CROWD IS ENTHUSED AT COOKING SCHOOL

Women Flock by Hundreds to State Theater Long Before Scheduled Hour for First Session — Prizes Distributed.

A newcomer to Manchester seeing the crowds thronging to the State Theater this morning might have thought someone was inside throwing gold dollars away. But if this visitor could have squeezed through the laughing, expectant throng he would have seen and heard something quite as important as gold to the women who surrounded him. He would have found himself in the midst of the first session of the Manchester Herald Cooking School, an event long heralded and now enthusiastically welcomed by the women of our city.

WIFE OF MISSING MAN SEEKS ESTATE

Mrs. Erwin V. Gilbert Applies to Probate Court for Trustee Appointment.

A petition has been filed with the probate court, district of Manchester, by Mrs. Alice Gilbert, wife of Erwin V. Gilbert, the Avon street man who disappeared from his home December 14 and who has not since been heard from, that she may be appointed trustee of his estate, which consists, as far as now is known, of a small amount of cash in a Hartford bank.

In asking for the appointment of herself as trustee, Mrs. Gilbert seeks to secure from the bank the money now on deposit to go for the care of herself and a minor son, who are in need of the money.

Mr. Gilbert, 45, was reported to the police early in the morning of December 15, as having disappeared from his home on Avon street. The story was to the effect that he had left the house early in the evening intending to go to a store on Hartford road and make some purchases. It was late when he did not return and fearing that something might have happened to him a search was started. The store was visited and it was also learned that he had a friend in East Hartford, who rode to work with him each morning. Thinking he might know something about Gilbert's whereabouts, the friend was seen, but he could give no information. The local police were then asked to look for him.

He was described as wearing a brown suit, a brown overcoat and a brown hat. His wife told the police at the time that she felt there was something troubling him and that he might temporarily have lost his memory and would later return.

So confident was his wife that he would return in due time that it was not until five days later that a real search was started. The police worked on the theory that he may have committed suicide. Ponds in the vicinity of Spencer street, Biddeford street and Globe Hollow were searched. At Globe Hollow a hat was found. It had been under snow for some time, but the swimming pool section of the pond, near where the hat was found, was drained but it contained little water.

Mrs. Gilbert at first partly identified the hat as being that of her husband, but later determined it was of a poorer grade than one which he wore. From then on the search was given up. Mrs. Gilbert explained that her husband had a good position with Colt's Patent Fire Arms company and from other sources the police learned that he was a high paid man.

It was recalled that the day he left home the landlord had called to collect rent which was three months behind, although the house in which they were living was not in a high class district. The fact that Gilbert had a bank book with money in it was further learned. Mrs. Gilbert felt that he would soon turn up and efforts were made to locate him at his former home in Seneca Falls, N. Y.

Since that time there has been no further developments in the case until the action now taken by his wife asking that she be named as trustee.

COLD LUNCHES ONLY IN STATE TAVERNS

The regulations were within the power of the commission and that they were not grossly unjust or unreasonable, illegal or invalid as claimed by the plaintiff.

The regulations were issued December 8, effective December 14, and superseded regulations which allowed the taverns to serve light lunches, either hot or cold, not exceeding 25 cents in price. The rule, as to cold lunches only, Judge Jennings finds is in keeping with the board's effort to prevent overlapping and unreasonable competition among the different classes of permittees.

Judge Jennings says: "I regard the regulation question as an administrative detail. Citation clearly shows that the administrative details were within the jurisdiction of the commission. Power to pass an enforced regulation in question is specifically given to the commission by the act itself. Section 5923 accumulative supplement 1931-32 reads in part as follows: 'The tavern permit shall allow the retail sale of beer to be consumed on the premises of sale with or without sale and the consumption of sandwiches or light lunches in accordance with regulations made by the commission.'

The principal argument in opposition to the enforcement of this regulation was unconvincing; the taverns cannot do as much business with cold lunches as with hot lunches and it is unfair to make them scrap the equipment they have put in for the purpose of serving hot lunches. The economic argument was never been effective as applied to liquor legislation. Under our old local option law, a license had a very considerable value. If a town voted no license, this value was wiped out without compensation. When the 19th Amendment was adopted millions of hot billions of private property was taken for the public good without compensation.

"So here, the original regulation with reference to lunches and taverns did not appear to the commission to be working in accordance to its interpretation of the intention of the Legislature. It was therefor corrected to make it conform to that intention. For the reason the commission found that this action was within the power of the commission."

Judge Jennings further said: "That much of what has been said with reference to the first regulation applies with equal force to the second regulation regarding the changing of the taverns to a restaurant."

THREE RESCUED OF 113 TRAPPED IN JAP WARSHIP

anxious seamen aboard the Tatsuta heard faint pounding. They listened. It was then louder, the hammering within the Tomozuru was continued through the five hours required to haul the torpedo boat to Tagawara, five miles southwest of the Saasebo naval base.

Setting to work frantically, mechanics and steel workers began cutting an entry through the Tomozuru's steel hull after she reached port.

The first heartening rescue was effected within a comparatively short time. Veterans of Japan's former sea disasters were called on to aid and advise in attempts to lift the hull and force air into the interior of the vessel.

Back at the scene of the tragic wreck, destroyers and seaplanes searched the vicinity with its numerous islets and bays. They hoped to find survivors. But the most optimistic chances were slim. It was pretty generally agreed most if not all of the men aboard the Tomozuru were trapped and died quickly.

Six of those on board this newest of Japan's fighting ships were officers. The story of the fierce storm which caused the disaster was related by officers of the Tomozuru's sister ships—the Manasuru and the Chidori.

They told how the three vessels participated together in maneuvers of the Saasebo naval base starting at one a. m., Monday, soon the storm rose. Winds lashed huge waves clear across the decks. Many deck fixtures were carried overboard. The sister ships, however, escaped with little damage.

The tragedy saddened the nation. In Tokyo, Admiral Mitsuo, general minister of the navy went with bowed head to carry the news to the Emperor. Friends and relatives of the Tomozuru's crew rushed to the scene of the rescue efforts.

Taking a stern view of the catastrophe, the navy board of inquiry was formed immediately. The capsizing of the Tomozuru was a blow to many who believed new methods of design had insured her against just such an eventuality—new methods developed after the destroyer Sawarabi capsized in 1932 with a loss of 105 lives off Formosa.

Far reaching effect on the Japanese navy's future principles of design were expected to result from the investigation.

The Tomozuru was completed February 25. It was understood 18 other ships of similar design were being built or planned, each with three five-inch guns and considered the equal in fighting power to many older and bigger craft.

LEGION RIFLE CLUB TRIMS BRISTOL TEAM

The American Legion rifle team trimmed the Bristol team on the Legion range in the Solway block, by a close score. The local riflemen nosed out the Bristol sharpshooters by four points, 903 to 899.

Connie Dwire was high gun for the locals with 184 and Newcomb was second with 182.

A BOOK A DAY BY BRUCE CATTON

A STILTED ROMANCE ABOUT A WAR HERO Warwick Deeping's New Book Is Pretty Thin Stuff

Warwick Deeping's newest novel is "Valour." This reviewer to wonder firstly just how and where Mr. Deeping ever got that lofty and lucrative reputation of his, anyway.

It tells about a well-born young Englishman who defies high society, just as the World War begins, by getting engaged to a young lady whose father is doing time in the pen as a swindler. Having defied society he goes off to the war—and gets into a lot of trouble.

He is held by the Germans, he rebels against the Nazis, the stupidity, the brutality, and the general brainlessness and all-round cussedness of war, and at last bluntly refuses to obey orders—for which sin he is cashiered and sent home in disgrace.

His girl therapist rallies around and succeeds in selling him on the notion that he was in a great and holy crusade. Her clinching argument seems to be the assertion that the Germans have no sense of humor.

So finally his better nature, or something, asserts itself; he enlists as a private, goes out to France, loses a foot, wins the Victoria Cross, and emerges as a shining hero.

Aside from the fact that the characters are incredibly unreal and stilted—the girl calls her lover "man thing," and he addresses her as "you piece of most dear splendor"—the book is notable in that it twice contrives to give you an impression opposite to the one the author intended to give.

When the hero quits cold at the Dardanelles, Mr. Deeping unintentionally makes you feel that he did the right thing, though for the wrong reason; when he re-enlists you feel that he did the wrong thing. And Mr. Deeping didn't mean it that way at all.

Published by McBride, the book sells at $2.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, March 13.—(AP)—A steady but rather stagnant stock market today offered little encouragement to speculative enthusiasts. In the previous session both buyers and sellers generally held to a fractional range. A few stocks, including the utilities, pushed up moderately, but the turnover was small. Although yesterday's advances were fairly well held, there was no disposition shown to follow through on the rally.

Grains and silvers were a trifle easier at times, but cotton was steady and rubber again firm. Bonds maintained their upward slant, a number of loans recording new 1933-34 high prices. A few stocks, including the utilities, pushed up moderately, but the turnover was small. Although yesterday's advances were fairly well held, there was no disposition shown to follow through on the rally.

Shares of Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey and North American were up around a point each. American Tobacco B advanced a point and the rails were a bit firmer. The metals were virtually unchanged. U. S. Steel and American Telephone eased along with General Motors and Chrysler. The alcohol, rubbers and aircraft did little.

The motors were a trifle hesitant in the face of labor hearings starting tomorrow which involve workers in a number of the more important plants. Automobile production last week increased some 2,135 over the previous period and the output for March was estimated at around 340,000 units provided the strike situations are adjusted.

Brokerage houses said that, while the pressure to sell securities and commodities had subsided to a large extent, there appeared to be no immediate urge to do anything extensive on the buying side pending actual stimulating developments at Washington.

Unlike other times, when a concerted bonus movement in Congress would have caused the markets to shiver apprehensively, the sweeping approval of the lower chamber of the Patman bill for the disbursement of $2,400,000,000 in cash to former soldiers apparently did not stir the stocks or staples to any appreciable extent. The reason advanced by financial commentators was that, if the bill is not killed in the Senate, it will be vetoed by the President.

While trading circles seemed to be less worried over the stock exchange control bill, apprehension was still evident in some quarters as to the final form in which the measure will reach Congress. Word that the draft of the bill had been further delayed and probably would not be concluded until late tomorrow did not tend to reassure the doubters.

Some market analysts continue to hold that a drastic expansion of the currency is still more than a possibility, notwithstanding the fact that bonds are being sold in highest levels in two years or more, seem to indicate little fear of this and foreign exchanges have displayed no recent disturbing fluctuations. The silver activities in Congress were seen as a move in the direction of reducing the gold value of the dollar was not being overlooked.

SEC. DERN ORDERS PROBE OF ARMY MAIL CARRYING

standing and employment of the instruments referred to above."

Major General Hugh A. Drum, deputy chief of staff, was named chairman.

Other members are: Major General Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of Air Corps; Major General George S. Simonds, commandant of the Army War College; Major General John W. Gulick, chief of Coast Artillery; and Brigadier General C. E. Kilbourne, assistant chief of staff in charge of war planes.

All Army members belonged to the "Drum Board" which surveyed air corps activities at the time last summer that the Air Corps came under the jurisdiction of the Army general staff.

The commission will be authorized to call all witnesses and take any testimony it may deem necessary. Dern began organizing the group last week, having a three-hour discussion with Lindbergh Saturday. The flier at that time gave the secretary his opinion of the Air Corps' organization, the airmail, and personnel, and was asked to serve as a consultant. Acceptance from him, Wright and Chamberlin have yet to be received.

At almost the same minute that Dern and Lindbergh were discussing the survey, President Roosevelt's letter curtailing army air-mail flying, criticizing the Air Corps for its failure to meet the emergency, and suggesting that some plan be adopted by which the efficiency of the Air Corps would be improved was made public at the White House.

ANXIOUS TO ASSIST New York, March 13.—(AP)—Clarence Chamberlin, named by Secretary Dern to a special commission to investigate Army carrying of the airmail, expected to leave for Washington today, a noted trans-Atlantic flier was represented by an associate as "anxious" to assist the administration in an advisory capacity.

The associate, Elmer H. Holmes, said Chamberlin had been in sympathy with the administration's policies concerning airmail flying and had conferred several times with authorities at Washington.

ASKS TO BE RETIRED Danbury, March 13.—(AP)—The application of Chief Peter Beskerlin, head of the Danbury fire department for eighteen years, to be retired on a pension, has been approved by Mayor G. Walter Morgan and the fire committee. The chief will receive a yearly pension of $1,400.

