BANDITS KIDNAP WHOLE BANK FORCE

Placed on Running Boards of Auto to Shield Them from Police Guns.

Atchison, Kas., March 12.—(AP)—The bank robbers of the Exchange National bank here of an undetermined amount of money this morning, engaged in a brief gun-battle with police, and kidnaped practically the entire bank force to co-act their escape, releasing all but two women hostages as they drove out of town.

Chief of Police W. C. Linville, who encountered the bandits as they left the bank, was shot in the arm, and Ed Iverson, cashier of the Exchange State bank, which occupies the same building, was injured when he attempted to jump off the bandit car as it roared out of town.

The bandits gained entrance by knocking off the lock of a side door, and part of the gang waited inside for employees to arrive. A porter, Sam Overstreet, saw one of the men in the bank and phoned police.

The bandits lined up bank employees on both sides of their car as they left town. On the running board behind Hugh Ed Iverson, Ed Matlock, assistant cashier; John Baker, Miss Gertrude Weinmons, Pat Hansen, George Wolf, Miss May Low, and Miss Addie Matlock.

Completely shielded from police gun-fire the bandit machine sped one block from the bank, and Iverson fell off.

Ed Matlock, John Baker, Miss Weinmons and Pat Hansen were released at the edge of town, and then George Wolf was put off five miles away, as the machine sped toward Topeka.

The bandits still held Miss Low and Miss Matlock.

MAY ASK RESTRAINT ON LIQUOR SALES

Owners of Package Stores of State Engage Att. Spelacy to Seek Legal Aid.

Hartford, March 12.—(AP)—The possibility of a constitutional court to sit on the questions raised in the liquor control situation in light of the Supreme Court's decision which granted druggists the right to have their own permits to sell intoxicating liquors, was seen today as the outcome of the meeting yesterday of protesting package permit holders.

It was indicated yesterday after the protest meeting held here that counsel for the Connecticut Package Store Association, Inc., newly formed, would seek a Federal injunction to restrain the Connecticut Liquor Control Commission from issuing druggist permits, as required under the law's interpretation by the Supreme Court of Errors of this state.

Studying Situation Inquiry today showed that counsel for the package store men are studying the situation to see if a constitutional court would be the proper channel along which to move. Such a court set in the complicated problem of the film industry, truck transportation over state highways, and the gasoline tax.

Retain Spelacy Thomas J. Spelacy and his office associates have been retained by the package store men in such proceedings as instituted. Attorney Spelacy said today the matter of procedure is being studied, it may be several days before a move is made.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK IS ENCOURAGING

Head of U. S. Steel Corporation Says Increased Trade Will be the Rule.

New York, March 12.—(AP)—Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, sees an "encouraging" outlook for 1934 with present indications pointing to increased business.

In his annual report to stockholders published today, Taylor says operations in January and February of this year showed improvement over the corresponding months last year.

"While present indications point toward a larger volume of business in 1934 than 1933," his report says, "the problems which confront the industry call for careful planning and united, cooperative effort by the entire organization."

Expressing the hope that NRA would accomplish the purposes for which it was instituted, Taylor says sufficient time has not yet elapsed to determine definitely how successful it will prove and whether the steel code should be continued in its present form after its expiration on May 31.

Details of Report The report says the corporation's plants operated at 29 per cent of capacity during 1933 against 18 per cent in 1932, producing 11,624,294 tons of iron and finished steel against 7,676,744 tons.

Net loss for the year before dividends was $36,501,123 as against $71,175,704 in 1932. Payment of preferred dividends of $7,206,820 brought the net deficit for the year to $29,304,303 compared to $1,991,867 in 1932. At the end of 1933, cumulative preferred dividends unpaid totaled $22,517,569.

The report defends the corporation's labor policy, asserting that since adoption of the steel code the hourly wage and salary rates have been advanced approximately 25 per cent. The report states that the number of employees increased from 158,032 in 1932 to 173,377 in 1933, with the total payroll increasing from $138,919,509 to $168,149,808.

TREASURY BALANCE Washington, March 12.—(AP)—The position of the Treasury March 9 was: Receipts, $14,119,437.31; expenditures, $28,710,888.23; balance, $4,827,978,708.45; customs receipts for the month, $7,726,854.85.

Receipts for the fiscal year since July 1 were $1,990,140,301.07; expenditures $4,428,436,780.14; including $2,837,001,788.99 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $2,438,296,479.07; gold assets, $7,875,001,806.31.

Crowds Boo Trio Arraigned In Needham Bank Robbery

A heavy police guard surrounded (left to right, in foreground) Irving Millen, Murton Millen and Abraham Faber when they were brought to court in Dedham, Mass., to plead not guilty to five indictments in connection with the $13,900 Needham Trust Company hold-up. Spectators booed and hissed the accused men.

Government to See Former Insull DEADLINE SET FOR THURSDAY

Cabinet Member for Income Tax; Preparing to Bring Score of Suits. Former Utilities Magnate Must Get Out of Greece This Week.

Washington, March 12.—(AP)—The Justice Department, cracking the income tax whip over the heads of Andrew W. Mellon, former Mayor James J. Walker of New York, Thomas A. Lamont of Morgan and Company and Thomas Sidlo of Cleveland, Ohio, pushed preparation of a score more suits today.

More than 40 tax agents are engaged in the special task of preparing the suits, similar to those naming Samuel Insull, Sr., Chicago fugitive must leave Greece Thursday. Although on half a dozen other occasions a time limit has been fixed for Insull to get out of the country, it appeared that this time the order was taken as final, for Insull agents were seeking frantically for a destination to which the former utilities czar might go.

The Cunard agency in Piraeus said an Insull agent had inquired there regarding accommodations for his client on the Aquitania, which will sail from Piraeus March 20 on a cruise.

There have also been queries at the Cunard line office in London in the same connection. However, no passage for Insull was booked on the ship.

John Metaxas, the minister of the Interior, who announced Saturday that Insull must leave March 15 or before, reiterated today: "He is told to go and must by March 15."

It was believed, however, that if Insull could show him a ticket for the Aquitania, sailing five days (Continued on Page Three)

BELIEVE 120 DEAD IN WARSHIP WRECK

Heavily Armed Jap Destroyer Capsizes in Heavy Seas Off Naval Base.

Tokyo, March 12.—(AP)—Japan's newest scorpion of the sea, the Tomosuru, a torpedo boat with an armament greater than most ships twice her size, was wrecked mysteriously today with the probable loss of 120 men.

The Navy declined to describe the disaster immediately, but it was almost certain that the Tomosuru had capsized off the Sasebo naval base in heavy weather. The ministry announced the ship had been found, after being missing since early morning, "badly damaged and drifting, many of her crew believed drowned."

Carried Crew of 130 The vessel, of 527 tons, was regarded as carrying one of the heaviest armaments ever conceived for a ship her size. It was reported that on her fatal trip, in connection with maneuvers off the naval base, she carried 130 officers and men—far above her normal complement.

VETERANS' BONUS BILL NEARS VOTE IN HOUSE

High Court Allows Big Hartford Merger

Washington, March 12.—(AP)—Required by purchase or otherwise, or the distribution of physical property brought into a single ownership by merger.

The Arrow Electric Company and the Hart and Hegeman Manufacturing Company consolidated into the Arrow-Hart and Hegeman Electric Company. Before consolidation, they had a total capitalization of approximately $4,580,000, the Arrow company having been known in the trade for its socket line and the Hart and Hegeman Company for its switch line.

The consolidation was first attempted through a holding company which was dissolved when the Federal Trade Commission in March, 1928, issued a complaint against it. The two companies then decided to merge, but the commission in July, 1932, ordered the dissolution, holding the consolidation was in violation of the Clayton Act.

Asserting the public had suffered no injury through the consolidation, and insisting it had benefitted through manufacturing economies, resulting in lower prices, improved quality and continued operation of the plants, the company contended it was meeting active competition in its field from other concerns and that the consolidation did not involve monopoly.

It asserted the enforcement of the commission's order would work good to no one; that it would "inhibit or greatly weaken one of the companies if forced to separate, and would result in throwing many persons out of employment at a time when the Federal government was attempting to promote industrial recovery and increase employment.

The lower Federal courts sustained the order of the commission, but it was set aside by the Supreme Court.

SALT LAKE CITY ROCKED BY SHARP EARTHQUAKE

Tall Buildings Swayed, Windows Broken and Clocks Stopped; Shock Reported in Other Parts of State.

Salt Lake City, March 12.—(AP)—A sharp earthquake rocked this city shortly after 8 a. m. today.

Tall buildings in the city swayed distinctly and clocks stopped in numerous places.

The Salt Lake Tribune office, in which the office of the Associated Press is located, swayed, for several seconds and the clock stopped at 8:05 a. m. Other clocks in the building also stopped.

Hundreds of early morning pedestrians stopped in the streets and watched the buildings shake.

The shock was felt in Ogden, Utah, 40 miles north of here, and in Midvale and Sandy to the south.

Residents hurriedly called newspaper offices to determine the extent of the quake, some of them saying the tremors moved furniture away from the walls.

Windows Broken Two windows in the Continental National bank building here were broken.

Pocatello and Idaho Falls, Idaho, the latter city nearly 300 miles north of here, reported the shocks were felt there. The first tremor was felt at 8:06 a. m. Mountain standard time, and another a moment later.

One resident of Pocatello reported the shock broke a window in his home. Others said the windows rattled and fixtures in their homes swayed.

In this city, the tremors, beginning at 8:05 a. m., continued over a period of five minutes, the first slight, followed by a much heavier quake. The adjoining Tribune and Ezra Thompson buildings, in the heart of the business district, swayed against each other several times.

From the residential districts came reports of furnace doors swinging open and water splashing out of Monday morning wash tubs. One woman said her bed was rolled several feet from the wall.

The shock was reported to be the worst ever felt in Logan, in northern Utah, where cracks were reported to have been caused in plaster of houses.

Plaster in the Cliff office building in this city was cracked.

More Than Two-Thirds Vote for Immediate Consideration of Patman Measure; Democratic Leaders Silent When Vote Is Taken.

Washington, March 12.—(AP)—By more than a two-thirds vote—that necessary to override a Presidential veto—the House today approved immediate consideration of the Patman cash bonus bill. The roll call vote was 313 to 104.

Immediate consideration of the $2,200,000,000 measure got under way after it was agreed that two hours of debate be equally divided between the proponents and opponents.

Representative Fish (R., N. Y.), controlled the opposing hour and Representative Patman (D., Texas), that for those who favor paying the bonus with United States notes.

"Everybody knows what the result is going to be and we might as well do it here and now," said Cannon (D., Wis.).

"The only reason this debate is wanted is because some members want to get their names in the Congressional Record tomorrow."

Leaders Silent It was noticeable during the debate that none of the Democratic leaders spoke in opposition.

Representative Isabella Greenway (D., Ariz.), close friend of the Roosevelt's, voted for consideration.

Representative Byrnes of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, voted against.

Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.), of the ways and means committee, voted to discharge the House being forced to a bonus vote and the Senate at conflict over air mail.

Two votes were necessary before the House could send to the Senate the Patman bill to pay the veterans' obligations in United States notes. The petitioners, who ran counter to the majority leadership in requiring a ballot on taking the question from committee jurisdiction, expressed confidence from the start.

Both the emergency and permanent air mail legislation of the administration, meanwhile, was in controversy. The first, now before the Senate after House approval, would set aside funds for the Army to carry the task temporarily. The second, under consideration, would set up an entirely new arrangement for private carrying of the mail.

With word storms being loosed at the Capitol, the Army still was trying to re-order its mail flight plans to obey President Roosevelt's injunction against more deaths. Until this was done, all flying of the mail had to be suspended.

Other Big Questions Many another question was being considered with equal urgency by Congress, including the ever-present Stock Market differences.

Revision of the Fletcher-Rayburn Exchange control bill was delayed, but drafters of the measure said it would propose an addition of two members to the Federal Trade Commission as the regulatory body.

This was a compromise between control by trade commission as it is now and creation of a new supervisory agency.

The proposed permanent air mail legislation was berated by House opposition committee members and Representative Kelly (R., Pa.), as continuing the "proprietarianism" that caused us all our trouble.

At opening of Senate hearings, Senator Logan (Ky.) objected to restrictive provisions of the bill but W. W. Howe, first assistant postmaster general, said it complied with recommendations of the President.

Senate Given Data Data on all transactions in United Aircraft stock from last December 1 to February 9 were given the Senate banking committee by Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange.

Commerce and industry sent many witnesses to the Senate finance committee to oppose the $258,000,000 House tax bill.

The Senate banking committee approved administration measures to extend the temporary bank deposit insurance law and to guarantee the principle of home loan bonds.

It also sanctioned the Fletcher bill to limit state taxation of National bank shares.

Frank B. Sayre, assistant secretary of state, testified to a House committee that the reciprocal tariff power proposed for the Department was "not such a drastic departure from what has been done before."

How soon the committee would reach a vote was problematical, but the Administration men showed no doubt that the House at least would vote this authority to the executive in about the form asked.

ARMY MAIL PLANES ORDERED GROUNDED

Service to Be Suspended Until Personnel and Equipment Improved.

Washington, March 12.—(AP)—The sky was empty of planes flying the mails today, just three weeks after the army took over the job.

The order grounding the planes made no mention of the 10 deaths that have occurred since President Roosevelt cancelled the private airmail and turned the airmails over to the army, but it followed within a day of the President's statement that deaths in flying the mails "must stop."

Major-General Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the air corps, directed that mail zones, calling upon them to:

"Suspend immediately all carrying of the air mail until your personnel and equipment are in position and ready to initiate the schedules furnished you in radiogram."

The order specified that no air mail flying should be undertaken until authorized by headquarters of the air corps.

Grounding of the entire air mail service followed President Roosevelt's statement of Saturday that deaths among army mail couriers "must stop." The White House statement was considered by many air corps men today as the sharpest rebuke given the army in years.

These men contended that the military aviators are as good flyers as commercial pilots, but that their unfamiliarity with mail routes, coupled with exceptionally bad weather during most of the period, has been a heavy disadvantage.

Although the army mail pilots were held to earth, the disasters that have marked their three weeks' experience in flying the mail remained fuel for Congressional discussion today.

DEES AT WORK New Britain, March 12.—(AP)—Eugene McSwenney, 54, had a fatal heart attack this morning while working on a CWA project. When he fell to the ground the police ambulance was called, but he was dead before the machine reached New Britain general hospital.

DILLINGER'S PAL TO DIE IN JAIL

Jail Heavily Guarded After Harry Pierpont Is Found Guilty of Murder.

Lima, Ohio, March 12.—(AP)—National Guardsmen trained machine guns on the county jail today and hurled an open challenge to John Dillinger, the "hill-crazy" jail breaker.

Inside the jail was Harry Pierpont, henchman of the killer, who is on the way to the electric chair. He was found guilty in the early morning hours yesterday of the murder of former Sheriff Jesse L. Barber during the bandit raid last October in which Dillinger was freed from the prison.

The guardsmen were ready to answer any attempt Dillinger might make to free his former ally. General Harold M. Bush, commanding the guardsmen, said he had been warned the desperado might show up in Lima to try to snatch Pierpont from the law. With his machine gunners under cover all entrances to the jail, General Bush sent more than 50 telegrams to police between Lima and Chicago asking them to be on the alert for Dillinger and to advise headquarters in the event he was seen. Dillinger has been at large for more than a week since his sensational escape from the Crown Point, Indiana jail.

BIG PRIZES FEATURE OF COOKING SCHOOL

spoons, Wallace's Serenade pattern, by Dewey-Richman Co.; one silk dress by Fradin's Apparel Shop; four gifts, aluminum cookie maker, Sift-Chine sifter, aluminum coffee percolator, enamelware double boiler, all from Marlow's; marcel wave, shampoo and facial, by Weldon Beauty Salon; one Hammond electric clock by Potterton and Krahn.

Women should remember that the only requirement to be eligible for any of these wonderful prizes is attendance at a session of the school.

The hostess is, of course, Mrs. Crabtree, whose wide experience in cooking school lecturing has amply fitted her for the week's activities in Manchester. She has spoken before thousands of American women on the subject of homemaking; she has been trained in sound Home Economics principles and has a long practical experience as homemaker and housekeeper; she has traveled widely to inform herself of new developments in the laboratories of the great American manufacturers and in the laboratories of schools and colleges where new developments and discoveries add new interest to homemaking, every year.

