon the sun's rays to protect him from rickets, nevertheless he is safe from the disease because the diet of the Eskimo mother during pregnancy and during the nursing period, contains plenty of the oily foods so rich in vitamin D. Through his food he is supplied with sufficient vitamin D to grow strong bones. . . .

(Prevent Contraction of TB) Question: Mr. Lemuel S. asks: "If a man has tuberculosis, please tell me how the wife can avoid contracting it." Answer: It is, of course, possible for the wife to contract tuberculosis from her husband but this does not frequently occur and is not likely to take place if she guards her health carefully and avoids becoming over-tired. It is definitely claimed that tuberculosis cannot be contracted by breathing the expired air of a consumptive. However, the husband should use every sanitary method possible, with the sputum. . . .

Tomorrow's article: "A B. About Rickets." QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (Follow Diabetes Advice) Question: Mr. Claude B. asks: "I have been following your diet for diabetes but noticed in the article you sent me not to eat too much olive oil and use it to try to prevent constipation. Would you consider olive oil in the same class as fats?" Answer: Olive oil is undoubtedly a hydro-carbon and similar to other fats. Olive oil is set of much benefit in constipation as it is digested and does nothing toward lubricating the colon unless taken in such large quantities that some of it is not digested and then it is apt to cause indigestion or nausea. I would advise you to adhere strictly to the instructions which I sent you on diabetes until you overcome this trouble. Use the enemas to relieve the constipation. . . .

THANKSGIVING SALE

JOHNSON ENLARGES COMPLAINT DEPT.

Says If Industries Cannot Handle Problems NRA Will Act.

Washington, Nov. 22—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson in a public statement on the subject of obtaining compliance with codes of fair competition indicated today the NRA intended a quick transfer of policing of industries to its own private organization.

The NRA chief warned that until industry's code authorities are able to handle their own compliance work the regional structure set up by NRA will continue to handle complaints and probably will be materially enlarged from its present structure of 26 regional compliance directors.

"It is anticipated," said Johnson, "that as volume of complaints increases this regional set-up will have to be extended along state lines and if it becomes necessary, as it doubtless will, in many cases local agencies will be provided for."

The statement by Johnson was the first formal word on a policy since he completed the mid-western tour which convinced him that compliance conditions were bad and "chiseling" generally prevalent.

To speed up the work of establishing industry's own enforcement agencies, Johnson appointed a special code authority organization committee within NRA.

Responsibility was placed upon the deputy administrators to inform NRA compliance director, Robert W. Lee, as to which coded industries have agencies capable of self-government.

Johnson made clear what the previously announced plan of having no labor question referred to an industrial agency unless it has adequate representation of the workers will be continued.

NEWS OFFICERS PICKED

New Haven, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Yale Daily News announced today the election of Jonathan B. Bingham of Salem, son of former U. S. Senator Hiram Bingham, as chairman of its 1934 board.

Other officers named were: Richard A. Moore of Brooklyn, N. Y., managing editor; John R. Hersey of Bristol, Conn., vice chairman; Chester B. Kerr of Cleveland, Ohio, assignment editor; and Henry T. McKnight of Wayzata, Minn., Whitelaw Reid of New York City, and John F. Sweeney of Denver, Colo., officers of the business board.

E. J. HOLL ELECTED HEAD OF CHAMBER

Asks Moral and Financial Support Of Members; Complete Slate Named.

Edward J. Holl became the twenty-ninth president of the Chamber of Commerce at the thirty-third annual meeting and election of officers at the Country Club last night. He succeeds E. J. Murphy, who served during the past year. In taking the position, Mr. Holl asked the members for their wholehearted cooperation, both morally and financially.

Other Officers. The entire slate of officers was elected unanimously, the remainder of the slate being as follows: Jay E. Rand, first vice president; Earl G. Seaman, second vice president; John F. Pickles, treasurer. Five directors were named to serve for two years, E. J. Murphy, Albert Heller, Charles S. Burr, James Shearer, Charles E.

Ray and Adolph Krause. Thomas Ferguson was elected state director and Robert K. Anderson national councillor.

Edward J. Holl

The meeting was addressed by United States Senator Patrick A. McCarran of Nevada and Congressman Herman P. Kopplemann of Connecticut and an account of their speeches will be found in another part of this issue. A boned broiled chicken dinner was served by the Country Club management and members of the State Trade school orchestra furnished music.

Entertainment. Chester Shields played a cornet solo and Woodrow Saccasio a saxophone solo. The outgoing president, Mr. Murphy presided at the business session and gave a brief summary of his report for the past year, outlining the activities of the Chamber during that period. Mr. Murphy also called on the new president and first vice president for brief remarks.

Mr. Murphy introduced Mr. Kopplemann as the first speaker and also introduced Dr. Edward G. Dolan, who then introduced Senator McCarran.

NEW NEWSPAPER GUILD PUTS OUT ITS PAPER

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Guild Reporter, a one-page newspaper published by the newly-formed Newspaper Guild of New York "in the interest of newspaper editorial employees throughout the nation," made its first appearance today. The publication announces a convention for organization of an American newspaper guild in Washington, D. C., on December 15. An editorial, signed by Allen Raymond, president of the New York Guild, concludes:

"In any real fight for a greater freedom of the press, the American newspaper publisher will find his editorial employees absolutely and unconditionally with him. They will not, I think, string along in any sham battle, on an issue that is partly fraudulent."

An article by J. Eddy, secretary of the New York group, says: "As an organization we shall be what we are as individuals—reporter, editor, collector of facts; in short, newsgatherer."

"Because of our vital place in society, our present task of organization is smoothed. It is not comparable with that of a labor union, where organization is often a prelude to a strike and where a strike may be called for the very purpose of completing organization. We, as newsgatherers, as the journeymen of public opinion, can rely completely on the intelligent use of facts."

FIRST NATIONALITY ASSEMBLY IS HELD

Swedish Program Reveals Customs, Language, Costumes and Dances.

"I have never seen a better assembly program," remarked one of the members of the faculty of Manchester High school, after the Swedish assembly program presented by the pupils of the Swedish origin of Manchester High school at the two assemblies on Monday.

The program as follows: Announcement by Erlend Johnson, in costume of a play with the scene in a modern Swedish home. The dialogue brought out such customs of the Swedish people as those at Christmas time, when they enjoy the smorgasbord but not the long and a tradition regarding rice pudding is, "Before anyone can eat his pudding he must make a rhyme about it. In the pudding is an almond. Whoever gets the almond will be married before the year is out."

