SECRET SERVICE MEN STUDY MYSTERY CAR

Looks Like Ordinary Auto But Is Armored and Has Place for Machine Guns.

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Officials of the Bureau of Narcotics said today the mysterious armored car seized recently in a Boston garage and brought here under heavy guard would be held until an exhaustive investigation had been made.

THE VEHICLE, A 16-CYLINDER, CUSTOMER MADE AUTOMOBILE, RESEMBLES AN EXPENSIVE SEDAN BUT IS COMPLETELY LINED WITH STEEL, EQUIPPED WITH THICK NON-BREAKABLE GLASS WINDOWS AND A SECRET COMPARTMENT UNDER THE REAR SEAT WHERE THREE MACHINE GUNS CAN BE CARRIED.

THE CAR WAS MADE IN DETROIT BUT FEDERAL INVESTIGATORS WERE HANDICAPPED IN TRACING ITS HISTORY BY A NUMBER OF "DUMMY OWNERS," THEY SAID.

FEDERAL INVESTIGATORS, WHILE PRIVATELY CONCEIVING THAT THIS FAR EVIDENCE HAD BEEN DISCOVERED TO CONNECT THE CAR WITH UNLAWFUL ACTIVITIES, ARE DETERMINED TO MAKE EVERY EFFORT TO OBTAIN ITS COMPLETE HISTORY AND, IF POSSIBLE, PREVENT ITS RETURN.

WHY THE WAR DID NOT END IN 1918

Lloyd George Tells How He Squelched Peace Talk

THE SECOND VOLUME OF THE "WAR MEMOIRS" OF DAVID LOYD GEORGE NOW IS AVAILABLE; AND IT GIVES ONE, UNINTENTIONALLY, ABOUT AS DREADED AND DISCOURAGING AN INSIGHT INTO THE WAR TRAGEDY AS ONE EVER COULD WANT.

AS 1918 DREW TO A CLOSE, THE WORLD WAS GETTING TIRED OF WAR—UNDERSTANDING THE FRUITLESS SACRIFICES OF VERDUN AND SOMME WERE MATTERS OF RECENT MEMORY. IN ALL COUNTRIES TENTATIVE MOVEMENTS TOWARD PEACE WERE BEGINNING. THE BRITISH CABINET DISCUSSED A PEACE PLAN. GERMANY WAS KNOWN TO BE READY TO TALK PEACE.

IT WAS LOYD GEORGE, MORE THAN ANY OTHER STATESMAN WHO SQUELCHED THIS TALK. A NEGOTIATED PEACE AT THAT TIME, HE INSISTED, WOULD SETLE NOTHING. THE WAR MUST GO ON UNTIL COMPLETE VICTORY HAD BEEN GAINED.

GERMAN MILITARISM MUST BE CRUSHED ABSOLUTELY. THE ALLIES MUST STICK TO IT AND ADMINISTER A KNOCKOUT BLOW. OTHERWISE THE POST-WAR YEARS WOULD BE FRUGHT WITH DANGER, INJUSTICE, AND FEAR.

WELL, LOYD GEORGE HAD HIS WAY. IN THIS BOOK HE ELABORATES ON HIS STAND AND JUSTIFIES IT. AND IT IS STICKING.

IT WAS APPELLING TO FIND A RESPONSIBLE STATESMAN WHO SQUELCHED THIS TALK. A NEGOTIATED PEACE AT THAT TIME, HE INSISTED, WOULD SETLE NOTHING. THE WAR MUST GO ON UNTIL COMPLETE VICTORY HAD BEEN GAINED.

PEACE IN 1918 WOULD HAVE PREVENTED COMMUNISM IN RUSSIA AND HITLERISM IN GERMANY. THE OUTLOOK FOR PEACE TODAY COULD BE HARDLY WORSE THAN IT IS. THE WORLD MIGHT HAVE BEEN SPARED AN INFINITE AMOUNT OF SUFFERING. BY GOING ON WITH THE WAR THE WORLD GAINED—JUST WHAT?

ANYHOW, HERE'S LOYD GEORGE'S STORY. IT GIVES A VALUABLE INSIGHT INTO WARTIME STRATEGY AND DIPLOMACY. CITIZENS CERTAIN ENGLISH STATESMEN AND SOLDIERS RATHER SIMPLY, REMOVES SOME MORE OF KITCHENER'S HALO, AND TELLS ABOUT THE COLLAPSE OF THE ASQUITH COALITION CABINET. AND, AS I SAY, IT'S ALL PRETTY DEPRESSING.

PUBLISHED BY LITTLE, BROWN AND CO., IT SELLS FOR $4.

OPEN FORUM

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD: Thank you for your editorial "Cubist Show" last night. That is the way to talk when one is fed up on affections and wants to breathe pure fresh air and stand on honest ground. It would be well for Hartford and its art interests if the Hartford press dared be as free.

WHAT A SENSIBLE PERSON MAY THINK ABOUT THE ACTIVITY AT THE MORGAN MUSEUM WITHIN THE LAST FEW YEARS IT IS PROBABLY MORE DISCREET TO THINK THAN TO SAY.

THE CIRCUS MEN HAVE THE PRIORITY ON THE CRY "GREAT-EST LIVING" HAVEN'T THEY? THE REASON FOR THEIR CRY IS ANTICIPATED BOX OFFICE RECEIPTS. THIS PARTICULAR SHOW OF WHICH YOU SPOKE WILL CONTAIN SOME PICTURES WHICH WILL BE FOR SALE—ACCORDING TO A STATEMENT IN THE HARTFORD COURANT.

IT IS FOREIGN WORK BROUGHT INTO THE COUNTRY TO COMPETE AGAINST NATIVE WORK, AND AT THE BEHEST OF THE MUSEUM AUTHORITIES CONGRESSMAN KOPPLEMAN OF OUR NEW AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL WELFARE ADMINISTRATION INTERCEDES TO ENTER THOSE PICTURES DUTY FREE.

IF AMERICAN ARTISTS THEMSELVES WOULD COME OUT OF THE CLOUDS AND ORGANIZE THEIR STRENGTH AS ALL GOOD WORKMEN SHOULD—NO DOUBT THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOUR WOULD TAKE UP THE CAUSE FOR THEM AGAINST INSIDIOUS FOREIGN ART PROPAGANDA. THE BEST FOREIGN ART DOES NOT COME TO THIS COUNTRY. FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS PRIZE IT TOO HIGHLY TO LET IT GET AWAY FROM THEM.

THEY PREFER TO COMMERCIALIZE THEIR ART THROUGH TOURIST TRADE.

MUCH THAT IS FINE CAN BE SAID ABOUT THE WORK OF PICASSO, BUT SUCH THAT IS NOT FINE CAN ALSO BE SAID. BARK THAT HE IS THE "GREATEST LIVING" IS AN INDICIOUS INDEED. IT TAKES A GREAT MAN TO PERCEIVE GREATNESS. WHERE IS THE GREAT CAROLINE KORNER BRITTON.

MUCH OPPOSITION TO SEAWAY PACT

Called a Tough Proposition by Majority Leaders.

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Up against a tough proposition even in their own party ranks but expressing confidence, Democratic advocates of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty with Canada today argued determinedly in the Senate for ratification without perceptibly denting the opposition.

THE SENATE PROCEEDED QUIETLY along with the independent office supply bill, after the scars given the administration leaders there yesterday before they put across their stiff rule obviating unwanted amendments.

PUERTO RICAN AND PHILIPPINE affairs engaged President Roosevelt, with a conference on the St. Lawrence treaty thrown in as a new Senator La Follette (R., Wis.), back to the Senate saying they both were confident of ratification.

GENERAL BLANTON WINSHIP was named governor of Puerto Rico, succeeding the newly-resigned Robert H. Gore of Florida.

CHARLES FITZMAURICE, the President's co-author of the Philippine independence bill, said he would make no move to extend it after the expiration time next week, unless he hears that the Philippine Legislature has changed its attitude.

NEW LIQUOR TAXES took effect today, the President signing the bill levying them last night.

CHAIRMAN FITZMAURICE OF THE foreign relations committee led off for the St. Lawrence pact in the Senate, addressing his case to the Democratic side of the chamber because of the weight of objection there. Senator Clark (D., Mo.) was one who questioned his contentions.

AT THE OTHER SIDE OF THE Capitol, meanwhile, an administration-sanctioned bill to place motor buses and trucks operating in interstate commerce under interstate commerce commission regulation was introduced by Chairman Rayburn of the house interstate commerce committee.

HOUSE LEADERS HOPED TO SEND THE $568,000,000 independent offices bill to the Senate before adjournment today.

THEY EXPECTED NO ATTEMPT TO block passage of the bill despite the slimness of the 5-vote margin by which attachment of economy provisions was approved yesterday. Debaters, however, continued discussing the economy provisions.

THERE ARE 3,008 STATE DIVISIONS called counties in the United States, plus 64 parishes and 26 independent cities, which also have the status of counties.

CWA QUOTA HERE IS INSUFFICIENT

Must Put More Men to Work, Town Finds; Other Places in Like Position.

Manchester's position in regard to the CWA labor quota is the same as in other parts of the state, since a serious obstacle will be presented if the state quota for labor is not increased soon. At the present time the local quota of 439 men has been filled and with twelve being placed in the state employment bureau, the PWA and the CWA have still on file the names of over 800 men who stand but little chance under the present setup of obtaining employment.

Hope For Change Daily, the local charity department is visited by harassed men, and some women who make pitiful appeals for work. They have been given no hope but in many cases they have returned with the hope that something may have changed overnight to their advantage. In the opinion of Miss Helen Wood, director of the Federal employment bureau, Hartford, serious obstacles may be encountered in the Federal reemployment program in this state unless Connecticut's labor quota for CWA and PWA projects is increased.

