

ANTI-WAR SPIRIT IN JAPANESE DIET

Government Criticized By Speakers For Allowing War Talk To Be Circulated—Country For Peace.

Tokyo, Jan. 23.—(AP)—An Anti-militarist tenor marked the first interpellation in Japan's Imperial Diet today when members of the Cabinet completed their statements of policy and declared questioning in order.

It was a spirit in tune with the plea for peace and "understanding" voiced by Foreign Minister Koki Hirota upon the greatest attention without specifically mentioning a recent magazine interview with Vice Admiral Nomura Suetatsu or a fictional account of a Japanese-American war recently widely publicized in the United States.

The so-called national spirit fostered by such intonations is not the true spirit of Nippon, in which an international outlook is inherent. The true Nippon spirit seeks to prevail without fighting, Count Futaara declared.

"I quite agree," said Premier Makoto Saito.

Home Minister Baron Tatsuo Yamamoto, in charge of censorship said the government is acting to control such publications.

Ground work for this anti-militarist expression was laid earlier today in the proclamation issued by Premier Hirota on the empire's delicate relations with Soviet Russia and China and improving contacts between Japan and the United States.

"No question," exists between Japan and the United States, Hirota told the Diet, "that is intrinsically difficult of solution x x x I am confident that the United States will not fail to appraise correctly Japan's position in East Asia."

Even after the creation of Manchukuo, the Nation Japan organized in Manchuria, Hirota recalled that there was a "mutual understanding" between Japan and Russia.

"Of late, however, he added, "the attitude of the Soviet Union towards Japan seems to have undergone a change of some sort."

In a more optimistic vein, he said: "I am sure that before long the Soviet Union must come to appreciate fully the true intentions of Japan."

Saying that it is the responsibility of Japan to maintain the peace in East Asia, Hirota declared that the most important essential to peace in Asia is "stabilization of China herself."

"Our government x x x hopes she will be able to contribute x x x to the peaceful development of their part of the globe."

Japan is willing to meet China more than half way, "in any steps contemplating "rectifications of Sino-Japanese relations."

Closer Relations

The resignation of Japan from the League of Nations last year has resulted, Hirota told the Diet, in closer relations between the Empire and "friendly powers in general and Japan was forced to quit the

WORKERS IN MINES TO AID PRESIDENT

Report That Earnest Endeavor Will Be Made To Assist The New Deal.

Indianapolis, Jan. 23.—(AP)—An "earnest determination" to co-operate with President Roosevelt in making effective the New Deal was the keynote of a joint report of the international officers of the United Mine Workers of America submitted to the 23rd constitutional convention here today.

"We are perhaps too closely associated with the manifold details of our daily problems to be able adequately to appraise the true value of the great program which has been made by our union since the last convention in 1932," the report set forth. "It is a far cry from the devastated industry of that year, with its persecuted and harried workers, to the organized coal industry of 1934, with the mine workers of the country breathing the air of a new freedom."

Express Gratitude

The international officers stated that "our people feel an intense gratitude to our able and courageous President Roosevelt, who is the only President during the lifetime of us who has lent a helping hand to the oppressed and impoverished mine worker."

The report stated that when the National Industrial Recovery bill was introduced in 1933 the United Mine Workers abandoned their own coal measures and "made a vigorous contribution to the National Industrial Act."

Workers Organized

Referring to the law as equal in importance to Lincoln's emancipation proclamation, the report related that the international officers immediately began a vigorous organizing campaign. Local unions were established throughout the country "and in less than thirty days from the signing of the act by the President, the complete organization of the bituminous mining industry was effected. The accomplishment was so rapid and so spectacular that many people, including some officials of the government, refused to concede it as an actuality."

The United Mine Workers, the report stated, are vitally interested in maintaining the price structure of the industry, "as the maintenance of this price structure is essential to the maintenance of the negotiated wage structure."

HEAD OF HOME FOR CRIPPLES PRAISES BALL

Superintendent Of Newington Institution Heartily Endorses Idea — Lands Warm Springs Work.

Miss Constance Leigh, superintendent of the Newington Home for Crippled Children, whose work has attracted attention of eminent physicians and surgeons through the country, even winning commendation from President Roosevelt, today expressed to The Herald a hearty endorsement of the work that is being done in raising money for the Warm Springs, Georgia, infantile paralysis fund through the Birthday Ball for the President.

Manchester's Birthday Ball will be held in the State Armory on Tuesday, January 30.

Warm Springs Represented

Miss Leigh, in a visit to Warm Springs, has had opportunities of observing the work and care carried on in that splendid institution and was impressed too, with the fact of the large number of States in the Union represented in the patients' roll-call, many of them coming from centers where there were no facilities for their treatment or care.

Another of the very fine features of the place, Miss Leigh feels, is the fact that they have facilities at the Warm Springs Foundation for the care and treatment of the more mature and older patients. This is very significant owing to the fact of limited opportunities for the care of the adult pertaining in so many States.

Natural Advantages

The tremendous natural resources of Warm Springs such as climate and unlimited supply of water available in the pools for the wonderfully beneficial under-water treatment in the case of infantile paralysis make this place one of great strategic value in the care of the handicapped.

The benefit offered by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, at Warm Springs in his courageous and persistent effort to "come-back" is of course nationally known and understood and the object in obtaining endowment funds for the Foundation is a splendid guarantee for the future of the men and women, who are likewise having the opportunity of help and support in their struggle for returning health and strength, Miss Leigh asserted.

Meeting Tonight

General Chairman William J. Thornton has called a meeting of the general committee for tonight at the Municipal building at 7:30. At tonight's meeting it is hoped to get a good idea of the number of tickets that have already been disposed of. Reports already received indicate that the advance sale has been large. Chairman of ticket distribution Francis E. Bray is contacting the members of the committee today and he hopes to have a summarized report ready for the meeting.

It has been stressed frequently

Worth Half Million, Sues for Support

She's worth half a million, but that didn't deter Mrs. Houston Dunn, Philadelphia social registerite, from going to Domestic Relations Court to demand that her husband contribute to her support. She said it was her mate's duty to provide for his seven children, two of whom, Elizabeth and Newbold, are here crusaders with her.

PROBE GRAFT CHARGES IN CWA MANAGEMENT

Justice Department Agents Look Up Reports Received From Various Cities And Towns Of Nation.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Agents for the Civil Works Administration and the Department of Justice today were scanning closely operations of the Civil Works Administration in a dozen sections of the country as the result of disclosures of graft in handling funds of the relief organization.

Harry L. Hopkins, Civil Works administrator, reiterated that petty graft had flourished in some sections and that politicians had endeavored to gain control of civil works and probably had succeeded in some cases.

The investigation in places where civil works inquiries have disclosed conditions that may have been criminal has been turned over to Joseph E. Keenan, assistant attorney general.

These were said to include the situation in Southern California, where last Saturday two clerks were indicted by the Federal Grand Jury in connection with handling of truck requisitions; the case of the former chief engineer of the Civil Works Administration in Pennsylvania—C. E. Meyers—who is alleged to have received a commission of between $2,000 and $3,000 for approving a sewer project and several other cases in which names have not yet been disclosed.

Probe Continued

Investigation was continuing at Pittsburgh of reported political domination of civil works in that city.

Letters of protest still poured in at the civil works offices and in Capitol Hill. It was said that in almost every instance they urged that civil works be continued on the grounds that they have been "a life saver" to business in small communities and cities.

Telegrams from mayors have been received since last Friday when Hopkins reduced hours of labor to 24 a week in cities and 15 a week in rural areas.

How It Started

This was attributed in part to a telegram sent to the Mayors' Conference, to which was signed the name of E. Semmes Walmesley, mayor of New Orleans and president of the Mayors' Conference.

Before the holidays the time between Washington and Chicago, in the early stages of the civil works program, was an unpaid and unofficial salary to civil works officials.

Hopkins declared today that Bettey has never had an official connection with the Civil Works Administration; that he has never had

KINGFISH'S POWER IS BEING TESTED

New Orleans Voting Today; Polling Places Heavily Guarded By Police.

New Orleans, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long's role as Louisiana political dictator gets another test in the bitter four-cornered majority election today.

With 800 deputized citizens standing by to preserve order, the city's electorates turned out almost en masse after a vituperative campaign in which Senator Long held the center of the stage.

