GUERRILLA WARFARE STARTS IN VIENNA

Wholesale Fighting, However, Is at an End—Plot Against Austrian Leaders Is Reported.

Wholesale fighting was at an end in strife-torn Austria today but the tenacious guerrilla warfare began a campaign of guerrilla warfare against the Fascist Home Guard, backbone of government support.

Reports were circulated that Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, "gamecock" of European politics, had been the subject of an assassination attempt, along with Vice Chancellor Emil Fey and Prince Ernest von Starhemberg, Home Guard leaders. The rumors were unverified.

Other European nations, meanwhile, closely scanned the Austrian situation, which they considered fraught with danger to European tranquility, especially should the Nazis gain control.

To avoid this, France and Czechoslovakia decided to give the Dollfuss government non-military aid.

Reports were current in Rome that Italy might demand an investigation by the League of Nations of published charges that Czechoslovakia supported the Socialist uprising by shipping arms and ammunition into Austria.

Press attacks on Czechoslovakia, the foreign office admitted, represented the Italian government's view.

Dr. Edouard Benes, Czechoslovakia foreign minister, issued a flat denial in Paris that his government had supported the Socialist outbreak in any fashion.

The charges, he told the Associated Press, "are absolutely without foundation."

DRIVEN INTO SEWERS. Vienna, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Driven underground into the sewers of Vienna the scattered forces of the Austrian Socialist Republics today, after a desperate guerrilla warfare today, still disputing the authority of the Austrian government.

The secret passages into the roomy sewers, which honeycomb the ground under Vienna, were ways of escape for defeated garrisons of the municipal apartment blocks shelled by government artillery Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Now the sewers themselves have become a last stronghold for these fighters.

Last night, Socialist riflemen emerged from manholes in the Stadt Park district—though it was officially stated that there had been no fighting in the city since yesterday noon—and terrified foreign residents who were kept awake by the clamor and the gunfire as the Socialists skirmished with police.

This morning, all seemed quiet, but the underground army—no one knows exactly how large it is—still was lurking in the sewers.

FINDS FARM HAND DISGUISED WOMAN

Discloses Sex When She Receives Word That She Has Inherited a Fortune.

Springfield, Ont., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Although she gripped a telegram saying she had inherited $69,000, Jean Crandall, 27-year-old widow who worked as a farm hand for three weeks before her employer learned she was a woman, doubted its authenticity today.

But, taking no chances, she is going to Chicago tomorrow—either to collect the small fortune left her by her grandmother or find she has been the victim of a cruel hoax.

Clad in overalls, Mrs. Crandall was working in a parsnip bin when a telegram from Chicago was given her saying she had been left the money. Then her employer, Simon Charlton, found his hired hand was a woman.

Believe It False Mrs. Crandall said that no law firm of the name signed to the message could be found and that there was no record there of an estate of "Madame Dickinson," her grandmother.

Mrs. Crandall is a native of El Paso, Tex., and has worked on farms in western Canada. She disguised herself as a man, she explained, so she could get work.

If the legacy proved genuine she plans to take Charlton and his wife on an air trip to Texas and from there to Hawaii. Her father was a Hawaiian.

First Actual Photo of Paris Riots

Under the eerie light of a street fire, Parisian Royalists are shown in this historic photo hastily erecting a barricade in famous Rue Lafayette. This was one of the many scenes enacted throughout the city during the widespread rioting which brought about the downfall of the Daladier cabinet.

FEAR TROUBLE TODAY AT N. Y. DEMONSTRATION

Half a Million Trade Union Workers Ordered to Protest Against the "Civil War" Acts in Austria.

New York, Feb. 16.—(AP)—A half million trade union workers were ordered today to demonstrate against the "slaughter of Austrian workers."

The walkout, called by its leaders the most ambitious labor demonstration in the history of New York City, was to be climaxed late this afternoon at Madison Square Garden where the workers were directed to mass in a huge protest meeting.

The stoppage and demonstration was called by the joint labor Socialist conference to protest against the ruthless suppression of the trade union and Socialist movement in Austria and the slaughter of thousands of Austrian workers by the armed forces of the Dollfuss regime and the Fascist Heimwehr.

La Guardia to Speak Scheduled to speak at the garden rally are Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia and Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor. Other labor and semetic leaders are on the program, which will be led by Algernon Lee, president of the Rand School of Social Science, as presiding officer.

Some 175 policemen detailed to preserve order were directed to report for duty without riot sticks, a procedure regarded as highly unusual in a New York demonstration.

In Wednesday's Fifth Avenue demonstration, police wielded their sticks freely.

The joint conference was formed two days ago by labor organizations representing the bulk of trade union membership in the city. The demonstration order was issued by individual unions and made mandatory upon the membership.

The garden seats only 23,000 and in event the turnout reaches predicted proportions there will be a jam about the big hall and the Times Square-Broadway sector at the evening rush hour. Amplifiers have been ordered to broadcast the speeches to those unable to get inside the garden.

Sales Push Ahead "With some moderation of the sub-zero temperatures of a week earlier, which slowed down transactions in the agricultural districts, retail sales pushed ahead boldly, as the larger industrial payoffs offset the layoffs of the CWA.

"In consumptive goods, such as furs, wearing apparel, shoes and millinery, pointing out that time is profitable, with prospects now more assured than in both textiles and shoes the spring business will exceed that of the past four or five years.

The more moderate temperatures and the favorable weather prevailing on Lincoln's Birthday brought out the largest crowds that retail stores have held since Christmas. Sales on both last Saturday and Monday nearly equalled the total of the best days during the December shopping period.

In the weekly industrial indices, advances are becoming more consistent and the spread is being widened constantly from the positions of a year ago.

STATE NOT HARD HIT BY NEW CWA ORDERS

Alky Firm Officers In Trick Stock Deal

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Evidence that officers of American Commercial Alcohol Corporation had "hidden interests" in the profits from a syndicate organized to underwrite an issue of the company stock was presented today to Senate investigators.

Russell R. Brown, chairman of the board, gave the Senate Stock Market investigating committee names of company officers who participated in the pool under the names of others.

The syndicate had a contract to get a commission of $1 a share for selling 40,949 shares to the company's existing stockholders, it was developed.

The stock was offered at $20 when it was selling on the market at from $30 to $33, which Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, contended eliminated all chance in the undertaking.

Meanwhile, before the House Interstate Commerce committee holding hearings on the Fletcher-Rayburn Stock Market regulation bill, Thomas Corcoran, Reconstruction Finance Corporation attorney, said one of the prime purposes of the legislation was to prevent speculation on the part of the "little fellow who doesn't know what it is all about and frequently gets royally burned."

Some Men Employed on Federal Projects May Be Dropped Says Miss Little —Orders from Washington State That 400,000 Workers Will Be Let Go on February 23.

Hartford, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Miss Eleanor Little, director of emergency relief in Connecticut, has received no information from Washington relative to plans for the reduction in the number of employees now engaged on projects made possible through Federal aid.

"I am not inclined to think Connecticut will be seriously affected," Miss Little said today. "There are, of course, some strictly Federal jobs which, when completed, will mean the dismissal of those who have been engaged in the work. I received information today of the completion of one of these projects, and naturally those employed on that job have been let go.

"These Federal jobs, when undertaken, were so planned that they would be completed by February 15. However, some did not get under way for from one to four weeks after it was expected they would start, and may take a month to finish. Otherwise work which has been undertaken under the Federal aid program will be continued as planned."

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The Civil Works Administration will drop 400,000 workers in rural areas throughout the country on Friday, February 23.

Announcing new regulations for the next ten weeks, Harry L. Hopkins, administrator said that for the present hours of labor would remain at 24 a week in cities and 15 in rural areas.

The demobilization, which started last night with the dropping of between 150,000 and 200,000 workers on Federal projects, will be carried on at the rate of approximately 10 per cent a week through March. After that it is scheduled to be accelerated until the entire force of 4,000,000 men and women will have been demobilized by May 1.

The demobilization order affects every state equally insofar as it has gone out, Hopkins said.

New Regulations The new regulations as Hopkins outlined them:

- 1. All persons living in households where a member is working, whether on public or private employment, will be dropped first.
- 2. All persons who have other resources.
- 3. Civil works will be maintained at present strength in all industrial cities.
- 4. The wage scale under the new arrangement will be the prevailing scale for the type of labor done in the local community.
- 5. The minimum wage will be set at a minimum of 30 cents per hour for common labor.
- 6. One of the projects on which the administration will concentrate during the remaining ten weeks is construction of free school consolidated rural schools in states which have a consolidated school system. Hopkins said that other similar major projects which can be completed by May 1 are under consideration.
- 7. He also said that construction of school buildings might be done by contract—a distinct departure from the normal way of doing work when all work was done on force account.

To Help Needy When the Civil Works ends, Hopkins said, all needy persons will be given emergency relief.

State administrations will be expected to examine local charges of unfairness through social workers as investigators.

The rural areas were selected for the first demobilization because many thousands of tenant farmers and even persons who own their own farms have been working on Civil Works. Hopkins feels that these men having made seven or eight weeks' wages or even more should be able to go back to their farms and raise a crop without suffering.

Hopkins said the rate of demobilization of the Civil Works forces would be adjusted from time to time in accordance with weather conditions and that in communities where the weather remained very cold and farm and other work could not be taken up, demobilization might be slow.

Wherever authorization is given in the city for employment of additional workers, Hopkins said, enrollment will be confined to those in actual need.

VIENNA RESUMES FORMER ROUTINE

Austrian Capital Almost Back to Normal After Bloody Fighting.

By WADE WERNER

Vienna, Feb. 16.—(AP)—While the army, police and Fascist Heimwehr are busy mopping up the remaining traces of Socialist forces above and below ground, life on the surface of Vienna is today assuming a grotesquely "normal" appearance.

For instance, within a stone's throw of the tunnel where, in the early morning, Socialists emerged from the sewerage system to skirmish with police, a popular air skating rink was crowded with boys and girls enjoying an afternoon on the ice.

Even in the shell-shattered Karl Marx apartment building, the remaining tenants were attempting to pick up the threads of their humdrum household routine.

On the splintered door of the half-demolished community laundry of this model Socialist home for working men, a placard written with a blue pencil announced:

"Women who were scheduled to use the laundry Tuesday will please bring their clothes at 4 o'clock today."

Karl Marx Court was shelled Tuesday—and still no one can definitely say how many were killed by the government artillery fire.

The building's kindergarten also displayed a placard saying instructions will be resumed "when other schools open."

Over in the suburb of Floridsdorf, where Wednesday I saw dead lying in the street, today I saw a girl optimistically carrying a window seat fitted with a new pane of glass to repair her room in the badly-shelled apartment house.

A stunned and muttering crowd stood about gazing at the shell holes in the building. Another and smaller crowd was to get their first view of the result of Wednesday's bombardment.

Shell Scarred Building One group was examining with puzzled eyes a three-foot shell hole torn in the thick wall of the apartment building just under the doorbell itself was hanging by a wire but just a few inches from the shell.

ENGAGEMENT OFF, BUSHMAN ASSERTS

Actor Not to Wed Carmela Ponselle—Plans to Marry His First Wife.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The wedding plans of Francis X. Bushman have taken a sudden and dramatic turn and his third marriage may be to his first wife, he said today.

His engagement to Carmela Ponselle, opera singer, announced last week, has been broken. He announced a possibility of reconciliation with his first wife, Mrs. Josephine Bushman of Beverly Hills, Calif., mother of five of his six children, from whom he was divorced in 1918. His marriage to Beverly Bayne followed the next day.

The publicity attendant on his and Miss Ponselle's announcement of their forthcoming wedding, Bushman said, resulted in telephone calls, telegrams and cables of protest from his children, some of whom are now married. They wanted him to talk to their mother in California. He did this and old memories were revived.

"Carmela and I talked it all over," he said. "She is big and fine, and (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Meteor Misses Aviator Flying the Night Mail

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 16.—(AP)—The strange experience of being bombed from space by a meteor was described by Pilot Hiram Sheridan on his arrival here from the eastbound night American Airways mail plane from Fort Worth, Texas.

Sheridan said just before he reached Texarkana last night, he saw the meteor break into flames as it struck the earth's atmosphere and described a huge arc, coming directly at the plane.

"I watched it for a minute or two," the pilot said, "and realized that it was coming straight at me. I changed my course and put on speed, but it looked like it would strike the plane in spite of all I could do.

"When it appeared something was sure to happen, I banked sharply to the right and at about the same moment the meteor burned out and disappeared."

Sheridan said he was unable to say just how far the meteor missed the plane, but said he thought it "barely missed."

"When I first noticed the meteor, it apparently was just entering the stratosphere and it gave off a dazzling blue-white light that blinded me," Sheridan said. "As it came closer, it lost its brilliance until at the time it reached the altitude at which I was flying, it was just a glowing red ball. It went out completely just after it passed me."

SEC. PERKINS ASKS FOR SHORTER WEEK

Says It Is Essential to Keep Up Balance Between Various Workers.

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Secretary Perkins told the House labor committee today a shorter work week "is essential for our civilization and for maintaining a balance between industrial workers and agricultural workers."

He added that very strong administration of shorter hour legislation should be provided, based on the principle of co-operation between the Federal government and the states.

At least 2,500,000 or 2,750,000 persons have been put back to work as a result of the codes and re-employment agreements, he testified, explaining this was a most conservative estimate and did not include CWA and other public re-employment.

Will Help Industry "While we may recognize that some seven or eight million have been put back to work, we must take into account the permanency of this employment," he continued.

"The indirect result of their employment should produce a more far-reaching effect in stimulating private industry through their spending.

"My own instinct at this moment," she added, "is to permit the NRA codes to go on their experimental basis rather than stipulating the 30-hour week must be observed. There are perhaps some areas where there still may be some labor shortage."

TRASURY BALANCE Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The position of the Treasury February 14 was: Receipts $157,060,545.51; expenditures $91,706,327.36; balance $4,290,679,552.23; customs receipts for the month $11,735,916.31.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1) $4,612,774,852.51; expenditures $3,937,021,859.72 (including $2,157,172,214.40 of emergency expenditures); excess of receipts $675,752,992.79.

FARMS IN WAPPING STILL LACK WATER

Trouble With Pipes Continues in Manchester While Bolton Supply Is Low.

Frost going into the ground to a depth of three or four feet in different places has resulted in many freeze-ups this winter.

Efforts to secure help from electric companies to thaw out the pipes has been without result.

The Manchester Water company continues to have trouble, and freeze-ups are reported each day.

In the case of the town owned water supply system there has been but little trouble.

In Rockville yesterday the gas mains were frozen and resulted in a reduced pressure.

In Bolton a water supply from a spring in the woods to the extreme south end of the old New England Hotel property, which at one time furnished water for the New England Hotel and two houses to the west of it, has also frozen.

In different places where it has been necessary to open up the ground, frost has been found three feet below the surface.

MYSTERY SHROUDS

day from St. Petersburg, Fla., under machine gun guard, was described as Leonard E. Foley, alias Eddie Doll, alias Eddie Larue, wanted in Chicago for "violating the Federal Auto Theft Act."

The authorities were tight-lipped as to whether the man is the Eddie Larue wanted in Lincoln, Neb., in the $2,500,000 looting of the Lincoln National bank in 1930.

An Eddie Larue is wanted in Illinois also for questioning in the kidnaping of James Hackett, Blue Island, Ill., gambler who bought his freedom in 1932 by paying a $75,000 ransom.

Many Raids Made The arrests came at a time when the government, with Attorney General Cummings in command, was spurring its efforts to smash the underworld.

The man and woman, arrested in St. Petersburg, Wednesday where they had lived since January 7, were questioned there while being held in jail.

Through fingerprints, pictures and other comparisons, the agents said they definitely established Foley's identity as Eddie Doll or Larue.

HOLD FOUR SUSPECTS IN ATTEMPTED HOLDUP

New Haven, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Four men were arraigned in City Court today and each held in $5,000 bonds while police sought to determine whether they had any connection with a series of hold ups in Bridgeport, Stamford and New Haven.

The men, arraigned before Judge Raymond J. Devlin were Joseph Sacco, 20, Joseph Candelio, 21, Michael Deleto, 21, and Claudio Ali-go, 21, all of New Haven. They were rounded up late last night less than an hour after Hyman Magun, New Haven butcher, reported to police that three men, two of them carrying weapons, attempted to hold him up.

Magun told police he was struck on the jaw with the butt of a revolver when he cried for help. The trio fled after his outcry. Magun said he had $200 in his pocket, but the money was untouched.

ATTORNEYS SEEK STAY FOR SLAYER

Brooklyn, N. Y., Youth to Die Next Week for Murder of a Policeman.

Boston, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Counsel for Harry Clay Bull, Brooklyn, N. Y., youth sentenced to die next week for the murder of a policeman in Greenfield, Mass., last August, again sought clemency for his client from Gov. Joseph B. Ely.

