Woman Held As Thief Still Owes $25 Here

Mrs. Elisabeth L. Bennett, who was returned to Hartford from Louisville, Ky., yesterday to answer to the charge of stealing $96.55 from a Hartford restaurant on January 2, was a former resident of Manchester, and there is at least one business man in this town who would like to get back $25 that she borrowed before leaving here over 20 years ago.

The family came to Manchester from Germany and lived on Oak street. Mrs. Bennett had two brothers who were bakers. Both were employed in local bakeries until the family moved to Buckingham to live on a farm. The father and brothers went into the charcoal business and did business in Manchester. The family was known as Lough.

They continued to trade in Manchester and the girl appeared at a store where the family traded. She informed the owner of the store that she was going to be married. There were a few things she needed for the wedding, she said, but could not buy them as she had forgotten her purse. She asked for a loan of $25 to make the purchases and promised to return the money in a day or two. Over 20 years have passed and no payment on the loan ever was made.

90 DAYS IN JAIL FOR BUCKLAND LAD

Accused of Serious Offense With Sister, Edward Gillette Found Guilty.

With only members of the family, police court officials and policemen present, Edward Gillette, of Buckland street, was this morning charged with lascivious carriage by Prosecuting Attorney William J. Shea.

Gillette when arrested gave his age as 26 years but this morning said he was 22 years old. He entered a plea of guilty and was without counsel.

Judge Raymond A. Johnson said the evidence indicated the prisoner was the only one at fault and imposed a jail sentence of 90 days. There were costs of $40.07 involved and when asked what he would do to pay this cost, Gillette said he had no money, but after a conference with his grandfather, who is also under arrest for his connection with the girl and out on a bond, the grandfather paid the costs.

MRS. ROOSEVELT OFF ON HOMEWARD HOP

things. If Americans from the mainland would realize what a delightful trip this is, there would be many more tourists possibilities for pleasure here which I have not had the time to touch.

"I would love to ride over these mountains and to enjoy your wonderful combination of rugged hills and seashore."

President May Come Mrs. Roosevelt said yesterday she would have to leave Puerto Rico fishing to her husband when he comes down, adding that she was sure he would come to Puerto Rico if possible.

The island, is beginning a new bid for visitors from the mainland through CWA road building and the construction of a tropic recreation park on the highest mountain top by the CCC.

On her visit to Puerto Rico she stimulated local historic pride by appreciating visits to such outstanding spots as the massive Morro Castle, where troops now bunk above the old dungeon, and secret passages, and when the only gun on American soil was fired against the enemy in the World War. A gun was fired there at a German ship.

Mrs. Roosevelt left Washington on March 5 on a tour of the West Indian islands. Her purpose for the trip was to obtain first-hand information on health and economic conditions in Puerto Rico.

In the party were Rexford Guy Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture and several economic experts.

"The American Clipper," the huge seaplane which took them on their hops from island to island, left the first flight from Miami to Cuba on March 6. The plane stopped at Nuevitas, Cuba, for but 26 minutes, and took off again for Port-au-Prince, Haiti.

At this point they spent the night and took off the next morning for the Virgin Islands. Here she made a tour of both St. Thomas and St. Croix and inspected farm projects, building of a school, draining of swamps and repairing of schools.

The next evening found the President's wife at San Juan, Puerto Rico. She extended her inquiry into social conditions and went to Caguas where she visited a tobacco factory, chatted and ate lunch with the girls working there and later visited their homes.