Long entered the picture when he broke with Mayor T. Semmes Walmesley, leader of the old regular organization, and placed his own ticket in the field, headed by John Kloer.

Two Sided Attack

Walmesley, a candidate for re-election, directed the full force of his regulars against Long, and Francis Williams, Independent candidate, launched an equally strident attack against the Louisiana Kingfish. Herbert B. Homes, the fourth candidate, made no active campaign.

Squarely before the voters today was the Huey Long issue—in a city in which the Senator himself has often said he was "weak."

The fireworks began to pop early last week when Mayor Walmesley's police raided the City Hall and arrested Long's registrar of voters, C. S. Barnes, for allegedly "scratching" names of voters from the registration rolls in defiance of a court injunction.

Calls On Militia

Governor O. K. Allen, who was elected with Long's support, placed the head of the militia in charge of State Departments to "protect them."

Mayor Walmesley countered by announcing that he would swear in "10,000 policemen," if necessary to insure a fair election.

The combatants later agreed to a "special guard of 300" to be directed by an arbitration board of seven to consider all election-day difficulties.

Police superintendent George Reyer said police squads would be distributed over the city within three minutes' traveling distance of any polling place.

The polls will remain open until 7 p. m. (C. S. T.)

BRITAIN HOLDS SECRET TALK OVER FAR EAST

Naval Commanders In Conference On Board Battleship Off Singapore, Take Up Naval Policies.

Singapore, Straits Settlements, Jan. 23.—(AP)—British, Australian, and New Zealand naval commanders were called together in strictest secrecy aboard the cruiser Kent today to discuss Great Britain's naval policy in the Far East.

Their deliberations were expected to have far-reaching effects of Great Britain's Far Eastern attitude. The conferees were gathered in an atmosphere made tense with interest in Japan's naval-building moves and a bill in the United States Congress proposing 120 new warships.

British naval forces in the Far East, including those of Australia and New Zealand, are made up of seven first-class cruisers armed with 8-inch guns, the 7-5 inch gun Hawkins, and seven smaller cruisers armed with 6-inch guns, in addition to the aircraft carrier Hermes of the China station, destroyers, submarines, gunboats and sloops.

Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Dreyer, one of Britain's most distinguished naval officers, took over command of the China station just a year ago.

SENATE COMMITTEE FAVORS MONETARY BILL BY 12-2 VOTE

EXPLOSION ROCKS RIO DE JANEIRO

Two Little Girls Killed, Eight Persons Injured; Many Buildings Damaged.

Rio De Janeiro, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Two little girls, aged 9 and 12, were killed and eight other persons, including the girls' father, were seriously injured last night when five tons of dynamite exploded in a factory on the Island do Governador in Rio De Janeiro harbor.

The city was shaken as though struck by an earthquake.

Buildings Damaged

Practically every building on the island was damaged and the inhabitants of Rio De Janeiro were frightened. Many persons in the city suffered minor injuries.

The girls who were killed were the daughters of the watchman in the dynamite factory.

Seven hundred orphan boys, living in the Island do Governador Orphanage, escaped serious injury.

Several Modifications Voted Including Provision Making Stabilization Fund Temporary—Time Limit Placed On President's Power To Devalue The Dollar.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The administration money bill was speedily approved today by the Senate banking committee after it had voted several modifications, including a provision making the proposed $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund temporary.

The important monetary legislation was approved 15 to 2.

A time limit of two years on the operation of the stabilization fund was the most important modification.

Another amendment would place the stabilization fund under a board of five instead of vesting complete control in the secretary of the Treasury.

The administration was upheld in a vote to leave little to the gold with the Federal Reserve system and take the profits from devaluation through a franchise tax on the system.

Debate Breaks Out

Meanwhile, debate over the measure broke out in the Senate with Senator Fess of Ohio assailing it and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, speaking in defense.

The committee also placed a limitation of two years on President Roosevelt's power to devalue the dollar.

Both time limitations were voted with a proviso that the President could terminate either in less than two years or extend them for one additional year.

The vote on limiting the stabilization fund was 12 to 2, with Senator Glass (D., Va.), author of the proposal.

The vote on the amendment to limit the devaluation powers, offered by Senator Bulkeley (D., Ohio), was 11-5, with Senator Couzens (R., Mich.), absent instead of voting aye.

Details of Votes

With this exception the vote on all three amendments was:

For: Democrats—Glass, Bulkeley, Gore, McCaDoo, Adams; Republicans—Goldborough, Townsend, Walcott, Carey, Couzens, Steiwer and Keen.

Against: Democrats—Wagner, Barkley, Costigan, R. Reynolds, Byrnes, Bankhead, Fletcher; Republican—Norbeck.

A motion by Senator Gore (D., Okla.) to leave title to the Federal Reserve gold with the banks and give the government trusteeship was downed on an oral vote.

The committee also rejected without a record vote an amendment offered by Senator Keen (R., N. J.), to change the evaluation range from the proposed 50-60 to 65-70 cents.

Chairman Fletcher said he would file the report with the Senate today and ask to take it up for debate tomorrow.

The vote on reporting the modified bill found only Senators Goldborough (R., Md.), and Townsend (R., Del.), opposed.

Senators Gore (D., Okla.), was present but did not vote and Couzens (R., Mich.) and Carey (R., Wyo.), were absent.

Norbeck's vote for the bill was cast by proxy by Fletcher.

The ayes were:

Glass, Bulkeley, McCaDoo, Adams, Walcott, Steiwer, Keen, Wagner, Barkley, Costigan, Reynolds, Byrnes, Bankhead, Norbeck, and Fletcher.

FRENCH CABINET SEEMS TOTTERING

Riots Rage Through The Night In Paris; Hundreds Of Persons Arrested.

Paris, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Cabinet of Premier Camille Chautemps appeared tottering today in the face of repeated attacks from both inside and outside the Chamber of Deputies.

Force resources were taxed during the night as four thousand banded 1,500 Royalists demonstrating around the Chamber and three thousand disgruntled civil employees crying out against pay cuts in a manifestation near the City Hall.

"Down with the Chautemps," was the Royalists' cry. Stones, sticks and torpedoes were hurled during their struggle with police. Hundreds were arrested, but released.

May Be Overthrown

The possibility of the government being overthrown as a result of the increasing opposition born of the Bayonne pawnshop scandal was discussed freely in Chamber of Deputies lobbies.

Royalists, charging government leaders were to blame for conditions which led to the pawnshop's re-sounding collapse, said they would continue their manifestations.

Even after they had been turned back in the fighting around the Chamber, Royalists continued their rioting at scattered points during the early morning hours today, building barricades on the Boulevard Raspail and burning them.

Police were kept busy until nearly dawn scattering roving bands. Forty persons were injured, only a few seriously.

SENATORS CHANGE PRESIDENT'S BILL

Stabilization Fund Will Be Placed In Hands Of Board Instead Of One Man.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A drastic modification of President Roosevelt's monetary bill was voted by the Senate banking committee today to place the proposed stabilization fund under a board of five instead of the Secretary of the Treasury alone.

By a close vote, the committee decided the gigantic $2,000,000,000 fund should be managed by a board composed of the Secretary of the Treasury, the Comptroller of Currency, the Governor of the Federal Reserve Board and two others appointed by the President.

Earlier, the committee had rejected an amendment by Senator McCaDoo (D., Cal.), a former secretary of the Treasury, to leave title to gold with the Federal Reserve system and take the profits from devaluation through a franchise tax on the Federal Reserve system.

The McCaDoo proposal was recommended to the committee by several witnesses during the hearings on the bill.

Several Democrats broke away from the 12 to 8 stabilization fund votes.

The committee continued in executive session in an effort to reach a final vote on the measure.

The stabilization fund motion was made by Senator Glass (D., Va.), secretary of the Treasury in the Wilson Cabinet.

Members of the committee said the vote by which the committee approved transfer of the title to Federal Reserve gold.

REPORTS SUICIDE OF WIFE 2 WEEKS AFTER THE DEED

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Cloyd Koons, former broker, was in the police line, today to repeat his story of mental fog which he said prevented him from reporting his wife's suicide for nearly two weeks.

He is charged with homicide.

Answering questions in the lineup he said he found his wife on the kitchen floor of their Brooklyn apartment with gas jets opened on January 8. He talked at some length to her but obtained no answer, he said. Police learned of the death yesterday.

"My nerves began to crack and I went away," he added.

