To Join Poland and Little Entente Against Italy's Program to Reorganize the Body.

Paris, Dec. 16—(AP)—The French cabinet was expected in political circles today to state a firm united front with Poland and the Little Entente against Premier Mussolini's attempt to reorganize the League of Nations and against Chancellor Hitler's demand for German equality in armaments.

President Albert Lebrun planned to put his final seal of approval on the Franco-Little Entente united front against Chancellor Adolf Hitler's arms demands, Premier Benito Mussolini's proposals for League of Nations reforms and efforts to separate disarmament talks from the League's scope of activity.

MANY ACCIDENTS CAUSED BY SLEET

Three Killed, Many Hurt, Scores of Minor Crashes in New England.

Boston, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Ribbons of treacherous ice which have already taken a toll of three lives today spelled danger for the unwary motorist on New England highways.

The deaths were recorded and scores of injuries were reported through the night as sleet rain froze as it fell. Vision was obscured by the sleet that froze on windshields and automobile brakes were unavailing on the ice-covered roads.

The rain had halted with daybreak, but only for a short time, the Weather Bureau said, and the motor vehicle registry issued warnings to week-end drivers to use care. "Thin and icy roads are the discouraging weather prediction.

Britannic Aground
In the height of the biting storm last night, the White Star liner Britannic went aground on the mud flats off Governor's Island in Boston Harbor. There was a heavy fog at the time, too, boat men said.

Street car service in Boston was all but at a standstill. The Boston Elevated Railway sent buses along regular electric surface car routes as ice covered power lines failed to provide juice.

OLD MAN WINTER SLOWS UP CAMPS

Boys in State's Forests Are Now Clearing Up All the Deadwood.

New Haven, Dec. 16—(AP)—Snow and sleet this week convinced men in the Civilian Conservation Corps in Connecticut that Old Man Winter is gradually tightening his grip on the countryside.

In most of the camps out door work has slowed up but clearing of deadwood in the forests has been speeded.

In the 175th Company at Camp Roberts in Thomaston, more winter clothing has been distributed—white woolen socks, khaki vests and high top shoes. The shoes developed a problem. Most of the stock was in sixes and sevens while C. C. men require eights, tens and up. The result has been that few new high top shoes are being worn.

OPPOSES FEDERAL ELECTION CONTROL

Steel Company Head Says He Will Not Argue With NRA Administrator.

Washington, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Reports from Justice Department men go today to Attorney General Homer S. Cummings for use in an apparently inevitable court contest over the right of the National labor board to select electors at which employees select persons to represent them in collective bargaining.

The Federal agents yesterday watched orderly balloting at plants of the Weirton Steel Company at Weirton and Clarksville, W. Va., and Steubenville, Ohio. Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the Weirton company refused to let National labor board men supervise the election; the board insisted it had that right under an agreement which Weir signed but subsequently abrogated.

When Others Are Sanctioned 15,000 Idle Will Be Em- ployed for the Next Six Months— Works to Cost Over 25 Million Dollars.

Bridgeport, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Twenty public works projects have been submitted to the Connecticut public works advisory board this week covering an estimated expenditure of $5,249,888, bringing the total of P. W. A. projects submitted in the state to date to $22,281,569 and projecting a state P. W. A. program of $25,000,000, $30,000,000 Archibald McNeil, state chairman and Leslie A. Hoffman, state P. W. A. engineer, announced today.

The two of P. W. A. projects already approved by Federal authorities is $9,017,868 and will provide work for 6,000 men for six months, Mr. Hoffman said. The $22,281,569 program submitted in the state to date, if approved in its entirety will provide jobs for 15,000 men for six months, Mr. Hoffman estimated.

Five Projects Started
Only five projects have already been started, Mr. McNeil said, but the full program of more than $9,000,000 in projects already approved will be fully underway by spring, it is estimated.

Notice was received by the P. W. A. board today of the approval of a $40,000 sewerage project in Wallingford on which Federal authorities have made a grant of $10,000, Mr. Hoffman said.

The rush of applications during the past week is ascribed by P. W. A. officials to the approach of the dead line for P. W. A. projects. This dead line was originally set for December 20, but has since been indefinitely postponed.

NEW CRIME RING MENACES CHICAGO

Chicago, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The menace of a new and powerful crime ring hung over the midwestern city today, police said, as they sought the perpetrators of two major crimes in Chicago.

CHILE OK'S SUBWAY TO SOLVE TRAFFIC SNARLS IN CAPITAL

Santiago, Chile (AP)—Chile's first subway has been authorized by the government. It will be the Metropolitan Subterranean Railroad, and will run from the Alameda or Southern Railroad station at the west end of the Boulevard Alameda, across the city under the boulevard for three miles to the Plaza Italia, where the east side suburbs begin.

Preliminary authorization stipulates that the engineer and originator of the project Luis Lagarrigue, must present plans within six months. Unless these plans are satisfactory, construction cannot be started.

Tentative plans call for the organization of a company with $5,000,000 capital to build and operate the subway.

Should the scheme prove feasible, the government will permit a north-south subway and perhaps a belt line to serve the suburbs, it is announced by officials.

Narrow Streets Jammed Subways are becoming a necessity in Santiago, because of increase in street traffic following rapid growth of the capital. With conditions in the provinces uncertain, thousands of people have come to Santiago to live, giving Santiago province an estimated population of more than a million.

Streets are now raw traffic tie-ups are numerous and danger of accidents is increasing. Subways would take much of the business from the tramways in certain sections, but officials think the tramcars may not be coping with so much additional business that they will not be hurt by subways.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

CHURCHILL IS KIND TO A GREAT NAME Famed British General Was Glorified Even in His Decadence

American readers may find "Marborough: His Life and Times," by Winston Churchill, a too-detailed account of the career of a man who is not, for most of us, much more than a vaguely familiar name.

Nevertheless, the man is worth reading about. He commanded England's armies during a period—the earliest years of the 18th century—when it was strikingly like the World War in the number of contestants involved, the extent and bitterness of the conflict, and the exhaustion which all parties suffered.

He was victorious in every battle and in every campaign, and he did about as much as any man to establish the enduring solidity of the British Empire.

Mr. Churchill, in the two volumes of the biography which now are available, carries Marlborough through the early part of his career, and up to the beginning of the war of the Spanish Succession in 1702, and he is concerned chiefly with an attempt to clear his hero's name of some of the unkind things which historians have had to say about him.

This attempted vindication seems to have been necessary; Marlborough, for all his greatness, needs defending here and there.

A penniless page in the court of Charles II, he got his start by managing both to avoid being caught by the king and to get from the lady enough money to finance his military career.

He became a trusted executive of James II after Charles died, and he was later in the court of Orange, and then continued to negotiate with James after William had come to the throne.

As an expert at playing both sides against the middle, he can stand a bit of whitewash. Mr. Churchill applies it with loving care.

The two volumes give an enlightening and readable picture of English life in the troubled and eventful restoration period. Incidentally, if in your reading of romantic novels you have been puzzled by "Jacobite conspiracy" and have wondered what it was all about, these books will tell you. They are published by Scribner's, at $5.

SAITO IS PICKED AS NEW JAP ENVOY

Youngest Man Ever Selected for U. S. Post—Has Many Friends Here.

Tokyo, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Hiroshi Saito, the youngest man ever picked for the post, was selected today as the new ambassador to Washington.

Saito, now Japanese minister to the Netherlands, will succeed Katsuhiko Debuschi, who resigned and returned to Tokyo this week.

Saito will be 47 years this month. The selection was approved by Army and Navy leaders. Saito's familiarity with post-war subcommittee limitations formed an outstanding factor in his selection.

Since leaders dominating the Tokyo government conceive revision of the naval ratios favorable to Japan, at the 1938 naval conference as the foremost Japanese-American issue.

Saito served as charge d'affaires in both the London and Washington embassies. A former consul general in New York, he is a master of the English language and has many friends in the United States.

Debuschi Consulted Before deciding to name Saito, Foreign Minister Koki Hirota consulted Debuschi. Premier Mahodo Saito, concurring in the appointment at Washington, will succeed Saito as minister to the Netherlands.

The same sources said Kenzaburo Horinouchi, consul-general at New York, will return to Tokyo to head the Foreign Office Investigation Bureau, with Renzo Sawada, councillor of the Paris Embassy, succeeding Horinouchi.

Under this lineup, Shuntomi, consul-general in San Francisco, will succeed Sawada.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PAUL IN ROME

Text: Acts 28:11-22, 30, 31. The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Dec. 17.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of The Congregationalist.

The ambition to visit Rome had long been present, but never fulfilled, in the mind of the much-traveled Paul.

Rome in a sense was the city of his dreams. It was the center of power and imperialism, and though Paul had pledged his life and interest to a higher kingdom...

And now Paul was journeying to Rome late in life and a prisoner. Unable to secure justice in Palestine, he had made his appeal to Caesar, and the Roman governor, who apparently was well disposed, but who was dilatory about acting, had been irked by Paul's plea.

The journey to Rome was not without peril, for the shipwreck, so graphically described in Chapter 27 of the Acts, had meant the loss of the ship and the bare escape of sailors, soldiers and passengers with their lives.

The company had been compelled to winter in the island of Melite, and now, in the spring, a ship of Alexandria, which also had wintered at the island, conveyed them safely to Rome.

It is an interesting circumstance, considering the harsh and brutal treatment that often is accorded prisoners in modern states, and even here in democratic America, that Paul should have had unusual liberty in Rome while he was awaiting trial.

The process of Roman justice proved to be slow, but Paul was permitted to live in his own house, although there was a soldier guarding him, and for two whole years, we are told, he lived thus, receiving all who called upon him.

One can understand the unusual opportunity for preaching the Gospel that was accorded Paul under these circumstances. Instead of this period of enforced settlement being a limited period of his life, it was in some respects the time of his greatest and most significant activities.

It was a time, at least, when the depth of his religious experience and faith found meaning and in the so-called "Epistles of the Imprisonment," the letters that Paul wrote from Rome to the Philippians, the Ephesians and others, we have the very highest development of Paul's conception of the eternal mission of Christ and his followers in the redemption of the world.

Thus we see now, as Paul himself pointed out, apparent misfortunes, even bonds and imprisonment, may become the means of emphasizing God's grace and work.

THE PRICELESS PRIZE

By GEORGE HENRY DOLE

International Sunday School Lesson Text, Dec. 17—I press toward the mark of the prize of the high calling of God in Christ.—Phil. 3:14.

