

EPISCOPAL BISHOP ACHESON IS DEAD

Head Of Episcopal Church In State Passes Away After Six Weeks' Illness; Services To Be In Hartford.

Midletown, Jan. 28—(AP)—The funeral of Rt. Rev. Edward Campion Acheson late Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Connecticut, will be held tomorrow afternoon from Christ Church Cathedral, Hartford with Bishop Frederick G. Budlong of New Haven officiating assisted by Bishop Emeritus Chauncey E. Brewster and others.

Bishop Acheson died yesterday from ailments which developed out of an attack of neuritis with which he was stricken about six weeks ago. He had been head of the diocese since 1928 when Bishop Brewster gave up active duties. He had been Suffragan Bishop from 1915 but as such office gave no succession to the bishopric he was chosen co-adjutor bishop in 1926, an election urged by Bishop Brewster who had told the diocese that advancing years made it advisable that provision be made for a successor.

His Successor

It is due to the fact that diocese has the office of co-adjutor bishop that Rt. Rev. F. G. Budlong elected to that office from a rectorship at Greenwich, automatically became bishop on the death of Bishop Acheson. Yesterday, Bishop Budlong as the first official act in his new office presided at a confirmation service at Trinity Church, Portland.

Bishop Acheson's only rectorship in Connecticut was at Holy Trinity in this city. His life had been one of activity, early in business and academic life and then as a curate in two churches. It was in 1892 he was called to Holy Trinity Church.

Close to Parishes
As head of the diocese Bishop Acheson had been very close to the parishes. His visits were many, and his labors were in aiding the building up membership. Churchmen

UNABLE TO RETURN TO GOLD STANDARD

British House Of Commons
Told That It Cannot Be Done At Present.

London, Jan. 28—(AP)—Leslie Hore-Belisha, financial secretary to the treasury, told the House of Commons today that for Great Britain to return to the gold standard would be inappropriate under present circumstances.

He did not reply to a question from the floor which asked whether the government considered it in the best interests of British industry that the Bank of England should continue to have a private concern over which the House had no control.

Hore-Belisha said the British government was ready to resume negotiations with the United States on the question of war debts "whenever, after consultation with the President, of the United States, it may appear that this can usefully be done."

Disarmament Views
Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, told the House the British government views on disarmament have been embodied in a memorandum sent to British envoys abroad for submission to the governments chiefly concerned.

He said the government had arrived at a decision that the time has come for it to make known its attitude on disarmament negotiations. These have been carried on through the diplomatic machinery since Germany withdrew from the disarmament conference at Geneva.

To Be Made Public
Accordingly, said Sir John, the British stand will be made public when interested governments have had the opportunity to comment. A memorandum, possibly within the next two days.

The secretary said the government has taken the view that reformation of the League of Nations is secondary to and dependent upon the urgent question of disarmament.

This view, he declared he was glad to say, has been confirmed by the Italian and French governments.

Sir John did not give a direct answer to a Liberal party member's question as to whether "the long negotiations provided Germany with an excellent opportunity for rearmament," replying that he gathered the questioner "for once appears to be of the government's opinion."

Simon expressed the government's intention to do whatever lies in its power to bring about an agreement.

STATE ACCIDENTS CAUSE 9 DEATHS

Four Women Among Victims—Two Suicides Also Reported Over Weekend.

By Associated Press
Death coming violently smote down nine persons over the last week-end, four of them women who were killed in automobile accidents.

Medical examiners' findings showed two suicides, one from illuminating gas poisoning and the other a result of drinking poison. Fifteen others were hurt in the seven automobile accidents.

Mrs. Etta Plank Taylor of Stamford died on the way to the Stamford hospital Saturday night and Dickinson Cummings, son of United States Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, is still unconscious in the Norwalk hospital as the result of the car in which they were riding with two other persons striking a tree in Darien.

The driver, Albert Mishley of Stamford, was free today in $2,500 bond on a charge of manslaughter pending a coroner's inquest Wednesday. Mrs. Taylor and the other occupant of the car, Mrs. Agatha Raphael, who was uninjured as was Mishley, are sisters-in-law of Mishley.

An Inn Is Raided
John Rastafanger, 52, of Danbury, proprietor of an inn on the Boston Post road which the four had just left before the accident occurred was arrested Sunday night on a charge of violating the state liquor control law. The arrest was made during a raid on the inn.

An automobile crashed into the rear of a stalled truck on the Millford turnpike in Orange Sunday and Mrs. Harry M. French, wife of a former New Haven city attorney, was killed and other persons in the car with her were injured in the crash. French was unhurt.

All eight persons were taken to the New Haven hospital, but Mrs. French was pronounced dead upon arrival. The dead also included Mrs. Harold Pfiffner, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Need of New Haven, Miss Helen Nunoon of West Haven and Douglas B. Johnson, son of Mrs. French.

Deliver Is Held
Peter P. Prince, driver of the truck, was held in $1,000 bond on a technical charge of reckless driving, pending investigation by Coroner James J. Corrigan. He had stopped his machine because of axle trouble.

At Greenwich, Miss Harriet E. Russell of New York City, daughter of Albert E. Russell of Westborough, Va., died Sunday in Greenwich hospital as a result of injuries received Saturday night in a rear-end collision of a car in which she was a passenger, with a truck. Three other persons in the car were injured, but the driver, Ralph Cun-

TIRED OF NAGGING, MURDERS HUSBAND

Tells Police He Was Always Finding Fault So She Killed Him.

Swartswood, N. J., Jan. 28—(AP)—She shot her former husband, Joseph, she said, because "he was all the time finding fault with me."

As she sat there she placed the muzzle of a shotgun against his breast and pulled the trigger.

When he was dead, she sat in a rocking chair and awaited the return of her son from town.

"That is the story police said today was told them by Mrs. Neta Heckelman, a small, nervous, red-haired woman of 46.

No charge has been placed against Mrs. Heckelman, mother of two children, Adelia, 23, and Joseph, 17. She surrendered to state troopers early yesterday morning, a short time after her husband, who was 50, was killed as he lay on a cot in the kitchen of their cottage.

Her Explanation
"I shot him because I could not stand it any longer," police quoted Mrs. Heckelman as saying. "I did it for the best."

She retired early, feeling very nervous, police said she told them. After midnight she rose, went to the kitchen after collecting three guns in the house, and placing the double-barrelled shotgun alongside her husband, pulled the trigger.

Then—so the story runs as related by police—she put on a bathrobe and bedroom slippers and walked on the porch for the return of Joseph who had been to Newton. He drove her back to the state police barracks.

800 TO ATTEND BIRTHDAY BALL FOR PRESIDENT

Indications Are That Party
At State Armory Here
Will Be Huge Success;
Program Starts At 8 p. m.

Judging from reports of advance ticket sales a crowd of at least 800 will be in attendance tomorrow night at Manchester's Birthday Ball for the President at the State Armory. General Chairman William J. Thornton and Ticket Chairman Francis E. Bray said the demand for tickets had increased as the date of the ball approached. It is expected that there will be a big sale of tickets at the door tomorrow night.

Ask Returns
Mr. Bray has requested all who have ticket returns to make to plan to bring them to his store before six o'clock tomorrow night or else report at the armory office some time during the ball. It is necessary to make a complete report to the National committee sponsoring the affair throughout the country immediately after the dance.

Program
The program tomorrow night starts at eight o'clock with a concert and drill by the local Girl Scouts' band. Then there will be a few entertainment acts for the early arrivals. From 8:30 until nine Collin Driggs orchestra will give a concert and Chairman Thornton will call the dancers to form a grand march at nine o'clock. From that time on the time will be divided between dancing and brief entertainment acts. Dancing will continue until one Wednesday morning.

All arrangements for the ball are complete, the committee chairman have reported and there should be no delay in running off the schedule exactly as arranged. During the evening birthday cake baked by Mohr's Bakery will be auctioned by Raymond Reid to the highest bidder. It is held that a radio broadcast from President Roosevelt will be broadcast at 11:36 although this was uncertain today because of the pressure of business at the White House.

BYRD EXPEDITION IS AGAIN DELAYED
Racing Against Time To Unload Supplies Before Fuel Oil Gets Scarce.

Bay of Whales, Antarctica, Jan. 27 (Delayed)—(Via Mackay Radio) The flagship of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition was in a race with time today in a search for an unloading dock.

With three days of fair weather and a good mooring place needed to complete the job of unloading supplies, the flagship was driven from its dock early today when great masses of ice crumbled while unloading was in full swing.

Quick action saved both the ship and her crew from possible serious consequences. The situation remained critical because the flagship was approaching the deadline set for oil consumption in these waters. She must start back north soon.

Unloading Delayed
Set back in the work of unloading and transporting the supplies to Little America by this third mishap of the kind in six days. Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd said:

"The ice keeps going out at this rate, Little America may yet be at the water's edge, x x x in the whole twenty miles of coast in this bay there is apparently not a single stable place."

The contact with the unloading berth was broken today just when the work seemed to be going ahead smoothly after a mooring had been made following 68 hours of similar cruising and drifting about the bay.

Most of the stores landed at a cache about 100 yards from the edge of the ice had been hauled away by 47 men marooned ashore, but 25 bales of hay were lost when the ice crumbled. The hay had been intended for the three cows and one bull taken on the expedition.

SAILOR BADLY INJURED
North Wildwood, N. J., Jan. 28—(AP)—Fighting on the fishing schooner Three II today landed John W. Murthy, 42-year-old seaman of Bar Haven, Mass., who was injured aboard the vessel at sea.

Murthy was cut by glass when a wave crashed over the vessel's deck 20 miles off shore, breaking windows in the pilot house.

Captain John Salvatore found Murthy lying unconscious on the pilot house. He sent a wireless message to a hospital here, requesting that an ambulance be ready at the dock to take the injured man.

At the hospital, physicians said Murthy's condition is critical.

"Happy Birthday, Mr. President"

Tomorrow, the 52d anniversary of President Roosevelt's birth, will be observed throughout the Nation as a day for giving thought to the thousands of infantile paralysis sufferers throughout the country. In over 5,000 communities Birthday Balls for the President will be held to defeat the dread disease. In Manchester it is expected that 800 will attend the dance at the State Armory. It will be an affair for young and old, rich and poor alike. It's in your power to help make this lad whole again, happy and healthy like other children. Attend tomorrow night's Birthday Ball at the State Armory—at least buy a ticket.

SEE WAR PREPARATIONS IN NITRATES LOADING

Dozen Vessels Chartered To Go To Chile; Munitions
Made From Nitrates; Russia And Japan Involved.

Washington, Jan. 28—(AP)—Several members of the Roosevelt Cabinet were reported today by the Washington Post to be discussing the sudden chartering by unidentified persons of about a dozen vessels to load nitrates in Chile for delivery to unnamed ports.

The nitrates were presumably bound, however, the paper said, for Russia and Japan.

The ships, it added, are all of British and Scandinavian registry, and many of them have been lying idle for months in various parts of the world.

Federal agents are making inquiry at Norfolk, Virginia, and other ports, the Post said, in an effort to learn who has chartered the vessels and where they will make their deliveries.

It was pointed out that nitrate is produced in considerable quantities at Hopewell, Virginia, and the paper asserted thousands of tons had been transported from this point to Japan in the past two years.

There is only one explanation given to the sudden chartering of so many vessels to load nitrates, the Post said, "and that is that both Japan and Russia are planning intensive manufacture of war munitions."

Shipping circles in New York and Norfolk, it was added, are excited over the move. "It was said a cablegram had been received here from Norway in response to inquiries about the port of discharge for the 12 vessels, saying only 'details unknown.'"

Ships Are Listed
The Post listed the ships chartered as follows:
The British Leveinbridge, a vessel of 2,649 tons and capable of loading 7,500 tons cargo, now at Baginbun; British steamer Fife, a 2,626 tons and a 5,500 ton cargo vessel, now in the English channel.
Norwegian Flint, 3,345 tons, and a

Attempt to Escape
The superintendent said the attempt to tunnel under the east wall and escape was reported to him in the summer of 1933.

"Every action taken," he said, "had the approval of Francis P. Sage, commission of correction until a few months ago."

Gill said he had been subjected to repeated attacks and that Dillon knew all these could be adequately answered, but he reported. Governor Ely had requested that no public statement be made until he had the documentary reports.

Is Up To States
The proposed Federal law, she said, would not dictate to the states what kind of measures they shall pass but leaves entire freedom on this point to the states. She predicted that if Congress passes the proposed tax plan the more than 40 Legislatures in session this year and next year would have an increased incentive to pass laws setting up reserves.

Hunters Kill 'Kangaroo'; Terrorized Community

Chatanooga, Tenn., Jan. 28—(AP)—A 15-hour hunt over Signal Mountain has ended in the killing of a large long-legged mountain lynx believed to be the "kangaroo" that terrorized the Hamburg community near South Pittsburg, Tenn.

Four mountain hunters brought the animal here Sunday. Their hunt ended yesterday when two of the men, Mitchell Ducker and Ed Sloan, fired buckshot into the animal as it crouched in a tree.

The "kangaroo" was charged with slaying and partially devouring dogs, sheep, and other animals and causing negroes to stay at home every night. Even as it fell from the tree with its deathwound yesterday it killed one of the hounds in the pack that chased it.

Weighing more than 40 pounds, the animal measured 50 inches in length, had a short tail, slightly tufted ears, and a spotted coat.

Its long legs indicated it might have traveled with leaping strides, giving credence to the kangaroo-like hops ascribed to the strange scamp of the Hamburg community.

ITALIAN OCEAN FLIERS CRASH; TWO ARE HURT

Cross South Atlantic Safely
But Get Lost In Brazil;
Was The First Air Mail Flight.

Fortaleza, Brazil, Jan. 29—(AP)—Four Italian fliers who cracked up on the beach near here early today after spanning the South Atlantic, were brought to Fortaleza by a rescue party shortly after noon. Two of the men were injured slightly.

The Mechanic Battaglia and Radioman Giulini required first aid treatment only for their injuries in the crash, which ended an attempt to blaze a new air mail trail to South America.

Captain Franca Lombardi, commander of the flight, and Count Franco Mazotti, second pilot, escaped unscathed.

A Pan-American Airways rescue party went to the aid of the fliers, who crashed on the beach 12 miles from here.

The wreckage of the Italian plane was sighted at about 7 a. m. by Bert Sains, pilot of the American airliner.

He was unable to land the airliner, filled with passengers and mail bound for the United States, but circled low above the spot of the disaster.

