ROOSEVELT SPEAKS TO FARMERS OF U. S.

President Says We Are Not Yet Out of the Woods But We Are On Our Way, Promises Assistance.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt told the farmers of America in a message today that "we seem to be on our way" but counseled them to continue co-operating with the administration's program for a "controlled agriculture."

The President's message was read before the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation assembled here to discuss the complex problems of agriculture and the multi-faceted attack of the administration against them.

Edward A. O'Neil, president of the Federation, pledged himself in an address delivered after reading the President's message to stand squarely behind the Roosevelt agricultural program, the NRA, and the administration's monetary policy.

No Quick Cure
President Roosevelt told the farm leaders that the "maladjustment between supply and demand," to which he attributed economic unrest in farming, had been years in the making and could not be cured overnight.

"Nevertheless," he continued, "in a few short months the whole complexion of the agricultural outlook has been changed."

"Money is getting into the hands of the people who need it; it is coming in the form of government checks for those co-operating producers who are willing to swap a hazardous present for immediate improvement and a stable future."

"This money is paying bills; it is putting men back to work in the cities producing the things that farmers buy, and enabling those men in turn to buy things that farmers produce."

The program already has progressed considerably among the cotton and tobacco growers in the south, the President said, and has begun to affect the wheat growers. He said the "belt soon would begin to experience it from the corn-hog adjustment campaign."

"But, in all candor," the message continued, "I think a brief moment of gratification is enough; we seem to be on our way, but we are not yet out of the woods and it is of the utmost importance that we guard against letting a rise in farm income tempt us to forget the realities of supply and demand."

He said the farm program deserved the full support of the farmers and warned that it could not be successful without their complete confidence and support.

Addressing the 2,000 delegates at the 15th annual Farm Bureau convention, President O'Neil termed the Agricultural Adjustment Act, under which the administration has struck at the problems of farming, to be "the Magna Charta of American agriculture."

He expressed high praise for Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Acting Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, President Roosevelt and the monetary and farm-recruitment programs undertaken by them.

"The AAA is the Magna Charta of American agriculture, its charter," he said.

Texas Mob Wreaks Fury On Body of Negro Seized From Sheriff

Seizing the body of David Gregory, negro slayer, right, from Sheriff Miles Jordan, left, a mob at Kountze, Tex., dragged the corpse behind an auto, mutilated it, and then burned the remains, after cutting the heart out. The negro was wounded and captured in a stage at the negro church in Voth, Tex., center, after he had attacked and murdered a white woman, then burned her body.

THREE BURNED TO DEATH AS DANCE HALL BLAZES

Victims Marathon Dancers; Five Injured as Fire Forces Men and Women Out Into Snow Storm.

Hampden, Me., Dec. 11.—(AP)—The gay and stormy history of Hampden's Marathon dancing contest ended in tragedy last night. Fire, breaking out while a blizzard howled outside the pavilion and the foot sore contestants rested on their coats, cost the lives of at least three and brought injuries to many more.

From the blazing Paradise dance hall, where they had plodded many weary weeks, the thinly clad dancers fled into the bitter gale, plunging knee-deep in snow drifts piled high by a 30-hour storm.

The charred bodies of three were found in the ruins early today. The victims were tentatively identified as: John Ryan of New York City, Emile Pelletier of Waterville, Me., Gertrude Sousa of Dracut, Mass.

Many survivors suffered severe frost bites in addition to burns. Of the injured, the following had been taken to the Eastern Maine General hospital at Bangor: Mrs. Eleanor Ryan of New York City, wife of one of the supposed victims, serious burns.

Cause of Blaze
The survivors believed the pavilion was lit by a candle.

Surgeon Reports Medical Miracle
Now Able to Transplant Parts of Organs from One Person to Another.

Baltimore, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Parts of organs have been transplanted from one person to another by Dr. Harvey B. Stone, associate professor of surgery at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine. Today's Baltimore Sun records his description of his methods at a meeting of surgeons.

Surgeons, have for years been able to transplant skin from one part of the body to another on the same person, but tissue transplanted from one person to another almost invariably has died within a few weeks.

In Dr. Stone's method the tissue is grown for a time outside the body in a culture medium made from the cells of the recipient.

DEATH TOLL NOW 85 IN SPANISH UPRISING

Rushed Out of State To Prevent Lynching

Hutchinson, Kans., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Rushed out of Oklahoma to forestall possible mob violence, Jack Wisdom, Kansas cowboy wanted in connection with three killings, was brought to the Kansas State Reformatory here today for safekeeping.

Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas announced at Topeka that he would call out the National Guard if it became necessary to protect Wisdom.

"I intend to maintain law and order in Kansas," Governor Landon said.

The governor and Brig. Gen. Milton R. McLean were keeping in close touch with the situation and had National Guardsmen in readiness for immediate mobilization if it became evident mob action was imminent.

National Guard batteries had been mobilized at Empid and Kingfisher, Okla., last night upon orders of Governor W. H. Murray of Oklahoma after vague reports were circulated that a mob was forming in an effort to seize Wisdom, who was captured yesterday near Jay, Okla.

The Oklahoma governor had instructed the troops to "shoot to kill" if necessary.

Wisdom was captured shortly before the body of Mrs. Harry Fritchard of Wichita, Kas., was found under a culvert near Kingfisher. A search was being pursued in Oklahoma today for the body of Mrs. Fritchard's husband.

The Wichita merchant and his wife disappeared Nov. 23 after seeking to collect from Wisdom for a worst check for $21.40. Wisdom also is charged with the murder of Emory Large, elderly cowboy on a ranch near Meade, Kas.

Wisdom was brought here by Wichita officers, headed by Capt. W. O. Lyle.

Government Troops Capture Military Barracks Held by Rebels—Disturbances Continue in Various Parts of the Country and Martial Law May Be Proclaimed.

Madrid, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Government troops, moving under a merciless barrage of gun fire, early today charged and captured the Villanueva military barracks in which rebel forces had held out against a heavy bombardment for hours. At least seven of the rebels were slain.

Those known dead brought to 85, the number slain in the Anarchist revolutionary movement which broke out Friday and which flared with new violence in central and Northeastern Spain yesterday.

Take Over Barracks
Swarming over the walls of the improvised fortress, formerly a convent, the soldiers quickly took the barracks, which had been the most bitterly contested point in the more than three days' scattered fighting. Throughout the night, the civilian defenders, under a renegade army sergeant, withstood machine gun fire. Finally two army planes were ordered from Madrid to bomb the barracks. But, when dawn came and the planes had not arrived, the colonel in charge of the troops ordered the final charge.

FLIERS FORCED TO LEAP FROM THEIR PLANES

Two Mail Pilots Bail Out to Save Lives as Machine Wings Get Encrusted With Ice.

Portage, Pa., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Braving a raging storm to get the mails through, two planes of the Transcontinental and Western Air Lines crashed in the snow-swept Allegheny mountains early today, the pilots bailing out safely.

Wings encrusted with ice under a falling temperature, the two mail ships, neither carrying passengers, lost altitude so rapidly that the pilots had to take to the parachutes, over the treacherous mountains during a snow fall of blizzard-like intensity.

One pilot, Gene Burford of Columbus, Ohio, reported he was safe shortly after he went over the side of his eastbound plane near Portage. The other, Harold G. Andrews of New York, pushing his way westward, phoned hours later that he had reached the ground at Roaring Springs, in Blair County, fifty miles from Portage. Neither ship had been located.

Flights Given Up
A howling wind began to swirl snow over the "graveyard of the skies," as the Alleghenies are known in the flying world, some time before midnight. Stormy conditions had caused discontinuance of all passenger flights as early as 4 p. m.

One plane, Flight No. 3 from Newark westward, got through the mountains and dashed into the Pittsburgh airport at 12:15 a. m., the last ship to get safely over the mountains.