TOUHY GANGSTER IS FOUND SLAIN

Charles "Ice Wagon" Connors Identified Until Police Compare Fingerprints.

Chicago, March 13.—(AP)—Charles "Ice Wagon" Connors, one of the Touhy gangsters long hunted for the kidnaping of John F. Kennedy, was found shot to death in a remote section of the southwest side today.

The body, shot twice through the chest, the head battered in with bullets and another wound in the arm, lay unidentified several hours while officers tried to compare the features with those of the hunted gangster.

Identification finally was made by finger prints.

This was the first killing among his fellow since the gang roundup began last summer at Elkhorn Wis., when Roger Touhy and several confederates were captured.

Four of them were tried and acquitted at St. Paul of the William Hamm, Jr. kidnaping, and after the acquittal Willie Sharkey hanged himself rather than face trial at Chicago for kidnaping John Factor.

Three, Roger Touhy, Albert Kator and Gus Schaefer, were convicted recently and sent to Joliet prison for 99 years to pay for their $70,000 "snatch" of Factor. Edward "Father Tom" McFadden, the elderly member of the mob, was acquitted by directed verdict of the court during the first Factor kidnaping trial, when the jury disagreed.

Another of the gang was on trial today for the same crime, Basil Hugh Banghart. And chief among the witnesses against him were Isaac Costner and "Buck" Harriehan, two of the Touhy associates who turned against their gang.

TWO ARMY FLIERS KILLED San Antonio, Tex., March 13.—(AP)—Flying Cadets Nelson C. Samuels and J. W. Carson of Kelly Field were killed today when their ship crashed three miles north of Camp Bullis.

Cadet Samuels was 22 years old. His mother, Mrs. Kate Samuels, lives in Severna Park, Md. Cadet Carson was 26 years old. His father, J. L. Carson, lives at Spartanburg, S. C.

NORTH END PARKING PLANS DISCUSSED

Police Commissioners and Selectman Jenney Meet Association Officers.

Police Commissioners C. R. Burr and Colonel Harry Bissell, Chief of Police Samuel G. Gordon, Selectman John Jenney and J. N. Nichols, and the latter three representing the Manchester Improvement Association, held a conference at 9 o'clock this morning at the intersection of North Main and Main streets. The Improvement Association has for some time been advocating a plan which would provide additional parking space at the corner. A suggestion was made that the east walk from the railroad crossing to North Main street be curved to correspond with the curve around the park on the west side of Main street at North Main street. It was also asked that, as a matter of safety, the police commissioners recommend that the hedge planted along the fence of the railroad property on the south side of North Main street be removed.

The commissioners, selectman and the Improvement Association committee went into considerable detail this morning regarding the matter. The suggestion that the silent policeman be changed was not so strongly requested after it was pointed out that the silent policeman would keep down the speed of automobiles in turning the corner. There was a feeling that it might be a good thing to have the hedge cut down, which would give a better view of the railroad tracks and also help to keep the section free from old papers and provide more parking. Assurance was given that the railroad company would co-operate.

LEASE GRISWOLD HOTEL TO NEW CORPORATION

Famous New London Resort to Be Managed by Men of Wide Hotel Experience.

Announcement has been made of the leasing of The Griswold Hotel, and the Shennecossett Country Club at New London, Conn., by John H. Livingstone, Jr., to the Venetian Corporation, of which Jean G. Venetos is president, and William C. English is vice-president and general manager. The hotel will open, as is the custom each year, the day prior to the annual Yale-Harvard crew race classic, which takes place on Friday, June 21, this year.

The new corporation has also taken an option to purchase the property, and Mr. English will be in direct charge of the operation.

Both Mr. Venetos and Mr. English are well known in hotel circles, and bring wide experience to their new project. Mr. Venetos is treasurer of the St. Moritz in New York City, and for twenty-two years has owned and operated the Mohawk Hotel in Brooklyn. He formerly operated the noted Holland House and the Albarmar Hotel, in New York City, and hotels at Allenhurst, N. Y., and Lake Winnebago, N. H. Mr. English is one of the youngest hotel operators in the industry, and until recently was manager of the St. Moritz-on-the-Park, New York City. He has been associated in an executive capacity with the hotels Plaza, Barclay, Gotham and Pennsylvania, in New York City, and is widely known for his operation of summer and winter resort houses. Among the latter are included, Saranac Inn at Upper Saranac, N. Y.; the United States Hotel at Saratoga Springs, N. Y.; The Balsams at Dixville Notch, N. H.; the Boca Raton Club at Boca Raton, Fla.; and the Thousand Islands Country Club at Alexandria Bay, N. Y. Other houses in which Mr. English has held managerial posts include the Roney Plaza at Miami Beach, Fla.; the Hotel Cape May (now The Admiral), at Cape May, N. J.; and The Imperial at Narragansett Pier, R. I.

OPEN FORUM

CORRECTION

Editor, The Herald:
Permit me, if you please, Mr. Editor, to make one or two corrections in the report of the meeting at the Salvation Army Citadel held last Sunday afternoon and printed in last evening's Herald. This is done in the interest of facts, not intending any reflection on the reporter (whose name I do not know) for we are all liable to make mistakes. It was stated that by a strange coincidence the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. Truman H. Woodward, just six years previously had officiated at a similar meeting as chairman. Adjutant Martin was careful to state that while Mr. Woodward was to have thus officiated, he was unable to be present, and the chairmanship was taken by the writer, his father.

Later there is this statement—"Another man living in Wapping had neuritis. Rev. Woodward prayed for his healing. As a sign he asked that God would remove the affliction, and that the man might shake hands with the pastor without pain after the service. Pain left the man's hand and arm immediately and has not returned in three years' time."

The speaker said this healing happened in East Hartford, but that he himself did not know of it until the man healed told him about it a year and a half later. Mr. Woodward was at that time preaching on the general subject of Faith. The man whose shoulder had pained him for many months because of neuritis listened intently, and prayed within that he would be entirely delivered from his affliction at the time when he should shake hands with the pastor on going out at the close of the service. According to his faith it was unto him, and the pain left his shoulder and has not returned. But Mr. Woodward had not prayed for this specific case, nor did he know of it until the man told him eighteen months afterward.

The incident relating to the healing of the woman with the gangrenous foot was told Mr. Woodward by a friend of his boyhood days in Moodus, now a lay reader, we understand, in a West Hartford Episcopal church.

For factuality,
W. D. WOODWARD.

Editor's Note: The report was submitted to The Herald for publication by a member of the Army.

ARMY OFFICER FROWNS ON SECRETARY'S PLANS

Letter Indicates Ruling by Woodring Might "Complicate" Staff Plans for Buying Planes.

Washington, March 13.—(AP)—A letter in which a high army officer apparently frowned on the aviation plans of Harry H. Woodring, assistant Secretary of War, was disclosed today by Congressional investigators.

Brig. General Oscar Westover, assistant chief of the Air Corps, was called before the House military affairs committee to say why he wrote what he did to Brig. General Henry Conger Pratt, Air Corps officer at Wright field, Dayton, Ohio. The letter indicated a belief that a ruling by Woodring might "complicate" staff plans for buying planes.

The letter said that Woodring had just ruled that no negotiations for the purchase of new airplanes, including those for which a $7,500,000 public works allotment was set aside, should be made until the assistant secretary approved the program.

MANY GROWERS USE SOIL TEST SERVICE

Agricultural Experiment Station Completes Reasonably Accurate Tests of Samples.

The Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station in New Haven has been working for several years to develop a soil testing service available to every grower in the state who wants to know what elements of plant nutrition are lacking in his soil and what elements should, therefore, be supplied by fertilizers or other treatment. Simple and reasonably accurate tests have been perfected by M. F. Morgan, head of the Soils Department, and last year more than 1,000 farmers, gardeners, home owners, and park and forest directors sent in soil samples to be tested and received a report on the tests together with recommendations as to treatment required for soil improvement.

Because of weather conditions the Soils Department is now chiefly occupied with tests of greenhouse soils, but as soon as the ground has thawed out it is expected that many more growers will avail themselves of the testing service and send in their samples for analysis.

Mr. Morgan has just published in "The Interpretation of Soil Tests," the Station's Circular 95, a resume of practical findings based on careful studies of the tests and results.

secured through them. "Soil testing to determine the nutrient conditions within the soil by means of fairly simple tests is a comparatively new phase of soil science," Mr. Morgan says, "and has been made possible by the rapid development in our chemical knowledge during the present century. It promises to be a valuable contribution to the more intelligent management of the soil, helping to forestall crop failure due to improper fertilization and preventing wasteful use of unnecessary fertilizer ingredients."

Growers interested in this service should also see "Soil Testing Service," the Station's Circular 98, which gives explicit directions for securing representative soil samples and preparing them for mailing.

JOHN S. COHEN NAMED DEMOCRATS' TREASURER

Washington, March 13.—(AP)—The administration has asked John S. Cohen, Atlanta publisher, to become treasurer of the Democratic National committee.

Cohen, former Senator from Georgia, is understood to be enroute to Washington to talk over the situation with Postmaster General Farley, the Democratic National chairman.

Farley said today as he left the White House that Cohen has been decided upon for the treasurership. The office became vacant when Frank C. Walker of New York, resigned to head President Roosevelt's National Emergency Council.

U. S. INCOME PAST TWO BILLION MARK

Expenditures Stand at Over Four Billion; Liquor Taxes Swell Income Figures.

Washington, March 13.—(AP)—The government income for the fiscal year—it ends July 1—today passed the $2,000,000,000 mark while expenditures stood at $4,444,687,000.

Receipts from last July 1 through March 10, the latest day available, were $2,001,959,165 as compared with $1,298,822,909 in the same period last year.

The biggest items in the increase were miscellaneous taxes—swollen by new levies and distilled spirits revenue—which jumped from $548,908,000 last year to $1,085,581,000 this year.

Agricultural processing taxes, not in effect last year, have supplied $230,818,000.

Income tax payments continued to lag behind last year with comparative figures of $382,822,000 and $398,612,000. But March payments have shown a sudden spurt as collections were made on first quarter installments on 1933 incomes.

For the first ten days of March the treasury took in $24,615,680 as compared with $10,272,698 last year.

Above Estimates
Secretary Morgenthau said payments are running a "shade above estimates." Total March collections last year were $180,000,000.

Government expenditures, which climbed steadily from July through January, dropped off sharply in February and so far in March are running behind February figures.

In the first ten days of February the government spent $248,436,000. In the same March period outlays were $206,915,000.

President Roosevelt's budget estimates of expenditures this fiscal year exceeded $50,000,000,000. With only $4,444,000,000 spent to date, more than half the entire amount remains for spending before June 30 to fulfill estimates.

Treasury officials expect a big pick-up in the spending rate as the weather gets warmer. In reply to questions, Secretary Morgenthau has taken the position that if estimated expenditures are not reached this fiscal year, the money will be spent in the next fiscal year, thereby leaving unchanged Mr. Roosevelt's estimate that on June 30, 1935, the public debt will reach $31,584,000,000.

DELANEY RECONCILED

Bridgeport, March 13.—(AP)—The dove of peace hovered today over the troubled marital affairs of Ovilla Chapdelaine, former light heavyweight champion of the world, and his estranged wife, Helen Milton Chapdelaine, with a reconciliation and the withdrawal of Mrs. Chapdelaine's divorce suit expected immediately.

Chapdelaine, known in the pugilistic world as Jack Delaney, was sued for a divorce on January 31, his wife charging him with intolerable cruelty.

MILK IS THE STAFF OF LIFE

"I KNEW WHICH LOW-PRICED CAR TO BUY. I helped build ALL THREE!"

READ THIS CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH R. V. FRIEDMAN OF DETROIT, MICHIGAN

"Let the other fellow drive without Hydraulic Brakes and a Safety Steel Body"

WE HEARD THAT Mr. Friedman practically lives in his car... averaging 150 miles a day in his business. We went out to see him.

We asked if he "looked at All Three" before buying Plymouth.

"Looked at them?... Mister, I've helped build All Three! But just to make sure, I drove each of the low-priced cars 100 miles."

This owner says he demands two things in a car—comfort and safety!

So Plymouth's Floating Power engine mountings and Individual Wheel Springing appealed to him. No more engine vibration... and no more bumpy rides to tire him out or injure the delicate radio apparatus he carries in his car.