Meanwhile a committee of Boston citizens laid plans for a last minute effort to postpone the execution of Norman Snyder of Boston and John A. Donnell of Los Angeles, sentenced to die at the same time as Bull, in connection with the slaying of a Somerville gasoline station attendant.

The committee hoped to convince District Attorney Warren L. Bishop of Middlesex county that Snyder and Donnell should be granted a stay so they might be called as witnesses against a third defendant who has not yet come to trial in the Somerville murder.

Abner S. McLeod, Bull's counsel, appeared at the State House to oppose the governor, who was absent, and announced he would try to see him at a Boston hotel before the governor returned to his home in Westfield. The lawyer and Mrs. Mabel Bull, mother of the condemned youth, called on him at the state prison. Bull killed a policeman during an attempted gasoline station robbery.

ICE CARNIVAL LEADERS HOLD SESSION TONIGHT

Murphy and Waller to Meet Group and Outline Plans for Sunday's Program.

All members of the Permanent Armistice Day committee and members of the various ex-service groups planning to assist at the ice carnival in Center Springs park Sunday are requested to meet at the Army and Navy club this evening at 8 o'clock.

Park Superintendent Horace F. Murphy and Frank Waller, custodian of the rink, will be in attendance and will outline the duties of the men cooperating in the carnival plans.

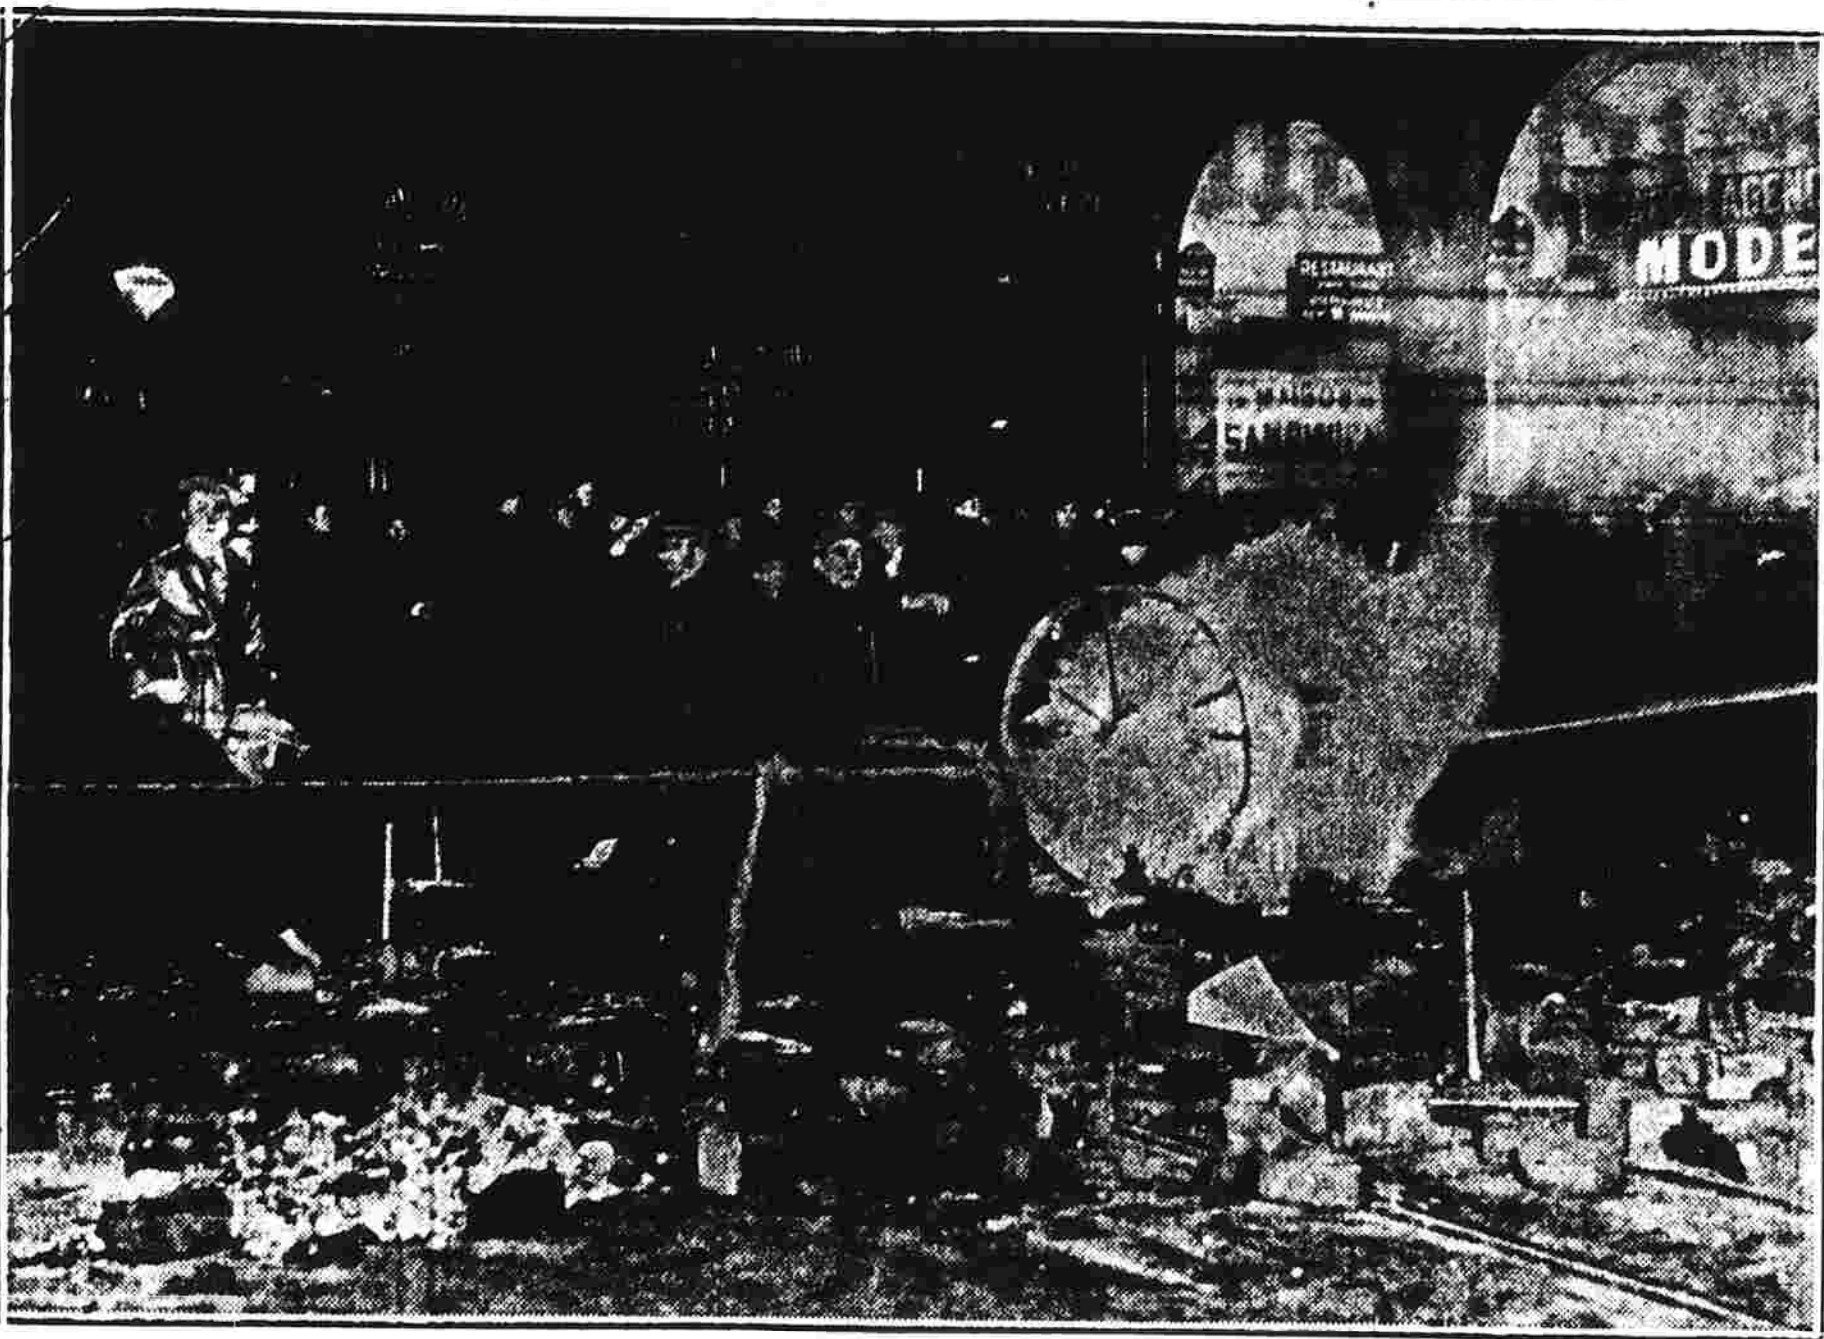

MUST ISSUE PERMIT

New Haven, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Judge Ernest C. Simpson in Superior Court today ordered that the State Liquor Control Board issue a permit to the St. Stanislaw B. and S. society of Seymour for the sale of beer and wine to the society.

The society had appealed from a denial of the permit by the state board contending that the board showed discrimination between a rich and poor man's club in that the poor man's club could not have paid attaches at all hours.

The board declined to issue the permit, alleging unsuitability of the permittee in that they would be divided responsibility in the handling of the beverages.

NOT TO GIVE UP CONNECTICUT MAN

Georgia Officials Say Milford Resident Did Not Abduct Own Child.

Atlanta, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Thomas M. Linder, executive secretary to Governor Talmadge, expressed opposition to extradition of Raymond J. Wrinn to Milford, Conn., on charges of abducting his young daughter at a hearing today but reserved his decision pending receipt of further information on the case.

Further hearings will be held at 10 a. m. Tuesday. The point on which Linder allowed time for the additional information to be furnished was the existence of an agreement between Wrinn and his estranged wife by which each was to have custody of the child for a week, at the expiration of which time the other party would come for the child.

Linder told attorneys who represented the state of Connecticut that if such an agreement did exist, as Wrinn said it did, Wrinn could not possibly be guilty of abduction.

Husband's Story Wrinn told the secretary that at the appointed time he went to his estranged wife's home and openly took the child to his mother's home where he was living. His wife, he said, did not come after the child at the appointed time, he continued, although he stayed there for five weeks. Counsel for Wrinn interpreted that action on the part of the wife as abandonment of her claim on the child.

John Hudson, assistant solicitor general who represented the State of Connecticut, said he would obtain by next Tuesday a deposition from the wife as to the existence of that agreement. Captain A. L. Henson, Georgia veteran service officer, who volunteered to represent Wrinn who is a former soldier, said that he would obtain a deposition from a witness to the agreement.

Married Again Wrinn was accompanied to the hearing by his second wife whom he married after he came here to fill a civil service post at the Federal prison in 1929. She testified that she accompanied her husband and the child on an open visit to West Haven, just on the outskirts of Milford, last summer. Wrinn told other visits he had made there with the child previously and said he had made no attempt to conceal his movements.

The abduction accusation was not made until January of this year, after the former Mrs. Wrinn had learned that the child died in a hospital here last September from spinal meningitis.

Sergeant Henry J. Gallvromer, of Milford police, said he had been trying since December 4, 1929, to locate Wrinn.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Peter Champ of Hartford and James Moriconi of 56 Irving street, were discharged yesterday and Beatrice Lanzano of 170 Bissell street and Mrs. Ralph Skinner and infant daughter of 105 Spruce street, were discharged today.

The 40th annual convention and dinner of the Connecticut Postal Carriers will be held in Willimantic, February 22, at 1 p. m. The annual banquet will be held in the evening of the holiday. A representative group from the Manchester post office will attend.

FINDS $15,000

New London, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Louis Lubchansky, proprietor of a junk yard here today reported he had found a large sum of money in an old safe in the hold of the old schooner yacht Hildegarde, being junked at the yard. The yacht was formerly owned by Edward R. Coleman of Lebanon, Pa., a mine owner. Lubchansky showed a reporter the haul of the yacht and the wreck of the safe which he had smashed open. The money he said was sent to the Treasury Department to be redeemed. Lubchansky saying it crumbled when taken from the safe. The junk dealer declared the money and securities would probably be $15,000.

MAJESTIC CO. LOSES SUIT OVER PATENTS

Hartford, Feb. 16.—(AP)—A decision against the Majestic Distributors, Inc. of Delaware, with its place of business in Hartford, in a suit for patent infringements in the distribution of radio tubes, was handed down today by Judge Edwin S. Thomas in Federal Court. The decision stated that ten of eleven patents involved in the suit were valid and infringed, granted injunctive relief with respect to the ten patents, and provided for reference to a master for an accounting.

The companies winning the suit were the Radio Corporation of America, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and the General Electric Company. Two original suits were consolidated in 1931, involving 26 claims on eleven patents. Tubes under litigation were known as Majestic Radio tubes, manufactured by the Grigsby-Grunow Capital of Chicago, Ill., whose officers were also officers and owners of Majestic Distributors.

WEST HARTFORD FIRE CAUSES $60,000 LOSS

West Hartford, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Fire of undetermined origin early this morning destroyed the home of Dr. C. W. Stephenson on Albany place, Sunset Farms, causing a loss estimated at about $60,000. Dr. and Mrs. Stephenson, their six-year-old daughter and the maid, dressing hastily over sleeping attire, quit the dwelling.

The cries of a pet cat in the basement woke Dr. Stephenson. The dwelling was located outside the center of the fire district, so the siren summoning the volunteers was turned on.

All the furnishings and valuables, outside of the few articles saved by Dr. Stephenson, including valuable books that cannot be replaced, were lost in the blaze.

The Bible contains two chapters which are nearly alike, word for word. They are the 19th chapter of II Kings and the 37th chapter of Isaiah.

Corinne Griffith Comes Back!

The last you saw of Corinne Griffith was three or more years ago, when she appeared in "Back Pay" and "Lilies of the Field." Now she's back in Hollywood, after a period on the London stage, and signed up already for work in a new film. Corinne, shown above, once boasted she owned a million dollar voice—it was insured for that much.

AIRCRAFT HEADS EX-SERVICE MEN

Senate Probers Find That 85 Per Cent Come from Army or Navy.

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The fact that airplane contractors employ men who served in the Army or Navy drew the attention of the House naval affairs committee today in its investigation of profits on airplane contracts.

E. E. Wilson, president of the Chance Vought Corporation of Hartford, Conn., was testifying when Chairman Delaney (D. N. Y.), asked if he had served in the Navy before the airplane company was formed.

Wilson replied that in 1924 he was attached to the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, starting experiments that led to development of air-cooled engines.

"Approximately 85 per cent of the airplane company executives who have appeared before the committee thus far were at one time connected with the military services," Delaney remarked.

Delaney has told newspapermen that the former connection should be helpful in obtaining government contracts.

The committee's other witness for the day, however, Glenn L. Martin, president of the Glenn L. Martin Company of Baltimore, testified that he never had served in either the Army or Navy and that so far as he knew, no one in his employ had.

He asserted that from 1920 to 1933 his company made a 3.9 per cent profit after deducting taxes, interest and other expenses, on $20,818,905 of Navy airplane business.

FRIENDS APPRECIATE BELCHER'S KINDNESS

Veteran Bus Driver to Undergo Major Operation Next Week, Remembered With Gift.

Members of the Wapping school auxiliary and friends met last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Belcher and spent a pleasant social time. Mrs. Belcher has been confined to her home for some weeks as the result of an injury to her foot, and her husband enters the Hartford hospital next week to undergo a major operation.

He served the town three years as selectman, is a member of Evergreen Lodge, No. 117, A. F. & A. M. and of the A. O. U. W. He transports the children to the Wapping grammar school and Rockville High school, and has been most generous in using his buses for the benefit of organizations and community affairs without remuneration.

Tonight he runs a bus to Depot Square to convey the Manchester Community Players to Wapping, where they will repeat the play, "Penrod" for the benefit of the Wapping Community church house.

As a token of their appreciation for his generosity his friends presented a box of cigars to him and wished him speedy recovery. Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served during the evening.

Appointed for a second term! Cotton is to again be leader of summer fabrics. You'll just love the new novelty prints I saw at Hale's this morning. The trickiest looking checked seersucker in blue, brown and red (this is always wonderful—you don't ever have to press it) at 50 cents a yard, printed batiste 28 cents a yard, and percale prints for 25 cents a yard.

Chocolate stains are hard to remove if you don't know how and ordinary washing may "set" the stain so it's almost impossible to remove it. First sprinkle powdered borax over the stain and soak in cold water for 20 minutes. Then stretch over a bowl and pour boiling water through it.