Burford dropped out of the skies from Columbus and then took off.

Stock Market Control
The capital debates appear likely to be colored by presidential recommendations for permanent railroad consolidation legislation, stock market control, possible alterations in the Federal Reserve act, Federal control of the liquor industry, ratification of the St. Lawrence treaty and confirmation of William C. Bullitt as the first ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Indications at the moment are for a less determined bulk of opposition than appeared in prospect a month back.

There is no illusion that harmony will dominate, however. Some of the strongest voices in Senate and House, Democratic and Republican, are being primed for opposition to Roosevelt.

Big Majority
Still entrenched behind weighty majorities, no concern is expressed by Roosevelt quarters as it looks to the same leadership that maintained last spring.

STATE IS COVERED BY SNOW BLANKET

Temperatures Coldest Weather of the Season; Mercury Near the Zero Mark.

(By Associated Press.)
Some measure of relief from the coldest weather of the season came to Connecticut today, but it came under a blanket of snow more than an inch deep.

The mercury, which had plummeted to 10 degrees above zero during the week-end, rose to about 13 this morning and still warmer temperatures were promised for tonight.

Snow started falling in light and dry flakes about dawn, but stopped a few hours later, after piling up to a depth of an inch and a half through most of the state.

C. J. Doherty, observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau in New Haven, predicted, however, that there would be light and intermittent flurries through the day.

SEE CONFLICTS AHEAD WHEN CONGRESS MEETS

Disputes Expected Over Monetary Program, Tax on Liquor and Balancing of Budget.

Washington, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Mingled with conflicts ahead, the administration has begun to point for the approaching session of Congress with a view to advancing its program and disarming dissenters as effectively as possible.

Actual formation of recommendations starts this week. At the front President Roosevelt has placed the usual policy, asking his aides for conferences on what the Federal government must spend in the next fiscal year and how to raise the money.

Whatever is decided, it will provide the hur for one of the many controversies, to resound in Senate and House. Involved is the whole public and civil works and public, liquor and income taxation, budget balancing and the necessity for protecting National credit.

The part to be taken by the monetary dispute depends primarily on what happens between now and January 3, when Congress meets. For days the government gold program has been steered, but with no assurances of stabilization impending.

Do Not Understand
"It is difficult for the people of Europe to understand why the dollar is uncertain. I don't believe that the President would resort to fiat money. If he did, it would be the worst disaster since the bankruptcies of 1837."

"No country in Europe that went through the post-war inflation would touch the dollar today. They'll hang to the gold standard as long as possible."

Kellogg would not say whether the dollar should be stabilized at its former level or at its present relation to gold.

"I think," he said, "it was a great mistake ever to go off the gold basis."

Scores Are Made Homeless By Floods in the Far West

(By Associated Press.)
The elements brought a variety of pre-winter conditions to the nation today, leaving a trail of death and suffering over the week-end.

Western Washington, with flood waters from the Puyallup and Nisqually rivers, was hardest hit. Scores of persons were made homeless. Only two deaths had been indirectly attributed to the floods, but 11 deaths were attributed last week to a Pacific northwest storm which preceded the floods.

Heavy property damage was reported in the lower section of Tacoma by flood waters from the Puyallup. Motorists were marooned when the city's lakes and ponds until the ice should become thicker.

Warmer weather was promised for the East, which alighted over the week-end. Pennsylvania attributed three deaths to the cold snap, while New York had two.

The coldest weather of the winter was recorded at Quebec yesterday with a reading of 8.5 degrees below zero. A blizzard which swept New Brunswick, subsided after six inches of snow had fallen.

CANT MAIL LIQUORS

P. O. OFFICIALS WARN

Difficulties will be encountered by persons planning to send liquor through the mails as Christmas gifts, a dispatch from Washington today indicated.

Justice department officials said that a section of the criminal code in force before the prohibition act was adopted, bars the use of mails for shipping liquors even when packages move entirely in a wet state, or from a wet state into another.

No law prohibits the movement of liquor by express, however, except into a dry state, officials said.

Postmaster Frank B. Crocker said today that three letters addressed to "Santa Claus," presumably from children in town wanting toys or other yuletide gifts, had been received at the local post office.

Soon afterward, the second plane, piloted by Andrews, was reported in distress and at Cresson police said they heard the engine missing.

Andrews flashed the word he was bailing out about 8 a. m., but it was not until after 8 a. m. that he was reported in from Roanoke Springs. He had left Harrisburg at 1:20 a. m.

Firemen from Bladensburg, along the route of the dangerous Allegheny crossing, sped eastward along the William Penn highway and through the air for hours in an effort to locate the pilot or the ship and assist him to land.

The ships are single-motored, low-wing monoplane, valued at $35,000 each.

BEAUTY IN NATURE AS FACTOR IN LIFE. Seminary Foundation Head Is Guest of Kiwanis This Noon.

Drawing a striking verbal picture of the majestic and enduring beauties of nature, President Robinson W. Barstow of the Hartford Seminary Foundation gave a parallel view of the more practical things in life in an inspiring talk before members of the Kiwanis Club at the weekly luncheon today in the Hotel Sheridan.

"Singing Colors" was the subject of Mr. Barstow's address, and he recited jewels of poetry by the world's greatest poets to illustrate his point that the joy of living is best exemplified in the ability to appreciate the glorious colors of the sky at sunrise and sunset, the multi-hued beauty of autumnal foliage, even the chaste charm of winter's robes of snow.

THE BARGAIN HOUND

Those of you who are trying to solve the what-to-give-a-man question I direct to the Langrock Shop at Steigers in Hartford. Their exclusive dressing gowns most unusually fashioned and designed are smart beyond description.

One of the latest afternoon features comes to us in the way of more linings matching tunics but contrasting with the costume. Turquoise with brown and orchid with corinth are two favorite color combinations.

The Christmas cards at the Center Pharmacy are just a bit different from any others I have seen thus far in my store visits—all new and clean, too.

Among the smarter fair weather accessories are the all-over stitched crepe shoe and bag ensembles.

Holes in galoshes and rubbers beckon pneumonia in weather like this. Have them quickly repaired at the State Shoe Repairing Shop. Delivery Service. Dial 8838.

Here's a royal treat—Ambassador Chocolate Birthday Cake—2 cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-3 cups brown sugar, firmly packed, 4 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted; 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup butter or other shortening, 8 eggs, well beaten; 2-3 cup cold water. Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Add chocolate and beat until smooth. Add flour, alternately with water, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Bake in two deep greased 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven (350 degrees F) 30 minutes. Spread white or chocolate Seven Minute Frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake.

One of the daintiest gifts I've seen is the little treasure box of Princess Pat Face Powder with a tiny flask of perfume placed on top—59 cents at the Weldon Drug Company.

Chic lingerie froths with lace at the top and hem. Antique coru Malines lead the trimming. And speaking of petticoats, taffeta ones accompany both afternoon suits and evening gowns.

Schraff's hard candies, ten different flavors, so delicious, are at the Center Pharmacy candy department this week for 89 cents a pound.

It is high time for you to be making your Christmas fruit cakes or plum puddings, for gifts, for family use or both. They improve with age. Most cooks have their own recipes for fruit cake. Here is one that is somewhat different, quickly mixed and baked, and it seems as if one just couldn't fail to have good luck with it: Crumble 1/4 Graham crackers and stir in three-fourths of a teaspoon of baking powder. Add one half cup mince meat, one third cup sugar, four tablespoons softened butter and the yolks of three eggs. Mix thoroughly and fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Turn into a buttered loaf pan and bake 35 to 40 minutes in a moderate oven.

You'll want some delicious Burnam and Brady's tissue candy for your Christmas. Its 35 cents a pound. Place your order with any Girl Scout in town. This candy is displayed at the Center Pharmacy.

