

DEMAND RETRACTION OF NEWSPAPER STORY

Greenwich, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Faculty members and students of the Greenwich High school demanded in a resolution adopted today that a Greenwich newspaper retract statements which it published concerning the relationship between male students and female teachers.

Spann, associate secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, as deploring in a speech before the Lions club the alleged tendency of students to request "dates" of female teachers.

Yesterday the paper published a story representing Gerald M. Morgan, assistant principal of the school as in accord with the statements attributed to Spann and quoting the assistant principal as saying that the relationship between teachers and students should be checked.

Spann and Morgan both denied making the statements at today's meeting in the school assembly.

The resolution demanded that in addition to retracting the statements, the paper apologize to Spann and Morgan as well as to the school and town.

J. Gerard Tobin, Greenwich lawyer, presided at the meeting. He is a member of the board of education and president of the High School Alumni Association.

SEEK NEW DIRECTOR Washington, Feb. 7.—(AP)—General Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, is carefully canvassing the field for an administrator of the newspaper code to succeed Ralph Pulitzer, who resigned.

The names of Ernest H. Gruening, an editor of Nation, and Marlin Pew of Editor and Publisher, have been presented to him along with others but Johnson has not indicated an early choice.

Meanwhile, the newspaper code remains unsigned on the desk of President Roosevelt.

'PENROD' IS DONE JUSTICE BY COMMUNITY GROUP

Young Gunnar Johnson Scores as Tarkington's Boy Hero—Play Repeats Tonight.

"Penrod" that delightful character of virile American boyhood which dominates many of Booth Tarkington's stories of youth, received a worthy interpretation last night at the hands of Gunnar Johnson, and added fresh laurels to his reputation as one of the best amateur actors in town.

The production was produced by the Community Players at Whittier Memorial Hall. Gunnar is a boy, fresh from High school. Every moment he was on the platform teemed with life—rapid speech and action, vivid imagination.

The role of Sam Williams, one of Penrod's friends, was played surprisingly well by William Ingraham, a 16 year old junior at Manchester High. He has taken a prominent part in Sock and Buskin dramatics.

The High school orchestra played another full house and there's no doubt in the performance. Mr. Potterton's work was exceptional last night. The same may be said of Miss Anne McAdams, "Penrod's" mother.

Juvenile parts were played by Betty Walworth, James Wiggin, Robert Egginton and Alex Dickson. Ray Merz, the villain, actor for Penrod's sister, was pestered by Penrod, who violently disliked him because he referred to him as a "tit-gentleman," and his boy chums, and their persistence in shadowing him finally results in his arrest and in glory for Penrod.

broke out at four points, close together.

The most serious disturbances were at the Ellysee Palace, the Madeleine church, three or four blocks away, and all the way from the church down the Rue Royale to the Place de la Concorde.

As yesterday, the struggle was fiercest in the Place de la Concorde. The crowd which police vainly had tried all day to keep out of the great square, swirled in, engulfing the guards by weight of numbers.

Mounted guards wheeled their horses savagely against the mob, but made no progress in the desperate efforts to clear the square.

Parades Organized Dusk fell, and suddenly, out of nowhere, impromptu parades materialized. Crowds marched down the boulevards.

Some were headed by bands. Some were headed by the tricolor of France.

Some of the paraders sang the Marseillaise—the national anthem of France—during the French Revolution after the fall of the Bastille.

Some of the paraders did not sing; they shouted: "Down with the murderers!" Police attempted to disperse some of the marching units and there were brief battles.

EARLY BULLETINS Paris, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Casualties in last night's rioting as listed officially today were: Dead—6 Civilians; 3 Republican Guards missing, whose bodies, the government believed, were thrown into the River Seine.

Injured—170 Civilians; 180 police; 190 mounted Republican Guards; 100 mobile guards. Unofficial estimates placed the death list at from 12 to 50.

Other statistics showed 14,000 police had battled 50,000 civilians until 4 a. m. The streets were deserted after that hour but at noon today crowds began reassembling.

The police were jeered on the boulevards and on the squares. There were frequent cries of: "Assassin!"

Police Re-enforced As the crowds grew more dense the police were re-enforced in a effort to carry out anti-assembly orders issued last night by Eugene Frot, minister of the interior.

Opposition deputies gathered in the Chamber lobby to discuss whether they should ask the Cabinet to resign despite the fact that the Chamber gave Edouard Daladier three votes of confidence yesterday.

A delegation of war veterans went to President Lebrun asking him that, for the country's sake, he induce Daladier to retire.

Daladier himself, it was said, considered calling a special Cabinet meeting this afternoon to discuss the situation and decide on the ministerial course of action.

A definite action to induce the Cabinet to resign was crystallized at a meeting of opposition deputies headed by Andre Tardieu former premier and Pierre Laval, another former premier.

They decided to ask the president of the Chamber and the president of the Senate to go to Lebrun and ask bluntly for Daladier's resignation.

Even as the political oppositionists met, the Bourse—French Stock Market—observed five minutes of silence for "those who were assassinated last night."

The phrase was written in chalk on the board of the exchange. Daladier Silent Daladier who sat in silence last night when angry deputies demanded from the floor of the Chamber that he give "the order to fire on the people," spent most of the night with President Lebrun.

He emerged just before dawn from the conference. He appeared stern and haggard. Then he gave forth the authority to re-enforce the 14,000 police on duty with more regiments of troops.

The legislators themselves were the object of bitter feeling by the crowds. Friends of Edouard Herriot, former premier, who is regarded as a possibility to return to that post, said both Royalists and Communists jostled him last night as he left the Chamber.

MAN FALLS ASLEEP; IS LOCKED IN SHOP

Bridgeport, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The telephone rang sharply on the desk of the Second Precinct police station last night.

"My name is Andy Hallak," a man's voice said "and I want to get out."

"Just tell the wife, you'll be with me and probably that will fix it," replied the police sergeant, leaping to a conclusion.

"No, that isn't it," I'm locked in the Bridgeport Dress Store on Stratford street and there's no one here, and I want to go home."

"What have you been doing in there all this time?" "Sleeping."

The sergeant looked at the clock which said it was 10:45 p. m. He told the man to hang up. It was later verified that Hallak had gone to the shop with two women friends yesterday.

The discussion and selection of dresses had bored him so he went off to a secluded corner and fell asleep.

HOSPITAL NOTES Mrs. Rebecca Chapman of 24 Park street, Mrs. Anna Swanson of Andover, Joseph Pastaleo of 208 School street and Mrs. Angelina Civello of 2 Oak street were admitted and Nunzio Fazzino of 42 Oak street and Miss Helen Jacobs of 37 Tanner street were discharged yesterday.

A daughter was born today to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Skinner of 103 Spruce street.

NEW LONDON, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Connecticut college will hold its annual midwinter formal dance Saturday in Knowlton Salon, and the affair will consist of a tea dance and a formal.

ABOUT TOWN

The Sewing circle of the Concordia Lutheran church will hold a business meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Women's Aid society of Emmanuel Lutheran church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. A full attendance is hoped for, to encourage the new officers.

The Welfare Sewing Circle of the American Legion Auxiliary will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Mary Broman of Hudson street. Auxiliary members who would like to join the Circle will be welcome at this first sewing meeting of the year.

Recreational facilities of the School Street Recreation Center will be given over to the young people of the Concordia Lutheran church tonight, and they will entertain the congregation.

Word was received here yesterday afternoon that Clifford Shea of Denning street, who was sent to the Farm for inebriates at Freston on January 18, had walked away from that institution. According to the police he has not been seen in this vicinity.

Mrs. Dudley A. Gaines, a member of the Hartford Better Films Council and also of the Juvenile Commission, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the local Better Films Council, held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Herbert B. House.

She gave an account of what the neighboring council is doing, and the useful work of the Daughters of the Revolution in classifying films as to their merits. Ten of the local council are already receiving their cards and making good use of them in their selection of motion pictures for themselves and their children.

Manager Weden of the J. W. Hale Company's store has returned from a business trip to New York City. Mrs. Agnes Charter, cozier buyer, is attending the exhibit of foundation garments in New York this week.

A large crowd is expected for the return engagement of Mickey Carr and his Canadian Capers at the weekly dance at the School street Reo tomorrow night. Dancing will be from 8 o'clock until midnight.

A meeting of the St. James's Alumni will be held at the St. James's hall tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. Important business will be transacted, after which a social hour will be held.

The local branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has set the date of Tuesday afternoon, February 20, for a show exhibit and tea to be given in the parlors of the Center Congregational church. Entertainers will be Mrs. Katherine Blair of Hartford, recently arrived from California, who will give readings, and Miss Miriam Watkins, who will sing a group of songs. The committee includes Mrs. William Rush, Mrs. C. Elmore Watkins and Mrs. Fayette B. Clarke. The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held yesterday at the South Methodist church, and the program was in memory of Frances Willard.

The regular monthly meeting of the Dorcas Society of the Emanuel Lutheran church will be held tonight at the home of Mrs. Arvid Gustafson of Coburn Road. The hostesses will be Miss Vivian and Miss Ebba Anderson.

A daughter, Claire Ann, was born this morning at the Hartford hospital to Mr. and Mrs. John Lamenzo of 30 Lewis street.

James Riley of Manchester Green was admitted at the Maples hospital on Oak street, last night and John Franklene was discharged.

CUT INTEREST ON ALL DEBTS, SAYS PRESIDENT

for the remainder of this fiscal year and for next year to be an elastic form so that he can use them for any needs deemed necessary, CWA or otherwise, depending upon conditions.

As to interest rates, it is the opinion of the President that by and large these are too high in relation to the debt structure.

He feels a reorganization of that structure is necessary. He believes if the creditors are willing to cut down on the interest charges there will be a greater opportunity for them to collect the principal owed to them.

Rates Too High Mr. Roosevelt's views, given off-hand today in response to inquiries at the regular press conference, clearly indicated he felt the normal prevailing rates were too high but he did not specify any particular rate as a maximum.

Attention was called that the government was paying less than one percent in some cases of its short term paper. The railroads were making a discussion of lowered interest rates.

The President feels the tremendous debt reorganization problem must be worked out either on a voluntary basis or through the new receivership legislation, by which a substantial majority of creditors can force all of the creditors to readjust the debt.

PRICES ON MARKET DROP AT OPENING

garded in most quarters as a natural technical setback after its recent sharp rise. Some market analysts had felt that a reaction was overdue.

U. S. Steel declined $2 to $37; New York Central more than $2 to close to $48; Consolidated Gas $1 to near $46; General Motors more than $1 to below $40; Allied Chemical nearly $3 to $182; United Aircraft $3.50 to below $32; American Telephone more than $1 to under $123.50.

The list showed slight recuperative power after midday, as bulls made a demonstration in the mining shares. McIntyre Porcupine and Dome Mines each rose $1, the former touching $42. Some of the silver issues also advanced. U. S. Smelting rising $4 to above $116.

WAPPING CARD PARTY

Thirty-two tables were filled with players at the card social given last evening at the new Wapping Community church house, and for its benefit. A number of Manchester card fans attended.

In bridge the high scores were made by Miss Irene Skinner and Francis Foster; second, Mrs. Lillian Skinner and Donald Harrison; third, Stephanie Tuskay and Frederick Smith.

In setback Miss Faith Collins and Harry Morrow were high. Mrs. Ruth Burt and Walter Billings, second, and Mrs. Lillian McIntosh and Harold Hart, low. In the children's setback section, Richard Peterson was high and Charlotte Smith, low. Hot coffee was served and hot sandwiches sold. The committee hopes to run their profit up over $30, and feel gratified at the results, considering the severity of the weather and counter attractions.