The priceless prize to be won through victory over our daily struggles is the life manifested in Jesus. But what is life? Can you tell? Science has given labored, but inadequate definitions of it. Read Webster's definitions of it, yet you will not find there what life really is. It is described as the principle which sustains the organism of the body. True, but what is that principle? Is a principle something or nothing in itself? Life is existence, a quality of the soul. True, but what are existence and that quality? Philosophers declare that no one knows what life is, though it is so simple a thing that the ordinary mind can comprehend what it is as fully and clearly as the light from the sun is. God is not a dead image of stone. He is a Divine Human organism. In it is infinite and omnipotent activity, of which the activity in our very bodies is an image. We are told that all things visible are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even His eternal Godhead. Then use reason, and what life will be seen. Life itself is the activity in God. The activity in Him, in which are infinite potentials, is communicated to created forces, and thus each thing receives life from God, according to its form. Nature grandly illustrates the fact. The sun has within it seething activity. That activity, by agency of heat and light, the sun's activity, is communicated to nature, and nature lives through the agency of the sun. What is more simple than that? Go a step further. God is life, and life is Love. That is, God's life, the activity in Him, communicated to us, is sensed as love, the love that we have for family, friends and the truth. One is really alive in the degree that God's life is received. One without that life and love is dead, though the body lives. The evil exist here and after death, but spiritually they are dead and receive their inspirations from hell, which in the Classics and the Word is called death. The evil do not love either themselves and their own. Such love is not love, but hate, as evinced when the evil have their paths crossed. Jesus came into the world that we might have life, and have it more abundantly. As His truth comes, it is learned, done, and loved. His life flows, and the life. Truth is His love in action, just as the light of the sun is its heat in action.

ROUND WORLD SAILORS ARRIVE AT BERMUDA

St. George, Bermuda, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Richard H. Maury and Russell H. Dickerson, on a world cruise in their 26-foot boat, arrived here at 12:30 a. m. today, 18 days out of New York. The two had expected to make Bermuda in seven days but encountered a series of gales in which they were delayed for more than 100 hours. Within 72 miles of the island, they said, they ran into a terrific wind storm and mountainous seas which took them 200 miles of their course. They were happy men, Maury said, when they sighted Bermuda at 3 p. m. yesterday. Their fresh water was about exhausted. Maury, a marine painter, and Dickerson, a merchant ship officer, expect a six trip to take three years and the depression to be over when they return to the United States. The two were exhausted when they arrived at Market wharf here but appeared none the worse for their experience except for a need of shaves and baths. They were greeted by a large crowd. Maury and Dickerson plan to stay in Bermuda for three weeks reconditioning and provisioning their boat before leaving for Panama.

British War Veterans

The regular monthly meeting of the Monn-Ypres Post was held in the Army and Navy club last Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. Commander Fred Baker presided over a very large attendance. Reports of the different committees were heard and very important business discussed. The following members were elected to office for the ensuing year: Commander, Samuel Lindsey; Vice Commander, Samuel Pratt; treasurer, George Parks; financial secretary, James Hamilton; recording secretary, Arthur McGowan; chaplain, Cecil Kittle; historian, James Thompson. These officers will be installed at a joint installation of the Monn-Ypres Post and Auxiliary during the month of January. The following members were appointed as a committee to work with the Auxiliary in making arrangements for the installation, comrades, Hamilton, Boyce, Barr, Duke and Davis. An invitation was accepted to attend the kiddies Christmas party which will be held in Tinker hall this Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. This affair is being sponsored by the Auxiliary. Comrade "Sandy" Pratt received news of the death of his uncle, Corporal George Henning, last Monday. Le Harve, France, served with the Irish Guards during the World War. We extend our sympathy. Comrade Dick Hughes who was confined at his home this past week with illness is now feeling much better and is up and around again. All members of the Post are cordially invited to attend the Auxiliary card party which is being held tonight at the home of Mrs. Victor Duke on Pearl street.

MONS-YPRES AUXILIARY

All p. m. have been completed and everything is in readiness for the kiddies Christmas party which is being sponsored by the Auxiliary and which will be held in Tinker hall Wednesday evening, December 20. A wonderful time is promised all those who attend. There will be a Christmas tree and lots of gifts for the kids and Santa Claus has promised to be present to give the children their gifts. There will also be a treat for the children as well as refreshments for the grown-ups. The feature of the evening will be an entertainment by the children which will last two hours. The children have been rehearsing faithfully this past three months under the guidance of Mrs. Leggett and a big surprise is in store for those who will see this entertainment. Antiphonal feature of the evening will be the drawing of the six handsome members who will be given an opportunity to do his or her share. (From V. F. W. Foreign Service Magazine). Members of the local post are requested to make contributions direct to the National Home in the envelopes provided for that purpose.

V. F. W. AUXILIARY

Our Auxiliary entertained the Hartford District Council Sunday, Dec. 10th in Tinker Hall. About 120 members and delegates from 120 member units enjoyed a most interesting session. Activities of the Circle will now be suspended till after the holidays. The date of re-opening will be announced through this bulletin. The members of the Auxiliary are glad to see their good friend and member, Miss Jessie Reynolds back on the job again. The Auxiliary will hold another of their popular card parties tonight at the home of the president, Mrs. Victor Duke on Pearl street. Good prizes will be given the winners and refreshments will be served. Playing will start at 8 p. m.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS

The regular meeting of Ward Cheney Camp was held Thursday, Dec. 14, Commander Bergthurs presiding. It looked like old times. When there is anything of interest going on the old timers can be there. The camp certainly could do fine work if the comrades would turn out at every meeting. The old saying is "there is strength in numbers." Capt. Nichols gave a very interesting talk which was enjoyed by all. The Camp elected the following officers for the year: Commander, Lawrence Converse; senior vice commander, John Buchanan; junior vice commander, Michael Barry; chaplain, S. Leslie Cheney; officer of day, Harry Hilton; officer of guard, Arthur Keating; patriotic instructor, Charles Meinke; historian, Joseph Behrend; color guard, Hugh Shields and Henry Aldhold. The installation will be when most convenient for both the Auxiliary and Camp for a joint meeting. The camp was very sorry to hear that our Department Senior Vice Commander, Thomas Mullins was seriously ill in the hospital. Comrade Mullins is a hard worker for our cause and will be missed by all the camp. We hope for a speedy recovery for our comrade. The comrades are requested to be present next Wednesday evening, Dec. 20th at the Armory at 8 o'clock for a party sponsored by the Auxiliary to the children of the Camp and Auxiliary. Please bring a present of some kind to put on the tree and make some child happy. A card party will be held at Comrade and Sister Johnson's home to help the camp and make it a big night as the money will go to the Christmas fund. Setback and what will be played. After many years the boys of the camp have realized their one ambition, to erect a memorial in the park for the Spanish War Veterans. The camp voted to buy one at the last meeting. Mr. McGovern of Hartford and Mr. Eren of Manchester, showed plans of their stones. After careful consideration the camp voted to buy the memorial from Mr.

Green. The latter is doing a good business in town and is well recommended here. The memorial is to be made granite with a paragon finish—7 feet high, 3-2 feet wide, 1 foot 3 inches thick with 12 inch radii on the 3 inch letters, and is about 8,000 pounds with a lifelong guarantee. As the camp wishes to place the memorial somewhere in the park at the Center, they thought it right to have some of the town officials at the meeting to first just wish it to be put up. Mayor Cook and Superintendent of Parks, Mr. Murphy were present and were very well pleased and told the committee that they would do all they could to help. The committee appointed to look after further details are Comrades George Johnson, Lawrence Converse, Arthur Keating and Harry Hilton. The camp is planning to unveil the memorial sometime in April. The camp voted to invite the auxiliary to appoint a committee to work with the camp committee. The auxiliary worked hard to get the money together they should be represented. The camp also wishes to thank Mrs. Heureux, president of the auxiliary, Mrs. Warren, secretary and Mrs. Converse, president elect in showing their interest by being present at the meeting.

AMERICAN LEGION

The regular monthly meeting of the post executive committee will be held at the State Armory, Monday at 7:30 o'clock. Members of the Legion, whose dues are paid up, may still apply AL automobile markers for 1934 upon application to department headquarters on the regular form provided by the state. Be sure to make remittance payable to "Commissioner of Motor Vehicles." During the rush, beginning at Christmas time, no special markers are issued by the motor vehicles department, so be sure to get your application in at once to assure issuance of plates in time for January 1. Legion posts in Hartford county will gather in the quarters of Post No. 2, Bristol on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock to transact the business of Hartford County Association. All legionnaires are welcome. The regular monthly meeting of the post will be held at the State Armory on Wednesday, December 27th, instead of the last Monday in the month which this year happens to be Christmas day. Athletic chairman Earl Wright requests all comrades who are interested in bowling to report at Murphy's alleys every Friday night. In this connection we believe it would be in order to publish the standing of the teams in the servicemen's bowling league. Hey what? Again we seek to enlist the cooperation of the membership in the most worthy cause of providing as many Christmas baskets to Manchester's needy veterans and their families as possible. This work is well under way under the supervision of President Mrs. Christine Glennie of the Auxiliary, who states that donation of groceries are urgently requested. Donations may be left at Mrs. Glennie's home, 88 Bigelow street, or by dialing 5674 and they will be called for. Also articles of clothing and toys for children will be accepted.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior Group of the American Legion Auxiliary was held Tuesday, Dec. 2. At this meeting it was voted to suspend the January meeting, the next to be held Feb. 13th. Plans are underway for a Christmas party to be held on our regular meeting night, Monday, Dec. 18th. Don't forget your gift for the grab bag. The past presidents are in charge of this party, so we are sure of having a fine time. Mrs. McVeigh has started the membership drive and from all reports we should have good news for our Department membership chairman, Mrs. Yerrington who will be our guest speaker. Mrs. Wigren asks that all names for the children's Christmas party be sent to her or one of the committee members by Saturday, Dec. 16, so that she may complete her plans. The county meeting will be held Sunday, Dec. 17th in Bristol, at Arcanum Hall, corner Main and Prospect streets. Don't forget the grocery shower.

Why does Christmas leave us exhausted rather than exultant? For the same reason that creates the general weariness of humanity. Folks are so busy trying to exist that they have no time to live; wrapped in routine, wanting a destiny. Christmas implies us that our's is the right to dream, to love, spread the wings of genius, aspiration, and eternal life. LEONARD C. HARRIS, Minister.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 16.

FALLOW BILLIONS

It is becoming increasingly evident that there is nothing even approaching unanimity among the country's bankers on the subject of currency expansion. No longer are the heads of financial institutions throughout the United States unquestioningly accepting with one accord the leadership of the Wall Street money trust. Many of them are discovering, as industry discovered many months ago, that their interests are not the interests of the little coterie that would gladly block national recovery if it could only become unquestioned master of the resulting ruina.

The average American banker is just a business man. He must live his life in his own community and among the people with whom he has always been identified. He is, therefore, an entirely human being. Also he knows that if his bank's debtors are all driven into bankruptcy his bank will fail. He has wholesomely selfish as well as humanly social reasons for seeking the well being of his neighbors and his community.

This being the case it should not be as surprising as it undoubtedly is in most quarters to find such people as Frank M. Law, president of the American Bankers Association, declaring that President Roosevelt has "wisely steered a middle course between radicalism and conservatism" in his monetary policy, and pointing out that there is a wide difference between infating the currency for the restoration of prices and the unlimited and reckless use of sheer fiat money.

How far Mr. Law and his associates throughout the country have gotten away from the influence of the fixed gold standard ideas of the money trust is problematical, but it is gratifying to know that they at last begun to think for themselves and have become convinced that they cannot, at all events, blindly follow the old Wall Street leadership in all things any longer.

