

LINDBERGH'S CROSS ATLANTIC SAFELY

Fly 1,875 Miles from Bathurst, Africa, to Natal in Brazil—City Gives Them Wild Welcome.

Natal, Brazil, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here this afternoon after a 1,875 mile flight across the South Atlantic ocean from Bathurst, Gambia, Africa.

The great monoplane landed on the harbor here at 2:55 p. m. Brazilian time (12:35 p. m. a. s. t.). The streets and docks were thronged with huge crowds of Brazilians who had waited throughout the day for the arrival of the famous American couple.

By general agreement, all business houses and stores in the city were closed for nearly an hour before the Lindberghs' arrival in celebration of the great event.

Streets Decorated The streets were gaily decorated for the "aesta." For more than a week past the populace had been excited by the reports that Col. Lindbergh and his wife, the former Miss Anne Morrow, would return to the American continent through their city.

For Lindbergh it was the third aerial spanning of the Atlantic. His first flight in 1927, unopposed, led to the attention of the whole world. On that occasion, flying the famous old ship "Spirit of St. Louis," he stayed in the air 33 1/2 hours before the rights of Le Bourget field appeared before him.

On the flight today the Lindbergh monoplane averaged 118 miles an hour. It was in the air 15 hours, 55 minutes from the time of the take-off at Bathurst, Gambia.

NEW YORK GIVES NEWS New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, completing a trans-Atlantic flight from Africa, landed at Natal, Brazil at 12:35 p. m., eastern standard time today.

The message, flashed to Pan-American's station at Miami, was sent by telephone to the airline's headquarters here.

The flying colonel and his wife, who gave him invaluable assistance in the second most important ocean journey he has made since the New York-to-Paris trip, covered the 1,875 miles over the South Atlantic in 15 hours and 55 minutes.

It was a leisurely journey in his big plane, with a crew of making at least 160 miles an hour.

The colonel and his wife took off from the harbor at Bathurst, Gambia, at 2 a. m., G. M. T. today (9 p. m. Tuesday, a. s. t.).

PARENTS, CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH Father and Mother Sacrifice Their Lives in Vain Attempt to Save Two.

Gloucester, N. S., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Trapped by fire, a man and wife and two children, for whom they sacrificed their lives, were burned to death early today as flames consumed their two-story frame home.

FRANCE IS AIDING JEWISH REFUGEES

Thousand Exiled by Germany Are Helped by French Jews, Ex-Envoy Reports.

Lausanne, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Prof. Chaim Weizmann, representing London Jewish organizations, told the refugee conference today that a wave of anti-Semitism was sweeping over the world.

He said that in his opinion a peculiar social and economic structure forced on the Jews cannot be maintained in the face of a changing world. He urged that Jews throughout the world concentrate on what he called national re-training and said that a splendid example of this was afforded in Palestine and also Poland.

He repudiated the "vulgar" conception that Jews were rich, saying the vast majority in the east and southeast of Europe live under strained economic conditions.

The London Jewish leader pledged Jewish cooperation with the governing board of the Jewish refugee organization, declaring the problem could be solved "provided we shall not be swamped again by a new wave of refugees fleeing in despair from their countries of origin."

He said that the British, the Americans, the French, the Dutch, and some South American Republics should absorb the refugees.

Ready to Cooperate Joseph C. Hyman, the secretary of the American Jewish joint distribution committee, declared a readiness to cooperate, saying the refugees will show the same patriotism and devotion to new lands as those which they were obliged to see although they and their families were persecuted and served well.

AUTHORITIES HOLD ALLEGED LYNCHERS Police Say They Have Man Who Helped Kill Young Negro.

St. Joseph, Mo., Dec. 6.—(AP)—William O. Seywers, an assistant attorney general, says the man in custody who poured gasoline on the body of Lloyd Warner, 19-year-old negro, hanged and burned a week ago by a mob.

Pursuing vigorously an investigation of the lynching of the confessed attacker of a white girl, Seywers said warrants probably would be issued today for the arrest of at least two of four men questioned at last night. No names were disclosed pending filing of charges.

Both Prisoners Two other men also are in custody. One is Carl Fisher, who has pleaded guilty to possession of a rifle, belonging to Sheriff Otto Therman, which was stolen from the sheriff's living quarters in the 8-hour break while the mob was trying to break into the jail November 28.

Fisher told authorities a boy gave him the pistol. He said he was near the jail about the time of the lynching but denied participating. Sentence was being deferred.

Police said Fisher named Walter Gordon, 43, as having been one of the mob leaders but Gordon denied participation in the attack or lynching. However, Gordon was charged with malicious destruction in connection with the damage done to the sheriff's living quarters and the jail, was arraigned, pleaded not guilty and was remanded to jail in default of $1,000 bond.

EUROPE SEEKS REFORM OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Statesmen Have Been Discussing Matter for Some Time—U. S. to Be Invited to Join New League.

Rome, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The Associated Press learned in highest quarters today that diplomatic conversations have begun in the various capitals of Europe seeking reform of the League of Nations.

They began several days before the Pacific Grand Council declared Italian permanence in the League depended upon radical reform of that institution.

Absolute divorcement of the League from the principles of the League of Nations would eliminate from the League's Covenant articles which guarantee preservation of boundaries created by that treaty is under discussion, it was learned.

The articles provide for use of military and economic forces to quell cases of aggression. U. S. To Be Invited If these articles are eliminated it is believed the United States could be invited to join the League. It would make it more powerful than within the League itself possibly, with one or more of the reasonably large nations such as Poland and Spain who also might be included in this inner circle.

Under the proposed reorganization, it was learned, the world would be divided into three sections of influence to be dominated by the large nations.

(a) Europe, to be influenced by Germany, France, England and Italy. (b) The Asiatic, to be dominated by Russia and Japan. (c) The Americas, to be dominated by the United States.

The above changes would deprive the League of its present power in a military sense and would inevitably weaken the institution, observers believed, but it was thought the new principle which would be breathed into the League by the reform would make it more powerful than ever by bringing in the four large nations now outside.

Supporters of the program emphasize that any invitation to the United States would come from no one nation or individual but from Geneva itself.

HANG SELF ON TREE Stamford, Dec. 6.—(AP)—William Haupt, 35, who had been dependent for some time, was found hanging from a tree a short distance from his home on Vassar avenue this morning. Haupt left his home last night and when he failed to return police were notified. A search of the woods failed to reveal the man's body until today.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS The first full day of freedom from National prohibition was observed in matter-of-fact fashion today in Connecticut, with the supply of newly legalized liquor, limited at first, gaining gradually in volume.

It was a dreary, gray day, not one to encourage a wholesale descent upon the package stores. It seemed to sell hard liquor, and upon the restaurants, hotels and clubs permitted to sell wine and beer.

Storekeepers reported no unusual demands, and police authorities said there were no exuberant celebrations. "Very dead," was the characteristic answer by the New Haven police, who explained, "There was nothing to celebrate on."

Two kinds of wine Headquarters for the organization of package store proprietors recently formed said that most of their members had two kinds of wine and half a dozen kinds of whiskey on hand.

PROHIBITION AT END; BOOZE SUPPLY SCANT IN MANY LARGE CITIES

Repeal Proclamation

Washington, Dec. 6.—The text of the proclamation by William Phillips, Acting Secretary of State, certifying to the adoption of the Twenty-first Amendment repealing prohibition, follows: WILLIAM PHILLIPS, Acting Secretary of State of the United States of America. To all whom these presents shall come, greeting: KNOW YE, That the Congress of the United States, at the second session, Seventy-second Congress, begun and held at the city of Washington on Monday, the 5th day of December, in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two, passed a joint resolution in the words and figures as follows: TO WIT: JOINT RESOLUTION. Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States. Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each House concurring therein), That the following article is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of the Constitution when ratified by conventions in three-fourths of the several States: ARTICLE. Section 1. The Eighteenth Article of Amendment to the Constitution of the United States is hereby repealed. Section 2. The transportation or importation into any State, Territory, or Possession of the United States for delivery or use therein of intoxicating liquors, in violation of the laws thereof, is hereby prohibited. Section 3. This article shall be operative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by conventions in the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years hereof to the States by the Congress. And, further, that it happens from official notices received at the Department of State that the amendment to the Constitution of the United States proposed as aforesaid has been ratified by conventions in the States of Arizona, Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

And, further, that the States wherein conventions have so ratified the said proposed amendment constitute the requisite three-fourths of the whole number of States in the United States. NOW, therefore, be it known that I, William Phillips, Acting Secretary of State of the United States, by virtue and in pursuance of Section 10, Title 5, of the United States Code, do hereby certify that the amendment aforesaid has become valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution of the United States.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the Department of State to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington this 5th day of December in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three. WILLIAM PHILLIPS.

Washington, Dec. 6.—(AP)—A Nation that made Federal prohibition just a repealed constitutional amendment worked hard today to adjust itself to the new order of things. Surprisingly to some, the 19 states whose laws permitted the sale of hard liquor after Utah late yesterday became the 36th to ratify repeal had comparatively few citizens feeling the worse today for celebrations.

In many cases, the supply was scant; in several states, regulatory setups had not been completed, so the liquor suppliers were few. There were, too, many indications that a number of state officials expected to follow the lead of President Roosevelt, who in promulgating repeal of the nearly 14 year old law, stated his future aims.

The policy of the government will be to see to it that the social and political evils that have existed in the pre-prohibition era shall not be revived, nor permitted again to exist. He said "especially that no state shall by law or otherwise authorize the return of the saloon either in its old form or in some modern guise." And said the objective was to seek through a National policy, the education of every citizen toward a greater temperance throughout the nation.

The organization he was creating to eradicate that declared policy plugged away on the hundreds of problems necessitated by the repeal of a law which left no regulatory statutes in its place. The recovery and agricultural acts with their code provisions were being used until Congress could enact necessary laws.

Are Under Codes Distillers and brewers already were under codes; hearings had just been held on one for the rectifiers and blenders. Numerous attempts were being made to keep bootleggers from profiting by the expected increased demand. Joseph H. Choate, Jr., head of the new Federal alcoholic control administration, in one order tried to speed legitimate supplies.

The temporary liquor import committee, which he heads, continued issuing permits for immediate importation of American-type Bourbon and other whiskeys suitable for blending. Officials estimated Canada had nearly twenty million gallons available.

It was the regulatory problem that caused most difficulty in the states. Those in which, theoretical at least, the sale of spirits became legal with repeal were Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Colorado, Arizona, California, Washington, Louisiana, New York, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Montana, New Mexico, Nevada, Oregon, Maryland and Rhode Island.

Little ceremony marked Washington's official promulgation of repeal. President Roosevelt and William Phillips, acting secretary of state, simply signing the necessary proclamations. That by the President was necessary to end, on January 1 and July 1, about $12,000,000 in various taxes which are to be replaced by liquor levies.

GOV. CROSS STATEMENT Hartford, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Governor W. L. Cross today issued the following statement relative to repeal of the Eighteenth amendment: "A proclamation by the President of the United States is an official announcement that National prohibition has come to an end, and that the control of the manufacture and the sale of all alcoholic liquors now rests with the several states."

NORRIS FACING DEATH SENTENCE

Second Negro in Scottsboro Case Is Convicted by Jury in Alabama.

Decatur, Ala., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Clarence Norris, the second of seven negro defendants in the "Scottsboro case," tried on a charge of attacking a white woman, was convicted today by a Morgan county jury. The sentence automatically carries the death penalty.

Norris was the second of seven negroes to be tried and convicted of charges of attacking two white women near Scottsboro, Ala., on a freight train two years ago.

Haywood Patterson the first, was convicted last week and given the same sentence.

Case of the five remaining negroes under indictment for the attacks have been postponed by Judge W. W. Callaway, pending an appeal in the cases of Patterson and Norris.

SCARNICI PICKED AT TROY HEARING

Bank Teller Also Identifies Two Other Members of a Robbers' Gang.

Troy, N. Y., Dec. 6.—(AP)—A bank teller today identified Leonard Scarnici, Anthony Reino and Charles Shore, of New York, as members of the band which robbed a Rensselaer, N. Y., bank last May and killed a detective.

Herbert B. Burmans walked from the witness chair to the chairs in which sat the young defendants and laid his hand on each one. He also said he had identified two other men, killed near Harrison, in Westchester county, as members of the bandit gang.

Scarnici and his pals glanced at Burmans as he definitely connected them with the robbery and murder but otherwise showed no interest. The three are charged with murder. The state has asked the death penalty.

Murdered Officer The robbers were surprised during the hold-up. They shot their way by two officers, both of whom were wounded, one of them, James Stevens, fatally. The gang crossed the Hudson river into Albany. Scarnici, Reino and Shore were caught in a net set in New York City for kidnapers of John J. O'Connell, Jr., of Albany. They are also suspected of "watching" the nephew of Albany political leaders. The two alleged members of the bandit had killed at Harrison supposedly were slain in a squabble over the loot which was about $4,000.

Burman's identification of Scarnici, Reino and Shore came toward the end of his direct examination by District Attorney Clinton. The witness had described the details of the hold-up of the bank and the gun fight with the robbers.

"Do you see the man in court you saw climb over the cage and take the money from the cash drawer?" Clinton asked. "I do," Burmans replied. Identifies Shore At the request of district attorney that the man be indicated, Burmans stepped from the witness box and laid his hand on Shore's shoulder. Shore's attorney indicated that the witness of his client will be an ally and will show he was in New York at the time of the robbery and murder.

BROADWAY CELEBRATED IN A VERY QUIET WAY

Big Town Simply Went Legal—Speakeasy Prices Drop as Crowds Flock to the Hotels.

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—So repeal came, and—so what? Tax's choked the Forties and the Fifties until three o'clock and later, lights burned in the apartments of the Sixties and the Seventies until dawn.