Has Wide Experience.
Mrs. Crabtree brings the results of her schooling, traveling and long experience as a lecturer to the women of this vicinity tomorrow. She speaks with charm and poise, every statement is based on new standards and ideas of homemaking, and in the laboratories of schools, she will prepare and give out tomorrow, is a product of her fine experience as a housekeeper and home economics specialist.

Her stage kitchen represents the prize displays of the merchants of Manchester, for the new labor saving and time saving equipment demanded by this homemaking authority is to be found right here in this town. The small devices, utensils, mixers and beaters, range, refrigerator and other large pieces are ready.

With all of this fine equipment and abundance of groceries, Mrs. Crabtree's message is to be directed especially at the housekeeper who has but little time to spend. Economy, low cost budgets, simple cookery have an important place in the program. Then for the inexperienced housekeeper she will point out new ideas for labor-saving and time-saving, suggestions for planning

ABOUT TOWN

Rev. K. E. Erickson of Emanuel Lutheran church will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Teachers and officers of the Second Congregational church tomorrow evening. Mrs. H. L. Tenney and Miss Alfred Hayes are co-chairmen of the supper which will be served at 6:30.

Hose Company No. 1 will hold its monthly meeting at the fire headquarters, Main at Hilliard streets tonight at 8 o'clock. The firemen are urged to attend, as several important matters of business will be acted upon.

The Manchester Pipe Band will hold a practice Tuesday night at 7:30 at Orange hall. All band members are urged to be present as special business will be discussed.

The next meeting of the Senior club, Girls' Friendly society, will be held April 4 at the home of Miss Florence Madden of Laurel street. At the meeting of the club last Thursday night at the home of Miss Gertrude Liddon, arrangements were discussed for an Irish tea party to be given later by the club.

Men in the employ of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad are finding an easy way to dispose of the snow that was piled up around the railroad station. Town and state plows have cleared the roads around Depot Square and the sun has helped in further clearing the snow until there was none left on the roadway. Today men in the employ of the railroad shoveled the piles of snow heaped up in different places around the depot and the platform out into the roadway where trucks ground it up and the sun helped in melting it.

Marcus Mortari was being appointed manager of the First National store on North Main street, of which David Wilson was manager before his death.

Mrs. Sarah A. Turkington of 55 Winter street is critically ill at her home following a sinking spell which occurred early this morning.

The pay checks for the first quarter of 1934 will be distributed to the members of Company G, 169th Inf. C. N. G. after drill at the army this evening.

The annual reports of the Lydall & Foulds Paper company, the Colonial Board company and the William Foulds & company were filed in the town clerk's office today.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the A.O.H., will be held in the library of St. James' church at 8 o'clock tonight.

Wetherell Motor Sales Inc. are unloading a carload of new Studebaker cars today. This is an encouraging sight for it is the first carload of pleasure cars to arrive in Manchester in many months.

Six inches of light snow fell Saturday which failed to disrupt traffic on the thorough routes or in town. Ploughs were out with the storm and were prepared for any emergency. The storm, extending along the coast and as far inland as Albany, N. Y., was at its worst off Cape Cod.

Thirty-five members of the Manchester Rod and Gun club enjoyed a moose dinner at Osano's in Bolton Saturday night. The meat was furnished by Attorney Francis Pallotti of Hartford who is president of the club. Routine business was discussed following the dinner.

Local Union No. 2127, United Textile Association, will hold a special meeting in Turn Hall tomorrow evening at seven o'clock. Monthly dues are due this evening. All members are urged to attend.

Nineteen tables were in play at the setback party in Orange Hall, Friday night. Winners were as follows: Ladies' first, Mrs. Markham Anderson; second, Mrs. Thomas Leeman; men's first, Robert Rogers; second, David Morrison.

There will be a special meeting tonight of St. Mary's Bible class in the Parish House at 7:30. All are asked to attend as important work is to be done.

St. Margaret's Circle, Daughters of Isabella will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the K. of C. clubrooms in the State theater building. A public card party will follow.

PLOT TO ESCAPE JAIL FRUSTRATED

One Convict Kills Another Accidentally; Suspicious Guard Fires on Men.

San Quentin Prison, Calif., March 12.—(AP)—Using home-made guns, three desperate convicts attempted a daring escape from the prison here today but were frustrated by guards after many shots had been fired and one prisoner killed.

The attempted escape was led by Ethan A. McNab, guards said. William Bagley and Lewis H. Downs were the others seeking to scale the wall.

The prisoner accidentally slain when McNab's gun went off was John Hubert Arbuckle, 20, of San Bernardino.

Taking advantage of a dense fog Downs suddenly confronted Guard Fred H. Miller near the prison electric shop.

Guard Knocked Down
Miller attempted to raise his weapon and was knocked down by the three convicts.

Three other prisoners came along and McNab and his conspirators tied them up with the guard.

As McNab was binding Arbuckle's gun accidentally went off, guards said, and fatally wounded Arbuckle.

McNab dressed in Miller's uniform and boldly approaching Guard E. L. Williamson, who was on the prison wall, called:

"Ernie, give me and these electricians a hand in getting this wire over the wall."

Suspicious, Williamson opened fire on the three men, who returned the shots with their home-made guns and crudely fashioned bullets. Other guards seized the convicts.

ANDOVER AUTOMOBILE DAMAGED BY TROLLEY

Accident Occurs at Center and Olcott Streets Owing to Snow Covered Rails.

A Cadillac closed car driven and owned by T. J. Benningham of Andover, was badly damaged at the intersection of Center and Olcott streets at 4:45 Saturday afternoon. Mr. Benningham was driving east, coming from Hartford, and had reached the point where the trolley rails leave the center of Center street and take to the south side of the street. He did not know about the tracks crossing to the side of the road, as the snow had hidden the rails.

He had just come to the intersection as a trolley car going towards Hartford came along. Both the operator of the trolley car and the automobile driver made attempts to stop, but it was too late.

The automobile was badly damaged and could not proceed after the accident. The front part of the trolley car was also damaged. Mr. Benningham had a companion in the automobile at the time of the accident, but both escaped serious injuries.

A concrete runway, 120 feet wide extending the full length of the line of hangars, is being constructed at Selfridge Field.

GET RUM RUNNER OFF BAR HARBOR

Attempt to Land $200,000 Liquor Cargo Thwarted by Coast Guard.

Bar Harbor, Me., March 12.—(AP)—Department of Justice agents and customs officials turned today to investigate a powerful but unauthorized radio plant in Brooklynn, Me., the existence and location of which was revealed in the seizure yesterday of a $200,000 liquor cargo aboard the British motor tanker Normada off Mt. Desert Island.

The man or men who have been operating this station, officials said, directed the movements of the Normada.

The capture of the ship is understood to be the first to be made under the new anti-smuggling treaty raised by the United States and Canada.

The Coast Guard cutter Harriet Lane and the Customs patrol boat 481 brought the Normada into Seal Harbor last evening. They picked her up earlier in the day off the coast.

The crew of nine men was taken into custody by Customs officers and the liquor transferred to trucks ashore. The destination of either the men or the liquor was not revealed.

U. S. Customs Inspector E. Vaughan Cleaves said the Normada was equipped with short wave radio and was enroute to a United States port from Miquelon, off the coast of Newfoundland.

The Harriet Lane and the Normada came into the harbor here at mid morning, dispelling the belief that the liquor would be taken down the coast. The Coast Guard vessel had apparently heaved to outside the harbor here after the short run from Seal Harbor during the night.

9 PERSONS SAVED BY COAST GUARDS

Occupants of Two Fishing Boats Missing Since Yesterday, Located by Plane.

Miami, Fla., March 12.—(AP)—Nine persons, missing on two fishing boats since yesterday, were rescued today by the Coast Guard seaplane Arcuturus, after they had spent an uncomfortable night aboard their craft in cold, wind-swept waters.

From the auxiliary cruiser Dawn which set out early yesterday for the Gulf stream, and failed to return on schedule, the seaplane brought I. S. Copeland, his son, Billy S., of Coral Gables, and Mr. and Mrs. John Calhoun and their daughter, Dorothy, 17, of Miami. Copeland is head of a soft-drink bottling company here.

Cubans Rescued.
Four Cubans were rescued from a concrete-bottom derelict, which lies in Biscayne bay a mile southeast of the Miami river inlet, where they were stranded after their rowing boat was stove-in and sank.

The Cubans are Aurelio Padron, 28; Manuel Padron, 16; Joe Articiano, 32; and Juan Garcia, 40.

Survivors of the boat Dawn said they became stranded on coral flats south of the Cape Florida light and were unable to maneuver the craft free of the obstruction. They were afforded some protection from the cold by the boat's cabin. The Cubans were blue with cold when the Arcuturus, piloted by Chief Gunner C. T. Thruway, reached them.

Occupants of the Dawn left the craft stranded on the coral flats, but efforts will be made today to return it to port.

WHISKEY DOES THE TRICK

Ansonia, March 12.—(AP)—After a motor wrecking car derrick failed to move a horse that fell at the junction of Main and Tremont streets today, a pint of whiskey was poured down the equine's throat. The animal revived immediately and after a look around apparently to see if there was more, rose to its feet and being hitched again to the wagon, it had been drawing, plodded along on its way. A crowd that had gathered offered all sorts of remedies to coax the animal to its feet, until a veteran truckman came along and suggested the whiskey.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. Myra Trombley of Andover and Joseph Chambers and Harry Cline of North Coventry were admitted and Mrs. Ethel Jones of 31 Eldridge street and Mrs. Anthony Kuzis and infant son of 221 Union street were discharged Saturday.

Mrs. Michael Berry of 41 Florence street was admitted Sunday.

Adolph Newmarker of Rockville was discharged today.

A new speed record for seaplanes over a 100-kilometer course was recently established in Italy by Lieut. Col. Guglielmo Casinelli with a speed of 529.370 km. p. h.

OBITUARY

E. E. SCRANTON DIES; TEA MERCHANT HERE

Spruce St. Business Man Succumbs After Long Illness—Funeral Tuesday.

Edmond E. Scranton, senior member of the firm of E. E. Scranton & Son, local tea and coffee retailers, died yesterday at his home after a lingering illness. Mr. Scranton was born in Glastonbury 60 years ago, but spent the greater part of his life in Manchester. For 12 years he was employed on the South Manchester railroad, which was discontinued last year. He started a tea and coffee route, covering Manchester and other small towns surrounding favorably known to a wide circle of people. Later his son Clifford E. Scranton became associated with his father at the store No. 307 Spruce street.

Mr. Scranton was an honorary member of Company 4, South Manchester Fire Department and had formerly been active in the company.

Besides his son he leaves his wife, Mrs. Lena M. Scranton, and a sister, Mrs. Colin Barbour of Wethersfield. He also leaves one grandchild.

Mr. Scranton's funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Watkins Brothers, 11 Oak Street. Rev. L. C. Harris of the South Methodist church will officiate and burial will be in the East cemetery.

Watkins Brothers will be open this evening from 7 to 9 o'clock for the convenience of friends of Mr. Scranton.

BEGIN SURVEY HERE OF LIGHTING COSTS

Selectmen Turn Over All Reports to Engineer Hired to Study Local Case.

The Public Safety Committee of the Board of Selectmen after a discussion of the street lighting and other phases of the electric lighting situation in this town today turned over all reports of the committee to Edgar J. Kates of New Rochelle, N. Y., who has been engaged to conduct a survey of the electric system here based on reports made by Stone & Webster for the rate case two years ago.

Mr. Kates is an electrical engineer and a former member of the New Rochelle lighting committee. He was secured by the local board for his knowledge of electrical engineering, electric systems, distributing and transmission costs of electric current.

In a recent fight in his home county, Westchester, which includes the Westchester Electric Company for reduced rates, Mr. Kates conducted a case which was won by the consumers with over a million dollars a year saved the consumers.

In connection with the current case for which $500, was appropriated by the Selectmen a month ago, special emphasis will be given the valuation of the street lighting lines and the value of the Manchester Electric Company properties as given in the reports of engineers to the Public Utilities Commission.

GOV. CROSS' SISTER DIES IN HARTFORD

Hartford, March 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Agnes M. (Cross) Dimock, widow of George Dimock, and sister of Governor Wilbur L. Cross, died at 11:45 Sunday night at the home of her son, Leon T. Dimock, 364 Woodland street, after a short illness.

Her husband died in Mansfield two weeks ago and since then she had been living with her son in this city.

Mrs. Dimock was born in Mansfield, May 5, 1864, a daughter of Samuel Cross and Harriet Maria (Gurley) Cross.

Besides her son and brother, Governor Cross, Mrs. Dimock leaves two daughters, Mrs. Dwight A. Beebe of Winthrop, Mass., and Mrs. Edgar L. Beebe, of Shelton, and seven grand children.

The funeral will be held at 364 Woodland street, Wednesday afternoon at 1:30. The Rev. Raymond Cunningham, rector of Trinity church, will officiate.

Burial will be in Gurleyville cemetery, Mansfield.

C. P. BRADLEY FUNERAL

Meriden, March 12.—(AP)—Funeral services for Clarence Peck Bradley, president of the Bradley and Hubbard Manufacturing Company were attended by a host of friends and acquaintances this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home, 320 Colony street. Rev. Dr. Albert J. Lord, pastor of the First Congregational church, officiated and highly praised Mr. Bradley in his eulogy of the deceased.

St. Elmo Commandery, Knight Templars, conducted their ritual at the home and escorted the procession to Walnut Grove cemetery. A detachment of nurses from the Meriden hospital also attended the services in a body.

The spawning season of sea shrimp in Louisiana waters usually extends from March through August.

REFUSE TO END STRIKE

Haverhill, Mass., March 12.—(AP)—A mass meeting of 2,800 striking shoe workers unanimously rejected today the recommendation of the New England Regional Labor Board that they go back to work immediately.

Officials of the United Shoe and Leather Workers Union said the vote was their answer to the severe criticism voiced against them by the labor board.

Rockville Musicians With Famous Bands

In the April issue of The Metro-nome, America's leading musical publication, appears an item concerning three young Rockville musicians who have made the big time with nationally known musical organizations and have visited much of the country as members of these bands and orchestras.

The three Rockville sons are Harry "Goldie" Goldfield, assistant director of Paul Whiteman's internationally known orchestra, Jack Keeney, first saxophonist touring the country with Jean Goldkette's famous radio and recording orchestra of Detroit, Mich., now enroute to Louisville, Ky., where they will be heard at the Kentucky Hotel for several weeks during the Kentucky Derby classic, and John Gworek, a member of the President's U. S. Marine Band at Washington, D. C.

MUSSOLINI CALLS THREE POWER MEET

Conferences to Begin in Rome on Wednesday; Danube States Interested.

Rome, March 12.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini's own newspaper said today that the three-power conference called by Il Duce here this week will but lay the groundwork for an agreement in which other governments later will be invited to participate.

Whatever agreement may be reached, said his Milan newspaper, Popolo D'Italia, will be presented later to all interested nations in the hope that they will join to assure the economic restoration of the Danubian states.

PRISONERS RIOT AS LIGHTS FAIL

Shumating company was without lights for an hour and some sections remained in darkness for nearly two hours before normal service was restored.

A short circuit at the Grand avenue power plant of the company resulted in the interruption of service, but what caused the short circuit was undetermined.

At the outset, it was reported that a fire in the power plant was responsible. This report, however, was spoken by R. A. Maunwaring, manager of the company.

"There was no fire," he said. "There was a short circuit in the business section. As soon as it was cleared up, the service was restored."

Nervous Excitement

Sheriff James Geddes termed the disorder at the jail as one of "nervous excitement."

"It was one set fire to a mattress. The men were milling about and yelling 'fire!'"

Physicians were guided by the beams of flash-lights in delivering two babies in darkened hospital-rooms at Grace and the other at St. Raphael's. Both were girls.

Crowds in theaters remained generally calm, their fears allayed by managers who quickly recruited talent from among the audience to amuse the patrons.

Buildings at Yale were among the few that had lights, since the university operates its own power plant. The Connecticut Company, a trolley car concern, the New Haven railroad and the Southern New England Company also reported that their service was uninterrupted.

MISS HOLMGREN ON NURSING STAFF

Receives Appointment from Manchester Public Health Nursing Association.