And, of course, anybody who knows cars as he does is sold on Hydraulic Brakes and Safety-Steel Bodies. "I'll let the other fellow drive without them," he says, "but I'm taking no unnecessary chances."

There's not much we can add to Mr. Friedman's convincing story. But we urge you to do this—"Look at All Three before you buy." This year there's a surprising difference in low-priced cars. And you don't need to be a mechanic to see it!

Any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer will be glad to demonstrate Plymouth without obligation.

"I was born in the 'Motor City,' and I've worked in the shops of 'All Three.' You bet I know the low-priced cars inside out!"

"But just to make sure—I drove 'All Three' 100 miles each over tough roads. Believe me, Plymouth has 'em all beat on performance!"

3 Above—De Luxe Plymouth 4-door Sedan. Plymouth prices begin at $495 f. o. b. factory, Detroit, subject to change without notice. Duplicate Safety Glass throughout for low extra charge (only $30 on De Luxe Sedan).

Advertisement for Chesterfield cigarettes. It features a large illustration of a factory with smoking chimneys and a large machine used for processing tobacco. The text reads: 'It means something -' and 'Chesterfield the cigarette that's MILDER • the cigarette that TASTES BETTER'. Below the illustration, it says: 'This picture shows the machines used to remove the stems from Chesterfield tobacco.' To the right, there is a testimonial: 'THIS most modern way of moistening tobacco for stemming—first used in the manufacture of Chesterfields—opens up the pores and puts the tobacco in condition to remove the stems. The tobacco is put into the wire baskets stems down and enters the long steel ovens where the steam comes up from below, softening the stems without wetting the rest of the leaf. The stems are removed by stemming machines of the latest type. Everything that modern science knows about, or money can buy, that can make a milder cigarette, a cigarette that tastes better, is used in making Chesterfield.'

 TUESDAY, MARCH 13

In any consideration of the action of the House of Representatives in passing the Patman "greenback bonus" bill yesterday and of the earlier addition of $384,000,000 of veterans' benefits to the Independent Offices Supply bill, it is impossible to weigh these matters as things apart. If we were to do that we would find ourselves unable to account for the apparent reversal of Congress' attitude of last year in support of the President's keen desire to balance the budget.

It must be remembered that Mr. Roosevelt and the administration leaders in Congress over and over again at the outset drew the sharpest kind of a line between the regular budget of routine expenses and the extraordinary relief measures that were proposed as purely emergency expenditures. Also that at the very beginning of his administration Congress placed in the hands of Mr. Roosevelt unusual powers which, if employed as there was every reason to expect they would be, would enable him to finance those relief measures without resorting to added taxation now or later. Congress was willing enough—sincerely willing—to help the President keep down the tax burden.

But by his own course Mr. Roosevelt has destroyed the line of demarcation between the regular budget and the emergency spending. Instead of availing himself of the right given him by Congress to finance recovery by the issue of new money backed by billions of dollars of absolutely idle gold in the Treasury, he has seen fit to borrow printed bank money at interest. Every dollar of this it is proposed to pay back by some scheme of taxation yet undeveloped but which of course must be met, like all other taxes, by the people—at the rate of two dollars in principal and interest for every borrowed dollar.

It is with a view to this shockingly disappointing program that the present action of Congress must be considered. There should be little difficulty in understanding the thoughts and feelings of a representative or senator asked to maintain a stern and uncompromising position toward general expenditures when, without necessity, the administration is calmly proceeding to commit the nation to the payment of billions of dollars in interest to new bond holders. Particularly when the savings in expenditures he is asked to support are at the expense of men and women who are almost all in reduced circumstances and countless numbers of them in actual want.

It was one thing for the administration to be unbending in its demands for economy when the budget meant one thing and the recovery expenditures something entirely different: when to save in the pay of mail carriers and in veterans' benefits was to lighten the burden of taxation and help free the nation from a great load. But when Mr. Roosevelt decided to finance the whole recovery program by borrowings at interest, these budgetary savings began to look like a bitter joke compared with the mountain of debt being piled up for the benefit of secure investors and the great banks.

Is it any wonder then that Congress is giving such significant signs of "running away"? Is it any wonder that the House passed the Patman bill—with the mandatory provision that it be financed with new money and not with more debt?

CWA'S LATEST

The CWA, according to the latest of the kaleidoscopic developments in that aura borealis of an institution, isn't to quit on March 31 but will undergo another of its lightning changes in aspect and manner of operation. Employment under it, it is now announced, is to be measured out according to the exact needs of the applicants. If a man must have six hours work a week to "maintain" himself and his family, he is to get six hours and no more. If he needs more he is to get more.

Not such a bad system—if you can determine thus precisely what the needs of the applicants for employment are. This, we learn, is no insurmountable problem. The social workers will find out and decide whether Smith can get along with one day's work in a week or must have two or three.

The social workers, it appears, are to be hired. They must be, it is specified, "qualified social workers."

Perhaps, out of this curious, ever shifting, endlessly changing CWA, we shall now get an authoritative definition of "qualified social worker." Is such a person a different kind of person from a "trained" social worker? And, if both are the same what are the specifications? For a long time we have sincerely desired to learn what is meant by those provisions, occurring in recent years in many statutes, ordinances and such ukases as this if the CWA, that certain jobs shall be filled by "qualified" or "trained" social workers. But we have never been able to find out.

Perhaps there will be some real enlightenment now. Perhaps, too, the social workers whose salaries must come out of CWA funds will prove to be of such excellent technical training that they will be able to pass, without prejudice, upon their own need of wages in order to sustain life—whether they must socially work one day a week at $3 or, rating as "skilled labor," a full week for $28.90.

All this, of course, is predicated on the presumption that the latest CWA setup will last at least one full week before again being poured back into the pitcher and poured out again by Mr. Hopkins into another mold. That gentleman has been having a wonderful time, seeing how many different patterns he can make out of this same old CWA batter in half a year. And the fun still goes on.

ONE KIND OF SUCCESS

A queer little cablegram came over the wires to Associated Press newspapers from a correspondent in Tokyo late yesterday. It reads in its entirety as follows:

Fourteen Japanese soldiers, including two officers, were killed Saturday in a fierce battle between Japanese troops and 500 bandits in Manchukuo, an official communique revealed today.

"But," the communique added, "the regimental flag was saved."

Whether this item is worth a second thought depends on whether or not the reader is interested in the "story behind the story." If he is, it is possible, without too great a stretch of imagination, to read into that dispatch considerably more than appears on the surface.

Past experience of American and European reporters with the Japanese military authorities has shown pretty conclusively that those authorities never for a moment relax their vigilance in watching and if they consider it expedient censoring every line of news sent out from behind their lines abroad or from their home country.

Now a military engagement involving the deaths of fourteen men would not appear to be a highly important one; particularly in Manchukuo, where the skirmishing between Japanese and these so-called "bandits" is practically constant. "But," the dispatch makes it known, "the regimental flag was saved."

One may scratch his head a bit over that piece of information. Why is that fact news? Why did the correspondent tack it onto his brief and apparently unimportant cable?

Is it too much to conclude that that fight instead of being a skirmish in which only fourteen Japs were killed was really a disaster—that a Japanese regiment was practically wiped out—or the major part of a regiment at all events? Ordinarily regimental colors anywhere are not in the possession of some little detachment but in that of a major portion of the regiment. And if the fact that in this instance the colors were saved was a sufficient subject of congratulation to be mentioned in an official communique does it not indicate that the colors had been in grave peril?

quite differently from any interpretation put upon them by the Japs. At all events one may find considerable food for thought in that line about the saving of the Japanese regimental flag.

STICKING TO IT

County Detective Edward J. Hickey obviously has one rule of operation to which he adheres with immovable tenacity. No case ever becomes a "cold case" to him. He keeps them all in mind. Just how he manages it, whether it is a matter of system or memory or both, we have no way of knowing and it is none of our business; but when Hickey once starts looking for a suspect of this, that or the other crime he doesn't give up the search and mark the case "done" until the wanted individual has been brought to trial or Hickey learns beyond any question that he has passed beyond reach of earthly justice.

It is probable that many an officer situated similarly to Detective Hickey would long ago have ceased to bother with such a case as that of John J. Higgin, New Britain real estate man who, five years ago, is alleged to have turned extortionist posing as a federal officer and exacting small sums of "protection money" from rural liquor law violators—or at least left it to the federal authorities to hunt him up. Not Hickey. Five years is not long to the Hartford County official. He has patience and pertinacity. So Mr. Higgin, after all that time, is to be brought back from Alabama and put upon his trial.

It is this kind of relentlessness and sleeplessness that has given the Hartford County Detective Bureau its reputation—and in conjunction with the incorruptibility of Connecticut courts has made Connecticut a region which wise crooks prefer to give a wide berth.

Health and Diet Advice

VITAMIN "D" OFTEN LACKING IN WINTER MONTHS

Vitamin D makes your body able to use lime (also called calcium) and phosphorus in building strong bones and teeth. This vitamin may be secured in two different ways. Undoubtedly nature meant for man to get enough vitamin D by bathing the unclothed body in sunlight. When the ultra-violet rays from sunlight reaches the bare skin, you can then make vitamin D for yourself, and if you were spending a winter in a sunny climate where you could dress in a bathing suit and stretch out in the sun, you would naturally get all of the vitamin D that you need.

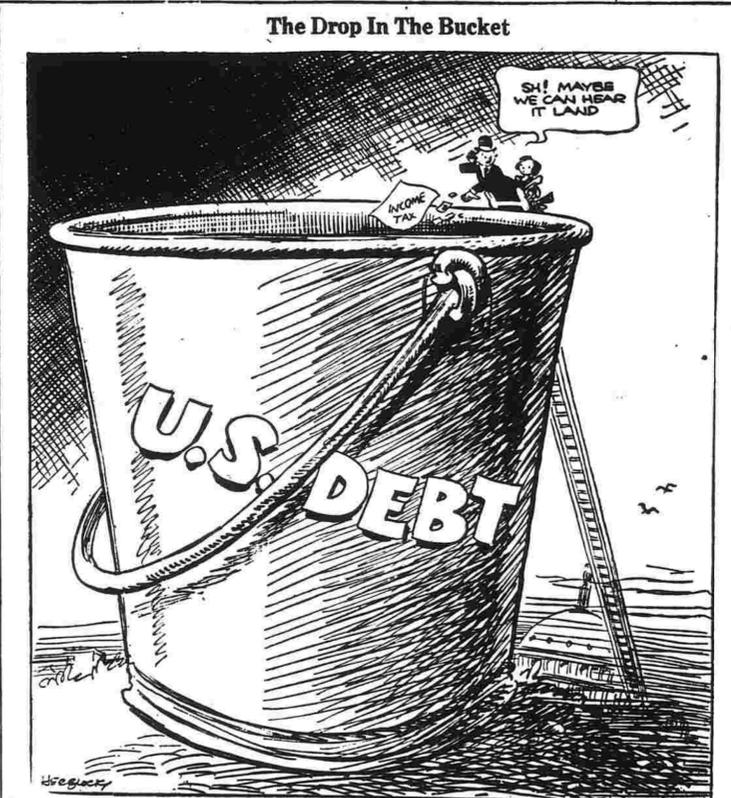

However, during the winter, many of us get very little sunlight, and we must then secure vitamin D in the second way, which is by using foods containing this substance. Beyond any question of a doubt, thousands of people lack Vitamin D especially during the late winter months.

When there is not enough of this vitamin, such disorders as rickets and tooth decay will result due to the fact that the body is no longer able to build strong bones and teeth. Rickets is most common in young children, but decay of the teeth is found at all ages. However, rickets can be readily cured by giving the patient plenty of vitamin D, and this same vitamin will often stop tooth decay from growing worse.

As a general rule, I believe that the average patient using both cooked and raw vegetables, meat, fruit, and eggs, and who takes sunbaths will get enough of all of the vitamins. However, sometimes it is advisable during a later winter month to watch closely to see if there are any signs present which show that vitamin D is lacking. It is then all right to make a special effort to put this vitamin into the body. For example: The child with rickets, the child or adult with decayed teeth, the expectant and nursing mother, might all be benefitted through an extra supply of vitamin D.