When the children come from school they often need an afternoon snack. Give them an apple or bread and syrup or some cookies. You will find that a cup of tea for yourself at the same time will prove restful and stimulating.

Any man would be delighted with a military set individually initialed. I saw some unusually lovely ones at Donnelly's at the Center.

Date macaroons are easy to make: Use four egg whites; one and one half cups sugar; one half pound dates; one half pound almonds; one teaspoon vanilla; one eighth teaspoon almond extract; one fourth teaspoon salt; halves of pecans for decoration. Beat the egg whites until stiff. Add the sugar gradually, then add the chopped dates and almonds. Drop by scant tablespoonfuls on glass baking dishes rubbed with shortening. Decorate each with a pecan half. Bake for twenty minutes at 325 degrees (moderate oven). This quantity makes thirty-six small macaroons.

As the Bargain Hound sniffed about in Hale's Book Department she stopped short before the newest baby literature. And this is what she found—a baby's first book containing pictures of all the things baby first sees and says. It's indeed worth the price. And then there were so many new books for older boys and girls all done up in new wrappers. Here you will find almost all the juvenile series, and there are some specially nice editions of Louisa May Alcott's works.

Since this is the season when people buy the large quantity of fresh fruits and vegetables, it is fortunate that the market is so well supplied. Among the fruits apples, bananas, cranberries, grapes, grape-fruit, oranges, pears and tangerines are all plentiful and reasonable. The vegetable selection is even greater with green peas and beans, spinach, Brussel sprouts, broccoli, cabbage, new carrots, beets, onions, rutabagas, white and sweet potatoes all plentiful and reasonable in price. Mushrooms, celery and lettuce are all of good quality and inexpensive.

When I went into the Manchester Gas Company this morning I noticed a little Connecticut Westback Heater that's most attractively cream colored. I inquired about the cost of operating and found that it's only about two cents a day. I decided then and there that this would be valuable information for those of you who are looking for an ideal gift for the whole family.

The Bargain Hound will have such a happy holiday if you mention her when you purchase articles advertised in her column.

Bridgeport, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Eighty-six employees of the Sikorsky Aviation Corporation here returned to work this morning after being out on strike for four weeks, without any change in the wage scale. Wages will be made the subject of conferences after January 15, John J. Egan, secretary of the Connecticut Federation of Labor announced today.

The strike was called off after conferences last week between William Thompson, President of the Aircraft Workers Union, and Frederick E. Nelson, general manager of the company. Mr. Egan said that it was agreed that the strike for a 20 per cent increase in wages was unauthorized.

BILL ROPER DIES; PRINCETON COACH

Led Tigers to Three Grid Titles in Long Career; Was Ill for Two Months.

Philadelphia, Dec. 11.—(AP)—One of football's famous, William W. (Bill) Roper, the man who taught Princeton eleven to make touchdowns of fumbles and then carried his fighting spirit into politics and business is dead at the age of 63.

He succumbed yesterday after a two months fight against infection, robbed of a chance to enjoy realization of two of his most cherished goals—repeal of prohibition and legalization of Sunday sports in Pennsylvania.

Was Three Times
A militant member of Philadelphia's City Council for 14 years, Roper fought hard and long for both. In that time, he led the Tigers to three "Big Three" championships, Academic and athletic authorities at Princeton paid high tribute to his character.

"Mr. Roper's death marks the passing of a vibrant personality," said Dr. Harris Willis Dodd, president of the university. Roper was born in Philadelphia in 1870. He is survived by his widow and two children. His son, like his father, played end. Funeral services tentatively have been set for Tuesday.

Lauded By Crisler
H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, present Princeton head coach, also lauded his predecessor.
"His indomitable spirit fired men to fight harder than they knew how," Crisler said. Roper's early life was centered about football. He was named to the post at Princeton, his alma mater, while he was studying law at the University of Virginia.

Throughout his coaching career he was something of an iconoclast. His methods were less precise than those of most coaches, his doctrine being that football is 90 per cent fight. He taught players not to fall on a fumbled ball, but to pick it up and run and Tiger teams were noted for years for their ability as "ball hawks," winning many games by that method that appeared lost.
"There's a great deal of bunk to all this talk of system and involved plays," he said once. "If a team hasn't the fight, the spirit and the courage to give just a little more when there doesn't seem to be anything left, it is not going to win many games."

Had Wonder Team
Some of the most historic teams of Princeton were turned out by Roper during his long reign but the one probably closest to his heart was the 1922 "team destiny," the team which wouldn't be beaten. It was this team which went to Chicago and defeated a potentially greater University of Chicago squad 21-18 in what many say was the most exciting game of football ever played. Trailing 18 to 7 in the final quarter, its line ripped to shreds by John "Five Yards" Thomas, the Tigers rallied to score two touchdowns, the last and winning score coming with only seconds to play.

The Tigers then went ahead to upset Harvard 10 to 8 and Yale 3 to 0 to win the "Big Three" title and complete the season undefeated and untied.

It was during his regime that the break came with Harvard, the fiery play of the Princetonians being blamed for the growth of ill feeling which culminated in 1928 with charges of rough, unsportsmanlike play.

Roper continued to advise his successors at Princeton after he had retired from the head coaching post but took no active part at Nassau.

REV. E. J. CRAFT DEAD
Bridgeport, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The funeral of the Rev. Ernest Judson Craft rector of Christ Episcopal church, who died suddenly of angina pectoris at the parish house yesterday, will be held Wednesday morning at 10 a. m. at the church. The body will lie in state, after a requiem mass, near the church from 10 a. m. till 1:45 p. m. when the service will begin.

Not only in the Protestant Episcopal denomination was the late rector widely known but in the Masonic fraternity for which he was a speaker. He was a student of Shakespeare and many of the poets and he lectured on these and gave dramatic readings. He was twice rector of Christ church, from 1906 till 1913, and again from 1923 till his death. His widow, a son, Ernest J. Craft, Jr., a student at the General Theological Seminary and a second son, Amos, in business in New York, survive.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.
If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 50c and 60c.

COMMITTS SUICIDE
Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 11.—(AP)—The body of Samuel H. Miller, assistant to the New York purchasing agent of the Civilian Conservation Corps, was found today suspended by a length of telephone wire from a beam in the cellar of his home. Police called it a suicide but could find no motive.
Miller, who was 45 years old, served as a captain during the World War.

GOLD PRICE REMAINS AT THE SAME LEVEL

Washington, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The administration today reannounced a price of $34.01 an ounce for EFC purchases of newly mined gold, a figure that has prevailed since December 1.

This price was $1.21 an ounce in excess of the world gold price set at London for bar gold which advanced since to 127 shillings an ounce, equivalent to $32.80.

In the meantime, the dollar displayed a new weakness on the international market, opening at $5.18 1/2 at London as compared with $5.15 1/2 at Saturday's closing quotation, and later slumped to $5.17 1/2 in the first half hour of trading.

Meanwhile, Treasury officials maintained official silence concerning the reported gold leak which enabled London to obtain the domestic price in advance of the official announcement made daily at the Treasury at 9:45 a. m., e. s. t. It was understood, however, and not denied at the Treasury, that an investigation was being conducted to determine the accuracy and justification of the report.

Well informed financial quarters in London were inclined to depreciate the report, foreign dispatches said, regarding it as "an attempt to pin something on somebody here."

Reports that stabilization of the dollar was again imminent were not verified by Treasury spokesmen.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 11.

INDUSTRY LINES UP

It must have been a good deal of a shock to the element that has been plucking at the President's sleeve and demanding that he announce forthwith exactly where he proposes to stabilize the dollar, to have the convention of the National Association of Manufacturers adopt a resolution containing these words:

The National Association of Manufacturers recognize that the wise adjustment of the monetary standard of the United States to the changed economic conditions arising out of the World War and the ensuing decade of rapid expansion is one of the vital factors in the President's recovery program.