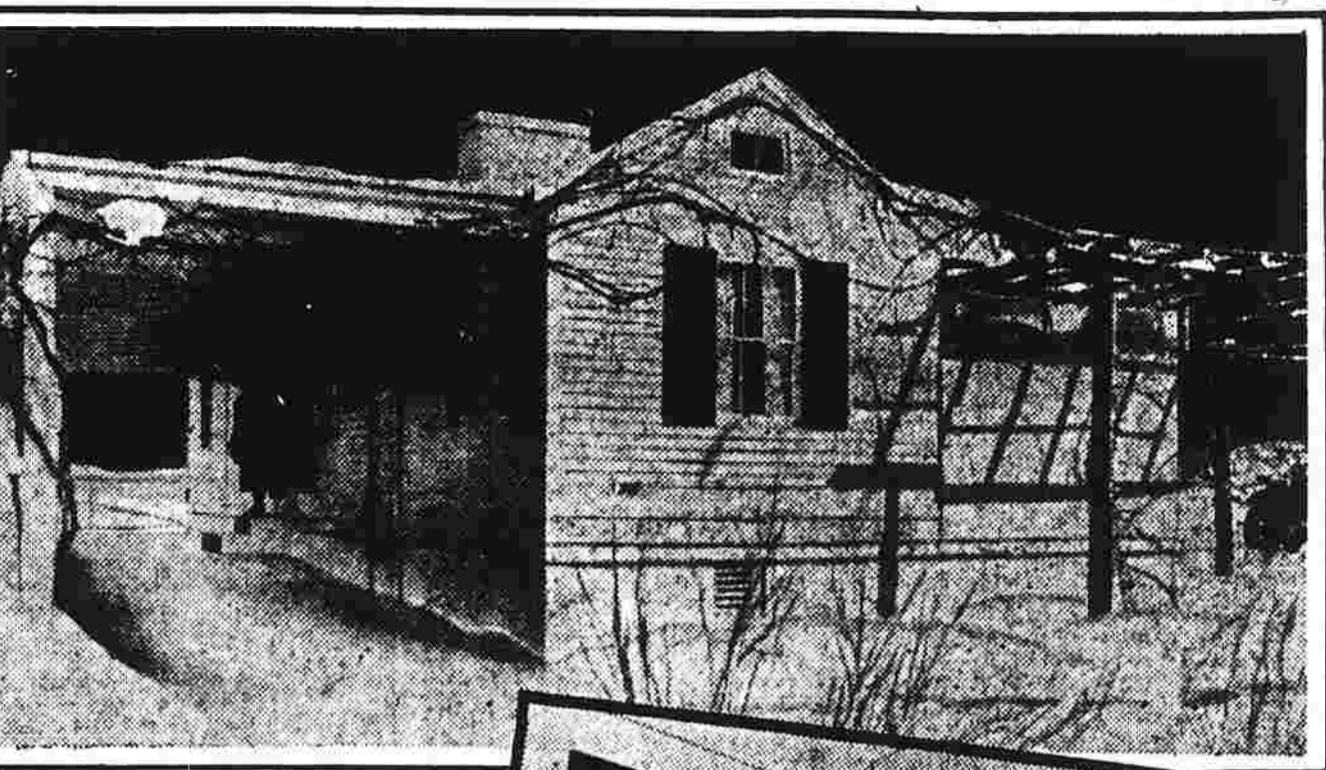

Wherever Mrs. Roosevelt went, she was enthusiastically greeted by the populace, despite her efforts to avoid attention.

Her party voted thumbs down on her plan to make a strenuous four-day horse-back ride into the mountains of Puerto Rico, and substituted instead a 300-mile automobile drive around the coastal plain.

One of the principal stopping places on her trip was at Arceibo where she visited the lace workers in the town. All were reunited for an "all-present-and-accounted-for" check aboard the H. M. S. Cumberland at Hong Kong.

Another British vessel, the H. M. S. Whitshed, arriving after a spurt from Hong Kong under forced draft, shot by through the night and was joined by two Admiralty tugs this morning.

First Home Finished in Mrs. Roosevelt's Colony

HOLDER OF MORTGAGE PROTECTS HIS RIGHTS

John Andero of South Windsor, Exercises Quick Wit Until Constable Arrives With Writ. John Andero of South Windsor, who holds a mortgage on the real and personal property of Kostanty Yakatis of 629 Tolland turnpike, whose house was burned to the ground last month, has a method of his own in assisting the law.

With the destruction of the property, chickens, live stock and tobacco, it is claimed, had been moved off the farm. This reached the ears of Andero who decided to tell his lawyer about it in order to try and secure his mortgage. After stating his case to W. S. Hyde and being assured that a writ of attachment would be issued, Mr. Andero drove back to Tolland turnpike yesterday morning in time to find a load of hay on a truck about to be driven from the farm.

He had to act quickly, so he removed the key from the automobile, making it impossible to start the car and waited on guard until Constable James Duffy, who had been called in to serve the writ, arrived at the farm. The hay was attached and ordered removed from the truck and remained on the property as an equity in the mortgage held against the place.

MAY NOT COMPLETE CWA JOB AT HIGHLAND PARK

Necessary to Increase Number of Workers to Finish Project in Time. The work which has been under way in Highland Park district, consisting of cutting away the bank on the Camp Meeting Woods road, near the site of the old almshouse, is not likely to be finished in time by CWA workers if the number of men on the project are cut down and the work brought to a close as now planned.

There was a high bank and a sharp curve at the intersection of the Camp Meeting Woods road and Carter street, and the men were started at work cutting down the bank and widening out the road. That hand labor might be used exclusively, wheel barrows were used in carrying the dirt from the west side of the road and dumping it into the hollow on the east side of the road.

There has been good progress made, but it will be necessary to increase the number of men at work to get the work completed before the CWA projects are brought to a close.

OLD "CONSTITUTION" TO GO TO BOSTON

Connery, all Massachusetts Democrats, was told that no definite decision could be made until it was determined whether there were facilities at the Boston Navy Yard for the reception and permanent docking of the vessel. At McCormack's insistence, a telephone call was made at once to Rear Admiral Hough, commandant of the Boston yard, who said there were no serious obstacles to the return there and permanent docking of the old warship.

A few years ago the Constitution was reconditioned through subscriptions by school children of the Nation under a campaign initiated by the pupils of the Boston schools.

Scott H. Simon was the guest of honor at a surprise dinner and reception held at the banquet hall of the Centennial Apartments last night when the employees of the Carlyle Johnson Machine company gathered to greet him.

Mr. Simon has just completed 30 years of service with the Carlyle Johnson Machine company. He came here from Columbus, Ohio in February, 1904, as a young boy to take over the management of the company, at that time located in Hartford, occupying a third floor space on the lower end of Asylum street.

The task assigned to the young man at that time was further complicated by a fire that prompted a decision to condemn the building and resulted, in 1909, in the company coming to Manchester. The Goetz Bread company's factory was purchased and the reorganization and building up of the concern started.

It was not known to the employees of the company until a few days ago that Mr. Simon has passed his milestone with the company. When it was learned there was little time lost in getting ready for an observance of the event. With Herbert L. Tenney acting as chairman of the arrangements, the party was staged last night. Mr. Tenney was the toastmaster.

Mr. Simon was taken entirely by surprise, but arose to the occasion and thanked the gathering for remembering him. He recalled many interesting incidents in the 30 years that he had been connected with the company.

Leonard Johnson was present with his motion picture projecting machine and showed pictures of wild life in Florida, and also a picture taken by Mr. Simon in New Hampshire of the sun's eclipse. Mr. Johnson had asked Mr. Simon for a loan of the picture, not telling him the purpose for which it was borrowed.