Having gone this far it would not be altogether astonishing if we found presently, among the bankers—always excluding the money trust crowd—support for some such views as the following:

Cover into the national treasury all the monetary gold; issue against it treasury notes to an extent that will bring the total paper currency up to twice and a half the value of the gold. The conventional gold backed paper dollar, according to the most old fashioned and conservative of the fiscal economists, need have only forty per cent of gold behind it. Since the actual gold would not be subject to withdrawal into circulation, having probably been melted down into $5,000 ingots, the paper issue might well be extended beyond the 250 per cent point, but even at that point it is interesting to note what might be done today in the way of gold-backed inflation.

At the end of the fiscal year of 1932 the monetary gold stock of the country was about four billion dollars. At the same time the total stock of money was about nine billions. On the basis of the then gold stock, even if it had all been held in reserve, the circulating money could have been ten billions. We were, then, about a billion dollars short in paper currency on even the most conservative basis.

Now, with the dollar devalued, the same four billions in gold has become six billions. On that reserve foundation there could be issued, without conflict with the conventional conservative formula, enough treasury notes to bring the total of gold-backed paper money up to fifteen billions. We have less than six billions of money other than gold, which means less than six bil-

MONS OF MONEY IN CIRCULATION

Obviously, then, paper money backed by the conventional forty per cent of gold could be issued to the amount of nine billions—right now, today.

There is a tremendous margin between this vast sum and the three billions of treasury notes that the President was authorized by the spring session of Congress to issue but which have not yet been brought into existence.

If the devaluation process which has been going on has failed to raise prices as quickly as some folks expected the reason is not far to seek. The huge increase in the dollar value of the nation's gold stock has simply not been put to work in the avenues of circulation because the gold is, and must continue to be, locked up and the paper expression of that value, equal to two and a half times the increment on the gold, has been allowed to lie fallow.

We have not the slightest doubt that the President and the Treasury officials expect to float that increased gold value to the country through the medium of treasury notes, at such time and in such quantities, within the limits established by the gold backing, as will serve to raise prices to the 1926 level.

Bankers who wonder whether their institutions are really solvent are as deeply interested as anybody in bringing up commodity and property values to the solvency norm. Some of them, like Mr. Law, are beginning to "see the cat." Almost everybody will see it, probably, pretty soon. Then how they will laugh at the "printing press money" propaganda!

TAXI RADIOS

Whatever the outcome of Police Commissioner Boylan's efforts to eliminate radio equipment from New York taxicabs, there must be very little sympathy for the taxi people when they claim that Boylan's order barring the radios will, if it holds good, destroy the value of an investment, already made, of more than a quarter of a million dollars, and of others, to which they are committed, still larger in amount.

Six thousand taxis chasing about New York City with radios blating would add appreciably to the volume of the most infernal din kicked up by any city in the wide world—without the faintest shadow of the usual excuse of necessity. The person who, riding about New York in a taxi, cannot find in the jostle and rush of the city's traffic, in the constant imminence of collision, in the whoop of ambulance sirens and the desperate antics of escaping pedestrians, enough to guard his soul from boredom without listening to tooth paste ballyhoo must be such a complete moron that he wouldn't know whether he was having a good time or a bad one anyhow. And the perils from taxis are sufficient without having their drivers twisting their ears aft to catch the score at the seventh inning or the third quarter or what Amos says to Andy.

As Commissioner Boylan says, "Such radios are not maintained in the interest of the public or the industry." They are a nuisance to countless people and a benefit to none and if anything stiller was ever thought up in connection with a business enterprise we don't know what it was.

WRECKERS

In its defiance of the National Labor Board, its challenge of the government's power to enforce the collective bargaining provisions of the National Recovery Act the Wirton Steel Company is endeavoring to destroy the recovery act and the whole system of government supervision of industry.

If the Wirton company should win in a test in the courts that would put an effectual end to the NRA and return the country to the condition of unregulation of industry and trade that had existed until this year.

There is, of course, a good deal of criticism of the NRA, and no doubt a great deal of it is justifiable. But there are very few of its critics whose criticism attacks the basic principles of the National Recovery Act; most of the objection is to particular features of the law. And if the choice were obviously between the present law, with all its faults, and the conditions of 1932, with industry facing complete collapse, there isn't much doubt which way most industrialists would decide.

It is difficult to believe that the Wirton Steel Company can win in the courts a victory whose consequences would be the scrapping of every particle of the nation's gains made this year; yet such a thing is possible.

We should hate to be in the shoes of the Wirton Steel Company if it does win over the United States government, destroying whatever mes-

TIN HORN RALLY

The cymbals will soon be clashing, the alarm drums beating, the ballyhoo barkers shouting. The New York Stock Exchange, seared blue at the prospect of regulatory legislation in the forthcoming session of Congress, is about to embark on a vast and tremendously expensive publicity campaign calculated to "educate" the people as to the paramount usefulness, perfect purity and fundamental necessity to the nation's prosperity of the institution of stock gambling.

Nation-wide radio hookups, motion picture films, lectures on every platform where people can be induced to listen to them, possibly even that unheard-of thing—for the Stock Exchange—paid newspaper advertising, are to be employed to stir up public opposition to whatever restrictive laws may be proposed to prevent 1929 over again.

The Stock Exchange people do not know, of course, what measures are to be offered, because the laws have not been framed yet. But that makes no difference. Whatever regulation is to be offered, they are "agin it" even before it is born.

Well, it will take a good deal of tin horn tooting to make the people of this country forget what the stock market did to them in 1929 and 1930. Let 'em toot.

LANGUAGE

When the sports writer departs from the straight and narrow path of professional slang things are likely to happen.

"Canzonetti," says the Associated Press report of a lightweight boxing match at New York last night, "pounded him from belt to fetlock but he could not put him to the floor."

Fore fetlock or hind fetlock? And where was the referee looking during this assault on the belly, the thighs and the shins of Mr. Locatelli?

IN NEW YORK

By Julia Blanshard.

New York.—The testimonial dinner given for the Honorable Maxim M. Litvinoff by the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce on the eve of his departure made one realize what a whale of a difference a little recognition makes.

First of all, to see America's Wall Street Czar, conservative Big Business Men, Grover Whalen and the anti-radical squad, and innumerable D. A. R.'s stand solemnly and respectfully while the organ pealed forth the strains of "The Internationale" was a treat to anyone who ever had witnessed Bolsheviks routed by mounted police during strikes, just for singing this same proletarian air which urges workers of the world to unite.

Probably few of the 1,000 tending the dinner in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria knew what the "International" was. Thomas A. Morgan, for instance, standing at his place of honor in the third or fourth tier of honor guests, whispered to the man behind him, "What is that stirring tune?"

Moreover, the 70 notables (all "Big Names" in America) seated on the date ate their Russian dinner placidly in the shadow of a huge red flag. However, whether intentionally or not, this red flag wasn't really quite as red as the stripes in the big American flag hanging side by side with it. In fact, the Soviet flag's red had a yellow tinge to it, for it was made of almost a lipstick shade silk.

Also the Betsy Ross of this Soviet flag did not do a very good job of seamstressing. The seams were all puckered. The design wasn't quite right. The hammer was too short, the sickle's curve was too long, and so the star had to be placed outside the sickle, rather than just at the opening.

But at that, the Waldorf had trouble enough getting this red flag. They called in the chief flag-making concern in New York. They had never made Russian flags, didn't know a thing about the design. So Amtorg (the Russian Trading Company) was consulted and furnished the flag's red and a yellow tinge to it, for it was made of almost a lipstick shade silk.

In spite of every seat taken and every box holding a crowded tableful of guests, Senator Bill Borah was really missed. Col. Hugh Cooper, builder of Dneprostroy dam (whom Litvinoff designated as such a master of concrete that he cemented not only the dam but friendship between the two countries), paid glowing tribute to Borah's persistence, through 16 years in trying to get Russian recognition. Col. Raymond Robins, the man who headed the Quaker Relief Administration in Russian after the Revolution, also included Borah in his list of perhaps seven men who have done most for Russian recognition. There was something ironic, however, about the whole spectacular gathering. Probably no occasion in years ever drew such a high-bred, stiff-necked crowd of workers who have given many of the best years of their lives for Russian recognition, there were perhaps eight or ten who could muster up $5 for a ticket.

One glance over the smug, correctly dressed gathering emphasized the fact that Russian recognition today means business, rather than belief in Russia's political and economic philosophy.

HEALTH-DIET ADVICE

BY DR. FRANK MCCOY
 Questions in regard to Health and Diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, for reply.

YOUR HEALTH AND YOUR TEETH

Man's physicians lay great stress upon the troubles coming from diseased teeth. It seems to me that too much emphasis is often laid upon the effects produced by abscessed teeth and not enough on the ill health upon which the diseased teeth depend. Certain it is that many ailments can be traced to these abscesses, if one considers this cause as an irritating cause, but the real cause of the disease, teeth must be found in errors of living which bring on hyperacidity of the stomach and various other derangements of the dental flora in the parodontal membrane just around the teeth.

While neglect in the proper care of the teeth is to be regretted, the daily use of the tooth brush will not magically brush away the fundamental causes which lead to tooth decay. The tooth should be kept clean of tartar which destroys the parodontal membrane just around the gums, but if the brushing is too vigorous, as much harm will be done by the mechanical injury as by the chemical action of the acids produced by decomposing food between the teeth. If dental floss is used, extreme care should be taken not to cut the delicate flesh surrounding the teeth. A soft cloth may often be used more effectively than a stiff tooth brush. A clean piece of cloth should be used each time, supplemented by the careful use of the dental floss. If a tooth brush is used, it should be made of soft bristles and thrown away after a month's use and a new, clean, sterile brush used in its place.

Tooth decay is practically unknown with primitive people and is a product of civilization, due to the use of too many soft muggy foods, and the consequent troubles of digestion which this soft starch diet produces. Excess acidity of the stomach is directly responsible for most of the diseases which affect the teeth and such diseases as pyorrhea cannot be cured by direct treatment to the teeth alone, but must be eliminated by constitutional measures which will affect the general health and which especially are given to correct diet, and carefully to food combinations. Tooth decay is caused by chemical action both in the mouth and also in the blood stream.

Lowered vitality, due to various excesses, will reduce the alkalinity of the blood and create a toxic state of the body which will quickly affect the growth of the teeth and encourage decay. The good dentist of today is thoroughly alive to these facts, and will usually offer you suggestions about your diet at the same time that he is doing what he can to make your mouth clean.

If you are suffering from rheumatism or neuritis, do not expect too much from the removal of the abscessed tooth, but at the same time study out the cause which in the first place brought about the death of the tooth.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

Bullitt in Hurry to Tackle His New Job in Russia... Crown-Ups Spoil Fun for Slatie and Buzszi... NRA Union Frowned on... Felham Classed Bobs Up Again.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 Herald Washington Correspondent

Washington, Dec. 16.—The formal explanation of Ambassador Bullitt's immediate trip to Russia is flimsier than the usual official pretenses.

No one is concerned seriously about the Moscow housing situation when it comes to selecting an American embassy. The Russians have some well built and virtually would give us the pick of the town. Bullitt knows those buildings.

Those on the inside see several reasons for the quick jump. Both Roosevelt and Bullitt wanted an envoy in Moscow to begin functioning at once. Debt and trade negotiations are pending and are expected to pend until Bullitt has discussed them with Soviet top dogs.