I am now going to tell you of a number of ways to get an extra amount of vitamin D into the body. One of the ways most talked about at the present time is through using "Vitamin D Milk". The product has a great deal to recommend it. It tastes like other milk, the vitamin is not harmed by cooking, and it makes a very easy way for the mother to give the family vitamin D. This kind of milk is produced by feeding the cows on irradiated yeast. The dry yeast has been made rich in vitamin D by irradiation with ultra-violet ray, and it has been found that a certain amount of this vitamin will then be passed on to the milk produced by the cow. It costs the dairymen a fee of $1.00 per year, per cow to furnish you this kind of milk. It may interest you to know that this license fee goes to the research foundation of the University of Wisconsin, as the process of irradiation of foods was discovered by Dr. Steenbock of that university.

Vitamin D milk is now available in many large cities. This is a fortunate fact because rickets is very common in large cities where the children are out of from natural sunlight. It is also possible to purchase vitamin D bread in some localities. I believe that it is perfectly safe to use Vitamin D Milk even though I see no reason why we should add large doses of vitamin D to every food we eat. Tomorrow's Article: "More About Vitamin D."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Cracking Skin)
 Question: Mrs. K. S. of Vancouver, B. C.: "could you help me with my case. I have read the Vancouver Sun trying to find one like it, but have not found anything that you could dress in a bathing suit and stretch out in the sun, you would naturally get all of the vitamin D that you need."
 Answer: I am sorry that you waited to watch the paper hoping to see a case described similar to yours, and I wish that you had written to me sooner as in this way you would have saved time. The cracking of the palms of the hands is sometimes due to an extreme form of Eczema. However, as there are a number of skin disorders which might bring this about, I am going to request that you write to me again and tell me the name of the skin disorder which your doctor found to be present when he examined the hands. If I definitely know what is the name of the trouble you have, I will then be in a better position to advise you.

(Diet for Nursing Mother)
 Question: P. P. P. of Ottawa, Canada, writes: "I would like to get a diet for a nursing mother, and will you please answer my question in the Ottawa Journal."
 Answer: I do have an article which gives the diet for nursing mothers, but it is entirely too long to print as a question and answer, and I therefore advise that you write to me again enclosing a large self-addressed, stamped envelope and asking for the article. Of course, when only the initials are given and no street address, it is impossible for me to send the article out immediately, but if you will write again, I will be very pleased to see that you receive it.

GILEAD

The marriage of Miss Ruth M. Ellis, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Asa W. Ellis and Pearl F. Young of Prooklyo, N. Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Young of Randolph Center, Vermont, took place Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Gilead Congregational church. The pastor, Rev. Walter Vey, performed the ceremony. The double ring service was used. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white lace with veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses. Miss Edith Ellis was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a gown of mint chiffon, with a velvet hat of the same color and carried a bouquet of spring flowers. Francis Martens, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was best man for Mr. Young. Miss Marcia Zebalick of Bloomfield presided at the organ. Mr. and Mrs. Young left on an unannounced trip. On their return they will reside in New York. The bride is a graduate of the Wheaton, Ill., College, where she received the degree of B. S. She taught in the local schools and in Manchester. Mr. Young is employed as an electrician at the Edison plant in New York. Guests were present from Hartford, Bloomfield and Glastonbury, also from Brooklyn, N. Y., and New Hampshire. The bride received many beautiful gifts.

BOLTON

The monthly Community night will be held March 15 at the church at 8 o'clock Professor Wales of the Hartford Seminary will give an illustrated lecture on his trip around the world. The Girl Scouts of Manchester will be present and take part, also some talent will furnish some of the program. Choir practice will be held at the parsonage this evening at 7:30. The Farm Bureau coat school will be held at North Coventry in the chapel Friday.

Rev. Allan Erwin of the Hartford Seminary will preach at the Congregational church next Sunday, March 18.

The Ladies' meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. D. Eaton Thursday afternoon.

A miscellaneous shower was given Mrs. Thomas Manegria Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. A. E. Manegria.

WAGES INCREASED.
 Chicago, March 13.—(AP)—Jewel Tea Company Inc., today announced wage increases for the staffs of its suburban and country stores, effective March 26. Under the new scale, employees who have been with the company for periods ranging from six to 18 months will receive increases in pay from $1 to $5 weekly, in excess of the applicable code rates.

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

Rome Had Its Circuses, We Have Our Senate Probes. Looking In On The Airmail Inquiry. Senators Drop In To Listen. Great Success In Rumsey Champagne Party.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, March 13.—Rome had its free circuses for the people. The modern counterpart is the Senate investigation. Within a year, Congressional committees will have starred Father Coughlin, J. P. Morgan, and Lindbergh, with supporting casts including many lesser celebrities. You can't ask much more than that. Anyone arriving early enough at a hearing is entitled to a seat. It doesn't cost a nickel. If you've never been, let's go see Senator Hugo Black put former Postmaster General Walter Brown on the pan about those airmail contracts.

At 9:45, some 200 people are in the caucus room. The room is walled and pillared in marble, about 200 feet long, 100 feet wide, and 30 feet high. The long committee table across one end abuts on two longways press tables for about 40 reporters forming a horseshoe within which are small tables for the witness and the stenographer.

A few feet behind the witness table are chairs for his associates and lawyers. Behind them are the spectators, though the "somebodies" of the audience usually herd behind the press tables.

Alice Longworth inexpressibly isn't there. Few celebrities are. But that little shabbily-dressed fellow with the pipe and rubbers who comes early for a front seat at all big hearings—here's there, with the usual keen glint in his eye.

And in comes Brown, inexpressive, bushy black hair parted in the middle, brown-clad, octagonal steatrimmed glasses, carrying a bulging black briefcase. Preceding him is his Ohio political buddy, Senator Simon Fess, with a vest pocket full of yellow pencils.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fogel entertained her parents Mr. and Mrs. Duman of Wallingford and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Fogel of this place at dinner Thursday in honor of the first birthday of their daughter, Patricia Ann.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Fogel of Manchester spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Fogel.

A miscellaneous shower was given Miss Ruth M. Ellis by her friends here at the parsonage last Thursday evening.

Behind Brown are his former assistants, flamboyant W. Irving Glover and suave Arch Coleman. Brown moves to the witness table. Glover and Coleman bring their chairs up to flank him. Fess remains behind, picking his teeth. A dozen photographers, who have been sitting on the committee table, flash pictures and depart.

The press table receives two prepared statements by Brown. A cop trips over a goboon. Brown's voice doesn't carry back to the spectators well. (Some hearings have amplifiers).

The committee, left to right: King of Utah, who leaves almost at once; Chairman Black, tired and pale, with cigar in his mouth between questions; stout, falstaffian McCarran, grinning and innocently sticking his tongue out; fat, happy, slick-haired Austin of Vermont; sly, pince-nez White of Maine.

Clustered around are committee investigators, who pass documents to Black. A large airmail route map is on the wall behind.

Any way, that's the picture. You probably read the testimony.

Many Play Hokey
 Sometimes you find more Senators at a hearing than at the session on the floor. At a time when McAdoo, Gore, and others had drifted to the Brown hearing, those in the chamber were Hatfield of West Virginia, making a veterans' speech; Hale, McNary, and Keyes in a conversational huddle; Fletcher talking to Schall, Frazier reading the previous day's Congressional Record, and no one on the Democratic side at all.

Four Of Own Champagne
 The season's biggest and best champagne party was given by Chairman Mary Rumsey of NRA's Consumers' Advisory Board. Consumers, for once, were happy. They could behind tables and pour their own.

Corks popped and Lucrezia Borsari sang. Hundreds of guests included Justice Roberts, Cabinet Members and Sen. Hanson, Cummings and Roper. Senators Borah, Joe Robt. McAdoo, Byrnes, etc. Harry Hopkins, Lew Douglas, Rex Tugwell and the congresswomen.

Secretary Frances Perkins helped Mrs. Rumsey receive.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bolton, North Ludlow, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilcox, and Mrs. F. K. Jones attended the meeting of the Democratic Tolland County Association at Columbia recently. Tax Commissioner Hackett and Commissioner Ring spoke. Chicken salad, rolls and coffee were served, after the meeting.

Do you know--
NEW YORK
 By PAUL HARRISON
 New York, March 13.—Washington's Birthday was just Washington's Birthday down at the old Quackinbush Pharmacy on Greenwich street this year.

For more than a century the day was the occasion for a quiet celebration of the founding, in 1817, of the oldest drug store in Greenwich Village, and oysters were served, buffet fashion, to clerks and all the customers of the neighborhood.

But the tradition died with Benjamin Quackinbush, grandson of the founder. And the present owner, a son-in-law whose interests are in Wall Street, doesn't get around very often to the little shop which now is huddled between big, modern warehouses and buffeted by the vibration of the elevated trains. James Todd, the prescription clerk, has been there 50 years.

It is one of the few real pharmacies left in Manhattan. No soda fountain, no candy, no books or alarm clocks. The same sign, repainted about 20 times, swings over the door. There is a roundballed coal stove at the rear, and a cotton-headed Negro named William Smith, who has been porter there since 1894.

The shelves are lined with glass-stoppered bottles, with Latin inscriptions, and ancient zinc bins labeled "Catnip," "Boneset," "Rotten Stone" and the like. You can buy slippery elm and lungwort and tansy. No liquor; the Quackinbushes always have been prohibitionists. Time was, though, when gum optium was sold right over the counter for $4.50 the pound.

Mr. Todd recalls that little Jimmy Walsh used to stop in now and then for sticks of licorice, and was something of a neighborhood pest. The Tunneys were good customers, and Gene used to bring slips of paper with names of medicines written on them.

Pharmaceutical Landmark
 Bigelow's drug store, over on Sixth Avenue in the Village, is almost as old as the Quackinbush. It is much livelier—has a soda fountain and sells all sorts of gadgets at its notion counters. It was founded in 1838 and passed into the hands of C. O. Bigelow in 1880. He is 94 now, a tall, gray-haired prohibitionist used to be president of the school of pharmacy at Columbia University, and now is president of a bank. But he gets the most fun out of working in the old store, which he does every day.

He also likes to recall things about some of his famous customers. "Mark Twain," he'll say, "never acted like a humorist when he came in here. Didn't open his gills except to tell what he had to buy." Maude Adams always was cheery, and General McClellan very stiff and courteous. General Daniel E. Sickles, veteran of Gettysburg, bought a lot of liniment there. And Commodore Vanderbilt—well, can you imagine him today, tall and crabbily-looking, with his white whiskers?" F. Marion Crawford remained a Bigelow customer even after he went to Italy to write. He'd send back prescriptions and the store would fill them and mail back the medicines.

Ye Oldest Prescriptions
 Quite the oldest drug store in New York, though, is Olliver's at No. 6 Bowery. It was started there in 1805 by an Englishman, a Doctor Walters, and for a long time was the apothecary shop where the finest ladies and gentlemen came. Sometimes the gray blades had leeches applied, and the store still has a sign claiming for it the sole right to distribute Becker's Balsam for Blackened Eyes. Also for Barrett's St. Asius Dandruff Remedy.

The shop, owned by Mrs. Francis Campbell, of White Plains, but is run by a couple of elderly clerks. Here it was, incidentally, that Joseph M. Schenck, the movie mogul, worked 27 years ago. He made friends with a fellow named Irving Berlin, who was singing in Nigger Mike's saloon just around the corner. Berlin talked Schenck into investing in a show, which made money and lured him into the theater business.

The meeting of the Woman's Missionary society which is usually held the second Tuesday of the month, is postponed until March 20.

Twenty-four years ago today, March 12, 1910, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beebe and family moved to Talcottville. Mr. Beebe entered the employ of the Talcott Brothers company, for which he still works.

CROSS LAUDS GIRL SCOUTS

Hartford, March 13.—(AP)—Governor Wilbur L. Cross regards the Girl Scout movement as "one of the most encouraging evidences of advancement in this country."

In a statement congratulating the Girl Scouts on the 22nd birthday anniversary of their origin, the Chief Executive said: "As an organization it has brought a happy, wholesome girlhood to thousands of girls and has become a powerful agency for character building. The Girl Scouts are keeping alive the best traditions of our pioneer settlers—by preserving those qualities of self-reliance, usefulness and service which distinguished our ancestors."

CHILDREN'S FOOD VEXING PROBLEM

Maggi's Seasoning Makes All Dishes Tempting—Some Recipes.