Drops a Note
He reported by radio that he saw three men standing beside the smashed transatlantic ship. His message indicated there had been no fire.

Quickly he wrote a note: "Help coming."

He tied it to a weight and dropped it beside the beached men. They waved back.

Searchers Start Out
Burns E. Boyd, manager of the local Pan-American Airways port, immediately organized rescue parties to start to the scene by motor launch and overland by foot.

The Italian plane, which left Rome early Saturday, was due in Buenos Aires today. It left Dakar, Africa, early yesterday, and reached the Brazilian coast, 500 miles off its course, about 10 p. m. yesterday. After it was sighted, a search party, seeking its destination, Natal, until, out of gas, it crashed.

All of the Italians were seasoned veterans of the air and Giulini was a veteran of the flight of the Italian Commander Italo Balbo from Rome to Rio Janeiro and from Rome to Chicago.

Their plane was discovered after a search which began when the fliers failed to appear on schedule. The plane, about 390 miles southeast of here, last night.

Miami-bound passengers on Pan-American Airways regular air liner got a thrill when Pilot Saur, at the controls, swung southward upon leaving Fortaleza at six o'clock this morning instead of heading north.

He decided to search briefly before proceeding on to Para. Saur was quickly rewarded.

IDLE INSURANCE TO BE NEXT MOVE

Secretary Perkins Says New System Is Designed To Eliminate The Bread Lines

New York, Jan. 28—(AP)—The possibility of creating a nationwide system of unemployment insurance within two years—designed to take the place of bread lines—was declared today by Miss Frances Perkins.

The secretary of labor, addressing the National Conference for Unemployment Insurance at the Hotel Commodore, disclosed a bill will be introduced in Congress shortly for a Federal tax on employers.

The measure would promote state legislation on unemployment insurance, she said, by allowing offsets from the Federal employers tax for all contributions to state unemployment insurance schemes.

Is Up To States
The proposed Federal law, she said, would not dictate to the states what kind of measures they shall pass but leaves entire freedom on this point to the states. She predicted that if Congress passes the proposed tax plan the more than 40 Legislatures in session this year and next year would have an increased incentive to pass laws setting up reserves.

Reserves Needed
"We must realize the necessity of setting up such reserves in the different states so that in the future they may take the place of the bread line or other charities as a systematic, honorable method of aiding over a slump period for those who want work and lack it," Miss Perkins said.

"In urging unemployment reserves I realize that its adoption would not mean the throwing up of economic bulkworks for all wage earners. Properly safeguarded it will, however, constitute a certain definite measure of security for many workers and their families."

DEVALUATION BILL, PASSED BY SENATE, ACCEPTED BY HOUSE

NUMEROUS FIRES
DURING COLD WAVE

Three Dead, Many Injured And Loss Will Run Into Seven Figures.

(By Associated Press)
Cold gales fanned numerous fires today in widely separated places. Three persons were burned to death. Many were injured. Damage estimates ran to seven figures. The extreme cold, felt throughout the north, hampered fire-fighters.

At Troy, N. Y., the club house of the Veterans of Foreign Wars burned down, killing two sleeping men, seriously burning a third.

Three-year-old Mary Logoviano lost her life when flames consumed the cottage of her parents at Hammoncton, N. J., and her mother was rescued as she rescued two other children.

Road after row of frame structures fed gale-fanned flames along the waterfront at Canarsie, on Jamaica Bay, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Seven firemen were injured. A section stretching for a half mile was destroyed.

A cold wind whipped icy spray from the crevices of the hoses back into the faces of the fire fighters.

In Indiana
In Anderson, Ind., fire that started in a six-story bank building spread over a half block of the downtown district and raged for six hours before flames could be brought under control. The telephone office was destroyed and the city was without communication. Several firemen and policemen were injured, others suffered exposure.

The four-story Merchants mill at Fall River, Mass., unoccupied but formerly a cotton textile factory, blazed rapidly in the face of the

ATT. GENERAL'S SON IS HURT IN CRASH

Dickinson Cummings' Name On Danger List; His Woman Companion Is Killed.

Norwalk, Jan. 28—(AP)—The chances that Dickinson Cummings, 34, son of Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, will survive the automobile crash which killed his woman companion on Saturday night, were slightly better today, Dr. Edward J. Tracy, the attending physician, declared.

Cummings' name, however, is still on the danger list at the Norwalk hospital, although he appeared to be coming out of the coma in which he has been since the crash.

The woman, Mrs. Etta Plank Taylor of Stamford, was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital. The other persons in the car, Albert Mishley of Stamford, the driver, and Mrs. Agatha Raphael, of Stamford, were unhurt.

Mishley was free under $2,500 bond on a charge of manslaughter, awaiting a coroner's inquest Wednesday. The woman who was in the car are his sisters-in-law.

John Rastafanger, 52, of Danbury, proprietor of an inn on the Boston Post Road which the group left just before their car swerved from the road in Darien and hit a tree, was arrested last night in a raid on the inn.

He was scheduled to face Stamford City Court today on a charge of violating the State Liquor Control Law.

From Washington, the Attorney General kept in close touch with the Norwalk hospital, but there were no indications that he planned to leave the Capitol.

Mrs. Helen Smith Cummings, wife of the injured man and their six-year-old son, Schuyler, came to the hospital from their home in Stamford.

CHARGE FAVORITISM

Hartford, Jan. 29—(AP)—As the result of various complaints regarding political favoritism being shown in certain towns in the dispensing of CWA jobs, Ira Bushnell, first selectman, and Henry Smith, second selectman of the town of Enfield called upon Miss Eleanor H. Little, acting public works administrator director for Connecticut Saturday and disclosed what had taken place in Enfield regarding the matter.

They brought with them a voting list and informed Miss Little that of 272 jobs given only 43 had been to Republicans.

Senate Being In Recess Today Measure Must Wait Until Tomorrow For Vice-President Garner's Signature—It Then Goes To President To Become Law

Washington, Jan. 28—(AP)—A telephone message from President Roosevelt sufficed today to have the House unanimously accept the Senate-revised dollar devaluation bill.

Inasmuch as the recess of the Senate for the day made it impossible for Vice-President Garner to sign the document, however, it can't go to the White House for the Roosevelt signature into law until tomorrow.

The President had Speaker Rainey on the wire just before the House adjourned, told him the Senate three-year time limitation on the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund and his dollar devaluation powers was all right with him, and the Speaker straightaway had the House accept the Senate bill by unanimous consent.

Foreign Exchange
Meanwhile, the administration poised itself for use of the stabilization fund in foreign exchange dealings.

Lacking any agreement with Great Britain, some responsible officials pondered the need to be prepared in event of exchange hostilities between the British pound and the American dollar.

Their part virtually over for the present, members of House and Senate meanwhile had a cut-and-dried day for relaxed handling of lesser affairs after a succession of major moments last week.

The Democratic leadership showed its confidence was blended with relief that the delicately balanced devaluation measure has passed the difficult stages without any change basically repugnant to the Roosevelt aim. House approval of the measure's limitations inserted by the Senate and House conferees of course, since White House favor was received.

Senate In Recess
With the Senate today taking the holiday the other branch took Saturday, the House calendar committee promised the committee recommendation against seating either Mrs. Bollivar E. Kemp or J. Y. Sanders, Jr., from the Fifth Louisiana District.

That out of the way, the representatives look forward to the Vinson Treaty Navy Bill tomorrow. The Senate re-assembles then too, with the St. Lawrence waterway treaty with Canada still waiting debate and action.

While biting winds swirled around the Capitol, the majority of the Legislators spent much of their time in the warmth of their offices working on mail and like necessities; but one or two committee sessions took attention of some bills.

Hearings on an omnibus bridge bill began, one of those bills that carries authorization for bridges in spots all over the country.

A Senate committee heard from Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, that 485,206 veterans and dependents had been taken off compensation rolls under the Economy Act, but asserted the principles of the revised act and regulations issued under it were "sound and should be continued."

Airplane Contingent
Naval committees of the House decided on a recommendation that Mr. Roosevelt be empowered to provide an airplane contingent for the Navy commensurate with a treaty-limit fleet, involving 1,184 new planes costing $98,000,000. The amendment may be tacked onto the Vinson bill tomorrow.

Always interested in positions taken at the White House, the legislators learned during the day of two very divergent developments there.

On the one hand, Democratic leaders received notice that the President would like very much soon to get the $950,000,000 he asked Saturday for Federal relief and continuation of the CWA. He probably will. Then, Mrs. Roosevelt let it be known that she does not intend to have distilled liquor served in the White House but "that new law be so fixed rule as to the serving of what a decision that doubtless will arouse comment. Such wines are served, she said, will be American.

A delay is being encountered in legal selling of wines and spirits locally, although the law now in the statute books. Thus, even if she chose, Mrs. Roosevelt was unable to serve light wines at the luncheon conference for early afternoon with Secretary Morgenthau.

DATE SET FOR TRIAL
Chicago, Jan. 29—(AP)—In the absence of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynn, too weak from another heart attack to appear in Criminal Court, Chief Justice Philip J. Frankfurter today fixed Feb. 6 as the date for a new start of her trial for the murder of Rheta, her son's wife.

SUPPLIES ARRIVE FOR BRETON ISLE

Many Fishing Villages Cut Off From World For Days By Ice Floes.

North Sydney, N. S., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Hastily established as a supply base, the rugged little fishing village of Ingouish was a scene of busy activity today as residents loaded ox-leden with food and provisions for distressed neighboring communities.

Far out at the mouth of the ice blocked harbor was the Canadian government icebreaker, Montclair, preparing to continue its voyage of mercy to St. Paul's island, 15 miles out in the Atlantic off the north-east tip of Cape Breton island, where a lighthouse keeper's family and six workmen have been without adequate food supplies for many weeks.

The vessel was expected to sail today from the jagged recess in the ice floes where she anchored long enough to unload emergency rations for 1,000 people in North Sydney county's scattered settlements.

Cheer Rescue Ship
Cheering men, women and children, forced to live on meagre fare since the harbor froze and roads became impassable two weeks ago, crowded onto the harbor ice as the Montclair steamed into sight from North Sydney where she loaded supplies of food and other necessities, 80 tons of hay for starving livestock and kerosene to light the long-darkened homes.

It was a gala day in Ingouish as excited women and children hitched oxen and horses to clumsy sleds and prepared to plod out across the harbor to meet the vessel, crashing its way to solid ice through the floes.

Flat bottomed boats and dories already were waiting for the Montclair, the departure of which had been expected from North Sydney over the newly repaired telephone line to Ingouish.

Distribute Food
There was an almost endless chain of sleds, fishermen and other villagers on foot, carrying supplies to shore where plans were made to hurry distribution to other communities.

Members of the relief committee said it would only be a matter of perhaps two days before the sorely needed distributions were made.

The Montclair still had on board ample supplies and was expected to buck her way into smaller coves where passage by road would be impossible.

From outlying settlements tales of hardship and lack of supplies continued to trickle into Ingouish. Brief messages spelled repetition of difficulties in districts where many families were living on one meal a day; where livestock was stolen from the more fortunate; where women and children had been stricken with skin disease, caused from lack of soap; where livestock in some instances was slaughtered and tossed into the ocean because it was unfit for human consumption and where store shelves had been bare for days.

TOWN AIDED BY HOME OWNERS LOAN FUNDS

Taxes Totalling $1,213 Paid As Three Loans Are Negotiated In Manchester.

Tax Collector G. H. Howe has received taxes in the amount of $1,213 as the result of three loans that were issued to local property owners through the Home Owners Loan Corporation.

Two of these loans were completed and filed for record on Saturday and in so doing there was a check in the amount of $640 given to the tax collector as money due the town with interest on the property for which the loans were made.

There has now been taken in loans on property in Manchester through the Federal Home Loan Corporation about $30,000 and the town has received over $1,500 in back taxes as a result of these loans.

There are several other applications for loans now pending that concern Manchester property and it is also understood from the Hartford office that some of these are applications for mortgages held by the Savings Bank of Manchester, the Manchester Building and Loan Association and the Manchester Realty Company.

Residence Destroyed
The home of Percival H. Smith at Bridgton, N. J., one of the largest residences in the city, was destroyed by a fire that was believed to have started in an overheated flue.

The home of Paul Connor in another part of the city burned at the same time.

Wrightsville Beach, a summer resort at Wilmington, N. C., had the most disastrous fire of its history yesterday afternoon.

The cold wave swept out of the northwest. It plunged temperatures down 52 degrees in 17 hours in New York, and brought comparable drops elsewhere in the east.

It was 46 below at Mount Washington and wind velocity reached 103 miles an hour.

The Manitoba prairie blizzard which raged last week, forerunner to the eastern wave, was blamed today for three more victims—found frozen to death—making a total of five. Some others are in hospital, in danger of dying.

Massachusetts bitter cold threw 14,000 CWA workers out of employment for the day at Brockton.

SEE EARLY ACTION ON CWA PROJECTS

President Wants 950 Millions Provided For Continuing The Relief Work.

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The administration has informed House Democratic leaders that early action on the request submitted by President Roosevelt on Saturday for an appropriation of $950,000,000 for continuation of Federal relief and the CWA is desired.

Representative Byrns of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, said he understood that $350,000,000 of this amount was needed to carry on CWA work until about May.

While the bill submitted by the administration for the appropriation of $950,000,000 did not break down how much was to be spent for relief and how much for CWA, it was increased that at least $450,000,000 would go to the latter.

Asked why Mr. Roosevelt requested the $950,000,000 instead of $850,000,000 as at first reported, Byrns said the additional $100,000,000 was the amount Director Douglas said would be needed.

Meanwhile, Chairman Buchanan (D., Tex.) of the House appropriations committee said he would begin talks on the estimate in executive session late today.

In conjunction with the drive to a guessing contest will be held. Tickets will be distributed at the State theater with blank spaces to be filled in with the number of miles the car will be driven.

As a special offer, as announced in another part of today's Herald, Mr. Randazzo will drive any one wishing to attend the President's Birthday Ball at the Army tomorrow night from their home to the Army.

The Right Reverend Edward Campion Acheson had been in the service of the Protestant Episcopal church, both in the United States and Canada, for 30 years before he was elected bishop of the Connecticut diocese in 1928.

He was the sixth bishop of the diocese and the fifth successor of the Right Rev. Samuel Seabury, first Protestant Episcopal bishop in America.

Dr. Acheson had been elevated, in 1915, from his first and only Connecticut epi-ctorate, that of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Middletown, to be first suffragan bishop of the diocese.

