EARLE WYNEKOOP INDICTMENT URGED

Chicago Officials Believe Son Had Advance Knowledge of His Mother's Deed; She Tells About Insurance.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Investigators of the eerie death of Mrs. Rheta Wynkoop pressed their inquiry for a complete solution of the baffling mystery today bent on an early indictment of both Dr. Alice Wynkoop and her son, Earle. Assistant State Attorney Charles S. Dougherty said he would go before the Grand Jury tomorrow or Wednesday to ask the indictment of the mother and her son—Dr. Wynkoop on a charge that she fired the fatal bullet that state contends killed Rheta, and Earle on the allegation he had advance knowledge of the doctor's alleged purpose.

This course of action was announced after the police said that the alibi Earle sought to destroy "to save my mother from the electric chair," had been reestablished.

Confession Untrue
The alibi—that Earle was enroute to the southwest by automobile with Stanley Young at the time Rheta died on an operating table in the basement surgery of his mother, Dr. Alice Wynkoop—was found to be sound, the police said, establishing that "a confession" Earle made and later retracted was untrue.

"I wanted to save my mother from the electric chair," Earle was quoted as having said.

The alibi angle was but one of several developments in the most sensational death mystery Chicago has had since the "thrill murder" of Bobby Franke by Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, university students now serving life in the State Prison at Joliet.

NINE MEET DEATH; FIVE BY AUTOS

Week-End Toll of Violent
Deaths in State—Young Student Killed.

(By Associated Press)
A gay high school party ended in death for Frank Hopkins, 15 years old, a Danbury high school student, as nine violent deaths—five of them caused by automobiles—were reported last week-end in Connecticut.

Hopkins, with three other school boys and girls, was returning from a inn to which they had gone for supper after a high school dance when their car plunged from the Newtown-Bridgeport road at a curve in Botoford and struck a fence.

The Hopkins boy died in the Danbury hospital from a fractured skull. Miss Mary Brennan, 55, also was seriously injured, but was reported improving. The driver, Arthur Delmonte, 16, suffered less serious injuries, but was a patient at the hospital.

A backing automobile brought death to Frank Eward, 55, of Hartford, as he drove down on Hudson street, near his home, and was killed instantly. The driver, Edmond Maskalis of Terryville, who was held, said he was backing toward a parking space.

The fifth accident attributed to cars was that of Martin J. Purcell, 23, of Greenwich, who died in the Greenwich hospital from injuries received earlier in the week when his car was in a collision at East Port Chester.

Killed By Train
A young girl, Miss Mary Lyga, 17, of Terryville, was found dead beside the tracks of the New Haven railroad at Tolles crossover in Plymouth. She was believed to have been struck by a Waterbury to Hartford freight train.

Gus Jensen, 77, a Georgetown truckman, died in the Danbury hospital, after he was found burned and unconscious beside the railroad tracks in Georgetown. He told police he had climbed a pole and came into contact with an 11,000 volt wire.

An infant, George Sawyer, 5 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sawyer of Torrington and grandson of the Rev. Elisha Sawyer, pastor of the Torrington Congregational church, choked to death after taking some milk. The medical examiner said death was due to regurgitation.

John Tomlinson, 80 years old of North Haven, died in a New Haven hospital after he was found unconscious in the bath room of his home by his wife. The medical examiner gave a verdict of suicide, by asphyxiation from gas.

Men Lynched and Kidnap Victim

JOHNSON FILES PROTEST AGAINST FORD CO. BID

(By Associated Press)
Connecticut talked about turkeys and pies for Thanksgiving Day with new hope and courage today as the ranks of persons employed under the Federal Civil Works program were swelled by new hundreds.

The Civil Works Administration at Hartford reported that 4,711 persons in the state received a total of $58,818.45 for working a total of 113,190 1-2 hours last week. Virtually all of these persons were public dependents before civil works projects got under way throughout the state.

To this number were added many more today as Connecticut communities accelerated their programs.

In New Haven
In New Haven the first of 19 projects were started and 500 men whose names were on charity lists went to work. By the end of the week the city hoped to have employment for a total of 1,731.

New London gave employment to 470 persons and planned to add 150 more men before the end of the week. Newalls not only found work for 120 men, but also planned to use women on making Red Cross material into undergarments for the needy.

Waterbury reported that close to 11,000 was paid in wages to employes on civil works projects Saturday.

KRESEL SENTENCED TO SING TERM

New York Lawyer Gets 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 Years for Misapplying Bank Funds.
New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Isidor J. Kresel, attorney who was convicted ten days ago on a charge of abetting in the misapplication of funds of an affiliate of the defunct Bank of United States, was sentenced to 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 years in Sing Sing prison today.

Justice George H. Taylor, Jr. of the Supreme Court, pronounced sentence.

Defense Attorney Theodore Klendl immediately moved to set aside the verdict, claiming it was contrary to the evidence and the law. He also asked for an arrest of judgment.

Motions Denied
Judge Taylor denied both motions, and in reply to the latter one, said the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals had held in the case of Bernard K. Marcus and Saul Singer, Bank of United States officials convicted under the same indictment, that the indictment was good.

Kresel made an appeal for leniency before sentence was passed. The diminutive lawyer, weak from a recent illness, stood at defense counsel table and declared he still maintained "my complete innocence of this or any other crime."

"There had been no intent to defraud or injure, he said, and no one was injured to the extent of a dollar by this transaction."

"The transaction had no relation to the closing of the bank," Kresel added.

Kresel's bail of $100,000 was not continued. He was remanded to the sheriff while a motion for a certificate of doubt was sought from the Supreme Court. Motions for suspension of judgment and arrest of execution were denied.

MOB OF 6,000 LYNCHES TWO HART KIDNAPERS

Deputy Sheriff Tells Details of Lynching

San Jose, Calif., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Here is the story of Deputy Sheriff John Moore on the lynching of John M. Holmes and Thomas H. Thurmond, confessed kidnap-killers of Brooke Hart:

"The inside of the county jail was fogged with tear gas when the mob rushed in behind the battering ram. I was standing on the stairs, inside the steel mesh door, with Deputy Sheriffs Earle Hamilton and Howard Buffington. We had only a few gas bombs left and we knew they had us."

"The mob brushed past us to Holmes' cell on the second floor, and four men stood me against a wall, searched me and took my keys. They went in for Holmes, who was hiding in the lavatory of his cell."

"He came out crying 'I'm not Holmes, I'm not Holmes' but one of the lynchers rushed up and grabbed him by the neck and told him to shut up. Another fellow cracked him in the jaw."

"Holmes went down and when he got to his feet another man hit him, and another, until he lay sprawled at his feet, unconscious."

"They pulled him to his feet and stood him against the wall, still unconscious, while others kept hitting him in the face with their fists."

"They finally put a rope around his neck and dragged him head first down the stairs."

Then they went up on the third floor and found Thurmond hanging by his hands to the iron grating of a high window inside the lavatory, where he thought they wouldn't see him.

Were Terrified
"He didn't try to deny his identity but he came out smiveling and his face was very white. I have never seen human beings look so terrified as Holmes and Thurmond."

"Thurmond kept repeating 'Don't string me up. For God's sake don't string me up.' And they hit him as they did Holmes and dragged him down the steps with a rope around his neck."

"They took both men across the street, threw the rope ends over tree limbs and jerked them roughly off their feet to die."

"There were women and children in the crowd and they saw that whole thing in the Park. Some of the children were babies in their mothers' arms."

"I heard a number of women laugh, even after it was all over, and say it had been a good thing."

"That mob seemed to be insane. The tear gas never faded them. They came through it with eyes streaming and smarting but determined to get those men and lynch them—and that was all that mob cared about."

Break Way Into County Jail Despite Barrage of Tear Gas Bombs and Hang Kid- napers in Park Nearby— Lynching Follows Finding of Hart's Body in San Francisco Bay.

San Jose, Cal., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Thomas H. Thurmond and John M. Holmes, confessed kidnap-slayers of Brooke Hart, were lynched here last night by a mob of 100 men who smashed their way into the county jail after a two hour battle to seize the pair.

A whooping, cheering crowd estimated at 6,000 persons looked on. Thurmond, first to confess was unconscious when dragged to St. James park, 100 yards from the jail, partly stripped and hanged to a tree.

Holmes, a powerful man, fought for his life in vain. Twice he wrenched his hands free and lifted the noose from his head, but the third time it was put there to stay and, still kicking, he was yanked into the air.

Bodies Out Down
In the glare of torches and flashlights the bodies dangled for half an hour or so—a macabre picture for the thousands who had gathered swiftly after the news of the lynching movement had spread through the city. Then the lifeless forms were cut down and there was no further attempt to interfere with officers.

Thurmond's body had been slightly burned by flames from blazing newspapers help up by the mob as torches during the hanging.

The lynching, occurring only a few hours after the torn body of young Hart, son of a wealthy San Jose merchant had been taken from San Francisco Bay, climaxed a spectacular battle between officers barricaded in the jail and the determined mob.