Miss Edith Holmgren, for the past few years on the nursing staff of the Manchester Memorial hospital, has been appointed by the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association as one of their visiting nurses. Miss Holmgren began her duties today. She is eminently qualified by experience and training to assume the responsibilities of a public health nurse. Before coming to Manchester she was employed as a nurse in the New Britain public school.

Miss Holmgren will succeed Miss Myrtle D. Davis, for the past five years a visiting nurse in this town and a prominent worker in Girl Scouting. Miss Davis is to be married to Albert Crook of New Bedford, Mass., her native city. She was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given by scouts at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Short of Benton street.

later, that he might be permitted a five-day extension of time.

Chicago, March 12.—(AP)—The arrest of Samuel Insull, fugitive deposed utility magnate, the moment he sets foot on American soil, and his trial on charges of using the mails to defraud, was in prospect today.

United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green said last night that the mail fraud case would be tried by reason of Insull's expulsion from Greece through an ouster order of the Greek government, rather than through extradition proceedings. Using the mails to defraud is not an extraditable offense.

Airplanes were used for fire patrols or transportation this season in five of the eight national forests of the United States.

Bids for a seaplane service in New Guinea have been called for by the government.

LOCAL KIWANIS TO SPONSOR SHOW

Proceeds Going to Kiddies Camp—Motion Picture Industry Is Described.

The history of the motion picture industry was presented to the Kiwanis Club at its regular Monday meeting at the Hotel Sheridan today in an interesting address by Harrison Harrie of Hartford, who has been connected with this field for 26 years. Mr. Harrie traced the progress of films from the first nickelodeon in Pittsburgh in 1895 to the present day talking pictures.

The speaker said that although the talkies were experimented with for a number of years it was not until 1927 that they were accepted by the public. He said that there are two methods of recording speech, disc or film, the latter being most prevalent throughout the country. He said that all theaters in this state have the film method.

He also discussed various other phases of motion pictures, including booking of films, box office appeal and other angles.

The attendance prize, donated by Robert Hamilton, was won by Haary Cude. The free dinner donated by the management was won by Charles Burr. Cigars were also passed around by Joel Nichols, Jim Nichols and Jim Turnbull, all three of whom have been subjected to good natured "kidding" over their good fortune in winning attendance prizes during the past year.

The Kiwanians voted to sponsor a show this year for the benefit of the Kiddies Camp at Hebron and plans will be started in the near future.

POLITICAL GROUP MEETS THURSDAY

Swedish-American Political Club Will Gather in Orange Hall.

The Swedish-American Republican club will hold a meeting Thursday night at Orange hall, following the regular meeting of Scandia Lodge, at which time the members will take action on a recommendation to change the name of the organization to the Swedish-American Political club. It is expected that the meeting will start about 9 o'clock and all Swedish voters in town are invited to attend.

It is also planned to recommend that the executive committee of the club be increased from seven to 16 members, including the four officers, the committee to consist of 10 men and six women. It will be one of the duties of this club to canvass the town and bring out the Swedish vote in the town elections.

Discussion will also take place on the possibility of placing candidates in the local political field next fall, although it is not expected that any definite action will be taken along this line.

DRIVER GETS NERVOUS, AUTO HIT BY TROLLEY

Robert Schaller's Car But Slightly Damaged in Center Street Collision, However.

An automobile driven by Robert Schaller of Center street was slightly damaged when struck by a trolley car operated by Christopher Anderson of East Hartford at 8:54 Saturday night.

Mr. Schaller had taken the automobile from the garage and turned to close the door. As he entered the automobile and started to drive out, across the trolley tracks, he saw the trolley car approaching. He became nervous, he told Policeman Joseph Prentice, who investigated, and stalled the car on the rails.

The motorman, who was about 100 feet away when the car became stalled, saw the trouble, applied his brakes and attempted to stop the car. But the snow on the rails prevented the car from coming to a stop until it had collided with the front right bumper, breaking it and pushing the car about four feet along the rail.

Classmates Give Party for Albert Salmund, Who Plans to Enter Fordham This Fall.

Albert Salmund, better known to his friends as "Putt," was honored recently with a party given at the home of one of his friends, in recognition of his captaincy of the Manchester High basketball team during the past season. He was greeted by a number of his boy and girl classmates and was presented with numerous useful gifts.

During the evening Ernest Turcek played solos on his guitar, Bill Lyons sang several popular songs, accompanied by Joe Mistrretta on the piano, and Ray Mosser demonstrated a few stunts. Many interesting speeches were given in regard to "Putt's" work as captain of the team.

A buffet lunch was served, followed by dancing. Salmund plans to enter Fordham College in September.

TO EXHIBIT RARE SHAWLS MARCH 20

Widespread Interest Being Shown in Treasured Heirlooms of Colonial Times.

Postponed twice on account of severe weather, the W.C.T.U. shawl exhibit, entertainment and tea is now scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, March 20 at 3 o'clock, in the parish hall of the Center Congregational church.

The entertainers will be Mrs. Katharine Conrow Blair, reader; Miss Miriam Watkins, soprano and C. Elmore Watkins, bass. Mrs. W. C. Tinker will be in charge of the tea.

Interest in the shawl exhibit has been increased by the postponement. More than 100 shawls have been loaned for the occasion by residents of this and other towns. Treasured heirlooms worn by the members of colonial families, will be shown together with shawls from the Orient and all the European countries.

Those who have not previously secured their tickets may do so from W.C.T.U. members or at Watkins Brothers store.

THE BARGAIN HOUND

When you see what delicious things can be made with Rumford Baking Powder at the Herald Cooking School you'll want to "change to Rumford." Hale's Self Service have it.

There is a definite trend toward exquisite handwork on afternoon frocks with panels, shirring and trellis tuques predominating. Lanvin adopts flowing lines for skirts and coats and makes sleeves wider and looser. Cocktail dresses have longer, sweeping skirts tipped by very large legorn straw hats trimmed with upstanding bows and bunches of field flowers. The garden party type of costume is featured in this house.

You may follow a recipe in every detail and yet have a failure result. Then it's time to look over your stove. How old is it anyway? Is it just about worn out? If it is, I know you'll want to hear all about the new Magic Chef, 900 series, that is at the Manchester Gas Company. It is truly a low priced stove with high priced features. Stop in and inquire about the liberal payment plan.

They all like fudge! So they'll all like this Fudge Cake.

- 1 cup flour
  - 1 teaspoon Rumford Baking Powder
  - 1 cup milk
  - 4 squares chocolate
  - 1-2 teaspoon salt
  - 4 eggs
  - 2 cups sugar
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Cook chocolate with milk and beat until mixture is thick. Set aside to become cold. Separate eggs. Beat yolks, add them to chocolate mixture. Then add sugar, flour sifted with baking powder and salt. Beat well after each addition. Lastly, add beaten whites. Bake in tin about 2 inches deep in oven 350 degrees F for twenty-five minutes.

There isn't a single thing in the food line that's to be featured at the Herald Cooking School that you can't get at Hale's Self Service.

Tell this to the gentlemen—Poor Carl Brisson, known as one of England's best dressed men, arrived in Hollywood with only a dozen suits. Three of his 18 trunks have been lost en route from New York and these three contain all his most important clothes. Brisson is haunting the transfer company offices for the lost baggage because he wants to make his debut in "Murder at the Vanities," wearing the latest in waistcoats and things.

NELLY DON DRESSES SHOWN AT SCHOOL

One Will Be Given Away Daily at Sessions by J. W. Hale Co.

One of the many interesting attractions at the Herald Cooking School sessions this week, will be the first showing in Manchester of the new spring Nelly Don cotton dresses.

The J. W. Hale Company is showing the new spring Nelly Don wash dresses at the cooking school each morning. Four living models will display a diversified assortment of styles suitable for all types—old and young, slim and stout—so that Manchester's fair sex can see for themselves just how adaptable Nelly Don's are to all types.

Dame Fashion has decreed cottons from morn'g till night for Spring and Summer wear and Manchester women will be delighted with the charming new styles in these popular cotton dresses styled by the popular young designer, Nelly Don. Nelly Don Cottons are not just home frocks, there are styles for every daytime occasion. New backless models for active sports and sun-worshippers, sheer voiles and linens for afternoon wear. And the much talked about "shirtwaist" frock, predicted to be the "pet" of the summer season, is given great prominence in this new spring showing.

Mrs. Crabtree, lecturer at the cooking school, is herself a Nelly Don follower. Mrs. Crabtree has personally met Mrs. Nellie Donnelly who is the founder of Nelly Don frocks. Mrs. Donnelly started her business by making a few dresses for her neighbors and friends in her own home town. They became so popular and her business grew so rapidly that she is now owner of one of the leading wash dress concerns in the country today. Her policy of using only the best of fabrics, giving the very latest styles (which she is able to do by having a staff of stylists who visit the leading Paris fashion openings) at modest, low prices has won her great fame and fortune.

Nelly Don cotton dresses are not only noted for their individual styling, but the fabrics used in these dresses are exclusive with the Donnelly Garment Company. Women and girls will love the new fabrics used in these smart cotton dresses. Old-fashioned gingham and gray stripes and checks are outstanding in the new assortments. Linens are another big item with Nelly Don's, especially when trimmed with an old timer—ric-rac braid. The much talked about high necklines and

There would have been no Boston Tea Party if it had been Delano Potter Tea. You'll hear more about it at the Herald Cooking School. Get it at Hale's.

As for shoes—well, if you don't look individual, it's your own fault! Nobody says that you must stick to kid, suede or even plain leather, for that matter. Instead, those in the know tell you to go out and be as different as you please.

For instance, Palm Beach cloth, gaberdine, silk crepes and tweed linens are used in profusion for street and afternoon shoes. And for evening there are satins, hand-painted linens and piques that are beautiful enough for the feet of queens. Some are cut so low as to reveal heels, toes and indeed everything but the sole.

Cocktail shoes to go with those long, slinky dresses have small glasses and sometimes shakers painted on the gleaming black satin. Because the fabrics and their treatment are so exquisite, there's an almost complete dearth of clattering bows, buckles and gadgets, for which fashion gods be praised!

Maggi Servino adds an indefinable something or other that encourages the desire for second helpings. See it demonstrated at the Herald Cooking School and then get some at Hale's Self Service.

Here's a change when you get tired of potatoes—Rice Timbales with Salmon Sauce. Three-fourths cup uncooked rice, 1-2 cups milk, 3 eggs, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Cook rice in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Add milk, seasonings and eggs slightly beaten. Put in buttered molds or custard cups and bake in a moderate (350 degrees F) oven until firm. Unmold and serve with salmon sauce.

Two cups cream, 1 cup flaked canned salmon, 1-2 cup chopped stuffed olives, celery salt, pepper and salt. Add the salmon and chopped olives to the cream sauce. When thoroughly heated pour over rice timbales and serve very hot.

See you all at the Cooking School.

Marianne

"windswept" fashions are featured in these dresses as only Nelly Don can design them. Girls will be fascinated with the new tricky collars, perky bows and new sleeves that set these dresses apart from other wash dresses in their same price lines.

The four models, selected from the personnel of The Hale Company, will show these dresses four mornings this week, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Each dress will be described by Mrs. Crabtree as it is shown. The models will be shown by Mrs. Mary Segerdahl, buyer of the Nelly Don garments at Hale's store, also Alice Modin, Maud Turkington and Ruth Stavinsky.

Nelly Don dresses are exclusive with Hale's in Manchester. They are guaranteed for a season of hard tubing—to be absolutely fast to sun and tub and are sold with Hale's absolute guarantee or "money refunded."

A Nelly Don will be given away to the winner of the lucky number each day of the Herald Cooking School. The winners will be given a brand new spring style that can be exchanged for a different size (providing it does not fit) by presenting the dress at the Hale Store sometime this week.

PROTESTANTS DENY PRIEST'S DICTUM
Pastor Says This Is No Time for Churches to Debate Own Merits.

New York, March 13.—Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, in his sermon yesterday in Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, Park Avenue and Sixtieth Street, replied to the criticisms of Protestantism by the Rev. Fulton J. Sheen, of Catholic University, in his Lenten sermons at St. Patrick's Cathedral, and said that this was no time for Protestants and Roman Catholics to debate their merits.

Show United Front

"In the face of the overwhelming public needs, the Church of Christ should sink its differences and show a united front," Dr. Sockman said. "The only spirit in which to approach the task of recovery today is that of spirit of malice toward none and charity for all," which Lincoln expressed when he confronted a similar task of reconstruction seventy years ago."

Dr. Sockman said that although there had been much talk about the bankruptcy of the churches, they had shown a far better survival ability than many secular institutions.

"Up to January 1, 1933, while one out of six banks and one out of twenty-two businesses had been forced to close, only one in 2,344 churches had gone into bankruptcy," Dr. Sockman continued. "While it is true that churches are in desperately straitened circumstances, it is amazing that their support has shrunk less than our national income. To keep churches alive is, of course, no credit to their members and no service to society. There should be a consolidation of many struggling parishes and, in our hope, of many competing denominations. Unfortunately the depression is not driving us toward church union as fast as it should."

Dr. Robbins Calls Charge Untrue

The Rev. Dr. Howard Chandler Robbins, of the General Theological Seminary, former dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, yesterday branded as an "untrue and cruel accusation" the statement of the Rev. Fulton J. Sheen attributing to Protestantism the unrest of the modern world.

Preaching at St. Bartholomew's Protestant Episcopal Church, Park Avenue and Fifty-first Street, Dr. Robbins agreed that the Reformation had been achieved only at the cost of ecclesiastical unity resulting from the rise of denominationalism, but added that the recovery of the primitive and apostolic faith "had more than balanced any loss."

"No sober and impartial person," he said, "can deny that losses as well as gains have resulted from the Reformation and particularly from the separation between the Church of England and the Church of Rome—losses on both sides. And historical facts show that their balance gains with less among our very choicest blessings. From it has dated a new era in the moral progress of the Western nations and the spiritual development of civilized men."

Welcomes Day of Reaction

The solution of the present problems of the Protestant church lies not in a return to medievalism, as some Roman Catholics advocate, but in attuning its beliefs to present living conditions. Dr. Minot Simons said in his sermon yesterday morning at the All Saints Unitarian Eightieth Street.

"For a good many years," said Dr. Simons, "observers of religious trends have realized that a period of reaction in religion was due. And here it is! It has followed the fears bred by the great war and the uncertainties bred in fearful minds by the attacks of science on the old traditional foundation of faith."

"Medievalism is endeavoring to make the most of this reaction. It is prophesying that Protestantism is dead that it must turn back 300 years and revert to the Medieval Church from which it came, in order to save the world from chaos. Such a prophesy can only appeal to those who are spiritually unequal to their sublime Protestant privilege."

Calls Protestantism Modern

Protestantism is the only form of Christian religion adequate for the new day, the Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale said yesterday in his sermon at the Marble Collegiate Church, Fifth Avenue and Twenty-ninth street. Protestantism had no intention of giving in and returning to the Roman Catholic fold, he asserted.

"Any church based on theological ideas of the Middle Ages can't have leadership in the social movements of 1934," he continued. "Protestantism is hostile to traditionalism in any religion friendly to human progress. It opposes dogmatic authority in theology and therefore fosters scientific spirit in life and modern Protestantism has been characterized by a new emphasis on Christ as the supreme authority and example. It is preaching His personality and spirit as the solution of all social and individual problems."

man progress. It opposes dogmatic authority in theology and therefore fosters scientific spirit in life and modern Protestantism has been characterized by a new emphasis on Christ as the supreme authority and example. It is preaching His personality and spirit as the solution of all social and individual problems."

Denies Bomb in Church Father

Partial approval of the Rev. Dr. Fulton J. Sheen's description of Protestant Christianity as a "prophetic son" was expressed yesterday by the Rev. Dr. William Pierson Merrill, minister of the Brick Presbyterian Church, Fifth Avenue and Thirty-ninth Street. Dr. Merrill firmly rejected, however, Dr. Sheen's implication that the prodigal son's "father" was the Roman Catholic Church.

"Protestantism has in many ways played the prodigal," he said, "and needs to come back to the father's way of life. But when the preacher presented the Church of Rome in the part of the father, he came very near to the sin of blasphemy. God is the Father to Whose home all of us, the elder brother as well as the younger, alike need to return, repenting each of his sins, his failure to live according to the Father's heart and will."