Yesterday police learned that he had been in Cleveland and Mansfield, O., during the interim. His father William lives in the latter city.

He mentioned in an incidental way today that he had visited the apartment several times during the last fortnight, but questioning along this line was not pressed.

SEE RELEASE SOON OF KIDNAP VICTIM

One Report Says Second Ransom Note Received By The Bremer Family.

St. Paul, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Unverified reports masked the $200,000 Bremer kidnaping case in a cloak of mystery today as plans proceeded apace for what close friends of the family claimed would lead to early release of Edward G. Bremer, wealthy St. Paul bank owner and president.

One report said a second ransom note had been received yesterday from the kidnapers who seized last Wednesday the eldest son or Adolph Bremer, principal owner of the Jacob Schmidt Brewing Company.

Simultaneously, the elder Bremer Adolph Jr. is being held in a "pretty bad" condition as a result of worry over Edward's safety. Mrs. Bremer, wife of the missing banker, was represented by friends as undergoing a terrific strain but refusing to give way under the ordeal.

Truck Makes Trip

Members of the family did not attempt to reconcile denials they had received any communication from the gang with the fact that a heavy police guard had been maintained at the elder Bremer's home since last night and that a Schmidt brewery truck was said to have made a mysterious trip in the early hours of today.

Reports a note had been delivered to Adolph Bremer yesterday were not amplified to explain how it was delivered nor what it contained as the family joined Dr. H. H. Nippert, Bremer physician, in denying he had received two missives in a milk bottle hurled through the window of his front door early Saturday.

LEADER OF ESCAPED CONVICTS SHOT TO DEATH—THREE COMPANIONS RECAPTURED.

Lansing, Kans., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Death at the hands of hard shooting possemen has ended the criminal career of Bob (Big Boy) Brady, who led six other Kansas penitentiary convicts over the wall last Friday morning.

Brady, a life termer who thrice had escaped from prison, was shot to death late yesterday near Paola, Kansas, after he had made a futile effort to rally his three companions with a cry of "let's fight" as a posse of peace officers approached.

Companions Arrested

His three companions—Tommy McMahon, Fred Cody and Benjamin Young—were recaptured and returned here.

They were placed in Number Two Cell House from which they escaped after overpowering a guard and constructing a ladder with which to scale the wall. This cell house is the "solitary" of the state prison.

Their return and the death of their leader accounted for five of the seven fugitives.

Bridgeport, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The case of Miss Eloise M. Hewitt, 37, Greenwich riding instructor, charged with aggravated assault upon her negro stableman, Jordan Cook, went to the jury in Superior Court at noon today.

In an opening argument for the state, Assistant State Attorney Lorin W. Willis declared that there was no legal excuse for the shooting and that Miss Hewitt fired at Cook in a fit of anger because he had failed to perform a back massage which she had demanded.

Miss Hewitt retained her attorney to the plea being made by the state.

AUSTRIA DEMANDS TO BE LEFT ALONE

To Appeal To League Of Nations To Have Hitler Adopt A Hands Off Policy.

Geneva, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A movement began today in international circles to give Austria, in the interest of European peace, the same neutrality as that accorded Switzerland.

European powers would be asked to adopt a "hands off" policy as regards Austria whose independence was guaranteed by the Treaty of Versailles ending the World War.

German attempts to "Nazify" Austria, as cited by the Austrian government, are a source of worry to Europe and foreign offices which see the Austrian question as a danger to European peace.

To Appeal to League

Chancellor Dollfus of Austria was reported as ready to appeal to the League of Nations unless he receives satisfactory assurances which Chancellor Hitler of Germany will cease what he termed Nazi interference with Austrian internal affairs.

International circles heard that Premier Mussolini of Italy has urged Hitler to adopt a less belligerent attitude toward Austria, pointing out the danger an Austrian appeal to the League would have on Hitler's efforts to secure a disarmament agreement with France.

Brady, a life termer who thrice had escaped from prison, was shot to death late yesterday near Paola, Kansas, after he had made a futile effort to rally his three companions with a cry of "let's fight" as a posse of peace officers approached.

Companions Arrested

His three companions—Tommy McMahon, Fred Cody and Benjamin Young—were recaptured and returned here.

They were placed in Number Two Cell House from which they escaped after overpowering a guard and constructing a ladder with which to scale the wall. This cell house is the "solitary" of the state prison.

Their return and the death of their leader accounted for five of the seven fugitives.

TO OMIT DINNER OF MERCHANTS

Division Of Chamber To Have Annual Session Next Monday Afternoon.

For the first time in many years, if not in the history of the Chamber of Commerce, the annual meeting of the Merchants Division of the Chamber will not include a dinner.

The meeting will be held next Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at Watkins Auditorium on Oak street.

It has always been customary to hold the annual meeting of the division in the evening, preceded by a dinner and followed by a guest speaker.

However, it was felt that a larger attendance could be gained by holding the meeting late in the afternoon. It is expected that the meeting will last no longer than an hour and a half at the most.

Business will include election of a chairman to succeed Leroy Slocomb, and an Executive Board for the coming year.

Reports for 1933 will be read and the closing schedule for the year will be adopted along with a program of activities.

It is not expected that much discussion will take place this year on the closing schedule, which in the past has been a bone of contention. It is understood that the three-months of half-day closing which was generally accepted last year will again be recommended.

SIXTH F. O. ROBBERY
Philadelphia, Jan. 28 — (AP) — Still checking the loss postal inspectors have revealed that safe-crackers looted the Mount Airy branch postoffice of thousands of dollars in cash, stamps and registered mail. It was the sixth Philadelphia postoffice robbery within a year.

The thugs filed steel bars from a basement door sometime during the past week-end and broke open a large safe, emptied every cash and stamp drawer, rifled the mails and piled discarded registered letters on the floor. Employees coming to work yesterday discovered the disorder.

As a result, police last night guarded every substation in the city and the Philadelphia staff of postal inspectors was augmented by a half-dozen experts from other cities.

SUNDAY "BEER"

If the framing of this Connecticut Liquor Control act had been in the hands of persons animated solely by a desire to show that a decent and reasonable alcohol traffic was impossible it is probable that they would have produced a law so like the present one as to pass for a twin.

Preceding to aim at the evils of the old "open saloon," the Liquor Control Act has already produced an evil greater than the old saloon ever was. It has produced a so-called "beer" tavern which not only sells a delicious compound which it calls beer for which it openly claims an eleven per cent alcoholic content—almost twice as strong as the toughest of old time stock ales and three times as potent as the lager or pre prohibition days. Old time brewmasters declare that it is impossible to brew any such decoction and the logical inference that the stuff is deliberately "needled" or fortified with straight alcohol after it leaves the brewery is inescapable.

Now the old saloon, at its worst, did not delude people with such an intoxicant as this. They sold beer and they sold hard liquor. The person who was not satisfied with the kick of beer drank hard stuff. But he knew what he was drinking and unless he deliberately intended to get drunk he took his whiskey out of a whiskey glass and not too much of it at a time. In the present situation he buys what he thinks in a glass of beer—and gets the equivalent of a very stiff drink of whiskey in every glass. Is it any wonder that the system is not working well?

And these places operate on Sunday whereas the old saloon had to close or run the risk of being raided.

It is difficult to see how anything is to be done about this wretched state liquor law until the Legislature convenes again. But there seems to be one thing that Manchester can do about the sale of intoxicating liquors on Sunday. It can stop it.

Section 82 of Article 6 of the State Liquor Control Act provides that "the sale of alcoholic liquor in places operating under hotel permits, tavern permits and club permits shall be unlawful on the day of any state or municipal election, and on Sundays before 1 o'clock in the afternoon and after 9 o'clock in the evening, and on other days before 9 o'clock in the morning and after 12 o'clock midnight; provided . . . that the towns or the municipal authorities of any city or borough may fix by ordinance the times of sale under such permits, and such ordinance shall supersede the regulations of the commission within such town, city or borough."

Clearly under this provision—one of the few good points in the whole law—the town of Manchester has a complete right to require the Sunday closing of the places where alcoholic beverages are sold.

There is time before the March adjourned town meeting for the Selectmen to frame a town by-law prohibiting the Sunday sale of liquor, for a full discussion of such a measure and for its submission to the voters in meeting assembled.