Mob Gathered
The muttering throng began gathering about the jail about 9 p. m. The jail, an antiquated brick building to the rear of the courthouse, had been prepared against the possibility of a lynch movement but was unable to withstand the improvised battering ram of the attackers. Automobiles, parked across the alley about the jail building, did little to impede the advances of the besiegers.

Two shots fired from the crowd as a signal started the first attack. A barrage of rocks, gathered from across the alley where a new post-office building is under construction, clattered against the jail walls. Officers within the jail fell loose with three tear gas bombs. Blinded and weeping, the attackers fell back.

Crowd Grows to 8,000
By this time some 3,000 persons had gathered to watch. The 35 officers in the jail building sent out a call for more tear gas. All lights in the building were extinguished. The blinding tear gas from the first three bombs was still hanging like a thin veil about the building when the second attack began. Several of the attackers took from the postoffice building a pipe of about 20 feet long in diameter and used it as a battering ram, smashing in the jail door.

Officers turned loose another of tear gas, momentarily stopping the assault. After waiting a few moments for the gas to lift, the mob stormed ahead once more, playing a fire hose on the building as it advanced. A second group seized another pipe and joined the attackers. The steel doors of the jail gave way and the mob poured in, encouraged by cheering thousands outside.

Officers Manhandled
Sheriff William J. Emig, whose quick action had resulted in the arrest of Thurmond while the latter was making a ransom demand by telephone to the Hart home a week after the young victim had been put to death, was knocked senseless. Other officers were manhandled and brushed aside.

In the cell which had imprisoned David A. Lamson, now under sentence to hang for the murder of his attractive wife, Allene at Stanford University last May, the mob laid hands on the whimpering Thurmond, dragging him to the street and raining blows upon him.

Holmes struggled as he was dragged from the cell and the crowd had Douglas Templeton, now serving a life sentence for the murder of his aunt. Likewise he was dragged out and pummeled.

The mob selected a limb of a tall tree, looped a rope about unconscious Thurmond's neck and hauled him aloft; with the crowd whooping its approval. The clothing was torn from the lower part of the body and he hung there half clad.

The business of choosing a limb for Holmes required about 10 minutes. A tree some 300 yards from where Thurmond was dragged out.

GOLD PRICE KEPT SAME AS SATURDAY

President Keeps Up Monetary Policy Despite All of the Criticism.
Washington, Nov. 27.—(AP)—An unchanged government gold price today gave fresh indications of President Roosevelt's determination to maintain his monetary policy despite widespread criticism and defense of commodity dollar plans.

The RFC offered to pay $33.76 an ounce for gold within two days after acting Secretary Morgenthau returned from a week-end conference with President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Georgia. This figure maintained the level set before Morgenthau went south and quoted during his absence.

The fact that the price moved neither up nor down was interpreted in some quarters as reflecting a desire to steady financial markets prior to Treasury funding operations in December exceeding $700,000,000.

London Quotation
Today's price compared with a London quotation of $32.83 on the basis of the pound's opening at $5.24. Before the close, the dollar strengthened.

Morgenthau made known upon his return that during the afternoon the Treasury will announce the amount of its investment during the past week in government securities.

Considerable interest was created by the publication of a memorandum attributed to former Undersecretary Dean Acheson which termed the gold purchase plan not legal under the RFC Act. At the same time, an opinion arguing legality was attributed to Stanley Reed, RFC counsel.

Herbert Gaston, public relations contact for Morgenthau, conferred with the acting secretary and then told newsmen that Acheson's opinion apparently was delivered to the President and that even if the Treasury had such a document in its files, it could not give it publicity. Reed declined to confirm, deny or comment.

Acheson, reported to be in his Connecticut home, was known to have considered the plan illegal. His recent departure was regarded as proof of his lack of sympathy in the project.

THOUSANDS BACK ON JOBS IN STATE

Cities and Towns Take Men Off Charity Lists as Projects Are Laid Out.
Washington, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A protest against the award to a local Ford Motor Company agency of a government contract for Ford trucks is being filed with the Department of Agriculture by Hugh S. Johnson, the NRA administrator.

Johnson contended the dealer, the Northwest Motor Company of Bethesda, Md., had quoted a figure below the list price and therefore was a violation of the NRA retail code for automobile dealers.

The Northwest Motor Company indicated it would submit a bid to the War Department tomorrow for 700 new trucks despite its contention that efforts are being made to eliminate Ford products from consideration.

Files Protest
R. L. Sabine, president of the company, protested to Secretary Dern Saturday that specifications for trucks for the Civilian Conservation Corps, originally asked by the Agriculture Department, had been changed with the deliberate purpose of excluding bids on Ford equipment.

He charged that the War Department was being "used to purchase the trucks because J. R. McCann, the comptroller general, had given a ruling to the Agriculture Department, holding that Ford bidders were eligible to compete.

Sabine said today he had no quarrel with either the War or Agricultural Department.

FEDERAL RESERVE HEAD ON VISIT TO ROOSEVELT

Governor Eugene Black to Spend Tomorrow With the President; Financiers Speculate Over Parley.
Washington, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A Warm Springs visit by Governor Eugene Black of the Federal Reserve board drew new emphasis to President Roosevelt's monetary policy today as acting secretary Morgenthau bustled himself through government's huge financing needs.

Black leaves tomorrow night to spend Wednesday with Mr. Roosevelt.

News of his trip became known only a few hours after Morgenthau returned from Roosevelt's Georgia home.

Beyond confirming that he would make the trip, Black declined to discuss the visit. Morgenthau had nothing to say to newsmen either purchased more than a half billion dollars in government issues.

The Reconstruction Corporation price of gold was fixed today at $33.75 an ounce, the figure which has remained unchanged since before Morgenthau's trip south. Some quarters viewed this lack of fluctuation as part of a policy to steady financial markets for the forthcoming financing operations.

Black's projected visit recalled that the Federal Reserve system has halted its purchases of government securities. During the summer it purchased more than a half billion dollars in government issues.

Morgenthau began immediate conferences with Thomas Hewes, assistant secretary in charge of fiscal affairs, Earl Bailie, administrative assistant in this field, and Walter J. Cummings, head of the Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Governor Harrison, governor of the New York Federal Reserve bank, was a visitor at the Treasury. Harrison usually is consulted on financing matters.

Situation is "Good"
The banking situation in the Nation was described today by chairman Jesse H. Jones of the RFC, as "Good."

He said 800 applications have been received by the corporation banks which will sell preferred stock or capital notes, 125 of them having come in yesterday and today.

The corporation has authorized 650 purchases of stock or notes with a total face value of $270,000,000.

Jones said he had heard nothing so far of credit expansion plans reported to have been discussed by President Roosevelt with acting Secretary Morgenthau and Hugh Johnson.

He pointed out the corporation has been endeavoring for months to make credit available to factories.

ASK LARGER FUND FOR THE U. S. ARMY

General MacArthur Reports That 165,000 Men Needed for Regular Army.
Washington, Nov. 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, whose budget bureau already has approved an increase in Naval and Marine forces, will be requested to ask Congress for funds to raise America's army strength from "below the danger point."

It is at that point now, says the Army's highest ranking officer, General Douglas MacArthur, in an annual report to the Secretary of War, which will be transmitted to the President.

Many Army officers were optimistic today about the prospect of getting some of the things recommended by MacArthur, chief-of-staff. They recalled that the Budget Bureau already had accepted a proposed appropriation request adding 2,500 enlisted men to the Navy and 1,000 to the Marine Corps, to man new ships.

17th In Strength
MacArthur found that although the United States is 17th in world strength alone is no cause of particular worry since America's needs are different. But in recommending an increase in regular Army enlisted strength from 120,000 to 165,000, expenditure of around $200,000,000 on aircraft, modernized and motorization of artillery and similar projects, and restoration of other funds eliminated in recent years, MacArthur added:

"In the state of unrest now prevailing throughout the world, it is an efficient and the dependable military establishment x x x x It is my conviction that at this moment the Army's strength in personnel and material and its readiness for employment are below the danger line."

CONVICT INVENTS SCHEME TO MAKE CHEAP HYDROGEN

Folsom Prison, Calif., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Working in an improvised prison laboratory, a convict has developed a system of making hydrogen at a cost experts estimate at one-fourth the present commercial production charge.

Engineers who Sunday witnessed a demonstration by the convict, James F. Burke, said his method may revolutionize the hydrogen industry. He used four salad dressing jars, a single dry cell and other home-made equipment, in making the hydrogen.

NO INFLATION YET SEEN BY BANKERS

Financial Leaders of Hard Money School Give This As Their Opinion.
New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Uneasiness in conservative quarters in Wall street over inflation has subsided somewhat since Budget Director Lewis Douglas' speech in Boston last week.

While the opponents of recent monetary policies in Washington have been highly critical of the managed dollar, experiments, it is widely recognized that most cases of serious inflation that have developed in the past have been outgrowths of a series of seriously unbalanced budgets.