"Unless we get a quota increase," Miss Wood asserted, "there will be only one job for every fifth person registered. Our office is being criticized by unemployed. Unless we get our quotas increased to take care of them, we may find ourselves in trouble."

State's Figures According to Miss Wood, the Hartford employment office, covering 22 towns in the county, has registered 14,820 unemployed, of which only 8,458 have been placed by the PWA, 184 by PWA and 645 in private employment. Included in the latter number were 506 women placed in domestic service.

The federal registration listed all men over 16 years of age not employed. The army registration listed 1,180 men and many registered since in the Hartford army. Last year the Manchester Emergency Employment Bureau listed from October 27 1932 through to August 12, 1933, 1,092 men and 263 women. They were placed in three classes: (a) basic, (b) unemployable, and (c) income insufficient to meet the needs of the family; (b) heads of families with some income and (c) single persons or those receiving an income sufficient to care for a family.

Registrars by ages showed that 74 men and 85 women from the age of 15-19 were registered last year. The largest class of registrations came in the age brackets from 20-24, with 202 listed. Under the first class, those having dependents and no income, the largest total of jobs or 20 per cent of all provided during the year were supplied.

785 Registered Again Registration by years, beginning with 1931, the first year in which the M. E. A. operated, showed that 735 persons, men and women, re-registered in 1932-33. Of the 1,093 men and 252 women registered in 1932-33 under the direction of the M. E. A., 500 married men or heads of families were given work; 121 single men received jobs; 81 married women or heads of families were placed in domestic part-time service and 36 single women were also given work of like nature.

At the present time there has been many inquiries regarding registration of unemployed women, but information in this connection has not yet been received by the local CWA office.

Due to the provisions of the CWA act which was aimed directly at the existing charity burden, the town then reaching top-heavy proportions, practically all of the dependent families in the first class (without income of any kind), were removed from the charity list. Only those unable to work and on the list previous to Nov. 11 still remain as charity cases dependent upon the town for their subsistence.

Charity Cost Drops Due to this provision of the civil works administration act, charity expense for the last quarter of 1933 dropped nearly one-half below that of the same period last year. Elimination of food, fuel, rent and miscellaneous orders for families on charity, heads of which had been given work, resulted in this appreciable reduction in the cost of the charity department.

During this period six tons of salt pork, 1,078 dozen of eggs and 1,560 pounds of government butter has in part supplied foodstuffs that might have had to be furnished the larger families. The payroll of CWA workers for the current week was $5,852.46 and will be distributed by check to 412 employees Saturday noon. Town Treasurer George H. Waddell, CWA certifying officer III at his home signed the weekly payroll last night. The total of the CWA payroll to date is $28,776.08.

POUGH NOT RECOVERED Ridgefield, Conn., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Postoffice Inspector S. E. Edmunson said yesterday no trace had been found of a postal pouch stolen Dec. 2 from a locked railroad freight house at Branchville. The pouch held mail for the Ridgefield postoffice, and while contents had not been made known, it was estimated there were two thousand letters in it, among them covers holding stock certificates and bank checks.

969 APPLY HERE FOR X-RAY TEST

Pictures Will Be Taken at Nathan Hall School Next Week.

The complete success of the local campaign to X-ray school children for the finding of tuberculosis cases, was indicated today when Superintendent of Schools F. A. Verplanck announced that a total of 969 applications for X-ray pictures had already been received. He stated that there was no doubt but that the total would run well over a thousand by the time the apparatus is placed in operation at the Nathan Hale school Monday morning.

The equipment, which takes X-ray pictures at the rate of one a minute, will be set up early Monday morning and will be available Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, providing enough time for all who desire to have an X-ray taken. Mr. Verplanck stated that adults would be welcome at any time during the day without appointment. The machine will be operated from 9 to 12 in the morning and 1 to 4 in the afternoon.

Dressing rooms have been installed at the school for the use of children and adults. Pupils from outlying schools will be transported to the Nathan Hale in special buses and it is expected that about 400 will be examined daily from Monday to Wednesday.

NEW STATE BAN ON PARRAKEETS SOON EFFECTIVE

Effective on Monday, persons who buy, sell or transport parakeets or other birds anywhere in Connecticut will be subject to a fine of $100 or three months imprisonment or both, according to an announcement made in the State Department of Health weekly bulletin today. The reason for this announcement was that at its last meeting the Connecticut Public Health Council in order to guard citizens of this state against the dread disease of psittacosis added a regulation to the Sanitary Code making commerce in these birds illegal after January 15.

Investigations, the bulletin reports, have shown that parakeets have been responsible for all of Connecticut's recent troubles with psittacosis and that as recently as last fall human infection by the diseased birds was traced to infected parakeets, shipped from California aviaries. There are at present regulations designed to prevent the shipment of infected parakeets from one state to another, but such birds have escaped detection and have spread the psittacosis virus.

Since the latter regulations apparently were not stringent enough to prevent shipment of diseased birds, the Public Health Council deemed it advisable to enact the new regulation entirely prohibiting buying, selling or transporting parakeets or love birds in Connecticut. The regulation which according to statute is just as binding as a law enacted by the Legislature becomes effective on January 15, 1934.

MURDERER IS HANGED Montreal, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Philip Pelletier in whose conviction a shirt button played a major part, was hanged early today at the Montreal jail for the murder of his cousin, Mrs. Marie-Ange Guerin, July 20, 1933.

Her death was caused by asphyxiation from a towel pushed down her throat. Suspicions were planned on Pelletier when a shirt button found to match those on one of his shirts from which a button was missing, was discovered by detectives near the bed on which Mrs. Guerin's body was thrown by her assailant.

DIED FROM SUFFOCATION Waterbury, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Joseph Yaginas, 50, found dead in his bed early today died from suffocation, in the opinion of Medical Examiner Kirschbaum, which came about when he threw himself face downward and buried his face in a pillow. There was no sign of distress as life had ebbed. He had lived alone in a basement room.

WAPPING

The Wapping Parent Teachers Association held their regular meeting at the school hall last Monday afternoon with thirteen members present. Mrs. Dixon of Manchester gave a demonstration of candy making. She made fudges, fondants and potato candy, which were sold and the money went to the treasury.

There was a large crowd present at the whist, bridge and checkback party given at the Wapping school hall last Wednesday evening and a goody sum was received which will go towards the dental clinic for the school children.

The next meeting of Wapping Grange will be held Tuesday evening, January 23, and there will be installation of officers. Irving Wickham of Manchester Grange and his installing team will do the work.

The following committee was appointed by the members of Wapping Grange to build a cupboard for the property of the Grange in the new Community church house, where the Grange have voted to hold their meetings, beginning Jan. 23: James Preston, Oscar D. Strong, Edward P. Collins, Wallace Hall and the lady assistant warden, Mrs. Julia Luddy.

The 4-F Club held their regular meeting at the home of their leader Miss Elsie Nevers last Wednesday evening.

The Wapping Grange Dramatic Club have selected two plays, and are making arrangements for rehearsals.

GIRL SCOUTS TO GIVE PLAY FOLLOWING RALLY

A pageant, "The Evolution of the Campfire," will be one of the features of the Girl Scout rally and scout demonstration to be held at the State Armory Saturday evening, February 10, from 7:30 to 9:30. It will consist of six episodes and five of the troops will take part. The remaining five troops will appear in the different demonstrations of scout work.

All of the scouts will have a part in the final episode, the "Girl Scout Campfire." All troops have already begun intensive work on their individual parts. Five and ten-year service strips will be awarded during the evening. Tickets will soon be in the hands of members of the organization and it is hoped all parents and friends will attend.

Miss Jane Grant, captain of Troop 11, who has had experience in dramatic work, is serving as chairman of the arrangements. Mrs. Sydney Brown, a graduate of Smith College who has filled important dramatic roles since her college days, has consented to coach the cast for the pageant. She recently directed the arrangements of the troop, who successfully presented a play at the Manchester Green school.

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is willing to testify before the Senate committee investigating air mail contracts concerning his aviation financial transactions.

A witness told the committee Lindbergh received $250,000 worth of stock in transcontinental air transport while associated with the company in a technical capacity.

GAR WOOD UNINJURED WHEN HIS PLANE UPSETS

Detroit, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Gar Wood's airplane nosed over on the ground at the Marysville, Mich., airport and was damaged late Thursday but the famous speedboat builder and pilot was uninjured.

Wood, flying alone, was landing at the airport to inspect several speedboats and was coming to a stop when the wheels sank through ice that covered a low spot on the field.

"The plane went over slowly and a piece was broken out of the top of the fuselage," Wood said upon his return by automobile to his home in Grayhaven. "It felt like going down in the Miss America bottoms up. It was one of those things a pilot has to go through before he becomes a real one, I suppose," Wood said.

Wood said he was going only "about 10 miles an hour." He said he "simply sat tight waiting to see what would happen next."

It was Gar Wood's second plane mishap in the last six months. Last August before the Harmsworth race he was forced to set down his amphibian in Lake St. Clair when engine trouble developed. He floated several hours before he was rescued.

TOLLAND PLANS BIRTHDAY BALL

County Democratic President Keeney Names C. S. McCarthy Chairman.

The Tolland County Democratic Association following its annual meeting in Rockville Monday evening decided to sponsor a general organized County observance of President Roosevelt's birthday, Jan. 30, and it is apparent from the early interest and enthusiasm being manifested that the affair will be one of the most successful events ever held in Tolland County.

A committee of thirty has been named by County President John N. Keeney with Charles S. McCarthy chairman, who will assign the members to various sub-committees to work out the numerous details of the affair.