He was 83 years old and nearly as old as Bishop Brewster.

CHESTER GRANT DEAD IN WAPPING, AGE 95

Well Known Brick And Stone Mason In South Windsor Section Passes Away.

Chester Grant died early this morning at his home in Wapping of embolism, following a brief illness. Although he was in his 95th year he had enjoyed remarkable health for a person of that age, and it is only within the past three months that he began to fail noticeably.

Mr. Grant was born and lived all his long life in Wapping. He was a brick and stone mason by trade, and was also his brother, Clayton and Henry, and the foundation of many a fine old house in this section of the country was put in by one or the other of the brothers.

He leaves two sons and two daughters. They are Louis L. Grant of Buckland, Mrs. Ralph A. Wheeler of Wethersfield, Miss Finis Grant and Donald J. Grant of Wapping.

The funeral of Mr. Grant will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at his late home. Rev. David Carter, pastor of the Federated Church will officiate and burial will be in the Wapping Cemetery.

Hartford, Jan. 29.—(AP)—First selectmen who are abusing their powers as local CWA heads in community and 1000 population may be superseded by citizens committee, Miss Eleanor H. Little, acting state administrator, said today.

DRUMMOND POETRY READ TO KIWANIS

Stories Of French-Canadians Keep Members In Laughter Today.

J. A. Wheeler, principal of the Avon High school, regaled the Kiwanis club at its regular weekly meeting at the Hotel Sheridan this noon, with the humorous poetry written by Dr. Henry Drummond through close association with the French-Canadian people of Quebec, known as the "Habitsans."

The speaker, who has also visited this industrious people in Canada, pointed out that Drummond was a well beloved poet there because his poems, though highly humorous, never held ridicule or satire. Mr. Wheeler recited the poems with a French dialect that kept the members in gales of laughter.

The attendance prize, donated by Harold Cude, was won by Thomas Bentley. The free dinner donated by the hotel management was won by E. J. McCabe. The manager also presented H. B. House with a birthday cake, for which he responded with appropriate thanks.

CAMP FERROW NOW AT FULL STRENGTH

Manchester Contingent Completes Quota; Hums With Activities.

Camp Fernow, Hampton, Jan. 29.—Seventeen new men were enrolled here last week. One of these men was rejected due to a physical disability. Most of the new enrollees were from towns surrounding Manchester.

The new members have taken to the camp life in great style and like it very much. One other new man was enrolled on January 25, as a 1st cook to take the place of one that was discharged. The strength of the company is now 202 but as 200 is the authorized strength for this organization two members are to be transferred to Fort H. G. Wright, N. Y., in order to bring the strength down to authorization.

With the entering of the new men the camp orchestra and Hill Billy band has been enlarged by several pieces. The hill Billy band is getting ready to stage a big blow-out sometime in the next two weeks. Both the band and the orchestra are practicing twice a week and are gradually being whipped into shape. Some sort of entertainment is being staged in the newly decorated recreation hall each evening. Lectures are being held by the State Foreman and Commissioned Officers of the camp each night. On Sunday afternoon Lt. Herbert Sherwin gave the new enrollees an hour's lecture on hygiene and sanitation.

Second Lt. Oliver H. Gilbert, 11th Coast Artillery stationed at Fort H. G. Wright, N. Y., has been transferred from the 17th Company at Killingsworth to Camp Fernow for duty. As yet no definite duties have been assigned to him but it is expected that he will be detailed as an adjutant and supply officer. This new officer will be of a great help to the present officers who are now overburdened with duties. Lt. Rubie is kept busy night and day with his duties of mess officer, construction officer and welfare officer.

Camp Fernow seems to have its share of hard luck during the past week. On January 18, Sgt. Austin Alden died of a gunshot wound in the head. The entire command of the camp raised enough money for a large floral wreath for his funeral. Every member of the camp was sorry to lose this valuable Non-Com. About 8:30 p. m., January 24 a fire broke out in the small room underneath the water tower. Every effort was made to save the tower but to no avail. The upright beams were chopped at the base when the tower began to lean toward the administration building. The large tractor was brought out of the garage and Henry Lucas volunteered to climb the tower and tie a large rope on the cross beam so that the tractor could pull it down onto the parade ground. After a perilous climb up the blazing tower he tied the rope on and the tower was pulled over where it was broken up. The members in camp did a very good job in keeping the flames from spreading to other buildings especially the garage and administration building. A bucket brigade was formed from the shower room to the administration building and water poured all over the roof to keep the sparks from setting that building on fire. Fortunately no one was hurt and only slight damage was done. Lt. Keimling, Camp Commander, complimented the men on their fine work in getting the records and other material out of the administration building and their orderly manner in fighting the fire.

The basketball team finally got into stride. Last Thursday they took over the strong 17th Company from Stafford Springs to the tune of 36-28. On Tuesday night they pulled out of the cellar position in the Y.M.C.A. City League by beating the Falcons in a closely played contest winning by a score of 28-22. Parda of New Britain and Paddock of Meriden were the high spots of the game. Al Parda was doing the passing and Paddock was doing the tossing. These two stars just could not be stopped by anyone. "Monk" Swank showed his form in the Stafford Springs game by tossing in most of the points.

CHUCKLES

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Two Senators are feeling pretty bitter about the "straw man" question. Connolly, Texas Democrat, told Fess, Ohio Republican, his argument on the money bill was only to "set up a straw man and knock him down again."

"That's the only way I can deal with certain Senators," Fess said. "I realize," Connolly came back, "the Senator is more effective when dealing with imaginary things."

Serving his first term. Representative Cannon, Wisconsin Democrat, complains constantly of not having enough to do "on this job."

Friends think they know why. Cannon has earned the reputation of the earliest riser in Congress. Usually he is at his desk by 7 or 7:30 a. m.

In addition, acquaintances say, he is eyeing the Senate seat held by "Young Bob" La Follette.

What do people say when they talk to themselves?

An elderly gentleman plodding across the driveway in front of the Capitol was heard to mutter: "The Nation's Capitol, the Nation's Capitol."

Although it was a beautiful spring-like day, an' the great Capitol dome never shone brighter, the tone of the old gentleman's voice plainly indicated there was something he didn't like about the seat of the Nation's government.

ROCKVILLE

BOARD OF RELIEF SITS STARTING ON THURSDAY

Four Sessions Planned To Hear Grievances Of Property Owners On Assessments.

The Board of Relief of the town of Vernon, which also includes the city of Rockville, will start their duties of granting relief this week to the property owners claiming to be aggrieved by the doings of the Board of Assessors who have just completed their work of assessing property for 1934.

The Board of Relief, comprising Henry Schmidt, chairman; Herbert H. Hewitt and William Johnson, has arranged for four sittings as follows: Thursday, February 1st, 6 to 8 p. m.; Saturday, February 3rd, 10 to 4 and 6 to 8 p. m.; Saturday, February 17, 10 to 4 and 6 to 8 p. m.; and Wednesday, February 21, 6 to 8 p. m.

Several technical questions are to come before the Board of Relief this week which may materially increase the tax lists of the community. It has been brought to the attention of the Board of Relief that an assessment placed on property by the Board of Assessors must at least equal the amount of mortgage held on the property.

Several business properties have been found to be mortgaged for nearly one-third more than the assessed value. No date has been fixed as yet for these particular hearings.

Injured by Fall
Constable George E. Dunn, who is the Democratic Registrar of Voters as well as the messenger of the Tolland County Superior Court, is in a critical condition as the result of injuries received on last Friday while serving legal papers. Mr. Dunn was serving paper on an employee of a store on Main street but the employee saw him approach and went to the rear of the store and down the cellar stairway.

Constable Dunn started to follow and fell heading down the stairway. Several cuts and body injuries, but had no broken bones. This is the second fall that Constable Dunn has suffered this winter.

Prizes Awarded at Ball
Unusual interest was shown in the distribution of the prizes at the 60th and 61st Anniversary Ball of the Young German-American Association which was held on Friday evening at the Princess Hall on the Village street. The event was over until the early hours Saturday morning and it was pronounced a big success.

The prizes were awarded as follows: Handmade lady, Grace H. Pratt; handsome gentleman, Carl Pfeiffer of Rockville; most comical lady, Oscar Theuninger of Rockville; most comical gentleman, Etta Wadwell of Rockville; most original makeup, Edith Wormstedt; judges, Otto Mueller, Herbert Krause and Nettie Ertel.

Honor Roll Tomorrow
The Honor Roll of the Rockville High School for the first half of the school year will be announced at the school on Tuesday morning by Principal Philip M. Howe.

It was first hoped to announce the honor roll at the opening of the school session this morning but because of the large amount of work which had to be completed over the week-end by members of the faculty it was impossible to complete the tabulation of the school marks before this afternoon.

The half-year examination which was given during the past week will count one-quarter of the rating of the high school students for the half-year.

May Complete Road Work
The C. W. A. Project of the town of Vernon on the so-called "Mile Hill Road" which is being constructed near the club house of the Rockville Fish and Game Club is fast nearing completion. It is hoped to complete the work this week after the project has been underway for about five weeks.

Several other projects are now under contemplation but nothing definite has been decided upon as yet. First Selectman Francis J. Prichard is expected to announce the new project within a few days. The project will undoubtedly be the proposed waterbound macadam road from West street to Vernon Center. The work is well underway in the Memorial Building where the entire building is being refinished. About twelve men are at work on the project at the present time including several master painters with William Cliff as foreman.

Finances of Maxwell Library
A very interesting report has been issued by the Rockville Branch of the Hartford-Connecticut Trust Company pertaining to the finances of the George Sykes Memorial Library for the past year. The report for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1933, is as follows: balance on hand January 1, 1933, $56.95; receipts, appropriation of the town of Vernon, $2,000; income from investments, $5,031; gift of Col. Francis T. Maxwell, $500; gift of William Maxwell, $500; other sources of revenue, $202.89; total receipts, $8,668.37; disbursements, $5,638.56; balance on hand as of January 1, 1934, $30.51; inventory of securities as of January 1, 1933, $119,928.63; invested funds increased during 1933 by gift of Col. F. T. Maxwell (in addition to $500) $4,500; inventory of securities as of January 1, 1934, $12,428.63.

The invested securities will also show an increase of $4,500 during 1934 because of a gift of this amount made this month by William Maxwell.

Complete Ice Harvest
The work of harvesting the crop of ice at Snipic Lake was completed on Saturday with the best crop of ice to be harvested in the past decade. The ice at one time during the harvest was 13 inches thick according to Howard C. West, local ice dealer, and at no time below ten inches thick. In addition to filling the ice houses at Snipic Lake there was a big supply placed outside of the ice houses and ice was also stored on Brooklyn street in Rockville. More than forty men were at work during the harvesting of the ice.

Rockville Briefs
The regular meeting of the mayor and Common Council is scheduled to be held on Tuesday evening although their council chambers are much disturbed because of the re-arrangement which is undergoing this week by CWA help.

Chief Po-can-to-do, a Sioux demonstration on Tuesday morning Indian, will deliver a lecture and at the auditorium of the George Sykes Memorial School. This will be the regular school assembly. The speaker is from the Rosebud Reservation in South Dakota and will speak on "Indian Lore and Customs."

Fred Skinner of Rockville suffered a severe paralytic stroke on Saturday. He was taken to the Johnson Public Hospital, Stafford Springs where his condition was reported as critical.

A meeting of the Rockville Retail Merchants Association will be held on Tuesday evening at the Court Room Memorial Building. President William Preuss will preside and the members will discuss the credits of the residents of this community.

The Boys Club of St. John's Episcopal church will hold a public card party this evening in the church parish rooms. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the club. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Rev. J. Garfield Sallis, pastor of the Methodist church at South Hadley Falls, Mass., and formerly of Rockville addressed the meeting of the Rockville-Epworth League at their meeting on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the church social rooms. James Galavin, president of the Rockville High School Alumni Association, is a patient in the Hartford hospital for observation although his condition is not considered critical.

STRUCK ON CROSSWALK AS PASSING CAR SKIDS

Joseph Arson Suffers Scalp Wounds And Abrasions; Driver Not Held.

Joseph Arson, of 146 South Main street, was struck by an automobile driven by John Sherman of 218 School street early Sunday morning, causing scalp wounds and abrasions on both legs. Arson was treated at the Manchester Memorial hospital.

According to Policeman Herman Muske, Arson was crossing School street at Main when Sherman's car, entering the side street from Main, skidded sideways on the ice and struck the pedestrian. Sherman was not held.

NORTH COVENTRY

Twenty-two people were served at the meeting of the Coventry Fraternity social held last Wednesday at Mrs. John Kingsbury's. The women worked on quilting a bed quilt and several came up Thursday and finished it. Mrs. Wallace McKnight showed the ladies how it was possible to turn all four sides at once, allowing more people to work on it. Mr. and Mrs. John Kingsbury and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McKnight motored to Westport, Friday, to attend the funeral services of Mrs. Hattie Hawkins Mills. Mrs. Mills was born and brought up in North Coventry, living here until fourteen years ago when she moved to Westport. Her parents Mr. and Mrs. William Hawkins, were active in Coventry for many years, moving to Deep River two years ago. Mrs. Mills had been confined to her bed for over a year. She leaves her husband and two daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. William Christensen of North Coventry had an infant son born to them Friday afternoon at the Manchester Memorial hospital.

Friday evening the Coventry Christian Endeavor society had a monthly business meeting and social. They voted to give a card shown each month for some sick person or shut-in. For January they will send cards to Mrs. Henry Walker.

The North School Bulletin published by students of North School No. 9, instructed by Miss Mary Martin, was off the press Friday. The Bulletin is unique, being prepared by students from the first to sixth grade each doing some part. The Bulletin will be published monthly and the profits will go to buy school equipment.

Charles Huernsey of North Coventry died Saturday at the Norwich State Hospital. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Kate Huernsey, two sisters and two brothers. Funeral services were held at noon today at Avery and Vandewater's funeral home in the Williamsburg cemetery.

Miss Shirley Schell spent the week end with her cousin, Miss Mary Fiske, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schell.

The Coventry Community orchestra has been asked to play at the 4-H Achievement Program of Tolland County which will be held during February.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Standish spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Kingsbury.

Miss Eva Koehler and George Kingsbury visited Franklin Grange Friday evening.

ASKS BID ON STATE PROJECT IN VERNON

Macdonald Announces Three NRA, One PWA Jobs Will Be Done.

Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald today called for contractors bids on three National Recovery Act highway projects and one Federal Emergency Administration project (PWA), the three aggregating about 10 1/2 miles of road improvement of various types.

The National Recovery jobs will be done with Connecticut's $2,865,740 share of the NRA appropriation for highway improvement, while on the PWA project the State will pay seventy percent of the cost and the federal government thirty percent. Only one of Connecticut's National Recovery projects still awaits the final approval and the taking of bids.

The three National Recovery jobs to be included in this contract letting, the most important is the building of approximately 6 1/2 miles of bituminous macadam pavement on the North Branford-Killingworth road in the towns of North Branford and Killingworth (Route No. 80). This project will begin near the end of the present concrete pavement on the so-called Foxon Road in North Branford and will extend into Madison, forming part of what was eventually to be a through route, paralleling the Boston Post Road between New Haven and the Connecticut River. This road traverses a wild, picturesque region, separating it from the highway traffic in the vicinity of Madison, where a concrete bridge having a span of 100 feet is proposed. Due to the extremely rough contour of the country through which the road will pass, the project will be one of the heaviest grading jobs in Connecticut highway history.

The other two NRA projects are extensions of jobs already contracted for with NRA funds on Thompson Avenue (Route No. 8) in Waterbury and on Farmington Avenue (U. S. Route No. 6) in West Hartford.

The Federal Emergency Administration or PWA project will be undertaken in the town of Vernon and will consist of paving with reinforced concrete of nearly three miles on the Tolland Turnpike (Route No. 15). The paving will begin at the intersection of Route No. 16 and Route No. 83 and will extend northwesterly to Vernon Center.

Sealed bids on all four of the new jobs will be received from contractors at the highway department building, Hartford, until 2:00 p. m., Tuesday, February 13.

The work as announced by Commissioner Macdonald today is briefly described in the notice to contractors as follows:

U. S. Public Works Project No. N. R. H. 59c.—Towns of North Branford, Guilford and Madison. About 33152 feet of Bituminous Macadam on a Trap Rock base on North Branford-Killingworth road.

U. S. Public Works Project No. N. R. M. 68B.—City of Waterbury: About 6200 feet of reinforced concrete pavement on Farmington street.

U. S. Public Works Project No. N. R. N. 630.—Town of West Hartford: About 2600 feet of sheet asphalt on a concrete base on Farmington Avenue.

Federal Emergency Administration or PWA Project No. 25.—Town of Vernon: About 14,843 feet of Reinforced Concrete Pavement on Tolland Turnpike.

FOUR NUNS DROWNED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Car Crashes Through Guard Rail and Plunges Into Canal; Driver Also Killed.

Watertown, N. Y., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Drivers were called upon today to locate an automobile which plunged into a canal at Black river carrying four nuns and a man driver to their death.

The car tore through a guard rail and rolled down an embankment into 20 feet of water yesterday. When grappling hooks failed to catch the car, two divers were brought to the scene, but lack of light and a temperature of 12 degrees below zero forced them to wait until today to locate the car.

The nuns and their names before entering the convent were: Sister Gabriel, Mary Giblin, of Carthage, principal of the academy; Sister Alphonse, Margaret Kenney, of Philadelphia; Sister Angelo, Emma Walsh, of Lowell, N. Y.; and Sister Christina, Salda Halligon, of Scranton, Pa.

The driver of the automobile was Martin O'Keefe, of Carthage.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Portland, Ore.—All the lads were out in white breeches and red coats for the Multnomah and Portland hunt clubs' fox hunt Sunday. They could not find any foxes to be chased, so they had imported a coyote.

The coyote was loosed from a box. The hounds bayed. The coyote took a drink and went back to his box. The hunters went home.

Minneapolis—This time the hold-up victim came out just a little ahead of the hold-up bandit. In his hurry to get away after relieving Mike Aberman, grocer, of $4, the holdup man slipped and lost his hat. The grocery man picked it up, declared it was worth $5, figures he is just a bit ahead.

TURKEY GROWERS MEET THURSDAY

Cornell Professor, Expert On Market Development To Be Speaker.

Hartford, Jan. 29.—Prof. E. Y. Smith, Extension, Poultryman of Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Connecticut Turkey Producers Association. The meeting will be held in the Hall of the House, State Capitol, Hartford, on February 1, at 1:00 p. m.

Mr. Smith is secretary of the New York State Turkey Growers Association and is largely responsible for the development of its turkey marketing program. Kingsley T. Leighton of Wallingford, secretary of the Connecticut association, believes that Mr. Smith will have information which will be of direct benefit to all Connecticut turkey growers.

Neal P. Anthony of West Willington, president of the Connecticut Turkey Producers Association, will discuss "What is a Satisfactory Price for Connecticut Yellow Tag Turkeys." His talk will be based on four years of experience and will pertain very largely to the relationship between the price of native turkeys and those from distant states.

Dr. C. E. Terry of Shelton, chairman of the committee on Research and Feeding, will explain the results of experiments which he has been conducting with high protein turkey rations. James M. Gwin of Hartford, in charge of turkey grading

Perkins suggested on his pupil that the next order of business would be "a class for clergymen," assuring them, among other things, a living wage.

His proposed code would deal with the spiritual side of things also, one rule would demand that no clergyman should covet another preacher's members, nor gloat over receiving into his flock the sheep of another.

Chicago—A sign on a coal dealer's window some time may read: "Pocahontas, aged in the mine, a blend."

Chicago's city sealer is drafting an ordinance to make it mandatory to advertise coal blends as such, just as whiskey blends must be so labeled.

Reason: Coal blends fool experts in fuel just as whiskey blends fool experts in taste.

Perkins suggested on his pupil that the next order of business would be "a class for clergymen," assuring them, among other things, a living wage.

His proposed code would deal with the spiritual side of things also, one rule would demand that no clergyman should covet another preacher's members, nor gloat over receiving into his flock the sheep of another.

LOCAL BAND AT REC NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

The regular weekly dance conducted at the School Street Recreation building will be held on Friday evening and will mark the return of Art McKay and his Orchestra who have been playing in some of the leading ballrooms in this section since their last appearance at the Recreation Center. Many new features will be introduced at this appearance by Art and his boys who are rapidly gaining recognition because of their smooth rhythm and the possibility of being engaged for a future appearance at the Ritz Ballroom in Bridgeport is in view. Dancing will be from 8 o'clock until midnight with the checking being included in the admission.

THE GOLD BILL

The adoption of the gold devaluation bill by the Senate on Saturday put a definite end to a period in the monetary history of the country that has existed ever since the Grant administration shortly after the Civil war. During that entire period monetary policies have been dominated by the gold fetish—a belief that gold absolutely ruled the financial relationships of men and nations, and that nothing could be done about it. Now, for the first time since the passage of the "Credit Strengthening Act" of the reconstruction era, the United States puts itself squarely upon the proposition that the United States can and will rule the gold.

From that position this country will never in the world recede. Saturday's Senate action therefore marks a moment of immense historic interest. Its date will long be remembered as we remember the dates of the "decisive battles of history."

But there have been very few of these "decisive battles" that were followed immediately by a cessation of hostilities. The Stone Wall at Gettysburg marked the high tide of the Confederacy; but Gettysburg was fought in 1863 and Appomattox's date is 1865. Defeatism gave its death wound last Saturday, but death wounds do not prevent desperate wild beasts from sometimes killing their slayers, and the soil of the earth is fertilized by the blood of millions of victors killed in rear-guard actions.

President Roosevelt has won a victory, but he is a long way from having consolidated it. There is no chance that he will be driven from the strategic height attained when the gold devaluation bill was passed without exempting from capture the gold in the Federal Reserve System. But the country may be prevented from realizing on the benefits of that attainment for some time to come unless the administration—or quite conceivably Congress of its own initiative—shall press the enormous advantage gained and mop up the trenches of defeatism.

How likely Congress is to take action of its own volition is indicated by that deeply significant vote on Senator Wheeler's amendment providing for the remonetization of silver. The change of two votes would have tacked that amendment onto the devaluation bill. And yet it was a spontaneous makeshift, lacking seriously in the scientific appeal of Wheeler's earlier bill for a straight bimetallic standard. It did, however, crudely express the sentiment of Congress for a controlled inflation; and for that reason, sketchy and little pondered as it had been, it came within a hair's breadth of being forced upon the President.

Can anyone believe that the last word has been said by this Congress on the subject of mandatory inflation? What it has done, in passing the devaluation bill, is to spike down with immutable firmness the foundation of America's financial independence of the gold standard—Congress made very sure that as a first measure. Now, unless we are immensely mistaken, it will go on with the story.

We don't believe that this country is going to pile up a mountain of interest bearing debt, paying two dollars for every borrowed dollar, when it can create its own money instead of authorizing the Federal Reserve System to create its own money to lend to the government at usury. It has won its decisive battle. It is not going to throw away its gains and lose the war by either retreating or going to sleep in its strategic position.

COUNTY Y CIVICS
 We have been asked to give editorial support to the course of study in problems of local government to be inaugurated here soon under the auspices of the County Y. M. C. A., for the benefit of young men, particularly those of college age who, owing to the economic troubles, have been prevented from pursuing their educational ambitions.

Now any unconditional assertion on our part that this proposed course is sure to be a splendid thing would have to be made more or less on faith and we are inherently cautious about advising youth. If it were merely proposed to provide a meeting place for the young men of Manchester for the discussion of problems of local government by themselves, without a steering committee of their elders to influence the direction of their inquiries, we should not hesitate to declare that it was a fine idea. But in view of all that has happened to the country in the last few years there would seem to be some justification for doubting whether we older folks have very much to tell these youths that is worth the telling.

Not for a great deal would we be understood as throwing cold water on the County Y seminar project. On the contrary, if it succeeds in interesting any considerable number of young men in civic affairs, who otherwise might not develop any such interest at all, it will be a worthy undertaking. But we just don't quite like to partake in any degree in the sponsorship of a civic course without having a pretty fair idea of the tendencies and trends of the authorities who will be cited in it, inevitably, influence the discussions.

With a quite genuine enthusiasm, however, we can and do declare our belief that any plan or procedure which will result in the getting together of any considerable number of this town's young men determined to find out how the machinery of municipal government operates is a good thing to start. To that extent we very earnestly commend the County Y course to the youth of this community. Then we take the liberty of going a short step further and suggesting to the young men that if they listen only with their ears and use their tongues only to say "yes," all they will get out of the course will be some information; but if they listen with minds as well as ears and remember always that the experiences of their elders have been quite largely experiences in error, then the civic round-table course will make a splendid contribution to the citizenship of this community.

AH, WILDERNESS

From a most unexpected source, a magazine devoted principally to tales of adventure but which conducts a department given over to serious conferences between sportsmen and adventurers and dealing largely with observations of wild life, comes the surprising postulate that a very great part of our efforts to "redeem the wilderness" has been worse than useless, even from the viewpoint of the wilderness' ability to support human life. The writer is evidently a person who knows a great deal about the wilderness and also something about farm statistics. His article is much too long for anything like a detailed discussion here. He had previously made the statement that a very large part of the United States would produce more value if left wild than if reclaimed, and when questioned by a doubter becomes specific.

"The country that would produce more wild life values than domestic," he says, "is found in the natural wilderness regions. 1,500,000 square miles are already this kind of terrain. To find out beef and mutton losses study U. S. government statistics of Nevada, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, California. The rest of the country loaned through Nevada banks $8.50 on sheep that were worth in the market $1.92. It requires $18,000 investment to raise 1,200 sheep. In the territory where the sheep men all went broke and are going broke tending bands of a few hundred to a thousand or so sheep a game protector could look after 50,000 deer and tens of thousands of quail, grouse, sage hens, a few thousand antelopes and more annual production value of wild fur than all the wool and mutton produced there.

"Nature grew 1,500 pounds of buffalo beef on less than three acres of open range and our pseudo-scientists coupled with farm 'industry' grow 500 pounds of beef on 18 to 125 acres of the same buffalo range. The Forest Service and Biological Survey are both distributing tons of poison which destroy the rodents at the mouth of whose old burrows and nowhere else is found bunch grass."

We have not included everything within the quotation marks that belongs there but everything within them is quoted.

While we have a suspicion that this critic of reclamation and proponent of conservation overlooks in his argument the fact that furs and game in the quantities he visualizes would be likely to lack a market and therefore descend tremendously in value, this idea that the wilderness frequently may be more valuable if left alone than if "civilized" is one in which a good many people are becoming interested.

It certainly has an immense appeal to those who are fed up on the smell of gasoline.

TOMORROW NIGHT

There are two distinct reasons why this newspaper has been publicizing with unusual energy the Roosevelt Birthday ball to be held at the State Armory tomorrow night as part of a nation-wide benefit for the Warm Springs Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Primarily, of course, comes the tremendously appealing cause of the Warm Springs Foundation, leading agency in this country in the war upon that dreadful disease of which the most casual thought strikes a chill to the heart of every father and mother. This, in association with the desire of a nation to gracefully recognize the efforts of a President who is battling to the very limits of his strength and wisdom for the restoration of better times, would be a sufficient reason for hoping that Manchester will do its part in the unique celebration.

But of scarcely less importance, it seems to us, is the need of the community for an evening of diversion of a wholly novel kind, in which all kinds and conditions of people may join on a plane of perfect social equality and animated by the common purpose of having one grand good time without handicap of formality or self-consciousness. A gloom chaser.

Let us make this occasion a happy one—with something of the spirit of the old time town hall dances of the New England villages where everybody went and everybody was as good as anybody else and maybe a little better. That assembly will hold a whale of a lot of people. Let's go!

HEALTH-DIET ADVICE
 BY DR. FRANK McCUOY
 Questions in regard to Health and Diet will be answered by Dr. McCuoy who can be addressed in care of this paper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, for reply.

LET YOUR FOOD BE YOUR LAXATIVE

The most natural "laxative" is food. If you eat the right foods and your intestines are healthy, you will find that elimination of wastes is regular and no other laxative is required. The human digestive system is designed in such a way that the fact that food is present in the intestines sets up an action called peristalsis. By this peristaltic action, the walls of the intestines contract and then relax and squeeze the undigested food portion along the length of the tube, until it leaves the body. From this standpoint, food is a laxative and in health, it is the only kind of laxative you need.

Many patients find that this natural elimination does not work as it should. Gradually they discover that the elimination of wastes which should occur naturally is without any conscious thought, is slowed down and they then look around to some artificial preparations.

