BOARD APPROVES GREEN SEWER JOB

Will Be Recommended to CWA as Project — Is Badly Needed Now.

The Manchester Green sewer project which has been discussed for the past month by the Board of Selectmen and the local CWA board was approved by the Selectmen in special meeting this morning and will be recommended to the CWA board at the Wednesday meeting for immediate action.

ASSESSMENT QUESTION

The project was held up for the past three weeks due to a question which arose over the legality of assessing abutting property owners for a share of the cost of the material due to the fact that none of the legislative acts of the former W. S. Hyde for his decision several weeks ago and the ruling was to the effect that the town as owner of the sewer company did not have legal right to assess abutting property owners.

Conditions had to be met for the sewer to connect with the Manchester Green school was deemed a necessary project at this time, due to the unsanitary condition of the present sewerage service in the school. It is expected that the CWA board will recommend the project at the Wednesday meeting and if approved by the state employment engineer, work will be taken from jobs completed and placed on the sewer work.

SHORTEST JURY TRIAL

Bridgeport, Jan. 20.—(AP)—What is believed to be one of the shortest jury trials in the Superior Court, a jury early last night before Judge Patrick E. O'Sullivan returned a verdict for Edith Mills, a Danvers housewife, to recover $1,350 in her $5,000 personal injury suit against Georgiana M. Bishop of this city. Miss Bishop was four times state women's golf champion.

Mrs. Mills sued to recover for injuries received on November 26, 1932, when a car in which she was riding was struck by another operated by Miss Bishop. Trial of the action started shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and was completed at 3:15 o'clock.

100,000 PRESENT AT DEVLIN RITES

All Creeds and Classes Gather to Pay Last Tribute to Irish Leader.

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Jan. 20.—(AP)—One hundred thousand people from the north and south gathered for the funeral of Joseph Devlin, an Irish Nationalist who died Thursday.

Masses of people banked the streets of the West Belfast area to watch his corpse pass. Hundreds of women went as the corpse moved slowly beside them.

Irish Free State and Ulster Cabinet ministers walked side by side in mourning behind the body of the dead leader.

Vivian de Valera was in the procession as the representative of his father, President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State. De Valera's bitter political opponent, William T. Cosgrave and Edwin O'Duffy, his wife were there.

Other notables who joined in the homage to Devlin included Seán McKelvey, the Free State's minister of Finance; Thomas Spring, Free State minister of education; Sir Richard Mulcahy, former command-in-chief of the Free State army; Alfred Burns, Lord Mayor of Dublin; J. M. Pollock, finance minister of Ulster; and J. M. Andrews, minister of labor of Ulster.

Cardinal McGuire officiated at the requiem mass in St. Peter's cathedral, filled with a vast congregation.

JESUS BEGINS HIS MINISTRY

Text: Matt. 4:12-15

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Jan. 21.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of The Congregationalist

The ministry of Jesus began, as all great ministries have begun, with preaching and the winning of disciples.

Possibly it was not preaching in our modern and conventional use of the term, but it would be well if all our modern preaching could be like the simple, sincere, and earnest proclamation of truth in which great prophets and teachers have been impelled to speak forth their message.

Every man is a preacher who voices the experiences of truth in his own heart and life, and the most effective preaching always has been the simple witness to the things of the spirit.

We recall the reply of the man who was asked, "Whomsoever preaching he had been converted to?" "Under nobody's preaching," he said, "but under my mother's practice."

The preaching of Jesus was eloquent both in word and in example. The men who were drawn to him were drawn by his life and personality. Even when they did not understand his words and comprehend all his meaning, they realized that a new glory of truth was in all that he had to say.

The preaching of Jesus began, as all great preaching has begun, in a simple, unadorned, and earnest appeal to the hearts of men to the disciplines of truth.

It was a call to repentance that Jesus uttered, and repentance does not mean, necessarily, the turning from gross sins and evil ways; it is a return to the clearness of heart, the purity of mind, the integrity of soul.

Whether man has wandered far away from the path of moral rectitude, or has sunk into a state of spiritual dullness and undisciplined and a prey to less worthy motives and ends, the call to repentance is one that good men always have heeded.

That is, apparently, what Jesus meant when he said "The Kingdom of God is within you."

The ministry of Jesus had its beginning, as all great ministries, in the character of the men whom he won. It is the quality of the true prophet and teacher to inspire confidence in other men, to win them to himself and to the things that he upholds.

TRADE MOVEMENTS SLOWER THIS WEEK

But Trade Review Reports It Only a Pause in the Recovery March.

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—General trade movements were slower this week, but developments were sufficiently numerous to furnish a background for the continuance of recovery, said the Dun & Bradstreet weekly trade review today.

While the year has not advanced sufficiently to reveal the breadth of the recovery now under way, asserted the review, "the first quarter at least seems destined to be characterized by fewer interruptions than marked the checked course of that period in 1933.

Even though considerable unevenness appeared in the trend of retail demand in many sections of the country, volume was maintained practically at the level established thus far in January, which ranges from 10 to 20 per cent above the extremely reduced position of January a year ago.

Retail sales in the majority of lines are now sufficiently above those of the comparative period a year ago to confirm the belief that consumer demand definitely has assumed broad proportions.

LAUGHTER GROWS BITTER

The laughter of the people at the "skilled labor" wage rate of the CWA—a dollar and twenty cents an hour—to which we alluded the other day as one of the most serious menaces to the Roosevelt recovery program is likely to become still more menacing as it takes on the quality of bitterness in view of the sudden reduction ordered in CWA hours of employment.

The situation was sufficiently ironic when workers employed outdoors in bitter winter weather received $15 for 80 hours work while "skilled" craftsmen—perhaps wielding paint brushes in a warmed school house—received $36 for the same number of hours, wholly without regard to whether the 80 cent an hour man had eight children and the $1.20 man had one. It becomes far more so when the earnings of the unskilled man are reduced to $12 a week—which is below the level of bare subsistence—while the skilled man still receives $28.00, which is well above that level.

The CWA scheme was a positive inspiration. It is doubtful if anything more effective or admirable could have been conceived to meet the situation of the stultified Public Works Administration. The relief it has provided to municipalities has been a godsend—has kept plenty of them off the rocks. But it has been cursed by this iniquitous provision, jammed into it by the influence of the American Federation of Labor, for a wage rate for certain favored trades and near-trades higher than most of their members ever received in their lives.

This setting up of a sort of aristocracy within the ranks of the beneficiaries of the CWA was a matter of dubious fairness and questionable ethics at best; it would have been unjustifiable even if it had no injurious effect on the duration of the CWA's fund. But with that fund already too small to stretch over the period intended to be covered, the ruthless discrimination between two classes of labor has proved to be an unparadise hardship inflicted on the unfavored class. It has simply used up the money at so rapid a rate that now the underprivileged laborers are called on to make up the deficit by yielding up three of the precious fifteen dollars a week they have been earning.

To a considerable extent the CWA has defeated itself by an unnecessary and inexcusable discrimination between the organized trades and the vast body of the unemployed. It has suffered more than it deserved in the confidence of the public and it has gotten itself into a financial mess. Probably Congress will get it out of the latter, but it will have to redeem itself from the error of discrimination—unless, perchance, Congress shall take that matter in hand, too; which it might very well do.

BIRDS AND CATS

We have always been a little unsympathetic to the Audubon Society. It so very seldom tempers its emotionality with any degree of common sense or logic. Its creed seems to be that the universe was created for the birds. All birds; any old birds; if it's a bird it's sacrosanct and that's all there is to it. Yet there are a lot of darned mean birds—butcher shrikes, for instance; and blue herons—blue herons that steal and eat more trout than the state of Connecticut ever put into the streams; murderous birds that slaughter delightful little songsters—and then the Audubon Society pesters legislatures till they rate the murderers as songbirds, too, and gets you arrested if you knock one of them off.