Weddings

Hart-Spillane Miss Lillian Spillane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Spillane of 31 Strickland street was married this morning to Francis J. Hart, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hart of Middletown. The ceremony was performed at 9 o'clock at St. Bridget's church. The nuptial high mass was celebrated by Rev. C. T. McCann. Miss Florence E. Spillane acted as bridesmaid, Mrs. Helen G. and Bernard J. Hart was best man for his brother.

The bride wore a gown of white Peau d'Ange lace with short train and cap of tulle. Her bridal bouquet was of white American Pride roses. The bridesmaid was attired in blush matinee crepe with black accessories and arm bouquet of Tallman roses.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast at the Hotel Bond, Hartford, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hart left on a brief wedding trip, the bride wearing a navy blue ensemble with accessories to match. Both young people have been entertained by their friends at pre-nuptial functions. The bride has been employed as a secretary by Cheney Brothers. Mr. Hart is a clerk at the U. S. post office and a member of Wehr's orchestra. The young couple will make their home at 299 Main street.

TEACHERS PLAN FIGHT FOR MORE STATE AID

Association's Executive Tells Meeting of Bill to Have State Pay Half School Costs.

The Connecticut State Teachers Association plans to place before the 1935 General Assembly a bill which will place one-half of the cost of the educational system on the state whereas under the present system the state only bears about 6 per cent of the cost.

This fact was made known at the meeting of the teachers from the towns of Tolland County who assembled in the auditorium of the George Sykes Memorial school on Tuesday afternoon to hear Francis E. Harrington, executive secretary of the Connecticut State Teachers Association.

The meeting was called to order about 4 o'clock by Miss Hattie E. Burr, local state director of the association. In addition to the grade school teachers of Vernon, the Rockville high school faculty was present as well as the teachers of Ellington, Tolland, South Windsor and Somers.

Secretary Harrington talked for about an hour on the Connecticut school system. He opened by dealing with "re-actors" in the school field who have had considerable influence during the past four years.

Mr. Harrington said the cost of education in Connecticut had increased ten times from 1907 to 1932 and since 1913 has increased four times.

Three elements he said, had about this increased cost—first, an enrichment of the school program; second, a greatly increased enrollment particularly in the high schools, and third, a decrease in the purchasing power of the dollar. He said that there was no control over the second and third elements but that during the past twenty-five years the first element, that of an enrichment in the school program, had increased only 100 per cent.

The increase in the salary of school teachers was given from an average salary in 1913 of $16 weekly to nearly double that amount today. He said, however, that "teachers are no more than adequately paid." The speaker told how there were about one million school teachers in the country teaching the 30,000,000 school children.

Mr. Harrington spoke of the small group who feel they receive no direct benefits in the present educational system. In this group he mentioned the business people, the rich people who use private schools and those who have no children to send to school.

He enlarged on the responsibility of an employer of labor to his employees and insisted that proper school privileges must be afforded the children of these employees. "Economy is a catchword for votes," said Mr. Harrington, referring to those seeking office who urge a reduction in all school expenditures.

A third group of evil doers, he said, were the "blank followers" of the second group, which include members of taxpayers associations, etc.

"The whole tax system has proven inadequate as it now exists," said Mr. Harrington in explaining how "the towns and communities had to bear the burden of the cost of education. He rapped the class owning tax exempt bonds while the group which only owned real estate was heavily taxed.

The speaker said the towns were bearing 90 per cent of the costs of education through taxes on real estate and that the state was only paying 6 per cent.

Mr. Harrington explained in detail the proposed 1935 Legislation, to be known as the "Equalization Bill of Education" under which each town is to receive a definite state grant.

"The State Teachers Association exists as a professional organization first for the proper education of the children and secondly for personal welfare of the teachers," said Mr. Harrington.

Referring to the State Teachers Retirement Fund he said it went along in the form of "retirement insurance" until two Legislatures ago, when the state set up a fund to pay only the retirements due at that time. "The state has not lived up to its own law," Mr. Harrington said, and the State Teachers Association is going to put it on a sound basis relative to this retirement law.

"The possibility of a 'Credit Union' being formed by the Teachers Association designed to help teachers keep out of the hands of small loan companies, was discussed by Mr. Harrington.

"We are going to ask for permissive legislation to set up a small banking union which will bring about definite benefits for the school teachers of Connecticut," said Mr. Harrington.

He said this idea was started some time ago but that its "strongest opponent in the past was the chairman of the state banking commission at one time and later the bank commissioner."

A fourth destructive group he said, was "those teachers who glory in the isolation of the profession," and he mentioned the teachers who did not care to see any changes of any kind. In legislative matters for the benefit of the teachers, Mr. Harrington said, the 10,543 members of the Connecticut State Teachers Association must act as a unit. "Such unit" can have much influence in the "very definite changes in the school system," which is soon to be brought about.

The speaker told how the $2 yearly dues in the State Teachers Association is "good insurance" for the teachers in maintaining their rights for if they belonged to labor unions it would be much more costly.

In closing, Mr. Harrington told how the next State Teachers Association Convention is to have general sessions in the morning with special interest sessions in the afternoon, where the different groups may break up to discuss topics of particular interest. He said there might be a three days convention.

Prize Speaking
The Alumni Association of the Rockville high school has again offered prizes for a prize speaking contest, as has been done in former years. The teams were announced on Tuesday as follows:
"The Alumni Contest shall be open to all undergraduates of the school, with the exception of the first prize winner of any year, who shall not be eligible to enter another contest.

"The First Trials shall be held by a committee of teachers of the school on Tuesday, February 13, 1934.

"The best eight speakers selected in these trials shall compete in the Final Contest, which shall be held on March 23, 1934.

"Positions on the program shall be determined by lot.

"The first prize shall be ten dollars.
"The second prize shall be five dollars.
"The third prize shall be two and one-half dollars.

"The judges shall be three in number, and shall be appointed by the president of the Alumni Association.

"The following points shall be considered in determining the prize winners: Enunciation, delivery, expression, gesture, presence, subject matter and preparation.

"James Galavin, president of the Rockville High School Alumni Association."

The only student excluded by the terms is Leon Kupert, of the class of 1935, who won the prize speaking contest in 1933.

Sled, Auto Collide
Miss Dorothy Batz, of Ellington avenue, is in the Rockville City hospital as the result of a head-on collision between a "dough-ripper" and an automobile in a coasting accident on Prospect street, Tuesday evening.

The accident happened about 8:30 o'clock when the bob-sled with Elmer Batz steering, struck the automobile driven by Anthony Randall of Broad Brook.

Miss Batz was taken to the Rockville City hospital where it was found she had a dislocated right hip and a gash on a leg. Her condition was not reported as serious.

Randall is the coach of the basketball team from Broad Brook and was bringing his team to Rockville at the time. Superintendent Officer Stanley Kulo investigated the accident. No arrests were made.

John Robitaille
John Robitaille, 80, son of the late Clement and Diana Robitaille, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Herbert Krause of 4 Gaynor Place at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning. Death was caused by kidney trouble and followed an acute illness of over a week.

Mr. Robitaille was born in Canada, and would have been 81 years of age on March 12. He came to the United States as a child and lived in Rockville for the past five years, coming here from Stafford Springs.

He is survived by two sisters, three brothers, five daughters, Mrs. Olive Krause of Rockville, Mrs. Maud Young of Stafford Springs, Mrs. E. Dwyer of Nasoville, R. I., Mrs. Frank Young of Providence, R. I., and Mrs. Jennie Rondeau of Manitoba, Canada; three sons, Walter Robitaille of Pascoag, R. I., and Peter Robitaille of East Brookfield, Mass. There are 23 grand children and nine great grandchildren.

He was a member of St. Bernard's Catholic church.

The funeral will be held from his late home at 4 Gaynor Place on Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock and from St. Bernard's Catholic church at 9 o'clock. Rev. George T. Sinnott, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Bernard's cemetery.

Young Guard Meeting
A "reorganization meeting" of the Jefferson Club, the Young-Guard Democratic element of Rockville, is to be held on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in their rooms in the Kuhnly Block. President Charles McCarthy is to preside.

This is expected to be one of the most important meetings in the history of the club.

Briefs
Mrs. Charles Phelps and daughter, Miss Dorothy Phelps, left yesterday for a motor trip to Florida.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the 38th annual fair of the Rockville Fire Department which opens in the town hall on Thursday evening and continues until Saturday evening.

A benefit whist and bridge party was held last evening at the Elks Club for the benefit of St. Bernard's Catholic church under the sponsorship of the Children of Mary Sodality.

A meeting of the Girls' Reserves of the Union Congregational church was held last evening in the church social rooms at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Daisy Holmes of East Main street is entertaining Mrs. Florence Jacobs of Manchester this week at her home.

A short meeting of the American Legion was held last evening in the G. A. R. rooms.

A meeting of the Rockville Merchants Association was held last evening in the Police Court room, Memorial Building, at which time the topic "Credits" was discussed. President William Preuss presided at the meeting.

Burpee Post, Woman's Relief Corps will hold a meeting in the G. A. R. rooms this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Connors are enjoying a vacation in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Past Exalted Rulers Night will be observed by Rockville Lodge, No. 1359, E. P. O. Elks, on Thursday evening.

A meeting of the Ladies Catholic Benevolent Association was held last evening in the Ladies of Columbus Hall.

TOP-CLASS PROGRAM FOR POLICE BENEFIT

Forty-five Persons, All from Upper Levels of Vaudeville, to Aid in Unusual Show.

The program for the Police Benefit show to be held next Sunday afternoon at the State Theater, booked by Police Captain Herman Schendel and Manager George C. Hoover of the State, is of a type that has seldom if ever ruled in the makeup of a vaudeville entertainment in this town. The bill is not only lavish in the number of acts and in the number of persons appearing but was selected from the top of the heap.

O'Neil and Marners' comedy act, for instance, has been a frequent headline attraction on the Keith circuit for years, while Bob Brandies, the master of ceremonies, is quite in the Will Rogers class.

Yvonne Victor and Company, three women and two men, constitute a novelty act of the first order. Then there are Ledy and Smith, a man and a woman; Mardo and Bennett (man and woman) in a comedy sketch; the Five Salties, all men, whose acrobatic comedy act is a whole show in itself; and Bertrand, Ralston and Lawrence (two women and a man) who come from the upper levels of vaudeville entertainment.

Nelson Maples and his Levitan orchestra, a stage feature, fourteen strong, come here straight from Keith's Boston theater. Bill Jones' Capitol Theater orchestra, from Hartford, will be in the pit.

In all 45 people will take part in the entertainment for which the State Theater's entire staff are contributing their services gratis.

The box office will open at 1:30, the performance beginning at 2 o'clock. The final curtain will fall not later than 4:30 o'clock. Tickets are on sale at the theater box office now.

U. S. EXPENDITURES OVER TWO BILLION

Washington, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Government expenditures on this fiscal year's emergency recovery costs today passed the two billion dollar mark.

This leaves more than $5,000,000 to be spent between now and June 30 to equal budget estimates of $7,523,000,000 for emergency expenditures in the 1934 fiscal year.

The exact figure of emergency expenditures on February 5, the latest available, was $2,009,876,070 of which $1,056,050,289 was by the reconstruction corporation.

Total Expenditures
Total expenditures for the fiscal year, including routine government costs, amounted to $3,702,485,851. The huge profit on devaluation of the gold dollar left a surplus on the Treasury books of $842,413,426, but experts still expect the government to borrow nine billion between now and the end of June.

That would change today's surplus to a more than $7,000,000,000 deficit.

Did You Know This?
A nationally known man speaking recently over the radio on a coast-to-coast hook-up comparing the national income of the United States of the years 1928 and 1933 said that in 1933, the worst business year in our history, the amount was, in round figures, 40 billions of dollars. Statistics show that a greater percentage of that amount was saved last year than in the "peak" year 1928 when the national income, in round figures, was 80 billions of dollars.

