FIRM WILLING TO CONFER ON LIGHTS RATES

President Samuel Ferguson of Manchester Electric Co. Tells Herald Concessions Will Be Made.

President Samuel Ferguson of the Manchester Electric Company, in an open letter to the Public Utilities Commission of the State of Connecticut, dated November 22, indicates the willingness upon the part of the company to meet with representatives of the Town of Manchester, the Public Utilities Commission, and the Manchester Electric Company, at which time the company will endeavor to make such rate adjustments as will result in a betterment of public relations between the company and its patrons.

The letter was in reply to a suggestion made by the Public Utilities Commission. Both are printed in today's Herald.

In the letter addressed to the president of the company, the commission outlined the action taken during the past two years by a group of patrons who sought to bring about reductions in the area charge and the rate structure of the local company.

The commission points out that the detailed evidence presented at the hearing proved that the rates established by the company were not excessive, but suggested that the feeling between the company and its patrons might be improved if the company were to make some concession or reduction was suggested as the means by which this might be effected.

The date of the conference between the Public Utilities Commission, town officials and representatives of the Manchester Electric Company has been set for Thursday, December 7 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. The conference will be held in the offices of the Public Utilities Commission, State Office Building, Hartford.

At the special meeting of the Board of Selectmen last Monday night, the lighting committee of the Board, composed of Chairman Cook and Selectmen Sheverson, G. Bowers and John I. Kennedy were named to attend the conference. Town Counsel William S. Hyde will accompany the committee at the conference. Selectman S. G. Bowers, a member of the committee, took a prominent part in the original appeal to the Public Utilities Commission for rate structure reductions.

PAUPERS OF STATE COSTING MILLIONS

Over 32,000 Persons Supported in Part Two Years, Official Reports.

Hartford, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Applications on behalf of state paupers have numbered 17,081 during the past two years and have involved 32,854 individuals as some applications involve a whole family or several other persons, according to the biennial report of State Agent Raymond F. Gates submitted to Governor Wilbur L. Cross today. The total cost to the state for these cases, in which reimbursement to 137 municipalities has occurred, has amounted to $2,504,468.89. De- partment workers have made 26,055 investigations covering all parts of the state and many have disclosed settlement or liability in another state or a foreign country, with the result that during the biennium 2,924 persons have been transferred to 82 other cities, and 441 persons have been re-admitted to 19 foreign lands.

31,058 Are Supported
On June 30, 1935, the classifications made established that there were 31,058 persons receiving support from the state and of these 2,877 cases were in the form of "outdoor relief," and there were 2,171 state cases receiving strictly institutional care as follows:
In hospitals for the insane 1,028
Institutions for the feeble-minded 77
Tuberculosis sanatoria 165
General hospitals 494
Municipal hospitals 56
almshouses 852.

Usual causes for the expenditures made for persons classified as state paupers. On July 1, 1919, the number so classified was 189. On June 30, 1931, the astounding total was 9,988 and for June 30, 1933 the total was 27,409. This situation, the report says, is but a continuation of the emergency that first began to present itself in serious form about July, 1929.

TURKEY ALSO ENJOYED MEAL

Vegetarian Society Had Him As Guest of Honor at Thanksgiving Banquet.

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The Thanksgiving dinner of the Vegetarian Society of New York was enjoyed by one and all—especially by the turkey. The turkey was the guest of honor at the affair. Presented by George Grey Barnard, it strutted about its case near the festive board, ate wheat and apples and watched the vegetable devouree celery, spinach, onions, green peppers and other dishes.

The turkey will be cared for by the society until it dies a natural death. Then it will be buried with its feathers on.

SELF RULE POLICY FOR LIQUOR TRADE

Federal Director Says There Will Be as Little Interference as Possible.

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—A policy of self-rule for the liquor industry to as great an extent as possible was voiced today by Joseph H. Choate, Jr., new director of the Federal Alcohol Control Administration.

In his first interview since his appointment Wednesday by President Roosevelt, Choate declared that the alcohol administration would cause a minimum of interference in establishing and operation of the post-repeal liquor industry.

"The new liquor 'Czar' said he did not expect anything in the way of a repeal celebration 'explosion' and expressed the opinion that return of liquor would result in a 'considerable reform in the drinking habits of the people.'

Choate, seated in his Wall street law office, smiled broadly at a barrage of technical questions fired at him by newspapermen.

"You may as well know," he said, "that you are dealing with a total ignoramus. I don't know anything more about this job than you do. I have been in Washington just 24 hours and I am almost lost in the complexity of the job."

"In general, however, I want to say that my appointment came without warning, despite the fact I am a Republican, and after I had expressed my views on state regulation. I spent all of Wednesday discussing matters with every one concerned in Washington, and in all that time, I never heard one word of politics mentioned."

Choate said that protection of dry states would be attempted through the liquor industry itself, under regulations set up by the various code authorities.

"The general theory," he said, "is that the F. A. C. A. will operate only when the industries fail to function themselves. The code gives the F. A. C. A. the power to act, however, when the control authorities established by the industry does not act."

The attitude of the liquor administration toward the various states, he added, was that of the President himself. In this connection, he said states would be given full authority over methods of sale, every effort would be made to eliminate bootlegging and efforts would be made to make available pure liquor at reasonable prices.

BIG STORM SWEEPS BLACK SEA COAST

17 Persons Drowned, 150 Missing; Damage Is Estimated at $225,000.

Istanbul, Turkey, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Seventeen persons were drowned, 150 were missing and damage estimated at $225,000 was done at Samsun today by a storm which raged violently along the whole Black Sea coast.

90 SURROUNDED BY ARCTIC ICE CALL FOR HELP

May Have to Leave Vessel in Far North and Take to Floes—In Jam for Two Months.

Moscow, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Ninety men and women aboard the ice-breaker Cheloukin, jammed and battered by Arctic ice for two months, may have to abandon the vessel and take to the floes of the East Siberian Sea.

Their plight was revealed today by a wireless message from the ship, helpless at 83 North Latitude, 172 West Longitude.

Provisions and fuel are being landed on the ice and everything is being made ready to leave the ship should further pounding by the floes, which gravely endangered her Nov. 25, necessitate abandonment. The ship reported the ice-battering menace had been temporarily relieved by a change in the wind but indicated another wind shift might crush her vessel.

Noted Scientist Aboard
The Cheloukin sailed from Murmansk August 10 carrying a crew of 91 commanded by Prof. Otto Schmidt, the noted Arctic authority, and a party of 17 passengers including five women and one child to relieve a little colony of scientists who had spent the previous winter on bleak Davidoff Island.

Unusually heavy ice prevented the ship from reaching closer than several miles from the island so, on Sept. 17, the transfer of the relief party and supplies was begun by means of an airplane carried on board for such an emergency.

On each return trip from the island, the plane brought to the ship (Continued on Page Three)

P. W. A. IS FAILURE AL SMITH ASSERTS

Says Civil Works Program Arranged Merely to Provide an Alibi.

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—To Alfred E. Smith, the public works administration is a "failure." Harold L. Ickes, Smith is "nourishing a grudge as the result of disappointed ambitions."

They said so last night, the former New York governor, in an editorial in the New Outlook, and the P. W. A. chief and interior secretary in an answering statement.

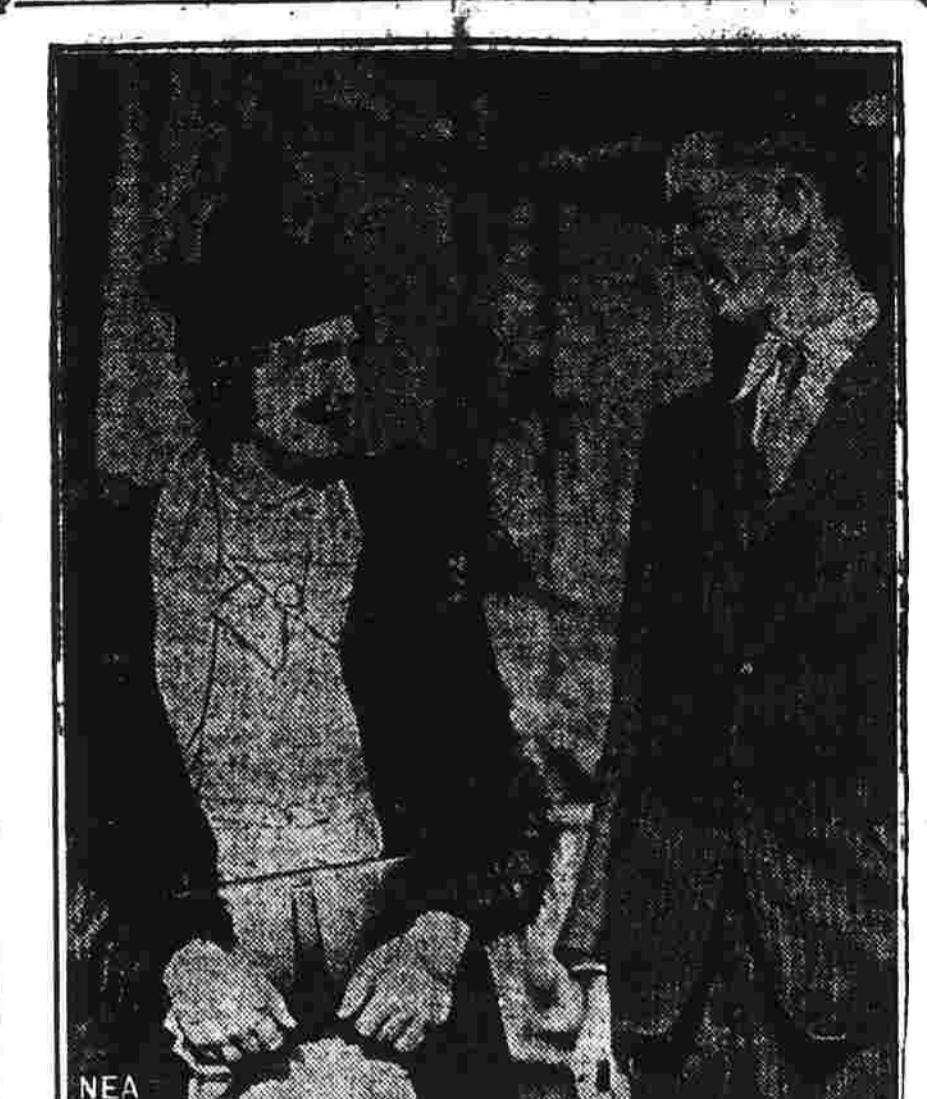

Smith, 1928 Democratic presidential candidate, held the new $400,000,000 civil works administration is being created to do the job scheduled for P. W. A. a "crazy, top-heavy structure choked with bureaucracy and red tape."