Now the Audubon Society is out after the cats again. It hates cats. Cats kill birds; ergo, kill all cats. Actually the society isn't openly advocating the killing of all cats but it would like to see all cats killed except, grudgingly, those whose owners would pay a license. We, too, hate to have cats kill birds. It would, however, be interesting to know just what would happen to the nation's food supply if there were no cats to keep down the field mice and the rats—and, for that matter, the orchard raiding birds.

Probably nobody in the Audubon Society would admit it, but cats have their uses. Is it reasonable to suppose that, if they had not, man would have tolerated them from the days of farthest antiquity? They are certainly more useful, more beautiful, more ornamental and even more musical than the infernal blue heron which the society has had protected by law.

Moreover, the society needn't worry itself sick about those countless thousands of ownerless cats which it imagines swarm in the wildwood, slaying millions of birds every day and ever multiplying in numbers. For the private ear of the society let it be said that the gunners can be relied on to keep them from becoming numerous enough to crowd the trees out of the woods. Gunners do not cut notches in the stocks of their guns for every brush cat on which they expend a cartridge; if they did there would be no stocks left. Even game wardens—but why particularise?

For forty years we have been listening to this warning that presently the horrid cats would denude the countryside of its lovely birds—crows, jays, owls, butcher shrikes, hawks as well as robins and wood thrushes and warblers and partridges. Yet on the whole there appears to be almost as many birds in the woods as there used to be—and not so very many more cats.

ONE PENSIONER

Thomas W. Mallarky was a police inspector in New York city at a salary of $6,000 a year. He bossed the police affairs of the Borough of Queens. Three years ago this month he retired on a pension of $3,000. In December of the same year he was indicted, along with a number of other persons, for conspiracy to violate the internal revenue law and the national prohibition law, in connection with police protection of two illicit distilleries. Mallarky skipped out. There was a rumor that he had gone to Ireland. Thursday he appeared at the federal building in Brooklyn and surrendered himself.

Nobody outside of America—hardly anybody outside of New York—could guess within a mile of the reason for Mallarky's return. He came back principally to gather up police pension checks totaling $6,687.41 awaiting him at Police Headquarters. Department officials are quoted as saying that there is nothing in any law that would cause his indictment, or for that matter even his conviction of the alleged crime, to prevent his receiving his $2,950 a year out of the money of the New York taxpayers as long as he lives.

Many weird things happen in great cities—few weirder than this.

COVERING UP

There is a good deal of revealing going on. One of the things being revealed is the way in which public utilities corporations sometimes make figures do funny stunts through employment of the device of the affiliated service corporations.

After a long contest in which the Electric Bond and Share Company resisted the Federal Trade Commission's desire to examine its books the former has now consented to the examination after having lost the fight in the courts.

According to the report of the commissioner's examiner, Electric Bond and Share made a profit in 1927 of 289 per cent on services rendered to affiliated utilities companies, and 157 per cent in 1931, while the volume of such services was much larger in the latter year than in the former.

It is by hiring a large variety of services done by affiliates, which carefully charge two or three times as much as the same things would cost if done "at home," that public utilities companies put up their operating costs to a point where they can make their own profits look respectable instead of piteous.

The utilities companies do not care how much they have to pay for such services because they are paying the money to themselves anyhow—and it looks better, from the public's point of view, not to have the profits show on the books of the companies with whom the public has dealings.

There will probably be further exposition of the figures in this particular case.

CWA SLUMP

It would seem as though there were enough valid reasons for unfavorable reaction to the cut in CWA activities and payroll—such, for example as the inexcusable extravagance of a dollar-twenty per hour wage rate for "skilled" labor—without inventing such fantastic criticisms as that put forward by Aviation Commissioner Charles L. Morris of this state. Mr. Morris is quoted as pointing out that "towns have expended considerable money for airports under representations that the development work could be done under the CWA program, and will face considerable loss unless the work can go on."

We don't know what towns Mr. Morris refers to but we do know that Manchester had no money to spend on an airport so that it might be developed at federal expense by the CWA—in this town we were spending too much of our money taking care of our destitute to be able to devote any part of our municipal income to investments in airports; and if there are any such towns as Mr. Morris talks about it would be interesting to know how they managed to find funds for any such purpose.

What does seem apparent is that the CWA, besides needing more money from Congress, needs a new head. It needs an administrator who will not stand for one CWA worker, merely because he belongs to an organized craft, being paid nearly twice as much as such another for the same amount of effort; and who, into the bargain, will be able to keep some sort of track of the CWA's financial status and have some sort of idea, from one day to the other, of the state of his funds.

IN NEW YORK
 Health and Diet Advice
 By Dr. Frank McJoy

CLEANLINESS IN HOME HELPS HEALTH.
 I am writing this article on a Saturday morning, when I know that the rounds of a busy cleaning woman. Therefore, I believe it will be appropriate to discuss an important health rule which every good housekeeper practices every day—this is, that to keep clean is to help keep well.

As you sweep and scour this very morning, you are increasing the cleanliness of your home. It may seem to you that cleaning is one of the most overrated and thankless of tasks, yet I assure you that the cleaning which you do so regularly is very necessary and important if your family is to remain healthy. Imagine what would happen if each one of you went on strike and refused to touch a broom or a bar of soap! Suppose that from this day on, you refused to pick up any garbage. In a very short time the dirt would accumulate to such a degree that the home would be very unsanitary and there would occur a tremendous increase in disease. For with dirt comes disease—with cleanliness comes health.

To help you realize how important a position you hold as a guardian of the health of the family, I am going to give you some figures which will tell you how much your family is worth in dollars. By increasing the health of each one you will add up to $99,900. These are the average figures as used by a large Life Insurance Company in trying to find out what your family is actually worth.

