TRIAL DATE IS SET FOR PACKAGE SUIT

Constitutional Court to Con- vene in Hartford on Mar. 29; Three Federal Judges to Rule on Case.

Hartford, March 21.—(AP)—Called to pass on the constitutionality of the Connecticut State Liquor Control Act in its alleged discrimination between drug stores and package stores, a Federal Constitutional Court will be convened in Hartford Thursday morning, March 29, at 10:30 o'clock, according to word received here this morning from Judge Martin T. Manton of New York, chief justice of the Second Circuit of the Federal Court of Appeals.

Judge Edwin S. Thomas and Judge Carroll C. Hinkle of the Federal District Court, will sit with Judge Manton, who will preside, he notified Judge Thomas.

Reason For Action

The procedure arises out of the action brought last week by Attorney Thomas J. Spellacy, as counsel for the Connecticut Package Store association, as a result of the State Supreme Court decision allowing pharmacists in the state to sell liquor on a more liberal basis than that permitted to package stores under the State Control Act.

An injunction against state officials, restraining them from interfering with package stores until the constitutionality of the control law had been tested, was issued by Judge Thomas, who then notified Judge Manton of the need for a constitutional court.

Although the attorney general's office would make no statement on its attitude, it is believed likely that it will agree with Mr. Spellacy to have an hearing before the court, in which both the matter of the injunction and the constitutionality of the state law can be settled. The way will then be open for one side or the other to appeal the case to the Federal Supreme Court.

SEVEN PERSONS DIE IN TENEMENT FIRE

Trapped on Upper Floors of "Old Law" House; Suspi- cious Stranger Questioned

New York, March 21.—(AP)—Seven persons perished today in a tenement house fire on the upper east side, bringing to 45 the number of deaths from similar fires in the last six weeks.

The fire swept through the three upper floors of an "old law" tenement at 1909 Second avenue and trapped a mother and her daughter, a father and his son and three others in the building.

As firemen were taking the first two bodies of the victims from the building, Fire Marshal Thomas P. Brophy noticed a thin, short man, hatless and without an overcoat, following them.

Believe Man Inmate

Brophy questioned the man who first said his name was "John Smith," but later acknowledged he was Raymond Montano, 27, unemployed, and has a wife and two children. Taken to a police station for questioning, he said he was nine blocks away when the fire started. Brophy said the man could not have seen the fire if he had been where he said he was, and the fire marshal ordered him sent to Bellevue hospital for observation in the psychiatric ward pending the outcome of an investigation.

Money Invention

Brophy said the man told him he had an "invention" for curing insanity.

The identified dead were Mrs. Rose Erola, wife of Salvatore Erola, a CWA worker, and their six-year-old son.

BOARD IN LONG SESSION OVER WATER WORKS

Keeney Street Rate Adjust- ment and Other Details Take Up Time — Renew Voting Machine Lease.

Problems which have arisen as a result of the purchase of the Cheney water and sewer companies occupied the Selectmen for several hours last night. Action was taken to reduce the water rates of users living on Keeney street which have been paying a rate three times in excess of other community customers.

A conference between Chairman Aaron Cook, Superintendent Fred Parker and Frank Cheney, Jr., held some time ago, approved the reduction of the prevailing domestic rate to one and one-half times the regular rate. In the meeting last night the Selectmen voted the one and one-half rate to take effect September 1.

Allege Rate Excessive

Several users in that section of town have already taken the town water out when they realized that they were paying from $46 to $52 a year or $17 or $18 a quarter. The service on Keeney street extends a short distance south of the City View dance hall. Several of the farms and homes in this section have driven wells which were to be used if the town had failed to give relief from the alleged excessive rate charged.

The question of setting the hours of duty of the superintendent and office force in the water company was also voted by the board. The hours will conform to those observed by all other offices in the building, except the town engineer's office, from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. with one hour for lunch.

New Sludge Beds

The question of non-payment of water bills was discussed and was referred by the board to the water committee with power. The board voted to construct two sludge beds at the Olcott street sewage disposal plant at a cost of $700, the work probably to be done under the CWA or its replacement work relief unit.

The original cost of the two present sludge beds now in operation, constructed by the South Manchester Sanitary & Sewer District was $6,600, it was stated.

Ambulance and Burial Bids

Specifications for transportation and burial of the town's deceased charity cases and transportation of the town's charity sick patients were received by the board. The Selectmen were surprised at the low figures given. At present the burial charge of the town poor is $60 and is given to local undertakers in turn. A similar arrangement is in effect for ambulance hire, which includes transportation to and from state institutions. The board let the selection of the bids to Clerk G. H. Waddell.

Red Cross Clothing

Charity Superintendent G. H. Waddell reported to the board that he has filed with the state department a list of clothing, shoes, and other Red Cross material distributed through the department during the past year to the town's poor, amounting to $12,000.

Junk Yard Protest

Chairman Cook read a protest from residents living in the vicinity of Glenwood street against Michael Pantaleo claiming that the auto junk yard operated by the latter constitutes a nuisance. The matter has been before the board before for consideration and the public safety committee informed the owner of the yard that he must secure a permit.

This $10,000 Nasturtium Has Its Roots In Many Lands

Speaking of plants that have speeded up production since a year ago, don't forget David Burpee's double hybrid nasturtium that recently Louise Estes is shown admiring at the International Flower Show in New York. This specimen, worth $10,000, was produced in 11 months instead of the usual three years by transporting the growing plant by plane from Philadelphia to Buenos Aires, to Puerto Rico—wherever the sun was shining.

PRESIDENT HAS SCHEME TO HALT AUTO STRIKE

Think Attempt Made To Murder Goering

Berlin, March 21.—(AP)—An attempt to assassinate Premier Hermann Wilhelm Goering of Prussia was rumored today when a hand grenade exploded in the fashionable boulevard Unter den Linden shortly after Goering's automobile was said to have passed.

A taxi driver was injured in the explosion.

The grenade shook windows throughout the district. It was tossed near the corner of Unter den Linden and the Neue Wilhelmstrasse, hitting the passing taxi.

With Goering in the car, it was said, was Karl Ernst, a Nazi group leader.

The taxiab was demolished by the explosion, but the driver was hurt only on one arm. Police re-

No Details Disclosed But Proposal Will Be Present- ed to Manufacturers Later in Day—Union Leaders to Confer With Chief Execu- tive Tomorrow.

By Associated Press

President Roosevelt arranged for a conference late this afternoon with automobile manufacturers in regard to a general strike threat.

Senator Coughens after visiting the White House said the President had a proposal to settle the dispute.

Union representatives, who at the President's request, deferred a strike, originally set for today, will confer with him tomorrow.

Before the Senate labor committee, Francis J. Gorman, vice-president of the United Textile Workers of America, predicted a southern textile strike unless the Wagner labor bill should be enacted.

Mediators continued efforts at Albany, N. Y. to avert a strike on the Delaware and Hudson railroad.

At La Salle, Ill., seven hundred zinc workers went on strike for a ten per cent wage increase.

Railroad labor agreed to a proposal by President Roosevelt that Joseph E. Howard, railroad co-ordinator, arbitrate the dispute.

The Detroit Regional Labor Board tried to settle a strike of employees of the Bower Roller Bearing Company for higher wages and recognition of an A. F. of L. union.

Near Inverness, a trucker under contract to a grocery chain was stopped by pickets; 75 drivers are on strike.

At Canandaigua, N. Y., threats to stop trucks working on a bridge project were made by CWA strikers.

MORRIS IS QUESTIONED ON NATIONAL DAIRIES

Head of State Milk Control Board Examined on His Connection With Big Milk Dealers.

Hartford, March 21.—(AP)—Chairman Charles G. Morris of the State Milk Control Board went under cross examination by Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn today in the trial before Superior Court Judge Newell Jennings of the suit by the Milk Producers' Association of Connecticut against the board. Mr. Alcorn sought information on Mr. Morris' connection with National Dairies, and asked questions regarding a conversation between Governor Cross and Mr. Morris at the time of the latter's appointment as member of the milk board. The court excluded references to a nationwide investigation of the milk industry.

The witness was asked if he knew of an investigation of the milk industry in the United States for the relief of dairy farmers, and that industry had paid 233 1-3 per cent stock dividends. Mr. Alcorn said the plan is not in the interest of dairy farmers and started to examine along that line, but the testimony was excluded on anything member of the milk board. The court excluded references to a nationwide investigation of the milk industry.

SEC. PERKINS ASKS IDLE INSURANCE

Says It Is Only Fair That Employers Should Share Part of Burden.

Washington, March 21.—(AP)—Secretary Perkins told a House committee today it was only fair that employers help pay in advance "the huge expense of caring for people whom they dismiss often without a thought as to their future."

Advocating passage of the Wagner-Lewis unemployment insurance bill, Miss Perkins said that "the depression today has caused much more tragedy and distress," if unemployment reserves had been built up during the 1930's. "In the past," she said, "it was the custom for the full risk of unemployment to be borne by the worker and the full burden first by the worker and then by the public at large."

"In the future some of this burden must, in all fairness fall upon the employers to whom the workers ordinarily look for jobs and security."

NEW TAX FAVORED ON CAPITAL STOCK

Committee Says One Tenth of One Per Cent Would Raise 95 Millions.

Washington, March 21.—(AP)—The Senate finance committee today unanimously approved a capital stock tax of one-tenth of one per cent to take effect July 1, 1935, and estimated it would bring in $95,000,000 in revenue.

The committee also approved a 5 per cent penalty tax on corporations if earnings exceed 12 1/2 per cent, as a guard against undervaluations in determining their own capital stock valuations. Both proposals were advanced by Chairman Harrison (D. Miss.).

As a partial offset for these new taxes, the committee eliminated the excise tax on soft drinks, which bring in an estimated $6,200,000, but increased the tax on colored matches from two to five cents per thousand to meet Japanese competition, and placed a 25 per cent tax on automatic lighters.