Father Sheen's Talk

Father Sheen in his fourth Lenten sermon at St. Patrick's Cathedral, yesterday, said that freedom could only exist within the limits set by law and authority, and that the authority exercised by the Roman Catholic Church offered the most complete means to freedom.

Continuing his parallel between the parable of the Prodigal Son and the actions of the churches which broke with the authority of the Vatican in the sixteenth century, he asserted that the insurgent faiths were trying to set up a moral and religious code to suit modern civilization.

Likens Moderns to Niagara

"The unity of Christendom will not be affected by the prodigal children saying amongst themselves, 'Let us like others write "A Preface to Morals" and claim that men cannot live according to traditional morality, that the acids of modernity have eaten away traditional beliefs, and that we need a new ethics to suit our morals and suit unmodern ways of living," he said.

"If there is a symbol for the modern world it is Niagara Falls. The water is free and unrestrained, and it just can't help falling. That is not very romantic."

"The symbol for the Church might be a rock in the Alps, a tremendous rock weighing 1,000 pounds which is poised on another rock by a delicate balance of no more than six inches of a base. That is romantic. It has 1,000 angles at which it will fall, but there is only one on which it will stand, and it is that which makes it a far more serious thing than the falling and churning of all of Niagara's waters."

Defends Papal Authority

Defending the Papal authority, Dr. Sheen said that throughout the world people were free only to choose between the kind of authority they would obey. The need for authority, he said, was evidenced in the fact that 99 per cent of the world's business was done on credit, and that the great mass of people accepted scientific and technical facts on the authority of scientists and technicians, without seeking proof themselves.

"I cannot for the life of me," he said, "understand why some people and that the great mass of people like George Bernard Shaw and not the authority of the Son of God. Modern civilization will accept the authority of God that there is a heaven but not His authority that there is a hell. We must remember that right is right if nobody is right, and that wrong is wrong if everybody is wrong."

The insurgent faiths, Mr. Sheen said, could not save themselves by banding together into "a great federation of prodigal sons." Neither, he added, would they recover spiri-ual unity if they returned to the shelter of the Vatican according to the Holy Father's primacy of honor and not primacy of jurisdiction.

POLICE COURT

Joseph Binok, of 11 Lewis street, was found guilty of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor in the session of town court this morning before Judge Raymond A. Johnson and a fine of $100 and costs was imposed. Appeal to the Superior Court was taken by Attorney George Lesmer, counsel for Binok under bond of $200.

Binok was arrested on March 3 on West Middle Turnpike by Officer Joseph Prentice who noticed the Binok car at the Midland Filling station on Main street about 11 o'clock. Before the officer could turn around and go back Binok pulled out of the filling station yard and turned down Middle Turnpike, West, narrowly escaping striking a car proceeding south on Main street.

At a point near Oxford street the officer overtook the car and asked Binok for his license. At first Binok could not find the license, but later located it in his pocket. He was staggering. Officer Prentice testified, and was taken to the police station adjudged drunk by Dr. LeVerne Holmes.

Binok testified that he had had only four glasses of beer on the night of his arrest, one early in the evening and three from 9 to 11 o'clock. He said he left Lauffer's Tavern shortly before 11 o'clock driving down Main street to Forest, to Pine and up Center to Edgerton and thence by way of Hemlock and Bigelow streets to Main street. He said that he stopped at the Midland Filling station to fix the lights of his car which were found damaged.

Four witnesses appeared for Binok in court this morning.

ANOTHER FREE CONCERT AT BUSHNELL MEMORIAL

Julius Hartt School of Music to Present Program on Sunday, March 18.

An opportunity for hearing a concert of unusual beauty has again been offered by the Horace Bushnell Memorial Hall in Hartford, an auditorium now famous throughout the United States for its musical enterprises. This event, which is the last in a series of four free concerts, is being presented through the courtesy of the Julius Hartt School of Music and will take place on Sunday afternoon, March 18, at 3 o'clock in the large auditorium of the Bushnell Memorial. A similar concert was given last season by the Hartt School, but due to poor weather conditions at that time, many out of town people were unable to be present. It is hoped, therefore, that these and many others may avail themselves of the opportunity to hear this year's event.

UNION MAY CLOSE ITS CHARTER SOON

Next Saturday's Meeting to Act on Proposal to Raise Admission Fee.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Local Textile Union, No. 2125, was held in Odd Fellows hall last Saturday morning. Part of the business was of a confidential nature pertaining to recognition of the local union between President Arthur Shortt of the local and President Ward Cheney of Cheney Brothers.

An important motion was made that a recommendation be made to the next Union meeting, Saturday afternoon, that the present employees of Cheney Brothers working in the Weaving Mill, Ribbon Mill, Velvet Mill such as weavers, loomfixers, spare hands, warp hangers and smash tiers who have had plenty of time to join the local union who do not sign an application card and have it presented before the close of said meeting that the charter shall be closed to such workers and that the application fee shall be raised from $1.00 to $25 with the exception of a new employee who, now or any time in the future, shall be allowed 30 days to present his application card.

An attendant will be at the local office of the union in the Odd Fellows building from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. each day and evening this week to receive and sign application cards or for any other business proper to bring before such office. Arthur Shortt, Arthur Smith, George Hahn and Beverly Wright of the local Union accepted an invitation from the Rockville Union to attend their Union meeting Saturday afternoon. Mr. Shortt was called upon to give a few remarks on the fast growing union in Manchester, which he did in a very capable manner.

Arthur Shortt, president of the Local Textile Union, No. 2125, attended the State Council meeting Sunday afternoon in Jewett City, accompanied by George Greenaway, Arthur Smith, George Hahn, Frank Muller and Beverly Wright. The next Council meeting will be held in Mystic, Sunday, March 25.

FAMILY FLEES FIRE

Colchester, March 12.—(AP)—Joseph Glemowski, his wife and four children fled their farm house in the nick of time early today when fire starting from a defective chimney destroyed the building.

Glemowski, awakened by smoke and the crackle of flames, aroused his family and they made their way to safety scantily attired. They were unable to save any personal belongings. The house was situated in the Chestnut Hill section of Colchester and neighbors formed a bucket brigade and managed to save outbuildings including a barn. Loss was estimated at $3,000.

INTEREST REDUCED

New York, March 12.—(AP)—Trustees of the Bowers Savings Bank, one of the largest savings institutions in New York, today reduced interest payments to 2 1/2 per cent from 3 per cent on accounts of over $1,000.

On accounts of less than $1,000 the bank will continue to pay the 3 per cent rate that has been in effect for some time.

'ERSTWHILE SUSAN' TOMORROW NIGHT

Trade School Orchestra Will Play While Hall Is Filling for Play.

William J. Hanna and his Trade School orchestra will play tomorrow evening at the Whiton Memorial, while the hall is filling for the play, "Erstwhile Susan", and between the three acts. This is the much anticipated Pennsylvania Dutch play in which one of the greatest American actresses, Mrs. Minnie Madden Fiske, who died last year, toured the length and breadth of the country.

Like George Bernard Shaw, most of whose plays are written with a desire to expose some organization or movement in which he is out of sympathy, the famous Mrs. Fiske enjoyed nothing better than to play the lead in some drama that turned the spotlight on unfavorable conditions which obtained in some American localities, as Eastern Pennsylvania, the scene of the play, "Erstwhile Susan".

Just as Hitler believes today that the women have no place in politics, business or industry and should remain at home and rear large families, the Pennsylvania Dutch of a generation or so ago believed their women had no business doing anything but housework and drudgery, without any conveniences, while the men built great barns and silos and invested in up-to-date farm machinery. The theme of the play is the efforts of a wife to effect a transformation in one of these homes. The play has had to memorize the quaint colloquial phrases word for word. The play is sure to interest and amuse. It is presented under the sponsorship of Orford Parish Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

DILLINGER HAS EYES UPON SOUTH AMERICA

Chicago, March 12.—(AP)—John Dillinger, escaped outlaw, is believed to be determined to get to South America on other people's money. That is why police gave special protection today to many banks and other places likely to attract the desperado. They said that before Dillinger was captured last January, he and his men were "saving up" for the South America trip. They were intent on accumulating $100,000 and had collected half that sum in bank robberies before Dillinger was seized.

MAY ASK RESTRAINT ON LIQUOR SALES

(Continued from Page One) before a course is outlined, he said, as the matter was only brought to his attention yesterday. To the package store men yesterday Spellacy outlined the possibility of a claim that the state control law in some of its clauses might be unconstitutional. For this reason it might be feasible to seek a constitutional court to pass upon those portions of the law which would be attacked.

POLICE, STRIKERS FIGHT IN MADRID

First Serious Disturbance Since the Labor Trouble Started.

Madrid, March 12.—(AP)—Police dispersed groups of Radicals in a hand-to-hand battle today when the Extremists attempted to overturn street cars in the Las Ventas and Diego Leon districts of the capital. Several were arrested.

It was the first serious disturbance in the widespread series of strikes which Extremists have declared throughout Spain. In Madrid, the most serious aspect of the strike today was the suspension of work by allied printing trade workers. Non-union printers, however, remained at work. Policemen were seen doubling as newspaper-carriers selling the official "Gazette" of the government. In some cases, the Gazette was distributed by employees of the government printing office, each employee accompanied by two stalwart policemen armed with rifles.

The clash around the street cars was a complete victory for the police. Several street car windows were shattered, but no other damage was done. Guards were increased in the labor districts—especially at the traditional trouble center of Quatro Caminos—as crowds of strikers milled about. Special patrols were assigned to the markets and to food stores. Business in the city appeared normal, but truckloads of the famous assault guards were patrolling the streets and other detachments of the guards were increased at public buildings.

SALT LAKE CITY ROCKED BY SHARP EARTHQUAKE

(Continued from Page One) of geology at the University of Utah, said the shocks were felt distinctly at the University, located at the foot of the Wasatch mountains east of this city. He reported hanging objects swung widely. A minor shock was reported here at 8:32 a. m. Previously shocks had been felt here in January, 1931, and in November and December, 1932, but they were slight.

WIDE DIFFERENCE IN PRICES PAID BY ARMY AND NAVY ENGINES DISCLOSED

Washington, March 12.—(AP)—A wide difference in prices paid by the army and navy for airplane engines was disclosed today. Congressional investigators started a hunt for the cause of the gap.

Representatives of both services had estimated the average cost at around $6,000 per motor. A statement by J. R. McCarl, the comptroller general, emphatically disagreed with that figure. McCarl's list of contracts granted since July, 1927, showed the war department paid an average of $6,691 for 4,245 engines while the navy's average cost was $8,879 for 3,158 engines. The investigators were trying also to find out why two army engines which were bought on competitive bids cost an average of $6,788, while 103 obtained by the navy, also on competitive bids, cost $11,332. There were some differences in the engines, the investigators agreed, but they still wanted more information.

YALE SWIMMING MEET New Haven, March 12.—(AP)—The existing world's record for the 800 yard relay will be attacked late today by the university and freshman swimming teams at Yale in a scheduled meet. The pool will be 50 yards long and the race will be under the official sanction of the A. A. U.

Honored at Boston Furniture Exhibit for Large Business Advance.

Wm. P. Lyons, local manager of Montgomery Ward & Co. and H. Le Tourneau, department head of Furniture and Rugs, have returned from Boston where they attended the annual spring showing of furniture and rugs at the Boston Furniture Show. The policy of Montgomery Ward & Co. is to purchase all the finest sample suites shown at the furniture show for their store. The store making the greatest increase in sales during the month of February is honored by taking their choice of these manufacturers' sample show suites for their store. These suites include bedroom, living room, and dining suites of the latest design, foremost in quality as they are especially made for the Boston show by leading manufacturers to show the exceptional quality of their suites.

Ward's local store had the distinction of winning the award as their February furniture business had a 50 per cent increase over any previous year in competition with all other New England Ward stores. Local people will greatly benefit through this award as all these suites will arrive during this week and will be offered at amazingly low prices in the very near future.

Mr. Lyons and Mr. Le Tourneau were elated over the fact that in winning this award the local Ward store would have these wonderful suites showing the newest, latest designed finest of woods, and beautiful new coverings on living room suites never before offered to the public anywhere. Coverings on the new 1934 living room suites trend toward modernistic harmonization in rust, green, blue and gold. Besides being the first to offer these suites, Ward's policy of selling at lower prices will be strictly adhered to.

PATMAN BILL

The national House of Representatives was to have voted today on the proposal to take out of the hands of the Ways and Means Committee, where it had been buried, the Patman bill to pay the soldiers' bonus by the issue of two billion, four hundred million dollars in greenbacks. It was also anticipated that the bill would not only be taken away from the committee but that it would be put upon its passage and adopted, in the face of a positive threat of a veto by President Roosevelt.

It has been taken for granted for some time that the Senate would concur with the House in the passage of the bill. Whether the bonus measure could then be passed over the President's veto is problematical. A preponderance of opinion seems to be that it could not—that a considerable number of members in both branches who might vote for the bill out of respect for the political influence of the veteran organizations would be willing enough thereafter to have it killed by executive action.

In any event it is probable that the most important implication in this Patman bill is being lost sight of by a majority even of those most immediately interested in its passage. It is difficult to over-estimate the significance of a proposal to distribute more than two billion of dollars among a class of people who, in the vast majority of cases, stand in serious need of money and of the things that money can buy; it could hardly fail to result in a noticeable flurry, at least, of commercial and industrial activity. But a much farther reaching significance attaches to the proposal to pay the bonus in greenbacks.

This is the type of inflationary currency threat which, during a long life time, has brought chills of terror to the hearts of some thousands of Americans who knew exactly why they dreaded it and to those of millions of other Americans who dreaded it just as profoundly without having the least idea why—except that they have been told it would be terrible.

If the Patman bill should be adopted despite the opposition of the President, the whole theory of greenback currency would be put upon practical demonstration. That that theory constitutes an assault on every principle of finance that has been effective since the resumption of specie payment after the Civil War is widely recognized. But events of the last few years have unseated a large part of the public's faith in those principles. There is, it may be assumed, a considerable degree of curiosity as to how a heavy issue of greenbacks would work—and not, among the majority of the people, anywhere near so much of that heart chilling fear of the consequences as there used to be.

NAMELESS QUEEN

Perhaps, if the reported discovery of the capital city of ancient Saba or Sheba turns out to be a true case, and if the archaeologists do somehow or other manage to get into the place and carry on excavations, one result may be the discovery, from some ancient inscription or other, the name of that sporting and adventurous lady who, as ruler of the South Arabians, paid the well known visit to King Solomon at Jerusalem.

It has always seemed to many inherently polite people that Biblical history and tradition alike dealt out scant courtesy to an extremely important personage in always referring to her merely as the Queen of Sheba. She was a great deal more than that. She was an outstanding individual in her own right, as evidenced not only by the fact that she made a journey compared to which Byrd's modern Antarctic expeditions are commonplace, but toted along almost four million dollars in gold and an enormous caravan load of various other desirable things, as a mere souvenir of her call. Anybody like that deserves to go down in tradition or history by his or her own name. Maybe we shall now find out, sooner or later, what hers was.

There's another thought in connection with this discovery business. The country of the Sabaeans could not have been very extensive—at least the habitable part of it. Yet apparently it produced a tremendous lot of gold. Gold is practically imperishable and if that area held plenty of it when it was irrigated and had a population it probably contains plenty of it now, though it is all absolute desert. And it will be strange if this discovery of its capital doesn't set the fingers of footloose prospectors the world over to itching to get hold of some of it.

If it does we needn't be greatly surprised to hear, pretty soon, of this, that or the other expedition of gold hunters adventuring into the South Arabian sand wastes—and being quietly devoured by them.

A good many lives have been given up in fruitless search for the lost gold mine of Pegie Smith in our own Death Valley—and Death Valley is a safe and pleasant land compared to that part of the world out of which the Queen of Sheba so long ago rode to Jerusalem.

Danger, suffering, almost certain death in its grimmest form have never yet deterred a certain type of adventurer from going after gold. Should this Sabaean story prove up it will be a unique situation if the argonauts do not tread on the heels of the archaeologists.

MELLON

No citizen of this country has ever been made the subject of more numerous or more violent attacks than Andrew W. Mellon. Since he is the accredited head of what is probably the richest family in America this is more or less natural. Mr. Mellon, being surrounded by an aura of wealth, logically becomes a shining target for the critics of a system which makes such accumulations of riches and power possible. He has come, in many minds, to typify the kind of civilization which has now been brought under such a terrific fire from a thousand guns of economic theory.

