THORNTON TO DIRECT BIRTHDAY BALL HERE

Manchester to Have Fete at State Armory on Night of January 30— Will Honor President Roosevelt and Also Establish Fund to Fight Scourge of Infantile Paralysis.

William J. Thornton, one of Manchester's representatives in the General Assembly, was today appointed director of the town's "Birthday Ball for the President" by the national committee of which Colonel Henry L. Doherty, of New York City, is chairman. Director Thornton immediately made arrangements to secure the state armory here for the celebration of President Roosevelt's 52d birthday, the proceeds of which will be used to help establish a national fund for fighting the scourge of infantile paralysis of which the President is himself a victim.

Get Army Free
Col. Harry B. Bissell, of the headquarters department of the Connecticut National Guard, and in charge of the armory, throughout the state, told Mr. Thornton, after a conference in Hartford today, that the policy of giving the state armories to the local committees for these affairs free of charge had been adopted. The only expense involved, he said, as far as the use of the armories is concerned, will be payment for the bond that is required by law. Col. Bissell also told Mr. Thornton he would assist him in any way to make this fine cause a success.

Has Had Experience
Mr. Thornton was chosen to direct the ball because of his familiarity with the details necessary to make such an affair a success and because of his executive ability. He directed the most successful music ball that has ever been held in

GEN. KING DEAD; FAMOUS SOLDIER

Veteran of Three Campaigns and Holder of Distinguished War Decorations.

Atlanta, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The death of Major General Edward King, commander of the Fourth Corps Area, has written final to a distinguished military career. The 60 year old veteran of three campaigns became ill while participating in a draught on the reservation at Fort McPherson yesterday and died 35 minutes later at the Post hospital.

General King saw service in the World War, the Philippine insurrection, and in the war against Spain. Among the honors bestowed upon him were the Distinguished Service Medal, the Distinguished Service Cross, a citation for gallantry in the Philippines, the Croix de Guerre with palms and membership in the Legion of Honor. He was cited in the World War for bravery.

ARREST TWO MORE FOR CLERIC'S DEATH

Are Also Members of Revolutionary Society; Sleuths Reenact Murder.

New York, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Two more men were arrested today in the slaying of Archbishop Leon Tourian, stabbed with a butcher knife as he led a procession to the church of Holy Cross Armenian church last Sunday. Five men had previously been arrested. Detective Sahadi declared numerous witnesses had identified the two new suspects, John Mirjanian, salesman, and Harry Sarafian, restaurateur, as members of a group of men who leaped from a group and surrounded the bishop. Both men denied they are guilty. Police said they are members of Tashnak, described as a revolutionary federation seeking freedom for Armenia. Joseph H. Bacon, attorney for two of the Armenians previously arrested, issued a statement defending Tashnak, which he called a patriotic society.

Reenact Murder
Detectives, creating a strange spectacle, re-created the slaying setting in the church last night. Assembling as many as possible of the congregation that was present on Sunday, the detectives requested them to take robes in the pew. Then carrying photographs of the prisoners, the detectives went among the congregation asking questions, while Bishop Hovsep Garabedian, pastor, sat at the altar in his black robes, sadly gazing down at the scene.

CRISIS IS PASSED SAYS GREENWOOD

Democratic Whip in House Says Wonderful Progress Is Now Being Made.

Washington, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Representative Greenwood of Indiana, the Democratic whip, said today in a statement that he had sounded the opinions of House members and has ascertained that they feel "the crisis has been passed and that we are on the way out of the depression."

To Strengthen Plans
The members of the house, he said, "want to enlarge the program and sustain the President."

HARTFORD AUTO CRASHES
Hartford, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A four year record for accidents was broken on December 15, when 166 motor vehicle accidents occurred, according to reports received by the Department of Motor Vehicles. On that day a fine rain turned to sleet on the highways and on the windshields of automobiles, causing many collisions. The record for that day was the worst since December 2, 1929, when 184 accidents were reported.

LIQUOR BUDGET READY
Hartford, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Chairman Frank S. Bergin of the state liquor control commission today submitted the commission's budget for the next six months to the board of finance and control, requesting approximately $40,800. This budget is $2,500 more than the last six months. The increase is due to the desire of the commission to employ two additional inspectors and to provide for their expenses.

FOSTER TO GET ONLY $7,000 OF HIS $20,000 FEE

Attorney Asked Larger Amount for His Work as the Receiver of Two Bridgeport Banks.

Bridgeport, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The work done by Attorney George N. Foster as receiver for the closed American Bank and Trust Company and the Commercial Bank and Trust Company, from the date of his appointment in August to Dec. 1, last, is worth $7,000. This fee is computed by Superior Court Judge Ernest A. Inglis in a memorandum of decision returned today on Foster's request for a $20,000 fee.

In the decision, which covers six pages, Judge Inglis discusses the "responsibilities and efficiency" of Foster's services, but drops the two from consideration, for the time at least, in his computation. Gets $50 a Day

The $7,000 fee is based by Judge Inglis on the work done by Foster at the computed rate of $50 a day, which the court holds is reasonable for the type of work that met the receiver in the course of a day.

Foster in a hearing before Judge Inglis last Friday, when his $20,000 request was protested, declared that he felt payment of that amount not unreasonable due to the great responsibility with which he was met when he assumed the post of receiver for the two institutions.

Little Responsibility
Judge Inglis declares that the responsibility has hardly begun and the great bulk of it is yet to be carried. Further, the court says that this responsibility cannot be divided into periods and ought not to be compensated for so early in the receivership.

In commenting on Foster's claim for efficiency, Judge Inglis declares that "It is obviously not in the receiverships to tell how successful the receiver will be in liquidation of the assets. It is therefore too early to include in his

OVER 100 DEATHS CAUSED BY STORM

Cities Digging Themselves Out of Snow Drifts—Intense Cold Continues.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
The fury of winter's onslaught has subsided considerably today but intense cold still prevailed in many sections.

More than 100 persons have died, according to unofficial estimates, as a result of blizzards, ice, snow and cold.

In New York City, 34,000 men worked in biting cold today to complete the task of removing a 10 1/2 inch snowfall from the streets. Many homeless took refuge in municipal lodging houses last night.

IN THE STATE
New Haven, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The United States weather bureau reported that today was the coldest day of the year, with the temperature dropping officially to 7 degrees above zero at 3:30 a. m. The official observer said much colder temperatures were felt in the central and northern sections of Connecticut, and that an unofficial mark of about ten degrees below zero was recorded in Waterbury.

End of Famous Plane Race

This was the dramatic scene at Baltimore's snow-enrusted Logan Field as Baby Sue Trammell, flown from Houston, Tex., through rain and snow by Speed Pilot James R. Wedell, was carried from the plane in the dead of night to be rushed to a local hospital for a brain operation. A nurse bears the child to a waiting ambulance while Walter Fondon, uncle of the baby, assists. Elliott Trammell, the father, is at the extreme left.

HUMPHREY TAKES FIGHT BEFORE THE U. S. COURT

Federal Trade Commissioner Claims President Has Not Power to Order Him to Resign.

Washington, Dec. 28.—(AP)—William E. Humphrey, today took to the United States Court of Claims his contention that President Roosevelt's action in ordering him removed as a member of the Federal Trade Commission last October was "illegal and void."

In a petition filed with the court, Humphrey, a Republican, demanded from the United States $1,251.39 he said was due him as his salary from October 8 to November 30, 1933.

Disclosing for the first time the full correspondence between himself and the President, Humphrey placed before the court the transcript of September 27, when President Roosevelt requested his resignation, a third accepted his resignation, although Humphrey contended none had been offered, while a fourth contained only these words: "I am in receipt of your letter of September 27, effective of this date (Oct. 7). You are hereby removed from the office of commissioner of the Federal Trade Commission."

The controversy between the President and Humphrey, which already has been picked up as a political issue by some Republicans and is certain to be accounted in the coming Congressional session, has been simmering since last July.

Humphrey based his case before the court today on the contention Congress intended the commission to be an independent semi-judicial, non-political body, the members of which would be independent of the will of the President and subject to removal only for cause stated in the statute. He asserted his duties had been properly performed and no charges of any kind had been presented against him by the President or the Senate.