You can't beat the candy bargain at The Princess Candy Shop. Buy one pound of delicious chocolates and for 1 cent more you may have another pound.

Nowadays, since commercial canning processes have been perfected and all kinds of delicious vegetables are available on the grocer's shelves, it is no problem to plan winter menus to include an adequate amount of this essential class of foods. Nevertheless, every home-maker is on the alert for new ways of presenting vegetables in order to prevent her family's interest from losing its keenness. The following recipe will be of interest:

Lima Bean Croquettes.
Two cups cooked lima beans, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 tablespoons melted butter or bacon fat, 1-2 cup canned tomato, 1-8 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, flour, egg, dried bread crumbs, salt, pepper.

Canned or cooked dried beans can be used. Spread on a platter to cool and become firm. Form into croquettes, roll in flour and dip in egg slightly beaten with 1 tablespoon water. Roll in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat. The fat should be hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread in forty seconds, or 385 degrees F. on a fat thermometer.

Pinehurst's Raggedy Ann delicious ripe pineapple, peaches, or apricots packed by Sprague Warner will put the finishing touch on any menu.

Don't throw away your old shoes, have them rebuilt like new by Sam Yulys, 701 Main St.

Wrap-over skirts, tying on hips, appear both in day and evening models. Figured the silks, printed crepes and taffetas are popular fabrics for afternoon frocks. Many interesting color contrasts are used. A brown blouse is shown with a beige suit. The jacket of the suit is lined with the same brown. Dull pinks, blues and black are the popular evening colors. Brown leads for daytime things.

Ferdell's orange and grapefruit segments are marvelous for salads—29 cents a can, 3 for 75 cents. Get them at Pinehurst. Dial 4151.

Neckwear is high-lighted. Stiff Elizabethan toby ruffles, lace edged jabots and frills trim sheer blouses to wear with dressy suits and are used to complete afternoon ensembles.

Day time necklines continue to be high but chokers have been abandoned. Evening décolletages are lower at the back.

Those full fashioned, first quality chiffon service weight stockings at the Norton Shoe certainly are a bargain at 59 cents a pair. I have a suspicion that the price is going up so buy yours now.

Fashion note from Florida: There is a positive rage for nautical trimmings, with anchor belts, rope belts and anchor prints seen constantly and everywhere.

This "after school lunch" problem ought to be solved with this economy—seedless blackberry, red currant, black raspberry and pineapple jam in fancy round jars 25 cents each, 3 for 69 cents at Pinehurst.

And again—prints! But you can never tire of hearing about them when they're as perky and smart as they are at Cheney's. You can't deny that just about this time of year you get so tired of looking at the same wardrobe. Can you think of a better way to relieve the monotony than by a new print dress?

WESLEYAN HONORS OLDEST ALUMNUS

Observes Birthday of John E. Andrus, 93; How College Was Remodeled.

Middletown, Feb. 16.—(AP)—This, the sixteenth day of February, was remembered at Wesleyan University as the birthday anniversary of the Senior Alumnus, John E. Andrus of Yonkers, N. Y., 93 years old, and known in his community as the "Millionaire Strap-Hanger" because of his years of commuting between home and his Manhattan office.

An incident in his graduate relations with his alma mater has been made a matter of public record by George S. Godard, class of 1892, state librarian of Hartford. The story was read by the faculty and student body today because it aptly fitted into the birthday anniversary of Andrus. He was born February 16, 1841.

Senior Alumnus Andrus got his sheepskin with the class of 1862. In 1890, he was having a chat with President Bradford Paul Raymond (1889-1903) when the matter of remodeling old North College came up. It was a very old brownstone dormitory.

Andrus offered to pay all expense provided the work could be done within nine summer weeks, so that students would be able to move in on the first day of the fall semester.

But One Hour To Spare

With only one hour to spare on the last day of vacation, the work was completed by a young Hartford builder, Charles C. Cook, in spite of volunteered opinion of Middletown and New York contractors that it could not be done.

Andrus during his busy life has been mayor of Yonkers, a Congressman from his district and a trustee of Wesleyan since 1899.

Librarian Godard has put into narrative the conversation between President Raymond and Cook. The remodeling was complete except for the walls, the brownstone for which came in 1825 from quarries across the Connecticut river.

Cook went to New York with President Raymond to see Andrus on the basis of his offer to pay the bill for remodeling.

Afterward, President Raymond said the meeting was brief and interesting. "No preliminaries; no mincing of words," he said. "Can it be finished in nine weeks?" asked Andrus.

"Sure," said Cook. "How do you want to do it?" "Cost plus."

"Are you a good buyer?" "So considered."

As it is related Andrus eyed the young man carefully for a moment and then said decisively "Go ahead, I'll pay the bill."

While students were on their way to Middletown to matriculate that fall the contract was completed, the job done on scheduled time.

On the night of March 1, 1906, the work was undone by fire.

The present North College is a duplicate of the old building on the same foundation.

WALL ST. BRIEFS

New York, Feb. 16.—Preliminary reports to the American Institute of Steel Construction from 69 percent of the industry indicate that bookings of steel construction declined 21 percent in January from December. Shipments dropped 25 percent. December business, says the Institute, was the largest for any month of 1933 and the January decline was "hardly seasonal."

Sales of women's wear wool fabrics continued to gain in the past week and some improvement was noted in demand for men's goods, reports the New York Wool Top exchange service.

Lumber production and shipments for the week ended Feb. 10 reached the highest level of the year, although new business was about 12 percent under the average for the preceding three weeks, says the National Lumber Manufacturers Association. For the first six weeks of 1934 production was 40 percent above 1933 and shipments were up 15 percent and orders received expanded 23 percent.

Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States reports total assets of $1,520,707,379 at the close of 1933, a gain of $49,010,372 in the year. Total income, $355,080,941, exceeded disbursements by $73,038,607. Premium income on group life, group accident and group pension business approximated $24,000,000, a new high record for the company. Premiums on new ordinary annuity contracts were $46,000,000, also a high mark for any year.

Music of the "Miserere" was held in such high esteem that musicians of the Sistine Chapel were forbidden to copy it. Mozart, at the age of 14, was taken by his father to hear it and then said decisively "Go ahead, I'll pay the bill."

While students were on their way to Middletown to matriculate that fall the contract was completed, the job done on scheduled time.

On the night of March 1, 1906, the work was undone by fire.

The present North College is a duplicate of the old building on the same foundation.

MILK CONTROL BOARD BLAMES ASSOCIATION

Fault for Delay in Milk Payment Laid at Door of Producers and Dealers.

Hartford, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The State Board of Milk Control today issued a statement expressing regret for delay in payment for milk to producers on the usual schedule because of the injunctions obtained by M. E. Pierpont and the Producer-Dealers Association.

The board said it had recently received "harrowing" complaints that equalization plan payments to milk producers have been delayed and disarranged this month, and urged the board to correct the "distressing situation," at once.

The statement pointed out the board's hands are tied by the injunctions, and added: "We regret the troublesome delay and have done all in our power to urge the attorney general's office, which represents the state in this case, to obtain prompt and decisive action in this matter."

"But when a court orders the suspension of certain activity by a governmental body, or by a private citizen, it is imperative that the order be strictly obeyed."

TO GIVE UP TROLLEY

Bridgeport, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The Connecticut Company will abandon all trolley service between Bridgeport and Milford, and will institute bus service with 15 minute schedules during the greater part of the day, according to George H. Crosson, manager of the Bridgeport division, who stated that an application is now being prepared to the Public Utilities Commission to put the change into effect early in the spring.

Manager Crosson said the change is being made in order to speed up the service and meet the demands for service between Milford and this city during the rush hours in the morning and evening.

ARMY MAIL PILOTS READY FOR ACTION

70 Planes Will Carry Uncle Sam's Mail Starting Sunday Night, Chief Says.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Newark airport, the world's busiest commercial airport, looked like a military air headquarters in wartime today as the army put the finishing touches to its preparations to fly the mail.

By Sunday night seventy planes will be ready to lift their wings, although Major B. Q. Jones, commander of the eastern zone of the Air Corps mail service, thinks thirty will be all that are required to carry the mail.

Major Jones arrived yesterday, leading a formation of five Boeing puruit ships from Langley Field, Va., and he was as keen to start work as the youngest lieutenant in the service.

"We'll carry the mail, don't worry about that," he said. "Why, we'll carry an elephant if they bring it to us, even if we have to cut it up to get it aboard."

"And the rest of the personnel?" "They're crazy about it, especially the younger fellows. They're all anxious to get in more flying time," he said.

Deaths from influenza during 1933 were nearly twice as many in London and the great towns of England and Wales as in 1932, the total being 11,434 compared with 5,732.

CONTEND WOMEN SPUR CAR SALES

Exhibitors Assert Members of Fair Sex Interested in New Models.

Attendance and sales records continued to fall at the Automobile and Home Appliance Show at the State Armory yesterday, it being reported that close to 2,500 persons attended during the afternoon and evening and that twelve cars were sold to bring the total attendance to date to 3,500 and the sales to twenty-one.

Many Visitors

The overwhelming success of the show has far exceeded the fondest expectations of the exhibitors, all of whom are highly enthusiastic over the results. The crowd which packed the Armory yesterday afternoon and evening included pupils from the public schools and many visitors from surrounding towns. Salesmen said today that women are more deeply interested in automobiles than ever before and that an unusually large number of those who have attended so far have done so with a view toward purchasing an automobile rather than mere curiosity over the 1934 models.

21 Cars Sold

This is proven in the fact that twenty-one automobiles were sold in the first two days of the show. Dealers are optimistic over the results today and tomorrow and expect to at least double the present number of sales.

Home Appliances

Home appliance exhibitors also report much interest in their products and virtually every person connected with the show feels that it indicates a definite upward trend in business conditions.

Last night's special attraction was a concert by the G. C. Club, under the direction of Helge E. Fearson. The selections by the women's chorus were well received, each number being heartily applauded. Otto Neubauer and the WDRS Diplomats again furnished music until the closing hour.

Closes Tomorrow

A good attendance was reported at the cooking school conducted by Mrs. Arva Sutton Mixer of the Manchester Gas company this afternoon. Tonight, Art McKay's ten-piece orchestra will furnish music and another banner crowd is anticipated. The show closes tomorrow night at 10:30 o'clock.

Pawtucket Pair Arrested on Fall River Road After Radio Broadcast of Description.

Rehoboth, Mass., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Edward Britland, 19, and Harry Kreuger, 19, both of Pawtucket, R. I., arrested by State Police on the Fall River-Providence road yesterday after a radio broadcast of the registration of their rented car, are being held in connection with recent thefts from dormitories of private schools in three states.

Police said they found in the car jewelry, wearing apparel and traveling bags taken earlier today from St. George's school, Middletown, R. I., and Labor Academy, Marie, Mass. At their homes similar articles were found which had been taken from dormitories at Pomfret school, Fomt, Conn., and Milton Academy, Milton, Mass.

The youths apparently operated by daylight, wandering through school dormitories and entering rooms while the students were at classes, police said. They were taken to Warham last night for arraignment on a larceny charge.

BEGIN REASSESSMENT NOW, SAYS HOHENTHAL

Chairman of Board of Assessors Believes Town Would Benefit if Job of Revaluation Is Started in Advance of Year Specified by Statute.

Emil L. G. Hohenthal, Jr., chairman of the Board of Assessors outlines in the following article plans for revaluation of taxable property in advance of the legal period for taking the new values in 1935 as required by statute. Mr. Hohenthal asserts that as much of the work should be done, insofar as possible, in the summer of 1934, basing his contention upon the experience of the year 1925, when it was found that the three months period, when the Assessors are in session, is sufficient for this purpose, resulting in confusion, haste and possible errors.

E. L. G. Hohenthal

Incidentally, 1935 is the tenth anniversary of the institution of the Linder system of assessment, so-called, which was placed in effect here in the fall of 1925. Mr. Hohenthal states in the following article that the Linder system is fundamentally sound and better than the more or less haphazard method of assessment of taxable properties in use before 1925.

Following is concise outline of the method of taking the revaluation as viewed by Chairman Hohenthal of the Board of Assessors:

Reassessment
Next year will be the year for revaluation of all taxable property in the town. This work in a community the size of Manchester cannot be thoroughly done in the short space of 3 months in 1935, as was demonstrated by our experience of 1925, as well as the experience of several other cities and towns of Connecticut.

Therefore it is imperative that as much of this work as possible be done in the summer of 1934. With this thought in mind I have been asked by numerous taxpayers to prepare an outline, and explain the method and work involved to make a revaluation.

Principle of Uniformity
Under the laws of the state, it is the duty of assessing officials to assess all property uniformly on the basis of valuation. The main job of the assessors, under these provisions, therefore, consists in making a uniform and equitable report of the value of all real and personal property in Manchester. This fundamental requirement cannot be reiterated too often, since the fact is frequently overlooked that the assessors' primary duty has to do with the fair and uniform assessment of property, and not with the tax-rate or amount of the tax bill.

The assessors' duty is to value the properties as completely, equitably, and uniformly as possible, so that the amount of tax money taken from each taxpayer in the community is in the proportion that the value of the property of each individual taxpayer bears to the value of all the property in town. It is therefore important to adopt a uniform measurement of value in order that this may be accomplished and that the tax be equitable to all.

Reasons for a Revaluation
First let me state the reasons for a revaluation.

1. A state statute and town by-law require same.
2. To re-align values under the principle of equity and uniformity. Since 1925 the value of property in some parts of the town has appreciated and in other parts has depreciated. Moreover, numerous changes have been made by Boards of Relief and Assessors seriously disjoining the assessment as a whole, with, in some instances, values being apparently too low.
3. Another reason for revaluation is the shrinkage of both land and buildings which has actually taken place during the past several years. This shrinkage has been from two major causes: First, general economic conditions involving the lack of business and thus affecting business, and manufacturing properties. Second, the lack of earnings affecting residential properties, and the steady appreciation of the dollar and the resulting depreciation of all values measured by the dollar.
4. A study of the values and theaters, etc., where there is a wide variation in ceiling heights. This method is sufficiently accurate for assessment purposes, is not productive of large figures with the accompanying chance of errors, takes up less room on a card and permits a finer variation in the unit price, where a present one cent per cubic foot may vary the result 400 or 500 dollars.

The way of arriving at the price of a building should be as follows: Houses, garages, barns, etc., should be classified into a number of different groups each representing some typical style. These different styles should be photographed and the cost of the structures ascertained per square foot by actual costs, which figure we will call the basic price, then the square foot cost of each improvement should be determined such as heating, different types of roofing, and other major improvements. Improvements like tile baths, fireplaces or oil burners can be added to the total price in a lump. In this manner it is a simple matter when assessing a house to refer to the type, obtain basic cost, add the component cost for each improvement and the total unit price is arrived at. This represents replacement cost which must then be depreciated for age and in some cases obsolescence to obtain the sound taxable value.

At the present time no consideration is taken of verandas. These should be measured and priced.

Personal Property Assessment
General—The application of the ad valorem tax to personal property has proved unsuccessful not alone in Connecticut but in every state where such a law exists. The statute and the demands that private individuals be assessed on the fair market value of certain personal belongings and that manufacture and merchants be assessed upon the fair market value of their equipment, fixtures and the average amount of stock on hand throughout the year. This is an almost impossible task from a technical standpoint and exceeding difficult from an administrative standpoint. Yet the intent of the law must be carried out according to the best ability of the Tax Assessor. Accordingly the facilities of his department.

Experience in applying this law to the personality of private individuals has proved that it cannot be carried out with any degree of uniformity without prohibitive cost. Since in the last analysis the purpose of the law is to raise revenue, the elaborate administrative machinery necessary to secure equity would largely defeat this purpose.

In the case of business, however, it is possible through good accounting judgment to arrive at values which meet the spirit of the law and are fair to the taxpayer. It is no secret that even under legitimate accounting procedure, book values seldom reflect proper values for taxation under the statute. Yet, given a proper accounting system, using book value as a basis, a formula can be developed that will make due allowances for the main financial and administrative peculiarities of the individual concern.

This matter is a subject for considerable research and study. Data must be obtained and weighed before intelligent judgment can be passed. It is recommended at this time that two committees be appointed to work with the Tax Assessor in developing an equitable basis for taxing personal property of merchants and manufacturers.

Automobiles—The handling of automobiles cannot be changed at the present time; this is an awkward situation which it is difficult to remedy except through legislation. This matter deserves attention in the near future for it is adding an increasing burden to the work of the office each year.

—Quoted from William F. Connelly, Assessor, Bridgeport, Conn. In conclusion it can readily be seen, that there is a large amount of work to be done if a thorough job is to result. This work can be done in major part by the assessors themselves who are intimately acquainted with local conditions, rather than by so-called experts who after all, in most cases have been just assessors or appraisers in other communities.