Mr. Douglas, while stating frankly that the budget for the fiscal year ending next June would be far out of balance—to the extent of billions—explained that at least $2,600,000,000 must be regarded as due to emergency appropriations. Then he explained that it was not only the intention of the government to make its revenues balance both ordinary and extraordinary expenditures in the fiscal year ending in June of

STATES TO TRACE 'GAS' BOOTLEGGERS

Officials Believe Northeastern States Have Lost 200 Million in Taxes.
New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Prompt reporting and tracing of interstate gasoline shipments to prevent "bootlegging" of the fuel was recommended today at a conference of tax officials of 11 states.

The officials met to discuss ways of stopping gasoline tax "leaks" through sale of "bootlegged" fuel. Authorities have estimated that evasion of state taxes in this manner has cost northeastern states $200,000,000 annually the past several years.

The conference was closed, but at the conclusion of the morning session, Mark Graves, president of the New York State Tax Commission, announced developments.

First, he said, the conferees had a symposium to decide if gasoline "bootlegging" and tax evasion existed. The consensus was that it did.

A Serious Problem
The general consensus on the problem is that there is enough evidence to make it a serious problem for the states," Graves said, "and one that they should meet not only to prevent tax evasion but to protect legitimate business men in this trade from unfair trade practices."

He said that it was agreed each state should require "more prompt reporting of interstate gasoline shipments."

When state authorities were notified immediately of a shipment, Graves explained, they could at once relay the information to authorities of the state receiving the shipment, thereby enabling quick tracing of the gasoline.

Represented at the hearing were the six New England states, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

DECISION RENDERED IN JOHNSON DEATH

Coroner John T. Yeomans Finds Accident Due to Rate of Speed Car Was Traveling.

Coroner John H. Yeomans has given his decision in the death of Earl Johnson, killed in Bolton on October 31. The decision follows: Earl Johnson, late of 28 Fairfield street, Manchester, was killed on October 21st, 1933, about 6:00 a. m., when the automobile which he was driving overturned on the State Highway leading from Bolton Center to the Hartford-Willimantic Turnpike. The accident occurred about five hundred feet from the intersection of these roads. Johnson was driving his 1930 Ford roadster and was apparently en route from Bolton to Manchester. The marks on the highway indicate that the car was traveling at a high rate of speed, and that it commenced to swerve from one side of the road to the other. The driver was apparently unable to bring the car under control, for it finally swung toward the west bank of the highway, turned completely over, and landed right side up on the west shoulder. Johnson's skull was evidently crushed when the car turned over. His body was found about 63 feet north of the highway.

DEDICATE WAPPING COMMUNITY HOUSE

Handsome New Building Is Opened With Ceremonies—350 People Attend.

Rising from its year-old ashes, the new $10,000 Wapping Community church house was dedicated with impressive ceremonies yesterday afternoon in the presence of 350 guests and residents of other years.

Included in the dedicatory program was a historical review of the community building, marking the centennial of the building of Wapping's second church, the Methodist church.

Work of 8 Members Rev. Schrivener recalled the action of a group of eight members of the then Presbyterian church who withdrew from the society and worked together for the common good in 1827.

Describing the equipment of the new building, Rev. Schrivener urged the villagers to take advantage of the opportunities afforded by the new community church house, remembering always that it is dedicated to the spirit of Christianity of the town.

First Fund $700 The original fund secured by the small congregation was $700, Mr. Grant said, the church members banding together to supply labor and build a steeples wooden church on the "Commons."

Concerning the remarkable authenticity of RKO-Radio Pictures' dramatization of Louisa M. Alcott's classic, "Little Women," George Cukor, who directed it, says: "We believe that of all the stories in the world this was one at least that would be made by authenticity and ruined by dramatic license."

"To reproduce this great story," Cukor continued, "the studio went to the limit in research work and the duplicating of every scene described by the author. Even the Alcott home in Concord, Mass., the locale for the original story, was reconstructed in Hollywood."

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 27.

JUDGE LYNCH.

Consistently hard-shelled moralists would be likely to disagree with any assumption that there may be differences in lynchings—good lynchings and bad lynchings—or that the burning of a Negro suspect in the deep South is any worse an offense against the laws of God and man than the summary execution by a mob, last night, of the kidnap-murderers of young Brooke Hart at San Jose, Cal.

Never since mankind emerged from the trees and the caves has there been a crime more utterly inhuman than the one which the people of San Jose last night so summarily avenged. The unspeakable wretches who committed it showed no more humanity than starved timber wolves, without a shred of the wolf's excuse of necessity.

It is not difficult to understand the temper of the San Jose mob. It is equally impossible for those who have not yet reached the pinnacle of perfection—and it must be confessed that this includes more than a few of the sons of men—not to sympathize with it to a very considerable extent.

Probably, if the San Jose people had not taken the law in their own hands last night, the law, in its own good time, would have disposed of the creatures. But it is to be submitted that their execution, in an orderly manner, after an orderly trial, would neither have satisfied the people's frenzied indignation at the ghostliness of the crime nor—what is more to the point—have served in any substantial degree, compared with what has transpired, as a warning to criminals contemplating kidnappings in the state of California.

Where the writ of habeas corpus does not run, where crooked lawyers cannot invoke the rules of evidence, where juries cannot be intimidated, where bribing of jail guards is impossible, where there is no appeal to court after court and where the machine guns of gangdom rescuers have no terrors, the terrorist kidnaper cannot cope with the forces of society on the defensive.

That is what the kidnaping racket got up against last night in San Jose. That's what it will be up against in every corner of the country when the people of the country get into the mood of the San Jose mob. We may breed new troubles for ourselves if we generally invoke the decisions of Judge Lynch—but unless there is speedy and efficacious reform in the legal methods of handling the outrageous crimes of extortion rampant in the land, the Vigilantes of San Jose may prove to be the parents of a national uprising in which the "rights" of criminals will be brushed aside as of no consequence compared with the rights of decent people.

STORM OF TALK. The currency rumour, in which party lines have already gone by the board and which at the present stage appears to be degenerating into a conflict between verbal mobs, bids fair to have resolved itself into a truce of weariness before the real battle begins in Congress next January. Tonight in New York there are to be two big meetings, one called by the inflationists, the other by the deflationists. The inflationists, meeting at the old Hippodrome, will listen to Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, pastor of the Shrine of the Little Flower at Detroit, who has attained nation-wide celebrity for his attacks on Wall Street and the international bankers and who yesterday assailed Alfred E. Smith for his "boloney dollar" statement, together with former Senators Owen and Senator Thomas. The deflationists will foregather at Carnegie Hall and will be addressed by Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor and representatives of the American Legion and the Crusaders, with Prof. Walter Spahr, of the New York University School of Commerce, as economic "explainer."

The attack on the administration's fiscal policy is, of course, being led by the great metropolitan bankers. Just how they come to be supported by the American Federation of Labor would be considerable of a mystery if it were not pretty well understood that the A. F. of L. is disappointed in the extent to which it has been permitted to participate in administering the industrial codes. To what extent the Legion and Crusaders leaders who are backing the attack represent their memberships remains to be disclosed.

At all events the fare-up of antagonism to any new system of currency control has come at an excellent time. Since nobody can do anything about anything, except to talk, between now and the meeting of Congress, the storm is sure to blow itself out and the situation is bound to calm down considerably before January. Then we shall see what we shall see.

BIG, BAD WOLF.

General Douglas MacArthur, whose report that the United States Army is "below the danger line" in size, that much of its equipment is obsolete, and that it has been reduced to an ineffectual state by the diversion of so many officers to the training of Citizens Conservation Corps units, is strictly in keeping with the reports of General Staff chiefs from time immemorial. The Army needs nearly $200,000,000 for aircraft, modernization and motorization of the field artillery, mechanization, anti-aircraft equipment and general motorization, General MacArthur says.

Most of the Army's motor equipment is obsolete, he declares, including the tanks, and there is a "serious shortage of ammunition." General MacArthur's idea, of course, is to keep this nation in a perpetual state of preparedness for war. As an American he is, undoubtedly, far from anxious to have his country go into a conflict, but as a highly responsible officer it is his business to see to it, if possible, that a war shall not catch the Army napping. In this relation he is in just about the same position as the chiefs of staff of France, Germany, Britain, Italy, Japan, Russia, Poland, Bolivia, Peru, Paraguay and the rest.

Also, like the chiefs of staff of those nations far more likely than we to have war sprung suddenly upon them, he wants to see the machinery of warfare not in prospect in case of need but in actual existence. He wants his hundreds of tanks ready to take the field tomorrow. He wants his ammunition dumps ready to tap tonight. He wants his soldiers ready to take the field at an hour's notice. He is a soldier, charged with the responsibility of preparedness.