The questions at issue are extremely complicated and their very nature involves problems of such delicacy that they must necessarily be handled by the chief executive with extreme forethought and care. Public announcement of the details of any monetary program in advance of its inauguration would, in all likelihood, defeat its objectives or seriously embarrass the President in its consummation.

The demand that the President announce the point in weight of gold at which he plans to stop devaluation is a demand for the disclosure of detail. He has already and more than once made known his objective. He proposes to stabilize the dollar at the price level of 1926 and has declared that if this cannot be done one way it will be done another.

That is controlled inflation. Of that policy of controlled inflation the Manufacturers Association has now definitely registered its approval. Industry has aligned itself against the time honored theory that the mandates of the great financial magnates must be unquestioningly followed.

This decision was not arrived at without a fight. There were elements in the manufacturers' convention which did their level best to line up industry on the side of the money trust. A serious effort was made, indeed, to have the convention declare in favor of an immediate return to the gold standard at the statutory content for the dollar—as crazy a proposal as was ever made anywhere, for the effect of such a proceeding would inevitably be to throw us almost instantly into the conditions of last February. But the industrialists, while they are still for the greater part no experts in monetary science, have at least traveled too far along the road of experience to fall for any such insanity as that; the attempt got nowhere.

There are some passages in the Association's resolution that show how unfamiliar most of its members are with monetary theories—for example one which urges that if silver is restored it must be by putting a special 25 per cent gold reserve back of it—a scheme that would in itself defeat the purposes of silver rehabilitation. But the vital point is that the manufacturers have placed themselves on record not only as reposing confidence in the President's monetary objective but as demanding his right to proceed without being subjected to the sabotage and sniping of the gold standard adherents.

No mention of the circumstances appears in the published reports of the gathering or in the resolution, but this action of the representatives of American industry is beyond question attributable to the extraordinary campaign for currency reform conducted by the Committee for the Nation, one of the most useful unofficial organizations that ever functioned in this country.

"SHOOT TO KILL"

Alfalfa Bill has had his National Guard soldiers out again. He has had them out a good many times.

The Oklahoma Guardsmen have been used to threaten the sovereign state of Texas in a controversy over a bridge; they have been used to control the output of the state's oil wells; a few days ago the governor ordered them into service to see that the state wasn't gyped in the box office take of a football game. Now Governor Murray has called out the troops to protect a cowboy rustler, forger and all around crook who is under arrest suspected of the kidnaping and murder of a Kansas man and wife and against whom feeling in southern Kansas is running high. Governor Murray, it is reported, ordered his soldiers, in case a mob tried to lynch the kidnaper, to "shoot to kill."

This action should, it is to be assumed, excite the admiration of those very many adherents of law and order who have been roasting the hide of Governor Rolph of California for approving the mob execution of the killers of young Hart. Governor Murray proposes to stop the "murder" of a criminal suspect if, in the process, he has to "murder" half the people in the mob of lynchers.

It is not necessary to defend lynching as a practice or even in any particular case to point out that a member of a mob, shot by a soldier while attempting to get possession of a kidnaper, can hardly be regarded as having received the benefits of trial by jury or of due process of law. It is quite conceivable that a person killed by Guardsmen's bullets, in an onslaught on a jail, may have been there for some reason very little related to a desire to lynch a prisoner—a frightened mother, for example, hoping to drag her heedless boy out of peril.

Governor Murray apparently is perfectly willing to have nervous and excited soldiers summarily execute citizens not only without trial but without anything approaching a death-penalty felony having been committed, in order to insure to a criminal the due process of law.

There is, in this, what somehow seems to us to be a strange inconsistency. The civil rights of a kidnapping murderer are sacred. The civil rights of a lyncher are negligible. If we could understand Governor Murray's "shoot to kill" order any differently from that we should like to. We seem to be unable to do so.

"HOBO" CAMPS

The proposed scheme of the CWA to establish "transient camps" for the care of homeless and unemployed men is one which required considerable courage on someone's part in its sponsoring. Yet it would be both unfair and unwise to condemn the proposal merely because it is easy to see rocks in its path.

It will be impossible, of course, to prevent such establishments from being referred to, in the speech of the people, as "hobo camps," and many will be the fears—and probably the protests—of rural folks when they learn that somewhere in their neighborhood such a rendezvous is to be created. It is really very improbable, however, that any unpleasant consequences will result from gathering together in considerable numbers members of that floating population which, in these days of depression, has grown so large.

It is improbable that more than an extremely small proportion of the men and big boys who have been wandering over the country during the last three years, homeless, penniless and jobless, are lawless, let alone criminal in nature. To the numbers of hundreds of thousands they are just people who have lost their hold on even the terrible unsatisfactory uncivilization what has been ours, and now that there is some improvement in the economic conditions of the nation they are in no position to get any benefit from that betterment. FWA and CWA jobs are not for them, because they are residents of no particular place. Their only sin, in most cases, consists in their having gone forth in a desperate search for work, of which there was none in their homes, or in sheer restless inability to withstand longer the boredom and shame of continued idleness in the sight of their friends.

By far the greater part of them are fundamentally decent and, to a really surprising degree, they have retained their decency despite their adversities and the hardening effect of "the road."

In truth the old time "hobo" who years ago, and in much better times than these, was so numerous as to be a sort of institution, was only occasionally a really bad egg. Old timers who carry the memory of previous depressions, can recall the "hobo camps" of the 90's, when such assemblages were maintained by the wayfarers themselves and completely outside the sanction of the law or government. A good many pretty tough characters "hung out" for days at a time in those old time

"jungles," but even these were expected to—and did—refrain from depredations in the immediate neighborhood of the camps; while there were many of the hoboes who never in their lives were guilty of anything worse than begging a "handout" at a kitchen door—which generally went into the jungle "alum" kettle.

Under the present proposal the "transient camps" would, of course, be very different from the "jungles" of professional hobos. They would be under strict government control, adequately policed, and marked by some sort of industry instead of demoralizing idleness. We have brought up the thought of the "jungle" merely to show that even footless and demoralized manhood, in the mass, is pretty good under the worst of conditions—that it must be incomparably better under vastly better conditions.

There are all kinds of men and boys "on the road." But it is a sure thing that among them are not the worst of men and boys, because the worst of men and boys do not take to the road at all—they live much more comfortably in the cities by crime.

OUR OWN AFFAIR

Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer of Great Britain, does not approve of President Roosevelt's monetary policy. "The constant fluctuations of the dollar and the consequent uncertainties and anxieties which are spread throughout the rest of the world are bound to shake confidence and slow down trade revival."

Whose anxieties and the revival of whose trade?

Is Mr. Chamberlain worrying about America's anxieties or Britain's? About America's trade or Britain's?

Did he worry about America's anxieties or trade when he steered Britain off the gold standard and dropped the British pound more than a third while we, like fools, tried to keep on competing while we were paying for production and meeting interest and debts with gold dollars?

Did he worry about America when Australia and New Zealand, competitors of American farmers in every country in Europe, depreciated their currency even as measured by the depreciated pound and grabbed markets away from us by that clever device?

Certainly not. His job is to look after Britain; after British trade; after British posterity.

If Mr. Chamberlain is caused any worry by the uncertainty concerning the American dollar it is worry last, in depreciating our own dollar, we decide to stop at precisely the point which, in our own opinion, will best serve the interests of the United States of America—which point may not be, unfortunately, the one which would be selected for us by Mr. Chamberlain.

So far as we can recall, no high official of the United States government entered formal complaint before the world when Britain, very wisely indeed, devalued sterling. It was none of our business. What is done with the dollar in this country is none of Mr. Chamberlain's business.

IN NEW YORK

By Julia Blanshard.

New York.—Friends of our new Russian Ambassador, William C. Bullitt, are arguing back and forth over whether or not he will take his young daughter, Anne, to Moscow with him.

