FINDING OF HAT SENDS GILBERT HUNT TO GLOBE

Wife Not Sure It Belonged To Her Husband - Area Near Swimming Pool Searched By The Police.

Finding of a brown hat purchased at Brown, Thomson's store in Hartford, according to the trademark, on the west bank of the Globe Hollow swimming pool about 20 feet from the pool, yesterday afternoon, gave rise to the belief that the hat might have been the property of Erwin V. Gilbert, of 6 Avon street, who has been missing since last Thursday evening.

Erwin V. Gilbert

The hat was shaped up just before dark by James C. Donahoe, of One street, who was called in by the woman's neighbor, the pool and the pond that extend to the east of the Manchester Country Club. Shortly after 7 o'clock it was brought to the police station and after that was taken to Gilbert's home. At first Mrs. Gilbert expressed the opinion that the hat belonged to her husband but later, after inspecting the headpiece more closely, she said she was not sure, as the hat was shaped differently than the hat Mr. Gilbert wore it. The hat was wet and partially covered with snow.

C. Hathaway, of Silver Lane, East Hartford, who rode to work with the missing man each morning before the latter disappeared, saw the hat and said he did not think it was Gilbert's.

Comb Territory Discovery of the hat resulted in an effort being made to locate Gilbert's body in that section of the town. Searchlights were procured from the South Manchester fire department, and Officers Joseph Prentice and Michael F. Fitzgerald, directed by Sergeant John J. McGinn, spent more than an hour combing the terrain for the body.

The retiring professor of Norwich University was nominated in yesterday's primary as the Republican candidate for the seat left vacant when Representative Ernest Gibson was appointed to the United States Senate.

DENY DRUGGIST LIQUOR LICENSE TO E. J. MURPHY

Test Case To Be Made In Superior Court Of Manchester Man's Request - Is Head Of State Board.

Edward J. Murphy, Manchester druggist, president of the Connecticut Pharmaceutical Association, and State Pharmacy Commissioner, today received notification from the State Liquor Control Board that his application for a permit to sell hard liquor, which was selected as the medium of a test case, had been denied. The next step will be to bring the matter before the courts.

Liquor Board's Letter E. M. Peters, secretary of the Liquor Control Commission, signed the letter to Mr. Murphy, which was as follows: "Your application for a druggist permit is denied because it does not comply with the following regulation issued by the Commission under date of November 8, 1933:

"All registered pharmacists or registered druggists as defined in Paragraph 16 of Section 2 of the Liquor Control Act are hereby classified as stores. The sale of alcoholic liquors in such stores other than by prescription of a licensed physician or a medicinal compound shall be under package store permits only."

"A request filed within one week from the date heretofore, for a reopening of this denial will be granted the purpose of permitting the withdrawal of this application and the filing of a new application conform with the above regulation. The board and permit fee will be returned upon request."

Mr. Murphy, in a statement today, issued out at the package store and indicated proprietors of such stores have nothing about them. He said he had been told by the board and permit fee will be returned upon request.

"The stand that the druggists take the matter is this: It is impossible to operate a pharmacy under a package store permit both from the spirit of morale and from the ethical side of the question. Despite any allusion on the part of the liquor control board, which classified the drug stores as stores, the pharmacists consider it a drug store is an outstanding institution and from time immemorial has been the purveyor of liquors."

"Down through all the pharma-

FRENCH POLICE HOLD AMERICAN AS LEADER OF GREAT SPY RING

DR. FRED BUSHNELL VETERINARY, DEAD

Local Sanitary Inspector Passes Away At Hospital This Morning.

Dr. Fred F. Bushnell, prominent Manchester veterinary and sanitary inspector of the local Board of Health for the past ten years, died at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Memorial Hospital after an illness of about seven weeks. Death was due to diabetes and complications, which brought his admittance to the hospital on November 10, after being confined to his home for a week.

Born in Winster on May 3, 1878, Dr. Bushnell received his early education at Connecticut State College at Storrs, then known as Connecticut Agricultural College, where he took a general course, graduating in 1897. Later he studied at the New York Veterinary College at Cornell University at Ithaca, whence he was graduated in 1902.

He practiced as a veterinary in Winster and Middletown, staying in the latter town until 1913. He then secured employment with the Borden Condensed Milk company of Chicago, Ill., a position that took him to many states. He first worked in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin, the greatest dairy region in the world.

His Early Work His job was to conduct an educational campaign of cleanliness among the farmers. He first traveled thousands of miles in the farm lands. He later

REVERSE DECISION ON ASSESSORS' PAY

Selectmen Vote To Follow Lump Sum Plan—No Increase For Registrars.

The Board of Selectmen last night rescinded its previous action, taken at a recent meeting, to pay the Board of Assessors in "substantial equal monthly payments" during the entire year instead of four equal monthly payments. A letter from Town Counsel W. S. Hyde advising the board that they were within their legal rights to take the step contemplated was read, but the Selectmen elected to forgo any further arguments or differences of opinion in this connection by allowing the payments to be made to the assessors as in the past.

At the present time the Board of Assessors work four months, receiving checks each working month for $187.50 each. It was contemplated to make 12 monthly payments of $22.50 each extending the payments throughout the year. It was the consensus of the board that changing the manner of payment at this time would work hardship upon the members of the board who had made plans to use the money expected to be received within the four-month period.

Acting upon the petition of 80 skating devotees and parents, the Board of Selectmen voted to remove the snow from the surface of the Center Springs skating surface after each storm, the money for this work to come from unemployed funds.

How To Be Charged The petition was presented to the board by John Wallcut and others, representing the skating groups of the town. Later in executive session considerable discussion ensued concerning the possibility of charging the cost of snow removal to the park department appropriation, which in a sudden retrenchment

14 PERSONS HURT AS GAS EXPLODES

New Well Starts Flowing And Catches Fire - Big Property Loss.

Geneva, N. Y., Dec. 20.—(AP)—Hastily mobilized steam boilers and pipe lines were being rushed into position today for an attempt to smother a giant blow hole of natural gas which exploded into flame last night on the Albert Patrick farm here, causing the injury of 14 persons and property damage of $10,000.

Hickling burns from the white pillar of flame that roared sky high into the air, workmen succeeded in spraying the well which was only partially controlled, the terrific force of the gas being less than 200,000 cubic feet.

HIS WIFE IS ALSO INVOLVED IN PLOT

Ten Arrests Made In All In What Is Described As Biggest Spy Round-Up Since The World War—Canadians, French, Italians And Other Nationalities Among The Suspects—Had Been Followed For Days—Sleuths Say Plot Was Not Aimed At Any Particular Country.

Paris, Dec. 20.—(AP)—An American salesman and his wife and a naturalized Canadian couple were under arrest today charged by the French police of heading an alleged espionage service reaching into the French Ministry of Marine itself.

Ten arrests in all were made and the police said one other leader whom they did not name, had escaped. The American salesman was described by police as Robert Switz, 38, and born in East Orange, N. J. He was arrested without a fight and police said they believe him to be the chief of a band of ten persons, including five women, all of whom are held.

Previously the police announced they had made 15 arrests but later they indicated eight of them had been released temporarily although they were being kept under surveillance.

The gendarmes said they found a number of military documents. They were officers of the alleged spy ring, including a list of names which they were carrying in the camp.

Arrested with Switz, who was said to have been born Oct. 26, 1904, was his wife, described as the former Marie Thilly, born Sept. 5, 1911, in New York.

The man whom the police described as a Canadian merchant was Benjamin Berocovitz, born May 10, 1881, in Jersey, Russia.

Police identified him as the co-chief of the alleged espionage band and said they arrested him as he prepared for flight—his bags already packed—shortly after Switz was taken into custody.

Three envelopes containing 33,000 francs which the gendarmes said were intended for accomplices, were found in Berocovitz's pockets while his wife, Clara, born Dec. 19, 1908, in Bendery, Roumania, was said by the police to have had 12,000 francs sewn into her skirt.

Warrants issued Warrants for the three alleged leaders who escaped were issued by examining magistrate Fagon and the police immediately began an intensive search for them.

Among the alleged espionage material which the police confiscated were three wireless sets, including a clandestine sending unit, military documents, photographic plates and movie cameras and large sums of money.

Commissary Gianvetti of the French police made the haul of paraphernalia and said he had found in addition that one of the prisoners, Louis Martin, 43, a Frenchman and translator in the Ministry of Marine, had an account in a Frankfurt, Germany, bank.

Martin fled from his home after coming from the apartment of Madame Lidia Tchekaloff Stahl, 45, a Russian teacher, whom they also arrested.

At Madame Stahl's home the police seized books, documents, and photographic plates. At Martin's home the gendarmes took two envelopes which they said contained 15,500 and 12,000 francs respectively.

They said they found another suspect, Mlle. Madeleine Marmet, 23, French and a teacher, ready for flight when they raided her home and arrested her. It was here, they said, they found the wireless station, and the movie cameras.

Epidemic of Diphtheria Is Reported in Hospital

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 20.—(AP)—A search was being pushed forward today to discover the "carrier" who might have spread diphtheria germs through Memorial hospital causing the outbreak which led today of 500 to quarantine the institution for 48 hours.

Dr. David V. O'Leary, acting health commissioner, ordered the hospital closed to incoming patients and visitors and that all patients be isolated in a special ward. He also ordered that all patients who were admitted to the hospital since the outbreak be isolated in a special ward.

SWITZ NOT GRADUATE OF YALE UNIVERSITY

New Haven, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The latest issue of the Yale Alumni directory does not list the name of Robert Switz, who said he was a Yale graduate after his arrest in Paris on a charge of being the head of a gang of spies.

The directory, issued September 15, 1933, also contains a list of non-graduates, but Switz's name was not among them.

That Switz left the United States in April, 1932, giving as the purpose of his trip "study and travel." At that time he was unmarried and gave the American University Union in Paris as his address.