It was inevitable that the Roosevelt administration, in self protection if for no other reason, should indulge in some sort of gesture with relation to Mr. Mellon, who has been accused of more financial sins than any other member of the party at present in minority. Mr. Mellon professes to rejoice that this gesture has taken the form of a court proceeding for alleged evasion of the income tax law, since such proceeding brings the attacks on him out of the magazines and out of an administration department and puts them into the open scene of a competent tribunal.

The whole country will be glad to have this great cloud of rumors, allegations, accusations against Mellon crystallize into an authoritative court action. The people want to know the truth. If Mellon cheated the government out of millions the country wants to know it. If he obeyed the law and conducted himself honorably the country wants to know that, too.

The one thing it doesn't want is stalling and fiddling and false motions in this proceeding, now that it has been started, either on the part of the Department of Justice and its lawyers or Mr. Mellon and his lawyers. What the country wants is the truth.

AIR MAIL

Senator Fess of Ohio, consistent Republican critic of the administration, made a declaration in the course of debate the other day which may perhaps have received more general endorsement throughout the country than any other partisan criticism since President Roosevelt was inaugurated. Fess asserted that it would have been far better to suspend the airmail service altogether than to turn the duty of flying the mails over to the Army, whose personnel had not been trained for such work and whose ships were not properly equipped and not designed for this service.

Nothing that has been said in the controversy has met, it is safe to say, with such general approval as this.

And nothing that has been done, it is equally reasonable to assume, has met with more general approval than the President's present ordering for a temporary suspension of all mail flying until schedules and arrangements can be adjusted to the abilities of the Army air forces to carry on.

That any such adjustments and arrangements can be made in three days, however, will strike mere observers as too sanguine a view to take. But if it took three months or three years, and meantime the mails had to go back to the primitive and remote carriage methods of five years ago—methods that served well enough in the busiest period of our country's history—we should probably be able to get along without any special inconvenience.

There has been an excited yet purposeful outburst against the cancellation of the airmail contracts, and the tragedies of the Army air service have been seized on with the utmost avidity by its promoters as proving their case. The grisly roster of deaths among Army fliers proves absolutely nothing in the matter of contracts. It has nothing whatever to do with the merits or demerits of cancellation. What it does indicate is that the Army planes are not as good as privately owned planes for long distance and night flying nor the Army pilots as well trained for such work as those of the private corporations. Which is a subject that may well occupy the very serious consideration of the administration and Congress, all by itself. The country is asking "Why?"

It is highly probable that a very large proportion of the people of the country would be perfectly content to see the airmail service abandoned for such an indefinite time as might be necessary in order to insure both a maximum of safety to the pilots and a certainty that the contracts were properly and honestly awarded and compensated.

For the sake of a little earlier delivery of its letters the nation is not likely to be willing to risk either the slaughter of men or submission to tricky and unfair practices in the distribution of contracts.

By PAUL HARRISON

New York, March 12—Most men wouldn't consider it a real misfortune to look like the Prince of Wales. Given some natural resemblance they'd likely try to heighten it by aping some of David's tricks of dress; or might even go around falling off horses.

But Thomas Hamilton always felt differently about it. His amazing resemblance to H. R. H. has been a source of embarrassment to him since he was a boy. In Pittsburgh, his home town, people used to stare and make wisecracks. Several years ago when the Prince came to this country for the polo matches, Hamilton happened to visit Waretown, Va., which is famous as a hunting center. Word got around that the Prince had come down from Long Island to do a bit of riding, and crowds followed Hamilton whenever he appeared on the streets. Another time in Bermuda he had a similar experience, everybody thinking that Wales was visiting the islands incognito.

A Titled Role

In addition, Hamilton happens to be an actor (though he aspires to playwriting) and has found it disgusting to hear the audience's whistles and giggles when he first appears on the stage. He got into a couple of Broadway productions, which happened to be flops. And last summer he was sitting rather disconsolately at a soda fountain, sipping a black-and-white and wishing he didn't look like anybody in particular, when Hissard Short and Max Siegal came in.

Messrs. Short and Siegal were in the throes of putting together the revue called "As Thousands Cheer," and what they most needed was a man who looked like the Prince of Wales to play that role in one of the skits. Siegal spotted Hamilton, gasped and pointed. "There's our man," agreed Short. "He's probably a bookkeeper or shoe salesman, but I'll hire him and teach him to act if it takes all summer." He was delighted, of course, when he discovered that Hamilton already knew how to act.

And Hamilton himself, now in his fifth month of the theatrical hit, is glad after all that he looks like David Windsor.

Success Story

Hearing a little story about the great friendship of Gene Tunney and Eddie Egan, the two most erudite of all great boxers, reminded this columnist that it has not reported on the latter-day activities of Egan, the amateur fighter from Colorado, Yale, Harvard, Oxford, Australia and waypoints.

All the time he used to spend anaesthetizing light-heavyweight titles and swinging at other people's jaws, he was aiming at a law career, and now he is pretty well launched in it. Has a Fifth Avenue office of his own, and enough incorporating, suing and settling to do that he can afford a Park Avenue apartment, where he lives with his wife and two children.

Two of his clients are Charles Francis Cox, the author who was called "Soaker" when he was the pugilistic pride of the navy, and Jack Dempsey. One of his hobbies, also shared by Gene Tunney,

NASAL CATARRH CURABLE IN ANY CLIMATE

Right at the start of this article, I want to say that I consider catarrh a curable disease. The cure of any catarrhal condition depends upon removing the underlying cause. Catarrh is caused by wrong habits of eating and living which build up a toxic condition of the whole body. Some of these impurities are thrown out through the mucous membranes and catarrh therefore represents an attempt made by the body to cleanse itself of wastes. Judged from the standpoint, catarrh is in itself a curative process and the best way to encourage the curing process is to allow the discharging to continue and at the same time to start a treatment which will cleanse the body by systemic wastes.

It is only sound common sense to realize that if catarrh is caused through wrong diet, the cure depends upon using the right diet. In my own experience with thousands of cases, I have had successful results in permanently overcoming catarrh through teaching the patient to eat the right foods. If a common-sense diet is followed for a sufficient length of time, you may expect to cure catarrh and this cure will be brought about in no matter what climate you may live. Food is always more important than climate in curing catarrh.

There is a simple, easy test which you may make for yourself, which will prove to you that the food you eat has a great deal to do with your catarrh. This test will take three weeks and to make the test I want you to do the following: For two weeks you are to avoid all starchy foods such as bread, cookies, spaghetti, potatoes, and rice also avoid milk and sugars. You will be pleasantly surprised to find that your condition is improving and that you have had less mucus than before. Now, go back to your old diet and use all of the different starchy foods with milk and sugar. Within a short time, your catarrh will begin to come back. This test is so simple to make and the results are so definite that it is easy for you to prove for yourself that what you eat has something to do with your catarrh. Of course, a period of two weeks where you are careful to omit starches, sugars and milk will not be a sufficient length of time to entirely cure your catarrh, but nevertheless, it will give you a good start toward recovery, and this recovery will be more rapid if you will precede the careful diet with a short five-day fast and will use enemas, sponge baths, and exercises as part of the treatment.

Catarrh is not by itself a serious disease; however, the patient who has had catarrh for several years is likely to develop some other disorder. Some of the disorders which may follow catarrh of the nose and throat are: Deafness, sinus trouble, bronchitis, asthma, enlarged tonsils and discharge from the ears.

I do not recommend a purely local treatment in overcoming catarrh where the patient uses some spray or douche which he applies at home at frequent intervals. The habit of continually spraying the nose with strong antiseptics will, in many cases, only serve to irritate the nasal membrane and will make the condition worse.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
(Married People Live Longer)

Question: "A Bachelor" inquires: "Why do you say that married people live longer than single ones? I notice that you made this statement in a recent article."

Answer: The most reasonable explanation which I can give you of the fact that married people live longer than single ones is as follows: Those who are married tend to have more regular habits than those who are unmarried, especially in regard to food. The bachelor does not have the advantage of regular home-cooked meals which are as a general rule more wholesome than those meals obtained in a restaurant. While it is entirely possible to obtain a wholesome meal in a restaurant if one knows which foods to pick out, nevertheless, the average bachelor does not bother to take the trouble to do this. I do not know whether or not this answer will sound very convincing to you; however, it is true that many statistics show that the average married person actually does live longer than the average unmarried person. As you say that you will be watching for this answer in the New Orleans Times Picayune, I sincerely hope that you secure the paper on the day that this appears.

(Blood Pressure Growing Higher)
 Question: Mrs. Larry E. of Tampa, Florida, writes: "My sister has high blood pressure and it seems to be growing worse instead of better. Is there anything I can do for her?"

Answer: It has been my experience that high blood pressure can be lowered through the use of the correct fasting and dieting instructions. When the patient continues to use an incorrect diet, the high blood pressure will ordinarily tend to increase rather than to grow any better.

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
The Herald's Washington Correspondent

Washington, March 12.—The hottest potato in Washington right now is the sugar issue.

Is the administration's sugar production control bill an entering wedge both toward elimination of uneconomic, expensive, tariff-protected industries and the control of industry and its profits?

That's a big bite, but many whisperers from the inside answer "yes" on both counts. Lobbyists for domestic sugar interests have sent a rallying cry to other tariff beneficiaries, urging them to join in defense against a common peril.

The bill itself is innocent enough. It would stabilize the industry by domestic and import quotas, restore beet and cane growers to pre-war parity prices.

Consumers would be protected, because refiners wouldn't be allowed a greater profit spread.

But Roosevelt's skeptical attitude toward what Secretary Wallace calls "hothouse industries" complicates the picture and the whole apple-cart was at least threatened with upset with A. J. B. Weaver, head of A.A.A.'s sugar section, made indignant and unauthorized assertions at House hearings.

He explained the bill well, but let himself be drawn into virtual assertions that the administration wanted to get rid of the $60,000,000 domestic industry, which costs consumers $200,000,000 a year in tariff duties.

The inside story was that Weaver had left New Orleans by plane the previous afternoon and was fagged, mentally and physically, beyond capacity. After the hearing he was the most miserable man in Washington and sugar state representatives were making a terrific roar.

Costigan of Colorado, who fathered the bill in the Senate because of its immediate benefits to growers and atrociously underpaid labor, repudiated Weaver's words as "foolish statements."

But beet sugar refiners were encouraged. If they beat the bill, they think, they can make Roosevelt accept the old stabilization agreement which would cut Cuban and Filipino quotas, give them one of 1,750,000 tons instead of the 1,450,000 now planned, and allow them new, larger profits.

But they also know that Roosevelt might wreck them—if he cared to—by following a secret tariff commission's recommendation for sugar tariff reduction.

One report, meanwhile, is that Roosevelt favors a 20-year policy for liquidation of the industry.

Clear as Mud

The House was gagged on the tax bill and forbidden to offer amendments because no one could understand the thing and free debate meant hopeless chaos!

Even a Republican sponsor, Treadway of Massachusetts, admitted that at least 150 of the bill's pages hadn't been touched upon by the Ways and Means committee and that he defied any member of the committee—including former teachers, lawyers, and professors of Greek—"to explain in plain English hundreds of items that are written as explicitly as possible."

Norris Has New Goal

Senator George Norris, who has the federal lame duck constitutional amendment under his belt and soon may achieve another, abolishing the electoral college, has gone west to launch a revolutionary constitutional reform in his home state.

Nebraska, under an amendment drafted for her by Norris, would become a unitary state by having a one-house, non-partisan legislature of 30 to 50 members, instead of her present 100 representatives and 33 Senators. Political parties would be ignored in primaries and elections.

If 57,000 referendum signatures are obtained, the proposal will go to the voters in the fall election.

Norris says it would mean more direct popular representation, greater efficiency and economy, less corruption and boss rule, better laws and better men in office.

is the "Boys' Brotherhood Republic" which is a club on the lower East Side. "It teaches boys to do things for themselves," says Egan, "and both Gene and I are frightfully keen about it."

Eddie goes over to the Yale Club every noon hour and works out in the gymnasium. Lately he has been practicing at squash tennis, because he has a match scheduled with Tunney, who is something of a master at squash.

Another great amateur sports guru whom you probably haven't heard about in a long time is Ted Coy, pre-war battering ram of Yale football. He hasn't been in the news since he and the late Jeanne Hagels were divorced. Coy

McCluskey Wins, Sets Record in 5,000 Meter Run

LAPS HIS FIELD TWICE, CLIPS 17 SECONDS OFF MARK OF 22-YEARS AGO

Appears Fully Capable of Shaving Few More Seconds from Native American Record in Taking Event; Experts Believe Joe Would Beat Follows in His Present Form; To Run at New Haven Tomorrow.

New York.—(AP)—Just when Joe McCluskey appears to be reaching his peak form it is his misfortune that the runner who has consistently defeated him this year in distance races should have forsaken the two-mile and 5,000-meter runs for the mile.

Breaks the Record. In his last two starts, with Follows not entered, McCluskey has set a new world mark for the 3,000 meter steeplechase of 8:50 and a native American record of 14:48-4 for 5,000 meters.

Joe McCluskey

He set the latter mark Saturday night in the Metropolitan track and field championships at the Second Naval Battalion Army in Brooklyn as he lapped his field twice to win off by himself.

The mark seems even more impressive when it is remembered that Follows went over 15 minutes in winning the national 5,000 meter title two weeks ago and he ran his race in spike shoes on the banked garden track while McCluskey was running in flat shoes on an unbanked Army.

Follows ran and won the 1,500 meters in the Met championships and will try the mile in the last big indoor meet of the season next Saturday, the K. of C. games at Madison Square Garden.

Runs at New Haven. New Haven, March 12.—A host of stars, including some top level, cream of the crop athletic acts, bid fair to attract a near-capacity crowd to the New Haven Arena tomorrow night when the Connecticut A. A. track and field meet gets underway.

Officials stated that the well-balanced list of events in which a number of outstanding performers have entered, will doubtless make this meet one of the most brilliant in the history of indoor competitions in the state.

Weekend Sports

(By the Associated Press.) Chicago.—Willis Ward was three events as Michigan captures Big Ten title; Hornbostel wins mile and half mile.

London.—Lovecock runs dead heat with A. B. Leach in slow mile as Oxford triumphs over Cambridge, 7-4.

New York.—Follows wins in debut at 1,500 meter route in Metropolitan championships.

South Bend, Ind.—Michigan State wins Central Intercollegiate Conference title; the hands of the college team defeated the Y. M. C. A. aggregation of Winsted four out of five games to win the fourth play at the local gym Saturday afternoon.

VINES TO DISPLAY ABILITY AT ARENA

Comes to New Haven Next Week as Member of Tilden's Pro Tennis Troupe.

New Haven, March 12.—(Special)—Ellsworth Vines, a member of the Bill Tilden troupe of tennis professionals which comes to the New Haven Arena on Wednesday evening, March 21, was born in Los Angeles in 1911. He is six feet, inches tall, weighs 145 pounds.

Vines was U. S. Singles champion in 1931, 1932, U. S. doubles champion in 1931, 1932, U. S. doubles champion in 1932, U. S. Davis Cup team 1932, 1933.

Besides Vines the Tilden entourage includes Gledhill, of Santa Barbara, Calif., Alfred H. Chapin, Jr., of Springfield, Mass., Henri Cochet of Martin Plaza, the French professional. Gledhill and Chapin recently cast their lot with the money players.

Vines is called the most terrific hitter in the history of tennis. He was ranked as world's amateur champion in 1932. Noted for his cannon ball service, ferocious overhead smash and flat fast forehand drive.

Following the American tour, Vines will journey to Europe for his first appearance as a pro in Germany and other mid-European countries.

PENN TURNS BACK PRINCETON TO WIN BASKETBALL TITLE

Captures Eastern Intercollegiate Cage Crown With Ten Victories in Twelve Starts; Cornell Second.

New York, March 12.—(AP)—The Red and Blue banner of Penn files atop the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League ramparts for 1934. The veteran Quaker outfit, best defensive team in the loop, scored seven points in the last five minutes of play Saturday night to defeat Princeton, 29-26, and capture the championship Yale had won the year before.

It was Penn's tenth victory in 12 starts and enabled the Quakers to win the title by a one-game margin over Cornell's spectacular quarter which wound up its most successful season since 1924 by walloping Harvard, 34-23. Cornell won nine games and lost three.