The sub-committees will be so divided as to cover every feature of the general plans that have tentatively been worked out and inasmuch as the observance to cover the entire thirteen towns of the County, with charitable, fraternal and social organizations lending their support, it is felt the affair will be a much greater success than if sponsored by any of the contingent towns to Rockville. The following committee has been named:

Charles S. McCarthy, chairman; National Committeewoman Fannie Dikar Welch, vice chairman; State Central Committeeman Ernest H. Woodworth, treasurer; Raymond Spielman, secretary; City Committee Chairman Frederick G. Hartenstein; Town Committee Chairman Leo B. Flaherty; Charles Connors, Francis Leonard, Clarence J. whatever that it will. It is a perfectly fine scheme, logical and scientific, and in about a hundred years, perhaps, it might fit into the American set-up—maybe in a good deal less than that. But it is not a matter of the nervous, apprehensive today.

U-TURNS

Enforcement of the rule against U-turns on Main street between Bissell and Maple streets will impose very little hardship on anyone and undoubtedly will serve to diminish to a considerable degree the traffic dangers in the small area involved. The practice of making U-turns in this particular locality is particularly dangerous to pedestrians, since it creates sudden and unexpected situations on which even the most cautious person has not calculated when he assays to cross the unusual width of Main street. Several cars making U-turns at the same time within the limits of a single block—a not unusual happening in recent months—sometimes cause a degree of traffic confusion altogether intolerable; and the pedestrian is in more danger than anybody else.

Drivers who have been accustomed to turning wherever they choose along this busy stretch may find themselves put to some trifling inconvenience by the new rule, but the elimination of the U-turns will eliminate, on the other hand, the not inconsiderable inconvenience to other drivers that these turns so often cause.

The new regulation is a reasonable one and its limitation to this short stretch of the principal business street is generous to the U-turner. If it had been made applicable between Bissell street and the Center as well it would still have been reasonable. However, even with its short limitations, the rule should prove a marked benefit and deserves willing and unqualified obedience.

MANY IN ONE

It is now anticipated that President Roosevelt, instead of taking over by executive authority the gold in the Federal Reserve banks, may ask Congress for special legislation authorizing such a movement in order to avoid any possible legalistic complications concerning the gold backing of Federal Reserve notes. In case some such measure comes before Congress there will be a perfect showdown of the relative strength of deflationary and inflationary forces in the national legislature.

It may well be that the sooner we have such a showdown the better. If there exists in Congress a body of opinion in opposition to this conversion of the nation's gold into the nation's possession powerful enough to defeat such a measure, then there is lack of adequate support for the basic philosophy underlying all this administration's efforts. In such an event the country would have to do a right-about and try to solve its problems in some altogether different, though as yet unformulated, way.

SUGGEST SOMETHING

We would give a nickel to know what Louis G. Tolles, master of the Connecticut State Grange, meant by that speech he delivered in Hartford on Tuesday; if he meant anything—which is to be doubted. "The NRA is in operation," said he, "the CWA and all the rest of the alphabet may be arranged and applied if you will, but never again will America hold her head high among the nations of the earth until the American farmer by some method not yet devised has had restored to him his normal purchasing power. We are wasting precious time while the ship of progress is drifting toward the rapids of oblivion."

How, we should very much like to have Mr. Tolles tell us, is this time, which he says is being wasted, to be applied in restoring the normal purchasing power of the farmer? Has he the remotest glimmer of an idea? If so why not let the rest of us into his secret? Would it be a good idea to pass an income tax law requiring every farmer mechanic who earns a thousand dollars in a year to pay over half of it to a fund to be distributed among the farmers? We don't believe Mr. Tolles means that, but what on earth does he mean?

constitutional amendment, so that the city dwellers, being prevented from spending their money on milk, potatoes and veal. And that scheme, tried for thirteen years, didn't turn out to be so hot.

If this country, and this administration, haven't turned themselves inside out in perfectly frantic efforts to help the agricultural interests, pray what have they been doing?

HIGH-UPS AND JAILS

While the Bayonne municipal pawnshop swindle, in which approximately any number of French politicians are mixed up, is beyond the ken of most people at this distance, it is still possible to appreciate the irony of the plight of M. Garat. M. Garat is one of the politicians suspected as an associate of the swindler Stavisky, who either shot himself or was bumped off by the police a few days ago. M. Garat is in Bayonne jail in connection with the swindle. In the jail he has caught a very bad cold, for it is a chill and morbid place for a person accustomed to the comfortable if not florid living of a French mayor. What makes it especially interesting is the fact that M. Garat about a year ago, when he was still mayor of this very town of Bayonne, vetoed a decision of the town council to install a heating plant in the community hoosegow.

Which suggests that there are some eminently respectable, not to say distinguished, persons in this country of ours who, in view of recent revelations, may not unreasonably be expected to develop an intense interest in the improvement of prison conditions in the United States.

FUTILITY

A very fresh young bandit in Boston held up a policeman and a newspaperman and robbed the cop of his pistol, his billy and his money. But he didn't rob the newspaperman. Let's repeat that: He did—not—rob—the—newspaperman.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

Washington Finds It Hard To Drink Legal... There's One Picture That Johnson Ignores... New Brand of Trade War Found... NRA—"No Rate Allowed."

By RODNEY DUTCHER Herald Washington Correspondent

Washington, Jan. 12.—Congressional roars over liquor prices come straight from the heart.

The boys are returning here to find a miserable post-riot situation and, if congressmen are as prone to human weakness as heretofore, Washington's bootleggers will continue to enjoy profitable relations with Capitol Hill.

Suburban Montgomery county in Maryland is this city's nearest source of supply for bottled goods. County dispensaries will sell you gin at $2.50 a quart, blended rye at $5 a quart, and Scotch whisky at $5.50 a quart.

Another War Reges. One of the most enthusiastic supporters of the oil code here was a gent whose business connections were mysterious. He lobbied all over the place for the price-fixing provisions, which opponents said would result in soaking the consumer.

hoped oil prices would go high. So did all the coal operators.

That was only one of many instances which have attracted NRA attention to the problem of the struggle between competing commodities as affected by codes.

Fuels are an excellent example. Coal competes with oil, gas, and even electricity. In such cases, NRA officials believe they may have to deal with competing commodities in groups.

Competing foods and compensatory taxes to offset the effect of processing taxes long have been a part of A.A.A. problem. Down there they find all types of fish, fowl, and fowl—not to mention oysters, sirups, cereals, and so on—competing with one another for places in the national diet.

PIN NEW YORK

By Julia Blanshard

New York.—From the social goings-on of the holidays it would almost seem that New York's Four Hundred thinks that the American government has just recognized the old Czarist government, instead of the new Communist U. S. S. R.

The (Ex-) Grand Dukes or (Ex-) Grand Duchesses are the biggest drawing cards any hostesses can have as guests of honor.

At big parties these days, smart society folk practically fix their knees when bowing to (Ex-) Grand Duchesses Marie, who was a poor relation of the late Czar, and who now can never hope to see her family re-instated as rulers of Russia.

The gala night of the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe, with a champagne supper afterwards at the Savoy Plaza, illustrated perfectly the glamour anything approaching royalty still has for democratic America.

The ballet itself, trained in the old Czarist tradition, was well worth seeing for its technique and beauty. But the biggest parties and the most notable ones were grouped about some former nobleman or noblewoman who lost his title and all right to it when Soviet Russia took over the land of the former Czar.

Probably the prime example of this bowing to former titles is the reverence with which society regards Prince Midvanti, product of Georgia; one of the least of Russia's provinces, who now is the husband of Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutten.

The Ballet Russe drew a spectacularly brilliant crowd, with crime, diamonds, tuxes, top hats and even invasions in the old-world tradition and dignity. From boxes "Bravo" sounded from time to time, sending excited thrills down democratic backs to think of the European favor that America has at last.

The theater was perfumed for the occasion but sharp noses could detect moth-ball odors conflicting with the "Crepe de Chine" scent, for many of the formal gowns and evening capes and wraps looked as if they had been taken out of storage since the Revolution.

Champagne flows. No recent party has been more exciting than the midnight supper after the ballet at the Savoy Plaza.

In the first place, those who have only seen Otto Kravath and Metropolitan Opera occasions enjoyed thoroughly seeing him drink champagne out of a sipper, although it was for purposes of news pictures rather than for romance.

Also it was interesting to see Otto Kahn deep in conversation with a stunning blonde who wore the most sophisticated black siren dress present, cut very low, with a scintillating jeweled cross suspended from her neck by a slender platinum chain.

SOME COMMON SKIN DISORDERS

In many ways the skin is one of the most remarkable organs in the body, the skin also acts almost as a mirror, and many disease conditions inside of the body are revealed through the state of the skin.

In today's article I will tell you something about the common skin disorders. Eczema and psoriasis may be said to be a chronic form of skin inflammation which results when a systemic toxemia is produced by the continual use of wrong food combinations. This creates an over-acid state internally and brings on a skin irritation as this excess acid is eliminated by the body through the pores of the skin.

Acne is a skin disorder characterized by pimples and blackheads, in which, in addition to acidosis, there is a plugging or blocking of the oil glands of the skin. Some of the causes of acne are: the consumption of greasy or rich foods, candy, constipation and improper cleansing of the skin.

Many people are troubled with hives, or nettle rash, which appears in the form of wheals accompanied by intense itching and a burning sensation. These wheals may become as large as a half dollar. A case of hives can only occur when the patient is suffering from a chronic acidosis, and each attack is preceded by digestive upsets, a coated tongue and perhaps headache. An attack may seem to follow the eating of certain foods, but is always preceded by some irritation of the digestive tract.

Erysipelas is an acute skin eruption and this disease is commonly regarded as being caused by a certain germ and is believed to be contagious. The eruption consists of dark red patches which spread, accompanied by a swelling of the underlying tissues. The affected parts become painful and burning. It is often an intense itching and burning. The most common form is that seen on the face. When the main cause of erysipelas is removed, you will find that the disease remains permanently cured.