Apartment Seized The American and Canadian couple's apartments were sealed by police yesterday evening. Gendarmes seized all the living quarters of the other six persons arrested.

Most of the prisoners were women, the arresting police revealed. They listed the other prisoners' names as: Moise Selmon, 36, and his wife, Chana, 27, both Polish medical students.

Madame Lidia Tchekaloff Stahl, 45, Russian. Mlle. Madeleine Marmet, 23, French, teacher. Louis Martin, 43, French, teacher. Doukhan Narandich, 45, Serbian, journalist.

Martin, who listed his occupation as that of a translator in the ministry of the navy.

EARLY BULLETINS Paris, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The biggest spy roundup since the World War began in France today after a huge international espionage ring, in which several Americans were reported implicated, had been uncovered with the arrest of ten men and women.

Women charged with complicity, one of whom was the daughter of a former Paris police commissary—were seized in raids in various parts of France after incriminating documents had been gathered by the French counter espionage service.

Secrecy covering the mysterious organization's operations was maintained, but it was believed there had been a leak in plans for France's closely-guarded frontier fortifications which she intends to extend.

Only yesterday, War Minister Edouard Daladier announced the government would seek credits to expand her "iron ring" of border defenses "to the sea."

For three years, workers in the Metz and Lauter border regions have been employed on a steel and concrete line of fortifications 128 miles long from which army leaders say a continuous barrage could be laid down.

Ends Two Year Search The roundup is the climax of a two-year search for spies, particularly along the frontiers where scores of isolated cases of espionage have been reported in which several individuals have been convicted.

BAY STATE JURY INDICTS KAMINSKY

New Britain Youth Who Fleed Jail Is Accused Of Murder.

Springfield, Mass., Dec. 20.—(AP)—Alexander Kaminsky, 24, of New Britain, Conn., and Paul Wargo, 21, of Wallingford, Conn., were today indicted by a Grand Jury charged with murdering Merritt W. Hayden, a guard, while they were escaping from the Hampden county jail here October 26. They are also indicted for escaping from jail. Kaminsky is further charged with the larceny of an automobile in which he made his escape.

Arrested In South
Kaminsky was arrested December 1, in Lynchburg, Va., when he was picked up on another charge by a railroad detective, and his finger prints were sent to Washington. Wargo was arrested a short time after the men escaped. For several days Kaminsky was sought near his Connecticut home by state police.

YOUTH HELD HERE ARRESTED BEFORE

Peter Sadey, Of New Britain, Has Police Record In Willimantic.

When Frank D'Amico chased a young man who ran out of Hultman's store yesterday after, it is claimed, he was detected in an attempt to steal a pair of shoes, he did not capture just an excited youth but one who already has several police court records which include breaking and entering, burglary in the night season. The youth is now on probation by the Windham County Superior Court from a thirty-day sentence on the charge of burglary. A fine imposed was paid.

He told the truth concerning his name when he said he was Peter Sadey, 20, of New Britain Road, Kensington. The Manchester police checked up on this and learned from New Britain that he was known to the police in that city and came of a good family. The police said Sadey was known to have associated with a shady gang. One of the members of the gang goes by the nickname of "Duffy."

Chief Grady of Willimantic reported that Sadey was before the City Court of Willimantic December 6 and was fined and sentenced to the Windham County jail. He was charged with breaking and entering. His father paid the fine and the jail sentence was suspended, but the young man who was sent to jail with him at the same time is still there.

The lad's mother learned yesterday by a visit at her home by an East Hartford police officer that there is some question about his being wanted in East Hartford for an offense there. She learned that the son was being held in Manchester and came here last night. She told of having purchased a new overcoat for him last Wednesday and when shown the coat that he was wearing when arrested said it was not the same as the one he had on yesterday was well worn and of another color. He admitted that he had sold the new coat.

His mother was allowed to see him in the cell room but he would give her no information regarding the person with him yesterday, and took exception to her trying, as he claimed, to assist the police in getting him to tell. He was anything but friendly to his mother and sister.

Sadey was arraigned in local Police Court today on a charge of theft. Bail of $1,000 was fixed for a hearing Saturday. In the meantime the police hope to locate Sadey's companion implicated in the case. Unable to secure the necessary bonds Sadey was remanded to jail. Attorney George C. Lesner represented the youth.

Radios Take Back Seat As Piano Buying Grows

Indications that Christmas buying is going back to the level of ten years ago is shown in the nature of gift giving this year in local stores. Gifts of a permanent nature, costly gifts such as radios, pianos and furniture are being made this year to a greater extent than for many years.

Watkins Brothers, leading furniture establishment, reports the sale of several grand pianos of the better grade values in musical merchandise this year are greater than for many years and critical buyers are taking advantage of the present market conditions to make gifts long-anticipated.

Watkins Brothers also reports the sale of several new upright pianos, although the trend at present is for the more modern instrument which finds its proper place in the modern home and is adapted to the modern scheme of interior decorating.

Henry Smith, Watkins Brothers salesman, is of the opinion that the spurt in merchandise purchasing is due in no small part to the long lapse during the depression years when music values were dormant, subjective to other and less elevating interests. The many new songs and compositions and the prevailing spirit of optimism, Mr. Smith feels, is the principal force behind the new holiday trend in buying.

In the old and better days, Mr. Smith asserts, the piano with its piano was the favorite musical gift. Those wishing the companionship of such groups led them to take advantage of the prevailing values in the better grade of musical instruments to acquire a piano now.

Harold Turkington, salesman at Kemps, Inc., states that his company has also sold three new instruments recently and it is his opinion that this is but a beginning in the comeback trend toward real appreciation of music as it was known before the advent of radio.

Mr. Turkington points out that the piano is still the basic musical instrument and while styles have changed somewhat in recent years, the instrument is still one that gives the entire family group the musical values so prized throughout the past generations.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, Dec. 20.—(AP)—Stocks broke sharply today under a selling avalanche that swept quoted values down 1 to as much as 9 points.

The relapse followed pronounced weakness of Union Bag & Paper which dropped 9 when it was reported the Stock Exchange authorities were enquiring into the recent activity in the issue. Liquidation by nervous traders, in addition to increased short operations, unsettled the issue. Some companies' stock prices lagged some four minutes behind floor transactions. With the dollar price again unchanged, the dollar advanced about 5 cents in terms of sterling and nearly 1-10 of a cent in relation to the French franc. The market value of 2 cents a bushel and other commodities were hesitant. Bonds were irregular.

The slump in shares came just before noon and for about 25 minutes offerings steadily advanced. Support then appeared and there were recoveries of 1 to 3 points in some groups. Bag & Paper reduced its loss to 6 points. Celanese, however, was off 7. U. S. Industrial Alcohol 4, Atlas 2, and loss of 1 1/2 included Auburn, U. S. Smelting, Allied Chemical, U. S. Steel, Johns-Manville, Case, Santa Fe, DePue, N. Y. Central, American Can, General Motors, Western Union and others. American Telephone and Consolidated Gas were fairly steady, easing only fractionally.

The recent gyrations of certain stock specialties were watched with considerable trepidation by brokerage circles. Some commentators feared that the undue activity of these issues, including sharp slumps of Union Bag and Atlas Tack, might renew agitation for Federal regulation of Stock Exchanges.

At the same time various financial quarters were not too pessimistic over the possibility of government control of speculation. These pointed out that many brokers for some time have been paying expenses, and the aggregate of the falling off of commissions due to the lack of public participation. With so-called "pools" restricted by the government, it was argued, the public might take a more lively interest under the assumption of Federal protection.

Preliminary estimates of car-loadings for the week ending Dec. 16, to be reported Friday, indicate an expansion of the aggregate to around 500,000. Such an increase, it is said, would be counter seasonal. A year ago the drop for the corresponding week amounted to some 4,000 cars. The first eight carriers to report showed an increase in own line loadings of 5.8 per cent.

BUSINESS MEN OPPOSE BANKS' SERVICE CHARGES

Bridgeport, Dec. 20.—(AP)—Charging that the impending service charges on checking accounts in Bridgeport banks will tend to throttle the business and are therefore "directly opposed to the spirit of the NRA," the Federated Business Men's Council today went on record as opposed to such fees.

The Council, according to Kenneth J. Griffin, secretary, held a special meeting last night to draft its opposition to the charges which will go into effect January 1 in banks which are members of the Bridgeport Clearing House Association.

President A. S. Goldman summarizes the meeting as follows: Following requests from federated branch delegates, regional business men's associations and individual members.

In addition, James J. Leon, president of the East Side Business Men's Association, described his organization had gone on record as opposed to the service charges.

by any chance Gilbert had died from exposure in that locality.

The position of the hat when found led to the supposition that it might have been blown to the spot, and that the person wearing it might have gone up the bank to the larger pond on the east side of Main street near the Country Club, if he had any intention of committing suicide.

To Drag Pond

If this theory is correct, the body would be close to the draw off pipe of the pond and also near the north end of the trap rock dam that extends from the east to the west shores in crescent shape with a long, sloping embankment. The searchlight used last night lacked sufficient candlepower to probe the depths of this pond, but it will be dragged today by the police.

Even after inspecting the hat, Mrs. Gilbert continued to hold to her theory that her husband had wandered away, a victim of amnesia. She reiterated the conviction that her husband sooner or later will be found alive.

Came From Hartford

The Gilberts have resided in this town for over a year. Before going to the Colt's Patent Firearms company, where he was employed as a metallurgist, Mr. Gilbert worked for the Atwood Collins company in Collinsville. Moving to Hartford, from Collinsville, the family subsequently came to Manchester, taking an apartment at the Centennial Apartments on Chestnut street.

Lower rent and the less thickly settled features of Avon street appealed to the Gilberts and induced them to move into the house at 6 Avon street. J. Harry Madden, owner of a grocery store at 32 Laurel street, owns the Avon street property occupied by the Gilberts.

