ALL DOLLAR DAY BARGAINS DEFY PRICE EQUALITY

Local Merchants Unite Tomorrow in Offering Merchandise of Unsurpassed Value—Ample Parking

The first outstanding sales event of the year—Dollar Day—will be held in Manchester tomorrow, when local merchants will unite in offering the public a splendid opportunity to obtain amazing values at bargain prices. No effort has been spared to make this popular sales event most important to the one who seeks to spend wisely and well.

Co-operating merchants have all marked drastic reductions on stock articles and merchandise to assure the townspeople of bona fide values that would be extremely difficult to duplicate anywhere. Placards will be prominently displayed by all merchants taking part and a store with a "Dollar Day" sign is a store where best values can be secured at the lowest possible price.

SAYS NRA HURTS NATION'S FARMERS

Senator Frazier Declares They Have to Pay Higher Prices Under Codes.

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—Senator Frazier (R., N. D.), predicted today the whole NRA program would fall unless the farmer, like the businessman, were permitted to base his prices on production cost.

Although he spoke at a complaint hearing, Frazier registered no complaint, other than that the farmer had to pay higher prices under the NRA without receiving "proportionate" benefits.

Dozens of others, however, did raise their voices against business prices growing up under the Blue Eagle.

Edward A. Filene of Boston protested against what he termed the NRA's failure to enforce the recovery act's labor provisions. Filene added, however, that the "greatest danger to recovery was the NRA labor policy."

"Employers pretty generally are afraid of the growth of labor union strength that is possible under Paragraph Seven A. (of the Industrial Act), and employers generally, especially the large corporations with branches throughout the country, do not intend to allow labor to successfully organize American Federation of Labor unions in their plants," he said.

He suggested that they might want "to avoid a showdown through appeals to the Supreme Court."

Another complaint
A charge that an NRA deputy administrator, J. E. Weaver, had "railroaded" a shipping code without considering the views of the marble workers industrial union was made by H. Jones, spokesman for the union.

Filene also reported the public had lost its interest in the Blue Eagle.

Recently returned from a six weeks trip to 14 cities, Filene said he found lack of an NRA symbol no longer caused a firm to lose patronage.

He urged installation of new code Blue Eagles to replace those of the President's re-employment agreement, and publicity to aid the public in "getting and keeping the Blue Eagle habit."

"I am sure," Senator Frazier said, "that farm prices can be fixed properly if the speculative element is taken out of the market and if production regulation is put in force at the same time, much the same idea which is being followed in many industries."

RELIEF BOARD REDUCES LIST NEARLY $250,000

Cheney Assessment is Cut $202,271; No Reduction Allowed Electric Co.; Grand List $41,595,054.

The Board of Relief has filed a total of $248,818 in reductions from the 1933 grand list, of which Cheney Brothers received a $202,271 reduction following their appeal for an assessment of $993,479 less than the valuation determined by the Board of Assessors. No reductions were granted the Manchester Electric Co. because of the claim of the utilities company for a valuation of $100,000 less than their assessment.

Additions on the list amounted to $26,138, leaving a net grand list, on which the tax rate for the year will be set Monday night, of $41,595,054.

No Cheney Statement
Cheney Brothers asked to comment on the reduction reported that they had "nothing to say." The Manchester Electric Co. officials stated that "normal notice had not yet been received regarding the action of the Board of Relief, and that they were not prepared to comment at this time."

Other reductions on the grand list over $1,000 are: Rogers Paper Co., $7,671; Susan Gorman, $1,820; Everett Keith, $1,665; Rockville Savings Bank, $4,016; Charles Sire, $2,088.

20 Mills or More.
It is expected that the tax rate for the year, based on the reductions of the Board of Relief, which is greater than for several years, will be 20 mills or more, according to the standing of the town appropriations to be submitted to the town meeting Monday night.

WEST IS ENJOYING PUBLIC WORK BOOM

Expect 100,000 Men to Be Employed Before Summer on Various Projects.

San Francisco, March 2.—(AP)—The building of the west, subject of many famous tales in days gone by, has reached a new peak under the stimulus of a public works program.

Not in the days of the gold rushes, the era of the lumber barons, or even in the last decade of speculative expansion, has work been rushed on so many projects.

These works are being built by an army estimated by A. Gilbert Darwin, editor of "Western Construction News and Highways Builder," at around 60,000 men. A third of them are at work on highways, and another third on a dozen big jobs. The remaining third are employed on hundreds of smaller public construction undertakings in 11 western states.

Darwin estimates that 40,000 additional men will be at work by summer.

New Contracts
New contracts let during the month totaled $14,043,071. This was larger than in February of last year, when contracts totaled $15,549,157.

The metropolitan water district of Los Angeles is prosecuting two jobs and locks at the Bonneville dam in Oregon, a War Department project. Other projects with contracts calling for more than a half million dollars were the Fort Peck bridge, Montana, the East Eagle mountain tunnel on the Colorado river aqueduct and the race track at Arcadia, California.

Darwin said Boulder Dam is near the expected peak of employment, with 4,398 now working, the expected maximum being 4,500.

Sweden's Prince and Commoner-Fiancee

More important to Prince Sigvard of Sweden than his title and the right to inherit the Swedish crown is the beautiful German film actress, Erica Petzold, whom he is determined to wed in the face of objections from the Royal House. The prince and his commoner bride-to-be are shown in their first photograph together as they arrived in London to plan their nuptials.

FRENCH POLICE ARREST MME. ARLETTE STAVISKY

Widow of Master Swindler Blizzards Halted Nation's Business After Check Stubs She Possessed Are Recovered. But Many Sales Were Lost Because Stocks of Winter Goods Were Exhausted.

Paris, March 2.—(AP)—Mme. Arlette Stavisky, beautiful widow of the man who caused the notorious "Stavisky scandal" which brought in its wake the overthrow of two governments, was arrested today by the Secret Service.

The arrest followed the recovery by the Secret Service of check stubs giving the names of many recipients of "bearer" checks from the master swindler.

The police long have sought these stubs in their efforts to identify those who had received millions of dollars from Stavisky and who, likewise, had cashed millions of dollars worth of checks which he made out to himself.

The police said they had recovered the stubs from a "personality" who was not named.

Gave Stubs to Friend
They revealed for the first time that Mrs. Stavisky, on the day after her husband either committed suicide or was killed in a lonely villa at Chamonic, gave the stubs to a friend. From the hands of the friend they reached the mysterious "personality."

The stubs, it was said, record transactions of millions of dollars. They were delivered to former Premier Albert Sarraut shortly after midnight this morning by M. Bony, one of the chief inspectors of the Secret Service who was suspended recently for alleged laxity in the Stavisky case.

Bony had promised to deliver the long-sought stubs last night.

To Resume Duties
Sarraut and the minister of justice, Henry Chéron, agreed that Bony should be permitted to resume duty for a few hours and sent important officials to his house where, in the presence of the personality who Bony had induced to deliver them, they were examined until 2 a. m.

When Mme. Stavisky was told January 8 that her husband, surrounded by secret police had killed himself at Camonic, she said she knew the names of men in high places who were friendly to her husband. She promised at that time she would tell who, "even Cabinet ministers," who visited their home.

The beautiful woman's past almost caused a duel and created a wild scene in the Chamber of Deputies Jan. 18. Deputy Philippe Hen-

Formal demand that Cheney Brothers recognize Manchester Local 2125, United Textile Workers of America, is made of Ward Cheney, president of the firm, in a letter signed by officers of the union and members of the executive committee.

The Cheney firm today posted an answer to the letter of the union officials throughout the mills. Request was made by the firm that the names of those enrolled in the union be made known.

President Arthur Shorts declared in a statement today that, "the reply of Cheney Brothers has not answered the questions contained in the letter of the union officials." Additional conferences are anticipated.

The letters, which are self-explanatory, follow:

State Sends Pilgrimage to Washington But It Is Barren of Results.

Hartford, March 2.—(AP)—Connecticut's official pilgrimage to Washington in quest of better weather bureau service than is given under the present economy program was barren of results so far as definite promises for this fiscal year are concerned, Christopher M. Gallup of North Stonington said today.

He characterized the hard-pressed on the U. S. Weather Bureau and its branches including that at Hartford, by virtue of the cut, as a "crime."

PRESIDENT ASKS POWER TO TRAFFIC IN TARIFFS

Roosevelt Asks Change In Philippine Measure

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today asked Congress to revive the Hawes-Cutting Philippine independence law with an amendment for relinquishment of the military base when the islands become independent and provisions for "ultimate settlement" of the disposition of the naval bases.

The Hawes-Cutting legislation, passed a year ago by Congress, automatically lapsed early this year by failure of the Philippine government to accept it.

It provides for independence within 12 or 14 years.

It provides that the United States would retain the option of keeping certain military and naval bases in the islands after independence.

Mr. Roosevelt proposed that the military bases be relinquished simultaneously with independence.

As to the naval bases he recommended "the ultimate settlement of this matter on terms satisfactory to our own government and that of the Philippine islands."

"I do not believe," he said, "that other provisions of the original law need be changed at this time. Where imperfections or inequalities exist, I am confident that they can be corrected after proper hearing and in fairness to both peoples."

"May I emphasize that while we desire to grant complete independence at the earliest proper moment, to effect this result without allowing sufficient time for necessary political and economic adjustments would be a definite injustice to the people of the Philippine islands themselves little short of a denial of independence itself."

"To change, at this time, the economic provisions of the previous law would reflect discredit on ourselves."

EMPEROR KANG TEH BEGINS HIS REIGN

Dons American Clothing and Puffs on American Cigarettes as He Takes Office.

Hankow, (Changchun), Manchukuo, March 2.—(AP)—The Emperor Kang Teh, disdaining his dragon robes, donned an American sack suit and puffed on an American cigarette today as he began his reign over 34,000 Manchukuanans.

The man who was plain "Mr. Henry Pu-Yi," until his elevation yesterday to the ebony throne was obviously exhausted this evening by that ceremonial and the busy hours that followed.

Using chopsticks with no apparent appetite, he toyed with Chinese chow mein, shark's fins, a rare fungi, called "Buddha's ears" doves eggs, octopus tentacles, lily roots and bamboo shoots.

Food Is Watched
The food was prepared by trusted Manchukuo cooks, who served him when he was the Boy Emperor of China 22 years ago, but even they were watched by others in the official family of the Imperial palace.

It was reminiscent of the strange scene yesterday, which found fifty thousand Manchukuan soldiers in town to protect Kang Teh during the enthronement — and these fifty thousand watched closely by Japanese troops.

TEXT OF MESSAGE
Washington, March 2.—(AP)—Here is the text of President Roosevelt's tariff message to Congress:

To the Congress:
I am requesting the Congress to authorize the executive to enter into executive commercial agreements, with foreign nations; and in pursuance thereof within carefully guarded limits to modify existing duties and import restrictions in such a way as will benefit American agriculture and industry.

This action seems opportune and necessary at this time for several reasons.

First, world trade has declined, with startling rapidity. Measured in terms of the volume of goods in 1929, it has been reduced to approximately 70 per cent of its 1929 volume; measured in terms of dollars, it has fallen to 35 per cent. The drop in the foreign trade of the United States has been ever sharper. Our exports in 1933 were but 82 per cent of the 1929 volume, and 32 per cent of the 1928 volume.

Means Idle Hands
This has meant idle hands, still machines, ships tied to their docks, despairing farm households, and hungry industrial families. It has made infinitely more difficult the planning for economic readjustment in which the government is now engaged.

You and I know that the world does not stand still; that trade movements and relations once interrupted can with the utmost difficulty be restored; that even in tranquil and prosperous times there is a constant shifting of trade channels.

How much greater, how much more violent is the shifting in these times of change and of stress in our history. Every nation must at all times be in a position quickly to adjust its taxes and tariffs to meet sudden changes and avoid severe fluctuations in both its exports and its imports.

You and I know, too, that it is important that the country possess

An attempted burglary was disclosed this morning in the office of the Schaller Motor Sales, 634 Center street, when one of the employees found the office safe hacked and the handle and lock broken off when he reported for work at 7:30 today.

An attempt had been made to cut away with hacksaw, the top casing of the safe, after smashing the lock and handle on the front. With the top of the safe removed, various tools had been used to cut away the cement packing inside the metal casing to get at the cash box inside.