Humphrey himself raised the question of whether a resignation by him, after his controversy with the President became known, would not make the matter a "party issue."

He presented to the court the following (Continued on Page Six)

World War Much Greater Than All Others Combined
Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 28.—(AP)—The first universal, scientific war curve, plotting 902 major wars since 500 years before Christ, shows the last World War eight times bigger than all the others rolled into one. All of ancient Greece, of Rome and ten centuries of Europe's eight foremost fighting nations divide before the statistics of 1914 to 1918 as presented to the American Association for the Advancement of Science today by Professor Pitirim A. Sorokin, Harvard sociologist and Lieutenant General N. N. Golovin. "Their curve showing nearly the whole historical rise and falls in war-like spirit among men points to universal peace, in their own words,

WARREN WARNS AGAINST EFFORT TO RE-FIX GOLD

Tells Economists Single Standard Might Not Survive Unsuccessful Attempt at Stabilization.

Philadelphia, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Professor George F. Warren said today before the American Economic Association meeting that "the gold standard might be unable to survive" another unsuccessful world attempt to re-establish it.

"Some Americans think that being on gold regardless of the rate is all that is required," Prof. Warren said. "They seem to have forgotten our experience from 1929 to February, 1933."

"To set any figure that is to hold for a generation certainly involves a considerable element of risk, both to our prosperity and to the future of the gold standard."

"A proposal to provide some method for making future changes in the price of gold without the necessity of long years of economic distress and political agitation would seem to be a conservative proposal."

Needs Safety Valve
"If the gold standard is to have a fair chance for survival, it requires some kind of a safety valve."

"The conclusion so frequently stated in the past we believe still holds—that provided the former gold-using world returns to the gold standard, prices expressed in any pre-war gold currency will be below pre-war for the next decade, or longer, unless unforeseen phenomenal gold discoveries are made."

"The world gold situation did not arise from a change in the world gold supply relative to world demand but resulted from a change in the world price level in gold compared with the world gold supply."

"Too Much Price"
"It might be expressed as 'too much price' rather than 'too little gold.'"

"The only possible corrections are to reduce the whole price and debt structure or reduce the gold content of the gold currency."

"Apparently the gold-using world must follow the latter procedure."

The paper also gave a detailed explanation of the gold standard's role in the world economy.

Regional Group Named for New England to Give 150 Idle Artists a Job.
Washington, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The committee membership of the New England division of the Federal Works or Art project was announced today in a telegram sent by Francis H. Taylor, director of the Worcester Art Museum and chairman of the regional committee, to Forbes Watson, technical director.

The New England committee is one of the first of 16 regional groups to be near completion with only the representatives for Vermont remaining to be chosen.

"No community in New England of the artists is to be denied that opportunity," Taylor said in his wire. "A total of 150 artists will soon be employed, selected from unemployed professional painters, sculptors, print makers and poster artists, who will be assigned to mural painting, portraits, landscapes and decorative easel paintings to be hung in public buildings such as the state hospital in Tewksbury, a museum in Providence, the children's ward in the Cambridge city hospital and for town halls, libraries and schools in several small towns in Connecticut, Massachusetts and Maine."

LAGUARDIA CHOOSES NEW HAVEN MAN FOR HEALTH BOARD HEAD

NATION'S LAWYERS UP FOR CRITICISM
Dean of Yale Law School Says There Is Great Need for a Self Survey.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A self survey by the legal profession, and particularly by those who are teaching the younger generation to administer justice was advocated today by Dean Charles E. Clark of Yale law school, in an address before the annual meeting of the Association of Law Schools of which he is president.

"The financial leaders of this generation are being blamed for many things which include most pointedly greed combined with a lack of foresight," Dean Clark said, "drifting along ways made attractive by self-interest. Yet at their right hands as counsellors and advisors stand the ablest of the men we have instructed and we ourselves are not too far away."

Criticism Growing
Dean Clark asked his professional colleagues to reconsider whether law teachers are doing their part in seeing that the law fulfills its social function in a modern society. Criticism from outside the profession, he asserted, is growing increasingly severe because professional efficiency is becoming more and more the successor to social ethics. He advocated a fact finding committee, although mentioning that fact finding is unpopular during the present era of trial and error. "My guess is," the dean said "that we are already feeling the pains of not over-carefully planned governmental action and that well before the coming year is gone the search for fact will be more popular than it has been of late years."

Dr. John L. Rice, Considered One of Best Sanitation Engineers in the Country to Take New York Post-Appointment Comes as Great Surprise to Him.

New York, Dec. 28.—(AP)—All but four posts in the Cabinet of Mayor-Elect Fiorello H. LaGuardia were filled today with the addition of Dr. S. S. Goldwater of New York as commissioner of hospitals and Dr. John L. Rice, health officer of New Haven, Conn., as commissioner of health.

Both appointees are nationally known in the health field, their selections continuing the procession of widely known figures to places of importance in the LaGuardia administration.

Dr. Rice is president of the Connecticut Health Association and is chairman of the Health Officers Association of the American Public Health Association. He was graduated from Johns Hopkins University in 1917 and spent four years on the International Health Board in Central American posts and Trinidad.

For one year Dr. Rice was a county health officer in Kentucky, and for a like period was a district health officer in New York state.

Was in Russia
Dr. Goldwater has been a consultant on hospitals for Soviet Russia, and from 1918 to 1931 was a consulting expert for the United States Public Health Service. He served as commissioner of health for New York City in 1914 and 1915, and has been active in consulting and other capacities with Mt. Sinai and Bellevue hospitals in New York City.

The mayor-elect still has the posts of sanitation, licenses, markets and employment to fill to complete his Cabinet. He indicated today that he was still undecided on a designee for the post of sanitation commissioner.

"I wanted LaGuardia said, "the best sanitation engineer in the country. I need him. The streets of New York are filthy and the garbage removal system is terrible."

Dr. Goldwater is a former president of the American Hospital Association and former president of the American Conference on Hospital Service.

HAS MUCH EXPERIENCE
New Haven, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Modest and mild mannered Dr. John L. Rice, will bring a broad background of international experience in public health work to the new post of commissioner of health for New York City.

The 46 year old physician was patently pleased when informed he had been selected by Mayor Elect Fiorello H. LaGuardia for the commissionership.

"It is a tremendous compliment to me to be taken from outside into New York," he said. "Naturally I am pleased with this high honor that has come to me."

It is, however, with a feeling of reluctance that I leave my work here in New Haven."

Slight of build and five feet, eight inches tall, Dr. Rice appeared somewhat flustered by the deluge of congratulatory messages that poured into his office at City Hall where for ten years he has directed the health activities of New Haven. He is a public health officer. One of the first to congratulate him was Mayor John W. Murphy.

Worked in Tropics
Dr. Rice's public health work has taken him far afield. He spent considerable time in the tropics studying control of hook-worm, typhoid fever, yellow fever and other diseases of the tropical countries and only recently returned from a tour of Central Europe.

Dr. Rice was born in Granby, Conn., Dec. 2, 1887, coming to New Haven as a boy. He was graduated from Wesleyan University in 1912 and five years later received his M.D., degree at Johns Hopkins University.

After completing his medical course, he took a post with the International Health Board of the Rockefeller Foundation and did extensive medical and sanitary work in Central America, Trinidad and Puerto Rico.

Returning to the U. S., he accepted

PARALYSIS VICTIMS
NUMBER 150,000

President Says Most of Them Could Be Helped by Adequate Facilities.

New York, Dec. 28.—About 150,000 persons in the nation are partly or wholly crippled by the ravages of infantile paralysis and most of them could be greatly benefited if adequate facilities existed, according to a statement by President Roosevelt.

To help provide those adequate facilities a Birthday Ball in honor of President Roosevelt will be held in every community in the nation on January 30, the proceeds to create a permanent endowment for nationwide work by the Warm Springs Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The President's statement. President Roosevelt said in his statement: "In spite of the great strides of medical science and the many generous gifts to preventive medicine, comparatively little has been accomplished in helping to restore to active and useful citizenship the more than 300,000 people in America who are partly or wholly crippled. As yet half of this number are victims of infantile paralysis. Most of them could be greatly benefited if adequate facilities existed."