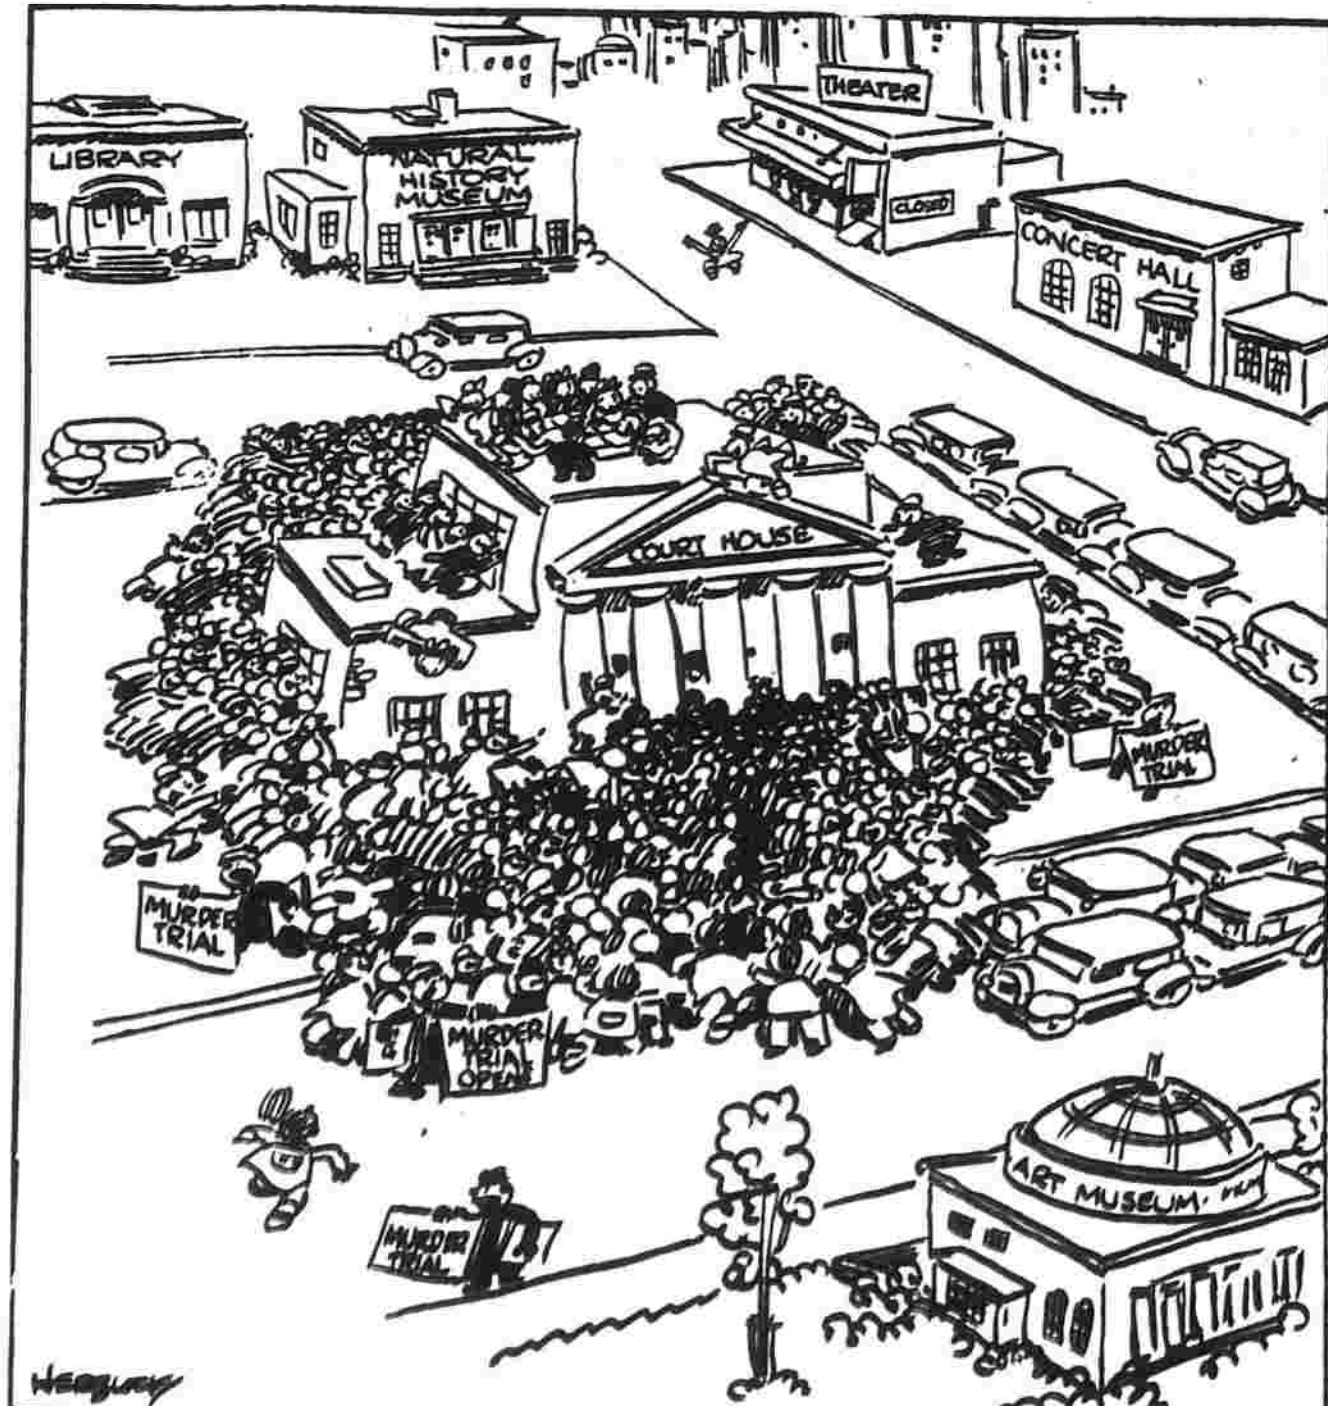

Of course, they refer to the worth of the family when everyone is healthy and the total value drops as soon as any of you become sick. It is largely up to you as home-maker to protect and increase the fortune found in the family by learning more about how to feed the members of your family. By increasing the health of each one you will increase his estimated earning power and will thus make your family worth more.

Cleaning is an essential part of keeping the family well. If you wish to know what is the best general method for keeping the home spic and span I would advise plenty of hot water, soap, some good cleaning powder, and the best house-keeping dola you can afford. You will find that hot water and soap have a definite antiseptic value. Most home-makers do a good job of keeping the home clean, but they may forget to plan their work in such a way that they get through in time to care for their own health. Try to arrange your cleaning today so that you will get through by a definite time. Then take a few hours off and devote them to improving your own health. You can

Canine War Hero
 Over on Governors Island lives an even more celebrated animal pensioner. His name is Rags, and he will be remembered by many former members of the First Division as the dog that went to war and got cited for heroism.

A buck private named Donovan, A. W. O. L. in Paris, picked up the pup during an air raid one night and took him back to his outfit. The men liked Rags, even if they did make slurring remarks about his obviously mixed ancestry. Donovan, of the Signal Corps, was assigned the ticklish task of laying communication lines to forward outposts, and Rags went along. He learned to take cover, to wear a gas mask, and to carry messages when the wires were shot away. On his last trip he was gassed and wounded in three places. But he crept in with the message, and his master was carried in hours later. Donovan died in a army hospital

Why Educators Get Discouraged

In this country, and Rags found a succession of masters at various army posts until he was adopted by Major Raymond Hadenburgh, at Fort Jay. A very old dog, now his once brown and fuzzy coat is getting gray and thin. A shell shiver blinded one of his eyes in the Arizona, and the other is pretty weak. He's deaf, too, and doesn't even perk up at the sound of a high heel. Rags just sleeps, in a soft, warm bed under the kitchen stove. The Hadenburghs hear his snoring softly now and then, and know Rags is dreaming of thrilling days and gallant deeds in France.

easily find some activity which will do you an immense amount of good. You could take a walk, or try some exercise. It is just as important for you to care for yourself and for your own health as it is to keep the house clean. Both of them are necessary.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

(Remedy for Pug-Nose?)
 Question: From Niagara Falls, N. Y., "Your truly" inquires: "Will you kindly give me a remedy for a pug-nose?"
 Answer: I do not know of any treatment which you may apply yourself which can be depended upon to correct a pug-nose. However, if you do not care for the shape of your nose you have plenty of opportunity as practically every one would like to change the shape of his nose if he could do so.

(Cure for High Blood Pressure.)
 Question: From San Onofre, California: "My sister suffers from high blood pressure and she is very fond of eating raw garlic. Would you advise raw garlic for her trouble?"
 Answer: I would not advise garlic in the cure of high blood pressure. I would suggest that you have your sister send for my article as I am sure she will find it helpful. Have her write to me in care of this newspaper, following the instructions as given at the beginning or end of today's article and ask her to enclose one large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Too Much Calcium?)
 Question: From Watsegan, Ill.: "What do you think of taking large amounts of food minerals, especially calcium? I am afraid that this might harm the body. I want you to know that I profit by your columns."
 Answer: There is a great deal of evidence that the body simply eliminates any excess amount of calcium which is not needed. I do not believe that it would be possible to obtain too much of this mineral from the calcium foods as used in the average diet.