Very often they learn to depend upon laxatives which are so irritating that the intestines make an heroic effort to cleanse themselves by several watery evacuations. If the dose taken is too large, cramp-like pains may follow. After a few preparations have been used for some time, they may bring on a chronic irritation of the intestines.

Before using such artificial preparations which you prescribe for yourself and which may do harm, I would advise you to learn how to let your food be your laxative.

In order for your food to cause natural movements each day, two things must be provided. First, you must secure enough vitamin B. Part of this vitamin called B1 will help to keep up your whole digestive tract; and aids in keeping the intestines healthy. Vitamin B1 is found in the outside layers of cereals such as whole wheat. If you eat whole wheat, you will get more of the vitamin than if you eat the refined white flour products. Therefore, when you are re-training your intestines to take care of elimination, remember vitamin B1 and whole cereals.

The second thing which adds to the laxative value of food is bulk or roughage. This bulk is in the form of cellulose which is not digested by the human body and remains in the intestine, giving it enough material to work upon. Food best for aiding bulk and which might be classed as laxative foods are: vegetables and fruits and the bran found in whole wheat. This type of bulk, however, is the kind nature intended you to use and gently awakens or scours the intestines, stimulating them in a natural way. In the healthy intestine, the bulk present in vegetables, fruits and whole wheat will be sufficient in amount to do good. It is non-irritating and has a perfectly natural laxative effect.

The small amount of bran in whole wheat flour is helpful as a food laxative, but, if this bran is removed as it has been in the white flour, the laxative power is gone and the bread may then prove constipating.

Because of its vitamin B1 and its bran I find that the whole wheat cereal constitutes a useful addition to the diet. Many of you who are now bothered with constipation will find that probably all you need to overcome this condition is to change your diet to the right foods. Use more fruits, more vegetables and more whole wheat products. Very often these small changes will make just enough difference to prevent constipation. Such foods are a great help to you in producing natural but not excessive intestinal movements.

A BOOK A DAY
 BY BRUCE CATTON
 THE LONG RISE OF MEDICAL SCIENCE

Since the dawn of civilization, mankind has been trying to increase its ability to fend off death and restore ailing bodies to health. This effort began slowly, progressed along an almost imperceptible rise for many centuries—and finally took a sharp turn upward. Medical science has made more progress in the last 150 years than in all of recorded history before the nineteenth century.

So says Dr. Morris Fishbein, the editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, in "Frontiers of Medicine," a readable little handbook in the new Century of Progress series.

This book is simply an outline of medical history, an exposition of the development by mankind of the art of healing from the primitive hocuspocus of the medicine man to the scientific technique of the modern hospital.

Medical history, says Dr. Fishbein, really begins with Hippocrates, about 800 B. C. Some four centuries later Galen became medical science's dominating figure, remaining such for 1200 years. Then, as people began to emerge from the superstition and tradition of the middle ages, came the development of anatomy, of physiology, of more exact knowledge about the body and its secrets, leading up to the great era which began in the nineteenth century and is not yet ended.

It makes a very readable book, this "outline," an excellent summary of medicine's history, its accomplishments and its possibilities. Published by Williams and Wilkins, it sells for $1.

I want you to try these simple, common-sense directions. I am sure that, if you will eat the right foods, this will be all the laxative you need. Remember, the stimulation of the right kind of food in the healthy colon is nature's laxative.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 (Enquirers' Names not Disclosed)

Question: From Duluth, Minn.: "I would like to receive information from you concerning my trouble, but I do not wish my name published in the paper."

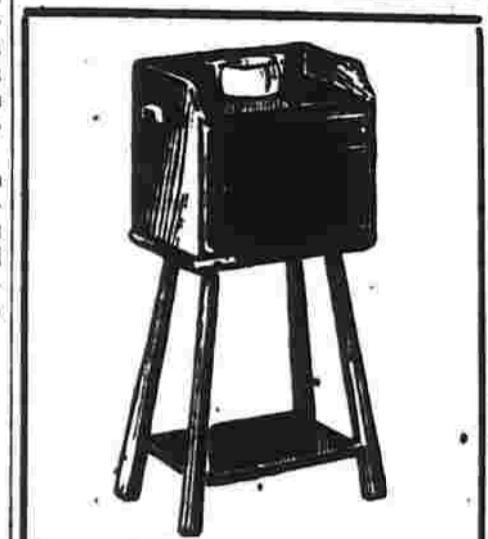

Answer: I make it an absolute rule to never publish the name of any one who writes me a letter regarding health or diet. Even when initials are used, they have been changed by me, in order that no one may possibly guess the correct initials of the writer.

Please do not write me for the names and addresses of those mentioned in the questions as all names are held in strictest confidence and are sent to no one. I do this in order to protect those who write to me.

MOLOTOFF URGES WORLD REVOLUTION

Head of Soviet Council Proclaims Widest Aims for Russian Communism.

Moscow, Jan. 29—(AP)—The banner of a world revolution was waved aggressively by Vyacheslav Molotov, president of the Council of Commissars of the Soviet Union, in the speech with which he opened the seventeenth Communist Party congress.

"Appealing," he declared, "to the millions of proletarians outside the Soviet Union and to oppressed colonial peoples, we declare that we are growing increasingly convinced of the victory of socialism with the revolutionary struggle of the workers of the whole world against capitalism."

"Our party, which controls infallibly the whole socialist construction, is growing and strengthening as the vanguard of Communist International."

Cheered by Hoorays

In publishing the text of his speech—none but the highest members of the party were admitted to the congress—local newspapers reported that 2,000 delegates cheered and applauded Molotov when he contrasted the achievements of Soviet Russia with what he described as "rotting capitalism."

Referring to Soviet-Japanese relations he said: "In the camp of the imperialists we have bitter enemies. Now especially, in connection with the situation in the Far East we must increase our vigilance and readiness to defend the conquests of the October revolution."

His remarks served as an introduction of Joseph Stalin, party chief, to the speakers' stand. It was reported that the mention of Stalin's name and his appearance on the rostrum brought prolonged cheering.

WAPPING

Stamp Collecting Also Is Termed "King of Hobbies" by Enthusiasts.

By LEONARD J. RICHMAN

In the royal families of the world there are so many kings, queens and princes who are stamp collectors that someone long ago called philately "the king of hobbies—the hobby of kings."

But this description is only half right, for stamp collecting, though it may incidentally be the hobby of kings, is essentially the most democratic of hobbies. Its appeal is universal—everyone may enjoy it—and that is why there are today in the United States over a million stamp collectors, and many millions more in foreign countries.

Some Collectors

If space permitted, it would be most interesting to note some famous stamp collectors and their widely differing occupations. Our names would range from Theodore E. Steinway, president of the great piano manufacturing company, to Captain George Fried, the skipper celebrated for his heroic rescues at sea; from Franklin D. Roosevelt, president of the United States, to King George V of Great Britain; from John Drinkwater, the eminent English playwright, to Octavius Roy Cohen, whose humorous stories have tickled the ribs of America for many years.

In other words, stamp collecting is not the hobby of any particular class of people. It is enjoyed by men, women and children in all walks of life. It is everybody's hobby—a fascinating pastime "for young people of all ages, from eight to eighty."

Nor does it require a royal income to get a king's enjoyment out of stamps. The wealthy collectors with their rarities valued at thousands of dollars, the innumerable men and women and children who spend only a small amount on their collections—who can say that one of these gets more enjoyment than another out of his stamps? One of the happiest qualities of the "Great Hobby" is that the commonest and cheapest stamps cast their magic spell over the collector just as the rare ones do.

Pleasurable Recreation

Whether one has much or little to spend in his hobbies, stamps can make his leisure hours delightful, and lead him on in a thousand picturesque and colorful ways into endless new realms of pleasure and recreation.

One of the many advantages of the hobby of stamp collecting (or "philately" as it is often called) is the ease with which anyone may start a collection. All you need, in fact, are some stamps, a book to keep them in (preferably an illustrated album), and some stamp

EDUCATIONAL THERAPY EXHIBITION WEDNESDAY

Association To Demonstrate Training Of Disabled At Bushnell Memorial.

An attempt to re-educate the general and professional public in its conception of the achievements and methods of occupational therapy is the purpose of the Connecticut Occupational Therapy Association at its twelfth annual meeting to be held in the Colonial Room at the Horace Bushnell Memorial Hall, Hartford, on January 31. General hospitals, state institutions and training schools for various handicaps, and private hospitals for the care of crippled children and of nervous and mental cases have combined their efforts in conducting an occupational therapy exposition which is to be the occasion of the meeting of the Association at two p. m. and at eight p. m. and which will be open to all. For the afternoon program, the president of the Association, Dr. C. Charles Burlingame is to be the presiding officer. There is being erected "Occupational Therapy Village" with a row of busy little "shops" bordered by a flagstone walk, and having thatched roofs, casement windows and all the other intriguing features which remind one of the Old World country village.

SIX FIREMEN HURT IN BROOKLYN BLAZE

Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 29—(AP)—Six firemen were injured and two three-story frame inns and an athletic arena were destroyed today in a fire which brought out most of the fire-fighting apparatus in Brooklyn. The fire broke out in Arcadia Inn, a cabaret-restaurant on the Carnate shore of Jamaica Bay, and a high wind caused it to spread quickly to the Shore Inn and Golden City Park Arena, an athletic arena, and to some twenty concession stands. The injured firemen were at the rear of Arcadia Inn attempting to check the flames at the arena when a rear wall of Arcadia Inn blew down on them. The six were rushed in ambulances to a hospital. It was believed that none was seriously injured.

The two inns, the arena and the concession stands were wrecked by the flames. The arena, with 48 pieces of apparatus, managed to keep the fire from spreading further, despite the high wind.

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Whatever your job or position in life, healthy nerves are worth any effort. Yet with many of us jangled, irritated nerves are only too well known!

Check up on your habits—your eating, your sleeping, your recreation, and your smoking. Countless people have turned to Camels and are enjoying a new freedom from jangled nerves. And they are urging their friends to join them!

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCO than any other popular brand.

You'll like the taste... the remarkable mildness... of Camel's choice-quality tobaccos. And you can enjoy Camels steadily... hour after hour... without nervous irritation, or the aftertaste associated with the fat or "sweet" type of cigarette.

So change to mild, rich, good-tasting Camels, they never get on your nerves... never tire your taste.

Mrs. F. R. Bruce, Larchmont, N. Y. Mother, says:

"Healthy nerves are important to me, too. Meeting infinite demands with patience and unruffled nerves—that's a mother's job. And one who is 'on edge' with nerves cannot create a happy home. Smoking is one of my chief enjoyments. I have found that the choice, more expensive tobaccos used in Camels never upset my nerves—and I prefer their rich, mild flavor."

SKIN IRRITATIONS

Itching of eczema, ringworm, chafing, pimples, minor burns, etc., quickly relieved by soothing

Resinol

But do not expect too much when you go stamp hunting! Remember that in nearly a hundred years very few of the great rarities have turned up, and the odds are a thousand to one against your finding one of them. There are, however, hundreds of stamps of lesser value which the treasure-seeker may come upon as a moderate and interesting reward for his efforts.

President Roosevelt said (after the diversion and pleasure afforded by his stamp collection had helped him through the period of convalescence following a serious illness): "I can almost say that I owe my life to my hobbies—especially to stamp collecting."

If you don't like it send it back Dial 5181 and ask for details.

Did you know there is a brand new tapioca product on the market which makes puddings as creamy and light as a Bavarian and already it has nation-wide distribution? It certainly spells convenience and time-saving for the homemaker. The old recipe may be used if desired, but there are new ones on the package and a new recipe book just off the press. It is wonderful for thickening berry pies, for using in meat loaves instead of bread or cracker crumbs, and forms the basis of dozens of delicious, economical desserts. As a "precision ingredient" for ice creams it is unequalled. All tapioca is made from the root of the cassava plant which is raised in far-off Java, but this new product is made in a clean, sunny American factory in Orange, Mass., in the Berkshires.

If ordinary cough syrups do not touch that cough, try the combination of White Pine with extract of Cod Liver Oil—it's as sweet as honey. Where did I find this? At the Center Pharmacy—the former Packard Pharmacy.

These new silver tulle sweaters looking like modern coat of mail, are charming evening novelties.

A right handy thing to have in your home—this new hostess table, conveniently styled with its upper tray low, middle drawer for silver, and four easy moving castor legs. In either genuine walnut or mahogany it is now marked down from $17.50 to $14.95 at Watkins Semi-Annual Sale.

A cold capsule that will break up an ordinary cold in a day is the offer of the Center Pharmacy—at Post Office Square.

DR. A. M. LYTHGOE DIES IN BOSTON

Noted Egyptologist Was Present At The Opening Of King Tut's Tomb.

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Dr. Albert M. Lythgoe, noted Egyptologist who was among those present at the opening of the inner chamber of King Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb in 1923, died today in Boston, officials of the Metropolitan Museum of Art were informed. He was 68 years old.

He had been suffering for some time with an attack of cerebral arterio-sclerosis.

His illness had revived the story of a "curse" that was supposed to have dealt death and misfortune to many people connected with the opening of the Pharaoh's tomb, but officials of the Metropolitan museum recently produced statistics to support their contention that the "curse" was a myth.

Lythgoe was the founder and curator emeritus of the Metropolitan Museum's Department of Egyptian Art, and was one of the foremost men in his field.

Born in Providence, R. I., he was educated at the high school there and at Harvard University, where he received an M. A. degree in 1897. After postgraduate studies at the University of Bonn, Germany, he engaged in Egyptian excavations as a member of the Hearst Egyptian Expedition of the University of California.

In 1904, he was named instructor of Egyptology at Harvard, and soon thereafter he conducted excavations at the pyramids at Gizeh for Harvard University and the Boston Museum.

In 1906 he became curator at the Metropolitan. For the next 20 years he divided his time between New York and Egypt. Herbert E. Winlock, who succeeded Lythgoe as curator in 1926, said the museum's Egyptian collection, one of the most important outside of Cairo, is due in large part to the excavations directed by Lythgoe.

He was a close friend of the late J. P. Morgan, who was president of the museum, and they frequently spent their winters on the Nile together.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN IS KILLED BY AUTO

Berlin, Jan. 29.—(AP)—An unidentified man about 30, was killed after one o'clock this morning on the Beech Swamp Road near the Prentice Manufacturing Company when he was struck by a car driven by Thomas L. Dery, of 797 Asylum street, Hartford. He was taken to the New Britain general hospital but was dead on arrival. Dery is held under $1,500 bonds for a hearing on a criminal negligence charge in the Berlin town court Tuesday night. Unable to raise bail, he was taken to New Britain police headquarters.