After the guests had assembled and as Mr. Simon was entering the room, there was read the following poem, written by one of the employees of the company: 'Twas the 17th of April in '75 And naturally no man is now alive, But let that suffice as a thing of And chronicle something of modern lore.

Years passed on o'er the span of time And the birth of another was no crime, As folks are wont to judge such things, Altho 'twas evident he didn't sprout wings.

Time went on at a rapid pace Till this man grew to take his place, Not at a bar as a regular tank, Opportunity knocks but once they say.

But this young man didn't see it that way, For him the future held nothing to fear, And banking was, therefore, only one career.

Another knock came as it sometimes will, Which sounded to him like a better bell, And he sided himself to the East to learn The intricacies of a manufacturing concern.

'Twas the 15th of February, nineteen four When puffed with pride he arrived at the door, In his eyes was a sparkle as bright as a diamond, Hold everything! he cried, here's SCOTT SIMON.

Each man looked with awe, then their places did take Deciding, each one, that here was no fake, At the ledger Scott sighed: then again at the till, And decided right there it was some chair to fill.

Long he labored with a will and might Till the outlook was better, the future more bright, Yet being cramped in the city was more'n he could bear, So the business was trundled to the country for air.

In Manchester conditions looked just about right, With the smell of a bakery he could wage a good fight, And labor he did as the years rolled by, Then crowned with success he heaved a great sigh.

Life now was a pleasure and all therein The beasts and the birds of nature were kin, Why even the stamps on the governments mail, Gave him such thrills as to leave him pale.

"How many times did Austin visit her?" asked Prosecutor Cowin. "I don't just remember," said Miss Frost. "Approximately?" persisted Cowin.

"Yes," Miss Frost replied. "A group of the faithful—about a dozen—again accompanied Bishop Grace to the courtroom as a guard of honor. Yesterday their uniforms were white; but today they were blue, gray and green."

LETTYNEY AUCTION ATTRACTS SCORES

Rapid Bidding Features Sale of Stock of Old Hardware Store.

Automobiles lined both sides of Main street from Hudson street to the top of Bakery Hill this morning for the opening of the auction sale of the hardware stock of E. A. Lettney, which went under the hammer.

The auction was in charge of R. M. Reid and Son and from the opening of the sale there was rapid bidding.

There was the usual gathering of professional buyers, but they were outbid by the individuals who came seeking bargains. The stock had been pretty well reduced. One item put up for sale was a railroad "belly" stove. It was wanted by several and in a short time was run up to a good price and knocked down.

Old-fashioned iron kettles so built that the lower part would set down inside of the stove lids near the fire had many bidders. Small hardware parts went as soon as offered and the crowd stayed around to see them all go. A washing board sold for 10 cents and that was the price for the few that remained.

Mr. Lettney is retiring from business and plans to take a much needed rest after the business interests in Manchester are closed out.

Under this opinion, the state liquor commission is compelled to issue druggists permits whose provisions are more liberal than those under which the package stores are required to sell liquor.

Earlier Pks Denied In asking for a special session, the association renewed the plea made some time ago by hotel, restaurant and tavern owners. The governor denied the earlier request on the ground "their objections to the liquor law did not constitute an emergency."

In its letter, the association directs the Governor's attention to a case now pending in the Supreme Court in which the state's highest tribunal will be called on to decide whether a non-permittee subject to a penalty under the liquor act for selling liquor without a permit.

Would Create Chaos "Your attention is respectfully directed," the letter said, "to the fact that if the Supreme Court sustains the contention of the defendant in this case, any person other than a permittee may sell intoxicating liquor in the state of Connecticut. This would, of course, create chaos which none of us desire to witness."

INDIAN NEW DEAL TO RESTORE LANDS

Exploited, Swindled Wards of Government May Win Lost Rights.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Herald Washington Correspondent

Washington.—The dirtiest, meanest chapter of American history soon may be written.

The American Indians—cheated, chiseled, robbed, starved, slaughtered, deceived and demoralized for many decades—suddenly find their best friends in positions of administrative power.

A program for racial rehabilitation now is before Congress. If adopted, the Indian of the reservations may get acquainted with the Indian of the streets.

But the numerous whites of this country, in their attitude toward the once quite noble red man, are divided into three groups:

1. The few who burn with indignation at the wrongs inflicted upon him and now demand an Indian New Deal.
2. The hundred million or more who recall the Indian vaguely as a romantic historical character, but know nothing of his present plight and don't care.
3. The few who have fattened on plundering the Indians and who want to keep right on doing that until they get the last Indian's last acre.

Fight for Rights

The first and third groups now are at grips in Capitol Hill, for and against the Wheeler-Howard bill, which would restore and conserve both lands and tribal government for Indians, train Indians in administration of their own affairs, and end the chaotic state of the Indian Bureau, which has left them a largely paperized, bewildered group unable to cope with the processes of white civilization.

The two forces are fighting to persuade the 300,000 "Indians" too poor to vote, the tribesmen, on the basis of long experience, distrust any proposal that comes out of Washington.

White men who lease their land, who seek their minerals, and other properties are telling them it's just one more step in their ruin.

The Indian cause in America for years has consisted principally of John Collier. And Collier has been made Commissioner of Indian Affairs. The bill is Collier's answer to the Indian problem. The Indians trust him more than any other white man.

Collier Great Crusader

Behind Collier are Secretary Ickes and Solicitor Nathan Margold of the Interior Department, two other veteran champions of the Sioux, the Pueblos, the Crow, the Arapahoes, the Blackfeet, the Cheyennes, the Navajos, the Cherokees, and all the rest.