Provides an Alibi
Without a complete reorganization of the public works administration, he continued, "there will be no more public works under way on February 15, to absorb the civil workers than there are today to absorb the relief workers. x x x The civil works program will certainly afford an alibi for the incompetents in the public works administration."

To which Ickes replied: "Mr. Smith is permitting his resentment against the administration, to run away with his judgment. He is apparently under the illusion that the civil works administration was a logical development of the public works program."

"Hobo Poet" Is Scottsboro Witness

SAVANTS GIVE WARNING ON INFLATION PROGRAM

Eleven Social Science Professors Urge Immediate Return to the Gold Standard—Their Suggestion.

Swarthmore, Pa., Dec. 1.—(AP)—With a warning that President Roosevelt's monetary policy is moving toward inflation of "alarming proportions," 11 social science professors of Swarthmore college urge immediate return to the gold standard "although not necessarily with a dollar of the former gold content."

In a statement which they asserted was not "issued on behalf of Wall Street, but on behalf of the small income receivers," the savants said the present monetary policy will discredit its other programs.

"We believe in many of the policies of the government, both economic and non-economic," the statement said. "We approve of many of the ends sought by advocates of the monetary policy. We recognize that there are many degrees of 'inflation' and that as yet the government may be said to have inflated to a relatively slight degree."

"But we are convinced that the government policy is moving rapidly in the direction of an inflation of alarming proportions. This statement may only suggest the basis of our protest."

The Chief Danger.
"The chief danger of present developments, however, is that they point toward too much spending of a highly dangerous sort."

"People who get a dollar may come to feel they must spend it immediately, for fear it will be worth less tomorrow. Government borrowing from the banks for the sake of public expenditures or for the sake of temporarily financing private groups may become so large as to impair Federal credit and commercial bank safety far into the future."

King Absolved of Murder Committed 450 Years Ago

London, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Guilt in the murder of two boys who died 450 years ago clung today to the name of a King who died in battle only two years later.

His guilt, a belated coroner said, absolved another King who had been mentioned as the slayer of the two princely lads.

JOHNSON MAY IMPOSE CODE ON PHONE CO.

A. T. & T. and Aluminum Company Say They Have No Competition—Object to Regulations.

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson today told newsmen that if necessary he would impose NRA codes containing only labor provisions on both the telephone and the aluminum industries.

He had received from the A. T. and T. a communication objecting to coming under a code at all on grounds that the company was non-competitive.

In response to questions at a press conference, the NRA administrator said the Aluminum Company of America was refusing to accept a code with fair trade practice provisions.

Since this company controls 98 per cent of the business in this country and the law requires that a substantial proportion of any industry is needed to propose a code, Johnson said he did not see how one code is to be arrived at voluntarily.

He said, however, that he was prepared to impose, if necessary, a code prescribing wages, hours and other labor conditions for this industry and the telephone business as well.

The issue over inclusion of fair trade practices in the aluminum plan has come to a question of whether a monopoly now exists in violation of law, and whether the code is to be used as an instrument for breaking up advantages held by the Aluminum Company of America.

This concern, long dominated by the Mellon family, has control of the entire domestic production of virgin aluminum and with its manufacturing subsidiaries amounts to 99 per cent of the entire industry.

MAY PLACE LABOR MAN ON NRA BOARD

Unions May Be Represented on Code Authority, Gen. Johnson Announces.

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Indications that labor may obtain representation on important code authorities came today from Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator.

Discussing the position of the American Federation of Labor that the working man should be represented on the code authority, Johnson said he thought it was a question of whether labor really wants it.

"I never would lay down a hard and fast rule," he told newspapermen. "It seems to me when labor assumes responsibility for management, it is assuming responsibility for profit and loss—which is not labor's traditional position."

Labor has centered its fight for code authority representation on the National Bituminous Coal Industrial Board.

Before he left recently to see President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Johnson announced that he had recommended the appointment of himself, Fred G. Tryon and Judge George W. Anderson of Boston as presidential members of the board.

OVER MILLION MEN PUT BACK TO WORK IN A WEEK'S TIME

Reports from 44 States Received in Washington—Administration Expects to Place Three Millions More on Payrolls Within a Short Time.

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The civil works administration announced today that "approximately 1,350,000" were put on the civil works payroll during the first week of operation.

Reports to Harry L. Hopkins from 44 states and the District of Columbia were that 1,183,287 were employed as of November 25.

New Mexico, North Dakota, Massachusetts and Minnesota have not reported and Hopkins said their reports probably will bring the total to 1,950,000.

Oklahoma during the first week completed its entire quota under the program designed to give jobs to 4,000,000 persons throughout the country.

That state put 101,000 persons on civil works jobs, and Hopkins said today there are no more jobs for Oklahoma.

States Reporting
The states reporting and the number of men placed on jobs follow: Alabama, 37,170; Arizona, 8,279; Arkansas, 17,160; California, 20,500; Colorado, 10,531; Connecticut, 4,711; Delaware, 794; District of Columbia, 9,085; Florida, 45,894; Georgia, 71,483; Idaho, 1,000; Illinois, 47,920; Indiana, 23,804; Iowa, 14,889; Kansas, 32,084; Kentucky, 1,113; Louisiana, 37,840; Maine, 6,914; Maryland, 7,838; Michigan, 42,000; Minnesota, 19,814; Missouri, 5,121; Montana, 6,343; Nebraska, 3,000; Nevada, 250; New Hampshire, 3,478; New Jersey, 17,739; New York, 143,083; North Carolina, 6,686; Ohio, 58,047; Oklahoma, 101,000; Oregon, 5,067; Pennsylvania, 37,541; Rhode Island, 3,060; South Carolina, 38,178; South Dakota, 7,681; Tennessee, 30,189; Texas, 135,889; Utah, 2,801; Vermont, 3,000; Virginia, 5,342; Washington, 19,849; West Virginia, 22,535; Wisconsin, 40,000 and Wyoming 700. Total 1,183,287.

Rolls in October increased 3 per cent over September. Preliminary figures showed that 2,851,804 families on relief rolls at the end of October as compared with 2,794,640 at the end of the previous month.

The railroads have agreed to haul merchandise designed for relief distribution at reduced rates beginning today. The eastern roads are granting a reduction of 25 per cent on the regular commercial rates on all merchandise except coal and coke. On coal and coke the reduction is 30 per cent.

However, a minimum charge of $15 per car to pay for road haul service is to be made.

The western and southeastern railroads already were subject to reduction of from 35 to 40 per cent on Federal government shipments under the Federal land grant and bond aid clause and because of this no further reductions are being asked.

KAMINSKY IS HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

New Britain Youth Arraigned in Springfield Is Held Without Bail.

Springfield, Mass., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Alexander Kaminsky, formerly of New Britain, Conn., who escaped from Hampden jail here October 23, was arraigned today in Springfield, Conn., after the two are alleged to have beaten a jail guard, Merritt W. Hayden, inflicting injuries that caused death, was arraigned today charged with first degree murder and was held without bail for $50,000.

Kaminsky was arrested in Lynchburg recently and was brought back here by Sheriff D. J. Manning. Wargo was recaptured within a few hours of their escape. Kaminsky was arrested for highway robbery and burglary but was surrendered to Massachusetts authorities. He was identified as the man who was here by his fingerprints.

The pair made their escape when the guard failed to lock a door at the jail interior.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The position of the Treasury on November 28 was: Receipts, $11,225,951.21; expenditures, $27,488,069.57; balance, $1,106,888,081.84. Customs receipts for the month, $86,004,229.08. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $1,181,947,181.07. Expenditures, $1,901,750,212.58, including $889,607,668.88 for emergency relief; excess of expenditures, $799,753,105.71.

RESULTS!

Deputy Sheriff James H. Johnston of 9 Munroe street had a Royal typewriter which he desired to sell and after inserting a classified ad in The Herald he only regretted that he did not have three or four more machines on hand. Soon after the ad appeared he was flooded with phone calls, about twenty-five in all. Needless to say, he sold the machine and The Herald gained another satisfied user of the classified.

Hello, Folks! I'll Be With You Tomorrow!