He took her to the London Economic Conference this summer and apparently had a magnificent vacation, afterwards, shopping with her in Paris, going to museums, the Eiffel Tower and other places little girls like to see. He always treats her like an equal, discusses politics with her, listens for her questions and comments and is altogether a charming "pal."

By this intimates the envoy is nicknamed "Explosive" Bullitt. Probably one of his most pleasing characteristics is the typically American friendly technique that he has for calling important folks by their first names, almost upon sight. They all seem to like it as well as Premier MacDonald, who was obviously amused when Bullitt quickly called him "Ramsay."

Bullitt, on the other hand, is positively continental in his enjoyment of a perfect meal, knows what to order as few Americans do, and is a connoisseur of good wines, calling for special kinds by name, by year of vintage, not content until he has the perfect wine for such and such a dish.

Alice vs. Dolly Again

The Alice Longworth-Dolly Gann row in Washington was over long ago but the memory was revived the other day when both women made their debuts almost simultaneously as authors at literary teas. However, quite true to form, the tea for Alice Roosevelt Longworth came one day ahead of Dolly Gann's and the exclusive Longworth party was held at the moody Rita's with only a handpicked group of literary writers invited and everyone warned that no one could interview Princess Alice.

To see Alice Longworth and hear her talk is to understand her popularity. She has a mischievous urchin look in her eyes, which are her outstandingly attractive features. Her face is devoid of makeup and it doesn't need any, for she has healthy color and a kind of outdoor set about her. Her hair is quite gray and she wears it in a rather wind-blown manner. She had on a wine red suit and matching trimmed felt hat which was most becoming. Her voice is tremendously pleasing, a rich contralto one with a suggestion of laughter in it.

And whether accepting challenge to play poker with F. P. A. wise-cracking with witty Charles Hanson Towne as discussing books with Henry Seidel Canby, she was pleasingly quick on the up-take and amusing.

And she did not, as so many authors do, autograph editions of her "Crowded Hours." Apparently even being an author isn't going to change Alice Longworth's life-long rule not to be interviewed and not to make any bid of any kind for popularity. She is one woman who has gone through life being herself.

Health and Diet Advice
 By Dr. Frank McCoy

RHEUMATISM.

There is evidence to believe that even before man came on earth, some of the mighty animals of the pre-historic period suffered the pains of rheumatism. The caveman knew the disease, and at the time when Egypt flourished, rheumatism yet remained one of the riddles of the centuries. All manner of remedies had been invented for its removal but its cause was unknown. Even today, rheumatism is one of the most powerful of diseases, which racks men and women with aches and pains, steals the comfort and ease from middle age, cripples the joints of the old and in the form of acute rheumatic fever, attacks children, leaving behind it the damaged heart valves which cause most of the heart troubles of childhood.

The name comes from a root word "rheum," to flow," taken from the tendency of the disease poison in the blood to flow from one part to another. This is particularly true in arthritis, where the poison flows from one joint to another, causing the inflammation to ease up in one place, while breaking out in a different region.

Rheumatism may appear in many forms, depending upon what part of the body is irritated by the rheumatic poison; in the muscles it causes muscular rheumatism, of which lumbago is one example and wryneck is another; in the nerves it produces neuritis or if it settles around the great sciatic nerve, it leads to sciatica; if the poison attacks the joints of older people it will induce arthritis but in children it causes the sacro-iliac strain in the lower back, rheumatic toxemia may locate in the injured parts.

Once an attack of rheumatism develops, later attacks are likely and the tendency is for each succeeding attack to become more severe. If you have any of the symptoms of rheumatism, there is no the slightest doubt that you should undertake the right treatment to remove the rheumatic poisons from your system, before greater damage is done.

Some of the common symptoms of rheumatism are: soreness, tenderness, lameness, stiffness and muscle pain which increases on movement. In the joints, the disease may induce swelling. All forms of rheumatism tend to hinder movement of the affected parts and are made worse by cold, therefore, the patient with rheumatism will keep quiet and hug the fire. It is true that the approach of rain may increase the rheumatic pains.

Since the causes of rheumatism have in the past been so little understood, the disease has been called one of the riddles of medicine. It is now classed as an infection. My point of view is that such infectious causes must be regarded as secondary and that the main or primary cause of rheumatism is a chronic toxemia or self-poisoning which produces the disease soil in which infections can grow.

If you have tender joints, sore muscles or other signs of rheumatism, you must realize that the true cause of your trouble comes from a toxic condition of the body, often arising in the large intestine. In order for you to become cured and to stay cured, it is necessary for you to eliminate every drop of the rheumatic poison. Therefore, you must continue to use the right diet and to maintain a clean normally functioning colon.

The wrong habits of living which pave the way for the toxemia of rheumatism to develop include: eating the wrong kind of food; using poor food combinations; lack of sunlight; constipation, which directly contributes to the absorption of poison from the large intestine; lack of sleep; and worry. During the winter months there is also a blocking of the free elimination of wastes through the skin, which locks in impurities which might otherwise escape.

Chronic rheumatism is generally made worse by intestinal adhesions which interfere with the movement of wastes along the colon. Before the rheumatism may be entirely eradicated it is usually necessary to free the intestines from such obstructions, thus establishing two or three normal movements each day. Tomorrow article: The cure of rheumatism is no riddle.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

(Color-Blindness.)
 Question: Jonathan inquires: "Is color-blindness a common disorder?"

Answer: Color-blindness has been estimated to be present in fifty thousand cases in the total population of the world. However, this refers only to a partial color-blindness, as total color-blindness is a very rare condition and only about eleven cases have been diagnosed in the United States.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington
 By RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Washington, Dec. 11.—The inside story of the delay on the newspaper publishing code is epitomized in this communication received at NEA from the owner of a daily in a town in Tennessee:

"In compliance with your request we are giving you to the best of our ability the editorial executives and writers that work on our paper. To be exact there is no such thing as an exclusive editorial writer or executive on a small-town newspaper. I, for instance, am president and general manager of the company. I write ads, write copy, conduct a special column in the paper, run presses if necessary, make cuts if the stereotyper is sick, print the paper in case the pressman is off, make up the pages if the makeup man is off or sick, and lots of times set an advertisement.

"My time is spent part of the time in the office looking after the collection and business, and I go on the streets to gather news and advertising.

"Our editor does practically the same things as I do except he is not a practical printer and cannot do any of the mechanical work. Our regular advertising man solicits and writes ads, solicits and makes prices on job printing and delivers such work to his customers in his car after it is printed, writes sports, looks after city circulation, and in fact does everything from answering telephones to polishing the windows. Our young lady in the office looks after the society, writes features and is the star reporter."

Not the "freedom of the press" issue, but the difficulty of devising provisions properly applicable to both big newspapers and little newspapers has been holding up that code.

Brewers Show Evil
 Big brewers, about to come under a code, are thinking of establishing national quotas of attractive beer gardens with no hard liquor for sale. They want to shun evil associations and would like to control wholesaling and retailing of beer. They hope for widest possible distribution in bottles and a popular conception of beer as a soft drink.

What! $1.50 a Quart? No! Proposal for a liquor monopoly through a federal corporation was the brain child of Dr. Rex Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture. Setting a maximum grain price to farmers and a minimum price to consumers, Tugwell argued in secret conferences, whiskey could be sold profitably at $1.50 a quart. He was supported by Economic Adviser Mortsel Beasley.

Secretary Wallace mildly backed Tugwell and AAA Administrator George Peek opposed him. But Wallace didn't want to take the liquor control problem under his wing. He felt his department had trouble enough with that liquor agricultural issues and that liquor grant didn't mean enough to become a major AAA issue.

Roosevelt turned down the monopoly plan. He thought it was legally doubtful and politically questionable—that voters wanted the federal government to get as far away from liquor control as possible. But he told Wallace an AAA code offered the best means for immediate solution and clung to the idea of temporary federal control, price protection and supervision of production. If a federal monopoly were wanted, he said, that was up to Congress.

The Treasury, not AAA, is now the dominating influence in control plans.

FORM UNION OF TEXTILE WORKERS IN ROCKVILLE

Organizer Warns Against Radicalism and Deplores Strikes Without Arbitration at the Meeting.

"You are to keep radicalism out of your local union, for the United Textile Workers of the American Federation of Labor will not stand for it. We are to act like good American citizens," said Joseph Sylvia, of Pawtucket, R. I., speaker at the second meeting in Rockville to organize the textile workers of this community.

The meeting was held yesterday in the Superior Court room, Memorial building, and was much larger than the one last Sunday in Pulaski hall on Village street.

Temporary Officers
Rockville Branch, United Textile Workers of America, is now known as "Branch No. 2612" and the following temporary officers have been elected:

President—Fred Young.
Vice-President—Not elected as yet.

Secretary—Francis J. Cashen.
Assistant Secretary—Not elected as yet.

Treasurer—Stanley Drenzek.
The first business at the meeting was the distribution of the membership book to the 83 who enrolled a week ago. The enrollment is now approaching 200.

Following the signing up of new members and the distribution of books for the payment of dues and also containing the charter, several speakers were heard.

Principles of Union
Joseph Sylvia, organizer from the national headquarters, who has charge of Connecticut and Rhode Island was welcomed when he appeared to address the meeting on the "Principles of the Union."

Starting off his discourse by stating that he knew since the last meeting the weavers have got back to the two-loom pay for two-loom work instead of three-loom work for two-loom pay in the weaving department, he made some deliberate statements relative to the principles of the textile union.

"We are not a bunch of radicals or Communists, organized for the purpose of wrecking industry—we are a bunch of American citizens," he said.

"Your manufacturers are willing to co-operate with us as a union which is permitted under Section 7 of the N.R.A. code, which means that we must be willing and ready to co-operate with them, for it will be for the interest of all of us."

Speaking of the necessity of having the women as members of the Rockville Branch No. 2612, Mr. Sylvia urged that they be invited to join the union.

Must Clean House
"First of all you will have to clean house," said the speaker, "for you don't want radicals who are looking for trouble, and you don't want members who are to start things behind closed doors without the consent of the union. It is not honorable or above board and it hinders success. Strikes are something we don't want and something we won't stand for.

"Things will have to be adjusted at times. Your local committee will have to meet your manufacturers to make these adjustments. After they have tried to adjust things and fail, a representative of the United Textile Workers will come here and try to arbitrate the questions in dispute. He will succeed."

Mr. Sylvia advocated the 30-hour week for the textile workers as a means of spreading out the work so that a greater number of people could be employed on the same number of machines now in use.

The most striking statement made by Mr. Sylvia in his talk may be seen in the following words:

"We, of the American Federation of Labor, have got to bring about legislation that will make another depression impossible. We can bring it about by unemployment insurance. By co-operation between the American Federation of Labor and the manufacturers, we are going to bring back good times."

Speaking of local co-operation between employee and employer, Mr. Sylvia said:

"As far as your local management is concerned, you are not going to meet with opposition. It is going to be a case of the manufacturer meeting with your committee on a friendly basis knowing that he is speaking to all of you when he talks to a committee."

"When your committee has reached an agreement it will be for all of you, even though it will not satisfy everyone to accept and abide by the agreement."

Ladies President Roosevelt
"The American Federation of Labor should take the advice of a man like President Roosevelt, for he is working for the improvement of the working man and endeavoring to better conditions under which we live."

It was at this point that the speaker mentioned the elimination of trouble makers and radicalism when he said:

"You are to keep radicalism out of your local union, for the United Textile Workers will not stand for it. We are to act like good American citizens."

In speaking of strikes, Mr. Sylvia bitterly opposed them and said they were something not necessary in Rockville's mills and should not be tolerated. He said in part:

"I want to comment on the time, back in 1919, when you took orders from an independent union, through a man named 'Musty,' and went out on a strike without the sanction of the American Federation of Labor or before a representative of the United Textile Workers could come to Rockville and arbitrate the difficulty. As a result you were not successful. Had you, as members of the American Federation of Labor, gone through the usual procedure required by our national organization, you would not have had a strike at that time and no doubt the questions would have been settled to your satisfaction. Let us remember that before ever considering another strike without arbitration of the difficulties first."

Resolutions Read
This closed the speaker's discourse, after which President Young read certain resolutions, which were unanimously adopted, prohibiting any radicalism in the Rockville Branch No. 2612 and the elimination of the trouble makers from the union.

He also brought it to the attention of the members that certain parties were endeavoring to join the union who are not workers in the local textile mills but engaged in other industries. He suggested that all members should be honorable and above board and work for co-operation with their employer and not look for trouble.

Before the meeting adjourned until Sunday, December 24, all textile workers were given another opportunity to enroll and those not working were given an opportunity to pay their enrollment fee at the time they went back to work.

Civic Workers Start
The cleaning up of the lists of those unemployed in this community started today when the first group to start work in the town of Vernon under the Federal Civic Works Act, left the Town Hall at 6:45 o'clock.

A total of twenty-four men were in the group. They will receive $15 per week for thirty hours at the rate of 50 cents per hour. The working schedule arranged is as follows: Mondays, nine hours; Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, seven hours each.

Notwithstanding the fact that a total of 215 men have registered for work under the Civic Works Administration, only about one-third can be cared for at this time, although the plan calls for a total of 152. Of this number one-half will be taken from those on the "town aid lists," one-quarter from the World War veterans seeking employment and the remainder from the group registered with the Civic Works Administration.

A total of 436 will be given employment in Tolland County according to the quotas adopted by the Civic Works Administration. The quotas have been arranged as follows: Andover, 4; Columbia, 6; Coventry, 29; Ellington, 20; Hebron, 15; Mansfield, 54; Somers, 31; Stafford Springs, 104; Tolland, 9; Union, 2; Vernon (Rockville), 152; Willington, 11.

Another plan to spread out work in Rockville is to arrange co-operation with the manufacturers by placing more people in the mills. It has been suggested that where a husband and wife is working that the wife be temporarily laid off.

Superior Court Opens
A special short calendar session of the Tolland County Superior Court opened in Rockville this morning at 10 o'clock with Judge Patrick B. O'Sullivan on the bench. A large number of short actions are listed for hearings which are not expected to take very much time. This will clear the docket for the January term of the court which will come in the first Tuesday of January.

The following is the short calendar docket: Louise Elime vs. Nicholas C. Johnson, default, disclosure of defense, judgment; Eimer R. Varzum, administrator, vs. The Balloon Yeast Corporation, application for hearing on disallowed claim of Benjamin D. Baggish; Progressive Finance and Realty Company, Inc. vs. Alfred Rosenberg, motion for deficiency judgment; Sam Yasmer vs. Sadie Flavinick Yasmer, motion for appointment of a guardian ad litem, motion for appointment of an alienist; John A. DeMaroo vs. Paul Mickiewicz, default for failure to plead; Achille G. DeMaroo vs. Paul Mickiewicz, default for failure to plead; Town of Mansfield vs. George J. Kirby, hearing on motion for summary judgment; Arthur Bergerson, minor, vs. Hattie E. Strickland, bond for prose ution; S. Arnold Peckham vs. Dorothea C. Sherman, statutory continuance, finding of actual notice and termination of statutory continuance, motion for disclosure of defense, default for failure to appear, judgment of foreclosure and hearing on limitation; Charles L. Tranks vs. John Adamasek, default for failure to plead; Daniel C. Flaherty vs. Leon W. Blakelese, motion for default for failure to file answer, judgment; Betty Benson vs. Wesley H. Benson, judgment; Gordon Bushe vs. Bernice Bushe, judgment; Ruth L. French vs. Olin M. French, motion that defendant be adjudged in contempt of court.