The individual scoring championship for the year went to captain John Ferraro of Cornell who scored 128 points in 12 games against 126 for Al Bonniwell of Dartmouth, 112 for Ken Fairman of Princeton, 101 for Len Seibert of Princeton, 98 for Owen McDowell of Columbia and 96 for Lou Freed of Cornell.

With only the Yale-Harvard game at New Haven on Saturday still to be played, the standing today was: Team W. L. Pt. for P. Ag. Princeton . . . 7 5 417 329 Cornell . . . 9 3 389 337 Pennsylvania . . . 2 3 347 278 Yale . . . 6 5 348 327 Dartmouth . . . 6 5 375 349 Columbia . . . 3 9 334 381 Harvard . . . 0 11 259 458

Pitt closed an undefeated eastern intercollegiate season Saturday night with a 27-26 victory over West Virginia while Georgetown was topping Carnegie Tech, 32-28.

The Panthers won all eight of their league engagements to win the title for the second successive year. West Virginia wound up in second place with seven victories and three defeats.

Final Reading: Team W. L. Pt. for P. Ag. Pittsburgh . . . 3 0 302 234 West Vir. . . 7 3 362 231 Georgetown . . . 5 5 343 307 Temple . . . 5 5 321 294 Car. Tech . . . 2 7 246 315 Bucknell . . . 0 7 175 348

The conference scoring championship went to Joe Stydhar of West Virginia with 100 points in 10 games against 90 for Ed Hargaden of Georgetown, 81 for Al Colebank of West Virginia, 73 for Billy (Skippy) Hughes of Pitt and 73 for Dick Beown of Temple.

LOCAL TEAMS PLAY FOUR CLOSE GAMES

Sons of Italy, Boys' Club, Collegians, East Sides All Gain Victories.

Before a crowded gym at the School Street Rec Saturday night, four well played and interesting games were contested. The fifth scheduled game to be played between the Herald Newsboys and St. Cecilia's Five of Waterbury was canceled at a late hour by the Brass City management.

Sons Are Winners In the initial game the Sons of Italy had an easy time in defeating the Burnside Guards 36-24.

The West Side Boys Club came from behind to nose out the Heights in a close game by a score of 21-18. The losers led at half time 10-1 but the over West team put on a spirited rally to overtake the Heights scored, eleven points, featured for the winners. For the Heights Reimer and Howarth were best.

North Ends Lose The North Ends went down to defeat at the hands of the collegians in the best game of the night by the score of 25-23. Trailing at half time 11-4 the North Ends put on a rally to overtake the Collegians and hold the lead for a short period of time.

East Sides Win The closing game between the East Sides and Rockville Crescents found the local team on the long end of the score 36-27 in a rough

Clara Jackmore Second In Sweepstakes As Miss Gulli Breaks 3 Records

A brilliant six-game total of 730 average, hitting 89, 117, 121, 131, 98 and 106. Miss Gulli averaged 127-8 for her six official Yankee sweepstakes games, hitting a total of 787 to win first prize money of $35. Her total was 37 pins better than Miss Jackmore's. Miss Gulli started to bowl early in the afternoon, first breaking the five-game record with a mark of 652, an average of better than 130 per game.

Miss Gulli then went on to break the six-game record with a total of 799 pins, an average of 133.1 per game. Then she continued to the ten game record with a new total of 1311, an average of 131.1 pins per game. The former record, held by Miss Helen Randlett of Richmond, Va., was 1139.

In winning the sweepstakes event, Miss Gulli hit 112, 141, 150, 109, 121 and 134.

Bristol Edges Central, Keeps State Cage Title

Two Overtime Periods Necessary to Settle Outcome, 35-33, in Hectic, Thrill-Packed Duel Before 4500 Fans at New Haven Arena.

Bristol High retained the basketball championship of Connecticut Saturday afternoon by nosing out Bridgeport Central in the finals of the Yale Tournament at New Haven, two overtime periods being necessary before the issue was settled, 35 to 33. It was a hectic, thrill-packed struggle, one of the best tournament games in years, and it held a crowd of 4,500 fans tense with excitement.

The game was featured by the spectacular comeback of the Bristol quartet, which went into the final quarter on the short end of a 24 to 16 score, after being outplayed the first three periods.

Two field goals by Maro and three foul shots by Zebrowski, the last with fifty seconds to play, forced a dead-lock at the end of the regular playing time at 28-28.

Bristol took a three point lead in the opening minutes of the first overtime but Central rallied to tie the score and take the lead. Utke's twin-pointer from mid-floor again tied the game up and brought about the second overtime, the score being 31-all. Two fouls by Zebrowski and one by Schick left the teams still deadlocked when Utke tossed in a sensational long shot with twenty seconds to go that gave Bristol the championship.

BAY STATE CIRCUIT PRESIDENT OFFERS 25 THOUSAND PRIZE

Allan J. Wilson Pleads for Support of Horsemen for the Coming Season.

BY ALLAN J. WILSON. I am proud to be president of the Bay State Circuit. While I have served it as president on two previous occasions, I consider it a distinction to be the head of the most original sporting group in the world.

Each fall an announcement is made that the Bay State Circuit will organize for the forthcoming year's season of racing. Applications for dates are accepted at that time. There are no membership dues. Expense of the circuit is provided by assessments. All acts are a result of gentlemen's agreements.

There are no rump or secret sessions. Reporters are always welcome. The cards are always laid on the table—face up. Criticisms are just as welcome as bouquets. One object actuates the sponsors of meetings and that is the promotion of the light harness horse sport.

During the past 20 years more than $500,000 in purses has been offered to campaigning horsemen. Purse ranging from $300 to $25,000 have been given and raced for. $5,000 and $10,000 purses have been given to the winners.

The aim of the sponsors is to offer the kind and size of purses which the horsemen will support and conditions warrant. The generous offerings for the 1934 season are in keeping with the times.

The horsemen want larger purses and will support them as well give them. Not to be outdone by the $25,000 purse I will offer a $50,000 purse for half-mile track horses at my Windsor track if the horsemen will agree to fill the entry list.

Because of the early season and not to conflict with fair dates the Bay State Circuit must necessarily offer stakes. It is essentially a "stake" circuit. All the meetings are operated at a loss and the deficits must be met by the individual sponsors or groups of interested horsemen.

Clear racing and other indeterminate forms of racing would increase the hazards of sponsorships and create an undue financial burden on the sponsors. Gate attendance is a small factor in early season racing. Despite adequate advertising and publicity, attendance so early in the season is not a dependable source of revenue.

Generous entry lists are absolutely necessary. If you want the Bay State Circuit to endure, be generous with your entries.

On word about the "open trot" and "open paces." These are essentially unrestricted free-for-all. Trotters and pacers of any speed are eligible to enter. These classes are provided primarily to take care of the "fast" horses. It reverses the policy of recent years and gives them generous purse offerings. It gets away from the uncertainty of handicapping "fast" trotters and pacers and gives the "beat-outs" a chance to race.

Because of the slight difference in time record of "fast" horses, these classes should prove the most popular in years.

March 17th, St. Patrick's Day, is the closing date. Entrance is 3 per cent with no deductions. 3 per cent with entry and 3 per cent on April 17th, provided the horse or horses are not declared out in writing on the latter date. Additional entries of an individual ownership may be made in any class by a payment of 2 per cent on March 17 but entries of separate ownership, although in the same stable, must pay instalments in full.

The average dream lasts five seconds.

RANGERS FACE JEWELS, MASONS TO MEET YMCA BEFORE GUARDS TUSSELE

Plans Completed After Three Hours of Argument Over Details; Only Local Players to Be Used by Four Contending Teams; Triple Header Planned in Effort to Start Series Next Week; Champs Meet Kevin Barry.

After more than three hours of controversy, the details of the elimination tourney between challengers for the town basketball title were settled yesterday morning and play will be started Wednesday night with four teams seeking the right to meet the National Guards in a three-game series for the championship.

The Rangers will meet the Jaffe Jewels in the opening encounter at 6:30 o'clock, after which Ansaldo's Masons will oppose the YMCA at 7:45 o'clock, the two winners to meet later in the week in the finals. The Guards will face the Kevin Barry quintet of Hartford in the nightcap of the triple-header, giving fans the chance to see all the title contenders in action on the same evening.

Two Teams Drooped Six teams were originally considered as possible challengers for the title which the Guards wrested from the Rec Five in 1932 and retained against the same team in 1933. The West Side Recs, however, withdrew from the proposed elimination tourney to challenge the Guards direct, a challenge which it is expected will be completely ignored.

The Phantom of the Rec Senior League also withdrew, when most members of this team decided to cast their lot with the Y.

As at the previous meeting a week ago, the main argument against swift agreement on the elimination tourney involved the question of eligibility of players and without headway for several hours the matter was settled to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The Big question The greatest argument centered on the use of out-of-town players but all the contending teams were finally prevailed upon to consider only local players as eligible to play. The YMCA held out for Warty Waterman and the Masons held out for Bevo Hurley and Joe Zaparka of the former team and Bob Sturgeon of the latter team finally agreed to remove the players mentioned, although Sturgeon thought this action might be disapproved by his team.

All Local Players As a result of this decision, no outside players will participate in the elimination tourney or title series. The first time in the history of local basketball that the annual championship batt' has been exactly as advertised, a town series. It is felt that this should create more public interest in the event than formerly.

Greer's Stand Coach Hugh Greer of the Rangers attended the meeting with the express intention of withdrawing his team. He pointed out that it was his opinion that there was no logical contender in sight. He admitted he Rangers should be classed as a junior team but that they had played teams of the same calibre as the others in the tourney. He was also against the use of outside players and when this point had been straightened out, agreed to enter the tourney.

Malin May Referee When the eligibility question had been settled, the minor details were rapidly completed, it being decided to seek the services of Shorty Malin as referee with Clyde Waters as second choice. Under the present arrangements, it is planned to play all the preliminary games this week to pave the way for the start of the town series next week.

Records of Teams The Rangers have chalked up a record of fifteen straight victories this season without a defeat and although a junior team are considered a strong threat in the tourney. The Jewels were runners-up in the first round of the Rec Senior League and tomorrow night battle the Phantoms for the second round title. Masons Favored The Masons won the first round of the Rec League and have a lineup that counts with many of the leading players in town. The YMCA, a new organization this season, have little background but are capable of placing a strong team on the floor. There is but little on which to base comparisons and every team will go into action with an equal chance to win, although the Masons will be a slight favorite to earn the right to meet the Guards for the title.

Eligibility Lists The final eligibility lists of the four teams entered are as follows: Rangers—Stewart Kennedy, Andrew Ragukus, Harold Schantz, Francis Della Fera, James Ansaldo, James Sheldon, Joseph Sartor, Howard Brown, Gene Ehrlich and Albert Salmons. Jewels—Thomas Faulkner, James Tierney, Milton Nelson, Sherwood Anderson, Peter Larson, James Gorman, John Tierney and Otto Seelert. Masons—Edgar Opizzi, Walter Holland, Ray Campbell, James Quish, William Dowd, Edward Kovis, Robert Sturgeon and J. Sturgeon. YMCA—"Whitney" Bycholaki, Tony Salmons, Sully Salmons, Stuart Ferguson, Phil Welles, L. Anderson, Roy Fraser, J. Spillane, Joe Zabaska and Earl Bissell.

REDS CLINCH LEAD IN CAN-AM LEAGUE Boston, March 12.—(AP)—The Providence Reds today had a strangle hold on Canadian-American Hockey League honors. They clinched their first place position last night by beating the Boston Cubs 2 to 1. The Cubs clung to second place with Quebec, Philadelphia and New Haven trailing in that order.

Tommy Anderson and Connie King, Philadelphia stars, continued at the head of the league's high scoring list. The official standing: W. L. T. Pts. Providence . . . . . 16 10 9 41 Boston . . . . . 16 14 7 38 Quebec . . . . . 16 13 9 38 Philadelphia . . . . . 14 15 7 35 New Haven . . . . . 11 20 4 28

MARGARET ILLINGTON, ONCE STAGE STAR, DIES

Wife of Major Edward J. Bowes Won Fame 25 Years Ago on Broadway.

New York, March 12 — (AP)—

Margaret Illington, one of the leading dramatic actresses of the country 25 years ago, died yesterday in Miami Beach, Fla. She was 52 years old.

She was the wife of Major Edward J. Bowes, managing director of the Capitol theater, New York, who was at her bedside when she died. She had been seriously ill for six weeks.

Miss Illington, who was born in Bloomington, Ill., made her stage debut in New York in 1900 in "The Pride of Jennico," supporting James K. Hackett. Later she appeared with E. H. Sothern in "If I Were King." Her greatest successes, however, were "Kindling," "Mrs. Lefingwell's Boots," "The Thief," and "A Good Bad Woman," with which she closed her career in 1919.

LONERGAN PUSHES TAXATION BILLS

Senators Seeks Action to Tax Federal, State and Municipal Securities.

Washington, D. C., March 12. — Announcement this week by the Treasury Department that it favors as a permanent policy the elimination of exemptions from Federal income tax now accorded to interest on Federal, state and municipal securities, in so far as future issues of such securities are concerned, has renewed interest here in legislation pending in both House and Senate to remove such exemptions.

With the House continuing its hearings on the subject, Senator Lonergan, (D) Connecticut, continued to press for action in the Senate where he has two bills now under consideration. One of these, now before the Senate Finance Committee of which he is a member, would amend the pending revenue bill to provide for a tax on future issues of Federal securities, and the other, pending before the Senate Judiciary Committee, would provide issues of state and municipal securities.

Senator Harrison, (D) Miss., chairman of the Finance Committee, has received a report from the Treasury Department on Senator Lonergan's revenue amendment indicating it may not be advisable to impose the tax on Federal securities too far in advance of some provision for a similar tax on the state and municipal issues. The report expresses fear that such a step may affect the government's chances of financing the current program by causing a shift of investors to state and municipal securities.

To this Senator Lonergan has presented an argument based on the belief that Treasury issues, always over-subscribed, will always find an adequate market, even with a tax imposed on the income therefrom, by investors who look primarily to the safety factor and who could be expected to remain in the field of Federal investments. He has asked Senator Harrison to obtain a supplemental report from the Treasury before hearings are begun, and to advise the Treasury also of the pending measure in the Judiciary Committee which would provide for the concurrent tax desired for the state and municipal issues.

DIVINE HEALING CASES REPORTED

Salvation Army Hears Pastor Tell of Two Miraculous Cures.

"Miracles" was the subject of the address by Rev. Truman Woodward of the East Hartford Congregational church at the special Sunday afternoon service held in the Salvation Army citadel at 3 o'clock. By a strange coincidence, it was six years ago yesterday at 3 o'clock that Rev. Woodward officiated at a similar meeting as chairman and in honor of the occasion, Adjutant Martin read the program, item by item, used at that time.

The speaker told of cases of divine healing in West Hartford and Wapping. In the former case, a member of the Episcopal church was suffering with an atrophied, gangrenous foot which was to be amputated the next day. The day preceding she had asked her pastor to bring his individual communion set. They took communion together and prayed for divine healing. The next morning the surgeon waiting to perform the operation was called on the phone and told to cancel the operation because the woman's foot had healed.

Another man living in Wapping had neuritis. Rev. Woodward prayed for his healing. As a sign he asked that God would remove the affliction and that the man might shake hands with the pastor without pain after the service. Pain left the man's hand and arm immediately and has not returned in three years' time.

Envoy Ogden of the Hartford Corps sang two solos. The offerings of Envoy Ogden, who possesses a fine lyric tenor voice, were well received by the congregation.

Queer Twists
In Day's News

Chicago—When police answered an emergency call they found Harry Gardner lying on the floor of an apartment building, with Mrs. Wilma Sanborn, 25, standing over him with a "jimmy" in her hand. She said she found him trying to pry the telephone coin box off the wall outside her apartment and that when he pointed the "jimmy" at her, pretending it was a gun, she hit him with it.

Gardner revived by police said he didn't know anything about a telephone coin box. All he remembered, he said, was that all the lights suddenly went out.

Newtown, Conn.—This business of setting a tax rate apparently isn't so popular with Newtown voters. When the chairman counted noses at the town meeting called to fix that rate, he found there weren't enough to constitute a legal quorum. A posse of loyal voters went through the town until they rounded up 11 taxpayers—just enough to make the meeting legal.