Not drunk on Broadway, not a roisterer anywhere. The town simply went legal, really legal. Speakeasies said "no," sent their customers to licensed restaurants or hotels, said "Have a good time, come back when we get our license." Hotels served capacity crowds labored to please the taste, closed promptly at the curfew set by the State Alcoholic Control Board. Restaurants did the same.

Haywood Brown, long vibrant known to every illegal bartender from Battery to Bronx, dropped into his favorite 52nd street speakeasy, paid 75 cents for a Martini. That was at 5 p. m., 30 minutes after repeal. He went to dinner, dropped back at the speakeasy at 8:30 cents. Out again, back again—price 50 cents, 9 p. m.

To Return today "It'll be back tomorrow afternoon," he said, "with a nickel." "Ali!" sighed the Frank of the Bert room at the Waldorf-Astoria. "We've got a sober, nicer class of people than ever before. They like champagne. Nice stuff, ah?" "Not one bit of trouble all night!" exclaimed Manager Isaac van Dyke.

FOOT SPECIALIST OPENS OFFICE HERE

Dr. A. M. Lerner Announces Hours—Has Had Wide Education and Experience.

Dr. A. M. Lerner, prominent foot specialist and chiropodist, of Hartford, today announces the opening of an office here at 865 Main street, in the Orford block. Dr. Lerner, who has had an established practice in Hartford for some time is well known to a great many Manchester people who have sought his services. Patronage from Manchester grew to be such an important part of his practice that he decided to have office hours here.

Dr. A. M. Lerner

Dr. Lerner will be at his local office on Tuesday and Saturday nights from six until 10 in the evening and on Thursdays from nine in the morning until nine in the evening. A graduate of the Columbia College of Pharmacy Dr. Lerner went to Illinois to take a course at the Illinois College of Chiropody and Foot Surgery. After completing this course he attended a foot clinic and studied under Emil Wiegand in Forstheim, Germany. Dr. Lerner has been engaged in the drug business in West Hartford and has been a councilman in that town. He is a member of the Knights of Pythias and of Emmanuel Lodge, No. 645, of Masons in New York City. His already well established clientele in Manchester assures success of his local venture and he believes many more Manchester people will take advantage of his services.

The Degree of Pochontas held a card party at the home of Mrs. Gladys Schubert of 348 Center street, last night. The winners were: ladies first, Mrs. L. Hemenway; second, Mrs. Myra Fitzgerald; third, Mrs. Nettie Aceto; men's first, John Akridge; second, Glen Peterson; third, William Fegy. The winners at pinocle were Robert Schubert, Peter Armando and John White. The next party will be at the home of Mrs. Schaffer, 38 Garden street, Tuesday, December 12.

Shining Light Circle of Junior Kings Daughters will meet this evening at Center Church house.

One of the four groups from the field day team of Sunset Rebekah Lodge is in charge of a public bridge, the second by the team, for Monday evening in Odd Fellows hall. All Rebekahs and friends are solicited to assist in making up tables. The proceeds is to be used in the purchase of new uniforms and regalia.

The Emblem Club held a most successful card party for the purpose of raising funds for Christmas cheer at the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. last night. Twenty-five tables were filled with players, and many bought tickets to help the cause who did not attend. First prizes in both bridge and setback last night were: turkeys; second prizes, baskets of fruit and third awards, 10 pounds of sugar. Mrs. John Cannon of Rockville, won first in bridge. Edward Montie, third. Mrs. Daniel Griffin had the highest score in setback, Mrs. Luigi Pola, second and Miss Ethel Deane, third. The committee, which was made up of the Manchester members of the Emblem club, served doughnuts, cheese and coffee.

Mrs. Rosa Brookings, president of the W. C. T. U., was in charge of the program at yesterday's meeting held at the South Methodist church, the topic being "Education." A number of the members brought Christmas cards, stamped and ready to mail, to be sent to the Newington Home. This is a custom followed each year, and members and friends who were not at the meeting are requested to send cards or money to Mrs. C. W. Holman, 31 Summit street, at their early convenience.

The exhibition of the Zeasbar Twins now going on at 808 Main street has attracted unusual and widespread interest. About 4,100 persons have already seen them according to the management. They will be the first Christmas that they will have spent in the United States. They were brought to this country early this year and taken directly to the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago.

Dr. David M. Caldwell is making satisfactory progress at his home from his recent illness. He expects to leave soon for a short stay in the south, where he hopes to regain his strength, returning to his office in about two weeks.

The first and second rank will be worked on a class of candidates at the meeting of Memorial Lodge, K. of P., at their meeting tonight. Refreshments will follow the meeting and degree work.

The afternoon Group of the Wesleyan Guild will meet tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Lewis W. Haskins at 24 Ridge street.

LINDBERGH'S CROSS ATLANTIC SAFELY

NO ONE EXCITED New York Dec. 6.—(AP)—Lindbergh flying the Atlantic again — and no one getting very excited about it!

That shows how far aviation has come since the day in 1927 when the flying colonel arrived in Paris with his unladen sandwiches in his pocket and his letters of introduction in his hand.

The gulf between the first horseless carriage and the modern motor car is hardly greater than the difference between ocean aviation of 1927 and of 1933. Flying the Atlantic six years ago was high adventure, fraught with peril every mile of the lonely way.

Lindbergh's present jaunt, besides being much shorter, lacks daredevil thrills—thanks to science.

Last 26 Hours Winged from New York to Paris, Lindbergh was lost to the world for more than 36 hours. He had no wireless, and the anxious millions could only wait, with heart in mouth, flying from Gambia, West Africa, to Natal, Brazil, communicated frequently with Pan-American airway's wireless stations strung along the South American coast.

In the old "Spirit of St. Louis," he sat cramped in a closed cockpit, squinting at the world through a periscope. Now he and his wife ride in open cockpits with convertible tops, enjoying the tropical breezes.

New Instruments The earth inductor compass, marvelous gadget in 1927, is obsolete in 1933. Now Lindbergh uses a Gatty navigation sight, a device which enables Mrs. Lindbergh to peer down through a glass and through a revolving belt with holes in it to the waves below, thereby determining drift and speed. This apparatus makes dead reckoning, the simplest form of navigation, a pretty sure thing.

Lindbergh now has a radio direction finder which, should he lose his way, would enable a wireless station to draw him to his destination as surely as a child retrieves a ball at the end of a string. He has a gyroscopic compass which holds a course despite buffeting winds that develop 700 horsepower against the "Spirit's" 220 and streamlines that can send it slipping through the air at 160 miles per hour.

He has an adjustable pitch propeller, which does for an airplane what the gearshift does for a car. The 1927 plane had a fixed pitch blade—imagine driving a car with no gear shift!

Above all the colonel is not alone this time. He has a navigator, copilot and a wireless operator who—as the professional say — has "a good flat" at the sending key. The name of this three-in-one crew is Mrs. Anne Lindbergh.

GUARDS-GIANTS GAME CANCELLED

Philadelphia Court Team Involved in Auto Accident Today.

The basketball game between the Philadelphia Colored Giants and the National Guards for the Army tonight, was cancelled late this afternoon, when word was received here that members of the Giants were involved in an automobile accident in Newark, N. J., today and would be unable to appear tonight. Manager Jimmy Hall received the wire from the team's booking agent at 3 o'clock this afternoon and is making attempts to book a substitute attraction but to up to press time had been unsuccessful.

News on learning of the cancellation which the team stated was absolutely unavoidable, tried to book the Coast Guard team of New London and the American Legion without avail, then sought the St. Mary's of East Hartford, from whom he awaited an answer late this afternoon.

The wire received by Nell did not state how badly the Giant players were injured, simply saying that the team was held up by an automobile crash. A letter of complete explanation is expected in a day or so.

SCARNICI PICKED AT TROY HEARING

(Continued from Page One) of the cage window where you were at work?" asked the prosecutor. "I do," Burbans answered, and he placed his hand on the shoulder of Reino.

The witness identified Scarnici as the man who entered the bank vault and placed the assets that were there in a paper bag.

SCHOOL GIRL ASSAULTED

Danbury, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The story of a fifteen year old Danbury school girl, that she was attacked and assaulted yesterday afternoon on the outskirts of Danbury, by a man who wore a handkerchief over the lower part of his face and who was armed with a revolver, is being investigated by City and state police. The girl asserts that she was attacked shortly after leaving the school bus.

CONFESSES THEFT

Bridgeport, Dec. 6.—(AP)—William Wendell, about 50, who has been working on a farm at Newtown, walked into Bridgeport police headquarters today and told a detective that he had stolen $300 from the Czechoslovak Protective Association of East Islip, L. I., about three weeks ago. He was held in $1,000 bond.

TENNESSEE RATE MEANS DEFICITS

"Authority" Unable to Maintain Low Charges New Contract Reveals.

That the Tennessee Valley Authority, which recently amazed the country by announcing that it would sell electricity at extraordinarily low rates to homes, has finally admitted in its contract with the town of Tupelo the impossibility of using these rates without doing business at a loss, was pointed out today by Samuel Ferguson, president of the Hartford Electric Light Company in a statement issued to the press.

In its contract with Tupelo, Mr. Ferguson states, the government has inserted a stipulation permitting the town to impose "developmentary surcharges" on commercial and industrial business to offset the deficits to be incurred from the very low domestic rates. This, he says, has changed the whole Muscle Shoals undertaking from a political yardstick into an honest attempt to show the effect of low prices on the volume of sales and will immediately increase the value of public utility securities throughout the land, since it eliminates one of the fallacious but more appealing arguments for municipal operation of public services.

Mr. Ferguson's statement follows: "I desire to point out the great significance to the light and power industry of the radically new departure in municipal operation of electric service as disclosed in the Tupelo contract recently executed between that town and the Tennessee Valley Authority. Its importance cannot be overemphasized. It refers to the stipulation in the contract which permits 'developmentary surcharges' on commercial and industrial business to make up for the deficits to be incurred in furnishing 50 kw-hrs or less at 3 cents per kilowatt hour.

"This changes the whole complexion of the Muscle Shoals undertaking from a fraudulent political yardstick to an honest effort to endeavor to demonstrate the effect of low prices on volume.

"It is wholly beside the point to question whether this particular form of a subsidy to the small domestic user is desirable, practical or economic—the great and wonderful thing is that the government has officially taken cognizance of and admitted that companies or municipalities that inaugurate such prices must do that business at a loss until some future date if and when a great increase in volume will compensate.

"This official admission takes the sting completely out of all those municipal campaigns against existing utilities which are based on the theory that the companies are overcharging the householders and will, as soon as understood, add millions if not billions to the value of utility securities throughout the entire country.

"Mr. Lillenthal desires the gratitude of every one for making Uncle Sam an honest man (in this respect, at least)."

(Continued from Page One) York, on behalf of the Jewish colonization societies and from kindred bodies who urged relaxation of immigration restrictions in favor of the refugees.

Lord Robert Cecil of Great Britain said the refugee problem was of worldwide scope and significance, not merely because of the Jewish question but because "we are faced with a great challenge to the principles of our civilization."

"We do not respond," he said, "civilization will receive a great blow."

Victor Henry Berenger, former French ambassador to the United States, described France as the frontier of liberty and said she willingly had received thousands of refugees who were helped by French Jewish leaders.

TWO DEAD, 5 HURT AS TRAINS CRASH

(Continued from Page One) have occurred at about 3 o'clock this morning when a landslide pushed the southbound freight over into the northbound tracks on which the fier, bound from Jacksonville to Washington was interrupted and later trains were derailed over the Southern railway tracks.

Persons on the train said that the double crash was almost simultaneous with the freight plowing into the landslide and the passenger train crashing on into the wreckage.

The crew of the freight train jumped and escaped with lesser injuries while Kuhn and Jordan were buried in the debris and their bodies were not recovered for several hours after the accident.

The passenger train was not derailed and four all-steel baggage and mail cars between the locomotive and the passenger coaches were credited with saving inmates from injury a death. There were seventy cars on the freight train and fourteen on the passenger train.

The scene of the crash is a deep cut paralleling the Potomac river which is only about 20 yards distant at this point. Cause of the landslide was not immediately determined.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Miss Florence Peterson of 116 Summit street and Miss Evelyn McDonald of 213 Center street were admitted yesterday.

A daughter was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rudin of 293 Oak street.

The condition of Daniel J. Curran, injured in an accident on Main street, near Hollister, Monday night, remains critical at the hospital today.

The census of the hospital today is 50 patients.

MANY SURPRISES IN ART EXHIBIT

Work of One Amateur Here Outstanding in St. Mary's Showing.

If the exhibition of paintings, largely the work of Manchester amateurs, which opened last night at the Parish House of St. Mary's Episcopal church, had comprised only one painting instead of about a hundred and twenty-five, it would still have been worth while provided that one picture were the portrait of Sonny, the work of Miss Janet Dexter of this town. The picture, which hangs in the parlor off the main auditorium of the Parish House, is a lovely thing, an example of composition, portraiture and coloring far beyond the plane of ordinary amateur effort and deserving of a place in any great gallery. It is flanked by two other pictures from the same brush, one a family portrait and the other Russian Gypsy, which display much of the same genius that marks Portrait of Sonny.

Much Talent Disclosed
But the remarkable talent shown in Miss Dexter's pictures does not constitute the only surprise of the show. There is surprise in the average of skill and industry on the part of many local amateurs—whose acquaintances in some cases did not know that they painted at all—disclosed by this extremely interesting exhibition. The first picture on the left as one enters the main hall is a Gypsy Girl, by Miss Agnes Hannon. It is a strikingly vibrant canvas and, whether done from life or copied, its boldness and beauty are those attained only by students who start off with "the spark." Miss Hannon shows several other pictures of striking merit.