Feb. 11

Last Thursday Mr. Madden went to the Gilbert home and talked with Mr. Gilbert. The latter requested a few improvements be desired to have made, and remarked he had checked for the rent in his desk at the Colt factory, which he intended giving to Mr. Madden when repairs to the furnace were completed. He complained to Mr. Madden at the time that he felt ill and pointed out he had lost much weight.

Although said to have been paid a large salary, Mr. Gilbert mingled little with his associates at the factory and seemed deeply interested in his work.

Hat Not Gilbert's

Captain Herman O. Schendel, Lieutenant William A. Barron and Sergeant John J. McGilgan spent this morning searching in the vicinity of the Globe Hollow swimming pool for the body of Mr. Gilbert, but at noon gave up the quest. There will be no further official search made by the police without new developments. It was established without a doubt this afternoon that the hat was not that of Gilbert's. It was too small in size, and of a cheaper brand than he was accustomed to buy. While there was no size mark, the hat found could not pass over the head of his son, like a derby he sometimes wore. The hat that was found would rest only on the top of his son's head.

The search this morning was made through the woods on both the east and west sides of the swimming pool. The water has been drawn off the swimming pool and there is not enough in it to conceal a body.

There was nothing to indicate that the body was in the woods in that vicinity.

After getting the report from the search at noon today, Chief of Police Samuel Gordon called off further search by the police.

The police have for some time felt that Gilbert in leaving the house did not go away in any particularly distorted frame of mind. Facts now in the hands of the police lead to other lines and, while it is not claimed that there may be a suicide angle, there is a much

St. Mary's Church Will Distribute Foodstuffs Among Needy Families of Parish And Town.

A general committee of St. Mary's church met last night at the Parish House to prepare for the distribution of Christmas baskets of food to needy families of the parish and the community.

Every year St. Mary's Parish House is the catch-all for a great number of canned goods, jellies, and all sorts of food. Money is given also, which buys chickens and other needed items. These donations are made up into baskets and sent around to about forty needy families.

This year, on going over the donations already received, it was found that there has been a generous response in money gifts and canned goods. The less expensive types of food such as turnips, potatoes and bread, however are still needed. For anyone who wishes to donate any of these commodities, the Parish House will be open this week every day till Friday night.

The general committee is made up of the following persons, representing the Woman's Auxiliary: Mrs. Charles Wade, chairman, and Miss Jessie Jenny, secretary; for the Ladies' Guild, Mrs. Thomas Brown; from the Girls' Friendly Society, Margaret Stratton and Mrs. Howard Briggs; for the Men's Bible Class, Edwin McCullough and Charles Trotter; and William Davis and Wilbert Hadden for the Young People's Fellowship.

AUTO ACCIDENTS FEATURE APPEALS

Two Errors Found in Ten
Cases Before the Supreme Court Of Errors.

Hartford, Dec. 20.—(AP)—Two errors were found by the Superior Court of Errors in ten appeals heard by it and on which opinions were handed down today. Seven of these cases grew out of automobile collisions.

The opinions:
Erna Hamingway vs. Anthony D. Corzolino, no error.
Williamena Johnson vs. Thomas G. Whipple, no error.
Florence Jones vs. John Kallenta and Harold Jones vs. the same, no error.
Margaret A. Morgan vs. Arthur Marchessault et al., no error.
Nelle Smith vs. Theodore J. Hirschberg et al., no error.
Laura Amato vs. Louis W. De-sent, no error.
Joseph W. Cashman vs. the Meriden Hospital, no error.
Mrs. T. F. O'Bannon vs. E. A. Schultz, no error.
Orasio Rossie vs. Thomas F. Jackson Company et al., error, and cause remanded.
Al Gross vs. Boston, Worcester and New York Street Railway Company et al., error found, new trial ordered.

The nature of the cases on which the court gave opinions was as follows:

Hemingway vs. Corzolino (New Haven) action to recover for personal injuries as the result of collision of plaintiff's car with defendant's truck, tried before Judge John Rufus Booth with judgment for plaintiff; no error; opinion by the court. In the collision, plaintiff was thrown forward over the wheel and suffered injuries to thorax and body.
Johnson vs. Whipple, action for damages for slander with judgment of $500 for plaintiff, tried before Judge Cornell in New London county; no error; opinion by Justice Haines.
The Jones vs. Kallenta, action for damages due to car collision, tried in New London county before Judge Cornell, with judgments for both plaintiffs; no error; opinion by the court.

New London Case
Morgan vs. Marchessault et al., action for damages for personal injuries and property damage in collision of cars at Moostip, tried before Judge Cornell in New London county, with judgment for the plaintiff; no error; opinion by Justice Banks.
Smith vs. Hirschberg et al., of Norwalk, personal injuries damage action due to car collision, tried before Judge Jennings with verdict for plaintiff; no error; opinion by the court.

Amato vs. Desant (New Haven) personal injuries damage action due to collision of motorcycle with defendant's car, the plaintiff being on the motorcycle rear seat at the time, tried before Judge Cornell with judgment for plaintiff; no error; opinion by Justice Banks.
Hospital Case
Cashman vs. the Meriden Hospital (and Lillian Nodwell, nurse), action to recover damages for personal injuries alleged to have been suffered by Cashman, a patient, when hot water bottles were placed in his bed, no error, opinion by Justice Avery. The demurrer to a special defense offered by the defendant was over-ruled by Judge John Rufus Booth, the plaintiff refused to plead and Judge O'Sullivan entered judgment for the defendant.

Mrs. T. F. O'Bannon vs. E. A. Schultz, action to recover damages received in an automobile collision at Devon; tried before Judge Cornell at New Haven, with judgment for defendant; no error; opinion by Justice Avery.
Rossie vs. Thomas F. Jackson Company et al., a compensation case arising out of an occupational disease. Error, and cause remanded.
Al Gross vs. Boston, Worcester and New York Street Railway Company et al., personal injury damage action, with allegation of negligence on part of defendant's bus driver, tried before Judge Dickenson at Hartford with plaintiff's judgment of $12,000; error found, and new trial ordered. Opinion by Justice Hinman. Two buses were in collision at Worcester in September, 1932. Gross who lives in Hartford was injured. The bus was owned by Carl Aselton of Worcester.

The opinion said error was found on only one point, that based on the trial court's failure to charge that the defendant's driver had a right to assume drivers ahead in line of traffic would comply with legal instructions and exercise reasonable care. Failure to so charge might have been construed by the jury as indicative of driver's lack of right to benefit by such assumption.

STEAMERS AGROUND

London, Dec. 20.—(AP)—While a thick fog shrouded southeastern England and the English channel, the S. S. Gratton, bound for Southampton, from the Island of Jersey, grounded today on a rock ledge at the Isle of Wight. A tug stood by and the Gratton with 10 passengers, was refloated at high tide shortly after mid-day.

The same fog sent the Norwegian steamer Viator, bound from Palermo to Southampton, ashore at Calshot.

London itself was ringed all about with the fog, delaying suburban trains which crawled into their stations as much as an hour late.

Joe Cronin, manager of the Washington Senators spends his Sunday afternoons visiting San Francisco playgrounds and watching young baseball players.

COLUMBIA

A white gift offering was held in connection with the morning service of the local church Sunday. During the service two Christmas anthems were given by the choir, "While Shepherds Watched" and "Still Green the Evening O'er Bethlehem Town." Following the sermon H. P. Collins read a scripture lesson, and Mrs. Margaret Woodward read a poem "The Search." The Sunday school children then sang a song "If You Want To Be Happy on Christmas Day Give Something Away." The congregation then filed down the middle aisle, bearing gifts and leaving them under two beautiful Christmas trees on each side of the pulpit. These will be sorted out and packed for distribution to those on a list provided by the school nurse, Miss Margaret Danahy, and the Young Women's Club, meeting today at the Exchange Club, for each child on the list, provided by the Red Cross, will be filled, the Sunday school will furnish a pair of mittens for each child, and the Young Women's club will furnish oranges. The toys given in the white gift offering will fill the stockings to overflowing. Any one who did not have their offering ready for the Sunday service must leave it at the Hartford this afternoon.

Some of the young people of the town have been anxious for some time to learn how to dance, and a dancing class has been started with Mrs. Guy Emerson as instructor and Mrs. Elsie Collins as the piano. There will be eight lessons, the first one having been held last Friday evening, with fifteen present, in spite of the slippery condition of the highways, a large proportion of them being High school pupils.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hunt and Mrs. Jennie Hunt were guests Sunday evening of Miss Hattie Strickland of Manchester, all going late to the religious drama given by the Cecilia Club of the South Methodist church.

Miss Katherine Ink spent Monday with Miss Anne Dix at the Hartford hospital.

A few Christmas packages came into the local post office last week but every day now will swell the volume. Christmas cards are also beginning to arrive in large numbers.

The annual Sunday school Christmas party for the children of the town is scheduled for next Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5. The chapel has been decorated with a beautiful tree and candles will be in the window. In one corner a fireplace has been erected for the use of Santa Claus, who has promised to be present. The children will be divided into two groups at first, and until 3 o'clock the larger ones will play games in the hall, while the little ones will be entertained in the chapel. At 3 both groups will meet in the hall and there will be a short informal program by the children, of music and recitations. Refreshments and the arrival of Santa Claus with presents will close the afternoon. This party is for all children of Columbia of grade school age or younger. The parents are also invited to come and see the children enjoy themselves.

Special music is being prepared for next Sunday by the local choir, and in the evening a carol and candle light service will be held.

FRENCH POLICE HOLD AMERICAN AS LEADER OF ESPIONAGE RING

International Ring
The revelation that an international band reported to include Italians, Yugo-Slavs, Czechoslovaks, Scandinavians and Frenchmen—operating with women accomplices—was the culmination of eight months of tracing suspects by 300 crack detectives and secret service men after they had received a secret tip.