Old Kris Kringle, the kiddies' patron saint and herald of Christmas, arrives in Manchester tomorrow. He'll arrive at the south trolley terminus at 1:45 p. m. and the Girl Scouts band will escort him from there to Hale's Toy Department where he will remain until Christmas.

Hale's To Greet Santa Tomorrow Afternoon

Santa Claus arrives in Manchester tomorrow! A rousing reception has been planned for him by Hale's where he will establish headquarters until his work is completed on Christmas eve. The Manchester Girl Scouts band will take a leading part in the welcome celebration tomorrow afternoon giving a concert in front of Hale's starting at 1:30. At 1:45 the Girl Scouts band will proceed to the south trolley terminus where Santa Claus will be met and escorted to Hale's toy department. Word was received today that errands in Gloucesterbury will take Old Kris Kringle into the south of Manchester previous to his coming here. Here at 1:45 p. m. A hurried visit to some shut-in boys in Buckingham will take Santa Claus to the John Tom hill section and from there he will come straight up South Main street to Manchester. He promises to be at Main and Charter Oak streets sharply at 1:45 tomorrow afternoon. He was delighted when he heard that a rousing reception was being planned for him and he will show his joy by passing out candy to youngsters in Hale's toy department after his arrival here. Manchester kiddies should remind their dads and mothers that Hale's toy department is located this year on the second floor of the big department store. The entire store on the second floor with the exception of the J. W. Hale Company business offices, has been devoted to toys this year. The department complete with the big Christmas tree and Santa Claus headquarters will be formally opened with the arrival of Santa tomorrow. Better Location. The location of the toy department on the second floor is a big improvement. There is far more room for folks to shop around and see the thousands of new toys to best advantage. The display tables are well arranged and purchasers may roam around the department at will without feeling hurried or rushed. There are so many new ideas in toys this year that it will be advantageous for shoppers to visit Hale's toy shop early so that the best selection possible may be had. As usual Santa Claus will be at his headquarters at the toy department giving out Christmas packages to the youngsters for a small fee. These surprise Christmas packages contain a finer type of gift than ever before. Hale's having taken special care to secure a fine line of gifts for this particular feature of the toy department. Improved Greatly. Toys this Christmas seem to have improved greatly. Nearly every type of movable toys, such as auto trucks, fire engines, locomotives and so on is equipped with electric lights. One automobile is even equipped with a radio like most of the real automobiles being sold today. Steel toys, sturdy and well built, are outstanding in Hale's toy department. Boys will be particularly delighted with the Hale line of electric trains that are extremely reasonable this year. For the girls the dolls show as great an improvement over other years as do the boys' toys. Dolls with real human hair that can be curled and done up to suit the taste of its owner are being featured. Dolls with human hair formerly sold for as high as $7 and more, and $3.98. New ideas in embroidery sets and other household toys for girls including an electric range will also attract much attention. Popular Doll. One especially popular doll this Christmas will have real eyelashes, a tongue and is unbreakable. This doll is one of the best for the price ever handled by Hale's. Although notice was just three weeks ago, when he asked the Federal government to re-examine his income tax report for 1930. A payment of $18,951 was in dispute. The petition disclosed that the banker had an income of $3,989,931 for the year in question. In addition to the huge Mellon bank, the banker also was president or director of more than a score of enterprises. He assumed many of the business responsibilities of his older brother after Andrew was named to the Treasury post by the late President Harding, and under his direction the vast interests of the brothers continued to expand. Though his pet interest was his bank, Mellon also was greatly interested in the new East Liberty Presbyterian church now under construction—an edifice which was his gift to the congregation with which he worshipped. The site of the church is the birthplace of Sarah Jane Negley, his mother, and where in 1819 his grandmother, Mrs. Barbara Negley, erected the first East Liberty Presbyterian—a small wooden structure. Funeral services will be held at the banker's home, 6500 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh, at 3 p. m. Sunday. The burial will be private.

MAY PLACE LABOR MAN ON NRA BOARD

ent attitude toward the NRA, Edward McGraw, assistant secretary of labor, said he had talked yesterday with William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and could say that the federation had no intention of fighting the NRA in the coming session of Congress. The federation is supporting the NRA, McGraw said. McGraw added, however, that there was a feeling in labor circles that labor should be represented on code authorities.

Explaining they feel their own interest is at stake because "teachers incomes are relatively small," the group asserted economic adjustments can be effected by "reducing private debt burdens by encouraging the direct scaling-down process already in motion; aiding the farmer by checking the rise of industrial prices under NRA codes, etc." Their Suggestion. "As a monetary program to provide a background for such attacks on maladjustments," the statement said, "we suggest the following: "Announce an immediate return to the gold standard, although not necessarily with a dollar of the former gold content, or with details of operation exactly as before; continue such activities as the RFC (Reconstruction Finance Corporation) the public works administration and unemployment relief, but almost strictly within the limits set by the government's ability to borrow from the ultimate investor."

HARRY HOWLAND BREAKS ANKLE BONE IN GAME

Strickland Street Youth Was Playing Football on Old Golf Lots With Former Mates. Playing football at the old golf lots on East Center street yesterday morning, Harry Howland of 71 Strickland street, broke a bone in his left ankle and was taken to the Memorial hospital, where the foot was set in a cast. He was allowed to return to his home. Howland was one of a group of high school students and college students home for vacation who participated in an annual "grid classic" held each Thanksgiving Day.

JOHNSON MAY IMPOSE CODE ON PHONE CO.

(Continued from Page One) by but the independent aluminum manufacturers have been insisting that the code contain a clause requiring the aluminum company to establish an equal published price for sales of ingot metal to themselves and to its own manufacturing subsidiaries, so that the independents may compete on an equal basis. This clause aluminum company spokesmen have definitely refused. Pending against the concern is a suit for triple damages, totalling $9,000,000, brought under the anti-trust laws by the Bausch Machine and Tool Company in a Federal Court in New England. Some NRA officials have suggested that if the provision demanded by the independents were accepted by the aluminum company, they might be an attempt made to use this as a concession of monopolistic practices. The same independents have been seeking active steps from the Department of Justice against the aluminum company, and recently obtained from the Navy a 30 day postponement in the opening of bids for nearly 2,000,000 pounds of aluminum which is to go into construction of new ships. Their contention was that at present no independent can bid competitively with the Mellon concern but that inclusion of their proposal in a code would put them on an equal basis. The independents have been trying to prevent adoption of a strictly labor code, as suggested today by Johnson, while the aluminum company's spokesmen themselves first suggested it.

ANOTHER ITALIAN CLUB TO BE FORMED IN TOWN

New Group Will Be Known as Intermediate Daughters of Italy - Miss Squatrito in Charge. Manchester is to have another Italian club to be known as the Intermediate Daughters of Italy, the members ranging in age from 18 to 30 years. There is already the Daughters of Italy and the Junior Daughters of Italy in Manchester, but there was a number between the ages of 18 and 30 not connected with any of the lodges. T. State Venerable assigned to Miss Margaret Squatrito the duty of forming such an organization. Miss Squatrito is anxious to get the club organized at once and already has secured ten candidates to enter the organization. This club will be confined to unmarried women either born in Italy or of Italian extraction. In order to secure as many names as possible and get the club under way, those who are entitled to become members in this club are asked to telephone 8241 or meet Miss Squatrito at the Maple hospital, Oak street, at once.

FAMOUS EXPLORER DEAD IN ENGLAND

Bournemouth, Eng., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Harry de Windt, 77-year-old explorer who once traveled from Paris to New York on foot and horseback, died today. De Windt's great feat was performed in 1901 and 1902 for the London Daily Express on a previous attempt, made for the Pall Mall Gazette, he tried to go by the same means from New York to Paris and nearly perished on Bering Straits when the ice broke up under him. A whaling vessel rescued him. Other great trips of the explorer included a horseback ride to India from Russia by way of Persia in 1889 and surveys of the Klondike goldfields in 1897. He was the brother-in-law of Ralph Brooke of Sarawak whom he served from 1876 to 1878 as aide-de-camp. His widow, Charlotte Elizabeth Inle de Windt, who was his third wife, survives. His second wife was Mrs. Hyde de Windt, the daughter of the Rev. R. W. Clark professor of theology in Toronto University. She died in 1924.

STATE TO GET COAL FOR ITS UNEMPLOYED

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Ten million tons of coal are to be purchased by the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation for needy unemployed. Harry L. Hopkins, president of the corporation today that 2,000,000 tons of bituminous coal and 2,000,000 tons of anthracite will be used. The Anthracite Institute has agreed, Hopkins said, to a reduction of 70 cents a ton and the bituminous operators have agreed to a ten per cent discount from the NRA code price. Local relief administrations, Hopkins said, will arrange with local dealers to supply the coal from existing stocks today that 2,000,000 tons of bituminous coal and 2,000,000 tons of anthracite will be used. Official estimates of the amounts to be used included: Connecticut, 79,000; Maine, 6,500; Massachusetts, 200,000; New Hampshire, 4,500; New York, 456,000; Rhode Island, 21,560; Vermont, 70,000.