Roosevelt wants to get the "feel" of official Russia as it is now. Bullitt, though no one would admit it, also will discuss the Far Eastern situation with Stalin.

On top of all that, there's the youthful enthusiasm of Bill Bullitt. He didn't see why he should wait around for a lot of organization details.

Grow-Ups Spoil Fun

That gay, youthful spirit that pervades the White House these days sometimes is tough on Slatie and Buzszi. The Roosevelt grandchildren.

Recently they were handed a big Japanese picture book—sent to the Junior Red Cross by Tokio school children—in the hope that they wouldn't interrupt a tea party Mrs. Roosevelt was having with personal friends.

But Slatie and Buzszi plopped down with it at the party's feet. Soon Mrs. Roosevelt and all the guests were on the floor, looking at pictures. The kids, crowded off, went away to find other amusement.

NRA Union Frowned On

Newly unionized employees of NRA might as well be working in a pants factory, they whisper, so far as concerns any sympathy from officials for their collective bargaining efforts.

They charge intimidation in the form of hints that boys and girls joining the union may be fired. The union's backbone is in the Labor Advisory Board's staff.

Bradish Carroll, NRA chief clerk, is quoted through the corridors to the effect that the membership list should be sealed and all members

The 1933 Indiana road paving program is 98 per cent under that of 1932, although highway commission revenues were reduced 44 per cent.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Water Drinking)
 Question: Mrs. L. K. writes: "In your menus you do not mention any drinks. Is it enough to drink about six glasses of water during the day, mornings, between meals, and at bed time?"

Answer: I believe it very important for one to drink as much water as desired. Thin people usually do not drink enough. The water should be used principally between meals rather than at mealtime.

(Exercise to Strengthen the Back)

Question: B. L. G. writes: "In one of your articles, you say that certain exercises will straighten one's back, no matter how crooked. I have had a lateral curvature for thirty years. Am thirty-five now. My spine is crooked, left hip being larger, and right ribs protruding. Is there anything I can do to correct this, and if so how long would it take?"

Answer: You must have misunderstood the article where you thought I said that certain exercises would straighten any kind of a crooked back. If there is not complete ankylosis, a curved spine can certainly be straightened to some extent through developing the muscles which should hold it in position, but a complete cure is not always possible due to the bony changes which hold the spine out of its normal position. The exercises you should take are those where all of the back muscles are used, with special attention being given to those exercises which will develop the parts of your spine where the muscles have degenerated by not being used. A competent physical culture instructor will be able to show you these corrective exercises.

You Can Depend on the Man Who ADVERTISES

NINE times out of ten you will find that the man who advertises is the man who most willingly returns your money if you are not satisfied.

He has too much at stake to risk losing your trade or your confidence. You can depend on him.

He is not in business for today or tomorrow only — but for next year and ten years from next year. He knows the value of good-will.

You get better merchandise at a fairer price than he could ever hope to sell it if he did not have the larger volume of business that comes from legitimate advertising and goods that bear out the promise of the printed word.

Don't miss the advertisements. This very day they call your attention to values that tomorrow you will be sorry you overlooked.

GLEANINGS FROM ESSAYS POSTED ON BLACK BOARD

An unusual method of class procedure is being introduced in Miss Fellows' Senior English class this marking period. A different student chairman takes charge of the class every day. There is a reviewing secretary, Anita Passacantelli, whose work it is to record every thing that goes on during the class period. At the end of the marking period she will give a brief survey of the work covered during the semester. The duty of the recording secretary, Caroline Rubacha, is to write on the black board daily "gleanings" composed of the outstanding quotations from the assigned essays. The division is studying a collection of essays, both formal and informal.

STUDENTS GUESTS AT ART EXHIBITION

Enjoy Showing of Paintings at St. Mary's—Member Describes Visit.

One of Miss Condon's art classes attended the recent exhibition of art, held at St. Mary's parish house. A member of the class describes the experience: "On Thursday, December 7, Miss Condon's afternoon art class received a very pleasant surprise. Generally as we enter the studio, we get our boards; then go to our assigned tables. Instead on Thursday Bill McFarland greeted us at the doors saying, 'Don't take your boards and go right to your seats.' It was immediately realized by all of us that Miss Condon had an invitation for us to see the local art exhibit at St. Mary's parish house.

Historic Novels and Poems on Roman History Give Ideal Background.

To make a dead language come to life, historical novels, based on Roman lives, customs and ways of living, have been read and reported on in one division of Miss Willcox's Latin classes. A study of Roman history, obtained by the reading of such books as "Ben Hur," "A Friend of Caesar," "A Slave of Cataline," and "Last of Pompeii," has proved beneficial to the student, serving as a general background in Latin.

STUDENT NURSE MISSES PATIENT

Mae Thompson Finally Finds Negro Huddled in Corner of Ward Room.

Mae Thompson, who graduated from Manchester High School last year, is training to be a nurse in the New Britain hospital. Miss Thompson entered in September, and so far is doing very nicely. She is active around the patients, and enjoys her work. Each of the girls are given different patients to be responsible for, and one of Mae's patients was a decidedly ducky negro. During the day she was terrified, on coming into his room, to find his bed vacant. It was intolerable for him to remain in bed, (as he had never been in a hospital before, and wasn't used to its regulations), so he sat huddled up in the furthest corner of the room, seemingly appressed.

EYE TESTS GIVEN

During the past two weeks, students have been having their eyes tested by Mrs. Isabel Rogers. Eye tests are given each year and students with defective sight are advised.

ON AND OFF THE RADIO Was funny while it lasted. But hearing it crooned in school all day Has the joke completely blasted. A few weeks ago, (how styles can change!) We thought 'twas simply uproarious. To reply "Oh, yeah?" to everything— Now "Is sat so?" has turned victorious. I have said my say, but before I leave On this question try your luck. Our dear comrades, one and all, "D'ya wanna buy a duck?" —Marjorie Wilson, '34.

EDITORIAL CO-OPERATION

Cooperation is the greatest factor of any undertaking. For example— President Roosevelt brought forth the N.R.A. We don't know whether it will be successful or not; yet, every one is cooperating. This year our school has a basketball team. Of course, we do not know whether it will be a championship team or just "another team." But with a hundred per cent backing of our school, with 1,800 students in the bleachers yelling them on, our basketball team will be a top-notch and title-holder. —E. J. Turcek, '34.

Dannaher Watches Famous Marionettes—Sees Them "Back Stage."

A Tony Sarg marionette show was presented at the Bushnell Memorial last Saturday under the auspices of the Travelers Insurance Company's men's and women's clubs.

TRADE SCHOOL NOTES

The director and instructors of the Manchester Trade school attended a meeting of the American Vocational Association at the Meriden Trade school, Friday evening, December 15. The meeting of this organization, which is a nation-wide association of vocational schools, where industrial leaders, manufacturers and those interested in vocational guidance and education.

COACH DWIGHT PERRY TO ORGANIZE HOCKEY

After a lapse of a year M.H.S. is reorganizing its hockey team. This sport, which has in the last few years gained national prominence, has been absent from M.H.S. because of the lack of ice in recent years. Supporters of hockey claim it is faster than football and provides the thrill of football.

BRISTOL WEARS BADGES

Bristol High school students have adopted a novel method of school identification at games, etc. A large badge with "Bristol" printed on it may be purchased by students for five cents.

Swimming Schedule

The revised and corrected aquatic program for M.H.S. has been given out by the faculty manager, Dwight Perry. It is as follows: January 9—Storrs Frosh, there. January 12—Meriden, there. January 15—Open. February 2—Crosby High, Waterbury, there. February 10—F.P.H.S., there. February 17—Roxbury, there. February 21—New Haven Commercial, there. March 7—Bristol, there. March 17—State Meet. —Knapp, '35B.

SALMONDS CAPTAINS BASKETBALL TEAM

Unable to Play First Games Because of Knee Injury in Football.

Albert Salmondi was elected captain of the Manchester High basketball team at a recent meeting of the squad. The unanimous vote shows the high esteem in which Salmondi is held by his teammates. Salmondi played guard last year on the second team, but, through hard work and because of his uncanny basketball ability while there, was promoted to the first team in the middle of the season. That is an unusual occurrence on the basketball team in this school. His brilliant playing while on the first team was an indisputable reason for his teammates conferring the honor of the captaincy on him.

GLEE CLUB CONTEST TO BE AT BUSHNELL

Will Be Combined With Music Festival; Supervisors Making Plans Now.

At a meeting of principals and music supervisors of the six schools comprising the C. C. I. L. held at the William H. Hall High School, on Monday, December 11, plans were formulated for the annual music festival of these schools. Manchester High was represented by Mr. Illing and Mr. Pearson, Mr. Illing presiding.

Fifty Become Girl Reserves at Ceremony Held in Center Church—Reports Are Read.

Approximately fifty girls were installed into the Girl Reserves at a simple candle-lighting service held Tuesday night at the Center Church. Reports were given by Wilhelmina Osara, Ernestine Montie and Jennie Sandholm on the convention they attended a few weeks ago in New Haven.

Recent Graduates Tell Of Chances For Jobs

Recent graduates of M.H.S. have found difficulty getting work, needlessly to say. A series of brief interviews show typical experiences. A '31 boy graduate gave the following data: "When I graduated, conditions were slack and positions very hard to get. There were very few positions which boys could obtain. Most of girls could work as clerks in stores, but almost every department store has only one or two boys to work in the stockrooms. Moreover, most stores keep their old stockroom help." One girl, a '31 honor student, working in a store said she didn't like the job. She had worked hard in school and I suppose, at that time, had higher hopes in view for the future.

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Luan Lou BROOKMAN

REGIN HERE TODAY

DAVID BANNISTER under-takes to find out who killed TRACY KING, orchestra leader, in his hotel apartment. Bannister is an author and former newspaper man. He pursued the case with GAINIE, star reporter on the Post.

Among those suspected are JULIET FRANCE, blond, and pretty and known to have visited King shortly before his death; MELVIN SOUTHLAND, who wrote King a threatening letter; and JOE PARROTT, down-and-out vaudeville actor. It is also known that MELVINA HOLLIESTER, middle-aged spinster, had quarreled with King recently.

AL DRUGAN, friend of King's, is found dead in a wrecked automobile.

Bannister persuades the police chief to let Juliet come to his own home, ostensibly as a guest, on the theory that if the girl believes herself free they can learn more about her.

Parrott is located in St. Louis and a detective is sent to bring him back. Bannister talks over the case with McNeal of the detective bureau. McNeal believes King and Drugan were killed by gangsters and that Juliet is involved with the same gang.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIII

Bannister spoke slowly, "You don't mean that," he said. "A girl like that—why, she couldn't have anything to do with Mug Logan's gang, she couldn't."

"Oh, couldn't she? Maybe you'll go ahead and tell me why she was in Tracy King's apartment the night he was killed. Maybe you'll tell me the rest of it. Just because she's got a pretty face don't let that fool you. Did you ever see a gun man's girl who wasn't pretty? Why couldn't the girl be in one of them?"

"Listen," Bannister said, "have you any evidence to prove that she's—what you think she is?"