Dery told police that he was driving towards New Britain when the man appeared suddenly in front of him in the middle of the road. He was unable to avoid hitting him. The back of the man's head was crushed indicating death from a compound fracture of the skull. In the car with Dery was Miss Violet Bell, he was taken to West Main street. She is not under arrest but will act as a material witness in the case.

LEND A HAND

Miss Jessie M. Reynolds, of the welfare department, reports today the need of a couch for an invalid woman. This woman is unable to lie down to sleep and a stationary couch in the kitchen would enable her to match a few minutes of rest during the day. She is unable to purchase a couch. Anyone having a piece of furniture not being used would be doing a fine bit of summary work by contributing it to this family, Miss Reynolds says. If anyone can help in this case, please call Miss Reynolds, telephone 8608.

DECISION RESERVED

Hartford, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Assistant Attorney General Raymond A. Johnson reserved decision today in the appeal of Harry Ruggieri, of New Haven, from the State Commission of Motor Vehicles in declining to return the applicant's license to operate a public service motor vehicle.

BRITISH-AMERICAN DINNER SATURDAY

Party At Masonic Temple Is Huge Success—Fine Entertainment Program.

Members of the British-American club, their wives and lady friends, numbering 300, enjoyed the annual banquet of the organization in the Masonic Temple Saturday night. It was the largest affair yet held by the club and from every standpoint the most successful.

Turkey Dinner

The guests assembled in the lodge room of the Temple and at 6:30 a grand march formed and proceeded to the banquet hall. There the assembled members and their friends enjoyed a fine turkey dinner served in Chief Osato's best style. Souvenir hats added to the colorful decorations on the tables and the banquet was quickly and efficiently served.

During the dinner and later for the dancing Al Band's orchestra played. Some familiar to every Britisher were sung and it didn't take any persuasion to have the whole group of diners singing. When dinner was completed, the tables were removed and chairs placed in a semi-circle so that all could see and enjoy the entertainment program to the fullest. Law Shorty's Joy Boys entertained with their dactylic Robert Taylor. Miss Betty Shaw rendered several popular numbers. She proved particularly adept in picking out the good singers in the British-American club.

The Dancing Demons, two clever boys with unusual routine, were on the program, as was Martin Lindberg, the well known pianocordian player.

Dancing, both old-fashioned and modern rounded out the fine program.

MIXED UP ON BIRDS, BUT SHE GOT CIGAR

A woman who was given a ride by automobile from her home on the West Side Sunday wished to show that she appreciated the ride and went into the store of James H. Quinn and asked to buy a "Blue Eagle" cigar. She was informed that they had no such brand. She had seen them, she said.

During the purchase the cigars displayed she pointed out one box to the clerk.

She bought a "White Owl."

DALADIER ASKED TO FORM CABINET

Former French Premier Will Make An Attempt to Start New Regime.

Paris, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Edouard Daladier, former premier, was assigned today to head the French government.

President Lebrun gave him the task of forming a "Public Safety Cabinet" for a vigorous housecleaning of financial scandals and for restoration of the shaken public confidence in the government.

Earlier, it was understood, he planned to take the portfolio of foreign affairs himself, ousting Joseph Paul-Boncour. To give the cabinet a strong position to face Germany in the disarmament talks, it was said he would unite the ministries of War, Navy and Air into a national defense ministry.

The new cabinet will supplant that of Camille Chautemps, which resigned Saturday amid rioting and demonstrations in all parts of France as a result of the Bayonne municipal pawnshop scandal.

Daladier, minister of war in the Chautemps government, was summoned to the Elysee Palace early today after three others had declined to accept the office of premier.

BOOKS ON RUSSIA AT LOCAL LIBRARY

If you are interested in the Russia of today, you will want to read the following books at the South Manchester Public Library.

First To Go Back, An "Historical" in Soviet Russia, by Irina Ekaratins (Mrs. Victor Blakeslee). The author is a World War and a World War veteran, after a ten years' exile, she enters the Soviet Union, this time as a tourist, accompanied by her American husband. She brings back an intensely fascinating account of the accomplishments of the new Russian regime.

Kapoot, by Carveth Wells. This is another account of a journey through Russia. The title of this book, "Kapoot," a word much used in Russia to signify "busted," has been applied, by the author, to the governmental experiment.

The Great Offensive, by Maurice Gershon Hindus. The picture of Russia given in Humanity Uprooted is brought up to date in this volume which is a popularly written account of the country at the end of the first five-year plan.

Other interesting books: British Agent, by R. H. Bruce Lockhart; a best seller of 1933.

Tragedy of Russia, Impressions from a brief visit by William James Durant.

SOLDIER IS HONORED

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The War Department announced today award of the silver star for gallantry in action to John van Houswaert, Jr., former private of Company C, 104th Infantry, 36th Division, in France. The award was made for gallantry in action at Orment Farm, north of Verdun, October 28, 1918. Private van Houswaert displayed unusual coolness and bravery when he voluntarily assisted in carrying rations to his organization in the front lines through a heavy artillery bombardment of high explosives and gas.

Van Houswaert lives at 28 Zabrickie street, Jersey City, N. J. At the time of his enlistment he lived in New Haven, Conn.

80 HOLY NAME SOCIETY MEN TAKE COMMUNION

Biggest Gathering Of Kind Since Society's Organization Takes Place Sunday.

There was a gathering of about 80 men of the Holy Name Society who received communion in a body. It was the first time in several years that there has been an effort made to have members turn out in large numbers with the Holy Name Society of the parish which just now is being reorganized. Section of the church was reserved for the men and it was said to be one of the largest attended gatherings of this kind since the early organization of the Holy Name Society of the church.

SOCIETY LEADER DIES FROM GUNSHOT WOUNDS

Thomasville, Ga., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Mrs. C. Merrill Chapin, Jr., a New York society woman, died in a hospital today from a gunshot wound in the abdomen, accidentally inflicted while dove hunting.

Mrs. Chapin was wounded Thursday and died at 11 a. m. e. s. t. today. The body will be taken to New York tonight.

Mrs. Chapin, her husband and two guests from New York, went to the Chapin estate near here for the dove shoot. While Mr. Chapin and guests were on the opposite side of the field, Mrs. Chapin sat down on a stool.

A boy standing nearby heard Mrs. Chapin's gun discharge and saw her slump to the ground. The boy said Mrs. Chapin had the gun beside her as she sat down and one leg of the stool apparently sank into the soft ground, causing her to fall.

Mrs. Chapin lost much blood while being brought to the local hospital. She was given two blood transfusions, one on arrival and the other Friday.

She apparently rallied somewhat after the second transfusion but took a turn for the worse yesterday.

MERCURY TAKES SUDDEN DROP THROUGHOUT CONN.

New Haven, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A sudden blast of wintry temperatures sent the mercury on a 47 degree plunge in less than 24 hours, bringing near zero weather today to New Haven and its vicinity.

At 8 a. m. the New-Haven branch of the U. S. Weather Bureau reported a reading of 5 degrees above zero and predicted the cold snap would continue with greater intensity before moderating Wednesday.

The weather expert said the mercury was expected to drop below the zero mark throughout the state by tomorrow morning, with readings ranging from two to four degrees in the north and six to ten degrees in the north.

The five degree reading for today although 47 degrees lower than the temperature for yesterday was far from a record. The weatherman said the record low for this date was three below zero written into the book in 1925 and the record for January was 14 below.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Stocks and staples looked on the bright side of the market picture today as a price advance, maintained a steady firmness.

Shares of some of the rubber, metal, oil and tobacco companies moved up sedately under varying influences. The activity was not much more pronounced than in Friday's session. There were intermittent profit taking surges and brief spasms of short selling, but these failed to unsettle the list as a whole.

Grains and cotton improved moderately. Silver and rubber futures developed strength. Wheat got up a cent or more a bushel at one time. The dollar was somewhat reactionary, losing around 2 cents in terms of sterling. Bonds were rather quiet and narrow.

Specialty stocks attracted some attention. Wright Aeronautical swung in a range of 2 to 8 points. Electric Auto-Lite, Pathe, American Sugar, Luffing, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, DuPont, Western Union, American Tobacco Co., Liggett & Myers B. Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, May Department, Woolworth, Case, Chrysler, Deere, International Harvester, U. S. Smelting, American Smelting, Dome, Cerro de Pasco, McIntyre, Seaboard Oil and American Telephone advanced 1/2 t or more. General Motors was up fractionally to a new 1933-34 high. U. S. Steel, the rails and utilities did little.

Equities apparently were not stirred unduly by the Senate's over-riding approval late Saturday of the administration's monetary measure. The vote had already been taken for granted. Just how much stocks may have discounted the action was a matter of conjecture.

Wall Street's inflationists and silver proponents—there are still plenty of them—were cheered by the narrow majority with which the Senate defeated an amendment to the gold bill virtually providing for the free coinage of silver. The close vote of 48 to 45 encouraged the currency expansion advocates to hope that sooner or later some of their ideas may be adopted.

The flurry in silver futures and some of the metal stocks was said to have been based on the Senate's silver vote. The push-up in rubber, futures and shares of some of the tire companies followed a report that the international conference at Amsterdam had about reached an accord on restriction of production.

MANNING TO OPEN A LAW OFFICE HERE

Frederick R. Manning, who has had a law office in Hartford for the past twenty-five years, since soon after he was admitted to the Connecticut State bar to practice law, is to open a Main street office on February 1. He has secured rooms in the Orford building and in an announcement sent to other lawyers in town today he makes known that he will be at the office in Manchester on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and Saturday afternoon and evening.

Play safe, order 'blue coal'

It's easy to be fooled when buying fuel. Especially if you listen to the extravagant claims made for substitute fuels. Thousands of home owners who've tried to take the same story... spotty irregular heat—constant running to the cellar—unhealthy fumes—and higher heating costs. Don't be "foxed" when selecting fuel to heat your home. Insist on "blue coal."

"blue coal" is the highest quality Northern Pennsylvania hard coal. It is carefully cleaned, sized and prepared to give more quick-starting, steady, healthful heat for every fuel dollar.

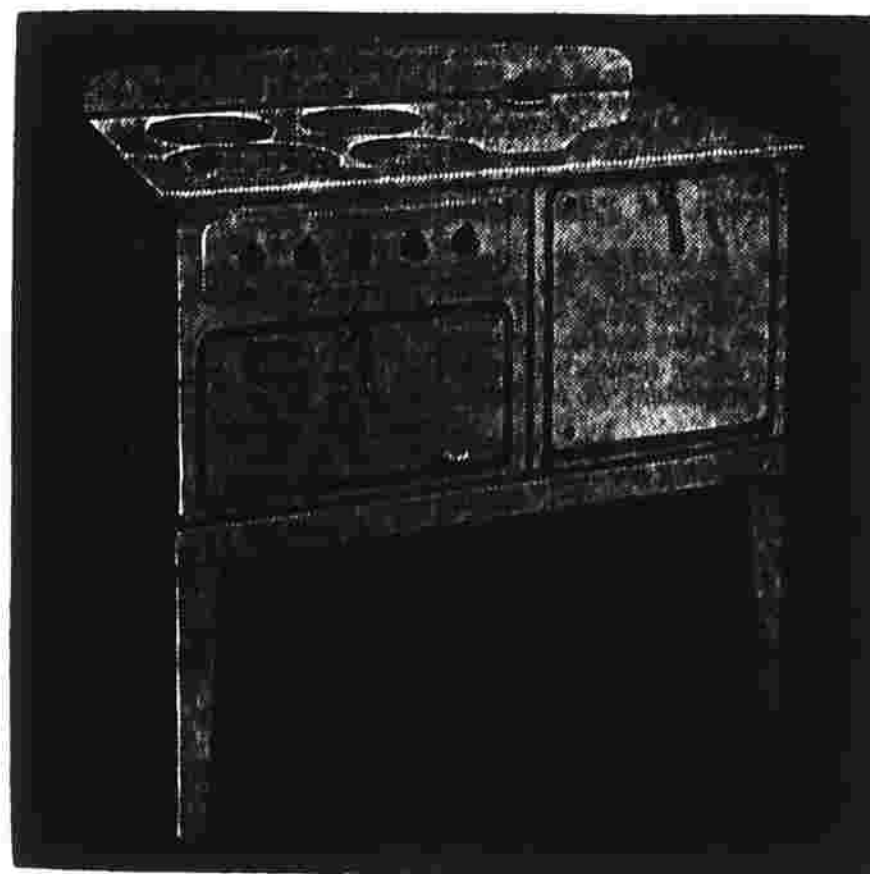

Order "blue coal" today. Your nearest "blue coal" dealer is listed in the "Where-to-Buy-Fuel" section of your classified telephone book, under the words "blue coal."

Married Flirts

MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY GYPSY MORE and TOM WEAVERS are married...

The baby is born in late September and the Weavers return to their apartment...

Gypsy was shaking with nervousness and fatigue when the ordeal of the morning bath was finished...

Could she possibly go at the rest of the disorder now? And where was Tom? He hadn't even telephoned...

A key grated in the lock and Tom ushered in a big, blond, clean-skinned young woman wearing a long, unfashionable coat...

Elsa worked part-time. Three days a week she came at eight and stayed until one. The other four days she came at one and stayed until seven...

After that, she came to the house smoothly. Elsa was a treasure, Tom and Gypsy told each other. She was a jewel.

"How we can afford it I simply don't know," Gypsy would say, frowning over the bills. But there was now no need for that.

The baby grew—flourished. The days he lived, punctuated only by bath-time, were feeding-time. Sometimes the imperturbable Elsa stayed in the evening and the young Weavers dashed out to a movie...

"What did she ever do with our money before?" Gypsy asked artlessly aloud one stormy November night when she had established herself in the big chair opposite Tom...

He was a beautiful baby, he was beyond price. But if only he didn't waken so early in the morning...

Gypsy laughed at herself, at her absorption, but deep down she was conscious of a pin prick of fear. Tom went out into the world every morning...

The McKinnon's little blue-roofed house on the hillside was a dream, envying the man who sang now among its copper kettles and looked out at the bare branches of the orchard...

Helen Marr came to call, and Blanche Jordan. They admired the baby, they brought him presents. They gazed at him. They told Gypsy...

Today's Pattern

LINEN or percale are alternative suggestions for this charming house dress. It is designed in nine sizes...

she must go about more—mustn't let herself get rusty. Helen asked her to lunch at the Plaza and Gypsy wriggled out of the invitation...