The characters in the play were: Erikman, Lillian Anderson; Herr Erikman, Evert Swanson; Gerda Erikman, Pearl Johnson; Birger Erikman, Fred Lavey; Oscar, Fred Johansson; Sigrid Lundgren, Dorothy Anderson; Hilma Berling, Marion Erickson; Augusta Jörn, Mildred Gustafson; and Karen Klasson, Grace Johnson.

Evert Swanson introduced: Dorothy Davis who told a brief history of Sweden; "Al" Pearson, director of the Glee Clubs, who sang three solos in Swedish; Erlend Johnson and Fred Johansson who sang, "Du Gamla du Fria," the Swedish National hymn; and Ernest Berggren, who told the story of "The Three Little Pigs" in Swedish and with Erlend Johnson and Fred Johansson, sang in Swedish, "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?"

The last scene pictured a Midsummer's Eve festival with typical folk dancing in gay costumes. "Tantall" was danced by Grace Johnson, Lillian Anderson, Constance Wensinger, Helen Matson, Birgit Frisell and Enes Johnson; the "Ox Dance" by Fred Johansson, Erlend Johnson, Fred Lavey and Ernest Berggren, and "Klappans" by Pearl Johnson, Dorothy Anderson, Enes Johnson, Lillian Anderson, Marion Erickson, Louise Berggren.

"The Ox Dance," the most lively dance, is danced by pairs of men who bow to one another in slow motion and in double time, go through hair pulling exercise, followed by boxing and face-slapping, and then become friends. Fred Johansson and Erlend Johnson gave a particularly energetic performance.

Evelyn Peterson sang the Midsummer's Queen; Dorothy Davis and Pearl Johnson were the pianists. Miss Estes was in charge of the general program and Lillian Hulteen, with the advice of Miss Howard, was in charge of the dances.

INVENTS THREAD DRAWING DEVICE

Francois Dion, Man Studying At Trade School, Completes Work.

Francois Dion of 2 Ridgewood street has recently completed a thread-drawing machine to be used for hemstitching. Dion's ambition has finally been realized after four years of endeavor to contrive this new machine. Specializing in sewing machine design, he is a machinist by trade. Mr. Dion is one of the older men putting in part time study at the school.

His invention, in appearance, resembles a common household sewing machine, although its complicated mechanism is of an entirely different nature. The majority of parts, of which there are many, were made by the inventor in his own workshop; the others by individuals in the machine department of the local trade school.

Francis Weber, of the drafting department, drew the very complex and detailed assembly drawing from which a blueprint was made. A reduced-size photostat of the drawing was then reproduced. This contribution by the drafting department required two weeks of actual drawing time.

Dion's application for a patent is still pending. When the patent is granted by the U. S. patent office, the invention will be turned over to a sewing machine or textile manufacturing concern to be marketed.

DRAMATIC CLUB GIRLS GIVE MILNE PROGRAM

Sock and Buskin Girls Put On Dramatic Sketches At Nathan Hale School.

A program of A. A. Milne's works was presented at the Nathan Hale School this afternoon by a group of Sock and Buskin girls. Sally Potts read the selection from a huge book made by Mary McGuire, while the other girls acted the selections out in pantomime. Barbara Stollenfeldt is the musical accompanist.

Juvenile parts were taken by Raymond Custer and Tommy Johnson. Custer is a rather diminutive Freshman, and Tommy Johnson is a cute little six-year-old fellow.

The program is as follows: (1) "Missing," Sally Potts; (2) "Busy," Sally Potts, Tommy Johnson; (3) Songs, Marcella Kelly, Alma Andriulot, Eleanor Stiles, Eleanor Wallace; (4) "John," Jean Woodruff, Tommy Johnson; (5) "Songs," Raymond Custer, Mother—Alma Andriulot, Nurse—Eleanor Stiles, Doctor—Barbara Stollenfeldt, Ethel Mohr, Eleanor Wallace; (6) "Vespers," Tommy Johnson, Raymond Custer.

FIND GRADUATION COST IN ADVANCE

Class Meeting Discusses Year Book and Warning Letters.

General plans for the coming year were discussed at a meeting of the Senior class, Tuesday morning, in the assembly hall. The question of class photographs was brought up by Mr. Illing, who already has received samples and prices of various photographers. It was decided by the class that the official class photographer would be selected from a list of photographers who have submitted samples and prices. Mr. Illing asked each home room to appoint one representative to a committee which would arrange to display samples before a final selection of the class photographer is made.

At the close of the last marking period, letters were sent to the parents of those seniors who were failing in any subject. Principal Illing warned those students who were possibly in danger of not graduating. He stressed the need for study.

Mr. Illing stated that if members of the class desire he would prepare, before the end of the first semester, a complete statement of expenses likely to be incurred by the members of the class at commencement time. Advance payments could be made by those who wish to make them. The class voted that they would appreciate being able to budget expenses in this manner.

SOCK AND BUSKINS GUESTS AT MERIDEN

See Play Performed By Props and Paints Club At High School There.

A three-act play "Once There Was a Princess" was presented Friday evening at the Meriden High School by Props and Paints, the dramatic club. Members of Sock and Buskin attended as guests.

A large, appreciative audience was rewarded by the beautifully acted play, which held them in interest and suspense until the very end.

High honors went to the leading lady, Miss Eleanor Flagg, who played the part of the princess in the style of a professional actress. She has been the leading lady of Meriden for three years and, during the summers, she plays with the Ivory-toned Players, Harry Randall, as Phil Lennox, the hero in the role of a window washer, played his part very well also. The comedy was supplied by Miss Frances O'Conner as the fussy, complaining Aunt Meta who was hated by every one in her household.

At the end of the performance the representatives of the visiting clubs were introduced to the coach, Miss Curly, and to the members of the cast.

N. R. A. IN M. H. S.

Assemblies at the Trade school are held at least once every two weeks depending upon the activities or questions to be discussed. Many well known industrialists, business men, politicians, or leaders of men are included on the assembly schedule to speak upon subjects of current national, or civic interest.

Since the beginning of the first semester, there have been two speakers. Roy Hills, manager of Koppers Connecticut Coke and Rev. Harris of the South Methodist church. Mr. Hills spoke on the subject "Leadership" and explained that the less supervision one requires the more he has to do.