Manchester has always known that "to be a Cheney is to be an artist" so that the liberal showing of pictures from the brushes of that artistically gifted family lacked the element of unexpectedness attending so many of the others. Much of the exhibit's interest, however, attaches to the showing of Russell Cheney's fascinating landscape portraying picturesque Kittery, Me., which was exhibited at the big Chicago exposition, and to two of his beautiful flower pieces. Other of the family's offerings that were much admired last night are three examples of the rare art of sculpture produced by Charles Cheney—the plaque representing in relief the head of the sculptor's son, Ward, the full sized head of his daughter, Barbara, and a miniature, Dancing Girl; also a brilliant and beautiful small flower canvas by Miss Margery Cheney. A distinctive note is struck, too, in two of the five paintings shown by Roger Cheney, one of them Weaving Room Study and the other Print Room. In both of these, the drawing of which is liberal to a degree, the artist has succeeded in imparting something intense if not heroic to the job of making still.

Rev. Nell's Pictures
Another group of pictures that excited much interest were the landscapes from the brush of Rev. J. Stuart Nell, rector of the church and promoter of the exhibit. Mr. Nell disclaims any pronounced talent or any training as a painter, but his half dozen pictures on exhibition, sketched on the grounds of St. Mary's or about his summer home in Hebron, display a remarkable mastery of color and their drawing is especially successful in its preservation of distance values.

A very unusual contribution is that of Miss Josephine Fieschik in the form of two lithographic studies drawn from sketches made in some European city. These studies were drawn by Miss Fieschik on the lithographic stone according to the processes of lithography still in vogue in Europe, and are extremely well done. This young art student also has on exhibition an unusual painting of a Polish peasant.

It is impossible to enumerate all the offerings in this really extensive display of local art—the walls of the main hall, basement and parlor are all occupied—but it can be said that those who like pictures, and particularly those who welcome opportunity to compare the work of amateurs and beginners with that of professional painters of acknowledged standing, should not miss this exhibition which continues tonight and tomorrow evening.

Mr. Newton's Canvases
Ranking with the professionals are the canvases loaned by Allen H. Newton, Hartford banker, who shows five pictures, one of them, The Old Ice Pond, being a fascinating view of Bolton Notch, while Old Hickory is something to look at for a long time.

Among the professional offerings is a group of five splendid water colors, all of them Labrador and Newfoundland subjects, by Melancthon W. Jacobus, Jr., of Hartford. These are marked by a boldness, brilliance and strength seldom found in the work of artists using this medium. Albertus Jones, who evidently follows the modern or the old school according to his mood, contributes four, almost sinister symbolic things which he calls Vermont Hills, a beautifully colored and far flung landscape, On the Teutonic Trail, and a very lovely tree picture, Windy Day, that makes you hold onto your hat. But to many the very essence of the professional section of the catalogue is in three landscapes by James Goodwin McManus, two of their subjects being in Lyme and one in Andover. Brilliant, happy, lovely things, all three.

SCANDIA LODGE TO WORK DEGREE ON LARGE CLASS

Team from Hartford Will Have Charge of Ceremony Before Many Visitors.

Scandia Lodge, No. 23, Order of Vasa, will initiate a class of candidates at the regular meeting in Orange Hall at 8 o'clock tomorrow night, the degree being worked by a team from the Norden Lodge of Hartford. District Master Charles Bengtson will also be present, and E. S. Erickson of New Britain, president of the Past District Masters' Association, will present Herbert Johnson, of the local lodge, with a gift for obtaining the most candidates in a recent membership drive.

Martin Lundberg of Hartford, will furnish accordion music for dancing after the meeting and refreshments will be served by a committee consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Erickson and Mr. and Mrs. Ivar Carlson.

Deaths Last Night

Manila—The Rev. Richard A. O'Brien, S. J., 53, former rector of the Ateneo de Manila, former Jesuit college. He was born in Baltimore, Md.

MOVIE STAR GUARDED

Beverly Hills, Calif., Dec. 6.—(AP)—District Attorney Buren Fitts said Mrs. Isabel K. Eddy, mother of Nelson Eddy, operative, baritone and film actor, had asked a police guard around the son's home because of threatening, anonymous telephone calls. The guard was granted.

Eddy said he knew of no enemies nor of any reason why anyone should wish to do him bodily harm. Eddy, born in Providence, R. I., came to Hollywood last June.

GROWERS TO JOIN OTHER DISTRICTS

"Stalk" Men in Manchester Not Numerous Enough to Organize.

Action on the formation of the Manchester district of the Connecticut Valley Broadleaf and Havana Seed Growers Inc., was postponed last night at the home of Louis L. Grant when the twenty growers in attendance conceded that the Manchester group should be divided among the other districts now being formed.

John Other Districts
It was the consensus of the meeting, Mr. Grant said, that the north section of the town should join with the south Windsor district and that the south section of the town, including the growers of the Hillside town district, should join the East Hartford district. Only three districts in the state of ten elected directors and officers last night. It was the sense of the meeting that there are so few growers at present actively engaged in growing tobacco in Manchester, that the above mentioned division should be made for the best interests of the association.

Other Districts
At Suffield, a large town in tobacco acreage, two directors were elected, James N. Root and Harvey N. Fuller. J. Edgar Phelps was elected district chairman and Elwyn J. Noble secretary-treasurer. About thirty growers have signed in Suffield.

In Granby where the district includes East Granby, Simsbury, Canton and Avon, George F. Hayes of Torrville was elected chairman and William Hall secretary-treasurer.

In Windsor where the district includes Windsor Locks and Bloomfield, James Cannon of Windsor Locks was elected director. Fred C. Wilbraham was elected chairman, Peter Cranouki, secretary, and Thomas F. Connor, treasurer.

Other Action
The South Windsor district meeting at which 40 growers attended, decided that the number represented was too small to form a district and adjourned until Friday at 2:30 p. m., when it is expected action will be taken to include growers from the Euclid section of Manchester in that group. There are 150 growers in South Windsor, only 40 of which signed membership cards last night.

Action in East Windsor, due to short notice given the prospective members, was postponed to a future date not as yet set. Meetings are scheduled for tonight in East Hartford, Glastonbury, Enfield and Ellington.

CALL MEETING TO FORM RETAIL TRADE COUNCIL

Hope Representatives of All Business Establishments Except Food Stores Will Attend.

A meeting of all retailers in Manchester has been called by the Chamber of Commerce for next Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Hotel Sheridan, at which time plans will be thoroughly discussed for the local Retail Trade Council, which is being organized to enforce the retail codes of the I. R. A. Food stores are not included in this class of retailers.

It is hoped that a large representation from each division of retailing will be on hand, as each group will also meet separately and elect a member of the Retail Council. If a certain group is not represented, the Chamber will name its member.

The eight retailing groups included are the dry goods, furniture, hardware, limited price variety stores, mail order houses, clothing and furriers, music merchants and shoe stores.

JOSEPH H. RUDDELL COMMITTS SUICIDE

Body of Oak Street Man Found in Bed; Had Taken Poison.

Joseph H. Ruddell, 60, of 152 Oak street, was found dead in his bed at 4:30 yesterday afternoon. On a table beside the bed was an empty glass and a spoon. Nearby stood a one-eighth ounce bottle of a powdered poison sufficient, if only one-half of the contents were used, to have caused death.

The discovery was made by Robert Ford, a long time friend of Mr. Ruddell, who had missed him for a couple of days. Fearing that he was ill, and knowing he lived alone, Ford went to the house and, finding the back door open, walked in. There was no fire of any kind in the house and Mr. Ford in a further search found the lifeless body of Mr. Ruddell in bed.

Police notified Mr. Ford went to the home of Carl Johnson, who occupies the west side of the house and notified Mrs. Johnson of his discovery. Word was sent to the police and the medical examiner and also to Mrs. Ruddell. Policeman Herman A. Munkie was detailed to make the investigation. He learned that Mr. and Mrs. Ruddell have been living apart for several weeks and that on Monday Mr. Ruddell had gone to see his wife in an effort to bring about a reconciliation, but had been unsuccessful. He then left and arrived home shortly before noon.

Last heard from Monday. He told his troubles to Mrs. Johnson, who advised that he get some rest and go to bed. Mrs. Johnson continued with her housework and said the last time she heard any noise on the west side of the house was about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. When he did not appear Tuesday the fact was not noticed, nor was any more heard from him.

Medical Examiner Dr. William R. Tinker was called and after viewing the body gave the cause of death as being due to self-administered poison and that the man had been dead for over twenty-four hours.

Permission was given to turn the body over to Undertaker Thomas Dougan who removed it to his funeral parlors on Holl street and prepared the body for burial. The funeral will be held at the Dougan Funeral Home, 59 Holl street, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. J. Stuart Neill of St. Mary's Episcopal church will officiate and burial will be in the East cemetery.

CHRISTMAS CLUBS

Hartford, Dec. 6—(AP)—Members of Christmas Clubs in Hartford will receive approximately $479,423 according to information received from six banks in Hartford, Nov. 1, 1933. Compared with the approximate total of $567,757 for November 1, 1932, deposits show a decline of about $88,334. Total accounts at the six banks, as of November 1, also show a decline. Last year they totaled 14,918, while this year they total 13,551, a decline of 1,367.

Bankers, however, were surprised not at the decline, which was expected, but at the small amount under last year. It is felt that the showing in view of general business conditions has been very favorable.

MAN FATALLY HURT IN DOUBLE ACCIDENT

Norwalk, Dec. 6—(AP)—Fred S. Jennings, Jr., 31, of Post Road, Greens Farms, died in the Norwalk hospital at 7 a. m. today five hours after he received fatal injuries in a double accident on the Post road at Peat Swamp.

Jennings, employed as a steam shovel operator for a Norwalk construction company, was driving east on the Post road when he crashed into the rear of a parked truck in charge of Ward Denter, 36, of 164 Riverside Drive, Fairfield.

The badly injured Jennings was being pulled from the wreckage by Denter when another truck, driven by Carl C. Myer, 38, of New York City, is alleged by police to have smashed into the rear of the Westport man's machine. The second impact hurled the body of Jennings out of the wreckage, landing ten feet away. Denter was unhurt.

Jennings was taken to the Norwalk hospital unconscious, where he died from a fractured skull and ribs and punctured lungs.

Police arrested both Denter and Myer on charges of reckless driving, but announced that both would be re-arrested later in the day on charges of manslaughter. Both drivers were released in custody of their employers.

Jennings was unmarried and resided with his father.

STREAMLINE TRAIN TO OPERATE SOON

But 500 Horsepower Needed to Run 90 Miles an Hour With Three Coaches.

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The "extrusion" of metal ribs to simulate the sinuous strength of the human skeleton and other innovations of the new Union Pacific streamlined train were reported to the American Society of Mechanical Engineers today.

Extrusion is a process of forcing metal through dies which shape it the same as shaving cream when pressed from a tube. The details were described by E. E. Adams, vice president of the Pullman Company, which is building this train. The train is three cars, outwardly resembling a single sheath of metal, inwardly supported and sectioned by aluminum frames joined so naturally that it can bend around curves with minimum wind resistance.

The development of aluminum alloys, Mr. Adams said, "has been the object of some very progressive research work as applied to the new method of car construction, the most interesting being the use of extruded metal shapes to take the place of the ordinary rolled shapes and pressings."

Of Minimum Weight

"Such shapes are so accurate in dimensions that the designer is able to interlock various extruded metal sections or shapes to produce cars of a minimum weight, maximum strength and minimum deflection with simple shop fabrication."

Although 302 feet long, this train carries half of its entire weight in its nose. That is to provide safety in grade crossing collisions. Without this armored nose, Mr. Adams said, it was feared the light-weight body might risk a bad ripping at 100 miles an hour when hitting a truck or automobile. The train's total weight is 180,000 pounds, the nose alone 80,000. The engines are part of the nose weight.

By "shrouding" all the trucks wind resistance is cut 20 per cent under that when exposed. The great est air resistance comes from quartering and side winds.

A new braking device, called the decelerometer, was made to minimize possibility of neck-cracking jolts in emergency stops. It is a 100-pound weight, which swings forward of its own inertia when brakes are applied. Its motion acts as a governor to apply the brakes evenly, bringing a full stop in the same distance as slower speed trains, and "without the slightest discomfort to passengers."

Mr. Adams estimated that 500 horsepower will drive this train 90 miles an hour with 120 passengers and 25,000 pounds of mail and baggage. Other transport, equally loaded and at equal speed would require horsepower as follows: 10-car conventional train 1700; six buses 1500; 30 automobiles 3600; river steamboat 211,000; 15 transport planes 3000.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 6.

LET US HAVE LIGHT

Now that, following the suggestion of the Public Utilities Commission, there is to be an immediate conference between representatives of the Manchester Electric Company, the town of Manchester and the Public Utilities Commission relative to the rates for electric current in this community, it is of primary importance that very early and very earnest consideration be given to the problem of street lighting.

For two years—and it is to be suspected largely because of the stiff-necked belligerence of both sides in the rate conflict—Manchester has been suffering from a very serious diminution in street illumination. More lights have been darkened—many more—than the community could afford to have extinguished, approaching the question from whatever angle. The time is most propitious for the restoration of most if not all of them.

Manchester never went in for wastefully elaborate schemes of illumination, but substantially all our streets were provided with plenty of lamps and they burned throughout the hours of darkness. This was an unusual, though never extravagantly, well lighted community. Its people felt at ease when they traversed its streets after dark. Strangers could find their ways about and the homes of such residents as they might be seeking. Those who passed through received the impression of a progressive, good looking city.

Then came the depression, the need for municipal economy, heavy pecuniary demands in other directions, undiplomatic proposals, undiplomatic reception of them, misunderstandings, obstinacy, conflict—and behold, a town no longer well lighted, nor, it is to be believed, as well lighted as it could have been, for all the need of economy. This light was put out, that light was put out, finally lights by the hundreds disappeared. Streets that were once well lighted are miserably lighted. Ways that were safe and comfortable to travel at night are dim and unsafe. As one drives about it or passes through, the town looks as though it were half deserted, a fading place.