Moise Salzman, 30, ostensibly a student in the maternity ward of a Paris hospital, and his wife, Chana, 25, were the only prisoners whose names had become known early today.

The two had been under surveillance since last April when, police said, they came to Paris from Germany. Authorities said they confiscated a quantity of documents in the couple's room.

Additional information leading up to the arrests was reported to have been obtained from two of 55 Italians rounded up last week ago on charges of widespread robberies in different parts of France.

Salzman was arrested, it was learned, by ten police inspectors who waited in his rooming house, patronized by foreigners, and seized him when he returned from the hospital.

Buying Maps
A declaration that a German espionage service was buying maps of the fortifications along the Rhine and samples of French weapons at high prices was published in France in October.

A woman known as "La Belle Sophie" was arrested on a charge of possessing a machine gun stolen by a French soldier, in another incident of the many reported in recent months, in November.

Her fate and that of eleven others arrested in the same affair was kept secret.

Reports have been published that Nazi headquarters at Saarbrücken was the center of espionage activities on the frontier.

Spying in the Alpine fortifications along the Italian border also has been openly suspected since the mysterious suicide of a French non-commissioned officer at Nice in November.

Like the Mafia
The newspaper Petit Parisien, asserting the espionage organization had been broken up with the arrest of the suspects, described the syndicate as a sort of Mafia, skillfully patterned after the famous Sicilian society, with its members unknown to each other and reporting direct to a chief.

The arrests were made in Paris and in French provincial localities, involving a number of French Nationals. The charges against them were not made public.

Police said the gang was working for no particular nation, but was an international spy organization of novel character, of which the syndicate was a part.

Authorities withheld detailed information, as other arrests were said to be pending in addition to those already in custody.

FORMER AVIATOR
New York, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce said today that a limited commercial flying license was issued to Robert G. Switz, 25 Broad street, on January 1, 1933. The license number is 13,545.

Paris police described the Robert Switz held by them as a suspected member of a spy ring as a former aviator.

The Aeronautical Chamber had no information to indicate that the holder of the Department of Commerce license was the man held in Paris.

HALE'S EMPLOYEES IN SALES BATTLE

Business Shows Fine Increase As Teams Contest For First Place.

Employees at Hale's department store are battling for top place in the number of sales credited to the Red and Green teams. The Greens under Mrs. Anna Kellum, of the hoisery department, are in the lead now with the Reds under Clifton L. Potter giving them a close fight. And the contest is showing results on the sales record. Last Saturday's business at Hale's was 26 per cent better than a year ago and the general Christmas business is 20 per cent better. A dinner will be given the winning team.

Many shoppers are evidently waiting until the last few days to do their shopping. Hale's foresaw this possibility and their stock is in good shape for the late purchaser.

Santa Claus is at the store every day and with each 25 cent purchase from Santa's surprise store is given a ticket for a chance on the three fine free gifts to be awarded Saturday. The first prize for the girl winner will be a doll and carriage and if a boy winner the prize will be an Erector set. The second and third prizes are table and chair, train and doll house and wagon.

REPORT VESSEL AFIRE OFF SCOTLAND'S COAST

Boston, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The Swedish-American line motor-ship Rydboholm bound for Boston, is afire about 500 miles southwest of Scotland, according to a radio message received today by the vessel's local agents.

The Rydboholm, a fast freighter launched about a month ago, is carrying a general cargo and mail, but no passengers. She left Gothenberg, Dec. 15. The position given by her captain placed her 504 miles southwest of Rockall, a small island off Scotland.

The Rydboholm's master said the fire was confined to Number 1 hold, in a shipment of matches, but that the vessel was in no immediate danger.

The freighter was due in Boston Christmas day. This fact, together with the position given by her skipper and her sailing date, indicated to shipping circles here that she may have put back. Otherwise she should have been much farther along her passage.

The ship is on her second voyage since launching. She is equipped with the most modern equipment for fighting fire at sea.

LINDBERGH'S HOME: 'NOTHING TO SAY'

Rush Home To Baby They Had Not Seen In Last Five Months.

New York, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The flying Lindberghs have come home to their baby.

And now Anne, Lindbergh won't have to wireless signals and study navigation charts. She can listen, instead, to the baby words her 16 months old son Jon has learned in the five months she and her noted husband, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, were flying over a large part of the world.

When the Lindberghs started on their aerial voyage of discovery last July, Baby Jon could only laugh and gurgle. Now, he knows words like "Mommie" and "Daddy."

The first thing the Lindberghs have to do is get ready for Christmas. They brought little back with them when they ended their flight. Know Baby Stories.

If little Jon Lindbergh could understand what it's all about, his parents would have a plentiful supply of stories to tell about their journey.

They visited thirty-one countries or possessions and covered approximately 28,000 miles, or an area covering roughly one quarter of the earth.

The flight ended yesterday with a hop from Charleston, S. C. Colonel Lindbergh brought his low winged monoplane down at College Point, Queens, after first flying over the home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh, in Englewood, N. J., where the Lindbergh baby has been living.

Nothing to Say
Colonel Lindbergh would say nothing about his flight. After he and Mrs. Lindbergh drank some coffee, they left in a hired automobile for Englewood, stopping briefly in New York at the home of Colonel and Mrs. Henry Breckinridge.

Colonel Lindbergh made his latest flight principally to make a survey for the establishment of commercial aviation lines and expects to present the results of the trip shortly to Pan-American Airways, for whom he conducted the survey.

It was reported that next summer Colonel Lindbergh will probably make another trip into the Arctic.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 20.

G. O. P. IN CONGRESS

Most thinking Republicans, we feel sure, will agree with Senator Walcott that it would be exceedingly bad politics for their party to enter the forthcoming session of Congress with the policy of obstruction to the recovery program as its animating purpose.

In the first place it is by no means certain that the old alignment of Republican and Democratic parties, as they have been known in the past, will not be replaced, before another major election, by a new division of the country's electorate into two great groups, liberal and conservative; and even if there is no such formal alignment it is as likely as not that there will be important shiftings within the old parties. Merely because for less than three-quarters of a century the dominant political divisions have been Republican and Democratic there is no guarantee that, in this time of innovation and reshaping of economic thought, such a political set-up will continue.

In the next place this country is an immensely long way from being out of the woods of the depression. It is going to require a great deal of co-operation on the part of a great many elements in our population to get us out. Perhaps the present leadership, even if heartily supported, will not succeed in showing the way to security. But at all events nothing could be surer than that squabbling and fighting or even continual fault-finding in the ranks will not contribute to the chances of success—and the people are fully aware of that fact.

In the third place no opposition to the administration's policies can possibly be successful in the winning of popular approval unless it is predicated on an alternative promising something besides a return to a system that has been tried and found wanting.

This is a Republican newspaper. It has no more faith in the superior integrity, wisdom or capacity of the Democratic party at this moment than it has ever had in the past. It has as much faith in the integrity, wisdom and capacity of the Republican party to adjust itself to the immense responsibilities of this crisis as it has had in any other. But it does realize this:

That the timing of the economic crash—which was no more the fault of Republicans than of Democrats but of delusions under which both parties and practically all the people labored—was such as to bring about a political and economic revolution. As the party which happened to be in was the Republican party the inevitable result was that the job of recovery was entrusted to the Democratic party. If the Democrats had happened to be in power when the crash came the recovery administration would, just as inevitably, have been Republican.

Also, the recovery administration, of whatever party, unless it was an administration of madmen, inevitably would have been compelled by the force of circumstances to adopt some such revolutionary measures as those now being tried. That the methods in all cases would have been the same is most unlikely; that the same aims could have been pursued much more skillfully and with less confusion by more practiced hands is altogether possible. But it is sheer nonsense to pretend that if the similarly timed recovery administration had been Republican it would not have been compelled by sheer necessity to experiment with much the same principles as enter into Mr. Roosevelt's experimentation.

So it is as futile as it is senseless to believe that there is any political profit for the Republican party to devote itself, in the forthcoming session, to mere partisan sniping at the whole recovery plan or its major principles. We have already seen the effects of that sort of thing in the fruitless campaign of nagging that has been carried on by a section of the daily and periodical press—without in the very least obtaining the desired reaction from the people.

The Republican minority in Congress will have, in all probability, a very fine opportunity to prove its capacity and win the renewed confidence of the people. There has never been a session in which there was greater need of first-class constructive statesmanship than in the one pending. The majority is unwieldy and—we might as well be frank—contains many inferior men.

In no other way but by contributing freely and earnestly of its intelligence, its courage and its experience to the success of national recovery—by making that its one great object—can the Republican party in Congress prove to the people the extent to which they must still rely on it. That is a thousand times bigger and worthier game than purposeless "smearing" and nagging.

COMPARISON

In conformity with the mandate to the Hitler government in the terrorized general election recently, Prussia yesterday abolished all voting, and the finish of even a pretense of popular participation in government throughout Germany will soon have been completed.

In view of the situation of absolutism thus created, it is worth while to consider the state of Russia in the days before the World War when that country was regarded as the most conspicuous example of autocratic government on earth. Czarist Russia had a real parliament, consisting of the Imperial Council and the Duma. To be sure, it was not very powerful in civil affairs and it had no powers at all over the army. Also the election laws were so rigged that only a very small proportion of the Duma members and none of those of the Imperial Council could come from the working classes or the peasants. But to such extent as these classes were allowed representation they were thoroughly protected in the making of choices. Elections were by secret ballot and honestly conducted. So that always in the Duma there were voices representative of the masses and always there were liberal and even radical members.

At no time after Czarist Russia was granted a constitution were the political rights of the people so completely stamped out as they are at this moment in Germany. Compared with the Germans of the present hour the pre-war Russians were free and self-governing.