MacArthur might, conceivably, have told in his report something about the hundreds of American factories, which have been stored away in their safes the blueprints, the patterns, dyes and figs, the specifications and the assemblage plans for war materials of every conceivable sort on which their plants could be put to work in an instant—an achievement of General MacArthur's own organization which constitutes probably the most effective stroke in military preparedness ever taken by any country. About this, however, he says nothing. Perhaps it is right that he should not.

However, the professional soldier's view that this nation should spend hundreds of millions of dollars annually in keeping up with the militaristic Jones of Europe and Asia, building equipment that will be "obsolete" before the factory stiffness is worn out of it, is not one likely to become the general one, now or ever.

The General Staff has cried "Wolf!" so often that now nobody is in the least afraid of the big bad thing.

THE FARMER SPEAKS.

While the pronouncements of such organizations as the American Federation of Labor in opposition to currency inflation have been extensively publicized by those newspapers which are opposed to the present policy of the administration, it is noteworthy that very little such prominence has been given to the position taken by the National Grange at its convention last week.

The Grange, as the most representative body in American agriculture, declared unequivocally for "corrective inflation."

"We have had four years of the most drastic deflation," declared the Grange resolution. "What is needed today is corrective inflation."

The convention also adopted resolutions proposing that the government issue non-interest bearing Treasury notes "to pay at least part of the public works program, liquidate the sound assets of closed banks, or to retire government bonds."

It is obvious that the farmers of the country do not take their economic views from the deflationists.

INTOLERANCE.

Ford Hall in Boston, the scene of the Hub's Open Forum, is supposed to be, of all American auditoriums, the very temple of freest speech. Yesterday, however, when a German professor was scheduled to speak there on "Why I Believe in the Hitler Government" a mob of five thousand persons gathered about the hall, howled denunciations of Hitler and the speaker, fought the police, got themselves broken heads and torn clothes—and failed to stop the professor from saying what he wanted to say. No doubt he pleased his Nazi hearers greatly.

Of course the objection that these rioters have to Hitler and Nazism is toward their intolerance. It probably never occurred to any of the crowd that they were meeting that intolerance with exactly the same impulse.

Health and Diet Advice

By Dr. Frank McCoy

ECZEMA A CURABLE DISORDER. Many people have so little success in curing eczema with treatments applied solely to the outside of the body that they decide it is an incurable disorder; this is not true, for when the treatment is directed toward cleansing the inside of the body of poisons, the disease becomes entirely curable.

The name eczema comes from the Greek and means "to bubble out." There is strong evidence to believe that eczema is due to an impure blood-stream and that the poisons are literally bubbling out through the skin. Eczema is a very common skin disorder and is actually a chronic catarrhal inflammation. It is not contagious, attacks all ages, is most frequently found among blondes with a dry skin, and men in greater danger of it than women.

The Byzantine Greeks used an inflammable and destructive compound similar to liquid fire; this compound was poured from caldrons and flung in pots. The Brazilian government is calling for bids on the opening of a new weekly air service between Belem, Para, and Manaus, Amazonas, a distance of 900 miles.

It is also called Salt Rheum or Tetter.

Several different forms of eczema are known but the symptoms likely to be found in all forms are: feeling of heat or burning through the affected parts, itching, redness of the skin, oozing of a sticky fluid which will stiffen linen, some thickening and hardening of the tissues, and the formation of either crusts or dry scales.

A typical case begins with itching, burning and redness, followed by the appearance of small blisters which grow larger, run together and break. The fluid which oozes out is clear. The blisters are often broken by scratching or by chafing with the clothing. When the seeping of fluid is especially noticeable, "weeping eczema" is said to be present. The skin inflammation spreads by the breaking out of new patches while the old ones are drying, or by the increase in size of the original areas.

In some forms the red blotches are the main feature, in others the oozing is most marked, in others a discharge of pus is the main symptom and in others there may occur the formation of deep cracks which are slow to heal.

The severest itching is seen in that form which is most likely to attack the face, the hands, or to locate behind the ears. The type of eczema in which pus is discharged is most frequently found in the scalp or the ears.

The most important cause of eczema is a systemic toxemia arising from wrong diet. The errors usually responsible are: use of wrong food combination, unwise selection of food, over-eating, and the use of too much sugar. When the underlying cause is present no direct exciting cause is required to bring about the onset of the skin inflammation in the majority of cases. However, in some cases, where a trade eczema is found, an exciting cause may be the continued irritation of the hands by keeping them in certain materials. Trade eczema occurs with dishwashers, butter-makers, chocolate-dippers, dyers, etc.

The main part of the treatment to overcome eczema is to remove the faulty eating habits which are creating the internal poisons. I have seen many hundreds of seemingly incurable cases which were entirely cured with the right treatment. In curing eczema, the best plan is to use a fruit juice fast which will bring about a more rapid elimination of wastes through the other natural channels than would otherwise occur and will thus relieve the skin of part of the work of eliminating them. During the fast, you are to use one enema per day. Follow the cleansing fast with a careful diet, using plenty of cooked and raw non-starchy vegetables, and a moderate amount of meat. Avoid pie, cake, light bread, and all rich foods. Sun baths are especially recommended in the treatment of eczema, or the same treatment may be secured by exposure to the ultra violet light. These local treatments may be taken at a doctor's office.

To cleanse the affected parts, dip clean cotton in olive oil and gently smooth over the itchy areas. While preparations to be applied directly to the skin may ease the itching, the permanent cure will best be brought about by the fasting and dieting treatment which I have suggested.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

Congress Leads All Its Guns to Squeal at New Deal

Squirrel Leads in Proper Few—With Diplomats and Generals—Indian Bureau to Scrape Off Its Many Barnacles.

By BODNEY DUTCHER, Herald Washington Correspondent

Washington, Nov. 27—The dove now in Congress will investigate the New Deal from stem to stern, overwhelming Democratic majorities notwithstanding.

If President Roosevelt doesn't want his new recovery agencies to become the clozap targets of senatorial sharpshooters, he must exert his influence to the limit.

NEA, Farm Recovery, Public Works, and others are preparing for the attack. Resolutions for their investigation secretly have been drafted. Some of the resolutions hypocritically profess a friendly purpose.

The Republican minority in the Senate will be joined by sufficient Democrats to pass resolutions actuated by these motives:

1. Regretment at patronage "niggardiness" and hope of bullying the administration into greater liberality.

2. Strong sectional or class interest, such as that of western farmers in the agricultural program.

3. Soreness at the administration's full assumption of powers and prerogatives delegated by Congress, and its procedure without consultation with the members, whose customary advice is replaced by that of the Brain Trust.

Progressives adore investigations and few feel they owe the administration enough to cause them to block any now.

President Not Target. The present backwash of sentiment against the administration is strangely devoid of feeling against Mr. Roosevelt himself. Congress, reflecting its constituents, won't be aiming at the president as it investigates. Its barbs will be aimed at subordinates and policies.

Squirrel's in Right Few. A gray, bushy-tailed squirrel has come to infest the vast corridors of the State-War Building, often diverting diplomats and generals from thoughts of international intrigue or poison gas.

State and War departments each contend that the animal is the other's guest, though some Foreign Service men whisper among themselves that it headed for the Western European division as soon as it saw that section's sign.

Barnacles Due to Go. A shakeup soon is due in the Indian Bureau, where Commissioner John Collier has been struggling desperately to reform a generation-old bureaucracy and give the redskin wards a break.

Some old-timers who insist on cluttering up the path of progress are scheduled to go. Under the economy act, department heads may remove even officials under civil service, simply by changing their positions.

Who is to blame for the epidemic of strikes? Apparently, not the people who go on strike—at least not primarily, according to official pronouncements.

Senator Robert Wagner, chairman of the National Labor Board, let it be known that more than 70 per cent of current labor disputes were due to questions of union recognition and collective bargaining. Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins goes farther toward placing blame on employers.

"If employers had in all cases accepted without struggle the requirement of the law that collective bargaining is permitted and required where desired," she says, "there would have been a reduction of from 50 to 75 per cent in the number of disputes in the last few months."

PSYCHIATRY NEEDS ARE TALKED OVER

Dedication of Cornerstone of Nurses' Home at Retreat Held.

Hartford, Nov. 27.—A program for the future development of the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute and Hospital of the Hartford Retreat, Connecticut's oldest hospital, as an institution encompassing the entire field of modern psychiatry was announced here this afternoon during exercises which marked the dedication of the cornerstone of the new Nurses' Home of the Retreat.

Prominent figures in the medical and hospital world, and in the political life of the state, participated in the ceremonies which were concluded with the laying of the cornerstone by Governor Willbur L. Cross.

The carrying out of the plans for the hospital's future, which were outlined by Dr. C. Charles Burtin, physician-in-chief, must, however, wait until funds are made available to the institution. This was asserted by Robert W. Huntington, chairman of the board of managers of the Retreat, who laid emphasis in his address on the statement that the mental hospital has the same purpose as the ordinary hospital—to restore patients to health—and should be equally entitled to public support.