At this time there is a great deal of interest in ringworm of the toes, also called Athletes Foot. All forms of ringworm are contagious and may be transmitted from one person to another, providing that the skin of the second person is not resistant enough to withstand the invasion of this type of growth. Ringworm can be cured by the use of a cleansing diet to clear up the condition of acidosis, which is present, together with the application of a suitable

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Swollen Finger Joints

Question: Miss U. S. A. from Cleveland: "Two of my fingers are painful during the winter. They become very stiff and the joints enlarge. My other hand becomes very cold. What do you advise?"

Answer: It is difficult for me to tell you the cause of your trouble in your two fingers during the winter as I have not been able to examine you. Since the cause of your symptoms might be due to arthritis I believe that the best plan would be for you to use the treatment suitable for the relief of this disorder. The too-cold sensation might be due to poor circulation.

Nose Picking

Question: "Canadian" from Moose

Answer: Nose picking is a common habit, but is occasionally due to an irritation present in the nasal membrane, which arouses the impulse to scratch or pick the nose. I would suggest that the best plan is for you to write me for my article called "A Mucus Cleansing Diet," as this gives a regimen which would be helpful to you in lessening any catarrhal inflammation which may be present.

Dandruff in the Ear Lobe?

Question: K. Y. Z. in New Orleans wants to know: "What could be the cause of dandruff in the ear lobe?"

Answer: The condition which you refer to as dandruff in the ear lobe is probably a scaling caused by eczema. I would advise you to keep the ear warm with warm water or with olive oil, as the latter will tend to soften the scales. Since you enclosed a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope, I am sending you my article on Skin Disorders which contains some information regarding Eczema which I know you will find helpful.

THE BARGAIN HOUND

Hall January 13th! It's the beginning of a ten day closeout sale on crepes, fallie and lively print dress lengths at 98 cents and $1.35 at Cheney's Salesroom. And I'll have to tell you, this is your last chance to get some of those lovely transparent velvets at $1.50 a yard.

If winter's here, those flutters and frilly frocks can't be far behind. If you are battling the chilly northern blasts, it will warm your heart to glimpse the fashions Young America is going to disport a few short months hence. Due to be popular this Spring is the Wind-blown silhouette which Gladys Parker sketches and talks about in her sprightly Femininities feature on the home page soon.

Say, I saw something "extra special" in the way of radios at A. W. Benson's this morning. Just the right size Philco for $20. How's that for a discovery?

Kid gloves having wide, intricate worked antelope cuff, indicate the advent of more fanciful Spring hand fashions.

Have you been looking for unusual chintzes for curtains or chair coverings? Well, I bumped into the best looking ones at Watkins Drapery Shop this morning. Some of them were as high as $1.25 a yard but they now have tags bearing the amazingly low price of 89 cents a yard.

It's good news to the housewives that a favorite brand of sheets may now be had with hems even at top and bottom. The same manufacturer, in response to popular demand is now cutting them longer; not only that but adding "quick pick tabs" so that one can instantly select sheets for the single beds out of the pile. Why didn't some one think of that before? I have known women laboriously marking them with different devices, and at that it was some time before they could find what they wanted.

The handsome wardrobe which Lynn Pontas chose from Paris couturiers for the London production of "Reunion in Vienna" included two costumes which forecast the spring trend of fashion. One is a silver brocade evening dress and a beige linen morning frock from Molyneux. The evening gown has a very high waistline, low décolletage, surplice bands which cross in the center front of the bodice and a long, sweeping train. Molyneux also made an evening coat of flame velvet trimmed with nature blue fur for the glamorous actress. Snuggly fitted through the hips, it flares in graceful manner below the knees and ends in a long train. The linen sports or mourning dress with gallich buttons of the same color has ruffled sleeves, a huge bow which ties under the chin, and two large patch pockets.

For these new hats—pile your curls up into the space between the neck and high peak of the hat.

Happy day tomorrow—Dollar Day at Hale's! One of the outstanding bargains is crepe underwear, regularly priced much higher.

Many times children won't sit still for a picture in strange surroundings, when they would be perfectly at ease at home. Here's where home photography is convenient. Call 5853, the Fallot Studio, and have Mr. Fallot come to your home at your convenience.

Richardson, who came to Manchester from Thompsonville two years ago, had been unemployed for some time, but recently succeeded in getting a CWA job, for which he was paid $15 a week.

Some evening while winter is blowing its worst, try a supper of baked beans for the family. The menu will be something like this: Crisp celery Olives Chilled Gherkins

Here's a good frosting—Coconut Butter Frosting. 1-2 cup butter, 2 cups confectioner's sugar, 1-4 cup cream, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup shredded coconut. Cream butter, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. This with cream as mixture becomes stiff. Add vanilla. When frosting is of consistency of whipped cream, spread on cake. Sprinkle with coconut. Makes enough frosting to cover tops of two 9-inch loaves.

Dispossession by the landlord of the Union Place house, Richardson said he returned when he was looking for the money in the bureau drawer. He spent thirty-five cents of it for the jelly doughnuts. Richardson gave no reason why he stole the money, but the apparent facts in the case indicated he was determined to buy food for his young ones, whatever the cost might be.

The best is always the cheapest in the end—that's why people have their radios serviced by Fotterton and Krah. And say, take your tubes to their store for a reliable "8 point" test—the only one in town.

Dr. McCoy's menu suggested for the week beginning Sunday, January 14th: Sunday Breakfast—French omelet on Melba toast; Applesauce. Lunch—Leg of mutton; Spinach; String beans; Crisp celery. Dinner—Celery soup; Roast pork; Buttered asparagus (canned); Molded vegetable salad; Pineapple snow.

Don't let this balmy weather make you too optimistic. Blustering winds are yet to come and when they do you can laugh at them if your coal bin is stacked with Honey Brook coal. Call 9067, the Steam Coal Company and place your order. They have stove, furnace and chestnut coal, and Connecticut Kopper's Coke.

For those who are fortunate enough to be planning a travel wardrobe—gray is probably the wading color. No Riviera wardrobe will be complete without a gray flannel suit, which is particularly chic when worn with a cornflower-blue blouse or sweater and accessories.

Salisbury steak is a bit more out-of-the-ordinary than hamburger, but uses the same round steak in its make-up. To make it put round steak through the food chopper twice. Season well, using one teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper to each pound of meat. Make into round flat cakes and broil in a fine wire broiler under or over a clear flame. Salisbury steak is broiled, never pan-broiled.

The Jeanne Duc hats are an indication of the newly awakened interest in the styles of the Louis XVI period. They are the most irresistibly silly things imaginable, perching as they do on the top of the head like large straw butter-fies.

Evening frocks are so soft and billowing that those wearing them seem to drift, not walk into a room.

Maybe your scalp doesn't respond to ordinary treatment but don't worry about it for you can always be sure of satisfactory results from an electric treatment by an ultra violet ray vibrator at the Lily Beauty Parlor. Dial 7484.

Renewed interest in American shares, it was understood, was based principally on the belief of foreign operators and investors that the market was near a bottom and that advice from Washington have indicated. In foreign circles, it was pointed out, the impression seemed to be growing that the administration will soon seek legislation permitting the Treasury to take over some $38,000,000 in gold from the Federal Reserve system and, at the same time, devalue the dollar to around its present theoretical 60-cent level with the President still retaining his power to further cut the value to 50 cents if he finds it desirable.

Ernest Doellner of 65 Cooper street, and a party of local fishermen, are reported to have caught their limit on Hall's reservoir in Chaplin. Fishings has been good ever since the last cold wave. The ice on local ponds and nearby lakes is of sufficient thickness for safe fishing at the present time. Last year during the ice fishing season lack of safe ice prevented all but a few parties venturing on the dangerous surfaces of local ponds. With 12 days left until the open season ends, it is expected that the recent success of local fishermen will spur local fishermen to visit their favorite haunts.

STEALS TO FEED HIS HUNGRY TOTS

North End Man Extended Leniency by Court Here This Morning.

Ordered out of his home on Union place presumably because he was unable to pay the rent, and driven to desperation by the pitiful pleas for food for his three hungry children, Clifford S. Richardson used thirty-five cents to buy jelly doughnuts for his little brood, out of $7 which he stole from a bureau drawer in John Chartier's home at 245 North Main street last night, it was brought out in Town Court today.

Leniency was extended by Judge Raymond Johnson because Richardson's wife and family are destitute. The man was given a suspended jail sentence of 30 days.

Richardson, who came to Manchester from Thompsonville two years ago, had been unemployed for some time, but recently succeeded in getting a CWA job, for which he was paid $15 a week.

Dispossession by the landlord of the Union Place house, Richardson said he returned when he was looking for the money in the bureau drawer. He spent thirty-five cents of it for the jelly doughnuts. DROPPING INACTIVE CHURCH MEMBERS

Second Congregationalists Find List Is Greatly Reduced by Policy.

The annual meeting of the Second Congregational church was held last evening. Following the opening prayer by the pastor, Rev. F. C. Allen, Joseph Wright was elected moderator. The report of the clerk, Mrs. W. J. Taylor, showed that the membership had been considerably reduced even though 19 new members had been admitted during the year. In line with a movement among churches and organizations in general, a committee had been appointed to influence those long on the list and living out of town, to apply for letters to churches in those places. The result of this campaign, with the number placed on the "inactive" list, reduced the taxable membership roll by more than one hundred.