Rockville Briefs
Miss Eileen Murphy of the Rockville High school faculty, spent the week-end at her home in Willimantic, returning to this city late last evening.

A meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, will be held this evening in the rooms in the Prescott block.

Several Rockville business men attended the meeting of the stockholders of the Hartford-Connecticut Trust Company in Hartford - this morning relative to the absorbing of the Rockville National Bank and four other banks.

Victory Assembly, Catholic Ladies of Columbus, will hold a meeting and social Wednesday evening in the Ladies of Columbus hall.

One of the most severe cold spells of the season visited this section yesterday when the temperature fell close to the zero mark. Many automobile radiators were frozen and cars had to be hauled into the garages.

Plans are under consideration in the town of Vernon and city of Rockville for the installation of voting machines for joint use in the town, city and state elections.

The Rockville Welfare Committee, headed by Sherwood C. Cummings, opened welfare rooms this afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock for the receiving of clothing and gifts to be distributed for Christmas. The welfare rooms will be open each Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 3 to 6 o'clock.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Rockville Methodist church will hold a public whist party at the parsonage on Union street Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Cincinnati—A barber was fined in court here because he gave a customer the wrong haircut.

"I asked for a 'Bon Ton' cut," Isaac Mosley, negro, told the judge, "and look what I got."

His head was shaven clean except for a small tuft of hair near the forehead.

"He wanted bangs," said Lewis Peters, negro, the barber, "and that tuft is the bangs if he will comb it down over his forehead."

"Bang," went Judge W. D. Alexander gavel as he fined Peters two dollars.

Uniontown, Pa.—Two men were seated before Alexander Jeff, master of the psychic arts.

"You have a great future before you gentlemen," the mysterious one went on. "I can see many things in store for you in politics or business."

"Who do you think I am," one of the patrons asked. "When you frown you look like an undertaker, but when you smile you are a gentleman." The patron smiled—broadly—and flashed a badge, introducing himself as Constable E. B. Provan. With the aid of his fellow officer he escorted Jeff to court. The man was released after promising to leave town.

Dear Santa--

You have probably noticed how my husband is wearing himself away worrying about a Christmas gift for me. Won't you pass these suggestions along to him and help relieve the agony? Any one of these three appliances will be more than welcomed!

First--

There's an electric refrigerator. Of course, I want the best...so that means a Norge...especially when it costs no more than the others. It's the best looking refrigerator too, in addition to being the least complicated mechanically.

(Santa's note: Norge Refrigerators start at $119.50 for the 4.4 cu. ft. model at Watkins, and easy terms can be arranged.)

Second--

I certainly would like a Thor Washer. I've seen them in my friend's homes and they tell me it has all the latest features for convenience and safety. I've also heard that the Thor factory is one of the largest and strongest in the country, and that means considerable.

Note: The four-sheet Thor sells for $54.50 at Watkins and the simple Budget Payment Plan makes it easy to own one.)

Third--

A new electric cleaner is also in order, because my old one has served its usefulness and earned dividends doing it! Either the new Royal models with optional motor driven brushes or the Apex will make me happy. That ought to be variety enough for any husband.

(Santa's note: It certainly is variety enough at Watkins have three different Royal models, as well as the Apex. Priced at $36.75 up.)

Happily yours,
Mrs. Homemaker.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES FOR JAFFEE TO BE THE WORLD'S CHAMPION SKATER

IRVING JAFFEE
(As Right)—Again Jaffee makes a thrilling finish as he speeds to victory! Winner of 1,000 medals and trophies, including three Olympic Skating Championships, Jaffee has brought the highest skating honors to the U.S.A. Asked recently if he was a steady smoker, Jaffee said, "Yes—but that goes for Camels only. I have to keep my wind, you know, and healthy nerves."

A MATCHLESS BLEND

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

You've often seen his name and picture in the papers—Jaffee, the city-bred boy from the U.S.A. who beat the best that Europe had to offer, and became the skating champion of the world! Speaking of speed skating and cigarettes, Jaffee says: "It takes healthy nerves and plenty of wind to be an Olympic skating champion. I find that Camels, because of their costlier tobaccos, are mild and likable in taste. And, what is even more important to a champion skater, they never upset the nerves."

The GIFT she has earned—Freedom from needless Kitchen Toil. Give your wife the extra leisure an Electric Range allows. YOU are not there to see your wife slaving in the kitchen... coaxing along her outmoded sluggish range. And she probably never complains. But don't think she hasn't felt like complaining. What can you do? That's simple. Get her an electric range. Under our easy payment plan you can certainly afford it... afford the meager investment it requires to free your wife from kitchen drudgery for once and for all. Automatic, an electric range starts itself, maintains proper temperature, then shuts itself off at the right time. Your wife can prepare a complete meal in the morning, pop it in the oven, set the easy-to-operate control and have the rest of the day to herself. Clean, electric cooking leaves no heavily incrustated pots to scour. Economical, it cooks food properly without waste... tastefully, in their natural juices. Ask your wife for her frank opinion about her present old stove, to-night. Then bring her in for a free demonstration of electric cookery. The down payment on an electric range is less than you think. Many of your neighbors already own electric ranges. We have the figures that show how little it costs them to cook electrically. You'll be amazed when we show you how low these figures are. Every Woman's Ideal Is A Big, Beautiful Electric Range In Colors To Harmonize With Her Kitchen. RENT AN ELECTRIC RANGE FOR 30c A WEEK. Individual Stars Clash In Rose Bowl Grid Tilt

Columbia Counts On Montgomery And Wilder To Match Grayson, Corbus Of Stanford.

By GAYLE TALBOT (Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Eastern fans already foresee a stirring duel between the individual stars of Columbia and Stanford in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

They've heard all about Bobby Grayson, Stanford's great sophomore fullback, and Bill Corbus, the coast team's All-America guard, but they are inclined to believe that the Lions have a couple of young men capable of matching their individual feats, trick for trick.

Many who have observed Cliff Montgomery, Columbia's mercurial little quarterback, run rings around a half-dozen opponents this season contend he is the equal of any broken field runner in the country.

Scores 10 Touchdowns If Stanford nabs the Lions' leader for four full quarters it will accomplish something only one other team, Princeton, succeeded in doing this season. In seven other games Montgomery rolled up 10 touchdowns, over half of them on weaving runs from middle or beyond.

Field Goal Threat To match the great Corbus, whose field goals enabled Stanford to hand Southern California its first defeat in a long, long time, the Lions will offer Newt Wilder, their 200-pound center. In addition to being an accurate passer and a bulwark on defense, Wilder is a steady placement kicker from anywhere inside the 30-yard line. He's booted a half-dozen this season and one of them enabled the Lions to down Cornell.

With Montgomery a touchdown threat any time he takes hold of the ball and Wilder a good bet to chalk up three points when his team's running and passing attack is halted in the scoring zone, it is altogether possible the Lions will give their heavier opponents a merry afternoon.

They're Hard To Rout As for the possibility of the Stanford powerhouse smashing down Columbia's defense and running up a big score, some smart football men say it can't be done. No team has even come close to routing the Lions in the last three years.

Princeton pounded across three touchdowns in this year's game, but it did it early in the contest after a series of bad breaks had temporarily demoralized the Lions. After they collected themselves at the half, coach Little's warriors not only stopped the Tigers' stone cold 'but kept them on the defense the rest of the way.

SUCCESSOR TO WARNER FOOLS THE GRID WORLD

Here Is First Story on Tiny Thornhill, Who Piloted Stanford to Coast Title and Ended Trojans Long Reign as Champion.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of three articles on the career of Claude E. "Tiny" Thornhill, coach of the Stanford University football team, that meets Columbia in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena New Year's Day.