There is opportunity here for those elements of the population which have so vigorously opposed the "return of the open saloon" to make effective their opposition to one feature of the liquor traffic of which even the "old saloon" would have been ashamed.

NATION'S INCOME

Estimates of the national income for the years 1929 to 1932 inclusive, stated to be the most complete and detailed ever compiled, have been prepared by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce. They disclose some extremely interesting facts and comparisons. The report deals, of course, with income distributed to individuals and does not, as it could not, include such benefits as the use of the home one owns or a variety of other imputed values that are not susceptible of inclusion in explicit income.

On the same basis, the national income for 1929 was $1 billion, while in 1932 it was only 49 billions, a shrinkage of 40 per cent. At the same time production income, which was $3 billion, shrank to $3 billion in 1932.

Several significant facts that might well be borne in mind are brought out by the figuring. One is that wages have suffered most in the fading of income during the depression, since in 1929 labor received about $3 billion while in 1932 its share in the national income had fallen off 60 per cent. Another is that the decline in interest payments remained almost stationary, being 5,687 millions in 1929 and 5,506 millions in 1932.

Even the income of agriculture, of which we hear so much, did not suffer as greatly as labor, falling off less than 50 per cent in explicit income, which does not involve, necessarily, any diminution in the use of the farm houses or the food of farm families, actually part of agriculture's income.

The most striking factor in these comparisons is the remorseless continuity of the interest charges. It is a good thing to remember when the deflationists tell us that the insurance policies, the savings bank accounts and the bonds of the widows and orphans must be protected against the evils of inflation.

NOT GOOD PROOF

The extraordinary proceeding of declaring a mistrial in the case of Dr. Alice L. Wynkoop, accused of the murder of her daughter-in-law, on the ground that the defendant was critically ill and might not be able to withstand the ordeal of a continuation of the trial, is bound to result in much discussion. The case is an unusual one of itself; the declaration of a mistrial for the indicated cause is, if not unprecedented, at least most unusual. But what will probably excite the greatest degree of comment is the fact that the court appears to have accepted the alleged condition of the prisoner very largely on the representations of her own physician, her counsel and herself.

It may very well be that Dr. Wynkoop was in a critical state; it may very well be that she is innocent of murder; it may very well be that the state had no moral right to bring about the death of an innocent if accused person through insisting on completion of the trial at a particular time. But it also may be, for all of any convincing evidence to the contrary, that Dr. Wynkoop, her lawyer and her doctors "pulled a fast one" on the court. Dr. Wynkoop may have been malingering.

It would have been very much better to have had her physical condition much more clearly certified than it has been. It will add considerably to the inadequacy of our criminal laws if a person accused of murder can avoid trial by merely telling the court that he has a pain and turning pale to prove it. All he has to do is to eat a little soap.

LAWYERS

An indignant citizen of Plainville, Nathan Alpert, writes to the Hartford Courant to free his mind of an accumulation of weariness occasioned by the recent and continuing series of shocked exclamations that have been printed relevant to the subject of lynchings. There is much in what Mr. Alpert says to titillate the souls of those possibly cynical persons to whom these shocked protests are faintly amusing. He says the criticisms come chiefly from two classes, clergymen and lawyers. Quite properly he points out that a clergyman, protesting against lynching, remains exactly in character and is in an unassailable position. The lawyers, however, Mr. Alpert puts in an entirely different barrel. We cannot refrain from quoting a couple of paragraphs from his letter:

We know that the profession, through its skillful efforts in helping the undeserving to evade the law, its cheap affiliations with crooked politics, its hand-in-hand friendship with gangsters and criminals, has forfeited the confidence of the American people. . . . Our chance of equal rights before the law depends on our social status, the size of the fee we can pay to procure the best legal defense, the strength of our political position and the color of our skins.

The legal profession should attempt to regain some of the dignity it has lost, divorce the bench from politics, do away with its cheap fixers, band together for a revision of present antiquated laws which protect rather than punish crime, debar the crooks in its own ranks—in plain words thoroughly delouse itself. When it has done this, lynchings, gangster law evasions and corruption will have largely disappeared, for it is only when people have lost confidence in the instruments of law that they take the law into their own hands to enforce it.

There is so much of truth in what this disgusted letter writer says that there is great danger that before long it will loom so large in the popular eye that another great truth may be wholly obscured—the truth that there are any number of absolutely honorable and high-toned men in the profession of the law; probably a great many more than there are rogues. If the public does get the impression that to be a lawyer is to be a crook the responsibility, however, lies very close to these worthy but strangely inhibited members of the bar; for the very sufficient reason that they do nothing about the steadily increasing number of shysters who are churned out of the law schools by the thousands and turned loose to become a huge legal bodyguard for criminals.

When the honorable, responsible body of the legal profession finally—as sometimes it must—turns upon the campfollowers and bummers—and throws them out of the fold and into the fields of banditry where they belong, or, better still, prevents them from gaining admission to the bar, and when it has sought and obtained the obvious reforms in court practice, it will find such people as this Plainville letter writer cheering for the courts, the lawyers and the laws, instead of giving them the razzberry of derision.

ONLY "RATHER"

The brand new "Connecticut State Journal," Republican monthly, quotes Governor Cross as saying to the Milford Wheel Club, "Last time I was here before my inauguration I entertained you with some stories, but after three years as governor you get rather sober and don't feel so much like telling stories."

Perhaps it's just as well that the governor was talking to a wheel club and not to a W. C. T. U. The good ladies might conclude that it was wicked to vote for anybody who needed three years to get that way.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Herald Washington Correspondent

Washington, Jan. 23.—Uncle Sam is in the banking business up to his knees. He will wade further, but he still fears the plunge.

Breweries anxious to reopen sawmills short of cash, newspapers unable to meet the payroll, shoe factories, merchants, railroads and other big corporations—their typical thousands of firms—are now begging the administration to finance private industry. The banks still won't lend.

Inner councils of the New Deal seriously considered direct RFC loans to corporations, especially for payrolls and raw materials.

The latest inside dope is that bankers will be given another chance to do their job.

But the RFC will underwrite industrial loans by from 25 to 50 per cent. That means the Treasury directly will share the risks which bankers thus far have refused to take.

Banks face more rigid control if they don't play ball. Roosevelt and his credit advisers think they will.

Reasons: 1. Fear of bank runs, a factor in vastly increased bank liquidity, is almost eliminated with insurance of 80 to 90 per cent of deposits. 2. Thousands of banks will have more than a billion or RFC 5 per cent money received for preferred stock. They must put that money to work.

Along with demand for working capital has come huge demand for refinancing money. Many firms think they'd be in good shape with maturing obligations met.

What's a Billion or So?

Don't let your difficulty in grasping the figures of the present double budget system enlarge your inferiority complex.

Papa Roosevelt himself, while still wrestling with the budget, was confessing: "You can figure it any way you like and make it come out ten billions plus or ten millions minus."

"Anyway," he explained with a laugh, "that's my frame of mind right now."

Flood of Booze Ready

Forty million gallons of whiskey, stored in Canada, alleged to be four or more years old, is relied upon by the FACA to break present booze prices and confound the bootlegger.

Officials privately admit they'll need nearly all of it for our refiners and blenders, besides 8,000,000 above-quota gallons recently let in. That's the only large source of American-type whiskey.

Get-rich-quick ambitions of would-be importers were indicated when FACA counted up and found that applications for Scotch whiskey imports would have brought in 100 times more Scotch than arrived in any pre-prohibition year. The glut would have been ridiculous.

Few realize it yet, but any citizen privately may import any amount of wines and liquors—without a permit—which he can convince customs officers is for his personal use. You can stock up a full cellar if you like.

Club Over Congress

Thousands of job still undistributed to Democrats are one reason for Roosevelt's serenity as he faces Congress. About half the federal patronage is yet to be handed out, reliable estimates say.

It is as potent a club over recalcitrant party senators as in the special session. One reason Postmaster General Jim Farley went to Europe was to preserve that weapon.

Two billion dollars more of public works money soon will be available, mostly for local projects. And you don't know politics if you think that can't be used to keep Congress in line.

FASTING AS A TREATMENT FOR DISEASE

In yesterday's article I told you something about the improvement to be gained by fasting. Fasting will also bring about changes in the internal glands of the glands, and make it appear that the glands are partly rejuvenated in a natural way. In those cases where the patient tells me after the fast that he feels part of his improvement is due to a strengthening of the glands.