4 DEATHS IN FAMILY WITHIN SIX MONTHS

New Haven, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Death paid its fourth visit within months to a New Haven home today. Mrs. Jane Frisbie Hills, mother of New Haven's first visiting nurse, died at the age of 92 years, joining in death three children. Mrs. Hills, a Connecticut resident since 1851, had been in ill health for about three years. One of her sons, Dr. William B. Hills, died last June. On Nov. 7, a second son, Arthur G. Hills, was killed by a trolley car and ten days later a third child, Miss Faith B. Hills, died after a long illness. Mrs. Hills came to New Haven in 1906 to live with a daughter, Miss Mary G. Hills, who was then New Haven's first and only visiting nurse. She was born in Granby, N. Y., and ten years after coming to New Haven married Benjamin A. S. Hills of Gilead. He died in 1904. She leaves two sons and two daughters. The funeral will be held here Monday and her body will be sent to East Hampton for burial in Lakeview cemetery.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Arthur Potter of 15 Lancaster Road, was admitted and Miss Jeanne Robb of 234 Center street, Frederick Hill of 10 Olcott street, Joseph Arson of 146 South Main street and Mrs. Albert James and infant son of Cheshire, Conn., were discharged Wednesday. Harvey Alcock of 57 Florence street, and William Ferguson of 401 Center street, were admitted yesterday. Sons were born Thanksgiving Day to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keeney of 440 Keeney street and to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Meyer of 3 Ridgewood street, respectively. Ronald Wadsworth of 43 Olcott drive, and Ethel Meschan of 19 Newman street, were admitted and William Tomashunas of 415 North Main street, was discharged today.

STORE DOOR DELIVERY BY ROADS ALLOWED

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company was authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission today to establish store door delivery and pick up service on less than car lot freight on five days notice to the public. This is the first of the objecting eastern roads to meet the situation created by the Pennsylvania railroad, the Boston and Maine railroad and the Erie railroad in establishing such a service effective today. The Baltimore and Ohio, the Reading Railway and other roads in the east are understood to have their tariffs ready to be filed, but have not yet laid them before the commission. The truck operators claim the plan will cause them to lose much of their business. The commission, they contend, should refuse to allow the railroad to extend their operations to stores or factories off their tracks.

LINDBERGH'S INVITED TO RETURN BY BOAT

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—An invitation to Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh to come home from Africa by ship was disclosed today by officials of the American West African Trade Agency. They said they had cabled an invitation to the Lindberghs to take passage on the steamer Padnaya, a cargo vessel which carries a limited number of passengers. The steamer is now in the vicinity of Bathurst, Gambia, British West Africa, enroute to the United States from West African ports. If the Lindberghs desire, officials said, the vessel will put into Bathurst, for the flying couple and land them home in about two weeks.

This is the year to give games and toys for Christmas. Under the new NRA leisure code, it looks as if everybody is going to play and play.

Cranberry jelly, in little individual molds, makes an admirable dessert for bridge luncheons and buffet suppers as well as big holiday dinners.

When thinking of mother's or wife's Christmas present, what is it that she has been wanting for so long? Think for a minute—isn't it an Electrolux gas refrigerator?

You've been hearing much about the blouse vogue and the smart idea of having many blouses for one skirt and thus having an outfit for every occasion.

Among the latter there are varying degrees of skill and experience, but while the exhibit is in no sense a competition the plan has been to limit the showings to pictures possessing some degree of merit.

FIRM WILLING TO CONFER ON LIGHTS RATES

to do everything in our power, without regard to any question of our legal rights, to restore the good will between the company and its patrons which existed prior to the late unfortunate legal controversy.

"We are willing to make such concessions as have a sound economic basis, both of a temporary and of a permanent nature and are not so extreme as to weaken the financial stability of the company or its ability to render the quality of service to which our patrons have been accustomed."

The correspondence between the Public Utilities Commission and Samuel Ferguson, president of the Manchester Electric Company, released today, follows:

"The Commission desires to call your attention to the situation in Manchester pertaining to electric rates, which may be summarized as follows:

"A petition was brought by certain patrons of the Company alleging that the rates were unreasonable. After a long and expensive hearing and considerable lapse of time the Commission found and prescribed that the rates complained of were not unreasonable. The appeal taken from this decision has now been withdrawn. There is, however, pending before the Commission a petition brought by the Town of Manchester alleging that the rates for municipal purposes and the rates generally are unreasonable. This petition has been held in abeyance during the pendency of said appeal. The prolonged and continued controversy has had a tendency of severing good public relations between the Company and its patrons. The Commission therefore suggests at this time consideration of the following:

"Although the Commission, based upon the detailed evidence presented at the hearing, found and decreed that the rates established by the Company were not unreasonable, may it not be in the ultimate interest of both the Company and its patrons for the Company to make some concession even though resulting in what might at present be considered less than a fair rate of return? A rate concession or reduction at this time would have a tendency to stimulate business in the territory served and help restore the friendly relations between the Company and its patrons which the rate controversy has seriously endangered.

"If you desire to consider this matter by an informal conference with a representative or representatives of the Town of Manchester if it is willing, the Commission will be glad to co-operate to the extent of having a representative of the Commission present.

"Very truly yours," "PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION."

By R. C. SCHNEIDER, its secretary. November 22, 1933. "Mr. Richard T. Higgins, Chairman, "Public Utilities Commission, "Hartford, Connecticut.

"I beg to acknowledge receipt of the Commission's letter of November 21st containing a suggestion to the effect that we endeavor in informal conference, and as a matter of policy rather than of rights to make such rate adjustments as will result in a betterment of public relations, and will tend to stimulate our business.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 1.

MAIN STREET PERILS.

The killing of a Manchester woman by an automobile in the shopping zone of Main street on Wednesday evening is the first tragedy of that character in that area since motor traffic assumed its present huge proportions. But for a long time there has not been a day when the lives of pedestrians along the half mile or so of the retail district had not been put in needless peril by inadequately controlled movements of automobiles. That a fatality was so long delayed is at once a matter for wonderment and a tribute to the alertness and agility of those who have occasion to cross this splendidly built-in the circumstances—dangerously wide thoroughfare.

In gradually increasing degree the automobile has been running wild in the Main street shopping area, the average rate of speed little by little increasing, the rights and safety of pedestrians more and more ignored, until the wonder is not that a single death has resulted but that there have not been many.

It is by no means the rate of speed alone that contributes to the condition of peril. Double parking, particularly on shopping evenings, with the spectacle of cars stopping even outside the double line to drop or pick up passengers, and the further complications of U-turns made anywhere and everywhere, render it impossible for pedestrians to make sure of their situation until they are far from the curb and, often, in the midst of whirling traffic.

It would be essentially unfair to blame this uncontrolled traffic condition altogether or even in major part upon the police. Unquestionably if the police authorities had undertaken, a week ago, to enforce regulations actually effective in making business area traffic less reckless, they would have succeeded only in evoking a storm of criticism and active opposition. In addition they would have found themselves, in all probability, very poorly backed by existing law. The state statutes do their best to make effectual control of local traffic difficult and very little has ever been done by Connecticut municipalities to ascertain their own rights, in this matter, or to fight for them.

It is probable, however, that any movement by the police, following on the heels of Wednesday's fatality, toward the elimination of the worst of the dangers of Main street traffic would meet with a larger degree of respect, would find the public in a less cock-sure mood of indifference toward speeding in the business area, toward ganging up of cars jockeying for parking spaces, toward double parking and, especially, toward the U-turns that are constantly presenting unexpected problems to the pedestrians.

SPRAGUE.

After one has read the first of the syndicated series of articles, criticizing the economic policies of the present government of the United States, prepared by Dr. O. M. W. Sprague while he was still under government pay as a presumable economic expert, one is likely to be filled with wonder.

"How," the reader speculates, "does it come to pass that men gain reputations like that of Professor Sprague when they reason like Professor Sprague?" And echo answers, "How?"

Dr. Sprague has rated as a former advisor of the Bank of England. Reading this first of his articles one may be justified in wondering to what extent Montagu Norman permitted himself to be guided by the ideas of Sprague the monetary scientist and if, as a matter of fact, his usefulness to the Bank of England did not consist somewhat, as a Sprague with opportunity to advise Mr. Norman as to what was going on in the mind of Dean Acheson, and possibly of Mr. Woodin, in the United States Treasury Department—extremely useful things for the head of the Bank of England to know.

However, the immediate question is with Dr. Sprague's economic theories as represented by this initial article. One is struck with his declaration that "we also desire a higher level of prices in order to lighten the burden of existing indebtedness and because rising prices may be expected to exert a much needed stimulating influence on business activity"; followed later on by the postulate that the way to restore industry is for manufacturers to sell their products so cheaply as to induce the public to purchase them. With what, under the deflationary ideas he stands for, he does not trouble to explain.

Another highly original idea is that while there is a definite limit to the amount of agricultural production for which market can be found, and therefore no possible chance for so many people to get their living from the soil, there is no limit whatever to the market for manufactured commodities if they are only sold cheaply enough; so it is up to the surplus farm population to leave the farms and go to work in the factories. It is some time since anybody calling himself an economist has advanced this old vaudeville gag as a cure for the depression. It was last heard when the industrial jobless had not reached more than four or five million.

And money, Professor, Sprague assures us, has very little to do with economics after all. "I hold," he says, "that no monetary policy, however wisely formulated, is sufficient to bring about a trade recovery." And yet it must be, even in the view of the learned Doctor, that somehow or other monetary policies do have very powerful and very far reaching effects upon trade, because it was in horror of the devastating threat of the administration's monetary policy that he fled from the ruin to come—with his hands full of typed economic warnings to sell to whoever would buy them for publication. He promises us that later on in his series he will tell us all about those perils.

A monetary policy, then, is capable of raising the very devil if it is wrong, though there is no such thing as some other kind of monetary policy capable of scotching the devil after he has been raised. Money policies, it appears, can only work one way. The only thing to do about money, then, is nothing.