KAMINSKY'S GUNS NOT STOLEN HERE

Query by Gordon Brings Response They Were Not Blish Store Loot.

The revolver used by John Kaminsky in Springfield Wednesday when he shot Sheriff David J. Manning in his futile attempt to free his brother, Alexander, on trial for alleged murder, was assembled by himself, according to information that came to the Manchester police yesterday.

In a recent robbery in Manchester at the store of the F. T. Blish company revolvers were taken, but the three youths implicated were captured. One was given a sentence to the Cheshire reformatory and the other two placed on probation at the Superior Court session in Hartford.

The revolvers were not recovered and the Manchester police sent out a broadcast of the missing guns. Yesterday, to get information regarding the type of guns Kaminsky used, Chief of Police Samuel G. Gordon asked the Springfield police for a description.

It was reported that Kaminsky had two guns, both of a .22 caliber. The first gun was described in the report sent to Manchester by the Northampton state police station as a "mongrel". It was a nickel plated .22 revolver carrying the word "Favorite" as the make. The cylinder and other parts were from different revolvers and had been assembled by John Kaminsky himself.

The second was a .22 automatic pistol, long range type, manufactured by the Flint Arms and Equipment company of New Haven. The serial number of this gun was given as No. 2183, which did not check with any of the guns stolen in Manchester.

John Kaminsky also admitted that he had manufactured the bomb used in Springfield and the two that he did not have an opportunity to throw. The steel vest was also made at home.

This recalls the statement he made in the Manchester police station on the morning of November 5. He said the automobile he used to drive to Mansfield had been one he had picked up cheap upon learning he was to get the guns in Mansfield. It was in poor condition and before he could go to Mansfield on the morning of November 4 he had to get some parts and reassemble the car's motor.

The car was driven to the rear of the Manchester police station after Kaminsky's arrest here, and at the time comment was made concerning the work he had done to get the car in running order, showing he had a mechanical bent.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Springfield, Mo.—Residents of various sections of the Ozark region are known to each other under names that puzzle the outsider.

The "Hog Rankers" live south of the Osage river and their neighbors the "Elm Pealers" live on the north side of the river. In the hunting country live the "Rabbit Twisters" who save ammunition by twisting a stick in the fur of rabbits in hollow logs and dragging them out. The "Squirrel Knockers" kill their game with rocks. The "Scissorsville" live in the valleys; the "Ridge Runners" skip the cedar studded hogbacks. The "Sprout Splitters" in the cut over timber country.

Seattle—An excited voice came over the telephone to police.

"This is a watchman out on 8th avenue. There're two suspicious men in a car at a gas station here."

The report was short-waved out to Prowl Car No. 2, which was in that vicinity. Shortly the following report came back by phone:

"Never mind about that call. We were the fellows in that car."

Portland, Ore.—Tears of happiness moved Mrs. Carlo Piacentini when she and her husband received a letter and picture from President Roosevelt complimenting them on the birth of their son Franklin Delano Roosevelt Piacentini on the President's birth day.

"We never knew the President would find out about our naming the boy for him," said the father. They will have the letter and picture framed.

Roswell, N. M.—Fire Chief Rue Christman likes fire fans but when they start driving to fires so fast they beat the department there—that's too much. So the chief has ordered an old law enforced which prohibits fans from coming within a city block.

Chicago—Fermina Iacucci, 12-year-old school girl, laughed when one of her classmates said something funny. She was eating peanuts at the time and swallowed one of the pits. It lodged near one of her lungs. Physicians at a hospital removed the stone with a bronchoscope.

Manitowish, Wis.—At the age of 71, Mrs. Margaret Kurzweska, inmate of St. Mary's Home for the Aged, is cutting her third set of teeth. She accepts the painful experience philosophically, declaring "The Lord wants me to have them so I suppose I'll have to suffer for them."

Milwaukee—Two men accosted Dorothy Kupits, nursemaid for the socially prominent Layton Busby family, on the street. The two men, Harry and Dorothy, attempted to kidnap the girl. The police, upon hearing the Busbys called police. After a 24-hour investigation the officers decided the two men were stirring with the pretty maid.

Chicago—There is plenty of money in the Baywater Trust and Savings Bank, about $100,000 in fact—but the depositors don't seem willing to come and get it, although they have been invited to do so. The bank wishes to go out of business because of lack of deposits.

ONLY THE CENTER LEAVES FOR Luckies

1 Luckies do not use the top leaves . . . because top leaves are underdeveloped . . . they are not ripe . . . They would give a harsh smoke.

2 Luckies use only the center leaves of the finest tobacco plants . . . because the center leaves are the mildest, tenderest, smoothest.

3 Luckies do not use the bottom leaves, because bottom leaves are inferior in quality. They grow close to the ground, and are tough, coarse and always sandy.

This picture tells better than words the merit of your Lucky Strike. Luckies use only the center leaves. Not the top leaves, because those are underdeveloped—not ripe. Not the bottom leaves, because those are inferior in quality—they grow close to the ground and are tough, coarse and always sandy. The center leaves are the mildest leaves, the finest in quality. These center leaves are cut into long, even strands and are fully packed into each and every Lucky—giving you a cigarette that is always round, firm, completely filled—no loose ends. Is it any wonder that Luckies are so truly mild and smooth? And in addition, you know, "It's toasted" — for throat protection, for finer taste.

Lucky Strike presents the Metropolitan Opera Company

Saturday at 1:30 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, over Red and Blue Networks of NBC, Lucky Strike will broadcast the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York in the complete Opera "Leda of Lammermoor."

OUR GOLD SUPPLY TIDY LITTLE SUM

If Melted Into Solid Cube It Would Measure 23 Feet Square.

Washington — You could put America's gold reserve into a good-sized basement.

When Uncle Sam takes it over and melts it into bullion, as Roosevelt plans, it can be melted into less than a 23-foot cube.

But there will be no such cube. Guarded by machine guns, time locks, electric alarms, skilled marksmen and thick steel walls, the $4,000,000,000 supply of yellow metal will be lodged in five cities.

The Treasury's New York Assay Office, the San Francisco Assay Office, the Philadelphia Assay Office and Philadelphia mints and the Treasury vaults here will house it. They hold most of it now, but there's still $800,000,000 of coin and bullion in Federal Reserve Banks which will be transferred gradually to Treasury custody.

Then it will all rest, in the form of bars about as large as the ordinary brick, as the foundation of our paper money.

Protection Is Costly
Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau does not want to move any more gold around than he has to. It's too expensive. One of the last big domestic gold transfers involved shipment of $50,000,000 from Philadelphia to New York and the Treasury figured it could save about $25,000 by using parcel post instead of express. Forty-six well armed, highly trustworthy government men—chiefly postal inspectors and civil service officers—convoys the shipment.

Troops may be used when the Treasury starts moving the gold out of the twelve Reserve banks.

Of about $3,600,000,000 in Reserve bank gold reserves, which the administration aims to take over for the Treasury, the Treasury already has custody of $2,768,000,000. The Treasury also has about $440,000,000 in gold of its own.

How Hoards Are Distributed
Officials have always been secretive as to the amounts of gold kept in the various locations. Frankly, they didn't want people thinking of those piles of precious stuff. So far there's never been an attack on a mint.

But Governor E. R. Black of the Federal Reserve Board gave the Treasury away when he appeared before the Senate Committee on banking and currency. His tabulation showed the biggest hoards as follows:

San Francisco	$1,439,789,000
New York Assay	879,610,000
Philadelphia	503,075,000
Denver Mint	365,022,000
U. S. Treasury	10,933,000
New York Reserve Bank	406,430,000
Chicago Reserve Bank	134,707,000
Reserve banks in San Francisco, Boston, Richmond, Cleveland, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Atlanta and Dallas hold the rest.

Nearly everyone heretofore had supposed that the largest bulk of gold was kept in New York. It was known that the Treasury kept only a few millions here in gold coin—just small change—though construction of a huge new Treasury vault has caused speculation whether a lot more gold might be lodged there in the future.

Bullion gold is kept in sealed compartments inside the vaults and in the mints, at least, those compartments sometimes aren't opened for months.

The bars are piled on shelves—bare bars with no wrapping. The usual bar is worth about $8,000 and measures 3 1/2 inches by 6 3/4 and 1 3/4. It weighs somewhat less than 400 ounces. The entire gold reserve would make half a million such bars.

Coins are kept in canvas bags which contain $5000. A thousand dollars in gold coin weighs 3.68 pounds avoirdupois.

Vaults Never Raided
Strength of the various gold vaults varies but the adequacy of all of them is indicated by the fact that no gang of criminals has yet been tempted to the point of raiding one.

Heavy guards are maintained at all mints. Steel-lined vaults sometimes are backed up by concrete and the vault steel doors sometimes four feet thick. One type of steel used cannot be cut or melted by any known device.

A double time-lock, set at night so vaults can't be opened before a given hour in the morning, cannot be made to unlock until an electric signal system of protection is broken. Then each time lock must be handled by a man who knows the combination—and no one person is permitted to know the combination of both locks.

How Lines Change
The new Treasury vault could house more than all the world's known gold. Its base is 6 1/2 feet of concrete and steel and its doors weigh 300 tons each. More than 60,000 cubic yards of earth were excavated to lay the vault and it was necessary to dig 22 feet below the deep sub-basement level in order to underpin the Treasury walls with 25 supporting piers.

The original mint at Philadelphia was guarded at night by a lone watchman and a dog. Watchman and dog had to keep walking around the building all night, stopping at one point on each round to ring a stationary bell.

The watchman's official equipment was a midget, five pistols and

EXPLAINS FAILURE OF VICTORIAN ERA

English Writer Discusses Final Pre-War Days

In "The Victorian Aftermath," Esmé Wingfield-Stratford brings to a close that thoughtful and ironic trilogy in which he examines what seems to him to be something very much like the collapse of a civilization.

His book is an account of the closing phase of the pre-war era in English life, but it is, in its broader implications, a commentary on European civilization as a whole. It looks on that civilization as a noble social effort which failed to solve a fundamental error, and which, because of that failure, fell to pieces.

This volume tells what happened in England between the death of Queen Victoria and the outbreak of the World War. It is an earnest and valuable bit of history.

Victorian civilization, says Mr. Wingfield-Stratford, as like a great palace built entirely without foundations. It looked fine, and for a while it sheltered a lot of people; but sooner or later it was bound to cave in.

Scientific and mechanical advances, he continues, put in man's hands the implements by which he could destroy himself, and nothing

FRUIT DESSERTS FINE IN WINTER

Makes Good Contrast After Usual Meat or Vegetable Dinner.

The cooked fruit dessert served hot or cold, is especially appreciated after the winter dinner of meat and vegetables. Best of all is the baked apple, which served plain or with cream, brings good health as well as nourishment and appetite satisfaction to the table.

Baked Apple in Syrup
Six large apples; two tablespoons butter; one fourth cup of brown sugar; one half teaspoon cinnamon; one cup maple syrup.

Core the apples, but do not peel them. Put a lump of butter in each hole, then sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Put into a glass or earthenware baking dish, rubbed with butter, and pour over them the maple syrup. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) basting every five minutes, for about three quarters of an hour. Serve hot; or set aside to cool, and then set in the refrigerator until they are very cold. Garnish with whipped cream, or serve with plain cream. Bake other fruits, especially bananas the same way.

Stewed Bananas
Six bananas; one half cup sugar; one half cup water; one teaspoon lemon juice. Peel the bananas, put the sugar, water and lemon juice into an enameled saucepan and heat, then add the bananas, and set for half an hour or until the bananas are very soft.

Serve very cold, with a little cream, or sprinkled with brown sugar and cream.

Blackberry Mash
Four cups canned blackberries; one cup sugar; one fourth cup of flour.

Put the blackberries and sugar in an enameled saucepan and mash them together. Cook for fifteen minutes. Then sift in the flour while they are still boiling. Cook for half an hour longer, stirring all the while. When stiff pour into a mould wet with cold water. Let it cool, then put in the coldest part of the refrigerator. When very cold, turn out and serve with cream. Delicious made with cherries and strawberries, too. Some cooks serve the mash in a dessert dish, first covering the bottom with small pieces of sponge cake.