FLAMES DESTROY ANCIENT CHURCH

Shelter Island Edifice Burns Because There Was Little Water Nearby.

New York, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Fire destroyed the Shelter Island Presbyterian church last night. Help from the mainland was unavailable because of heavy ice which has kept a ferry inactive for a week. There had been no fire in the heating plant of the church since Sunday, the janitor said. According to Walter Dawson, of Shelter Island Heights, the fire was discovered at 8:30 p. m., and had gained such headway when firemen arrived that they concentrated on saving the parsonage which adjoins the church. Firemen of the Dering Harbor, Shelter Island Heights and Shelter Island companies answered the alarm. There is no water system and as the church was located near the center of the island water was obtained from cisterns. The fire had burned itself out at 11 p. m. An Old Edifice Dawson was uncertain about the age of the church but said it was prominent landmark and was erected many years ago. It was of frame construction and was one of three churches on the island. Rev. George J. Kilgus has been pastor of the church for about 10 years, Dawson said. Shelter Island lies at the end of Long Island about 106 miles from New York City. It is located between Orient and Montauk Points, furthestmost tips of Long Island. The year around population is about 1,000 which is augmented by hundreds in the summer.

COUNTY APPLE GROWERS TO HEAR SPECIALIST

William L. Harris, assistant county agent, of the Hartford County Farm Bureau, has announced that Dr. J. K. Shaw, well-known tree authority and originator of the present system of certification of apple varieties will address local growers at a public meeting in the County Court House in Hartford, at 8 p. m. February 15. Dr. Shaw's subject will be "The Importance of Tree Vigor and Ways of Measuring It."

The members of Hartford County Fruit Committee are: Louis Varni, Glastonbury, chairman; Roy Gulley, South Windsor; Harold Rogers, Southington; Guido, Nainati, Glastonbury; Harry Grisvold, Wethersfield; S. L. Root Farmington; Clinton Roberts, Bristol; Miles Shepard, Simsbury; Miles Messenger, North Canton.

NAZIS TAKE OVER CITY OF DANZIG

State Commissioner to Rule Over Important Free Port, Report Says.

Free City of Danzig, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Danzig went Nazi today when the Nazi-dominated Senate appointed a state commissioner to take over the functions of the City Council. The procedure was much like that followed in the city of Berlin when Adolf Hitler's Nazis seized power in the Reich. At that time, finding the City Council with its then anti-Nazi majority was a stumbling block to Hitler's will in the German capital, the Prussian government appointed a state commissioner to run the city.

Eggert's Duties Today Hans Eggert was the state commissioner of Danzig and his duties are officially defined as: "Making those decisions which otherwise would devolve upon the City Council. The Danzig Council is not composed of members who guarantee the execution of the necessary measures for compassing the desires of the state and the people."

The Free City of Danzig is politically important because of its location at the "bottle neck" of Pomerania, the narrow strip of land by which Poland divides Prussia.

TO DEMONSTRATE MEANS OF TESTING POULTRY

County Wide Meeting to Be Held at Alvah Russell's Farm in Glastonbury.

Methods of testing chicks for pullorum disease will be discussed and demonstrated at a county-wide poultry meeting held under the auspices of the Farm Bureau at the County building in Hartford, Tuesday, February 13, at 1:30 p. m., according to an announcement by Alvah A. Russell, Glastonbury member of the Farm Bureau Poultry Committee. Dr. Rettger of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station discovered this disease back in 1919 and has developed a method of testing fowl and eliminating the affected birds that has gained recognition throughout the United States. This is the so-called long-tube method. During recent years a method commonly known as the quick test method has been developed and frequent requests come to leading poultrymen and Farm Bureau agents for information on the effectiveness of this method. Dr. Wayne L. Plastryge of the Connecticut State College will demonstrate and discuss both of these methods of testing birds.

NEW FEDERAL APPOINTMENT

Hartford, Feb. 7.—(AP)—William S. Meany, state director of the National Emergency Council announced last night that August Brauer, formerly with the United States Department of Commerce, has been appointed office manager for the NEC in Connecticut. The announcement came soon after Meany returned from a trip to Washington.

AMUSEMENTS WOMEN OF THE WORLD IN PICTURE, "MANDALAY"

Beautiful and Exotic Types Throng Rangoon Cafe Where Most Scenes Are Taken.

All the nationalities of Europe and Asia—with a sprinkling of Polynesia for good luck—are represented among the hundred or more beautiful and exotic women who throng the Polyglot Rangoon cafe in which take place some of the most dramatic scenes in the first National picture, "Mandalay," which comes to the State theater on Sunday, with Kay Francis, Ricardo Cortez, Warner Oland and Lyle Talbot in the featured roles. A dozen or more Chinese and Japanese girls are waitresses and attendants. The troupe of professional dancers who execute the stately, languorous Burmese dances for the edification of the guests are Malay. Among the women who constitute the chief attraction at Nick's place are English, French, Scotch, Swedish, Russian, German, Italian and Spanish girls. Every European country is represented among the planters, business men, brokers, naval officers and diplomatic representatives who occupy the tables. There are Sikhs, Hindus, Afghans, Siamese and Chinese strolling among the tables. And there are a few Americans. Though their nationality has no direct bearing on the story, the birthplace of the principal actors in the sequence adds to the foreign atmosphere of the scene. Warner Oland, who plays Nick, the owner of the cafe, was born in Sweden. Rafaela Ottiano, The Countess, is a native of Genoa, Italy. Ricardo Cortez was born in Vienna, Austria. Kay Francis, the star, is the only native American of the four. "Mandalay" is a thrilling romance of a beautiful Russian exile who is sold in virtual slavery to an Oriental resort keeper by the man she loves. Her escape and pursuit form some of the most exciting episodes imaginable. Michael Curtiz directed the picture from the screen play by Austin Parker and Charles Kenyon, based on the story by Paul Hervey Fox.

BANKERS WARNED
 To many people Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, is no Moses and no Solomon. Many frozen out depositors of frozen banks are too painfully aware of the pawnbroker spirit in which the RFC gobbled up the cream of the assets of embarrassed banks as security for its dubiously helpful loans to put a great deal of stock in Mr. Jones as a booster for freer bank credit. So when the RFC head lectured the New York state bankers at the mid-winter meeting of their state association Monday night, admonishing them to quit sitting on their money like a hen on a clutch, neither the bankers nor the public might have been expected to take his lecture too seriously if it were not for one thing. Mr. Jones and the President have been in conference several times lately.

In the light of this latter fact it may be imagined that the New York bankers wiggled their ears a bit when, speaking of the President, he said:

"There is no ally that he needs quite so much to achieve and maintain recovery as the banker. In fact, as I see it, if the banker fails to grasp his opportunity and to meet his responsibility, there can be but one alternative—government lending."

The question therefore follows, will our banking be continued in private hands, or of necessity be supplanted by the government? The answer is with you—the banker.

Two or three times Mr. Jones dealt out this kind of a dose which, in the circumstances, can hardly be interpreted as anything but a message from the President to the bankers of the country to this effect—"Either you be real bankers and serve the business of the nation or the United States will go into the banking business with a bang—and run its bank without profit or the desire for profit."

It doesn't take a Moses to carry a message like that. Mr. Jones did his job very well.

Health and Diet Advice
 By Dr. Frank McCoy

TREATMENT OF "SICK" GALL BLADDER

My many years of experience in private practice have shown me that most cases of "sick" gall bladder can be helped by fasting and dieting. Frequently the fast will reduce any catarrhal inflammation and is undoubtedly beneficial in those cases where the duct or tube leading from the gall bladder has become clogged with mucus. The fast brings relief because it reduces the mucus and swelling in the duct and thus opens up again the channel through which the bile reaches the intestines. In addition, the fast may lessen the inflammation on the inside of the gall bladder. The change from general ill-health seen when the organ is inflamed to that of good health which follows when the gall bladder starts to do its work, is truly remarkable.

The best plan is to use the short fast at the start of the treatment. You may use orange juice, tomato juice or grapefruit juice. During the time you are on the fast, be sure to take one enema daily. After the fast, use a restricted diet, such as that given in my Cleansing Diet. If you wish to get this article, write to me in care of this newspaper, following the directions for questions and answers as given at the heading or end of the column. Enclose one large, self-addressed stamped envelope and I will be glad to send you the Cleansing Diet which tells you how to take a short fast and what you are to eat afterwards.

You are to avoid rich, spiced foods, sugar, starches, foods fried in grease, jams and desserts. The drinking of plenty of water during the days is beneficial, and it is all right for you to take 6 or 8 glasses per day. The patient will recover more rapidly if constipation is strictly avoided.

While it is very often helpful to secure massage treatments over the entire abdomen with local massage over the liver and gall bladder region, such massage must be omitted or given very lightly during such time as any acute pain is noticeable. As a means of relief for the dull ache over the gall bladder, I suggest that you apply heat in some form. A good way to do this is to wring a towel out of hot water, fold, and place next to the liver area. Change in 2 minutes to a fresh hot towel.

Twice a day you are to take a warm sponge bath which will assist in promoting better skin elimination. In addition you are to begin exercising each day as soon as you come off the fast. I strongly urge that you begin slowly and increase the amount of exercise as your strength permits.

To aid in removing the thickened bile from the gall bladder I advise the following method:—At the time you are on the fast, on one evening before going to bed you are to take 4 ounces of olive oil thoroughly mixed with 4 ounces of grapefruit juice. This large amount of olive oil will stimulate the flow of bile. Some of the patient will note lumps of bile which have combined with the oil to form a soapy substance. When many of these greenish lumps appear, this is a good indication as it shows that the bile is flowing more freely. Many patients make the mistake of thinking each lump is a gall stone, such is not the case, although, occasionally a small hard stone will be found in the middle of one of these soapy lumps.

Naturally, those cases of chronic inflammation which are in the first stages will respond most readily, but I have seen many cases of long standing in which the patient was able to greatly improve the gall bladder condition through following this method of treatment.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington
 BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 The Evening Herald Washington Correspondent.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Every so often the New Deal gets itself crossed up in a lot of barbed wire. Imagine the farm recovery generally, sworn by law to work for higher prices, forced to seek lower prices for the farmer's own good. Don't tell anybody, but that is what's happening right now in the AAA with regard to milk.

Nearly all the AAA's tremendous capacity for heavy thinking lately has been directed at the milk problem. In normal years farmers sell around two billion dollars' worth of milk. Milk sales provide 20 to 25 per cent of all farm income, which makes milk three times as important as wheat.

Now that AAA has stopped fighting within itself, the production, legal, consumer, and other sections are able to go into a huddle with a common aim, to make dealers pay farmers a good price and compete among themselves for the retail business.

How the heavy thinking works out is exemplified when applied to the Chicago situation. Some 18,000 farmers in that area recently pulled a big milk strike and forced a price agreement for $1.85 per hundred pounds.

But the AAA economists insist $1.70 is the economically justified price. Any more will attract a flood of milk from the butter and cheese outlets, breaking the agreed price.

The tough part comes in selling this idea to farmers. AAA will try.

Two Billions to Spend.
 Ever dream that someone handed you two billion dollars to spend at your discretion? It's hard to dream that much money. But it has come true for that celebrated gentleman farmer, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau.

The Roosevelt dollar revaluation bill places a $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund "under the exclusive control" of the secretary, whose decisions are to be final and not subject to review by anybody.

Your Nose Knows.
 The only reliable, simple test of good whiskey is smelling, says G. F. Beyer, chief Treasury chemist and liquor tester. But, he adds, you have to be a good sniffer. Many noses can't tell the difference between pure aged whiskey and mixtures of diluted alcohol.

U. S. Bill Collector.
 The New Deal may do something about the billions of dollars in unpaid small bills—owed to merchants, doctors, lawyers and the like.