By Helen S. Kintzing
The happiest cook in the world is the mother whose children eat all the nourishing food she carefully prepares for them. Children are the most temperamental of eaters. One day, they enthusiastically devour all that is set before them. The next day, nothing from "Now, dear, please eat your soup so you will grow to be a big man," to bribes and dire threats and punishments can induce them to swallow a spoonful. Even the heartiest child occasionally dawdles over his dinner or asks to be excused while his plate is still almost full.

One of the reasons for this seeming naughtiness is that children are keen critics of flavor. It's not enough to tell a child to eat "this lovely, delicious soup." The taste tells him whether he likes it or not. If it is flat or "peppish" to his palate, he hates it and at the next meal, remembers that he hates it. Children rebel against characterless foods just as much as grown-ups do. Often they don't want to be obstinate. But they simply aren't interested in "uninteresting" food.

Mothers who used to lie awake at night wondering how they could make Johnnie and Mary and little Alice eat, are now finding almost miraculous help in a "simple, inexpensive cooking secret" that comes in liquid form. This product, which has been used in Europe for almost half a century, is difficult to describe because there is nothing just like it. It's not a condiment. It's not a spice. It's not a sauce, nor yet a coloring. It can be used with equal effect in vegetables, soups, salad-dressings, meat dishes, gravies and egg dishes. It does not add a flavor of its own to a dish, but improves the natural taste that is present.

Maggi's Seasoning—this indispensable cooking aid—is so beneficial that famous European hospitals use it to tempt invalids to eat. Just a few dashes of it give foods a palatable tastiness which makes the most finicky appetites—old and young, cry "More!" The dish remains as simple and wholesome as it ever was. It is still plain cooking, but infinitely more tempting.

Grocers have the famous bottle which has banished insipid tasting dishes from American homes forever. A school child's lunchbox usually consists of delicate cream soups—vegetables served in some form, or wholesome sandwiches. Remember to bring each dish to its appetizing best by the addition of Maggi's Seasoning. Cooks say, "Where there's Maggi's Seasoning, there's appetite." One trial of it will convince you how true this is!

Here are some wholesome dishes which will triumph over your child's most fickle appetite.

Tomato and Rice Soup
2 cups strained tomatoes.
1-4 cup rice.
2 cups water.
1 teaspoon salt.
1-8 teaspoon pepper.
2 tablespoons flour.
2 cups milk.
Several dashes of Maggi's Seasoning.
1-4 teaspoon soda.

2 tablespoons butter.
Place the tomatoes, rice, water, salt and pepper together in a saucepan and cook until the rice is tender, but not broken (25 to 30 minutes). Make a white sauce with butter, flour and milk. Several dashes of Maggi's Seasoning will perfect the delicate taste of the sauce. Stir the soda into the hot tomato mixture and add this gradually to the white sauce stirring constantly. Serve at once without beating. Serves 6.

Luncheon Omelet
6 eggs.
6 tablespoons milk or light cream.
1-2 teaspoon salt.
Pepper. Several dashes of Maggi's Seasoning.
1 tablespoon butter.
Beat the eggs lightly, add the milk, salt, pepper, and a few dashes of Maggi's Seasoning. Melt the butter in hot frying pan and pour in the mixture. Cook gently over a low fire until firm, then with a knife lift the edges and let the liquid run underneath. Brown on the bottom, fold and roll on to a hot platter. Garnish with parsley or slices of cooked bacon.

PROHIBITION ERA ENDS IN PUERTO RICO TODAY

San Juan, Puerto Rico, March 13.—(AP)—The end of prohibition in Puerto Rico, made possible cheap beer, wine and liquors here today. The dry era, which began with an island vote in 1917, ended last midnight, ten days after the President signed an amendment to the organic act.

Whisky is expected to sell retail at from $1.50 to $2 a quart. Spirituous liquors are taxed 20 cents a liter (slightly more than a quart), and beer and light wines 5 to 7 cents a liter. Retail liquor licenses, in five classes, cost from $10 to $80 a year. Distillers' licenses are set at from $200 to $600 and brewers' and vintners' licenses at $100.

FAVORS NEW LONDON AS FREE ENTRY PORT

Loneragan Says Importers Then Could Warehouse Goods Without Paying Usual Customs Duties.

Washington, D. C., March 13.—Senator Lonergan, D., Conn., is giving serious consideration to proposals for a free port of entry at New London, Conn.

A bill now pending before the Senate Commerce Committee and which would give the Secretary of Commerce power to establish such free ports in his discretion, or a private bill which would take care of New London alone, may have his support.

Business interests of New London, anticipating the need for such a port of entry, and the benefits normally available therefrom, have expressed favor to the plan, particularly in view of the government's steps to establish the Import-Export Bank and more liberal trade agreements.

The Senator explained that a free port is one in which importers may warehouse their goods without paying the usual customs duties until they are distributed to the interior for sale. Duties are collected at normal ports upon arrival of the goods, sometimes far in advance of sales distribution, thus restricting quantities of goods on hand to meet emergency demands of American consumers. He indicated that American manufacturers who find it necessary to use certain foreign products are often unable to obtain such goods promptly in periods of great demand because of the tendency of foreign shippers to limit merchandise shipped through normal ports to actual orders, with no reserves in storage in this country.

BROAD SALES VIEW BUILDS UP PROFITS

Rumford Boosts Many Other Items—Makes Hit With Grocers.

A broad concept of baking powder merchandising in which this product serves as a key item, aiding and stimulating additional sales of not only baking powder but numerous other grocery products, is pointed out as the underlying principle which has been responsible for the present outstanding success of the entire Rumford selling campaign, from well-known national radio cooking school to simplest cake folder.

Helps Others
Naturally, Rumford's product has the advantage of being an all-phosphate baking powder, with definite cooking, baking, and nutritive superlatives for this reason. No detail of Rumford's versatility and effectiveness has been overlooked in presenting its story to the public so that sales of all baking items and many general cooking items, as well as sales of baking powder will be increased and maintained.

In the Rumford radio School of Cookery, which reaches millions of women and brings in regular responses from many thousands, Elizabeth Ann Baker specializes in helping housewives in their everyday cooking problems. No effort has ever been made on her part to get into those cookery problems which are manifestly beyond the experience and interest of the average housewife whose biggest interest is cooking for the average family. The wisdom of this policy is attested by Miss Baker's impressive success in the home-cooking field.

The Rumford School begins by looking at cooking problems from the housewife's point of view, by considering her cooking as an active part of the daily family life. Answers are furnished for such commonplace but important questions as "How make winter vegetables more interesting to the family?" "What kind of desserts shall I serve the very young children?" "How can I make my meat cook economically for a small family?" And many others with a similar nation-wide application. Naturally, women are interested in having these difficulties solved for them, and naturally enough they follow the way which has been made easy for them by the cooking school. They buy more and better baking powder and buy the other foods suggested. The interests of everyone, from those who sell the food to those who eat it are much better served.

Selling Quality
Then there is another angle to the Rumford merchandising structure which is well worth the consideration of every grocer—everywhere. It's the Rumford policy of selling quality and pointing out the true economy of the purchase of worth-while quality staples. Emphasis upon this was never more important than now. Right now the swing is definitely away from mere cheapness and its inevitable effect—profitless selling. At no time have nearly all forces so combined as to put over a telling and selling message in favor of real quality products sold and reasonable and yet profitable prices. Merchants and grocers who have been trying in with Rumford sales efforts are cashing-in handsomely.

Come and see how to save your hands

WHO else wants to see the quick way to wash dishes—the easy way—the way that's wonderfully kind to the hands?

Come to today's thrilling demonstration! It's free. It's fascinating. See how Rinso's lively suds loosen and scrub out dirt, getting clothes sweet and clean without scrubbing or boiling. Women can see for themselves how this "scrubbers" way doubles the life of the clothes—and saves the hands, too. I think Rinso is just as wonderful for dishes and all cleaning.

$1,000,000 can't buy a good stomach!

So protect your digestion with CRISCO, the digestible fat!

You've all heard the story of the millionaire who offered a fortune for a healthy stomach. Much good it did him! People with good digestions want to keep them—that's why so many people are cooking with Crisco—the creamy digestible fat.

Here's some samples of what women are saying about Crisco. Writes Mrs. R.—"I live on a farm, but use Crisco because it's more digestible!" And here speaks up a fine mother—"My family is better in health since I've used Crisco!"

Crisco is made by Crisco's secret process which turns digestible oils into pure creamy digestible Crisco! Crisco is light—and as sweet and smooth as country cream. And Crisco doesn't need refrigeration to keep sweet, fluffy, and digestible. Keep it on your kitchen shelf even in warm weather.

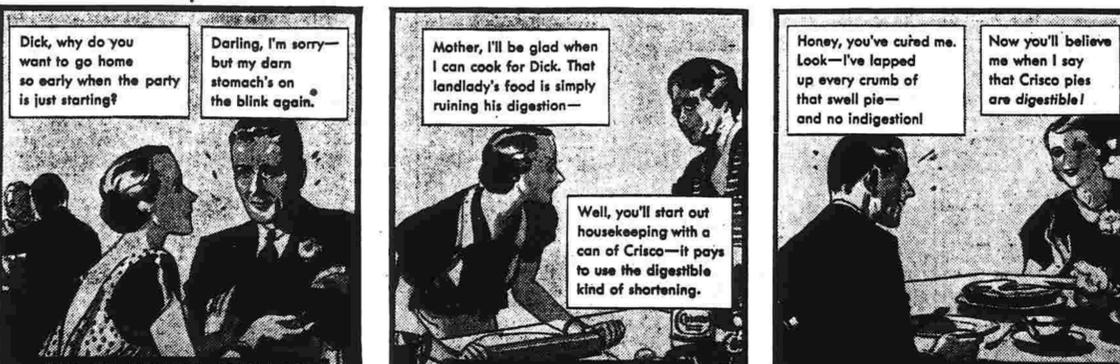

Crisco is not sold loose or in bulk

When you buy, look for the vacuum-sealed can with the familiar blue-and-white Crisco label. It's your health protection against dust and contamination. And it's the only way you can get genuine Crisco—the pure, wholesome fat that digests quickly. For Crisco is not sold loose or in bulk.

CRISCO digests quickly

HAM ROLL-UPS
4 tablespoons Crisco	1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour	1/2 cup grated cheese
1 1/2 cups milk	6 slices left-over boiled
1/2 teaspoon salt	or baked ham
1 can asparagus tips	1/4 teaspoon paprika
First make cheese sauce: Melt digestible pure Crisco over low heat. Stir in flour; keep smooth. Add milk slowly, stirring to blend flour thoroughly. Bring to boil. Add seasonings and grated cheese. Stir until cheese melts. Remove. Then trim ham of fat. Each slice should be about 4" x 6". On each slice pile a tip of asparagus. Roll up. Put rolls, with piced sides down, in shallow baking pan. Surround with cheese sauce. Drizzle sauce over center of each roll. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Serve hot.
RING OF PLENTY
1 1/2 cups cooked macaroni	1 tablespoon minced onion
1 cup diced cheese	1 cup scalded milk
1 cup soft bread crumbs	1 egg, well beaten
1 tablespoon minced parsley	1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons minced olives	1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons melted Crisco
Cut macaroni into short pieces. Combine ingredients in order given. Transfer to ring mold, rubbed with Crisco. (If you haven't a mold, rub the outside of a jelly glass with Crisco. Place glass upside down in center of deep baking dish.) Place mold in pan of hot water. Bake in moderately hot oven (375° F.) until firm—about 35 minutes. Unmold. Serve hot. Ring can be filled with creamed left-over meat or fish.
DRUMSTICKS
1 lb. veal steak	1 egg
1 lb. pork steak	2 tablespoons water
1/2 teaspoon salt	1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1/2 teaspoon pepper	4 tablespoons Crisco
1/4 cup flour	1 teaspoon minced onion
6 wooden skewers
Cut meat into pieces about 1 x 1 1/4 inches. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Arrange pork and veal alternately on 6 skewers. Press pieces close together and mold into drumstick shapes. Roll in flour. Dip into egg diluted with water. Roll in crumbs. Melt Crisco in skillet. When hot, add drumsticks and brown richly on all sides. (You'll find this way of frying is digestible because Crisco is such a digestible vegetable fat.) Add onion and enough water to cover bottom of skillet. Cover closely. Cook slowly (either on top of stove or in oven) until meat is tender. Serve with pan gravy.