WORK OUT DETAILS OF RELIEF SCHEME

CWA Machinery to Be Used to Direct New Idea Presented by the President.

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—Responding to presidential ideas, the Interior and Agriculture Departments and the Relief Administration set to work today to make the unemployed self-sustaining when the CWA is no more.

Most of the machinery necessary to carry out the program outlined by President Roosevelt already is in existence, officials said.

They are working on the details necessary to use this in behalf of distressed families in rural areas and those in single industry communities where there is no hope of future employment.

The Department of Agriculture and the relief administration are exploring the best methods of caring for rural populations. The method that will be followed probably will be to find some way to place these people on small farms where they can raise diversified crops thus supplying most of their own food.

To Distribute Jobs

In order to give them money, plans are being studied for distribution of jobs on highways and in the National and state parks and forests and other public works in agricultural communities.

Such persons probably would be given a certain number of days work each year to provide them with the necessary cash to supplement the food and supplies raised on their farms.

Advocates of the plan hope eventually such people may be settled in rural sections and that small industries may be developed to supply them with cash while they have land sufficient to raise gardens and necessary foodstuffs.

The plan for caring for the unemployed in cities and towns was described at the relief administration as job assurance rather than insurance.

Public Works

Public works of various kinds similar to those operated under the CWA at present will be used to supply work for not more than six months.

While the shift from the CWA to the new plan is expected to be made gradually during the next nine weeks, officials pointed out that it was not scheduled to go into effect fully until May 1.

It was said the plan will not do away with the emergency relief lists on which are many persons unemployed due to age, illness or for other reasons.

Hopkins estimated that during the next year 3,000,000 families or more would remain on the emergency relief list. Some new on civil works payrolls will have to be returned to relief lists until they can be cared for permanently, it was explained.

In some of the large cities employment has picked up markedly but still the problem is so great in these industrial centers that civil works forces generally are being maintained. The only heavy cuts in civil works employment in industrial cities have been made in Michigan, where employment in automobile factories has been booming for the last six weeks.

ELDERLY WOMAN SAVED AS FIRE DESTROYS HOME

Colchester, Conn., March 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Jennie Plum, a sick elderly woman, was carried to safety early today when a fire destroyed the 150 year old Staples estate on the Hartford Turnpike. The loss was estimated at $5,000.

The fire, believed to have been caused by a defective chimney, was discovered shortly after one a. m. by Mrs. Elizabeth Forbes who with Mrs. Eliza Lamphere served as companions to Mrs. Plum.

The 11 room house was owned by the Carroll Staples estate and contained many antiques, all of which were destroyed.

Using water from a nearby brook, firemen succeeded in saving a barn and other structures on the property.

Mrs. Plum had the life of the house which was located three miles west of the village.

Exports of automotive products from Canada during 1933 registered a value increase of 38 per cent compared with 1932 and 48.6 per cent compared with 1931.

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSES AIM AT FOUR PURPOSES

Many Different Organizations in Same Work and All Have Same Objectives.

Although there are a number of public health nursing organizations in Connecticut, each differing in some respect from the others all are fundamentally aiming at the attainment of four definite objectives, according to Agnes P. Sullivan, Supervising Nurse of the Bureau of Public Health Nursing of the State Department of Health, in the department's weekly broadcast today.

Regardless of uniform or type of organization, each is trying to improve the public health in these four ways.

The first purpose is to assist in educating individuals and families to protect their own health. Mrs. Sullivan explained and used as an illustration the case of a thirteen-year-old girl, who although she never complained of ill health, was definitely under weight. The public health nurse, suspecting possible tuberculosis, prevailed upon the family to have her examined by a physician. The latter found not tuberculosis but chronic bronchitis and an infected ear. Two months later with these ailments remedied and with tonsils and adenoids removed, the girl had improved tremendously and her family had learned the value of periodic health examinations.

Second of the objectives is to assist in the adjustment of family and social conditions affecting health. For this the nurse must have a thorough knowledge of the social resources of the community and state and must have a good mental hygiene viewpoint in order to have a sympathetic understanding of the persons and problems involved.

To assist in correlating all health and social programs for the welfare of the family and the community is the third general objective. This involves continual contact by the nurses with town authorities, social workers, and representatives of such organizations as the Parent-Teachers, the Humane Society and the Children's Aid.

The fourth purpose is to assist in educating the community to develop adequate public health facilities—a goal which is still a long distance from attainment, and progress toward which has been made difficult by prevailing economic conditions. New facilities are constantly being developed, however, and the public health nurses are ceaselessly striving to teach the lesson that conservation of human health and efficiency is, in the final analysis, an economy rather than an expense.

SETS WIFE'S CLOTHES AFIRE

New Britain, March 2.—(AP)—Soon after Mrs. Mary Andrews, 48, a negro, died at New Britain hospital today of burns her husband, Frank, 48, was arrested on a charge of manslaughter the police having been informed that he set fire to his wife's clothes on January 26. He pleaded not guilty in Police Court and was held under $3,000 bonds for a hearing March 7.

About a week ago Mrs. Andrews is said to have told a woman who visited her at the hospital that her husband applied a burning paper taper to her clothes during an argument in their home. Since then Andrews has been under arrest, on a technical charge.

Within three months after the armistice, war orders totaling one hundred million dollars were cancelled by the government.

FRIDAY, MARCH 2, 1934

Corporation, a public utilities company in actual operation. It is a big concern, serving an important territory. Its capital structure consists of $50,000,000 of preferred stock, $50,000,000 of common stock, with $50,000,000 of bonds outstanding, 150 millions in all. It is controlled by Mr. X, Mr. Y and Mr. Z, who have invested altogether the price of a small town dwelling, a little more than $6,000. Of course they had to have, besides their joint $6,000, the temporary assistance of some banker friends, but only for short periods while they were putting through their complicated but perfectly lawful operations.

First X, Y and Z organized the BCD company, a purely fiscal concern incorporated in due form to deal in securities. This company is capitalized at $16,000,000, $10,000,000 in preferred shares and $6,000,000 in common and floats $10,000,000 in bonds. The banks underwrite the issues and X, Y and Z name the officers and directors.

Now the key to the situation lies in the fact that the common stock of the corporation holds the voting power. The BCD corporation invests its entire capital and the assets of its bonds in the sound, highly profitable securities of the ABC corporation—in the common stock. It buys a bare majority, say $26,000,000—getting control.

But of course X, Y and Z, having no real money or not caring to invest any real money, would soon be outvoted and overwhelmed by the mass of holders of the $6,000,000 of BCD common, a contingency they did not propose to have arise. So they organized CDE Incorporated, another fiscal entity. They made it just big enough so that its entire resources, preferred, common and bonds, would suffice to buy $3,100,000 of BCD common, keeping control of the latter. Then they organized DEF Services, with the financing of which they took over possession of the $350,000 or so which represented a majority of the common stock of CDE. The next company only had to have about $50,000 of common stock, the one after that $15,000 or $20,000 and presently the promoters could use their own spoonful of cash to own a majority of the stock in the last holding company and control the whole works.

This kind of thing has been done, not always on quite so flagrant a scale but on precisely such principle, over and over again. It was discovered by the Federal Trade Commission that in 1930 a corporation with a book value of its stock standing at $8,000,000 completely dominated a widespread utilities system worth $1,200,000,000.

Every one of these holding companies must pay dividends and interest on bonds. And every dollar of the funds to provide all this interest and all these dividends must come out of the customers of the utilities company, around which this phoney structure is built.

There is more significance to the holding company than many folks imagine.

suspect the lawsuit is a first class bit of press-agentry. But how much like a first class press agent's stunt it is likely to be in effect. Why, people everywhere will probably be going to see "Rasputin" for years, especially if the Russian princess happens to get a little verdict from the British court.

BALL BUZZES BACK

One of the most interesting events in immediate prospect at Washington is the promised publication on Monday of a list of those persons who sold aviation stocks short in the period just preceding the announcement of the airmail contracts. On demand of a Republican member of the Senate Stock Market Investigating Committee has subpoenaed the list and other documentary evidence in connection with these transactions, which are said to have been brought to Washington in advance in anticipation of just such a move.

The cancellation of the contracts, it will be remembered, came without preliminary warning from any official source. Only a very few persons, inside the administration, were supposed to have known anything about the contemplated stroke. Yet if, as is now intimated, a considerable number of persons were selling aviation shares for a fall for some time before the cancellation, the inference is not unfair that they had some inkling of what was in the wind. Neither is the inference that the short sellers were not enemies of the administration unfair.

Heretofore, in the recent probes, the government has been doing all the pitching and former administrations and the financial world have been doing all the catching. It looks as though, in this new instance, the administration might need a back-stop's mit. The ball is buzzing back.

tion Corps came along and there wouldn't any more army clothes to buy. "Joe" turned to selling once he attempted to sell back raincoats for about five times what he had paid the army.

Then he turned to the business of selling motor cars to the War Department and got in wrong.

Why Finland Pays

Ever wonder why little Finland alone among nations continues to pay us her war debt installments? It's a good business judgment. Last year Finland sold us about $9,000,000 worth of goods and bought from us only around $3,500,000 worth. Her debt payment was only $578,000.

No other European debtor nation has a favorable American balance of trade. Her chief exports to us are wool pulp, newspaper and skis. She doesn't want Russia to get that business away from her.

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON

New York, March 2.—Meandering Gertrude Stein has a sense of humor, anyway. She's having the disconnected gibberish of her opera, "Four Saints in Three Acts," published by Random House.

Joan (Cradle-of-the-Deep) Lowell, who started out to prove herself a real deep-sea gal, is back in New York after completing what she calls the first lap of a round-the-world voyage in her small schooner. After being becalmed, storm-tossed and derailed, it got to Guatemala in something like six months. Joan came back on a fruit steamer. That new novel of Louis Bromfield will be about a fellow whose career closely parallels that of the late Ivar Kreuger.

Ambition of Dorothy and Lilian Gish is to appear in the same play together, something they haven't done since Lillian was 6 and Dorothy 4. The show was called "Our First False Step" and was a flop. It's said that that movie company bid plenty for the immediate services of Katharine Hepburn—so she wouldn't have to go on tour in "The Lake" and encounter any more harassments from the critics. When the folk who work backstage at the Ziegfeld Polles put on their burlesque of the show (an old custom), Madeline Costello, wardrobe mistress and a former burlesque actress, will do a burlesque of Fannie Brice's burlesque of a burlesque show strip act.

Actors Go To Court

Broadway is cheering an unemployment relief plan which calls for the hiring of actors to go about the country playing "The Trial of Mary Dugan" in county courthouses. The action of the play, which was successful here, is supposed to take place in a regular court. So why not stage it in real courtrooms, charge a moderate admission, pay in again; found the old folks comfortable but unhappy. They were mourning their loss of the dog, which had been the one bright and tender spot in the drab twilight of their lives. Again the lady rose to the occasion. "I just dropped in to ask a favor," she said. "My mother is ill and she's going to Europe for a long stay. She loves the dog and wonders if you'll keep him for her. She'll pay $15 a week for his board."

So the nondescript pup, now so fat and snuggly and well-groomed that he almost does look like a canine aristocrat, has returned to the shabby tenement. And the old couple, happy again, are living in reasonable comfort on the $15 a week. This money, by the way, comes from an inheritance left to the charity worker by her mother, who died last year.

WINS BY DEPART

New York, March 2.—(AP)—After frantic last minute efforts to keep a challenger in the running, the Harmsworth International speed boat trophy went to its present holder, Gar Wood, by default today. As the result of the withdrawal of a Canadian challenger and the failure of Hubert Scott-Paine, the British driver who failed to lift the trophy last year, to enter the lists, there can be no race for the greatest of all speedboat prizes until 1935.

PARTING OF WAYS

President Roosevelt's latest scheme, a request for unrestricted power to change tariff schedules to the extent of fifty per cent without the interposition of the Tariff Commission or any other authority—which of course is undertaken with the idea of giving markets for American agriculture at the expense of the industries and for some specially favored industries at the expense of others—naturally brings this administration and New England to a definite parting of the ways.

Nothing could be more shocking to the sensibilities of this industrialized area than a proposition to put into the hands of one individual the fate of almost every one of its manifold factories, with the power to sacrifice any or all of them for the sake of obtaining entry into some foreign country for the products of Western grain farms and Southern cotton plantations.

It is doubtful if the New England mind could reconcile itself to such a proposal even though the dispenser of fates enjoyed the most complete confidence of every man and woman in these six states and if he had proved himself to be the possessor of superhuman economic wisdom and an infallible consistency of purpose. When that is not the case, when it is proposed to place the whole tariff structure, upon which New England's industries have so largely been developed, in the hands of a man who already in the matter of the monetary system has exhibited an singular inadequacy, complete revolt against the proposition in these states is inevitable.

Nor is New England alone concerned. Against this newest and most threatening of the Rooseveltian projects the whole industrial East and every manufacturing area in the Mid-west will undoubtedly register its unqualified opposition and fight to the end against the adoption of this extraordinary and potentially devastating scheme.

Almost exactly a year ago this newspaper, at the beginning of the Roosevelt administration, pledged itself to an unprejudiced support of the new President in every effort for the nation's rehabilitation that contained any promise whatever of restoring some measure of prosperity. That pledge we have loyally redeemed. When, however, Mr. Roosevelt gives indications of having lost at once his head and his resolution—as he does in this matter of the tariff and in his abandonment of his own monetary plan; when he plays into the hands of the money changers at the expense of industry, agriculture and the debtor class, and when he then proposes to square matters with agriculture by cutting the throat of industry on the altar of foreign markets, we have come to the end of our following.

If the President does not encounter, within his own party in Congress, enough of this same sentiment to bring one man rule to an end it will be not only dismaying but astonishing.

A SMELL OF FISH

That's a very odd lawsuit that is being tried in London, and winning first page publicity in the American metropolitan newspapers. Princess Irene Youssouf, once an ornament of the imperial Russian court, is suing Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures, Ltd., claiming damages for alleged libel on the ground that the character Natasha in the MGM film "Rasputin" is clearly identifiable as herself and that actions and words attributed to "Natasha" by the film are libelous of the Princess Youssouf. On Wednesday Prince Alexander Youssouf, identifiable in the film as Chigoloff, played by John Barrymore, told the story of the killing of Rasputin, the "mad monk" and evil genius of the Russian imperial family, by himself and another. While Youssouf has long claimed and been granted the credit of doing away with Rasputin, the story he told in court conforms to no earlier recital by himself or others and, strangely enough, makes the Hollywood version of the tragic drama the nearest of all to the truth—substantially accurate, in fact.

Given sufficient publicity throughout the world, such a roundabout endorsement of the historic value of the film ought to be worth a great deal of money to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The big film corporation could almost afford to lose the suit and be muled the whole two million damages, after having instigated the action and put up the expense money, in view of the probability that "Rasputin", after this sensational advertising, could be rerun all over the world and draw good business.

Another striking point is that the Youssoufs, once enormously wealthy, are just about broke and might not sneeze at a tidy honorarium.

We should hesitate to say that we

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 The Herald Washington Correspondent

Washington, March 2.—Just as if NRA didn't have enough problems, people now come along and tell it that shorter working hours don't spread work.

It seemed reasonable to believe that a factory substituting a 40-hour week for an 80-hour week would have to employ twice as many workers to produce the same amount of goods. Anyway, that was the theory.

But the experts who in preliminary NRA days used to insist that shorter hours resulted in a much larger output per worker now are being heard from again.

Dr. Donald A. Laird, psychologist and authority on industrial fatigue, recently asserted the likelihood that the level of industrial production could be kept up or improved with shorter hours and no increase in number of employees. He bases that on studies of factories under NRA.

NRA's own reports also are illuminating. It has made public a letter from a southern dress manufacturer who first lost, then regained, his Blue Eagle and now is very happy.

Since his workers went on 40 hours a week "they are working with more pep and some are producing 25 to 35 per cent more work. They are producing better work."

Presumably his employer favors those who can produce the extra 25 or 35 per cent. If he has enough of them, he may be able to operate with fewer workers than he needed before.

Of course this factor doesn't nullify the shorter hour employment gain. But it's another complication for NRA as it considers shortening its standard 40-hour week and realizes that it will be increasing average production per man when it does so.

Bible His Authority

Many New Dealers can quote from a large range of sources, but Secretary Wallace is perhaps the only one who consistently can cite chapter and verse from Scripture.

The last time he was asked about compulsory cotton production control, Wallace, who opposed it in principle, replied: "My attitude is that of Samuel, eighth chapter, first Samuel. When the children of Israel told him they wanted kings, he told them if they wanted kings they could have them, but certain things would happen to them."

Shed a Tear For Joe

Around the War Department they're feeling badly about poor old "Joe" Silverman, barred from further dealings there and made an object of Department of Justice investigation.

"Joe," a chubby, ingratiating business man, has more friends in army headquarters here than any other outsider. For 12 years he had a monopoly on purchase of surplus supplies and bought about $10,000,000 worth, mostly clothing.

He had friends in Congress, too, who on at least one occasion helped him to dispose of underclothing thus bought to a relief agency here.

He lived at the Mayflower and gave select parties for army officers. He always chose the right ones, never wasting food or wine. Everyone in the Quartermaster Corps knew him by his first name. Finally the Civilian Conserva-

Health and Diet Advice

DENTISTS GOOD DIETITIANS

I always believe in giving praise where it is due and I am glad to offer my sincerest praise to the modern dentists who are doing such fine work in keeping the line of care for the teeth through mechanical dentistry, but who are also going one step farther and studying how foods can build up strong, firm teeth, or can bring about decay of the teeth. They are also finding out that wrong diet plays an important part in gum disorders such as pyorrhea and trench mouth.

At least 6 years ago, I wrote an article along this line called DENTISTS GOOD DIETITIANS wherein I pointed out that many dentists are doing a great deal of good in teaching their patients about the foods which build better teeth.

A recent article in a national magazine on the same subject is very interesting to me. In this article it is pointed out that dentists are leading the movement to learn more about diet and its effects upon teeth. Most of the articles which you read from time to time about how to build good teeth by the right foods are being written by dentists.

The modern dentist makes a very careful study of structure of the teeth in relation to diet and the influence of the right diet on the teeth. You will find that if you carry out the directions your dentist gives you about what to eat, that not only will your teeth improve, but your health will also improve in other ways.

Particularly important are the results of improper feeding during childhood as seen in tooth cavities which means the teeth decay at an early age. However, diet in relation to teeth is also important during later periods of life. The tooth is a living structure. If the foods eaten each day contain the proper food minerals and vitamins, the tooth will absorb those substances needed to keep it sound and hard.

The right diet is also needed to keep the mouth conditions normal and the wrong type of diet can do a great deal of harm through bringing about an over-acid mouth condition. Teeth bathed continually in such acid secretions are more apt to decay than they would otherwise.

Two of the greatest necessities needed for building teeth are calcium and phosphorus. The use of these minerals by the body is influenced by vitamin D. Therefore, you could call calcium, phosphorus, and vitamin D the "tooth builders." Calcium and phosphorus are found in many foods and it is easy to secure enough of them to prevent cavities in the teeth. Vitamin D is found in foods containing this vitamin and may also be secured through taking sun baths or through exposure to the artificial sun lamp or ultra-violet ray.

In choosing those foods which are good for your teeth, be sure and include both cooked and raw non-starchy vegetables as they are valuable for this purpose. Undoubtedly, the chewing required by raw salads is definitely strengthening to the tooth structure. This affords a natural exercise which promotes a good flow of blood to the teeth. It is also very helpful for you to add to your daily diet certain foods which furnish you with vitamin C, such as oranges, grapefruit, lemon juice or tomatoes or tomato juice.

Yes, I believe your dentist is correct when he tells you that the foods you eat play an important part in stopping tooth decay.

HOLDING COMPANIES

When it is announced that Congressional investigation has disclosed the existence of so many holding companies that so great a number as nine have been found interposing between the people who controlled a corporation and the corporation itself a great many persons do not know exactly what is meant; nor can they see what difference such things make to them.

Let's see if we can put this matter of holding companies and the control of them in such a way that it will interest Herald readers.

Let us start off by creating, for purposes of illustration, the ABC

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
 (Should Not Be Asked)

Question: From Alameda, Calif.: "My wife is now 76 and I am 80, and I would like to tell you that we have been able to improve our health during the past six years by following some dieting instructions which you sent to us. My question is this: 'Should a blood pressure of 140 be considered too low in a woman of 76? One of my wife's friends has told her that, considering her age, her blood pressure should range much higher than 140.'"

Answer: I see no reason for your wife to worry over her blood pressure as I would consider it entirely normal. I realize that many doctors conclude that the blood pressure should rise with the age; however, I see no reason to hold to this opinion and, in fact, I consider it a definite advantage for a person of 76 to keep the blood pressure around 140.

(Fus Pockets)

Question: From Boise, Idaho: "Several years ago I received from you an article about 'Pesky Fus Pockets.' Could you send me another copy? I have put pockets in a better explanation of how pus pockets come to form in the body."

Answer: Yes, I do have a few copies of the article and, of course, I am pleased to know that you remembered it. When pus pockets exist in conjunction with such disorders as rheumatism or neuritis, it is my belief that both are caused by a primary toxic condition and that permanent relief will be secured only when this toxemia is removed.

CHICAGO EXHIBIT SUBJECT OF TALK

Principal Philip Howe of Rockville High School Addresses Orford Chapter.

Principal Philip Howe of Rockville high school yesterday afternoon gave the members of Orford Parish Chapter, D. A. R., a scholarly lecture on his impressions of the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago last summer, at the home of Miss Ida Holbrook of Main street. The regent, Mrs. C. R. Burr, presided and introduced the guest speaker, Miss Emma Hutchinson read an article on D. A. R. day at the exposition, closing with the poem, "Our Flag," written by Mrs. William Russell Magne, national president of the organization.

Mr. Howe used as his subject, "Achievements of Science and Their Application Through Industry to the Creation of the Larger Life of Mankind." He acknowledged that he was most interested in the Hall of Science. He described exhibits such as the first incandescent light or lamp, the first automobile, the first airplane, the first airplane engine, the first airplane motor, the first airplane propeller, the first airplane fuselage, the first airplane wing, the first airplane tail, the first airplane landing gear, the first airplane engine, the first airplane motor, the first airplane propeller, the first airplane fuselage, the first airplane wing, the first airplane tail, the first airplane landing gear.

Wandering about the Fair Grounds one day he came upon the replica of the rude log cabin with dirt floors and scarcely any furniture. From such lowly surroundings came Abraham Lincoln, and the thought came to him "had science achieved much more?" In spite of his handicaps, Lincoln reached the heights of our civilization.

Mr. Howe referred to the endless exhibits and lectures calculated to interest everybody. A group of 500 people sat listening to a discourse on astronomy, with the stars above them, not realizing that they had spent three hours hearing about the firmament.

A number of guests were present. The hostesses assisting Miss Holbrook were Mrs. B. S. Carrier and Miss Flora Stanley. Mrs. Carrier and Miss Henrietta Devon poured.

Many Sensations
Sensation followed sensation after Locker-Lampson mounted the witness stand, giving his testimony—as Sir William Jowitt, defense attorney, said—"to do what you can to assist the end of justice."

The most sensational of these statements was that he had been asked by Vladimir M. Purishkevitch—one of those who helped kill the monk—to join in the slaying.
The courtroom crowd leaned forward in breathless silence as Locker-Lampson unfolded his story. At least half of those who jammed their way into the room and overflowed into the corridors were women, many of them representing London's high society.

All, though not expecting the startling development, were attracted by the story of the slaying of the mysterious monk, as told yesterday by Prince Felix Youssouppoff, husband of the princess.

PRESIDENT ASKS POWER TO TRAFFIC IN TARIFFS

within its borders a necessary diversity and balance to maintain a rounded national life, that it must sustain activities vital to national defense and that such interests can not be sacrificed for passing advantage. Equally clear is the fact that a full and permanent domestic recovery depends in part upon a revived and strengthened international trade and that American exports can not be permanently increased without a corresponding increase in imports.

Second, other governments are to an ever-increasing extent winning their share of international trade by negotiating reciprocal trade agreements. If American agricultural and industrial interests are to retain their deserved place in this trade, the American government must be in a position to bargain for that place with other governments by rapid and decisive negotiation based upon a carefully considered program, and to grant with discernment corresponding opportunities in the American market for foreign products supplementary to our own.

If the American government is to be in a position to make fair offers for fair opportunities, its trade will be superseded. If it is not in a position at a given moment rapidly to alter the terms on which it is willing to deal with other countries, it can not adequately protect its trade against discriminations and against bargains injurious to its interests. Furthermore a promise to which prompt effect can not be given is not an inducement which can pass current at par in commercial negotiations.

For this reason, any smaller degree of authority in the hands of the executive would be ineffective. The executive branches of virtually all other important trading countries already possess some such power.

No Quick Results
I would emphasize that quick results are not to be expected. The successful building up of trade without injury to American producers depends upon a cautious and gradual evolution of plans.

The disposition of other countries to grant an improved place to American products should be carefully sounded and considered; upon the attitude of each must somewhat depend our future course of action. With countries which are unwilling to abandon purely restrictive national programs, or to make concessions towards the re-establishment of international trade, no headway will be possible.

No Trade Disturbance
The exercise of the authority which I propose must be carefully weighed in the light of the latest information so as to give assurance that no sound and important American interest will be injuriously disturbed. The adjustment of our foreign trade relation must rest on the premise of undertaking to benefit and not to injure such interests. In a time of difficulty and unemployment such as this, the highest

MAN AT ALMSHOUSE IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

Edward McGowan Served With Writ Today — Was in Court Recently.

Edward McGowan, until two weeks ago residing at 82 Garden street, but at present an inmate of the Manchester Almshouse, has been made defendant in a divorce action brought by his wife, Mrs. Ellen McCann McGowan. They were married on April 18, 1918.

The action was brought by William J. Shea, attorney for Mrs. McGowan and came two weeks ago after a session of the town court when McGowan was brought before the court on a charge of breach of the peace. At that time he was placed on probation. There had been trouble at the home and his wife, who owned property before her marriage to McGowan, ordered him from the house. He was without funds, he claimed, and was given shelter at the Manchester almshouse. The divorce action served upon him is returnable to the March term of the Superior Court, civil side, of this county.

Previous to her marriage to Mr. McGowan his wife had married Edward McCann. Between the two of them they had worked and were the joint owners of property located at New and Garden streets, consisting of a double house that faced on Garden street and a building that was used for a store on the ground floor and tenements above on the second floor that faced on New street. Mrs. McCann conducted the store while her husband was employed by Cheney Brothers, but shortly after his death disposed of the stock and fixtures and leased the store. It was discontinued as a store and turned into a tenement some years ago.

There were children born to the first marriage, but there have been no children born to the second marriage. As brought out in the town court the claim was made that he has not provided support for his wife and there has been trouble in the family for some time.

When the divorce action was served and McGowan left without a home he has decided to fight the case and has retained Judge William S. Hyde to represent him in the pending action before the Superior Court. He claims that while he was working that he did contribute to the support of his wife and also assist in payments on the property which was not cleared from mortgage when he married.

In the meantime being without work and not being able to return to his former home he is living at the Manchester Almshouse.

The Indians believed the soul left the body through the mouth and that an Indian who died of strangulation would be cut off forever from the happy hunting grounds.

The ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Eight-year-old PABLITO, whose father was a wealthy young Englishman, runs away from the cruel ANGELA in whose care he has been left.

Born at sea, Pablito's mother died and the child was taken to Key West, Fla., by two young Cuban girls. Their parents refused to allow them to keep the baby and placed him in the care of Angela, an old crone who beat and otherwise mistreated him.

On the night Pablito runs away he encounters NORRIS NOYES, a mysterious individual who has been better days. Noyes takes the boy to his shack on a lonely island.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER II

At 17 Pablito was arrestingly tall, arrestingly handsome and amazingly strong. He had absorbed much information of unrelated and interesting sorts, some of which had come to him through the mother of invention and some through Noyes.

Through Noyes he had learned many legends of other lands, a love of good books and truth and practical uses, and several other things Noyes had not intended to have in the curriculum. For at the start of their association Noyes had meant to care for Pablito but a few days later the situation was reversed and Pablito was caring for Noyes—washing Noyes' clothes, cooking for him, earning the money for the food they both ate. Noyes smiled sometimes, watching Pablito's almost womanish concern for him. Sometimes again it made his eyes fill.

And they cared deeply for each other in a masculine manner that occasionally made them very gruff. Noyes, too, taught Pablito a leaching of sundry haunts and that the youth must be careful of how he used his strength. For one night when a stranger had spat toward Noyes, Pablito hit the stranger and it was some time before the quickly colored man could decide whether or not the man was dead.

Necessity had given to Pablito a wide range of human color on that palette which is called life, for his income came from "Big" Field who had a winter home, casually called a "fishing camp," on one of the Keys.

The camp was luxurious in the extreme. There was a long, low building set in a grove of royal palms which held the immense dining room and kitchen. Around this set at discreetly separated distances were the bungalows where were billeted the guests. There were arrangements for outdoor cooking and barbecues, popular that season, and there was a large building given over to billiard tables, wheels that spun and books. There were tiled baths and French chefs and scores of servants and motor boats and breakfast trays and a private telephone line. Field's office in New York and fresh flowers each day from a greenhouse. The sum total of all this was much affluence and very little taste.

In one thing only did Jim Field rarely err and that was in his estimate of people. The first time he saw Pablito he stopped to study him and the second time he saw the youth he stopped to speak to him.

"What's your name?" Field asked.

Pablito paused in his work. He had been putting cushions on a swing set up under a group of palms. "Smith, sir," he answered.

Field studied Pablito, an immensely tall boy with a heavy thatch of straw-colored hair, arresting blue eyes, and a hard-set square chin that had been given him by Mary Warrage's North-England grandfather.

"Where do you live?"

"On one of the small keys, sir."

"Alone?"

"Yes, sir." This was the lie he had told ever since one of two years before when Noyes had crept, shaking and sober, into the shack to say, "Some one who knew me—saw me; some one I knew when—and had stopped there. But after that, Noyes' request, Pablito had said he lived alone. If anyone asked, from almost the first Pablito had known that Smith was Noyes' name in public.

"Don't you want to put up here with my servants?" Field asked.

"No, sir. Thank you, sir."

"Um. What's your nationality, Smith?"

"Cuban-American," Pablito answered. He and Noyes had decided this because of Pablito's yellow hair and the daughter of Villaverde y Blanco.

Field grinned slowly. "If you're Cuban," he remarked, "I'm an Eskimo." Then he added, "If you have any idea of leaving my employ let me speak to you before you go."

"Yes, sir. Thank you."

Pablito set to arranging cushions again and Field strolled on.

The boy had been reared, Field decided, by some one of breeding. He spoke well. He held himself well. He was neither abashed by Field nor abashed before him. Evidently the boy—youth as he was—had done something that had dropped him from his natural world to make him hide among servants.

Now Field had uses for many types of men and the thought of Pablito's being under a cloud did not displease him. He could use him, perhaps, in Cuba. He thought, "If my guess is right he could be controlled. A little fear is the best crack of the whip."

The sea that day was a gray-washed fury, touched to white by the best of wind but Field did not see it. He was thinking

WOMAN WON FAME AS SUBTLEST SPY

Belgian Beauty Sent Messages to French by Belfry Bell Notes.

Paris, March 2.—Hundreds of thousands of men and women, in and out of uniform, are professional spies today. The struggle between them and the hundreds of secret police in every country is relentless. Secret police have had the upper hand since the war, but those hectic years from 1914 to 1918 were a head day for spydom. Masterful spies, men and women, rose from the masses, and their coups enliven the history of espionage.

None was more brilliant than Mme. Louise de Bettigny, on the French side, and Mme. Schragmuller, on the German side. Frau Schragmuller, whom the Germans treasured as "Queen of Spies," put on a uniform and followed the troops to the front in 1914, to be rewarded with a commission, the only woman officer in the German army.

Praised by Enemy Virtually unknown to most French, Mme. de Bettigny was warmly praised by the enemy. Captain Felix Bauman, of the German wartime intelligence service, wrote that the German spy system had nothing to compare with the talent, subtle craft, courage, sang froid and results obtained by Mme. de Bettigny.

She operated in Belgium as "Alice Dubois." Discarding the usual tricks of spies, she conveyed information by novel means which escaped the attention of the Germans for the time being. She sent messages by means of the spacing and direction of furrows which plowmen plowed in their fields. She sent them by carillon playing on belfry bells, each range of notes carrying a musical message.

More than a dozen times she got over or through the Dutch border despite the 14,000-volt charged wires which the Germans stretched along the frontier. She went behind the bars and learned to vault until she was able to vault herself over the wires in safety.

Then she trained her police dog to leap the wires, hollowed out his teeth, wrote important messages in the thinnest paper and rolled them to fit into the tooth. In one such report she wrote 3,000 words and drew maps to describe the German positions and equipment in Belgium.

In her spy layout, she had priests, plowmen, children, bell-ringers, peasants and washerwomen. They helped 1,900 Belgians to run the border and get out of German-occupied territory.

28 False Passports Finally, Mme. de Bettigny was arrested. Tourist, she was unable to explain the presence in her pockets of twenty-six false passports. She was sentenced to death, but General von Bisseng commuted the death sentence to twenty years in prison.

Later she died at Cologne during an operation. When the British marched into the Rhineland, her body was exhumed and sent back to Lille, her birthplace.

"Mlle. Docteur" was only slightly less successful. She was known to counter-spies as "the woman of a thousand disguises." One day she would have golden tresses, another

SOCIALISTS RAP SPANISH RULERS

Ask That Congress Be Dissolved at Once; President Seeks to Avert Crisis.

Madrid, March 2.—(AP)—Socialists issued a challenge to the present government of Spain—or any similar Cabinet—as President Niceto Alcalá Zamora sought today to solve the crisis created by the resignation of the ministry of Premier Alejandro Lerroux.

In a note enumerating the party's complaints against recent political developments, Socialist leaders told the President "Congress should be immediately dissolved."

The challenge was issued while President Zamora was continuing conferences with political leaders regarding the forming of a new Cabinet.

Socialists' Charges "Recent governments have shown scant regard for the Republic or for its promises," the Socialists charged. "Proletarians have developed hostility which presages a serious battle in Spain's social life. Whatever happens, the institutions of power are responsible."

"Whatever solution is found in the crisis (resulting from the resignation of the Cabinet yesterday) based upon elements who have neglected their pledges will only aggravate the proletariat, bringing them to a desperate point of disillusion without faith in officials or governmental institutions.

Parliament Useless "Parliament, during the recent period, has proved it is useless and there has never been in history such a serious Parliamentary situation in Spain.

Thus, the Socialists bitterly reiterated their opposition to Premier Lerroux, although some leaders called by the President have insisted that he be named to form the new Cabinet.

Socialist leaders asserted any government headed by Lerroux would be no more than a "stop-gap" until Rightist elements could take over power.

It was also said a Socialist demonstration could be expected should there be much delay in solving the crisis.

MAY CHANGE STATE LAWS

Hartford, March 2.—(AP)—Radical changes in Connecticut law concerning poor may be proposed if the present trend toward continued Federal assistance in relief to all the states is extended, says Secretary W. H. P. Squires of the state public welfare department. Effort may be made to repeal or nullify the time-honored statutes in Connecticut law which are based on local responsibility and settlement in order to substitute state or Federal responsibility for relief.

Biology and child psychology are increasing popular subjects in Oklahoma, the state librarian reported. There are about 11 head of livestock in Montana for each man, woman and child in the state.

"A Million Glasses of Home Made Jelly by October 1" is the slogan of the American Legion auxiliary, as announced by the national president, Mrs. William H. Bleser, Jr., of Philadelphia. All of the more than 500,000 members in cities, towns and hamlets to make jams, conserves and marmalades just as soon as fresh fruits become plentiful. These are to be distributed in orphanages, hospitals and needy and at special times like Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's, Easter and so on. Mrs. W. Y. MacHugh of Afton, N. Y., chairman of the rehabilitation committee will conduct the jelly-making bee, which will begin next month in the South and California, and continue northward as fruits ripen. Each unit will be asked to pledge at least 100 glasses, large units, will exceed that.

Initial-engrossed stationery—200 sheets with envelopes to match for 98c at the Center Pharmacy—pretty swanky.

Travis Banton, Hollywood stylist says, that madcap hats will annihilate conservatism completely this spring. Amazing effects are already quite the rage in New York, and hats that perch atop the head with round upturned brims as well as typical pirate swashbuckling models are seen everywhere. Banton also lists dyed Panama hats in pastel shades as important in spring millinery.

ROOSEVELT'S OPTIMISM DRIVES AWAY SICKNESS

White House Physician Says President in Better Health Now Than Year Ago.

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—Because Franklin D. Roosevelt can keep smiling he has come through his first year healthier than when he first became President, the White House physician says.

Dr. R. T. McIntyre, pronouncing Mr. Roosevelt in "fine shape," said today: "As a matter of fact, it has been a healthy year for the whole White House family. Even the Roosevelt grandchildren have had scarcely any ailments."

"There is no question in my mind that President Roosevelt is better today, in a general physical way, than he was when I first saw him in March of last year," Dr. McIntyre added.

"HERE COMES CHARLIE" PRESENTED TONIGHT

South Methodist Church Group of Young People to Appear in Comedy This Evening.

This evening in the parish hall of the South Methodist Episcopal church, the newest, and by critics considered by far the cleverest, of comedies by a well known writer, Jay Tobias, will be presented by the young people of the church. The group has been rehearsing for weeks under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Leonard C. Harris, and are determined to make this one of the best in their series of productions.

The action throughout the three acts all occurs in the home of Larry Elliot in a suburb of St. Louis, Mo.

This knitting rage goes on forever—even in Hollywood. Joan Marsh is on her sixth sweater. She makes them on the set, where she sits between scenes of "You're Telling Me," purling two, knitting four, with yards of all colors. Joan believes that she is the sweater type and wears them with suits, shorts and slacks. Her favorite sweater of the half dozen is a navy blue, turtle neck affair that she wears with a white flannel skirt.

Epsom Salts are all alike—don't believe it, you should see the beautiful active crystals of the Epsom Salts sold at the Center Pharmacy for 19c a pound.

Gracie Allen was among the many stars who attended the formal spring showing of Howard Greer's gowns. From the rate of Gracie's "oh's" and "ah's", we know of eight lovely frocks that will be in her early spring collection. One is of smoky toned organza with black plumes painted over the entire surface. Novel, but just the right amount of dash for Gracie's pert, brunette personality.

Time to restock on undies again? It's always time when you can pick up lively French crepe panties and chemises for $1.00. There are also some rayon values 2 for $1.00. All this at Hale's Dollar Day.

Add a bit of variety to your next rice pudding. Jelly Rice Pudding. This pudding is most attractive and economical.

One cup jelly, 1 cup rice, 1 cup milk, 1 cup water, 1 tablespoon butter, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon granulated gelatin.

Put milk, water, sugar, butter, salt and rice in top of double boiler and bring to the boiling point. Cook over boiling water until rice is tender and dry. Soften gelatin in 1 tablespoon cold water for five minutes and dissolve over boiling water. Add to one tablespoon jelly which has been melted and stir carefully into cooked rice. Turn into mold and let stand several hours or overnight to chill and become firm. Unmold and garnish with remaining jelly. Serve plain or with cream or with a custard sauce.

Add an appetizing new touch to your dinner by serving fresh asparagus. You can get it at Garrison's at 70 cents a bunch. Then you might top off this same dinner with a delicious strawberry dessert—the berries at 18 cents a pint basket, and you'd do well to add a honey dew melon with your order also.

It covers a period of eleven months and each moment is tense with rapidly moving plot. The comedy is real humor in its self without resorting to ludicrous or extraneous incidents. The curtain will open at 8:00. There will be music between acts by a group from the Trade school orchestra. Candy will be on sale by the Edworth League.

Buttermilk Stew Two cups buttermilk; one half tablespoon butter; one teaspoon ginger; sugar or honey to sweeten. Put the buttermilk, butter and ginger in the saucepan and bring to the boiling point. Then sweeten to the taste of the patient and serve hot. Some doctors want the ginger omitted; others recommend flavorings of various types.

Champagne gets its name from the province of that name in France, where it was first produced.

Paris—The three important elements that enter into the creation of a dress and from which it derives its character are line, movement and color. The first and last usually are those which suffice, at first glance, to pass judgment on a model. Movement comes last in the process of appreciation, but at this juncture its importance becomes more evident and one realizes then how indispensable a factor it is in the makeup of a beautiful gown.

Everywhere you look you're dazzled by prints, prints and more prints! Never were they so lovely as they are this spring. Cheney's have the most attractive selection and believe it or not, some of them are as low as $1.00 a yard. There are also some crepes and heavy sheers that will hold their own in any fashion parade.

In and out the shops this morning the Bargain Hound thinks she almost sniffed a breath of spring in spite of all the snow.

Try this for a tasty dish: Italian Onion Soup.

Two medium sized Bermuda onions, 2 tablespoons butter, 4 cups brown stock or 4 bouillon cubes and 4 cups water or 1 can bouillon and equal amount of water, 4 slices bread, 1 cup grated cheese.

Melt butter and add onions peeled and very thinly sliced. Cook over a low fire until tender and a rich brown. Heat stock to the boiling point and add to onions. Simmer five minutes. Toast bread. Put a slice of bread in each soup plate or bowl and pour the hot soup with the onions over it. Sprinkle lightly with cheese and serve with the dish of grated cheese for each person to help himself to more as he likes.

FRANCE WANTS ENGLISH AID OVER ARMAMENTS

Will Ask Britain to Come to Its Defense if Germany Breaks Agreement.

Paris, March 2.—(AP)—The French Cabinet decided today that Chancellor Hitler's request for rearmament of Germany could not be accepted unless adequate assurances were given that new armaments limits shall be observed. Great Britain will be asked to come to the defense of France if Germany should break such an agreement.

High army, navy and air chiefs, forming the National Defense Council responsible for France's armed strength, are to submit their opinion to the Cabinet.

An official note to Great Britain then will be drafted by Premier

BARSTOW DEFENDS LIQUOR CONTROL

Attributes Current Agitation Against Act to Selfish Desires for Profit.

New Britain, March 2.—(AP)—The current agitation against the State Liquor Control act has been attributed by Dr. Robbins W. Barstow, president of the Hartford Seminary Foundation, to selfish desires for greater profit.

Dr. Barstow, who served on the commission which drew up the plan for state liquor control, said that a system may eventually be evolved, eliminating private profit from liquor traffic, but that the present state control should be tried for several years.

He predicted that when the State Legislature meets next year in regular session, it will maintain liquor control substantially as it is now. Dr. Barstow led a discussion last night in the chapel of the First Church of New Britain.

WIFE FINDS VALENTINES, SAYS MATE LOVED RIVAL

But Judge, Denying Divorce, Rules Hubby's Declaration of Love for Another Not Misconduct.

Bridgeport, March 2.—A husband's declaration of love for another woman is not sufficient evidence in itself to win a divorce for his wife, according to Judge Carl Foster of the Superior court who has granted a continuance in a suit brought by Mrs. Bartha S. Palinkas, Norwalk, against Stephen J. Palinkas, a hat manufacturer, of the same city. Accusing her husband of misconduct, Mrs. Palinkas exhibited a packet of valentines, greeting-cards and photographs which she said she found in his desk, and which she claimed were sent to him by one Dorothy Wilkins. The wife also asserted that Palinkas admitted his love for Miss Wilkins.

Judge Foster ruled that the misconduct charge had not been substantiated by the evidence, but granted a continuance so that the wife's attorney may file a brief in support of his claim.

Palinkas and his wife were married in 1917, and have two children. The couple have been living apart during the past year, and Palinkas has been contributing $22 a week towards the support of his wife and youngsters.

Both Governor and Mrs. Clifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania hold student pilot licenses.

PRIMO'S WEIGHT OVERWHELMS TOMMY; WINS BY A DECISION

10 OUT OF 15 ROUNDS GO TO GIANT, UNABLE TO LAND A KNOCKOUT

Loughran Holds His Own in Opening Stanzas by Brilliant Exhibition of Boxing But Is Worn Down by Foe's Superior Poundage; Small Crowd See Fight.

By ALAN GOULD

Miami, Fla., March 2.—(AP)—Due exclusively to his superior poundage and power, the combination of which proved entirely too much for even the lion-hearted challenge of Tommy Loughran to offset in his rearward rounds, Primo Carnera retains possession of the world's heavyweight boxing championship today and turns his thoughts toward the completion of negotiations to meet his next American rival, Max Baer.

A Decisive Win

The title was just about all that the mountainous man from Italy had to show for his pinning efforts last night in slugging back the attempt of Loughran to match his mere 184 pounds of beef and brawn.

The champion, in his second title defense, was knocked out by Jack Sharkey last summer, won decisively enough. He gained the unanimous vote of the three officials and a margin of ten of the 15 rounds, but he was unable to land a single punch with sufficient power to dislodge Loughran from his feet. Carnera simply clubbed Loughran, by a slow, cumbersome process, into such a state of weariness that after holding his own with a dazzling exhibition for the first ten rounds, Philadelphia Tommy lasted the closing five rounds mainly on raw courage and a display of boxing skill that never deserted him.

A Gallant Loser

To the gallant loser went whatever realistic laurels there were in a bizarre bout, fought between showmen before the smallest crowd and "light" since prize fighting was an outlaw sport.

Carnera won because he was too big for even the marvelous Loughran to handle for as long as 15 rounds, but Loughran thrilled the small crowd, however, Tommy's heartily as it had boot the champion's tactics from start to finish. Pending an official count today, it was estimated scarcely more than 15,000 spectators of whom perhaps a third were there "on the house" witnessed the first heavyweight title fight in Florida since Jim Corbett knocked out Charley Mitchell at Jacksonville in the Gay Nineties. The gate receipts were placed between 40,000 and 50,000. This marked the lowest ebb for the heavyweight championship business since Corbett fought Bob Fitzsimmons at San Francisco in 1902.

Loughran's brilliant fight against the heaviest odds any heavyweight challenger in history has faced, a deficit of 86 pounds in the ring and better than a one to five shot in the betting before hand, was the only factor that saved the bout from being a complete flop.

But for a slow start in the first three rounds during which Carnera clubbed or hurled him perhaps around like a mastiff playing with a terrier, Loughran might have piled up enough points to have made the decision closer. From the third to the tenth, when he flashed his real stand, however, Tommy's beautiful boxing and foot work made the Italian giant look like a novice. Carnera's club like blows got in their most effective work whenever Primo could rush his smaller foe into the real stand, however, Tommy's beautiful boxing and foot work made the Italian giant look like a novice. CHAMP IS UPSET

St. Augustine, Fla., March 2.—(AP)—Semi-final play in the annual Florida east coast golf tournament for women shotmakers today found Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, opposing Lucille Robinson, Des Moines, Iowa, and Helen Hicks, Long Beach, L. I., matching strokes with Kathleen Garnham, London, England.

Miss Robinson, western champion, went into semi-final play with sensational two-up victory over Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., star who had two legs on the tournament trophy and sought to claim permanent possession with a victory this year.

M. H. S. Host to Windham At Armory This Evening

Windham High's powerful quintet of basketballers invade Manchester from Willimantic tonight to meet Manchester High at the State Armory, bent on closing their season with an unblemished record of fifteen straight victories and an overwhelming favorite to turn the trick. Manchester is given an outside chance, and far outside at that, to spring an upset.

third, fourth, sixth and tenth rounds, with the seventh even and the remaining ten given to the champion. Tommy's best all around work was done in the fourth and sixth, although his best single punch, a hard right to Carnera's head, was delivered in the fifth. This blow jarred the champion and threw him nearly off balance, but he whipped back with both hands to give Loughran a mauling the rest of the round. At other times, the challenger made his big foe miss ridiculously and once Primo sent himself half way across the ring from the force of a misspent charge.

MANY SKI EVENTS FOR THIS WEEK-END

Two Races to Be Conducted Sunday by White Mountain Ski Runners.

Boston, March 2.—With snow all over New England so plentiful as to cause a snow removal problem to cities and towns and considerable trouble to all to use not wishing to participate in winter sports, important ski races are being held this week-end in New Hampshire and western Massachusetts, according to reports to the New England Council, made public here today.

The White Mountain Ski Runners are conducting two races Sunday, March 4, near Franconia, N. H. Both races are open to individuals and teams and cups will be presented to the winning teams. The first race, for third-class skiers, will be held on the Kinsman Trail, Franconia, starting at 10:30 a. m.; and the second race, for second class skiers, on the Richard Taft Trail on Cannon Mountain at 3:30 p. m., the White Mountain Ski Runners, Inc., has announced.

The Mt. Greylock Ski Club, Pittsfield, Mass., has scheduled its Mt. Greylock dual race for Sunday, March 4, near Franconia, N. H. Present reports are that the Nansen Ski Club of Berlin, N. H., one of the oldest winter sports organizations in New England, will hold its annual Mt. Washington ski race on Sunday, March 25.

AL WATROUS IN LEAD WITH RUNYAN SECOND

Bellaire, Fla., March 2.—(AP)—Goldom's galaxy touring the Bellair course here in the annual west coast open championship event today teed into the final 36 holes of competition.

Al Watrous, Detroit, with a total of 139 was leader at the halfway point but Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., was just one point behind him. Others very much in the running for the title were Craig Wood, West N. J.; Billy Burke, and Ky Laffoon of Denver.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 2.—(AP)—Semi-final play in the annual Florida east coast golf tournament for women shotmakers today found Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, opposing Lucille Robinson, Des Moines, Iowa, and Helen Hicks, Long Beach, L. I., matching strokes with Kathleen Garnham, London, England.

RANGERS, MASONS TO PLAY TONIGHT

Former Meets Winsted Y and Latter Faces Sacred Hearts at East Side Rec.

Tonight at the School street gym the Anasdi team will oppose the strong Sacred Heart team of Springfield, while the unbeaten Ranger team will play the Winsted "Y" team in a postponed game from Wednesday night.

Both visiting teams possess strong lineups and have finished on top in the greatest part of their games. It is known that the team opposing the Anasdi-Masons is one of the leading teams in the Catholic League of Springfield and the Masons will need their strongest lineup to stop this team. Teams from the City of Homes have advanced a good account of themselves in local appearances and from advance reports this team is no exception.

The Ranger team was originally scheduled to play the Winsted "Y" on Wednesday night, but through a conflict of dates the game was postponed. The "Y" team will be due tonight and are coming here with the intention of breaking the local team's record. As mentioned in a previous story the Winsted team ranks with the best and the Ranger team will have its hands full to pull out a victory, or spite of the visitors impressive record and experience over a much younger team the locals are confident that the "Y" team will be victim number fifteen.

Hits An Average of 136 For 10 Games In Superb Pin-Toppling Exhibition

Town Champ Puts up Gallant Fight, Averages 123, But Is No Match for Country's Leading Pinner; Mrs. Schubert Beats Miss Johnson.

In the most brilliant exhibition of pin toppling ever displayed in Manchester, Nick Tronsky of Willimantic, No. 1 honorary bowler of the United States, more than demonstrated his right to that ranking when he defeated Charlie Kebart, town champion, by an overwhelming margin of 134 pins at the YMCA alleys last night.

In the preliminary attraction, Mrs. Jennie Schubert of the Charter Oak Girls turned back Miss Florence Johnson of the National Fire by 46 pins in a close duel. Mrs. Schubert hit for a five-game total of 532, an average of 106-2 per game, while Miss Johnson hit a total of 486, an average of 97-1 per game.

Thrills Huge Crowd

Tronsky was superb, probably in his finest form of the season. Possessed of a flawless, beautiful delivery and uncanny accuracy, he gave the gallery of more than 300 persons their moneys worth and then some by putting together an amazing assortment of strikes and spares to chalk up a ten-game total of 1365 for a splendid average of 136-5. His highest single counter was 160 and his lowest 112. The former figure was high for the match and was made in the fifth game when Tronsky pulled a triple strike on top of a spare in the last three frames, the only triple of the match.

Best In The Town

Kebart put up a gallant battle all the way and lived up to his reputation as the best bowler ever produced in Manchester but he was no match for Tronsky, considered by many as without equal in the latter part of the game. Kebart showed a trace of nervousness and at times seemed to be trying too hard. Nevertheless he hit a ten-game total of 1231, an average of 123-1 per game, which is top-notch bowling anywhere.

Keats Hit a Double

Keats hit a double strike in the third game and duplicated in the sixth with a spare on top of the latter. In the tenth game he pulled five consecutive spares. Tronsky pulled three spares in a row with a strike on top of it in the first game, a triple strike in the fifth and six consecutive spares in the eighth game.

Hits For 54 Marks

Tronsky captured all but two of the ten games, losing the sixth and the ninth. In one hundred frames he hit the wood for the remarkable total of fifty-four marks, eleven strikes and forty-three spares. Kebart collected thirty-eight marks, twelve strikes and twenty-six spares.

Both Blew Form

The preliminary match was somewhat disappointing, in that neither Mrs. Schubert nor Miss Johnson was up to her usual form. In justice to Miss Johnson it must be said that she rolled under the handicap of a strained back and court plaster has never been recommended to improve form. As it was she gave Mrs. Schubert a stiff tussle until the last two games.

SEKS A CATCHER

Pasadena, Calif., March 2.—(AP)—Manager Lew Fonseca of the Chicago White Sox was looking today for a catcher or two to help out in the Mervyn Shea recovers from influenza. Shea is not expected to be ready for work for another two weeks.

French Tennis Aces Take Doubles Event

Montreal, March 2.—(AP)—France's professional tennis aces, Henri Cochet and Martin Pila, had a chance today, but only a slim one, to take a series from their American rivals, William T. Tilden and Ellsworth Vines. After dropping 12 straight encounters to the lanky pair from opposite sides of the United States, Cochet and Pila broke the spell in the early hours this morning by taking a straight set doubles decision, 6-4, 6-2.

Before that Tilden had defeated Pila, 7-9, 8-6, 6-2, 6-8, 6-4, and Vines had conquered Cochet 6-4, 6-8, 9-7, 3-6, 6-3 to continue the string of triumphs that were unbroken in New York and Boston.

Tonight the professional aces complete their stand here with a pair of singles matches, Tilden playing Cochet and Vines facing Pila. The matches are played on flooring laid over the ice of the forum with a crowd of 5,000 looking on.

Tronsky took an 18-pin advantage in the first game and increased it steadily to lead by 110 pins at the halfway mark, when he picked up 45 pins on the fifth game along with his high single of 160 to Kebart's 115. Kebart cut a sizeable chunk out of his margin in the sixth game, his 147 being 35 pins better than Tronsky's 112 but the latter came right back and picked up 29 pins in the next game and 33 pins in the eighth game. Kebart shaved eleven pins off Tronsky's 137 pin margin in the ninth and seemed on the way to reduce the lead even more in the final game.

Going into the final box of the tenth game, Kebart held a slender two-pin lead, 123 to 121, over a spare and got a ten-box. Then Tronsky put on the finishing touches with a spare and a strike on top of it to receive an ovation of admiring applause from the spectators, who jammed every available space around the alleys.

The scores were as follows: Tronsky, 139, 141, 139, 128, 160, 112, 154, 135, 113, 141—1365. Kebart, 121, 107, 132, 122, 115, 147, 125, 105, 124, 133—1231.

Tronsky, tall, well built and little inclined to stockiness, brought his favorite balls with him in a canvas bag. The minute he sent a ball down the polished lane in a warmup box the crowd knew that a pinner of the first water was about to perform. And Tronsky didn't disappoint them. Only once during the evening did he blow a single-pin break. Doesn't he ever miss, groaned an ardent supporter of Kebart from time to time and Tronsky's performance supplied the answer, "Rarely."

Both Get Bad Breaks

Tronsky went into action at the outset, marking three spares and a strike in succession before he began to chop. Yes, dear readers, even the best of them get poor breaks and Tronsky was no exception, in fact he hit the lowest box of the match, a five-pinner in the eighth game, but he had the ability to pull himself out of a hole time and again and come through with flying colors. Kebart had most of the bad breaks and it's a tribute to his ability that he was able to keep his opponent from running up an even greater margin.

ABOUT TOWN

Mrs. Arlyne Moriarty Garrity's vocal and piano pupils will be heard in a recital at Center church parlors this evening at 8 o'clock. The Toy orchestra, which Mrs. Garrity organized this season, will make its initial appearance. Parents and friends have been invited. Others interested should call 3072. Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth, will follow its meeting tonight in the Masonic Temple, by a poverty social.

The setback and dance given last evening in the new Wapping Community church house was a financially and socially successful affair. More than 80 attended from Manchester, for the most part taking advantage of the free bus transportation. Harry Snow, storekeeper at Wapping Center, drew the lucky number and won a half a dozen towels. First prizes in setback were won by Mrs. R. W. Belcher and Ronald Platt; second by Mrs. Wellman Burnham and P. A. Gardner. Mrs. Gardner and Frank Kupchunas won third prizes. The social was given by the Wapping School auxiliary for dental hygiene work, and no doubt another will follow in the near future.

The regular Friday evening setback and dance of the Manchester Green Community club will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Green school assembly hall.

The joint banquet committee of Anderson-Shea Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary will meet Monday night at 7:30 in the state armory.

Russell McGowan of Glastonbury will be the speaker at the Monday noon meeting of the Manchester Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Sheridan. His subject will be "The Use of Leisure", one he is well qualified to deal with from the fact that he spent 7 years as Y secretary at Bates College, Lewiston, Maine. He is a son of the president of the International College at Springfield, and was formerly a member of the Shelton Kiwanis club. Past President Haisted will furnish the prize.

OYSTERS ARRIVE HERE BY EXPRESS

Shovels, Drygoods, X-Ray Machines, Silk and Clocks Are Also Received.

The American Railway express is being used by shippers as a safe method to get through supplies and as a result there has been large consignments unloaded at the Manchester station each morning. Today was no exception.

Early this week there arrived a special shipment of snow shovels to the F. T. Elish Hardware company. They were soon disposed of and this morning twelve more packages of six shovels each were brought in.

Learning that they were at the station this morning, the store did not wait until they were loaded onto the express trucks for delivery, but sent its own truck to the station and brought them back. Earl Seaman, who drove the truck, said there were shovels in the shipment needed for immediate sale.

Manchester and Rockville received their supply of Chesapeake Bay oysters by express today. They came from Baltimore and were shipped on March 1.

Crated to prevent breakage was a shipment from a manufacturer of X-ray machines for local use. The machines came through without damage with the other express. Local stores dealing in dry goods also received packages by express this morning, over 100 such packages being unloaded.

Six cases of silk going to Rockville were also included in the incoming shipment this morning and also an electric clock. There were no oranges from Florida, but a semi-tropical fern from there was consigned to a Manchester resident. It was well wrapped and did not seem to have suffered by coming from a warm climate into Manchester.

Extra men are at work at the press office but they are all pressed to take care of the express matter that comes in, and an extra delivery truck is being used.

POLICE COURT

William Kelley of Hartford was sent to jail for 10 days by Judge Raymond A. Johnson in town court this morning on a charge of intoxication. Kelley, 76 years of age, was found by Officer Michael Fitzgerald in a doorway of a Main street store late yesterday afternoon.

FEEL DR. HIGGINS WILL RETAIN CONGRESS SEAT

Report in Rockville Has It That William C. Fox's Petition Will Be Rejected.

That Dr. William L. Higgins, Tolland County's Congressional candidate, who hails from Coventry and who represents the Second Congressional District in Congress, is to retain his seat now seems a certainty.

While the House of Representatives election committee, headed by Congressman Kerr, Democrat, of South Carolina, has not made public the decision it has been authentically reported that the committee has reached a decision adverse to the contestant for Dr. Higgins seat, namely William C. Fox. The formal decision is expected within the next 24 hours.

Lawyers Return
Major John Buckley and Judge Alexander Creighton, attorneys for Dr. Higgins, have returned home as have Robert P. Butler of Hartford and Curtis Morgan of New London, attorneys for William C. Fox.

The hearing was held Tuesday and Wednesday, February 20 and 21, instead of Monday and Tuesday, February 19 and 20 as was first reported. This change was made at the request of Major Buckley.

A check-up of the contest before the House elections committee is most interesting and worthy of comment.

The contestant's (William C. Fox) claim was that the ballots thrown out should have been counted and if counted, as they should have been, William C. Fox would have been elected in place of Dr. William L. Higgins by 79 votes.

Says Voters Confused
His further claim was that the voters were confused when they voted because of the wet party ticket on the ballot along with the Republican and Democratic tickets, with but one candidate on the wet party ticket, namely "Rollo."

He further contended that many voters intended to vote for the Democratic Party ticket and "repeal" and therefore those ballots should have been counted where there was an "X" in the party circle of both the Democratic ticket and the wet party ticket.

The contestee, Dr. William L. Higgins, Republican, claimed that it was impossible to tell whether the voters voting the wet party ticket intended to vote for "repeal" or whether it was their intention to vote for "Rollo," the wet party candidate for Congress.

The contestee further contended that irrespective of what they intended to do, under the Connecticut law, such ballots could not be counted as they are known as "marked ballots" and must be thrown out.

Legal Angle
The final issue before the Congressional Committee was whether they would count ballots which under the Connecticut law were illegal and could not be counted.

The Congressional committee, consisting of six Democrats and three Republicans, has not as yet reported to Congress, but it is understood that the committee has acted on the matter and that the decision is adverse to the contestant, William C. Fox.

It is interesting at this time also to mention that the town of Vernon, including the city of Rockville, and the seat of Tolland County, had 118 rejected ballots at the election in question. The ballots have never been taken from the sealed ballot boxes to see how they were marked by the voters.

Grand List Increase
A net increase of $5,495 has been made by the Board of Relief of the Town of Vernon on the grand list, according to the report presented yesterday. The grand list now totals $1,075,555 with exemptions of $144,620, making the net total of taxable property $931,035.

But one deduction was made by the Board of Relief, that of the Carl Schneider, Est. The amount was $250.

The following additions were made by the Board of Relief, according to the report filed yesterday by Henry Schmidt, chairman:

C. R. Burr & Co., Manchester	$ 500.00
General Ice Cream Corp., Hartford	550.00
General Ice Cream Corp., Springfield	225.00
H. P. Hood Ice Cream Co., Springfield	100.00
Alfred F. Ludwig, Rockville	1250.00
Man. Dairy Ice Cream Co., Manchester	1300.00
The Soda Shoppe, Rockville	220.00
Charles Vetterlein, Rockville	100.00
C. E. Wilson & Co., Manchester	1500.00

Total additions $5745.00

Men Lose Jobs
A total of 63 CWA workers have been notified that they are no longer needed in Rockville and will have to seek work elsewhere.

This information was given out yesterday when information was received by First Selectman Francis J. Pritchard that the quota for the town of Vernon had been reduced from 124 to 63.

Many of the CWA men are still at work in the Memorial building but at the present time only the painters and carpenters have been building got ahead of the others so that it was necessary to lay off the group. No road work is now underway because of the snow and the men who were put to work on snow removal finished Wednesday evening.

Commissioner Hockett Coming
Tolland County Democrats have been invited to hear State Tax Commissioner William H. Hackett who will address the Tolland County Democratic association at its March meeting Monday evening at the Columbia Town Hall. John N. Keeney of Rockville is president of the Tolland County association and has extended an invitation to all of the Democrats of the county to attend.

Faculty to Present Comedy
Faculty members of the Rockville High school will present the comedy "The Rivals" by Sheridan, an 18th century play, in the auditorium of the George Sykes school as their spring production. The play will be presented Friday evening, March 16. This will be a big event as the faculty has been unusually successful in productions in the past.

SHE ATE ALL-BRAN TWELVE YEARS WITH FINE RESULTS

Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation

Read this very enthusiastic letter: "Something like eleven or twelve years ago, I began eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. When I started, it was called simply Kellogg's Bran, and I believe it was one of the first products of the kind on the market."

"My friends often laugh at my fondness for ALL-BRAN. It gives such a clean taste in the mouth, and I do not feel satisfied until I have had my ALL-BRAN."

"If the Kellogg Company should ever stop manufacturing ALL-BRAN, here is one who would be greatly disappointed."—Miss Amy Person, University Park, Iowa.

Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. How much safer than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Just eat two tablespoons daily for most types of constipation. For serious cases, try it three times daily. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

MISS OLCOTT PIANIST AT VASSAR CONCERT

Manchester Young Woman Is Accompanist at Composers' Club Meeting.

Miss Gertrude M. Brown, a graduate of the Eastman School of Music, and Instructor in Music at Vassar College has been invited by Miss Marguerite E. De Witt, visiting lecturer in English at Vassar, to collaborate with her on a group of thirty-nine songs. The verses have been taken from Miss De Witt's manuscript, "Fancy That!" The song group, though it is to be separately published, is to supplement the book. At a meeting of the students' Composers' Club held at Vassar on February 27, nine of these songs were sung from the copyrighted manuscript. One of the accompanists was Polly Olcott, '34, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Olcott of South Manchester.

The Children of Mary Sodality of the St. Joseph's Catholic church conducted a card party last evening. A social hour followed the party.

Erosion has changed the surface of the earth more than the combined effects of earthquakes, volcanoes, tornadoes, landslides and glaciers.

GREENHOUSE TOUR

PLANNED APRIL 2

Vegetable Growers of State to Meet at Roberts Farm in South Middletown.

Storrs, March 2.—More than 200 prominent Connecticut vegetable growers are expected to participate in the Annual Greenhouse Field Tour of the Connecticut Vegetable Growers' Association which will be held April 2, in cooperation with the State College Extension Service, according to an announcement by Albert E. Wilkinson, extension specialist, vegetable and landscape gardening.

The tour will get underway at 1:30 o'clock when the growers will congregate at the Frank M. Roberts farm, South Middletown, going then to the Long Lane farm, West Middletown, and terminating at the A. N. Pierson greenhouses in Cromwell.

This annual event offers Connecticut vegetable growers an opportunity to inspect construction of many types of greenhouses ranging greatly in size and purpose. The tour will include examination of small 80 by 10 lean-to types of greenhouses on a practical grower's farm, and larger houses illustrating some of the most modern type cold-frames, planting methods, seed sowing in flats and transplanting.

On the Pierson place, the touring growers will have chance to inspect the largest greenhouse range in Connecticut, comprising 30 acres under glass. While the crops here are mostly flowers, the methods of handling, ventilation, watering, and general management may be applied to vegetable problems. Guides

DAVID HUTTON FREED FROM "SISTER" AIMEE

Los Angeles, March 2.—(AP)—David Hutton won't have to play "third fiddle" to Aimee Semple McPherson any more. A divorce has ended all that.

He got it late yesterday. He settled his hefty form into a witness chair and in his best baritone told Judge Leon Yankwich his troubles. The bitterest pill he swallowed in two years and six months of married life, it seemed, was Sister Aimee's pronouncement that his ability to run her Angeles Temple was about equal to that of a switchboard operator.

"You might have expected in marrying a woman of your wife's fame that you would be asked to play second fiddle," the judge observed.

On account of the storm and traveling, schools have been closed

WAM'T EVEN SECOND FIDDLE—IT WAS LESS THAN THAT.

It even came to the point where they criticized his clothes. "I guess they thought I dressed too worldly," he chuckled.

As he left the court with the decree in his pocket, a man served him with another paper. It informed him that Noland Tucker wants $8,000 damages. Tucker charges Hutton threw him out of the Temple.

Several from here attended the funeral of Mrs. Philline Hirsch in East Hartford Saturday afternoon. Harvey, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Oshay, is ill with mumps.

The Tri-County Christian Endeavor union meeting which was to have been held in Columbia Sunday night was called off on account of the going.

On account of the storm and traveling, schools have been closed

THIS WEEK NOT BEGUN UNTIL MARCH 5.

The Dorcas Society met with Mrs. Henry J. Blakelock this afternoon. Mrs. Rogers Isleb is ill with mumps.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Chapman at the Hartford Hospital Monday.

The local "Y" was obliged to postpone its meeting with Colchester and Columbia Monday night on account of the storm.

The selectmen held their monthly business meeting Thursday night at the library.

There are several cases of chicken pox about town.

The baby chipmunk grew tired out and then the bunch heard Nicky shout, "Well, he's gone back into the hole to get a little rest. I guess you Timnes realize that dancing is real exercise, and makes you rather tired. A nap for Chippy, now, is best."
The mother chipmunk then replied, "I knew that he would run inside our home in just a little while.
He's scared of girls and boys."
"However, I am not afraid. For years and years sweet ones I've played upon my little fute, though it may sound like so much noise."

SENSE and NONSENSE

In bragging of the good old days, it is well to remember that they date back to the time before screens were in vogue and that a part of the morning ritual at breakfast was to retrieve the files from the cream pitcher and the semi-fluid butter.

TO HELPFUL ONES
It's inspiration I want, not aid; Stimulus, not assistance; I can move any mountain made, To a most amazing distance. If only you'll fire my soul with strength, If only you'll nerve my hand; Oh, I can go to any length, But you never will understand.

Trench mouth is passed along by kissing, according to a scientist; but surely he must realize that his warning would have little effect, particularly in the spring.

The preacher's son, who was small, was being quizzed by an elderly visitor one day:
Visitor—Does your father ever preach the same sermon twice?
Preacher's Son—Sure he does, but he holds in different places.

We are forever being urged to face the facts. If somebody will only muster a few pleasant ones we will try an experimental peep.

Further—Yes, but she is not in the same circle.

The best part of a day of pleasure is the beginning. The most luring time in a day's work is when it is well finished.

Private Rusty—Cap'n, hit's de gospel trufe, Aw was jes' backin' up job to get a good start to charge.

Green paint may be removed from the seat of a pair of white duck trousers with a bottle of ordinary turpentine, a stiff brush, and a pair of scissors.

Man—My wife says that if I were to die she would remain a widow.
Neighbor—Evidently she thinks there's not another man in the world like you.

Man—On the contrary, she's afraid there may be, and that she'd get him.

Comes now the electric razor. If they succeed in attaching a loud speaker to it, the barber is doomed.

Small Boy—Yes, ma'am; it's the same dog.

It would be well to understand that recovery means getting over a bad spell—not getting jazzed up again.

Junior—What made your sister so mad?
Bobbie (in disgust)—Aw, she don't know what she wants. She sent me to the drug store to get some cold cream. I got ice cream because that's the coldest kind they had and now she's sore about it.

Mr. Justwed—What did you do to this meat? It has such a peculiar taste.
Mrs. Justwed—Oh, nothing. It did get a little burnt, but I fixed that—I applied Ungentine right away.

Woman—No, thank, I always use a razor strop.

You simply can't fight a person who refuses to hit back.

Invitations have been mailed to a large number, but the recital will be open to all interested.

An attic party will be the attraction at the Highland Park Community club tomorrow evening with Miss Harriet Sinnamon, Mrs. James Nichols and Mrs. P. W. Taylor in charge. Everyone is expected to attend, garbed in the oldest clothes their attics will yield. Prizes will be awarded to the men and women wearing the most poverty stricken rigs. It is hoped old and young will take part in the fun, which will include old-fashioned songs and dances. The grand march is scheduled for 9 o'clock. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

There will be an executive session of Nutmeg Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, at the Masonic Temple at 7:30 tonight. Business of utmost importance to the Forest will be transacted and a full attendance of the membership is desired.

TRADE SCHOOL STAFF OFF TO NEW BRITAIN TONIGHT

Important Problems to Be Discussed at Session of Connecticut Vocational Group.

The monthly meeting of the Connecticut section of the American Vocational association will be held at the New Britain Trade school tonight. The local Trade school staff will attend the meeting to discuss problems of vital interest to both the workers in vocational education and in industry, if traveling conditions are favorable.

The American Vocational association is an organization, founded in 1907 by a group of vocationally minded men, and is the medium through which trade and industrial schools meet industry on a common ground. The main purposes of the association are:

To hasten the day when all men and women who are citizens of our commonwealth shall be conscious of the value of and the need for vocational education.
To assist under the banner of the American Vocational Association all men and women who believe that part of life's responsibility is to lend their interest and support to associates whose aims and purposes are closely connected with the betterment and advancement of the human race.
To develop a type of education which will give the best possible preparation for life as well as for industry.