"It has always seemed to me that a mental hospital was entitled to the same favor from the charitable inclined that a hospital dealing with the physical receives," Mr. Huntington declared. "The fact that the mental hospital does not appeal equally to the sympathies of all is to me mysterious."

"The future development of this institution is very largely in the hands of those persons throughout the State who are philanthropically disposed. A program of future development which will keep the hospital in the foreground has been projected, but must wait until such time as resources can be placed at its disposal."

Describing the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute as "still in an embryonic stage of development," Dr. Burtin named pictured the Institute of the future as a place to which any doctor would be able to send for assistance in handling neuro-psychiatric problems, where any medical man would be eligible to come to receive or contribute to knowledge in the field of psychiatry, where the best minds of the profession would accept the challenge of psychiatry and specialize in this line, and where the new profession of psychiatric nursing would be developed. Included in the program would be psychiatric work for children, complementing efforts of child guidance clinics.

"Most of the work we project is yet to be done," said "The Institute is still in an embryonic stage of development. All of these things we must do in the future if we are to encompass the field of modern psychiatry as our founders did the field as it was conceived in their day. This program can only be prosecuted as the resources of the Institute expand. We do not aspire to be great in size or quantity; we do aspire to quality. We do not aspire to exclusively occupy any field; but we do aspire to encompass the entire field and to be equal to the best in it."

Governor Cross contrasted the recent remarkable advances in psychiatry with the hopeless attitude toward mental disease that prevailed in the Elizabethan Age. Modern psychiatry, he asserted, has given an affirmative answer to the question asked of one of Shakespeare's doctors, "Canst thou not minister to a mind diseased?" to which "at that time a shrug of the shoulders was the only reply."

The governor also spoke of one of his former students, Clifford Beers of New Haven, who through his book, "A Mind That Found Itself," and his personal efforts created an interest throughout the country in the prevention and cure of mental disease.

The 111-year-old history of the Retreat, the first hospital on the American continent founded by medical men for the care of nervous and mental diseases exclusively, was traced by Dr. McDonnell, who told of its establishment in 1822 as the result of agitation by the Connecticut State Medical Society. Dr. McDonnell also described the development of medical knowledge in relation to mental and nervous ailments.

Of recent studies of the human mind to discover causes other than environment which influence human behavior, he said: "The unusually competent staff of this institution has led the van of this kind of research, and the end is not yet in sight. We, the successors of those men of vision in the Connecticut Medical Society who inaugurated this movement, are proud of the Hartford Retreat and of its adjunct, the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute and Hospital. We not only wish you well in your work, but we shall continue to work with you in your noble purpose."

Other speakers included Rabbi Abraham J. Feldman of Temple Beth Israel, this city, who discussed the importance of modern psychiatry in aiding in the development of a higher quality of life. He compared the beneficial results obtained by the progress in this field with those ensuing from the development of modern government and religion from their early states, when acceptance and not investigation was the order of the day.

FRIENDS SAVE DAN FROM POTTER FIELD

Well Known Gambler Killed in Fall Was Penniless When Death Came.

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Tonight Broadway's "Dan the Dude" will sleep in Beth David cemetery, hardly a derby distance from Belmont Park where, in season, sprint the horses that "always ran fast for Dan."

Somewhat when the Broadway crowd read in the papers November 14 that "Daniel Harris" had jumped or fallen from a window of a Seventh avenue hotel, it did not associate the name with the character it had known so well. To Broadway, Daniel Harris had always been "Dan the Dude."

The body went to the morgue and lay there unclaimed. Last Saturday a policeman dropped into the Seventh avenue store of Isadore Yereshavsky—"Izzy the Cigar Man"—and inquired about Dan the Dude. Izzy had not seen Dan for a week.

"There's a body at the morgue," said the officer, biting off the end of one of Izzy's cigars, "and the name they got is Daniel Harris."

"I'll go down and see," the cigar man said. "But it most likely isn't the dude."

Gambler Identified. But it was. The gambler for whom the horses "always ran fast" had died broke—he who once was rated half a millionaire. Word got around in the night

NEW RIFLE RANGE PROVES POPULAR

Major Allan L. Dexter Fires First Shot Before Sixty Members.

The new indoor rifle range of the American Legion in the Selwicks block was opened Saturday afternoon with appropriate ceremonies. Major Allan L. Dexter, plans and training officer of the 189th Regiment, C. N. G., fired the first shot of the afternoon in the presence of about 60 members and guests of the club.

The winner of the turkey shoot was A. Fuller, of 50 Middle Turnpike, who shot a perfect score of 100 with his handicap allowance.

Members of the club were pleased at the interest shown by the riflemen of the town in their new range and a good season is promised with several new teams preparing to take the field against the local marksmen. It is expected that the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the High School will form teams soon and will use the new indoor range for their matches.

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS ENDORSE 'LITTLE WOMEN'

Screen Adaptation to Have New England Premiere at State Wednesday.

Louisa M. Alcott will live forever in the hearts of countless thousands of children just as long as her books are reprinted, and particularly in the character of "Jo" in "Little Women", which comes to the State Theater Wednesday evening at 8:30 in a gala New England premiere, with Katherine Hepburn, Hartford girl, as the first screen "Jo". Countless children and grownups who have revealed in the pages of "Little Women" will be thrilled by the reproduction of this colorful period and will live over and love the romantic adventures of "Jo" and her three sisters, Meg, Beth and Amy. Miss Alcott herself acknowledged that "Little Women" was really the story of herself and her sisters, with such slight changes of time and place as were necessary to make the tale complete. The few Manchester people who have seen this delightful picture in New York are loud in their praises of it, and of the work of Miss Hepburn, who is particularly well cast in the role of Jo, and the other supporting artists. "Little Women" has the full endorsement of the Better Films League of Manchester, The Manchester Girl Scout Council, the Manchester Mothers club and other welfare societies.

CHARITIES REDUCED $1,400 BY CWA JOBS

First Checks Distributed Saturday; Not to Pay Rents of Those Enrolled.

With the distribution of $604.50 in federal checks to 43 local men Saturday, the reduction in the charity expense, based on the report of October was approximately $1,400. According to the October summary, the same men now on the CWA rolls received $1,899.89 for rent, fuel, food and other expenses. The fuel consumption for the month of October was less than the current month, and it is assumed that the total expense for the same number of families represented would have been in excess of that figure had they been retained on the charity list. Superintendent of Charities G. H. Waddell has notified landlords here that effective December 1, no rents will be paid by the town for those now on the CWA work projects and receiving federal checks. A notice from Hartford that F. Perry Close, civil engineer, has been added to the CWA staff in an advisory capacity has also been received by the town treasurer. The local CWA committee may avail themselves of the advice of Mr. Perry on local projects.

The splinter was three quarters of an inch long. Miss Mildred Latham of Hartford is staying a few days with her niece, the Misses Adella, Ahlene and Margaret Badger. Miss Anne Dix left early Sunday morning for Montclair, N. J., where she will spend the week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Newton Falder.

BULLITT RESUMES WORK

Washington, Nov. 27.—(AP)—William C. Bullitt, newly appointed ambassador to Soviet Russia, resumed his work at the State Department today after a final talk with President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Georgia. He leaves Washington for New York tomorrow and expects to sail Wednesday for Europe. Acting Secretary William Phillips said today the State Department is considering appointments for the staff of the Moscow Embassy and of consulates in Soviet Russia, but will not announce the personnel for sometime.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The flowers of inflation seemed to have lost some more of their speculative bloom today and stocks and staples slipped to lower levels in rather dull trading. Currency stabilization hopes were given further encouragement by the fact that the R. F. C. again failed to boost the domestic gold rate. The British pound slumped some 12 cents and the French franc was down about 14 of a cent. Grains, cotton, rubber and silver futures sagged. There were some resistant equity spots, notably the alcohols, but the metals were heavy along with a number of industrial specialties. U. S. Government securities again moved up substantially. Shares up fractionally included National Distillers, Schenley, American Commercial Alcohol and U. S. Industrial Alcohol. Homestake Mining dropped 7, U. S. Smelting 5, while losers of a point or more included McIntyre, Dome and Cerro, Pasco, Case and Western Union yielded 4 points and International Harvester and Allied Chemical lost more than 2. American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Consolidated Gas, Sears Roebuck, Johns-Manville, General Motors, Chrysler and Westinghouse showed recessions of fractions to 2 or more. Wall street opinion, despite jumpy price fluctuations, was mildly optimistic. While the public, generally, was still on the outside looking in, some odd-lot brokers reported a fair amount of purchases for cash on the various dips. The holding of the domestic gold price at $38.75 an ounce since last Tuesday was interpreted in some quarters as pointing toward dollar stabilization. Various financial commentators, however, feel that the administration must work the gold rate up to around $36 in order to thoroughly test its manipulating program for the raising of commodity prices. Most bankers were counselling against premature conclusions regarding inflationary potentials. Here, it is pointed out that thus far there has been no actual currency expansion and that the purchasing power of the dollar cannot be easily demolished even should this be intended. So far as buying power is concerned, some observers recall that a 60-cent dollar now will buy much more than the 70-cent dollar in July because of the reaction in prices and business since the summer months. Most banking circles feel that the return of the dollar to gold, on a bullion instead of coin basis, is necessary before business and industry can gain any real momentum on the advance. These "sound money" advocates believe that it is not so important whether the dollar is placed on a 50, 55, 60 or 70-cent base, but it is contended, erratic trade currents will continue to prevail so long as the stated value of the monetary unit is problematical. The Knoxville, Tenn., vote in approval of a bond issue to provide a municipally-owned electric power system was of much interest to followers of the public utility stocks who fear that leading corporations may have to further decrease rates. A state-wide croquet tournament was held this year at McMinville, Tenn.