The report of the treasurer, George F. Borst, was made on printed leaflets which were distributed to all present. The finances of the church are in a satisfactory condition at the beginning of the year, 1934. Louis J. Tuttle, chairman of the business committee, gave an account of the expenditures for the year, major items being an asphalt shingle roof on the church and a new heater in the paragon. The report of the pastor followed, and in the main it expressed his approval of the support and loyalty of the workers in the various church organizations. J. C. Owers, superintendent of the church school gave a detailed account of the work of the department and was accorded a ringing vote of thanks on motion of F. V. Williams. Mrs. Frank V. Williams reported for the primary, Miss Edna Christensen for the beginners, Mrs. F. C. Allen for the Cradle Roll, Mrs. Josephine Tuttle for the home department; (read by the pastor) and the Goto-Church band by Mrs. J. M. Williams. Mrs. Harry Rylander of the Missionary committee, read the report of the chairman, Mrs. E. S. Edgerston. Mrs. H. L. Tenney read the report prepared by Mrs. Carl Allen, chairman of the Committee on Religious Education, which has sponsored the Vacation Church school the past seven years. Mrs. James M. Shearer reported for the music committee, her assistants being Mrs. Mildred Park and Mrs. William Knoda. Mrs. Shearer praised the faithful volunteer choir and the organist, F. A. Wilbur. In turn the music committee was given a ringing vote of thanks for their interest during the past year.

EDUCATION BOARD REJECTS CWA PLAN

Four of Six Channels to Spend $300 Fund Not Considered Feasible.

The Town Board of Education last night rejected the CWA project to provide work for teachers who are unemployed and in need, being convinced that four of the six channels through which the local allotment of $300 monthly could be expended were not feasible. The other two channels, vocational guidance and vocational rehabilitation, have been left to Director J. G. Echmalan, who is now working to form classes in this field, to be taught by unemployed instructors.

Superintendent of Schools F. A. Verplanck, who has given the project extensive study, pointed out to the Board members the inadvisability of attempting to use the funds allotted through the CWA. Limited channels recommended by the CWA. When the project was announced, it was stated that the money could not be used in the education of children now in the State schools. Adult illiterates. The CWA recommended that the money be expended in forming a class to teach adult illiterates. Such a class was formed when the local evening school opened and nineteen persons made up the class, but the enrollment has now dwindled to nine. Another suggestion was the formation of a class for adult education. This has also been done locally, the evening schools offering adults numerous and varied subjects of which to take advantage, and it was not felt advisable to set up additional classes. Nursery schools were also beyond consideration, due to the heavy preliminary expense involved. The fourth channel, rural education, was not considered as applicable to the town. 17 Applications. The Board is planning to give this matter further study, if in the future other courses are allowed. Mr. Verplanck reported that he had received seventeen applications for teaching positions under this project, eleven of the applicants having no experience whatsoever and the other six having more or less experience. School Insurance. Steps were also taken by the Board which will result in its control of school insurance. Each district handled its own insurance until consolidation, after which the Board of Selectmen placed the policies. When policies now in force run out and are renewed they will be placed by the Board of Education. Other matters of a routine nature were transacted by the Board.

M. H. S. BACK ON HOME FLOOR, FACES MIDDLETOWN TONIGHT

RED AND WHITE TO ENGAGE IN LEAGUE BATTLE AT ARMORY

Visitors Have Lost All Three Loop Games to Date But Are Noted for Ability to Spring Upset.

Manchester High's hoopsters return to their home floor at the State Armory tonight against Middletown High, after a three-game tour to West Hartford, Bristol and New Britain in which the Red and White gained one victory and were beaten twice. Middletown should not prove difficult for the locals, if they shake loose from the slump which hit the team in the Hardware City contest Wednesday night.

But One Victory
The visitors turned in their first victory in six starts this season a few days ago when they defeated Rockville High by a small margin. Middletown has lost all three of its league starts to date against Bristol, Meriden and East Hartford. Manchester, beaten by Bristol and East Hartford, and victorious over West Hartford, must win tonight to stay in the running to finish near the top of the league.

It is possible that Captain Al Salmon's, who has been out of the lineup all season due to football injuries, may see action tonight. Salmon was in uniform at Bristol, Meriden but did not play as Coach Clarke refused to take chances with the knee injury.

Bristol-Meriden
Interest in league competition tonight is centered on the Bristol-Meriden High clash at Bristol. Many are picking Meriden to end the long reign of the Maroon and White but it would be no surprise to see Coach Tommy Monahan's charges come through with a decisive triumph. East Hartford tactics West Hartford and needs a victory to keep undisputed possession of third place.

Coach Clarke will probably use his regular lineup against Middletown tonight with Johnson and O'Leary forwards; Sheldon, center; Smith and Judd, guards. The preliminary between the second teams is slated to start at 7:30 o'clock with the main encounter an hour later.

RANGERS GET STARTED AT LAST, TO OTTAWA

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Although they took a long time to get started, the New York Rangers finally have begun to go places in the National Hockey League and to look like the team which won the Stanley cup last spring. The whole Ranger squad functioned in its old form last night as the Blue Shirts climbed upward by defeating the Ottawa Senators 5 to 3.

Two other factors figured in the Ranger advance to the top of the American division. Chicago, which had been alone in first place, was held to a scoreless tie by the Boston Bruins and Detroit, formerly tied with the New Yorkers, played a 1-1 draw with the Montreal Maroons.

WEST SIDE REC POOL TOURNAMENT
The pairings for the doubles pool tournament at the West Side Rec were drawn from a hat last night with the following results: In the first round Gordon Fraser and Hugo Benson pair up against Eddie Warner and Jason Chapman. Ewald Steholski, the junior champion, will pair with Tommy Hagenow to play Francis Brimley and Tommy Cole. Larry Malone and Earl Bissell will meet Wilton McCormick and R. Carney and Stewart Vennert and Dave McConkey will meet Francis Mahony and Bert McConkey.

Chase Me, a Family Pet, Challenges Turf Greats

By BILL BRAUCHER
NEA Service Sports Editor
New York, Jan. 12.—The handicapper star of the 1934 racing season may be Equippoise, and then again maybe not. There is more than a wild chance that the big shot among the equines will be a five-year-old family pet called Chase Me.

The turf which periodically furnishes the world with a story of the underdog that became a champion the cart horse that once won the Grand National, for instance—knows no more bizarre tale than that of the crippled discoid, Chase Me, who finally was given a chance to run in the closing weeks of the 1933 season and won six straight races.

When he was two years old, this big brown gelding, offspring of a mighty Purchase out of Mayanel, a $600 mare, was found unfit for training because of bad knees. He was relegated to the peaceful life of a family pet at the farm of John Bosley, Jr., near Monkton, Md. The young Bosleys taught Chase Me how to "shake hands" and other cute tricks. He was schooled in jumping and used as a hunter.

Before the barrier was sprung, Chase Me lifted a leg, offering to shake hands with the amazed assistant starter. He looked like anything out a race horse, with his dangling surcingle, a trap that running thoroughbred do not wear. Mrs. Bosley thought Chase Me would feel more at home with it—so there he was.

Chase Me stayed back until the "dogs" reached the head of the backstretch. Then he passed them as though they were grazing and went on to win by 15 lengths.

The natural question was, "How long has this been going on?" Chase Me was rubbed down and sent to Laurel where in mid-October he was in against such class as Bold Lover, Cathop, Snapback, Keep

Out. Again Chase Me loped along until they reached that homestretch, again he passed the pack to win by two lengths.

Autounded, Mrs. Bosley determined to find out just how good Chase Me was. He was entered in a mile and a sixteenth at Laurel against White Clover II, Oca Pedro, Flagstone and others, conceding the tough White Clover seven pounds. Chase Me won by a length.

Three Games on Tap At the Rec Tonight

Three local teams will demonstrate their ability on the basketball court tonight at the School Street gym when they oppose two Hartford and one Rockville teams in three of the hardest games promoted Ben Clune has arranged thus far this season.

The East Sides and the Mitchell House, Jr., are scheduled for the first game which is called for 7:30 o'clock sharp. The teams appear fairly evenly matched and a close game should result.

The Jaffe Jewel team will take to the highways tonight when they travel to Southington to oppose the strong Sanitary Laundry team, winners of the half of the Southington town league. The game will be played at the Town Hall, being scheduled to start at 7:30 p. m. sharp. The Jaffe team has compiled a most impressive record in winning won six games and losing one and that to the Anasidi team after a hard struggle by the mere margin of one point. The following men will make the trip: Larson, Nelson, Tierney, brothers, Faulkner, Gorman, Anderson and Hyatt.

The Knoll Jrs., headed by "Red" Reimer will leave the School Street sec at 7:15 tonight and travel to Torrington to oppose the Junior team of that place.

The final and outstanding contest looks as one of the best action of the current season when the fast Anasidi team meets the strong collecting company team of Hartford in the final game. The Anasidi team will risk an unmarred slate in opposing the Hartford team. Although defeated by the local team earlier in the season the military boys are confident they can turn the tables in this game. The make up of the Hartford team includes some of Hartford's best players and while the Anasidi team holds one victory over the visitors they are not by any means anticipating an easy game.

The main contest between the two teams will be a handicap race in which there were Mate Pomposty, Thursday, Dominus, Watch Him, Mad Frump, Inlander, Kerry Patch, Osculator and Chaitomus—and was given top weight of 117 pounds to bear around.

He got away fifth. In the backstretch he loafed along third from last. As they neared the far turn he began overtaking them, one by one, giving his backers the greatest thrill a turf fan can have.

There remained only Mate, but for a time after they were straightened out for the run home, Mate looked good enough. Only for swift seconds, though. Jockey Gilbert went to the post for the second time, and Chase Me roared past the great Mate so swiftly he almost knocked him over into the infield.

Six races, six victories! And now whose pulse-beat a little faster as a field of bluebloods goes to the post are wondering if Equippoise will be brought back to the races this year to face this new tyrant of the turf—and whether Winooka, the Australian, can lick the former favorite.