It is impossible to do justice to a job of this kind in one summer, in addition to the routine work being done in preparing the lists for owners signatures in October. Obviously therefore it would be advisable to do the preliminary work during the summer of 1934. The first step toward an adequate revaluation is for the Selectman, or some group of taxpayers to see that the matter is brought to the attention of the voters at a town meeting with the recommendation that an appropriation be made. In this manner the expense can be spread over a period of two years. Such a meeting can be held at the close of the adjourned town meeting in March without any additional expense.

SCOTCH-IRISH NIGHT WILL BE CELEBRATED

Splendid Entertainment Planned for Tomorrow Night at Orange Hall by Local Groups.

Scotch-Irish night at Orange hall, under the joint sponsorship of Royal Black Perceptory No. 13 and Manchester Pipe Band, is scheduled to begin at 7:30 sharp tomorrow evening, and continue until midnight. The committee in charge has secured the services of some of the best artists obtainable, through the courtesy of the Clements Entertainment bureau. George Gillette, who gave a side-splitting performance in Orange hall earlier in the season, is a musician and comedian extraordinary. Miss Ellenor Brown, Scotch dancing specialist, will do a variety of dances in true Highland style.

Tommy Hines of Hartford, well known Scotch singer and jokester, is another sure to please. Jim Manning, live-wire Irish dancer and singer, Miss Joan Condon, tap-dancing artist on roller skates, and the "Two White Flashes", an unusually fast dance team, are others on the list. The Manchester Pipe band will play Scotch tunes and music for the dancers will be furnished by one of the pipers.

Refreshments will be on sale in the basement. Old-fashioned and modern dancing will follow the program. Tickets may be had at the door or from the members of the band or perceptory.

DRIVER EXONERATED IN CUMMINGS CASE

Coroner Finds Death Was Accidental to Woman Riding With Att. General's Son.

Bridgeport, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The death of Etta P. Taylor, 34, of Stamford, on January 27, from injuries received in the automobile ride with Mrs. Agatha Raphael of Stamford, and Dickinson S. Cummings of Stamford, son of Attorney General Homer Cummings, was an accident, Coroner John J. Phelan finds today.

He exonerates of criminal blame, Albert Minsley of Stamford, operator of the car in which Cummings, himself and the two women were riding and which swerved from the Post road in Darien and crashed into two trees and a telephone pole. In his finding the coroner offers no comment on the claim of Darien police that Cummings and the two women were under the influence of liquor at the time. The coroner does say, however, that at the time of the accident Minsley was sober and competent to drive a car.

CROSS APPOINTMENT

Hartford, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Governor Cross has announced the appointment of Mrs. Katharine F. Harvey of New Haven as a director of Long Lane Farm, Middletown, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of James Murphy of Middletown, for the balance of the term ending July 1, 1934. Mrs. Harvey is the wife of Dr. Samuel C. Harvey, professor of surgery at Yale School of Medicine, and is the daughter of the late Henry W. Farnam, professor of economics at Yale.

WILL ELIMINATE CWA JOBS SOON

Local Board Plans to Reduce Force of Workers 10 Per Cent Weekly.

The Manchester CWA board will soon be faced with the problem of reducing the local quota of workers from 439 to none in accordance with plans announced yesterday by Harry L. Hopkins, Civil Works administrator.

Previous plans called for the discharge of about 10 per cent of the total payroll each week, starting in the south and working north. The local board only recently completed the filling of the Manchester quota and with 16 replacements made after an investigation by Director Ettore Costello of the state office, the way was cleared for starting several projects already approved by CWA engineers.

During the past nine weeks several jobs started under the Manchester Emergency Employment association from general contributions from employed workers last year, have been completed this winter. Included in this group were the Broad street extension from Center street north to Hilliard street; Brookfield street from Durkin street to Middle Turnpike East and Summit street from Henry street to Williams street. The latter job was begun and completed this year as project No. 1.

There is no question but that the recent order will speed up the charity department registrations, principally because the extreme cold weather reduced the weekly payroll of the workers and because surplus Federal commodities will not in the future be given to CWA workers.

Just what steps will be taken to sift out the most deserving workers is not now known to the local CWA board, nor will any action be taken in this respect until some definite information regarding reductions has been received.

Due to the rush in the Hartford office on Saturdays, orders were issued yesterday that all CWA workers in Hartford county will re-

DISPLAY ANCIENT FISH IN MUSEUM AT YALE

New Haven, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The fossil of a giant herring measuring more than 15 feet in length and believed to have died ninety millions of years ago has been placed on exhibition, Yale announced today, at the University's Peabody Museum of Natural history.

The fish, known to scientists as Potheus Molossus, lived in those days when North America was inhabited by great flying reptiles with wing-spans of more than 25 feet, huge dinosaurs and enormous marine reptiles.

After its death, the giant herring was buried by the mud on the ancient sea bottom near what is now Russell Springs, Kansas.

Professor Malcolm R. Thorpe, curator of Vertebrate Paleontology at Yale expressed the opinion that the skeleton is the most complete and

POLICE COURT

Entering a plea of not guilty to a charge of non-support in Town Court today, Anthony A. Smith, of East Hartford, was found guilty after testimony had been taken and sentenced to jail for 80 days. Sentence was suspended, however, with the understanding that Smith must pay his wife $10 a week for the support of herself and child. Bonds of $200 were fixed to guarantee payment of this sum. Smith is employed at the fertilizer factory of Olds and Whipple in East Hartford.

Patrick Johnston, of 105 Grove street, Rockville, was found guilty of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was fined $100 and costs. The money was paid. Johnston was arrested Tuesday night by Patrolman Herman Muske.

FARM SOCIETIES

RECEIVE $5,000

State Reimburses 28 Agricultural Groups Holding Fairs in 1933.

Hartford, Feb. 16.—Commissioner of Agriculture Oloffe F. Kim has notified 28 agricultural societies that he has certified their reports and that checks totaling $5,000 are being mailed to them by the State Treasurer. This money represents reimbursement by the state to those agricultural societies which held fairs in 1933 in accordance with statute and regulations enforced by the Commissioner of Agriculture.

The $5,000 being paid out this year represents approximately one-third of the amount which has been paid by the state for several years. This reduction is due to the action of the last legislature, which in an effort to lower the state budget reduced the amount that should go to benefit agricultural societies.

The commissioner of agriculture was faced with the problem of enforcing the statutes pertaining to these societies together with that of drafting regulations in the payment of state funds which would reflect the intent of the legislature. In the past the commissioner has been required to certify a payment of 50 per cent of the premiums provided the total sum did not exceed $500 per fair.

Under the 1933 budget $5,000 was appropriated for this purpose with no recommendations as to how the commissioner of agriculture should allot this money. The payments are being made on a percentage basis so that each fair is receiving its share of the $5,000 appropriation.

In 1933 the 28 fairs that qualified for state aid paid premiums of $13,582. Durham Fair, with premium awards of over $2,000, was the largest on the list. The fairs received an average of approximately 39 per cent of their premium awards in the reimbursement checks. This compares to the 50 per cent in past years and shows that while the total state-aid money was reduced by one-third, the total premiums paid were also materially reduced so that the final percentage paid by the state only showed a reduction of from eleven to fourteen per cent.

DECORATORS' GROUP

Elected President of Newly Formed Chapter of American Decorators' Institute.

At a meeting of the prominent decorators of Connecticut held in New Haven Tuesday, C. Elmore Watkins of Watkins Brothers was elected president of the newly formed Connecticut Chapter.

The Connecticut Chapter is to be affiliated with the American Institute of Decorators. Mr. Watkins has been for some time one of the two or three members of the National Institute living in Connecticut.

The presidency of the Connecticut Chapter comes to Watkins B others as a well deserved recognition of the firm's outstanding work during the past few years. Besides the complete decorating of many fine homes, Watkins Brothers have had some hand in furnishing and decorating most every public building erected in this territory during the past decade.

Some of the best known are the Horace Bushnell Memorial Hall, Hartford County Court House, Connecticut School for Boys, University Club of Hartford, Connecticut State College, Hartford Retreat, Loomis Institute, Hamden Library, the new Whiton Memorial Library and Y. M. C. A. in Manchester, and Fletcher School of Tufts College, Boston, Mass.

PHILCO RADIO FEATURE

OF SHOW AT ARMORY

Powerful Set in Beautiful Art Cabinet Has Been Purchased by Red Men.

The radio designed and constructed by Philco as the feature of their exhibit at the Century of Progress Exposition last fall in Chicago is attracting an unusual amount of attention at the Manchester Auto and Home Appliance Show. This set was secured for the show by Chief Service Station and is the featured exhibit of their radio department. A masterpiece of the cabinet makers art, it is a piece of furniture of unusual beauty. The set is so powerful that even with only a short piece of aerial wire it can bring in London, England, like a local station. The radio is so designed that it has five bands of wave length reception on it and can therefore pick-up broadcasts on every wave-length in use today.

Miantonomoh Tribe, No. 58, I. O. R. M., has purchased the set displayed at the show. Tickets are now being sold on it and the drawing will be held March 15. The profits from this drawing will go to the Orphans' Fund of the order.

THE THREE-BALL SIGN

If the Roosevelt administration, which started out with such tremendous popular support and with so much confidence, proves to be a failure; if presently it begins to dawn on a disillusioned nation that 90 per cent of the gains made so far have been temporary not only in their operation but in their basic character and that very little indeed has been done to establish any firm foundation for the building of a sounder economic structure; the reason for the failure will not be far to seek.

President Roosevelt seems fully determined to employ, in the processes of reconstruction, the very agencies which more than any other contributed to the bringing about of the depression and which, when the crash came, demonstrated their hundred per cent incapacity for being of any use to the nation.

Proposal after proposal is made for economic relief. We have more funds and "banks" and boards and bureaus, each of them with some vast financial allocation back of it, and all intended to effect spectacular measures of assistance to various economic groups—and none of them functioning as it was hoped they would. Because in almost every instance it is to be found that in some way or other the Federal Reserve System and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation are tied in with the processes. The pawnbrokers are in the engine room and at the steering wheel.

We are having a splendid example of the effect of this sort of thing right here in Manchester at this moment. The Deposits Liquidation Board, organized and supplied with a billion dollars to get frozen deposits of closed banks into the hands of their owners and into the channels of business, instead of being set up as an independent organization, was tied into the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. It operates according to the usurer's creed that dominates the policies of the RFC. The result is that Manchester depositors are being kept out of their poor little salvage by methods that would discredit a lender of dimes on nations under the three ball sign in a city slum back alley.

And now that the administration is giving a belated ear to the despairing cries of the small industries which for months have been calling out for a little help in carrying on under the NRA—for the loans which on character and as going enterprises they could have for the asking under any sane banking system—the plan under present consideration is to establish still more banks and put them—save the mark!—into another tieup with the Federal Reserve System and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

If that's the way the small industries are to be aided, then the small industries that cannot continue without genuine assistance might as well fold up now.

This can be said of the Federal Reserve System and of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation: In no single instance since the 1929 debacle in the case of the former or since its organization in the case of the latter has either of these entities ever functioned for one single moment in a spirit of genuine helpfulness to American industry, agriculture or trade. Their efforts, their handling of vast sums of public money, have been uniformly, consistently and unflinchingly in the interest of banks' and bankers' credit and profits. Both are controlled by deflationists and by deflationary interests.

Mr. Roosevelt cannot ride two horses going in opposite directions without falling between them. He is an idealistic liberal seeking an inflationary goal—and trying to reach it by a road laid out, placarded and traffic-controlled by deflationists. If he continues to hold hands with the money-changers of the temple he must inevitably, when somebody else eventually drives them out, go along with them.

ONLY WANT ONE

We have a barrel. In that barrel we throw every news item, editorial and letter to a newspaper which we encounter and have time to clip dealing adversely in a certain way with the subject of economy in the schools. The barrel is now half full. And no clipping has attained to a place in it that did not denounce some measure or proposal as "false" economy.

Apparently there never has been, anywhere, any sort of proposition advanced with a view to reducing school costs that was not promptly and violently attacked as a "false" economy. The conclusion is inevitable that the one completely impossible thing in this world is a genuine economy in school management, even a very little one.

Just to be sporting we timidly offer the suggestion that this thing be made a little less one-sided—in the interest of credibility. If over a period of a good many years every effort of the taxpayers to reduce the cost of schools be denounced by a unanimous chorus of objectors, one and all without exception condemned the effort as "false" economy, it would not be surprising if Mr. Taxpayer finally began to suspect such complete unanimity as a kind of put-up job. He is not likely to admit to himself that he can be wrong every time out of a thousand or ten thousand times. He may get a stubborn notion that somehow or other he must have been right at least once and to the extent of at least five cents. And if he can discover no instance in which the schools' "defenders" will admit that much he may suddenly get mad and begin to smash things.

So we are beginning to hope that, after all these many readings and clippings, there may one day come along an editorial or news item or letter, written by one of education's champions, which will admit that some proposed playtime little economy might actually be genuine and not "false" and that it would not utterly destroy the school system if it were adopted.

When it does show up it will go into the barrel and on top of the pounds upon pounds of clippings—and we shall nail on the head. Having only one life to live we shall not expect to find its mate.

INBRED

There is no country in the world where class lines are more sharply drawn and where aristocracy retains its medieval exaggerations more completely than in Austria. Never at any time did the swaggering junker militarist brush human trash into the gutters of Berlin under the Hohenzollerns with quite the same overwhelming self confidence and unseeing indifference as did his brother officer of Vienna, during the long reign of the House of Hapsburg.

Nowhere in the world are the pages of history stained with darker or deeper blood. Nowhere have crueller things been done. Nowhere has man's inhumanity to man been carried to a colder or more remorseless degree.

Nowhere have the same individuals displayed quite such contrasting qualities of intense culture, delightful manners, scholarship, delicacy of feeling and sentiment, devotion to the arts, intrigue, falsity, iciness of heart and unbelievable indifference to the rights, the feelings and the lives of the masses.

To start with, the Austrian classes were no doubt like people anywhere. But generation after generation they developed their attributes, born of special privilege, practically without any halt or setback such as were met with from time to time by other European aristocracies, until they became the very perfect example of their type. This they could do and did by playing off against one another the manifold racial groups over which they had attained ascendancy.

Even when the great revolution of 1848 drove out of Austria and into exile that evil genius of Europe for half a century, Prince Metternich, relieving Austria and the continent at once of the most profound intrigant and the bitterest foe of democracy in all the world, the revolution finally dropped into failure because the habitual rulers were still able to set Czech against Magyar and all the little racial groups at each other's throats.

So it is not altogether surprising that in this present revolution there is a reckless disregard of common lives, a glacial lack of any natural feeling of pity or commiseration, a hardness and heartlessness and soullessness surpassing anything that has been known in civil war in so-called civlized countries in the lifetime of any now alive.

Austria has been manifesting the breeding of five hundred years to the theory that only the well born and the well placed count.

DR. MEREDITH AGAIN

Dr. Albert Barrett Meredith, formerly commissioner of education of Connecticut, has been retained at fifty dollars a day plus expenses to show the Hartford Board of Education how to organize the city's school system under consolidation, which goes into effect July 1. Though an appropriation of only $3,000 for a consultant has been provided in the board's budget, it is announced that the duration of the appointment will be "at the pleasure of the board."

This, of course, is Hartford's business. So long as it remains Hartford's business, all right. But if by any jockeying it is attempted to shoulder off on the state, directly or indirectly, any part of this handout to Dr. Meredith there are likely to be fireworks. In the meantime it is probably none of our business over here, that the fifty a day plus will prove to be a small part of what the advice of Dr. Meredith will cost the people of the Capital City.

SACRO-ILIAC STRAIN

One of the disorders which seems to be greatly increasing at the present time is sacro-iliac strain. It may interest you to know that when Helen Wills lost her championship by default in a tennis game because of pain in the back, the origin of her trouble is said to have been sacro-iliac strain. You will probably see this subject mentioned in the newspapers from time to time.

In my own experience I have noted that more and more people are coming to me with this type of lower back pain, caused by a slipping out of place of some of the bones of the sacro-iliac region. One possible reason for the increase in this trouble is that it may be due to driving an automobile and that the position of the body while driving may encourage such a misplacement. Most of the cases I have seen are affected in the right side of the body and this might be due to the thrust of the right leg in using the foot throttle to feed gas. At any rate, I know that automobile designers are now considering the best type of seat for the driver, which will best overcome any tendency to back strain.

Sacro-iliac frequently begins after a fall, or a sudden twisting or wrenching of the body. There is no doubt that a simple slipping out of place of some of the bones in the sacro-iliac region may become a severe condition in those who have any tendency to rheumatism or arthritis as in such a case, the rheumatic poisons may settle through the area and set up an inflammation. The main symptom of sacro-iliac strain is pain which is often severe and which seems to arise in the lower part of the back where the joint between the spine and hip-bone is located. The pain may last for several days and is best relieved by rest and heat.

The following treatment is the one I advise in sacro-iliac strain: you are to go to an Osteopath or Chiropractor and have him give you an adjustment which will put the bones back into proper alignment. In the average case, this will require only one treatment, but if the case is severe or if the back has been out of place for any length of time, several treatments may be required.