We must have our lights back. We must restore the brightness and the safety of our streets. It strikes us as rather unorthodox of all the parties concerned, the town, the electric company, the P. U. C., to suggest that all three together can possibly be unequal to the task of reaching some agreement, within the means of both municipality and power people, for the very great betterment of our street light conditions. We feel very sure they can—and almost as sure they will.

PRINTING PRESS MONEY

How the deflationists—the number of them who know what they are talking about is extremely small—and their abject or guileless followers—whose number is growing smaller every day—do love to roll over their tongues that devastating phrase, "printing press money!"

It might not be such a bad idea to ask the next fellow you hear use it precisely what meaning he intends to convey when he talks about "starting the printing presses rolling." What, that is to say, more than a jump out at you from behind a bush and a cry of "Boo!" which may be terrifying but doesn't really mean anything except that he takes you for a sap.

Dealing in round numbers the total stock of money in the United States at the end of last year was $9,004,000,000. Of this $8,518,000,000 was gold and $845,000,000 was silver. All the rest, or $4,241,000,000, is "printing press money," more than three billions in Federal Reserve notes, some seven hundred and thirty-six millions in National bank notes, and, believe it or not, $346,881,016 of the same old greenbacks that were issued under the Civil War enactments. These, physically renewed as the old paper wore out from time to time, have been passing from hand to hand and from bank to bank ever since 1863, when Congress halted the retirement of the money that fought that historic conflict—a retirement started as soon as the war was safely over at the behest of the bankers, who wanted bonds with interest coupons, not greenback bonds without any coupons.

There were in existence at the time of this inventory—though not in circulation because they were hoarded—some gold certificates; also some silver certificates. Though the product of the same printing presses, these should not really figure in any consideration of paper money because they are more receipts for gold or silver coin deposited with the government and cannot enter into any survey of the real paper money question.

Now it is a curious thing, but there is hardly a single dollar of our various kinds of paper money that is an unqualifiedly honest dollar. The nearest approach to it is the Civil War greenback, or United States note. These are the only paper dollars endowed by law with the legal tender quality. The national bank note is not a legal tender, the Federal Reserve note is not a legal tender, by law. The government need not accept either in payment of custom duties. And neither, by the same token, need it receive the greenback. The first issue greenbacks, under the act of February 15, 1862, were unqualified legal tender and receivable by the government in payment of any obligations whatever—the only completely honest paper money this country ever had. They were quickly supplanted in July of the same year, however, by the "wounded" greenback, which pretended to be a legal tender but was made not receivable for duties on imports or interest on the public debt.

"Wounded" greenback is the one that the deflationists always tell you about as having depreciated to 35 cents—measured by gold. The first issue greenbacks never depreciated by the fraction of a cent. Neither would the other issues have depreciated if the government, at the urge of the bankers, had not disavowed its own money by refusing to accept it in payments.

Then there is the national bank note. That's a curious kind of printing press money. First a national bank buys some government bonds. Then it deposits these bonds with the government. Bear in mind that the bank draws down the interest on the coupons like any other investor and still owns the bonds. Against the bonds the bank is then authorized to issue an equal amount of bank notes—currency, the money of every day use. If the bank blows up the government, hanging onto the bonds, will make the bank notes good. This money the bank lends out, at interest; or perhaps even uses it as a cash reserve as the basis for lending out a much larger amount of bank credit—also at interest. So the neat little national bank currency system, it is to be seen, enables the bank to draw interest at least two ways and perhaps three on the same capital investment.

But best of all is the Federal Reserve note. This is issued under a fairly complicated arrangement, but the basis of it is not, like the greenback, the credit and faith of the whole people and all the property and all the values in the United States, but the credit of such corporations and individuals as go to Federal Reserve Banks seeking loans. The mercantile bank makes a loan, taking the borrowers' note. Then it takes that note, along with others of the same kind, to the Federal Reserve Bank for "re-discount." The Federal Reserve Bank, under authority of the Federal Reserve Board, sets the printing presses to rolling and prints paper money with which to meet the credits of the member banks—based very largely upon the estimated worth of this commercial paper. For the loan of it the Federal Reserve Bank, of course, demands and receives plenty of interest.

It's about the funniest kind of money we ever had—and it constitutes the largest item in our circulating medium by far. Oh, it's good, all right—never fear about that. But it's good only because the government is tied in with the Federal Reserve Board and that is good and because the government can be depended on to see to it that it is good.

But where on earth do these deflationists get off who prate about "printing press money?" What, but the national credit—the national good faith—makes any of our paper money good? And why is it that none of these people who are so frightened at printing presses are only frightened when there is talk of printing greenbacks? The answer to that is easy: The greenbacks, being issued direct by the government and distributed through its application to government obligations, is the only kind of paper money that provides no opportunity for a take-off by the banks.

The security immediately back of a greenback, as compared with that back of a Federal Reserve note, is the credit of all the people and all the property in the country, while the security immediately behind the Federal Reserve note is the solvency of a relatively few individuals and business concerns and a number of banks—which may sometimes become pretty shaky, as well we all know from recent experiences.

Printing press money? It's all printing press money. What the deflationists want is to have it printed in quantities sufficient to stabilize prices at the point where they should be fixed, the 1926 level; and issued by the government as a great national utility; not in such meagre quantities as will keep the people running continually to the banker-pawnbrokers who eat them alive with interest charges and live fatly on the pounds of flesh they devour.

Let the printing presses roll, not as a tool of the usurers, as they do now, but in the service of a nation, as they ought to do.

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON

New York, Dec. 4.—There have been a good many arrivals from Hollywood lately, and much additional evidence that a sojourn in the cinema city adds immeasurably to any performer's glamor and fame. Too-long exposure to Broadway somehow tends to dissipate the romantic legends which flourish in the studios.

For example, the gay-way is trying to reconcile the current hoopla about Katharine Hepburn with its recollections of that lean and moderately capable young actress when she was last seen here in a silly farce called "The Warrior's Husband." She's rehearsing now for an imported London play titled "The Lake."

Miriam Hopkins, Gary Cooper and Sandra Shaw, who was born Veronica Balfe over in Brooklyn, all came east for the premiere of their movie, "Design for Living." Miss Hopkins will remain and star in "Jessebe," the play which was held off for many weeks in a vain hope that Tallulah Bankhead might recover from her illness and assume the role originally promised her. Miss Hopkins will go very nicely though, and her Hollywood interlude seems to have added new elements of interest.

Stars in Town

Franchot Tone, the new romantic of the films, was just a nice, dashing young juvenile when he belonged to the Group Theater here. But the autograph hounds were out in full cry when he revisited Broadway, especially since he frequently appears in the company of "exotic and glamorous" Joan Crawford, whom some people hereabout remember as a chorus kisser in Bill Dufty's floor show at the Silver Slipper.

Rumors are flying that an engagement is pending; also that Tone is returning to the New York stage. Both guesses are wrong.

Nancy Carroll is still around, looking over new plays since the closing of her last one, "Undesirable Lady." Lilyan Tashman is buying some more clothes on the avenue. Elissa Landi has flown in from England, and Frederic March has flown in from Hollywood. Bebe Daniels is getting around to the night spots. Other night at the Central Park Casino she idly began making sketches of some of the guests on the table linen. And gallant gentlemen proceeded to buy the tablecloths for $5 each.

Like Old Times

Fannie Hurst, who has written a new novel, gave a "Gay Nineties" party the other night in the memory-laden atmosphere of Billy the Oysterman's. It was gay but not particularly "antique," and proved, if anything, that nobody particular regrets the demise of the era and its ways. Not even old Daniel Frohman, who is 80 and still wears four-inch collars, saw anything of the ghosts of Diamond Jim Brady, Jay Gould or Gertrude Vanderbilt as he leaned against the famous old oyster bar, or later as he tackled a steak in the dining room. Mr. Frohman preferred to talk about the theater, which he says is getting better every year and he's glad of it.

There had been talk of everybody coming in hansom cabs, but it turned out that the guests were in a hurry, or chilly or something, so they arrived in Rolls Royces.

For the Walker Larreroches, Irvin S. Cobb, George Palmer Putnam and a score or so more celebrities, dress was informal but modern. Mrs. Oliver Harriman wore a marvellous hat. Grover Whalen wore his usual moustache which is slightly reminiscent of an earlier day. Somebody hopefully asked Mike Read, the gray headed waiter, if this party were like old times. Mike said gracious no!—that in the old days most of the guests got "overhead" and that behavior is much better now.

Among the Moors, if a wife does not become the mother of a boy, she may be divorced with the consent of the tribe and may marry again.

Health and Diet Advice

TREATMENT FOR ADHESIONS AND PROLAPSUS

When adhesions have become tightly formed, the most satisfactory way to loosen them is by means of deep manipulations with the skilled fingers of a doctor who has learned the technique of the particular work. If you have been told you have a serious case of adhesions, I am sure you will appreciate the knowledge that most adhesions can be separated bloodlessly by stretching them loose with the special manipulative treatment which has been developed within the last few years. This treatment can be carried out without cutting into the walls of the abdomen.

The bloodless treatment for adhesions is practically painless and even in severe cases the connective tissues can be severed, although in some instances it may take months of treatment. As the adhesions disappear, it is encouraging to have re-tests made under the fluorescent x-ray which will show the improvement being made. After the adhesions and intestinal kinks are banished, constipation and digestive disorders are corrected.

Once the adhesions have been removed, you will have to keep your normal muscular tone by taking various abdominal exercises. These exercises are also invaluable for overcoming prolapsus. However, before you try to bring about a change for the better in the prolapsed organs, any disease which may be present must be cured. When the patient is in a condition to develop strength, he is ready to start those exercises which I recommend. One who will persevere with them will be pleased to find the organs are being raised higher and the abdomen becoming flatter. It may take some time to accomplish this, but the good results are worth the effort.

The best exercises for you to use are those taken on the Bleeding Board. Through these exercises you may be sure that you will be able to develop your abdominal muscles to such a degree that you need not fear a future return of prolapsed organs or adhesions.

In cases where the muscles of the abdomen, including the involuntary muscles, have become weakened through years of lack of use, they often do not respond to any exercise which you may give to yourself, but fortunately, there is an electrical machine which will cause these sleeping muscles to wake up and move with vigorous contractions. There are a number of forms of this machine, but they all use the slow sinusoidal wave current.

While trying to correct prolapsus of the internal organs, it is a good plan to increase the general strength by walking. It is also vitally important to secure good elimination from the intestines, and it is advisable to use the enema if necessary. Fresh air, and increased elimination of wastes through the skin by sponge baths, are recommended.

At the beginning of the treatment, when some digestive disturbance may be present, it is best to eat only small meals. Many patients who have a habit of lying down after each meal for a short time, with the feet of the bed propped higher than the head, in this position the organs are encouraged to return to their normal places for a better pattern of strain on the fallen organs. Most gravity is temporarily relieved.

Although the effects of adhesions and prolapsus are often serious and far-reaching when such conditions are not corrected it is a confidence to know that they may be totally overcome through the use of the right methods.

Nevada produced approximately 500,000 tons of hay this year.

If you are looking for jewelry for Christmas gifts the crystal beads and earrings at Donnelly's at the Center will put an end to your searching.

Everybody from your favorite aunt to your next door neighbor will welcome a Christmas box containing home-made foods of one kind and another. For the needy family down the street such a gift is ideal.

Don't have a stray curl spoil your Christmas. Be sure your hair is in the style you desire and you can be sure it's done by the Lily Beauty Parlor. Dial 7484.

Girls usually have a much harder time selecting Christmas gifts for their friends than men do for theirs. This year, however, with the end of prohibition, with men growing more clothes conscious, with many men interested in their bachelor apartments and even in cooking, women have a wide field from which to pick.

For the friend who delights in something just a bit different one of Mrs. A. B. Homewood's flower powder boxes would be ideal. She has an unusually lovely display of all kinds of flowers at Watkins and cordially invites your personal inspection.

Perhaps it is easier to decide on one type of box, wrapping, stickers, tags and ribbon and buy enough for all your gifts. But, there's something exciting about having a selection, so that you can pick this pattern for Betty Jane, that for John.

Benson's are showing some good values in four poster maple and walnut beds. There are also some special bargains on studio couches. Go in and see them at A. W. Benson's, 711 Johnson block, formerly the G. & B. Bedding Company.

Tomato jelly is a splendid substitute for fresh tomatoes. Its bright color makes it particularly attractive for the holiday season. Do you know the trick of making individual molds of clear jelly and scooping out the center to form cups? The cups are filled with extra material just as fresh tomatoes are stuffed. Any mixture that would be used for fresh tomatoes can be used for the filling.

When it comes to new and delightful gift wrapping paper, the best thing I can do is to direct you to Hale's Stationery Department. You'll find a package of sheets, seals and ribbons to make up 20 cents besides all kind of novelty ribbons and stickers.

If you haven't much money to spend on daughter this Christmas, a length of some pretty dress material that you intend to make up for her, letting her pick the pattern, would be nice. Possibly you have an old piece of jewelry she has always admired that you could make her a present of, which will give her a real sense of importance.

New curtains for her bedroom, or a pretty bedspread are useful gifts that you might manage with little expense. Still another nice idea is to give her a party during the holidays, making the prizes and favors and asking her assistance in planning the decorations and games for the young folks.

When thinking of gifts—and it's impossible to think about much else just now—why not a gift that the whole family can use and enjoy? This suggestion came to me after seeing the beautiful desks and secretaries in Watkins' window. There are various styles and sizes, both for the desk and for the secretary, and they are not horribly expensive at all.

This is the season for citrus fruits. Excellent oranges and grapefruit are arriving from Florida. Florida also is sending us quantities of crisp green beans, Texas spinach is plentiful and of fine quality. Carrots, cauliflower, broccoli and Brussels sprouts are also attractive in quality and price.

While you are at Hale's stationery department, take a look at the five year diaries, autograph albums and zipper pencil cases for only 50 cents. As for stationery—there's everything imaginable. 50 cents to $1.00.

Say that the Bargain Hound suggested it to you.