"You're much too pale and thin," her mother told her when the family came over from Blue Hills. She scolded Gypsy all afternoon...

Wild skunks can do handstands on their forefeet. Another serious manifestation of instability is the desire for seclusiveness. It is not natural for young girls to wish to be constantly to themselves...

Another significant symptom is any disturbance of sleep, such as inability to sleep, sleep-walking, persistent disturbing dreams, and occasionally a tendency to remain in bed. Growing girls need extra rest, particularly when submitted to excessive social activities.

However, the extra rest should be taken during the early hours of the night rather than late into the morning, if the rest is to be satisfactory.

Another serious manifestation of instability is the desire for seclusiveness. It is not natural for young girls to wish to be constantly to themselves. Of course, some natures need more time to think than do others. In general, however, the growing girl is gregarious and improves with society and friendship.

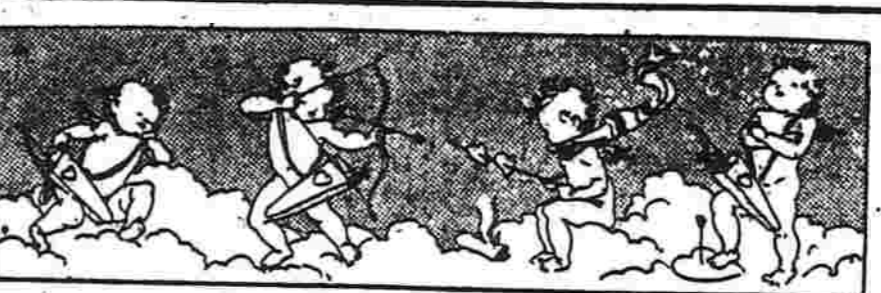

Such symptoms as undue sensitiveness and another symptom described by the psychologist known as negativism, or which you might call pure cussedness, are significant when a growing child is rebellious and opposes every possible suggestion. It frequently improves by neglect.

However, the child must not be caused for a moment to think that you do not love her, or that you are prejudiced in any way. The unstable child improves with a reasonable amount of loving attention.

The most satisfactory solution to a situation of this sort is the provision of an object in life. The object should be something that is constantly before her, and that she can see and touch. It should be something that is of value to her, and that she can use. It should be something that is of interest to her, and that she can enjoy. It should be something that is of use to her, and that she can appreciate.

WATCH GIRL IN TEENS FOR DISTURBING SIGNS. Parents Should Guide Their Adolescent Daughters Carefully Through Most Serious Periods of Their Youth.

As a parent, the greatest problems in the raising of your children will come, if it hasn't come already, during their adolescence.

Adolescence is the period in life between childhood and maturity. It includes the ages between 13 and 25, because many a person fails to finish his education before the age of 25.

Nowadays, the group of our public within these ages is in an extremely unsettled condition, because it is difficult for them to find employment and because freedom has been well nigh thrust upon them by changing attitudes in our civilization.

While this new freedom is relatively simple for the boy, it is exceedingly difficult for the girl.

There are three definite signs of unrest which you may observe in your growing daughter and which should act as a warning to you of a necessity for special attention.

The first of these signs is prolonged unhappiness. A healthy youngster with time for sleep, plenty of food, companionship and shelter should be happy and should get a lot of fun out of life.

If your daughter is unhappy, if a snub from a friend, minor illness or an argument at home arouses distress which persists for weeks, the girl needs special attention. Ordinarily such minor difficulties are followed by quick recovery in a few hours.

Another serious manifestation of instability is the desire for seclusiveness. It is not natural for young girls to wish to be constantly to themselves. Of course, some natures need more time to think than do others.

Such symptoms as undue sensitiveness and another symptom described by the psychologist known as negativism, or which you might call pure cussedness, are significant when a growing child is rebellious and opposes every possible suggestion.

However, the child must not be caused for a moment to think that you do not love her, or that you are prejudiced in any way. The unstable child improves with a reasonable amount of loving attention.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton. The world has turned away from truth. It isn't moralists alone who warn us but economists who announce that unless the tide of general dishonesty is stemmed we're in for it.

We have gone a long way from the primitive when "yes" was "yes" and "no" was "no." Right was one thing and wrong another. White and black with nothing between, no qualifying or dissembling or excusing.

Probably hard on those who were allowed no defense and who couldn't have spelled the words "extenuating circumstances."

It was a step up in civilization when men were first allowed to explain why they murdered or stole or cheated or ruined. It has been a whole staircase down, however, when law books by their very magnitude have stressed the "moving" side too strongly.

And that's where we are now. At least half way down to the bottom. Will we pull ourselves up by the bootstraps, turn around and go back to honesty? If we don't we are going to go boom with a bang. We're slipping.

Their using it as a popular saying, "Most people are honest." Today it is more apt to say that they are honest when it suits them. People no longer blink at a lie or a liar. They are complacent about their own and other people's fibs. They expect tricks and meet them with tricks. It is considered good business. It gets you there with everything.

Of course I have to bring in the children. My husband is to look at the future rather than the present. It is the children who are getting their social and moral training now for time ahead.

Age of Dishonesty Children are living today in an age of dishonesty unbeknownst to most people. It is in the air—in the street—in the home. They see the lie in the movie, unpunished, they read it in the papers in people's lives. And too they hear the fib at home where a parent feels justified in not sticking to facts or to truth.

There is, I think, the permissible lie. Let us not go into it too deeply. A lie may save a life, save a happiness or save a reason. That is up to a man's conscience. But when it happens that life becomes a wily subterfuge, one long untruth of existence, it is time to go back to the primitive and allow for little deceptions.

The one thing that was stressed in the old days, before all others, was honesty. For the most part the children who learned that lesson thoroughly have grown into honest men and women. No child ever quite forgets his early training.

To insist on honesty and to practice it in the home is the most practical need we have today. There is no other cure. We'll just have to make up our minds to that.

STUDENT IS KILLED Amherst, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Nelson P. Coffin, of Keene, N. H., an Amherst College sophomore, was killed and Robert G. McIlroy, of Pittsboro, Pa., a senior student, was injured soon after midnight this morning as the coupe Coffin was driving struck a telephone pole.

The accident occurred while the young men were traveling a winding road through the "Notch" between South Hadley and Amherst, reported to have been slippery to some places.

YANKS VICTORIOUS IN SPEED SKATING Defeat Crack Canadian Field In Two-Day, Meet—List Of The Winners.

Oconomowoc, Wis., Jan. 28. — (AP)—Four citizens of the United States today hold the speed skating championships of North America. Skating into the teeth of a bitter northwest gale which swept over Fowler Lake yesterday, they completely outclassed a crack Canadian field of contestants at a meet held at Keeney's Dairyman's team at the local alleys.

Boston Cubs Strengthen Hold on Lead in Can-Am

Boston, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The Boston Cubs today had strengthened their hold on first place in the Can-Am League of hockey by one point after a Sunday night tie with the Providence Reds.
The tie game, which went into overtime, was marked by four major penalties. Twenty-one penalties were called during the game, 12 on Boston and nine on Providence.
The Quebec Beavers remained a threatening second in the league standing. Providence continued in third place and the Philadelphia Arrows were fourth. New Haven stayed in the cellar.

HOLLAND QUILTS GUARDS, JOINS MASONS QUINTET

Local Court Star Feels He's Been On Bench Too Often And Decides To Become Member Of Rec League Team; With Champs Three Years.

Walter Holland

Walter "Ty" Holland, an outstanding member of the National Guards basketball team since its organization, has severed his connection with the town champions, it was learned from an authoritative source yesterday, and will give his services to Anasdi's Masons of the Rec Senior League for the balance of the current season.
Report Not Verified Attempts to verify the report, which was announced by "Bill" Dowd of the Masons, failed yesterday at Highland Park Club, promoter of the Rec League, and W. J. Clarke, coach of the Guards, were unavailable for statements. Dowd stated that Holland had already notified Manager Jimmy Neill of the Guards of his intention to quit the team immediately and cast his lot with the Masons, claiming that he has been kept on the bench so much this season that he felt his services were no longer of any use to the Guards.
Neill Non-Committal Neill, when interviewed by phone, curiously stated that "I don't know a thing about it, and I can't say whether he had been approached by Holland or not. Neill was plainly in a temper and after constant reiteration of the point that he didn't know a thing about it he hung up on the writer."

Champs In Slump

Holland's resignation from the Guards, which seems to have all the earmarks of the real thing, despite the lack of official verification, indicates that things are not at all well with the town court champions, who have found the going mighty tough this season, having compiled a record no better than seven victories and seven defeats to date.

MAPLE LEAFS IN SLUMP 1ST TIME THIS SEASON

Turn In Only One Victory In Four Starts During Week; Rangers And Detroit Have Best Records; Shore Returns To Boston.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. (Associated Press Sports Writer)
New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The first real slump the mighty Toronto Maple Leafs have run into all season on overshadows the feats of the winning teams in the National Hockey League during the past week even though that slump wasn't a very bad one.
The Leafs, who looked for a while as if they were out to beat Boston's famous 1929-30 record of losing only five games in a season, turned in only one victory in four starts during the week, losing two games by shutouts and playing one tie. This record stretched their losing streak through six games in which they have won only one and tied two.

Detroit, playing four games, won the first from Boston 3-1, then tied the next three. Their score were 1-1 against the New York Americans, 2-2 against the Montreal Canadiens last night. Although Boston lost both its games, the return of Shore last night transformed the club from an ordinary team that was losing a number of its games into a potentially dangerous organization that was unbeaten until the final goal changed.
The Chicago Blackhawks remained close behind the Rangers and Red Wings as they played and won two games. They turned back the Canadiens in an overtime struggle Thursday then went on to whittle Toronto last night. The Maroons closed the gap between second and third in the Canadian section by beating the New York Americans 2-1 in overtime Saturday night after a splitting decision with Toronto. This gave them a temporary tie with the Habituants, who whipped the Americans 6-2 but lost to Chicago. The Canadiens, however, went a point ahead again through last night's tie with Detroit.
The Americans, with one tie and two defeats, gained a point on the last-place Ottawa club.

Walter Holland, an outstanding member of the National Guards basketball team since its organization, has severed his connection with the town champions, it was learned from an authoritative source yesterday, and will give his services to Anasdi's Masons of the Rec Senior League for the balance of the current season.
Report Not Verified Attempts to verify the report, which was announced by "Bill" Dowd of the Masons, failed yesterday at Highland Park Club, promoter of the Rec League, and W. J. Clarke, coach of the Guards, were unavailable for statements. Dowd stated that Holland had already notified Manager Jimmy Neill of the Guards of his intention to quit the team immediately and cast his lot with the Masons, claiming that he has been kept on the bench so much this season that he felt his services were no longer of any use to the Guards.
Neill Non-Committal Neill, when interviewed by phone, curiously stated that "I don't know a thing about it, and I can't say whether he had been approached by Holland or not. Neill was plainly in a temper and after constant reiteration of the point that he didn't know a thing about it he hung up on the writer."
Champs In Slump Holland's resignation from the Guards, which seems to have all the earmarks of the real thing, despite the lack of official verification, indicates that things are not at all well with the town court champions, who have found the going mighty tough this season, having compiled a record no better than seven victories and seven defeats to date.

Y FIVE CHALKS UP 3RD STRAIGHT WIN Easily Turns Back 43rd Aviation Division Team By 45 To 22.

Saturday night at the local Y. M. C. A. the Y team easily defeated the 43rd Aviation Division team of Hartford, 45-22, in a game which was marked by football tactics. This game marked the third win in a row for the Y. The Y piled up a 9-2 lead in the first quarter and ended the half with a 22-12 lead.
The Y opened the second half with Stamonds and Spillane hoping one after another. Although every man got in the scoring column, Johnson and LaPointe were the big guns for the 43rd Division team. Next Saturday the Y will play the Hartford Emerald basketball team at the local Y. M. C. A.

Ex-Fordham Ace Unable To Withstand Closing Sprint Of Teammate In Race He Has Won Twice Before; Venzke In Brilliant Form.

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Gene Venzke's back in form, all pliers, and especially Glenn Cunningham, take note. The slim Pottstown, Pa., middle distance star who discovered in Cunningham a nemesis of the first order last year, signaled his return to top form at Boston Saturday night when he galloped off with the K. of C. mile of the Prout Memorial games.
His stride as smooth as silk, sprinting with all that famous "kick" that made him feared far and wide two years ago, his judgment of pace faultless again, Venzke outdistanced a crack field and gave Cunningham advance warning that to expect when the two hook up in the Wanamaker mile of the Millrose A. A. games in Madison Square Garden Saturday night.
Time was impressive.
Venzke's time, 4:20, was not particularly impressive when compared with his own indoor standard of 4:10, but that could be explained by an official's mistake in signaling for the final lap when in reality two laps remained. The error threw the whole field into confusion and the Penn star merely loped home to win, by 30 yards from Joe Mangan of Cornell with Glen Dawson of Tulane and Frank Crowley of Manhattan fourth. These three, with Venzke and Cunningham, will make up the field in the Wanamaker mile.
But for the mistake in the lap count, Venzke might have shaded 4:15 which on the smaller, more severely cut turns of the Boston Garden track, is the equivalent of 4:12 or so in the New York Garden. There is no possibility, but that Venzke has rounded into grand condition and that Cunningham, the Kansas dier who is rated by some experts as the greatest miler in the world, will need to be at his best to win.
Beaten By Sprint
Aside from Venzke's performance, the Boston meet was noteworthy principally for the defeat of Joe McCluskey, former Fordham ace, by John Follows of Wisconsin and Oxford, in the two mile run.
Although appearing to better advantage than his recent seasonal debut here, McCluskey could not withstand Follows' closing sprint and was beaten by 25 yards in 9:25.4.
Milton Sandler of New York, national six hundred meter champion, gave the Milwaukee runner something to think about when he won the Prout Memorial 600 in 1:15.4, beating among others Arnold Adams of Bates and Bernie McCaffery, formerly of Holy Cross. Sandler was denied a place in the Millrose 600 although both Adams and McCaffery will run along with Ivan Fung of Indiana and Glen Hardin of Louisiana State.
George Spitz, preparing for his duel with Walter Marty of California on Saturday night, cleared six feet six inches to win the high jump.
Summary:
Prout Memorial 600: Won by Milton Sandler, German American A. C., New York; second, Arnold Adams, Worcester; third, Harry Hoffman, New York University. Time, 1 min. 15.4 sec.
Six mile relay: Won by Springfield (Knight, Parks, Tilden, Bigelow); second, Brown; third, Tufts. Time, 3 min. 34 sec.
One mile relay: Won by Holy Cross (Mullin, Dubeal, Gallico); second, Harvard. Time, 3 min. 27.4 sec.
Two mile relay: Won by Holy Cross (Mullin, Dubeal, Gallico, Ring); second, Harvard. Time, 5 min. 37.4 sec.
Three mile relay: Won by Rhode Island State (Wilds, Arnold, Krauska, Hanley); second, Worcester Tech; third, Massachusetts State. Time, 3 min. 36 sec.
Four mile relay: Won by Holy Cross (Mullin, Dubeal, Gallico, Ring); second, Harvard. Time, 7 min. 32.4 sec.
Fifty yard final: Won by Gordon Cunningham, New Hampshire; second, Mike Origan, Brockton YMCA; third, Anthony Staro, Rhode Island State. Time, 35.2 sec.
Freshman mile relay: Won by Holy Cross (Glendon, Pease, Graham, Scanlon); second, Harvard. Time, 3 min. 32.4 sec.
Preparation school mile relay: Won by Huntington School, (Porter, King, Raymond, Cushman); second, Worcester Academy; third, St. John's Prep; fourth, Bridgton Academy. Time, 3 min. 34 sec.
Freshman mile relay: Won by Boston College (Burrill, Fleet, Hines, McKee); second, Northeastern; third, MIT. Twenty games were held and only one other many exchanges did either team go ahead and win. Manchester plays Hartford at Hartford next Saturday afternoon. The scores were: Rec, 14-18, 15-15, 15-9, and 15-12. Play- ing for the Hartford team were: Holmes, Van Wart, Kimball, Gourlie, Day, Powell, Athearn, Barons, Har- bison. For the Rec, Metcalf, Schu- bert, Mordavsky, Gibson, Wilkin- son, Waddell, and Babson.