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

By BODNEY DUTCHER
 Evening Herald Washington Correspondent

Washington, Jan. 20.—Zerc hour for the recovery program now is expected in May.

The New Deal machinery is geared for victory by the end of spring. No one is talking about what will happen if the next few months are dull.

Roosevelt is full of optimism, basing his chief plans on the bet that the nation will be well up the hill. Most of his aides share his confidence.

In May the President hopes to wind up the civil works program. He feels those 4,000,000 persons employed by Federal funds can be absorbed by private industry. That's extremely optimistic.

The bulk of the vast flood of emergency expenditures will have been poured into the country—at the rate of a billion a month for the next six months.

The public works program will be going full blast. All industry will be under NRA codes. Farmers will have received about a billion dollars in benefits and you can size up first results of the crop reduction program.

That's the way the New Dealers now are talking among themselves. It's the basis of Roosevelt's plan to start tapering off emergency expenditures from $7,500,000,000 this fiscal year to $2,500,000,000 next year and nothing at all the next.

If the economic picture still is sour in May, it will be hard to stand off the greenback boys.

In Irish We Trust
 You can trust an Irishman, according to the State Department which conceded more to Irish Minister Michael MacWhite in liquor import negotiations than it would do most other diplomats.

MacWhite sought a big market for Irish whiskey in America. He couldn't tell just how much of this and that export Ireland would buy from the United States in return for a raise in the Irish quota, but he promised satisfactory quantities. Our officials took his promise.

and gave the Irish quota a big boost.

We will benefit from Ireland's trade war with Britain. What is one thing MacWhite promises to buy. And Irish distillers will be using quantities of American barley, rye and rice. American officials who sampled the Irish whiskey during negotiations think it should be popular.

Negotiated import quota figures are kept secret so other nations can't benefit from the knowledge in their bargaining.

Frank Says Frank
 "It's the most brutally frank budget message ever sent in," President Roosevelt said just before he revealed this year's $7,000,000,000 deficit.

At a special explanatory conference in his oval study, he chided correspondents who expressed astonishment at the figures.

"Congressional authorizations made it clear that we might spend ten billions this year," he said, "but not one of you ever added them up. The shock's your fault—not mine."

When an offhand verbal computation turned out incorrect by thirty or forty millions he demanded: "Well, what's that between friends?"

Back Slappers Back
 Greek met Greek the day Congress opened, when the world's two champion back slappers, Senators Huey Long of Louisiana and Jim Davis of Pennsylvania, met on the Senate floor after long separation and slapped backs. . . . And the heaviest applause as Roosevelt read his message came when he said that Piniaus alone had paid its debt installments in full.

Gift For Cabinet
 Cabinet members have been presented with the official Cabinet picture, autographed by President Roosevelt. It was taken early in December, to include Secretary of State Hull, then about to leave for Montevideo. But because the President wanted to use it for gifts it was not released for newspapers until Christmas time. The Secretary of the Treasury Woodin is in the lineup.

PERSONAL
 --to a lady

THIS evening when your husband comes home, what would he think if you greeted him in the wedding dress you wore a good many years ago? One thing sure—he'd silently wonder how you could have seemed so lovely THEN in an outfit that looks so old-fashioned NOW.

We wonder if your husband realizes there has been as much change in furniture as in wedding dresses? (Remember what you told him the other day, "Most of the furniture in this house was bought right after we were married.")

There is no better time than now to greet him in that wedding dress—and then show him the furniture advertisements in the newspaper! Today you can read about and see pre-views of the furniture shows that will be held next month, so close at hand. And it will probably surprise you to learn he is as interested as you are. Men don't like to go through the stores to shop. But it's quite easy to get them to read over the advertisements in the quiet of your home.

Wouldn't today be a good time to get him to say "yes" about that new furniture you've been wanting?

The Trial Plan has proved sensationally popular in Hartford, because for the first time, people have been able to "try" electric cookery in their own homes without obligation to buy. Over 1400 additional families have adopted electric cooking during the past year and today over 4700 families are enjoying this method in Hartford and vicinity.

Following the plan of Hartford, we are offering our customers, who act now, a trial of electric cooking, with no charge for the use of the range until June 30, 1934, and with no obligation to keep the range. Also as in Hartford, if the house is not already wired for cooking the Company will absorb the major part of the cost of the changes.

Electric cooking is modern—which means clean, time releasing, healthful, economical, fast, safe, comfortable and superlatively easy to use. Electric cooking means better cooking than you have ever dreamed of before. If you don't believe these things, here is your chance to try them and prove them to yourself in your own kitchen.

Come and see them! Get your order in early! Installations in order of receipt!

HOTPOINTS NOSE OUT GUARDS, 40 TO 35

TOWN CHAMPS LOSE 4TH STRAIGHT BUT GO DOWN FIGHTING

Overcome Big Lead With Rousing Rally in Third Quarter Only to Bow Before Red Devils Spurt.

Manchester's National Guards lost a thrilling, close fought court duel to the General Electric Hot-points last night by the slender margin of 40 to 35, after overcoming a nine-point margin and taking the lead in the final quarter, only to bow before a closing spurt by the Red Devils that would not be denied.

Play Heads-Up Ball

It was a hectic struggle all the way and it was no discredit to the Guards to bow in their fourth consecutive defeat to a team that has been beaten by a score of 59 to 36 in one of the best games of the current season. The Guards, with six victories and six defeats to date, face the Meriden Insulos in a return game here next Wednesday night in the first game of a double-header that will see the Paterson Frogs and the Georgia House of David play a pro exhibition in the main attraction.

Farr Is Outsted

A brief altercation in the final quarter of last night's game led to the eviction of Dominick "Ding" Farr, stellar local guard, and proved a factor in the Guards' downfall. Farr was found guilty of blocking by the referee and was put out of the game when he protested the foul, the Hot-points being given three free tries from the complimentary circle as a result, to go to the lead, which they maintained until the final whistle.

The Hotpoints, led by Childs and Schiller, took an early lead, being in front at the end of the first quarter, 14 to 9, a margin that was increased to 23 to 15 by halftime. Falkowski and Turkington did all the scoring for the Guards in the first half, making two twin-pointers apiece.

Rousing Rally

The Guards opened the third quarter with a rousing rally and outscored the Hotpoints, 15 to 6, to force to the front by the slender margin of a single point, 32 to 29, at the end of the period. Mattson led the local attack, looping in a total of four doubledecker baskets. The Hotpoints came back in the final quarter with a smashing attack that swiftly placed them to the fore as the Guards fought valiantly to stem the flow of baskets. The Hot-points were leading by 36 to 35 with a few minutes to go, then put the game away with a field goal and two fouls just before the contest ended.

Childs and Schiller stood out for the Hotpoints and Falkowski, Turkington and Mattson featured for the Guards. Arrangements are being made to play the third and deciding game of the series in Bridgeport next month.

McCluskey To Seek 3rd Leg On Larivee Trophy; Sears Threatens Reign

In Tumbler Race

Joe McCluskey, whose sensational distance running put even the Flying Finns in the shade, will face the starter in the Leo Larivee Two Mile at the coming games of the 33 indoor athletic season running in Garden next Saturday. The Fordham Flyer will endeavor to get a third leg on the handsome trophy awarded by the Holy Cross Club of Boston to perpetuate the memory of Leo Larivee. Joe carried the Marathon to victory in the Leo-Larivee Two Mile in 1932 and repeated last year.

Stiff Opposition

McCluskey will be opposed by a field of the greatest distance runners in America. It is a coincidence that in the same mail in which came the entry of McCluskey there also was received the signed entry of Tom McDonough, two, six and 10 mile champion of New England and junior national 10 mile champion of America.