Wichita, Kas.—When President Standish Hall of the Lions club received a letter from O. W. Wilson, chief of police, inviting the organization to visit the new city jail in a body, he hesitated. The last sentence of the invitation read: "We are always glad to welcome Lions at the jail."

Philadelphia—"I looked in the window and what do you suppose I saw?" asked Mrs. Suzanne Bowen. "My husband kissing two blondes at once."

"One blonde is dangerous, but two blondes cancel each other," suggested Judge William M. Lewis of Domestic Relations Court. "You know there is safety in numbers."

"Pay $7 a week to your wife, Mr. Bowen, and give my regards to the blondes."

Omaha, Neb.—Seven months old Marlene Siford, swathed in blankets on the rear seat of her father's car, slept peacefully through a 90 minute ride with auto thieves. The police found her in the car which had been abandoned by the thieves. Estacada, Ore.—Nudist planning to establish a colony at Eagle Creek, near here, have received advice from District Attorney Fred Miller. "Go back to California," was the suggestion.

BUCKINGHAM

The Ladies Aid Society will have a pancake supper Tuesday evening from 6 to 8 o'clock in the church vestry.

The Buckingham Parent-Teachers association will meet this evening. The speaker will be Rev. John Ramaker of South Glastonbury, an editorial writer for the Hartford Times.

Miss Bertha Tenner is seriously ill with pneumonia.

The Connecticut highway department increased its working force to about 20 men for the two weeks battle with snowdrifts followed by several bad washouts. The usual force is about 10 men to look after the Glastonbury and Marlboro roads.

You'll Like That EXTRA Rich Broth in COLUMBIA VEGETABLE SOUP

And the selection of delicious vegetables, too—all flavored in the most appetizing style. Columbia Vegetable Soup contains extra fine broth, slightly thickened—although the Federal and State laws permit the use of much more cereal thickening in "vegetable" soup without mention on the label. Likewise, Columbia Chicken Soups contain all chicken meat (although a considerable percentage of beef is permitted by law in "chicken" soup). Also, fresh beef is used in all Columbia beef soups (although corned beef could be used according to law in "beef" soup).

These are some of the reasons for Columbia's Soups' added tastiness, added food value. And behind their goodness lies the story of this country's most unusual example of Industrial Democracy.

Every Cook is an Equal Partner!

Columbia soups are made in kitchens which are controlled 100% by the working force. The workers themselves are the company. The capital is controlled by the workers. The entire management is in the hands of the workers. Each worker is guaranteed that he will suffer no unemployment—is guaranteed, besides his wages, medical, hospital and dental attention without cost for himself and dependents, vacations with pay, old-age pensions, and the five-day week.

A Successful Plan

This is the great "experiment" in industrial democracy which has been made a matter of comment in newspapers in every part of the United States; in fact, all over the world for more than ten years. Now it is past the "experimental" stage. The plant has been operating successfully in the hands of the workers for many years, while making most of the best known brands of soups in the United States. Today the Columbia Conserve Company, in addition to making these well-known brands, is also offering soups under its own name, the "COLUMBIA" brand.

What This Means to You

It takes human interest, human skill to make good soup. Mere watching over workers cannot accomplish this. Every Columbia worker—because he is an equal part-owner and shares equally in the earnings—is vitally interested in making Columbia Soups the best possible soup. Naturally the latest equipment and the most scientific methods are used in Columbia kitchens. But the good quality of the soup still depends upon the scrupulous care in the selection of ingredients, unrelenting inspection during the processes of preparation, careful testing and checking of the flavoring, plus that kind of skill in the cookery which no machine can ever supply. In short—Columbia Soups are made by cooks who care! That is your guarantee of splendid, high quality.

NOTE: If you want to learn more details of the Columbia plan of Industrial Democracy now in operation at the Columbia Conserve Company, Indianapolis, write for copies of the Free Booklets "The Business Without a Boss" and "An Experiment in Industrial Democracy." ## "JIMMIE" WALKER PLANS TO RESUME LAW PRACTICE

Denies He Ever Ducked Income Taxes But Announces He Is Coming Home.

London, March 12 — (AP) — Former Mayor James J. Walker, denying that he ever ducked income taxes, announces that he plans to go home and practice law.

A bit of the old Walkerian nonchalance cropped out in a statement with which the New Yorker greeted news that the United States is moving to sue him, Andrew W. Mellon and others for income taxes.

"Even in this doubtful position," he said yesterday, "I am glad to be in the same list with Mr. Andrew Mellon."

Walker, who is stopping at a Surrey Hills hotel with his wife, the former Betty Compton, said he was "not altogether surprised."

HEBRON

A meeting of the Tolland County Democratic association will be held at the town hall here Monday evening, April 2. A later announcement will be made as to program of speakers, etc.

The annual meeting of St. Peter's church was held at the church Wednesday evening, following the Lenten service. Lewis W. Phelps was chosen chairman. The following officers were named to serve the ensuing year: treasurer, Lewis W. Phelps; clerk, Frank R. Post; assistant clerk, Mrs. Anne C. Gilbert; senior warden, Lewis M. Phelps; junior warden, F. Elton Post; members of vestry were the same as last year except that the name of Charles C. Eilers was substituted for that of the Rev. Benjamin H. Bussell, who has engaged in church work in England. The other members of the vestry are: William J. Warner, Jared B. Tennant, Claude W. Jones, Fred erick A. Rathbun, Frank R. Post, Miss Clarissa L. Pendleton, Mrs. Leon G. Rathbone, Stephen Mosny was elected sexton in place of Frederick A. Rathbun who has resigned. Allan L. Carr was chosen delegate to the diocesan and archdeaconry conventions, with Charles C. Sellers as alternate. The names of Mrs. Marietta G. Horton and Miss Marion Gott were accepted as voting members of the parish. Mr. Carr spoke on the desirability of some sort of observance of the year 1934, it being the 200th anniversary of the founding of St. Peter's. It was thought that at least one Sunday could be set apart for a historical service. A committee was appointed to look into the feasibility of the matter, the members being: Allan L. Carr, Mrs. T. D. Martin, Mrs. Anne C. Gilbert, Mrs. Clarence E. Porter, Mrs. Leon G. Rathbone. The meeting was adjourned to April 7, at which time the committee will be called upon to report. The attendance at morning service in 1932 and 1933 and from Advent Sunday to Advent Sunday, averaged 32 per service. The attendance during the spring, summer and autumn showed an increase, but this was cut down by the severe winter weather, so that the average remained almost exactly the same as the year previous. At the Lenten service Mr. Carr spoke on "Forgiveness."

Miss Irene Babcock of Willimantic has been secured as teacher at the Jagger school in place of Mrs. Frank Rathbun, who has resigned the position. Miss Connelly, who taught there a few weeks as substitute, has been engaged as teacher elsewhere.

Whooping cough has appeared in the family of Fitz N. Jones, his grandchildren and a child who is a boarder in the family being afflicted. As there have been several epidemics of the disease hereabouts within the last two or three years, not so many children will be susceptible, and it is hoped that school attendance will not suffer.

A red fox was seen close by the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude W. Jones Friday afternoon.

Allan L. Carr, reader at St. Peter's church, officiated at a Lenten service at St. Mark's church, Mystic, Friday evening. He was the overnight guest of the Rev. E. S. Spencer, rector of the church.

Dr. C. E. Pendleton called on his sisters, the Misses Clarissa and Susan Pendleton Friday. The former returned with him to Colchester to assist in the care of his patient, William Curtis, who is 98 years of age, and seems to be in a failing condition.

Attorney Herbert J. Wilcox of Waterbury was the guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Merton W. Hills for a day or two recently.

The town meeting held at the Town Hall, Friday evening, brought out a good attendance and the motion to lay a tax of 18 mills was promptly accepted. This is the same as the tax last year, and it is hoped that the town can pull through the present year without incurring more indebtedness. In spite of extra expenses to the town in caring for its poor and unemployed through the depression, the amount of money borrowed this year to tide over its finances was only $2,500, as compared with $4,500 the year before. This borrowing is only temporary, the amount being refunded by the town later when the tax money is paid in. It was brought out that the expense to the town for clearing out the roads after the two blizzards was about $400. Work done on the same project under CWA auspices amounted to about $200, which was no small help to the town. First Selectman Claude W. Jones stated that there was considerable wood cut and ready to be drawn for fuel for any of the schools of the town in need of supplies. This wood was cut under the CWA, and will save the town quite a bill. It is good wood, hickory, oak, maple, etc., having been cut mostly on the Hopevale and North Pond roads in Amston, and there are some 25 cords waiting to be drawn, either by the town or district. Mr. Jones also said that there may be more bills coming in for snow removal, so the amount given above may not cover the whole expense. Clarkson F. Bailey acted as moderator, and Mrs. Merton W. Hills as clerk.

Frank R. Post, for many years Hebron's town clerk, passed his 82nd birthday Friday last. He passed the day in Hartford, where he is spending a few days with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Basinet.

When March came in with a big thaw and warm, sunny weather almost like summer, people here thought spring had come to stay. Since that time there have been two hard snows, one of about three inches depth. A thunderstorm several nights ago startled people out of sleep with reports that seemed more like earthquake shocks than like thunder. Windows rattled and houses shook.

The sale of a lot by the Amston Lake Company to Clement Hurteau of Willimantic has just been recorded at the town clerk's office.

CORN BORER CONTROL

Washington, D. C., March 12 — Senator Lonergan, (D., Conn.), today informed officials of Connecticut State College and other state agricultural officials of the restoration by the Senate of $125,000 for research work on corn borer control.

The budget director had recommended again as item for this week, the Senator said, except for a small sum to control interstate movements from restricted areas. The House restored $25,000 of the item, and the Senate added $100,000.

Senator Lonergan said that many research workers and facilities in Connecticut had been threatened by the elimination of this item. He pointed out that a total sum of $362,701 was provided in the bill for plant quarantine control.

SEEKS BIDS FOR EMERGENCY JOBS

Highway Commissioner MacDonald Ready to Start New Road Projects.

Four Federal Emergency Public Works projects, of which the Federal Government will pay 80 per cent of the cost, and two state jobs were today incorporated by Highway Commissioner John A. MacDonald in the same contract letting with the Ninevah Falls bridge project which Saturday night made Connecticut the first state in the world to have its NIRA highway work 100 percent in motion.

Two of the public works projects are bridge construction jobs on the new Merritt Highway. One of these bridges will be a combined river crossing and grade separation over the Byram River and the Riverville Road in the town of Greenwich, and the other will be a grade separation which will carry the new boulevard above the Bridgeport-Trumbull Road, Route No. 127.

The third of the four contracts will call for the laying of about a mile and a half of bituminous macadam pavement on a trap rock base on the Waterbury-New Haven Road via Prospect, Route No. 69. This construction will serve to complete this new route which cuts off nearly five miles from the distance between Waterbury and New Haven as compared with other routes, and something more than a mile of bituminous macadam pavement will be built on the Hampden Road in the Town of Somers under the fourth contract.

The two state jobs will call for grading work to correct an unsightly condition on the Kings Highway, Post Road alternate, in the Town of Fairfield, and for the improvement of surface drainings on Route No. 25 in the Town of New Milford.

Under the final project, announcement of which gave Connecticut first place in the race for highest honors in the Recovery program highway work, there will be constructed a new concrete arch bridge over the Hammonasset River on Route No. 80, near Ninevah Falls, at the Killingworth-Madison town line. This route, which starts in the Foxon section of East Haven and continues through North Branford, Guilford, Madison, Killingworth and Saybrook to the Connecticut River, is one of the most picturesque in the State.

In being the first state to put its NIRA work completely into action, Connecticut overtook and passed both Kansas and the District of Columbia, which at the end of February had obligated 99.8 per cent of their NIRA highway appropriations. Connecticut had previously under contract the first eighteen of the nineteen projects which comprised the program designed last July for utilization of the State's $2,865,740 share of the appropriation.

Connecticut was criticized last September by the Public Works Administration which implied that the State's appropriation was not being spent rapidly enough. Delays at the start of the race were unavoidable, however, since Connecticut's existing plans did not meet with the NIRA and FWA requirements which greatly altered previous Federal Aid regulations. States which had such plans were able to obtain a considerable lead, while Connecticut had to start from scratch. The FWA criticism, in Commissioner MacDonald's opinion, was "undoubtedly due to failure to understand this local situation."

Sealed bids on all of the work announced today will be received from contractors at the headquarters of the highway department in the State Office Building, Hartford, until 2:00 P. M. on Monday, March 26.

NORTH COVENTRY

The funeral services of William McVey were held at the Second Congregational church Friday afternoon with Rev. Leon H. Austin officiating. Burial was held at the Center cemetery.

Mrs. William McVey and son, Robert, are visiting Herbert McVey in New Haven for awhile.

Mrs. George Buck had her tonsils removed last week and is reported improving slowly. Mrs. Buck's mother, and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finkle, visited her Sunday. At the last meeting of the Coventry Community orchestra it was voted that they meet every first and third Friday evening, instead of weekly, due to conflicts in social date on Friday evening.

Henry Giesecke is at the Hartford hospital where he was operated on last Thursday.

Friday evening the Ever Ready Sunday school class met at the home of Mrs. A. J. Vinton's for the monthly meeting and social.

Harry Cline, employe of John E. Kingsbury was injured Saturday afternoon while assisting in moving a brooder coop. He was taken to the Manchester Memorial hospital for treatment. He has regained consciousness and conversed quite freely when Mr. Kingsbury visited him Sunday.

Mrs. Ernest Gowdy was at the Manchester Memorial hospital over the week-end, having had several teeth extracted. She returned home Sunday and is doing well.

Miss Eva Koehler and Jeanette Heckler, spent the week-end at their respective homes here.

The regular meeting of the Coventry Fragment Society will be at the home of Mrs. Annie Fluke, Wednesday with a covered Dish luncheon being served.

Coventry Grange No. 75, P. of H., will entertain the neighboring grangers of Manchester, Hillstown and Wapping, with the visiting grangers supplying the entertainment.

The Coventry Community orchestra and the choir of the Second Congregational church have voted to put on a minstrel in the near future.

The Board of Trustees for the Second Congregational church will meet next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Roland Bartlett at Autumn View Farm.

The Coventry Fragment Society netted about $29 at their Food Sale held at Hale's Department store and wish to express their appreciation to all the patrons.

The next regular Christian Endeavor rally will be held next Sunday evening at the Rockville Methodist church with Edward McQue, radio gospel singer, furnishing the program. Services begin at 7:30 p. m.

There will also be special vespers services at 4 p. m. in Andover Sunday afternoon at which time Mr. McQue will sing. Everyone is invited to attend either service.

Mrs. Amelia Walbridge spent the week-end with her daughter, Mrs. Mabel G. Hall.

Tuesday evening there will be a sectional meeting of the 4-H social leaders and Town Club committee at the Chapel Hall in Coventry. The other meeting will be held at Stafford Hollow Tuesday afternoon.

Friday evening here will be a Tolland County meeting for people interested in poultry at the Coventry Grange Hall.

STRIKE BREAKER KILLED

Havana, March 12.—(AP)—One strike breaker was killed and nine wounded in a clash between strikers and strike-breakers on the ward L.L. docks today.

It was the first serious incident on the waterfront since the dockworkers strike began. Since Friday, strikers, protected by soldiers, had been laboring as stevedores.

CWA WORKER SHOTS BOSS AND THEN SELF

Have Argument Over the Job—Both of the Men Are Expected to Die.

Schenectady, N. Y., March 12.—(AP)—Joseph Richardson, 55, supervisor of Civilian Works Administration projects in the town of Clifton park, Saratoga county, was fatally wounded today during an argument with a worker who later shot and critically wounded himself.

The alleged assailant, Alphonso Lynch, 50, is in Ellis hospital here with only a slight chance for recovery.

The argument occurred at Vlecher's Ferry, a hamlet east of here on the Mohawk river, as Richardson, married and the father of three children, was giving instructions for the day's work.

Lynch, who authorities said had been quarrelsome of late, became involved in an argument with the director and suddenly whipped out a revolver. He shot Richardson three times, one of the bullets piercing the heart.

Walking out of the building while fellow workers stood by, stunned and powerless to act, Lynch stroled into a store a few doors away, removed the revolver from his coat pocket and shot himself twice. He collapsed, unconscious, and was removed to the Schenectady hospital.