Washington never knew a more vigorous, effective crusader than this small, spectacled, single-eyed Collier. He became the Indians' first real champion 11 years ago, when he led representatives of the 17 Pueblos of New Mexico to Washington and beat Secretary Albert B. Fall's Bureau bill, which would have confirmed squatters on Indian land and wiped out the Pueblo religious rites.

Exposing one scandal after another, he promoted and directed the Senate investigation which drove a commissioner and an assistant commissioner from office.

Robbed of Land

When Collier took office, the Indian Bureau record showed a shrinkage in Indian lands since 1887 of from 113,000,000 to 47,000,000 acres—shrinkage representing the best lands; tribal funds dissipated from $500,000,000 in that year to $12,000,000, and 93 per cent of tribal income being used for bureau maintenance.

Politicians were in complete control; there were huge wastes in federal expenses—chiefly on boarding schools, which removed children from their parents; wholesale graft and exploitation and a continuous disintegrating process under the allotment system which had left 100,000 homeless Indians just squatting around wherever anyone would let them stay.

Collier, in office, prohibited sale of Indian lands. He ordered reservation and agency superintendents to respect Indian religious and social customs.

He staffed the bureau here with able, sympathetic men and began weeding out crooks and incompetents in the field. He undertook to revive Indian tribal councils and give Indians a voice in their affairs.

"Asylum" Is Abolished

He began to put the boarding schools out of business and obtained $3,800,000 of PWA money to build Indian day schools. He abolished the scandalous asylum for insane Indians at Canton, S. D., where many patients weren't insane at all.

He organized emergency conservation work for Indians, especially trying to develop Indian leaders.

But he regards the bill as vital. Without it, he believes, the Indians will continue on the path of pauperization to miserable extinction as a race. The measure consolidates Indian-owned land into tribal or community ownership while retaining individual use thereof and inheritance rights, but prohibits sale thereof.

It provides for buying new land, so that eventually all desirous Indians will have some land for their own use, rather than for leasing. It permits Indians to organize into self-governing communities under federal supervision, with extension of responsibility as Indians show capacity for self-rule. It would treat and encourage Indians for the Indian service.

It would make administrative savings sufficient to cover the costs of new land. It would create a Court of Indian Affairs which would reduce the present absolute power of the Indian Bureau.

Mixed With Whites
You mustn't imagine an Indian reservation as a block of territory on which only Indians dwell. White men bought Manhattan Island for $24 and the present allotment law has permitted them to buy up reservation land in the same manner.

Thus, your reservation shows a checkerboard of white-owned and Indian-owned land which indicates the difficulty of ever solidifying the Indians again.

It was easy for white land-grabbers to propagandize among Indians against the Collier bill. They spread word that Indian land-owners were to have their land taken and distributed among landless Indians.

They said the program was "communistic and socialistic," since it permitted Indians to organize for their own protection and development.

Makes Spectacular Move
Collier quickly answered that propaganda by calling a spectacular and unprecedented series of congresses of Indians, at which the red men would be told about the bill and allowed to give their own opinions on it. He said he would abide by their decision.

He left for the west—and last reports were that the great majority of Indians favored the principles of his bill.

Unofficial supporters of the measure are headed by the American Indian Defense Association, under Allen G. Harper. Collier, founded the A. I. D. A. and its executive secretary carried on his unrelenting warfare against the tactics and policies of the bureau which he now commands.

Congress may prove apathetic at this session. But Collier, a white man, will keep right on fighting for the restoration of that self-respecting, governing Indian civilization which other white men have taken away.

Police Subdue Pickets as Case Plant Strikers Block Entrance to Offices.

Racine, Wis., March 15.—(AP)—Tear gas and clubs were used by Racine police today to subdue a crowd of 400 pickets attempting to prevent office employees from entering the main building of the J. I. Case company plant where a strike of more than 1,500 workers has been in progress for several weeks.

Ernest Siewert, 61, a pattern worker at the plant, was taken to a hospital for treatment for lacerations received when clubbed by an officer. Siewert was one of six men taken into custody.

When the pickets began blocking the entrance to office workers all available police, including the night detail, were called to the scene. After they had been dispersed, the pickets marched to the city hall where they planned a demonstration.

FRANCE TO CUT VETS' PENSIONS

Premier Doumergue Figures Government Will Save $65,000,000 Annually.

Paris, March 15.—(AP)—Taking a leaf from the book of President Roosevelt, Premier Gaston Doumergue today planned to cut veterans' pensions and make administrative changes estimated to save the government 1,000,000,000 francs (approximately $65,000,000) annually.

In case the veterans' groups object, Doumergue, with the aid of Marshal Henri Petain, Minister of War, plans to appeal to the leaders to swing them in line.

Under a bill the pension age will be increased five years and pensions generally will be cut 10 per cent. Veterans less than 10 per cent disabled will get no pension, while re-married widows will also lose their pensions.

The government takes the position all classes of French citizens have been cut and the veterans also must accept one.

Every Light Has Its Use Here

At first glance, the front of this car may look like a young collegian's idea of class and show. But every light had its particular use, recently when the car participated in the Monte Carlo Rally in France. Even the little light extending from the bumper kept the driver out of ditches. C. J. Joyce, British racing driver, is shown inspecting the arrangements, in London.

Administration Still Ponders Ways Of Giving Men Work

Other day-to-day developments published, do show a sharp gain in men getting their share of work. The expanding public works program, now getting its stride after months consumed in allocation of projects and letting of contracts, is counted on to take care of another 1,000,000 once on CWA rolls.