Joe was the sensation of the 1932-33 indoor athletic season running all rivals into the boards and going through one of the longest and hardest campaigns any long distance runner has ever attempted. Last summer McCluskey toured Europe with an American team and registered victories all over the Continent and the British Isles.

Upon his return to this country athletic fans were surprised to learn that McCluskey achieved his remarkable successes under the handicap of a nose ailment. Several weeks ago he underwent a nasal operation. Since the operation Joe declares he has "more nose" and predicts he will put all his former performances in the shade.

McCluskey's two-mile reign indoors will be subject to a severe challenge this winter. The Middle West is sending on a redoubtable contender in Raymond Sears, of Butler University, who won the Central Intercollegiate Conference mile championship in 4:14.1 last spring, and the National A. A. U. cross-country championship last November. Among others Sears defeated Tom Otty, Michigan State's I. C. 4-A cross-country winner.

Herman Phillips, a former Olympic quarter-miler, now Butler coach, thinks Sears will be unbeatable in the two-mile race. Sears and McCluskey will get together for the first time in the two-mile final at the Millrose meet. Paul Kanaly, of Belmont, Mass., who scored the only indoor victory over McCluskey last winter when he won the New York A. C. two-mile in 9:13.3, and Johnny Follows, the National A. A. U. 2,000-meter champion, will be other starters in the same race.

BROUILLARD MAY GET TITLE GO AFTER WIN

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—If present plans mature, Lou Brouillard, chunky southpaw from Worcester, Mass., will be the party of the second part in the next light heavyweight championship bout Madison Square Garden arranges.

Brouillard qualified for a possible shot at his third title when he thumped out a victory over Bob Olin of New York in ten rounds last night. Though it was by a split decision Brouillard was declared the winner, there was little doubt in the minds of the ringers as to his superiority over Olin.

Brouillard, who now may get a bout with the winner of the forthcoming Maxey Rosenbloom-Joe Knight light heavyweight title bout at Miami, Feb. 1, scaled 166 pounds, Olin 175½.

GETZEWICH BOOKED AGAINST McMILLEN ON ELM CITY CARD

Local Grappler Returns to New Haven Ring Tuesday in Semi-Final Match of All-Star Wrestling Show.

New Haven, Jan. 20.—Big Jim Clinkstock, roughhouse Cherokee Indian wrestler, who won from Dick "Bull" Martin by default here this week when the "Bull" sustained a badly cut lip, has been signed to meet the "Great Unknown," the terror of the topochers, in a best two out of three falls star bout on Promoter Tom Alley's wrestling card here on next Tuesday night, January 23.

Last summer at Savin Rock, the "Unknown" met and defeated some of the best matmen in the business, including "Bull" Martin, Clinkstock, from whom he won on a foul, John Spellman and Charlie Strack. He will not wear his mask in next week's battle against the Indian and is read to reveal his identity to the mat fans who have long been curious to find out just who he is.

The semi-final, 45-minute match will bring together Al Getzewich, known formerly as the "Red Devil" of Manchester, Conn., and Jim McMillen, former college star whose mat earnings are second only to those of Gus Sonnenberg among the ex-collegiate wrestlers. The "Red Devil" will have a group of friends presented by Charles Curley with a modest waist line adornment in 1910.

Two other time-limit matches will round out next Tuesday night's mat program and the program starts at 8:30.

Lott's Making Solons Sorry They Ranked Him Only 10th

By DILLON GRAHAM
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Miami, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP)—The United States Lawn Tennis Association might not know it, but George Lott, the Chicago ace, is enjoying a little chuckle at that body's expense these days.

The U. S. L. T. A. might know—but George certainly doesn't—whether the cause of his merriment will have any weight when the august body sits down to deliberate on the final amateur rankings for 1933 at its Pittsburgh meeting, Feb. 10.

As you perhaps know, Mr. Lott and some of his supporters in the Chicago tennis area raised quite a squawk over the ranking of the said Mr. Lott in tenth place for last season—a few notches below other the blond veteran had trounced.

The Perfect Set-Up

The boys still were arguing about that ranking made by the association's rating committee when the first tournament of the new year—the Miami-Biltmore singles championship—began. To it came a trio of the hits rated higher than Lott: to wit, Frank Shields at No. 1, Hap-

Anything But That!

A Raszler Might Lose His Title, Home, Honor — But Try To Pry Him Loose From His Belt.

By EDWARD J. NEIL, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The history of heavyweight championship belts in the wrestling business is a story any other industry would revel in in these times—everything coming in and nothing going out.

Titleholders have come and gone, sometimes in great profusion and confusion, but the championship belts they acquired at the top never left them. They honor their might; never their symbols of past glories.

Probably the most famous of these belt-wrestling champions is the elder, in 1915, a beautiful emblem with a huge buckle in front adorned with diamonds. Zbyszko promptly took the belt to Europe, placed it in a vault, and always was forgetting to bring it back, even after he lost his title claims.

Shikat's Hard Luck

Then Jack Curley appeared as the Emir of the wrestling herds. Shortly thereafter he needed a belt for Wladek Zbyszko, younger brother of the old champion, so he bought another.

Dick Shikat ascended the title throne in 1924 after interest had dulled among the heavyweights and won himself a belt by beating London in the final of an elimination title tournament in Philadelphia. He held his belt a shorter time than any other champion. Getting off a train in Chicago the next day, he climbed into a taxicab and when he climbed out again he left the belt behind him. It never was recovered or replaced.

London's Most Ornate

New heights in ceremony were reached in 1930 when London took the title from Shikat and was rewarded with a formal dinner, given by Curley in New York. In the middle of the meal two waiters appeared with a flag-draped tray upon which rested London's new belt. It was the most ornate of them all, costing Curley some $3,000.

The Kiddies Contribute

The friends of Joe Schmelzing advanced the custom several notches. A fund was raised from the penny subscriptions of the school children of Nebraska, and in 1918 Schmelzing was presented with the belt to Joe on the steps of the capitol in Lincoln amid proper pomp and ceremony.

Local Sport Chatter

We had a talk with Walter E. Hapgood, prominent promoter of baseball, who is now engaged in forming a State League in Connecticut, yesterday, and we must admit that his plans sound plausible and logical. Hapgood, a much interested in having Manchester represented in the League.

We don't want to throw any cold water on the plan but to us Manchester seems hardly the place for the operation of such a League, mainly because it's a small town that hasn't got the cold cash to finance the proposition. If a city the size of Hartford fails time and again to establish baseball on a paying basis, then what would happen here?

A Tight Defense

Meriden played a stellar defensive game and limited the Red and White to a total of five field goals in the second quarter, one in the third and two in the fourth. Manchester's low scoring, however, was also due to the heavily reinforced backboards that kept the baskets from giving the fraction of an inch, making it extremely difficult to score save with the most perfected up shot. Meriden, of course, was familiar with this and had no trouble in that direction. The majority of Meriden's points in the first half came through long range shooting but in the second half the home towners called repeatedly on brilliant plays under the basket.

Make Game Fight

Manchester fighting in the third quarter but was unable to score, complish much beyond keeping their opponents margin from increasing more than three points, Meriden leading 25 to 10 at the end of the period. Meriden again hit its stride in the final quarter and turned the game into a walkover, although the locals fought hard and at no time seemed as badly outclassed as the score would indicate.

Shoe and Henry Zjajac led the Meriden scorers and Oliver's floor work featured, while Smith and Jud were outstanding for Manchester. Meriden also excelled in the foul shooting department, netting nine out of thirteen attempts. A singular feature was the fact that Manchester made only one out of six tries in the first half but made six out of six in the last.