State police and Saratoga county authorities immediately started an investigation.

Lynch is married and the father of four small children.

The shooting took place in a garage in the rear of Richardson's home, from which he had been directing CWA activities this winter.

SWEETS CAN HELP MAKE TEETH STRONG

Cooking School Lecturer Tells How Bread Can Be Used in Making Sweets.

"A proverb that I like to quote," says Mrs. Edna R. Crabtree of the Manchester Herald Cooking School, "is this: 'Woes are not good with bread!' I find it especially applicable when I start turning bread into some delicious dessert. For one thing, I know its going to be good; for another, I know its going to save me money. Besides, by using Sunshine Vitamin-D bread—the kind we demonstrate in the cooking school—I get the plus value of tooth and bone protection without a penny's extra cost. And isn't that enough to put any set of woes to flight?"

"I know the particular sweet I'm preparing will be good because I start with the finest-testing bread. And it will save me money because bread is the lowest expensive form of food. It's the vitamin-D in the bread I use in making the dessert that means it will be good for the teeth.

"One of my most thrilling uses of bread as a sweet is in making—yes, never could guess it—doughnuts! Compared with the usual fuss and muss of doughnut making, this way is about as easy as rolling off a log! And the doughnuts are surprisingly crisp and light."

Here's the recipe:
Doughnut Crisps.
 12 slices of Bond Bread
 1 egg
 1 1/4 cup milk
 Powdered sugar
 Cut each slice of bread with doughnut cutter. (Save the left-over rims for crumbs.) Beat egg and stir in milk. Dip bread doughnuts into this mixture and fry in deep, hot fat until brown. Drain on brown paper and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Recreation Center Items of Interest

Again through the facilities of the Recreation Centers the people of Manchester and vicinity will be hearing for the first time an orchestra that is widely known throughout New England and is one of the leading proponents of dance rhythm. For the dance to be held this Friday evening, Director Frank Busch has engaged Harry Brinkman's Society

Club orchestra, which made an appearance at Rau's Pavilion during the last summer. To present this leading orchestra here it was necessary to undergo added expense, but in appreciation of the splendid support that the dancers have given this regular weekly feature of the Recreation Centers the policy of presenting the leading orchestras will be continued. Dancing will be from 8 o'clock until midnight.

Our forefathers manufactured shot by dropping slender streams of molten lead from high towers into tanks of cold water; the streams formed into spherical drops, as they descended, and the water hardened them.

AMUSEMENTS EVERY COMEDY TYPE IN 6-STAR FUN FILM

"Six of a Kind" Has as Many Different Types as There Are Comedians.

There are almost as many kinds of comedy as there are comedians, declares Leo McCarey, director of Paramount's "Six of a Kind," which comes on Wednesday and Thursday to the State theater. He divides comedy into three basic types—visual, oral and written—but adds that there are, of course, innumerable variations of each type.

"For instance," he says, "there are six comedians of entirely different and distinct types in 'Six of a Kind.' Each and every one has his or her own method of creating laughs, a method which suits the particular personality, and each is a highly specialized artist.

Ruggies Whimsical
 "Charles Ruggies is the whimsical type. He sometimes becomes pathetic, but is none the less funny. He has something of the Chaplin quality, the quality that brings the smile and the tear very close together. There is no one who can make embarrassment so funny as Ruggies, with his inane giggle and his hesitant manner.

"Then there's Mary Boland. She is the helpless type, rather dumb but most engaging. One always has to be sorry for Mary, even when laughing at her. One feels like patting her on the shoulder and saying: 'Never mind; everything is going to be all right.'

Sublimated Slapstick
 "Next comes W. C. Fields, to my mind one of the funniest men in show business. Bill is unique. He is sublimated slapstick. Give him a funny hat and a cigar, with his facial expressions and his hands, and there is nobody can touch him. His method is absolutely his own and it is infallible. "Allison Skipworth depends to a great extent on the character she plays. No one can burlesque the 'grande dame' the way she can and, at the same time, make the characterization seem unlike burlesque. And whatever she does, she is always as lovable as she is funny.

Typical Gag Man
 "George Burns is the typical gag man. He thinks in terms of gags. There are not a half dozen writers in the country who can devise such comic dialogue, and very few actors who can put that dialogue over. Burns, of course, gives all the laugh lines to Gracie Allen, but his extraordinary sense of comedy shows itself in the lines themselves and in the way he times and stage manages the Burns and Allen act.

"And then, last but by no means least, comes Gracie herself. Nature is very kind to Gracie when it comes to playing comedy. She is without doubt the greatest 'dumb Dora' in the business. When she opens her eyes and mouth, waves those hands of hers, giggles inanely, and gives utterance to her perfectly assigned remarks in her weird voice, I defy anyone to keep a straight face.

"With that sextet of comics in the one cast, each with a role that suits him or her down to the ground, I don't see how the picture could fail to be funny."

A new romantic musical co-starring team makes its bow to the public as the co-feature in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new hit, "The Cat and the Fiddle."

Ramon Novarro and Jeanette MacDonald are the co-stars and already they have been hailed as a sensational "find" wherever picture has been shown.

Both are widely known for their concert work, in addition to their fame as screen stars. Both recently returned from extended concert tours of Europe, where they are popular both on the screen and the musical stage. Novarro, in fact, was literally mobbed by admirers when he appeared in public and Miss MacDonald is generally conceded to be the reigning favorite of the French people.

Approximately 250 aviation technicians will be employed by the CWA to select and develop airport sites under the program for establishing a nation-wide network of landing fields.

OPEN FORUM
 GOD'S PRESENT TO MAN.
 When we think of God's creation, Of good moon and stars;
 Earth with all its vast formation, And know that all is ours.
 God made it for the sons of man; This gift of wondrous grace,
 Presented it a gift to man; The whole vast human race.
 He told us to replenish it, Its forces to subdue,
 And have dominion over it, For those He gave it to.
 God made it big enough for man And planned for every need,
 If we but followed out His plan And to His word gave heed,
 God made this man much like Him-self;
 That he should God-like be; But man from this great glory fell,
 He stole from knowledge tree,
 The forbidden tree of knowledge, Of good and evil fruit;
 Though Satan great wisdom promised, And knowledge that would mix,
 There were some things man need not know;
 To fear God first was right, Beyond God's word he should not go,
 But walk by faith, not sight.
 To pluck this fruit from off this tree Of good and evil now we see,
 Was more than man could do. But man insisted, come what may;
 He must know every thing, He ate; in spirit, died that day
 And death to all did bring.
 Since then this now ungodlike man, Gets all his knowledge mixed,
 And falled in this great world-wide plan.
 The curse on all is fixed,
 The curse that God pronounced on man.
 Is surely here today,
 He must eat bread by sweat of brow
 There is no other way,
 Some to get from beneath this curse,
 And make the others pay,
 Have made the world conditions worse,
 Today than yesterday.
 So this great gift, God gave to man,
 The earth and all therein,
 Has failed to meet up with God's plan
 And all, because of sin.
 There's room enough for all man-kind
 And every need supply;
 If we would from God's knowledge find
 The great big reason why,
 Then do the things He told us to,
 Or follow His command,
 Replenish, govern and subdue,
 And find that life was grand.
 Yes give the laborer his hire,
 And strengthen thus his hand,
 To give the needy their desire;
 For this is God's command.
 Then make this gift that God has given,
 A blessing to mankind;
 And get our knowledge all from Heaven,
 And joy and blessing find.

The ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY.
 PABLOTO, a handsome 17-year-old youth, works at the palatial home of millionaire JIM FIELD. When Field's daughter, ESTELLE, arrives and falls in love with her almost at sight.

Pabloto knows nothing of his parents—a titled Englishman and a servant girl. An child he ran away from ANGELA, the housemaid, who came in to care for him. Since then he has lived with NORRIS NOYES, wanted by police for a murder years before.

YED JEFFREYS, a guest at the Field home, sees Noyes and recognizes him. Noyes sees to the swamp where he overhears a man and girl planning to rob the Field home during a masquerade party the following evening. Pabloto gives Noyes money to go to Havana and promises to meet him there later.

Pabloto, disguised as a tinsmith, masquerades in order to talk to Estelle.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X
 Pabloto found Estelle a little withdrawn from the crowd. No one seemed to notice the slender child swathed in green tulle and white ruffles, which had grown so rapidly, she was now a young woman, a fledgling, while sure-footed seduction moved easily and surely; jewels twinkled on low-cut breasts, invitations in languid-lipped eyes.

There was a pathetically uncertain smile about her still plastic lips and there was a little ache in her head, which had grown of forcing the smile.

"May I sit with you?" Pabloto asked. It was what he had planned to say but he had not planned that his voice should shake as it did.

"That is foolish," she said. "I wish it were. Things would be so much simpler. You see, as it is, I have to acquire the proper armor—dinner clothes—somehow find a lance in a check book. And I have to learn the password which is knowing the 'right people.' There's so much I haven't that I need!"

"You are very clever," Estelle said. "Who taught you about all those things?"

"I can't tell you," he answered a little wryly creeping into his voice. "For a moment she was chilled, falling to see loyalty in the eyes of the man. "But I'm not clever," he added.

"I wish I could see your face," she said.

"I see yours in the dark or light and I see it most of the time." She was vague and depressed by the sweetness that made so thick and overwhelming an aura around her and by the transiency of such sweetness, which she knew because on the morning the maiden would begin to pack for the night north.

"Are you going north?" she asked.

"No." He sat looking down at her steadily and thoughtfully. In a few short hours miles would lie between them. Suddenly she leaned toward him and he felt her hand on his. He turned quickly to grip her fingers and remembered the fact that her hand was small and soft and that he must not hurt her.

"We must be friends," she said and she smiled. "I do so want you to be friends." For a moment he pressed her hand against his breast where the hard pounding of his heart would speak for him. Then abruptly he released it to sit away from her, his strong teeth set on his lower lip, frowning from his effort to recapture a little steadiness.

"The fine automobile part doesn't matter," he whispered.

"Oh, but it does!" she contradicted, his voice almost harsh. "I have lived one life and looked on at another and it has taught me a lot I would have missed if I had been raised inside the one or the other. But I'm going to work for the right to come back and pound on the front gate. I'm going to work for nothing else but that. Will you remember that? He had to stop to get his breath. "Will you remember," he went on, "that I am coming back and that I'll live on my dreams about it?"

Yes," he heard her whisper. He drew a deep breath, then lifted her clasped hands from her knees to kiss first one and then the other. She shrank a little because she loved it so. He whispered, brows drawn close by feeling. "You needn't be afraid of me—ever—in any way. Will you remember that, too?"

"Yes," she whispered again, and thought, "I wish he would kiss me." She did not care whether the thought were wicked or not; she wished he would kiss her!

SUBSTITUTE MAIL CLERKS
LOOKING FOR OTHER JOBS
 Lack of Work at Local Post-office Under New Ruling Affects These Workers.

Substitute clerks and carriers employed at the Manchester post-office are looking for other work. One substitute clerk, Chester Morgan, has been granted a leave of absence and has secured work out of town. Under the new order, where the men are called upon to work fewer hours, substitutes cannot be used in their places and in a case where they take an afternoon off because of some emergency carriers are not sent out to cover their route. This is not giving extra work to the substitutes, and as a result they are now looking around for other work to do until there is a change made in the ruling.

In Hartford the extra carriers and clerks who have had as high as five years service, but have not been made regulars, were informed Thursday that there would be no more work for them, and were advised to look for other jobs. In the past there has been occasions when regular men were not working and give them work some of the time, but with the new ruling they are not provided with any work at all.

In making a check on the way that the service is being effected and the reaction of the public to the curtailed service, it has been learned that in Boston, where such curtailment was made that only two complaints were filed.

PLANS CHANGED
AT ST. BRIDGET'S
 Month's Mind Masses for Late Father McCann on Thursday and Saturday.

Changes have been found necessary to be made in the plans to be carried out in St. Bridget's church this week due to the death of a brother-in-law of Rev. John Kenney, acting pastor of the church. The month's mind masses, which was to have been celebrated Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock for the repose of the soul of Rev. C. T. McCann, will be celebrated Thursday morning at 8 o'clock. This mass is being sponsored by the Lithuanian members of the parish. The mid-week Lenten devotions, scheduled for Wednesday evening, will be held Thursday evening. There will also be the regular Lenten devotions Friday evening at 7:30.

On Saturday morning at 8 o'clock there will be celebrated a month's mind mass for the repose of the soul of Father McCann. This is the regular parish mass and is expected to bring out a large gathering.

On Friday evening, following the devotions, there will be a special program of Irish music given in keeping with St. Patrick's Day. There will be an organ program and solos and choir singing will be given by the newly organized choir.

William E. Campbell and Thomas J. Quish have been secured to direct the minstrel show now in rehearsal which will be presented soon after Easter. They are being assisted in the securing of the cast by a committee consisting of Joseph Moriarty, Francis Limerick, Arthur Scraton, Teofil Opalack, James Murphy, Robert Coleman, Michael Benevento, Mrs. Margaret Shea, Mrs. Anna McGuire, Mrs. Sarah Healy, Mrs. Maude Foley, Miss Beatrice Coughlin, Miss Eleanor Dwyer, Miss Charlotte Buckley, Mrs. Helen McCarthy, Mrs. Mary Mackonks.

SENSE and NONSENSE

AND LIFE GOES ON
 After all, it is life, this queer old game. That half of us play without knowing its name. We love and we laugh, and we sin and we play. But sooner or later, there's the piper to pay. We conquer, we climb, we lose or we win. We fall from the top and start over again. We barter the years, sell our soul for a song. But, whatever the stakes, life still goes on.

We're soon going to reach the point where everybody will have to put in long hours but the wage earners. They'll have to be careful and not do so much so there'll be enough jobs to go around.

Married Man (after examining his friend's new flat)—Well, I wish I could afford a place like this.
Bachelor—Yes, you married men have better halves, but we bachelors usually have better quarters.

GUFFS OF WIND... Deciding which boy to pick is often easier for a girl than making up her mind to have a home or church wedding... In marriage we agree to give and take, but what causes most of the trouble is when one of the two decides to do all of the talking... Engagements, like habits, are easy to get into but extremely hard to break... To get a marriage license you sign on the dotted line, but to get a divorce you sign on the dividing line... A bachelor is a slacker in the battle of the sexes... Matrimony can do two things to a man—turn him into a diplomat or a doormat.

THE ONE BIG CRITICISM THAT CAN BE RAISED AGAINST PRESENT-DAY CURRENCY IN THIS COUNTRY IS THAT IT ISN'T CURRENT ENOUGH.

Youth—When I dance with you I feel as if I am treading on clouds.
Girl Friend—Don't kid yourself; those are my feet.

IT ISN'T CHIVALRY THAT MAKES A MAN CONSULT HIS WIFE ABOUT EVERY DEAL. HE WANTS SOMEBODY TO BLAME IF IT GOES WRONG.

Manager (discussing new typist)—What do you think of her?
Chief Clerk—Well, I don't know, but she spells atrociously.
Manager—Really, she must be pretty good, I'm sure I couldn't spell it.

NEW VIEWPOINT

Factory smoke, we must allow, A nuisance once, a blessing now!
Minister (meeting the village black sheep, shaking him warmly by the hand)—I'm so glad you've turned over a new leaf, Thomas.
Thomas—Me?
Minister—Yes, I was happy to see you at prayer meeting last night.
Thomas—Oh, so that's where I was, is it?

THE GIRL WHO USED TO SLIDE DOWN BANNISTERS NOW HAS A DAUGHTER WHO GETS A MILD EXHILARATION FROM PARACHUTING.

Harris—It says the man was shot by his wife at close range.
Parker—Then there must have been powder marks on the body.
Harris—Yes; that's why she shot him.

Nothing is finally so disconcerting as to undertake with great noise and fury something that really cannot be done.

First Man—Hello! How's your wife this evening?
Second Ditto—She's sinking.
First Man—What, is she so ill?
Second Ditto—No, just washing dishes.

LOANS
... that will help you get started again

Pay past due debts, taxes, insurance . . . pay cash for new purchases and get better bargains.

All this can be done with a cash loan from us . . . any amount from $10 to $300 without endorses.

The only cost is a monthly charge of three per cent on the unpaid balance. For example $50 repaid over 5 months means a total cost of only $4.50.