When they arrived on the scene a year ago, the Roosevelt economists put first emphasis on farm relief. They saw an increased farm purchasing power as the key to recovery. They still are strong for that, but a combination of circumstances has shifted the real center of gravity elsewhere.

When winter closed in, it was seen that after all the average farmer was managing to get along somehow. He might not have money, but he had food and shelter. The unemployed, by millions, had neither; and most of the state and local relief agencies were broke.

Purchasing Power a Problem Economic theory at Washington yielded to what many recognized as hard necessity, hence the CWA. Now the problem is to get rid of CWA, which was using money at a rate causing much anxious thought at the treasury and elsewhere. In name, this agency soon is to pass; but its abolition does not abolish the problem it was created to meet.

At the peak, a few more than 4,000,000 were on the CWA payroll. The increased purchasing power thus provided is credited with having started business on the upgrade again. The administration is particularly concerned about keeping that purchasing power in existence. That requires 4,000,000 new jobs elsewhere.

Gains In February Roughly, the administration calculations figure out something like this: It is hoped the current economic upturn, plus the normal seasonal spring stimulus, will mean enough natural expansion to take care of 1,000,000 new employees. (Preliminary government figures, as yet un-

LATEST STOCKS

New York, March 15.—(AP)—Stocks had few friends today and prices generally sagged in trading that was even duller than that of the previous session.

The non-ferrous metal issues was an unsettling element following word that the administration was not disposed to do anything more for silver at this time. Other Washington developments continued to hold the attention of the speculative fraternity.

Most commodities were hesitant and silver futures dropped nearly 2 cents an ounce. Grains and cotton eased, but rubber again registered improvement. Bonds were not quite so enthusiastic as in previous sessions.

Shares of U. S. Smelting lost about 7 points and American Smelting and Cerro de Pasco were down 1 to 2. Union Pacific and Santa Fe yielded a point each and losers of fractions to around a point included U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, General Motors, Chrysler, N. Y. Central, Montgomery Ward, Schenley and Loew's, Fox Film, Liggett and Myers B were slightly higher. The alcohol showed some resistance.

The automobile labor hearings at the capital were not entirely reassuring to the district and a few commentators ventured to predict the outcome.

The statement of President Green of the A. F. L., that the country was "facing one of the greatest strikes in the history of the automobile business" because of the "disregard of employers of the NRA and collective bargaining" did not tend to revive brokerage house sentiment.

That the higher wages-shorter hours campaign was taking hold was indicated by the announcement of Executive Vice-President Knudsen of General Motors that the company would reduce working time from 40 to 38 hours and raise pay correspondingly.

Much interest was expressed in the statement of Secretary Morgan, that "so long as conditions are improving" he could see no reason for taking further action on silver. He was further quoted as saying "I still have to be shown that silver alone is a cure-all. If something went radically wrong, he added, "and we went into a nose dive, we could get busy; but as long as things get better each week we are going to sit tight."

Advised to the effect that work on whipping the Stock Exchange control bill into shape was progressing, and that the President had reiterated his desire to have the measure passed this session, apparently were a secondary market influence.

FERRYBOAT SINKS

Bridgeport, March 15.—(AP)—The ferryboat "Chester" of Stamford, in some undetermined manner, listed on its starboard side during the night while tied up at the docks of the Bridgeport Boiler Company on the Pequonnock river, while in for repairs. The superstructure of the craft remained above the surface of the water today as its owners rushed lighters and other craft to the scene in an effort to raise it. Damage has been estimated at about $2,000. Officials of the boiler works, who said several men had worked on the boat yesterday afternoon, were at a loss to explain the ship's mishap.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Spokane, Wash.—The arrest of Fred Scott, 60, revealed that barkeepers who accept watches as pledges for the drinks must report to police. To fail to do so contravenes the pawn shop statute.

Chicago—It would be entirely incorrect to assume that when Policeman Jacob Cramer allegedly hit, choked and kicked his wife, Edna, snapped a pair of handcuffs on her and then locked her in a cell, that he was angry.

West Hartford, Conn.—At least 30 days must elapse before Leo J. Flaherty, 28, of Woonsocket, R. I., can enjoy the fruits of his strenuous campaign.

Chicago—When they called the inquest into the death of Charles (Ice-wagon) Connors, slain Touny gangster, Deputy Coroner Jacob Schewel said: "I don't care who killed Connors. This inquest is going to be opened and closed today. I will not be a party to spending six more dollars of the taxpayers' money."

Chicago—Hearing a noon day whistle, Potphar, a junkman's horse, took himself to the banks of the Chicago river and waded up with the wagon following.

EIGHT RACING HORSES ARE BURNED TO DEATH

New York, March 15.—(AP)—Defective wiring was believed today to have caused a fire at a Belmont Park stable from which only Kerry Patch, winner of the Belmont Futurity in 1932, and an obscure filly were rescued.

Firemen believed a wire in Kerry Patch's stall had come in contact with another live wire and had ignited some hay or straw.

A large crowd was attracted by the blaze which quickly consumed the stable. Jack McCormick, Rosenberg's trainer, who had been sleeping in a stall next to that of Kerry Patch, led the filly winner to safety, despite the animal's frantic efforts to return to the burning building.

The flames gained such headway that he could only rescue one more horse.

Kerry Patch was the only horse in the stable which had raced. An outsider, he outran Ladyman, odds-on favorite, to win a $35,000 purse in the Belmont Futurity.