In order to give the parts rest, it is sometimes advisable to have the doctor who treats the back, strap it up with adhesive tape. Another helpful measure is to place a pad in the heel of the shoe where it is worn on the foot of the affected side.

The use of heat is also suggested, and you may use the small deep-therapy lamp, the electric pad, or the hot water bottle, or any similar treatment, any of which will afford temporary relief.

I also suggest that you use the short fasting regimen followed by the cleansing diet, which will assist in removing any rheumatic inflammation which may have settled around the injured area. While exercise should be avoided as long as any acute inflammation is present, the permanent cure of the condition depends upon sufficient exercise to develop the back muscles in order that the sacro-iliac joint will be held in proper place in a natural manner.

With the help of the above measures, you will be able to overcome the pain due to sacro-iliac strain.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 (Systemic Toxemia Cause of Headache)

Question: Miss L. of Madford, Oreg., writes: "I have recently had my eyes tested and been fitted with glasses; however, I have always been troubled with a peculiar headache and just before this comes on, I notice that there is a bright flash of light which flickers in front of the eyes, leaving me dizzy. I expected this to disappear after getting my glasses but such is not the case."

Answer: The flash of light which flickers before the eyes is a common symptom in migraine headache. Since you say that your eyes have been properly fitted with glasses, I believe that the main source of your trouble is a systemic toxemia. I believe that you will be able to overcome this distressing symptom and also the headache by using an eliminative diet. I am writing to suggest that you write to me again, repeating your letter and that you follow the instructions given at the heading or end of this column and enclose a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. I will then be glad to give your reply my personal attention.

(How to Avoid That Cold)
 Question: B. G. U. of Paterson, N. J., writes: "I want to know how to build up my resistance to colds."

Answer: There are a number of measures which will be of benefit in increasing your resistance to colds. For example, treatments with the sun lamp, avoidance of constipation, more active outdoor exercise and the use of a corrective diet which will help to cut down the tendency to the formation of mucus in the body. I have some information regarding colds which I will be pleased to send you if you will write me a letter in care of this newspaper following the instructions given at the heading or end of this column and enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

ERSKINE COMPOSES BRAND NEW OPERA

"Helen Retires" a Story About Ancient Troy to Be Ready on Feb. 28.

New York, Feb. 16.—(AP)—John Erskine at his most whimsical, and George Antheil at his most implish level have produced "Helen Retires" the third new American opera to be produced this month in New York.

The Erskine whimsy carries the story of Helen of Troy farther than the canonical legends go.

Mr. Antheil has tried, as did Louis Gruenberg in "The Emperor Jones," to reflect the mood of the action rather than to provide an operatic score in the usual tradition.

Married Flirts

by MABEL McLELLIOTT
© 1933 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
GYPSY MORELL and TOM WEAVER are married on the same day as LILA BOTALING and DEREK BLISS, but while Lila lives in luxury Gypsy has to struggle to keep expenses within Tom's income.

After Gypsy's son is born her days become a dreary round of caring for him and caring for the home. Tom is frequently away from home evenings and Gypsy suspects he is interested in VERA GRAY, who works in the same office.

Lila confesses to Gypsy that she intends to divorce Derek and marry MARKO BROUGHTON, richer and older.

Gypsy's father is seriously injured in a motor accident, but resolves to forget her jealousy of Vera. However, Vera continues to pursue Tom.

Gypsy's friend, SUE CANAVAN starts her by declaring that HUNT GIBSON, an engineer, is in love with Gypsy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXVIII

"I don't know what you mean," Gypsy repeated but her heart was beating very fast. Sue's blazing eyes, in a white face, accused her.

"I never should have thought of you," Sue said in a half-whispering tone. "Flirting around. You with a nice husband of your own.... a baby."

"Sue! Why, I've never in the world..." Gypsy was hot, angry, mutinous. Hunt had been a friend; that was all. It was his wife's illness must be affecting her mind....

To Gypsy's amazement and discomfiture, the other girl put her handkerchief to her eyes and began to weep. Gypsy glanced around in consternation. There were only a few people at the tables now. An old lady in black sat in the corner, enjoying a solitary tea. There were two or three absorbed couples. No one was noticing.

"Sue, you mustn't—not here!" The other girl gulped, swallowed, put her handkerchief to her eyes. "I'm terribly sorry," she apologized. "I'm not myself, you can see that. I didn't mean all I said. Forget it. You can see how it is with me...."

Gypsy saw, Sue, in love with Hunt, desperate, jealous. And yet the accusation that she was guilty of no justice in what Sue had said? Had she, Gypsy, sought succor from her own pain in Hunt's attentions? She winced at the thought.

Impulsively she leaned across and patted Sue's hand. "I'm sorry, I've misinterpreted you," she said softly. "Sue's awfully fond of you. See him before you go away."

Sue raised her head proudly. "I'll not run after him," she said quickly. "I'll not run after any man. It was only—well, you see, while he was away he used to write to me. Marvelous letters. I got—sentimental about him then. And when he got back, so tall and distinguished and interesting. I sort of—fell for him. I guess, it was silly of me. But he seemed to like me a lot. Until this winter. Then I began to see how much of him. And he got in with that Village crowd, Ronny's...."

"I know," Gypsy interrupted to say, with a little spasm of guilt. "Well, then Elspeth drove me crazy, telling me that I was the one that he followed you around every place, that he wouldn't go to a party unless he heard you were to be there.... I've cried myself sick over it."

"Elspeth?" Gypsy said with fine scorn. "And you know her?" "Well, she's mischief maker. I know that, but some of it was true. He did see lots of you and whenever I met him it was always you he talked about...."

"Nonsense," Gypsy's color was high. "You don't know what a relief it's been to talk it out." Sue said, on a long sigh. "To hear you say there's nothing in it—to know you wouldn't lie to me...."

"Of course, I wouldn't lie to you," Gypsy said proudly. "Besides, what about Tom? What did you think he was planning? You should have known better than this."

"I'd tell myself, 'There's absolutely nothing in it.' Sue went on. "I'd try to forget about it. And then I wouldn't hear from Hunt for weeks. I'd be sick to death listening for the sound of the phone. No matter who else called I couldn't be bothered. You know how it is." She appealed to the other woman.

"I know," Gypsy told her soberly. "I got awfully run down." Sue confessed. "I've been eating that much. I don't sleep. The doctor tells me I'll crack up unless I go away and have a rest. And yet—it's killing me to leave him. To think some other girl will be playing with miles away...."

him, puzzled. "We don't often go places together these days." thought you might not mind. Or rather, I didn't think at all I just accepted, like an idiot, without thinking."

"I'm sorry, darling. I'll undoubtedly be tied up with Strathmore tomorrow night. Got to go up to Tarrytown to see him. Get out of it."

"But when Gypsy called back to Sue Lila all this the latter was gaily adamant. Nonsense, she would get another man. How about that nice, bronzed engineer chap—Gibson? She had met him at parties last winter and at Gypsy's tea. She'd give him a ring. He could pick Gypsy up...."

Gypsy bit her lip and kept silent. It was idiotic—the whole thing was. Tom made no comment when she told him of Lila's arrangement but she had an idea he didn't exactly like it. Oh, dear, it wasn't her fault! Sue would be angry, too, if she heard....

She dressed for the party with mixed feelings. Hunt's arrival made her feel shy as a schoolgirl and self-conscious, too. He admired her new frock, a soft, adroitly curving affair of apricot satin. Tom had not even looked at it. There is no room for small figure and creamy shoulders to perfection.

She went back into the bedroom for his high chair and Elsa was feeding him his supper.

"Good night, darling. Mr. Weaver said he'll come in 10. Elsa! You'll remember just what I said about his supper. He said he'd stop at Grand Central for a bite but I'm sure he won't have had time."

"Ya, I fix it." Elsa held the blue mug to the baby's lips.

"Goodbye, angel," Gypsy clutched the little velvet jacket around her, dropped a kiss on the back of David's neck and went out.

In the taxi she chattered gaily about nothing at all. Later, she told herself, she would get around to Sue.

No, one, Lila told them lightly, was in town. There were just a few people coming in. Yes, of course she remembered Mr. Gibson and so formally she had to come, so informally she had to come, so she and two or three young men and their bride, like, beautifully caparisoned young women. Peg Van, Norrie, Lila always introduced her guests thus, casually.

The table was a long, gleaming black surface, with little white islands upon it. Lila's white birds, a foam of white flowers in a crystal bowl. Although the night was hot Lila's apartment seemed cool, high above the city.

Hunt seemed to fit in with this Gypsy thought, eyeing him critically. His manner with Marko was exactly right, a blend of deference and camaraderie. He didn't call him "sir" as Tom had. Tom hadn't liked Marko and had been consequently brusque with him.

Gypsy had a momentary twinge of sympathy for the toiling away with a tiresome old client at night while she was enjoying herself in her fine feathers.

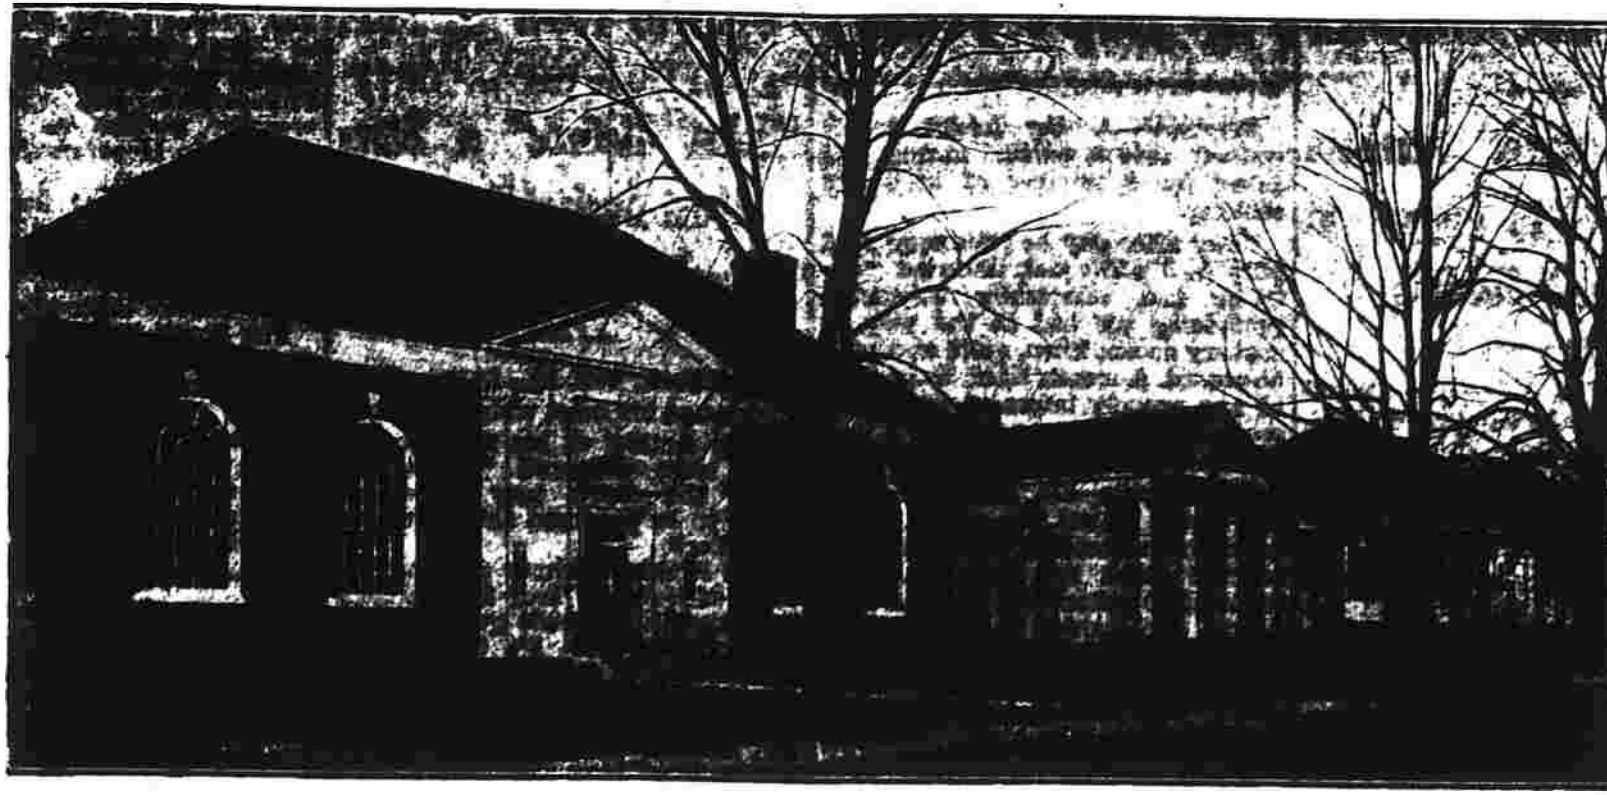

Kong had disappeared and in his place was an impassive elderly maid. The food was delicious and the glass was filled over and over again. Champagne Lila explained, although there had been no open announcement of the state of affairs between her and Marko everyone seemed to understand. And there was a portly waiter who, in the rich, unctuous curve of his voice when he spoke to Lila. It all made Gypsy uncomfortable. She told herself that this was what she got for being a bit of a Sybarite; for liking Lila's parties so well she hated to refuse an invitation. What was to be done? But the atmosphere of the place rather got on her nerves. Lila was different. There was something brittle and artificial about her loveliness now. She wasn't in the least like the girl Gypsy had known.

They were seated at the table. The tall silver candeliers were guttering in their ivory sticks. The white flowers were wilting in their crystal bowl when the maid came in and whispered something to Lila.

Lila looked annoyed. Then she laughed lightly and disagreeably. "Why, bring him in, Davy," she said carelessly. She looked around at the company.

"Derek has dropped around, people," she told them. "Derek's come to be the ghost at the feast." "That varied. There is a regular weekly program which includes such activities as the Tiny Tots dancing class, a class for children from 3 to 6 years of age. These children are given nursery dances to the melody of their well-known Mother Goose rhymes and are thereby taught the rudiments of rhythm."

HOME OF YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION HERE

Manchester's Y. M. C. A. which celebrates its second anniversary today is housed in the above group of buildings constructed around the former Manchester Community Club's "White House."

Second Anniversary Finds Y. M. C. A. Well Established

Work Started by Former Community Club Has Developed Rapidly—Building Is Now Virtual Beehive of Activity.

The second anniversary of the Morton YMCA which will be quietly observed by the directors of the association today, brings to mind the trying years through which the workers struggled making plans for the large and well patronized plant built around the Community Club, then known as the "White House."

The physical aspects of the old building in which many happy meetings of north end citizens and children took place, have been retained by the architects, and behind the famous old Colonial pillars there exists today a beehive of civic activity, increasing each year.

The seed sown by the indefatigable workers has found fertility in the many varied activities of the new and enlarged association. The building, then serving only a small group of near by residents, has been broadened to civic clubs, churches and other groups representative of the town.

Many of the early workers have carried on with the new plant. Others have been replaced with younger workers with fresh ideas and new vitality for the greater work now in evidence with the advancing years.

The old fashioned rooms of the old club have been replaced with warm, sunny meeting places where a larger range of members, adults and children, meet weekly at the many interesting events scheduled by the directors and secretary.

Problems Erased Many problems that were stumbling blocks three years ago have been eliminated in the march of progress. Naturally, new problems come from day to day, none of which render the new association and its members worried, but which only causes them to forge ahead in a unified group towards a satisfactory solution.

A review of the activities of the past year on this anniversary date is significant of the increasing popularity of the Manchester YMCA. As the directors of the association have so often expressed it, "if only the donors could look upon us now," is in itself evidence of the spirit of appreciation existing in the rank and file of the leaders and members today.

Ever since the Y was dedicated the Women's Division has played a prominent part in the success of the association. Its activities are many and varied. There is a regular weekly program which includes such activities as the Tiny Tots dancing class, a class for children from 3 to 6 years of age. These children are given nursery dances to the melody of their well-known Mother Goose rhymes and are thereby taught the rudiments of rhythm.

The Busy Bees, a club for girls from 8-14 years is an exceedingly active group that meets once a week. During these meetings the girls engage in various kinds of handicraft or give short plays that they themselves have written and later direct. On the average of once every two months the Busy Bees enjoy a party and entertainment, the last being a Valentine party. The entertainment was a play, entitled, "The Three Bears." For this play the girls had their own rehearsals and arranged the stage.

Dancing Classes A social class for older young men and women has been held this winter and has been most successful. Tap dancing has proved extraordinarily popular, and classes both in elementary and advanced tap dancing and social dancing are held on Thursday afternoons.