We trust that Dr. Sprague has made a profitable contract with his syndicate. Because, unless this series develops profundities not indicated in the initial article, his writings hereafter ought to bring him about two cents a ton—on his low selling price basis.

CALM, CONSISTENT.

A rather intriguing example of the calm consistency of the advocates of deflation as contrasted to the hysteria of the advocates of inflation is presented by two editorials that appeared, with the worst of ill luck on the same day, in the New York Herald-Tribune on Wednesday.

One, captioned, "Sowing the Wind," relates that "the chorus of protest against the President's refusal to explain his monetary policy is growing stronger every hour," and proceeds to develop that idea. The other, in the adjoining column, says this: "Regardless of the merits or demerits of Mr. Warburg's plan . . . it seems to us it is a serious mistake for sound-money people to propose, at this time, any greatly detailed scheme."

Frankly the Herald-Tribune demands that President Roosevelt commit himself to some hard-and-fast "stabilization" objective. Desperately it shrieks out against any attempt of the "sound money" crowd to do what it insists that the President shall do—let it be disclosed to the world that there is no agreement among the deflationists as to what degree of deflation the people can be depended on to bear without revolution.

The calm of the Tribune on Wednesday was comparable to that of a marmoset that has just picked up a hot poker and at the same unlucky moment has been stung by a bee.

FACING IT.

Possibly it may be an indication of the effect of demoralization accompanying the World War and general economic disturbances, but it is extremely difficult nowadays to stick to the middle-of-the-road theories of morality and immorality, of right and wrong, that a few years ago seemed so immutable.

Very respectable and very orderly people found themselves, the other day, applauding the lynching of two unspeakable scoundrels in California. Now, when they are told that Verne Miller, machine gun slaughterer of law officers in Kansas City, has been found murdered in almost exactly the same way in which Albert Silverman was slain and dumped by a roadside in Somers, it would be interesting to know how many people in the United States hear that bit of news with any degree whatever of horror or even displeasure.

We are talking of course, about how people feel about such a crime—not how they try to make themselves believe they feel.

It would have been better, of course, if the law had succeeded in compassing the elimination of Miller. But it didn't. And if his elimination as it did occur is not better than no elimination at all—from the viewpoint of society—then our philosophy is badly warped.

TAMMANY WAY.

The "Happy Warrior," rather more snarling than jocosely these days—perhaps less comfortable in the livery of Wall Street than in the brown derby of a free-lance politician—has as poor an opinion of the Public Works Administration as he has of the President's monetary principles. The PWA, it seems, is a frightful mess. Smith could have run it a whole lot better.

We have no doubt that he could at least have run it more expertly. Between his vastly experienced contractor friends in Tammany Hall and his equally experienced financier friends before Fulton street, unquestionably Brother Al would have been able to get that whole huge public works program into operation before this—so far, at least, as the outpouring of cash was concerned.

Still and all it is to be suspected that, outside of Tammany and Wall Street, most people in this country would just as soon see the Public Works Administration's activities in the hands of somebody else, even if there is some lost motion and fussing around.

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON
 New York, Dec. 1.—Manhattan meanderings: One of the first things Barbara Hutton and her Prince Midvanti did when they came to town was attend the sassy revue called "A Thousand Cheers" in which their romance is satirized. Clifton Webb and Marilyn Miller, who impersonate them, were nervous about the uncomplimentary skit—until they received a nice little note from the Woolworth heiress.

With fan dances in night clubs all the way from Harlem to Greenwich Village, and in all degrees of daring, there now has been concocted a play called "The Fan Dancer," which may star Sally Rand.

People who remember the urbane Jimmy Walker's residence at the Ritz get quite a shock when they go to visit Mayor-elect La Guardia and his wife up at their modest apartment at One Hundred and Ninth Street. The furnishings are comfortable, but old-fashioned, and it's Fiorello himself who bustles around with the tea and sandwiches. Says it's a good enough establishment, and that he doesn't intend to move. Meanwhile Joseph McKee, who also ran, is by way of becoming New York's Forgotten Man. Attended the Horse Show the other night, sat in a front box, and was not even recognized by one in a hundred of the customers.

If show business goes bad, William Gaxton, a star of "Let 'Em Eat Cake" has a pertume business to his wife's back on. He liked the scent his wife used, so last year he bought the formula in Paris and opened a New York factory. . . . And with the contract bridge business being what it is, four prominent eastern players are going into a show. David Burnstone, Michael T. Gottlieb, Oswald Jacoby and Howard Schenken comprise a team of four who'll tour the country meeting all comers. The audiences will hear the bidding, amplified by loud speakers, and will see the play by means of a new projection device.

Rumors persist that Jimmy Walker is to become the American representative of a group of foreign wine concerns.

The recent paragraph about the old-time burlesque queen who sells newspapers at night on Broadway has brought some information about three other veterans of the gay-way. The eldest is Mother Elms, who is 85, snow-haired and spryer than you could imagine. She was a burlesque queen, too, and was known as Annie Hart in the days when such shows were the equivalent of modern musical comedy.

Mother Elms is loyal to her old calling, though, and still visits backstage at the burlesque houses. Likes to tell the performers how she used to sing: "We often been a bride—maid, but long to be a bride—with a wreath of orange blossoms and my Chosen at my side. . . ."

Then there's Lettie Ford, 86, who used to appear with Edwin Booth a half-century and more ago. Her family, by the way, owned the Ford Theater in Washington where Lincoln was shot by John Wilkes Booth, brother of Edwin. . . . She still acts, but mostly poses for commercial photographers. Here is the face of one of those sweet old ladies you often see in the ads. She's an avid theater and movie fan, and refuses to go to bed before midnight. . . .

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 Washington, Dec. 1.—Latin America is having a party and everyone is going. But no one wanted to have the party now.

President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull wished the Montevideo conference could be postponed. So did the heads of most other western republics. Postponement could have been had by anyone who asked for it. But no one wanted to take the lead and be the goat.

Much wine and good food will go down the hatch and everybody will be patting everybody else on the back. Otherwise, our diplomats expect little or nothing—unless some country socks another country on the nose.

Concrete steps might be taken toward eliminating some of the obstacles preventing a successful conference, such as once was hoped for. Once there was hope of stimulating a lot of trade by tariff agreements, currency stabilization, and other things which won't be considered now.

One barrier both to trade and trade negotiations is the problem of how American republics can get money out of one another. Thanks to insufficient exchange, Americans have many millions of dollars in South American which they can't get. Naturally that discourages exports.

Unsettled conditions have cramped the idea for a program of selling more exports in return for more imports. You can't do much for trade at a general conference, anyway. Individual trade negotiations with Argentina, Brazil, and Colombia, however, are said to be making "real progress."

Present hope of improving western hemisphere peace machinery is threatened by the Chaco, Cuban, and Leticia situations—all explosive.

Seldom is Papa Roosevelt caught napping. But revelation that he must proclaim repeal was a complete surprise to him. Even though he signed the recovery act, which requires him to do so. The act says he "shall proclaim the date of the repeal. . . ." But it doesn't say when.

Roosevelt then assumed that his proclamation was necessary to eliminate about $20,000,000 in "nuisance" taxes. So, apparently, did Attorney General Homer Cummings.

Both were wrong. The elimination is provided for, but the law makes the reductions and repeals effective on the first day of January or July "following the date so proclaimed."

So he really had no choice but to proclaim repeal as soon as it was accomplished. The taxing periods legally would end in January and July, 1934, anyway. And Roosevelt's decision to proclaim next month, headlined everywhere as of great importance, leads to real difference.

To-be and a bottle of sweet sauterne! The Navy seriously has been considering permitting beer and wine sales to sailors at ship canteens, with no hard liquor. Latest dope, however, indicates that the service officially will stay dry. . . . Pretty Marguerite Young and Seymour Waldman, her husband, two earnest young Communists, have come here as correspondents for the Communist Daily Worker. They go to press conferences and ask officials embarrassing questions. . . . The National Zoo wants a lady snake charmer. Otherwise, five Indian rock pythons, circus property quarantined there, will go uncharmed during the winter. Write to Dr. William M. Mann.

Playing by far, inferior basketball the crack National Guards basketball team went down to defeat at the hands of the All-Burnsides last night before a banner crowd at the State Armory. The score was 29 to 21 and more than 600 persons saw the Guards accept defeat in their first game of the season.

Eddie Thayer and Jim Cotter, a member of last year's Rec team, were the outstanding performers in the coveted victory, while other members of the "shooting circus" were more than instrumental in the triumph.

Lack of team play along with inefficient shooting from the floor, contributed in the downfall of the Guards. Manchester was forced to taste some of the bitter medicine it has been prescribing to this same team, whom they defeated on three occasions last season.

The Guards trailed the entire game, except for a brief period in the early part of the first quarter when the locals led 2 to one, all points registered from the foul line. A spectacular shot from far out on the side court put the middle by Eddie Thayer over the "All-Burnsides" and the locals lost the lead throughout the entire game.

The first quarter found both teams playing ragged basketball, the Guards especially being guilty of loose handling of the ball, with practically no defense at all. The quarter ended with the "All-Burnsides" leading by the score of 5-4.

Starting the second quarter, Coach Clarke inserted Holland, Farr, Mattson and McNeil on the bench up to that time in an effort to overhaul the "All-Burnsides." However, this seemed to spur on the winners as it was "All-Burnsides" in the second quarter leaving the floor with a commanding lead of nine points through the spectacular shooting of Eddie Thayer.