When the amazing score, Stanford 13, University of Southern California 7, was flashed across the country recently, the football world rubbed its eyes and asked, "Can such a thing be?"

That score meant defeat of the Trojan football dynasty that had prevailed so long it came to be regarded as almost perfect. And it meant that Claude E. "Tiny" Thornhill, whose light had been hidden under the Pop Warner bush for 12 years, had flared into brilliance as a big-time coach. And it meant the Rose Bowl, the first time since 1928.

Who was Thornhill? Where did he come from? What kind of magic did he teach those Stanford boys that they suddenly should become so great? How was he able to build, with material Pop Warner had despised, a gridiron machine that really clicked?

To give a few answers, "Tiny" is called by that name because he's big—6 feet an inch and a half tall—with 200 pounds of hard and active body. He grins frequently, but can command quietude and reverence. He has a fine sense of humor, and very definite ideas about teaching football. At 40, he can look back upon a career created on gridirons throughout the country as a player and coach.

Young Thornhill began to work on the horizontal bars. The doctor prescribed copper-toed boots to strengthen and stretch his leg muscles. As soon as they were ready to walk again, Dr. Shannon ordered him to run "always uphill!"

The boy began to gain strength. His parents saw that he had every chance to excel in games of football, basketball, hockey, lacrosse, tennis. Young Thornhill learned every outdoor game. The family moved to Beaver, Pa., where the elder Thornhill became general manager of a pottery factory. Tiny, now hard and muscular, became high school football and lacrosse star. During one summer he made 440-yard and 800-yard track specialist. During one summer he made 440-yard and 800-yard track specialist. During one summer he made 440-yard and 800-yard track specialist.

PONZI TOPS FIELD IN BILLIARD PLAY

Holds Sizeable Lead as Title Tourney Goes Into Its Second Week.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Andrew Ponzi, veteran Philadelphia Italian, had a sizeable lead over the field today as the world pocket billiards championship tournament went into its second week.

Ponzi last night won his fourth straight victory of the competition, crushing Young William Mosconi, another Philadelphia, 125 to 17, in an 18 inning match.

In this afternoon's matches, Ralph Greenleaf, defending champion, sought to get back into the running against Pasquale Natalie of Chicago.

SENSE and NONSENSE

PARADE IN WINTER SHORTS: Someone has suggested a good slogan would be: "Pay as you go, but don't go so much."

People's minds are changed through their pockets. . . The depression proved one thing—a million dollars won't make a great man. . . Many is the bad boy who owes much of what he is to his mother. . . Nothing's beautiful except food to a man who's hungry. . . The man with the most decided opinions has usually had the least experience. . . It's a good thing the women don't have their thoughts carved on the tombstones of their husbands. . . You can't judge the worth of a gag by the reputation of the radio star who steals it. . . In the association of nations, we have certainly played a loan hand. . . Almost anybody can tell you something that you don't know. . . How much folks hate publicity depends upon what they've been doing. . . A modern murderer is supposed to be innocent until he is proved insane. . . About all that is left of some of those much touted family trees is the sap. . . One can never tell how popular he is until he runs for office.

"MARGE HULL" AND HER 12 PLAYBOYS

Thursday, Dec. 14, 8:30-12:30

Admission 25c includes checking. School Street Recreation Building.

Plans are practically completed for the holiday dance to be held at the Manchester Country club, Friday evening, December 29, for the benefit of the work of the Public Health Nursing association. Already upwards of a hundred tickets have been disposed of and as the capacity of the clubhouse is limited, all who plan to go, or parents whose sons and daughters are away at school, would do well to secure them from any of the following committees: Mrs. W. C. Cheney, Mrs. E. B. Learned, Mrs. J. F. Van Ness, Mrs. J. N. Vior, Mrs. Albert Dewey, Mrs. Walter Gorman, Mrs. C. C. Currier, Mrs. F. J. Bendall.

No arrests or accidents occurred in Manchester over the week-end, records at the local police station today disclosed. Presumably the cold waves had much to do in keeping people at home and, consequently, out of trouble. This is unusual, as at least one arrest generally is made over a week-end and frequently automobile accidents occur.

Officers and members of the Rockville Emblem club are invited to attend the institution of a new Emblem club in Danbury tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, at the Elks home in Danbury. Mrs. George H. Williams of Oxford street, district deputy and Mrs. George L. Grastido, president of the Rockville lodge are planning to attend.

Mrs. Howard Boyd and Mrs. Louis C. Dimock of Porter street left this morning for New York where they will spend a few days. Before returning they will visit Mrs. Boyd's sister, Mrs. Stephen Hopkins of Glenwood, N. J.

The Manchester Community Players will hold their annual Christmas party Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the clubrooms in the Balch and Brown building. Members have the privilege of inviting friends. The committee includes Mrs. J. L. Headley, Mrs. Karl Keller, Arthur Scruton, Miss Beatrice Coughlin, Ray Mrs. Miss Phyllis Fallow and Miss Florence Bieri. They request that the players come dressed as kiddies, that they provide a book or toy for needy children, and a "white elephant" gift for the exchange between members. The committee is planning a jolly program.

Wednesday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. the Women's Division will give a benefit card party for Y. work. Playing will begin at 3:15 and contract and auction bridge will be played, with prizes for the winners and refreshments. All players will be welcome. The committee in charge includes Mrs. C. B. Loomis, chairman; Miss Pauline Burbank, Mrs. E. E. Segar, Mrs. R. K. Anderson, Miss Helen Maloney.

Albert Deporo of 115 Main street, has returned home after visiting friends in New York for a week.

The South Manchester fire department responded to three still alarms yesterday. Hose and Ladder Company No. 1 extinguished a chimney fire at 9:30 a. m., at 39 Bank street and Hose Company No. 2 answered a still alarm for a grass fire in an open lot at the corner of Branford and Durkin streets at 1 o'clock. At 4:45 No. 1 put out a chimney fire at 183 Hackmatack street.

Duke Dewey's Hickory Nuts, a cowboy act, will be presented at the State Theater Wednesday and Thursday, the act consisting of eight men and a woman in singing and dancing specialties. Collins Driggs, widely known local organist, will be at the organ and Nelson Carrier will present several vocal selections.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kean of Greenwood street had as their guests yesterday Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Beardon, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Beardon, Jr., and the latter's small daughter, Lois Ann; all of New Haven; also Mr. and Mrs. Ray Macgibbon of Stamford and daughter, Marie, Dorothy, Marjorie, and son, Rodney. The Macgibbons sisters sing Sunday mornings during the N. E. C. children's hour.

Manchester Grange is invited to "neighbor" with Whipping Grange tomorrow evening, and to furnish a part of the program. It is hoped as many will attend as can conveniently do so.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ward and daughter Jane of Springfield, Mass. spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Bedrick J. Straughan of East Center street.

The Manchester Girl Scout Council will hold its monthly meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Girl Scout headquarters in the Cheney building. The Girl Scout officers association will meet Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the same place.

Rev. Peter Laska of the Polish National church, left this morning for New London where he will attend a forty-hour devotion service. He will not return to town until Wednesday forenoon.

Miss Bertha Carlson returned yesterday to her duties on the general nursing staff of the Jamaica Long Island Hospital, after spending a month at her home on Woodbridge street. Miss Carlson completed her three-year course in training in November.

Members of Gibbons Assembly, Catholic Ladies of Columbus, and their friends, are reminded of the Christmas Cheer card party to be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the K. of C. clubrooms.

Mrs. J. M. White of Danbury returned home last night from New York where she spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. A. L. Gorman, and another-in-law, on one of the party trains for the Frodo road, where they will spend the remainder of the winter.

Daughters of Liberty, L. L. O. L. No. 126, will hold its annual meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in Council hall. The first degree will be exemplified and a social will follow the business meeting.