"If I had evidence, I wouldn't be sitting here talking about it. Say, why all the excitement? You haven't fallen for the dame, have you?"

"I haven't fallen for her," Bannister said bitingly, "and I don't intend to. I just wanted to get your story straight."

McNeal settled back in his chair more comfortably. "Well, then," he said, "here it is. I figure Drugan and King were both in on the deal. King's been spending a lot of money around this town. So has Drugan. They didn't get it playing in that orchestra. You know that as well as I do. Where did they get it then? I figure they were in with King. Never mind just why I think so. I can't go into all that now."

"Anyhow King and Drugan both have a pretty steady source of cash—a good deal more than they're earning at the State. Then King meets this Lang man and gets engaged to her. She has money to burn. If he marries her he doesn't need his underworld friends any longer and he wants to get rid of them. You know what happens when you try to give a crowd like that the run-around? Parrott appears on the scene and about the same time the girl shows up. Somebody plugs King and Drugan starts yelling that it was Parrott. So Drugan gets his. That's the way the gangster world goes. All the picture as I see it. I'll admit I haven't quite figured out the girl's part."

"Maybe you're right about it," Bannister said heavily.

"I tell you, the detective captain went on," he said, "tell about dames. The swellest dressed and best looking and most ladylike acting one I ever saw in my life, was with 'Big Boy' Milano the day we found him here."

PICK MAN'S GIFT WITH HOBBY IN MIND

Here's List of Hints for Horseman, Bookworm, Golfer, Bridge Fan.

By JULIA BLANSHEARD

New York.—If perplexed in picking Christmas gifts for males, just remember that one sure way to a man's heart is through his hobbies!

If Father, Husband or other He-Men on your list make a fetish of being the "good host," then go heavily on the new chromium cocktail shakers and cups; the new cracked Mexican glass wine sets; fine old decanters and little glass sets; one of the new trays that holds six kinds of cigars, space for six drinks and six ashtrays; or one of the new games you can play at least six different games on.

Gifts for Horsemen

For the "Horse" gentleman you can get handsome andrions this year with the horseshoe and whip design; old hunting prints or lamps with a horse for the base and an English hunting scene for the shade; book-ends that are cuts sold horse looking over gates; or one of the new horse-racing games, perhaps the kind that is run by electricity.

For "Man-About-Town"

For the "Man-About-Town" who prides himself on always being better dressed, a white scarf, with an unusual black monogram would be acceptable; or some correctly monogrammed collar on the handle; checked shirts in the latest broken blue checks; graduated polka dotted neckties; or gloves of gray or tan suede; a plain auto-occase key ring with place for locket; or something very very well in the way of a wine colored or black dressing gown, severe but handsomely tailored, or some snappy silk pajamas since the most correctly dressed man is apt to like flamboyant pajamas.

Lamp for the Bookworm

If the men on your list are bookworms, then yours is a simple task. Fit up a personal reading corner for him, with easy chair, lamp, adjusted right and with plenty of power, and a foot-stool. Or subscribe to one of the book clubs that sends a good book each month. A comfortable lounging robe of flannel, tailored nicely, would please a glazid kid house slipper.

For Men of Sport

Fishermen always need new rods his coffee, handed the cup to him. There was silence then for several moments, a silence so heavy that Bannister was compelled to glance up. He saw that the girl's eyes had suddenly become grave. Her hands were clasped together and when she spoke the words came rapidly, earnestly. "Mr. Bannister," she said, "I want to ask you to do something."

His face showed his surprise. "The girl hurried on. She said, 'I want you to stop trying to find out who killed Tracy King.'"

Two of Hollywood's Rivals Still Friends

Although rivals for the honor of "first lady of the screen," these two favorites of filmland remain sincere friends. Mary Pickford, at left, long was "America's sweetheart" until the talkies brought Ruth Chatterton, right, from Broadway to Hollywood. Now they're bitter opponents for the favor of the fan, but that's confined to the studio.

PICK MAN'S GIFT WITH HOBBY IN MIND

Here's List of Hints for Horseman, Bookworm, Golfer, Bridge Fan.

By JULIA BLANSHEARD

Bridge addicts are the easiest of all to buy Christmas gifts for. For the more or less novice, get trick instruction books or other guides to perfect play. Cards with bidding hints on them, pencils that have scores on them, shuffling and dealing machines, picture of scoring pencil and score pads, a new scoring device of celluloid that registers automatically, a few lessons from a crackerjack professional bridge player, membership in a local bridge club, a set of duplicate boards, ash tray and glass holder clamps that are literally hundreds of thousands of amateur gardeners in America now. Unusual seeds or bulbs, fine equipment for the garden, one of those new natural colored hampers on wheels for collecting weeds, garden sets of kneeling pad, gloves, etc. Probably the automobile is among America's largest single category of hobby riders. Automatic cigaret lighters, robes, gloves, heaters for their cars, decorative radiator caps, fancy key rings and license holders, special horns, auto hampers to carry lunch and hot drinks in, and dozens of other gifts are temptingly displayed for this type of American.

For the "Professional He-Man"

Who goes in for all the new health fads and exercising devices, there are new rowing machines, mechanical horses, gyms-in-a-door, gym suits and series of tickets to the local gymnasium, books on diets and exercise.

For the "Man-About-Town"

For the "Man-About-Town" who prides himself on always being better dressed, a white scarf, with an unusual black monogram would be acceptable; or some correctly monogrammed collar on the handle; checked shirts in the latest broken blue checks; graduated polka dotted neckties; or gloves of gray or tan suede; a plain auto-occase key ring with place for locket; or something very very well in the way of a wine colored or black dressing gown, severe but handsomely tailored, or some snappy silk pajamas since the most correctly dressed man is apt to like flamboyant pajamas.

Today—its quite evident that we have very little!

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

One of the greatest months of the year for child training is December.

Children are "mellow" now, we might say. It isn't so much that they pussyfoot because they are afraid to be bad, as the fact that every one of us is inclined to be more accessible when something nice is ahead.

And, by the way, don't hold that old budgeon of Santa's wrath over a child if he misbehaves. Do not put the poor old fellow in wrong. What kind of a god fairy is it anyhow who demands retribution?

Perhaps the point isn't terribly important, but it just happened one time that I saw an unfortunate result of four weeks of such threats. A little girl's mother and grandmother kept at her all month. On Christmas her father, dressed as Santa Claus, walked in and she hid in a closet. She was shaking with terror.

Lessons in December

A dozen little lessons can be accented in December, in the advance glow of the happy sunrise. Kindness first of all.

Billy, perhaps, is a willful boy, selfish and casual in his treatment of other children. He hasn't listened to entreaties. He has little respect for law. A direct command rolls off him like a marble of a ball.

Now, of course, we can say, "Billy, behave yourself. Give Mable her candy right away or Santa Claus will leave your stocking hanging empty on Christmas morning."

That might straighten Billy out, of course, but there is nothing gained. After Christmas there won't be any Santa to hold up as a bugaboo.

It can be done this way. Billy, come here a minute. Listen to this story. Once there was a Little Boy whose birthday we always remember. He lived his whole life being kind to other people. Finally he gave up his life, too, for other people. Never once was he selfish. What was the use of all of it if we, too, cannot learn to think of others before ourselves, or at least be kind to them? Don't you think you could remember that?

Time For Thoughtfulness

I think you'll find that Billy will listen. Tell him it is the time when people should be more generous, more thoughtful, more every-thing, than at any other time of the year.

This is constructive as well as timely, because, as I said, the need is likely to fall on fertile ground now. Happiness and expectancy are in the air. Billy and all his kind are more reachable at the moment.

December is a time for real belongings, not January. The surprise of Christmas sheds its soft light for weeks ahead, but it sets quickly on Christmas night. Older people sometimes react through a sense of gratitude but children are more direct. The open-seams to their hearts and minds is expectancy. Just a little difference in the psychology of age and youth.

A Favorite

If you are looking for a frock which is suitable for afternoon or informal evening wear and one that is easy to assemble, choose this one. Make it of velvet and lame in your favorite color combination.

Pattern x0057

YOU might also try crepe, mesh or plain linen. The design may be had in six sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 38 requires 2-3 yards of 38 inch material in monotone, or 2-4 yards for the skirt, belt, cuffs, and lower portions of the waist, plus 1-4 yards for the sleeves and upper waist.

To secure a pattern and simple sewing chart of this model, tear out this sketch and mail it to Julia Boyd, 103 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y., together with 15 cents in coin. Be sure to enclose, on a separate sheet of paper, your name, the number of this pattern (No. x0057), and mention the name of this newspaper.

Address your envelope to Julia Boyd, Manchester Herald Fashion Bureau, 103 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y.

If Men Have Any Field To Themselves Today It's Because Women Don't Care to Invade It

B HELEN WELSHIMER

Women, so some feminists announce every so often, may now go any place that men go. Well, perhaps they may but fortunately there are still a few places where they don't want to go. The National Bicycle Races, for example, which are a feature of the November program at Madison Square Garden in New York. For a week now men have raced round and round the circle. The idea is to see how fast the riders can go, or in other words, who can get nowhere first. Nearly 17,000 men—and a few, a very few women—have watched the circular speed chase.

The expressions on the men's faces are as beatific as those of a small boy with his first bicycle. They glory in the physical endurance. Men sit by the hour and watch while women wearied in a few minutes, turn away.

American women, emancipated as the general proclamation declares they are, have the same reaction as their Latin sisters. Instinctively they know that it is slightly difficult when the lights are low, for a man to grow romantic over a woman whose interest can outlast his at a physical endurance race. They give thanks secretively that they are bored with—well bicycle races!

Men and women are still as different in their personal reactions as they were back in the days when only men wore gardenias in their buttonholes. Women didn't always faint just because it was a helpless gesture in the petticoat days. They had their limp moments because they experienced honest, friendly, unselfish contact with the economic world has helped us to learn self-control. But it hasn't made us prefer pre-fights to Leslie Howard and Noel Coward as a steady entertainment diet.

In fact if women should suddenly insist that they must accompany their husbands and sons and sweethearts to every place of entertainment the good old Spanish custom of locking up the feminine element of the household might develop.

Men stay away from sewing societies and quilting bees and fashion teas and cooking schools and book review clubs. Not because we ask them to. Because they couldn't be coaxed to come! For the same reason we let them get round in circles when the bicycles get on the track. We don't call it fun. At least the great majority of women don't.

Yes, there are still corners of life that belong to men. And others that are dedicated to women. There may be tables for ladies in the men's hangouts but nobody sits at them.

STOLE DEAD MAN'S MONEY

Meriden, Dec. 16.—(AP)—While Clement J. Trudeau and his two sons were attending the funeral of a third son, Arthur A. Trudeau, this morning, some one broke into their home at 261 Elm street and stole a sum of money believed to be in the vicinity of $100 from the dead man's clothing in some article of jewelry. Bedrooms in the house were searched and a large police dog belonging to the family is believed to have been doped by the intruder. The police are investigating.

A government subsidy of 55 per cent of the total wages paid on construction projects has resulted in a rapid increase in home building in New Zealand.

Daily Health Service

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER

As much as scientists have been using animals, such as guinea pigs, as subjects in their attempts to find causes and cures of human ailments, they have failed so far to make any progress by this method in the study of rheumatic heart disease, or rheumatic fever, one of the most serious human diseases.

The reason for this difficulty is that it is impossible to reproduce a condition in animals similar to the human rheumatic fever, by injection of the streptococci, or germs, found in the human cases.

As a result, the medical world still is in the dark about the cause of this disease. Since the cause, however, must be present throughout the world and certain people develop the disease, there must be some individual sensitivity to this disease.

Moreover, some people infected with the streptococci get heart disease, others get inflammation of the joints, others develop chorea, or St. Vitus dance, and some show trouble with the skin.

The disease tends to occur among members of the same family, and all members eat the same kind of food and are exposed to the same types of climate and hygienic conditions.

In one known family, the husband and the wife died of a disease affecting the coronary arteries, which supply blood to the heart. Among their children three developed high blood pressure at the age of 30.

In each of their families there has been one child, grandchild of the original grandparent, with coronary disease. Each of these children developed rheumatic heart disease or St. Vitus dance. The children lived in different parts of two states.

Not only is a certain type of human being likely to develop this heart disease, but there are various types of inflammation which vary with the body constitution. Some persons develop the condition affecting the heart only, while others develop the condition affecting the joints.

Persons dying from rheumatic fever develop a certain type of inflammation in the tissues of the heart which is characteristic of the disease. This apparently is caused by the specific toxin, or bacterial virus which is the cause of rheumatic fever.

Medical scientists, therefore have concentrated their attention particularly on the change in the tissue cells having led to test on animals various toxins that might cause rheumatic fever.

Medical scientists, therefore, have concentrated their attention particularly on this change in the tissue and have tried to test on animals various toxins that might cause rheumatic fever.

A particularly interesting point is the fact that this disease does not seem to occur with any frequency in tropical or warm climates. The reason for this is unknown. Many people think it is associated with the lessened amount of infection of the throat.

There seems to be some indication that chronic cases of rheumatic fever tend to improve if they are taken to tropical areas. But some cases actually relapse when the conditions. It depends, of course, on virulence of the infection.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

©1934 MCA SERVICE INC.

If you want your Christmas gifts to be truly personal, place beauty preparations in the head of the list. For instance, one smart little box contains a jar of cleansing cream, tissue cream and a bottle of skin tonic. Unless her complexion needs something very special, the box contains just about everything a girl will need for the rest of the winter.

More elaborate skits, of course, are equipped with several creams and lotions, including an astringent, eye cream and all sorts of make-up.

Each ensemble outfit are appreciated by girls who get them for Christmas. Some have bath powder, bath salts and soap. Others have bath oil instead of salts. A really luxurious present would be a complete bath ensemble including all the things a woman would use in and after the bath.

Perfume and toilet water are apparent on most well planned Christmas lists. If you know her favorite perfume, give her some of that. If not, everybody likes lavender toilet water or cologne. It is an excellent idea to have bath powder, soap, cologne and perfume match. Such an ensemble would be a really glamorous present.

If you know that a girl uses a certain kind of cream by all means give her a large jar of it rather than three or four small jars of something which you aren't sure she'd like. Cleansing and tissue creams come in handsome half-pound jars for Christmas. If she uses soap and water instead of cleansing cream for her face, give her a box of her favorite toilet soap.

Buying a course of beauty treatments and presenting her with an announcement of the fact is a gift which will be appreciated. Go to the best beauty salon in town and pay in advance for a scalp treatment, a shampoo and a finger wave. Then tell the lady of your choice to go right ahead and make her appointment.

Cotton in a decorative metal can make a nice small gift. The recipient can pull it out as she needs it to apply tonics and lotions.

Face powder—delights the heart of the woman who knows a box of it under her tree on Christmas morning. Be sure you know the right shade and brand before you buy. The same applies to compact and lipstick sets.

Canzoneri Earns Another Try at Title

HANDS BAD LACING TO LOCATELLI BUT MISSES KNOCK OUT

New Yorker Qualifies for Second Shot at Crown He Lost to Barney Ross; Is Given Edge on Points.

By Herbert W. Barker.
New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri was back knocking at Barney Ross' door again today, demanding another chance to regain the lightweight championship. The doughty little New Yorker qualified for another title shot last night when he handed Cleto Locatelli, gamster from Italy, a bad beating in Madison Square Garden.

That victory, gained on points in ten rounds, left Tony more than ever a logical challenger for Ross, young Chicagoan, who won the lightweight championship from Canzoneri at Chicago in June and then beat him again in a return match here three months later. The garden indicated it was making every effort to match Canzoneri and Ross for the third time as a feature of the outdoor season early in the spring.

Canzoneri cut his rival about the face, bloodied his nose and pounded him around, but Locatelli made a fight of it all the way, especially when he opened up after the fifth and elected to trade punch for punch with the willing Tony.

From there on it was a slam-bank battle which had the thousands of spectators in wild excitement. Locatelli got past the next four rounds without great danger although he was hammered around but in the tenth, Tony nailed him with a right to the chin and then smashed him all around the ring. Cleto was staggering, badly hurt, but the final bell came to his rescue.

At 1 to 1 favorite in the betting Canzoneri at 133 1-2 pounds, scaled a quarter of a pound lighter than his rival.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

Some startling baseball deals were unworked during the winter meetings... and a few of the stars of yesteryear showed considerable shrinkage in values... but I think the reported transaction which tickled me most involved Chuck Klein and Lefty Grove.

You have the picture of Klein being peddled by the Phils to the Chicago Cubs for $200,000 plus several players, while the most that Connie Mack can get for Moose Grove is $150,000... Would you trade Grove even Steven for Klein? ... neither would I.

It is my unasked opinion that if Klein is worth $200,000 and "several players" to the Cubs, Grove is worth $300,000 and a ball team to the Red Sox or anyone else.

Another amazing ivory quotation was the price appended to George Earnshaw... $25,000... and back in the 1929, 1930 and 1931 world series, the Big Moose was regarded as a smarter pitcher than Grove, with just as much stuff and almost as much speed.

Another touching situation that bobbed up at the conference involved Gen. Alvin Crowder... who pitched Washington into a pennant in this very year... Crowder is being rewarded by a trip to the auction block...

San Francisco was one of the clubs that seemed to get its money's worth... in the trade for Second Baseman, Augie Galan the Seals got from the Cubs Pitchers Leroy Herrmann and Win Ballou, Catchers Billy Campbell and Hugh McMullen and cash.

Meriden Legion Is Host To Guards Five Tonight

Defeated in two out of four starts this season, the National Guards will attempt to re-enter the winning column tonight against the Meriden Legion quintet at Meriden. A team that handed the town champions a decisive trouncing last Wednesday evening at the Armory to the tune of 43 to 29.

Determined to win tonight, the Guards have failed to equal the record which they compiled last year and the soldiers are determined to get back into winning stride again, and what's more, remain there. At this time last year they had chalked up four victories in five starts and by the end of the season had run their record to twenty-one wins and ten defeats.

The Guards met the All-Burnsides in their initial start this season and were defeated 29 to 21, but turned in their first victory against the Knights of Lithuania in their next start, 37-34, and then avenged their

PAST YEAR DREARIEST IN HISTORY OF TENNIS

Season Saw Downfall of Vines, Fadeout of Davis Cup Team and Loss of U. S. Title; Shields Seems Most Promising Young Ace.

By JIMMY DONAHUE
This year will go down in tennis annals as the dreariest in a decade in the United States.

First came the fall of Ellsworth Vines who last year was hailed as the wonder of the age. With Vines' slump came the complete fadeout of American Davis Cup forces, rout of the Americans by foreign invaders in the United States national singles tournament at Forest Hills and the squabble between some amateurs and the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association.

In contrast to this sad state of affairs in the amateur ranks there was rejoicing among followers of Bill Tilden's pro troupe which, in addition to playing to larger gates, enlisted the services of Vines at the end of the year, and brought about the revival of the French amateur, the old master of the French amateur.

The year started out handsomely for Gregory S. Mangin of Newark, N. J., when he annexed his second successive national indoor tennis title by turning back the Sutter of New Orleans in five terrific sets at New York. Mangin, by his performance on the boards, was hailed as a possible Davis Cup player, but he was forgotten when the choices were made for the Davis Cup team.

The Davis Cup squad, when finally selected by the tennis fathers, made up of Vines, Wilmer Allison, Johnny Van Ryn and George Lott.

This year forecast fate in Davis Cup play when it slumped at Wimbledon. Vines lost the English singles title at the British resort when beaten by Jack Crawford, the brilliant racketeer who suddenly found himself. Crawford also won the French singles.

Local Sport Chatter

Wild, Fistic Riot Ends Philly Wrestling Match

Philadelphia, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Young Everett Marshall, Colorado cowboy, failed to dislodge Jim London from his place among the heavy-weight wrestlers, but before he got through trying he pummeled almost everyone he could reach, including the referee, his manager and police. His tactics earned him a disqualification, however, and his purse was suspended by the State Athletic Commission.

Pat McKewen, secretary of the commission, led a group of deputies into the ring to subdue Marshall and they were quickly reinforced by policemen. Marshall seemed unimpressed however, and started swamping punches with anyone and everyone. Some excited spectators attempted to clamor into the ring about this time but were held back by police.

A Fistic Riot.

Meanwhile, Billy Sandow, Marshall's manager tried to pacify the enraged wrestler and got a punch on the jaw for his pains. Then Marshall rushed at a police inspector and pushed him into the press row. After about 10 minutes of one of the wildest scenes ever witnessed in a Philadelphia ring, Marshall was subdued and later apologized profusely to all concerned.

Had Mental Lapse.

Suffering what his seconds claimed was a mental lapse caused by a blow, Marshall turned on Referee Ben Paul last night because the official refused to permit him to follow London who had been hurled from the ring. The men had been wrestling about an hour and 10 minutes. London weighed 200 and Marshall 214.

Keyed up by the excitement of the hotly contested match, one of the biggest crowds indoor wrestling has attracted here was brought to rest, shouting, by the sight of Everett and Paul in a toe-to-toe slug fest. London returned to the ring but kept to his corner.

By the way, although McCann has transgressed his obligations to the Blue Ribbons of Hartford he did appear in the lineup of that team in its first two games this week, due to an injury.

George Stavitinsky was outstanding in the Blue Ribbons opener against Company K of the National Guard at North Haven. The Blue Ribbons winning 26-21. The team lost a close game, played under pro rules, at Plainfield, 37 to 26. It has been announced that McCann will travel forward tonight against the Iroquois Indians of Bridgeport at Hartford.

The Guards have also suffered a setback financially in their home games to date, the last two contests only drawing enough fans to cover the amount when the last month's drawing card last season in virtually every game played. Can it be that interest in basketball is on the wane in Manchester? If so, why?

The Winsted Eagles hockey team has been training for the last month and is ready to meet the best amateur teams in the state. Frank Burnett is coach of the team with William Feltgen as captain and Jack Connors as manager. Recent interest in booking games shows communication with Jack Connors at 109 E. Lake street, Winsted.

Local court fans will watch with keen interest the result of the game at the Armory when the semi-pro squad of the Glastonbury Town Team at 8:30 o'clock. A victory for the Y will stamp the team as the equal of the West Sides and a win by a decisive margin will indicate that this latest town quintet may be able to give the Guards a stiff battle if and when a town title series is arranged.