Fred's A Thriller

Meriden was forced to call on the assistance of first team players to win the preliminary from a Manchester High team that refused to be cooed by their much taller rival and kept fighting grimly to the last ditch in a rough house contest. At times it looked as though the goals would get out of hand and fouls were plentiful. The score was tied at six-all at the end of the first quarter and Meriden gained a two-point lead by half-time, 14-12. McCarty knotted the count and won.

Princeton Upsets Puzzle Dopesters

Highly Touted Tigers Defeated Twice; Few Predictions on Tonight's Games.

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Followers of the eastern intercollegiate basketball league, shaken by two successive upsets of which the highly-touted Princeton Tigers were the victims, ventured few predictions on the outcome of tonight's double-battered program, calling for Columbia to meet Yale at New Haven and Cornell to play Dartmouth at Hanover.

On form, Dartmouth and Yale looked the strongest but the defeats Princeton suffered at the hands of Dartmouth and Columbia have made it readily apparent that the dope sheets might as well be tossed away so far as this particular campaign is concerned.

Regardless of what happens tonight, Penn, with three straight victories, two over Harvard and one over Dartmouth, cannot be ousted from the lead. Yale and Cornell are the only other unbeaten teams, each having won one game. The Elis stopped Harvard easily while Cornell, with Johnny Ferraro the outstanding star, nosed out Columbia last Saturday. Off to a shaky start; Columbia is making rapid progress now as the Lions' conquest of Princeton Wednesday proved.

Among Georgetown, Temple and West Virginia for second place in the eastern intercollegiate conference will be broken at Washington tonight when Temple plays Georgetown. All three teams have played 500 basketball so far, with Georgetown fighting even in four games and Temple and West Virginia, in two. The latter, Pitt, has won three games without defeat.

Manchester High was eliminated as a contender for the Central Connecticut Interscholastic League cage title last night, when the Red and White hoopsters bowed before a clearly superior Meriden High quintet at the Silver City Armory. Shooting that bordered on the sensational and remarkable defensive play were outstanding factors in Meriden's easily gained 39 to 16 triumph.

The result dropped Manchester into fourth place in the league standing and gave Meriden undisputed possession of second place as East Hartford lost to Bristol and topped into third place, in which order the teams seem likely to finish the current league season. It was Manchester's third defeat in five league starts and Meriden's fourth victory in five starts.

One and Meriden

The feature attraction was more or less of a cut and dried affair, Meriden forging into a comfortable lead in the second quarter after an evenly fought opening period, to stay well out in front until the final whistle. As far as thrills and excitement were concerned, the preliminary between the second teams furnished all there was, as Manchester was defeated by the slender margin of two points in a nip and tuck tussle in which neither team ever led by more than a single basket.

The final score of 36 to 24, marking the locals fourth defeat in ten starts to date.

In the varsity encounter, Manchester fought gamely, if hopelessly, from the outset but it was a losing battle all the way once the Meriden sharpshooters found the range to set a field goal, two in the first half and two in the second. The feature attraction was more or less of a cut and dried affair, Meriden forging into a comfortable lead in the second quarter after an evenly fought opening period, to stay well out in front until the final whistle. As far as thrills and excitement were concerned, the preliminary between the second teams furnished all there was, as Manchester was defeated by the slender margin of two points in a nip and tuck tussle in which neither team ever led by more than a single basket.

Local Sport Chatter

We had a talk with Walter E. Hapgood, prominent promoter of baseball, who is now engaged in forming a State League in Connecticut, yesterday, and we must admit that his plans sound plausible and logical. Hapgood, a much interested in having Manchester represented in the League.

We don't want to throw any cold water on the plan but to us Manchester seems hardly the place for the operation of such a League, mainly because it's a small town that hasn't got the cold cash to finance the proposition. If a city the size of Hartford fails time and again to establish baseball on a paying basis, then what would happen here?

A Tight Defense

Meriden played a stellar defensive game and limited the Red and White to a total of five field goals in the second quarter, one in the third and two in the fourth. Manchester's low scoring, however, was also due to the heavily reinforced backboards that kept the baskets from giving the fraction of an inch, making it extremely difficult to score save with the most perfected up shot. Meriden, of course, was familiar with this and had no trouble in that direction. The majority of Meriden's points in the first half came through long range shooting but in the second half the home towners called repeatedly on brilliant plays under the basket.

Make Game Fight

Manchester fighting in the third quarter but was unable to score, complish much beyond keeping their opponents margin from increasing more than three points, Meriden leading 25 to 10 at the end of the period. Meriden again hit its stride in the final quarter and turned the game into a walkover, although the locals fought hard and at no time seemed as badly outclassed as the score would indicate.

Shoe and Henry Zjajac led the Meriden scorers and Oliver's floor work featured, while Smith and Jud were outstanding for Manchester. Meriden also excelled in the foul shooting department, netting nine out of thirteen attempts. A singular feature was the fact that Manchester made only one out of six tries in the first half but made six out of six in the last.

Fred's A Thriller

Meriden was forced to call on the assistance of first team players to win the preliminary from a Manchester High team that refused to be cooed by their much taller rival and kept fighting grimly to the last ditch in a rough house contest. At times it looked as though the goals would get out of hand and fouls were plentiful. The score was tied at six-all at the end of the first quarter and Meriden gained a two-point lead by half-time, 14-12. McCarty knotted the count and won.

PRINCETON UPSETS PUZZLE DOPESTERS

Highly Touted Tigers Defeated Twice; Few Predictions on Tonight's Games.

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Followers of the eastern intercollegiate basketball league, shaken by two successive upsets of which the highly-touted Princeton Tigers were the victims, ventured few predictions on the outcome of tonight's double-battered program, calling for Columbia to meet Yale at New Haven and Cornell to play Dartmouth at Hanover.

On form, Dartmouth and Yale looked the strongest but the defeats Princeton suffered at the hands of Dartmouth and Columbia have made it readily apparent that the dope sheets might as well be tossed away so far as this particular campaign is concerned.

Regardless of what happens tonight, Penn, with three straight victories, two over Harvard and one over Dartmouth, cannot be ousted from the lead. Yale and Cornell are the only other unbeaten teams, each having won one game. The Elis stopped Harvard easily while Cornell, with Johnny Ferraro the outstanding star, nosed out Columbia last Saturday. Off to a shaky start; Columbia is making rapid progress now as the Lions' conquest of Princeton Wednesday proved.

Among Georgetown, Temple and West Virginia for second place in the eastern intercollegiate conference will be broken at Washington tonight when Temple plays Georgetown. All three teams have played 500 basketball so far, with Georgetown fighting even in four games and Temple and West Virginia, in two. The latter, Pitt, has won three games without defeat.

OPENING STOCKS

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Despite heavy profit taking in the early trading today many stocks edged a little higher. Oils were raters firm.

American Tobacco B gained a point and small advances were recorded by U. S. Smelting, Socony-Vacuum, Leows, New York Central, Consolidated Gas and Standard Oil of California. U. S. Steel was steady but Case and Delaware and Hudson eased slightly.

Foreign exchange rates were rather narrow in the early dealings. The British pound was up $\frac{1}{4}$ cents at \$3.01 $\frac{1}{4}$ and French francs, at 6.28 $\frac{1}{2}$ cents, was up .01 $\frac{1}{2}$ of a cent. The other European gold currencies were about steady at the opening.

Wall street was wondering just how far the Federal Reserve bank of New York could go in its buying of gold abroad for the purpose of restraining the climbing propensity of the dollar until the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund becomes available. Indications, it was said, were that purchases in London had amounted to around $2,000,000 a day on three days of this week and on Friday London reported that some $4,500,000 ingold had been taken for American account.

Reports that the so-called sterling "bloc" might break up when the new dollar stabilization fund gets to work were given little credence in banking circles. It was pointed out that the sterling group of currencies has even received a new recruit. Argentina announced that henceforth the paper peso will be pegged to the English pound instead of to the French franc. The pegging rate will be at 15 pesos to the pound.

Although the $2,000,000 expansion in brokers' loans attracted the attention of market observers, it was argued that the increase to a total of $758,000,000 was comparatively small considering the recent broadening of trading. This total was 106 per cent, however, above the aggregate of a year ago.

the act and representing business, agriculture, labor, and the like. Advisory council to be consulted by trustees on such questions of general policy as either the council or the trustees request to be considered.

"Taxation: Taxes to be paid by United States Railways to the Federal government like any private properties of other transportation agencies, provided they agree to uniform taxing provisions approved by the trustees.

"Bonds: Trustees to have power to issue bonds of the United States Railways at their discretion, to provide for new construction or additional improvements, to purchase properties of other transportation agencies, and to provide for debt maturities if no other funds are available for this purpose. Singing funds to be provided for all bonds.

"Rates: Trustees to be under duty, so far as practicable, of producing net earnings sufficient to meet all charges, including bond interest and sinking-fund provisions.

As To Deficiencies

"Deficiencies: Government to meet any deficiencies in earnings, but the repayment of such appropriations to be a charge on the future earnings of the corporation.

"Regulation: United States Railways to be relieved of regulation by the interstate commerce commission, except over rates, accounting, certificates for new construction, and acquisitions of other transportation agencies, but commission to have no power to suspend changes in rates.

"Other agencies: United States Railways to have power to acquire other agencies of transportation, subject to approval of commission, including terms and conditions.

The Craven Plan

The essence of the Craven plan follows:

"Compulsory consolidation to be inaugurated at any time within, but before the end of a relatively short period, say, four years, and succeeding such coordinative activities in the way of pooling, etc., as may be required under the present emergency legislation.

"The creation of Federal corporations to hold the consolidated systems, upon the boards of which will be members of the staff of a permanent Federal coordinator.

"The creation of the office of a permanent coordinator, a non-political executive, acting as a coordinative administrative agency, assigned certain of the administrative functions of the commission, and having important functions with reference to research work and labor problems.

"A new consolidation statute providing for a flexible procedure.

"An amalgamation board, established as a special administrative tribunal, with power to approve or modify the proposed plans, its fact determinations to be final, unless arbitrary or based upon errors of law.

"A declaration of policy by the government to establish rate insurance adequate railroad earnings, but guaranteeing no certain returns."

M. H. S. Mermen Trounce Meriden In League Meet

Manchester High's mermen swam to a brilliant, decisive victory over Meriden High at Meriden yesterday afternoon to gain their first league triumph of the season. The Red and White's convincing demonstration of all-around superiority in their league debut indicates that the locals will be an outstanding contender for the title this season.

Sets New Record

In trimming Meriden, 47 to 28, Ewald Stechholz set a new Manchester High record for the 100 yard breast stroke, shaving three-fifths of a second off the old mark set by Clifford Treat last year. Stechholz's time was one minute, 23 and two-fifths seconds as compared to Treat's time of 1:24 flat.

Manchester won first place in every event with the exception of the medley relay. Ray Mozzier, Bob Carney, Ewald Stechholz being the individual stars. The team is coached this season by Alton Johnson, who was added to the high school faculty last fall.

The Summary

180 yard relay—Won by Manchester (Carney, McCormack, Starchewski and Brennan.) Time, 1:28:4.

40 yard free style—Mozzer, Manchester, first; Ferrite, Meriden, second; McCormack, Manchester, third. Time, 21.4 seconds.

220 yard free style—Carney, Manchester, first; Ferrite, Meriden, second; Frost, Meriden, third. Time, 2:53.4.

100 yard back stroke—Leary, Manchester, first; G. May, Manchester, second; Francore, Meriden, third. Time, 1:16.

100 yard free style—Mozzer, Manchester, first; Kennedy, Meriden, second; Arnold, Meriden, third. Time, 1:07.4.

Diving—Stechholz, Manchester, first; Costello, Meriden, second; Calhoun, Meriden, third.

100 yard breast stroke—Stechholz, Manchester, first; Wagner, Meriden, second; Coburn, Manchester, third. Time, 1:23.4 (new school record.)

120 yard medley—Won by Meriden (Zabroski, Wagner and Kennedy.)

time should be regular. Small children do better with small servings. More may be added but otherwise the child may fill up on one thing and scorn variety.

Canned vegetables may be used but not to the entire exclusion of fresh ones. Be sure cans are not broken or, if home-canned, that the contents are still pure and good.

All diet should have the doctor's approval and suggestion. I cannot accent this too strongly, especially with the young child. The food of the one-year-old should be mashed or made into purees.

Any rough guide cannot cover the ground or take individual cases into consideration.

But at this time of year when vitamins are so needed, even a general outline such as this may be of value.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

The Children's Bureau in Washington, in one of its pamphlets, gives a general well-planned diet for the average child from one to six.

It must be remembered, however, that in any list of the sort exceptions must be made in case of sickness, doctors' orders, and any inhibitions of a child in digesting certain foods. Also babies between one and two should be fed carefully and, if possible, under medical direction. I think this is as important as first-year feeding. It never pays to get overly ambitious about a child's diet during the second year. Or for that matter later either.

Judgment and her own observation of each child will aid the mother in using this list.

Foods On Child's Diet

"A pint and a half of whole milk a day is better than a quart." (If doctor says more, do as he directs. Very young children may need more.)

"Fruit once or twice a day including at least one raw fruit such as orange, grapefruit, apple or banana. The latter is a right-about-face of old ideas. Skin should be turning brown to show it is ripe. I think I should be pretty sure about it. See what doctor says.)

"One or more fresh vegetables a day including a green or leafy vegetable such as lettuce, spinach or beet-greens at least four times a week, preferably daily." (For younger children where raw vegetables are used, they should be chopped or shredded finely. Raw carrots should be grated or chopped. All should be washed carefully in pure water first. Raw tomatoes should be skinned and sliced, or put through a sieve for juice.)

"A starchy vegetable such as potato, rice or macaroni once a day." (Don't let any child fill up on starches alone. When one of these is served at a meal it is enough. Serve simply without strong sauces or rich additions. Potatoes for very young children are best baked.)

"An egg daily." (Some children cannot eat eggs. Consult doctor if such is the case. Or try giving child the yolk only.)

"A serving of fresh meat or fish daily after 18 months; before that three or four times a week. (Under 2 a child could not have meat fish. Always watch for bones. Be sure fish is fresh.)

"Cereal once or twice a day."

"Bread and butter two or three times a day." (Children in 2nd year should have "stale" bread or crisp toast.)

"Cod liver oil daily for children under two." (Or any "run-down" child, or as ordered by the doctor.)

Use of Canned Foods

Other foods may be added to this list but few of these can well be omitted.

I should never think of giving the two or even three-year-old anything I was not sure of. Meal

JEWEL TEA COMPANY'S SALES FOR THE WEEK ENDED DEC. 30 TOTAL $386,845, AN INCREASE OF 10.5 PERCENT OVER THE SAME PERIOD OF 1932.

Commodity Exchange, Inc. is advertising the silk cocoon crop in Japan during 1933 amounted to 837,039,579 pounds, the largest since 1926 and the third largest on record. Since the beginning of the crop year on July 1, Japan has exported to this country 241,965 bales of raw silk.