As you would expect, the comparative rest of the digestive organs during the fasting period, increases the digestive and assimilative strength to a marked degree. The fasting treatment is helpful in the treatment of the following acute and chronic disorders: overweight, diabetes, epilepsy, high blood pressure, appendicitis, fevers, headache, pneumonia, hyperthyroidism, rheumatism, "morning sickness" in pregnancy, and acute Bright's Disease.

It may interest you to know that I obtained the above list from a report written by a doctor who writes that all of the above disease conditions were seen to improve during the fast.

It has been my experience that not only these diseases but many others are cured by fasting. I would add to the list the following: asthma, bronchitis, catarrh, colds, gall bladder and liver troubles, kidney disorders, arthritis, hyper-acidity of the stomach, rupture, heart disease, skin disorders and many others.

While the strict fast may be taken, in which the patient receives an abundance of water but nothing else, this is not the type of fast I generally recommend as I have found that most people will recover just as rapidly if an eight-ounce glass of fruit juice is taken every two hours. In addition, they will not become so "lonesome" for food. I have seen patients who were so well satisfied while on the orange juice fast that they were entirely content to go to luncheons where others were eating and drinking the best food. The hunger which may appear during the first day of the fast wears off and within a short time the patient loses all desire for meals.

While you are using the fruit juice you are not on a strict fast, as the juice will furnish you with a certain amount of food material. It is all right to use any of the following juices: orange juice, grapefruit juice, tomato juice or unsweetened pineapple juice. Other unsweetened fruit juices may be used instead of the ones I mention, with the above list is the one which is most popular with the majority of people.

For the patient who is fasting at home I advise the use of the short five day fast which, in my opinion, is perfectly safe for the patient to use provided he is following some instructions regarding how often he

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON

New York, Jan. 23.—Of all the people, some quite famous, who are taking up professional residence in Rockefeller Center, the one who knows the most celebrities is Mr. Charles De Ziemler, a dapper fellow whose recent travels have taken the accents of most of the old world capitals. Mr. De Ziemler is a barber.

His new establishment is a reflection of its owner's well-grounded conviction that barbering is an art that a man can be proud of. There are deep leather sofas and chairs for waiting guests, and rare old prints are on the walls, which themselves are of imported marble and imported woods. No glitter. Mr. De Ziemler, when he isn't tending a haircut or a beard-clip at the residence of some favored client, stands at the entrance to his salon and greets the duPonts, the Rockefellers, Mr. Raskob, and C. H. F. Belmont, a few Vanderbilt and many others.

Trimming Crowned Heads

Mr. De Ziemler is tickled when people express interest in his collection of prints, engravings and articles having to do with the barbering profession in olden times. When he was an apprentice in Stockholm 34 years ago, De Ziemler saved money on lunches to start his collection. Now he has agents who buy for him. He has a George Washington shaving cup, a Napoleon cup and all manner of rare shaving bowls of the fourteenth and later centuries. Also some bleeding sets and a terrifying tooth-clip contraption of the days when barbers were the surgeons and dentists.

Probably you know that the red-and-white barber pole is a conventionalized symbol of the blood-streaked bandages which surgeons used to hang out after removing them from their patients' arms.

For three years De Ziemler barbered German notables in Berlin. For five years he was private barber to the Marquis de Ypres. In 1912 he was at the Ritz in Paris, and it was there that the late W. K. Vanderbilt persuaded him to come to the Racquet Club here. He was head barber for seven years. Some of his titled customers have been the Crown Prince of Sweden, Prince Henry of England, Lord Kitchener and assorted Romanoffs. His biggest disappointment came during the visit to this country of the Prince of Wales. Instead of sending for De Ziemler, a valet came down and got some razors, and H. R. H. shaved himself.

Invented the Bob

Perhaps the oldest of New York's better known barbers is M. Henri Grechan, who is nearly 70, and for more than 30 years has owned the shop by the Brevoort Hotel, on lower Fifth avenue. It was M. Henri, according to M. Henri himself, who started the hair-hobbing craze for women. Irene Castle came to him seventeen years ago for a bob, and in a few years many other women were following suit.

The proudest week in the old man's life was during the war when Marshal Joffre and his staff came to New York to stimulate Liberty Loans and recruiting. They stayed at a Fifth avenue mansion, and M. Henri was chosen as the chief de coiffure to spend his entire time in the house, clipping and shaving whenever he was needed. At the end of the visit the French barber proudly declined any pay.

When Mark Twain lived near the hotel, he often strolled into the shop to have his white, fluffy locks shined. Florence Ziegfeld was another whom Henri used to wait upon at his home. The barber recalls that when he had finished M. Ziegfeld would pay him from a large roll of bills he kept hidden inside the pillow case on his bed.

George Arliss also was a customer before he went to Hollywood, and Henri was proud of the distinguished style of haircut he evolved for the actor. Later he saw some pictures of Arliss wearing his hair distressingly short. M. Henri sat down and wrote him a pleading letter, and was pleased to note that Arliss' hair was longer when he made his next movie.

We knew it. No sooner do we recognize Russia than President Roosevelt gets the idea of a 25 to 60-year plan for public works.

In that dish of ice cream which you have bought there is represented the labor necessary to produce the rich, pure ingredients—the cream from farms, the flavorings from many lands, fruit juices and sugar; the elaborate and costly machinery necessary to make that ice cream so palatable; the trucks and truckmen which made its delivery possible; the fountain and refrigerator manufacturers; and the pay envelopes of all the workers wherever ice cream is sold.

That dish of ice cream, a clean, wholesome, appetizing food, when purchased by you, is doing its part for recovery. And so it is with the purchase of the many thousands of articles bought and sold every day.

PRAISES COUNTY 'Y' INFLUENCE IN TOWN

Canvass To Be Conducted For Funds By 35 Young Meet This Week.

Last night at the Center Church the canvassers for the Hartford County Y. M. C. A. drive met with Elmer Thienes, the County Y Secretary, and completed the plans for the local canvass which will be made this week.

Speaking of the work in Manchester he described the local Hi-Y club as "one of the most effective groups of young men in the county."

Telling of the Y athletic leagues in which the local Recreation Center, the local Y and the group at Highland Park have entries, he pointed out that the object of the leagues and meets conducted by the Y is to interest young men in participation in athletic competition.

Mr. Thienes pointed out that the Y is non-sectarian and that all religions join in its work and enjoy the benefits of its program.

After Mr. Thienes had answered questions and given out pamphlets about the Y, the canvassers were given their lists of people from whom contributions will be asked.

Conrad Phelan in his finding today declares that Blotta came to his death either by joint or individual act of London and Dutcher. The final guilt is left to the criminal courts to decide.

ROCKVILLE

MEMORIAL BUILDING LABOR WILL COST $3,500

Expense To Town For Material Will Exceed $1,000; Ground Floor To Be Done First.

Federal funds totaling $3,500 for labor are to be used on the renovation of the Memorial building, popularly known as the "Town Hall."

Work got underway yesterday morning with twelve men washing the interior of the building preparatory to painting.

The workmen are in the Town Clerk's office and yesterday finished the washing of the walls and ceiling in the rooms of the Board of Selectmen so that the painting could be started this morning.

The Board of Selectmen must furnish the materials although most of the funds for labor will come from the federal allotment.

The work is to be completed on the first floor before it is started on the second and third floors.

William Cliff, master painter, is in charge. Edward Jackson, master painter, is also at work on the job. The remainder of the help is considered unskilled.

Many of the older residents recall the old days when the hall was last renovated. Edward Jackson stated that he finished the interior walls back in 1912.

It is impossible to carry on the work without interference. A special session of the Board of Selectmen is being held this week with Judge Frank P. McEvoy on the bench.

Several alterations are being made to the lighting fixtures in the rooms occupied by the Board of Common Council new fixtures are being installed by Lutz & Wells preparatory to the painting.

The net cost to the taxpayers of the town of Vernon is expected to be over $1,000 for this job as it is compulsory for the town to purchase all the materials needed and to construct the stagings. New lumber is being purchased.

Mayor Installation Mrs. Minnie Richardson and staff of Welcome Rebekah Lodge of East Hartford will install the newly elected officers of Mayflower Rebekah Lodge at their regular meeting this evening in I. O. O. F. Hall.