TO GIVE UP BLUE EAGLES

Chambersburg, Pa., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Asserting continued compliance with the NRA would ruin them financially, proprietors of 17 restaurants have decided to surrender their Blue Eagles. Some of the restaurateurs already have taken down their NRA signs. All of them are members of the Chambersburg Restaurant Owners' Association, which was formed at the time the restaurant code became effective. They have complied 100 per cent with the NRA agreement up to now. Chambersburg, with about 13,000 residents, has slightly more than 20 restaurants.

He is survived by a nephew and niece at Philadelphia where the funeral services will take place Wednesday.

PRIEST IS SENTENCED

Essen, Germany, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Rev. Fr. Karl Klinkhammer, a Catholic priest, was sentenced to six months in jail today on a charge of having made derogatory remarks from his pulpit which were "calculated to disturb public peace seriously." Father Klinkhammer's sermons in Essen church March 12 and April 20, the latter in observance of Chancellor Hitler's birthday, contained, according to the charge, "utterances which were intentional provocations of Naziism."

A-N CLUB PRAISED FOR EFFICIENCY

Col. Bissell Tells Members Organization Has Been Well Managed.

Chairman Aaron Cook of the Manchester Board of Selectmen was the special guest Saturday night at the annual supper and social of the Army and Navy Club. In his response to toastmaster Colonel Harry E. Bissell, Mayor Cook lauded the fine spirit that had been expressed by the local social club since the building was planned and built for the returning soldiers and sailors in 1919. Two hundred members attended the supper and social.

A fine program of entertainment followed the annual turkey supper prepared by Chef David McCollum and his committee. The headliners were Miss Margaret Roberts, former prima donna of the "Blossom Time" Company of New York who favored with many hit songs, also several war songs. Miss Belle Gannon also contributed song hits of the White Way. Ivan White accompanied on the piano.

The Two Paulins favored with Hillbilly songs and chatter and Lou Jones, tenor, sang several effective numbers. Billy Brennan, Irish tenor of the 19th Hole Grill, Hartford, dished to the club his contribution of old Irish favorites. Colonel Harry B. Bissell, who has always had a warm spot in his heart for the club and its members, many of whom served with him on the Western Front, reviewed the history of the club since its inception in 1919 by generous friends of the "boys."

TWO GANGSTERS SLAIN

Detroit, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Police searched the Detroit area and surrounding counties today for the men who early Sunday shot to death Axel and Eddie Fletcher, members of the once powerful Purple Gang. The bodies of the two victims were found slumped in the rear seat of an automobile on a lonely road near the north side suburb of Bloomfield Hills, by an Oakland county constable, approximately 80 minutes after the slaying. The men apparently had been slain by two other men with whom they were riding.

ROCKVILLE FORMER MAYOR GRIST DIES; ILL SHORT TIME

Born in England But Lived in United States 40 Years; Was a Weaver.

Former Mayor Joseph Grist, 64, who has long been prominent in the Republican ranks in Rockville, died suddenly at his home at 89 Orchard street at 9:15 o'clock Saturday evening. Death is the result of complications following a short illness at his home Saturday.

Mr. Grist was born June 24, 1869, at Wesley, England, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Grist. He was residing in the United States approximately 40 years. For the past 30 years he has been connected with the weaving department of the Springville mill of the Hockanum Mills company and worked until about two weeks ago.

He was a Republican in politics and has held the office of councilman, alderman and mayor. Fraternally he was a Past Master of Fayette Lodge No. 69, A.F.A.M., Court Hearts of Oak, Foresters of America, General Kitchener Lodge, Sons of St. George; Tankersoon Tribe, No. 51, Improved Order of Red Men; and the Order of Odd Fellows.

He was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, a vestryman of the church, a member of the Men's Guild, junior choirmaster, and superintendent of the Sunday school. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Thomas Goldstraw, of Rockville; one granddaughter, Fay Goldstraw; two half-brothers, William J. Flower of Rockville and Ernest Flower of England.

The funeral of Mr. Grist will be held from his late home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from St. John's Episcopal church at 2:30. Burial will be in Grove Hill cemetery.

Andover Professor Fined
Roscoe E. Dale, professor in the Andover Preparatory School at Andover, Mass., was fined $100 for reckless driving when he was caught by a patrolman of the State Police on Nov. 26 at 11 o'clock.

Prosecuting Attorney John B. Thomas explained the case in agreeing to drop the charge, saying there was no accident and Mr. Dale was a person who would profit by his experience.

Attorney Mahoney pleaded with the court to impose the minimum fine. Judge Fisk imposed a fine of $10 and costs of $11.31, but refused to remit part of the fine or costs.

Reminded Unconscious by Blow
Bernard Obenaus, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Obenaus, 27 Winslow avenue, was rendered unconscious Saturday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile driven by Thomas Flavel, of 33 Windermere avenue, Rockville.

The condition of the child was considered critical as a result of the accident, with little hope held for his recovery. Flavel was driving on Windsor avenue on his way from Hartford, according to the story he told the police, and as he approached Winslow avenue intersection with Windsor avenue, not far from the child's home, the youngster suddenly ran across the street. Flavel made every effort to avoid hitting the child and turned his auto hard to the left, but the right front fender struck knocking down Bernard. It was believed that the boy's skull struck the pavement.

In an unconscious condition, he was rushed to the Rockville City Hospital in the automobile of Cedric Ott, who was passing nearby. Dr. R. C. Ferguson, local physician, rendered first aid. There were severe lacerations about the face and head and numerous body bruises.

At the hospital yesterday his condition was still critical. An x-ray was taken to determine whether his skull was fractured. The matter is under investigation by the local police but no arrests have been made.

An invitation has been extended to all dealers of the county to attend. An explanation will be made by John Dalley, proprietor of the Dalley garage, who has recently been appointed as the Tolland County N.R.A. administrator. A Fine Play for Welfare Fund The play entitled "Little Women"

Former Mayor Frederick G. Hartenstein, chairman of the Democratic city committee, will preside. Rockville was well represented at the Yale-Harvard football game in Boston Saturday, more than fifty attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Little, members of the Rockville High school faculty, who were married Friday afternoon, returned to their duties at the school this morning. They plan a more extensive wedding trip later.

Mr. Albert E. Waite, who returned from the Rockville City hospital Saturday after a two weeks' illness, was reported as greatly improved at his home on Union street yesterday.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, will hold a meeting in the rooms of Victory Assembly in the Prescott Block Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. A social will follow the meeting.

After a preliminary training of three months he will be transferred to the Navy Trade School. This young man is well known in Rockville, having been an attendant at the Rockville High school.

The regular meeting of the Board of Selectmen will be held Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock in the Town Hall, with Francis J. Pritchard presiding.

WAPPING

The Sudd Memorial Library will be closed next Thursday afternoon, Thanksgiving Day, but will be open Monday evening as usual.

The pupils of Ellington School at Job's Hill school visited the Union School of South Windsor, last Friday afternoon, where they exchanged ideas. The arrangements were made through the new superintendent, I. Burton Dunfield, after the showing of the school's work. The Union pupils entertained their friends at a social hour at which refreshments were served.

There was another automobile accident on Main street opposite William Waldren's house last Friday night between 11 and 12 o'clock, when two cars crashed. A truck without lights was in the road. One man, from New Haven, was out about his face and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stowall of Wapping, on the Ellington road, north of the center, were coming home. Mr. Stowall is a mail clerk in Hartford. Mrs. Stowall was thrown through the windshield and was cut seriously on her face. It was thought her nose and jaw were broken and she also lost several teeth. She was removed to the Manchester Memorial hospital. Mr. Stowall also was cut on his face. Both cars were badly damaged.

All schools in town will close next Tuesday for the Thanksgiving vacation. The Junior Christian Endeavor Society will omit their meeting Sunday on account of the dedication services at three o'clock for the new Community Church House. Miss Lois Foster was the guest of Miss Dorothy Dewey over the weekend. They spent the day Saturday in Hartford.

"BARTERED BRIDE" AT 11

An ex-wife at 11 years. That's Dorothy Holsel whom you see back at her first grade studies in Oklahoma City after a judge annulled her marriage to T. J. Holsel, her 67-year-old husband. Probation officers said Dorothy's father "traded" her for Holsel's daughter of 16.