"Many of the leading orthopaedic surgeons have come to recognize the growing importance of physiotherapy, especially when these directed exercises are given in the medium of water. Certainly the results obtained so far at Georgia Warm Springs prove the value of warm water treatment."

"Placing the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation on a permanent and much larger basis, means not only effective work among more patients, but eventually the establishment of similar centers in many other sections of the country. I think most cripples, children or adult, are worth taking an interest in. Economically, restorative work is sound business. It is reaching out to a field which no other agency is now adequately caring for. We need pioneers."

OCCUPANTS FLEE BURNING HOUSE IN ZERO WEATHER

Four Family Tenement at 54 Brooklyn Street Destroyed by Flames With $3,000 Loss.

With the temperature seven degrees above zero and a strong gale blowing, occupants of the four tenements in the house at 54 Brooklyn street were driven out at 12 o'clock Wednesday by a fire which destroyed the building.

The property, consisting of a two-story cottage with a high basement, housing four tenements, was owned by Dr. George W. Allen of Park street, and is considered a total loss, although the frame is still standing.

Box alarm No. 21, corner of Market and Brooklyn streets, sounded at noon yesterday as people were on their way home to dinner. As this box is located in the center of the city, its sound was heard by all, and all apparatus responded to the call. Little time was lost in getting to the fire, which was within a few hundred feet of the American Mill of the Hockanum Paper Company, a large wooden structure.

When the basement was forced open it was found to be a mass of flames and they were gaining headway to other sections of the house. Three streams of water were played on the fire, direct from the hydrants, with the water freezing soon after it struck the ground.

The occupants were forced out of the house as soon as the fire was discovered and had little chance to save even their clothing. The three tenants on the main floor included Mrs. Mary A. James, a colored widow, who had four children in the house with her. One small child, only a few months old, had to be taken out quickly to avert suffocation by the dense smoke.

Tony Kusic occupied a tenement on the same floor as did James Morris. The basement was occupied by Fred Bidwell, colored, who lived alone. He believed the fire started in his quarters.

Within a short time the water put out the flames in the basement, but heavy rolls of smoke kept coming up through the walls in the attic and it was hard to reach the fire. It was soon evident that the fire gained headway through the partitions on the basement.

The "water tower" of the Rockville fire department was put to work on the fire, playing 1000 gallons of water a minute on the house. The heavy smoke stopped the firemen from getting into the house. The flames finally burned through the roof and also the clapboards. The ceiling was torn off and fire ate into the partitions. The fireproof shingles on the roof kept the firemen from getting at a large section was torn off.

The recall was sounded at 2:55 o'clock, nearly three hours after the alarm, but it was nearly 5 o'clock before the fire hose was picked up and hauled to the Park Place fire station to be thawed so that it could be put back on the trucks. The loss is estimated at between $2,500 and $3,000, partly covered by insurance. The house is assessed for $1,400 and valued at $2,000. All clothing and fixtures of the tenants were totally destroyed.

Lose Corporation Tax Fees The town of Vernon and the city of Rockville, the latter being located within the township, suffered a loss of approximately $1,000 yesterday by the termination of the Rockville National bank. This will be an annual loss which amounts to approximately one-tenth of one mill in the taxes of the community.

The loss is caused by the ending of corporation tax payments of the local bank, which yesterday became "Hartford Connecticut Trust Company, Rockville branch" and no longer the "Rockville National bank."

The General Statutes of Connecticut provide that a corporation shall pay a corporation tax in the community in which it has a major portion of business.

The corporation tax on the Rockville National bank for 1933, which was received by the town of Vernon and which was divided with the city of Rockville, totaled $880.03 of the grand total of $1,170.86 received by Town Treasurer John B. Thomas. Of the amount of the town of Vernon received $740.84 and the sum of $139.88 was turned over to City Treasurer Parley E. Leonard. The corporation tax on the local bank for 1933 was the smallest in several years.

Snow Storm Costly The snow storm which visited Rockville Tuesday is believed to have cost the town of Vernon and the city of Rockville well over $500.

The high wind which visited this section early yesterday morning and lasted until well after the noon hour added considerably to the cost of removing the snow and to keeping the roads open to traffic.

Two snowplows owned by the city of Rockville were kept busy all night clearing the snow and opening the roads to traffic. The snow was heaped in high embankments, which made it easy for the trucks to cart it away yesterday morning. All through the business section the snow was hauled away and dumped into the Hockanum river but a short distance from the center of the city.

Six trucks were kept busy throughout the day hauling snow, although they were held up for a short period at noon because of the fire close to the center.

Every available man willing to work was given work shoveling, clearing the sidewalks about the center, the sidewalks in the park and keeping the roads open.

The wind piled the snow up in big drifts as fast as it could be cleared away, necessitating additional expense.

Traffic along the state highways adjacent to Rockville was also handicapped by the drifts. Sergeant Harrison Hurlbut of the Stafford Springs State Police barracks was kept busy on patrol work.

CWA Omits Work on Roads CWA workers from Rockville, totaling 132, were unable to get to work yesterday morning and had to take the day off.

A majority of the men reported at the Town Hall at 7:45 o'clock yesterday morning, but were informed that it was impossible to get to their place of work on Mile Hill, close to the Vernon-Tolland town line adjacent to the Rockville Fish and Game Club.

The men were sent home shortly after 8 o'clock and ordered to report this morning at 7:45 o'clock.

Thursday is considered an "off day" for the men who start work Friday and complete their 30 hours on the following Wednesday afternoon, omitting Thursday and Saturday.

The men are now grading brush and taking out tree stumps, as it is impossible to do road cutting because of the snow and the freezing weather.

Leaves for Florida Town Clerk and Mrs. John B. Thomas left Rockville at 8:30 o'clock this morning by auto for Miami, Florida, where they will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas hope to return to Rockville early in March after an extended stay in Miami, where they have spent the winter months for several years past.

During the absence of Town Clerk Thomas, Miss Edith Casati, assistant town clerk, will be in charge of the town clerk's office, while Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Bernard Ackerman will be in charge of the Rockville City Court.

Jackie Cooper is the star of a brand new kind of "Western" picture, "Lone Cowboy," suggested by Will James' famous book, which opens at the State theater, tomorrow.

It's a story, written and directed by Paul Sloane, of a wide-eyed, eager kid from the tenements of Chicago who wanders over the wild, expansive plains of Nevada with a cold-eyed killer.

In addition to Jackie, the Paramount picture has a supporting cast headed by Lila Lee, Addison Richards, John Wray and Gavin Gordon. The screen play was written by Agnes Brand Leavin and Bobby Vernon.

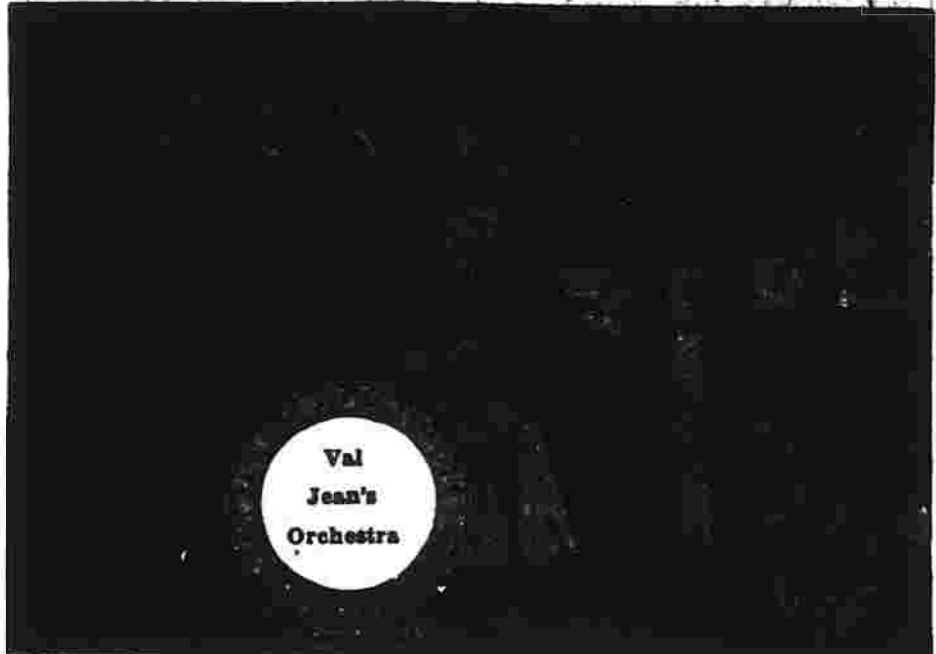

Jackie Cooper plays the role of Scooter O'Neal, a Chicago kid who has always dreamed of living in the Wild West, among the cowboys, Indians and boncos of story-books. His dream is fulfilled, but the boy arrives under the most inauspicious circumstances, and his thrilling adventures with the hardened killer, bring the picture to an exciting conclusion.