AMUSEMENTS FINANCIAL FRENZY OF '29 IN NEW FILM Jack Holt Plays Part of Steel Worker in Picture at State Two Days.

The hysterical, money-mad era that led up to the dreadful Black Friday in the New York stock market and provoked as a consequence a New Deal in the world of finance, serves as the interesting atmosphere in which the new Columbia production, "Master of Men," which is coming Friday and Saturday to the State Theater, is projected.

The character portrayed by Jack Holt, star of "Master of Men" a brawny, industrious and ambitious steel worker, who through the stock manipulations of wealthy industrialist using the aggressive mill hand for a blind, rises to the presidency of the mill where previously he slaved in the inferno-like heat of the blast furnaces, symbolizes dramatically the temperament of that period. Freed from his sudden acquisition of wealth, his power he loses sight of the love of his wife, neglects his friends and betrays the trust of his former co-workers until the stock market crash restores him to a more human and more sensible outlook on life.

Fay Wray, who comely has demonstrated her histrionic ability as the successful woman barrister in "Ann Carver's Profession," renounces for good, we hope, her succession of "horror" films and portrays in "Master of Men" the resourceful wife of Jack Holt, who

THE BARGAIN HOUND

I was in Montgomery Ward's this morning and saw something new and different in the way of little short knitted sweater jackets and right beside them were some soft wooly shoulderettes in all colors.

Cauliflower au Gratin is good. 1 medium cauliflower, cook; 10 N. B. C. Soda Crackers, crumbled fine; salt and pepper; 1 cup milk; 3 tbsps. grated American cheese; 2 tbsps. butter. Separate cauliflower into florets. In a greased baking dish put alternate layers of cauliflower and crackers. Season and pour milk over all. Sprinkle cheese on top and dot with butter. Bake in hot oven (475 degrees F) 15-20 minutes. 6 portions.

If you've been craving something sweet the delicious fresh fudge and other candies at the Teacrum will surely satisfy your taste.

New coiffures are hair-raising! You brush the hair back from your noble brow but you also brush your hair up from your neck. The result is a gorgeous array of little curls piled high and held in place by some attractive clip, bandeau in day time. By night stars gleam among your tresses, in the form of clips and combs which serve the double purpose of beautifying your coiffure and holding your curls aloft.

You may have a bottle of Evening in Paris Perfume and a lipstick with each box of powder for 88c at the Weidon Drug Company.

If you run short of eggs while cooking something that requires thickening, remember that a tablespoonful of corn starch can be substituted for one egg.

Cookies are always good and Christmas cookies are especially so. Wouldn't you like some brand new cookie recipes? Of course you would. Well, then, you surely should attend the cooking demonstration tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock by Mrs. Marion Rowe, home economist of the Manchester Electric Company. It's to be in the Odd Fellows block in the store formerly occupied by the Southern New England Telephone Company.

How Firemen Used Spare Time Last Christmas

Here's the big display of toys members of Hose Company No. 3, South Manchester Fire Department, arranged including hundreds of gifts for Manchester youngsters. During their spare time the firemen repaired broken toys making them as good as new again. Then they were distributed to youngsters who might never had known any other Christmas joy.

FIREMEN PREPARE TO REPAIR TOYS

Members of No. 3 to Again Turn Quarters into a Santa Claus Workshop.

For the second successive year, Hose Company No. 3, "Headquarters Company," South Manchester Fire Department, will sponsor a Santa Claus "workshop" during the next three weeks, receiving and repairing damaged toys which will be given through the welfare organizations to children who would not otherwise share in the joys of Christmas.

When there has been a call for a fire, the opening of the doors switched on a red light outside the building, warning pedestrians and motorists in both directions that the apparatus was coming out. This light today is being replaced by a horn set outside the building. When the door opens now the horn will sound. This will be heard for a considerable distance and will be a much better warning than the light.

The social club of Manchester lodge of Masons entertained members of Doric lodge of Thompsonville in the Temple here last night, but they were not particularly kind to their guests in games competition. The Manchester Masons scored 65 points and the members of Doric lodge scored 35 points. Seven different kinds of games were played.

Over 50 members of the Thompsonville lodge were here for the social time, and with the large number of local Masons attending the social room of the Temple was crowded. Before leaving, the members of Doric lodge invited the local Masons to Thompsonville for a similar social Thursday, January 4. The local lodge hopes to send a big delegation to Thompsonville for the affair.

The scores in the various games played last night were as follows: Baseball, Manchester 15, Doric 0; pool, Manchester 15, Doric 0; set-back, Manchester 0, Doric 10; ping-pong, Manchester 6, Doric 0; bridge, Manchester 10, Doric 8; checkers, Manchester 0, Doric 5. Refreshments were served following the games.

MELBY'S PLANS APPROVED Bridgeport, Dec. 6—(AP)—Mayor Jasper Melby today received word that the Federal civil works administration in Washington had approved Bridgeport's city-wide program for street paving, a project, with others, which the mayor advocated in a recent visit to National capital. The program was originally outlined by Mayor E. T. Buckingham and it was backed by the civil works board for Connecticut.

The city will do its paving and pay 70 per cent of the cost during a period of years, the other 30 per cent being a Federal grant.

SUBSTITUTE SIREN FOR LIGHT AT FIRE STATION

Added Precaution Expected to Prevent Accidents When Apparatus Responds to Alarms.

A change is being made at the headquarters of the Manchester fire department which is expected to be of benefit to not only the firemen, but to automobile drivers as they pass the firehouse.

When there has been a call for a fire, the opening of the doors switched on a red light outside the building, warning pedestrians and motorists in both directions that the apparatus was coming out. This light today is being replaced by a horn set outside the building. When the door opens now the horn will sound. This will be heard for a considerable distance and will be a much better warning than the light.

It is an added step towards preventing accidents when the apparatus responds to an alarm.

HOTEL MEN TO APPEAL FOR ASSEMBLY SESSION

Hartford, Dec. 6.—(AP)—In many ways and from all parts of the state plans were being made today to co-ordinate a movement which would result in a formal request to Governor Wilbur L. Cross on the part of hotel men for a session of the General Assembly to amend the liquor control law.

Willard B. Rogers of this city and Manchester, who is the publicity director of the Connecticut Hotel Men's Association, today made known that a formal petition for a special session will be filed with the governor early next week.

William P. Hessler of New Haven, a member of the Connecticut Retail Beer, Wine and Liquor Dealers Association, said the executive board in Bridgeport Monday will act to aid the hotel men. The meeting also will seek support from the Crusaders, and other organizations interested in control of liquor sales, in memorializing the governor for a special session.

On the other side, the Connecticut Temperance and Anti-Saloon League is preparing a program which is expected to outline a resistance to the proposal for a legislative session. The League will send a state delegation to Washington next month, when the Anti-Saloon League holds a national meeting to formulate a policy for combating the legal return of intoxicating liquors.

SELECTMEN STUDY ASSESSORS' WAGES

Chairman Cook to Find Out How Other Towns Pay Assessment Boards.

Chairman Aaron Cook of the Board of Selectman was authorized by his colleagues at the executive session of the Board last night to investigate the methods used in other communities of the state in paying their Assessors. Mr. Cook will submit a report of his findings at the next meeting of the Board, which is expected to be held next week.

The Selectmen at a recent meeting voted to pay the Assessors every month over a period of twelve months instead of paying the full salary amounts in four months. This action shattered all precedents, as the Assessors heretofore have been paid on the four months basis. Under the old plan of payment each of the three Assessors received a monthly check of $187.00. However, by stretching payments over a period of one year, the monthly checks would amount only to $22.50.

To Contact Other Places It is believed that Mr. Cook will look into the methods of payment in force in communities about the same size as Manchester, such as Danbury, Norwich, New London, Ansonia, Derby, Willimantic, Middletown and Torrington. Danbury, until recently, had not paid its Assessors anything for several months through lack of sufficient money in the city treasury and inability for quite a time, to borrow money in anticipation of taxes.

BIBLICAL DRAMA SERIES PLANNED

Services to Be Held Here, in Windsor and Hartford—First Here Sunday Night.

Rev. Frederick C. Allen of the Second Congregational church has arranged for a series of Biblical drama services to be held during the winter and early spring at the church here, the First Methodist church of Windsor, of which Rev. Donald Dorchester, brother of Mrs. Allen is pastor; and the North Methodist church of Hartford, Rev. Duncan Dodd, pastor. Each church will present a religious play at its own and the other churches during the season.

Sunday evening, December 17, a special service for everybody, and particularly young people, will be held at the Second Congregational church under auspices of the Christian Endeavor society. Rev. Porter Bower, director of religious education for Congregational churches of Connecticut will be the guest speaker.

On Sunday evening, December 24 a Christmas drama will be presented under the direction of the superintendent of the church school, John C. Owers, the music for which has been composed by the church organization, F. A. Wilbur of Wethersfield.

"The Cross" a drama, the cast of which will be coached by Mrs. George F. Borst, will be presented at the two churches above named and in connection with the Master program at the local church in March.

HARTFORD CONTRACTOR GET ALMSHOUSE JOB

D. J. Coughlin Is Lowest of Seven Bidders—Will Start Work Immediately.

The contract for the new roof on the Manchester Almshouse was this morning awarded to D. J. Coughlin of Hartford, who was the lowest bidder, his figure being $518 for a 20 year bonded Johns-Manville roof. The contract calls for the removal of the present roof, which is in bad condition.

Seven bids were received for the work, all but one being from out of town. He was the contractor that placed the roof on the post office building at the Center and on the new county building in Hartford. He has had several big contracts in Hartford and in other places throughout the state.

The work on the new roof will be started just as soon as possible so as to be completed and covered in before there is any heavy fall of snow.

There were ten tables at last week's party to which the women were invited. If there is a sufficient number of tables in play tomorrow night turkeys will be given for both first and second prizes.

NEW BANKING HOURS THURSDAY EVENINGS

Will Be from 4 Until 7 p.m. Now to Accommodate Silk Workers.

Officials of the Manchester Trust Company and the Savings Bank of Manchester today announced a change in business hours for Thursday evenings. The two institutions will do business now on Thursdays from four in the afternoon until seven in the evening. Previously the hours have been from 5 p. m. to 8 p. m. This change is being made to accommodate employees of the Cheney mills who have pay checks to cash. Since most of the employees in the silk mills stop work at four in the afternoon the new banking hours will give them an opportunity to come directly from work to the banks to cash their checks.

Employees of the two banks not employed in the mills and who have been going to the institutions Thursday evenings should take note of the fact that the evening closing hour will now be seven instead of eight o'clock.

EXCELLENT ORCHESTRA FOR DE MOLAY DANCE

Collins Driggs Heads Group of Individual Artists Who Compose the Band.

The large crowd expected at the annual De Molay Sport Dance Friday evening, December 8, will be entertained by one of the finest orchestras heard in New England this season. Headed by Collins Driggs who needs no introduction, the band has among its members Joe Romeo, a talented saxophone player who formerly played with Larry Funk, Scrappy Lambert and Happy Felton, all nationally known orchestras. Mr. Romeo has also broadcast a number of times over Radio Station WABC in New York City. Finky Wisman, another saxophone player has played with numerous large bands throughout the country and is now teaching in New York City. The violinist is Lew Holtman, a former member of Barney Rapp's orchestra, who is exceptionally well known throughout this part of the country. Lew has also allied long term appearances at the Hotel New Yorker and has recently been leading orchestras in many of the larger movie houses throughout New England. The comedian of the outfit is Charlie Cowles, the drummer. Charlie has played in most every theater in the East worth while mentioning. In addition to these fine musicians, the orchestra has with them Nelson Carrier, a crooner who has broadcast over several radio stations. The committee considers it is most fortunate in securing this splendid band and is expecting a larger crowd than ever before. To make the affair even greater they are to present a splendid floor show.

SURGEON IS MURDERED

Los Angeles, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The body of Dr. Dewey Whitman, 48, a prominent surgeon of Los Angeles, who had been shot and beaten to death, was found today in a bedroom of his palatial home overlooking silver lake. A .28 calibre rifle, its stock smashed, was apparently the death instrument. It lay beside the body. Detectives said there were indications of a terrific struggle, but reported Dr. Whitman's wife and his three year old son and 5 year old daughter, who slept in adjoining room, were not awakened by it.

TRUCK WARFARE TRAFFIC HAZARD

Motor Vehicle Department Seeks to Correct Situation on Highways.

Open warfare on the highways of Connecticut between different groups of truck drivers has been discovered by motor vehicle department inspectors, and Commissioner Michael A. Connor said today he plans to ask the cooperation of the State Police department in combating the situation and ensuring the driving safety for the general public.

Complaints have been registered with the motor vehicle department from time to time alleging that trucks were traveling over the roads in groups and obstructing traffic. A motor vehicle inspector held up two trucks recently for "ganging" and was told it was done deliberately to safeguard the drivers. Allegations were made to the inspector by the drivers that trucks not carrying certain insignia on their windshields, showing affiliation with drivers' organizations, were deliberately stopped by pickets, the drivers mistreated and trucks damaged before being allowed to proceed.

The drivers interviewed by the inspector asserted they found safety in numbers as their only protection and planned to move along the roads in groups of two or more. The men claimed that this situation had developed since the truck drivers struck some weeks ago.

Unusual Formation
The truck drivers had adopted an unusual formation in which to travel, an arrangement that threatened the safety of general traffic on the road and which will receive the close attention of motor vehicle inspectors until the practice is stopped. The leading truck rode well over the center of the road, making it almost impossible for traffic to pass. The other trucks in a group are on the right hand side of the road. Traffic coming up in the rear of the trucks pass the vehicles on the right-hand side and then find their way blocked by the leading truck. Signals receive a little attention until the driver of the second truck blinks his headlights several times whereupon the driver of the leading truck pulls over and gives room to passing.