The officers to be installed are: Noble Grand, Mrs. Elsie Miller; vice-grand, Florence Gordsten; recording secretary, Alice Kingdon; financial secretary, Ottilie Pfunder; treasurer, Charlotte Dreacher.

St. John's Officers Officers for the fiscal year 1934 have just been elected by the parishioners of St. John's Episcopal Church. The following have been elected: Rector, Rev. H. B. Olmstead; wardens, Sherwood C. Cummings; Joseph Prichard; vestrymen, William A. Kuhnly, Charles Francis, Fred Wilby, Thomas Goldstein, Albert H. Hewitt, William Nutland; Alfred H. TO BEGIN REVIVALS IN CITADEL TONIGHT

Col. Wallace Winchell To Tell Of His Colorful Life In Army.

Colonel Wallace Winchell, Salvation Army officer who while on duty in Belgium during German occupation early in the World War was tried by the same tribunal that convicted Edith Cavell, will speak tonight in the local Salvation Army citadel. Tonight's service will be the first in a series of revivals that will continue through the week.

The meetings will begin at 8 p. m. Col. Winchell is a descendant of Robert Winchell, who founded West-sted, Ct., 304 years ago. He also is a descendant of the Peckhams who founded Rhode Island with Roger Williams. He was born in Hannibal, Oswego county, N. Y., later removed to Charlotte, Mich., where he graduated from the high school there, in 1886.

In that year he identified himself with the Salvation Army. In those days the Army was new and was subjected to mob riots and persecution. In 1890 he was sent to London to be trained in the Salvation Army International college. This was the year that William Booth began social service operations on a w. c. scale and published the book, "In Darkest England and the Way Out."

Col. Winchell, returning to New York, was asked to make a survey of the lower East side and spent two weeks sleeping in lodging and "dop" houses. His report was published in the New York Herald Tribune Jan. 14, 1891 and reprinted in a book entitled "New York's Inferno." This book stirred up sentiment and laws were passed improving housing conditions.

For eight years Winchell had charge of the educational program of the Army. On February 8, 1894 in Chicago he had a controversy with the famous Col. Robert G. Ingersoll when he subpoenaed the atheist to the "devil's trial." This trial was commented on by the papers in all parts of the world.

Buttermilk Bar For 26 years Winchell has worked for the Salvation Army in the slums of the metropolitan area and in Jersey City. While carrying on his work at the Memorial hotel, the special service center of the Salvation Army on the Bowery, all types of the underworld came under his ministry. Among his "troops of grace" are yeggmen, gangsters, racketeers, bushwhackers, drug-addicts, alcoholics, moochers, pilgers and gun-molls. Many of these converts he will describe while he is in Manchester. The "bishop of the Bowery" also will tell of the famous "Buttermilk bar" with its brass rail, and corps of bartenders dealing out the "beverage with a tang" at 2 cents a glass, when he dried up speakeasies in the vicinity.

In 1915 Col. Winchell was sent by the international headquarters to organize relief in Belgium under German occupation. He will tell his story of his trial before the same German authorities that put Edith Cavell to death.

Col. Winchell has visited 51 cities in revival campaigns in seven states. Last summer he "itched his meetings for 89 nights in Columbus, circle and battled with the atheists and Communists. There was rioting almost every night but he would not call or the police trusting in the arm of the Lord.

ISOLATED BY BLIZZARD Halifax, N. S., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Several settlements in northern Victoria county, isolated by a driving snowstorm, were reported today to be "almost destitute."

Barriers of snow and ice cut off supplies by land and sea. Coastal ships have not been able to enter Victoria ports for weeks and merchants are without stocks.

Many people have no flour, kerosene or other winter supplies, it was reported, and no feed for their horses and cattle. Officials said they feared serious results unless ice breakers arrived soon.

RUSH FOR $1 WHISKEY Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 23.—(AP)—There is a rush on state liquor stores for $1 whiskey and 90-cent gin.

A blended rye costs $1 a fifth of a gallon, and gin 90 cents a quart. Chemists have reported the whiskey is pure although not aged "regularly."

Sixty children got the run of the White House recently, but they found all precedents broken already.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Chicago—Thomas L. Williams, an eye cosmetics manufacturer is an optimist.

Women, he told a divisional meeting of the American Cosmetics Association, will spend about two billion dollars during 1934 for cosmetics and beauty service.

He said his figure represented $500,000,000 over the 1933 beauty aid expenditures. He added the industry as a whole was already enjoying from 15 to 20 per cent more business than it was a year ago this time.

London—Bernard Shaw thinks its time the British government learned to heed his advice.

Opposing the unemployment relief system in Britain, he wrote the National Council of Social Service: "Keep telling the government that this dole business will be the downfall of the British Empire unless you are made self-supporting. Tell it I said so. It ought to know by this time that what I say always turns out to be right, even if it takes the government fifty years to find it out."

Baltimore—The number of fleas on a rat, back averages four.

This figure was reached on a count of the four thousand rodents caught last week in the CWA rat-catching project here.

One rat, taken from a private residence, had 89 fleas, which was the record.

London—The annual New Year's gathering at St. Paul's cathedral had a sequel in the columns of a morning paper where two advertisements appeared.

The first was an appeal "will the bearded Scot who greeted the New Year by stamping on my foot on steps of St. Paul's cathedral while singing Auld Lang Syne kindly send thirty shillings to pay medical attendance and this advertisement? Colleen in Green."

The bearded Scot apparently paid up, as later the following announcement appeared: "Bearded Scot: Thirty shillings received, prefer not renewed acquaintance. Foot still hurts. The offer of XYZ who also answered my advertisement, declined with thanks.—Colleen in Green."

Seattle—Paul Jessup, athlete and former jailer here, now tries to keep men out of jail. The holder of the world's discus throwing record has hung up his shingle as a lawyer.

Denver—City Attorney James D. Parriott does not agree with Premier Mussolini on this marriage business.

Parriott today revealed he has "fined" Gerald McAuliffe, the only bachelor on his staff $100 a year salary reduction.

In a letter to the City Council, Parriott explained he had to make salary adjustments among his assistants and "besides, Gerry is not married, has less of expenses and should be heavily fined for so long remaining a bachelor."

NATION TO BUILD 20 NEW WARSHIPS

Bill To Be Rushed Through Congress So That Work Can Be Started.

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—By unanimous vote, the House Naval committee today approved the Vinson treaty navy bill and decided to try to attach it to the annual navy appropriation bill now being considered in the House proper with passage a certainty by tomorrow at least.

It had become plain a short time earlier that once this bill was enacted, prediction of which was made by Speaker Rainey, then the administration would ask up to $25,000,000 to be actually appropriated at this session for a start on 20 new warships.

Eighteen of the twenty-five naval committee members were present when the bill was reported.

To Speed Passage On the motion of Representative Britten (R., Ill.), Chairman Vinson was directed to "use every means" to get the bill through the House.

Lady Hamilton, Born Blacksmith's Daughter, Won Nelson's Love

Lady Hamilton As a Bacchante

The humble servant girl who became one of the world's most glamorous sirens is the fascinating story Alice Bohe tells in this, the first of 15 weekly stories, on "The Woman in the Painting."

By ALICE ROBE Lady Hamilton was born in a hut and died in a garret.

She began and ended in poverty but in completing the circle she left her mark upon the history, the art, the romance of the world.

She was born Emma Lyon, daughter of a blacksmith, and started her London career as a servant.

She died Lady Hamilton and ended her London career as the greatest love of a mighty hero.

She was driven from her low position by a censorious Mrs. Linley for wearing her respectable mistress's mantle.

She was driven from her high position by a censorious Mrs. Grundy for not wearing her mantle of respectability.

Lady Hamilton was one of the world's most glamorous sirens. She was many things to many people.

Cherished companion of royalty; inspiration and model for artists; entertainer for society; patriotic intriguer for warriors, it is as Lord Nelson's love that she wrote her name in history.

Whether her love for posturing was the result or the cause of her success as an artist's inspiration, she was an addict. It became quite the vogue to see her "portraits" which she called tableaux vivants.

Many a more beautiful woman has missed the immortality that is Lady Hamilton's. Romney and Nelson—Art and Love—have raised her to an imperishable memorial.

George Romney, whose sentiments for Lady Hamilton have been the subject of conjectures, was an eccentric. When Sir Joshua Reynolds told him that he should marry, he promptly left his newly wed wife. He saw her but rarely and returned to her only when he was old and ill and no longer able to paint his "divine lady."