BIGGER PAYROLLS IN NEW ENGLAND

Increased Employment and Higher Prices Also Among Effects of NRA.

Hartford, Conn., March 15.—Increased employment, bigger payrolls, higher costs, higher prices and lower profit margins are some of the effects of the NRA upon the smaller industries of New England, according to the first factual survey in this field, just completed by the New England Council and which will be reported at the organization's thirty-fourth quarterly meeting here tomorrow. This was revealed here when the major findings of the report were made public. The report will be interpreted at tomorrow's session of the Council by Robert S. Holding, Jr., treasurer of J. C. Hall Company, of Providence.

Despite these facts, by far the great majority of the more than 400 small manufacturers reporting to the Council, are optimistic of the business future, looking for improved business in the next few months. The majority of small industries reporting in this Council survey showed higher dollar and also higher unit sales, as well as average price increases of 5 per cent. Production costs were reported as averaging a 20 per cent increase. More than half the manufacturers reported decreased profit margins, ranging up to 19 per cent decrease. A few manufacturers have sought to offset these increased costs by improving methods of operation, by modernizing plant and equipment, and by reduction of overhead.

Twenty-eight per cent of the manufacturers reported that their codes had helped them, 28 per cent that their codes had no effect on their operations, and 43 per cent believed that their codes had hurt them. The number of employees had increased in 53 per cent of the plants and total payroll had risen in 69 per cent.

INCOME TAX RETURNS MUST BE IN TONIGHT

Delinquents Will Find Criminal or Civil Proceedings Instituted Against Them.

Washington, March 15.—(AP)—Midnight rings the curfew for 1933 income tax returns.

Officials indicate that if tax returns get in the mail today, the government won't be too harsh about that 25 per cent fine for late comers, but a much longer delay will require explanation.

This year last minute taxpayers make affidavits on their income with full knowledge of President Roosevelt's new policy that where glaring inaccuracies appear, the government will leave to a grand jury decision the question of whether criminal or civil proceedings against the taxpayer are in order.

Between 200 and 300 old cases now are being prepared for grand jury investigations. The rule applies to the big taxpayers and the small, and officials expect it to continue unchanged for 1933 returns.

Whether because of these cases or otherwise, Secretary Morgenthau finds March income tax collections for the first 12 days of March totaling $33,073,000 as compared with $10,377,000 a year ago.

SCIENTIST IS HONORED.

Brussels, March 15.—(AP)—Professor Georges Henri Lemaitre, famous for his theory of the "expansion of the universe," was awarded today the Francqui prize of 500,000 francs (about $32,500) for research work in astrophysics.

The award fund was founded in 1932 by Emile Francqui, governor of the Societe Generale de Belgique, Belgium's leading bank.

Abbe Lemaitre, world famed for his theories about the origin and structure of the universe, went to the United States on leave from the University of Louvain last year to give a course in the theory of relativity at the Catholic University of America in Washington.

150 KILLED BY BLAST

San Salvador, El Salvador, March 15.—(AP)—Much of the city of La Libertad is a mass of smoking ruins today—levelled by fire which spread after a port explosion in which about 150 persons were killed.

The blast, which could be heard here in the capital about 30 miles away, occurred when dynamite exploded as it was being unloaded from a ship at the docks.

Fire broke out. Flames spread quickly to buildings and swept over many blocks. The city hall and a church were among the important buildings consumed.

UNUSUAL ROOSTER

Madison, March 15.—(AP)—Peter C. M. Christensen, justice of the peace and one of the largest chicken raisers in Connecticut has a three weeks old rooster that grows.

As a rule, chicken raisers say, roosters don't grow. Christensen's bird was hatched in a batch of 1100 chicks and yesterday flapped its fledging wings and uttered raucous sounds.

AMHERST PRESIDENT WILBRAHAM GUEST

Something New Is on Foot

Perhaps Missy soon will be wearing something like this on the boulevards—and then again, perhaps not. This somewhat radical design in feminine footwear is a recent creation of Andre Perugia, director of Padova, Paris, and a famous artist-designer, who displayed the model on his arrival in New York.

FISHING SEASON MAY BE DELAYED

100 Trout for Each of 50,000 Anglers in State Planted.

Hartford, March 15.—Connecticut's 50,000 or more fishermen may find some of the state-leased trout streams temporarily closed to fishing when the season opens one month from today, according to a bulletin of the State Board of Fisheries and Game. Impassable country roads and torrential snowfalls caused by the record-breaking snowfall have so delayed inauguration of spring stocking operations, usually under way by March 1, that the board believes it will be impossible to properly stock all leased streams by April 15.

Over 200,000 adult trout, including 15,000 weighing over a pound apiece, have been reared for planting this spring. The unprecedented delay in transporting them to the streams is creating serious congestion at the state hatcheries. The annual supply of some 500,000 fingerling trout, hatched last fall, have now reached the size when it becomes necessary to remove the youngsters from their small hatchery tanks to the more spacious rearing pools.

With all available rearing pools crowded to carrying capacity with the adult trout, and all of the fish rapidly increasing in size, emergency measures to prevent losses from over-crowding are being considered, according to Superintendent Arthur L. Clark. Two new rearing pools at the Burlington hatchery and three at Kensington, constructed as CWA projects, will be rushed to completion and flooded to relieve the situation if stocking operations are further delayed.

No authority is vested in the board to change the fishing season on streams other than the 32 under lease. A bill which would grant the board discretionary power to change seasons in emergencies failed of passage in the last General Assembly.