Dr. Knapp, local physician, will relate his experiences in industrial medicine next Friday. Director Echman announced today that Mr. Walker, personal manager of Colt's Patent Fire Arms Co. will speak on Thursday, December 7th.

MURCH STUMBLES, MISSES 1ST PLACE AT STATE MEET

Norwich Academy Wins At Yale With Manchester's Cross-Country Runners Sixth.

Manchester's cross-country team met its second defeat of the season last Friday in the State meet held at Yale. Of the schools entered in the meet, Manchester placed sixth, the meeting being won by Norwich Free Academy.

Manchester's star runner, Bill Murch, placed second in the five-mile race, but was unfortunately missing first place which was taken by Pearson, of Buckley, New London. Murch showed himself to be a better runner than last year's, but was again hindered by a mile from the finish.

The rest of the team did not fare so well, for the course was a harder one than they were used to, being mostly uphill. On the whole though the team did much better than last year's, and as the same team will race next year, the chances are very good for the future.

The teams placed as follows: Leary 28, Packard 31, Donahue 34, Carpenter 34, Peckenham 84, Conburn 98.

The next race may be with Connecticut State this Thursday at Storrs. After that will be the Thanksgiving meet. Schools entered will be H. P. H. S., Middletown High, Woodrow Wilson of Middletown and Mount Pleasant of Scheffectady.

EXECUTIVES AT CONFERENCE

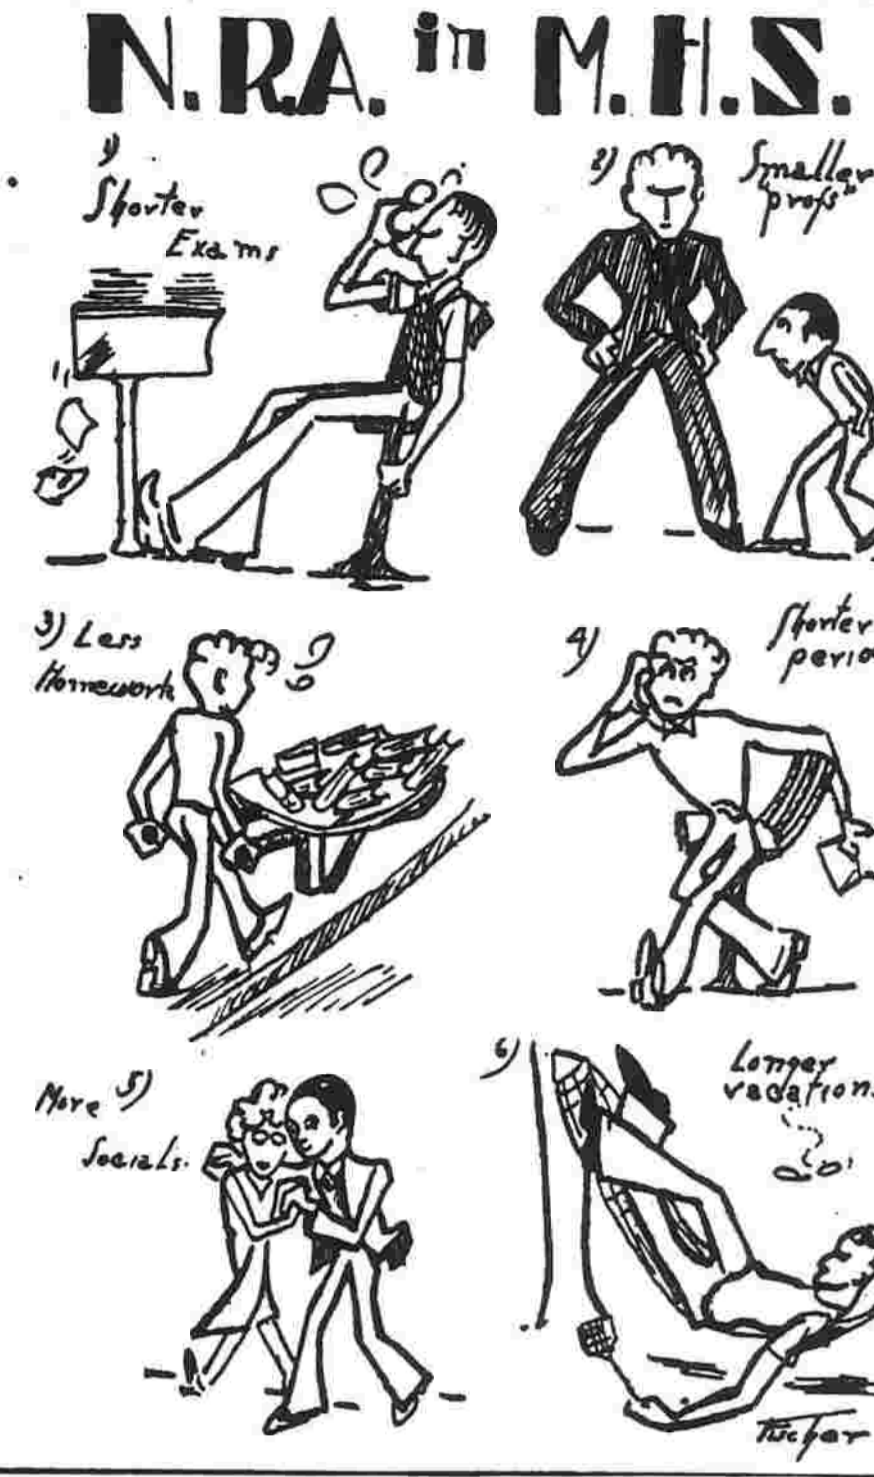

Superintendent of Schools F. A. Verplank and Principal Arthur Illing attended a meeting of the New England Association of School Superintendents, in Boston at the State House and University Club, last Thursday and Friday. The purpose of this meeting was to discuss problems which arise in all schools. The principal speakers were Professor Lutz of Princeton, who spoke of the "NRA Code" as Education; Dr. Butterfield, Commissioner of Education in Connecticut, who spoke of "A New Civic Curriculum for Secondary Schools"; and Roger Babson who told why "There Is Plenty for Everyone."

INTERESTING SUBJECTS ON BULLETIN BOARDS

Many of the classrooms bulletin boards are attractively decorated with interesting clippings illustrating the subject taught in that classroom.

Miss Fellows has a large colored historical map of Concord, New Hampshire on her bulletin board.

Mr. Johnson has obtained several charts and graphs concerning depression and the rise and fall of commodity prices for his economics classes which are now studying the periods of depression in the past.

TRADE SCHOOL TO HEAR PROMINENT CITIZENS

Industrial and Business Leaders Included In Assembly Program.

Assemblies at the Trade school are held at least once every two weeks depending upon the activities or questions to be discussed. Many well known industrialists, business men, politicians, or leaders of men are included on the assembly schedule to speak upon subjects of current national, or civic interest.

MERCHANDISE SOLD BY IMAGINATION

Students Allowed To Mix Humor With Work; Increases Interest.

Mr. Wright's salesmanship classes have spent the past two weeks practicing wholesale and retail selling in the classroom. Each student was required to choose merchandise that he would like to sell.

Most of the articles were sold through imagination, but several boys were able to bring samples of their products to class, and demonstrate them before their prospective buyers.

After the pageant, which was applauded loudly by an appreciative audience, refreshments were served in the school's cafeteria.

DRAMATIC CLUB SEES TRINITY PRODUCTION

Group Of Sock and Buskin Members Witness Jesters In Milne Play.

"The Trinity Jesters," dramatic club of Trinity College in Hartford presented its first major production, "Four Walls," by A. A. Milne, last Saturday evening.

Miss Helen Page and four members of Sock and Buskin attended this production through the invitation of Rex Howard, the coach and president of the Jesters. To these five spectators the play afforded the chance of observing several acting and production details for use in their own club.

Since Trinity is not a co-educational college, even the female parts of the play were taken by men, a situation which brought much amusement to the spectators. There "women" were carefully dressed in the correct clothing, including wigs and except for their deep voices and exceedingly broad shoulders, did very well indeed. The love scenes were especially humorous.

In a talk given to the members of Sock and Buskin several weeks ago, Mr. Howard mentioned some of the "trials and tribulations" of coaching and acting, and especially, fitting the "female" members of the cast with clothes.

As is expected, several unexpected things occurred, for instance: In the last scene of the play, a voice from behind the scenes has to say, "Edward Halifax Carter, I arrest you for the murder of Arthur Ludgrove." Mr. Howard, as promoter discovering at the last moment that the boy who was to say this was not present, said the lines himself.

Mr. Howard was the Arthur Ludgrove who was killed in the play, and as his voice was easily recognized by the audience, it caused quite a sensation to hear him speak these fatal words.

BOOK FESTIVAL AT BLOOMFIELD

Group Of Students See Pageant—Literary Characters Played.

Through the invitation of Miss Olive Pride, director of dramatics at Bloomfield High school, members of Sock and Buskin were able to attend the Pageant and Book Festival presented by the dramatic club of that school last Thursday night.

Although when we reached the school Miss Pride was busy making up characters for the pageant, she gave us a cordial welcome and told us to look at the various booths around the hall until the pageant began.

Each booth dealt with some type of literature and had many books of literature on display. Naturally, we were attracted to the booth dealing with drama. Prominently displayed in this booth was a poster announcing that the dramatic club is to present "Seven Keys to Baldpate" next Saturday night.

At about eight-thirty the pageant, written by Faith Tyrrell, a student at Bloomfield High, began. The pageant presented several characters famous in American literature who were supposed to appear as the part of a boy's dream. Some of the characters were Little Black Sambo, Peter Pan, Topsy, Tom Sawyer, and Huckleberry Finn.

We noticed when we went behind scenes the fine equipment that the Bloomfield High school has given their dramatic club. There is a very large stage, a splendid curtain, and complete battery of lights.

GIRLS SWIMMING TEAM FORMED BY INSTRUCTOR

Seventeen girls turned out to organize a swimming team, November 15 at the Rec, under the supervision of Miss Howard, and a larger number is expected at the next meeting.

SENIOR UNDERGOES OPERATION

Shirley Richmond, 19, successfully underwent an operation for appendicitis Saturday morning, and is reported to be resting as comfortably as can be expected at present.

SENIORS PLAN CABARET

Mystery surrounds the general plans for the Senior class party, which will be held on Tuesday evening, November 28. Up to date, all that has leaked out is that it is to have a cabaret setting, with several floor shows at intervals during the evening.

Well, why? Mr. Emery: "I know why all 'swedes' are supposed to have square heads now," remarked Mr. Emery after seeing the "Ox Dance" at the Swedish Assembly Monday.

Madison, Wis.—Most University of Wisconsin students prefer a good cook to a prom queen for a life companion, a survey by the student newspaper recently disclosed. There was one youth however, whose ideal was "one who could be willing to sit up six nights of the week and hope I'll come around the seventh."

Chicago—After entertaining thousands of Century of Progress visitors with poisonous snakes, Hadj Mohamed, 93, returned to his native Tunis, Africa, only to be fatally bitten by one of the reptiles.

Lincoln, Neb.—A. Emstauer of Lincoln thinks there's a particular reason why the University of Nebraska football team has won six games and lost only one contest—that by 6 to 0 to Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh—That last Round-Up conducted by Allegheny county was a costly proceeding, the county commissioners have learned. To subdue a dozen buffalo that roam the county parks—the animals had to be inoculated—county police used 10 lead shot bombs at $10 each. The bill for the buffalo roundup came in yesterday.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Philadelphia—Childhood's mystic language, Frog Latin, had Judge Theodore Ross stumped but an interpreter saved the day. Mrs. Agnes Devlin, suing her husband for support, presented a letter in the cryptic code which she said was written by another woman. It was signed "Ovela, Omeira, Ourya, Onkeyma." The judge had to help to learn this means "Love from your monkey."

Iron Mountain, Mich.—Irving Ledger, 21, has learned that the well-buffed deer wears red during the deer hunting season and the other whistled past his head.

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A new way of wearing a man's shirt now comes to light. Just lady dons the shirt—it's a printed affair, cut just like a man's—brings the two front "tails" forward, and knots them over her Palm Beach shorts.

This new whimsy of fashion appeared at the resort opening of Nudelman and Conti, whose classically simple clothes are designed by Clairepotter. They are beautifully tailored. Even the beach sandals—new wisps of rope knotted together and attached to a sole—have a distinguished look.

This house is sponsoring hand-knit bathing suits—one-piece. Chinchilla wraps promise to replace camel's hair, they're newer, lighter, and lovely in white or gray. The same hostess which even longer bicycle pants, which are even longer than the new long shorts. Come three inches below the knee. With them is worn a bandana-brassiere.

Imported velle dance frocks are new favorites. They are long, soft, sheer, and make a wondrous dance partners. Most of them are plaids. For the young girl, there's a demure but sly printed handkerchief linen. It has a white ground, a hint of a train and no back at all. But just below the waist, it begins to button, and there's a round tuted collar.

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Maxim Litvinoff apparently will return home prior to final settlement of Russo-American debts and claims.

Such a development, officials hasten to explain, would indicate no serious obstacle to a satisfactory understanding, but would result rather from the mass of material needing study.

An important factor in completing the job is the heavy press of new Treasury duties which have kept Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr., from devoting more time to the Russian question. The debts and claims were put in Morgenthau's hands by President Roosevelt.

The Soviet commissar now plans to leave Washington late tomorrow or Friday and sail from New York Saturday.

THE BARGAIN HOUND

Stop at Miss Naven's during your shopping trip. She's having a grand sale on leather and suede shoes, ties, and strap models in a wide range of sizes.

Why not plan to give a bed-jacket to one or two of your friends for Christmas? They're having a tremendous volume, another result of the new leisure, presumably. Many women like to read in bed, while some enjoy the luxury of breakfasting there (like Mae West). They come in cuts, flattering shapes, colors and fabrics. There are Russian blouse types, hand-knitted, and others in the white wool are lined with silk in pastel shades.

Do right by your Thanksgiving turkey. Roast him in a new Wear-everywhere. They are self-basting and come in three sizes $2.95, $3.95 and $4.95 at Hale's.

Neckties still come close up under the chin, but there are fewer ruffles separate neck-pieces. The suave costume has its very own neck finish. Often it is a part of a vestee effect that fits right into the front of the dress, in contrasting fabrics or color.

Just a little better than usual is the Genuine Hot Plate stamping done on personal stationery at Dewey-Richman's. Monogram or address priced at 69c and 89c a box. Also twenty personal imprinted Xmas greeting cards are yours for only $1.00.

Cocktail hour uses the long velvet cocktail gown simply made with high neck, long sleeves and frequently practically no back at all. The dressy velvet suit with its lame or brocade velvet blouse is also the cocktail hour favorite. Frequently worn with the little tulle and velvet hat or poke bonnet and going on to informal dinner and the theater.

Women that have had occasion to shop at the Midland Package Store have paid the highest compliments to the unusually attractive interior as well as to the line of goods carried there—dial 8500.

For those who can afford an afternoon fur coat, a new gray broadcloth with silver fur collar is elegance personified. This is the type of coat that makes you hold your head proudly when you walk into any kind of afternoon or evening party, for it is equally as good over formal afternoon things or evening ones. The handsome round fox collar can be left open, for daytime, or fastened high about your neck for evening. It has spacious wide armholes which give the tops of the sleeves tremendous width but which taper down to tight cuffs. It fits like a glove about the little modern figure.

When planning the Thanksgiving dinner be sure to include salted nuts in the menu. The Center Pharmacy (formerly Packard's) are featuring the Kemp Nut Company product for this all important dinner!

Ground veal and pineapple form the principal ingredients for Hawaiian patties that are new and certainly a change from the regular meat dishes. Try them some night soon and use this recipe: 2 cups ground uncooked veal, 1-2 cup finely crumbled soda crackers, 1 egg, 1-2 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. minced onion, 6 slices pineapple, 3 tbsps. butter, 1-4 cup brown sugar, 1-2 cup pineapple juice, 1-8 tsp. ground cloves, mix veal, crackers, egg and seasoning and shape into six flat patties. Brown pineapple in 2 tbsps. butter; remove pineapple.

Mr. Davis at the Home Bakery is taking orders for the holiday. Try one of his mince, squash or pumpkin pies. The English fruit cakes are especially delicious.

A dark gray sweater is worn with a gray plaided in green and brown shirt. Crocheted scarf and hat in bright green contribute gray color accents.

Don't fail to look in the vestibule window at Watkins'. There's an original hand-made imported Sarouk Oriental rug at $399.00 along-side of a Bigelow Sarouk reproduction at $84.50. If you can tell the difference "you're a better man than I, Gunga Din."

To prevent fish from slipping easily through the fingers, dip the fingers in salt.

I've seen it so I can't help believe it—in Rubinow's this morning, a green wool crepe coat with a tan jacket in maroon, dyed imitation Kolinsky at $29.50. Same style and color combination as one of New York's leading stores featured in last Sunday's New York Times at $30.00.

Who's afraid of the big, bad "Wolf"? Nobody, when it's just the way the Bargain Hound has of showing appreciation for mentioning her when you purchase articles advertised here.

BAZAAR ATTENDANCE EXCEEDS EXPECTATION

St. James's Church Committee Presents Fine Entertainment Program.

Attendance at St. James's church bazaar last night in St. James's hall exceeded expectations. The booths were generously patronized, the entertainment was excellent and many enjoyed dancing to Weber's orchestra.

The Oriental tea room arranged in the kindergarten of the school and under the charge of Mrs. William Cotter, was most attractive with Japanese lanterns and parasols. The Oriental idea was further carried out in the tea table covers and napkins, sandwiches, ice cream and cold and hot drinks were in demand, and a fresh supply will be necessary for tonight.

"Miss Personality" a Hartford entertainer, put on two different numbers and also demonstrated the fact that she is a clever tap dancer. Thomas Humphries sketch in kiltie costume, featuring Scotch songs in true Highland style was so well received that a demand was made for his appearance again this evening, which was granted. He was accompanied on the piano by James McKay.

Another attraction was the four D'Ubaldo brothers, from the ages of 6 on. The latter played the violin and the oldest sang Hill-Billy songs, Sam Felice with songs and Earl McCarthy on the banjo were also good. This afternoon the children gave an interesting program.

Tonight a string quartet will entertain, the Gardner girls will do toe and tap dancing and Miss Flory, once Piano will play the accordion.

OFFICER GRIFFIN TO GET REWARD

Entitled To $50 State Bonus For Apprehending Automobile Thieves.

For the first time in the history of the local police court, so far as is known, a Manchester policeman is due to receive a state reward of $50 for apprehending automobile thieves.