IVAN WILLIAMSON, EX-MICHIGAN STAR, SELECTED FOR JOB

Some Observers See Choice as Sign That Blue Plans to Break With Tradition by Calling Kipke.

New Haven, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Ivan Williamson, captain and star end of the 1932 Michigan Wolverines, will be the new freshman end coach of Yale football. This announcement, which was the first to break the long-standing tradition of the University's coaching situation since the close of the season last year, immediately gave birth to much gossip.

Malcolm Farmer, director of athletics, said the appointment of Williamson had no bearing on what Yale plans to do about the rest of the coaching staff, for the 1934 campaign.

But some observers saw in the choice of Williamson a sign that Yale plans to break with tradition by calling on Harry G. Kipke, who taught Williamson football at Michigan, to take over the head coaching job, which last season was held by Eddie Rock.

The appointment of Williamson was announced by Farmer on his return from New York City, where for several days, he strove to reach some sort of agreement with an advisory faculty committee on whether Yale should cling to its policy of keeping the big job in its graduate family.

Williamson will coach the yearling basketball squad in addition to his football duties and will begin his new work, July 1. The terms under which the former All-American end was engaged were not disclosed.

The naming of Williamson came soon after reports that Farmer and President James Rowland Angell of the University were wavering in their insistence Root's successor be a Yale graduate, preferably Tad Jones, one time Yale coach.

BASEBALL IS HEALTHIER AT TURN INTO NEW YEAR

(This is another of a series of sports prospects written especially for the Associated Press by prominent leaders.)
By W. G. BRAGHAN
President, National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues
Durham, N. C., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Baseball, like other forms of sport and amusements, find itself much healthier in body and spirit at the turn into a new year. The employees of sport, I believe, will share in such a betterment of conditions for the employed. When we reach such a state, those enterprises which amuse and entertain the public are to benefit.

We applied the emergency brakes in 1933 in resistance to any further depression. We determined to operate on a conservative budget basis, and the results were very gratifying. I do not purpose to convey the impression that our enthusiasm should run promiscuously and get the better of our business judgment. We must proceed with caution; it will require judicious handling of our resources, but we have learned many things during trying times.

We are assured of several new leagues in our membership for 1934. We hope to add to this number usually unorganized baseball is being played in every community. Minor league baseball in my estimation, will hold an even keel in 1934, with progress being noted on less troubled waters. All branches of sport, I believe, will share in such an uplift, and our great American game of baseball will lead the way.

Wide-Open Field Looms At the Kentucky Derby

Expect Many Nominations Before Next Month; Only a Fraction of Them Will Go to Post in Race Classic

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 12.—(AP)—With a dozen or more promising three-year-olds looming as possible "dark horses" and no outstanding favorite, the sixtieth running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs here May 5 appears, at this early date, to be a wide-open contest.

When the entries close early in February a great many nominations are expected to have been made. Only a fraction of them will go to the post for the grand event of turfdom, but owners of the less conspicuous thoroughbreds are too familiar with the old training bugaboo that so often has been favorites withdrawn at the last minute to take chances on having their charges ready in case the winds of fortune prevent the better contenders from going to the post.

Stake blanks for the Derby were to be sent out about the middle of January. Whether the $50,000 added money given to the Derby winner in recent years will be decreased has not been announced. But regardless of the prize, the quality of the field of contenders is not expected to be reduced. Winning a Kentucky Derby—whether it carries $1 or $50,000—has been the goal of almost every turfman who ever entered the sport.

Among the more prominent prospects for the 1934 Derby are Mrs. Payne Whitney's Singing Wood; Mrs. Payne Whitney's First Mistral, Stron Over and Spy Hill; Charles T. Fisher's Mata Hari and Far Star; Mrs. Dodge Sloan's Cavalcade and High Quest; J. H. Louisa's Elmer Warren, Wright's Haddagal; E. R. Bradley's Bazaar and Blue Again; Mrs. C. M. Amory's Red Wagon; C. V. Whitney's Light Blue, Jabot and Roustabout; F. A. Burton's Wise Daughter; A. B. Gordon's Sir Thomas; Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Discovery; Mrs. H. C. Phipps's Slipdash; M. L. Schwartz's Observant; George D. Widener's Dowlat; J. W. Warriner's Sargent Byrne; William Woodward's Revere; A. C. Schwartz's Gay March and H. C. Phipps's Glendys.

Besides these, there are a score of others almost as highly regarded and almost as sure to be entered in the hope that fickle goddess of the turf—racing luck—might smile on them and bring their owners the singular honor that goes with winning a Kentucky Derby.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The added value of the 1934 Kentucky Derby to be raced at Churchill Downs May 5, will be $20,000 instead of $50,000, the amount added since 1921.

McCluskey Ready To Race Once More

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Fully recovered from a nose operation, Joe McCluskey, national and intercollegiate distance running champion, has decided to return to competition in the Manhattan Athletic League track meet tomorrow night. He has entered the two-mile handicap run.

McCluskey, who will be scratch man, will have to concede chunks of yardage to a big field of rivals and hardly figures to win. He believes he will need several races before he will approach his old form.

MERCHANTS GROUP PINEHURST GUESTS

Walter P. Gorman Host to Hartford Organization — Inspect Local Store.

Walter P. Gorman, proprietor of Pinehurst market, was the host to several members of the Hartford Mercantile Co., Inc., at a business meeting in the Pinehurst store last night.

Following the transaction of business, the grocers were entertained by a film showing the sources of raw materials used by the Campbell Soup Co., and how they are inspected and packed at the mammoth Campbell plants.

The pictures showed that supplies were drawn from all parts of the world. So many cans are used by the company for soups that the Continental Can Co., manufacturer of the containers, built a factory adjoining that of the Campbell Soup Co. in Camden, N. J., a moving belt running between the two factories conveyed a ceaseless flow of finished cans.

Announcement was made that the Campbell Soup Co., had added to its wide line of new soups—mushroom and noodle soups. Vegetable and tomato soups will be featured by Pinehurst in a week-end special sale tomorrow, and next week it is expected the new mushroom and noodle soups will be available.

Among the grocers who attended were: Herbert Austin, Edward and Fred Ray, William Scully, Irving Dodge, John Reardon, Thomas and William Preston, Frank Spodik, Al Squires, Philip Flaws, Oscar Caverton and the Messrs. Mills, Lowry, Dillon, Wilhelm, Dixon and Miss Carron.

PUTS 'BOAT ROCKING' EDICT AS TO BANKS UP TO WHITE HOUSE

(Continued from Page One) tion for the directors to borrow up to $15,000,000 to lift out criticized assets of member banks. Dropping this phase of the subject, Pecora pointed out the group had apparently been so much in need of funds as early as 1930 it had borrowed $5,500,000 and yet paid "substantial dividends" in 1931.

Cannot Remember "Did you sanction those dividends?" he asked. "I don't recall actually sanctioning them," Ford replied, "but I knew they were being paid and I didn't criticize them."

"Have you a good memory?" Pecora asked. "I think so," Ford said. "You haven't recalled most of the important things I've asked you about," Pecora scolded.

"I'm sorry," Ford replied, adding that he had many other transactions daily to remember. Questioned by Pecora, Ford said the Ford Motor Company paid the $4,500,000 and $2,500,000 loans on February 18, 1933, four days after the bank holiday in Michigan. He added he still had these obligations against the group.

In addition, Ford testified the Ford Motor Company extended a loan of $5,500,000 to the Union Guardian Trust Company in December, 1932. While Pecora examined some papers, Ford explained to Chairman Fletcher that he and Henry Ford and Mrs. Ford were the sole stockholders in the Ford Motor Company.

Not Been Repaid The $3,500,000 loan extended without collateral, Ford said, and has not been repaid. He added he did not know whether any interest had been paid. Pecora questioned Ford about negotiations for help from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation early in 1933.

Ford said Ernest B. Kessler, chairman of the group board and his wife's brother-in-law, discussed the situation with him, adding that he concurred in the plan to seek RFC aid. The Union Guardian Trust Company was in the worst condition, he said, and the plan was devised to put all the banks in good shape.

Ford said he was informed of the condition of the various banking units, but not in detail. "Did you ever attend a meeting of the directors of the group at which the condition of the banks was discussed?" Pecora asked.

"I don't remember," Ford replied, explaining his information came from discussions with officers of the group. He said he was informed the Union Guardian Trust Company was in a "frozen" condition. Ford said he could remember which other units he was told were in "bad condition," but thought they included the banks at Flint and Lansing.

When it was decided to ask for enough from the RFC to take care of all the units, Ford said, the loan figure ran to about $60,000,000, but later it was reduced to $41,000,000 or $45,000,000. All the remaining assets were offered for the loan, Ford said, but they were not sufficient. "The deficiency was added under questioning, was about $7,000,000. The collateral first offered, he said, was not considered by the RFC of "sufficient value."

Ford said he was asked to supply the collateral deficiency, by withdrawing the $7,500,000 of Ford deposits in the Union Guardian Trust Company. Later a suggestion was made, he said, that he supply additional new capital and also subordinate the deposits. "We wouldn't do it."

Ford said, referring to the additional capital. "We didn't come to a definite understanding on the subordination, but it was generally understood we would do that."

Ford said they were asked to supply $5,000,000 as capital for a mortgage company to make the loan from the RFC and this was the proposal that was refused. Questioned further, Ford said he had conferred on this subject with Ogden Mills, secretary of the Treasury and A. A. Ballentine, under-secretary, at the Treasury on February 6, 1933.

They pointed out to him, he said, that the situation in Detroit was "difficult" because of the "acute economic distress" and asked him to subordinate the Ford deposits. He said he did not give a definite answer.

Later on February 13, he said, he conferred with them in Detroit and "told them we wouldn't go any further."