Up to this time the Guards could not seem to function and the usual sparkling play of the team was sadly missing.

Resumption of play after the rest period found both teams using their original starting lineups. Determined to overhaul the All-Burnsides the Guards attempted to stage a rally out of no avail. The winners, playing most slashing aggressive type of game, were all over the floor especially when the ball got loose from a player's hands.

Very little scoring was done this quarter, the period ending with the "All-Burnsides" holding the upper hand. Eddie Thayer warmed the bench the best part of the third period having three personal fouls in the early part of the third period.

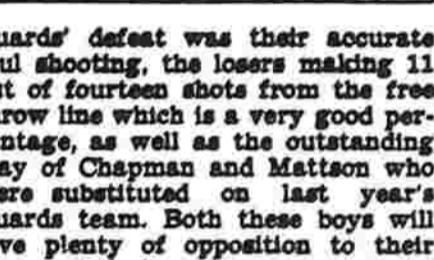

Guards in Rally With the Mattson, replacing Falkowski, it appeared that the local team would pull the game out of fire as they exhibited better passwork and shooting. Coming down the floor fast and with a pass to Chapman he shot from out past the foul circle to swish the cords for a neat basket which was closely followed by a beautiful shot by Mattson from well out in the center of the floor.

These two shots revived the hopes of the guard rosters and shortly after Mattson came through with another shot, a duplicate of the first, with only four points separating the two teams the Guards fought desperately and in his anxiety to score Chapman failed on an easy shot under the basket.

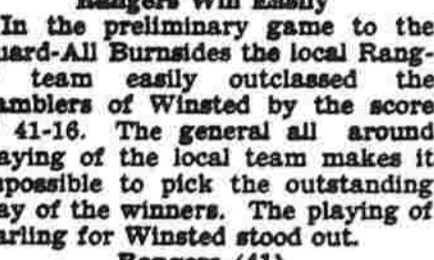

For reasons that cannot be exactly accounted for, the Guards fell by the wayside at this point as Cotter broke away from Turkington to score a short shot from the side which seemed to put the game on ice after Billy Thayer scored from the foul line.

Guards Try Hard A moment later the hard working Cotter slipped away from Turkington and converted two points via the "sucker" route. With only a short time remaining to play the Guards tried hard to score but, went down to defeat at the hands of the "shooting circus" and not taking any credit due in every department last night, and not taking any credit due in every department last night, and not taking any credit due in every department last night, and not taking any credit due in every department last night.

Outstanding in Defeat

Jason Chapman

Harold Mattson

Guards' defeat was their accurate floor shooting, the losers making 11 out of fourteen shots from the free throw line which is a very good percentage as well as the outstanding play of Chapman and Mattson who were substituted on last year's Guards team. Both these boys will give plenty of opposition to their opponents before the season ends.

Rangers Win Easily In the preliminary game to the Guard-All Burnside the local Rangers team easily outclassed the Rambler of Winsted by the score of 41-16. The general all around playing of the local team makes it impossible to pick the outstanding player of the winners. The playing of Darling for Winsted stood out.

LOCAL ACE CUTS 8 SECONDS OFF MARK IN SCHOOLBOY RUN

Wins Event by Ten Yards; Red and White Surprises by Taking Team Title in Close, Thrilling Race.

Running the finest race of his schoolboy career, Billy Murch of Manchester High sped to a well-deserved triumph in the two and one-half mile scholastic event yesterday afternoon, clipping more than eight seconds from the record set by William Duffy of Hartford High last year. Murch's time for the distance was 12 minutes, 9.5 seconds as compared to the old mark of 12:17.6.

Locals Pull Upset And then to put a fitting climax to Murch's spectacular feat, Manchester High turned in a surprising upset by wresting the team title from the defending champion, Hartford High, the Red and White runners scoring the low total of 31 points, while Hartford High's first team tallied 45 points, winning runner-up honors from Mont Pleasant High of Schenectady, N. Y., by the margin of a single point.

The Fouraces team started off with a seven yard gain by Witkowski around right end, but the drive was stopped when Bronke intercepted Sendrowski's pass and ran it back 7 yards to the West Side 18 yard line. Fiedler made a first down, bucking the center of the line for 11 yards. Slaga sliced off tackle for four yards, the ball resting on the three yard line with two downs to go. The West Sides smothered the next line buck and on the fourth down Fiedler fumbled again, the ball going to the opposition. This was the most dangerous threat on the West Sides goal line of the afternoon and Sendrowski kicked clear of danger to Eagleson as the third quarter ended.

The illustrious men of Dwyer, meaning the West Sides football team, took a fall out of the Eagles, representatives of the North End in the second game of the town championship series in the annual turkey-day bill yesterday. By virtue of flashes of heads-up football and also aided by several tough Eagles 4 breaks which went their way, the south ends tallied two touchdowns and one point after to win by the score, 13-0.

The statistics of the game show that the Eagles gained more ground by line plays, nine first downs to four for the West Sides, but the West Sides took full advantage of the frequent fumbles of the Eagles to turn them in their own favor. As football games go, the game was full of interest throughout, what advantage there was between the teams was decided via the air route.

Score on Passes The first score of the game came early in the second quarter when Sendrowski, standing on the Eagles 24 yard line, rifled a pass to Copeland, good for 19 yards. Copeland raced diagonally across the end of the field to score in the "hill corner" standing up. The second score came in the fourth quarter when Witkowski, left halfback of the West Sides, intercepted a long pass from Fiedler on his own 40 yard line and streaked along the sidelines 60 yards for a touchdown. Witkowski, a fast runner, outraced the Eagles' backfield and safety man, Angelo, and took the ball on the West Side team when he came in and the team made three consecutive first downs. Then failing to gain through the line, he shot a pass to Witkowski, good for 17 yards, which was almost intercepted. With a score in prospect, Angelo fumbled on the Eagles 7 yard line, Kovis recovering as the quarter ended. On this play the West Sides were penalized 15 yards for holding and again lost the ball to the Eagles on the 28 yard line, but on the first play the Eagles fumbled, the West Sides recovering.

Witkowski made a first down when he caught a 12 yard pass from Sendrowski. With the ball on the Eagles 24 yard line, another Sendrowski pass was grounded. Another pass from Sendrowski over the left side of the line nestled in Copeland's arms and he centered diagonally across the field into the "hill corner" for the first score. Copeland missed a placement for the extra point.

Eagles Threaten The Eagles put on power in the second quarter, holding the south ends to one first down while they were counting five. Fiedler shot a pass over right end after the kick-off, good for 15 yards, followed by two other passes which were batted down by the alert W-S ends. Fiedler fumbled on the fourth down, to end the spurt.

The Fouraces team started off with a seven yard gain by Witkowski around right end, but the drive was stopped when Bronke intercepted Sendrowski's pass and ran it back 7 yards to the West Side 18 yard line. Fiedler made a first down, bucking the center of the line for 11 yards. Slaga sliced off tackle for four yards, the ball resting on the three yard line with two downs to go. The West Sides smothered the next line buck and on the fourth down Fiedler fumbled again, the ball going to the opposition. This was the most dangerous threat on the West Sides goal line of the afternoon and Sendrowski kicked clear of danger to Eagleson as the third quarter ended.

Witkowski and Sendrowski and Copeland scintillated for the South Ends and Fiedler, Slaga and Eagleson bore the brunt of the game for the Eagles.

ALUMNI IS BEATEN BY TRADERS FIFTH CONSECUTIVE YEAR Piling up a commanding advantage from the start, Manchester State Trade scored an impressive victory over the Alumni in the opening basketball game of the season at the School Street Rec Wednesday afternoon, winning for the fifth consecutive year by a score of 38 to 24.

Joe Packard of Manchester, although he has suffered from illness during recent weeks, ran a sensational race to finish third, trailing Ray Boucher of Hartford High by little more than ten yards, the same distance that Boucher was behind Murch. C. Donahue of Manchester placed sixth, L. Coburn was tenth, G. Leary was 11th and A. Diana was 13th, completing the local team.

Murch, the slender, black-haired lad who bids fair to eclipse the scholastic achievements of famous Joe McCluskey before he leaves high school, was in splendid condition and the manner in which he ran left little doubt as to the ultimate winner. Murch started last as the pack of forty-two runners started down Main street and when another entry stumbled and fell, Murch stopped and assisted him to his feet. He trailed the leaders well beyond the half-way mark on Autumn street, forging steadily to the front as the runners turned down Oak street. He was well to the fore passing Spruce street and took the lead going into Main street, threatened only by Boucher and Packard. Coming into the home stretch, Murch sprinted hard and Boucher, unable to match the sprint, trailed him to the tape by ten yards.

Thrilling Finishes The scholastic event furnished the hundreds that lined the street at the finish with a wealth of thrilling excitement after the first three runners breasted the tape, as the rest of the competitors were closely bunched in the fight for places among the first twenty. So close was the battle for position during the last thirty yards of the run that the official scorers had difficulty in checking the finishers. Split seconds separating many of the entries.

Reasons For Joy For Billy Murch, Coach Pete Wigren of Manchester High it was truly a day of Thanksgiving and rejoicing. Not only did Murch capture the event but he broke the record set by one of his greatest rivals in doing so. In winning the team prize, Manchester High defeated Hartford, the only team that has beaten the locals consistently in dual competition.