Prosecuting Attorney William J. Shea today called the attention of Judge Raymond Johnson to the fact that Policeman Raymond Griffin was entitled to the $50 state reward for capturing Edward King, Joseph Andrews and Edward Logan, who were convicted of stealing an automobile from a Stafford man July 1, 1932. The reward money is to be paid by the comptroller. Griffin will not make personal use of the money, but will turn it over to the Police Benefit Fund.

Court Case Today
Albert M. Goldwaite, of Glastonbury, was arraigned today on a charge of reckless driving, but Judge Johnson ordered the charge changed to speeding after pointing out that Goldwaite had been punished enough for his part in an accident that occurred over the Hochman river bridge on the Manchester-Hartford highway last Thursday night.

GIVE SURPRISE PARTY FOR MRS. C. E. THOREN

Fifty friends and relatives of Mrs. Carl E. Thoren of 224 West Center street gathered at her home yesterday afternoon for a surprise birthday party in her honor. Mrs. Thoren received several bouquets of chrysanthemums and roses and also a cameo brooch and lavender, presented by Mrs. E. E. Erickson on behalf of those present.

The guests brought with them a huge birthday cake and refreshments were served during the afternoon. Guests were present from New Britain, Niantic, Burnside and Manchester and Mrs. Thoren also received many cards of congratulations. Guests called during the evening to extend their felicitations on the event.

Jock Sutherland Selects All-East Football Team

RAY MOZZER NAMED AS BEST C. C. I. L. FOOTBALL PLAYER

THREE FROM M. H. S. CHOSEN ON LEAGUE ALL-STAR ELEVEN

Bob Smith and Al Saimonds Are Other Two Selected; West Hartford Places Four Men On Team.

Ray Mozzer, Manchester High's two outstanding backs, both of whom will return next fall, were selected on the C. C. I. L. All-Star grid eleven, named by the coaches of the League teams at a meeting last night. Mozzer finished the season as the League's leading scorer and is a triple threat man of splendid ability. Smith is rated by Coach Kelley as the most improved player on the local team and is a fine kicker and passer.

- 1933 CENTRAL LEAGUE ALL-STAR ELEVEN
- Boyd of West Hartford Left End
 - Kilby of Bristol Left Tackle
 - Nelson of West Hartford Left Guard
 - Tracy of West Hartford Center
 - Delmore of East Hartford Right Guard
 - Kierman of West Hartford Right Tackle
 - Saimonds of Manchester Right End
 - Fresher of East Hartford Quarterback
 - Cote of Bristol Left Halfback
 - Bob Smith of Manchester Right Halfback
 - Mozzer of Manchester Fullback

Three Manchester High grid players were awarded places on the Central Connecticut Intercollegiate League All-Star eleven, selected last night by the coaches of the six member schools of the League, and Raymond Mozzer, brilliant Red and White fullback, was given the additional honor of being named as the best player in the circuit.

Mozzer was picked for the fullback post on the mythical eleven, while Al Saimonds, although a leg injury kept him on the bench during the latter part of the season, was given the position at right end. Bob Smith was selected as right halfback. West Hartford High placed the largest number on the team, four in all. East Hartford placed two and Bristol two.

Coaches Impartial In making the selections, the tendency, in every case, was toward impartial, fair consideration of all the league players, indicating that sportsmanship of a high degree is part of the life of the league. Although the League this year failed to produce enough fine football talent so that a league representation might be selected to compare favorably with all-star organizations which might be chosen in other more fruitful sections of the state, there were a few players who stood head and shoulders above the rest in the league and enough did some good work justifying naming an All-Central Connecticut Intercollegiate League eleven.

Popular Choices Bob Smith was a popular choice for right halfback and Cote of Bristol, whose play was of a consistent rather than spectacular order, was named as his running mate. The league lacked a cool, level-headed quarterback but Charlie Fresher of East Hartford was felt to be the outstanding candidate for this position, being given the edge over Chucky Smith of Manchester and Tom Nichols of West Hartford.

Opinion Evenly Divided On "Dead-Ball" Ruling

All-Star Players Think It Reduces Thrills But Many Stress Its Fairness and Safety; Far West Is Much In Favor Of Rule.

(Following is the first of three stories on what the college football players of the country think about the rules and what, if anything, should be done about them.)

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The so-called "dead-ball" regulation in the National Intercollegiate football rules, by which runs with recovered fumbles are barred or ball-carriers automatically stopped if anything but their hands or feet touch the ground, are endorsed today by a slight majority of star players polled by the Associated Press.

Evenly divided in their opinions in the south, east and midwest, the balance in favor of the existing restrictions is thrown into the scale by the players of the far-western gridirons. In the combined Rocky Mountain and Pacific coast sections, the vote was 15 to 10 in favor of the "dead-ball" rule, merely making the aggregate totals 41 to 35 for the entire country and giving the national rules makers something to think about. The midwest stood 9 to 8, the east 12 to 12 and the south 5 to 5.

Other star ends including Colin Stewart of Carnegie, Graham Batchelor of Georgia, Ray Morse of Oregon, Bill Smith of Washington and Joe Skladany of Pittsburgh, agree it is fair enough to prevent running with a fumbled ball. Howdie Gordon of Creighton and Vernon Close, Vanderbilt halfback, agreed there probably would be fewer low score or tie games if the defense were permitted to run with a recovered fumble, but likewise admit they prefer the balance provided by existing rules.

OLYMPIC BODY TO CONSIDER DEMAND TO WARN GERMANY

U. S. Asked To Tell Hitler That Attitude Toward Jews May Cause Withdrawal From Games.

Washington, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The American Olympic Association today considered a demand that Germany be warned against continued discrimination against Jewish athletes would mean United States withdrawal from the 1936 Olympics.

An effort was reported among one bloc of delegates to have the association in its quadrennial session go still further and recommend the 1936 games be moved away from Berlin.

Representatives of 71 amateur sports governing bodies accredited to the meeting were informed of a cable from German International Olympic committee representatives, reiterating their pledge made first in Vienna, that there would be no discrimination against Jewish athletes or any others.

Observers here estimated, however, that barring a change in sentiment in the powerful Amateur Athletic Union, that group could sway a clear majority of the association's voters. At the Pittsburgh meeting of the A. A. U. a resolution was adopted asserting Germany already had broken this pledge at least "indirectly" and that unless the Hitler government changed its position "in fact as well as in theory" the Olympic association should be directed not to accredit any American athlete to the Berlin games.

Some 16 amendments to the association's constitution and by-laws awaited consideration, as well as a move to create finance committees for all the sports to be represented in the 1936 olympics.

YALE-HARVARD RATED EQUAL CHANCE TO WIN

Experts Shy At Naming Favorite In Annual Grid Classic; Elis Have Slight Edge; Army and Navy Prepare For Big Battle.

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Twice beaten Yale meets twice beaten Harvard at Cambridge Saturday, but it wouldn't make any difference if they'd lost all their previous games. This is the one that counts. For that reason alone, the experts say, the Elis have a slight edge. But for that reason alone, the experts say, the Harvard has won from Bates, New Hampshire, Lehigh and Brown while trying Dartmouth and losing to Holy Cross and Army.

Only Slight Edge There will be no heavy leaning either way although Yale, with perhaps a slight edge in the line, appears a thin silver the strongest. The Elis have "eaten Maine, Washington and Lee, Brown and Dartmouth while losing to Army and Georgia. Harvard has won from Bates, New Hampshire, Lehigh and Brown while trying Dartmouth and losing to Holy Cross and Army.

Continue Practice Yale wound up serious work for the Harvard game with a snappy offensive drill against the scrubs yesterday. Light drills have been scheduled for the Blue today and tomorrow before the squad leaves Friday morning for Cambridge. Harvard, meanwhile, worked out in a long but hard drill as Eddie Casey stressed speed and the perfect execution of fundamentals.

CUB FANS WELCOME 'CHUCK' KLEIN TO CLUB

Chicago, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Reports the Cubs already had completed a deal, whereby Pitcher Pat Malone, together with outfielders Kiki Cuyler and Jim Moschel, would go to the Cincinnati Reds in exchange for outfielder "Chick" Hafey, were revived today as Cub fans welcomed the acquisition of Charles "Chuck" Klein, one of the greatest left-handed hitters in baseball.

Hartford Spartans Next Opponent of West Sides

The West sides will meet the Spartans of Hartford at Mt. Nebo Sunday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. The Capitol City aggregation has a fine record this year, losing but two games, one to the Trojans of Wethersfield and the other to the Eagles, both games ending 6-0. A full turnout of all the players last evening at the West Side Rec found the team chuck full of confidence and not a bit down hearted over the fact that the first game of the series went against them 6-0.

Hard To Differentiate Between First and Second Team, Says Famous Coach; Montgomery, Buckler, LeVan and Danowski In Backfield. By JOCK SUTHERLAND Coach, University of Pittsburgh Member NEA Service All-America Committee. (Copyright, 1933, NEA Service Corp.)

Pittsburgh, Nov. 22.—It is very difficult for a coach to pick an all-star team of any sort. He does not have the time to see every player in action, and in many cases he must do an injustice to members of his own squad. This year I have seen a number of good football players, representing eastern teams, I have talked with other coaches who have seen other players, and my scouts have brought back official data on players they have observed.

FLASHES ARE BEATEN

The Flashes opened their season last night and were beaten by the Swishes by a score of 34 to 28. Sinnamons was star for the Swishes while Bissell, T. Hagenow and R. Hagenow were best for the Flashes. The Flashes would like to book games with any juvenile team in town. Get in touch with C. Morrison, 41 Cedar street.

THE FULLBACKS: Weinstein of Pitt was probably the most consistent fullback of the east, but a place must be found for Ed Dawson of Fordham, a triple-threat star. Danowski, a left halfback during the season, would make an excellent fullback on any team. His authority was a slight edge over West, who is only a runner.

MILK PRODUCERS TO REORGANIZE

Program Will Be Submitted To Members in Hartford November 28.

Hartford, Nov. 22. — A reorganization program for the Connecticut Milk Producers' Association that President Robert C. Mitchell calls "a new deal" for the membership of the state's co-operative milk marketing agency, has been prepared for submission to the members of the association at a special meeting in Hartford November 28.

Authorized in September

In a statement from the association office today outlining the changes proposed in the new code of by-laws, it was pointed out that the reorganization program is in line with other fundamental changes taking place in Connecticut's milk marketing system and methods. The program is the "work of a reorganization committee named by the C. M. P. A. directors in September when the directors voted that a revision of the association's organization was needed.

Through the increased importance of local district organizations of C. M. P. A. members, it was pointed out, the reorganization program places the membership in a new and more democratic relationship to its governing body. It also remedies inequalities in representation in the districts and confines the control of the affairs of the association strictly to producers who are selling their milk through the co-operative.

Delegate Form

Through the provision for a new body of voting delegates elected in the districts the government of the association is changed from a "mass meeting" to a delegate form. Under the old system the entire membership of several thousand farmers is called to Hartford each January for the annual meeting and occasionally for special meetings.

One defect of the system is that many farmers cannot make the trip to Hartford and one district may have only a few members at the annual meeting while another is well represented. Under the proposed new system each district would have exactly the same number of votes in the meetings of the delegates. Another defect of the old system is the inevitable difficulty of transacting business in a large gathering. Each regular member—and that means exactly the same number of votes in the meetings of the delegates—will have a vote in district meetings for the election of district directors and voting delegates.

90 Voting Delegates

The 18 district directors and the 90 voting delegates (five from each district) will name the directors at large. With three of these the body that will transact other business of the association, now conducted in the meetings of the delegates. This smaller body can be called together with more ease and it is felt by the reorganization committee that its size will make it much more efficient in the conduct of the association's business.

Delegates who cannot attend meetings may name substitutes to attend in their place.

Instead of journeying to Hartford, the members will vote in their districts meetings, comparatively near their homes. In each district in addition to the director who will be president of the district, there will be the offices of five voting delegates and a district vice-president and secretary-treasurer that will give opportunity for outstanding members to serve the association in posts of responsibility. Under the old plan each district had but one officer, the director.

Instruct Delegates

In the district meetings members besides naming their district officers, their director, and their voting delegates, may decide what position they will take on matters confronting the association and instruct their delegates and director how they shall vote. It is expected that district meetings will be held more frequently than in the past.