MOVE FOR ACCORD IN WEIRTON CASE

Since then the Labor Board has agreed to turn over all cases in which it fails to obtain an agreement by conciliation to NRA's disciplinary board.

This procedure was started yesterday in the case of the E. G. Budd Manufacturing Company of Philadelphia, similar to that of Weirton Steel. If the procedure's decided upon, as Johnson indicated, an early hearing is in prospect to determine whether Weir actually violated the steel code. Court action if necessary would be taken after the hearing.

AARON JOHNSON, SWEDISH GROUP LEADER, IS DEAD

(Continued from Page One) that he learned the rudiments of the business through which in later years he earned remarkable success. He served as a clerk for some years and then opened a small grocery store for himself, on the savings he had accumulated. The store was located in what is known as the old Magneil house on Chestnut street, in 1895.

Grocery Business Grew His business increased to such proportions that the small basement store was not large enough. In 1897 he built a two-story building of his own on Chestnut street, devoting the entire first floor to his grocery business. He continued in this line of work for about fifteen years, when by thrift and fine business judgment, he was able to retire and devote his time entirely to several large real estate projects, which he had developed during his latter years of active work.

In 1908 he entered the local political field and was elected by a large majority to represent the town in the General Assembly. While there he sponsored some of the most important bills put through at that session of the Legislature, the most important being the Johnson Pure Food Bill, or Net Weight and Measure Bill, which provided that the net contents of every package of merchandise sold in this state must be clearly set forth on the outside of the package. He also initiated a bill making it possible to naturalize aliens in the Superior Courts of the respective counties of the state.

Sought Ten Cent Fare His hardest political battle and one which he finally brought to successful completion took place when he championed the ten-cent trolley fare between Manchester and Westford by the elimination of a short middle zone. The bill was not passed at that time but when Mr. Johnson became a member of the Board of Selectmen he again took up the fight which resulted to the elimination of the middle zone. He was re-elected as representative in the 1911 elections, serving his second term faithfully as well.

Later he was again called into public service by being elected to the Board of Selectmen, where he served for six terms, three as chairman of the Board. His outstanding accomplishment as a Selectman was to bring about the consent of property owners on Spruce street for the widening of the street.

The Emanuel Lutheran church on Elm street, one of the town's most imposing religious edifices, was built largely through his influence in the Swedish colony here. It was through his efforts that the land on which the church now stands was donated to the church, and he has always been of much financial assistance.

His Family He was married in 1885 to Miss Christine Magneil. Five daughters and a son were born of the marriage: Dr. Gertrude Kinsella, of New Britain; Mrs. Florence Anderson, of Newton Highlands, Mass.; Mrs. Mildred Paisley and Mrs. Irma Harrison, both of this town; Mrs. Maude Carlson, of West Hartford, and Dexter Johnson, of East Orange, N. J. All received their early education here and all are college graduates.

For many years, Mr. Johnson's home has been at 62 Linden street. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

FEAR ANOTHER DEATH.

Bridgeport, Jan. 12.—(AP)—While arrangements were being made today for the funeral of James A. Brotherton, 70, a retired carpenter of Southport, who was killed when struck by an automobile in Southport last night, physicians at St. Vincent's hospital expressed fears for the recovery of Mrs. Jesse Brotherton, 64, of Fairfield, his cousin, who was hurt by the same car. An examination disclosed that Mrs. Brotherton had received a compound fracture of the skull.

WEDDING GOWN PAGEANT AT Y. M. C. A. ON FEB. 2

Bridegrooms Must Be Produced However, Before Brilliant Spectacle Becomes Finished Success. A "wedding gown pageant" for Friday evening, February 2, in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A., is the activity that is at present engrossing the attention of the members of the women's division. Already they have been negotiating with prominent local families for the loan of wedding regalia that has been carefully preserved, and have the promise of a finished success. It is sufficient to say that the arrangements are in good hands. Mrs. C. B. Loomis, Mrs. R. K. Anderson, Miss Helen Malone, Miss Ruth Behrend, and Mrs. Welles Strickland are in charge.

Appropriate music will be played while the brides attired in costumes of the different periods march down the improvised aisle of the gym. Not a word as yet has been said about the bridegrooms, but it is agreed that these nonentities must be produced before the spectacle can become a finished success. It is sufficient to say that the arrangements are in good hands. Mrs. C. B. Loomis, Mrs. R. K. Anderson, Miss Helen Malone, Miss Ruth Behrend, and Mrs. Welles Strickland are in charge.

Chateaus went to the Chamber of Deputies apparently confident that it would grant him and his Cabinet a vote of confidence and accept the government's promises to clean out any officials guilty of complicity in the pawnshop scandal. But the lobbies seethed with talk predicting that the Cabinet might resign in order to prevent a vote which it was feared might proclaim to the world the legislators' lack of confidence in their government. The premier spoke and defended the ministry against insinuation of police and governmental corruption but admitted there had been widespread looseness and "rusty functioning" of various services.

BURGLAR STRIKES SNAG AT A BRIDGEPORT BANK

Bridgeport, Jan. 12.—(AP)—If Bernard Lesiak, 23, had stuck to the burglary business he might not be locked up at Stratford police headquarters under a $5,000 bond today. But Lesiak tried to mix banking with burglary, and that's what led to his arrest here last night. Lesiak, according to police, entered the home of Sylvia Galucci, Stratford, Thursday morning, and ransacked the bureau drawers, taking two bank books among other things. One belonged to Sylvia and the other to Josephine Galucci. Yesterday Lesiak went to the local bank. He wanted to draw out $50, he said, presenting one of the books. Lesiak didn't look much like the Galucci girls to the cashier, who notified the police and had the man arrested. He will be arraigned for burglary in Stratford, Jan. 15.

AMUSEMENTS

GETS CHANCE TO BAWL OUT JOHN BARRYMORE

Lee Tracy Thought It was a Gag But He Made Most of a Rare Chance.

"I thought it was a gag when they pulled it on me the first time." The effervescent, highly staccato Lee Tracy was talking at his usual amiable a minute speed as he whirled away a noon hour in his dressing room at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

He was discussing his recent appearance in the remarkable all-star cast of "Dinner at Eight," which opens Sunday at the State Theater, a cast including, besides Tracy, Marie Dressler, John Barrymore, Wallace Beery, Jean Harlow, Lionel Barrymore, Edmund Lowe, Billie Burke, Madge Evans, Jean Hersholt, Karen Morley, Louise Closser Hale, Phillips Holmes and May Robson.

"They come up to me," narrated Tracy, and said, "Lee, we've got a great part for you. You bawl the living daylight out of John Barrymore!"

Sat Up With a Jerk
"I sat up in my chair with a jerk. 'Say, I yelled, 'the last guy who bawled out a Barrymore is still picking crockery out of his neck!'" that they were on the level. Even then I was a little doubtful about the part. It wasn't very long and from the way they told it quickly it didn't sound so hot, outside of the ribbing I give Barrymore. Then I read it. Say, there was no hesitation after that. That ribbing scene is a popper. It has just the kind of "popper" an actor likes. This fellow Max Kane, you see, is a theatrical agent who is doing his best to get stage jobs for a flopping motion picture star. He works like a dog for this Renault, and then the guy turns on him and accuses him of double-crossing. And then does Kane go for him? Say, I'll bet the authors had to use asbestos gloves when they wrote those lines. That hot language sequence between the Managing Editor and me in "The Front Page" was a gentle sepher in comparison!

SUSPECTED REDS START HUNGER STRIKE IN CHINA

Widow of Former President Sun Yat Sen is Interceding for Prisoners

Shanghai, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Charges that authorities at Wanching are "deliberately murdering" Mr. and Mrs. Paul Noulens, hunger strikers, by refusing to grant their request for a retrial, were hurled today by Madame Sun Yat Sen.

The widow of China's first president has been asked by Noulens to care for his small son in the event of his death. The charges were contained in telegrams to Nationalist government chieftains at Nanking through which Mme. Sun Yat Sen hoped to gain reconsideration of the case before it is too late.

The Noulens were sentenced to death in 1932 on conviction of being ring-leaders in a Communist plot. The sentence later was commuted to life imprisonment. After unsuccessful attempts to gain a retrial, they began refusing food. Noulens is in the 24th day of his hunger strike; his wife in her 16th.

Basketball

ARROWS DEFEAT ORIOLES.
The Arrows came back strong last night to defeat the powerful Orioles to the tune of 16-13. Both teams played headsup basketball. Kerr and Duffy were the big guns for the Orioles. Rubacha scored most of the points while Vitner played a good floor game. The Arrows would like to arrange games with teams averaging between the ages of 12 and 15, and would like to hear from the Mohr's Bakery and the South Methodist Jrs.

NORTH ENDS BEATEN.

The Orioles, refusing to be aroused by a ten-game winning streak, just to make Tom angry. But it was a thankless business. The Orioles, led by Tom, took the floor in a "Y" senior league game last night and left with a well-earned 25-20 victory tuckey away in their rapidly improving record. The game ended in an 18-15 tie and an overtime period was needed to decide the count.

The hitherto good defense of the North End quintet lacked the soundness of other games and their offense was unable to pierce a group of hasty basketweavers, who are coming to the front at one of the leading quintets. The score was close with the Orioles leading 11-10 at half time and at the end of the third quarter 15-12. The North Ends tied the score by the final whistle but the Orioles came back in the overtime to clinch the victory. Big "Joe" Froch and Rubacha were outstanding for the Orioles and Hines played well for the losers.

Referee, Anderson.
Score at half time, 11-10, Orioles.

OXFORDS VICTORS
The hard fighting Oxfords of the Y. M. C. A. league defeated the Phantoms in a fast stepping game. The winners started a passing attack early in the first quarter and it was worked to perfection. The Phantoms started a desperate rally in the third quarter but were soon put to a stop. Kusek and J. Burke were the big guns for the winners as their shooting under the basket was outstanding while Grazziadio and Sweet went best for the losers.