Henry Godman, Stanford swimmer, shaved four-hundredths of a second of the Pacific Coast collegiate 100 yard free style record in practice.

The biggest production of quail Georgia hunters have seen in many years is attributed to the curtailment of forest fires.

Local Sport Chatter
At the request of Ben Clume, promoter of the Rec Senior basketball league attention is called at this time of all managers and players in starting games on scheduled time. Schedules can be obtained by players and managers by calling at the School Street Recreation Office which lists games and starting time. It is very essential that players report on time in order that games start on scheduled time. The success of this request can be obtained only through the co-operation of the players.

The All-Burnsides team made exactly eighty-four attempts to score from the floor in the entire game with the Guards last night. "Eddie" Thayer scored the first field goal on the twentieth attempt at the basket, via the field goal route.

Frequent fumbles kept the crowd, which attended the town championship series at Hickey's Grove yesterday afternoon, on their toes from the opening kickoff. Both teams were guilty of fumbles at strategic points, but the West Sides recovered several of their bobbles.

One of the bobbles which caused plenty of laughs was the recovery of an Eagle fumble by "Marsh" Thompson. Thompson was sat on the ground, the ball bouncing around near his head. One of the players accidentally kicked the ball into the Eagles fullback's open arms.

A large crowd, attracted by the mild weather, attended the game. It was the first Thanksgiving Day game in years that could be watched in comfort.

Spectacular Three-Cornered Duel Features Race as New Jersey Star's Brilliant Spurt Carries Him to Victory, With Tarzan Brown, Westerly Negro, Ten Yards Behind in Second Place and State Runner Third; Team Trophy Won by Millrose Club of New York.

With a brilliant display of speed and stamina in the final drive to the finish, John Nock of the Irish-American Club of Newark, New Jersey, broke up a spectacular three-cornered duel that had featured through most of the race and spurred to victory in the seventh annual Thanksgiving Day five-mile cross country run here yesterday. His time of 25 minutes, 30.5 seconds was one minute, 12.7 seconds slower than the record established by Joe McCluskey last year.

The other members of the trio that fought a nip and tuck battle from start to finish were Tarzan Brown, Westerly, R. L. Negro, running his best race, who was unable to match the closing sprint of Nock and finished in second place ten yards to the rear, and William Linley of Connecticut State College at Storrs, who in placing third was the first Connecticut runner to finish and captured the state A. U. championship, resumed this year after a lapse of more than a decade. Linley was ten yards behind Brown and was clocked in 24 minutes and 39 seconds, which will be accepted as the official state record.

Millrose Team Wins Another duel took place between William Ruckel and James McDade, both of the Millrose A. C., of New York, but nearing the finish they clasped hands and ended their struggle in a deadlock for third place, leading their fellow runners to the team title, formerly held by the Irish-American Club. The Millrose team had five runners placing in the first fifteen for a total of 29 points, the Connecticut State College team being second, as last year, with 38 points. The Irish-Americans had a weaker team competing this year and finished third with 53 points.

Closest Finish It was the closest finish to mark the annual Recreation Centers classic in years and it had the hundreds lining the course cheering with excitement as Nock, Brown and Linley staged a heart-breaking battle over the last two miles of the race. A field of forty runners, almost double the entry list of last year, answered the starting gun and swept down Main street close by bunched, then starting Mt. Nebo Place and along the hill to emerge on Charter Oak street from the rear of the paper mill. By then the field had spread out and it became a long thin line of runners on Charter Oak street to Porter street.

Battle All the Way Brown Linley and Nock, in that order, set the pace on Porter street and maintained it right to the end. Only a foot or so separated the trio, while thirty yards back, Ruckel and McDade, were running almost side by side, with the rest of the field strung out for more than a mile behind.

The youthful Negro stayed in front by inches all the way up East Center street, Linley and Nock dogged and fought with the signs of a lull. At the Center the trio rounded the dummy cop and for a moment Brown lost his place in front as he continued along Center street instead of turning. Shouts of officials' made him realize his mistake and he turned with a start, his lead going down the hill. The positions of the trio remained unchanged; almost to Eldridge street. McDade and Ruckel closed the gap which separated them from the leaders by about ten yards but could not catch up.

A Driving Finish With little more than thirty yards to go, Nock unleashed his reserve. For a moment Brown battled him on even terms. Linley was out of it. But Brown could not stand the pace that Nock was setting and faded rapidly as the powerful forward surge of the small Irishman carried him through to a hard-earned triumph.

Nock, a sturdy built, handsome, red-haired young man, is holder of four New Jersey titles, the junior and senior cross-country championships and the indoor 5,000 meter championships. On the basis of his record and the fact that he finished third last year, he was the favorite to win yesterday and he lived up to advance predictions.

TAKES CWA JOBS AWAY FROM TOWN

State Will Have Jurisdiction Over Local Projects—State Forester Here.

Starting today the office in the old Knox building, owned by the town, which has been the headquarters of the Civil Works committee, was closed and another opened in the Municipal building. This will be the headquarters of the CWA work in Manchester and the office will be in charge of Hayden Griswold.

State Forester Here
Employed in the office in addition to Mr. Griswold will be a stenographer and a typist. This morning State Forester Austin F. Hawes was in town, and in company with Mr. Hayden, who has been connected with the engineering department of Cheney Brothers, started to lay out proposed work on the watershed of the town owned water supply. Lines will be laid out where possible to permit passage by the fire fighting apparatus of the state forest fire fighting forces. There will be cleaned out such land as will prevent the spreading of forest fires. This subject was considered before the announcement was made that it should be included in the CWA program, and taken up as a state project.

To Engage Contact Man
The office of which Maurice Ferris had charge is closed and will not reopen, all business regarding work on the different projects being handled through the office opened this morning. Distribution of work through this office will not be before Monday. A contact man who will represent the Connecticut area including Manchester will be engaged.

State to Take Charge
Opening of this office in Manchester will mean the unemployed, in Manchester, who cannot be provided with work in this town, will be assigned to jobs in which the state is interested and wishes to have done. The work will not only include the opening of lanes into forests, the removal of hazards in forest sections, but also the fighting of the gypsy moth and the pine blight. The men now registering will be classified for different kinds of work and will be sent to projects in Manchester as presented by the town; also to work in forests outside the town limits, but not so far away but that they can be transported to and from work by trucks provided by the government or state.

Ex-Servicemen First
It is expected the registration of the unemployed will be nearly completed today at the state armory on Main street. Next will come the classification of the men who are unemployed and the assignment of work.

George H. Waddell, town treasurer, is to be the paymaster for the Manchester section under the CWA and the contact man is yet to be named. The new office takes the handling of the assignment of men to the jobs out of the hands of local officers and leaves it with the divisional manager assigned to Manchester.

The registration after Monday gives to unemployed ex-servicemen a rating in preference to several other classes of job seekers.

KILLED BY TRUCK ON MAIN STREET

Mrs. Frances J. Keeney Hit by Mohr Bakery Car Thanksgiving Eve.

Mrs. Frances J. Keeney, wife of Clinton Keeney of 698 Keeney street, died at the Manchester Memorial hospital at 9 o'clock Wednesday night, twenty minutes after she was struck by a truck owned by the Mohr Baking Company and driven by Robert Anderson, of 6 Piney street, in front of the Montgomery-Ward store.

Blowhard Present at Death Unconscious when she was picked up and taken to the hospital by Deputy Sheriff James H. Johnston, the woman did not recover. Her husband, who had been in one of the stores on the west side of Main street, arrived at the hospital and was present when she died.

There were many Thanksgiving Eve shoppers on the street at that time, and it was difficult to keep the crowd back, after Mrs. Keeney had been taken away, to make the measurements. This was done by Policeman Michael Fitzgerald and later, when word of the accident reached the police station, Sergeant McGinnis was detailed to assist.

According to the information secured by the police, Mrs. Keeney was walking from the east side of the street to the west side and had cleared both trolley rails. Anderson was driving south, having left the bakery on Gorman place, about a short time before. In the truck with him were two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Mohr and their brother, Howard. At the intersection of Main street, Anderson told the police, a car came out of Birch street and made a wide swing over to the west side of the street.

This for a moment distracted his attention from the road and as he again looked back into the roadway, he saw the woman directly in front of him. He applied the brakes, but it was too late. The front bumper struck Mrs. Keeney, throwing her to one side and rolling her over. She stopped the car, according to the measurements taken by the police, in a distance of sixteen feet. So fast was the stop that one of the Mohr girls was thrown forward, striking the windshield and cracking the glass.

Quickly to Hospital There was little time lost in getting her into an automobile and with Mr. Johnston holding her, she was admitted to the hospital. Mrs. James Fitzgerald, a relative of the injured woman, learned of the accident and hurried to the hospital with her daughters and sons, but arrived too late. Death was said to have been due to a fractured skull.

Mrs. Keeney was 52 years old and had been a resident of Manchester for 37 years. She is survived by two daughters and two sons. They are: Clinton W., Garfield, Miss Frances Keeney and Mrs. Walter Mitchell, all of Manchester; and her sons, Mrs. Joseph Cooper, of Stafford Springs, former pastor of the South Methodist church, in which church Mrs. Keeney held membership, will officiate. Burial will be in the West Cemetery.

The case against Robert E. Anderson, driver of the truck that killed Mrs. Keeney, was continued in Police Court today to December 23, at which time it is expected the report of the coroner will be available. Anderson was released in bail of $1,000 furnished by his employer, Fred C. Mohr.