Other features of the reorganization plan include a redistricting of the state into 18 instead of 24 districts, the new lines so drawn as to equalize the districts in number of members; reduction of the board of directors from 24 to 21, of whom 18 are district directors and three are elected at large; direct election of directors in the districts instead of nomination in the districts and election at the annual meeting of the board of directors for three-year "staggered" terms instead of annually; limitation of the vote to members selling milk through the association and provision for a new class of associate members who have no vote and are ineligible for elective office; provision that no director or voting delegate shall serve as a regular salaried employee of the association.

Committee Members

The reorganization committee of the association which drew up the new by-laws and voted unanimously to approve them included five members of the association's board of directors, and three men invited to work with the committee as representatives of other farmers' organizations.

These last were E. G. Woodward of Salisbury, chairman of the Connecticut Milk Dealers Council; George H. Robertson of Westbury, president of the Farmers National Association, and S. McLean Buckingham of Watertown, president of the Connecticut Farm Bureau Federation. Professor Charles H. Johnson of New Britain was invited to work with the committee but has not attended its meetings.

If the members at the meeting November 28 adopt the new by-laws they will go into effect immediately and new directors and voting delegates will be named in district meetings in December.

HEBRON

Mrs. Leslie F. Ward, entertained with three tables of bridge at her home Friday evening. Winners of first honors were: ladies, Mrs. Albert W. Hilding, men's Leslie F. Ward. Refreshments of sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee were served.

Mrs. White has received word of the death of her half sister, Mrs. Faith Hills Burlingame, the wife of Luther B. Burlingame of Charlton, Mass., death occurring at the home of her mother, Mrs. Jane Hills, in New Haven, November 17.

Mrs. Burlingame was 52 years of age. She was a graduate of Wesleyan University, class of 1903. From there she went to Charlton, Mass., where she has been a teacher in the Charlton high school, until this fall, when illness compelled her to give up her work. Her marriage to Luther Burlingame took place in Charlton. She leaves her husband, three children, Grant, who lives at home; Rossland, a freshman in a Massachusetts college, and June, a senior at Charlton high school. She also leaves her mother, Mrs. Jane Hills, who is 92 years of age; three sisters, the Misses Larry and Ruby Hills of New Haven and Mrs. Helen Hills White of Hebron; and two brothers, Dr. A. C. Hills of Toledo, Ohio, and Harlan G. Hills of East Hampton, N. H. Mrs. Jane Hills of New Haven, was killed by a trolley about two weeks ago.

Funeral services for Mrs. Burlingame were held in Charlton Sunday. Grinton I. Will was home from Yonkers, N. Y., over the weekend, when he spent at the home of his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Lord.

Farmers hereabouts were caught at a disadvantage when the first unreasonable touch of winter was felt. Many of them had not harvested their potatoes, turnips, etc., and will have to wait for a thaw before they can do so.

The Rev. George Almon Alcott, of Norwich, will officiate at St. Peter's Episcopal church Sunday next, and will administer the Holy Communion.

Mrs. Edmund H. Horton, local Red Cross treasurer, is receiving contributions and membership fees for the organization. All those who wish to join the Red Cross or to contribute are asked to communicate with her, as she is unable to solicit personally over the entire territory.

A special meeting of the Selectmen took place at the home of Section Selectman Edmund H. Horton Monday evening. It is understood that a town meeting will be called in the near future to consider certain matters.

At a meeting of the local branch of the League of Women Voters, held at the home of the president, Mrs. Charles Fillmore, Monday afternoon, it was voted that the present slate of officers, elected at the organization of the league, shall hold over until the next election. Miss Edna Post was named as delegate to the state league convention, held at Greenwich, the first three days of this week. Plans were discussed for monthly programs for the coming year's work. It was decided to omit the December meeting. The next meeting will be called for some time in January.

Mrs. Helen Trench and Miss Laura Wurtz, of New Haven, were callers at St. Peter's Rectory Sunday, and attended the morning service at St. Peter's church.

William B. Ward, of Norwich, is spending this week as the guest of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie F. Ward.

Recent land trappers recorded or to be recorded at the town clerk's office include the sale of a lot at Amston Lake to John Kuhnly, of Rockville, and the sale of the Merino place, the former Daley farm, from Leucius and Lucia Mereno to Anna C. Canarato, of Westminister Place, Lodi, New Jersey. The farm is in three tracts, containing respectively 180, 18, and 55 acres of land, totaling 251 acres. There is a dwelling house and the usual farm buildings.

Supervisor and Mrs. Charles M. Larcomb, of West Hartford, spent the week-end at Miss C. E. Kellogg's, also visiting their summer camp at Burnt Hill.

Schools of the town were closed Thursday afternoon on account of a teachers' meeting at Colchester. A feature of the meeting was a talk by Miss Frances Foley of Hartford on "Creative Dancing."

A rehearsal of the Christmas program of sacred music was held at the Hebron Green Congregational church last Sunday by the choir of the six towns of the Tri

"CRAZY TO REDUCE"

A Comedy by Manchester Grange, No. 31 Wednesday, Nov. 22, 8:15 p. m. Odd Fellows Hall Dancing, Joyner's Orchestra. Admission 25 Cents.

ABOUT TOWN

Forty members of Manchester Grange visited Hebron Grange last night, when the first and second degree was conferred on a class of candidates. The degree team of the local Grange exemplified the second degree in a creditable manner despite the fact that the electric current went off twice.

Manchester members of the Rockville club will give a large card party at the Y. M. C. A., December 5, to raise funds for Christmas cheer in the towns of Rockville, Stafford Springs and Manchester.

The Married Couples club of the Second Congregational church will have a surprise supper at the church this evening at 8:30, each couple providing a dish other than dessert. The guest speaker will be Rev. Dr. Dorchester, father of Mrs. F. C. Allen. A period of games will follow. The committee in charge includes Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Allen.

Shining Light and Inasmuch Circles of King's Daughters will meet this evening in Center church house.

The condition of Dr. David M. Caldwell, who has been seriously ill of influenza and pneumonia, was reported as continuing to show improvement today. Dr. Caldwell has not had a fever in two days.

Manchester Grange, P. of H., will give an entertainment and dance in Odd Fellows hall this evening. Walter Joyner's orchestra will play before the curtain rises at 8:15 on the comedy, "Crazy to Reduce" by more than 20 of the women members. Dancing will follow to music by Irving Wickham and Walter Joyner.

The Army and Navy Club auxiliary will hold its regular meeting tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. A Thanksgiving social will follow.