Fur Tax Out

The tax on fur valued at $20 or less was struck out. This was expected to lop off another $4,000,000 in revenue.

Further excise and nuisance levies were left untouched because Harrison said the committee did not wish to stop proceeds from this source until the new revenue from the capital stock and excess profits taxes begins to trickle in after July 1, 1935.

The committee also approved a Harrison amendment increasing estate taxes to a maximum of 50 per cent if valued at more than $10,000,000 as against 40 per cent now. The increase would range from one per cent on estates valued between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 up to five per cent at more than $10,000,000.

RESULTS!

Finding pet canaries is a difficult job for any human but entrust the task to Herald Classified Ads and results are bound to be satisfactory. Mrs. Joseph Camp of 182 Eldridge street is happy today over the return of a canary that disappeared from its cage. The bird was found through Classified.

Perhaps you want to sell something. Mrs. R. Hynds of 151 Walnut street advertised a baby carriage for sale. She ran only one ad, the carriage being sold at 4:30 o'clock of the day of the first insertion. And she had seven other calls after the sale. The cost is nominal.

INSULL FREIGHTER IS STILL AT SEA

Did Not Touch at Port Said Last Night—No News of Her Today.

Port Said, Egypt, March 21.—(AP)—The aged seafarer, Samuel Insull, continued to play hide and seek with the world today.

A new dash of mystery flavored his sensational delings when the little ship on which he is traveling no one knows where failed to show up here. It had been expected last night, but there was no news of it today.

Port authorities maintained a lookout throughout the night for the former American utilities operator and his chartered freighter, the Malotis.

Nor had any message been received direct from the tramp steamer on which he is seeking a new asylum from extradition and trial in connection with the fall of his utilities structure.

Authorities at the approach to the Suez Canal were prepared to receive the Malotis as they would any other vessel.

In Greek Territory

It was believed unlikely that officials would attempt to take Insull off at any port at or near the Suez Canal. The vessel is Greek territory. If Insull goes ashore, however, a new problem will be raised.

The absence of any definite information produced an abundance of rumors. They placed Insull's floating kingdom at widely separated points on the blue Mediterranean.

Some predicted the Chicago-analogue would not put in here for days, if at all. They pointed out his ship is reported to have been fueled and provisioned for a 40-day cruise. He might remain at sea a month without touching any port while his lawyers negotiate for some refuge.

UNITED STATES, JAPAN EXCHANGE PEACE NOTES

First Such Passage of Good Will Messages Since Roosevelt Took Office; Is Termed Significant.

Washington, March 21.—(AP)—The United States and Japan today "shook hands across the Pacific" in a significant exchange of notes mutually pledging peace.

Koki Hirota, foreign minister of Japan, in a formal note to Roosevelt today to solve Germany's unemployment problem in a speech delivered from a jumping cart at Unterhaching.

The entire nation listened to his broadcast from Upper Bavaria, on the first anniversary of the historic Reichstag at Potsdam when the Nazi leader was given dictatorial powers.

"By setting aside 150,000,000 marks (approximately $59,550,000)," the chancellor said, "for loans to newweds we expect to see 300,000 girls married off by 1935."

Other features of the government's huge job creation program included 300,000,000 marks (about $119,100,000) for tax loan certificates and 680,000,000 marks (about $260,200,000) for road construction.

Hitler reiterated Germany's determination to keep the German mark at its present parity.

Only to Solve Problem

Addressing himself to foreign nations, the dictator said, "may statesmen of other nations at last realize we desire nothing except in freedom and peace to contribute toward creating a better world."

Regarding the government's economic program for the ensuing year, he asserted, "every attempt at raising prices for dividend purpose will be mercilessly thwarted."

"Business and industry will be freed of theories and of restrictive legislation and every decent entrepreneur will be encouraged. Never again will presents be handed out to industry."

"Government aid will be extended only for practical fructification of the economic life. Let the indolent and indecent and unintelligent industrialist or business man perish—we do not care."

"We are determined to solve the unemployment problem," he continued, "because it simply must be solved, but this can be done only with the support of the people. The government alone cannot work a miracle of regeneration."

Road and tax loan certificates funds will be spent along the lines of an economic program advanced in 1932 by Chancellor Franz von Papen, now vice chancellor.

Under von Papen's tax certificate plan, the government would issue tax refund certificates which would be negotiable. They would bear 4 per cent interest and 20 per cent of each certificate could be used as securities.

Sets Aside 59 Million Dol- lars for Loans— Wants 300,000 Girls to Wed.

Munich, Germany, March 21.—(AP)—Cupid was invoked by Adolf Hitler today to solve Germany's unemployment problem in a speech delivered from a jumping cart at Unterhaching.

MARKET CURB BILL TO HELP BUSINESS

Treasury, Spokesman De- clares There Is No Danger of It Delaying Recovery.

Washington, March 21.—(AP)—A Treasury spokesman told the House interstate commerce committee today the Stock Exchange curbing bill has been "so revised as to minimize" any danger of delaying business recovery.

Tom K. Smith, assistant to Secretary Morgenthau who supervised the Treasury study which resulted in revision of the original bill was the witness.

"I was requested to study the bill to ascertain whether certain of its provisions might have a needlessly adverse effect upon the government's financing operations or upon the financial structure of the country," Smith said.

Evils Corrected

He said that as a result of this study and "numerous suggestions and changes most of which have been incorporated in the bill as it is believed that for the most part the matters about which we were principally concerned have been corrected by these changes."

Smith said "the Treasury is in full accord" with major objectives of the bill which he said appeared to be:

"To establish Federal supervision over securities exchanges; to prevent manipulation of security prices and to protect the public against unfair practices; to prevent excessive fluctuations in security prices due to speculative influences; to discourage the use of credit in financing of excessive speculation in securities."

Professor Wins Election But Shatters Pet Theory

Tulsa, Okla., March 21.—(AP)—Without kissing a single baby, Col. Oscar W. Hoop, professor of political economy, won an election, but it shattered a pet theory.

The colonel told his class at the University of Tulsa that only politics could win elections. He said it was impossible to win a political race without baby kissing and hand shaking.

To demonstrate, he entered for fire and police commissioner against a merchant and two veteran politicians in the Democratic

DOUMERGUE MOVES TO HALT TROUBLE

French Premier to Attempt to Block Political Strife in Radio Appeal.

Paris, March 21.—(AP)—Premier Gaston Doumergue decided today to attempt to block the menace of political strife for which the French press says rival groups are arming, by a radio appeal to the country.

On March 24, the veteran premier announced, he will go to the people with a plea that they put aside their animosities.

This new mode of attack on the troubled situation was decided on shortly after charges that both Socialists and Rightist groups were arming heavily for further civil conflict.

Nationalist organs asserted that weapons already had been stored in a wide belt around Paris and that Socialists were starting a military movement in the north to support a revolutionary drive in the capital.

Other Group Arming

In reply, Leftist papers retorted that Rightist elements were arming in an effort to bring about a Fascist coup d'etat.

Premier Doumergue's persuasive voice will be carried in the broadcast throughout the provinces where strong Leftist sentiment has caused resentment against Parisian rioters accused of forcing Rightist representation in the government.

He hopes to counteract hostile voices in Parliament and reinforce his supporters by reaching the people while the deputies are at home for the current parliamentary vacation.

The reports of arming were thought so dangerous, it became known today, that Marshal Henri Petain, war minister, presented the matter to the Cabinet recently and obtained approval for a program of tightening customs lines and strict police supervision of any quantity buying.

After the bloody Paris riots, it was recalled, police ordered all arms dealers to cease sales temporarily and withdraw their displays to prevent raids by window smashing mobs.

BAY STATE UNION SEEKS DECISION First Case of Its Kind to Be Tried Today by United States Labor Board.

Washington, March 21.—(AP)—The first case to come before the National Labor Board with a regional board ruling against employees will be heard this afternoon when representatives of employers and striking Haverhill, Mass., shoe workers will present their arguments.

A strike of 6,000 shoe workers in Haverhill started on March 1, and after the Boston regional board placed responsibility for the strike upon the workers it was referred to the National board for hearing today.

The case of the workers will be presented by Israel Zimmerman and Sam Ziebel, of the general coordinating committee of the United Shoe and Leather Workers, and Leonard Ford, president of the Haverhill District Council.

LIONS CLUB TO HEAR

TALK ON EDUCATION

Francis E. Harrington of Hartford, Will Outline Emergency in Education in State.

Francis E. Harrington of Hartford, executive secretary of the Connecticut State Teachers' association, will address the Rockville Lions club at their regular luncheon this evening at the Rockville House at 6:15 o'clock.

Secretary Harrington will take for his topic, "The Present Emergency in Education in Connecticut," which is sure to be of unusual interest.

The speaker will explain the so-called "equalization bill" or the state aid to towns in providing funds for proper educational facilities.

This talk will be a timely one as the Town of Vernon has become an educational center for Tolland County as well as many adjoining towns not within the county.

Mr. Harrington was originally scheduled to address the Rockville Lions club April 21 but the speaker scheduled for this evening, Joseph F. Lamb of New Britain, was unable to keep his engagement.

Mr. Lamb will show motion pictures of when he was in Alaska at a future meeting. Mr. Lamb, who is an executive of the firm of Landers, Frary & Clark, is in New York on business at the present time.

Minister Better. Rev. William F. Tyler, secretary of the Tolland County Young Men's Christian Association, injured Saturday evening when his car collided with one driven by Samuel Donnelly of 10 Dodge street, Worcester, Mass., is again able to be about. He suffered a severe shock by the force of the impact.

Rev. Tyler also suffered injuries to his face and nose. The injuries were caused by his face by the force of an impact with the steering wheel of his car. He also suffered an injury to his left leg.