Predicts Big Migrations Of People in Year 2000

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 28.—(AP)—A "warm and dry" weather forecast for the rest of the Twentieth Century and warning of a coming period of disastrous droughts were issued by a weather specialist today before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

H. W. Clough of Arcade, N. Y., told the scientists about the turn of the century "there are likely to be prolonged and disastrous droughts possibly causing extensive migrations of people now inhabiting regions that border upon deserts." The great droughts will result, he said, from the fact that four great weather cycles controlled by the sun will synchronize somewhere around the year 2000. At that period the hot, dry phases of each of the four cycles will strike the earth at about the same time.

The United States is now having exceptionally warm dry weather because the warm, dry phases of a 37 year and 83 year cycle are roughly coinciding, Clough said.

STORE OWNERS DETECT COUNTERFEITS QUICKLY

Shoppers Need Not Fear of Getting Bogus Coins in Change—Trust Co. Stops Bad Money.

People who are wary of accepting quarters because of fear that they may be of the counterfeit variety said to be circulating in town should remember that practically all the change that is used by local stores comes from the local trust company and that any counterfeits reaching there are held up.

Most storekeepers have handled coins so much that they can detect counterfeits readily.

A large number of local shoppers in stores here have refused to accept quarters of the "Liberty" issue because the date is worn off. This particular coin issue was of such a design that the date was near the edge of the coin where it soon became worn almost beyond legibility.

However, these coins are perfectly good and should not be confused with the counterfeit standard design quarters.

H. C. Alvord, of the Manchester Trust Company, said today that the counterfeits that have come to his attention are not of good workmanship and anyone who has handled quarters to any extent should quickly recognize the bogus coins. The counterfeits are lighter than the standard coin and the design is not a good fac-simile.

KNIGHT EXPECTS TELEPHONE GAIN FOR NEXT YEAR

Net Loss of 9,600 Installations in 1933—Company to Spend $3,700,000 in 1934—General Outlook Good.

While the Southern New England Telephone Company will suffer a net loss of about 9,600 telephones in 1933, it anticipates a net increase of approximately 7,000 installations and a general improvement in business during the year of 1934, according to a statement made today by Harry C. Knight, president of the Southern New England Telephone Company and former president of the New England Council.

Mr. Knight's statement reviews the year's progress in the telephone industry in Connecticut in 1933 and describes the business trends which he believes should give an optimistic outlook for the next twelve months. Next year, he says, the telephone company will spend $3,700,000 or slightly more than in 1933 for new construction.

His statement follows: "Although the past year has resulted in an estimated net loss of about 9,600 telephones in the Southern New England Telephone Company at the end of the year, we anticipate in 1934 a steady, although not necessarily a rapid, increase in installations which should result in a net gain of about 7,000 telephones at the end of the year."

"This 1933 trend which is found encouraging may be described as follows: The first quarter showed continued recessions with only a slightly better record in the second three months. This was followed by an actual gain in the third quarter and then a decline below anticipated business as the end of the year approached. In July, the company enjoyed its first net gain in installations in nineteen months. This rise continued only through September, but the year as a whole produced indications which may be optimistically interpreted for 1934.

"Toll calls and toll revenue likewise followed an encouraging curve during the year, decreasing in the early months; rising in April, May and June until July for the first time in many months surpassed its corresponding month of the preceding year; falling off again in August, September and October; and finally reversing with slight gains in November and early December. Here again, although the totals will be definitely below those of 1932, the trend indicates improvement."

"About $3,350,000 was spent for gross additions to plant during the year, this providing for installations, improvements and replacements made to preserve good service and to meet future requirements. Land for a future central office was bought in Cheshire and the property where the Branford switchboard is housed was purchased. The New Haven area was almost entirely converted to the dial system and gross additions were made in Bridgeport, Stamford and New London. Other switchboard improvements were made at Darien, New Milford, Lakeville, Litchfield, New Haven, Beacon and Clinton. About $1,200,000 was spent for outside plant, including 11,000 poles and 70,000,000 conductor feet of wire in cable.

"During the coming year, the company expects to spend approximately $3,700,000 for new construction, half of which will be for equipment to meet the requirements of the year's anticipated gain in telephones and half of which will be for routine improvements."

"As for general business, we anticipate a continued improvement in the coming twelve months unless unforeseen factors intervene. There may be some minor reactions during the year, but the prevailing trend should be upward."

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28.

MAKES NO SENSE

Somewhere on the road between its original purpose in Washington and fulfillment in the home towns of the jobless the CWA scheme picked up a regulation or a rule or an interpretation that positively makes no sense at all. That is the provision that snow removal does not and shall not constitute an activity that the CWA will pay for, though it will pay for shoveling dirt or for painting the grass on the village common red, white and blue.

We don't know who is the genius who evolved the idea that men engaged in building a dirt road must quit their work and stay home if it becomes necessary to dig down through a foot of snow in order to find the dirt they were digging. He must be a native of Florida, Louisiana or Southern California, and a stay-at-home into the bargain.

If ever there was a situation that called for the prompt massing of plenty of workers, plenty of shovels and plenty of trucks it is that in which any city or big town in the North finds itself after the fall of a foot of snow. And it is at exactly such time and place that the CWA regulation compels the jobless man, because he cannot get at the digging he has been doing, to twiddle his thumbs at home instead of turning to with his hundreds of companions and digging his town out from under the "beautiful."

At a period when almost every town and city has been compelled to cut its budget to the bone, substantial snow removal appropriations are almost unknown. Streets and roads may be kept open with ploughs but business areas are fairly buried under the resultant piles, as is the case in Manchester, and trade suffers. When that is true in a thousand towns and cities, the effect on general business is importantly injurious.

There must be a good many more than a thousand towns and cities floundering about in the drifts as a consequence of this latest widespread snowstorm, while hundreds of thousands of CWA workers are rendered idle by the same storm, from whose effects they and their shovels could rescue their communities if not prevented by a stupid rule.

Every one of these communities should send a telegram of vigorous protest to the Civil Works Administrator at Washington, urging that snow removal be included, as an interchangeable activity with dirt digging, in the activities sponsored by the CWA. Our guess is that a good big batch of such telegrams would bear results.

SEVEN CENTS, GOLD

Senator David Reed of Pennsylvania cannot reconcile himself to that part of the government's fiscal policy which retroactively repudiates the gold clause in federal obligations. The senator, of course, is not greatly in love with any part of President Roosevelt's fiscal policy, but it is the gold clause's treatment that causes him the most acute pain. One may wonder just why, unless the Pennsylvania senator, who is not an old man, dings nevertheless with a very old man's tenacity to the things of yesterday, whether or no.

At the time when the gold clause in all contracts was abrogated, on the fifth of June last, there was a loud wail from the holders of bonds all over the country. There went, they were convinced, the "credit of the nation." There went the value of their bonds, a-glimmering. It was terrible!

Since then the government has twice offered new obligations—and they were over-subscribed half a dozen times. Since then the prices of their bonds have gone up, not down.

Still there are a few old timers who, like Senator Reed, haven't been able to get over their grief and indignation at the abrogation of the gold clause. However, most of them don't say much about it. There is too easy an answer. That answer is: "What moral right had the Treasury Department, or Congress, at any time, to agree to pay to a lender a dollar in gold, with interest, for the loan of less than seven cents in gold and more than ninety-three cents in bank credit?"