Official conferences secretly are discussing feasibility of RFC financing for community credit corporations, the advances to be used by merchants for restocking their shelves and the unpaid bills to serve as security.

Independent merchants who have carried customers to the limit now holler blue murder because the latter have deserted them for cash stores.

The proposed credit corporations would pool the unpaid accounts after scaling them down to the extent deemed advisable. They would receive RFC funds for distribution to merchants in proportion to their interest in the pool and would undertake to collect the accounts.

Postal officials of this administration won't send the records down to the furnace to be burned, boasts First Assistant Postmaster General William W. Howes.

"In the new postoffice building now being completed," he says, "each assistant P. M. G. has his own fireplace. And the P. M. G. has two dreplacers."

explain to the bearded men that it was all an unhappy practical joke, and that there were no jobs to be had....

Well, most of the victims left, grumbling, but there were two spade-bearded fellows who refused to go. Just as they were about to undergo forcible eviction somebody discovered that they were a couple of prominent visiting foreigners who had been invited to the concert.

A Trio Reunited / One of Broadway's choice motels

these days is that "only God can make a trio." But in the case of Dal Calkins, Jay Fallon and Ed MacDowell it's more truth than paraphrase.... Years ago they sang together in the choir of St. Nicholas boy soprano. As their voices changed they had to drop out. Recently they met by chance in New York, got to talking about old times, and just for the fun of it tried an old hymn tune. It was pretty good, especially since Calkins had become a bass, Fallon a baritone, and MacDowell a tenor. So they worked up an act, and now they're in vaudeville.

Speaking of Home Towns—A funny thing about New Yorkers is the way they divide their loyalties between the biggest town and their old home towns. For example, a poli conducted backstage at the Folies reveals that of the principals only Fannie Brice and Willie and Eugene Howard were born here. The rest of them solemnly avowed that they hailed from "the finest place on earth." No, not the same place. Everett Marshall came from Worcester, Mass.; Jase Frohman from St. Louis; Buddy and Vilma Ebbson from Chicago, Ill.; Fred Mamms from Chicago, Kan.; Brice Hitchens from Joplin, Mo.; and so on. Jacques Cartier wasn't so loyal, because he was born on a boat on route from India. Oliver Wakefield, the English comedian, came from Zululand, and likes it better here.

PARIS RUMPUS

Apparently what is happening in Paris right now is precisely what has occurred there a good many times before in bygone days. The populace has become thoroughly dissatisfied with the quality of the representation the people have in the French Parliament, have lost confidence in the integrity of the personnel of their government and propose to do something about it. But just what, the indignant citizens haven't wanted to decide before going off on their muscle and beginning to smash things. So far as can be discovered by those on the scene whose business it is to find out, only one small group has any definite plan—the royalists, who are egging on the discontent in hope that they can, through a coup, bring about the downfall of the republic.

This would seem to be a rather futile hope, so far as permanent effect is concerned. But hardly anything is impossible in France, for a few days, anyhow, and if the millrun of the people should happen to get the notion that setting up a dummy throne for a brief period might serve well enough as a means of getting rid of the present ruling crowd of politicians, there's no telling but what they might attempt a king in a jiffy—with their tongues in their cheeks—fully prepared to boot him out again in another jiffy the minute a strong popular leadership developed.

The French know from their own country's experiences that there is one thing of which they can be reasonably sure when they start a revolution: which is that the group or crowd or class or person who was sitting in the driver's seat at the start of the row always loses his seat. Whoever may come to the top in the sum of revolution it is never "the same old gang." Another thing they have learned is that, lacking the revolution, it is extremely liable to be the same old gang up there, whip in hand, even if the color of its coat may be changed. In France, when you really and truly want a genuine change, a good way to get it is to get a gun and start shooting in the Place de la Concorde.

If enough other people start shooting too you're practically sure of a change of some sort, though who will pop out at the top of the pile nobody on earth can guess. And a change—any sort so long as it is complete—is what the people of France, or a great many of them at all events, seem to be quite set on at the moment.

That yesterday's tragically fatal conflict was on a larger and more desperate scale than any since the days of the Commune is merely part of the bigger and bolder picture of twentieth century ways and methods. We kill and seriously injure many more people with our automobiles, every day of the year, than yesterday paid the price for this pseudo-revolution in the streets of Paris. If peace is so increasingly fatal it is not to be wondered at that rioting takes a bigger toll. In contrast with 1870 it is the machine gun against the muzzle loader.

There is probably considerable danger of exaggerating the seriousness of the danger to the French republic. Aside from the relatively small chance of some sort of temporary upset, royalist or other, there is little reason to believe that even the form of government there is in any great peril.

But somehow or other, by more fighting or by merely scaring the daylight out of the rascals, France will probably succeed in what her people are trying to do—get rid of the gang. That done, she is capable of settling down to her own conservative habit of life for an-

BACKDOWN

Five Connecticut garment manufacturers, under legal advice that the NRA wasn't as big as it thought it was, obtained an injunction restraining National Recovery Administration officials from imposing penalties on them for failure to comply with the provisions of the garment codes. Now, having discovered at great expense that the NRA really is quite a bit bigger than they had been led to believe, they have withdrawn their injunction proceedings and are going to comply with the requirements which, only a few days ago, they declared impossible. They are doing all this, their lawyers set forth in their notice of withdrawal, from "patriotic" motives.

What actually happened was the discovery that while it might have taken an appeal to the Supreme Court to establish the NRA's power to initiate active prosecutions against the manufacturers, it took no such determination to make possible the negative penalty of withholding Blue Eagle labels for the producers' goods; and, probably much to their surprise, the manufacturers discovered that they could sell no garments that did not bear the NRA label. The storekeepers and the people would have nothing to do with goods manufactured in defiance of the code agreements.

The revolt of these Connecticut manufacturers—who are, of course, Connecticut manufacturers in nothing but geographical location of quite recent acquisition—was widely heralded in those quarters where the Recovery Act is detested. It is perhaps too much to expect that its outcome will receive equal publicity in the same circles.

TOILERS AND SITTERS

According to the theories of CWA Administrator H. L. Hopkins, it seems to be better to give a CWA job to a citizen with one dependent, leaving an alien with a dozen dependents to sit by his kitchen stove and let the community supply him and his tribe with shelter, fuel, food, and clothing, than to let the alien get out and dig in the cold while the citizen and his one dependent, at far less cost to the community, is supported on the local dole. This may be better logic than Mr. Hopkins' other notion that a citizen with one dependent, because he is accustomed to work with a paint brush, must receive $1.20 an hour on his CWA job while an artist with a large family, who is willing to labor with pick or shovel, shall receive 50 cents an hour—but it does not seem to be remarkably good logic at that.

So far as we can see, the only point where the citizen gains, as compared with the alien, in receiving preference in CWA jobs, is in the single factor of self respect.

IN NEW YORK
 By PAUL HARRISON

New York, Feb. 7.—Meanderings: Another "first" for Mrs. Roosevelt. She's the first First Lady to attend a theatrical premiere on Broadway. Went to the "Echob" with Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, sat unnoticed in a box until the second act intermission, was annoyed by the rude entrance of an autograph hound, but seemed thrilled when the audience rose and applauded her....

Fame for West! Her effigy soon will stand in London's W. museum, among those of famous and infamous villains and sirens and such. Paramount is shipping over one of her sequin gowns to make it authentic....

Tallulah Bankhead, recovered from her illness but still interestingly pale and wearing the longest bob in town, is choosing a play.... That illness, by the way, not only brought gray hairs to Guthrie McClintic, but long hair to the men in the cast of "Jezebel".... The play being a piece about Louisiana in 1850, and Mr. McClintic being a stickler for realism, he ordered the actors to grow real sideburns and a few mustaches. Then the show would be postponed, hoping for the recovery of Miss Bankhead, and there'd be a rumpus for the barbers' shops. Her relapses and the men's shavings alternated about half a dozen times, until finally the star's role was given to Miriam Hopkins. A few more weeks and the show closed.

Joke With Whiskers That's reminiscent show, of the trick played by some undiscovered villain on the Julliard School of Music. An advertisement in the daily paper requested men with beards to meet in the main hall of the school on a certain afternoon, and when the time came the place looked like the House of David. Worst of all, it happened in the afternoon of a concert and the audience began arriving just as the school officials were trying to

14 Years Ago---

The "Self-Serve" Grocery Was First Introduced to Manchester--We're Celebrating With Great Anniversary Gifts!

FOURTEEN years ago the "Self-Serve" Grocery was first introduced to the public of Manchester. In spite of the advice left to us by the founder of our store, Justin W. Hale, "not to go into the grocery business", we went ahead with the planning and opening of this giant "Self-Serve" Grocery Department. This new idea of self-serve shopping was first introduced into New England at this time. Today it is recognized as one of the leading food departments in Manchester, yes, in Connecticut.

From the beginning, the "Self-Serve" idea of food shopping became a big "hit." During the fourteen years we have been serving the public of Manchester, approximately 3,296,000 customers have purchased in this modern, airy food department. The self-serve way of food shopping has become a weekly, and even a daily habit with many of our residents. Our shelves are stocked with 6,000 domestic and foreign goods of highest quality—at popular prices.

In making our FOURTEENTH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION outstanding as a big event of 1934, we've worked hard and long in preparing these values for our customers. Here are just a representative few (many not advertised). We wish to prove to our old customers and new ones, too, that "IT PAYS TO WAIT ON YOURSELF."

STANDARD PRICES NOW IN EFFECT ON ALL USED CARS

Big Prices for Your Old Cars Now a Thing of the Past Under NRA Code.

When you go shopping for a new automobile, don't expect to put one over on your dealer by getting a big price for your used car. The new NRA dealers' code does away with that sort of bargaining.

Take It or Leave It That's all there's to it—take it or leave it. Bargaining with him for a higher figure won't do you a bit of good, because any other dealer to whom you take your car will do exactly the same thing.

That mysterious book of facts tells the dealers of the United States the highest prices which they may quote for cars of nearly 10,000 classifications. They may go lower, but never above these figures. If they do go above the maximum, and they're discovered, a serious fine and perhaps loss of the Blue Eagle will be their penalty.

This book of facts which dealers will pay for used cars is a compilation of the National Automobile Dealers' Association operating as the administrative authority of the Automobile Dealers' Code. Its headquarters is at St. Louis, and F. W. A. Vesper is its president.

The figures are derived from reports of the dealers in a score of prices at which he sold used cars in the previous 90 days, besides a full description of each automobile according to make, year, style, engine number, and serial number.

All these figures are averaged, and the lowest 25 per cent of the prices are omitted arbitrarily. These include prices mostly of junk cars and, if they were not rejected, would drag down the average quotation for each automobile far below what may be a fair rating.

These averages are the maximum prices listed in the new dealers' guide book, at which the dealers may take in used cars. But these maximum prices, also, are subject to one of three deductions, depending on the age of your old car. These deductions cover selling, handling, and reconditioning charges.

A deduction of 5 per cent from the average allowance is made on the current series of the preceding series models 10 per cent on the series next preceding these, and 15 per cent on all earlier models.

For instance, today if your car is a 1934 or 1933 model, you would get the maximum allowance less 5 per cent if a 1932 model, 10 per cent less and if it is older, 15 per cent less.

Age Is What Counts These arbitrary figures are unfair, especially in those cases where a motorist hasn't driven his car a great deal, but has kept it a considerable time.

And don't think you can get away with any subterfuge in this allowance business. In Michigan, recently, three dealers offered a prospective customer the same allowance for his car—mind, they could have varied their quotations by going below the maximum price listed in the guide book, although most dealers offer the maximum and let it go at that.

Of the three dealers, however, one offered to throw in a free polishing and waxing job, for which he should have charged $4. Discovered, the dealer has to give up a substantial part of his profit and promise to live up to the code hereafter.