Eben W. Cobb, chief of the division of fish restoration, in a report of stocking operations for 1933 just compiled, shows that 214,637 adult and 311,490 fingerling brook, brown and rainbow trout were planted. The total planted was 526,127, or equivalent to 100 trout for each of the estimated 50,000 anglers.

KIDNAP VICTIM SLAIN AFTER RANSOM REFUSED

New York, March 15.—(AP)—Kidnapers of Max Kasoff called members of his family last week demanding $500 ransom "or we'll send him home in pieces—an ear first."

Altogether there were four phone calls. The last one Sunday night said:

"Do you notified the police, eh, we fix." Today members of the family went to Rockville Center, Long Island, to identify Max Kasoff's body. He had been blindfolded, shot twice in the head, and once through the neck, and there was a deep head cut where he had been struck, as with a length of pipe.

Roosevelt Long-View Plan Puzzles Capital Observers

The long-term purpose of the Roosevelt program is becoming more and more a subject of debate in Washington. Where is it all leading? What is the central idea behind it? Toward what final order of things is Mr. Roosevelt working?

Six months ago nobody seemed to be thinking much about such things. The emphasis was on the emergency character of the administration policies. Now there is more talk, more speculation, more questioning about the ultimate goal.

The wide-spread uncertainty about this is well illustrated by a variety of conclusions reached by recently-published reviews of the first year of Mr. Roosevelt's presidency.

Economists, publicists and officials, most of them well-informed, were able to draw all sorts of inferences as to the direction we are traveling.

Some said we were headed for socialism. Some said communism, some fascism. The President, himself, recently said the underlying theme was to reestablish democracy, but he supplied none of the details.

One Washington correspondent was asked by his managing editor to draw a pen picture of what life will be like five or ten years hence if the Roosevelt plan is carried to completion. He replied that no one was wise enough to answer that question.

Works Like Quarterback. It may be that the President has it all thought out, and is working toward the specifications of a definite plan, but most of his own utterances do not indicate it.

He has likened himself to a football quarterback, unable to decide what the next play will be until he has seen the results of the last.

He sent his farm relief proposal to Congress accompanied by a frank statement that it was an expert opinion, and would be abandoned if it didn't work. His critics have pointed out numerous instances where they felt administration policy was traveling one way with respect to one situation, the opposite way with respect to another.

The Tennessee valley project is an ambitious venture in public ownership; administration support for a ship subsidy tends toward development of private industry. The NRA is criticized on one hand as establishing autocratic control over business; and on the other as encouraging unlimited private monopoly by its suspension of the antitrust laws.

Almost anyone you ask will point out what he thinks is a central thread of consistency running through administration policy, but no two seem to agree what sort of central thread it is, or where the end of it is to be found.

The Master Plan. An official who probably is as close to the President as anyone, who has seen him dealing on a large scale with the most difficult and complicated economic problems, was asked what the master plan of it all was.

He replied that as nearly as he could envision it, the ultimate purpose was to accomplish some sort of redistribution of wealth.

But there are many degrees of redistribution. Some who speak of that mean merely less favoritism for the wealthy, more opportunity for the little fellow. Others mean by the term a forcible dividing up of property.

Every indication is that the current speculation will continue for a long time to come. How far the President is prepared to go, and by what exact route, he is not yet ready to say. So everybody is entitled to his own guess.

One-third of the earth's 1,732,000,000 people are Christians.

EDITOR REFUSES TO SETTLE FINE

Case of Vance Armentrout of Louisville, Ky., Going Into Courts.

Frankfort, Ky., March 15.—(AP)—The case of Vance Armentrout, Louisville editor fined $25 and costs on a charge of contempt of the Kentucky House of Representatives, appeared headed for the courts today after Armentrout said "I have no intention of settling the $25 fine and costs."

Expressing confidence the courts would give him "vindication," the editor said the action of the House yesterday in voting 65 to 20 to fine him was a "face-saving maneuver." Costs in the case would amount to approximately $20. If he fails to pay the attorney-general will have to file suit to force collection.

Armentrout, acting editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, spent an hour in jail when he refused to tell a House investigating committee the name of the writer of a letter published in his newspaper. He was released on a writ of habeas corpus, and a special committee which heard evidence in the case recommended to the House the $25 fine.

After voting to fine the editor, the House conducted a poll of its membership to determine who wrote the letter, since it was published as being written by a member of the House. The 97 members present answered "no" when their names were called.

Under the poll, which was not taken under oath, Representatives Rodes K. Myers said he was "sure" the three absentees would reply they had not written the letter, and remarked "some citizen of the state has either forged the name of a Representative to the letter or the Courier-Journal has perpetrated a fraud."

You can't fool your stomach

So cook with CRISCO... the wholesome fat that digests quickly!

For goodness sake, go away if you must make so much noise!

Aw, she's nice but she's got one of her stomach spells!

Gees, but your mother's cross!

Look here—the paper says to use Crisco because it digests quickly. I wonder if Crisco would help me!

Why don't you try it? It's a pure wholesome fat.

Come in, boys. How'd you like to try some Crisco cookies—they're good for you!

Didn't I tell you that she's as nice as your mother? She's this way all the time now!

Don't mistreat your digestion. Treat it kindly with luscious flaky Crisco pies and cookies and crispy Crisco-fried foods. Your stomach doesn't have to work overtime on foods cooked with Crisco. Crisco is the light, creamy wholesome fat that digests quickly.

So make all your favorite pies and cookies now with Crisco! They'll come out of the oven so flaky and golden—not greasy and slow to digest! And fry with Crisco. No fear of fat-soaked foods if you fry properly with Crisco—heat your Crisco so hot that foods are instantly sealed in a crispy brown. They'll actually look "dry-fried."