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

The other day a little fellow was at our house and got up at the table to dine. We had no high chair, having passed ours along and so he had to be bolstered up with two green pillows from the living-room.

Perhaps you won't believe me when I tell you that this baby of two years aged four months did down when he'd finished his cereal and baked apples, allowed his napkin to be untied and then turned, gathered up his pillows and marched them back to their accustomed place without a word or suggestion from any one.

Every one was surprised, but his mother said, "He does that at home. If I tell him to clear up his nursery he pushes his little table and chairs back evenly to the wall, puts his toys all in a corner and lays the odds and ends in a pile on the couch. I don't have to tell him to do anything. He picks up like a grown person."

"How in the world did you ever teach him? every one wanted to know."

In the first place she is what I call a "merry" mother. She has a habit of making a game out of everything. Another custom of hers is to say "two" instead of "you" and working "with" him.

The little fellow has been trained to all sorts of things without knowing he was being trained. And that's more than half the battle.

But about children clearing up after themselves. We see children of two, four, six, eight, twenty, thirty, and eighty who never in the world learned to do it or even after they've thrown it down, put things right after they tore them up.

It isn't their fault. A child has to be taught. When he is ten it's too late. When he's eight or even six it's almost too late. Neatness must be absorbed with the milk in a nursing bottle. When children are two or three it is only right and proper that they should have some idea of order.

Moreover, they need not always be served. It is absolutely amazing to see the things some children do for themselves. Wash a dress themselves, and feed themselves—if not perfectly, at least enough to help out a busy day—and even bathe themselves. They can cut on their own wraps and overcoats, too.

Tying shoes and buttoning hard buttons will be more difficult. It takes the smartest child some time to learn to tie a bow or even a knot. Buttons will be mastered first.

However, the principal thing is for a mother to realize that little children are not helpless. They can be taught to ease her burdens to help with keeping the house in order, if she will only take time out to teach them.

McCLUSKEY READY TO DEFEND MANY INDOOR TRACK HONORS

TIME TRIALS SHOW HE'S NOT THROUGH AS TWO MILER STAR

Steps Distance In 9:31 In Practice; Races In Boston Saturday; To Face Stiff Opposition There.

New York, Jan. 23.—Athletic observers who are ready to count Joe McCluskey out of the big two-mile prizes and championships this winter as the result of his mediocre showing in a handicap race last week would do well to delay the "count."

It is true that the ex-Fordham ace was clocked in 10 minutes 4 seconds in his 2-mile debut and ran seventh from scratch. This is bad time for a two-miler who has won eighteen national, metropolitan, intercollegiate and German championships in his four college years and beaten 9:15 half a dozen times.

Tests His Breathing Apparatus The time, whatever it actually was for two miles, did not distress the usually confident New York Athletic Club runner. He was frankly out for a tune-up and testing his breathing apparatus for the first time since his nasal operation in December.

On Saturday on the Fordham gymnasium ten-lap track McCluskey went out to see whether he really was as bad as the critics had said. He was not. He was fast. He was strong. He was confident. He was a champion.

Sears a Formidable Rival The concern over McCluskey's return to top form is caused by news from the Middle West that Ray Sears, of Butler University, Central Intercollegiate Conference champion (4:10) and National A. A. U. cross-country champion is coming East with the expectation of taking control of the two-mile situation, more or less monopolized by McCluskey since 1930.

McCluskey in Front Games Obviously, Sears may do the things his coach expects him to. But McCluskey awaits his duel with Sears confidently now that he has put 9:31 time trial under his belt.

Just how well McCluskey is prepared for his Milrose match with Sears, Kanaly and John Follows, national 5,000-meter champion, will be evident next Saturday. McCluskey has entered the two-mile special at the Prout Memorial games in Boston. Kanaly will be among his rivals. This meet will be run in the Boston Garden on a banked track.

Bird Dogs Primed in Dixie For 'Tournament of Noses'

By DILLON GRAHAM Associated Press Sports Writer

Albany, Ga., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Dogs... the air crisp and clear... handlers... a bright sun burning the dew off the turf... great rolling acres of game preserves...

There's a picture of an early morn in the fields of old cotton stalks and green and brush sage near Albany, where strong hearted and keen-nosed dogs race over the rough and hilly land in search of birds... the tournament of noses, the selection of a field trial champion.

Proving Place for Champions For two weeks in early February these old plantation grounds will be the battleground for the best dogs in the world...

Just as the sun rises over the tall pines these rough and brushy areas will leave warm beds, dog hunting clothes and get their dogs ready.

Hollywood Proves Hard On Greats Of Gridiron

Football Stars Thrown For Huge Losses When They Try To Crash Pearly Gates Of Movie Town; Only a Few Reach Success

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Service Staff Correspondent Hollywood, Jan. 23.—Football stars who gain lots of ground on the gridiron are thrown for huge losses when they try to crash the pearly gates of movie town.

With the exception of romantic Johnny Mack Brown, former Alabama All-America back, and comedian Andy Devine, who starred as a guard at Santa Clara University, ex-grid stars haven't fared well in the movies.

It is no secret that to become a star in Hollywood one must have a striking personality and a pleasing voice, and be able to act. And it is no secret that 99.9 per cent of our college football players lack these requirements.

Big Jim Thorpe took a crack at the "clickers" and learned he wasn't suited for the game. Others, including the great "Red" Grange, tried and discovered the same thing.

Alan Dwan, former All-America at Notre Dame, is a successful director, and "Jumbo" Pierce, late of Arizona, finds reputation pay as a technical adviser. All these stars, are working as assistant directors and as prop men.

Brown was all-America for two years at Auburn, attracted casting directors when he team played in Pasadena's Rose Bowl in 1928. He's handsome, romantic and possesses a pleasant voice with a heavy southern accent.

There's Lots Of Life Left In The 'Wildcat'

Los Angeles, Jan. 23.—(AP)—As a middleweight he twice lost title bouts to Mickey Walker. The last of these in 1929 marked the beginning of the decline for Huddins in the ring, but outside the squared circle his activities increased.

The Nebraska Wildcat who fought his way from the featherweight division and was a title contender in three of the classes, continues to command attention because of his escapades outside the padded ropes.

Although Huddins started as an amateur in Lincoln, Neb., and became quite a featherweight in Nebraska, he landed in Los Angeles a decade ago with his brothers, Art and Clyde, clad in overalls and financially embarrassed.

Threatened in Three Divisions The Hollywood Legion Stadium gave him his first chance and within a year he was battling top notchers in the lightweight division.

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The New York Rangers play the Ottawa Senators tonight in a game that as far as the remainder of the National Professional Hockey League is concerned is just another contest between a first place team and one in the cellar.

But for the Rangers, world champion of the second forward line, John Murray Murdoch, it's a very special occasion indeed. It's the Rangers' 400th game, as a team since entering the league in 1926, and John Murray Murdoch, 29 years old, has played in every one of them.

Graduates of the University of Manitoba, season after season, hope to make it two straight over this team and keep their slate clear of defeat. The Rangers are classed as one of the leading amateur quarts in this section and will give any team in the class an interesting night's entertainment.

Married Flirts

MABEL McELLIOTT

REGIN HERE TODAY GYPSY MORELL and TOM WEAVER are married the same day as LILA ROTALING and DEREK BLISS. Lila expects to live in luxury, while Gypsy intends to go on with her job, teaching in a settlement.

After returning from a honeymoon in Europe Lila asks the Weavers to dinner. Among the guests is wealthy MARCO BROUGHTON, who once asked Gypsy to marry him. He showers Gypsy with attention and Tom is jealous. Tom overhears her telephone conversation with BroUGHTON and is furious. The doctor orders Gypsy to bed with flu and tells her she is going to have a baby.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII
"You must give up your job at once, of course," Tom had said masterfully after the first excitement was over and they had come to a full realization of what the news meant.

Gypsy was going to have a baby! Well, it was wonderful, of course, and they were glad—were proud and happy—but they had to plan for the future. They had to save, to look ahead. This baby must have everything he needed.

Gypsy was recovering from her attack of influenza now. She had been home definitely for two weeks, and was sitting, a little pale and shaky, but convalescent, in the big chair Great Aunt Morell had sent her from Morrisstown as soon as she had heard the news. Great Aunt Morell hadn't given them a wedding present but when Gypsy's mother had told her about the coming child she had moved to send them this big, rich and rather unwieldy affair upholstered in green damask. It made all the other furniture in the living room look pale and colorless. Gypsy snuggled into it, wrapped in her rosy robe, and listened to Tom.