No one now believes that a government like that of Russia could long have continued, World War or no World War. How, then, there can be any real belief that the present government of Germany can long continue is beyond understanding.

"FLIGHTS"

While no announcement has been made by the Treasury Department, the Associated Press states that the government's foreign purchases of gold, heretofore negligible, have reached some $35,000,000 in the last two weeks.

We heard considerable, a little while ago, about a "fight from the dollar"; about American wealth being sent abroad for investment in foreign currencies, foreign securities, foreign properties. Does this sudden willingness on the part of Europeans to part with their gold in exchange for dollar debentures of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation indicate a "flight from gold"? We've heard about "flights" from the franc, the pound sterling, the dollar, the bogey man and the wrath to come, but not hitherto, from gold?

Why not? Isn't there just as much sense in the use of the term in one money connection as in the other? Why should a European individual or bank swap gold for American paper money unless he believes the paper money is a better thing to own than the gold?

LINDBERGHS

Everyone in the United States is glad that the Lindberghs are safely home again. Do we guess wrong if we conclude that Mrs. Lindbergh, homesick and weary and declaring in Paris that "once was enough" to fly overseas, has gained perhaps a little more in the admiration of the American people than has her famous husband as a result of this journey?

Mrs. Lindbergh, by her gameness in "sticking", showed herself to be the thoroughbred that she is. Farhappier they are wrong about it but it is to be suspected that a good many American men are privately of the opinion that the little woman was called on to pay a pretty high price for another feather in the Colonel's cap.

However, all's well that ends well. And Mrs. Lindbergh doubtless has lost none of her faith that her husband is the greatest man in the world.

INSULL INDICTS OTHERS

Samuel Insull, according to dispatches from Greece, cannot understand why his popularity in America has vanished.

"Why is it that everyone in America seems to be against me?" he asked a press correspondent the other day. "What have I done that every banker and business magnate in America has not done in the course of business?"

Offhand, one would be inclined to answer that with the words, "Quite a lot." At any rate, that is the way one would like to answer. For, if the practices by which the Insull pyramid was built up and then undermined are, as Insull says, common to "every banker and business magnate in America," there are more things wrong with us than we have let ourselves suppose.

Health and Diet Advice
 By Dr. Frank McCoy

MANY PEOPLE NOW HAVE "TIRED NERVES."

A month after an earthquake in California, thousands of people were complaining to doctors of nausea, faintness, sleeplessness, and twitching nerves. Although there was little danger of earthquakes, they were still suffering from "earthquake shock." All over the country, people are now suffering from similar nervous symptoms, which might be said to be due to "depression-shock."

In today's article I am going to tell you some of the signs that your nerves are on a strain and also tell you some of the causes of nervousness.

Since "tired nerves" are now very prevalent, many people are noting symptoms which to them are very alarming, and which may mean little except that the nerves need to be re-built with rest and proper food. Some of the early symptoms of nervous strain are: a peculiar sensation in the skin such as a tight, drawn feeling, or perhaps a sensation of chilliness; or the patient may note the twitching of a muscle, or trembling of the legs; his nerves are "jumpy" and he feels that he will easily fly to pieces. He may be faint or dizzy or his vision may blur. Very often the nerves of digestion are upset and the patient develops the symptoms of "nervous stomach" including nausea, gas, and stomach irritation, or he may develop "nervous heart trouble" and finds his heart pounding unexpectedly or feels a flutter in his pulse. He has a hard time getting to sleep. His elimination is delayed, and altogether he presents a picture of a man with nothing wrong with his organs, except that they refuse to function normally.

A person with frayed nerves quickly loses control over his emotions and is irritated by small annoyances. He is beset with destructive emotions such as doubt, fear or anxiety. One of the surest signs of unsteady nerves is seen when the patient begins to fear insignificant symptoms—he translates a slight pain in the side into appendicitis, he believes his indigestion means he has stomach ulcers, and he may develop a morbid dread of cancer.

At this stage the patient has not developed any serious symptoms and is far from any real danger of a mental or nervous breakdown. By immediately beginning a common-sense treatment, he can overcome all of his alarming symptoms.

The great majority of nervous patients can remember a time when they were not nervous. If they will find out what caused them to become nervous and will then remove these causes, they can return to the same steady, stable nervous state which they previously enjoyed.

A very important cause of nervousness is wrong food, as the wrong diet will produce toxic wastes in the body which may irritate the sensitive nerve fibers. By changing to good food habits the nerves are helped in three ways; first, they receive the mineral elements such as calcium, sulphur and potassium needed for building healthy nerves; second, the right diet improves the digestion and this assists in quieting the nerves; third, the irritating wastes due to wrong food are no longer produced in the body.

A further cause of nerve irritation is constipation. One who is the victim of intestinal sluggishness poisons himself and the nerves frequently suffer as a result. An additional cause of nervousness is the presence of physical derangements such as rectal troubles, eyestrain, prostatic disorders in men, and diseases of women. When these are present, a complete relief from nervousness can only be secured through the correct treatment to overcome the specific disorder.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 (If You Are a "Sleepyhead")

Question: High school girl asks:

"What would you advise for a girl that wanted to sleep all the time?"

Answer: If eight hours of sleep do not refresh you, it is because your system is burdened with poisons from bad habits of eating, and from the effects of too much study and not enough physical exercise. If a physician's examination has failed to disclose any definite disease, you can rest assured that you need a thorough bodily housecleaning which will eliminate the morbid material in your blood stream with which you are burdened.

(Cataract on the Eye)

Question: C. W. S. writes: "Will you please tell me what is the cause of a cataract on the left eye? Haven't had it long. Would like to know if there is an absolute cure without an operation. Am fifty-five years old."

Answer: A cataract can sometimes be stopped by the fasting cure and the wearing of properly fitted glasses. Most cataracts would sever or start if the affected eye did not wait too long to put on glasses. Continued eye strain brings about an inflammation of the eye which is the first cause of cataract. After that, injudicious living feeds the trouble, and if proper treatment is not taken in time, an operation is the only thing that will restore the sight.

(Phoneme Phoneme)

Question: X. Y. Z. asks: "Will you please tell me the principal source of phosphorus poisoning?"

Answer: Phosphorus poisoning is caused principally from using phosphorus which have undergone a certain degree of putrefaction. This would include all of the meats, also the dairy products and fish.

(Balling Between Meals)

Question: Reader asks: "May fruit or ice cream be eaten between meals without interfering with digestion?"

Answer: Fruit and ice cream must both be eaten in moderation. About 100 grams of fruit is about as much as a man or woman should eat in a meal. It is combined with other foods with which they are balanced.

THE HIGH SCHOOL WORLD

Vol. I, No. 28.

Wednesday, December 29, 1933.

Compiled by Students of Manchester High School

Miss Helen Foster, Editor

1933 IS RECORD YEAR IN HEALTH

State Department's Christmas Bulletin Announces New Low Death Rate.

From the viewpoint of health, 1933 will be a record year in that the death rates from diseases which only a quarter of a century ago resped a drastic harvest among Connecticut citizens will have been cut to the lowest levels in history, the State Department of Health declared today in the annual Christmas number of its weekly bulletin.

In the bulletin, the department extended Christmas and New Year greetings to all friends in the State who through tireless efforts in the cause of public health have saved lives and prevented illness and contributed to the general morale in spite of the depressing influences that have prevailed and expressed the hope that "this splendid service may continue and bear fruitful results in the coming year."

Under the caption, "Looking back over the year," the bulletin said:

"The year 1933 has been remarkable. It will be a record year in all probability. New low death rates may be expected for the general death rate, tuberculosis, diphtheria, typhoid fever and probably infant mortality.

"Slowly, but none the less certainly, typhoid fever and diphtheria have been so far concerned that in 1933 less than 2 persons in 100,000 of the population will die of diseases that a quarter of a century ago took upwards of 85 lives in 100,000 combining these two causes.

"Connecticut has been fortunate in its low rates for other diseases of childhood, measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, and during the first ten months there were only 3 deaths from poliomyelitis compared with 8 in 1932, another year when this disease was not epidemic as it was in 1931.

"Early in the year influenza showed signs of becoming epidemic but rapidly reached a peak and definitely declined in the middle of February. As a matter of fact the deaths from this disease in January and February equaled exactly the number of influenza deaths during the ten months of 1932.

"The absence of extensive epidemics however, should not lead to false security. Security is attained and maintained only by eternal vigilance. The lesson of public health must be repeated over and over."

Overnight A. P. News

Bangor, Me.—Closer cooperation between medicine and dentistry to bridge the gap now separating those two branches of medical science urged by Dr. Leroy M. S. Miner, dean of the Harvard Dental School, Springfield, Mass.—Springfield police begin drive against local autoists who register their cars in Connecticut to avoid paying Connecticut license fees.

Boston—Mrs. Bertha K. Corey, widow of Thomas K. Corey, wealthy Boston merchant reported missing to police.

Soccer football is being played one night a week in the San Francisco Seal Stadium. Officials of the city association report fair attendance.

Otis Kerr Prominent Prep School Athlete

Otis Kerr, acclaimed by many as one of the best High School shortstops developed in Connecticut, graduated from the Manchester High School in 1931. While at the local school, he was an outstanding athlete, featuring particularly in baseball and basketball.

Upon graduating, "Buddie" immediately enrolled in Governor Dummer Academy in South Bryfield, in the northern corner of Massachusetts. This institution was named in honor of the Hon. William Dummer, Lieutenant, Governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, in 1768, when the school was founded. The actual homestead of the Governor is still on the campus having been built about the year 1723. This residence is now used as the headmaster's home.

During Kerr's first year at the Academy he selected such difficult subjects as German, French, English and physics. This year he is taking a mixed commercial and academic course including bookkeeping, typing, English and physiology. Being a born sportsman, Buddie is continuing to exhibit his athletic ability at Dummer, having been captain and shortstop of the varsity baseball team and forward on the school's basketball team during the past season. Kerr was elected captain of the baseball team because of his excellent spirit and ability to hit consistently. These two traits

FORMER TEACHER TELLS OF MAINE

Miss Marion Dorward, former music instructor at M. H. S., is at the present time teaching in Machias, Maine, at the Washington State Normal School. In a letter recently written to one of her many friends here in Manchester, Miss Dorward described Machias as being the "jumping-off-place."

"Machias is so far east that the sun sets a half hour earlier than Washington, D. C., and Calais, where clocks have to be set an hour ahead, is only thirty miles away. Bangor, the nearest city, is 100 miles distant. We are on United States Route 1 from the New Brunswick line to St. Petersburg, Florida.

"The country in the vicinity of Machias is mostly blueberry land, which looks like uncultivated waste ground, because the bushes are less than a foot high and look like a scrub growth."

She says that these bushes are burned over every two years and that in the summer, people say, the fields are as blue as indigo and in the fall as red as fire. About seventy-five per cent of all the blueberries in the country come from Machias and neighboring towns.

In her letter Miss Dorward writes of the "miles and miles of virgin forest" which have good roads leading through them "for it is the land of tourists and of hunting." She speaks about the many autos which come into town with beautiful deer lashed to the running boards and she goes on to say that even the faculty men have been taking afternoons off to go hunting.

Miss Dorward speaks about the drinking water coming from the river and most of the time looking like strong tea or ginger ale for, while it is pure, it is stained by the mixture of roots and leaves as it rushes along.

During the summer there is a great deal of fog. On one foggy day, she was told, two men were aiming a house. When they came to the edge of the roof, they noticed that the nails went in quite easily, but not until the weather cleared did they discover that they had shingled two feet out into the fog!

The reporter tells the type of yarn Maine has cultivated for many years. During the past month, Machias had a goodly share of severe cold and snow, with the temperature jumping from sixty degrees down to eight degrees and back again. When New York had a temperature of thirty-five degrees, it was fifty degrees in Machias with a thunder shower during the night—and so it goes!

During the Christmas holidays Miss Dorward expects to be in New York city. She finds the people in Maine very friendly and is extremely happy in her new position.

GIVE A MYSTERY STORY

With the approaching Christmas season, comes the well-known Christmas "rush." Some people buy their gifts well in advance while others wait until the last minute. There is a certain fascination in late Christmas shopping. Stores are crowded and people jostle each other and do not mind for they are buying gifts and thinking of the happiness these gifts will bring. The question is almost everyone's mind is "What shall I give Mother, Dad, Sarah, John or Susie?"

It is always a good idea to give people (especially at a time like this) something that they need or something that they have been wanting for a long time—if it isn't too expensive. But if one is at a loss and is wracking his brains about what to give Mary or Tommy, how about a mystery story?

Most of us have heard, at some time or other, of the dreaded disease which does not permit the blood to circulate through the body. This sickness a person can bleed to death from a mere scratch. One can't walk heedlessly and bump into persons and objects, for this contact is apt to irritate the skin and the person affected will bleed internally. This subject gives the popular mystery story a new twist in "Have-He-Carcase" by Dorothy Sawyer.

The man's detective story writer is H. C. McNeil, who writes under the name of "Berger." He tells about the adventures of Bulldog Drummond who is never happy unless he is in the middle of a case.

"The Mover; the Street" gives us the story of Christ's arrest and trial. Frank Morrison, using the methods of a modern psychological detective, delves into the mystery of that Saturday night on which the body of Jesus disappeared from his tomb. His grand presence in the tomb and when Mary Magdalene who, with two other women, went to anoint his body and reached the tomb, she found a young man dressed in white seated on the tomb. He could not possibly have moved the large stone; but who did move the stone?

"I took an unknown man, R. E. Spencer, to write the ghostliest of ghost stories. 'The Lady Who Came to Stay' is a story of a lady who died and although dead, still lived on the presence apparent to those still living. It is interesting to note that this novel was accepted immediately by the first publisher who read it."

HILLS SUGGESTS SCHOOL STORES

High School Graduates Tell How Students Would Profit By Experiment.

William Hills, '27, motor-technician of airplane engines at the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Company, in a personal interview, gave two original suggestions regarding High School stores.

William suggested the establishment of a High school store. This store could be a market for students who raised farm products. Prospective buyers of the future could do the buying of general foodstuffs. Art students could have charge of writing displays, advertising, an attractive arrangement of goods. The bookkeeping class could keep the ledger, and the salesmanship class do the selling. The whole High school could support the profit in its balance sheet. This experiment would offer interesting and beneficial experience. Today, many colleges have their own student stores.

Secondly, it would be advantageous, both as a useful pastime of leisure and a guide in choosing vocations, to have a group united as an outside club and go on tours of inspection to several different types of factories and offices and to various educational places of interest. This would afford the opportunity for students to become acquainted with the business and social aspects of working conditions. It would give them a chance to make their choice between one type of occupation and another. They include subjects which would direct the student to their chosen field of work. It would be possible to give lectures to the student body about these trips and stimulate enthusiastic interest.

William stated a fact that can't be repeated too often. If students only realized what the aid from efforts in High school will mean to them after they're out, they would refrain from misdoings and study much harder," he said.

SIXTY KIDDIES ATTEND GIRL RESERVES' PARTY

Santa Claus Appears And Gives Candy To Needy Children Of Town.

"Gee Whiz! Santa Claus has got shoes on," was the surprised comment of one youngster at the Christmas party, given by the Girl Reserves on Friday, December 15, to over sixty needy children.

A list of names of children from three to six was procured from the town list of needy families. These names were distributed among the girls, who were responsible for getting the children there, for taking them home, and for bringing a present for each of them. Some girls brought their own little friends, who lived nearer to them.

A few of the children were timid at first but the feeling wore off, after the games had started. The girls took part wholeheartedly in the games with the children, playing "Ticket Taker," "Punch in the Deli," and other childish games.

A little after five o'clock, Santa Claus arrived to give out the presents. Russell Wright, teacher of bookkeeping, was a capital Santa Claus and made a big hit with the kiddies.

Each child received a present, a bag of candy, and a Santa Claus made of an apple body and a marshmallow head with cloves as eyes and mouth.

The committee for the party was: Aimee Bailey, chairman; Olga Krawch, secretary; Marjorie Akridge and Evelyn Beaupre.

HANG NEW CURTAIN IN ASSEMBLY HALL

Green Drapery Will Be Run On Ball Bearing Track At High School.

A new curtain for the assembly hall stage!

Joy arises from all alumni and undergraduates who have had occasion to use the stage in the past six years.

Farewell to the limp, faded folds which have sagged across the proscenium arch. Farewell to the breath-taking uncertainty of wondering at which crucial moment the curtain will fall to open or close.

The new curtain, already ordered by vote of the School Board, will be of soft green velour lined with gold. It will open and close with decorous ease because a ball-bearing track will be installed to run it on.

The charm of our still-beautiful assembly hall will be greatly enhanced by a suitable stage curtain.

TRADE SCHOOL SCORES OVER WATKINSON HIGH

Takes Measure Of Hartford Quintet By Score Of 30-23 In Fast Game.

Coach Schober's charges finally came through victoriously after a recent losing streak when they posed out the Watkinson School of Hartford to the tune of 30-23 in a feverish onslaught at the School street Rec. Friday afternoon.

In the opening session, Watkinson unleashed a fast, snappy passing attack as Manchester skillfully felt out their opponents' weaknesses but splendid teamwork and spectacular shooting by E. Anthony soon netted the Watkinson raggers an advantage of 16-12 at halftime.

A furious onslaught in the third quarter found the Traders clicking at a rapid pace, taking the lead for the first time during the encounter, thus changing the score to 21-18. Watkinson made a brief threat at the beginning of the home stretch but the Trade School five bore down, almost turning the game into a riot. After a spirited rally in the deciding heat of the contest, the Mechanics emerged the victor, downing Watkinson 30 to 23.

Noveck, Kish and Phelps were the leaders in scoring honors for the locals while E. Anthony, Niles and A. Anthony were outstanding for Watkinson.

The Watkinson quintet is coached by "Cap" Eisell, who is popular in local basketball and tennis circles. A crowd of approximately 200 spectators witnessed Friday's tilt.

STUDENT SELLING SHOES TELLS HER EXPERIENCES

Work in a shoe store is hard but interesting, says Althea Shortz, a senior, who is employed in a local shoe store Thursday evenings and Saturdays. Miss Shortz says: "Although the left foot is usually the larger, the right shoe is always tried on first. The reason for this is that the shoes are put in the box so that the right shoe is the one to be taken out first. Many people laugh if you tell them that one foot is larger than the other."

"Facts ago it wasn't a hard task to sell shoes to ladies and growing girls. The shoes were then made for comfort and wear. Today they are made for style. Girls cramp their feet into small shoes because they

CHENEY DESIGNER LIKES HIS DUTIES

Method Of Designing And Qualifications For Work Are Explained.

One of the ten designers in the designing department, located in the Cheney Brothers weaving mill, says that he likes his position because it is a trade that offers a chance for advancement in designing, art and other artistic work.

In this department the designers paint designs on large, ruled drawing paper. After these designs are completed, they are tied together like a music roll. The card-cutters send the cards, after they are out, to the looms. The cards go around the Jacquard machine on the top of the loom and lift up a harness which picks up the different threads on the loom making the design on the cloth. An analysis of the cloth is also conducted in this department.

ment. This analysis consists of finding what kind of a warp and what kind of filling the cloth is made up of, the number of picks per inch, the number of ends per inch, and the number of repeats on the cloth.

Most of the designs are made for upholstery, ties, coat linings and dress goods.