Married Flirts

MABEL McELLIOTT
C. 1033 New Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
GYPSY MORELL and TOM WEAVER are married the same day as LILA HOTALING and DEREK BLISS. Lila expects to live in luxury, but Gypsy intends to keep her job, teaching in a settlement house.

The first night Gypsy and Tom spent in their New York apartment was a LILA HOTALING and DEREK BLISS. Lila expects to live in luxury, but Gypsy intends to keep her job, teaching in a settlement house.

Weeks later Lila and Derek return from their honeymoon in Europe. Lila and Derek are really want to quarrel with Tom. The very thought of it turned her just a little sick. They had been so happy. What serpent had entered, so suddenly, into their little Eden?

It was one o'clock. It was two. It was three. And the music went on and the smoke gathered in clouds and the glasses were filled and emptied, filled and emptied again. Her head began to ache and her spirits flagged. Looking from one face to another, she wondered why she stood it, night after night. Why, she was only 22, strong, almost without nerves, and yet she tired of it quickly. Marko, who made the social rounds so briskly, was 50, and his skin was stretched tight around his eyes, he seemed unliving. He must have unexpected stores of strength to draw upon. Marko, reflected Gypsy, was rather wonderful.

At three-thirty and how Gypsy blessed her for it! young Mrs. Wilford said they got there was something about an early start on the morrow. They were going south to Hot Springs. The party began to disintegrate.

Gypsy's own farewells to her hood's were the hollowest of polite lies. She hadn't enjoyed herself at all. She was tired to death, she was almost ill with annoyance at Tom and jealousy of Hilda Blanchard, she was a little ashamed of herself for her mild flirtation with Marko.

At yet she said all the correct things. Lila must come to lunch with her downtown—soon. Oh, she meant that, all right. Lila was sweet, she was gay and interested, friendly.

Gypsy was almost speechless with fatigue when the taxi deposited them at their own door. Tom helped her out, without a word. Still silent, he unlocked the door and stood aside to let her into the dark apartment. Gypsy switched on the hall light, yawned, dropped her wrap into a chair. Then she hastily picked it up again. A tidy husband, at least, he have so with their party clothes. As for her she must take excellent care of the few she owned, because it would be a long time before she would be able to afford others.

When she came out of the bathroom, having scrubbed the heavy scent of tobacco smoke from her hands and face, wrapped in her woolly robe, Tom was already waiting. His own things were neatly folded and laid across a chair back. Tom, she reflected, was that nice harbor a grievance. She had been inquiring glance and saw that he still wore the frown he'd adopted when they had left the others. Was Tom going to sulk? Oh, she hoped not. Gypsy, herself, could never harbor a grievance. She had been taught never to let the sun go down upon her anger.

As she brushed her hair, she could hear Tom's vigorous splashing. She let her gaze rove around the little room and what she saw she inevitably contrasted with Lila's exquisite boudoir. Involuntarily a sigh escaped her.

"Don't you feel well?" Tom was beside her. "Just tired." He threw back the covers on his Heart's Desire!

almiko, shaking her woolly head in address. "Such nice young folks, too," Dinah mourned.

"I didn't want to go, anyway," Tom stormed. "You made me. It was your idea. We don't belong with that crowd. We can't keep up with them."

"You liked it well enough, once you were there," she reminded him. "You had a good time. You danced with your friends."

"What would have me do?" Tom demanded. He couldn't, he said, be rude to the girl. She was darned attractive, anyhow.

This turned the knife in Gypsy's side. "Easy enough for her to be attractive," she flared. "She's probably got a personal maid, heaps of clothes, charge accounts everywhere."

"Oho, so that's it!" Tom stood up. "I suppose the idea is that I'm spoiling your looks, tying you down to drudgery."

"No . . . no . . . I didn't mean that." She began stormily to cry. She was so angry, so furious with everyone, the world, Tom, and herself in particular. What had happened to them both?

His manner changed. He came over and knelt down beside her, taking her small hands in his. He gave her a clean handkerchief.

"Don't cry, baby," he said, very gently. "We're both being such fools, and all about nothing."

But apparently Tom was the sort of man women ran after. She looked gloomily down a vista in which she rescued him from dozens of affairs. "I can't stand it!" she told herself, in despair. "I won't!"

That evening, when Dinah had cleared away and was clattering happily in the kitchen, dropping aluminum saucers with vigor and slamming spoons down upon the metal topped table, the Weavers "had it out."

It all began quietly. Gypsy started it with a remark about Marko. Tom said something cutting, and she flung back at him, all her good resolutions gone.

"I noticed Hilda Blanchard held on to you all evening," she said, bitterly.

"That's good." Tom's face was flushed. "You were listening to everything that old chap said. You didn't pay any attention to me."

It was terrible . . . terrible. They quarreled in low voices, so that they should not be heard above Dinah's clatter, but even in the kitchen, she stopped slamming kettles about and stood to listen, hands

McAULIFFE LEADS RAID ON GAMBLERS

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—"Big Dave" McAuliffe, hailed as a return from political exile when the new administration dug him out of Staten Island and made him police head of Manhattan, swung a personal axe at midnight last night in New Deal Gambling Raid No. 1.

The deputy chief inspector led his raiders to a Third Avenue loft, himself battering down the door and arrested 49 men, alleged to be an assortment of dice game operators and dice game suckers.

Billy Warren, purported proprietor of the place, was not present. The raid was a signal to the underworld that "Big Dave's" seal to smash the gambling game has diminished not one whit since the days when his activities in lower Manhattan caused politicians to seek, and obtain, his transfer to less important territories.

General John F. O'Ryan, new police commissioner, and Chief Inspector Valentine elevated him for the very qualities that caused a previous administration to demote him.

CHUCKLES

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Senator Steiwer, an Oregon Republican, emerged from an executive meeting of the banking committee which had been studying the administration bill to guarantee principal and interest on two billions of farm mortgage bonds. Asked if there was much opposition, he said with a grin: "Misgivings, but not much opposition."

Arguing that the severity of punishment does not discourage crime, Senator Copeland of a Senate crime investigating committee cites England's experience. England sought to discourage picking pockets by publicly executing the dips, he says. But the practice had to be abandoned because so many pockets were picked during the executions.

Speaker Rainey is known as an able politician, but he won't kiss babies unless babies kiss him. Stopped in a Capitol corridor by a proud father carrying a year old child, Rainey was asked: "Will you kiss the baby?"

"Of course," said the amiable speaker, "if she'll kiss me." The baby complied. So did Rainey.

SENSE and NONSENSE

A lot of folks who got rich quick got poorer even more quickly.

Small Boy—Daddy, why do we call English the mother tongue? Daddy (bitterly)—Because mother uses it more than father.

This blonde crass is getting to be a joke! Every girl with dark hair is trying to make light of it!

All the world while it is feeling hale and hearty will have its little joke about the doctors. A Chicago traveling salesman who was in Minnesota last Spring when the frost was coming out of the ground and the dirt roads were nearly impassable told this. Business was very dull and, meeting a fellow traveler at a hotel, he asked the usual questions.

First Salesman—What's your line? Second Ditto—Selling tombstones.

First Salesman—How's business? Second Ditto—Mighty poor. Fact is, the roads have been so infernal bad for a month back that the doctors couldn't get out, and their patients have all got well.

SMALL DOSES: It is noble to succeed, but it's nobler yet to help the other fellow to succeed. The average man is seldom disappointed in love until after marriage. . . . The person who knows but little invariably tells more. . . . There are several sorts of money, but easy money doesn't always grow to be smart money. . . . Advertising is a willing horse, but it should not be regarded as the whole team. . . . The habits of married life are somewhat like raising a mustache—they just grow on a man. . . . Bound money is not enough. Most people would like to have it rescued. . . . It's only the married ones that get a man's wages. . . . You have to expect strikes. Men can't settle down to regular work until they get the habit again. . . . Many a flapper who used to have her gowns dry cleaned now has them distilled.

She—And when we're married, we'll have a nice little house right near mother, so she can drop in any time. He—You bet. We'll get one right by the river.

Many a man modestly ascribes his success to luck; but a little investigation almost invariably uncovers the fact there was also considerable persistence and hard work accompanying the luck.

Latest Releases in Statistics:— During 1933: 23 children were spanked. 381 hunters were shot; 12,765 were half shot. 5,799,911 children when told to go to bed replied: "I don't wanna."

14 people managed to get the books in their pass books and check books to agree.

45,298,008 theater patrons accompanied the orchestra with their feet on the seat ahead.

8,878 novelists and short story writers wrote 1,970,087 sentences lacking either subject or predicate.

9 flappers seated in street cars didn't cross their legs and try to pull their skirts down over their knees.

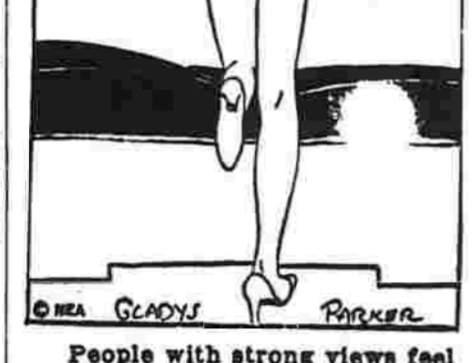

5,891,567 persons bought nothing on the installment plan. Of this number 5,891,565 were children under 10 years of age.

One thing the matter with the country is that we have so many Democratic Senators and Republican Senators and so few United States Senators.

Wife—I had to marry you to find out how stupid you were. Husband—You ought to have known that when I asked you.

DID YOU KNOW THAT— It's about as difficult and expensive to keep an automobile from sounding its age as it is to keep a woman from looking hers. The Highway Contractor sticks up a sign:
