

GOVERNMENT SUES STANDARD OIL CO.

New Jersey Corporation Is Charged With Violating Oil Code by Giving Away Premiums.

Washington, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The Federal government filed suit in the District of Columbia Supreme Court today against the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey charging violation of the oil code and asking an injunction against the company to prevent it from giving premiums.

The action was filed on behalf of Secretary Ickes, the oil administrator. Hearing on the suit was set for January 30.

The suit was the first to be filed against a major oil company for alleged violation of the oil code. The specific charge was that the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and its subsidiaries had inaugurated a "Boys' Club Contest" and had refused to accede to a request by the oil administrator to discontinue the practice.

In the contest, coupons were alleged to have been given to children who in turn distributed them to friends, relatives or neighbors to be presented one at a time by adults to standard stations and dealers.

Prizes were to be given to the boy or girl credited with the greatest number of coupons turned in in his or her name, it was claimed.

The complaint further cited that since January 3 the Standard by radio programs had advertised the contest over various stations.

"The defendant has announced its intention of continuing the said contest and has refused to discontinue it although requested to do so," the complaint charged.

"The defendant, x x x is unlawfully disregarding and disobeying the provisions of the (oil) code and the National Industrial Recovery Act in state or foreign commerce in petroleum products and unless restrained or enjoined x x x will continue to do so."

The complaint also said, "The defendant is in violation of the District of Columbia and other states, including Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island and Vermont."

Ickes, in a statement after the suit was filed by attorneys acting both for the oil administrative board and as special attorneys for the attorney general, said he considered the prohibition against giving premiums as provided in the code applied as far as he was concerned to big companies and small ones alike.

U. S. FOLLOWING BRITAIN'S EXAMPLE

Our Equalization Fund Is Patterned After One Formed On Other Side.

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—With dollars and pounds as pawns, and prosperity the stakes, Uncle Sam and John Bull are preparing for an extraordinary contest in finance—whether they will play as partners or opponents remains to be seen.

The United States is preparing to duplicate the huge British equalization fund, for which Parliament has appropriated funds amounting to $1,900,000,000 at the current rate of exchange. President Roosevelt in his message to Congress yesterday proposed the creation of a $2,000,000,000 fund to control the value of the dollar in relation to the British pound sterling, and also, if necessary, to steady the market for U. S. government bonds.

Inflationists in this country want to see the dollar decline in relation to the pound. The Committee for the Nation has suggested a rate for the dollar as low as $7 to the pound. Recent rates have been between $5 and $6.50.

What the financial world now awaits to see is whether the two giant financial powers will compromise upon a rate at which to stabilize their currencies, perhaps somewhere within striking distance of the old parity of $4.86%, or whether the two giant funds will engage in a contest for advantage.

BIG SUPPLY BILL REPORTED TO HOUSE

Calls for Outlay of 31 Millions for Coming Fiscal Term; Less Than 1933.

Washington, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The Interior Department supply bill calling for an outlay of $31,098,000 in the coming fiscal year compared with $50,478,000 for the current twelve month period was reported to the House today by its appropriations committee.

It advanced as the second of the nine regular departmental supply bills, the first—for the independent offices—having been passed by the House and sent to the Senate last week.

Representative Taylor (D., Colo.), chairman of the sub-committee in charge of the measure, attributed the reductions of $19,380,000 under the present year largely to the additional funds given the department in recent months by the public works administration.

No Funds Required
For the first time since construction was started on the Boulder Canyon Dam project, he pointed out, it required no funds in the bill, the PWA having allocated $38,000,000.

Altogether, the report said, $197,501,000 of public works funds have been turned over to the Interior Department by Secretary Ickes, who heads both the Interior Department and the PWA.

Of the total carried in the bill, $16,268,080 is allotted the Indian Service, a reduction of $2,697,000 under the current year. This is exclusive of appropriations from tribal funds amounting to $1,414,000.

Among the regular appropriations in the bill are: General land office, $785,000; Bureau of Reclamation, $1,000,000.

PURCHASES OF GOLD ABROAD AT AN END

Jesse H. Jones, Head of RFC Makes Announcement But Does Not Give Any Details.

Washington, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The Reconstruction Corporation ceased its gold purchases abroad at noon yesterday.

Jesse H. Jones, chairman, in a brief statement today said that all gold purchases initiated abroad prior to 12 o'clock noon yesterday will be completed and that certificates of mints or assay offices for domestic newly mined gold issued prior to midnight January 15, 1934, for newly mined domestic gold will be honored.

"Sale of Reconstruction Finance Corporation notes for gold has ceased," he said, "except that certificates of mints or assay offices issued prior to midnight January 15, 1934, for newly mined domestic gold will be honored."

"The Treasury will take over the Reconstruction Finance Corporation gold under arrangements yet to be worked out."

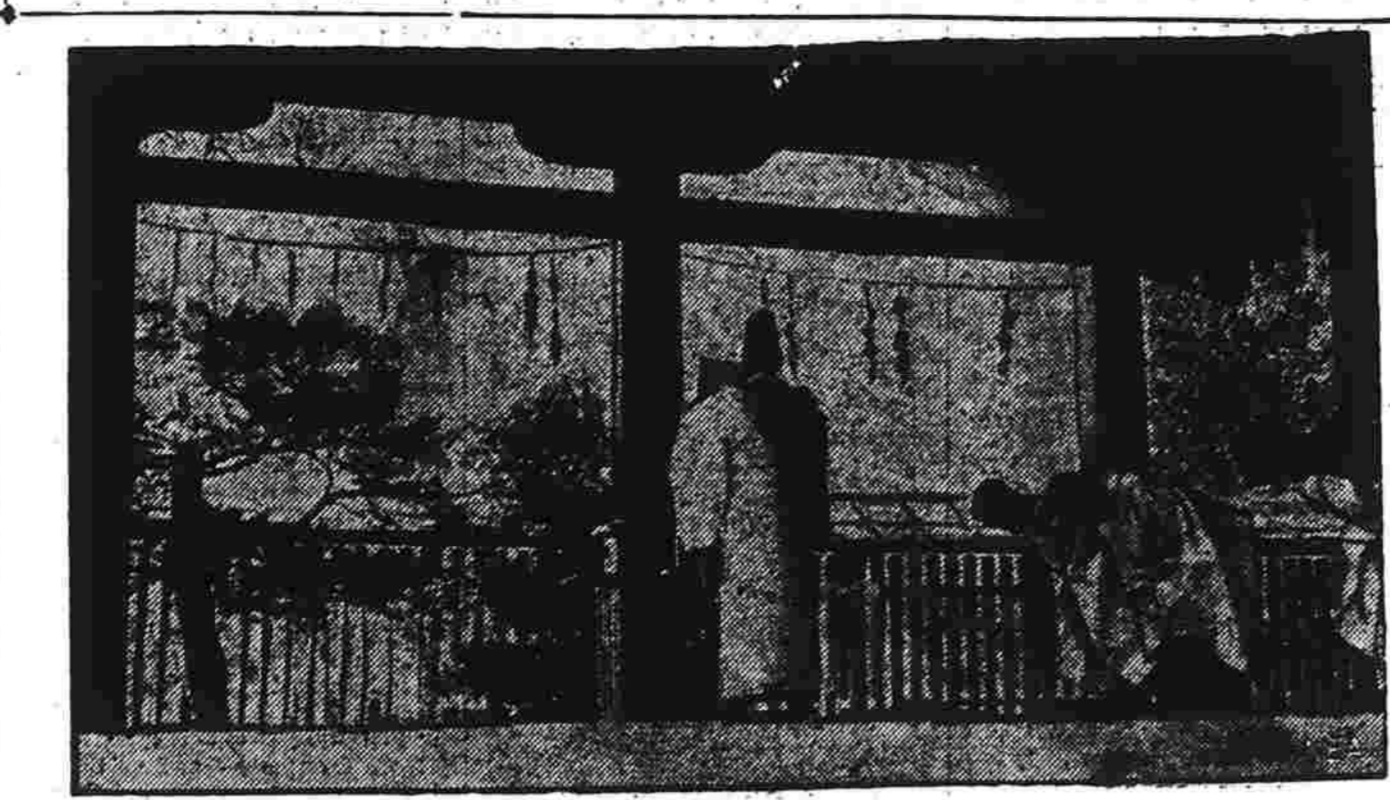

Jones declined to elaborate. He had nothing to say as to the probable price the Treasury will pay the corporation for its gold, although it was pointed out unofficially in government financial circles that the whole matter would be one "of book-keeping anyhow."

The RFC really is nothing more than a fiscal agent for the Treasury, the law specifying that it shall undertake any fiscal operations the Treasury may require. The gold purchasing campaign started two months ago was such an operation.

TWO GUARDS ARE SHOT BY NOTORIOUS OUTLAW

Clyde Barrow Effects Rescue of His Pal and Four Other Convicts; Woman Aids in the Plot.

Huntsville, Tex., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Two guards at the Eastham state prison farm were ambushed and wounded today by a machine gunner identified as Clyde Barrow, notorious southwestern outlaw, who effected the release of his pal, Raymond Hamilton, and four other convicts.

Officers expressed the belief that Barrow was aided by a woman companion, Bonnie Parker.

The guards were ambushed as they took a squad of men out to work in the fields.

Buffets from a machine gun sprayed out from a ditch near the prison farm headquarters as the squad passed.

The guards, Major Crowson and Olen Bosman, fell under the fire. Crowson was seriously wounded, but Bosman's injuries were reported to be dangerous.

GERMANY INVITES JEWS TO RETURN

Prussian Premier Says Reds and Other Refugees May Come Back to the Reich.

Berlin, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Prussian premier, today gave all refugees from Germany a chance to return to the Fatherland—provided they prove they defended the Nazi regime while they were absent.

The refugees include Communists, Jews, and others who left the country for political reasons.

Goering instructed his subordinates to readmit and not to hamper "those frightened patriots who are returning to the Fatherland."

Political "criminals and seditionists" were warned that they must expect "all possible kinds of personal and financial reprisals" on account of their "villainy."

The case was called to trial in a court room empty except for a small garrison of guards. Three police matrons were on hand to search women visitors.

REPUBLICANS OPPOSED TO ROOSEVELT DOLLAR

Senate Body Scores Louisiana Elections

Washington, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Louisiana political conditions and election practices today were rebuked by a Senate committee as "vicious," "abhorrent" and a "fraud upon the rights of citizens."

A formal report placed before the Senate by its special committee which investigated campaign expenditures in the 1932 primary, in which John H. Overton defeated then-Senator Edwin S. Broussard, spoke of "vice and odium attaching to the enforced collection of campaign contributions from state and city employees" and of "invitation to corruption."

Although the primary purpose of the committee was to determine whether there is no accurate method by which campaign funds can be traced from the donors to the expenditures.

Overton's election was not contested, the committee said, and its report therefore did not touch on his right to retain his Senate seat.

The report listed itself as designed to "aid the Senate in enacting any remedial legislation or in deciding any contests which might be instituted involving the right to a seat in the United States Senate."

Pointing out that Senator Huey P. Long's organization had supported Overton, the report submitted by Chairman Connally (D., Tex.), termed it the dominant political machine in the state. Then it proceeded into a general scolding of Louisiana political practices.

Criticism was made of the practice of using "dummy" candidates, whereby factional candidates withdraw after naming election commissioners who serve at the polls and give their faction a controlling majority of election officials.

Declaring there was lacking any system of accurately recording campaign collections and expenditures, the report said:

"Such a practice is not in keeping with the conception of even low standard of ethics in politics or government."

"The situation in Louisiana as it relates to elections cannot be defended," the report concluded. "The political organizations there play the political game according to the Witness Says Some Articles Were Moved When Pictures Were Taken.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Emil Hennessey, spinster school teacher who made her home with the Wynkoop family, resumed her testimony today in the trial of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynkoop, charged with the slaying of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, on an operating table in the basement surgery of the gloomy Wynkoop mansion.

Miss Hennessey continues where she was interrupted by adjournment yesterday. Apparently refreshed by a good night's sleep Dr. Wynkoop, the 62-year-old defendant sat erect at the counsel's table and listened intently.

The teacher yesterday had brought her story up to the point where Dr. Catherine Wynkoop, the defendant's daughter, had notified the witness that Rheta had been slain.

She related that Dr. Wynkoop, having summoned Catherine from the county hospital where she was a resident physician, then called two other doctors and Thomas Ahearn, an undertaker. When the undertaker arrived, she said Dr. Alice, Catherine, Ahearn and she went down to the basement, operating room where they saw the body of Rheta lying on the operating table.

"Rheta's body was lying there on the table," said Miss Hennessey, "covered with a blanket. All I could see was her hair. The blanket was doubled and did not extend down over the table. It was not wrapped around the body. Later Dr. Alice arranged the blanket so we could see the bullet wound. It was about here (indicating a point a few inches from the midline of her back).

Senators in Caucus Demand Adequate Hearings on Monetary Legislation — Federal Reserve Board Urges That Government Take Over Entire Gold Supply.

Washington, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Hints of organized Republican opposition to the new Roosevelt dollar, which is to have from 50 to 60 per cent of the old gold dollar content, were paralleled today by disclosure that the Federal Reserve board had recommended that the government take over all monetary gold.

Senate Republicans at a caucus demanded "adequate" hearings on the monetary legislation asked by the President yesterday, but they deferred taking any position. Democrats of both branches spoke confidently of early enactment.

Governor Eugene Black of the Reserve Board made a statement revealing the board's recent action. The stand was expected to soften some Congressional opposition to the Federal government taking the profit resulting from dollar revaluation.

In a formal statement, Black said that the board "has felt that the reserve banks should not be the beneficiaries of the enhanced value placed upon their gold holdings by a purely monetary policy of the government."

President's Position
"This position has been expressed to the President," he added. "The governor made public a letter to the President dated December 29 in which he urged Congressional action to capture the huge reserve bank funds of $3,500,000,000 for the government."

"Following this letter," Black said, "the President decided that the question of the transfer of the title to the system's gold should be referred to Congress for determination under the authority that the proposed bill is for this purpose."

BLACK'S STATEMENT

Washington, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The text of today's statement by Eugene Black as governor of the Federal Reserve Board follows:

"For the past several weeks there have been conferences between the President, the Secretary of the Treasury and representatives of the Reserve system upon two questions: First, the allocation of the increase in value of the Reserve system's gold consequent upon devaluation and second, the transfer of the title to the Reserve system's to the government prior to devaluation. We have felt that these two questions were not inter-dependent.

As to the first question, the Reserve Board, after advising with the governors of the Reserve banks, has felt that the Reserve banks should not be the beneficiaries of the enhanced value placed upon their gold holdings by a purely monetary policy of the government, but on the contrary that such enhanced value arising solely through such monetary policy of the government should endure to the government. This feeling has been based upon the conviction that such enhanced value will result solely from a governmental policy and not from any action or effort on the part of the Reserve banks. This position has been expressed to the President.

Second Question
"The second question embracing the matter of title to the gold of the Reserve banks has similarly been discussed with the President and the Secretary of the Treasury by representatives of the Reserve system. The system has felt and has urged that this question was of such large import as to demand its determination by Congressional legislation."

"In this with this position, on December 29th I wrote the President regarding these two questions and in the course of that letter set

FRENCH PUBLISHER INJURED IN CRASH

Rented Plane Falls in Biscayne Bay in Florida; His Sister Is Also Hurt.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Jacques Dupuy, publisher of La Petit Parisien of France, and his sister, Princess de Polignac, were injured today when a rented airplane they were flying fell into Biscayne bay.

The pair were rescued from the plane by boatmen who witnessed the accident, and put out from shore. Dupuy and his sister were taken to a hospital where the extent of their injuries was not immediately determined.

Boat men who saw the crash said the plane, piloted by Dupuy, swung out over the bay after flying over Miami Beach, and was making a steep bank—a low altitude when it fell on the nose into the water.

The Princess de Polignac appeared to be suffering only from shock when she and Dupuy were taken ashore. Her brother suffered from subdural and a deep scalp wound.

As the nose of the plane hit the water, Dupuy assisted his sister out of the plane.

CAMPS FOR IDLE TO OPEN FEB. 1

Three to Be Constructed in State; First Receiving Station Is Located in Hartford.

Hartford, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Connecticut's first camp for jobless transients, to be located in the Neponset state forest is expected to be ready for occupancy about Feb. 1.

Wilbur P. Davis, state transient camp director said today.

A second camp is being planned for Nehantic, New London county and a third may be located at the Macedonia Brook, Kent. The state will try to make the camps self-subsistent, wooden structures, but more permanent each containing single beds for fifty men.

The first receiving station will be in operation here, Monday, when Mr. Davis said, and the camps will be substantial, wooden structures, similar to the C. C. barracks, but more permanent each containing single beds for fifty men.

Called Tail Enders
Mr. Davis who comes from Old Greenwich, said that every effort would be made to provide a suitable camp for the "tail-enders" of the depression those transients who left their settlements and have been unable to find jobs either privately or with any local, state or federal agency.

"They will be permitted to stay as long as they want to if no job is available or if they have no settlement where they can return," Mr. Davis said. "However, they will be required to work from twenty to thirty hours on state and other public projects. At the same time we will try to make the camps attractive for them with recreational as well as work programs so that they may be kept active and not maintained in idleness."

LATEST STOCKS

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Financial markets hurried profit taking barriers at a fast gait today and, aside from a few stumbles, managed to hold fairly steady on a slightly slippery trading track.

Many members of the speculative contingent were apparently unable to resist the temptation to cash in some of their gains of yesterday's sharp upturn. There was a renewed demand for a number of the slightly slippery trading track.

Shares of Union Pacific got up 4 and Santa Fe gained 3 points. Other carriers up fractionally to a point or more included N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Hudson, Lackawanna and Illinois Central. National Steel and U. S. Steel Preferred were up 2 each, American Rolling Mill 1 and U. S. Steel Common and Bethlehem were a bit higher. Moderate advances were recorded by Western Union, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Johns-Manville, American Tobacco B. Case, Consolidated Gas and Public Service of New Jersey. American Telephone, Chrysler, U. S. Smelting and U. S. Industrial Alcohol yielded about a point each.

Brokers houses with foreign connections reported that buying and selling from abroad was about evenly divided. There was some early hesitancy noticeable in London, it was said, because of the expectancy that the British cabinet would issue a monetary statement which probably in effect, would be a reply to America's 50-60-cent dollar program.

Considerable realizing was seen in business from the continent. In this respect, it was pointed out, foreign operators had been expanding long commitments for the past several weeks because of the belief that the Roosevelt fiscal program would take the form in which it was presented to Congress yesterday.

While most market analysts were decidedly bullish for the "long pull" there were some who were inclined to suggest caution at the moment. Part of the early liquidation, it was found, was based largely on the theory that, in various instances, issues were being quoted at prices which were out of line with present or potential near-term earnings. Several observers felt that, with the dollar fluctuating in a 10-cent range, stocks might soon be expected to sell "ex-inflation" with the orthodox earnings yardstick brought into use once more.

In some financial circles the thought was expressed that there is little chance of dollar values falling to even the 1926 level of prices; that the dollar will be worth what it will buy, regardless of the gold content, and that, compared with leading foreign currencies, its purchase power will still be high.

Bankers, generally, were of the opinion that stabilization would mark the inauguration of an era of extremely low money rates in this country, combined with a persistent excess reserve position for the banks. There were possibilities, it was said, that with a return of confidence there might be another wave of credit expansion such as swept through business in the decade of the twenties.

There were 19,115,064 passenger automobiles registered in the United States on July 31, 1933.

NO MORE "UNCERTAINTY"

President Roosevelt's message to Congress asking for explicit authority to impound the Federal Reserve gold and to reevaluate the dollar in terms of grains of gold may be a little disappointing to those who hoped he would proceed to these steps under authority of the Thomas amendment without waiting for a more or less extended Congressional debate, but there is very little reason to anticipate that complete control of the nation's monetary metal reserves and of the currency will be greatly delayed by going to Congress for specific authorization of these extremely important steps.

The confidence of the administration leaders that the requested legislation will be adopted is justified by the known attitude of a working majority of the members of both houses, though the deflationists, as represented by Senator Glass and numbering among them members of both political parties, have begun to jump up and down and shout "Robbery!" It is the most improbable thing in the world that too much attention will be paid to them.

It is to be suspected that the prime motive in Mr. Roosevelt's request for specific Congressional action, while not the only one, was a desire to kill off the cry of dictatorship which is about the only effective resource left to the advocates of deflation.

There has been considerable insistence that business was suffering from the "uncertainty" throughout the world as to the administration's monetary plans. There need be no uncertainty any longer. Mr. Roosevelt is against unlimited greenback inflation—a fact which may astonish a handful of badly uninformed individuals but which is no news to anybody else. There isn't a single person in the United States, of any intelligence at all, who is in favor of unlimited greenback inflation. But that doesn't mean that there are no advocates of greenbacks or that President Roosevelt isn't a bit tolerant of greenbackism himself.

By perfectly good theory, he tells Congress in almost as many words, an unbacked greenback dollar would be as good as any other dollar if the issue of such money were confined to the total amount necessary for the daily cash needs of the community. But the issue of sheer token money is unnecessary and we can avoid possible difficulties in setting its limits by using treasury notes properly backed by gold and silver.

So the President, stoutly for sound money, proposes to put the nation's gold into the nation's treasury and use it as the backing for treasury notes, with the gold content of the dollar variable within limits that will insure its stability in purchasing power.

There's a policy with no uncertainty whatever about it. It is a policy of nationalized and controlled currency—inflationary to the extent necessary to raise the price level sufficiently to drag the country out of the slough of its debts; beyond that not at all.

The enemies of currency reform have now plenty of certainty. It is not the kind that they like and they will attack it with great energy. But they can no longer say that business is had because of the uncertainty of the administration's monetary policy. It is definite enough to make them rave and spit cotton.

In connection with this subject it may be guessed that a statement, attributed in this morning's dispatches to the "White House," that some of the profit on the commandered gold would be used as currency backing is to be disregarded as, probably, a correspondent's misinterpretation. Such a declaration makes no sense whatever and is completely out of line with the indicated policy.

If the White House did entertain any such idea there isn't the slightest doubt that Congress would quickly disabuse its mind.

IRRESPONSIBLE

In the course of the litigation over the State Liquor Control Commission's revocation of the package store permit of Joseph A. McNamara of Hartford it develops that the Commission explains the original issuance of the license by the fact that it was granted by a clerk, under delegated authority and in a rush for business. Afterward the Commission upon more leisurely examination of the facts, decided that Mr. McNamara was not entitled to a permit and revoked it.

Apparently the Commission did not in the least concern itself with the circumstances that in the meantime the permittee may have gone to great expense and made a heavy investment in stock. This, as a matter of fact, appears to be the attitude of the Commission in numerous cases. We have heard of no end of instances in which holders of permits, after their places of business had been surveyed and approved by one inspector for the Commission, were ordered to make expensive, sometimes sweeping changes in the physical aspect of their establishments by some other inspector.

The Commission, in a word, appears to run its business as temperamental as the chorus girl is supposed to run hers, and without the slightest consideration for equity.

HANDS OFF IN CUBA

Any lingering hope that Cuba, under the Grau government set up by its revolutionary junta, might be somehow or other making at least the beginnings of establishing some sort of political system has been dissipated by the collapse of Grau and his cabinet, apparently from sheer bewilderment and inability to move in any direction. Succession to the presidency by Grau's thirty-three year old secretary of agriculture, Carlos Hevia, gives little promise of any kind of advance. The affairs of the Island Republic appear to be now at about low tide and there is certain to arise a new demand that the United States proceed under the Platt amendment and intervene.

It is to be hoped that our government will continue to resist all temptation in that direction. What is going on in Cuba is tough on the Cubans but it affords the United States the finest sort of opportunity to prove that, so far as the internal affairs of our neighbors are concerned, it intends hereafter to mind its own business. There is no great merit in refraining from interfering in Latin American countries so long as everything is going along swimmingly in them. To keep hands off under such serious temptation as now exists in Cuba should convince the world that we mean what we say when we talk anti-imperialism.

IMMORTALITY

Bishop William T. Manning, in a sermon to Columbia students on Sunday, replied to an address made a week earlier by Dr. Howard L. McBain, who said that man's belief in a future life had been greatly weakened by the progress of science. Bishop Manning declared that "it is the lack of belief in a future life which breeds cynicism and despair and paralyzes men's souls with a sense of the futility of human life."

With no intention whatever of discussing the religious or theological implications in this conviction of the bishop's, it is still possible to point out that a man's or woman's ability to meet the present life courageously, cheerfully and sanely without the support of a firm belief in immortality may possibly depend to some extent on the man or the woman—whether he or she is actually courageous, cheerful and wholly sane.

It is not, perhaps, difficult to imagine a Bishop Manning in a state of acute distress if he feared that with the failure of his temporal body he would have to give up instructing people and bawling folks around and that that would be the end of him save in the memories of men for a little while and in church history for a while longer. But it is reasonably certain that there are a good many persons whose ambitions do not reach beyond the grave and who are content to leave, as their mark upon eternity, such small waves of merit as they may set in motion by casting little pebbles of good deeds into the pool of human existence as they pass along.

We have no quarrel with the immortality belief of Bishop Manning or anybody else. What we do disagree with is the theory that humanity is too weak and cowardly to play the game of life, as is, in order to be kept from going off its noodle with worry must have an ironclad guarantee that its show is to be a continuous performance.

We have a better opinion of mankind than that.

PANHANDLERS

The street panhandler has been, in the larger cities, one of the most distressing features of the entire depression. A vast number of people who never before gave a dime to beggars have shelled out rather freely to them in recent years, because it has been obvious that lots of men, who really would prefer to be working, have had to choose between begging and starvation.

But times are picking up now, and New York city authorities the other day began an experiment to see just what percentage of street beggars are really "deserving cases." They arrested 83 panhandlers on the streets of Manhattan, investigated them, and offered CWA jobs to those who wanted them.

Seven of the 83 were tickled to death to get the jobs. The other 56, being men who preferred begging to working, immediately were sent to jail.

It would be interesting to see if the same proportion prevails in other cities. The New York experiment well might be copied all across the land.

BURNED PAPERS

Former Postmaster General Walter Brown would seem to be in a spot where some sort of explanation is due.

A Senate committee is told by his former stenographer that he ordered postoffice files, containing data on ocean and air mail subsidies, burned just before he left office last March. Mr. Brown denies it, asserting that only his private correspondence was put in the fire. In either case, the sought-for files seem to be missing.

Here is a situation that needs a whole lot of daylight. If a former cabinet member destroyed important government documents just before going out of office, the country has a right to know all about it.

If, on the other hand, he did nothing of the kind, and the important documents just happened to get mislaid, that fact also should be substantiated.

Either way, Mr. Brown would seem to be due for an appearance before the Senate committee.

A man up by Cape Cod, W. W. Bennett, will travel anywhere to get the log book of some old whaling vessel. Comic valentines are the passion of a fellow in Springfield, Pa. Louis Gardella collects glass hats, and when a Mrs. Ross Jones died recently in Brownwood, Texas, she willed 1,900 pitchores to a favorite granddaughter, D. A. Piersan.

King George V has a hobby of raising Australian love birds. Herbert Hoover is getting together an enormous World War library. And Rupert Hughes, the novelist, is a string-saver. The aforementioned Mr. Lightner, besides collecting hobbies, also collects shrunken Jivaro Indian heads.

Buttons, Buttons, Who's Who?

"One collector Mr. Lightner didn't care about is Joseph Frankel, of New York, who goes in for buttons. As more than 3,000 buttons from all the presidential campaigns since 1874, and many others such as American Legion buttons, NRA buttons, Give 'em Hell buttons, Buy-New buttons, Eat-More-Wheat buttons, Major Hoopie buttons and Oh-You-Kid! buttons... Whenever Mr. Frankel sees somebody wearing a button he hasn't got, he goes right up and asks for it. Before the button is given he asks for a copy of the button. Mr. Frankel goes on to explain about his collection, and usually gets the button. Once a man did call a cop when he awoke from a subway nap and found Mr. Frankel eagerly grasping his cap and staring wildly at a yellow button worn there. The collector got it, though, before the affair was settled.

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

Repeal Is Genuine Boon In Jammed Federal Prisons

General Johnson, who has been in the Federal Prison for some time, says that the repeal of the Federal Prison Act would be a boon to the inmates. He says that the prisons are overcrowded and that the inmates are suffering from lack of food and shelter. He also says that the repeal would allow for the construction of new prisons and the hiring of more guards.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Jan. 16. — You wouldn't think repeal would make much difference to federal prisoners. But it does.

At last, the boys are going to be county.

Overcrowding long has been a source of great pain to penal officials. But you can imagine how much tougher it was on the inmates. The Atlanta and Leavenworth federal pens were overcrowded 100 per cent.

Thanks to the drop in liquor convictions, the government's prisons soon will be handling no more than their proper capacity. The influx of bootleggers began to decline some time ago and a more lenient prohibition policy from federal benches also is reducing the penal rolls, especially as concerns liquor law violators.

One year ago 23,000 prisoners were in the government's jails. Today there are but 16,000. The number actually paroled in federal penitentiaries is 11,735, as against 13,395 a year ago.

The Atlanta population—once 3,400—has dropped in 12 months from 2,833 to 2,093, and that of Leavenworth from 3,122 to 2,529. New facilities, such as the Leavenworth penitentiary, had decreased the loads before repeal.

Director Sanford Bates of the Bureau of Prisons thinks no pen should house more than 1,200 if the warden and his assistants are to have proper personal contact with individual inmates.

Wardens considered prohibition prisoners a better lot than the run of current arrivals.

Impartially Tough

General Johnson of NRA is impartial in his distribution of strong language and he calls his son "Pat." These vitally important facts were revealed to a recent visitor at his office who heard him telephone Lieut. Kilbourne Johnston (they spell their names differently, head of NRA) compliance section. "Pat," yelled the general, "what the hell's the matter with you fellows down there? Haven't you got any brains?"

Several "brain trust" members at a party here the other night were asked that Johnson would be out of NRA within 60 days.

F. R. Good in Papa Role

"Papa" Roosevelt, which is the way he sometimes refers to himself, knows how to keep peace in the family. It's a tough job in such a family as his composed of reactionaries, conservatives, liberals and radicals.

And his system doesn't always work. But he has an amazing degree of success.

Sensators Borah and Nye, in general New Deal sympathizers, became violently vocal against NRA. So what did "Papa" do but call them into a White House conference with Johnson so they could thrash it all out in the interests of harmony!

He expressed plenty of sympathy for the Borah-Nye viewpoint, which stressed the monopoly-fostering effects of NRA, and a scheme is being worked out which will mollify them. Roosevelt hopes to disarm senatorial progressives and congressional critics within his own party by an attitude of constant frankness.

He thinks Congress should be kept in constant touch with workings of administration machinery and is evolving a plan to carry out that idea.

Modernizes Schools

Did somebody say modernization? Well, the Public Works Administration just has allotted $8,000 to help build a new central school for Lyme, Conn. The new building will replace five one-room district schools erected from 92 to 150 years ago—the newest in 1841 and the oldest in 1783.

Thirty years usually is considered a reasonable life for any school structure.

Health and Diet Advice

By Dr. Frank McCoy

HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR CIRCULATION

At this time of year I begin to receive a large number of letters wanting to know how to increase the circulation. Many of these letters come from patients who have low blood pressure, anemia, leakage of the heart valves, among other a defective circulation is often a marked symptom. Poor circulation is also a very common symptom among the old. When any of the above disorders are accompanied by defective circulation it is likely that the patient will notice no disagreeable symptoms caused by the slowing down of the circulation of the blood during the warm summer months but many unpleasant conditions immediately appear as soon as cold weather begins.

Some of the following symptoms are usually noted when poor circulation is present: numbness or tingling of the hands and feet, more or less stiffness of these members, and perhaps a sensation of weakness or trembling through the muscles of the legs. In advanced cases, the skin may take on a very pronounced bluish or purplish tint and appears to be lifeless and dull. Undoubtedly, poor circulation contributes to early wrinkling and sagging of the skin.

Almost every sick person complains of suffering from cold hands and feet, but it is an important thing to remember that these are only danger signals pointing to poor circulation all over the body, including every bone, muscle and organ.

In all circulatory disturbances, whether it is the functional disturbance of the heart, hardening of the arteries, varicose veins, or just sluggishness of the blood, the condition is influenced more by the proper kind of physical culture exercise than by any other single factor. Either passive or active exercises, as the case demands, will immediately increase the flow of fluids in the body, and

Continued muscular activity will always produce a permanent effect through increased strengthening of the muscle fibres all over the body.

Everyone knows that any kind of exercise increases the general circulation, and makes the heart beat faster. Exercise is a wonderful remedy, and the only one worth considering in the development of the blood circulation, but it must be begun slowly and gradually increased. At the start it is best to use only light calisthenics combined with very short walks. Every few days another exercise can be added which will gradually call for more muscular tension.

If, in your own special case, your doctor has told you that your only trouble is a poor circulation, I want you to do this: you are to write to me and ask for my free article HOW TO INCREASE THE CIRCULATION. Send the letter to me in care of this newspaper, following the instructions as given at the heading or end of this article, and enclose one large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and I will be glad to send the article to you.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Care for Epilepsy)

Question: S. J. B., Reader of "The Bulletin": "Can epilepsy be cured? I am asking this in regard to a friend. I wish to thank you for the many benefits I have derived from reading your column."

Answer: It has been my experience that epilepsy is caused by a toxic condition arising in the large intestine and that if this is removed the disease can be cured. Since the directions for overcoming epilepsy are too long to be given in a short answer, I would suggest that you have your friend write to me in care of this newspaper. It is unnecessary for him to follow the instructions as given in the heading or end of today's article, and to enclose a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. I have not found the use of the medicinal preparation you inquire about advisable in the treatment of epilepsy.

(Plant Called Rocket)

Question: Mary from Baton Rouge La.: "Is there a plant called Rocket?"

Answer: Rocket or Roquette, is a garden plant, the young leaves of which are used as a great deal in France and Italy. This is cooked as we cook spinach or used for salads.

(Scabies)

Question: L. X. from Kansas City: "I want your advice regarding an ailment affecting my whole family. It is an itch and troubles the itchy spot, a tiny red place which will erode a watery fluid. I am afraid it is contagious."

Answer: Judging from the description given in your letter you are probably infected with scabies. The application of a sulphur salve is usually helpful. It is also necessary to sterilize all clothes in boiling water in order to kill off the insect.

Editorial Comment On Money Message

The New York Times (Dem.): "Whatever competition may be developed. With more certainty we are moving toward a new dollar."

Cleveland (O.) Plain Dealer (Ind. Dem.): "The hope may be entertained that with the devaluation of the dollar the policy of liberal depreciation abandoned the grave uncertainty that has prevailed with respect to the Nation's currency intention will be in some measure reduced."

The New York Herald Tribune (Rep.): "The things that the President has to say—the things on which he is specific and definite—are on the side of reassurance. x x x It is the things which he leaves unexplained, or which he implies in broad generalities, that will give pause to those who read his message with care. These hints may constitute an astute political gesture."

The New York Daily News (Ind.): "The gold message sounds common sense to us."

Atlanta Constitution—"The message cuts the pattern for business and it will now proceed to cut its cloth accordingly."

The Birmingham Age-Herald: "We may take it for granted that, despite inevitable outcries from conservative quarters, Congress will enact legislation giving the President what he wants. The truth is, there is nothing else to do, unless we are to assume the impossibility that the administration can retrace its steps in the monetary field."

The Philadelphia Public Ledger: "The general purpose is clear—to make an end of the prevailing depression and to build a monetary and financial structure which will more effectively withstand future shocks. The country will work with the President and Congress to see it through."

The Philadelphia Inquirer: "The message clarifies the atmosphere generally. Its effects should be beneficial."

Boise (Idaho) Statesman (Rep.): "Perhaps it is necessary in the emergency, but the measure seems strangely parallel to a taxation measure whereby the government would take over 40 per cent of every farm, factory and store in the nation."

Salt Lake Tribune (Ind.-Rep.): "The course is justified in the measure that it harmonizes with National efforts to provide the greatest good for the greatest number."

St. Louis Post-Dispatch (Ind.): "x x x The President's message to Congress yesterday measurably answers the demand of business for a dollar of fixed value."

St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Ind.): "x x x These (the President's) words give encouragement to the belief that he desires so far as possible to relieve the uncertainty as to monetary policy of the government x x x by the assurance that he is now endeavoring to establish not only a sound currency but one that will be reasonably stable under definite stabilization through international agreement."

San Francisco Chronicle (Rep.): "It is a middle-of-the-road course, which is certainly good politics, and is probably good policy."

Los Angeles Times (Rep.): "It is better than complete uncertainty and it will permit a certain amount of planning ahead."

Baltimore Sun (Ind.-Dem.): "It seems to us that they (investors) should be given cheer by the evidence x x x that the President sees the need of steadiness and stability in the dollar and is moving to realize it."

Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat and Chronicle: "The President must realize as no one else can the significance of the step he has taken. The fact that he has taken it deliberately and after long and careful study and counsel will go far to allay fears of uncontrolled inflation."

Syracuse (N. Y.) Post Standard: "President Roosevelt's definite enunciation of monetary policy will increase confidence at home and abroad."

The Boston Herald: "Uncertainty will be less pronounced, pending the next step (Toward financial stability). Fluctuations in the value of the dollar will be confined to fairly narrow and reasonable limits. x x x The average business man will certainly not be disturbed at the immediate result."

The Boston Post: "x x x As we see it, the President is working cautiously along in his monetary policy, taking the status quo as it is, and making no radical move far out of the groove that has been established."

The Boston Globe: "There is nothing in the message which encourages the advocates of pure inflation."

The Bridgeport (Conn.) Post: "The dollar is still the same. The President is still the same. He satisfies those who want definite stabilization. It will at least give them something to work on. It puts an end to fear of wild inflation."

ABANDONS PLANS FOR TRAFFIC LIGHTS

Police Board Gives Up As Selectmen Avoid Any Financial Responsibility.

Installation of traffic lights at Main and Park streets and at Main and Middle Turnpike was indefinitely deferred by the Board of Police Commissioners at a special meeting last night, due to the fact that the police board has no money with which to purchase the lighting fixtures.

Under the town by-laws the Board of Selectmen is empowered to authorize an expenditure not to exceed $1,000 without recourse to a special town meeting. Under the plan proposed the lighting fixtures were to cost a little less than $1,000, thereby enabling the Police Commissioners to go ahead with the installation at the two points mentioned if backed by the Selectmen's authority to spend the money.

The plan under which the lights were to be installed called for a 90-day demonstration, which the installing company was to furnish, the town to pay the cost of installation, approximating $100, if the lights were not approved after the demonstration period expired.

Urged By Police Board
A letter from the Board of Police Commissioners to the Selectmen was read at the monthly meeting of the Board of Selectmen on Dec. 19. In that communication the commissioners outlined the plan for traffic lighting, and stressed the need of traffic control lights at these two hazardous points of travel. The matter was discussed at length by the Board of Selectmen. Several members of the Board objected to the installation of lights at any point in town.

By the terms of the company's demonstration offer, the town would be required to pay $358.53 for each set of traffic lights, if they were accepted and the cost of lighting was estimated to be $50 per light, annually.

REV. H. B. TODD QUILTS AS WATERBURY RECTOR

Waterbury, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The resignation of the Rev. Henry Baldwin Todd as rector of Trinity Episcopal church, was accepted 61 to 12 by the church meeting last night. The rector had been criticized in many ways by members of the parish for years.

In his letter the rector said he resigned because "the best interests of Trinity would be served by new leadership."

As far back as 1927, Todd desired to resign but withdrew his letter. At the next annual meeting he was asked to resign by a vote of 66 to 61, but he refused to do so under canon law. There had been a deadlock on the issue since then.

Half of Cities and Big Towns Show Gains But Loss in Others More Than Offsets.

For the third consecutive month building permits issued by cities and towns in Connecticut continued to decline in total valuation in December, according to the monthly building survey taken by the Freight Traffic Department of the New Haven Railroad among twenty-four communities along its lines. The steady drop in permits began in October, having been averted in September only by one exceptional large grant in New Haven.

The total value of the permits issued by the twenty-four cities and towns in December fell to an unusually low total, dropping almost $200,000 below the building figure recorded for the same group of communities in December, 1932, which figure was itself extremely abnormal.

Despite the general slump which prevailed throughout the State in December, eight of the twenty-four localities included in the railroad survey enjoyed gains in permit totals as compared with November. These were Bristol, East Hartford, Greenwich, Meriden, New Britain, Norwalk, Norwich and Wethersfield.

The December permit list was headed by Greenwich with a valuation of $79,200, while Meriden and Hartford were in second and third places, respectively.

Strangely, in the face of the fact that the December permits were considerably less in total value than those of December, 1932, twelve or one half of the twenty-four cities and towns reported increases over their individual totals for the corresponding month last year. These were Bristol, Danbury, East Hartford, Meriden, Middletown, New Britain, Norwalk, Norwich, Stamford, Waterbury, West Hartford and Wethersfield.

The Harvard hockey game and the Glee Club concert will be in the week-end program.

So important is the handling of Turkish tobacco in making Chesterfield cigarettes that Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., maintains this specially equipped plant right in the heart of the famous Smyrna tobacco section. It is the largest and most modern tobacco factory in the Near East.

Turkish tobacco, you know, is the best "seasoning" there is for cigarettes. At all times Chesterfield has in storage—at this plant and in America—about 350,000 bales of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco.

Members of the Italian American Ladies' Aid society have been receiving congratulations on the success of the four-act play "Il titolo e L'Orgoglio di una Contessa," also

"Il Piccolo Spassomino." The drama in the Italian language was given in High school hall Sunday afternoon, under the direction of Mrs. Giovanni Montit, who assumed the leading role of the countess. Mrs. Montit possesses marked dramatic ability, and her work was the subject of much favorable comment. It was the first time a play in the Italian language has been produced here and much interest was taken in the performance by people familiar with the language.

Miss Adrianna Grandi, a daughter of Mrs. Montit, played a prominent part and also sang between the acts. Miss Irene Pola, soprano, sang and Miss Florence Piano played the accordion.

The large cast has worked hard with lines, business etc., and these rehearsals are putting the finishing touches to an already smoothly running show. This popular musical comedy will open Thursday at the High school Auditorium at 8:15 with a final performance on Friday at the same time. The large cast of local performers are ready to present a fast moving performance.

Ensemble numbers constitute a big feature of this production, as will be seen when principals and chorus appear in such intricate sketches as "Time for Tea," the big "Hollywood" number at the end of act two, and the big third act finale in which the entire cast appears.

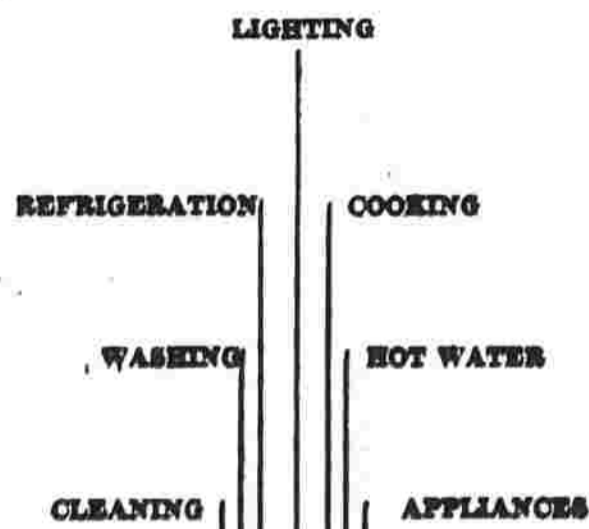

"Loose Change" has not a dull moment. Reserved seats are on sale at Gray's Jewelry store and indications point to a capacity house.

RUTH SIGNS CONTRACT AT SALARY OF $35,000

Bambino Takes Cut of $17,000 from Last Season's Figure; Enters on His 21st and Probably Last Active Major League Season.

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Baseball can rest calmly now until time for the major league clubs to head southward. Babe Ruth has signed his 1934 contract with the Yankees to a wage of $35,000.

The great Bambino, shading 40, entering on his 21st and probably his last active major league season, came to terms peaceably enough, in strange contrast with his customary rough and tumble salary bouts with Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees.

He took a cut of $17,000 from the $52,000 salary Col. Ruppert paid him last season, adding fuel to the stove league suspicion of the experts that despite denials, there is considerable truth in the thought that Ruth some day will manage the Yankees.

"I have no understanding of any kind with Ruth for the future," Ruppert said, sweeping that feature aside, while the Babe scribbled his signature in the big brewery the colonel owns on Third avenue. "The future will take care of itself. His contract this year, which is agreeable to both of us, is as a player. He tells me he is in better shape than last season and that he hopes to play in at least 100 games."

Ruppert satisfied. "We have a manager for the Yankees—Joe McCarthy—for this year and next. He is in complete charge and I am satisfied to have him on the job. That's why I gave him a long term contract."

The equanimity with which Ruth took his slash despite his belief he would play better ball this year than he did for $52,000 last season; the fact Ruppert asked him to manage his Newark club for the experience involved; and the additional facts that the Cincinnati Reds got nowhere in their effort to acquire him as a manager, all indicate that Babe's last great baseball ambition will be satisfied here, where he has gained his greatest glory.

WEST SIDE LEAGUE League Standing Won Lost Lilac Blue 4 1 Thunderbolts 3 2 Orioles 3 2 Flying Aces 2 3

The Lilac Blue wrapped up another unassisted basketball victory at the West Side rec by defeating the Thunderbolts, 36-27. The Thunderbolts gave the Lilac Blue a nip and tuck battle in the first half of the game but couldn't hold the fast stepping Lilac Blues in the last half of the game.

Wylie was the head man in the Lilac Blue works. Not only was his slashing floor game a constant thorn in Thunderbolts side but he led the scoring with 10 points. Koss and Obie teamed up with Wylie to form an almost impregnable defense.

ST. JAMES' WIN St. James crushed Barnard in a great display of power on their home floor Friday. After trailing in the half they came roaring behind to win a brilliant victory. Led by "Fritz" Squatrito and Barrera who sank hoops from all angles they scored 26 points in the last half while holding Barnard scoreless. E. Koss, center, and H. Squatrito stood out in St. James' second straight triumph of the season. McCann and Greene, though not figuring in the scoring, played an excellent floor game. Brown featured for the losers.

Table with columns for player names and scores for St. James (88) and All Barnard (11).

VINES WINS AGAIN, EVENS NET SERIES

Defeats Tilden at Boston Before Largest Crowd in History of New England.

Boston, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Youth triumphed over skill and today Ellsworth Vines stood even with the veteran Bill Tilden in their professional tennis series. Each had two matches to his credit as the West coast youngster and the old master traveled to Providence, R. I. for their next appearance.

A crowd of 11,500, the largest tennis gathering in New England's history, saw them fight it out last night at the Boston Garden. The first set went to 26 games and was lost by Vines on his own errors after a thrilling battle. The match score was 12-14, 4-6, 6-4, 6-1, 6-2. Helen Jacobs was enthusiastic over Vines' performance.

"Vines ran Tilden ragged," was her comment. "Ellie is at the top of his game. I never saw him play any better tennis."

Tilden took the first two matches of the series in New York and Philadelphia. Vines captured the third in Washington and the fourth here last night.

QUAKERS OF PENN UPSET DARTMOUTH, TAKE LEAGUE LEAD

Game Winds Up in Fist Fight, Kellett Sin's His Free Try, Bonniwell Misses to Make Score 19-18.

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—A brilliant defense had carried Penn's Quakers into undisputed possession of the Eastern collegiate Basketball League lead today.

Victors over Harvard in their first two league games, the Quakers made it three in a row at Hanover, N. H., last night, beating Dartmouth, 19-18, in a sensational game that wound up in a fist fight between Don Kellett of Penn and Al Bonniwell of Dartmouth.

The fight, occurring in the last minute of play with the score tied at 18-18, was stopped quickly and a double foul called. Kellett put his fist through the hoop but Bonniwell missed and the game was over.

Penn's defense completely baffled Dartmouth in the first half which ended with the Quakers leading 13-3. Dartmouth, which had topped Harvard and Princeton in its first two league engagements, rallied spectacularly in the second half and gained a 14-13 lead as Syd Krivitsky tossed in three field goals. From then on it was a dog-fight until the score was tied at 18-18.

Although he missed the vital shot, Bonniwell shot his way into the lead in the race for the individual scoring championship. He scored two field goals and a foul to run his total points for three games to 34, two more than Lank Selbert of Princeton.

Tied for Fourth Dartmouth's defeat plunged the Indians into a tie with Princeton for fourth place with two victories and one defeat. Penn stands alone at the top with Yale and Cornell, each with one victory and no defeats, are tied for second. Columbia, beaten twice, and Harvard, trounced five times, bring up the rear.

Action will be resumed in the Eastern Intercollegiate Conference tonight with an all-Pittsburgh battle between Carnegie Tech and Pitt's Panthers. Pitt is the leader with two victories and no defeats while Carnegie has dropped two of its first three games.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Six years ago Barney Ross made his first pilgrimage to Kid Howard's gym to watch amateur fights. He was told that boys were not paid actually for fighting but received $5 per fight as expense money.

"I'm for that," said the boy to whom a $5 bill looked like all the money in the world just then. Barney never had won a boxing glove, but he had battled a number of neighborhood champions back in the "valley" at Bunker and Clinton streets.

He finally was given a chance to show his ability. He knew nothing of boxing, and led with right or left as the whim seized him—but he did fight hard, so he was given another chance. Week after week he journeyed to the gym on amateur night.

Barney was talked out of part of the $5 he received for each fight by one of the gym hangers-on who offered to teach him what it was all about. He learned how to use his left for a jab or hook, how to feint, how to cross over a quick short right.

DEFENDS SKI CROWN IN EAST

Above is pictured Alf Engen, Salt Lake City jumper, who holds the world ski title, and who competed at Winsted, Conn., last Sunday, winning the meet with leaps of 192 and 163 feet before a crowd of nearly 10,000 persons. He will also compete in New York and Chicago against the crack jumpers of the Atlantic seaboard and Norway in the season's major meets.

Amateur Gives Ross His Stiffest Battle

EDITOR'S NOTE: Until six years ago Barney Ross never had put on a boxing glove. Now he is lightweight champion of the world. This article, the second of three on his career, tells of his early victories.

By BILL BRAUCHER NEA Service Sports Editor Chicago, Jan. 16.—Six years ago Barney Ross made his first pilgrimage to Kid Howard's gym to watch amateur fights. He was told that boys were not paid actually for fighting but received $5 per fight as expense money.

Two years ago, Ross began meeting the topnotchers and he was through 1932 without a loss, scoring three knockouts and gaining eight decisions. Probably his toughest battle that year was with Battling Battalino. The rough, tough Goldie Hess and Johnny Farr he beat over the top.

He started 1933 with victories over Billy Petrolis and the redoubtable Sammy Fuller. "Now," said Sam Pian, "we are ready for the champion!"

TRY TO ARRANGE BOUT, LEVINSKY VS. DER MAX Chicago, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Still hopeful of stirring up a bout between Max Schmeling, former world heavyweight champion and King Levinsky, Chicago's walloping lightweight, a delegation of four will leave Chicago tonight for New York to great and talk to Herr Max when he arrives from Germany Wednesday.

Charles Bidwell, president of the Chicago Stadium operating company, and his match-maker, Nate Lewis, are practically unanimous in latitude in what he may plan to do offensively, either as to the distribution of his men before the ball is put in play or what they may do after the ball is put in play.

It is not more rules we need, but more and better use of all the possibilities of attack. In other words, a coach is designing his system of offense under present rules, but he practically eliminates latitude in what he may plan to do offensively, either as to the distribution of his men before the ball is put in play or what they may do after the ball is put in play.

YALE MAN NOW

Selection of Ivan Williamson, above, as an end on the Yale football team is seen as a step in breaking down the tradition that only Yale men should handle gridiron destinies of the Blue. Williamson was star end and captain of Michigan's 1932 squad.

Red and White Faces Hartford High Tomorrow, Meriden Friday; Town Champs Play Thursday; Mechanics Meet School for Deaf; All Games Away from Home.

Manchester's basketball program this week is barren of outstanding attractions, as its leading court quintets desert their home floors for games afield. Manchester High continues its stiff slate of two games a week by facing Hartford High on the latter's court tomorrow afternoon and Meriden High at the Silver City Friday night.

Trade Plays Tonight Tonight, Manchester Trade attempts to break a four-game losing streak against the American School for the Deaf at West Hartford, both the first and second teams being in action. The Traders have lost six of their eight contests to date, but Coach Walter Schober is hopeful of his third victory today. The first game is slated for 7:30 o'clock.

Guards-Kevin Barry The National Guards, humbled twice in a row by the Phantoms of New Britain, oppose a formidable foe in the Kevin Barry five of Hartford in the latter city Thursday night in the first meeting of a home and home series. Although the Kevin Barry has compiled a record that includes victories over many outstanding teams in the state, the Guards are confident of returning to the winning column Thursday night.

High School Slate Manchester High also meets stiff opposition this week in both games. Hartford High took a severe drubbing from Bristol but has turned in a number of victories over Great Hartford rivals. The Red and White, although victorious in its last two starts against West Hartford and Middletown, were far from top form in both games and unless the local hoopers display a drastic reversal, defeat seems due both tomorrow and Friday.

Meriden Favored Next to FAVOR, Meriden is the toughest league rival that Manchester will face this season. Meriden lost a thriller to Bristol last Friday, 27 to 24, in a whipping West Hartford. Middletown and East Hartford by decisive margins. The Silver City five will be heavily favored but if Manchester uncorks the form shown against Bristol it will be anybody's game.

Local Sport Chatter Here's further proof of this department's contention that semi-pro football does not pay—Dominic "Ding" Farr, well known local athlete who made his coaching debut this last season with the Eagles of the north end, is reported to have received $6.80 for his services, while Manager Eddie Dwyer received $5.00. The Eagles lost the town title to the West Sides, losing 13-0 and 6-0, after taking the first game, 6-0.

The prospects for an interesting town title basketball series are not particularly bright at the present writing. The Guards are still the class of the town, although slightly below last year's form. The only contender worthy of serious consideration, to our mind, is Annsaid's Masons, and they have yet to be tested against a stand out semi-pro team.

We don't believe the West Sides or the Y. M. C. A. would be able to extend the Guards to any great extent, providing, of course, the town champs were clicking near the top of their form, as neither quintet possesses an outstanding aggregation.

Last season, when semi-pro cage teams in this vicinity were complaining about the lack of attendance in their games, the Guards were riding high, wide, and handsome as far as gate receipts were concerned and finished on the winning side of the ledger financially as well as in games won and lost.

But the depression seems to have hit Manchester sports at last and the Guards are struggling to make ends meet in home games, having drawn what could be called a good crowd in only two games, both with the All-Burnsides. The latter team has also felt the howl of lower receipts along with every team in Greater Hartford.

Mancheste High, through its plan of selling season tickets to students for social and athletic events, is drawing an average of a thousand fans a game, mostly all students, however.

Jennie Schubert of the Charter Oak Girls hit a total of 674 in the third annual Connecticut Sweepstakes in Hartford Saturday to capture fifth place. Flora Nelson of the local team hit a single of 130, three below the high single for the night made by Mrs. Lillian Frisk of Hartford, who also won honors with a total of 684.

This department was in error, according to Ernie Dowd, in stating that he had been warned not to participate in sports due to a stomach injury. Dowd says that he was never told not to compete in any branch of athletics and that the stomach injury has been completely healed. In the Guards-All-Burnsides game last Christmas night he suffered a couple of cracked ribs but this injury is also knitting rapidly.

CREAVY IS WINNER San Francisco, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Thomas Daniel Creavy, 23-year-old trower of golf's winter "gold trail" is the 1934 San Francisco National match play open champion.

The Albany, N. Y., player won the title and top money yesterday, when he defeated Jim Thomson of Long Beach, Calif., 3 and 2 in the 36-hole finals. Creavy won $211 of the $4,000 purse.

TO FINISH TRAINING Chicago, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Barney Ross, the lightweight champion of the world, left today for New York to finish training for a ten-round non-title bout with Billy Petrolis, the Fargo, N. D., veteran in Madison Square Garden, January 24. The bout will be at 142 pounds.

Marvin Schlappl, Kansas City golfer with a bad slice, drew a bead on a rabbit on his first hunting trip and brought down two quail.

Henry Ford insists he isn't interested in making money. He just wants to make cars that make money for him.

Bloody Behemoth "That put it squarely up to me. I felt that if I didn't win we would be disgraced, so I put everything I had into the fight. My opponent was Al Santora. We fought as hard as we could for three rounds and I thought I had won. But the judges called it a draw and told us to fight another round.

"I was so tired I could hardly lift my arms. But my second told me that Santora was just as tired as I was and that I could win if I went out and waded in with all I had. I did, and tired as I was, Santora was even more used up. I got the decision. But that last round was the toughest I ever had. I had a big card and Rooney gave him nearly all his time. Barney felt that he was being neglected. Rooney had found five fights for him, and the boy had won easily, but he wanted to be kept busy and to learn. Having no contract with Rooney, he looked up his old friends, Sam Pian and Art Winch.

Pian was a shrewd manager. Winch was a fine trainer. They gave him all their attention. Winch worked hard with him, making over his style to include some of the left-handed trickery of old Charley White, the great Chicago light-

Manchester on List of Cities Considered for State Baseball League

It depends practically entirely upon the amount of interest that is shown locally whether or not this city is included in a Connecticut State League that is to be sponsored the coming season by the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, the controlling body in minor league baseball. Such a league would have all the privileges and protective features of the big minor leagues, including the right to sell to leagues of higher classification any youngsters that might be developed on the State League teams.

Manchester is included in a list of state cities that would be given consideration and awarded franchises if local baseball leaders care to go into the league. The other cities include Ansonia, Bristol, Danbury, Greenwich, Meriden, Middletown, Norwich, New London, Putnam, Stonington, Stamford, Thompsonville, Torrington, Winsted, West Haven, Waterbury and Willimantic.

The league in this section would be comparable with the Dixie League in the South, the Northern League and the Nebraska League, a trio of leagues that together sold over $50,000 worth of ball players to clubs in leagues of higher classification during the past year.

When Joe F. Carr, promotional director of the National Association was in Hartford last week, he took the matter up with Walter E. Hapgood, long identified with the National Association and who is now making his home in Hartford. After considerable persuasion Director Carr secured Hapgood's promise that he would undertake the formation of the league.

After he has made a survey of the field, Mr. Hapgood will doubtless within the next few weeks, call a meeting at the Highland Court Hotel in Hartford with a general invitation to representatives from those cities displaying interest to warrant to attend the meeting, listen to an outline of what is planned and be given a very concrete and definite idea as to what is required, what gross operating expenses for each club would be over a four months' season—three games a week—to start in mid-May and continuing into September with a schedule of 72 games in all. Mr. Hapgood informed The Herald this morning that he would be pleased to hear from any local parties interested.

SENSE and NONSENSE

When you see a married couple coming down the street the one who is two or three steps ahead is the one that's mad.

After a temperance lecture in Scotland, one of the audience tarried and greeted the anemic speaker as follows:
Scotchman—Did I understand ye to say ye never took a drink in a yer life?
Lecturer—Yes, sir, liquor has never passed my lips.
Scotchman—Well, sir, my old man now deid was a bit o' a drinker a' his life, an' three days after he deid he was a healthier looking man than you are now.

It's never necessary to break into a boy's heart, nature equipped it with a revolving door, so girls can stroll in and out, as they please.

The young man who had been calling so frequently on a girl, whom we shall call Helen, to prevent embarrassment, at last went to see her father.

Young Man—It's a mere formality, I know, but we thought it would be pleasing to you if it were observed in the usual way.
Helen's Father (stiffening)—And may I inquire, who suggested that asking my consent to Helen's marriage was a mere formality?
Young Man—Helen's mother.

They laughed when I sat down to play the modernistic piano. How the mischief was I to know it was only a bookcase?

Here is a true story from Scotland. The relatives of the late lamented were suggesting to the village undertaker that the price charged for the coffin was excessive. The old undertaker pondered the complaint very slowly.

"Well," he said, "there's nae a job like this ever comes back for repairs."

A single girl sits up till 2 a. m., waiting for the boy friend to go home, then she marries him and waits up till 3 a. m. for him to come home.

Young Widoon (pleadingly)—Margaret, this is the fifth time I have called at your home since I saw you last. Is there any way by which I can always be sure of finding you in, or at least of always knowing where you are when I call for you?
Pretty Telephone Girl (looking dreamingly at her shapely fingers)—You might ring me up, you know.

Advertising campaigns are like blank cartridges. They make a big noise when they go off, but they never hit anything.

Nurse (in asylum)—There's a man outside who wants to know if we have lost a male inmate.
Doctor—Why?
Nurse—He says someone has run off with his wife.

There should be something done about these hot check artists from out of town. It is all our people can do to take care of the local crop.

It's fair enough. Miners take gold from the ground and dentists pack it in teeth and send it back.

A prospective purchaser was looking over a piece of property which lay along the bank of the river. Her remarks to the real estate agent:

Prospective Buyer—Doesn't this

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Black ink can be made from white mushrooms; the common ink-cap mushroom can be used for this purpose.

All species of bats do not hibernate in cold weather; the hoary bat of Newfoundland migrates all the way to the Bermudas.

Temperature of the air decreases, gradually, up to a distance of about six miles from the earth.

Sandhill cranes are almost as tall as a man.

The totem pole of the Indian is not just an ornament; the history and legends of Indian families are recorded in these grotesque carvings.

Plans for a canal at Panama were made as early as 1513 by Cortez.

Indian farmers, near Dal Lake, in the vale of Kashmir, grow their vegetables in floating gardens.

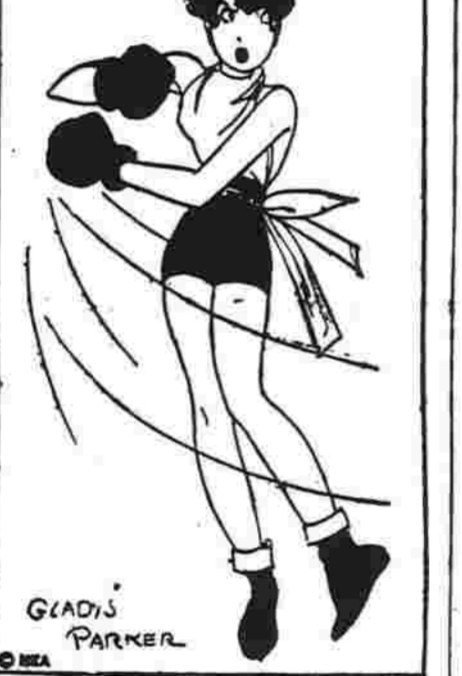

Sandusky, O., prohibits swearing in cemeteries and fines offenders $50.

Snakes expose their tongues as antennae to receive sound vibrations, enabling them to hear loud noises and take flight.

There are 1400 institutions of higher learning in the United States; 168 of these are listed as Roman Catholic.