The gold clause could always have been attached in law on the ground that there was, in the implied contract of the sale of a bond, no adequate compensation for the obligation assumed by the government or whoever the bond issuing debtor might be.

Who ever heard of a bond buyer, since the bond issue in the Cleveland administration which was made for the special purpose of building up the gold reserve, paying for his bonds in gold? Bonds have been paid for, like anything else, with bank checks, and in normal times there were at least fifteen dollars of bank credit in the channels of bank exchange for every dollar in gold, sometimes a great deal more than that. On the basis, then, of a gold backing of one dollar in every sixteen of "bank money," the lender really turned over to the government only 6 2/3 cents in gold. Yet Senator Reed thinks it is a shameful thing when the government declares it will not try to perform the impossible feat of paying back to the bondholders sixteen times as much gold as they lent, when there is not, in the whole world, an important fraction of gold enough to do any such thing.

The surprising thing is not, in view of these facts, that most of even the most hidebound goldbugs have ceased to talk about "gold clause repudiation," but that so quick a thinker as Senator Reed should persist in sticking to the completely exploded fallacy.

TWO VIEWPOINTS

The criminal code of Soviet Russia is less severe in its dealing with homicides than those of most other countries, the death penalty being rarely if ever imposed in murder cases unaccompanied by political motives. The circumstances of the Moscow chauffeur who killed four soldiers by driving his car into a detachment of troops, and who has been sentenced to death, is therefore, quite extraordinary since the prescribed penalty for his offense is said to have been ten years in prison.

There would seem to be, behind this penalty, some sort of conviction that it is a worse crime to take human life in a sheer spirit of headless indifference and without motives of either gain or hatred than it is to kill under the spur of some overmastering passion. In America we have never looked upon homicide in that way. If a person kills another here as the result of premeditation, from hatred or desire for gain, we hang or electrocute him. If he kills, without any such motive but merely in the course of gratifying an appetite for speed or stunting, some stranger who has never intruded on his life, we let him off with light punishment or none at all.

It might possibly be worth while to devote some thought to the question whether the Russian or the American view is the more justifiable. On the face of things the Russians seem to assume that hatred, passion, avarice constitute, in degree, a plea in extenuation as contrasted to an utter absence of human motive for the taking of human life. And on the face of it we seem to assume that it is, if not quite all right, at least a minor sin to kill a man, woman or child without other motive than absolute indifference to their rights, while it would be a hanging offense to blow out the brains of the man who had stolen one's wife.

It seems to be a bit of a muddle.

WILSON

This day, the twenty-eighth of December, is one annually observed by a relatively small but singularly devoted and serious group of Americans because it is the anniversary of the birth of Woodrow Wilson.

The place of Franklin D. Roosevelt in history is, of course, in the making. But among all the preceding Presidents of the United States there have been, perhaps, just three who were, primarily, just anything else, idealists—Washington, Lincoln, Wilson. None of them was completely successful. None of them was ever triumphant or even happy. All of them made what the world called and probably with cause will continue to call serious mistakes. They were men who happened to be animated by purposes loftier than they could attain to. But they all did their best, pursued their ideals to the end—and live again in the heart of their country because of what they strove to do.

We have had Presidents better skilled than any of them in the art of management; more "practical" statesmen—and wiser, perhaps; more efficient workmen. But these three saw the heights afar off and strove to lead the people to them, failing to heed the bogs and morasses and minor precipices that intervened.

It takes long years and many of them, for idealism to win its reward of posthumous recognition.

HOW TO GAIN WEIGHT

The chief cause of underweight is some type of self-poisoning which is interfering with the normal assimilation of food. The only food which does you any good is that which is actually digested and made use of. Whenever the underweight patient deliberately tries to stuff himself with food he finds his body simply is not able to handle the extra supply and the stuffing treatment may prove harmful, causing liver trouble, digestive upsets or constipation.

The food factor is undoubtedly the most important cause of a lack of ability to gain weight. Other factors which help to cause thinness are: loss of sleep, lack of exercise, a strong tendency to worry, constipation or an environment which is unfavorable to gaining weight is present. Another contributing cause is lack of wholesome recreation.

At the start of the treatment to gain weight it is helpful for you first to get a little thing to eat which you need to lose the poisons which are interfering with the normal work of the digestive organs. For this reason, he is benefited by a short fast, during which some of these powerful poisons are eliminated. After the first fast the patient will find he is able to gain weight as the digestive powers will be improved during the fasting period and he will then be in condition to assimilate his food.

The fruit fast will also help you to gain weight because it furnishes the body with an abundance of the vitamins and mineral elements. All the waste food materials are not in themselves weight builders, they make it possible for you to use more of what you eat to build up new body cells.

The fruit fast has a remarkable cleansing effect on the appetite and you will find yourself with a good appetite after the fast. You do not need to be afraid to lose a few pounds as you will later gain more than you lost at the start.

It is now going to tell you a definite thing for you to do to gain weight. When you get up in the morning you are to begin on a fruit fast. For breakfast, use any of the following fruits: apples, oranges, grapefruit or pears. Use only one kind of fruit on any one day. However, you may change to a different kind of fruit the next day, if you wish.

You are to eat the fruit several times during the day as you become hungry or you may use it for your regular meals, three times each day. Continue on this easy fruit fast for five days, and be sure that you take one enema daily and warm sponge bath. I realize that some of my readers in Canada will find it too expensive to use fresh fruit, such as oranges. If they wish to substitute something else, I would advise them to take canned tomato juice, or canned unweetened pineapple juice, or they find it cheaper during the season of the year than fresh fruit. However, if you can use the whole fruits as I have suggested, it would be a good plan to do so.

Follow the fast with a diet similar to the following: Breakfast, egg, cooked whole wheat with cream, and stewed prunes. Lunch, potatoes, cooked vegetable and a large salad. Dinner, lean meat, cooked vegetable, salad, and stewed fruit. While you are on this building-up diet you are to start regular exercises and are to walk each day. The exercises will fill in the body and also help you to gain strength.

This is the best general regimen for you to follow and will result in a gain in weight and a gain in health. You are to have faith in these directions and are to believe that you will gain following them. I have seen them successful in hundreds of cases and I know that they do produce good results. Only a very few cases will not respond to the regimen I have given you; if, after a reasonable length of time you do not improve, the physician would be for you to have an examination to determine why you do not gain as you should while carrying out these instructions.

Answer: An operation for hernia or rupture is seldom necessary, as this trouble can generally be cured through developing the abdominal muscles which, when well developed, will hold back the protruding peritoneum wall. It is well to wear a suitable support which lightly

U. S. Will Make Own Rum... Repeal Kili Idea That All Washington Tourists Are Snoopers... Everyone Hates Hotel Code... Soviet Ice Goes Sour on Collapse Prophecies... Three Nations Lack U. S. Recognition.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
The Herald Washington Correspondent

Washington, Dec. 28.—Uncle Sam himself is going to make rum. That's the plan endorsed by President Roosevelt, for securing the Virgin Islands from their status described by Hoover as an "effective poorhouse."

The islands went to economic wreck when prohibition wiped out production of their famous St. Croix rum. Sugar and its more important by-product, rum, were all they had.

Lying idle is the big Bethlehem Sugar Co. plant. A Danish taxed $70,000 in taxes and wants to pull out.

The Public Works Administration, unless important minds are changed, will allot money for purchase of that plant and erection of a distillery to convert the blackstrap molasses into rum.

There's no sense in wasting the blackstrap and the plant "went bust" when confined to sugar.

Unemployment among islanders would be ended permanently, it is hard to tell who is maddest over the living price. The annual $500,000 we spend on the islands would be reimbursed.

And why shouldn't the famous old St. Croix rum be made again and sold to Americans by a government corporation?

Helen Grace Carlyle, who is celebrating her first wedding anniversary, just received a little note from her best friend and author, which amused her tremendously....