"First of all, I don't want you traveling on subways," Tom said, acerbically. "You might faint or something."

Gypsy protested faintly. It was such easy work she said, and they needed the money. They ought to be saving heaps, right now, to pay for Master Baby's arrival.

Tom said, very well, they'd do that. He'd cut down on cigarettes. He'd eat lunch at one of those one-roomed places. They were fine—everybody said so. He took out his pencil and began to figure. So much lopped off, so much there. "If I let Dinah go," said the girl in the green chair, speculatively, "and did my own cooking, we'd probably save heaps. She throws out food, you know. And she's careless about light and gas and all that sort of thing."

"You must have Dinah," Tom looked up quickly. "You won't be able to do all that."

Gypsy interrupted him with a peal of laughter. "Tommy, what do you think people used to do when they had babies? The pioneer women, I mean? Why, they baked and brewed and scrubbed, just as usual. They didn't have dumb waiters and gas stoves and vacuum cleaners and frozen foods. They made clothes for the rest of the family and boiled batches of soap and wove rugs in their spare time of it."

"I know," Tom said, quite unimpressed by her arguments. "But you're not a pioneer woman and you've got to be taken care of." He was frightened. The doctor had said Gypsy needed rest—and care. Well, she was going to have it, if it meant doing without shoes.

"I'll keep Dinah for a few weeks, until I am perfectly strong," Gypsy told him. "Then I'll let her go. You'll see what a splendid housewife I can be." Her eyes shone at all the thought of it. Already that wobbly feeling in the morning was leaving her.

She decided not to argue with Tom about Dinah—to let things go along as they were for a while and then, in a few weeks, gently to dismiss her. Dinah was at best, a slovenly handmaiden. She brushed the middle of the room and let the corners go.

So it was arranged that Gypsy's resignation to the settlement house was shortly tendered and accepted with the proper regrets. Both Helen Marr and Blanche Jordan came to see her, bringing flowers, being properly enthusiastic and womanly and interested.

"So you're going to have a baby!" Helen Marr sighed. She didn't really envy Gypsy's state. She liked her freedom, her little apartment in Greenwich Village, and the things she could do with her moderate salary. Still—well, there was something in this motherhood business, she said to herself. Maybe she was missing something.

"And when is it to be?" Blanche Jean asked her cigarette out in the pewter ash tray, her blue crepe. True, it was already a bit tight, but she would put a fresh frill on it and no one would notice.

How curious it was she reflected as she dressed, that he had gone along so happily for months, that year's tweed coat and her blue crepe. True, it was already a bit tight, but she would put a fresh frill on it and no one would notice.

Hurriedly Gypsy dressed. She had to do her marketing first. Once on the street, she realized that this particular day was one of those springtime freaks—a June day transported to April. Even her tweed coat seemed unusually warm.

The sky was leaded by fleecy clouds in a warm wind blew from the river. The old, disturbing feeling of dissatisfaction welled within her. How could she lunch with Lila in her old clothes? It wasn't fair!

MAN BURNED TO DEATH IN HIS ROXBURY HOME

Roxbury Station, Conn., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Town officials this morning found the remains of 86 year old Charles Wesley Rowe in the charred littered cellar of his small home, which was destroyed by fire at midnight last night. The old man, who had lived alone since his wife died in 1921, perished in his kitchen while men were battering down a door in the flaming house in an effort to get to him. Neighbors and friends know of no relatives. They said the man, who was known as "Old Wesley" was fond of cats and they believe that a cat knocked over the kerosene lamp on a kitchen table, starting the fire. Mr. Rowe had been sleeping in a chair in the kitchen for two weeks, because of a coughing siege. The town selectmen will arrange the burial.

WIN FOURTH STRAIGHT
The Lila Blues, playing without the services of Greene and Haponik, defeated the Orioles with four men at the West Side R&S Saturday, 54-46. It was a ding-dong battle all the way. With the Orioles leading 44-42 and seconds left to play, Wiley, the Lila Blues stellar little guard who had been playing a great game all afternoon heaved a long shot from past mid-floor which swished the cords to tie the score and force the game into an overtime, in which the fast-stepping Lila Blues scored four baskets to win the most exciting game played so far in the league.

Once again it was Wiley who starred, swishing baskets from all angles of the floor, scoring 21 points. Kose and Kurlewicz also played an active part in the scoring, making 23 points between them. Obuchowski played a great floor game, at the same time taking care of two men, Duffy and Grimsom starred for the Orioles, a team that fought gamely every minute of play. Winzler, although not scoring, played a great game. The Orioles were without the services of their great guard, Kerr, who was out of the lineup on account of illness.

STORM FORCES CWA JOBS SUSPENSION

Time Lost Will Be Made Up Tomorrow; Encounter Much Frost In Ground.

Because of the heavy rain and the high winds men engaged on CWA jobs in Manchester and vicinity did not start work on any of the projects this morning. The conditions were such that it was considered best not to start the work and the time lost today will be made up tomorrow.

Considerable frost is being encountered in the sewer work that is being done in the vicinity of Hamden street. The frost is from 20 to 24 inches into the ground in some places.

The same trouble is encountered in the water department, but little digging has been done by that department. The reservoirs are filled with water running over the dams and there is a prospect of considerable more. The storm today is washing down the snow from the woods into the streams swelling them rapidly.

THE TWYMANITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Eskimo lad said, "Well, friends, I'll leave you, now. I guess this ends the fun we've had together. Gee, I hate to head back home."

"I must return, though, ere the dawn. My parents miss me when I'm gone. I hope you all have lots of fun, no matter where you roam."

"Oh, thank you, sir," said Goldy. "Gee, you've been as kind as you could be. Some day we may come back here. Then we'll have a lot more fun."

The other Twymans shook his hand and said the time they'd had was grand. Said Scouty, "We'll remember you, for everything you've done."

The lad then hopped aboard his sled and to old Bruin loudly said, "All right, you fat old fellow, let me see you show some speed."

The bear dashed off with all his might, and very soon was out of sight. Said Doty, then, "Let's board that boat. Somebody take the lead."

"I will," cried Scouty. "Follow me. I am as curious as can be. There must be someone on the boat, though not a soul's in sight. Be careful, as we cross the ice. To fall in wouldn't be so nice. If I just hop from chunk to chunk, I guess we'll be all right."

Then, off they went, and my what fun! When little Duncy tried to run, he slipped and took a tumble. "A you all right?" Goldy cried.

Four Duncy jumped right up and said, "Oh, sure! I

SENSE and NONSENSE

LIFE. Gladness and sadness, sunshine and sorrow, shadows and brightness, hope for the morrow; Anthems of praise or blame, high-pitched the chorus waiting and hoping for what lies before us. Grief days are many, glad ones are few. O, life is a medley for me and for you; Life is a contest, a game to pull through, No win! If successful, rewards will come, too.

Two political candidates were discussing the coming local election. First Candidate—What did the audience say when you told them you had never paid a cent for a vote? Second Candidate—A few cheered—but the majority seemed to lose interest at once.

WHENEVER ANYBODY IS PARTICULARLY NICE TO US WE KNOW IT IS ONE OF TWO THINGS: EITHER HE IS A GENTLEMAN OR WE ARE A GOOD PROSPECT.

Man—My fiance's father seems to think she's marrying a fool, but he's mistaken. His Father—Why? Are you breaking the engagement?

Lecturer (in Brushville) — Of course, you all know what the inside of a corpse is like. Chairman of Meeting (interrupting)—Most of us do, but you'd better explain it for the benefit of them as have never been inside one.

"When I was a youngster we had to hitch up and drive three miles to the village to see a medicine show. Now we just turn on the radio."

First Man—Does your wife ever boast that she made a man of you? Second Man—Well, she doesn't go that far. She only says that she tried her best.

Junior was playing at Ronnie's house, but when the time came for him to go home it began to rain. Ronnie's mother at once gave Junior for her own son's raincoat and overshoes. Junior (politely)— Oh, don't take all this trouble. Ronnie's mother—No trouble, Junior. I'm sure your own mother would do the same for Ronnie. Junior—Mother's do more. She'd ask Ronnie to stay for lunch.