Albert S. MacClain, superintendent of the Tolland County Home for Children at Vernon Center, brought Rev. Tyler to his office yesterday morning for a few hours.

John Donnelly, the eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Donnelly, who suffered a concussion of the brain as the result of the accident, is showing remarkable improvement at the Rockville City hospital. He has regained consciousness and recognizes his parents.

Boy Scouts Show Ability. Troop No. 17, Boy Scouts of America, under the direction of Scoutmaster A. E. Taylor, demonstrated their ability last evening for Stanley Doboos Post, No. 14, American Legion.

A very interesting program was presented by this troop, which is sponsored by Stanley Doboos Post. Patrol Leader Herbert Little explained the Boy Scouts' oath and laws; Stanley Campbell demonstrated knot tying; Carl Pasternak demonstrated the various scout signs while Patrol Leader Robert Burns exhibited semaphore signaling.

Dog Quarantine. The quarantine placed on the dogs of the city of Rockville and the town of Vernon, forbidding them to run at large for a period of 90 days became effective at noon Tuesday.

The quarantine order was issued by Dr. Edwin R. Dimock, State Commissioner of Domestic Animals, as the result of a dog with the rabies being found in Rockville a week ago after it had bitten five or six other dogs.

Dog Warden John Boucher has issued a local notice that all dogs will be picked up if found running at large.

The only exception are the dogs being led on a leash, hunting dogs actually engaged in hunting, or dogs engaged in driving or tending sheep or cattle when accompanied by an adult.

Dogs which have been vaccinated may be allowed about after 21 days if a certificate is filed with the dog warden or state commissioner showing that the vaccination was injected.

All dogs picked up will be held for 120 hours and if not claimed by their owners will be killed.

Prize Speaking Tonight. Everything is in readiness for the annual prize speaking contest at the Rockville High school which will be held this evening in the auditorium of the George E. York Memorial school. The event is being sponsored by the Rockville High school.

alumni association and there will be eight contestants and three prizes awarded. The event is open to the public.

Expensive Ride. More than $20 was needed to pay the fine and costs for a junior motorist in the Rockville City Court Tuesday morning. The case was that of Theodore Ulrich, Jr., 17, of Mile Hill, Tolland, who was brought before Judge John E. Flak yesterday morning, charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license and with violation of the rules of the road.

The boy disliked the motion pictures Monday evening. He left the theater, went for a walk and in the meantime took his father's automobile to look around Rockville.

Headed up Union street toward the center of Rockville, Sergeant Peter Dowgievic noticed an automobile fall to go around the rotary at the intersection of Union and West Main streets. The car went up Elm street. Stopping the car, he asked for the driver's license and found that the boy at the wheel had none.

With his father as guardian, Theodore entered a plea of guilty to the charge of not having a license and not guilty to the second count. Judge Fisk imposed a fine of $3 for not having the license and $5 for failing to obey the traffic regulations, with costs of $12.18, totaling $20.18. The fine and cost were paid by the boy's father.

A second case in court yesterday was that of Charles Weber, proprietor of the Park Package store, who was charged with selling liquor after hours. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Bernard A. Akerman appeared as defending counsel and Prosecutor John B. Thomas asked that the case be continued until Tuesday, April 3 under the bond of $250. Weber was arrested by State Policeman Koss March 16.

New Whist Series. Another whist series has been started under the joint auspices of Tankeroson Tribe, No. 51, Improved Order of Red Men and Klowa Council, No. 26, Degree of Pocahontas.

The first of the new series, which will consist of five nights, was held Monday evening. The following were the prize winners: Ladies' first, Mrs. Francis Hammond; second, Mrs. James Murphy; third, Mrs. Rose Marcus; fourth, Mrs. Betty Baer.

Men, first, Joseph Gessay; second, Bruno Zagars; third, Allen Pehr; fourth, William Schenetsky. The next whist in this series will be held Monday evening, April 2. No whist will be held next week on account of Holy Week.

A. O. E. Whist Thursday. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, will hold another of their popular whist parties Thursday evening in the rooms of Victory Assembly, Catholic Ladies of Columbus, in the Prescott block.

This is to be one of the largest whist parties of the season, according to the committee in charge. There will be more than 40 tables.

A social hour will follow the whist party at which time refreshments will be served. The committee in charge consists of Miss Sarah Morgan, chairman; Miss Mary Brennan, Miss Agnes Doherty, Miss Mary Phillips and Miss Ora Morin.

Mrs. Bertha A. Schlott, 85, widow of the late Herman Schlott, died Monday evening at her home at 131 Prospect street following a short illness. Death was caused by complications.

Mrs. Schlott was born in Germany January 3, 1849, and came to the United States over 60 years ago. She has resided in Rockville continuously with the exception of two years when she lived in Hartford.

She was an attendant at the Union Congregational church and took an active interest in all church activities. Mrs. Schlott is survived by three sons, Richard W. Schlott of Torrington; Frank Schlott, and Paul Schlott, both of Rockville; and one daughter, Miss Lena E. Schlott of Rockville, also three grandchildren.

The funeral of Mrs. Schlott will be held from her late home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. George E. Brookes, pastor of the Union Congregational church, will officiate. Burial will be in Grove Hill cemetery.

Funeral of Mrs. Albert C. Dart. The funeral of Mrs. Hattie L. Dart, 70, wife of Albert C. Dart of Ogden's Corner section in Vernon, who died Sunday at her home, was held from her late home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Theodore Batchelor of South Hadley Falls, Mass., officiated. Burial was in the family plot in Elmwood cemetery.

The bearers were as follows: George R. Skinner, Luther Skinner, Lewis Skinner, N. Morgan Strong, Elmer Dart and Thomas Neill.

Rockville Briefs. Rev. George T. Sinnott, pastor of St. Bernard's Catholic church, who has been seriously ill for nearly a month, is now able to be about a few hours each day and enjoyed an automobile ride yesterday afternoon.

Many Rockville people attended the St. Patrick's day social last evening held by the Tolland Grange in Grange hall, Tolland. Following a short entertainment dancing was enjoyed and refreshments served.

Percy Almsworth, general manager of the Hockanum Mills Company, has been spending a few days in New York City on business.

The B. B. G. club held their regular meeting on Tuesday evening at their parlors on Market street. Miss Margaret Roman had charge of the social hour which followed the meeting.

A meeting of the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent association was held last evening in the rooms in the Prescott block.

Stanley Doboos Post, No. 14, American Legion, held an important meeting last evening in the G. A. F. hall. A social and smoker followed the meeting.

J. Stanley McCray, manager of the Rockville garage, who underwent an operation at the Manchester Memorial hospital last week when he had his tonsils removed, returned to his duties today.

The Brotherhood of the First Lutheran church held a meeting last evening in the church social rooms.

The Board of Selectmen of the town of Vernon, of which Francis J. Pritchard is chairman, held a regular business meeting last evening in the rooms in the Memorial building.

30 YEARS SENTENCES FOR ITALIAN PLOTTERS

Rome, March 21.—(AP)—Two alleged anti-Fascist terrorists for whom the death penalty had been asked burst into tears when they were sentenced to 30 years imprisonment for plotting against the life of Premier Mussolini and setting off a bomb at St. Peter's cathedral last June.

The two, sentenced late last night, are Leonardo Ruciciglioni and Renato Cianca.

Claudio Cianca, son of Renato, for whom the prosecution has asked thirty years, was given 18. The fourth defendant, Pasquale Capasso, won acquittal.

Sobbing, the four brokenly thanked the court for the leniency shown them.

Most of the spectators at the trial Friday, had expected those convicted to be shot in the back by a firing squad at dawn.

Named Deputy Judge. Thompsonville, March 21.—(AP)—M. W. Hullivan, a member of the General Assembly from this town, has been appointed deputy judge of the Enfield court by Governor William L. Cross to fill the vacancy due to the death of William Hyland who held the office several years.

Hullivan is a Democrat. Judge Hyland, a former member of the House, was a Republican.

WAPPING. Miss Ingraham of the State Department of Health, of Hartford, has sent word that she will be at the Wapping schools, May 14 about 9 o'clock to examine all children of the pre-school age. She will be at the Union School in the afternoon of the same day. The School Nurse will also be in attendance. Mrs. Ruth Collins Spoons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Collins, has been ill at her home for several days with tonsillitis.

Harry F. Fites, Jr., who is attending college in Maine, arrived at his home here Tuesday evening where he will spend the Easter vacation.

Mrs. Dorothy Doane, who underwent a major operation at the Hartford hospital recently, was discharged from work in New York city.

Mrs. J. E. Wood, an important local business woman, has moved to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Woodwell of South Windsor street, recently.

 WEDNESDAY, MARCH 21

PRESIDENT'S TASK

President Roosevelt was facing, this morning, a difficult task. Having summoned into conference at Washington a committee of leaders of the automobile industry in an attempt to devise some way of forestalling the threatened automobile strike, he was confronted by a group which only yesterday had declared that the head of the American Federation of Labor "is using his official position in NRA and on the National Labor Board to foment the strike in the hope that the men will believe the government is behind the American Federation of Labor in its efforts to organize them." And this same group had already declared with the utmost emphasis that it would not deal with the American Federation of Labor.

Since, apparently, the Presidential interposition and the conference with the automobile makers were for the purpose of attempting to soften the resolution of the manufacturers, one of two results seemed inevitable. Either the parity must produce little if any direct result or the result of a yielding by the employers must lend support to the implication of the companies that the government was doing just what they had said Green was trying to make the men believe it was doing—backing the A. F. of L. to the limit. The latter would be the inevitable conclusion if the President succeeded in inducing the manufacturers to withdraw from their refusal to accept the Federation as the representative of their employees.

Thus there has been reached a situation dreaded by many convinced advocates of the principle of collective bargaining ever since the passage of the National Recovery Act and since it became apparent that the administration was proceeding on the theory that the American Federation of Labor was properly and competently representative of the American worker. That assumption was adopted far too hastily and with far too little thought.