On the day of the marriage, the friend had seemed so touched at Helen's happiness that she had generously announced: "Helen, I am sending you a silver after-dinner coffee service." Two weeks later she asked Miss Carlyle if it had come. Two months later she repeated the question, saying she just must see what was the matter. From that day until the first anniversary she didn't mention it. Her note then read: "Did those little candlesticks I sent ever come?" Miss Carlyle is answering her: "Thanks, but I can't get candles to fit them."

If the present Cuban government is recognized, there'll be only two countries left whose existence we don't admit—Afghanistan and Salvador. Afghanistan hardly counts, since we never had diplomatic relations with her.

About three years ago Vice President Martines of Salvador became president as a result of a coup d'etat. He said he hadn't anything to do with the coup, but the State Department didn't believe him.

We have a charge d'affaires in Salvador who acts just like a minister, but isn't one.

The Salvadoran old government minister found the revolutionists appointing the legation's first secretary as minister and for months the two sat across a desk from each other. The State Department dealt with the minister, who dealt with the first secretary.

Finally they had a row over the liquor privilege. The minister quit and went to New York. The first secretary dealt with Dr. Rowe of the Pan-American Union.

The treaties under which we and the Central American republics refuse to recognize Salvador run in 1855. Meanwhile, the Salvadoran government is recognized by other countries.

JUDGE DECIDES MAN FATHER OF ONE TWIN

Yankee, N. D., Dec. 28.—(AP)—The twin sons of Mrs. Ewald Paddie today had the status of half brothers as result of a court's action recognizing the claim of the woman's husband that he was the father of but one of them.

Paddie, a farmer living near Freeman, was given the divorce by default yesterday when his wife failed to contest it. He charged her with infidelity.

The farmer told Judge R. B. Tripp he believed one twin was his son, but that the other, who he said bore so resemblance to himself, was the son of another man. Paddie was awarded custody of the twins he claimed as his son and of another of the five children born to his wife during their ten years of married life. The other three were given to their mother's care.

A statement by Professor North Brumhan of the University of Lund in Sweden, a noted student of genetics, that "from a scientific point of view it is possible for twins to have different fathers" was once made in a court case.

CANCER CURABLE SAYS PHYSICIAN

However, There Must Be No Delay in Treatment After Signs Appear.

Although cancer has caused the second largest number of deaths in Connecticut each year since 1921, being exceeded only by heart disease, cancer is not hopeless; it can be controlled and cured if there is no delay in treatment, Dr. Stanley H. Osborn, State Commissioner of Health, declared in the weekly broadcast of the State Department of Health today.
Connecticut's death rate from cancer in 1932 was 124 per 100,000 population, more than 2,000 dying of the disease; that of the United States, 102 per 100,000, so cancer is a matter of great concern in this State, Dr. Osborn said. Deaths from major locations of cancer have actually increased during the past ten years due to the fact that cancer because of its insidious onset and lack of pain is difficult to recognize. It has been found that between six and twelve months lapse on the average after the symptoms or signs of cancer appear before the patient visits a physician. It is this delay which permits progress of the disease into the fatal stages.
The Symptoms
Dr. Osborn described the early signs and symptoms of cancer which should be a signal for an immediate visit to the family physician, since the disease is most easily controlled, treated and cured in its early stages.
Chronic sores or ulcers, unusual or excessive discharges from the natural openings of the body or the existence of well-defined lumps in various organs should be viewed with suspicion, he said. Cancer affects practically all parts of the body but is most prevalent in the breast, digestive tract, skin, mouth and in genital organs. It may appear at almost any age, but is more usual in persons more than thirty or forty years of age.
Irritation A Cause
There are also certain conditions of the tissues that may be termed pre-cancerous, the commissioner explained. Among these are chronic ulcerations, cracks and sores of the hairless, flat, single type of mole located on regions subject to irritation, which appears to be enlarged or bleeding. Irregular teeth, ill-fitting dental plates and sharp-edged teeth may produce an irritation resulting in cancer.
Dr. Osborn emphasized the fact that cancer is not contagious and can be controlled if taken in the early stages. People who suspect they have cancer should not surrender to fear, but should immediately visit their family physician. Many other diseases, he pointed out, were fearfully delayed by patients who found the way to check them. The same is true of cancer today.
In closing, Dr. Osborn stated that a pamphlet on cancer may be obtained upon request, from the Connecticut State Department of Health, Hartford.

SLEEPS HALF HOUR LATER ... SINCE HE CHANGED TO KOPPERS COKE

FEW ASHES
I like Koppers Coke because it gives quick heat in the morning, keeps my home at an even temperature all day, and is easy and convenient to handle. The few ashes it leaves, make it a desirable fuel for my home.
Michael J. Lynch, Arch Street, New Britain

COMFORT AT LOW COST
I find that Koppers Coke brings comfort to rooms that were formerly difficult to heat. One walks from room to room without feeling the need for sweaters and coats. Heat comes quick in the morning and makes the home cheery before breakfast is over. For comfort, convenience and low cost, I prefer Koppers Coke.
Mrs. M. Arthur, 411 Lydall Street, Manchester

No longer does he have to get up half an hour earlier than the rest of the family to have the house warm enough for breakfast.
Now he sleeps a blissful 30 minutes longer—opens the drafts when he pops out of bed—and the whole house is warm as toast by the time he's finished shaving.

That's because Koppers Coke is a high-test fuel. It makes so few ashes that you get instant action when you open the drafts. It doesn't have to be coaxed and babied—heat comes right up—quick!

Koppers Coke will free you from furnace drudgery if you just follow three simple rules. (1) Fill the fire pot heaping full. (2) Shake less—just a few jiggles once a day, and less often in mild weather, because there are so few ashes. (3) Use less draft—because it's concentrated fuel and burns evenly without forcing. It burns slowly with the drafts closed—and is ready to flood your house with warmth in the morning.

And best of all—it saves money—costs less money now, and you get more real fuel, with less waste from every ton. Many users save $15-$20 per season.

Why not phone your fuel dealer now—or call Koppers Connecticut Coke Company and discover how this fuel makes a new friend of your furnace.

CHINESE REBS ADVANCE
Shanghai, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Chinese press reports said today that rebel troops in Fukien province were advancing toward the border, presenting a major clash with Nationalist government soldiers stationed along the Fukien-Chekiang line.
Meanwhile, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was said to be preparing to take command of a concerted attack to put down the revolutionaries who set up the "people's independent government" a few weeks ago at Fochow, capital of Fukien.

Young Teddy Scores Public Works Plans

Philadelphia, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Theodore Roosevelt, former governor of the Philippines, attacked the public works program today as costly and wasteful, and said that direct cash aid for the unemployed would cost only half as much.

His remarks were contained in a speech prepared for delivery today before a luncheon meeting of the Manufacturers and Bankers Club of Philadelphia.

"Let us meet the matter squarely on a basis of direct cash aid for the unemployed," he said. "It will cost only one-half as much to states and nation as now. It will give the works program. It will also give to those unemployable unemployed a sense of security which they lack now, when they can look forward only to spasmodic employment on specific public projects."

The chief point of his speech was a plea for a balanced budget.

"If we do not balance the budget soon," he said, "inflation will be inevitable and our credit will of necessity be destroyed."

"To sum up," he concluded, "I feel that to meet our present situation the country must: (A) Increase taxes, where practical, bearing in mind the danger involved; (B) Economize in government operations; and (C) Discard our haphazard method of dealing with our unemployed as a non-recurring phenomenon and face it squarely by: (1) The work camps; (2) Full use of the Federal Emergency Relief Act under the conditions I have outlined for cash relief; (3) Such additional aid as may come from a public works program based on paying investments and necessities; the organized individual action; of various companies on emergency unemployment funds, old age pensions, etc.; and (4) Some stimulus for the capital industries."

"The American Nation must face facts or fall."

TEACHERS' WORK SCOPE LIMITED

Employment of Jobless Instructors Held Up for the Time Being.

Seven unemployed local teachers have filed applications for employment at the office of Superintendent of Schools F. A. Verplanck under the Civil Works project to furnish work for teachers who are unemployed and in need, but Mr. Verplanck stated today that no definite action has been taken to provide work.