Can Go Farther Afield On the other hand, you still might succeed in getting a new car at a lower price than that quoted in your district, by the simple means of buying it in another district, where the delivered prices of the car is less.

DEVELOP PICTURES ON HANDKERCHIEFS

Only Two Inexpensive Chemicals Needed to Complete Process.

How would you like to have a handkerchief, scarf or even a shirt with a picture of yourself, parents or sweetheart printed on the clothing? You can have all the things mentioned without much trouble or expense.

Only two chemicals are needed to make these pictures—potassium ferricyanide and ferric ammonium citrate. These chemicals can be purchased in any drug store for a very small sum compared to the enjoyment you will get out of them in the future.

First we make solutions of the chemicals by dissolving four ounces of each chemical in four fluid ounces of water. You have now two solutions which can be kept indefinitely in dark bottles. Now we shall combine equal parts of each chemical in such quantity as may be needed. When this is done, we shall get a solution apple-green in color.

To print the picture we place the negative of any film upon the handkerchief, which now is dark in color, and cover the rest of it with a cardboard. This done we place the apparatus in the rays of the sun and leave it in this position for an hour, at least. To get better results we should cover the negative with a clean glass. Lastly to develop we rinse the handkerchief in cold water for about fifteen minutes.

After one gets adept at making these pictures, he can make it a business of printing pictures for his friends and neighbors.

Things I Like To Do

On icy mornings, how I long to snuggle under the fleecy blankets! Oh, how pleasant to turn over and near my doorway on ones more. How wonderful if no one called me to get up, and if the windows would automatically close themselves!

I love to go skating on frosty nights when the stars are twinkling in the dark sky. Across a clear expanse of glassy ice I whiz but, alas! someone always gets in the way, so I'm seeing stars that have never graced the heavens.

Often, as I sit in a certain class, I long to toss my book out of the window in midsummer, while the rest of the family is enjoying the breeze under the leafiest of the maple trees. Not alone is the heat of the kitchen intolerable, but the thought of the conversation carried on, out of my hearing, fairly makes my blood boil.

What could be more horrible than being stuck at a sink in a stuffy kitchen, in midsummer, while the rest of the family is enjoying the breeze under the leafiest of the maple trees. Not alone is the heat of the kitchen intolerable, but the thought of the conversation carried on, out of my hearing, fairly makes my blood boil.

WEEK-END BRINGS COURT DEFEATS

M. H. S. Quintet Loses Twice; East Hartford, New Britain Win.

Manchester High school's basketball team had a strenuous weekend and a rather sad one, playing two games in each of which they lost. The first game was played on Friday, February 2, with East Hartford at the East Hartford High school. The second game was played at Manchester Armory against New Britain High school.

The East Hartford game was an exceptionally hard and disappointing one for the boys in Red, as they not only lost by a discouraging score of 34-15, but also lost their only chance in the Central Connecticut Interscholastic League. It was not due to lack of fight, however, because the Manchester boys fought from start to finish but without receiving a break. Manchester started off with good spirit and had an equal chance at the time of the half. In the last half, however, East Hartford spurred ahead with a force and determination that soon ended the chances of M. H. S. for the evening.

The second team's game was quite the opposite of the first, although they were also defeated by the close score of 36-33, after a battle over the margin. Although East Hartford started off by a five point lead at the first quarter, Manchester returned the fight by making the score almost equal at the half. The last quarter was a thriller however, as it was but a matter of minutes to see whose basket would count. Manchester was not the lucky one and so bowed to East Hartford for both the first and second quarters.

Manchester High also had some poor luck in their Saturday's game with New Britain, but they gave their many fans and spectators a better, more interesting and thrilling fight. Although not as large as the previous week with Bristol High game, the crowd which packed the Manchester Armory was well over the thousand mark, and almost all of the spectators were rooting for the Manchester boys to redeem their Friday's game by giving New Britain a defeat. Manchester failed in winning but the fighting spirit put up was outstanding. The game was extremely close from the beginning and New Britain was leading by only two points at the half. The next quarter M. H. S. fought like Trojans to put New Britain two points behind at the end of the first quarter. She was successful at this out was overcome by a push by New Britain which made her again two points behind with a score of 27-25.

The second game, as usual was equally close and thrilling with the score of 19-13, in New Britain's favor.

Did you ever stop to think of all the interesting ruins that can be found in Manchester? There are many old houses and other things that are interesting to look at, as well as to find out the history. One particular ruin is the old glass works.

Just after the American Revolution, Mr. Pitkin was the only man that was granted permission to build a glass factory. The factory started manufacturing in the year 1783. Glass was in great demand for making bottles. These bottles were used for the exportation of cider to the West Indies. As sand, the chief raw product necessary for the making of bottles, was scarce, it had to be imported from New Jersey. Transportation was very poor, so it was necessary to put the sand on barges and transport it thus up the Connecticut River. From there it was brought up to Manchester Green by ox-carts. After twenty-five years, the factory proved to be unprofitable, but it still continued working. Finally the operations were stopped completely and the factory left to ruin on the old Pitkin farm on the corner of Parker and Porter streets.

As the new generation did not bother with the ruins, they were beginning to disappear quickly. The lot was used for many things, such as cow pastures and gardens, but now it is being properly taken care of by the townspeople. They have done all they could to make it into a spot of beauty. The land has been leveled off, the grass cut, all bushes removed.

After the New Britain game someone suggested that the five men who had played the game so well without any signs of fatigue ought to be called "Iron men."

"Red" Sheldon, "Putt" Salmonds and I went to see "Chucky" Smith, the boy who was the diminutive little spark plug of the team before he was injured. "Chucky" lives life of languid ease, lying on the davenport in a warm parlor with his crutches beside him and the radio going full blast. "Chucky" said he would be back in school Monday, and "Putt" and "Chucky" discussed plans for forming a crutch club, the necessary requirements for entrance being past or present use of crutches.

Captain Salmonds said they would win a game Friday. Asked as to who they were playing, he said "Not Hartford—West Hartford hasn't won a game all year."

There are rumors that athletic relations between New Britain and Manchester may be discontinued, the argument at the Armory Saturday night being the cause. Can't see in that sufficient reason for which to break relationship.

STUDENT INTERVIEWS EMPLOYEE AT JAIL

202 Men and 14 Women in Hartford County Jail Now—Place Kept Sanitary—Inmates Well Cared For.

Upon being asked the number of prisoners in the Hartford County Jail at the present time, an employee stated that there are two hundred and seventeen, fourteen of whom are women. Twelve men and two women are employed to take charge of these prisoners.

The prisoners arise at six o'clock and eat breakfast at six-thirty. Work begins at eight o'clock. They are, at the present time, cleaning up the former hair factory, as must discontinue this industry, a new law has been passed stating that no prison-made goods can be shipped out of the state. Formerly they were making fine furniture which was shipped all over the United States and also to Cuba. They will now do to occupy the time after this clean-up is finished is undecided. It is thought that the school and recreation program will be started.

The prisoner eats dinner at 11:45 and returns to work at 1:00 o'clock. Speaking of eating, this employee said that the prisoners received some of the following foods throughout a week: coffee, tea, bread, corn beef and cabbage, potatoes, beans, fish, hash and soup.

The prisoners eat supper at 4:45 and return to their cells, where they spend their time reading, smoking, or doing puzzles.

Every Sunday morning they have church for one hour. The minister comes from the various churches of Hartford to preach.

In case of illness there is a small hospital with twelve beds, in addition this, is a drug room. This is operated by a registered druggist. There are two doctors and a dentist.

The place on a whole is very clean and sanitary. The prisoners have baths every week and bed linen is also changed once a week. Saturday is clean-up day and windows, halls, and cells, are cleaned very thoroughly.

ITALIAN GARDEN MOTIF FOR PROM

Soft Lights and Sweet Music Idea Influences Decorations.

An Italian garden, soft shaded lights, seraphic music, beautiful pastel gowns accentuated by severely black tuxedos—a superb setting for the Junior Promenade.

The decorating committee has worked diligently to procure a fitting background for the occasion, and under the guidance of Miss Harriet Condon, has a splendid plan under way.

MANCHESTER CONTAINS INTERESTING RUINS

Old Pitkin Glass Factory Started in 1783—Now Being Well Cared For.

Did you ever stop to think of all the interesting ruins that can be found in Manchester? There are many old houses and other things that are interesting to look at, as well as to find out the history. One particular ruin is the old glass works.

PERSONAL CONTACT LACKING IN N. Y. U.

Miss Blanche Feder Tells of Disadvantages of Big College.

Life in New York University, according to Miss Blanche Feder, former physical education teacher of Manchester High, who called in Manchester on Monday, is very different from life in the ordinary college of today.

There is no campus and the classes are very large, running from 35 to 180 pupils in one room. There are no recitations, all classes being lecture classes. If there is any lecture in the mind of the student, this may be put to the professor, however. The enrollment runs well over 25,000 pupils and with such a number it is almost impossible to establish personal contact between teacher and student. At the first of the year the student is directed to a large gym, three times the size of the large one in the Rec. Each department is represented by a professor, here, and the students are allowed to go to these professors and make out their curriculum cards. There are anywhere from 3 to 6 cards to be filled out for one course, one goes to the main office, one to the bursar's, one to the professor's, and so on. Each class meets for two hours each week.

In order to receive a Bachelor of Science in Education, for which Miss Feder is working, it is necessary to earn 128 points. Miss Feder already has 95 of these. The remarkable thing about the marking system there is that numerical marks are not given. Either a P or Inc is given, which indicate whether the course was passed or incomplete. This system has very visible disadvantages, for it is no incentive to the more intelligent student to work. As long as they pass, it does not matter.

Everything is done on a very large scale, there. There is one large building entirely devoted to professors; each professor has a secretary and a private office in which to transact his business.

EDITORIAL A CALL TO ARMS!

Three years ago I entered M. H. S. with my mind filled with the many opportunities offered me in either sports or literary works. I picture myself skating at a Center parties held at this school. Above all, I looked forward to the time when the school would conduct the first rally.

In a short time, I found out that all that had been told me was true to a certain extent. In fact I am more than satisfied with the things that the school has done for me, but I waited a long time before that I gave it is about time that another rally should be held.

In all, I know of but one such affair that was conducted in assembly. And I also know that all who participated in that event enjoyed it and wished that another would be held in the near future. But those wishes and hopes have not been satisfied as yet. This I am sure of—man are still nursing that wish, deep in their hearts, for it is a time when all can come together and show their real school spirit.

In other schools a rally is more or less a tradition and habit and that can be seen by the organized rooting section at all games. Can't we make it a tradition and habit? We can start now and I dare say that the body of students of our school will cheer and out-cheer any school in this state—Bristol! Also with such an organized body we could "cheer on" our fighting sportsmen to victory in any sports event in which they participated. So fellow-students let's organize! Let's have a rally!

WELLESLEY CLUB GIVES RESTORATION DRAMA

Miss Charlotte Rubinow Takes Part in Stylized "All for Love" a Dryden Play.

Charlotte Rubinow, '31, had the part of Iras, an attendant of Cleopatra, in the first form production in America of Dryden's "All for Love," presented by members of the class in play production at Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass.

This play "All for Love," written in 1678, is an adaptation of Shakespeare's "Anthony and Cleopatra," and was played at Wellesley in the Restoration manner. Restoration is a clean stage, the play is set in the style of the day, carrying it to the time or place of the play's setting. According to the "Wellesley College News" all details of production, costuming, scenery and properties, harmonized with the mode of acting and scenery of the play at the time it was written.

FRENCH CALENDARS ENLIVEN INTEREST

In order to enliven the somewhat uninteresting study of French for the beginners, Miss Low assigned last week to her three sophomore classes the special project of making calendars, recording the months and days of the week in French.

The calendars that were submitted to her were colorfully illustrated by pictures representing the distinct months, and under these pictures descriptive sentences were written in French.