A High school training is not needed by a designer. If a High school course is taken by a student who desires to be a designer, courses in art would be very helpful. The best training for this occupation would be either to take a course in some art school or to enter some designing shop as an apprentice and learn the trade by personal experience and training.

A person desiring to enter this profession must be neat, have good nerves, and good eyesight, as sometimes the work becomes tedious and nerve-racking because of frequent use of electric lamps.

NEW YEAR'S EVE DANCE TO BE WELL ATTENDED

Colonial Club Orchestra Is Secured For Tall Cedars Affair At Country Club.

A large attendance is expected at the New Year's Eve dinner dance to be held in the Manchester Country Club under the auspices of the Tall Cedars Club. Dinner will be served at ten o'clock Sunday night and dancing will begin about midnight and continue into the early hours of Monday.

The Colonial Club orchestra of Hartford has been secured for dance music and Ray Warren, chairman of the general committee, believes this will prove a big attraction. This band plays regularly at the Colonial Club and was available because of the fact that the club will not be open on Sunday.

Caterer Jere Williams will serve a turkey dinner with all the usual "fixings."

Those desirous of attending this party, the only public dance in town so far advertised for Sunday night, December 31, should get in touch with Ray Warren.

OPEN FORUM

PRaises FIREMEN
Manchester Evening Herald, Mr. Editor:

May I have a small space in your widely read paper so that I can express my feelings toward Chief Fay and the boys of Hose Company No. 3 and the many volunteers for the splendid work they are doing with the toys that have been received at the State Theater, where Mr. Hoover, the manager so kindly offered his theater to the many boys and girls one day last week. For the past few years these boys of No. 3 have been very busy during the coming holiday and it seems that they have received but very little credit for the work they do. I was a visitor there a few days ago and it was beyond my expectations to see the hundreds and hundreds of broken toys which are to be repaired and painted, then distributed to the many youngsters of the town. There were all sorts of toys and it is beyond belief to see, what wonderful work they are doing. One can hardly realize how they can repair some of the toys that came to them in a terrible looking condition and with the aid of patience and hard work they make them look as if they were new. One only has to go to the firehouse on Spruce street and see how busy each and every one of the boys are, both in the day time and at night. Already there are some 400 toys ready for distribution and with only a few more days they will have completed another of the greatest undertakings ever accomplished for the youngsters of this town.

Not only do they do this splendid work for the kiddies, but also the difficult work they are taking when answering the fire alarm on these days and night. There are many people of the town who do not realize the dangerousness there is in obstructing the way for the fire apparatus when going to a fire. Lately there have been many fires in town and it is only too true that there are very few people who care to see that the right of way is given. If the people would only realize the danger there is when answering an alarm whether it be in the day or night. It may mean the saving of one's home or life or it may mean the saving of a life to answer the call. I hope that the people of the town will use better judgment when they hear the fire whistle and just keep to the curb for it may mean one of your own children or your own home. Give the boys who answer these calls the right of way and save homes and lives.

Thank you Mr. Editor,
Harry B. Kohls.

copies that one might unashamedly even to the present revision, one will find listed various kinds of remedies which the public will classify as liquors. Today there is listed in the pharmacopoeia whiskey—a description of it and the degree of purity which it must attain in order to be merchandised in a pharmacy. During the whole period of prohibition the sole source of release of all intoxicating liquors has been the pharmacies of the United States.

"I have personally heard Dr. James A. Moran, Federal custodian of all of the industrial alcohol outlets for the United States, say in the last five national conventions of the druggists of the country, that out of all of the hundreds of thousands of permittees in this country, living in sections which had little or no sympathy with the prohibition law, and operating among racial groups which felt little need for such law, yet out of this entire group less than one-tenth of one per cent were known, persistent violators of the law.

"In the state of Connecticut, whereas in the nation the only legitimate stores carrying intoxicating liquor during the prohibition period have been the druggists, the listing of druggists who have been cited by the federal prohibition department at Boston over the entire period of prohibition enforcement, has been indeed nominal, a tribute to the profession of pharmacy and its desire to co-operate with the government in the matter of alcohol control.

"Now we are faced with a situation that after 14 or more years of such custody with such a splendid record, we find the group of pharmacists, who know the pitfalls of prohibition, who know the pitfalls of the liquor they have had and will have to sell, who know the reliable distillers of the country and the 'gyp' houses to refrain from, we find them now being denied the right to continue to merchandise the products they so carefully guarded, in most every instance during the prohibition period, and the new group of merchandise, gathered from all walks of life, with little knowledge of the products they sell, other than the label that the manufacturer or distiller affixes to the bottles, and the price list he submits, we find them offering merchandise in package stores, the potency of which exceeds many of the medicines and remedies on the shelves of these self-same pharmacists; and the pharmacists standing by unable to offer merchandise which he, through years of knowledge of brands and distillers, is unable to offer.

"The morale of the pharmacies in the state has given serious moments to the officers of the State Pharmaceutical Association, and the members of the Board of Pharmacy Commissioners, to the extent that in addition to the confining rules contained in the Liquor Control Act the Board of Pharmacy Commissioners, by its own volition, submitted to each druggist in this state a privilege to intoxicating liquors, an affidavit which, in turn, was notarized by the applicant, wherein he agreed to such rule that he would not sell liquor on Sundays, or on holidays such as Christmas, New Year's etc., that he would cease selling liquor at 11 o'clock at night and before 8 a. m., of each business day—all of these regulations in direct opposition to the permission implied in the law which literally allows a druggist to sell liquor 24 hours a day seven days a week.

"Speaking along the lines of morale it is a simple matter for the package store to keep up its morale, for the reason that the law compels it to close its doors at 6 o'clock at night and on Sundays. Now take up the situation of a pharmacy operating from 8 o'clock in the morning until 11 or 12 o'clock at night and seven days a week.

"These pharmacists could and would display liquors, if compelled to operate under a package license, from 8 o'clock until 6 o'clock, on days in which the sale of liquors was legal, but unfortunately those stores remain open many hours after the package store. The temptation to sell might creep in. The customer might provoke undesired arguments in high grade stores privileged under the law to merchandise these liquors during legitimate hours.

SITUATIONS MIGHT ARISE THAT WOULD LOSE MANY FINE CUSTOMERS FOR MANY STORES BECAUSE OF THE DESIRE OF THE PHARMACISTS TO OBEY THE LAW AGAINST SELLING LIQUORS AFTER LEGAL HOURS, AND THUS OFFEND A PERSISTENT CUSTOMER WHO COULD AND WOULD NOT UNDERSTAND THE OBLIGATIONS IMPOSED. THE SERIOUSNESS OF THESE OBLIGATIONS, AND THE RESULTING BURDEN IF VIOLATED, WEIGH MUCH MORE HEAVILY UPON THE PHARMACIST THAN THE PACKAGE STORE DEALER.

"This is due to the fact that in the event of a sustained violation on the part of the pharmacist, he not only loses his bond and his fee for permission to sell, but the Board of Pharmacy has no other recourse except to immediately suspend and permanently his pharmacist's license, which is the means of his livelihood.

"The pharmacists of the state, as cognizant of these conditions; they are well organized, they are of an unusually high grade type of merchandiser in this state and, with this bit of pertinent knowledge of all that a violation involves, and with their agreement to adhere to the rules laid down by the Board of Pharmacy Commissioner, and with their experience gained over years of prohibition, they rightfully feel of much better qualified to merchandise liquor than the average man who today is selling it over the counters of the package store.

"A rather serious situation has arisen in the state wherein many of the legitimate pharmacists find themselves out of alcohol for the making of many of the tinctures so essential to the maintenance of their prescription department. The law is interpreted by many of these pharmacists as saying to them that they can obtain their alcohol for prescription work only from duly licensed wholesale houses, this license issuance coming from the liquor control board, and permission to sell these pharmacists to be allowed only when said pharmacy can produce evidence of permission to show purchase from the Liquor Control Board. A 'flu' epidemic like that of a few years ago would indeed create a serious situation in Connecticut under the present tieup.

O'DUFFY'S HEARING IS AGAIN DELAYED

formidable array of counsel, including Patrick McMilligan, former minister of external affairs, and the general's chief counsel, J. A. Costello.

Courtroom Crowded
The courtroom was crowded, with many prominent politicians standing in the space reserved for the public.

Costello read an affidavit of the driver of a motor car in which O'Duffy, Kilcoyne and Sullivan traveled to Westport on the day of their arrest.

The affidavit declared that all three wore serge or tweed coats with overcoats and that although their shirt collars were blue only a small portion was visible at the neck.

Police halted them one mile from Westport, the affidavit continued, declaring that no one wearing a blue shirt could pass.

At that, according to the affidavit, the group crossed the fields toward Westport by another route.

O'Duffy was arrested when he stopped to speak to some people, but was borne away toward the speaking platform by the throng only to be taken in custody again later when he attempted to address the meeting.

Kilcoyne and Sullivan were arrested under similar circumstances, the affidavit said, adding that no police officer had suggested that the meeting was illegal or had made any attempt to proclaim it so.

JESSE L. LIVERMORE REPORTED MISSING

he always telephoned if he was unexpectedly detained.

Police began a check of hospitals on the chance Livermore had met with an accident. Livermore who is 56 years old, has figured prominently in the news for many years. Most recently, he was named in a $250,000 breach of promise suit brought by Miss Naida Krasanova in October of this year. The case is still pending.

Second Marriage
In September last year his first wife, Mrs. Dorothy E. Livermore obtained a Reno divorce, and last March he married Mrs. Harriet Metz Noble of Omaha, Nebraska. It was she who reported his absence.

Livermore, his wife and another couple were the victims of a sensational robbery in 1927 in which two "gentlemen" burglars entered the speculator's Great Neck, L. I., home and made off with close to $100,000 in jewels and cash.

Arthur Barry, notorious jewel thief, confessed and said his companion was James W. Boston Billingsly. Monahan, Monahan was arrested in Connecticut and he and Barry were sent to prison.