It is now obvious enough that the National Recovery Act, when it so sternly—and rightly—commanded the employer's respect for the right of collective bargaining, should also have provided conditions that would have insured the workers not only against oppression by employers but against manipulation and oppression by exploiters of trade unionism.

The principle of collective bargaining is economically and socially correct. It is economically and socially correct to provide against employer interference in employees' organizations. It is economically and socially incorrect not to provide against converting employees' organizations into a racket or a monopoly machine.

A JOB FOR A GHOST

An American classic in an editorial written by the late W. C. Brann in the Waco Iconoclast on "The Meanest Man in the World," in which that conspicuous distinction was awarded to a Massachusetts minister who, after having been raised, in an impoverished orphan, fed, maintained and given his education by Girard College, refused to contribute to a memorial to Stephen Girard, giving as his reason that he could not "find it compatible with my conscience to do anything to honor the memory of a man of Stephen Girard's peculiar religious views."
 "The tempestuous Brann, after stirring burning the hide of the victim of his wrath for what he regarded as a hideous example of the sin of ingratitude, wound up by declaring:

Massachusetts is welcome to Meeser. We have one tree in Texas on which we have hanged twenty-seven better men than he is—and they're all in hell.

What a pity that the bullets of two hired assassins—whom, incidentally, the doughty Texas editor killed—put an end to Brann's life long before the opportunity arose to express himself concerning the administration of Welfare Island's City Home for the Destitute, whose practices have just been revealed in the newest of New York City's scandals. Brann would have been an old man now, had he lived, but his flaming soul, we feel sure, would have arisen to the occasion as no one else can do.

With peculiar understanding and real charity, New York has never insisted that the dwellers in its great city almshouse should have no possessions of their own whatever, but has allowed them to retain any little hoard up to $500. If they had more than that they were supposed to pay $1 a day for their maintenance.

But the savings of such of the inmates as had any, pinched and gleaned out of long, weary lives, almost always for a "decent burial," were not sacred, as they would be to any common thief or gangster, to the harpies of the institution's administration. Playing upon the pauper's inherent fear of burial in an unknown grave in a potters' field, they wheedled and bulldozed these poor old folks to turn over their bank accounts to "trusteeships" by which, after the passing of the victims, the meagre little savings would revert to the chests. Picking and stealing from the poorest of the poor, these bursards, male and female alike, feathered their own nests in the most disgusting, most contemptible game of graft that has come to light anywhere.

Here is a chance for spiritualism to prove itself. Let some medium get, from the shade of "Iconoclast" Brann, a spirit writing dealing with this tale of abomination. A million people in America will know instantly whether it is genuine or not. Nobody but Brann could do the subject justice.

THAT SPY RING

A variety of emotions are stirred by the revelations in Paris concerning the operations of the international espionage ring in which several Americans are now quite conclusively shown to have been involved. One is real distress over the discovery that military spying did not come to an end, even for a respectable length of time, with the termination of the World War—that the operations in which Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon Switz of East Orange, N. J., were concerned were not the upgrowth of suspicions and fears engendered in recent years, but had been going on ever since 1920.

Another is an uncomfortable sensation approaching shame that native born Americans, as the Switzes appear to be, should lend themselves to the dirty business of European espionage.

And a third is a sort of disappointed wonderment at the stupidity of the master spies, whoever they may be, in imagining that they could hire, for considerably less than a hundred dollars a week, an American couple expected to engage in a perilous business that demanded a more or less lavish scale of living, with any assurance that they would not squawk as soon as they found themselves in a jam.

straw at their own business they should have known that you can't hire a first-class American crook with chicken feed. They paid a piker's price and they got piker spies—and the spies rattled on them. It's all very disillusioning. And very disgusting.

If the Switzes ever get out of the mess and come back to New Jersey they would better be fortified with good evidence that, after all, they weren't working for the Russian-German-Finnish spy ring, but for the French police—stool pigeons engaged in the great art of double-crossing the ring with purest intent. Otherwise they probably will get plentifully cut on the streets of East Orange.

POOR PUBLICITY

When a motion picture actress figures in a law suit there is usually considerable suspicion that the action may have been brought for publicity purposes. No such implication can very well be drawn from the suit brought by her parents against Mary Astor in Los Angeles, because it is doubtful if any film actress has ever been called on before to defend herself against charges so destructive of her value to the films, if proven true. The parents assert that, though she has property valued at $150,000 and earns $1,500 a week, she has knowingly permitted them to live in such extreme poverty that they have had to sell their furniture to buy food.

Miss Astor denies the charges, says her parents' extravagance is responsible for their plight and that they recently refused offers of money which she made. Offsetting this is the declaration in the complaint that the last time she gave her parents any money was in August, 1931, and the amount was $35, since when she had given them $180 worth of grocery coupons.

Now if Miss Astor had had some body or had been accused of being mixed up in the international espionage conspiracy or were defendant in an alienation suit, it is conceivable that she might not suffer professionally. But it is not difficult to imagine the reaction of the average movie patron toward a young woman who, while living in luxury and enjoying a salary equal to that of the President of the United States, lets her parents verge on starvation—which is the effect of these charges.

It is of course possible that the accusations may be shown to be wholly untrue and cruelly unjust. They will have to be, or we may expect the quiet but complete disappearance of Mary Astor from the screen.

Movie audiences have no trouble in condoning many things, but heartlessness toward one's parents is unlikely to be one of them.

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON
 New York, March 20.—Meanderings: The town's gone silly over movie stars. And it's a ten-to-one shot that psychologists who talk about "the predatory male" have never watched a mob of women stalking Clark Gable.

Or Buddy Rogers or Max Baer, for that matter. And Guy Robertson, star of a current musical, is being made miserable these days by autograph hunters because he looks like James Gagnev. Gets so mad, he says, that he'd like to naul off and sock a few dithery fappers—except that then they'd know he was Gagnev, and would love it. . . . Movie-struck kids even pause in front of a book shop on upper Broadway to remind each other that Joan Blondell once worked there. . . . Or go past the restaurant that has the high-chai that is supposed to have belonged to Mae West. . . . Sports traffic on the slopes of Central Park stopped the other afternoon when Jeanette MacDonald and Bob Ritchie went coasting there. . . . And there was a minor riot at the stage premier of "Dodsworth" when such Hollywooders as Paul Muni, the Marxes, Edmund Mare, Harry Warner and Rouben Mamoulian passed under the marquee.

Broadway Hobby-riders
 Theatrical producers, generally supposed to lead a furiously hectic life, don't have such a hard time after all. Their hobbies prove it. . . . Dwight Deere Wiman and Laurence Schwab have yachts. Jed Harris used to have one, but sold it when he discovered that both his shipper and the cook were writing plays to be submitted to him. Rowland Stebbins is a partner in a Wall Street brokerage firm; says finance is his hobby and the theater his profession. Arthur Hopkins, John Goussard and Max Gordon find time to play golf. . . . Crosby Gaige has a printing shop at his country estate where he turns out arty pamphlets. Also collects rare books. Is an amateur cabinet maker, and is famed as a cook. William A. Brady, Jr., raises and rides horses. Tom Weatherly is an amateur photographer. Guthrie McClintic collects stamps—a fact not known by a certain author who tried to sell him a play which poked unmerciful fun at philatelists.

A. C. Blumenthal bought a bauble at a snooty jewelry salon the other day, and people whose business it isn't are sure there'll be a reconciliation with Peggy Fears. Libby Holman, Florida-bound, took along a play manuscript. If she likes it the producer will offer to hold it for her until next season, when she shall come back. . . . Hollywood hasn't changed Hal LeRoy, the shy, grinning, ganglingly-graceful dancer just turned 21 who has returned after making a couple of pictures. Broadway's glad he hasn't changed; for years he has been Exhibit A in refutation of the charge that there is no unpolished celebrity on the main stem. . . .

One of this column's snappers - with-out-portfolio reports that Lullulah Bankhead is finally in love, and with a big-business man. Also that Marilyn Miller is in love with a big (physically big) tennis star. And that Mae Murray is focusing those big eyes on a big orchestra director.

Mistaken Identity
 Another agent has just snowed in from the suburbs with a tale of one of these CWA companies or actors who go about giving plays in school auditoriums, museums, and—in this case—a mental hospital. Some of the more normal patients were assigned as stagehands, and one fellow appeared so rational that an actor got to questioning him.

"Don't get any peculiar ideas about me," said the man confidently. "I'm perfectly all right, but I'm a friend of the superintendent and he asks me to help with affairs like this from time to time. You see, having written so many plays, I'm quite familiar with the mechanics of the theater."
 "The CWA act," was impressed. "Of course I didn't suspect that you were a—er—patient here," he stammered. "But may I ask your name, sir?"
 "The fellow struck a haughty pose. "Why, my poor ham!" he exclaimed. "I am William Shakespeare!"

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

President Roosevelt's cure of a crippled condition due to infantile paralysis has done more good in waking people up to what to do for the infantile paralysis than a million dollars spent for advertising. Here was a man who had been crippled with the disease for over two years, given no hope by doctors of ever getting well, who stuck to a natural method of cure until he regained the use of his paralyzed muscles, and made such a come-back that he won the highest honor of his country.

The name infantile paralysis is incorrect in two ways: First, from the name it appears that it attacks only infants, which is not true as a grown person may be attacked; second, it suggests that the disease always causes paralysis when as a matter of fact, most cases recover with no signs of paralysis remaining. It is only in the minority of cases that marked crippling occurs. Once a person has recovered from the disease he is safe from further attacks. Undoubtedly, there are thousands of people in cities who have had infantile paralysis in such a light form that they did not know they had it and have thereby been able to manufacture within their bones a resistance to it which makes them immune.

Infantile paralysis is more common in cities than in the country and has been known to spread along the lines of railroad tracks and highways, where the infective organism is carried from one city to another. It is comparatively a new disease as the only records are recent. The organism which produces it is so small that no man has ever seen it.

While most cases occur during the hot summer months, small epidemics may break out at other times and there is a major epidemic every seven years or so. The disease is steadily increasing and because no satisfactory method of treatment had been found until lately, many thousands of children and adults have been crippled by it.

It is my belief that infantile paralysis can be prevented and will only develop in those children who have been weakened by wrong habits of eating, faulty elimination and other habits which produce chronic auto-intoxication. Such a poisoned state of the body prepares the soil for the disease and enables the inflammation to develop in the delicate spinal cord.

The technical name for the disorder is poliomyelitis. The word poliomyelitis comes from gray plus myel and refers to an inflammation of the spinal cord. Doctors who specialize in the disease are often called "Polios."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Indigestion and Gas Pressure Cause Sensations)

Question: A. L. D. of Memphis, Tenn., asks: "What is the cause of peculiar waves which come over me just as I am going to sleep? For a short time, I feel that I am going to lose consciousness. I notice the trouble is worse after a heavy dinner."

Answer: Your attacks are probably due to indigestion and gas pressure although they might be caused by several other conditions. I strongly advise that you use a more carefully chosen diet and that you avoid constipation. You do not tell me how long these attacks have been occurring or whether other symptoms are present, such as rapid heart beat, blurring of the vision, and clamminess of the palms. If you wish to write to me giving more information about your case, I may be able to help you.

(Queer Taste in Mouth)

Question: From F. T. of Allentown, Pa.: "Could you tell me what is the cause of the queer taste I have in my mouth? Sometimes it is a sour acid taste."

Answer: A disagreeable taste in the mouth such as you mention might be due to several things: such as stomach trouble, badly fitting dental plates, and is sometimes due to diseased tonsils or a gum disorder. I suggest that you try fasting and dieting and if you will write to me in care of this newspaper, I will be pleased to send you some instructions which I believe will be helpful. I also advise that you ask for the article on neuritis since you state that this disorder is troubling you in the shoulder. Please enclose a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

(Energy Derived from Half a Peanut)

Question: From "Curious" of New Orleans, La.: "I have read a book recently which stated that there is enough energy in half a peanut to carry out one hour of mental work. This does not sound reasonable. What do you think of it?"
 Answer: Recent study has shown that intense brain work really requires very little food and it is quite possible that one-half of a peanut would furnish all of the food material which would be consumed during mental work continued for an hour. In my own experience, I have found that brain workers achieve more if they avoid heavy meals, and one who eats heavily must do a great deal of physical work or strenuous exercise to burn up the excess material.

Color Galore Marks NRA Squawk Session . . . Johnson Shows Loss of Steam . . . G. O. P. Cast in New Role . . . Mr. Brown Fires a Shot.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Herald Washington Correspondent
 Washington, March 21—All roads once more lead to NRA.
 No one here is very clear about what will come out of the big free-for-all "squawk meeting" and the subsequent code authority Congress, but General Johnson is on the march again. He thinks he and NRA are going somewhere.
 Inside the organization are many who aren't sure whether the present codes can be readjusted satisfactorily. In the big rush to get four apples were tossed into the barrel, quite wittingly. Theory was that those could be removed at leisure. But can they?
 Some officials opposed to open price associations fear that if they're now eliminated, industries will sabotage the codes. Already, they say, their chief worry concerns administration.
 Industries have been given enormous powers of operation and who's to see that they don't abuse them?

Strange "Bedfellows"
 The "squawk meeting" drew the biggest NRA gathering and the greatest platform galaxy of NRA officials since the cotton textile code hearing opened in the same Commerce Building auditorium.
 Some of the big shots had disappeared in the intervening eight months—Dudley Cates, Alexander Sachs and Bobby Straus, among them—but others took their places. Again NRA was spoken of as operating in a "goldfish bowl," though everyone since has learned that all NRA fishing is done at private conferences.

Johnson has tired in eight months and looks it. Still plenty of steam, but obviously less. His secretary-assistant, the inevitable "Robbie," appeared with him, in a brown costume topped by a couple of yellow and white ruffles. The platform gang posed as if it were in church—the industrial, labor, and consumer advisory boards. Don Richberg, who lit a pipe, told how some newspapers call him "dangerously radical" and others say he's disgustingly conservative, had been home sick and returned there quickly after his speech.

Others flanking Johnson were Col. R. W. Lee, handsome assistant administrator for industry, and Administrator A. W. Whiteside, as sober and serious as something from the aquarium downstairs.

Myron Taylor of U. S. Steel and Robert Lead of the National Manufacturers' Association sat opposite Bill Green, John Lewis, Sidney Hillman, and other labor leaders they've been fighting for the last eight months.

Newcomers were Clarence Darrow, head of the new small enterprise board—who is very old, but seems younger than he did a year ago, and black-haired, South-chinned Leon Henderson, new boss of NRA research and planning.

Also a young man in wing collar and socks with enormous black and white checks who turned out to be a Mr. Steinberg, NRA publicity man for foreign language newspapers. In the front row one noticed Bob Minor, New York Communist leader, and a Hoover assistant secretary of commerce, happening to sit side by side.

Johnson's speech, welcoming all criticism, but implying that critics were scoundrels, drew faint applause. The audience was largely one of critics.

G. O. P. in New Role
 The New Deal has brought so many reversals of form that some of the most cockeyed instances pass unnoticed. To name one, the Republican party has been stepping out as the champion of small business, labor, and the consumer.

The entire G. O. P. senatorial contingent—regular and progressive—voted against a resolution of the Nye resolution asking a report on the industrial background of all NRA officials. Only three Democrats—Costigan, Dill, and Long—voted with them.

Former Postmaster General Walter Brown was answering questions about the growth of aviation, proud of the stimulation given by mail contracts.
 "The only other industry that has grown more rapidly," he declared, "is the CWA."

"Trafalgar", 528 Ocean avenue, West Haven, Conn., on Coup de Chateau. "Rudolf and Tootsie Fifty-Fifty," 16 Rogers street, South Boston, Mass., on Heartbreak Hill. Marty D'Napoli, 18 North Milton street, Malden, Mass., on Thrumster. Dr. Robert H. Veitch, 95 High street, Medford, Mass., on Cantillus II. John J. O'Neill, 14 South Buffins street, Worcester, Mass., on Cantillus II. "Apples," 82A Orchard street, Medford Hillside, Mass., on Remus. William MacLean, 38 Bulton

Place, Bridgewater, Mass., on La-bourg. Janice Slaughter, Box 278, Fairfield, Conn., on Southern Hero. "The Horseman," Arlington, Mass., on Patron Saint. "Portia," care of R. C. Doherty, 337 Washington street, Newton, Mass., on Coolinolagh. J. C. Wilmet, 300 Central avenue, Milton, Mass., on Coolinolagh.

ANTI-CRIME LAWS BEING PREPARED

Over 30 Bills Ready to Plug Up Loop Holes in Existing State Laws.

Washington, March 21.—(AP)—A government anti-crime clearing house to co-ordinate Federal and state drives against the racketeer and gangster was recommended today by the Senate anti-racketeering committee. The Senatorial investigators, headed by Senator Copeland (D., N. Y.), suggested in a formal report that an agency, labeled the Federal Research Board, undertake to bring together the efforts in a coast-to-coast war on evil-doing. It would collect and disseminate all facts and records bearing on criminal activities, thus performing a service for Federal, state and local police authorities. The committee conducted hearings throughout the country preparatory to drafting bills to plug up crime loop-holes. The measures are now under consideration by the Senate judiciary committee. 30 Bills Prepared Thirty bills in all were prepared with the advice of the Department of Justice and introduced by Senator Copeland, Vandenberg (R., Mich.), and Murphy (D., Ill.), who made up the anti-racketeering committee. Attorney General Cummings has lent backing to some of the bills. He has proposed an extension of Federal anti-crime power to overcome the burden of clashing Federal and state jurisdictions. Registration of machine guns and strengthening of the Lindbergh anti-kidnaping law were requested by Cummings yesterday before the House judiciary committee. He pointed out that swift transportation enabling criminals to cross state lines, has created a situation in which "an ordinary local police force, no matter how intelligent, earnest or honest, is perfectly helpless."

"This is a real problem," he said, "I have felt a special duty rested in the Department of Justice in this emergency, as it is about the only organization prepared to deal with this type of crime."

300 PROFESSORS HIRED

Washington, March 21.—(AP)—More than 300 college professors have accepted jobs with the Roosevelt administration during its first year in office. A survey showed today that 116 professional shoulders have been showing in the greatest number against the wheel of the alphabetical recovery agencies. The treasury and agriculture departments, too, have had full shares. The NRA has the largest score with 59. The Agriculture Department has given the Blue Eagle group a close race, with 56.

JAIL McADOO'S SON AFTER CAFE PARTY

Woman Proprietor Of Inn Brings Suit For $50,000 Alleging Insults.

New York, March 21.—(AP)—William Gibbs McAdoo, Jr., whose Sunday night dinner in a Yorkville cafe was ended in a $50,000 damage suit, called it "a hold-up game" today. McAdoo, who is the son of the United States Senator from California, said the summons was "a civil action for something or other." The summons was served yesterday, he said, as he left Harlem court after spending a night in jail. He had been in court with a blonde dress model, Miss Sara Lummus, to answer a disorderly conduct charge brought by Mrs. Lillian Kneiss, proprietor of the Hungarian Inn where the two had dined. "I understood everything was to be dismissed," McAdoo said, "and then at the last moment they sprung this." He understood, he said, that the suit is for slander. The disorderly conduct charge was settled in court when Mrs. Kneiss said she was willing to drop it for $6,000. Mrs. Kneiss is bringing the damage suit. The trouble began, McAdoo said, when his host at the cafe disappeared, leaving him without money to pay the check. "I assumed I was this man's guest," he said, "and he faded away. It was Sunday, and I had only a few dollars with me." Mrs. Kneiss declared in court that McAdoo shouted insults. McAdoo who is employed by an aviation company, said it was his first night in jail. "I hop it will be my last. I hope my father hasn't been informed," he added.

Thousands of women learned how important FRESH and CORRECT grinding is, in the making of perfect coffee, at the Manchester Herald Cooking School last week.

If you were not there, you can make this discovery for yourself at your nearest A&P Store. There you will find the famous A&P Coffee Trio, the three most popular coffees in all the world—OVEN FRESH—their superb flavor sealed in by Nature until it is released for you by grinding at the moment you buy.

These three fine coffees are blended from the cream of the South American coffee crops—roasted daily in A&P's own plants—rushed to A&P Food Stores—ready to be freshly and correctly ground to your own method of making. Here is coffee freshness and flavor that will give you new pleasure and satisfaction.

- EIGHT O'CLOCK COFFEE MILD AND MELLOW 2 1/2 lb.
- RED CIRCLE COFFEE RICH AND FULL-BODIED 2 3/4 lb.
- BOKAR COFFEE VIGOROUS AND WINERY 2 5/8 lb.

Equal in quality, though different in flavor, these coffees are packed in the bean, ground fresh in the store.

THE BARGAIN HOUND

They're exquisitely sheer are these Snag Saver stockings at Miss Waven's. They are spiral spun which makes them resist snags. You'll find just the pair to harmonize with your new suit for 79 cents.

The dinner dance given in honor of Gary Cooper and his new bride, the former Sandra Shaw, by Emma Cohen, was the occasion of many new and starting frocks. The guest of honor, Mrs. Gary Cooper, dressed to end in starting in a long-sleeved and jacketed dinner outfit of white crepe striped with blue. Miss West broke her usual anti-party rule and arrived in white satin ermine. Grace Allen wore a brown crepe frock with long sleeves and gold lame trimming. Ida Lupino looked surprisingly trim in a tallored white crepe with a high neckline and a clever peplum skirt. Mrs. Richard Arlen wore flowered chalis and Mrs. Bing Crosby was in white crepe accented with bright blue.

Fashion smiles benignly on the "touch of white." Among the smartest white accessories for the Easter parade are the white doeklin gloves I saw at Hale's this morning. If you have a navy suit, coat, you won't want to be without a pair.

Belted Norfolk jackets with pockets and little Eton jackets distinguish in handsome manner the tailored suits in bright blues, greens, rusts and reds.

The time is tomorrow afternoon at two—the place is the Odd Fellows Block—the event is a cooking demonstration. Mrs. Marion Rowe of The Manchester Electric Company is giving another of her lecture demonstrations. You'll find the menu on page three in tonight's paper. Take this opportunity to see the electric range demonstrated.

For Steamed Raisin Puff.
3 eggs
1-3 cup butter
2 teaspoons Rumford baking powder
2 cups flour
1-4 cup sugar
1 cup raisins
1-2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup milk
1-2 teaspoon salt
Method: Cream the butter and add sugar gradually; then add the eggs, well beaten. Save out a little of the flour and dredge the raisins with it. Mix the remainder flour with the baking powder and salt, and add alternately with the milk to the egg mixture. Stir flavoring and raisins into the batter. Fill greased individual baking cups half full, cover with waxed paper, and steam about thirty-five minutes. Serve hot with cream or soft custard.

A small steamed pudding cooks quite well in the top of a double boiler. Grease thoroughly the top part of the pan and turn the pudding batter into that. Set it over boiling water in the lower part and cover tightly. Cook about one hour.

You'll welcome the new pastel linen neckwear as cheerfully as Spring itself. All you see the lovely fresh looking collars in blue, white, yellow and pink at Hale's—$1.00 is all that is asked.

The dressy pump which has been designed for a dressmaker's suit or a silk dress and coat ensemble is a datter for Easter. Nice enough to wear with any informal costume any hour of the day, it's of blue kid with a contrasting kid trimming.

GIRLS GET RICH SWEEPS PRIZES
Two from Brooklyn Split $35,000 and Dorchester Man Wins That Sum.
Dublin, March 21. (AP)—Americans won two of ten $7018 (approximately $35,000) prizes distributed in the first couple of minutes as the Irish Sweepstakes draw was resumed today—the biggest prize next to those going to placing horses in Friday's Grand National steeplechase.

The second of these prizes drawn today was shared by two Brooklyn women—Eleanor Cabaret and Ruth Marshall, who share one of the $35,000 prizes in the Irish Sweepstakes draw, have been sharing all their lives.
Both are 22. They have been chums since they were little children. Both graduated four years ago from James Madison High school in Brooklyn. Both are typists at the International Business Machine company. Both live in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn.
Both left their homes this morning before news of the prize came.
Miss Marshall lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Marshall. Her father is the New York representative of a medical products company.

G CLEF SINGERS ADVANCE NOTED

Tone Quality, Blending and Diction in Girls' Chorus Are Improved.

The sixth annual concert by the G Clef Club was rendered last evening at the Emanuel Lutheran church, before a large and appreciative audience of music lovers. The evening program was given by the club and assisting artists.
Praise the Lord, ye Heavens, adore Him, Handel.
Angela Chorus, Schubert.
Peace I leave with you, Roberts.
The Club.
Prayer, Hasselmann.
Le Bon petit roi d'Yvetot, Grand-jang.
Mighty like a rose, Nevin.
Spanish Patrouille, Tedeschi.
Miss Hoffman.
Air for 12 strings, Bach.
Schon Rosmarin, Kreisler.
Maurika op. 19, Wieniawski.
Mr. Nelson.
Gallia, Gounod.
G. Clef Club.
Maurika, Schumann.
Medley, "A perfect day," Bond.
La Source, Zabel.
Miss Hoffman.
Nocture op. 9, No. 4, Chopin.
Sonata in D Major, No. 4, Handel.
Mr. Nelson.
Meditation, Bach-Gounod.
The Stranger of Galilee, Morris.
When Thou Comest, Rossini.
G. Clef Club.

The excellent groups of choral music were beautifully rendered under the very capable leadership of Helge E. Pearson. The music which was particularly appropriate for the Lenten season, was rendered with much devotion and solemnity. It all seemed to be in perfect harmony with the lovely altar and chancel of the church.
The singing of the club this year at its sixth annual concert was outstanding. Great progress has been accomplished in tone quality, blending and diction. The club also had a fine, after last evening's fine work, that it is a real choral organization of a very high order. Particularly excellent singing was done in the Negro Spiritual, Gallia, and Meditation.

Mrs. Gustafson and Miss Berggren both added much to the artistic success of the concert with their solos in the choral works. Both were in good voices and sang their parts with finish and good understanding. Mr. Pearson is to be congratulated for his work as director. The assisting artists were Miss Santa Hoffman, harpist and Ivar Nelson.
Miss Hoffman, a harpist of considerable ability, pleased her audience with her solos. They were numbers of wide variety and gave her good opportunity for display of technique as a soloist.
Mr. Nelson, a young violinist from Worcester, with his two groups made up the remaining part of the program. His playing showed talent and with years to come of hard work and study one may expect better playing from him.
Miss Eva Johnson and Arvid Anderson played good accompaniments.

NURSING ASSOCIATION ASKS FUNDS FOR WORK
Receipts of Dance Friday Night Will Be Applied to Health Service Fund.
In place of the regular weekly dance at the School Street Rec this week, a benefit dance for the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association will be held Friday night, the receipts of which will go into the Health Service fund. Music for the dance will be furnished by Art McKay and his orchestra.
The association offers nursing service for all the people of the community and is maintained by the public for the public. The care given includes all forms of bedside nursing, instruction to expectant mothers as regards the care of the baby, instruction in the care of tuberculous patients and general advice regarding the prevention of disease. This service is rendered at a nominal cost and in many cases the expense is borne by the association.
The association also holds prenatal, dental, well-children, nose, throat and chest clinics at regular intervals at 74 Haynes street.

Mrs. John Cullin of Bond street has received announcement of the birth of a 9 pound boy to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Moynihan on March 18 at the Salem General hospital, of Salem, Oregon. Mr. and Mrs. Moynihan, who formerly lived in Manchester, moved to Oregon nearly 10 years ago. They came East last summer to attend the World's Fair at Chicago and to visit relatives here. Mrs. Cullin and Mrs. Moynihan are sisters.

Sales of 10,326,227 yards of silks during the second half of February showed a drop of 10.8 per cent under the gross sales for the same period of January and a decrease of about 8.2 per cent when compared with 1934 according to figures issued on 49,256 stock-carrying mills by the Silk Textile Jode Authority. The figures cover about half the looms of the industry. All silk goods led with 37.1 per cent. Production during the two weeks totaled 9,745 yards, with all-silk fabrics leading with 56.5 per cent. The output was 8.5 per cent higher than for the last two weeks of January and 11.1 per cent under a year ago. Total stock of 40,930,177 yards, an increase of 2.3 per cent as compared with Jan. 31 and 26 per cent under 1933.

PLASTER WORK AT POLICE STATION STARTS FRIDAY

Office of Chief Gordon to Have Sound Proof Walls, Insuring Privacy.
Parts of the brick walls in the police and town court rooms have been taken down and the plastering work will be started Friday. There is an important change to be made on the police station side of the building. The front office, which occupied the north and south sections of the building and was of frame and glass, is to be removed and in its place will be erected walls that will be more sound proof. This is a section that has been occupied by Chief Samuel G. Gordon and in this room he has often found it necessary to hold conferences. The room was slightly constructed that it was anything but private. The length of the room will not be as long as the one now in use, but will give added space for the room in which the police signal system and telephone calls are handled. The present "bar" is to be changed around, and instead of east and west will run north and south. This leaves the rear room for Captain Schendel to hold conferences at night. A new door into one of the small rooms where the vault was located has been opened from the main police lobby with another room leading from the back office into the same room.

Strongly rejecting currency expansion, Hitler said, "inflation, as we had under previous regimes, is impossible."
He added that under the Nazi regime savings in bank deposits in excess of 1,000,000,000 marks (about $397,000,000) had been accumulated by those who for 14 years showed incompetence.
"Never has any government succeeded to a worse inheritance than ours did a year ago," he asserted.

JOHN MATHER CHAPTER BALL SET FOR APRIL 27

The sixth annual ball of John Mather Chapter, Order of DeMolay, will be held Friday evening, April 27, it was announced today by Wilbert Hadden, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, which also includes Harry Howland and Carl Cully from the chapter and Richard McLagan and Peter Wind of the advisory board.
This annual affair always holds a definite spot in the social register of Manchester because it adds the finishing touch to the start of spring and summer functions. Several famous New England orchestras are being considered to furnish the music for the ball and further information on the event will be forthcoming in the near future.

"I am glad to take this opportunity to state categorically that the United States on its part has no desire to create any issues and no intention to initiate any conflict in its relations with other countries."
The Hirota-Hull exchange was the first such passage of good will notes since President Roosevelt took office more than a year ago.

HIGHSPOTS OF NOTES

Washington, March 21.—(AP)—Here are some related highspots in the exchange of peace notes between Koki Hirota, Japanese foreign minister, and Cordell Hull, secretary of state:
Hirota: "I can state with all the emphasis at my command that the Japanese Nation makes its basic principle to collaborate in peace and harmony with all nations and has no intention whatever to provoke trouble with any other power."
Hull: "I receive this statement with special gratification and I am glad to take this opportunity to state categorically that the United States on its part has no desire to create any issues and no intention to initiate any conflict in its relations with other countries."
Hirota: "It is a matter for gratification to both our countries that they produce very few commodities which represent conflicting interests in their foreign trade, that each supplies what the other wants, that they are good customers of each other's products, and that they are strengthening their relation of interdependence year after year."
Hull: "I perceive every reason to anticipate that the United States and Japan will continue to develop their reciprocal trade with benefit to both countries and, where there may be competition, with constant reciprocal good will."
Hirota: "I firmly believe that viewed in the light of the broad aspects of the situation no question exists between our two countries that is fundamentally incapable of amicable solution."
Hull: "I believe that there are in fact no questions between our two countries which if they be viewed in the proper perspective in both countries can with any warrant be regarded as not readily susceptible to adjustment by pacific processes."

SEASON'S MEETING

Annual Meeting of the Beef Supper.
The annual meeting of the British-American club will be held in the club rooms at 988 Main street Saturday evening following a roast beef supper. The supper will be served at 6:30 promptly because of the extensive program that is to follow. Members are asked to bear this fact in mind so that all will be on hand to dine at the right hour.
The business session which will immediately follow the supper includes the reading of reports of the officers and the election of officers and committees for the ensuing year. Some changes in the list of officers will probably be made at this meeting and a full attendance of the membership is desired.
With all the business completed the entertainment committee will take over the activities of the evening. Match games in darts, pool, billiards, bowling and set back have been planned and there will be an opportunity for everyone to get into some one of the games. In addition the games program there will be songs and skits by the various club members whose talents always add to an enjoyable evening.

Major League Prospects

By ALAN GOULD

BOSTON RED SOX
Sarasota, Fla., March 21.—(AP)—If there's any special reward in this year of reconstruction for the feat of going democratic (with a lower case D) and thoroughly left-handed at one and the same time, the Boston Red Sox should walk off with the American League pennant and complete the conquest they have already caused in baseball after a lapse of 16 years.

In the process of complete organization under a new ownership headed by Tom Yawkey, youthful New York millionaire, directed by the resourceful Eddie Collins and with the energetic Stanley "Bucky" Harris newly installed as manager, the Red Sox have drawn on the resources of all seven American League rivals.

The Red Sox have not been out of the second division since the breakup of their last pennant winner in 1918. They finished seventh in 1933. If there is such a thing as outpunching the opposition to death, the Red Sox have enough portside poison to do it.

Topping the list is the great Robert Moses Grove, fire-ball terror of the last ten years, who cost Boston around $25,000 and is expected to pace the pitching staff with at least twenty victories. Big Moose came up with the first over arm of his career this spring, but he blows cigar smoke at any suggestion this development is either serious or an indication he is slipping. The left-handed majority otherwise consists of George (Rube) Walberg, Grove's associate of championship days with the Athletics; Big Bob Weiland, a holdover on whom Harris relies heavily; Herb Pennock, the gifted former Yankee who can still do a neat turn of relief pitching; and Fred Ostermuller, recruit sensation who won 16 games for the Rochester Internationals last year.

For right-handed foils, Harris has three former Yankees in George Piggars, Henry Johnson and Gordon (Dusty) Rhodes, besides John Welch, one of the few holdovers on the roster.

"With the kind of pitching I am confident we will get from the start," says Harris, "I do not see how we can miss being in the pennant race."

Has Batting Punch
Harris is satisfied he will get all the backstopping skill he needs from the smooth working, hard-hitting Rick Ferrell. He also looks for real batting punch for an outfield consisting of Duff Cooke, Roy Johnson and either Carl Reynolds or Julius Solters, International League hitting champion from Baltimore.

It remains to be seen, however, whether either the outfield or infield measures up to requirements. The inner defense probably will start with Eddie Morgan, Cleveland cast-off, on first; Max Bishop, formerly of the A's and the lead-off king, at second; Chalmers Sissell, obtained from the Indians at short; and Young Bucky Walters, from the San Francisco Missions, on third. The reserves include Joe Judge, team mate of Harris on the 1924-28 Washington champions; Bill Warner, ex-Yankee; and Fred Muller, from Seattle.

Jones Returns to Golf After 3-Years Absence

Seeks Victory on Course He Helped to Build at Augusta; Field Includes Most of Great Figures of Game; To Start Tomorrow.

By ALAN GOULD

Augusta, Ga., March 21.—(AP)—Under circumstances that make this golfing affair one of the outstanding sports events of the year, Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., emerges from retirement tomorrow to match strokes with the pick of North American amateur and a crack brigade of professionals.

For official purposes, it's the master's invitation tournament. There's $5,000 in prize money, including $1,500 for the top professional. It's to be over the regular 72-hole tour, with one round scheduled for each of the next four days, at the beautiful Augusta National course designed and built under the personal supervision of Jones himself.

With a few notable exceptions such as Gene Sarazen National P. G. A. champion and Johnny Goodman, National open champion, all the great figures of American golf have accepted the invitation and challenge to renew a rivalry with Jones that was broken off in 1931.

The professionals have rallied in force, led by Denny Shute, British open champion, Walter Hagen, MacDonald Smith, Johnny Farrell, Bill Burke and Paul Runyan, biggest money-winner of the winter campaign. The field also includes George T. Dunlap, Jr., of New York, National amateur champion, and Canada's amateur ace, Ross Somerville, who won the United States championship in 1932.

To Somerville, as well as others, it appears Jones has jeopardized his chances by taking over too much of the responsibility of host to one of the biggest golfing parties in years. Whether this was responsible or not, Jones lacked anything like his usual control yesterday and appeared somewhat concerned about his putting touch, or, rather, the lack of it.

BOXING CHAMP LEARNS HOW TO MAKE SALADS

Salt Lake City, March 21.—(AP)—Between activities on the football field and the boxing ring, 200-pound Harvey Brown is learning to make salad dressing and buy potatoes.

Hands that snapped the pigskin back to quarterback during the grid season, now are working over the mixing bowls in the Domestic Science Department at the University of Utah. He always liked to cook, so he went in for it in a big way, his objective being a job as a chef in a hotel or hospital.

He plans to take all the courses the university offers in cooking and may work for a degree if he does not have to take too many subjects that would be "embarrassing."

"Sewing, for instance," he explained. Asked about his grades, Brown said they are "just about the same as the girls."

CHAPIN, GLEDHILL IN DEBUT TONIGHT

Clash in Pro Net Match at New Haven Arena; Tilden to Oppose Vines.

By ALAN GOULD

New Haven, March 21.—Alfred H. Chapin, Jr., of Springfield, Mass., and Keith Gledhill of Santa Barbara, Calif., will make their bow as professionals with the William T. Tilden touring troupe of tennis professionals which comes to the New Haven Arena tonight. Besides Tilden, the old master of the court game, the group is completed by Ellisworth Vines and the two aforementioned recent recruits to the ranks of tennis pros.

The Tilden troupe will play a series of singles and doubles matches. In the singles will be seen Tilden opposing Vines and Gledhill against Chapin. For the doubles matches Tilden and Chapin will hook up against Gledhill and Vines, the U. S. amateur doubles champions in 1932.

Tilden's record as a tennis player is outstanding. He was really more of a tennis star than a tennis player. He won the Wimbledon title for three years, having gained permanent possession of the New Haven Lawn Tennis Club cup in 1932, by defeating Hoby Hyde, of Hartford, in the singles final. A near-capacity crowd is being looked forward to when Tilden and his troupe comes here this evening at 8:30.

Chapin is particularly well known in the net game. He held the Connecticut state title for three years, having gained permanent possession of the New Haven Lawn Tennis Club cup in 1932, by defeating Hoby Hyde, of Hartford, in the singles final. A near-capacity crowd is being looked forward to when Tilden and his troupe comes here this evening at 8:30.

STOEFFEN AND MANGIN DEFEAT FRENCH PAIR

New York, March 21.—(AP)—Lester Stoeffen and Gregory Mangin, champion and runner-up in the National indoor championships last week, had given the United States a two to 0 lead over France in the International team matches, today but only after ten sets of grueling tennis.