By Crisco's own secret process sweet pure oils are changed into a fluffy creamy quick-digesting shortening. And Crisco stays that way without ice-box help.

Sold in sealed cans—to protect your health.

CHOCOLATE PINWHEELS

6 tablespoons Crisco
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg yolk
4 tablespoons milk
1 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 square chocolate
1 teaspoon vanilla

Blend Crisco with sugar and egg yolk. Add the milk, then the sifted dry ingredients and the vanilla. Divide the mixture in half and to one-half of it add this sheet and then roll the chocolate mixture into a sheet of the same size. Place the chocolate dough over the white and roll up like a jelly roll about 1 1/2 to 2 inches in diameter. Chill in refrigerator on a cookie sheet rubbed with Crisco. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375°F.) for about 15 minutes. Very flaky ground nutmeats may be sprinkled over in place. Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

Crisco is the registered trade-mark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Co.

VALUE STATISTICS ON PUBLIC HEALTH

State Bureau Maintains "Bookkeeping" in War on Contagious Diseases.

State health vital statistics are invaluable in controlling the spread of disease, for with proper knowledge of each disease, the persons exposed, the location of cases and other equally important data, a threatened epidemic may be speedily brought under control. It was pointed out by William C. Welling, director of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health, in the department's weekly broadcast today.

So important is state health "bookkeeping," Mr. Welling said, that if a person infected with or even exposed to any disease which endangers public health goes to another state, that state is immediately notified of the potential danger.

He explained that health "bookkeeping" was not done on a basis of percentage as in the case of business, but with larger units than 100; namely, groups of 1,000 people and groups of 100,000 people. Birth, marriage, death and infant mortality rates are figured as so many per 1,000 people or in the case of the last named, per 1,000 living births. The death or incidence rates for various diseases, the rates for accidental deaths and suicides and the like are kept on a basis of so many per 100,000, because the decimal fractions obtained enable more convenient comparisons.

POLICE HEADQUARTERS TARGET FOR BULLETS

Syracuse, N. Y., March 15—(AP)—A sawed-off shotgun was turned upon police headquarters early today by "persons unknown." Police said one shot was fired. It shattered a window in the signal room, sending glass tinkling at the feet of a patrolman. No one was injured. Ten minutes earlier, every police radio car in the city had been sent on a hunt for two men in an automobile who had threatened to blast their way into the residence of two young women with a sawed-off shotgun.

FEDERAL APPOINTMENTS

Bridgeport, March 15—(AP)—Archibald McNeil, Democratic National committeeman, has been notified by William Stanley, assistant attorney general, that on his recommendation, the following have received appointment to the Alcohol Beverage unit, division of investigation, of the department of justice, with Connecticut assignments: Edward C. Hobcroft of Windsor, Joseph Marzich of Stamford, Pietro Diana of New Haven, Algot Knutsen of New Haven, and Thomas D. Dickley of New Haven.

CHILDREN CAUTIONED AGAINST EXPLOSIVES

Blasting Caps Found About Farm Buildings Dangerous in Hands of Inexperienced Persons.

Storrs, March 15—Hundreds of boys and girls, 85 per cent of whom are from rural districts, are injured each year as a result of playing with blasting caps, according to warnings issued by the Institute of Makers of Explosives. Most of the accidents occur during the late spring and summer months, and the institute asks the cooperation of all educational organizations to help protect the children from this danger.

It is urged that the blasting caps be stored where children can not find them and that children be taught that these caps are not toys. Blasting caps are sometimes found in barns, under porches, on cupboards shelves, in and around stumps and boulders on the farm and near quarry, road building and other construction work.

They are exploded accidentally or intentionally. Sometimes a cap will go off when carried in a pocket and bumped. Children throw caps on bonfires, strike them with a hammer or rock, hold lighted matches under them, attempt to pick out the fulminate of mercury with a pin, nail or some instrument. Strapping caps with the feet, or throwing them against the wall with a slingshot are among the many ways caps are detonated.

A blasting cap is described as a small copper cylinder closed at one end, and loaded with a charge of very sensitive and violent explosive. Electric blasting caps have wires attached.

"We count on you, with your important contacts with groups, to caution adults and children about the dangers of blasting caps in the hands of inexperienced persons," the institute warning stated.

STRIKING CWA WORKERS RETURN TO THEIR JOBS

Utica, N. Y., March 15—(AP)—Six hundred striking CWA workers went back to their pickaxes and shovels today, partially victorious in their three-day layoff in protest to wage and work reductions.

The men will receive 50 cents an hour instead of the 40 cent rate which caused the strike, but will work only 24 hours a week. Formerly they were employed 30 hours weekly.

Decision to pay the men the same as in the past was announced last night by Roy C. Vandenberg, chairman, after a meeting of the CWA committee. He had been informed by Frederick I. Daniels of New York, state CWA director, that establishment of the local wage rate was entirely up to the committee.

Mr. Vandenberg said he had been told by Mr. Daniels over the telephone that the state administration was in favor of continuing the 50 cent rate until the end of CWA operations, March 31.

The strike was marked only by quiet parades through the city, no demonstrations taking place except meetings in Chancellor Park opposite CWA headquarters.

TRY IT AGAIN!

 And knocked him down on the rear of his lap,
 Whose only remark is "Gee whiz, what a slap!

 Though Failure has bounded him like Old Nick,
 Who shouts in his glee, "Now I'm on to the trick,
 And I'm in there to fight where the scrapping is thick.
 Let's try it again!"