Nazi Campaign on in U. S.?' 'No,' Insist German Groups; 'Yes,' Says Inquiry Leader

New York (AP)—Two principal elements are being asked by government investigators delving into pro-Nazi activities in the United States.

Briefly, they are summed up as follows:
1. Are Nazis loosing propaganda inimical to the democratic form of government in this country? Or—
2. Are Nazi sympathizers seeking only to promote better understanding between America and Germany?

Rep. Samuel Dickstein of New York, chairman of the House committee on immigration, says: "Yes" to the first question; "those under investigation say: "Yes" to the second.

So far the official limelight has played chiefly on the activities of a society called the Friends of New Germany, which claims a nationwide membership in the United States of 10,000.

That organization has been reputedly under the control of Heinz Spanknoebel, the German citizen recently indicted by a Federal Grand Jury for acting as a German propaganda agent in this country without registering with the State Department.

When Federal authorities sought to question him he had disappeared. Dr. Ignatz T. Griebel of New York former president of the society, has been questioned by a Federal Grand Jury in New York and is expected to be a witness before Dickstein's committee in Washington.

Another pro-Nazi leader who may figure in the inquiries being pursued by postal and immigration authorities as well as by the Grand Jury and the House committee on immigration is Fritz Glasibel, who as secretary is acting head of the Friends of New Germany.

"We hope to create a sympathetic bond between the United States and Germany," says Glasibel. "We are not the Nazi party or the Nazi government representatives. We are working... to fight propaganda now being spread against Germany."

It is Dickstein's contention, however, that the society is a Nazi organization sponsoring causes in opposition to the American form of government. He seeks deportation of alien Nazi leaders.

Dickstein charges that German-Americans are urged to sign up with Friends of the New Germany and to pay fees amounting to $14 yearly if they refuse, he says, "they are told they still owe allegiance to Germany."

"The Nazis claim a strength of from 50,000 to 60,000 here. Boycott Campaign Charged" "They are asking German-Americans to boycott Jewish-American goods and stores. We have proof that these Nazis are taking pictures of strikes here and sending them back to Germany as evidence of the disunion they are causing."

Members here say there are some 2,500 Steelhelms in the United States, and that about 35 per cent of them are American citizens.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Greensburg, Pa.—While husking corn, Clair Kelley of New Alexandria saw a rabbit. He hurled an ear of corn at the animal, popped it between the ears, and killed it. Slippery Rock, Pa.—It was only a typographical error, but it looked as though the borough councilmen elected November 7 were going to have a long time to train for their jobs. Notices of election mailed to the winners informed them they were to take office January 1, 1994. The real induction time January 1, 1934.

Chicago—Four men seen running around different parts of Chicago with nothing to protect them from a snowstorm but their underwear weren't doing it as a lark, they explained individually to police. Each had been held up by bandits who turned them loose after stripping them down in the early hours of the Sabbath.

Philadelphia—Society chairman of the fashion show, annual feature of a welfare bazaar, are becoming perturbed. Part of the show is to be devoted to a review of styles of the last 100 years. Hoop skirts, ruffles, loops and other odd creations have been turned in galore but try as they will, chairman have been unable to find one of those distinctive appendages—a bustle.

Chicago—It was nothing less than a shock to Sergeant Frank Corcoran of the police department when he picked up the telephone and a voice reported a robbery in the apartment building where he resides. "Why that's the building I live in," he said.

"Yes, I know," replied the voice at the other end of the line. "This is your wife speaking."
Among other things she said the robbers stole Corcoran's supply of shirts.

Denison, O.—Solomon Lawver, who will be 80 Christmas day, made a 10-mile trip to New Philadelphia more than three score years ago—and that's still the longest trip he ever made. He was born on a farm near here and hasn't been out of Denison in 58 years. There's no particular reason he just "doesn't like to go any place."

Denver—For 20 years Lee Taylor Casey, dean of Denver editorial writers, has been writing about other people and their deeds but eight kings in a pinocchio game was the vehicle by which he himself finally crashed into page one news. The Rocky Mountain News, of which Casey is one of the oldest employees in point of service, says that the veteran newspaperman misled the eight kings for a score of 800 in a game at the Denver Press Club—the first feat of its kind within the portals of that organization.

Oklahoma City—A lot of job-hunters kept the Elite Citizen telephone busy last week. A newspaper printed their number by mistake in a front-page story telling readers how to reach the Civil Works administration.

Chicago—The Leonard Stevenson sits down to his Thanksgiving dinner—just where is still uncertain—the two turkeys and a goose police say he acquired yesterday won't grace the table. Police grabbed him zigzagging his way away from a closed meat market with turkey under each arm and a goose in his hand. They want him to explain how the glass door of the market happened to be smashed.

The construction industry is the second largest in this country; it is capitalized at about $6,000,000,000 and normally employs more than 4,000,000 men.

ASK LINDY'S AID
Geneva, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Hopes that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh of the United States may decide to cooperate in solving some of the aviation questions before the League were expressed by officials of the body today.

They indicated they thought it might be an excellent idea if they could secure the American fier's services on the air transport committee, composed of various experts who do not act as representatives of their various governments. They made it clear, however, that no official decision has been reached and that Lindbergh has not been approached.

Donald Nichols, one of the four in the automobile accident on the Bolton-Andover road early Friday morning, was discharged from the Manchester Memorial hospital yesterday. He had a long and deep cut above his right eye. Miss Lovelle Zeller, killed at the same time, was yesterday buried in Mt. Hope cemetery, Willimantic. HOW 7c A DAY helps the family budget

"WHEN Jim and I decided to have a telephone we wondered if we could afford it. We thought we might be adding a luxury. So for one month after it was put in we made a careful check of the use we made of it. "What we learned amazed us. In taking care of routine errands and shopping, it saved more than its cost. We got in on a number of good times we would have missed without it. Jim had some important calls at night, which meant a lot to him. It enabled us to meet several emergencies. It was plain to us that our telephone, apart from N.E.A. its convenience, actually saved us money."

Vote to Meet There for the Winter—Hear Parker Soren on Travels.

The local Kiwanis Club met at the new Hotel Sheridan for the first time this noon, the members being so impressed with the efficient service and the extensive renovation that they voted unanimously to hold their weekly meetings at the hotel through the winter months. To celebrate the occasion, the management served a special Thanksgiving Day dinner with turkey as the main item of the menu.

Soren Is Speaker
Today's speaker was Parker Soren, manager of the Manchester Electric company, who told the members of his travels in Central America, describing the fruit industry there and amplifying his talk with photographs taken on the trip. He said that it is dangerous for Englishmen and Americans to work there, as the natives are decidedly antagonistic.

A new slate of officers was elected to serve for the coming year, as follows: Harlowe Willis, president; C. Elmore Watkins, vice-president; Charles Burr, treasurer. The Board of Directors was as follows: Dr. LeVerne Holmes, Elmer Weden, Tom Bentley, George Keith, Harry Cude, James Turnbull and Joel Nichols.

ROBBER KEPT DIARY OF HIS MANY THEFTS

Boston, Nov. 27.—(AP)—What police described as the "rob-as-you-go" diary kept by Dr. Thomas G. Aved, 25, on his trans-continental tour from Burbank, Calif., to Boston was made public by the Boston Post today.

The alertness of two Boston policemen in plain clothes led to the arrest of Dr. Aved, a chiropractor. After questioning, he said, he admitted robberies in Salt Lake City, Laramie, Wyo.; Des Moines, Ia.; Chicago, Gettysburg, Pa., and Boston.

The suspicious actions of Dr. Aved as he walked down a Back Bay street attracted the attention of Sergeant Francis E. Maguire and Patrolman Maurice Sheehy last night. When they tried to question him they said he first attempted to pull his gun, which they wrested away and then admitted he was planning to hold up the first man he met.

They said he had been living with an uncle, a highly respected Boston physician, recently. They said Aved also known as Aveson said he started out on his career after a girl had declined to marry him. He represented that he kept the diary so that he might later make restitution to his victims.

FALSE APPLICATION
Greenwich, Nov. 27.—(AP)—John A. Simigowski of the Glenville section was charged in town court with falsifying his application for registration of a car, this being the first case of this kind here.
Simigowski's certificate of registration gave his address as Lynnville, and there is no such place here, and his license gave his address as Glenville. His markers also did not fit the car he has been driving.
Simigowski said in court his application was made out by a garage man at Meriden. The case was continued until the latter can be questioned.

LONG THREATENED WEALTHY OIL MAN Told to Contribute $5,000 and Cease His Political Activities.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 27.—(AP)—S. D. Hunter, wealthy Shreveport oil operator today told the Senate committee investigating the election of Senator John H. Overton, (D., La.), that Senator Huey P. Long, who supported Overton, had told him that if he did not contribute $5,000 to the Overton campaign he would be arrested for anti-Long political activities, he would be arrested for over-production of gas and oil.