At The Herald Cooking School, conducted this week in State Theater, Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree uses and recommends CRISCO, the modern, quick-digesting shortening.

RINSO ELIMINATES WASHING DRUDGERY

Mrs. Edna R. Crabtree to Tell Cooking School Gatherings About It.

Mrs. Edna R. Crabtree is in Manchester this week to teach improved methods of cooking and to give the choicest recipes known to home economists. She is here to tell also how to make the three-times-a-day dishwashing task a delight rather than a drudgery; to show how we may keep our white collars and linens truly white; our colored cottons and linens bright and new-looking and our fine fabrics dainty, colorful, and attractive.

Believes Monotony
Dishwashing seems a monotonous task but, in just no time at all, Mrs. Crabtree will wash dirty dishes and greasy pots and pans in creamy, billowing Rinso suds that stand up in the softest or in the hardest of waters. The suds loosen and remove grease as if by magic! Glass, silver, and china are made sparklingly clean. Mrs. Crabtree tells us that as the dishes and the pots and pans become soiled and dirty in preparing food, it is well to pour in some of the dry Rinso granules, add hot water, and let the work of cleaning dishes and kettles go on while we are enjoying our meal. Then, after the dinner dishes have been washed, we may turn to these particularly soiled dishes and kettles and find that, with a whisk or two of the dish mop and a hot rinse, they are sweet, clean, and bright.

The women of Manchester and vicinity will be delighted to hear what Mrs. Crabtree has to say about the laundering of the family cottons, linens, and fine fabrics, as well as the silks, wools, and rayons. This lecturer also tells us she has found that Rinso gives the whitest, the purest and the sweetest wash most economically and without danger to the hands or to the clothing. She says that the suds are always sure to stand up throughout the washing process. We are assured, then, of a good, lasting soap solution through the wash water. We are glad to have this Home Economics Expert give us this valuable and worth-while information and she, herself, is going to stress particularly the importance of using more economical products.

True Economy
Rinso is an excellent example of true economy in laundering. This is an outstanding product in the soap field because "a little goes such a long way." A small quantity of Rinso will do the washing for you, and no water softener is necessary. In the old days, bar soap and the washboard quickly destroyed the life of household cottons and linens. If scrubbing wore out the clothes, just think what it must have done to your hands. And even now, some of us recall the poor, aching backs caused by constant leaning over a washboard.

With the modern soap—Rinso, however, clothes wear longer and are kept new-looking because, in the soaking solution, the thick, rich Rinso suds safely release the dirt without harm to the clothes, and there is no wearing of fabrics threadbare through continuous scrubbing.

And don't forget that Rinso makes clothes 4 to 5 shades whiter and makes them wear 2 to 3 times longer. When washing white cottons and linens, soak them overnight or two or three hours in the morning. Swish them about in hot Rinso suds in the washing machine, give one or two hot water rinses, and finally a luke-warm-to-cold rinse. Rinso is equally effective in the ordinary wash tub. Where no washing machine is available, clothes may be soaked in Rinso suds, and then a soaking of the clothes up and down frees the dirt. Where there are any particularly soiled spots, sprinkle with dry Rinso and rub lightly in the soaking water. Rinse in two hot waters and one cold will complete the washing.

White cottons and linens should be hung in the sun to dry. Mrs. Crabtree is eager to have all the women in Manchester and vicinity use Rinso for their colored cottons and linens. She is particularly enthusiastic about color in the home and advises laundering household linens in Rinso to keep them fresh, new-looking and colorful. To quote her—"Many women do not realize that there is a charm in brightly colored, everyday cottons and linens. They provide a pleasant, inexpensive way of making brighter, happier homes."

Color-Fast Clothes
If clothes are color-fast, they may be soaked from 15 to 20 minutes in lukewarm Rinso suds, washed in lukewarm Rinso suds and rinsed in lukewarm-to-cold water until the last rinse water is clear. Colored cottons and linens should be hung in the shade to dry.

Some excellent instruction is to be given on the care of silks, wools and rayons. Mrs. Crabtree says that women should realize that much of what men believe to be natural charm in woman is, in reality, a subtle "something" obtained through her wearing dainty, delicately-colored garments, and, through correct laundering, keeping these wearables exquisitely colorful and as beautiful as when first purchased.

Silks, wools, and rayons cannot stand hot water. Most soaps require hot water to work effectively, but with Lux—the soap manufactured especially for the care of fine fabrics, one can effectively do the work of laundering through the use of this soap and lukewarm water. Pour warm water over the Lux Flakes (about 8 tablespoonful of Lux to a gallon of water), whisk into thick suds. Gently press lukewarm suds through and through garments. Have good, lasting suds. Never soak colors. This may cause streaks. Use fresh suds if suds get dirty. Rinse well in lukewarm water. Squeeze water out—do not twist. To prevent unfast colors streaking, remove all water possible by rolling in a dry Turkish towel and kneading. Unroll at once. Never keep colors rolled up while damp. Squeeze into shape and just before the article or garment is quite dry, press it with a warm iron.

Ask Questions
Mrs. Crabtree has a secret wish that the women ask many questions on the care of clothing and household linens because she is here to bring interesting and instructive lessons to her audiences and she hopes that women will find the education to be given in laundering as valuable as it has proved to women in other cities who have heard her lectures and faithfully followed her instructions.

WOMAN HANGS SELF

New Haven, March 12.—(AP)—Miss Irene Johnson, 29, was found hanged to death today from a cross beam of the attic in her home at Hamden.

Dr. George H. Joelin, medical examiner, gave a verdict of suicide due to despondency and melancholia. The body was found by the woman's mother, Mrs. Mary Johnson, who became alarmed when her daughter failed to appear for breakfast and started a search through the house to find her.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Washington—With a large green handkerchief hanging far out of his pocket, Senator Lewis, Ill., Democrat, was having difficulty voicing opposition to the St. Lawrence seaway treaty. He had a cold.

During one of the husky moments, Senator Long of Louisiana stepped in yesterday to take up the cause, allowing Lewis time to spray his throat with an atomizer. Long doesn't like the treaty either. Senator Vandenberg, Michigan, Republican, told Senator Lewis that "by no stretch of the imagination could opposition to the treaty be more strongly presented."

"I say stretch of the imagination," he added, "for the senior Senator from Illinois has stretched his until there's no resilience left."

Baltimore—Here's a patriotic household. A Baltimore father, finding there was nary a copy of the "Star Spangled Banner" in the house to teach to his son, called the Baltimore Sun for help.

The editors, reading in relays over the telephone from a facsimile of Francis Scott Key's original manuscript, dictated the piece to the father.

Chicago—To repulse robbers, try vanilla extract. Arthur Ford, chemist, tried it with success.

When four gunmen entered his place he began hurling heavy bottles of vanilla. Six shots were fired at him, but the only result was the destruction of a bottle in midair. The robber leader was drrenched.

Camden, N. J.—"Just nipping along" is more dangerous than taking aboard full tonnage," says Miss Jessie B. Kaye, director of alcohol education of the Camden County Parent Teachers Association.

Alcoholic liquors are no stimulant, she asserts. They weaken the intellect while inflaming the passions. What is more she says, they harden the brain just as fire cooks an egg.

Chicago—Two gunmen stopped Samuel L. Bullas, assistant state attorney. "Just a moment fellows," protested the prosecutor, "I'm an assistant state attorney."

"Your money," said one of the gunmen. "Is as good as anybody's." Whereupon they helped themselves to $4 and Bullas' wrist watch.

Evanston, Ill.—When a woman in an excited voice telephoned that a man was trying to break into a Chicago avenue place, the police investigated.

They found John Fontaine pounding on the door. He said he wished a drink, but could not get a white and inquired: "What's the idea?" "The idea is simply that you were crashing the National headquarters of the W. C. T. U.," the police explained.

DEPEND ON WEATHER.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 15.—(AP)—Upon today's weather and the condition of Lake Worth here depends completion of the International Motor Boat regatta interrupted and delayed two days by the elements.

Teams representing six nations are entered.

"Mother— they don't leave a thing — since we began using Maggi's Seasoning!"

Millions of housewives have discovered a cooking secret that makes food more appetizing.

EMPTY plates are the one sure sign of a good cook. Yet even the best of cooks has failures. One dish or another turns out flat and tasteless. But, must it be served that way? No, indeed!

A few dashes of Maggi's Seasoning restore the missing taste. They bring the dish to its appetizing best. They stop food waste. And plates come back to the kitchen all ready to dip in the dishpan.

For many years the world's leading chefs have known this secret. Millions of European housewives have learned it, too. Now its use is becoming popular in America as well.

Maggi's Seasoning is not a spice, or a table sauce or a condiment. It does not cover one taste with another. It does this: multiplies the delicious natural taste of the food itself.

Dozens of dishes can be improved this way. Soups, stews, gravies and vegetables, all become more appetizing after a few dashes of Maggi's Seasoning. Still plain home cooking, but infinitely more tempting.

The coupon is worth sending in. It brings you a wonderful new recipe book. Also an Introductory Offer Card good for 25¢ on your first purchase. Mail it today.

BEETHOVEN GLEE CLUB HAS ENJOYABLE SOCIAL

Ninth Annual Concert to Be Held in High School Auditorium on April 23.

Following the regular rehearsal of the Beethoven Glee club last night, an enjoyable social was held under the direction of the social committee of the club. During the program an instrumental quintet from the Salvation Army, under the direction of Harold Turkington, contributed a group of fine numbers.

The speakers were Rev. K. E. Erickson and the director of the club, Helge E. Pearson, who asked the members to do their utmost to further the interests of good music by their concert.

At the meeting a plan was announced by Carl Gustafson, chairman of the associate membership committee, whereby every member of the club will be assigned to a certain team to take part in a contest for associate members for the ninth annual concert, April 23 in the High School auditorium.

Files Suit in Latvia—Plans to Stay in England to Make Pictures.

(By Associated Press) London, March 13.—Laura La Plante, motion picture actress, said today she is suing her husband, William Selter, film director, for a divorce and that she has filed the suit in Riga, Latvia.

At the film studio here where she is being starred in an English picture, Miss La Plante said: "The proceedings have been taken on the ground of incompatibility. There is no other reason and we still are very good friends."

She said her husband was sending a waiver over from Hollywood and on its receipt she would sign it, after which she supposes the divorce will be granted under the law of Latvia.

"I'm going to stay in England for a while," she said. "I will make another picture after the present one, and then probably I will appear in a stage show in the provinces."

"I'm looking for a home in London and I'm thinking of bringing my mother and sister over this summer."

Predicts Use of Same Auto Plates Each Year

Commissioner Connor Says Plan Now Being Considered by State Motor Vehicle Department.

Hartford, March 13.—(AP)—The day may come when the same set of registration plates may be used on an automobile year after year in Connecticut.

Such a plan, Commissioner Michael A. Connor said, is now being considered by the state motor vehicle department.

By eliminating the necessity of issuing new plates each year, Colonel Connor estimated the state would save $50,000 to $100,000 annually.

He also told the Casualty and Surety Association of Connecticut yesterday that his department planned to do away with the annual filing of registration applications.

Richard Hewitt Sells Dairy to George Dart

South Windsor Man, Winner of National Dairy Award, to Take Over Milk Business.

George Dart of Vernon has purchased from Richard Hewitt the good will, machinery, trucks and contents of the Central Dairy on Trotter street and has taken over the business.

Mr. Dart is a son of George V. Dart, who for many years conducted a butter business in Manchester and was a well known dairy man in South Windsor. The new owner of the Central Dairy was formerly in the employ of John Kingsbury of North Coventry, and when 19 years old was selected among the young boys of Tolland County as the most proficient young dairy farmer in the county, winning an award that took him to National Dairy encampment at Memphis, Tenn., as a demonstrator of modern dairy methods. A year later he also won a state award and is but 23 years of age now.

SAYS CHURCH AND STATE SHOULD AID EACH OTHER

Hartford Professor, Speaking at Men's Friendship Club, Urges Questioning of Bible.

Professor George P. Hedley of the Hartford Seminary was the guest speaker last night at the regular meeting of the Men's Friendship club of the South Methodist church. Mr. Hedley took for his subject "For Such An Age As This," in which he charged that the churches in general had not been as active, critical, intelligent or useful as they should have been.

"The church should be concerned with many deeds of the age; the discovery of the desires of the people is the true Gospel," the speaker asserted. He urged people everywhere to encourage thinking people to question the Bible and see whether or not it stands the test of time. As for himself, Professor Hedley stated forcefully that the Bible had stood a very thorough investigation. He concluded by saying that the church and state had not supported each other as strongly as possible in the past.

Professor Hedley humored his audience with several illustrations and directed many of his witty remarks at Rev. L. C. Harris, who has only recently enjoyed many of the professor's lectures at the seminary. The social committee under the direction of Walter Harrison served sandwiches and coffee.

A county-wide poultry meeting will be held at the Hartford County building, Wednesday, March 14 at 1:30 p. m.

"Do Feeding Practices Influence Egg Production, Egg Quality and Hen Mortality?" This subject will be discussed by Roy E. Jones, poultry specialist at the Connecticut State College.

Eggs from three different types of flock feeding will be exhibited, candled, graded and broken out.

The following men will bring in eggs from flocks fed mash in hoppers and grain in litter: George Overstrom, Berlin; J. W. Bidwell, Granby and E. W. Hart, Bristol.

Eggs from flocks fed mash in hoppers and grain in hoppers will be brought in by Robert L. Montgomery, Simsbury; David Eagleson, West Granby and Meyer Sharapan, Warehouse Point.

Eggs from flocks fed all mash will be brought in by J. C. Dufford.

South Glastonbury: Clarence E. Williams, South Manchester and Edwin F. Griswold, Wethersfield. Representatives from feed supply houses will discuss the merits of the various feeds which they handle. All poultrymen interested in this subject are invited to attend this meeting.

"In any bread or bread crumb recipe,

THE FINEST-TASTING BREAD IS

Bond

WITH SUNSHINE VITAMIN-D

Says Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree at the Manchester Herald Cooking School

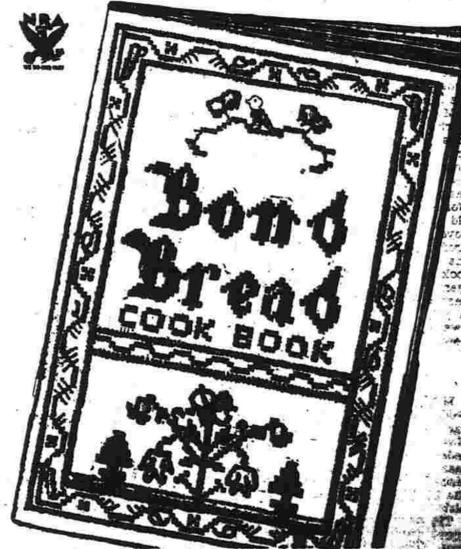

"It's no accident that Bond Bread adds extra flavor when used in cooking. That delicious home-made taste was developed with the help of 43,040 women. And in the baking process, the loaf is not allowed to rise beyond that flavor-peak. Use Bond crumbs and slices in cooking as well as on the bread plate. It can make your stuffings, puddings, scalloped dishes taste a whole lot better." For a quick main dish, try this—

CHEESE CHOPS—Mix together 3 cups soft Bond crumbs, 1 1/2 cups grated cheese, 1/2 cup tomato soup, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 egg, and salt and pepper to taste. Shape into chops. Brown on both sides in hot fat. Makes 6 chops.

Many cooking school lecturers are telling their audiences about the new Bond Bread Cook Book. Also about Bond Bread's vital ingredient—sunshine vitamin-D—that makes it such an important protective food. For a dependable, economical source of this tooth-guarding bone-building vitamin, see that your family has Bond Bread, in some form, every meal.

ALCORN OPENS DRIVE AGAINST MILK CONTROL

nessed by Mr. Alcorn, who went on and stated that the control board was created last year and it ordered producers to report the amount of milk produced. This report was almost complete, he said, and the board wanted to control surplus. He said his clients were getting along, paying their bills, and making a living, when the board selected three months for the purpose of arriving at an average and fixing a milk quota. The board then determined to issue a regulation, he said (the present quota which he explained) and then said "where the vice and inequity of the whole scheme appears." Bills for payment into the equalization fund ranged from $29 to $500 a month.

Never a Surplus He contended there was not a surplus except as the board created it. The dealer could do as he pleased with the two-cent surplus milk which was a great source of income to dealers and great loss to producers, he declared. Mr. Alcorn threatened that if they don't pay the equalization fee they would be haled into court on a rule to show cause why their license should not be revoked. This is a drastic and progressive regulation, he said and the board has no power to exercise a court function and revoke a license. To make effective the regulations of the control board the failure to pay the milk assessment must be considered by the court as unfair practices said Mr. Alcorn.

President Pierpont of the association, who has been a dairy farmer 30 years, testified. He operated a 250-acre farm near Waterbury and buys milk from three other farmers which he uses in his dairy business, and testified that he had paid these farmers fluid milk prices for all of their milk, although he used some for processing. He said his association has nearly 1,400 members and it was formed last year to protect the rights of producer-dealers against the "improper" regulations of the control board.

Explains Marketing Plan Mr. Pierpont gave a detailed explanation of the marketing plan but said the control board has not been able to give the producers figures on the sale or consumption of milk in the state, which he believes is necessary in arriving at a fair quota and percentage.

Drawn out by Mr. Alcorn, Mr. Pierpont testified about his bill from the board representing his payment to the fund. He explained that from his total sales to other farmers from whom he bought milk and with the operation of the quota as to surplus, the difference in his case would be more than $600. He said he has a bill to pay $405.06 to the state and that he can pay $282 as a dealer. Mr. Alcorn later asked the board to produce these figures, but Judge Jennings declined to issue an order to produce the books, until after board members have been on the stand.

Asked by Mr. Alcorn what is a surplus, Mr. Pierpont said, "There is not any such thing." He told how the milk which is called surplus is to some extent sold as fluid milk and other portions processed at a profit.

DOLLARS BEGGING IN MONEY MARKET

commercial credit as a bankers' acceptance for the almost ridiculous return of 1-4 of one per cent per annum. Dollars will take a job in prime commercial paper for as little as one per cent. But dollars are being cautious. Over the country at large, business men and merchants are still paying 5 and 6 per cent for bank credit dollars.

The fact is that credit dollars are still confused and timid. New banking and security laws have changed that channel. Business is much better than a year ago, but lenders complain that conditions are still in a state of flux, and it is difficult to find or to judge a good credit risk.

Bank Deposits Grow In the meantime, bank deposits are growing, and bankers complain that they cannot find profitable employment for their funds. Excess reserves of banks which are members of the Reserve System have risen to the record-breaking total of $1,350,000,000. These reserves are unemployed. They are earning the banks nothing.

Bankers are being scolded for timidity, but they argue that they cannot make the sort of loans that will meet with the disapproval of the National bank examiners. Reserve Banks Report Reserve member banks in 81 leading cities, according to the weekly statement out today, had total loans outstanding of $8,188,000,000, actually $142,000,000 less than at the time of the banking crisis a year ago. It is true that this is due to a decline of $284,000,000 in loans against securities, that other loans have been increased $122,000,000, but the net result is a decline in the total.

But during the year, the deposits in these banks have increased $2,273,000,000 to a total of $15,851,000,000. A large part of the banking assets are now lodged in U. S. Government securities that the total amounting to $6,278,000,000 up $1,851,000,000 from a year ago. Other securities are held in the aggregate of $2,975,000,000, of $12,000,000 from 12 months previously.

Use of bank funds in the financing of the construction and capital goods industries through mortgages and bonds remains at an extremely low ebb. Of course, the banking conventions of 1931-33 have taught bankers the old rule of correct banking, that funds subject to withdrawal on demand or short notice should not be tied up in long term investments, save those of the most readily marketable type. But with the offering of new issues to the public virtually at a standstill, banks are not even being called upon to make loans for short terms to finance the flotation of securities.

PLAN TO ELIMINATE GOAT FARM CURVE

State Highway Dept. Trying to Get Land to Cut Out Danger Section. The State Highway department is negotiating for the purchase of land adjacent to the so-called Goat Farm junction on the Rockville road, it was learned today. The department is trying to secure the land with the object in view of making changes in the highways at this point to eliminate the dangerous intersection where several fatal and other serious accidents have occurred since it was constructed two years ago.

Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald said today that the plans were not sufficiently developed at this stage to give the public a concrete idea of the changes contemplated at this point. An automobile stopped in front of the police station shortly before 1 o'clock this morning and two young men entered to report that they had a dead fox which they picked up on the road near Andover. The fox, they said, had probably been killed by an automobile. They wanted to turn it over to someone. The local police is not in the fur business and as red fox is not considered good eating, the police told the youths to keep their find.

to Mr. Egan's offices in this city. The general cleanup from the labor point of view has already started in the state. State Situation Workers in the Russell Manufacturing company in Middletown, after a general strike, returned to work yesterday with a ten per cent increase in wages on a 40 hour week and an increased minimum wage from $6 to $21. In the same city, ten per cent increases have been granted in two silk mills.

Strikes are threatened in New Britain by the B. & O. Railroad and Level Company, the Fair Bearing Company, Frany and Clark and other steel fabricating firms. In Hartford, labor troubles at the Underwood Typewriter Company have been settled but strikes are threatened at the Colt Firearms Company, the Whitney Chain Company and others where owners are reported to be forming company unions after employees have already been organized by the A.F.O.L.

Egan will visit Norwich, Baltic, New London and Willimantic tomorrow to survey the situation and will probably go to Hartford Thursday night or Friday. Organizing methods being used consist of enlisting employees into either the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, Federal union, the latter being the first approach to the vertical unionism urged by General Hugh S. Johnson, and embracing all the employees in one industry.

Other highlights of her busy career include the loss of $12,200 in jewelry to a holdup man, pressing of a suit for $17,000 against the estate of a wealthy business man, and questioning by police in connection with the disappearance of jewelry from a hotel room. During a bankruptcy hearing Mrs. Muench testified she had borrowed $10,000 from Edward W. In Hartford, labor troubles at the Underwood Typewriter Company have been settled but strikes are threatened at the Colt Firearms Company, the Whitney Chain Company and others where owners are reported to be forming company unions after employees have already been organized by the A.F.O.L.

Egan will visit Norwich, Baltic, New London and Willimantic tomorrow to survey the situation and will probably go to Hartford Thursday night or Friday. Organizing methods being used consist of enlisting employees into either the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, Federal union, the latter being the first approach to the vertical unionism urged by General Hugh S. Johnson, and embracing all the employees in one industry.

call, was released to John Rogers, Post-Dispatch reporter. Principals in the case assert no ransom was paid. Mrs. Muench, about 45 years old, is the daughter of a Baptist clergyman in an exhibit of prize show dogs, a talented pianist, and her musical evenings "at home" have been notable among her friends. Highlights of Her Career In 1928 her exclusive dress shop went bankrupt with a loss of $77,000 to creditors. Other highlights of her busy career include the loss of $12,200 in jewelry to a holdup man, pressing of a suit for $17,000 against the estate of a wealthy business man, and questioning by police in connection with the disappearance of jewelry from a hotel room. During a bankruptcy hearing Mrs. Muench testified she had borrowed $10,000 from Edward W. Forstiel, local attorney and Republican leader, and had paid interest at the rate of 46 per centum a year on the loan.

EMERGENCY CALLS

Dr. E. C. Higgins, 4648 and Dr. DeVerne Holmes, 7451, are the physicians who will respond to emergency calls tomorrow afternoon.

ABOUT TOWN

George Petruskas of 317 Tolland Turnpike, employee at the Rogers Paper Company cut his right thumb so seriously on a saw while at work this morning that amputation was necessary at the hospital this afternoon. CWA workers will receive their pay at the town garage, Harrison street at 11 o'clock Thursday. An automobile stopped in front of the police station shortly before 1 o'clock this morning and two young men entered to report that they had a dead fox which they picked up on the road near Andover. The fox, they said, had probably been killed by an automobile. They wanted to turn it over to someone. The local police is not in the fur business and as red fox is not considered good eating, the police told the youths to keep their find.

STRIKE WARNINGS ISSUED BY EGAN

to Mr. Egan's offices in this city. The general cleanup from the labor point of view has already started in the state. State Situation Workers in the Russell Manufacturing company in Middletown, after a general strike, returned to work yesterday with a ten per cent increase in wages on a 40 hour week and an increased minimum wage from $6 to $21. In the same city, ten per cent increases have been granted in two silk mills.

Strikes are threatened in New Britain by the B. & O. Railroad and Level Company, the Fair Bearing Company, Frany and Clark and other steel fabricating firms. In Hartford, labor troubles at the Underwood Typewriter Company have been settled but strikes are threatened at the Colt Firearms Company, the Whitney Chain Company and others where owners are reported to be forming company unions after employees have already been organized by the A.F.O.L.

New Ohio State Football Mentor Began As Esthetic Dance Teacher

By SHERMAN J. MANALLY
Arkansas City, Kan., March 15.—(AP)—Francis A. Schmidt is on route to the "big league" of football coaching—Ohio State's new grid boss—and that's a far cry from his first coaching job here.

FRANCIS SCHMIDT

Schmidt turned out two undefeated prep football teams and one girls' state champion basketball team.

SCORING HONORS AGAIN CAPTURED BY CAMPBELL

Member of Mason Team Tallies 65 Points in All; Sully Samonds Second, Faulkner Third; Phantoms Take Team Honors; Jewels Second.

Scoring honors were again captured by Raymond "Cop" Campbell, member of the Anasidi Mason team for the completed second round of the Rec Senior Basketball League.

For the second round Campbell scored a total of 65 points, while "Sully" Samonds of the Phantoms was his nearest rival with a total of 45.

Lead in Personal
Hedlund of the Herald team and Campbell, leading scorer of the League, have had the most number of fouls charged up against them with a total of 12 each.

The figures as compiled by Ben Cline of the Recreation Center are final for the Rec Senior League, which has just completed its schedule though there is a playoff between the Anasidi team, winners of the first half, and the winner of the Jaffe-Phantom game tonight.

REC GIRLS NOSE OUT STAFFORD, 20 TO 19

The Rec Girls had a close call last night when they nosed out the Stafford Springs Girls by the narrowest of margins, 20 to 19, after taking a 17 to 13 lead at halftime.

McCluskey Seeks State Two-Mile Title Tonight In Elm City Track Meet

New Haven, March 15.—A brilliant and colorful array of stars, many of them champions, will furnish thrills and attract a banner crowd to the New Haven Arena tonight when the Connecticut A. A. indoor track and field meet gets under way at 8:30.

A great deal of interest centers around the pole vault in which Keith Brown, of Yale, National and Interstate champion and former skyscraper, will attempt to better his record of 14 feet, 4 inches.

BASEBALL BRIEFS

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Red Sox
Saratoga, Fla.—Ever hear of Julius Selzer of Pittsburgh? Well, you are likely to before the baseball season is far gone.

Avalon, Cal.—George Tuck Stainback, young outfielder and Augie Galan, recruit infielder, will be in the Chicago Cub lineup when the exhibition season starts Thursday against Los Angeles.

West Palm Beach, Fla.—A school of instruction to teach pitchers to stand on the mound, how to throw quickly to first and second, and how to field bunts, Veterans and rookies alike are being put through the course.

Paso Robles, Calif.—All the Pittsburgh Pirates are in the spring training camp and going to the pace is going to get stiffer, warns manager George Gibson.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Jack Saltzgaver seems to be in luck. The New York Yankee recruit already is a candidate for third or second base, and now manager Joe McCarthy plans to give him a trial at first base, so he ought to get a job somewhere.

Fort Myers, Fla.—Bill Terry, manager of the world champion New York Giants, has swung the axe for the first time. He has sent Al Cucinello and Al Joyner, infielders, and pitchers Harlan McTendon and John Leonardo to Nashville for more seasoning.

Winter Haven, Fla.—A week ago Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Phillies said the "one spot" that worried him was second base; now he says his only concern is "to pick the right man."

Kentucky and Tennessee supplied the deficiency, the former in the person of Irvine Jeffries, the latter with Lou Chizeaux.

Fort Myers, Fla.—Pinky Higgins is due in the camp of the Philadelphia Athletics today to talk over his contract, and if he follows the example of Jimmy Fox, the last holdout of the A's will surrender.

Bloom, Miss.—Joe Cronin, young manager of the Washington Senators, who has been laboring with his battery men for more than a week, lets it be known he wants more hitting pitchers.

Wilmington, Del.—Rudy Dusek, Omaha, defeated Casey Colombo, Santa Monica, Calif., two falls to one, and that makes it easy for 'em to take their three swings and get away from the plate.

Bradenton, Fla.—Despite denials from club officials, sports persisted in the training camp of the St. Louis Cardinals today that the club was trying to trade or sell its three unsigned players—Outfielders Ernie Ott and George Watkins, and Pitcher Phil Rhem.

Follows Emulates David, Faces 3 Track Goliaths

New York, March 15.—(AP)—Foot race with those three in it and John W. (Bill) Follows gets out and runs foot races against other fellows for only one reason, because he likes it, and gets a thrill out of beating the other chap to the finish line in a close, truly run contest.

CONACHER, PRIMEAU LEAD IN SCORING

Montreal, March 15.—(AP)—Charley Conacher and Joe Primeau of Toronto and Frank Boucher of the New York Rangers hold their places at the top of the scoring table as the National Hockey League enters its final week.

Conacher has been credited with the scoring championship with 52 points but Primeau and Boucher still are locked in a close battle for the runner-up position.

Conacher's 32 goals lead in that department while Boucher and Primeau each has been credited with 29 assists.

JEWELS AND PHANTOMS IN PLAYOFFS TONIGHT

The Jewels and Phantoms will clash in the headline attraction at the School Street rink tonight at 8:45 o'clock in the playoff for first place in the second round of the Rec Senior League.

The opening tussle, the undefeated Rangers will seek their 16th straight triumph against the Sport Center Jr., of Hartford, in what should also be an exciting game.

Stoefen Is Out For Big Game in Net Campaign

New York, March 15.—(AP)—Lester R. Stoefen, lanky Los Angeles tennis star, is out for big game. No less than a place on the Davis Cup team and the national outdoor singles championship are the goals at which he aims.

"It may sound like shooting at the moon," Stoefen said today at the Seventh Regiment Armory where he is competing in the U. S. Indoor title, faced Berkeley Bell, who has yet to lose a game in this tournament.

The 23-year-old player, nationally ranked at No. 3 and holder, with George Lott, of the national doubles title, is one of America's rapidly rising stars. He possesses a tremendous service, a powerful forehand, and has an uncanny knack of slipping shots to the side.

TO HOLD SWEEPSTAKES AT CHARTER OAK LANES FOR BENEFIT OF GIRLS

A sweepstakes bowling tournament will be conducted at the Charter Oak lanes next week Friday in an effort to raise funds to finance the Charter Oak Girls team on a trip to the National tournament at Baltimore.

An entrance fee of fifty cents will be charged which will include the cost of rolling three games. Total pinfall will count and it is hoped that a large number of bowlers will enter as all money will be turned over to the Charter Oaks to help defray the expense of the proposed trip to Baltimore.

The Charter Oaks hold third place in the Girls State Duckpin League and four members of the team are included in the list of bowlers in the league who are averaging over 100.

EXPECTED TO GAIN FINALS AND CLASH FOR TITLE CHANCE

Jaffes Should Beat Rangers, Anasidis Topple Y in the Games Tomorrow Night; Guards Face Kevin Barry.

With virtually no record on which to base an accurate comparison of the four teams entered in the elimination tournament for the night's meet the National Guards in a town title basketball series, predicting the results of the Jewels-Rangers and Masons-YMCA tilts at the State Armory tomorrow night looms as a most difficult task.

All four of the challengers have played second rate competition more or less during the season and only in the last instance have the teams met the same opponent. As the elimination tournament is constructed; previous records can be tossed out the window and forgotten.

Guards-Kevin Barry
In the final attraction of tomorrow night's triple-header at the Armory drill shed, the Guards will oppose the Kevin Barry quintet of Hartford.

The Irish defeated the town champion in previous encounters, but the local team is strong enough to topple the Rangers and the Masons should be able to take the measure of the Y, paving the way for a meeting of the two Rec Senior League teams in the finals later in the evening.

The Rangers Best Coached
The Rangers enter the elimination tourney as the best coached team, an aggregation that stresses team play above individual performance and one that has compiled a record of fifteen straight victories this season.

The Jewels will have Thomas Faulkner, James Tierney, Milton Nelson, Sharrow Anderson, Fats Larson, James Gorman, John Tierney and Otto Seelert, a roster of veteran players, who captured runner-up honors in the first round of the Rec League playoffs.

Masons Too Strong
The Masons have the most impressive lineup in the tourney, its eligibility list being generously sprinkled with the names of the town's outstanding court performers.

The first game of the evening, between the Rangers and the Jewels, is slated for 8 o'clock. The second, between the Masons and the Y, will be played at 8:45 o'clock and the nightcap between the Guards and Kevin Barry will start about 9 o'clock, followed by dancing.

SENSE and NONSENSE

A woman isn't necessarily a good cook because she roasts her neighbors.

Man—And did he have the dentist take an X-ray of his wife's jaw?
Friend—He tried to, but all they could get was a moving picture.

"Daddy," complained little Junior one morning after having slept with his father, "There was an awful lot of static in your nose last night."

A University of Chicago professor, invited to address a club meeting at Marion, Indiana, chose as his subject, "Need of Education." The following morning the Marion Leader-Tribune headline reported: "Professor's Speech Shows Need of Education."

Woman—Before we were married you used to call me your angel.
Hubby—Yes, I remember.
Wife—Now you call me nothing.
Hubby—That shows my self-control.

It is an interesting fact that J. S. Jordan of Halifax Co., Virginia, and his father Notley Jordan, have lived under the administration of every president of the United States. Notley Jordan was born in Rockingham County, North Carolina, on Nov. 5, 1795, one year before President Washington retired. His son J. S. Jordan, who now lives in South Boston, Virginia, was born in Halifax County, Virginia, on Sept. 10, 1860 when his father was 65 years of age. The two generations have lived through all administrations of the United States.

Dumb Dora—I don't see how football players ever get clean.
Ditto—Silly, what do you suppose the scrub teams are for?

Race horses do not eat the day before the race, according to a magazine article. And often we do not eat for days after a race.

Supporter—Were you surprised when you received the nomination?
Candidate—I should say! My acceptance speech nearly fell out of my hand.

All fathers should remember that they were the same kind of idiots at 16. And look how well they turned out.

Viola—Why so sad, dear?
Joan—Oh, that idiot I was going to sue for breach of promise wants to marry me now.

'BRIEFS—All charity should begin at home, but not so much of it should end there. Most people wouldn't want their own way even if they could have it. The well-bred person is one who never boasts about it. The easiest thing in life to bear is the troubles of your neighbors. The greatest sermons are those which are seen, not heard. Every right-thinking man knows that one tomorrow is worth a dozen yesterdays. Next to a shower bath, the hardest thing to regulate is American industry. It is better to be dearly loved by a few than merely remembered by many.

Wouldn't this be a wonderful country if all of us could meet our bills the way Uncle Sam does?

Shoemaker—Here are the boots for your new polar expedition. Were you satisfied with the boots I made for your last trip?
Explorer—Quite. They were the best boots I ever ate on a polar expedition.

A girl will spend considerable time in her early years looking for a husband—but not nearly so much as she does trying to find him after they are married.

Youth—It's a funny thing, but every time I dance with you the dances seem very short.
Sweet Young Thing—They are. My "sweetie" is the leader of the orchestra.

Never admit that you are discouraged—even to yourself.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

A farmers' co-operative of Mo-Minville, Ore., will distribute gasoline to members.

All five varieties of sugar cane which in 1928 accounted for almost all cane syrup production now are regarded by the department of agriculture as inferior.

The state crop statistician of Idaho reported a decline of about six per cent in the number of cattle in the state.

Tokyo residents consumed 1,500,000 boxes of oranges in 10 days, a survey disclosed.

The 1934 tobacco crop in Cuba is expected to be the smallest in many years, due to adverse weather and financial conditions.

The leading state in the number of aircraft, licensed and unlicensed, is California, with 1,080.

In 1919, when the gas tax was first imposed, the revenue amounted to only $1,022,514.

The number of registered motor vehicles dropped from a peak total of 26,645,281 to 23,500,000 from 1921 to 1933 inclusive, nearly 12 per cent.

Ralph DePalma, though he raced 5,000 in 13 years at Indianapolis, won only one Memorial Day classic—that of 1915.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

A pat on the back often helps a girl to put on a good front.