The explanation of this maneuver, according to the drivers interviewed is that the drivers of the trucks on the right side of the road have a chance to inspect the occupants of cars seeking to pass the lead truck. If the inspection is satisfactory the signal is given the advance truck to clear the road. On the other hand, if they are suspicious, they have the cars bottled up and, in a group, can defend themselves.

Creates Jam
The danger of this practice rests in the predicament in which general traffic is placed when approaching traffic forces the advance truck to pull over on the right-hand side of the road, leaving the cars behind to extricate themselves as best they can. With two or more trucks on the right-hand side of the road such traffic can only stop as quickly as possible and try to pull behind the trucks before traffic coming towards them creates a jam. As traffic behind a truck cannot see ahead drivers are unprepared for the emergency and serious accidents can result from this planned "ganging" of the road by truck operators. It is this phase of the situation which interests Commissioner Connor. Conflicts between truck drivers is a police matter, requiring complaint by assaulted parties either to the state police or to the proper city or town authorities wherein the assault took place. But the proper use of the road by all traffic is a motor vehicle department problem and, as such, the commissioner proposes to make sure that the "ganging" practice is eliminated. To achieve that end the inspection section of the department has been given instructions to check night traffic carefully and the commissioner plans to seek the aid of the state police in establishing night patrols on the truck thoroughfares through the state.

FEW BOSTON DRUNKS

Boston, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Boston police today reported fewer arrests for drunkenness during the first night of repeal than on an ordinary Saturday night of the prohibition era.

There was a total of 87 arrests for drunkenness—while an ordinary Saturday night, police said, yielded close to 200 and sometimes more. The Back Bay station, which patrols the uptown hotel and night club district, had not a single arrest on its books. The greatest number of drunkenness arrests reported by any one precinct were 10—from the north end station.

WIZARD AT FIGURES

Chicago, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Dr. Samuel I. Krieger, German mathematical wizard, who now lives in Buffalo, came to town and made newspapermen dizzy with his calculations. Asked to multiply 1,073,741,824 by 1,048,576, he answered in 12 seconds by writing down one line of figures as follows: 1,125,899,906,842,264.

MISS HELEN ESTES IS THEATER FAN

Views Three Leading Plays On Recent Visit to New York.

New York means many different things to many different kinds of people. To Miss Helen Estes, head of the English department, New York spells the theater. While in New York during the Thanksgiving vacation, she saw three excellent shows of different types: "Ah Wilderness," "The Dark Tower," and "As Thousands Cheer."

"Ah Wilderness," Eugene O'Neill's comedy of the problems of an adolescent boy of the year 1908, is quite unlike most of his work. While it presents a psychological problem, that problem is not the tragic interplay of inhibited personality which is characteristic of most of O'Neill's recent works. It is a study of a young man who "discovers" the romantic love poetry of the Victorian period. His eagerness to share it with a girl of his own age causes her irate father to forbid her to associate with the young man. In a desperate attempt to bolster up his own ego, he undertakes to be a man of the world in imitation of a fast classmate of his older brother at Yale.

O'Neill Not A Best
The performance of George M. Cohan as the kindly-humored father is a delightful characterization. When his wife demands that her husband punish their son for coming to associate with the young man, he becomes intoxicated, and then urges him not to lose his temper. Mr. Cohan delights the audience with the words "I can see where this is going to work up to all my fault." Although it is realistic and true to life, Miss Estes does not believe that this comedy is as impressive as the author's tragedies.

"The Dark Tower," a comedy mystery by Alexander Wolcott and George Kaufman, is an amusing and exciting example of wit in melodrama. The play itself is definitely an entertaining one, with the slightest of villains, a beautiful heroine in distress, and several outstanding comedy characters. "I was particularly interested in that play," said Miss Estes, "because a friend of mine plays the part of the crochety but kindly companion to the lady of the house. Before the play I watched her transform herself from the age of thirty to the age of sixty by a very clever make-up."

"As Thousands Cheer," a comedy and entertaining revue that I have ever seen," she continued, "is 'As Thousands Cheer' starring Clifton Webb, Marilyn Miller, Helen Broderick, and Ethel Waters. The opening scene in which a tortured husband resolves that as far as his wife's vicious perambulation is concerned, it is an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, and a bite for a bite, introduces the news headlines of the whole satire. Mr. Webb, Miss Miller, and Miss Broderick personify dozens of people who are familiar in the news. Hoover telephone members of the diplomatic group to vent upon them the feelings hitherto pent up by executive dignity. Amy Semple decide to put on an act together; the room servants, after Noel Coward's departure from a hotel, are infected with a grotesque desire to imitate the mannerisms of his characters; and John D. Rockefeller is not pleased with a birthday gift of Radio City. Characters from the comic sheets come to life, wearing masks and wigs.

TEACHER ACCOMPANIES PUPILS TO NEW YORK

Mr. Gatchell, of the English department, was invited by two teachers of the Andover grammar school to accompany them and eighteen of their pupils to New York City last Sunday. This was an interesting experience for these boys and girls for most of them had never been on a train before. They visited many well-known sights and were especially impressed by Radio City. At the American Museum of Natural History, they received first hand material which will help them with projects they are now working on.

EDITORIAL

The Thanksgiving Day race brought out not only the superb running ability of Billy Murch, but a fine character working instinctively. Starting off in the race, Billy did something which is seldom seen in competition. He forgot how much he wanted to win the race and stopped to pick up another runner who had fallen.

DESCRIBES VISIT TO ALTOONA, PA.

Russell A. Wright Tells of Great Railroad Shops in That City.

Russell A. Wright, of the High School faculty, spent Thanksgiving with his sister in Altoona, Pennsylvania. Altoona has been made famous by the great "Horseshoe Curve" of the Pennsylvania railroad, which is only four miles from the middle of town. It also houses the great manufacturing and repair plants of the Pennsylvania R. R., which employs about 15,000 men every year.

While there, Mr. Wright had the opportunity of seeing a freight of over 100 cars with four huge locomotives go around the bend. He commented that it was quite a sight to see the front of the train weaving its way around one end of the horseshoe, with the rear cars following around the opposite end. He said that new rails are laid nearly every month on this particular stretch of the road, due to the tremendous stress exerted by such long strings of cars.

When questioned about living conditions in that section of the country, he replied that he still preferred old New England. He described a house situated there as being very cold looking and painted a dull gray, railroad style, while those that weren't painted so seemed gray anyway. He also mentioned the great open air markets, quite popular in that section, where everything needed in the way of food was displayed outdoors.

SIX MANCHESTER GIRLS ARE STUDYING NURSING

Diversified Program of Activities at Middlesex Training Hospital Occupies Full Time.

Students attending Middlesex Training Hospital in Middletown discover that nursing is a fascinating as well as a serviceable vocation. The nineteen students who enrolled there in September, six graduates of Manchester High School. They are: Clara Kwash '33, Irene Villa '33, Winifred Lee '33, Agnes Kasulki '33, Clarissa Wood '33, and Lillian Janson '33.

Working in the wards does not comprise the major part of the day, as one usually concludes. The average number of hours on duty per day is four. From 8:00 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. every day except Saturday, the girls study hygiene, anatomy and physiology, hospital house-keeping, bacteriology, materia medica, nutrition and cookery, pharmacology, and the history of nursing.

One of the class studies chemistry under Professor Hill Wesleyan University. The class has physical training three hours a week at the Y. M. C. A., under the direction of Mr. Hough. From 7:30 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. every week-day is devoted to preparation of lessons for the following day. During the third and last year of training, the class will go to New Haven for a few months to study contagious diseases. The students find chemistry, science, and biology especially helpful in their work.

There are social periods as well as those for study. The Glee Club, composed of 50 student and graduate nurses, plans to give a concert in the spring. Plans are under way to organize a Dramatic Club. At a Christmas party to be held in December, the Freshman will furnish the entertainment.

When the students from Manchester were asked how they liked nursing, they replied, "It's great, only we have too much homework."

ALUMNUS FINISHES RADIO TUBE TESTER

Former "Siamese Twins" in Radio and Electric Business Together.

Few of the boys and girls now in school remember that M. H. S. once had enrolled in it the "Siamese Twins." However, such was the case in '30 and '31. Russell Potterton and William Krahe were so often together that Miss Elizabeth Craig dubbed them "Siamese Twins." These boys, who graduated with the Class of '31, were prominent in all lines of school activities, both were lettermen, having earned their letters in track. Potterton, while in school, ran several creditable races which merited him ribbons in school meets throughout the state.

When the boys left school, they were separated for a time, William Krahe joining the marines for a three year cruise. Most of his time in the Marines was spent as an instructor in the Marine Corps Institute at Washington, D. C. Russell Potterton received a position at McCoy's, Inc. in Hartford. His first duties there were to sell sheet music and to play popular songs on the piano. He held many different positions in McCoy's and, when he left, he was buying all the material for the musical instrument department, trimming the windows, and selling, as well. He has played the piano with some of the largest orchestras and has accompanied both with orchestra and as a soloist over both Hartford radio stations.

When Mr. Krahe was discharged from the Marines, he received a position at radio man at McCoy's in Hartford, an event which brought the two boys together again. After three years he became dissatisfied and started a radio repair business of his own. In his fifteen years of experience, Mr. Krahe has repaired over a hundred makes of radios.

In 1931 the two boys came together again. In September their plans were completed and the firm of Potterton and Krahe was established. Their business has increased steadily since they opened their store at Depot Street where they installed all the latest testers and devices for making positive repairs on all radios.

On September 9, 1933, their business was moved to the new store at the Center Street. Their new store is larger, to take care of their growing business. They are now selling General Electric and Crosley as well as Atwater Kent radios with which they started. Lately they have been selling Silent Glow Oil Burners with much success. Mr. Krahe is now finishing a new tube tester which will test for noises, and also locate cathode-leakage and gassy tubes.

"The business of servicing radios is a lot of fun—sometimes aggravating—but on the whole it is mighty interesting," says he. Not only do I meet an endless variety of technical problems, but all manners of people and personalities in many stations and walks of life. "Speaking of technical problems, this new tube tester might interest you. No doubt you have read Edison's remark about invention being one per cent inspiration and ninety-nine per cent perspiration? Well, this piece of equipment is a fine example of truth of that statement.

"The inspiration arose from occasionally coming across a tube in someone's radio that was apparently all right by the ordinary methods of testing and yet failed to perform properly in the receiver. The necessity of a more complete and accurate means of testing became more and more obvious as tubes and circuits came in more complex, so I started scheming. Last summer I lay out certain of the various tubes and their circuits, with a view to the designing of a tester that would accommodate all the seventy odd types in use, making the tester itself too complicated to be practical, yet would be capable of disclosing practically any fault that might make a tube inoperative or otherwise unsatisfactory.

"I had a look at good many hours of brain-wracking study right after night-ten or eleven o'clock, checking, analyzing, combining various circuits, adding the new tubes and duplex circuits as they were introduced by the manufacturers. I'll now you see a relatively simple looking device that will do more than any commercial tube tester on the market.

"There are thirty-eight sockets now wired with space for several more to be added as the appearance of new tubes makes it necessary. Most of them will accommodate two or three tubes of similar characteristics and circuit requirements, so it is not necessary to have a separate socket for each type of tube. A specially designed power supply and amplifier are incorporated in the machine. The power supply provides all the filament grid and plate voltages necessary to test any tube under conditions similar to those found in most radio sets. The amplifier is a very important part, for it amplifies many thousand times the noise that is caused by certain faults within the tubes, thus enabling you to hear as well as see the power line, and the knob directly under it is to adjust the input voltage to the power supply, so we can always test under exactly the same conditions and with the correct filament voltage on every tube. The large D C meter in the center indicates, cathode current, and by means of the three push buttons at the bottom we get the usual mutual conductance test as well as a cathode-leakage test, and a test for gas-conductance. The majority of commercial tube testers found in radio stores merely indicate whether or not a tube is worn out, burned out, or shorted, so it is not at all surprising to frequently have someone bring in a tube that so-and-so tested all right, and it was all right but it wouldn't work in the radio. Nine times out of ten we can show the defect, so we feel that the labor and expense put into this machine were well worth while."

THE MINISTER'S WIFE

Among my many adult acquaintances there is one outstanding character whose reputation is well established, and who is of a very interesting nature. Although she is a minister's wife, and a true one, she would, no doubt, be better suited to the life of an old maid. Her hair, which is mostly faded, is done up in a knot on the top of her head, as is characteristic of the old maid of by-gone days. Once in a great while she may surprise her and find a smile on her wrinkled face. Seldom does this happen, however, as a life of exclusion from public affairs often leaves a serious expression on one's face.

REWARDS TRADE

SCHOOL PUPILS

Director Echmalian Gives Valuable Prizes to Subscription Contest Winners.

At a special Trade School assembly, November 28, approximately twenty students were awarded prizes by Director Echmalian for their share contributed in raising money during a recent magazine subscription drive. Frank Gado was highly praised by Mr. Echmalian for selling 31 subscriptions, thus netting the Trade school close to $20. This was the largest number of subscriptions sold by any one individual in the school. William Kesh was second, having sold 24 magazine subscriptions. Both boys were handsomely rewarded, Gado receiving a Jerome wrist watch, billfold, two rings and a three-tone Ever-sharp pen; Kesh a jack-knife, an Eagle pen and pencil set, and a heavy winter lumber jacket. Others received articles of less value, as their respective number of subscriptions warranted.

Dark blue jackets were presented by the school to the champions of the Trade School Inter-Department baseball series. The following textile department players were rewarded: Captain Eddie Raguskus, William Kesh, "Mike" Haberern, W. Demko, Roland Lashinski, John Carabino, Louis Vince, Henry Euter, John Vojtek and John Weiser. Coach W. E. Schober spoke on "Good Sportsmanship" and was followed by Ernest Panciera, instructor of science and related mathematics, who spoke in regard to the constitution of the Manchester Trade School Student Activities Association.

USHERS AT YALE GAME

Bill Leone Describes Experiences Before, During and After Princeton Football Classic.