Gym Activities for Women Although the social activities for women have been given a great deal of attention, work in the gym is not neglected. Friday is women's and girls' gym day. Every Friday afternoon after school a group of girls come to the gym for a period of calisthenics and basketball practice. Friday evenings a group of women do their Danish gymnastic to music. At the present time this class is asserting much interest in calisthenics and a team is being developed.

Community Activities In addition to the strictly Y activities, there are several that may be spoken of as "Community" activities. In this group could be listed the cooking demonstrations by Mrs. Arra Sutton Mixer of the Hartford Gas Company, given in the banquet hall of the Y every Tuesday afternoon for six weeks during the winter season.

This is a very popular activity with community women and the hall is always filled to capacity at these demonstrations. There is no charge for these demonstrations.

Travel Lectures Mrs. Lewis Rose's lectures on current events and travel are extremely interesting and highly educational. Mrs. Rose is completing her second season lecturing at the Y and she is well known for the quality of her addresses, both radio and before civic groups, throughout the east.

The interesting lectures on psychology given by Miss Margaret Quack, a consulting psychologist from New York, have attracted a large number of interested persons. Miss Quack's personality and humor has been very pleasing to her listeners and every effort is being directed to secure another series. "The Psychology of Women" was the subject of the last lecture.

P. H. Nursing Activities A room has been made available in the Y and given over for the use of the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association. The help clinic is held every Wednesday afternoon and on Tuesday evening the use of the room is given over to the association and allied groups for a modeling class in sewing and for reading and charting the thing and clothing for older members of the family.

Christmas Activities For two years the association has sponsored and has given over the use of the building, furnished a tree and decorations, and the help of the entire personnel for workers at Christmas time in the interests of the town's underprivileged children of pre-school age.

Every Monday afternoon a room is allowed free for the use of the sewing groups of the Heald Linnen Auxiliary and various churches have been allowed the use of the entire building free on "church nights," with the exception of bowling.

A harmonica class for boys has been conducted by Mrs. Willo Sperrant Harmonicas were furnished by the Y to those who did not own one, the players being allowed to pay for their instrument when able.

"Main Street Fair" One of the leading events of the past year was the production, "Main Street Fair," which was conducted by the Women's Division of the Y. A recent and very successful presentation was the "Wedding Gown Pageant" also conceived and executed by the ladies.

Every month the women members hold a party, usually a costume affair. The last party was a replica of a third grade schoolroom and each member came attired in rompers, short dresses or overalls. The next party is to be held on February 28 and is to be "Men's Night" in the Women's division. Each woman is to come attired in some type of masculine dress.

Young Women's Club Another popular activity which is increasing in favor at this time, is the young women's club. This club meets weekly for a sewing, knitting and cooking class. During the Christmas holidays this group sponsored a very successful formal dance at the Y and is planning a formal dance for Wednesday evening, February 21, in honor of George Washington's birthday. Several women in town have become very interested in bowling and meet every Wednesday afternoon at 2:15 for that game.

Men's Division One group of boys, known as the Friendly Indians, formerly a part of the old Community Club group, has been carried over into the Y intact. The ages of this group range between 9 and 11. Merit badges for accomplishments of unusual merit are awarded the members, and the class is led by an instructor who teaches definite character training and the will to be of help to themselves in any emergency. Each boy has two gym periods a week, one club meeting and has the privilege of attending one club craft session.

Boys of the ages 11 to 14 are members of various clubs and groups of their own choosing. These boys enjoy practically the same privileges of the juniors, with more emphasis on games and gym. Other older groups including boys aged 14 to 17, are in charge of their particular niche in the Y activities.

The boy's work program is carried out in the general club room under a trained leader who supervises the room and plans the projects to be considered by the group. Games, magazines, newspapers and books are provided this group. Basketball, volleyball, track, indoor baseball and track tournaments are held by these active members.

After each tournament the group holds a supper and the names of the winning team members are inscribed on a club shield which is placed in the boy's room.

Charles Novack is the leader in charge of the Boys' room and presides at the open forums of the club when the boys discuss sports. This group has a definite plan in which they help each other with their individual problems of all kinds. The meetings are very popular with the boys and they rarely miss them. Cads, checkers and other periodicals are provided.

Craft work is in charge of Mr. Paulina and Ralph Rockwell.

Essay Contest An essay contest, on the subject "What the Y. M. C. A. Means to Me" is being conducted by the Y. M. C. A. The contest is open to any individual who is a member of the Y. The limit of each essay is 200 words.

The Y has a representative team in the County and State Champion-ship of boys' track meet. The last team made a creditable showing and are low to compete in the State Tournament on February 24. The Junior Intermediate basketball championships are to be held this year in Manchester.

Once a week the boys hold a stunt night with movies. Also certain selected boys are the guests of Manager George Hoover at a performance in the State Theater.

Recreation for Boys Mark Holmes is in charge of the boys' committee including adults and boys. At creditable the members also as boy problems. This group is also represented on the state Boys' Work Council.

The Leaders' group consists of volunteer leaders who direct various groups of Y clubs. They meet once each month to discuss programs and methods of policy initiation.

Adult Activities Activities for adults are recreational, rather than along the lines of physical education and the various classes are well attended. In this group volleyball is played five days and one evening each week and hand ball three days and one evening and basketball one evening. Dr. Cuyler V. Hauch, resident of the Manchester Memorial hospital, teaches a class in jiu jitsu and wrestling and Walter Olson teaches a class in boxing one evening a week.

Attendance Records During the month of December there were 177 sessions in the Y in which 2,069 boys and men participated.

A class of physicians and professional men at the Y each week is well attended. This class meets each Wednesday afternoon from 8:30 to 4:30 and enjoys volleyball, and also competes with other Y groups on occasion.

Playground Facilities In the summer the Y in co-operation with the Eighth District carries on a varied activity in rear of the building on the playground. When the grounds are completed and the plans now under consideration are realized, space will be available for several large groups at the one time.

ROBINSON AND TOBIN IN "DARK HAZARD" FILM

Cast as Screen Mates for Second Time—Were Together in "I Loved a Woman."

For the second time, in successive pictures, Edward G. Robinson and Genevieve Tobin have been cast as screen mates. They played together in the first National picture "I Loved a Woman." Miss Tobin playing the jealous, bitter and neglected wife of Robinson who portrayed the ruthless meat packer in this picture.

Now again they are screen lovers in the first National picture "Dark Hazard," which comes to the State theater on Friday. And again the happy sweethearts turns into an unhappy wife. This time she is neglected for another woman as in the "Packaging" picture, but for the "Goddess of Chance," Robinson being an inveterate gambler.

True, another woman, in Glenda Farrell, does enter the picture as a wily vamp who sets her eye on the other woman's husband, but Robinson is so wrapped up in his passion for gambling that he has little time for the gentler sex.

There is a strong supporting cast which includes, besides those mentioned, such noted stage and screen players as Robert Barrat, Gordon Westcott, Hobart Cavanaugh, George Meeker, Henry B. Walthall, Sidney Toler, Emma Dunn, Willard Robertson, Barbara Rogers and William V. Mong.

The story is by W. R. Burnett, author of "Little Caesar," in which Robinson won his greatest screen fame. It was a dramatic for the screen by Brown Holmes and Ralph Block. Alfred E. Green directed.

Dorothy Wilson, feature player in Paramount's "Eight Girls in a Boat," the second feature on this same program, was once a Hollywood stenographer. Her first role was in "Age of Innocence," "Eight Girls in a Boat" is her fourth role. Appearing with Miss Wilson are Douglas Montgomery, Kay Johnson, and Walter Connolly.

As added attractions to the Friday and Saturday programs each week an episode of the famous Pearl White serial "Perils of Pauline" and a Mickey Mouse cartoon will be shown.

GIRL SCOUT LEADERS STAGE GET-TOGETHER

Mrs. J. E. Rand and Mrs. Albert Todd Welcomed as New Members of Council.

About 40 officers, Brownie leaders and council members of the Manchester Girl Scout organization were present at the get-together held at the Highland Park clubhouse last evening. The supper was served at 8:30 and consisted of baked ham, scalloped potatoes, tomato aspic salad, relishes, rolls, apple pie, cheese and coffee. Following the supper Mrs. Charles Oliver, scout commissioner, welcomed two new members of the council, Mrs. J. E. Rand, and Mrs. Albert Todd. She also expressed the thanks of the council to the different ones who helped to make the recent rally such a success.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (Stop Growth of Warts)

Question: From St. Paul, Minn.: "Someone tells me that they were able to stop the formation of warts by following some directions you sent them through the mail. Is there any way I can secure these same instructions?"

Answer: You will be pleased to see that you receive the article on Warts if you will be kind enough to write me, giving your full name and address and sending a stamped envelope.

(Has Bad Breath) Question: Mr. M. of Piqua, Ohio, writes: "I am in good health otherwise, but I am greatly bothered with bad breath. I have had examination and was told that I am in fine shape in every way. Could you advise me how I could overcome my trouble and also get rid of a bad taste in my mouth?"

Answer: As explained in the enclosed article I am sending you by mail, bad breath may be due to any number of causes and is usually a curable condition. I would suggest that you follow the directions given in the article on Bad Breath as I am sure that this will bring about some improvement.

(Write for Private Reply) Answer of Mrs. M. I. W. of Los Angeles, Calif.: "I advise that you write me again, enclosing your full name and address with your letter as there is no way in which I could possibly answer your question through this column."

OLSON ELECTED CLUB PRESIDENT

Swedish-American Republican Club to Enter Politics Actively.

John I. Olson of 12 Jackson street, well known painter and decorator, was elected president of the Swedish-American Republican club at its annual meeting last night at Orange hall. The attendance at the meeting fell below expectations but the members present were unanimous in endorsing the program recommended, to bring the club to the fore as a strong political organization.

It was recommended that the name of the club be changed to the Scandinavian Political club, in order that persons of Swedish, Danish and Norwegian extraction may be eligible for membership, as well as those who wish to be independent of specific party affiliation. It is hoped to effect a notable increase in the membership of the club, which now numbers over 300 persons.

It was also recommended that the executive committee consist of the four officers and twelve members of the club, including six men and six women. These members will be elected at the next meeting at which time a vote also will be taken on the change of name.

Mr. Olson succeeds Ernest L. Kjellson as president. John Wengberg was named vice president to succeed Clarence H. Anderson who presided at the opening of the meeting in the absence of Mr. Kjellson. Ewald Matson and Harry Gustafson were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

A committee consisting of the president, secretary and treasurer, also was appointed to arrange a series of social affairs to raise funds with which to conduct a political campaign in the town elections in the fall.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Thursday, March 15.

Ridgefield, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Fire which was traced to an overheated furnace pipe today, wrecked the home of John Trevor Adams, president of the board of directors of the Federal Broadcasting Company which operates station WMCA in New York City.

Ridgefield firemen were handicapped by the severe cold. The mercury stood at zero. They were fortunate in the close proximity of a mill pond from which to draw water, but even this failed to prevent the fire from spreading.

It was the eleventh fire this year in Ridgefield.

Milers Clash in Board Track Muddle Tomorrow

By JIMMY DONAHUE
NEA Service Sports Writer

New York, Feb. 16.—"To be or not to be" the greatest miler in the United States is the challenge confronting Glenn Cunningham, the "lame Indian" athlete of the University of Kansas, and Bill Bonthron, the smiling whirlwind from Princeton.

The inaugural meeting of these two will take place here Saturday, Feb. 17, in the New York A. C. games. The following day they will face each other again in the National A. U. games, and a possible third duel is set for March 3 during the running of the I. C. 4-A meet.

To say that these two milers will race for top honors is to go out on a limb. But in view of Cunningham's performance this year, the venture isn't too hazardous. At the start of the season Glenn eliminated his other chief threat—Gene Venke, the Penn sophomore.

Venke after winning the Boston K. of C. mile in handy fashion against a mediocre field, met Cunningham in the Wanamaker mile of the Milrose games. His jinx from the western plains, running a smart race, clipped off a 4:11.2 mile to win easily.

Venke has beaten Cunningham once in two years, and while holding the indoor record with a 4:10 mile, he is practically convinced that the westerner is the better miler. Just before he lost the Wanamaker mile, Gene announced he would retire from mile competition if beaten by Cunningham, and would concentrate on the two-mile event. However, he apparently has reversed that decision, and will race against the Kansas and Bonthron in the coming weeks.

Cunningham's chief competition, then, will come from Bonthron, the kid who broke a world record in finishing second in a mile race last summer. Bill followed Jack Lovelock, Australian, across the finish line when the boy from down under set a new world mile mark of 4:8.2. The Princeton lad was only a few seconds slower.

Bonthron's performance in this mile would indicate that he can take Cunningham, because the Kansas has nothing like that outdoor mile mark to his credit. But there are several reasons why that won't happen. The first is that Glenn isn't a clock runner. He doesn't time his laps, and he doesn't set out to establish any new records. He runs always within one or two strides of the leader, saving enough stamina to put on a finish dash and pass a spent front runner.

Lawson Robertson, Penn track coach and Olympic mentor in 1932, has remarked that if Cunningham were a clock runner he could probably do a mile in 4:6.

Cunningham has done the outside mile in close to 4:9, without watching the clock. He merely let other lead and didn't have to extend himself to win. Running against time, he might have done better. His 4:12 mile indoors last season was the fastest of the year.

Cunningham's experience on the boards, where he has been pounding for more than a month now, is figured a handicap to Bonthron, who has competed in only one indoor race this season. All things considered, Cunningham should cop the first two meetings between them, with Bonthron catching his stride in the last—if he enters the I. C. 4-A—and giving Glenn a run for his dough.

Threaten World Records In New York A. C. Meet

New York, Feb. 16.—(AP)—

Bonthron ran the fastest eight world indoor track and field records will be subject to another battering tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden with no assurance they will be able to stand the assault. Scrutiny of the entry list for the New York A. C. games reveals strong possibility of new indoor standards for the mile, pole vault and high jump.

The Eastern Mile, bringing together Glenn Cunningham of Kansas, Bill Bonthron of Princeton and Gene Venke of Pennsylvania, of course, looms as the chief magnet for the already capacity crowd of 18,000. Venke's indoor record of 4:10 certainly is in real danger.

HEAD OF SENATORS HAS HIS WORRIES

Clark Griffith Having a Bad Attack of Contract Trouble These Days.

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Clark C. ("Old Fox") Griffith, winner of many a holdout battle as owner of the Washington Senators, is having a bad attack of contract trouble.

From Biloxi, Miss., where Griffith has gone into training in advance of his American League championship for the continuing wage battles, comes word that he is even losing some time from his golf because of worry. Griffith is reported to feel a deep pain on the right side of his infield.

Joe Kuhel, first baseman and probably the Senators' fastest advancing star, was sent back in some dudgeon an unsigned contract suggesting that he take a cut.

Unsigned also is Buddy Myer at second, along with entire catching department. Heinie Manush, heavy hitting outfielder, and the entire pitching staff with the exception of Monte Weaver.

Griffith has several men coming up from the minors or the sandlots for tryouts. He will take an extra look at three bought from Albany—Mark Filley, a pitcher, and Fred Sington and Austin Dugas, outfielders.

PERRY TO TURN PROFESSIONAL IF ENGLAND LOSES DAVIS CUP

M. H. S. at Middletown, Guards Face Burnsides; Hartford High Game Off

Determined not to slip below fourth place in the Central Connecticut Interscholastic League standing, Manchester High invades Middletown tonight for a League encounter, bent on repeating their previous victory over Middletown by a score of 28-24. A triumph tonight will clinch fourth place, while a defeat will cause a tie with Middletown.

Guards Underdog At St. Mary's hall in East Hartford the National Guards and the All-Burnsides clash in the fourth game of their 1933-34 series with the shooting circus out to even matters at two-all to force the series into a fifth and deciding game. The outcome seems to depend on whether or not the Thayer Brothers and Jemmer Gray will have their shooting form tonight or if the Guards can regain the form that was good enough to take the Burnsides into camp during the last two occasions when these natural rivals met. On the small surface of St. Mary's it will be difficult for the town champs to halt the Burnsides but if the Guards once start to click a sizzling battle is in prospect.

Cancel Hartford Game The Red and White has little chance to improve its position in the League race, as East Hartford is heavily favored to beat West Hartford and remain in third place. Great interest centers on the Bristol-Meriden tit, in which Bristol seeks its 16th straight victory. Many are of the opinion that Meriden will upset the Monahanmen and bring about a deadlock for first place.

Manchester High's game with Hartford High, scheduled for tomorrow night, has been cancelled due to lack of an available playing surface in town. The Armory is being used for the Auto Show and it was felt that the School Street Rec would not accommodate the huge crowd of students that attend the home games.

JEBY AND DUNDEE MEET TONIGHT IN 10-ROUNDER

Bout May Pave Way for Two Title Bouts If Matchmaker Lewis' Plans Work Out; Hopes to Present McLarin Against Champion.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Vince Dundee, generally recognized on this side of the Atlantic as middle-weight champion, and Ben Jemy who had the same distinction less than a year ago, will meet tonight in a ten round non-title bout calculated to help major league boxing back on its feet in Chicago.