KIDNAPING THEORY
Washington, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The Justice Department's Bureau of Investigation today began an inquiry into the disappearance of Jesse Livermore, noted Stock Market operator.

The investigation bureau, which enforces Federal kidnaping laws, was notified of Livermore's absence by the New York office, and immediately took up the case in collaboration with New York police. Officials of the bureau had only scant information on the case and were unable to volunteer any immediate hypothesis. Asked directly whether they considered it kidnaping, officials only replied their information was too meagre to judge.

The report to Washington from New York justice agents was by telephone and said only that Metropolitan police were seeking Livermore. The New York office was told to give its full assistance.

Those in charge here were unable to indicate immediately the extent of the investigation, which apparently for the moment will be centered in New York until additional clues have been uncovered.

GIANTS' VICTORY IN SERIES YEAR'S GREATEST TEAM FEAT

CLUB GIVEN FIRST PLACE IN POLL BY DECISIVE MARGIN

Baseball Champs Awarded 68 Votes Of 198 Cast; Princeton Grid Eleven Is 2nd; British Net Team, Third.

(Note: This is the third of a series of stories detailing the results of third annual Associated Press Sports poll.)

By ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Editor
New York, Dec. 20.—(AP)—Not entirely satisfied with having produced the outstanding athletic performer of 1929 in Carl Owen Hubbell, the New York Giants emerged from the annual battle of ballots today as the choice of the experts for the greatest team achievement of the year, in any sport.

Trailing 9-4 at halftime, Manchester Trade's basketball quintet came through with a brilliant spurt in the third quarter to bring the score to 16-14 but the locals lacked the ability to match Meriden Trade's closing drive and bowed in defeat 23 to 16. The final score was 23 to 16 to give Manchester its third defeat in five starts this season.

The teams battled on fairly even terms through the first period, at the end of which Meriden was in front 7 to 4. Manchester was held scoreless in the next quarter, and Meriden tallied only once as both teams displayed a fine defensive game to make the score 9 to 4 in Meriden's favor at halftime.

The third quarter was a nip and tuck battle as Manchester began to outscore their opponents, 10 to 7, to equal the count 16-14 as the period ended. Meriden came back with a rush in the last period and chalked up the margin that brought them victory. Manchester's seconds also were beaten, by an overwhelming score, 48 to 19.

Manchester's next game will be with Windsor High at the school street rec next Wednesday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock. Windsor humbled Manchester, 31 to 19, in their first engagement.

Senators Best Defensive Team in American League

Chicago, Dec. 20.—(AP)—Along with turning in the top team batting average, Joe Cronin's Washington Senators played the best defensive baseball in winning the American league championship last season. Led by Cronin himself, who dominated the shortstops with the average of .960, the Senators as a club, were off only a point shy of the world record mark set by the Philadelphia Athletics in 1928. St. Louis landed second with .978.

Another Senator, Young Joe Kuhel, topped the regular first baseman with .996 and averaged about ten chances per game. Hank Greenberg, Detroit's first-sacker, cut in for some of the honors by accomplishing two unassisted double plays in one game to equal a record.

Willie Kamm of Cleveland again became the leading third baseman after a two year lapse, and set a new world mark of .964. Art Scharen of St. Louis tied the major league record for third basemen in assists making nine against Boston, May 5.

Movin Shea, the St. Louis Browns regular catcher who will be with the Chicago White Sox next season, played through his first 96 games without an error and finished the season with a leading percentage of .998. He made only two misplays all season. Frank Pytlak, Cleveland's Tiny receiver, played 69 games without an error, but was out-ranked by Shea who worked in 101 games.

The record percentage for American league outfielders of .936, set by Sam West of St. Louis in 1928, was equaled by Dick Porter of Cleveland and Al Simmons brought attention to himself, or two outstanding plays. He made a double play unassisted and in a game with Detroit August 13, made two remarkable throws to prevent scores. Rogell and White attempted to score from second base on successive long singles, but Simmons' arm nailed them both at the plate.

Clint Brown and Wes Ferrell, both of Cleveland, head a list of 19 pitchers who made no errors. Brown had eleven put-outs and 53 assists, while Ferrell had twelve putouts and 48 assists.

Rangers And Analdi's Macons To Meet Quintets From Wethersfield.

A basketball doubleheader has been arranged for tomorrow night at the School street gym when the Wethersfield Athletic Club brings its two basketball teams to oppose the local Ranger team and the strong Analdi team, tied for first place in the Rec Senior League. The Ranger team will play in the first game which is scheduled to start at 8:15 p. m. sharp while the second game will start immediately after the first game.

The Wethersfield teams have compiled a most impressive record on the basketball court in the past two seasons and are coached by "Bussey" Sturm a former outstanding athlete, which means that his teams will be well coached. Both the Ranger and Analdi's Macons will be at full strength in an effort to gain two victories.

These games are the beginning of a series of games being arranged by Ben Clune, head of the Rec Senior League for local teams in town against out of town competition. Of further interest to the basketball fans no admission price will be attached to these games, the general public being invited.

Startling Results Mark Rec League Court Tilts

Soldiers Gain First Win In Most Exciting Game To Date, 31-19; Each Team Scores One Point In 1st Period; Other Game Ends, 42-22.

Playing by far their best game of the season, the Phantoms succeeded in winning their first game in the Rec Senior League, when they soundly trounced the Knoll team 42-22. In the second game the National Guards team sprang a surprise in chalking up their first win in the league, when they noosed out the favored Dugout team with a fourth period rally, the final score reading 31-19. Both games were played at the School street gym before a good sized crowd, many of the fair-credit sex being on hand, which can be accounted for as ladies were admitted free.

Poor Opposition

Ripping to shreds what little defense the Knoll team had to offer, the Phantom quintet had their offensive functioning and all due credit to the Phantoms for their impressive showing, some of the glory must be let go, because of the mediocre opposition. The Knoll team minus its scoring star, Kovis, lacked team play and showed nothing more than a poorly sighted long range bombardment on the offense.

Courtesy Stars

Courtesy tossed in seven double deckers for his evening's contribution, besides being a tower of strength on the defense, but Nicholson comes in for considerable bit of the floor and he only played the first two periods. Both these boys are rapidly coming to the fore in basketball and the Phantoms will hand out more setbacks to the other teams in the league if it continues to be at full strength in each game as it was in the kind of play it produced in its victory last night. In defeat both Fraser and Boggin were the star role occupants for their team.

Close and Fast

Fighting with grim earnestness for every point to swing into full stride in the final quarter, the National Guards put on a whirlwind finish to win the most interesting and tightest game played thus far in the league against the favored Dugout Five.

Both teams threw out a defense that was hard to penetrate, in fact it was just eleven minutes and forty seconds before Madden of the Dugout Five counted for the first field goal. The first period ended one all which is indicative enough of the tight play by both teams. Madden accounted for six more points in the second period to give his team the advantage at half time with the mere margin of two points.

Local Sport Chatter

Considerable bit of interest is being manifested in the coming game between Jack's Jewels and Analdi's Macons at the School Street gym Saturday night. Both teams have not as yet tasted defeat and a win for one team will give them undisputed possession of first place.

The officiating of Main who has practically officiated all the games in the Rec Senior League is highly commendable. His handling of the games is very satisfactory and the players and managers of the teams are high in their praise.

NORTH ENDS MEET CUBS

Undeatable in their two league games, the North Ends and the Cubs will meet at the "Y" tonight to decide who will share first place honors with the Cubs. The North Ends will be without the services of Vittner and R. Harrington while the Cubs will not have Richards in their lineup. The other leader, the Osmonds, are expected to come through with a win over the North Ends in the third game, the Phantoms stack up against Buckland in what is expected to be a very close game.

Red Devils May Be Blue Ere Guards Get Through

The way the National Guards bursted up the floor against the Meriden Legion in the Silver City last Saturday night seems to bode ill for the General Electric Hot Point Red Devils if the town champions are clicking in the same manner when the teams clash at the State Armory tonight. The Guards came back from a 33 to 29 trouncing to whip the Legion, 34 to 21 and they're determined to start right in where they left off Saturday in tonight's game.

The Hotpoints, led by Elliott Graham, former Harding High ace, are one of the strongest edge teams in the state and have an impressive record of consistent victories over a three-year period of play. Undeatable in two starts this season, the visitors will be out to keep their slate free of defeat and a bang-up contest seems in store for local fans. The game will start about 9 o'clock. An electric appliance, valued at $15, will be given away as a door prize. The local Rangers basketball team will have as their opponents tonight at the armory, the strong Burnside Advos. The game will be played as the preliminary to the

PRINCETON STARTS ITS COURT SEASON

Makes League Debut Against Harvard Tonight—Has Team Of Veterans.

New York, Dec. 20.—(AP)—Rated strong contenders for the title, Princeton's veteran basketball array makes its first Eastern intercollegiate league start against Harvard in Cambridge tonight. With veterans manning four of the five positions, the Tigers looked far superior to Harvard, trounced by Dartmouth, 54-20 in the Crimson's first league game since 1908.

The only newcomer to the Princeton varsity is Hugh MacMillan, sophomore guard. At the other guard post is Johnny Grebuskas, while Karl Larsen is at center and Ken Fairman and Lank Seibert at forward. Seibert and Fairman finished one-two in the league scoring race last season when Princeton finished second to Yale, while Larsen and Grebuskas also finished well up in the list.

RUTH TO ASK RELEASE

Philadelphia, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The inquirer says Babe Ruth is going to ask for his release from the New York Yankees so that he will be free to take over the "Babe Ruth Kids' League," a project backed by a New York Oil Company.

All the plans have not yet been worked out, the paper says, but it is understood both the films and radio will have a place in the Babe's plan to teach baseball to the kids throughout the nation.