Members of the football team who went to New Haven last Saturday to act as ushers for the Yale-Princeton game did some sight-seeing on the side. Bill Leone tells this story:

"Upon reaching New Haven we viewed the Hillhouse and Connecticut high schools. Directly in front of us was the Payne Whitney $3,000,000 gymnasium used by Yale. There are twenty sections, but we were only allowed to visit the first floor. First we saw the tank where the Yale crew practices rowing. Next, we came to the beautiful all-tilt swimming pool. I believe this is the largest indoor pool in the world. The last section was the basketball floor, which had two courts and six baskets. The extra two being used for foul shooting."

"We arrived at the Bowl early so we visited the Yale baseball park with its several memorials to Yale notables, such as Camp and Stagg. "After we received our orders for ushers we were dismissed until 12 o'clock. "Excitement began at 1:30, as the Yale Bulldog came in followed by the Yale and Princeton bands. The crowd began to come but the Bowl was not entirely full. "To see these teams play is a thrill in itself, although the score was one-sided, the undefeated Princeton team winning by the score of 27-2. "When the game ended, the Princeton fans tore the goal posts down and fighting was started, with the Yale men being the unfortunate victims. It took us 15 minutes to get out of traffic."

POPULAR TEACHER ILL

Arthur N. Potter, popular history teacher at Manchester High, is seriously ill at the Memorial hospital. Mr. Potter was absent from his teaching for about a week before the Thanksgiving vacation, and entered the hospital on November 29. Mr. Potter has been very active in local as well as school affairs, and everyone is to be sincerely wishes him a very speedy recovery.

BILLY MURCH STAR HARRIER

Manchester High's Cross Country Team Wins the Thanksgiving Day Meet.

Completing the course record with a time of 12:09.5, Billy Murch last Thursday closed the cross country season in the annual Thanksgiving race. Running better than ever before, Manchester's star cross-country man led a Manchester team to victory by a score of 31 points to 45 for M.H.S. The meet was the climax of the cross country season with five teams entered, making a total of 42 entries.

The schools entered and their scores were M.H.S., 31; M.H.S., 45; Mount Pleasant, Southbury, 48; Connecticut State Frosh, 96; and M.H.S. seconds, 107. East Hartford also ran. The teams entered by the schools were excellent ones.

Billy Murch, Manchester's lead man, started out running easily with the rest of the entrants but by the time the half way mark was reached on Autumn street, he had pulled ahead and, running neck and neck with Foy Boucher of H.H.S., led the rest by a few yards. His lead lengthened coming into the home stretch, with Boucher running a few yards behind. Using his remaining strength, Murch broke the race two seconds ahead of Boucher. After Boucher came Joe Packard of M.H.S. and David Waters of Mount Pleasant.

The former record, made by Bill Duffey of H.H.S., was 12:17.6. Coach Wigren was well pleased with the performance of the men he has trained, and especially with that of Billy Murch, who certainly can be classed as one of Manchester High School's foremost athletes and a worthy successor to Joe McCluskey.

The finish was as follows: 1—Murch, M.H.S., 31; Boucher, H.H.S., 3—Packard, M.H.S., 4—Waters, M.P., 5—Perry, H.H.S., 6—Donahue, M.H.S., 7—Rurey, H.H.S., 8—Bursiewicz, M.P., 9—Kwysy, M.H.S., 10—Coburn, M.H.S., 11—Leary, M.H.S., 12—Bunnano, M.P., 13—Diana, M.H.S., 14—Salamao, M.P., 15—Smith, E.H., 16—McAndrews, Conn. TOMAN WINS POPULARITY AT CLARK UNIVERSITY

Salutatorian of Class of '33 Elected to Glee and Dramatic Clubs; Excels in Classes

James Toman, salutatorian of the class of 1933, is establishing himself as an outstanding Freshman student at Clark University, which he now attends. He was successful in trying out for the college Glee Club. In two recent concerts given by the club, known as "The Cupet," the variety debating team also interested him and at present he is one of ten from whom the six varsity debaters will be chosen.

Keeping up his versatility, he also tried out for and successfully made the college dramatic club, known as "The Cupet." The variety debating team also interested him and at present he is one of ten from whom the six varsity debaters will be chosen.

Toman's course at Clark consists of French, English, economics, European history, and biology. As evidence of his keeping up the remarkable scholastic record he established in high school, he was the only student to receive an A in a recent biology examination. The only failure Toman has met with thus far was in his attempt to organize a cross-country team for the college. Jim was the capable manager of Manchester's 1933 cross-country team.

VERNON BRIDGE BEING REPLACED

Historic Structure Declared Unsafe Removed to Make Room for Another.

Rockville, Dec. 6.—Yesterday was a red letter day in the history of the town of Vernon, for work was started replacing the only overhead bridge in the community by a new bridge after over 25 years.

The historic "Forty-Four Stairs" were removed as the bridge leading from High street over the New Haven railroad tracks to Brooklyn street was cut down by acetylene torches. The Berlin Construction Company was in charge of the work. Due to the fact that it had been declared unsafe and because of the demand for this overhead passage across the deep gully through which the railroad enters Rockville a new bridge was decided upon.

The original steel bridge was constructed in 1896 by the same company for the sum of $1,579.13, and a check was drawn in March, 1896, in payment of this bridge. The Board of Selectmen at that time were Judge John E. Fahy, chairman; Farley B. Leonard, and Charles Tennstedt.

Replaced Wooden Structure
Judge Fahy, who is now in his seventies, in his office in the Probate Court yesterday recited the history of this old steel bridge, stating that it replaced a wooden structure which had become unsafe. It was erected to accommodate the woolen mill workers who had to go from High street and adjoining streets to the other sections where the woolen mills were located. This cut off approximately a mile and a half of their walking distance.

The new bridge is to be of much heavier construction. The "T" beams which are being used were brought to Rockville on two large flat cars because of their length, being about 22 inches high and unusually heavy for a bridge which is to be used only for a foot passageway.

The original bridge practically rusted away because of the gases from the steam locomotives passing under the bridge. These gases decayed the paint and it was found impossible to repaint the underside of the bridge.

The floor of the bridge was of heavy three inch plank which had been replaced on several occasions, the last time being a year ago by the Board of Selectmen.

Job Will Last Several Weeks
The work of constructing the new bridge is expected to take several weeks as much of the steel work has not arrived yet, although the "T" beam supports are considered the major part of the structure.

The original bridge was of the overhead type while the new bridge is to be of the "T" beam type. The bridge builders claim that the life of the new bridge will be indefinite due to the heavy steel. The original steel was but four by six inches of the "L" type.

Many people have been attracted to the scene during the past few days to watch the old bridge removed and to see the workmen raise the big "T" beams from the two railroad cars, which were placed under the section where the bridge is being erected.

FIRST LEGAL LIQUOR IS SOLD HERE TODAY

Midland Package Store Reports First Transaction at 8:10 This Morning.

The first sale of legal liquor to be made at any of the three package stores in town, outside of the chain stores, was made at 8:10 this morning when a bottle of "Old Pepper" whiskey was sold. This sale was made at the Midland Package store.

G. A. Green, who holds a package store license, has made no effort to put in a large supply and will wait until a week or so before he stocks any large amounts, feeling that there will be a drop in the prices from those now asked, as was the case when beer was first sold. Joseph Trotter, who also holds a package store license has not made provision for any large stock of liquor, but at the Midland store a large stock was moved in last night and was on display in the store windows today.

SUMMER COTTAGES BURNED

Milford, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Fire believed to have been of incendiary nature destroyed three summer cottages at Burwell beach on the east shore of Milford early today. Damage was estimated by fire officials at $10,000.

ROCKVILLE

FAIL TO MENTION $600 BUDGET ITEM FOR CAR

Lighting Appropriation, However, is Increased from $10,000 to $12,000 at Annual City Meeting.

Contrary to expectations no mention was made of the "police car" appropriation which was supposed to be brought up before the annual city meeting Tuesday evening when an appropriation of $600 was to be sought over the heads of the Board of Common Council which had previously refused to vote this amount.

One of the largest groups ever to attend a city meeting in recent years was on hand in the town hall to act on the municipal appropriations totaling $94,599.85, which were adopted without a single objection.

The crowd was on hand in anticipation of a motion being made to increase the running expenses of the police department by $600 so that a "police car" could be purchased with the permission of the Common Council. Nothing was said on the appropriation. When the three items, namely, salaries, $8,063.85; special police, $1,000; and running expense, $1,500, totaling $10,563.85, were read each item was adopted without any motion either to increase or reduce the items.

Another feature of interest at the meeting was the increasing of the lighting appropriation from $10,000 to $12,000 where it was until a year ago. Former Selectman Joseph Prichard suggested that the lighting committee have the lights restored as soon as possible.

Mayor-elect George Scheets, who is chairman of the lighting committee, suggested that it would be better to wait for a formal resolution of the common council which could be adopted tonight at the special session to be held. The appropriations are effective today.

Report of Rockville City Hospital Superintendent of the Rockville City Hospital, has submitted an interesting report for the month of November which is as follows: Number of patients in the hospital on November 1, '33; number admitted during the month, 28; number of out of town patients, 8; total number of patients treated, 46.

The cases were disposed of as follows: Number of patients discharged, 43; number of x-rays, 43; number of accidents treated, 18; number of births during month, 5; number of operations performed, 14; largest number treated during any one day, 17; smallest number treated during any one day, 6; daily average, 13 patients.

Judgment in Civil Case

In a civil action brought before Judge John E. Flek in the Rockville City Court yesterday morning at 9 o'clock a judgment for $125 was rendered in favor of the plaintiff in the case of E. W. Latimer of Coventry, against the Vernon Center Poultry Farms, Inc.

Attorney Chester Mills of Manchester, appeared for the plaintiff and attorneys Ackerman and Peizer of Rockville, entered for the defendant.

Mrs. Louise Schweitzer Kocher, wife of Paul Kocher of 47 Ward street, died at the Rockville City Hospital Monday. Death was caused by complications following an illness which extended over a period of two years.

Mrs. Kocher was born in Germany but had lived in Rockville for many years. She was a member of Ladies Aid Society and the Sewing Circle of the church as well as the Woman's Benefit Association.

Mrs. Kocher is survived by two brothers, Gottfried Schweitzer of Pennsylvania, and Gustave Schweitzer of Rockville.

The funeral was held this afternoon from the home on Ward street at 2 o'clock. Rev. K. Otto Klette, pastor of the First Lutheran Church, officiated. Burial was in the family plot in Grove Hill Cemetery.

Rockville Briefs

Dr. Starley H. Osborne, Commissioner of Health for Connecticut, will address the meeting of the Rockville Lions Club at the luncheon to be held at the Rockville House at 8:15 this evening. About twenty-five are expected to attend this luncheon. Dr. Osborne stated at his office in the State Office Building in Hartford yesterday that he will give a general health talk.

Charles F. McCarthy of High street, who has been appointed field deputy of the Internal Revenue Department by Dr. Edward G. Dolan, Collector of Internal Revenue, has taken up his duties in Danbury.

An important meeting of Burpee post, Woman's Relief Corps will hold an important meeting in the G.A.R. hall this evening at which time the selection of officers will take place, followed by a members' social. Mrs. Bertha Schlaeffer will preside at this meeting as president.

Badstueber Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold a meeting in the G.A.R. hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Plans for the district meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its auxiliary will be discussed at this meeting. The district meeting will be held at Manchester Sunday and all members are urged to attend the meeting which will be held at 2:30 o'clock.

A meeting of the Ladies Catholic Benevolent Association was held last evening in the Catholic Ladies of Columbus hall in the Prescott Block, followed by a social.

The Board of Selectmen, headed by First Selectman Francis J. Prichard, held a meeting last evening in their chambers in the Memorial building.

The third division of the Ladies Aid Society of the Union Congregational Church will serve a buffet luncheon Thursday evening in the church social room at 6 o'clock.

A large number attended the public whist held last evening at Maple Grove by the Ladies of Maple Grove. A social hour followed at which refreshments were served.

Plans are under consideration for the holding of a reunion of the Rockville High School Alumni Association, although no definite date has been set for the meeting which is to be held this month. James Galavin of Tolland, is the president of the organization.

Hope Chapter No. 60, Order of Eastern Star, held a meeting last evening, at which officers were elected for the ensuing year. A social hour followed the meeting at which time refreshments were served.

Rosie Lodge, an Auxiliary of the Hauri Gauri, held a meeting last evening at which time their election of officers was held.

The Teaching Mission which opened at St. John's Episcopal Church Sunday, will come to a close this evening. The mission has been in charge of Rev. George L. Paine and it has been very successful.

QUIET IN WATERBURY

Waterbury, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Passing of prohibition observed quietly with only private parties held in celebration. Local dealers awaiting supplies of hard liquor, shipments expected late this afternoon, or early this evening. One local brewery reports between 30 and 40 truckloads of beer shipped to out of state points during the night and early morning hours.

Where can we get the MONEY we need?

Folks from all walks are confronted with this question and thousands of them have found our service to be just what they need. Here any amount from $10 to $100 can be obtained without security of any kind... larger amounts up to $300 can be obtained on household furniture or an endorsed note. RAINBOW GIRLS PLAN MANY FUTURE EVENTS

Food Sale Tomorrow, Church Services Sunday and Bridge Party Monday Planned.

Worthy Advisor Adella Cullin filled the station of Faith at the meeting of the New Britain Assembly last night, and on Friday evening will fill the station of Hope at Ansonia Assembly, worthy advisors' night.

Tomorrow afternoon the Rainbow

Girls will hold a food sale at their store.

Sunday, December 10, the assembly will attend the morning service at the Center Congregational church, on invitation of Rev. Watson Woodruff. Every girl is urged to be at the Temple at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, from whence they will proceed in a body to the church.

The regular meeting of Manchester Assembly will take place Monday evening at 7:30 at the Temple. At 8:15 a public bridge will be held.