PHYSICIAN BEST FORTUNE TELLER

Head of State Bureau of Preventable Diseases Urges Periodic Consultations.

Comparing the family physician to a fortune teller, but one who can predict the future accurately and on a scientific basis unparalleled in other fields which predict or attempt to predict the future, Dr. Millard Knowlton, director of the Bureau of Preventable Diseases of the State Department of Health, in the monthly bulletin of the Department just released, urged periodic health examinations for the purpose of having one's fortune revealed and of securing advice on health protection.

Even in cases of slight illness, Dr. Knowlton pointed out, it is best to waste no time in consulting the family physician to have one's fortune told. He cited the cases of two families. In one case, the parents, greatly worried over their child's illness, lost no time in calling the doctor. They were happily relieved when his prediction of the future was that the child would be on its feet again in a few days. In the other case, there was a similar sickness, but the parents delayed calling the physician for two or three days. The child's fortune as told by the doctor was much more dark than it would have been had he been called immediately.

Other examples of the physician's fortune telling ability were also used by Dr. Knowlton. This ability is especially good when he has doctoring the family over a long period of years and can refer to his records. At other times, these records reveal when the patient was last vaccinated and the doctor can thereupon predict whether there is any danger of contracting smallpox. Anyone vaccinated within five years may feel safe from the mild smallpox usually prevalent in this section of the country.

Likewise by conducting certain tests, the doctor can tell a child's future with respect to diphtheria. Still more, for if the tests show that the child is subject to diphtheria, he can administer a treatment that will give him absolute immunity against this disease. Through the immunization process, children in Connecticut are so vaccinated that they are likely to contract diphtheria today than the children in 1920.

Definite revelations concerning the future can be made in the case of typhoid fever. A Connecticut citizen living 40 years ago was more than 40 times as likely to die of typhoid fever as a Connecticut citizen living today. The doctor can also immunize against this disease. If you step on a rusty nail or sustain some other kind of penetrating wound, the doctor can administer an antitoxin and safely forecast that you will not contract tetanus or lockjaw.

The physician's fortune telling ability has been greatly improved by the development of the X-ray. At the present time thousands of school children are having chest X-rays and from these the doctors will tell their fortunes with reference to tuberculosis. The physician should be consulted in many cases where no illness apparently exists. Dr. Knowlton said. He used the example of a man changing his occupation, moving to another climate or undertaking more strenuous work. The doctor should be consulted for a prediction about the ability of his heart, lungs and other vital organs to stand the strain of such a change.

WESTPORT GETS FUND FOR NEW POST OFFICE

Confusion Ended ON BRAN

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—The Public Works Board today informed Senator Loneragan, (D) Connecticut, that $50,000 has been authorized for a new federal building at Westport, Connecticut.

The Senator is also urging early action on several other projects which preliminary plans have been laid so that work could start promptly. These include projects at South Norwalk, and an addition to the building at Bristol.

All of the building projects have been delayed, the Senator said, because it was necessary to submit them to the Budget Director for revision.

Before this ruling, even part-bran products were sometimes mistakenly referred to as "bran" and this was not easy for the purchaser to distinguish between a cereal that was entirely bran, or all bran with flavoring, and another that was mostly wheat.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is labeled "ALL-BRAN" Deliberately. Flavored with Malt, Sugar and Salt, a statement which describes the product fairly and honestly.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has won millions of friends because it corrects most types of common constipation safely and pleasantly. It furnishes generous "bulk"—needed to promote normal elimination.

However, ALL-BRAN is not a "sure-all." Certain types of intestinal disorders should be treated only on a physician's advice. When you buy a bran cereal, for the relief of constipation, read the wording on the package. The facts are there! Make sure by asking for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It furnishes "bulk" in concentrated form for satisfactory results.

At all grocers. In the red-and-green cellophane. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

RIVER PROJECTS AWAIT CIVIL WORKS DECISIONS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—Projects calling for expenditure of $428,000 for deepening the Housatonic River, and more than $800,000 for deepening the Connecticut River channel from Hartford to Saybrook, will likely be held up until December 15, according to Senator Loneragan, of Connecticut.

He has been informed that the Rivers and Harbors program, which includes these and numerous other projects, has been deferred by the Public Works Board until the cost of the Civilian Works Employment program is determined. Money for this program is being obtained from the Public Works Administration and other expenditures are being held down until costs of the employment plan are definitely known and the balance of the public works funds ascertained.

TO TEACH PLAYING REED INSTRUMENTS

Rockville Man Enrolling Students for Saxophone, Clarinet and Flute Classes.

Local reed instrument players who desire the latest modern instruction on saxophone, clarinet or flute by one of the most talented instructors are being offered an opportunity to enroll with Jack Keeney of Rockville, a member of Polk's Capital Theater orchestra who is taking a limited number of students for individual lessons. Mr. Keeney has studied with some of the best teachers in the country including Marie Johnston, recognized as America's foremost saxophone teacher.

Mr. Keeney has arranged to come to Manchester to teach at anyone's home desiring instructions or if preferred appointments can be made for lessons at his studio, 15 West street, Rockville where he is available except Mondays when he is in Middletown teaching a class of saxophone students. It is understood that a number from this town will avail themselves of this opportunity to study under Mr. Keeney and other vital organs to stand the strain of such a change.

BUT TWO ACCIDENTS OCCUR ON HOLIDAY

New Haven, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Thousands of motorists were on the highways of Connecticut yesterday to enjoy the unusually fine Thanksgiving weather, yet only two serious automobile accidents were reported, one of them fatal.

At Sterling, John Garvey, 37, was injured fatally, when his car struck a guard rail between Sterling and Elton. A heavy gust of wind struck the machine, causing it to swerve into the fence. Garvey's skull was fractured. Chester Malenki of Sterling, with Garvey was unhurt.

Four persons were injured when two cars met head on on a curve in the New Fairfield-Sherman road. Dwight Trank and Mrs. George Johnson, all of Milford were taken to Danbury hospital. Matthew Guarnieri of Brooklyn, N. Y., driver of the other car broke his wrist.

ANOTHER FREE GOLD BUYING PLAN

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The vigor in applying the administration's gold buying policy was not waning today, as three credit auctions in the RFC were for nearly $100 million.

Today's quotation of gold in ounces was 8 cents above the previous Thanksgiving figure of $35.75. The level of $35.75 on last Monday, the government had pushed the price upward 35 cents.

London's gold price today was $32.57 on an opening starting quotation of $32.12-13 to the pound. Neither at home nor abroad has the RFC acquired much gold since its first offer of October 25. Only a small portion of the $50,000,000 account for this purpose has been used.

SENSE and NONSENSE

A few people get up bright and early, but most of us just get up early. . . . The rising generation retires about the time the retiring generation rises.

Nephew—Uncle, did God make Santa Claus?
Uncle—Yes.
Nephew—Did He make the whole world?
Uncle—Yes, it is so recorded.
Nephew—In six days?
Uncle—Yes, my boy.
Nephew—And it's all done and finished, Uncle?
Uncle—Yes.

Nephew—Well, Uncle, what business is God in now?

An eighth grade teacher in the schools asked her pupils.
Teacher—What are the sister states?

Mabel—I'm not sure, but I should think they were Missouri, Idaho, Maryland, California, Louisiana, Anna, Della Ware, Minnie Sota and Mrs. Sippi.

We are breathlessly waiting for the statement of some poultryman that one of his hens laid an egg with a Blue Eagle embossed on it.

Agent—Can I sell you a good burglar alarm?
Man—No, but if you've got anything that will keep my wife from waking up when one visits us, trot it out.

Visitor—Have you any children?
Man—Yes—three.
Visitor—Do they live at home with you?
Man—Not one of them—they are not married yet.

The Brushville Bugle in speaking of a deceased citizen, said: "We knew him as Old Ten Per Cent, the more he had the less he spent; the more he got the less he lent; he's dead—we don't know where he went—but if his soul to heaven is sent, he'll own the harp and charge them rent."

Mr. Bayles telephoned the theater ticket office and asked:
Mr. Bayles—Can I get a box for two tonight?
Fuzzled Voice—We don't have boxes for two.
Mr. Bayles (crossly)—Isn't this the theater?
Voice—Why no, you are talking to Bell, the Undertaker.

SLANTS. . . . The man who always measures his steps won't get anywhere until he throws away his ruler. . . . Most of those romances that blossomed on summer sands, are already on the rocks. . . . Another one that shows dirt too easily is the divorce suit. . . . Hospital bills are the worry of all except the very, very rich and the very very poor. . . . The secret of a happy marriage is the innocent belief that no other kiss could provide such a kick. . . . It's easier to float a rumor than it is to sink the truth. . . . We cannot understand why, when making a movie out of a book, it is not thought good form to read the book. . . . The first few weeks a new set of furs goes around looking for a draft to sit in. . . . The sub-divisions with the prettiest names got the most of the mortgage trade. . . . Gossips have a keen sense of rumor. . . . Our wash woman says a mouth full of clostapins is the best cure for the cigaret habit. . . .

Visitor—I am collecting for the Poets' hospital. Will you contribute, please?
Editor—With pleasure. Call tonight with your ambulance, and I will have two ready.

Some people are like a horse we saw at the races—they have a lot of speed when they get going, but they start too late.

Dorothy—I hear Gerald won a loving cup the other night.
Alberta—Really? He must have made a big improvement since the last date we had.

Nearly everybody is looking for someone he can tell things to, not one who can tell him things.