The delay in furnishing employment is due to the fact that the expenditure of the $300 monthly that has been allotted to Manchester is limited to six channels, all of which fall to apply to Manchester. It has been reported that Bristol would employ teachers to relieve some crowded classroom conditions, to do special work with backward pupils in the grade schools and to assist some of the students at the high school whose work is below standard.

Mr. Verplanck asked the State CWA administrator at Hartford if Bristol would be allowed to carry out a similar plan in Manchester, but was informed that approval would not be given, as the proposed work is outside the recommendations made when the project was announced.

Under the allotment of $300 monthly, Manchester can employ six teachers at $50 per month. Present plans call for the termination of the CWA program on February 15 but it is possible that the time will be extended by either the President or Congress.

REMOVAL OF SNOW COSTS TOWN $1,000

Must Come Out of Highways Budget — Trucks Most Costly Item.

Snow removal made necessary by Tuesday's storm will cost the town approximately $1,000, Town Treasurer George H. Waddell estimated today. This sum will come out of the $40,000 appropriated for roads and bridges. The lion's share of the expense of snow removal is for the hiring of extra trucks to push the ploughs used for the clearing of streets. Only regular town employees, not CWA workers, have been engaged in this particular work.

Mr. Waddell said today that the men employed on CWA projects in town did not go to work this morning, but he expected they would continue their labors on the roads tomorrow morning.

Further use of trucks to cart away the snow, which was thrown to the sides of the streets by the ploughs, creating ridges four feet high in places, was seen today. Tall banks of snow were piled up even on Main street, while in some of the residential streets it was almost impossible to cross from one side of the street to the other unless one was willing to wade through snow waist deep.

Zero weather swept down upon Manchester last night and continued until this morning, when a slight moderation was noticed. The frigid breath from the Arctic brought smiles of satisfaction to local dealers, but served to increase the suffering of destitute families in town who lacked the necessary money to buy fuel. However, shipment of coal by the Federal government, which amounted to half a ton per family on the local charity list with more to come, gave hope for relief in this direction.

Russian Reckless Driver Is Condemned to Death

Moscow, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Although Soviet Russia's criminal codes provide a maximum sentence of ten years imprisonment in such cases, the Moscow City Court today decreed death for Valentine Ivanov, a chauffeur convicted of reckless driving in an accident which resulted in four deaths.

The 28-year-old chauffeur was found guilty of driving a speeding automobile into a marching column of Red Army soldiers on the Leningrad highway on the outskirts of Moscow, Dec. 23.

Two soldiers were killed outright, two died later and five were injured.

The decision to apply "the highest measure of social protection—shooting," was based, the court explained, on the anti-social record of the chauffeur, a senior worker in a large garage.

Further, the court said the sentence should serve as a warning to others and aid in creating a deterrent on the anti-social record of the chauffeur, a senior worker in a large garage.

The trial, held in the Workers' clubhouse, attracted unusual attention in Moscow. Many were unable to gain admission.

planation of the theory of regulating the price of commodities through increasing or decreasing the buying price of gold.

"Prices in gold in the two countries (England and America) have at all times been in approximate agreement.

"By having her currency depreciate in gold as the commodity value of gold has risen, England maintained a stable price level.

"By depreciation of the gold value of the dollar in 1933, prices in the United States rapidly rose to the English level, although prices in gold were nearly stable or showed a slight tendency to decline."

WOMAN INJURED IN FALL ON ICE

Mrs. Anna Kildish of 54 Union Street, Taken to Hospital for Examination.

Mrs. Anna Kildish of 54 Union street, was removed from her home to the Manchester Memorial hospital this afternoon for X-ray examination of her right hip, injured Tuesday forenoon in a fall on the ice in her yard.

Mrs. Kildish slipped on the snow covered ice in her back yard when she went out to feed her chickens at 9 o'clock last Tuesday morning, and could not move. She called to her son, John, asleep in the house, who was awakened by her cries about 15 minutes after she fell. The boy ran to nearby neighbors and they carried Mrs. Kildish to her room.

Later she complained of severe pains in the region of her hip, and was taken in the W. P. Quish ambulance to the hospital at 1:45 today for examination.

ONLY 6 BOTTLES LEFT WHERE 9 WERE BEFORE

Which Proves That There's Nothing in Ginger Ale to Keep It from Freezing.

Ginger ale hasn't any kick. The cold weather last night proved this as in the show window of a north end store there was on display today six bottles of ginger ale. Last night there were nine. In the place of the three missing bottles was noticed broken glass while standing erect in their rounded top, coming to a cone shape at the top, and had been the liquid contents, frozen into solid ice.

No such sight was seen in any of the package stores, but on being questioned all admitted that there was good reason why their liquids didn't freeze.

compensation any element for his efficiency."

OPINION DIVIDED

Bridgeport, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Conflicting opinions greeted Judge Ernest A. Ingalls' decision in the Foster fee case. Majority opinion of those who commented on the decision was against an appeal to the Supreme Court of Errors, although for the dissenting committee of the Commercial Bank and Trust Company, was emphatic in his statement that the question of whether a receivership should be regarded by lawyers as "a killing" should be settled with finality by the supreme court.

"I have not examined Judge Ingalls' decision," said Attorney Kelly. "I am inclined toward an appeal. Errors ought to be corrected. Some lawyers should regard receiverships as a 'killing'."

The Supreme Court likewise ought to determine for once and for all the fair basis for compensation in receivership cases.

John T. McNamara of the Commercial Bank committee, was emphatic against an appeal, although he asserted he believed the award of Judge Ingalls in the commercial case was "entirely too much."

"The committee's stand has been vindicated," said McNamara. "We sincerely appreciate the services of Attorney Leiper and Kelly who were instrumental in bringing about this decision. I regard the Foster fee matter as a dead issue. Our efforts now will be concentrated in settling the dispute with the R. F. C."

TURNED IN FINEST PERFORMANCES OF THE SPORTS YEAR

Princeton Best in Football

Shields, Jacobs in Tennis, Goodman, Van Wie in Golf, "Elky" on Turf.

By BILL BRADCHER NHA Service Sports Editor

New York, Dec. 22.—The three outstanding sports performances of 1933 were the pitching of Carl Hubbell, both in the league race and the world series; the new mile record of Jack Lovelock, New Zealand, and the comeback of the lightweight division under the impetus of Barney Ross.

Hubbell's pitching came at a time when tight races in both American and National Leagues had brought baseball enthusiasm to fever heat. His shutout victories inspired a Giant team considered woefully weak at the beginning of the season; his work in the series broke the morale of the Senators, a team considered the Giants' superior in every other department.

Lovelock's new mile mark came in a race with Bill Bontrath, Princeton miler, during the running of the Oxford-Cambridge and Princeton-Cornell track meets. Both were fine runners and, with Bontrath setting the early pace, the Australian came on in the stretch to cross the tape yards in front of Bontrath in the remarkable time of 4:07.4, breaking Jules Ladoumègue's old mark of 4:08.2. Bontrath, too, broke the old record, finishing in 4:08.7.

Ross's work in the squared circle was just the tonic the fight game needed. His two victories over Tony Canzoneri, one of the greatest lightweight champions, marked him as a standout battler. His victory stirred action in his own division with the result that the owners centered their attention on the lighties after having been disappointed by promoters who promised a Canzoneri-Baer match after Primo won the title from Sharkey and Baer kayped Schmeling for the right to meet the new champion.

In football, probably the most remarkable record was that of Princeton's undefeated team. The Tigers, finding itself in the second year of the Crisler regime, went through a season undefeated and uted—the only major team to do so. Other highlights were the defeats of Notre Dame and Southern California, the demoted superiority of Big Ten football and the selection of Stanford and Columbia to play in the Rose Bowl game. Choice of Columbia came as a surprise, as the team had been defeated once and was thought to be weaker team than the Pittsburg, Nebraska, Alabama, Michigan or Duke.

The star of American tennis proved to be Frank Shields, the New Yorker who gained No. 1 ranking position after Vines, Allison, Van Ryn and Pitt dropped decisions in Wimbledon and in Davis Cup matches in France. Shields won two big eastern invitational matches, and was the only one to show any great resistance to the invasion of Perry and Austin of England, and Crawford and McGrath of Australia.