The four children of William Brewster, who came over on the Mayflower, were known as Love, Wrestling, Patience and Fear.

SHE SAID: "JIMMY, PLEASE RUN OVER AND TELL MRS. JONES SHE'S WANTED ON THE TELEPHONE."

Jimmie said: "Gee, mom, why don't they get a telephone of their own?"

IT ISN'T that people mind having their telephone I used, but any way one looks at it, it is an accommodation; and it's a downright bother when friends ask to have you called to the telephone as they undoubtedly do.

Perhaps you have thought of a telephone as an expense, perhaps you have never realized how much you could accomplish in the saving of both time and money with a telephone of your own. That's why we suggest that you let our representative explain its advantages to you. Simply notify our Business Office or speak to any telephone employee and a call will be made whenever convenient for you.

ASKS STATE COPS TO GUARD TRUCKS

Official Finds That Open Warfare Has Broken Out on State Highways.

Hartford, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Open warfare among truck drivers on the highways of the state, reported to Commissioner of Motor Vehicles M. A. Connor by inspectors of his department today, is being investigated by the state police.

Commissioner Connor has inquired of Commissioner Anthony Sunderland of the state police whether night patrols of the main highways might not be organized to curb the hazardous practices of truck drivers, claimed to be representative of organized and unorganized groups, and affecting the safety of a traffic. Notices will be sent forthwith to all truck operators using Connecticut highways warning of impending summary treatment for those who persist in violating motor vehicle laws and regulations.

Drivers Beaten Up Inspectors report that trucks are being operated on the highways in groups of three or more for mutual protection. Individual trucks have been halted on the highways, drivers assaulted, and serious damage done to the vehicles. Drivers who have been assaulted insist the reason for the assaults has been that the truck owners have declined to become affiliated with the other group. These assaults for the most part have been at night.

Way It Is Worked This warfare was discovered when inspectors began a systematic check on trucks being moved in groups in a formation termed "gangs" on the road, and in obtaining information relative to the number of hours drivers work each day. In this formation the leading truck was well out in the center of the highway, with others following, clinging well to the right side of the road, thus effectively blocking following traffic. Cars attempting to pass this formation were carefully scrutinized by the operators of trucks following the leading vehicle, and if found to be "inoffensive" in appearance, the operator of the second truck in line signalled to the leading vehicle by means of blinking headlights, and the lead truck would move to one side to permit adequate passageway. The "inoffensiveness" was determined by the absence of the operator of the second truck on the windshields of the so-called "organized" cars.

NO GREAT DEMAND FOR BOOZE NOTED

had been formulated, and that there was no liquor in their stores. The state control act clamped the lid on the sale of hard liquor yesterday, less than half an hour after prohibition ended, as Utah became the 36th state to ratify the 21st amendment, repealing the 18th. Utah's formal processes of repeal were completed at 5:22 p. m., and the Connecticut control act does not permit sales of liquor in package stores after 6 p. m. There were no reported sales during the brief period yesterday that they were legal.

Six Per Cent Wines and beer of stronger alcoholic content than the 3.2 per cent permitted since April made their appearance, however, in restaurants and hotels. They may be sold until midnight. There was also sale of six per cent content. Truckers reported that the delivery of liquors, new wines and beer started at 7 a. m. today. Druggists, meanwhile, still at odds with the state liquor control commission on the question of permits, said they were continuing to sell liquor on prescriptions only. They expressed hope that the control board, which has ruled that drug stores must have package store permits to sell liquor, will act soon on an application for a drug store permit, filed in Hartford as a test case. The hotel men, also objectors to phases of the present method of control in Connecticut, planned to file a formal petition with Governor Wilbur L. Cross for a special session of the Legislature to amend the control law to permit them to sell hard liquors.

PROHIBITION AT END; BOOZE SUPPLY SCANT

In anticipation of the virtual repeal of the 18th Amendment, the General Assembly of Connecticut has enacted a regulatory law which is now in effect. Alcoholic liquors may be legally manufactured, purchased, and sold in the state as any other commodity, but under restrictions, which preclude the return of the saloon. The aim is to put an end to speakeasies and racketeering and in other ways to prevent all dealings in alcoholic liquors from becoming a nuisance, by providing for their sale through legal channels. The ultimate purpose is to promote temperance upon the people of the state. I call upon the courts, prosecuting attorneys, and state and municipal police, to see to it that the law is enforced. Equally I urge my fellow citizens to cooperate with the local authorities and the liquor control commission in a united determination to make the law prevail in every part of the state.

BROADWAY CELEBRATED BUT IN A QUIET WAY of the Astor restaurants. "I didn't get drunk all night. People are going to be more sensible about their drinking, I see that already. We had plenty to serve and they liked most the old fashioned, next straight whiskey."

Prices of Drinks The Astor sold Martinis at 25 cents, Manhattans at 30 cents, Old Fashioneds at 35 cents, Bacardi's at 35 cents. Side Cars at 40 cents, Rye and Bourbon at 35 cents, Scotch at 45 cents and champagne at $7.50 a bottle and the same prices prevailed generally at all the first class places of the town.

The scene generally in the speakeasies was this: Bartender: "Ya see, repeal came, so we can't serve it." Customer: "Aw, don't give me that stuff." Bartender: "Honest, Mr., we can't do it. I'll call the proprietor." Proprietor: "We ain't takin' no chance, see. Why don't you go over to the Waldorf. It's legal over there."

"It's legal now and we're going to get a license sooner or later," said John Mariano of the Anchorage Grill, year-old speak, "so why should I take a chance? You know, it's going to be great to be in a legitimate business, and I ain't begrudging in the few days of business I'm losing. Have one on the house!"

Bartenders Happy Bartenders reigned among bartenders and head waiters. A good bartender, so bartenders say, likes to see people drink and drink, but he doesn't like to see people get drunk. Head waiters, too. They love to serve liquor to people who can hold liquor.

"Civilization," said Tom Farley of Delmonico's "is on its feet again." Tom served a white and black scotch to Stanford White an hour and a half before he was slain. Crucially enough, Maurice Dore, also a head waiter at Delmonico's, served the same drink to Harry K. Thaw an hour before Thaw shot White. Neither, they said, uttered a word as he drank. Celebration Thursday Mike Murray, another head waiter at Delmonico's—there are three—said he expected the biggest celebration on Thursday night.

"It's like the fake Armistice," he said, "On November 7 they celebrated. On November eighth, ninth and tenth they nursed headaches, and on November 11, did they celebrate? Oh!"

"There's one thing," he went on, "the young folks won't be bringing the gin on their hips any more. Thank heaven! We'll serve the liquor from now on and it'll be real liquor, and if they're intoxicated, they won't get a drop."

"There was only one drunk here tonight," said Dore, "and he brought his own liquor."

Dore and Murray and Farley grew reminiscent of drinks served to Lillian Russell—"there was a woman"—Diamond Jim Brady, David Belasco, Frances Starr and Nat Goodwin, and also about tips—$100 to Dore from a lumberman, $250 to Farley from a man who appreciated real service and $500 to Murray from a New Yorker "whose name I don't want to mention." Could they use the money? They're all married with children.

All over the town were the words "It's legal now" and all over the town were people, speaks, hotels and restaurants being oh, so legal.

WRITER SENTENCED FOR STAGING HOAX

Hartford Man Invented Story That Mayor's Daughter Was to Be Kidnaped.

Hartford, Dec. 6.—(AP)— Dale Wallace, free lance writer who admitted to the police last night that he had fabricated the plot to kidnap Ann Harrison Beach, nine years old daughter of Mayor J. Watson Beach, and who declared the whole thing was an attempt on his part to "make a story," was sentenced to six months in the county jail this morning.

Pleads Guilty Wallace pleaded guilty to a charge of breach of the peace when he was arraigned before Judge John M. Bailey in Police Court. Prosecutor Cornelius D. Shea told the court that Wallace had told him that he cooked up the "plot" to enhance his chances to get a job as a newspaper man. "While such a stunt may have been one way to show enterprise in days gone by, it certainly is not so regarded nowadays," the prosecutor said.

Prosecutor Shea said that Wallace was not deterred, but that he had been swept off his mental balance by his desire to "make news". The prosecutor said that Wallace's offense was a serious one, and recommended a jail sentence. The court then imposed the sentence of six months in the county jail. Wallace, who has been rooming at 31 Summer street, expressed fear of jail before he was arraigned. He asked the police to get in touch with his wife, and expressed great concern about her feelings as a result of his arrest.

co-operate with the state highway department in the development of such highway and the land in the vicinity thereof." Has Little Power After reviewing the steps necessary to be taken by the highway commissioner in laying out the Merritt highway, Judge Johnson expresses the opinion that the Merritt highway commission has no power except to supervise the expenditure of all moneys which may be appropriated by Fairfield county for the purposes of such highway until after the highway is constructed. When the highway is constructed, the commission will have the power to set up traffic rules. After construction of the highway, the highway department and the park and forest commission may delegate to the Merritt highway commissioner their control and supervision of state-owned land along the highway, and once this control is delegated, then the Merritt highway commission shall exercise exclusive control and supervision over the beautification of the land and the licensing of all concessions.

CUPLE BADLY HURT IN FOUR STORY FALL

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 6.—(AP)—A young divorcee and a physician were critically injured early today after falling 40 feet over a fourth floor balcony to the first floor landing in an apartment house at 79 Martin street.

Police, called by persons attending a party in the apartment of Doris Leary, 27-year-old divorcee, said they found her unconscious on the floor of the first-floor lobby; nearby lay a man who police said was Dr. John Gray, physician, address unknown. They were taken to the Cambridge hospital, where their condition was said to be critical.

A guest of the officers said, discovered that Dr. Gray and Mrs. Leary had fallen four flights. JURY COMPLETED. Torrington, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Selection of a jury for the trial of Sterry Hunt Childs, charged with embezzlement and falsification of records of the Hendey Machine Company, was completed shortly before noon today in the superior court at Litchfield and the hearing of testimony was begun immediately thereafter. The first witness called was Frederick M. McKenzie, secretary of the company, who identified various books of the company which were admitted as exhibits.

SENSE and NONSENSE

INVESTMENT ADVICE: An attractive widow asked a banker for advice on the investment of a few hundred dollars.

He told her to go to an exclusive and expensive dress shop and buy clothes with her money.

She did as she was told, and within a year she married a very wealthy man. Now she lives happily and has everything she wants.

There's a moral in this true story. Thousands of people ought to invest more in themselves and less in anybody's stocks and bonds. They ought to buy books, travel, wear better clothes and enrich and brighten their lives in other ways.

Mrs. Teawhite: Did you change the napkins as I told you?

New Maid—Yes'm. I shuffled 'em and dealt 'em out so no one gets the same one he had at breakfast.

Returning from a practically no fish fishing trip a man says he has qualified under the NRA: No Result Angling.

Toast To The Stork
Here's to the stork, a valuable bird,
Who inhabits the residence districts,
He doesn't sing tunes or yield any plumes,
But he helps out the vital statistics.

There is no such thing as an absolute safe investment, there can be no such thing as an absolute permanent job.

A cub reporter, frequently reprimanded for prolixity and warned to be brief, turned in the following: "A shocking affair occurred last night. L. r. Edward Hopeless, a guest at Lady Fannose's ball, complained of feeling ill, took his hat, his coat, his departure, no notice of his friends, a taxi, a pistol from his pocket, and finally his life. Nice chap. Regrets and all that."

JUDGE: I'll have to sentence you to jail for a month. Have you anything to say?

PRISONER: Yes, your Honor. I just want to ask one favor. Please telephone my wife and tell her I won't be home for a month. She never believes any of my excuses.

If your "No Admission" sign on the office door isn't effective, take it off and substitute "Fresh Tar." That works every time. Just try it.

Woman: Does your neighbors borrow much from you?

Friend: Borrow? Why, I feel more at home in their houses than I do in my own.

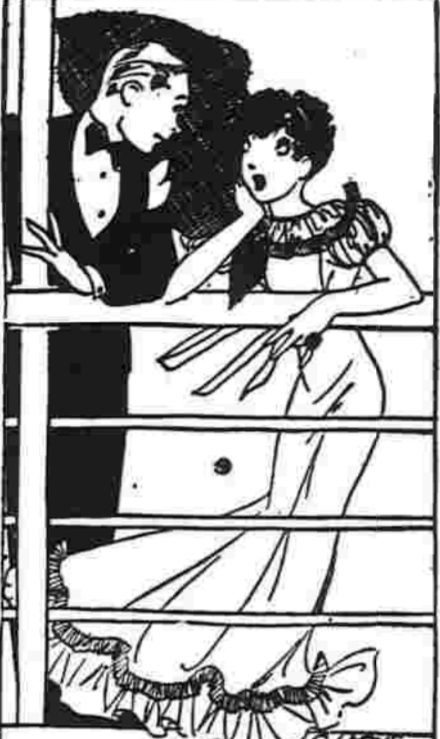

Not long ago things were so cheap, but there was no money to buy them with, and now they are getting costlier and the money situation about the same.

Cashew: You have such a fine looking overcoat that I can't understand why you have such worn-out trousers.

Pecan: How can a fellow get new trousers in a restaurant?

DECEMBER SHORTS: One reason why some people think gambling pays is that losers seldom boast about it. There isn't much thrill in success unless one has first been close to failure. . . . The duller clubs are the most exclusive. . . . You can't enjoy beautiful scenery when you are hungry. . . . A normal woman is one who strains her eyes to see the figure when she observes another woman weighing. . . . With most people careless conduct seems to be un-governable until people begin to talk. . . . It's amusing to observe how quickly a dinner party can be organized in a depression. . . . If we know what we want we can usually get it. . . . Expenses are not hard to meet, you meet them everywhere. . . . Thrift is hair-motious expenditure. . . . Half the battle is being on top, the rest is staying there. . . . The happiness of people is all that makes business or anything else worthwhile.