Mr. Getchell, of the English department, was operated on for appendicitis Sunday night at the Willimantic hospital. He is reported to be reacting satisfactorily.

EDITORIAL A CALL TO ARMS!

Three years ago I entered M. H. S. with my mind filled with the many opportunities offered me in either sports or literary works. I picture myself skating at a Center parties held at this school. Above all, I looked forward to the time when the school would conduct the first rally.

In a short time, I found out that all that had been told me was true to a certain extent. In fact I am more than satisfied with the things that the school has done for me, but I waited a long time before that I gave it is about time that another rally should be held.

In all, I know of but one such affair that was conducted in assembly. And I also know that all who participated in that event enjoyed it and wished that another would be held in the near future. But those wishes and hopes have not been satisfied as yet. This I am sure of—man are still nursing that wish, deep in their hearts, for it is a time when all can come together and show their real school spirit.

STUDENT INTERVIEWS EMPLOYEE AT JAIL

202 Men and 14 Women in Hartford County Jail Now—Place Kept Sanitary—Inmates Well Cared For.

Upon being asked the number of prisoners in the Hartford County Jail at the present time, an employee stated that there are two hundred and seventeen, fourteen of whom are women. Twelve men and two women are employed to take charge of these prisoners.

The prisoners arise at six o'clock and eat breakfast at six-thirty. Work begins at eight o'clock. They are, at the present time, cleaning up the former hair factory, as must discontinue this industry, a new law has been passed stating that no prison-made goods can be shipped out of the state. Formerly they were making fine furniture which was shipped all over the United States and also to Cuba. They will now do to occupy the time after this clean-up is finished is undecided. It is thought that the school and recreation program will be started.

The prisoner eats dinner at 11:45 and returns to work at 1:00 o'clock. Speaking of eating, this employee said that the prisoners received some of the following foods throughout a week: coffee, tea, bread, corn beef and cabbage, potatoes, beans, fish, hash and soup.

The prisoners eat supper at 4:45 and return to their cells, where they spend their time reading, smoking, or doing puzzles.

Every Sunday morning they have church for one hour. The minister comes from the various churches of Hartford to preach.

In case of illness there is a small hospital with twelve beds, in addition this, is a drug room. This is operated by a registered druggist. There are two doctors and a dentist.

The place on a whole is very clean and sanitary. The prisoners have baths every week and bed linen is also changed once a week. Saturday is clean-up day and windows, halls, and cells, are cleaned very thoroughly.

ITALIAN GARDEN MOTIF FOR PROM

Soft Lights and Sweet Music Idea Influences Decorations.

An Italian garden, soft shaded lights, seraphic music, beautiful pastel gowns accentuated by severely black tuxedos—a superb setting for the Junior Promenade.

The decorating committee has worked diligently to procure a fitting background for the occasion, and under the guidance of Miss Harriet Condon, has a splendid plan under way.

MANCHESTER CONTAINS INTERESTING RUINS

Old Pitkin Glass Factory Started in 1783—Now Being Well Cared For.

Did you ever stop to think of all the interesting ruins that can be found in Manchester? There are many old houses and other things that are interesting to look at, as well as to find out the history. One particular ruin is the old glass works.

Just after the American Revolution, Mr. Pitkin was the only man that was granted permission to build a glass factory. The factory started manufacturing in the year 1783. Glass was in great demand for making bottles. These bottles were used for the exportation of cider to the West Indies. As sand, the chief raw product necessary for the making of bottles, was scarce, it had to be imported from New Jersey. Transportation was very poor, so it was necessary to put the sand on barges and transport it thus up the Connecticut River. From there it was brought up to Manchester Green by ox-carts. After twenty-five years, the factory proved to be unprofitable, but it still continued working. Finally the operations were stopped completely and the factory left to ruin on the old Pitkin farm on the corner of Parker and Porter streets.

As the new generation did not bother with the ruins, they were beginning to disappear quickly. The lot was used for many things, such as cow pastures and gardens, but now it is being properly taken care of by the townspeople. They have done all they could to make it into a spot of beauty. The land has been leveled off, the grass cut, all bushes removed.

THE BARGAIN HOUND

Hint to Prom Trotters—don't let the lines of your new gown put you into such raptures that you'll forget your coffee. Call 7484, the Lily Beauty Parlor immediately, and make your appointment.

Two new silhouettes have evolved, one stressing the streamline trend with all fullness massed at the back showing rounded curves, the other with the front movement balanced identically at the back. Bust emphasis continues with waistlines appearing correspondingly smaller. (You don't s'pose those wasp waist affairs will ever come back do you?)

Poor doggie sick? Kitty not feeling well? Dr. Daniel's Dog and Cat Remedies at The Weldon Drug Company will cure them in no time.

Maple Syrup Cake. This cake is ideal for a party and particularly good served with shredded fresh pineapple or a pineapple ice.

One and one-fourth cups maple syrup, 6 eggs, 1 cup of pastry flour, 3-4 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1-8 teaspoon salt.

Separate yolks from whites of eggs. Beat whites until stiff using a wire whisk. While beating the whites cook the syrup until a firm ball is formed when a few drops are tried in cold water or 238 degrees F. on a candy thermometer. Slowly add the cooked syrup to the beaten whites, beating constantly.

Wouldn't you like a nice quiet place to entertain your bridge club next time—on a morning when you could have a delicious luncheon served at one o'clock, and then play bridge the rest of the afternoon. You'll find the Centennial Dining Room is the place. Dial 3130 and make your reservation.

Helen Mack wears a knitted suit of bright coral, right in the middle of winter when everyone is garbed in somber browns and blacks, and the success in making her look so smart at the same time. She is a vivid brunette and likes to set off her coloring with bright tones. Her favorite shades are brilliant blue, flame red and coral.

Take this notion into your head and don't forget it because it's not a mere notion—it's a sale! Every article on Hale's notion counter is selling at sale price. One of the exceptional bargains is in men's wear. Smith's soft single cuffs, are 25 cents a pair, double reversible cuffs, 35 cents, and soft collars for neck-band shirts are only 21 cents each.

The South Manchester Library announces Scribner's Radio Music Library which includes eight volumes of music, classic, modern and light compositions, excerpts from grand opera, light opera and ballet, standard and modern dance music, and sacred and favorite songs.

A sale that includes every article in the store! Prices that are even below cost! That's what's going on at the Popular Dress shop tomorrow.

If your homemade French dressing isn't as palatable as you'd like to have it, try making it this way: Put two slices of garlic in the bottom of a large glass jar. Add one-quarter cup of sugar, one-half teaspoon of salt, generous dashes of pepper and paprika, one-quarter cup of olive oil and one-half cup of vinegar. Allow the mixture to stand for at least twenty-four hours, strain and serve. Using vinegar from pickles will give your French dressing a nice flavor.

After the first time you'll always want the new "Wondersoft". It's the new Kotex with the tapered, flattened ends, selling in the new light blue and navy blue for 17 cents at Hale's.

Supple or stiff silks are the outstanding fabrics used for evening apparel. Nearly every dress has its special coat or capelet. Yesterday's short jacket of velvet are replaced by knee length, voluminous sleeved wraps in wool, lame or stiff taffetas. The use of wool for evening wraps is something quite different. Long, velvet circular capes have attached hoods.

If your Prom gown is to be absolutely the "last word" you'll want a corsage that is individual as well as artistic. I know you'll rave over one made by Milkowski. They are moderately priced at $1.50 up.

To go on about flowers—have you heard that floral fashion artists have discovered some new and interesting arrangements for corsages? Now my fair sports lady who goes skiing may look very smart with a corsage of pine needles, bayberries and tiny spruce combs—and very lovely they are too.

Prints again—and still again! Smart things that make you feel right gay just to look at them. You'll find them at the Wilrose Shop—just in from New York. You'll hardly believe they're only $3.95 and $5.85.

Remember to mention the Bargain Hound. Many thankful "woofs" to you.

BEETHOVENS, G CLEFS TO SING AT AUTO SHOW

Big Choral Bodies to Form Unusual Feature—Two Orchestras Engaged.

An outstanding feature of the Automobile and Home Appliance Show, to be presented at the State Armory from next Wednesday through Saturday, will be the appearance of the Beethoven and G Clef Clubs, Manchester's finest musical organizations, under the direction of Helge E. Pearson.

It was announced today, coincident with the announcement that two ten piece orchestras will furnish music at the show, that the Beethoven Glee Club will present a concert on the opening evening of the show, from 7 to 8:30 o'clock. The club, having a strength of sixty voices, will be seated in the balcony of the Armory, giving patrons of the show an opportunity to both see and hear the services of another male chorus on Friday evening.

Wednesday and Thursday evenings, from 7 to 10:30 o'clock, Otto Neubauer and his Diplomats, a ten-piece orchestra that broadcasts weekly from Station WDRG, will furnish the musical entertainment. Friday and Saturday evenings during the same hours, Art McKay's ten-piece aggregation will play. The committee is also planning several other musical features which will be announced soon.

To advertise the show, an automobile parade is being planned for Saturday afternoon of this week, in which all local dealers are expected to participate.

Students of local schools are being given a splendid opportunity to view the latest achievements in the automotive field, through the courtesy of the show committee, which has distributed free admission tickets to the pupils of the grade schools, Manchester High school, and the Trade School. From 1 to 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, 300 students of the Trade School will be guests at the show and from 3:30 to 6 o'clock the same day, more than a thousand high school students will be guests at the Armory. Thursday afternoon, pupils of other local schools will be guests.

POLISH NATIONAL AID TO NOTE ANNIVERSARY

The Ladies Aid Society of the Polish National church on Golway street will celebrate its fourth anniversary Sunday, February 11, at Turin Hall, North street. A program beginning at 8 o'clock will feature a one act comedy, "The Delayed Engagement," and a variety of vocal and instrumental numbers and dances by people of the parish, both old and young. Rev. Father Letas will speak and the senior choir will sing two numbers, the junior choir a number of songs under the direction of Miss Olive Skraback. Following the entertainment which will be of about two hours' duration, supper will be served in the basement by Mrs. Eleanor Rubacha and Mrs. Katherine Bednarz, assisted by the members of the Ladies Aid Society. The Blue Diamond orchestra will play at intervals during the program and at the supper hour. Tickets for the affair are in the hands of the society members.

TO OPEN DRY CLEANING BUSINESS IN TOWN

Reginald West, With Leading Firm Here, Decides to Venture for Himself.

Reginald West, well known young man in Manchester, will open his own dry cleaning and dyeing business at 185 Center street Friday. Mr. West was graduated from the local high school with the class of 1930 and since his graduation has been employed with one of the leading dyeing and cleaning firms in town. Mr. West feels that this training will help him in conducting his own business to the best advantage of his customers. Although he will offer service in all branches of cleaning and dyeing he will specialize in women's wear. The new business will be known as The West Cleaning Co.

YD MEMBERS CALLED TO A SPECIAL MEETING

A special meeting of all former members of the 26th (Yankee Division) will be held tomorrow evening in the Army and Navy Club at 7:30 o'clock. The purpose of this meeting will be to talk over the question of affiliating with the Y-D Veterans' Association, also to make final arrangements for the annual banquet and election of officers which will be held at Oso's cottage, Bolton, Saturday night. Any Y-D veteran who plans to attend the banquet must have his ticket by Thursday night.

Nurses' Convention. Hartford, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The opening session of Connecticut State Nurses' Association meeting which is being held at the Hotel Bond here today, Thursday and Friday, was attended by about 50 nurses. CWA BOARD O. K.'S 2 SEWER PROJECTS

Approved Plan to Drain Storm Water—Birch Mt. Job to Be Started.