Liquor has apparently been a big factor in recent sales gains for department stores in this district. The New York Federal Reserve bank reports that from Jan. 2 to Jan. 16, sales volume of these establishments in New York City was 9.1 percent above a year ago. Excluding liquor business, the rise was only 6 percent. For the whole Metropolitan area the aggregate was up 8.2 percent, whereas with liquor sales omitted the gain amounted to 5.4 percent.

POLICE COURT

Thomas Egan Jr., of 22 West Center street, was before the Manchester Town Court this morning on the charge of intoxication. He was picked up yesterday afternoon at 4:15 by Patrolman Rudolph Wirtalla, who found him on Main street in a helpless condition. Egan, who is 35 years old has a long record in the local court and has been sent to jail on several previous occasions. The last time he was before the court was in August. Judge Johnson at that time warned him if he was brought before him again he would sentence him to jail. He therefore gave him 15 days.

Ray Rudolf, 16 years old, of 89 Birch street, was in court this morning on a breach of the peace charge. He was rolling a large cement pipe back and forth on the sidewalk at the Nathan Hale school on Spruce street. The boy has frequently been reprimanded for his actions around the school, and last night was arrested by Patrolman Raymond Griffith. Judge Johnson placed him on probation for six months.

A civil action was brought against the Nathan Hale school on Spruce street, Manchester, first; Wagner, Meriden, second; Coburn, Manchester, third. Time, 1:23.4 (new school record.)

120 yard medley—Won by Meriden (Zabroski, Wagner and Kennedy.)

NOTED GERMAN AUTHOR TO SPEAK IN HARTFORD

Mrs. Max Bengs Representing Trinity Alumni Here in Disposal of Tickets.

Mrs. Max Bengs is the local representative of the committee from the Hartford Chapter of Trinity College alumni, which is sponsoring a lecture on Germany by George N. Shuster, noted author and lecturer, Tuesday evening of next week at 8:15 at the West Middle School auditorium, Broad street, Hartford.

During 1930 and 1931 Mr. Shuster went to Germany under the auspices of the Carl Schurz Foundation, for the purpose of studying political and economic conditions in that country. His views of contemporary Germany are governed by a desire to understand what has been taking place. While he is frankly hostile to much that has occurred, he is inclined to feel that the developments under existing world conditions were inevitable. His book, "The Germans," is considered by critics to be the best general presentation of the subject of Germany today.

Mrs. Bengs believes there are many people in Manchester who will be interested in this lecture, and she will be glad to give them any further details.

Sport Chatter

George Stavnitzky's basket in the last minute of play gave the Blue Ribbons a 33 to 32 triumph over the All-Turnarides last night. "Stiffy" dribbled down the floor and made a spectacular one-handed flip shot to win the game. It was the Blue Ribbons sixth defeat in their last seven games.

which was found by the police in Greco's car.

Greco was not married and was believed to be a mill worker.

One angle which mystified the police was the presence of pieces of cloth in Greco's pockets upon which were scrawled strange Oriental hieroglyphics. The characters contained circles crossed with two pins. The police theory was that they were warnings to gang rivals of the murdered man.

If the government is still in the hog-killing business, we can suggest the names of a few people in the banking and automobile driving business.

Maybe some motorist will get a laugh from this. A south-bound passenger plane landed in North Carolina the other day with a flat tire. The plane was held up three hours while a tire was flown to the plane from Greensboro.

Landlady—And what's wrong now?

Youthful Lodger—I just wanted to say you get too much mileage out of this roller towel.

The Carthage, Missouri, Press announced five wrecks in one article. Two by auto and three by divorce. No fatalities.

Visitor—What makes is your nephew's new car? Old Lady (rather vague about such things)—I think I heard him say it's a wow.

Everyone who drives an automobile should do so only when he is in possession of all his faculties. A man who drives when he is intoxicated is a menace to every other person on the road. In these days of personal liberty it behooves those who indulge in those personal liberties to refrain from operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

How Is It By You? Her cranky ways near drive me nutty and in supplying all her needs I'm kept busy. But just a moment please, she's not my wife, I'm talking now about my darned old lizzie.

As the doorman ran down to open the limousine door, he tripped and rolled down the last four steps. "For heaven's sake, be careful," cried the club manager. "They'll think you are a member."

The former minister who is now a traffic officer in Baltimore has probably shortened his sermons considerably, but at the same time added a little extra punch.

Woman (learning to drive)—Henry, that little mirror up there isn't set right.

Her Husband—Isn't it?

Woman—No, I can't see anything but the car behind.

Its good business to back your car out of the garage immediately the engine has started and complete the warming up process outside in the open air. There are far too many carbon monoxide deaths, due to running auto engines in closed or partly closed garages.

Controlled inflation. This seems to be a case akin to that wherein a blindfolded man is taken into a car and started towards a destination he knows nothing about. All he knows is that he is going somewhere and is on the way. How fast the pace will be and where the journey will end are mysteries.

Junior—Mother may I have a nickel for an old man who is outside crying?

Mother—Yes, dear, but what is the old man crying?

Junior—He's crying: "Salted peanuts, five cents a bag!"

The government is right in buying pork for the needy, but it shouldn't go out of its way to provide any for the politicians.

Boy Friend—I don't suppose you'll kiss me goodnight, will you, Sue?

Girl—My friend, with a guess as good as that, you ought to play the ponies every day.

Sin in its original state may be as ugly as the devil, but it understands the art of beauty culture.

THE MAIN REASON WHY A HUSBAND IS SO PENSIVE IS BECAUSE HIS WIFE IS SO EXPENSIVE.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

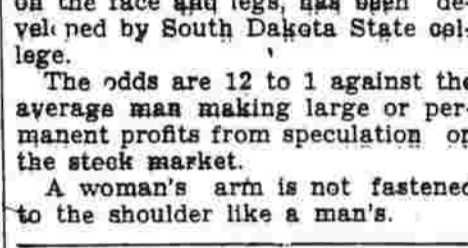

A breed of sheep, having no wool on the face and legs, has been developed by South Dakota State college.

The odds are 12 to 1 against the average man making large or permanent profits from speculation on the stock market.

A woman's arm is not fastened to the shoulder like a man's.

ABOUT TOWN

Marcel Dones of Oxford street was appointed a member of the American Legion County committee yesterday by Chairman George Dunkelburger of Wethersfield. Dones was chairman of the League play, "Loose Change" and has also been one of the leaders in organizing the Legion Rifle Club.

Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth, entertained guests from courts in Wethersfield, West Hartford and Hartford, at its meeting in the Masonic Temple last evening. Grand Royal Matron Minnie White of Hartford was the guest of honor. In the absence of the royal matron and patron because of illness, Associate Matron Mrs. Rachel Tilden served in that position, and Fred Tilden, who is a past grand royal patron, was acting patron last night. Past Royal Matron Mrs. Anna Robb presided in the West. Upwards of 75 members responded to the annual roll-call. Following the meeting adjournment was made to the banquet hall for a social time during which Mrs. Tilden and her committee served "poached eggs" and coffee, the former consisting of cake squares covered with whipped cream and topped by half of an apricot.

The Blue Diamond orchestra will play as usual tonight at the dance to be given in Turn Hall by the young people of the Polish National church, under the chairmanship of Henry Zakowski.

Mrs. J. L. Handley has called a rehearsal of the first and second acts of the play, "Penrod," for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the clubrooms of the Manchester Community Players in the Balch and Brown building.

More than 50 attended the weekly setback and dance at the Manchester Green Community club last night. First prizes were won by Mrs. Fred Trowbridge and John Phelps, second by Miss Norma Pearson and Marshall F. Young.

The Board of Directors of the Savings Bank of Manchester will hold its regular monthly meeting next Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, instead of Monday.