Wilfred J. Clarke is just about the busiest man in local basketball this season. Besides coaching his own team, he has several cage leagues in operation at present, including the seventh grade grammar school league, the eighth grade school league, the college league of high school freshmen and sophomores on Thursday afternoon. Next Friday he starts a league of upper-freshmen at the Armory and in the near future another league will be able to start on Saturday morning. The league has a personnel of 64 players or 320 players in all five leagues.

Raymond Berger, whose educated toes converted many points after touchdown via the dropkick route for Manchester High last season, has been awarded the major "B" in the play at Suffield school. Berger played a brilliant game for the Red Sox and White at right half back at school here, and his kicking ability was little short of phenomenal.

The Manchester Bruins, rated as one of the best junior hockey teams in town, has organized for the season and is seeking games. It is planned to open the local season at Center Springs a week from tomorrow. The lineup includes Jack May, George May, Earl Smith, Norman Platt, Vin Kelley, George Schbart and "Ham" Chambers. Kelley is manager and games may be obtained by writing the Recreation Centers or the canteen at Center Springs Pond.

Last night's basketball games at the Armory were delayed nearly two hours, the first game starting at 8:50 o'clock instead of 7:30 o'clock. The delay was due to the fact that the East Hartford team came here by trolley, the trolley being held up by a fire in East Hartford when hose was laid across the tracks. Then, too, the referee's car broke down in Hartford and Canzoneri and Pate did not arrive until 8:45.

The plan of selling season tickets to Manchester High athletic and social activities seems to be an overwhelming success. More than a thousand tickets have been sold, assuring a banner crowd at every home game this season.

Watkinson School Loses To Local Traders, 30-23

Mechanics Rally to Overcome Visitors Halftime Lead of 16-12; Noveck, Keish and Phelps Star for Locals; Meriden Next.

Trailing 16-12 at halftime, Manchester State Trade's quintet staged a rousing rally in the final half to gain a decisive 30 to 23 triumph over the Watkinson School of Hartford at the School Street Rec yesterday afternoon. It was the second victory in four starts for the Mechanics and snapped a two-game losing streak.

While the Traders held the visitors to seven points in the last two quarters, Noveck, Keish and Phelps peppered away at their opponent's basket to run up the score and clinch the victory. The Watkinson five was unable to stand the pace in the final period after battling on a virtually even terms through the first three quarters of the game.

Next Tuesday night the Traders travel to Meriden to meet Meriden Trade, a team that has been beaten by the Watkinson School and Southington High. Both the first and second teams will be in action in the Silver City.

When Joe Laws, Iowa quarterback, scored 30 points in Big Ten competition this fall he was the first Hawkeye to lead conference scoring since Gordon Locke set the all-time league record of 72 points in 1922.

The University of Nebraska, which won its third straight Big Ten conference title, placed six men on the all-star conference team and three on the second eleven.

Ten players who have been more or less regularly used in Notre Dame's first string eleven will be graduated this year, including Backs Lukatas, Branchau and Bana and Linemen Roach, Krause, Wunsch, Pivarnik, Gorman, Leonard and Devore.

Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, veteran Wisconsin basketball coach, starts this season with the same quintet which played throughout last season as sophomores.

Despite one of their poorest seasons, particularly in the matter of scoring points, Northwestern's Wildcats played to 240,000 attendance this fall, 15,000 more than saw their perform last year.

Locals Unable to Score In Extra Three Minutes And Lose League Opener

Crowd of Over Thousand Fans See Hectic Battle; Score Close from Start to Finish But Neither Team Is Impressive; Seconds Also Beaten, 27-18.

Manchester High's aspirations to the Central Connecticut Interscholastic League championship received a severe setback last night at the Armory when the Red and White bowed in defeat to East Hartford High in a three-minute overtime period, 29 to 23. More than a thousand fans were on hand for Manchester's League debut and cheered in frenzied excitement as the rivals engaged in a hectic, ding-dong battle that ended with the score deadlocked at 23-all at the end of the regular playing period.

Manchester failed to score at all in the extra time while East Hartford ran up the six-point margin that brought the Meriden team a second straight triumph in league competition. Neither team was impressive at any stage of the close, hard fought game.

Shelden but the slender margin that separated the quintets throughout the game kept the huge throng of enthusiastic court supporters on edge and vocal accompaniment to the proceedings as the lead saw-sawed back and forth from one team to the other.

Manchester's anxiety to break the deadlock in the overtime period was so overwhelming that it got the best of the team. The players lost their heads and were caught in no less than three personal fouls, East Hartford converting two tries into points. Manchester's defense fell to pieces, just when it was needed most. And so did its passing attack. The team seemed demoralized and East Hartford had little trouble in tossing in a brace of double-deckers that decided the issue.

Fighting Spirit
East Hartford's greatest asset was the fighting spirit of the team. Their attack consisted mainly of long passes to the floor that were followed by easy nucker shots, and long, looping tosses that in many instances found their mark. Their defense was a poorly executed zone which Manchester found a cinch to penetrate right to the basket but the Red and White had refused to drop into the basket, balling the fact that the local players shot a barrage of short range shots that looked like certain falls. Manchester threw everything but the book at the basket in the last half but the ball bounced off the rim again and again and East Hartford remained on top until the end and then came through in brilliant style in the overtime.

Centers In Duel
The fourth quarter was the most thrilling and exciting of the game, resolving into a personal duel between two opposing centers, Ballard and Shelden who walked away with the scoring honors of the evening. Going into the final period, Manchester was trailing 17-14 and in a short time East Hartford was ahead 19-15, the widest margin of the contest.

Basket For Basket
Then O'Leary tossed in a twin-counter and Shelden tallied on a flip shot after Clarke's try missed, to tie the score at 19-14. Ballard sent East Hartford into the lead, Ballard counted again with two minutes to play and Shelden duplicated the feat just before the final whistle to force the game into extra time.

Passing Is Off
Besides having bad luck in shooting, Manchester's passing offense did not click as smoothly as it might have. The presence of two officials on the floor who were quick to detect violations of the rules brought about frequent whistle blowing and caused the ball to change hands time and again just when a team launched its attack.

Close From Start
The Red and White went into a 6-5 lead by the end of the first quarter but East Hartford forged to the front in the next period and was ahead 13-11 at halftime. Manchester was held to a lone field goal in the next quarter but East Hartford only got two and the score was 17 to 14 at the whistle. Then came the exciting duel between Ballard and Shelden which ended in a tie, followed by the overtime that brought disaster to the locals.

Shelden, Judd, and Clarke were outstanding for Manchester and Ballard, Berman and Foran featured for the visitors. The return game will be played at East Hartford, February 2.

Seconds Also Lost
East Hartford's seconds also came through triumphant, turning back Manchester, 27 to 18, with a brilliant exhibition of sharpshooting and fine defensive play built around a well-executed zone defense. Manchester staged a tremendous rally in the final period that netted ten points but were trailing 25 to eight going into the period and were unable to overcome so wide a margin.

Grote Is Star
East Hartford, led by Grote, played up a convincing margin in the first period, 12 to 3, and battled on even terms in the second quarter to lead 14 to 7 at halftime. East Hartford increased its advantage to 21 to 8 by the end of the third period and was leading 25 to 8 when Manchester started the spurt that fell short by nine points.

Grote and Ronson were outstanding for East Hartford, while Bysscholski and McCurry featured for Manchester.

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Twenty-two men were missing today after abandoning the flaming schooner Ellen T. Marshall of Nova Scotia, Radio Marine Corporation announced.

The corporation received the following wireless from its Chatham, Mass., station:

"Schooner Ellen T. Marshall on fire 43.11 North, 65.4 West and all hands (26 men) left ship in eight boats. Schooner a danger to navigation."

"Steamer Lars Kruse picked up four men but unable to sight any others. Crew left ship at 7 p. m. yesterday. Nearest Coast Guard base working on it, and also the Canadian steamer Arras is assisting."

The information came from the Lars Kruse by way of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, the Radio Marine officials said.

The position given in the message is about 100 miles southeast of Cape Sable, Nova Scotia.

STYLIST EXPLAINS ART OF CERAMICS

Miss Adelma Grenier Gives Interesting Talk to Cosmopolitan Club.

Mrs. Harry C. Straw was hostess to the members of the Cosmopolitan Club at their meeting yesterday afternoon at Center Church house. Despite the inclement weather, a large number greeted Miss Adelma Grenier of Steiger's Gateway Shop, who came to discuss pottery. Of a pleasing personality, she is becoming a favorite among women's clubs, and expressed her pleasure in receiving invitations to come to Manchester.

She prefaced her talk with an explanation of the history of pottery, which virtually means objects fashioned from clay and then hardened by fire. The fine, plastic, white burning clays of England are conveyed over Europe and parts of America for conversion into porcelain and fine china. Pottery in its rude types was produced by prehistoric peoples, and the advance in this art has been as great as any other. The Chinese, Egyptians, Greeks and Italians were all adept in producing truly artistic examples of ceramics. For centuries the word majolica has been used to signify an Italian pottery, painted with a translucent coat of glass or varnish to soften the colors.

The speaker displayed a number of interesting pieces to illustrate her talk, among them the Spode polka dot design. She referred to the Rookwood and Bruseby potteries in this country where particularly handsome and artistic examples of modern pottery are produced; also the glaze for which Sandwich, Mass., is noted. Back of such industry, she explained, was a stylist, for there are styles in ceramics as well as in dress. She stressed the importance of line and pattern in buying for themselves or for gifts, not to be guided by the price tag, but rising vote of thanks was given to Miss Grenier for her instructive talk.

Mrs. Louis Grant, vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Raymond Burnham. Refreshments were served by members of the hospitality committee. Mrs. Lander Sumner will be hostess at the next meeting, December 29, when a Christmas party will be held, with Mrs. W. J. Thrasher, chairman.

Harvard First 'Outsider' To Triumph In Rose Bowl

(This is the third of a series of Bears elected to pass on the first six stories giving highlights in the history of the Rose Bowl grid classic.)

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 16.—(AP)—The case with which Washington State's underrated team crushed Brown in the first Rose Tournament football game in 1916 touched off the dramatic dynamite which exploded the series into the national spotlight.

Decidedly the underdog, Washington State paraded through the mud of Tournament park in a driving rain to win 14 to 0. The score might easily have been much higher, for on five occasions the Cougars drove past Brown's 15-yard line. Oregon had only slightly more difficulty beating Pennsylvania by two touchdowns in 1917.

East's First Triumph

The East sent its third representative west in 1920 in the form of great Harvard eleven. It was the first really spectacular contest of the classic, the Crimson walking off the field with a 7 to 6 victory, the only one scored by the sea.

Arnold Horween, Eddie Casey and Freddie Church took Harvard into scoring territory with Casey on the receiving end of two passes which put the ball on the 17 yard line. Four plays later Church circled and from the 11 yard line to score, and Ralph Horween kicked the goal that decided the game.