The CWA board at its regular weekly meeting today approved project for storm water sewers on Summit and Washington streets, and on Henry street, designed to make possible the elimination of poor road grades on Summit street south of Henry, impossible without the storm sewer construction. The project approved calls for 12 inch pipe extending 340 feet from the junction of Summit and Hollister street, east on Washington street. The cost of labor will be $1,122 and of materials $748, a total of $1,870. The board also approved 515 feet of 10 inch sewer construction on Henry street, from Summit street to Harlan street, at a labor cost of $411, with a materials cost of $274.

Birch Mountain at Once. It was reported at the meeting that the work on Brookfield street will be completed tomorrow night and the gang employed on that job, 30 men, will be transferred to the Birch Mountain Road project, which will be begun at once.

The Manchester Green job, work on which was started last week, will be rushed through to completion with two gangs, each working three days a week.

It was reported that a shipment of a whole wheat cereal has been received by the charity department and distribution will begin Saturday.

Work on all CWA jobs was called off this morning due to the cold.

200 VOICES WILL SING IN LUTHERAN CONCERT

15 Choirs of Hartford District to Send Members for Choral Event Sunday.

The Hartford District Lutheran League chorus, consisting of more than 200 voices from 15 choirs throughout the state, will make its first appearance here in several years in a concert at the Emanuel Lutheran church next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The chorus is directed by Helge E. Pearson, organist and choirmaster of the Emanuel Lutheran church.

Admission will be free and the general public is invited to attend. A collection will be taken. Rev. K. E. Erickson, pastor of the church, will deliver a sermon. The Hartford District chorus gives a concert each winter in one of the cities of the district and always draws a large crowd. A rehearsal will be held at the church at 4 o'clock and the local choir will serve refreshments at six.

This will be the only appearance of the chorus before joining with the choruses of the Worcester, Providence and Boston Districts in the annual concert presented by more than 600 voices at the Christian Conference, to be held this year at the First Lutheran church of Worcester, April 7 and 8.

MERCURY TRIES BUT FAILS TO SET NEW LOW

Temperature Here 16 Below at 4 a. m. Against 18 in December, but Brainard Sets a Mark.

The thermometer set no record for the winter in Manchester last night but it made a good try. The December record, according to the journal kept at the Mutual Heating Plant, was 18 below. This morning at 4 o'clock it reached 16 below. Not long after that the mercury began to rise slowly and by 6 o'clock it was climbing gaily. At 5:45 it stood at 4 below and an hour after it had reached 3 above and was still going up. At noon today thermometers about the center of the town registered around 22 degrees above—which was milder than for several days.

NEW LOW AT BRAINARD. Hartford, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The lowest government weather reading this winter in Hartford was taken at 4 o'clock this morning by the department of commerce station at Brainard Field—13 degrees below zero.

Since 7 a. m. on February 1, the mercury in all thermometers has never risen beyond 22 degrees above zero. Such a continuous frigid spell goes back to 1930 to find an equal, when a sub-freezing period was experienced from January 19 to 27 inclusively.

Similar periods were recorded in 1928 from January 18 to 28; in 1920 from January 14 to 26; and 1918, January 13 to 24. Continued fair and cold weather tomorrow is forecast.

TRADE IN GROCERIES HIGHLY COMPETITIVE

Demands of Customer Quickly Met—Hale's Self-Serve Department Caters to Most Exacting Wants of Its Customers.

It is probably safe to venture the opinion without fear of contradiction, that the retail grocery business is one of the most closely competitive forms of trade today. Times have changed since the day of the old time grocery store when "staples" were staples and hardly any one had yet dreamed of any change of diet from the regular narrow routine. Bread was bread, beans were beans and canned goods were an innovation. Ketchup would dye any vent of the Self Serve commercial bread came on the market. Then it remained white wheat bread for the most part for years and years. What's the story today? They carry 22 different kinds of white and dark bread and no one knows what the future holds in store. For example cracked wheat is the present sensation of the day and is selling in volume in all forms. Big bakers are striving all the time to produce something new for the public.

Big Quantities.
The Self Serve and its staff of employees are accustomed to doing business in a big way every week and at ordinary sales when you consider the following figures. Many ordinary sales have seen 5,000 pounds of cane sugar sold in one Saturday; 1,250 to 1,300 pounds of roller butter in the same amount of time, etc. 1,100 to 1,200 dozen eggs are sold per week and on a record sale of eggs on a Saturday 1,100 dozen were sold in one day. At last year's anniversary sale 5,331 customers were recorded in the three days of the sale and this number 2,811 passed through the Self Serve on Saturday, the last day. This tremendous rush of customers, coming incidentally, on one of the most inclement days of last winter taxed the capacity of the entire staff and many other workers from other departments.

Drawing a lesson from this event many important changes were made during the past year to take care of just such a situation again. The entire checking counter end of the store was rearranged so that there are now five checking counters instead of four. The tables have all been cut down so that it is easier to help one's self from them and at the same time visibility about the store has been increased 100 per cent. 288 new shopping baskets have been added to the supply bins from which customers pick them up on the way in.

Lighting Scheme.
A special lighting scheme will be introduced on the tenth anniversary in the form of rows of red and blue lights around the top of the grill work enclosing the checking counter end of the store and the overhead lights will be enclosed in crepe paper harmonizing with the general color scheme of the Self Serve. Over 50,000 of the large bags which are used to put the average customer's purchases in have been ordered for this sale.

Another improvement is the metal price tag stripping which has been put up on all shelving. This is specially designed to handle a standard size price card ticket which is inserted in the stripping under every item. It standardizes the system of pricing merchandise and makes an attractive appearance.

Tickets will be given to every customer during this three day anniversary sale and a drawing will be made at 8 o'clock Saturday night for a list of prize merchandise which will be given by various manufacturers. Following is a list of some of the items: Two cases of one dozen cans each of Burt Olney's assorted vegetables, full size cans; $10 worth of Beechnut products; heavy metal wagon with rubber tired wheels from Swift & Co.; a whole baked ham from Armour & Co.; 5 loaves of bread, one dozen butter biscuits and one Betty Crocker angel food cake from Newton-Robertson Bakery, bakers of Hale's famous Milk Bread; and canned food products from the Rath Packing Co.

Yardsticks Free.
In addition to this 5,000 yardsticks will be given away, one to every customer as long as they last. Free delivery service will be given to every customer who lives within the town limits if they so desire.

Over 400 Package Items.
The Self Serve carries over 400 different kinds of dry groceries in packages. Cellulose has done much to stimulate the sale of such merchandise as many items can now be shown that heretofore were packed in cardboard containers. They carry 123 different brands of cookies and crackers. With the return of beer the cracker industry has taken a new lease on life and the bakers of crackers have come forth with many new and delicious varieties.

ROOSEVELT BALL NETS OVER $550

This Town's Gift to Warm Springs Foundation May Reach $600 Mark.

Net receipts from Manchester's Roosevelt Birthday ball—the most successful social event ever held locally—today had reached a total in excess of $550 with returns still incomplete. It was announced by General Chairman William J. Thornton. It is possible that this amount will reach $600 when all tickets have been accounted for. All of this money will be turned over to national headquarters to be used in the maintenance of the Warm Springs Foundation for children afflicted with infantile paralysis.

Fitchner Sees Big Change In Gas Service in 16 Years

Frederick P. Fitchner, manager of the Manchester Gas Company, this week celebrating his 16th anniversary as manager of the Manchester office, 687 Main street. It was in February, 1918 that Mr. Fitchner, then employed by the Hartford Gas Company, was selected to manage the infant utility company here, then serving but a small portion of the town. Purchase of the company had been made by the Hartford Gas Company from Cheney Brothers in January, 1918.

Built New Gasometer
In 1919 the company built a gasometer, which is water sealed, on Hartford Road to better serve the company on its new expansion program. Service lines were rapidly extended to the outlying sections, including mains to Manchester Green, the Highland Park and to Buckland, until the number of gas meters in homes and business places increased from the original 600 at the time the company was bought from the Cheney interests, to 5,000 or approximately 800 per cent increase. At present gas lines have been extended on all the principal streets of Manchester.

Eight Mile Line
One of the outstanding engineering accomplishments of the company is little known to the average resident here. Two years ago the company laid down a main from the town to Rockville, an all-steel, welded main extending eight miles with feeder lines serving Talbotville, Vernon Center and smaller groups of homes enroute along the main line. Due to the higher elevation along the north end of the Rockville main, only five or six pounds pressure was needed to force the gas along the elevated main.

In 1930 a "booster" tank, designed to stand a pressure of 125 pounds per cubic inch, was constructed on Hartford road. It was placed in operation three years ago and is but another step in the continued improvement of the company's service to its customers here.

WITNESSES DIVIDED AT CRASH HEARING

Bridgeport, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Conflicting testimony was offered Coroner J. J. Phelan today when he resumed his inquest into the death on January 27 of Mrs. Etta P. Taylor of Stamford, who was fatally injured while a passenger in a car operated by Albert Mishley, also of Stamford.

AUXILIARY TO A. O. H. HOLDS INSTALLATION

Ceremony Takes Place at Home of Mrs. James Fogarty After Turkey Dinner.
The Ladies Auxiliary to the A. O. H. held its installation of officers Monday evening at the home of Mrs. James Fogarty of Bank street. Miss Nora McCarthy, county president, was in charge of the work. Her assistants were Miss Ella Garvey of West Hartford and Mrs. Elizabeth Phelan of this town. The new officers are: President, Mrs. Mary Fitzpatrick; vice-president, Miss Josie Keating; recording secretary, Miss Margaret Fitzpatrick; financial secretary, Miss Abbie Fogarty; treasurer, Mrs. Angeline Fogarty; mistress-at-arms, Mrs. Elizabeth Moriarty; sentinel, Mrs. Elizabeth Moriarty; chairman of standing committee, Miss Clara Gallagher; historian, Mrs. Teresa Buckley.
In behalf of the society Mrs. McCarthy presented to Mrs. Fogarty a black and white handkerchief and Miss Garvey presented to Mrs. Fogarty Irish hankerchiefs.
Preceding the installation Mrs. James Fogarty served a turkey supper. The tables and dining room were prettily decorated with the society colors, green, white and gold, and blossoming plants. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

TIES FAIRBANKS CASE TO BELFAST CASTLE

Reference in yesterday's Herald to the divorce proceedings instituted by Lord Ashley 53-year-old son and heir of the ninth Earl of Shaftesbury, against his wife, the former Sylvia Hawkins of the stage, naming Douglas Fairbanks as co-respondent, recalls to one local man, formerly a Belfast resident, that the magnificent Belfast Castle, on the Antrim side of Belfast Lough is the ancestral home of this British aristocrat. The Earl of Shaftesbury was at one time Lord Mayor of Belfast, and the dowager countess, Lord Ashley's grandmother, was widely known as a philanthropist. The Earl was a former president of the English Church union and he and Lady Shaftesbury were responsible for what is now known as the Belfast cathedral.

WHISTLE FOR WORKERS

Torrington, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Factory whistles usually are sounded to call men to work, but there will be a reversal of this procedure in Torrington, Mayor Ernest E. Novy having arranged today for the sounding of the factory whistles at 8:15 a. m. to notify CWA workers that there is to be no work on that particular day. Many of the workers have had to walk long distances only to learn on reaching the jobs that there would be no work that day.

Ex-Boston Players Help To Defeat Former Mates

New York, Feb. 7.—(AP)—If hockey laws would permit such a thing, most National Hockey League managers probably would like to attack a "string" to all sales and trades of players which would keep the men from playing against the teams which discarded them. The reason is found in the annoying habit these castoffs have of scoring against their old teams.

America's Top Bruins
The latest additions to the long list of players who have performed that feat just when it hurt the most are Eddie Burke and Glenn of the New York Americans. For a good many seasons they toiled in Boston uniforms, usually those of the minor-league Bruins Club, before they were sold to the Americans. Last night they returned to the Boston Garden rink and got together to score the goal that gave New York a 1 to 0 victory over the Bruins.