LOPEZ AND HACK HOLDOUTS AGAIN

Little Cuban Thinks He Should Get More Money And So Does Wilson.

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Al Lopez and Hack Wilson, who gave the Brooklyn Dodgers several headaches last year before agreeing to terms, are holdouts again.
Lopez, peppery little Cuban catcher, has returned his contract unsig- ned because he did not think he had received as big an increase as his work in 1933 deserved. This marks the fourth year in succession that Lopez has sent his contract back to the team.
Wilson, who hopes to return to hitting form with the Houston National league ball, is trying to per- suade club officials he should re- ceive the same salary he was paid last year. The Dodgers can't see it that way at the moment.
Meanwhile, Manager Max Carey, now in the South, has wired the tract to Marty McManus, who was Dodgers front office to send a con- crete as manager of the Boston Red Sox during the winter. Mc- Manus will attempt to win a regular infield berth with the Dodgers.

Sport Chatter

Managers of local Junior basket- ball teams who wish to play at the School Street Gym should make up a list containing names of players and teams they are anxious to op- pose. Every consideration and effort will be made so that every local team will have an equal chance to oppose outside competition. Man- agers interested are requested to get in touch with Ben Clune at the School Street Recreation office.
The East Side and Ranger Bas- ketball teams will travel to Hart- ford tonight to oppose the Mitchell House teams at the Lyceum located on Lawrence street. The first game is scheduled to start at 7:30 p. m. sharp.
REC VOLLEY BALL TEAM IS VICTOR OVER HARTFORD
The Recreation Centers volley ball team, in a league match played at the local gym, won three out of five games from the Hartford Y. M. C. A. before an attendance of about 300 spectators. Every game was hard fought and only after many ex- changes did either team go ahead and win. Manchester plays Hart- ford at Hartford next Saturday af- ternoon. The scores were: Rec, 14-18, 15-15, 15-9, and 15-12. Play- ing for the Hartford team were: Holmes, Van Wart, Kimball, Gourlie, Day, Powell, Athearn, Barons, Har- bison. REC TRACK TEAM

WINS IN HARTFORD

First In Senior Division And Second In Whole County Y Meet.

The Manchester Rec track team, consisting entirely of Manchester High athletes, captured first place in the Senior Class and second in the whole meet without having an entry in another class in the Hartford County Y.M.C.A. meet at the Hopkins Street gym in Hartford Saturday. Plainville won first honors with 92 points, having entries in every division and Manchester had 38 points. The Manchester Y team finished seventh with 24 points.

Two Records were broken by the Rec entries, the 440 yard relay team by the local Y in 59.1 seconds, and the team consisting of Cude, Carpenter, Shedd and Rowse. In the half mile, the record was broken by all three Manchester runners, Earl Shedd being the winner in 2:17. Billy Murch was second in 2:19 and Diana third in 2:23.

In the twenty yard dash, three local entries tied for first place, Carpenter, Cude and Rowse. Cude took first place in the standing broad jump and Smith was third. Bellamy, jumping in competition for the first time, took fourth place in the running high jump.

Garrone won second place in the shot put and Rowse third.

In B Division

The Manchester Y team competed in the B Division of the Senior Class, Vittitz placing second in the standing broad jump, third in the 20 yard dash and the half mile run. Herrick was fourth in the 20 yard dash. The 440 yard relay was won by the local Y in 59.1 seconds. Donahue captured the half-mile run in 2:23.

Woman Is Killed

Mrs. Mary Augustine of Waterbury was killed and two other persons injured when the car in which they were riding Sunday night, struck the bridge over the Ten-Mile river on the Meriden-Waterbury highway. Stanley Bluck, 23, of Waterbury, owner of the car, is on the danger list in Meriden hospital.

A Connecticut Company bus struck a pedestrian and then crashed into a tree on the Springfield road near South Windsor Sunday night resulting in the death of Patrick Gibbon, 50, of the Pleasant Valley section of South Windsor, a passenger in the bus and also the pedestrian.

George W. Warner, 67, of New Milford, died in St. Vincent's hospital in Bridgeport Saturday night from injuries suffered when his car collided with another machine on the Bridgeport-Newtown road in Upper Stepney. Police said the motor car skidded on slippery pavement.

Elderly Man Struck

An unidentified elderly man was fatally injured Saturday night while crossing a street in Bridgeport, when he was struck by an automobile driven by David L. Martinez of Devon.

George W. Schneider, 50, a printer of Middletown, was one of the two suicide victims. He was found dead in the kitchen of his home in Middletown Sunday by his wife and sister, Mrs. Beattie Foley of Hartford and the medical examiner said it was suicide and that death was caused by illuminating gas poisoning. All gas jets in the room were open.

Worry over his health and business conditions, authorities said, caused Stephen G. Gerlach, Sr., 60, of Hartford, to take his own life by drinking poison Sunday. Police said his wife found him dead in his bed. Gerlach owned a nickel plating works in Hartford.

CWA AND TOWN JOBS

SUSPENDED TODAY

George H. Waddell Distributed Pay Checks Totalling $5,524 To Workers.

All work on CWA and town projects other than regular maintenance work, was called off this morning due to the sudden cold weather. George H. Waddell, CWA certifying officer distributed 420 checks totalling $5,524 at the town garage and municipal building.

The charity department received 2,000 pounds of smoked pork products Saturday and approximately 1,000 pounds have been distributed.

SUDDEN COLD SNAP

WIND ADDS TO BITTER COLD AS MERCURY DROPS TO ZERO WITHIN DOZEN HOURS.

A drop from 54 degrees above zero yesterday afternoon to zero at 8 o'clock this morning, caught several automobile owners unprotected and there was a big demand for garage services. The cold prevented the CWA workers from continuing their jobs as there has been a ruling that no longer will the men employ an out-of-door projects be sent to work when the weather is at 10 degrees above zero or lower. The men reported as usual, but they did not do any work.

There was a high wind blowing that seemed to add further to the cold and only those who seemed to find it necessary ventured outdoors. The change started along towards midnight and by 1 o'clock this morning the wind was cutting. In some of the buildings along Main street where they are occupied as stores and offices and where the fires had been banked over Sunday work on the part of the boiler tenders attempting to drive the heat through the chilled buildings.

Instead of going around and paying the CWA workers today as had been planned by Paymaster G. H. Waddell, the men not working in the most part, called at his office and secured the checks and had them cashed at the Manchester Trust Company, which was about the only place along Main street that seemed busy this morning.

SENSE and NONSENSE

FOUR OUT OF FIVE NOW HAVE IT, AND THE FIFTH WILL SOON BE GETTING IT FROM THE GOVERNMENT.

Surgeon—Why do you insist on taking only a local anesthetic?
Patient—Because I believe in patronizing home products.

It may be a hard winter, mates, but it could be worse. There's no law compelling us to read the Congressional Record regularly.

Woman—Where is the lemon cream that I used for my complexion?
Cook—Goodness, mum! I just made a lemon cream pie out of it.

WISE OR OTHERWISE! New shoes sometimes pinch the pocketbook. . . . Occasionally a good singer lets a note go to protest. . . . Real clarity doesn't employ a publicity promoter. . . . Cheap notoriety some times costs more than the other kind.

Every man's troubles are the worst—from his point of view. . . . If depression depresses you—you are licked. . . . Another thing that seems to be distributed very inefficiently is the weather. . . . Far too many present sorrows can be traced to past pleasures. . . . Some men have a good head for figures, but most have a better eye for them.

If you are not in love with your job—your job may get another lover. . . . You may have observed by now that conservation laws do not conserve game. . . . A checked career usually ends in a striped suit. . . . The pains in the neck that worry one the most are not the kind that drive you to the old family physician. . . . Life is a grindstone. It can either polish you up or grind you down. . . . Time heals all wounds, but the trouble is that time is so limited on this earth. . . . No man is truly good who is good only for the sake of praise. . . . Words are merely the blossoms; deeds are the fruit. . . . It is much easier to find out what is wrong than to find a remedy that will work. . . . The fellow to admire is the chap who goes ahead and does things that "can't be done."

THE THINGS THAT COUNT Not what we have, but what we use. Not what we see, but what we choose; These are the things that mar or bless The sum of human happiness. Not what we take, but what we give. Not as we pray, but as we live; These are the things that make for peace. Both now and after time shall cease. A man with more wealth than culture succeeded in having his son admitted to a famous private school. Once the father asked the boy how he was treated at school.

Son—Oh, not so bad, except that some of the teachers and fellows say I'm illiterate.
Father—WHAT? You'll take your birth certificate back with you and show them different.

Mrs. Daniel Griffin of Hilliard street is chairman of the weekly bridge, whist and setback party tonight in St. Bridget's parish hall, to which all will be welcome.

The Rangers drill team of the Tall Cedars of Lebanon will meet in the Masonic Temple at seven o'clock this evening.

Called From Ice Party HERE WHEN FATHER DIES
Two Hartford Women Are Notified By Broadcast System They Are Wanted At Home.

Friday night while the Center Springs costume party was in progress, Manchester police received a call from Hartford, asking if the local department would locate Miss Jane V. Egan and Mrs. Jess Baldwin, who had been visiting the local ice event.

William Krah, operator of the unit, took time out from the skating program to broadcast the report given the local police department. The women were located and left for their homes.

CENTER FIREMEN
IN 36TH DINNER
Members Of No. 2 And Guests Have Annual Get-Together Saturday.

Hose Company No. 2, of the South Manchester Fire department, better known as the Center Hose company, held its 36th annual banquet at the Hotel Sheridan Saturday night.

E. L. G. Hohenthal, treasurer of the fire district, was toastmaster and he called upon those seated at the head table for brief talks. These included: James O. McCaw, superintendent of the fire alarm system; Harry McCormick, foreman of Hose Company No. 4; Harry Schilde, captain of No. 1; Chief Albert Foy; Joseph Chambers, foreman of No. 2; R. J. Smith, secretary of the fire district; Dan Haggerty, first assistant chief; Robert McKinney, assistant foreman of No. 3; and Fred Finnegan, assistant foreman of No. 2.

Frank Barrett, of Hartford, one of the original members of No. 2 attended the dinner. An entertainment program was furnished by Foy, Peter, Victor and Bruno Dubaldo. Songs and games were enjoyed at the hose house.

SILVER LANE ACCIDENT
BRINGS 7 TO HOSPITAL
Auto Skids Sunday Morning And Crashes Between Two Trees—Driver Unlicensed.

Seven persons were injured, two thought seriously, about 7:30 a. m. Sunday when the automobile in which they were riding skidded near 1305 Silver Lane and crashed between two trees at the roadside, narrowly escaping striking head-on. All of the occupants of the car were treated at the Manchester Memorial hospital where four remained today as patients, pending x-ray examination.

Frank I. Johnson of 24 Kingston street, West Hartford, said by East Hartford police to have been the driver of the car, was arrested following an investigation and charged with operation of an automobile without a driver's license.

Five of the accident victims were members of one family. They were: Mrs. Madeline Champ, 80 Harwich street, Hartford, injuries to back and deep laceration over the right eye and possible fracture of the skull; Mrs. Rose Marie Champ, 58 Harwich street, injury to eye and possible fracture of the jaw and skull; Miss Mildred Champ, daughter of Mrs. Rose Marie Champ, head injuries and abrasions of the face; Peter Champ, 24, of 60 Harwich street, son of Mrs. Champ, injuries to elbow and leg.

Joseph Champ of 58 Harwich street, Gustav Johnson of 23 Elinger avenue, West Hartford, were treated for minor injuries and discharged.

Johnson told Policeman Vito A. Eushnell that his car, a sedan going west on Silver Lane, skidded, and that he lost control of the machine. X-ray examination will be made of those injured and patients at the local hospital today.

GOD AS A FACT, NOT A PROBLEM
Opens "Teaching Mission" At St. Mary's In Discourse On Belief.

The Very Reverend J. Arthur Glazier, Dean of St. Luke's Cathedral, Portland, Maine, officiated at the opening service of the Mission School being conducted this week in St. Mary's Episcopal church.

The theme of the sermon Sunday night was Belief in God. Speaking on this subject Dean Glazier referred to two texts: 1—Book of Genesis—Chapter 1—first verse: "In the beginning, God"; 2—Revelation 1:8—"I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty."

The preacher noted the fact that in the Holy Scripture the existence of God is taken for granted. God is there considered not as problem but as a fact.

There are two reasons why this is so; in the first place, it is natural to believe in God, to this the many religions of the world, living and dead, bear witness.

In the second place, it is necessary to believe in God, and the truth of this appears when men cease to believe in him; they are no longer able to discover any meaning in life nor any purpose for themselves.