Plans Title Bout Lewis' plans work out, it will pave the way for a pair of championship bouts in the Atlantic. Tuesday evening's fight between Frankie Battaglia, toughter Italian from Winnipeg, Man., and Kid Leonard of East Moline, Ill., has been promised a title match with Dundee, an arrangement which involves some ifs.

Dundee, of course, must lick Jemy. The winner of the Battaglia-Leonard battle also must operate impressively in an attempt to add the middle-weight title to his collection. Pop Foster, James' manager, turned down an offer to meet Dundee in the east, on the grounds that Vince is too big. McLarin was offered the challenger's 1 per cent at that occasion. Matchmaker Lewis, however, has offered James 2 1/2 per cent for meeting Dundee in the stadium, figuring that the extra 10 per cent will cause Foster to forget about Dundee's size.

Tonight originally was selected for a bout between Max Schmeling, who took a beating from Steve Hamas at Philadelphia Tuesday, and King Levinsky, Chicago's former fish peddler, who did not do any too well against Charlie Massera in Madison Square Garden last week.

The bout fell through because the managements of the fighters failed to agree on how to split the money.

LILAC BLUES WIN

The Lilac Blues wrapped up another one-sided basketball victory at the West Side Rec by defeating the Thunderbolts, 61-28. The Lilac Blues with Kose dropping in some shots from short range, ran up a 28-7 lead shortly before the first quarter closed. During the second quarter the Thunderbolts made but one basket. The usual smooth functioning attack of the Thunderbolts' machine was missing Saturday afternoon. Kose was the head man in the Lilac Blues works. Not only was his slashing floor game a constant thorn on the Thunderbolts' side but he led the scoring with 20 points. Wylie and Obie teamed up with Kose to form an almost impenetrable defense. McCann and Reardon were the big guns for the Thunderbolts.

The Lilac Blues would like a game with the Heights or any other team in this class.

Work Like Convicts Last July, after the American team had been beaten in the inter-zone finals in Paris, a noted French professional remarked that "Americans work at tennis like convicts." The second half found the North Ends gradually drawing away from the Fillers and the latter team never managed their opponents after that. The third quarter ended with the North Ends leading 21-13, A desperate attempt on the Fillers' parts to get back on even terms via the long shot route failed in the final moments of play. # Tennis Body Makes Sport Jail Term Says Braucher

By BILL BRAUCHER
(NEA Sports Editor)

With what you might call a hey-nonny-conny, Prexy Walter Merrill Hall responds to those cross critics who sunk a few verbal shafts in the U. S. L. T. A. after the United States' defeat in the Davis Cup matches last summer.

"Tennis is a sport," says Mr. Hall, "and it should not be regarded as a national calamity when our team is beaten."

Maybe tennis is a sport. Correct if I'm wrong, but it has been my impression during the last 10 years that the U. S. L. T. A. was trying to make a jail term out of it.

Football and Golf It is no secret, though, that Americans go in for sports in not what you could call a spirit of levity. Some years ago a Harvard football hero won undying infamy by calling cur intercollegiate football drudgery. Yale popped up last year with a laughing team, and a new coaching staff for 1934 resulted.

In golf there are so many serious players—and many of them palatial dwellers—that they are fun to the point of ridiculousness. The British definition of sport is entirely different from ours. They regard it as pleasure. To Americans it means unyielding competition. The British idea produced Joe Backett, however, so perhaps too much should not be said about that.

SO SAYS MANAGER OF TILDEN TROUPE AT COCHET DINNER

By ALAN GOULD

No Offer Made to British Act as Yet; French Star and Partner Honored; To Play Next Week.

New York, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The new slogan in tennis seems to be: "Lose the Davis cup and turn professional!"

Big Bill Tilden, Ellsworth Vines and Hank Cochet all forsook amateur ranks after setbacks in the blue ribbon event of international tennis and their business manager, Bill O'Brien, went on record today with the statement that Fred Perry, British star, will turn professional this year, if England loses the Davis cup.

No offer has yet been made to Perry, according to O'Brien, but it is known that the British star, who holds the United States amateur singles title, has already given some consideration to professionalism, pending developments in his amateur career. If and when he should decide to forsake the simon-pures, he will be welcomed with open arms by the current professional team.

O'Brien's statement was made in connection with a dinner given last night in honor of Cochet and his French partner, Martin Pila, who met Tilden and Vines in the first of a series of two matches next week at Madison Square Garden.

Cochet shrugged in response to a question on his opinion of this year's Davis cup prospects but then added, with the help of Col. John Reed Kilpatrick as interpreter: "It would be between America and England in the challenge round."

Cochet adds his testimony to that of Tilden, Vines and other ex-amateurs that the exit from Davis cup competition is, freely translated, "a load off the mind."

As translated by Colonel Kilpatrick, the Frenchman asserted: "I did not begin to get real enjoyment out of tennis until I turned professional. The six years in which he played a major role in France's Davis cup triumphs weighed heavily, it seemed, and Henri added: "I did not want to grow old as an amateur."

While he did not say so, the enjoyment of M. Cochet as a professional has not been lessened by perusal of O'Brien's financial reports on the Tilden-Vines tour, now nearing a close with aggregate gate receipts of about $10,000 and a profit to each of the principals in excess of $25,000 for some five weeks of cross country competition.

BOZEMAN WINS SIXTH STRAIGHT CUE MATCH

New York, Feb. 16.—(AP)—

Arthur Thurnbald's chances of winning the world three cushion billiard crown are slim indeed, but the young Chicagoan can be credited with the finest come-back of the tourney to date.

After taking successive beatings from Willie Hoppe, Allen Hall and Jay Bozeman, Thurnbald suddenly found himself and today had won five matches in a row to pull up to sixth place in the standings.

Bozeman hung up his sixth straight triumph of the tournament yesterday, beating Tilt Denton, 50, to 34, while Welker Cochran remained in the running with a fifty-47 decision over Kinsey Matsuyama for his fifth victory against one defeat. Otto Reisel won the other game of the day from Augie Kleckmeyer, 50-49.

COLD RECEPTION

When Henri Cochet, French tennis star, arrived in New York to join the professional troupe of Bill Tilden, he found things weren't so hot as in his native land—what with those Paris riots. He's warming his ears.

Canadiens Whip Rangers As Howie Morenz Stars

New York, Feb. 16.—(AP)—

The Amerks passed up a similar chance to co-operate. They played a 1-1 tie with the Detroit Red Wings in a loose contest.

The Red Wings went into the American division lead with a point ahead of the Rangers while the Amerks finished three behind the Canadiens. Meanwhile the Chicago Blackhawks improved their position in the American section by trouncing the Ottawa Senators 5 to 2 at Chicago.

Marty Barry, backhanded Boston center, was the "fair haired boy" of the Bruins attack which brought a 4-4 tie with the Montreal Maroons, second place club of the Canadian section. Barry scored the first two goals, then passed to Dit Clapper for another pair after the Maroons had scored four times in the first two periods.

The Canadiens needed the victory badly as their hold on third place was threatened by the New York Americans. The Rangers however, failed to help their townsmen and ### Wesleyan Guild Members at Silver Tea Enjoy Hartford Woman's Talk.

A large group of women attended the silver tea at the South Methodist church yesterday afternoon, sponsored by Mrs. Lawrence Case's group of the Wesleyan Guild.

The guest speaker was Miss Katherine Munn Pattillo of Hartford, consultant stylist, who spoke on spring fashions. Cheney Brothers kindly loaned samples of their line of new spring print silks for Miss Pattillo's use in explaining suitable colors and designs for the various ages and complexions.

She emphasized the importance of accessories, and their combination to form a single unit. Every woman is born with style, she said, but fashion changes to create a demand for new things. Her talk was most enlightening and much enjoyed.

Miss Mary Benton, Mrs. E. H. Crosby and Miss Henrietta Devon presided at the tea tables which were attractively decorated with flowers and candies.

FREEDOM OF LITHUANIA OBJECT OF CELEBRATION

Occasion Will Be Observed With Exercises at Liberty Hall Tomorrow Night.

A celebration marking the sixteenth anniversary of the liberty of Lithuania, for which a war was waged over a period of two centuries, will be held in Liberty hall on Gaiway street tomorrow night.

The occasion is one that will bring to Manchester former residents of that country and their sons and daughters. The program will include speeches and songs about the folk lore of the native land, of the United States and musical numbers of various kinds. The entertainers will come from Hartford and New Britain and a program that will provide a full night's entertainment has been arranged for.

The history of Lithuania is one of which native sons have long felt proud. They have told their children of the fight made in the 17th century against overwhelming odds and the continued effort to hold their nation's pride and traditions. This was not again made possible until the close of the World War, which brought about the final independence of the nation.

FIGHT OVER EXPENSES DARKENS SUFFIELD SPAN

Thompsonville, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A highway bridge spanning the Connecticut river between Thompsonville and Suffield may be in darkness tonight because of a three cornered controversy as to who is responsible for certain maintenance charges.

Several weeks ago a foot path on the bridge was closed because no one would assume responsibility for needed repairs. Town officials of Suffield and Enfield contended the repairs should be undertaken by the State Highway Department because the bridge is a section of the state highway route. The state department countered with the assertion that it has no jurisdiction of sidewalks.

The latest move in the controversy has been taken by the highway department. It has ordered a local utilities company to discontinue electric lighting on the span beginning tonight. The bridge will be in darkness, barring some last minute development.

Since the closing of the foot path, pedestrians have used the highway portion of the bridge.

KILLED BY BLAST

Torrington, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Padan Iron, 38, of Torrington was instantly killed this morning, while blasting on the Sharon-Cornwall bridge road job. Irone and a NRA worker were engaged in setting off small blasts as head of the shovel gang and Irone thinking that he had failed to light the fuse went back to the charge and was bending over it when it went off. He leaves two children.

OPEN FORUM

OPPOSES UNION

Editor of Evening Herald: Will you kindly grant me a little space in your public forum column to express my humble opinion regarding the loomfixer and weavers of Cheney Brothers linking themselves up with the United Textile Workers of America. I do this to realize at the risk of placing the respect of some of the laboring men of this community whose friendship I prize very highly. But I also realize that the peace and happiness of many families will be jeopardized by such a move and the road to recovery will be blocked for all of us for many a day. I write as a laboring man and as a friend of laboring men everywhere. I am one who sacrificed considerable for the cause of labor back in 1901. I was a loomfixer with the local firm in those days and was quite active in the discussions which took place then. We had no Works Council at that time hence no opportunity of sitting down in a friendly manner and discussing our problems together as employers and employees. If we could have had this friendly opportunity much of the suffering of those days would have been avoided. I am sure. We gained nothing calling in the United Textile organizers to help us, and those who remember those days feel the same as I do that if nothing was gained then surely nothing will be gained at this time.

The sacrifices which some of us made in 1901 is bearing fruit today. You have a different condition entirely. The whole organization of Cheney Brothers has met with a change of heart and you fellows who work there are a part of the organization and have a voice in its management, surely you are not going to throw this all up for the sake of belonging to the larger organization perhaps, but who will have no interest in you whatsoever except as it may help to boost their cause. Put yourself for a moment in the place of Cheney Brothers. They are struggling and have been for several years to gain a foothold so that they can once more operate at a profit. No dividends for five years to any of their stockholders. Operating in the red all this time. You and I know nothing about the strain which these men are under, or if we do we don't sympathize with them as we might. I know some of you feel that they are to blame, because of the system. But be that true or not, that is a matter of opinion only. This much is true they have modified that system and have thereby cut their overhead greatly and things are looking brighter for them and for the workers. They are doing fine, and should have the hearty cooperation of their workers. They are interested today in every man and woman in their employ, and stand ready to listen to anything that is within reason, and grant that which will be for the best of all concerned.

We speak of ourselves as laboring men in distinction from our employers, forgetting that they labor also, and many times their task is harder than ours. Just now I believe it is much harder, and they are giving their very life blood to save their business and keep as many of their employees as possible on the payroll.

My advice is, then, that you make the most of your Works Council. Work harmoniously with those who understand the local situation thoroughly, but do not at this time call in outsiders who don't know what it is all about. You are only inviting more trouble for yourselves and for the whole community, and the good Lord knows we have trouble enough all of us without

TRAINMASTER DIES

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Timothy Bernard O'Leary, 49, of 5 High street, trainmaster of the Boston and Albany railroad with headquarters at Worcester, and prominently identified with railroading for the last 32 years, died of pneumonia at City hospital early this morning.

NOW EATS ANY KIND OF FOOD, AND NO CONSTIPATION

Mr. Durigan Finds Relief in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here is his enthusiastic letter: "Am 70 years of age, and for 40 of these years there never was a week but what I had to take a pill or some kind of cathartic.

"I took everything, but gained only temporary relief. Until last spring my daughter, who is a nurse in a hospital, brought me some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

"At the end of the week, I knew I had something that was it, and I kept on taking it. I haven't taken a cathartic since. I can eat meat any time, as often as I like, or any other kind of food, and no constipation." Mr. L. M. Durigan, 6811 Buffalo Ave., Jacksonville, Florida.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help muscle tone. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much safer than patent medicines. Two table-spoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

READY FOR FINAL MASS FOR PRIEST

Bishop John J. Nilan Celebrant of Last Rites for Father McCann.

The body of Rev. Christopher T. McCann, pastor of St. Bridget's church, which has been at the undertaking rooms of William P. Quish since the sudden death of the priest Wednesday, was last night brought to the rectory on Main street, just south of the church of which he was pastor for 21 years. The body is in a mahogany casket similar in construction to those used when priests lie in state before burial, the body being somewhat elevated.

As the body reposed in the rectory last night guards of honor, selected from members of St. Bridget's church, took up their vigil beside the casket. Guards stood by throughout the night and all day today until 8 o'clock when the body was taken from the rectory to the church.

Body in Church. As the body was taken from the rectory to the church this afternoon, a guard of honor was lined up from the rectory door to the walk, down the street to the main entrance of the church and up the steps of the church. The body was carried into the front of the altar, outside of the rail, where again guards took up their watch. They will remain on duty, being relieved from hour to hour, through the night until the mass at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Masses. The first mass tomorrow will be at 8 o'clock and will be for the children of the church. The pontifical mass will be celebrated at 10 o'clock with Most Rev. John J. Nilan, bishop, as celebrant, assisted by Very Rev. Mr. William Flynn, master of ceremonies, who in turn will be assisted by Very Rev. Francis P. Keough, bishop-elect of the Providence diocese, assisting as master of ceremonies.

There will be forty priests within the altar railing and other priests, estimated to number 125, will be seated on the north and south sides of the church. The eulogy will be delivered by Rev. Flinton Tehan, pastor of St. Catherine's church, Broad Brook.

Tonight's Service. Tonight at 7:30 there will be a large gathering in the church. Many out of town priests are to be present when the office of the dead will be chanted by Rev. Thomas F. Dennehy, director of sacred music at St. Thomas' Seminary. The responses will be given by the visiting priests and the congregation.

Ushers Named. In expectation of an unusually large gathering at the church tomorrow and the necessity of a large portion of the church being reserved for the priests, nuns, members of Father McCann's family, honorary and active bearers, there will be need for ushers. At a meeting of the Holy Name Society of the church last night twelve ushers with Andrew Healey as chairman were named. They will be present at the 8 o'clock mass and also the 10 o'clock mass. Mr. Healey will direct the activities of the ushers, who are to gather in the basement at 7:30 tomorrow morning to be assigned. Those who will serve as ushers in addition to Mr. Healey, are: Paul Cervini, Lawrence Tuohy, Roy Griswold, Lawrence Jarvis, Robert Coleman, William Griffin, Francis Hart, John Boyle, William Buckley, Charles Obright and Frederick McCarthy. The ushers will await the arrival of the family of the pastor of the church, the visiting priests, nuns and active and honorary bearers before seating them who attend. The remaining part of the church will be opened and there is sure to be many more who would like to be present than the capacity of the church will allow.

Lunch for Priests. The mass that will start at 10 o'clock will not be over much before noon. Following the closing of the mass there will be a lunch served in the rectory to the bishops and priests having an active part in the celebration of the mass. It is estimated that there will be twenty-five in this group. To take care of these and also the ninety more priests expected to be present, Osano has been secured to cater.

Women To Assist. To provide for the large number of priests to be served lunch in the basement, tables were this morning taken from the house and erected in the basement of the church. These are to be decorated by Osano. The women of the church at their meeting last night, with Mrs. Sarah Healey appointed as chairman, made a selection of those who will be present to serve. Those named for this work are Mrs. Lillian Mahoney, Miss Mary McGuire, Miss Anna McGuire, Mrs. Millicent Walleit, Miss Stephanie Tinsky, Mrs. Sarah Healey, Mrs. Agnes Dwyer, Mrs. Mary Cervini, Mrs. Harry Adams, Mrs. Bessie Newman, Mrs. Maude Foley, Mrs. Katharine Williams, Miss Mary Boyle, Miss Dorothy Toohy, Mrs. Matthew Merz, Mrs. Mary Scranton, Mrs. Julia Rawson, Miss Rose Pallier, Miss Louise Pallier, Miss Alda Pagan and Mrs. Liana Soper.