Helen Jacobs, by her default win from Helen Wills Moody in the women's national singles, took No. 1 ranking position in the women's tennis year. In golf, Johnny Goodman and Virginia Van Wie were outstanding. The former was the first amateur since Bobby Jones to win the National Open. The latter finished the women's National tournament in Chicago, beating her arch rival Helen Hicks. It was Virginia's second trip to the throne. Other golf winners were Danny Shute, who copped the British Open; George Dunlap, who won the National Amateur; Gene Sarazen, who won major tournaments. On the turf, old Equusque held his title as leading handicap horse, "Elky" dragged down some 220 lbs. for his winning performance in the final race of the season.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Before marriage... He caught her in his arms. After marriage... He caught her in his pockets.

During the wedding ceremony a young man is reported to have swooned three times. Who was it said "that faint heart never won fair lady?" Eh?

Funny world! Farmers deposit money in rural banks, which send it to New York bankers, who let it to speculators to ruin farmers.

The Dollar You Spend The dollar you spend is helping a friend. The same time it's working for you. Puts shoes on the feet of the man on the street.

By giving him something to do. The dollar you spend is helping to mend.

Hearts that are burdened with care. Pays for food kiddies eat—milk, bread and meat—And the clothes they are needing to wear.

The dollar you spend is helping to "ten".

Out of the spectre of worry and woe. At the end of this rope brings a small ray of hope.

To the man who will reap what you sow. The dollar you spend will pay in the end.

In interest that comes from within. When you're helping another—a friend or a brother—To fare forth with courage to win.

In China they rub roses instead of kissing. The result is the same, says a Sweet Young Thing—it spoils your makeup either way.

Two little boys were walking home from Sunday School. First Little Boy—Say, do you believe there's a devil?

Second Little Boy—Ah! no; he's just like Santa Claus. He's your daddy.

Final 1933 Shots... The longest sustained flight most of us know anything about is between the first installment and "Paid in Full".

There aren't nearly so many people with nothing to live for as there is with nothing to live with. Take care of your pennies and your heirs will spend your dollars. Buy now! Whatever you spend will be a contribution to your own well-re.

About the only old thing about the antiques you see in some homes is the dust. If everyone should work 40 hours a week, or even 35, production might be overwhelming.

Why refer to it as "common sense" when it is so uncommon? A lot of men break jail who couldn't open a can of sardines with the key. A girl may leave home twice for a man. When she leaves home to marry him and when she leaves to go home to mother.

A person with push never needs pull. Success is never attained by staying awake at night but by staying awake in the daytime. The only objection to living in the country is that you have to go to town for your vacation.

Wife — You told me before we were married that you were well off.

Husband—Yes, I know, but I didn't know how well off I was then.

You Can't Judge a Woman's Husband by the Size of the Diamond in Her Engagement Ring.

A mild winter this winter is predicted—still there are a lot of people who are going to find it hard sledding.

Son—Dad, what is meant by the expression, "the average man?" Dad—An average man, my son, is one who isn't as good as his wife thinks he is before she marries him, and not so bad as she thinks he is afterwards.

After the Minister Kisses Some of the Brides He Marries He Must Feel Like Giving the Groom His Money Back.

Silas—That city fellow is "the dumbest" guy I ever saw.

John—Been asking foolish questions, eh?

Silas—Yes, he says he wants to go into the poultry business and wanted to know where he could buy egg-plants.

Brown—What made you start clapping your hands when that woman stepped on your foot in the crowded car?

Barlow—I was dozing, and I thought my wife was giving a musicale and was signaling that it was time to applaud.

If the farm hadn't been such a small place to mortgage a few years ago, it would be a better place to live right now.

He—If I were to die you'd never get another husband like me.

She—What makes you imagine I should ever want another like you?

It would certainly be great if President Roosevelt could put the unemployed to work removing mortgages from the farm.

ART PLAN AROUSES
NO INTEREST HERE

Greeted Laughingly at First But Will Be Considered With Others.

Town officials queried today in regard to the Washington dispatch telling of the creation of a Federal works art project, which may be found in detail elsewhere in today's paper, were not particularly enthusiastic over the proposition. This dispatch said that all any community in Connecticut has to do is to get an artist assigned to mural painting, portrait, landscape and decorative easel paintings, is to communicate with A. E. Austin, director of the Wadsworth Atheneum in Hartford; Winslow Ames, director of Lyman Allyn Museum in New London; Everett B. Meeks, dean of the Yale School of Fine Arts; or Theodore Sizer, director of the Yale Gallery of Fine Arts. The idea of the project is to provide work for 150 hungry artists.

When the matter was broached to Town Treasurer George H. Wadwell, he laughingly suggested portraits for the Municipal building of Selectmen past and present. He did not know whether the idea would meet with favor with the local board or not.

Superintendent Fred A. Verplanck of the Manchester public schools greeted the idea laughingly, too, but in a more serious vein, he said: "However, when this matter comes to my attention, I shall notify the School Board to take whatever action they may consider advisable."

Some of the local buildings which might be recipients of this added beauty under the provisions of the new art project, are as follows: Manchester High school, Whitton Memorial Library, Recreation Buildings and Municipal Building.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Clark of Henry street, are spending a few days in New York City.

TOWN BUILDINGS
TO BE PAINTED

Municipal and Court Building Interiors to Be Part of CWA Project.

Included in the school painting and redecorating project which was approved by the local CWA board yesterday afternoon, is the possible removal of plastering and painting of the lobby of the municipal building and redecorating of the town court building. No estimate was made for this work.

Difficulty has been experienced in painting the walls of the municipal building lobby, due, contractors say, to unseasoned plaster used in the construction of that part of the building. Paint has peeled after the last two paint jobs and it may be necessary to remove the top layer of plaster and skim-coat the entire lobby walls with properly cured plaster before paint will adhere. An examination of the walls will be made by master painters and basing its action upon their judgment, the local CWA board will ask the government for the money necessary for the job.

For many years the court and police rooms and basement of the town court building have needed redecorating. For the past three years the annual appropriation of the police department was insufficient for this improvement. It is expected that the entire work will be included in the school project as approved by the board.

Estimated costs of the jobs recommended yesterday by Superintendent of Schools, F. A. Verplanck are:
West Side Recreation building, material, $300; labor, $1,020. A large portion of the building is used during school hours for school purposes; some portions of the building used during the daytime for recreation purposes and during the evening for night school. Total cost, $1,320.

Nathan Hale school, two coats of paint at a cost for materials of $900; labor $2,760. Total cost $3,660.

Hollister street school (more especially the old part) materials $100; labor $380; total cost $480.

Robertson school, painting walls, materials $150; labor $552; total cost $702. Grand total $6,862.

The only estimate given on the municipal building and town court building painting job was for labor, estimated at $720.

Specifications will be submitted to the CWA supervising engineer for his approval and if endorsement is made, work will begin at once. Thirteen painters are now at work on the High school and other buildings in the vicinity of Educational Square.

New Britain Youth, Accomplice in North St. Escape Is Found Guilty.

Convinced he was not telling the truth, Judge Raymond A. Johnson today fined John Walasewicz, 22, of 90 Broad street, New Britain, $20 and costs of $2.52, making a total of $42.50, after the latter had been found guilty in Police Court on a charge of tampering with a motor vehicle.

Walasewicz made the mistake of trying to brazen it out with the court, but the weight of the testimony of his companion, John Blodgowski, 23, also of New Britain, who pleaded guilty to a similar charge yesterday and was fined $10 and costs, had more influence with Judge Johnson. Walasewicz, who pleaded not guilty, was found guilty and assessed more than his friend. Blodgowski admitted he was intoxicated at the time he cut the ignition wires on one of two automobiles parked near 95 North street, where a party was held Christmas night. However, he and Walasewicz stood near him and told him what to do.

It was alleged that Blodgowski and Walasewicz, ordered out of the house at 95 North street, where a Christmas party was in progress, vented their spite by damaging the automobiles of Kaczmarek and Paskiak. Rivalry over the affections of a girl, it was said, also had something to do with the acts of the youths.