Hunter said he refused to make the contribution and sent back the Overton campaign and ceased his anti-Long political activities, but after some time, Senator Long sent word to him that the charges would not be pressed and for him "to forget it."

He said he was first approached by Dr. J. A. Shaw, in charge of the Shreveport office of the State Conservation Department. Dr. Shaw said, he testified, that Robert Maestri, a Long-Overton appointee as head of the conservation department, had ordered Hunter to cut down his output 75 per cent.

"I asked him if it was also applying to other operators," said Hunter. "And he replied 'no.'"
"I then called Senator J. A. Noe, a member of the Long-Overton faction, but a personal friend of mine, and asked him to find out what it was all about. Senator Noe told me the state administration was incensed over my activities in politics and wanted them stopped and wanted me to make a $5,000 contribution to the Overton campaign and agree not to support Pike Hall for Congress and not to take part in any campaign in the future."
"I told Senator Noe that I had not decided who I would support in the Senatorial campaign but that I would continue to support Pike Hall for Congress and expected to make a small contribution to his campaign."
"Senator Noe said he hated to see me take that position and that the administration would file charges against me for over-production of gas and oil and I would be tried and sent to the state penitentiary."

Harry Bonkouk, age 11, appeared at the Manchester police station Saturday afternoon and with tears in his eyes told his story. He had left his bicycle standing near the curb while he went into a store on Spruce street. It slipped down and the wheels were a little away from the curb. From the store he saw a woman driving a car and heard a crash. He ran out and found that the automobile had passed over the bicycle and broken a wheel. The police succeeded in identifying the driver of the car. She hadn't known anything about damaging a bicycle or hurting any boy's feeling and agreed to pay for the damage at once.

THANKSGIVING CANTATA SPLENDIDLY RENDERED
North Methodist Church Choir Complimented—Contributed Food Adds Color.

The choir and organist of the North Methodist church are being complimented on their splendid rendition of the Thanksgiving cantata, "Faith and Praise," by John E. West in the auditorium of the church last evening. The spirit of Thanksgiving was visible in the array of vari-colored fruits and vegetables which the parishioners had contributed for Thanksgiving cheer to others in need, and which the committee had artistically arranged at the front of the pulpit. The singers occupied the entire platform in front of the organ, instead of being grouped at the side as on previous occasions.

The Masonic Temple male quartet sang two numbers as a vocal prelude and took part in the responses. Advance notices of the charm and

WOULD MUZZLE PRESS

Gary, Ind. Nov. 27.—(AP)—Congressman William T. Schultz of the First Indiana District predicted in a speech last night that the next Congress would pass legislation "muzzling the Press" and declared "it needs muzzling."

"In addition to fighting the thieves of Wall Street," Schultz, a Democrat, said "we are going to have to deal with a subsidized press, whose slogan just now seems to be 'Stop Roosevelt!'"

Harry Long, Gary attorney, answered Schultz, declaring "every newspaper has a right to criticize the government if it sees fit."

WOULD MUZZLE PRESS
Gary, Ind. Nov. 27.—(AP)—Congressman William T. Schultz of the First Indiana District predicted in a speech last night that the next Congress would pass legislation "muzzling the Press" and declared "it needs muzzling."

CANADIENS ARE WEEK'S SENSATION IN HOCKEY

Sweep Into Canadien Division Lead by Whipping Maple Leafs, Then Bow to Detroit in Bruising Tilt; Chicago Draws Huge Crowd.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The brilliant work of the Montreal Canadiens as they swept into the Canadien division lead, the beginning of a shakeup in the ranks of the Montreal Maroons and the question of what all the world champion New York Rangers all served to keep National hockey league fans interested last week.

The Canadiens were the week's sensation as they stormed the Citadel of the Toronto Leafs and took the lead away from them. The Habitués started out by whipping the Maroons 5-0. They trimmed Ottawa 1-0 to take the lead and Saturday they increased their margin by giving Toronto its first defeat of the season, by the same score. They failed last night to keep up the good work, bowing to Detroit 4-2, in a bruising game.

Chicago defeated the Bruins 1-0 last night, before a crowd of 15,000, the largest to see a hockey game in Chicago in two years.

Boston, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Quebec Beavers were the works in the Canadian-American hockey league last week. A Beaver topped the scoring list, another stood in second place and there was a fair sprinkling of Beavers among the league's high penalty carriers.

Games This Week Wednesday: New Haven at Boston and Providence at Philadelphia. Friday: Boston at Providence and Philadelphia at Quebec. Sunday: Boston at New Haven.

OLYMPICS RETAIN LEAD BY EDGING NORTH ENDS

Locals Score Three Goals in Last Period to Win, 5-3, After Nip and Tuck Battle; Are Weakened by Loss of Regular Players.

By OBSERVER In a free scoring contest yesterday at Keney Park, Hartford, the Olympics got the better of the North Ends by the score of 5 goals to 3.

Handicapped by the absence of three regular forwards the Olympic team had to be rearranged to permit three defensive players to fill the three inside forward positions.

The Olympics were early in action and were soon a goal to the good. After 10 minutes they were ahead 1-0 when a shot was fired into the goal mouth where it was headed out only to drop at Threlfall's toe who shot it along the ground and through a mass of legs for the equalizer.

In a breakaway by the North Ends a corner was conceded to them. Brown deftly lifted it into the goal mouth where it was headed out only to drop at Threlfall's toe who shot it along the ground and through a mass of legs for the equalizer.

Michigan Equals Record Of Yost's Famous Teams

Chicago, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Champion of the Western Conference, and a shaver of the football title for four straight years, Michigan's Wolverines have accomplished a feat achieved previously only once— and then by another Michigan eleven. Purdue is upset.

Back in 1921-22-23-24, Fielding H. Yost's famous "point-a-minute" teams won or shared the championship. Since then, no team was able to do better than two consecutive titles, until Harry Kipke's Wolverines used the punt, pass and prayer to make it four.

The Wolverines put the clincher on the title Saturday by overcoming Northwestern, 13 to 0, for a record of five victories and a scoreless tie. The tie was attained by Minnesota, which also was undefeated. Ohio State went down 13 to 0, and Chicago and Ohio State, 26 to 0 by Michigan. Illinois was beaten by the margin of a point after touchdown, 7 to 6, and Iowa bowed, 10 to 6. Against two non-conference teams, Michigan was victorious, 20 to 6, over Michigan State, and 40 to 0, over Cornell.

Minnesota finished an unusual season by defeating Wisconsin, 6 to 3, Saturday. The Gophers conquered

SENSE and NONSENSE

SMILE
Even though your heart be sad,
Try to smile, pretend you're glad,
Troubles won't seem half so bad...
If you smile.

When you're feeling very blue,
No one seems to care for you,
Here's the best thing you can do...
Try to smile.

Life is what we make it,
Sorrrows, joys, of each a bit;
You can make the best of it...
With a smile.

If there is one thing this country has learned in the depression it is that no man is wise enough or good enough to play with other people's money for personal profit without being watched.

When a woman feels like crying
the best thing is to let her cry.
Well, for the love of Pete, what else can one do?

Little Johnny — I saw you kiss your boy friend seven times last night. You got a few men nickel for each kiss or I'll tell Daddy on you!

Sister (sighing) — I always said it was the little things in life that count!

The old fashioned bathing girl used to make us think of old Mother Hubbard, but the flapper today resembles more her cupboard.

Bashful Youth—I want a present for a young lady.
Store Salesman — Sister or fiancée?

Bashful Youth — Well-er-she hasn't said which she will be yet.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE:
"I once lost some of the bank's money playing the stock market and then by taking some more, managed to clean up my losses and make a big pile besides," declared the bank clerk.

Mother — Helen, I want to know what you and George were doing on the sofa until three o'clock this morning.

Daughter — Oh, Mother, didn't your mama ever tell you.

Too many people are forgetting what money is for. It is to earn and spend, to borrow and lend — not to lock up.

How's Your Eyes?
That flappers will wear even less is the Impression from the styles we get—
And if that's true, and likely 'tis,
it means
That we just ain't seen nothing yet!

SHORTS... Progress involves risk. You can't steal second and keep your foot on first base...
The problem is to find a color that won't run, and a husband that won't run around... The way to hold a good job is to know more about it than anybody else... These are the times when the Joneses whom we like to keep up with have a hard time setting the pace... Too many cooks spoil the broth, and not enough boy friends spoil a girl's wedding cake... The man who keeps his sleeves rolled up is not apt to lose his shirt... Matrimonial bonds are the best investment provided you get a rich girl... So live that the only time you feel called on to go to prison is on visitor's day.

Gerald — Flathead is not near as big a fool as he used to be.
Frank — Why, has he reformed?
Gerald — No, he's dieting.

As It Turned Out, Bank Mergers
That Were The Rage At One Time
Not So Long Ago, Reduced The Number Of Failures.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

More than $156,000,000 has been spent in Florida in the mining of phosphate.
Lots in the municipal burying ground of Madrid are being offered on the installment plan.