Automobile Parking. Because of the large number of automobiles that will be in the vicinity of the church, arrangements have been made to secure extra parking space in order that the cars be taken off the street. Scott E. Simon of Johnson Machine Company has given permission for the parking of cars in the lot to the west of the factory where ample space will be found. Chief Samuel G. Gordon will have police on duty today, tonight and tomorrow directing the traffic. There will also be parking space allotted in the yard of the Chertier home on the east side of Main street.

Police Escort. It will be about 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon before the funeral cortege will be formed. State policemen have been assigned to come to Manchester and they will head the funeral procession from Manchester to Westport where the burial will take place. As the cemetery in Westport there will be a large number of former friends of Father McCann to assist in the committal services.

Church Decorated. The church has been given a mourning decoration. Over the main entrance to the church on the Main street side has been placed a wide black drap and the only other decorations of mourning are over the two doors located on the north and south of the altar, over which there has also been placed black drapes. These simple decorations stand out in contrast with the white altar where for the last time there will be offered up the mass for the deceased priest before which he has served his mass for over twenty-one years.

Two names were inadvertently omitted from the list of honorary bearers for the funeral of Father McCann. The list should have included Daniel J. Ward of Marble street, who has been a pew rent collector at St. Bridget's church for more than forty years, and Thomas D. Coleman, Sr., of Lydial street, who has been a trustee of the church for the past thirty-two years.

COLUMBIA

The Board of Relief held the third and last meeting Wednesday at the Town hall. Although quite a few have examined the books, there are few complaints to be acted upon. The grand list as made up by the assessors is slightly more than the previous year, $1,088,745 for 1933 and $1,080,854 for 1932. The slight difference is mostly accounted for by the completion of new buildings.

Mrs. Helen Stottfeldt of Manchester was a guest Wednesday of her sister, Mrs. Edith Isham. Raymond Squier is suffering from water on the knee due to a fall, and will have to remain in bed for some time to rest the injured part. Miss Ann Dix entertained twelve of her friends Wednesday afternoon in honor of St. Valentine's Day. Hearts was played. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Marion Hurlbutt won first prize, Mrs. Margaret Woodward, second prize, and Mrs. Edith Isham, consolation prize. Following the Grange meeting Wednesday evening, dancing in the upper hall and what in the lower hall entertained all who cared for either of the amusements. There were six tables of whist, with a number of young people to enjoy dancing. Mrs. Vera Lyman and Guy Emerson won first prizes for whist and Mrs. Evelyn Williams and Lester Hurlbutt were given consolation prizes.

The next meeting of the Grange will be Music night in charge of Raymond Lyman and Albert Emerson. There will also be a debate. A new class will be taken into the Grange soon, six applications already having been received. This Grange will entertain Pomona in April, at which time there will be opportunity for those wishing to take the Fifth degree to do so. The next meeting is February 28.

Mr. and Mrs. James Powell of Ozone Park, L. I., spent Sunday and Lincoln's birthday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Tucker. Word has been received of the death in Hartford Wednesday night of the wife of Dr. Samuel Little, Dr. Little was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James P. Little of Columbia, and was born and lived in Columbia until as a young man he went to Hartford. Surveyors have been busy for the past few days with their instruments at the intersection at the Green and on the road running east and west from that point. Center school pupils have published a school magazine called "Dartmouth Doings" and copies have been distributed to parents and friends. Mary Szegda is editor-in-chief and she had several assistants. Children of the school contributed the contents. They have already started working on the second issue. Their use of the word "Dartmouth" no doubt is in remembrance of the fact that the present Center school house was the birthplace of Dartmouth college, in the form of Dr. Eleanor Wheelock's school for Indians.

A Valentine party was enjoyed at this school on Wednesday. Original stories and poems by the children were read. A spelling match was held, with Mary Szegda as champion of the upper grades and Margaret Mellinger of the lower grades. A committee composed of Muriel Austin, Virginia Collins and Mary Szegda served refreshments consisting of crackers, cake, cookies, doughnuts, candy and punch.

Over 500 Valentines were exchanged. There is an unusual amount of sickness ranging from hay fever, grip and throat infections in town at the present time.

PERILOUS JOB THAWING GAS PIPES UNDERTAKEN

Frozen Mains Reduce Pressure and Delay Work in Several Bakeries and Restaurants.

The thawing of "frozen gas," which is considered an unusual and dangerous "experiment" was tried by the service department of the Rockville-Willimantic Lighting company in Rockville Thursday and proved a success.

The experiment followed the freezing of the gas main leading to the Liberty Bakery, owned by Julius Beer, on Market street. There has been trouble with the gas pressure for several days and the service failed almost completely yesterday.

The electric hook-up of the gas department of the Rockville-Willimantic Lighting company was put into operation on Market street yesterday morning. Mr. Beer was using his ovens at the time under greatly reduced pressure which furnished an inadequate supply of gas.

The electric thawing outfit returned to the Liberty Bakery at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon for another try on thawing the gas pipe.

The linemen made connections with the 220 volt primary line on Market street and with a 50 kilowatt transformer on a truck made a temporary power station. The voltage was regulated through a "rheostat" made of heavy wire of water with an iron plate lowered into it with a rope.

Heavy wires were laid from the truck to the Main and Market street blocks and at 4:40 p. m., the power was turned on. Scores of people were attracted by the sight of the gas pipe on the road as the insulation burned off. The wires were laid into the different blocks and with the head caused by the resistance between the two connections the gas pipe gradually became hot.

The pipe, which was 1 1/2 inches in diameter with heavy connections, heated very slowly. The gas pressure was boosted up so as to force the gas through the pipe when the ice melted or softened. After 55 minutes the gas service was increased 50 per cent when some of the ice in the pipe gave way.

But for the danger of explosion should the pipe become red hot under the resistance and the high gas pressure, the linemen could have used 220 volts and nearly twice the amperage. This would have made the gas pipe nearly red hot in short order.

A guard was kept about the section where the men were working so that if an explosion did occur, there would be no serious injuries.

Nine different water pipes were thawed yesterday by the electric method. The cost has not been figured as yet but it is estimated that it will average about $5 each for electricity. The Rockville-Willimantic Lighting company used similar methods in 1917 when the water pipes froze similar to this year.

A short calendar session, the last one of the winter term of the Tolland County Superior Court, has been called for Monday morning at 10 o'clock by Judge Frank P. McEvoy of Waterbury. Numerous short calendar matters which have been pending for several months are to be disposed of at the present term of the court.

The short calendar cases will be heard in the following order: The Savings Bank of Tolland vs. John Szeszowicki, disclosure of defense, judgment; The Savings Bank of Tolland vs. Charles E. White and others, default for failure to appear, disclosure of defense, judgment; Walter Perry State Bank Commissioner, Conservator, vs. Charles A. Frost and others, default, judgment; Elmer R. Valenzuela Administrator, vs. The Ballroom Yeast Corporation, application for order authorizing and directing the receiver to pay a final dividend to the unsecured creditors and order thereon; Max Friedrich vs. Anna H. Balzer, motion for permission to disappear as attorney for defendant; The Jewish Agricultural Society, Inc., vs. Abraham Stocker, also known as Abram Stocker, and others, disclosure of defense, default, judgment; Florence Voorhees Weck vs. Otto Weck, divorce.

Sadlak Appointed
William V. Sadlak, secretary of the Board of Assessors of the town of Vernon, and prominent leader in the police ranks of the community, was appointed a director of the Rockville Building & Loan association Wednesday evening to succeed the late Charles S. Bottomley.

At the annual meeting of the board this week President George Arnold, Jr., presided. After the reading of the usual reports the following directors and officers were elected for the ensuing year: directors, William Maxwell, John P. Cameron, George Arnold, Jr., David A. Sykes, John E. Fahey, Fred J. Cooley, Sherwood C. Cummings, Frederick H. Holt, Alfred Rosenberg, J. Henry McCray, Charles M. Squires, Lebeus F. Bissell, Frederick W. Bradley, William V. Sadlak.

REVOLUTIONARY SONS TO CONVENE FEB. 22

Annual Banquet to Be Held in Bridgeport—Dr. Ogilby to Speak.

The Connecticut Society of the Sons of the American Revolution will hold its annual banquet on Washington's Birthday in Bridgeport this year at the Stratfield Hotel, where the General Gold Stillman Branch No. 8 will act as host.

Attorney Earle W. Smith, President of the Branch, has announced that Dr. Remsen B. Ogilby, President of Trinity College, will be the principal speaker at the noonday banquet at which are expected some 300 members from all parts of the state.

Foremost among the notables expected to attend this affair will be His Excellency, Governor Wilbur L. Cross, Senator Frederic C. Walcott and Chief Justice William M. Maithe, who are all members of the society.

Rev. William Horace Day, pastor of the United church, and the Rev. Frederic C. Walcott and Chief Justice William M. Maithe, who are all members of the society.

Resolved: That it is with deep sorrow we record the passing on of Charles S. Bottomley, on Saturday morning, January 6, 1934, at the age of 87 years. Our whole community was shocked by his sudden death. Mr. Bottomley came to Rockville in May, 1897; was elected a director of our association February 16, 1919 and was an honored member of our board for 24 years.

In his important business relations, and his ability to advise in financial matters, he was a most valuable asset, not only to our association, but to the community in which he lived. Quietly unassuming, dignified and considerate and straight-forward in his dealings, he was a man of rare humor, and we shall never forget his sunny disposition that seemed so much a part of the man himself.

Resolved: That we extend our sincere sympathy to his family in their deep affliction, and that we cause these resolutions to be spread upon the records, and a copy be sent to his wife, Mrs. Bottomley.

Nurses Present Report
A report of unusual interest has just been submitted for the month of January by Miss Miranda Bradley, supervising nurse of the Rockville Visiting Nurse association for the month as follows:

"Total number of miles covered in making 469 visits, 583 miles; 113 visits to 37 medical and surgical cases; 114 visits to 14 chronic cases; 14 visits to 9 ante partum cases; two deliveries attended; 18 visits to six post partum cases; 39 visits to nine new born babies; 28 visits to tuberculosis cases or contacts; 59 visits to infants under one year; 28 visits to children one to five years; five visits to children of school age; 12 visits for adult health supervision; 18 visits on behalf of cases; 15 visits when cases were not home; 15 visits to miscellaneous cases; two well baby conferences were held and attended by 15; Dr. Stockwell held a tuberculosis clinic and three were examined.

"The nurses assisted the school nurse, Miss Margaret E. Dornheim, when the Connecticut State Department of Health conducted a X-ray clinic and X-rayed a total of 860 school children as part of its program in finding possible tuberculosis cases in this age group.

"One of the nurses attended a state regional conference for nurses held in New Haven and another went to a state meeting of occupational therapy.

"The total cases on file during the month was 573 of which 450 lived in the city of Rockville and 70 in the town of Ellington and 53 in Vernon Center."

Christmas Seal Sale Report
The report of Miss Dorothy Phelps, as chairman of the Christmas Seal sale committee of the town of Vernon, has just been announced. The report shows a total sale of $1,031.91, which is a total of $175 more than for the previous year.

A total of 1300 letters were forwarded to residents of this community seeking a donation of at least one dollar for each group of Christmas seals sent out.

The committee has not heard from many people at the present time and it is hoped to receive at least $50 more from this group who have not returned their seals or sent in a dollar. Miss Dorothy Phelps is still awaiting replies from many.

Briefs
The second sitting of the Board of Relief of the town of Vernon will be held Saturday afternoon from 1 to 4 o'clock and from 7 to 8 o'clock in the evening.

Town Clerk and Mrs. John B. Thomas who are spending a vacation in Miami, Florida, sent word yesterday that they are to start for Rockville next Tuesday arriving here the end of next week.

The public schools of the community, including the Rockville High school, close today for the mid-winter vacation of one week.

Cards were received yesterday from Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Fine who are enjoying a motor trip to Miami Florida.

The Past Chiefs' club of Kiowa Council, Degree of Pochontias, will hold a meeting this evening in Red Men's hall. Plans for the season will be discussed at this time.

The Cornelia Circle held an afternoon social and tea Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Conklin Smith of Grove street. The committee in charge consisted of the following: Mrs. Harry C. Smith, chairman, Mrs. E. H. Metcalf and Mrs. W. B. Bean of Stafford.

The Nutmeg Trail of the Epworth League of Rockville will hold a mid-winter institute this evening at North Manchester. Last Friday the group met at the Rockville Baptist church.

The temperature fell well below the freezing point last evening in Rockville after a moderate temperature throughout the day.

The final trials for the Senior Dramatics of the class of 1934 of the Rockville High school will be held this afternoon after which the cast for the play "Robin Hood" will be announced.

Local Sport Chatter
Tomorrow night at the School street gym at least four games have been arranged by Ben Clune who has charge of basketball. Games arranged are against outside independent teams and the local teams to answer the referee's whistle are the Boys Club of the West Side Rec, Height Juniors, Manchester DeMolay and the Herald Newsboys. There is a remote possibility that the undefeated Ranger team may play providing a suitable opponent can be obtained.

TALCOTTVILLE

The weekly meeting of the Pioneers was postponed last Wednesday due to the basketball game between the Pioneer Second team and the Rockville Panthers which the Pioneers won easily by the score of 50-22. On Friday night the Pioneer Second team will encounter the Manchester Orioles.

David Stiles, Jr., is confined to his home with a cold. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Talcott have returned home to Lewiston, Me., after visiting M. H. Talcott the past week.

George Washington Set Our Advertising Policy.....

When Washington chopped down the cherry tree (and we're taking it for granted he did) the Father of our Country started to dramatize his truth-telling life-long policy...and set the advertising policy for this store. No matter what we have to say or the manner in which we say it—we stick to facts. We let the merchandise that goes on sale inspire our statements—or give us the right to use superlatives. Our policy might well be: First with lowest prices, first with quality value, and first in the minds of our Manchester shoppers!

SENSE and NONSENSE

A young man proved himself very wise the other day when a certain widow asked him how old he thought she was. He answered: "I am just doubtful about making you ten years younger on account of your looks, or to make you ten years older on account of your intelligence."

Man—Remember that glorious patriot who said, "Don't give up the ship." That's right, isn't it? Jewish Friend—Well, don't know; how much was he offered for it?

The old-fashioned woman who used to get an occasional case of housemaid's knee now has a daughter who never gets anything more painful than can-opener's wrist.

A woman who did not understand the language of business went into the Bank of England and asked to consult someone about her war loan holding. The clerk to whom she talked happened to be a rather grave person. He inquired: Young Banker—Is it a case of conversion or redemption, Madam? The Woman (faltering)—Conversion? Redemption? Er—pardon me, is this the Bank of England or the Church of England?

PARADE OF BRIEFS—Whenever a woman begins to quote a man to others, she at least wants him to be hers. . . . The same money that talks loud walks out on you on its tiptoes. . . . Everybody has big ideas, but only the man who masters the details can translate a big idea into a reality. . . . If a married man learns to love another woman it is usually because his wife made the lessons easy. . . . Today people are learning to do without many things their parents never dreamed of having. . . . The father can't understand why a daughter need go to a business college to learn the touch system. . . . In New York the law doesn't allow a man to drink stard up. And afterwards he isn't able to do so. . . . Man can make a house but it takes a woman, a baby and a puppy to make a home. . . . If you are useful, you don't have to be ornamental. . . . A woman worries and gets wrinkles. Then she worries about the wrinkles. A woman will worry. . . . A compromise is an agreement whereby both parties get what neither of them wanted. . . .

Girl—Is the ring Jack gave you set with precious stones? Her Chum—Yes, precious few.

Some men are such poor managers they don't know how to run anything except the country.

Junior—Grandma, if I was invited out to dinner somewhere, should I eat my pie with a fork? Grandma—Certainly, dear.

Junior—Haven't you got a piece of pie I could practice on, grandma?

The meanest man in the world is the one who won't propose to a girl after she has made up her mind to refuse him.

Nolle—How did you get out of admitting that your father was electrocuted?

Prose—I said he occupied the chair of applied electricity at one of our public institutions.

Excellent advice from a popular song: Take good care of yourself. Take care of your health, take care of your money, take care of your job, take care of your reputation.

Cut out your foolishness. Eat less, work harder, save money. Pay your bills, be polite, get to bed earlier. This is practical advice, in testimony of everyone who has lived long enough to know the penalty that must be paid for disobeying the accepted rules.

Nurse—You are slow! Look how quickly Dorothy gets undressed. Barbara—Yes, but she's practicing to be a film star.