Burke's hard shot put a severe dent in Boston's hopes of earning a play-off position in the league's American Division as it left the Bruins nine points behind the Chicago Blackhawks with only 11

HOPPE MAKES 3RD BID FOR 3-CUSHION TITLE

Former Boy Wonder Believes He'll Win This Time—Says He's Playing Best Billiards of Career—Prefers Balk Line Game.

New York, Feb. 7.—(AP)—William Frederick Hoppe, called Willie since the days he climbed aboard a soap box at Cornwall-on-the-Hudson to learn the rudiments of billiards in the early days of the century, is making his third bid for the world's three-cushion title more from necessity than desire.

Take it from Hoppe himself, who at the age of 18 started the world by defeating the great French balk-line ace, Maurice Vignaux, he would much rather play balk-line billiards, the game in which he earned his reputation, than match strokes with the best three-cushion stars.

Wins First Match
"Balk-line is the game I know best and love," Hoppe said. "If there were only more competition at either 15 or 18 I would gladly desert three cushions and go again for our balkline championship."

Cochet Thinks America Will Regain Davis Cup

New York, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Take it from Henri Cochet, the United States has an excellent chance to regain the Davis Cup, world's international tennis trophy, this year. Despite the pessimism of American critics, the famed French ace, now a professional, is convinced that the shift of the challenge round from France to England and the great courts of Wimbledon will help bring the cup back to these shores.

ONLY ONE MAJOR DEAL IS MADE IN NATIONAL COUNTY Y TO HOLD JR. TOURNEY HERE

Queer Twists In Day's News

Chicago—For twenty-seven years, Mrs. Helen Rowland complained that her husband never relaxed his formality enough to address her in any other manner than "Mrs. Rowland," which got on her nerves.

So she sued for divorce. Ashland, Neb.—Bertha, the horse, wandered away from home three weeks ago.

Yesterday, Lawrence Stenberg, living near the home of Axel Nelson, Bertha's master, went to the Stenberg cave to get some potatoes.

He didn't get them because there was Bertha, wedged backwards in the cave entrance so tightly she couldn't get out. How long Bertha had been in the cave is not known.

Topeka, Kas.—Nebraska farmers, along the Kansas border, boasted last year they had benefitted by hundreds of thousands of dollars in rich soil deposits blown on their fields by Kansas winds.

Two western Kansas counties, Seward and Haskell, have taken steps to prevent this. The county commissioners have warned farmers there that unless they "work" the fields in a manner to prevent the rich top soil from being carried away, the fields will be worked under order of the commissioners and the charges added to tax assessments against the properties.

Denver—If a husband neglects to kiss his wife or fails to hold her chair while she is seating herself at a dinner party it is mental cruelty, Judge Otto Book ruled. On the strength of those charges he granted Mr. Margaret G. Wiggins an interlocutory degree of divorce.

Seattle—Census takers, even by CWA enumerators, isn't just asking questions.

J. J. Goodell, director here, reports a frantic mother greeted one of his men, telling him her small child has swallowed a penny.

"The man, however, quickly held the child upside down, gave it a smart slap on the back and out dropped the penny," said Goodell.

Ottawa—The decision of Speaker George Black to stop women knitting in the gallery while listening to debates in the House of Commons was taken as a blow at the yarn making industry by one company. It wired its member in the House protesting against the "gallery knitting ban."

Philadelphia—Take it from Captain W. J. Ruch, of the state highway patrol, there is no necessity for the modern automobile to be geared to go more than 50 miles an hour because "the average man is not physically or mentally capable of driving at greater speeds."

That says the troop commander, in the explanation for most accidents.

Philadelphia—The Presbyterian Ministerial Association adopted a resolution requesting newspapers to eliminate all pictures and articles about "Dumb Dora's" motion picture stars. Racketeers and other "vulgures of society" were included in the request. But the association did not commit itself as to who might be a "Dumb Dora."

Portland, Ore.—Two policemen girded themselves for an emergency when they received a call to go to the assistance of a fellow officer. As they reached him he apparently was being attacked by a polar bear, they said.

"When we saw him struggling we thought he was in trouble, but he only wanted a little help in taking a bear rug to headquarters," the officers reported.

Sturford, Mo.—Douglas Potter, star forward of the Sturford High school basketball team, is due for a month of bench warming at games because the family cow kicked off one of his finger nails.

Oklahoma City—A class in typewriting for Oklahoma City policemen may be in order. Chief John Watt, alarmed by the high mortality rate of the Department's machines, posted some instructions today, saying:

"Some of the officers use the one finger system and think that it is necessary to hit the keys real hard in order to make it write. This is not necessary."

Manhattan, Kas.—Capt. William A. Swift, instructor in military training at Kansas State college, was invited to join a student peace club opposing the training.

Asserting he belonged to the "greatest peace organization in the country—the Army"—the officer accepted.

Warsaw, Mo.—Operators of the Hogles Creek resort on the Lake of the Ozarks near here are as good as their word.

They advertised for tourists and got, along with other visitors, a flock of wild Canadian ducks and geese estimated at 10,000. To show their hospitality, the resort operators are feeding the birds 20 bushels of corn a day. But the fowls will help themselves to the extent of picking the grain from the ear.

Pittsburgh—Peter Hazen, 18, was pushing a baby carriage built for twins along the Beechwood boulevard at 2 o'clock in the morning.

Two kindly policemen in a scout car stopped and asked him whether they could be of assistance. He replied no, but they lifted the blanket on the carriage and, sure enough there were two twins—two five-gallon cans of alleged moonshine whiskey.

Married Flirts

MABEL McELLIOTT
BEGIN HERE TODAY

GYPSY MORRELL and TOM WEAVER are married on the same day as LILA HOATLING and DEREK BLISS, but Lila's wedding is a society event while Gypsy's is very simple.

While Lila lives in luxury, Gypsy has to struggle to keep expenses within Tom's income. She keeps her job teaching until she learns she is to have a baby. After DAVID'S birth she is extremely busy, caring for him and for her home.

Tom is frequently away in the evening and Gypsy suspects he is interested in VERA GRAY, who works in the same office.

Lila confesses to Gypsy that she intends to divorce Derek and marry MARKO BROUGHTON, richer and older.

A few days later Gypsy, calling at the office, sees Tom going to lunch with Vera. She goes home heartbroken and refuses to listen to his explanations.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXX

People lived with broken hearts, Gypsy reminded herself. They went on ordering food, bathing babies, making beds, mending stockings.

She wasn't the only woman in the world to whom this shattering thing had happened. It was—well, only that she had thought she and Tom would be different. Naturally he had been deeply in love. They had started their marriage with a fine resolve to make it go; succeed at it, no matter what else happened. SENSE and NONSENSE

ALL TOGETHER
America, victorious! You've weathered every gale; Your Flag—a symbol of success, knows no such word as fail. Beneath your Banner—hope renewed, we face another year; With strengthened hearts, we'll carry on since we have banished fear. With eyes of faith, we look ahead, undaunted—unafraid; The memory of past battles won, our comfort and our aid. Teamwork, our weapon, share and share, all loyal to the core; A combination that will win in Nineteen-Thirty-Four!

The banquet speaker who says he is too full for utterance must have gotten it some place else.

Wife—You don't give me such nice presents as you used to.
Husband—No, but I settle for those you give yourself.

A greater invention than the non-refillable bottle, would be a boy with a non-refillable heart.

Wife—If I should die, John, what would become of you?
Husband—I might die of old age.

A HEN-PECKED HUSBAND IS ONE WHOSE WIFE MAKES HIM SHAVE WITH AN OLD-FASHIONED RAZOR BECAUSE SHE CAN'T SHARPEN PENCILS WITH A SAFETY.

Judge—You were arrested for stealing a couple of diamond rings. You say you are innocent. Can you afford to pay a lawyer to defend you?
Culprit—I could give him one of the rings.

"How long yet is it going to be," inquires a local man, "until it takes everybody's income to pay taxes to provide government aid for everybody?"

First Comedian—Did you hear the audience applaud when I finished my act?
Second Comedian—Why shouldn't they? You had finished your act.

BELIEVE IT—IT'S TRUE: Stalin, once a theological student, now leader of the U. S. S. R. (United Soviet States Russia)—the greatest organization of workers in the history of the world, never did a day's manual labor in his life.

A young man came home to lunch and upon sitting down to the table he asked:
Young Husband—Who put mustard on this waffle?
His Wife—Why darling, that's my lemon pie.

ABOUT TOWN

The Asbury Circle of the Wesleyan Guild will hold its regular meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at the church.

The Cosmopolitan Club will hold its Friday afternoon meeting in the parlors of the South Methodist church instead of at the home of Mrs. C. Elmore Watkins as previously announced.

Mrs. Myra Fitzgerald and John Akerly were winners of the first prizes at the D. P. card party held last night at the home of Mrs. Anna Fegy of Bissell street.

The regular monthly meeting of all groups of the Wesleyan Guild will take place at the South Methodist church, Friday evening at 7:45.

Miss Pauline Burbank, children's librarian at the Whiton Memorial library, will conduct a story hour for children in the auditorium of the library, Friday afternoon, February 9, at 4 o'clock.

The usual meeting of Shining Light Circle of Junior King's Daughters, will be omitted tonight. There will, however, be a special work meeting Tuesday evening of next week at 6:30 at the home of Mrs. David Wilson of Pine street.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Vernon Methodist church which is affiliated with the North Methodist church of this town, will hold a food sale tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at the store of Talcott Brothers, Talcottville.

POLICEMAN AT FIRE HIT BY WILD DRIVER

Patrolman Griffin Struck by Youthful Motorist Who Is Arrested and Fined.

While directing traffic at North Main and North School streets last night an fireman of the Manchester Department were fighting a chimney fire in the Balch & Brown building.

Police Officer Raymond Griffin was struck by an automobile driven by Raymond C. Jackson of 1843 Tolland turnpike. He was knocked down and his side injured.

The fire was extinguished without damage as the chimney is tile lined and the sparks did not get into the building. Those that issued from the chimney settled on a wet roof and were extinguished.

After Jackson's automobile had struck Police Officer Griffin it crashed into a car owned by John H. Luetjen of Liberty street, Rockville.

In court this morning Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Charles R. Hathaway had five witnesses who claimed they saw the accident.

The annual "Firemen's Night" will be held on Friday night.

Jackson were five other boys. Jackson claimed that he did not know there was a fire and that his windshield was covered with frost.

Judge Raymond A. Johnson said it was a clear-cut case of reckless driving and might have resulted in a very serious accident.

Recreation Center Items of Interest

Today's Program The women's gym class will meet from 7:15 to 8:00 o'clock.

The men's senior life saving class will swim from 7:00 to 7:45.

The Concordia Lutheran church will hold its annual church night.

SWEDISH POLITICAL CLUB IS PROPOSED

Would Change Name of the Present Organization for Greater Appeal.

The opening gun of the 1934 town political campaign will be fired next week, when the Swedish-American Republican Club will hold a meeting at Orange Hall Thursday night.

A public setback party will be held at the West Side Rec. Play will start at 8 o'clock.

Dancing will be held in the gym on Thursday night. The Canadian Capers will furnish the music.

The most important item of business to be transacted will be action on a proposed amendment to the by-laws of the Club to make it possible to change the name to the Swedish-American Political Club.

wider appeal under the latter name. It is pointed out that many persons desire to be independent of party affiliations in order to vote as they please and therefore it is felt that a change in name will open the way to increased membership in the club.

To Back Candidates A determined effort will be made by the club this year to marshal the Swedish-American vote into a solid block to back candidates for town office who are recommended by the club.

Officers for the coming year will also be elected by the club, which claims a membership of over 300 persons. Ernest L. Johnson is the present president of the club.