The first golden State team to represent the west in the series, California, caught Ohio State in a maelstrom of passes to hurl the Pacific Coast back into the running, 28 to 0. It simply was a matter of Coach Andy Smith's "Wonder Team" beating the middle westerners at their own game, with a 70 yard pass, one of the longest on record, the feature of the game.

Muller's Mighty Heave

California's four touchdowns came either directly or indirectly as a result of passes. The 70-yard toss, probably the most talked of play in modern football, came in the second period. Putting the ball in play at midfield after the invaders, headed by the two Workman brothers, Noel and Hoge, had halved a drive on their 5-yard line and punted out, the

The Tinymites played for a while and that of Santa with a smile, said, "Here come your two girl friends. Hope they like your harmony."

"Keep playing, loudly as you can." Then up to them the two girls ran. Wee Dotty promptly held her ears, while Goidy cried, "Oh, gee!"

"Must all of you lads play like that? We heard some notes that sounded flat. Why, we could hear your music over in the big old shop."

"I really think you look tired out, and it's from playing hard, no doubt. We will appreciate it, if you will kindly stop."

This made of Santa laugh out loud. Said he, "Why of these lads I'm proud. They're trying out the instruments I'll pack in my big sleigh."

"However, they're played long enough. They're starting, now, to pant and puff." Then, to the boys he cried, "All right, now, put those things away."

"Aw, gee, it seems we've just begun," said Duncy. "Now you've spoiled our fun. I know a lot of ways to beat upon this dandy drum."

"Why did you two girls have to hop right up and ask us all to stop?" Then Santa chimed right in and said, "You'll soon be glad they've come."

"I have a big surprise in store. The thing that you've been waiting for, I guess you all like candy." And the whole bunch cried, "You bet!"

All right," said Santa. "Come with me. My Christmas cook you soon will see. If you'll help him make candy canes, some candy you will get."

Right to the kitchen they all went, and there about an hour spent in mixing candy batter. Dotty shouted, "This is fine!"

The cook then said, "Now, tota, don't fool, but when my candy canes are cool, I want you all to help me hang them neatly on a line."

Many Women

There were many women in the life of the 44 year old Russian born dentist, police said. The theory that jealousy prompted the killing was still uppermost as the investigation progressed.

Police announced they were without clues as to the identity of a young woman, described as an attractive brunette, who dashed breathlessly into the office of Dr. Siever an hour before he was slain, and held an excited, whispered conversation with him. It was apparent, the authorities stated, that the young woman sought to warn Dr. Siever of his impending fate.

An inquest into the slaying was to be held today in Los Angeles.

FIND TRUCK DRIVER DEAD IN HIS CAB

New Haven, Dec. 16.—(AP)—A truck driver, Edward Kindmark, 23, of Nutley, N. J., was found dead today in the cab of his truck, which had been partly wrecked on the Boston Post road near Branford.

The medical examiner, Dr. Arthur S. McQueen, said death was due to monoxide gas poisoning but that injuries received in an accident might have been a contributing cause.

The body was found by two passing motorists of Paterson, N. J., Joseph Faraonetta and James Curry, who first thought the man was asleep, but reported to police when they were unable to arouse him.

Branford police said tracks in the snow indicated the truck had skidded and grazed three poles, causing parts of the rear end to be torn loose.

Foot prints showed Kindmark left his truck, picked up the parts and returned to his cab, where he was overcome. The motor was still running when the body was found.

FARLEY PREPARES FOR HIS RETURN

impression in Europe that the United States is going to "pot" due to the press giving a one-sided picture of American events.

He made his statements at a press interview in front of the British newspaper men attended the conference and bombarded Farley with queries on the American postal system and American politics.

At one point Ray Atherton, the counselor of the Embassy, interrupted the conference to explain to the newspapermen what Farley meant when, in answering a question, he said: "That's off the record."

"Off the Racket"

One of the British reporters, busy taking notes, had jotted down "off the racket." Most of the others, however, had become familiar with the phrase through the visits of the American delegates to the world economic conference and the recent visit of James Roosevelt.

The quiz on postal affairs was so detailed that it even extended into a question by one interviewer as to whether Americans play the romantic Christmas game, "Postman's Knock"—another name for the old-fashioned American game of "Post Office."

Farley smiled and said, "I never heard of it."

SENSE and NONSENSE

Merry Christmas!
 May I say to you this morning, in the good old-fashioned way, "Merry Christmas, dear, God bless you!"
 Other things one well might say: But I like the plain old phrasing for this day of all the year—"Merry Christmas, dear, God bless you."
 With His best of Christmas cheer."

A friend of this column postcards the following question: "How can I get my husband to discuss his business affairs with me?"
 To which we answer: Ask him when he intends to buy a new car.

 Nobody is so uncomfortable as the driver of the midget car which is snapping at the heels of a great dane truck.

The old horse-and-buggy may have had their faults but bandits didn't get license plates off of them to help stage bank robberies.

"WE DO OUR PART" was prominently displayed on a Model T touring car containing a man, a woman and several children, which passed through Manchester the other day.

"Love Recipe" taken from a man's point of view:
 Mix one pound of passion with
 Six ounces of impudence
 One automobile
 To pocket full of cash
 Eliminate one husband
 And you have mortal man's idea of true love.

LOOSE SCREWS: The Prince of Speed is divided between the cost of gasoline and the value of cemetery lots. . . Our idea of a high death rate is 60 miles an hour. . . When a second story man steals a limousine he climbs in the window from force of habit. . . We'd rather live next to a smelly garage than a snooty person. . . A local fellow was asked: "What's the most you got out of your car?" He answered: "About five times in a mile." . . The Almighty's well is deep and full but you must lower the bucket. . . It certainly is wonderful what people can make NRA stand for. . . Women agree that a good excuse is better than none until she marries one. . . ABOUT TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Carter of Hartford Road are at The Roosevelt while in New York City.

Group 3 of the Memorial Hospital auxiliary will meet Monday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A.

Children of the Beginners department of the Second Congregational church school are reminded to bring toys and gifts to the 9:30 session of the school Sunday morning.

Miss Catherine Costello of Vernon has been appointed soloist in the choir of St. James' church. Miss Costello has taken a prominent part in musical activities in Vernon and Rockville.

BRING ON THE TOYS IS FIREMEN'S DUTY

Up to Necks in Renewal Work, They Call for More to Do for Xmas Kids.

Literally swamped with toys for girls and boys, Hose Company No. 3's Santa Claus repairmen are still calling for as many toys as can be furnished up before the curtain falls on the holiday giving. A large crew of men is working 7 hours a day to accomplish the big voluntary task.

The workshop is a sight, with hundreds of toys in all stages of repair and redecoration. Paint of many colors has been supplied. As the toys are repaired and brightened up, again made serviceable, they are stored in the boiler room of the plant to dry. Any attempt to describe the variety of the toys would have to start with rattles and the list would end with as expensive toys as complete erector sets and magic lanterns.

Corn Popping
Again this year, as last, the firemen will start about 24 hours in advance of the Christmas holiday, popping corn. Enough corn has been donated to make 3,000 popcorn balls. For this part of the Christmas program the firemen will use the kitchen of the hose company quarters. A big corn popper of revolving type has been donated and when the work is under full swing it will provide a busy scene.

Despite the slippery traveling this morning the firemen will make ten calls at local homes for more toys. Every toy brought in will be sent out again, fresh and serviceable, to the home of some needy family.

Distribution of the toys will be made under the direction of Miss Jessie Reynolds and local welfare organizations.

The Hollister street school will supply 150 small and large dolls which will be ready for distribution before Christmas. Other contributions are being reported daily.

International Night at Y Draws Good Crowd and Discloses Much Talent.

Before a good-sized and appreciative audience, the premiere of "International Night" was presented in the Whiton Memorial auditorium last night under the auspices of the local Y. M. C. A.

Announced as a pageant intended to depict the habits and customs of various nationalities and racial groups, the different tableaux were strikingly staged and proved entertaining and enjoyable.

Through an unintentional oversight, the Italian group was omitted from mention in the program, but Ben Radding, the master of ceremonies, took steps to right the error by according the Italians the honor of presenting their little act first.

Rivalry of Cities
In dialogue and in song, the Italian group sought to emphasize a feeling of rivalry existing between three cities of Italy—Venice, the Beautiful, Naples the Superb and Mantua the Mighty. The entire program was given in the Italian language. Miss Irene Pola, dark-eyed Italian beauty, portrayed the role of Venice. Miss Adrianna Grandi, a crimson-cheeked daughter of Italy, represented Naples and Mrs. Giacinta Monti, bunton and dramatic, took the part of Mantua. All three pleasingly rendered Italian songs and, in the finale, the entire chorus sang, "Giovinezza" and raised their right hands in the Fascist salute to Premier Mussolini. Edmond Ballotti and the D'Albado brothers assisted in the program.

Much fun was created by a group of tots of the fourth and fifth grades of Washington school who danced an Irish jig and a "Dutch Couple" dance of Holland. Coached by one of their teachers, Miss Helena A. Booth, the youngsters executed the intricate steps with grace and precision. Ruth Kenton, a demure little miss, rendered with delightful charm and ease a solo dance of Erin.

The Highland Fling, executed by Arthur Johnson, Evelyn Pries, Geraldine Smith and Sheila Barron, all attired in Scottish plaids and kilts, drew prolonged applause.

Polish Group
Poland was represented by a bevy of fair-haired, blue-eyed damsels, escorted by six partners. This group included Bertha Vincek, Regina Rubacha, Stella Rubacha, Olive Skrabacz, Sophie Sumliak, Annie Oibert, Chester Kosak, Henry Zatkowski, Henry Bungard, Charles Lukas, Stanley Opalach and Felix Zatkowski. They gave admirable interpretations of Polish folk and love songs and native dances. Among the numbers they presented were: "Wielki Tance," "Nasa Wistka," "Bialy Marusze Tance" and "Milosa Masza."

As an unannounced but interesting feature of the program, Mrs. Clara M. Gordon, dietician at the Manchester Memorial hospital, read a discourse on Canada, in which she sketched an absorbing verbal picture of the artistic wood carvings of the quaint habitants of old Quebec.

Negro Melodies
Last but not least, a large group of Negroes presented a splendid program under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Robinson which "brought down the house."

The scenic background showed several rude Negro shanties nestling among fields of cotton on a Southern plantation. The participants in the program were Connie

AVON STREET MAN REPORTED MISSING

Erwin V. Gilbert Left Home Thursday Night and Not Seen Since.

Erwin V. Gilbert, 45, employed at the Colt's Patent Arms Company, Hartford, has been missing from his home at 2 Avon street since 5 o'clock Thursday night. At that time he left his house and said he was going to a grocery store on Hartford road, intending to make a few purchases. At midnight Thursday he had not returned and a son went to the store and he learned his father had not been there. The police were notified at 12:05 Friday morning, the message coming to Sergeant McGinn.

The policeman went to the home and learned that Gilbert had friends on Silver Lane whom he might have visited. A visit to their house failed by producing information of his whereabouts. Feeling that he might return Friday, there was no general alarm sent out, but when he did not return to his home last night the announcement was made that he was missing.

It was exceptionally cold Thursday night and Mr. Gilbert was wearing a brown overcoat and brown suit, but not of heavy weight. Efforts made to locate him last night were without results.