Mangin had to overcome a one set deficit to upset Christian Bonamus, 8-10, 7-5, 7-5, 6-2 in the opening match and Andre Merin gave the giant Stoeffen just as much trouble before the Californian could win 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 7-9, 6-4.

PICKED FOR DAISY CHAIN

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., March 21.—(AP)—Massachusetts headed the list today of the 34 sophomores selected for this year's Vassar college daisy chain exercise.

Seven students from the Bay State were on the list: Margaret Bradley, Milton, Mass.; Linda Collins, Newton Center; Gertrude Grover, Holyoke, Mass.; Virginia Leiber, Haverhill, Mass.; Elizabeth McCutcheon, Greenwich, Conn.; Jane Northrup, West Roxbury, Mass.; Helen Nowell, Winchester, Mass.; Agnes Richardson, Brookline, Mass.

Masons Turn Back Jewels, 42 to 33

ELIMINATION FINAL SLATED FOR STATE ARMOY TONIGHT

RANGERS AND YMCA BATTLE FOR RIGHT TO OPPOSE GUARDS

Town Champs to Tackle Polish-American Quintet of Rockville in 2nd Game; First to Start at 7.30.

The National Guards oppose the Polish-Americans of Rockville at the State Armory tonight but whatever interest there is in the double-header attraction will undoubtedly be centered on the first game of the evening between the Rangers and the YMCA, the winner of which will meet the Guards in a three-game series for the town basketball championship.

The first game is slated to start at 7:30 o'clock with the second at 9 o'clock. Dancing will follow the last encounter. The Guards had originally planned to meet Broad Brook but negotiations for the game fell through and the Polish-Americans were booked. The Windy City team has compiled an impressive record this season, its most notable triumph being over the All-Burnside.

Seek Tenth Win
Tonight's game will probably be the last start of the regular season for the Guards, prior to the town title series and the champions will be out to gain an even break in their twenty starts, having won nine and lost ten to date.

Basketball interest has been at a low ebb in Manchester all season, due mainly it seems, to the mediocre records which have been chalked up by local quintets. Last week's triple-header drew no more than 200 cash customers to the Armory. It is entirely possible, however, that a large crowd will be on hand tonight to get a line on the teams that will engage in the title series.

An Even Struggle
The Rangers and Y both turned in startling upset victories last week, the former team trouncing the Jewels, 42-26, while the latter scored on the Masons, 27-24. As far as knowledge of the game is concerned, the Rangers have an unquestioned edge but the Y five plays an aggressive, slashing brand of basketball that makes them an outstanding threat. It should be a hard fought, closely contested tussle all the way. The Y seems capable of halting the Rangers and gaining the chance to face the Guards but after last week's results anything is liable to happen. And anything probably will.

John "Shorty" Malin of Hartford will referee both games.

CAGE CHALLENGE.

Sports Editor:
The West Side Buddies, through their manager, Philip Waddell, challenge the Celtics and the West Side Reds to a series of games to determine the championship of the West Side. This challenge pertains to these two aforementioned teams and absolutely does not mention the West Side Boys club, which were in the estimation of the players and manager of the Buddies is not in the same class as the Celtics and the West Side Reds and without a doubt are very much below the caliber of the West Side Buddies. The manager of the Buddies wishes to see that Manager of the Buddies in the West Side Boys' club failed through fear or absent mindedness to keep an appointment on Monday night with the manager and coach of the West Side Buddies to arrange for a series of games between the two teams. Thanking you in advance for space given in your paper for the printing of this challenge I remain,
Yours in sports,
Philip Waddell,
Manager of West Side Buddies.

PLAY DECIDING GAME

The West Side Buddies will entertain the Foresters of Rockville tonight at the School street gym in the third and deciding game. Both teams have won one game apiece, and this being the rubber, an interesting hard fought game is looked for. The game is scheduled to start at 8:15 o'clock sharp.

Rangers Battle Maroons To Scoreless Deadlock

Montreal, March 21.—(AP)—After being almost counted out in advance, the New York Rangers, defenders of the Stanley Cup, were back in the playoff argument today at least an even chance of going on to the semi-final round.

The shifty Blip Skirra stiffened their defense when the team came last night and played the Montreal Maroons, their rivals in the third-place series, to a scoreless draw in the opening contest of the National Hockey League's post-season series.

The teams will complete their two-game, total-goal series at New York Sunday night, resting Thursday when the other teams, Toronto, Detroit, Chicago and the Montreal Canadiens, begin their playoff action.

Setting the inter-league pace for John Heydler's loop are the world champion New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs. The Cubs have a perfect record against the American League with two successive triumphs over their city rivals, the White Sox, while the Giants have won four and lost one. The Brooklyn Dodgers earned the seventh national league victory, handing the A's one of their setbacks.

The Yankees, Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators alone have escaped defeat so far. Joe McCarthy's fusileers have won four in a row, all from the Braves. The Red Sox defeated the Tigers in the only game they have played so far. Washington hasn't even begun its exhibition schedule.

WEITH SOX
Santa Barbara, Calif., March 21.—(AP)—It's going to be "hard boiled" Lew Fonseca from now on. Exasperated at the hardness of several players the White Sox pitcher, usually a soft-spoken person, has issued a "hustle or get out warning."

ATHLETICS

Fort Myers, Fla.—The Philadelphia Athletics are looking for some way to acquire punch. Inability to bring in the runners has figured in four of their five defeats.

CARDINALS

Bradenton, Fla.—Lou Durocher's easily injured legs are causing some concern to Cardinals officials. The number one Cardinal shortstop re-injured the knee yesterday and will have to take it easy for several days.

RED SOX

Sarasota, Fla.—The younger pitchers at the Red Sox camp will get their chance to strut their stuff Friday. When the Sox meet the Newark Club of the International League, Johnny Merina and Jimmy McCloskey are expected to face the minor leaguers.

BRAVES

St. Petersburg Fla.—Ray Starr, purchased by the Braves from the Giants, is the first of the tribesmen on last seasons payroll to be turned loose. He has been released outright to Minneapolis.

YANKEES

St. Petersburg, Fla.—On their showing to date the New York Yankees' new infielders, Shortstop Bob Rolfe and Second Baseman Don Kettner, will do in four games each as accepted to the Dodgers camp, but he has not signed a contract. Hack went into a huddle with Business Manager Bob Quinn, but emerged without agreeing to terms.

GIANTS

Miami Beach, Fla.—The New York Giants' three successive defeats by the St. Louis Cardinals, leave Manager Bill Terry unperturbed.

"We might have won all three if I had let my regulars stay in," Bill says. "But I've got a stock of rookies and the only way I can get a line on 'em is to put them under fire in exhibition games."

Ansaldi Five Impressive In Taking Series Opening

Phantoms Trim Mitchell House, 42-32; Play Second Game at Rec on Saturday.

In another one of the many upsets in local basketball circles an inspired Ansaldi Mason quintet scored an impressive triumph over the Jaffe Jewels in the opening tilt for the championship of the Rec Senior League at the School Street Rec last night. Less than 200 fans saw the favored Jaffe team bow in defeat before a superior opponent by a score of 42-32.

Gain Early Lead
There was no question about the Masons surprising victory. They played a brilliant, aggressive brand of basketball that was coupled with a determination to win. The winners held a 27-8 lead at half time through the brilliant shooting of Holland and Farr. The second half the Jaffe team made repeated rallies to overcome the Masons but were not equal to the task though they outscored their rivals 25-15 the final half. The work of every member of the Ansaldi team stood out in their victory while Nelson and Anderson did the best work for the losers.

Phantoms Victors
In the preliminary game the Phantoms, with a makeshift lineup defeated the Mitchell House Five 42-33 in which the winners stayed on top from start to finish. The outstanding play of O'Leary featured for the Phantoms, while Batrich did the best work for the losers.

Second Game Saturday

CONSULT YOUR WIFE

for Sound Advice...

MR. MAN, you may know more about the intricacies of the stock exchange, more of high finance, more of the whys and wherefores of politics, more of this and that—

BUT, when it comes to shopping, your wife has probably got you beat six ways to the jack-pot.

Now don't let your male egoism get the better of you and just say, "The bl—k she has,"—think about it. After all, women have made it their business to be good, economical shoppers. They have devoted thought and effort to the business "you haven't had time for."

Go to your wife and ask her how she handles this shopping proposition. She'll tell you, "Well, the first thing, and it's the most important, too, is to read the ads in The Herald."

And then she'll be glad to demonstrate for your benefit exactly how reading the ads led to economies and advantages in the purchase of everything from that club steak you liked so well last night to the new dress you've just been admiring.

Then, too, she'll probably welcome the opportunity of proving to you that she can save you money and assure you of better quality by buying your shirts and socks and such for you after checking the ads. Why not let her try it? She is a real expert at this shopping business. Above all, don't forget to follow her advice when you're shopping for yourself and check the ads in this paper before you start out to do your buying.

32 MORE CWA MEN TO BE LAID OFF

Officials Expect Increase in Charity Costs When Federal Aid Ends.

The Manchester CWA force will be reduced from 320 to 288 tomorrow in accordance with the federal plan of reductions for this state.

It is not yet definitely decided just what form of relief will be granted this town under the new plan of federal relief to replace the Civil Works Administration.

A review of the CWA activities for the past six months was given by Town Treasurer George H. Waddell, who pointed out that the charity expense to the town under the operation of the CWA had dropped from $81,000 a year ago to $54,000.

All members of the committee who will close their labors with the meeting to be held next Wednesday, unless orders for continuance are received, are convinced that the program of the past few months has resulted in a saving to the town through a 70 per cent charity expense reduction.

In addition to the sharp reductions in the charity items of rent, fuel, hospital and medical supplies, groceries and other forms of subsistence, there has accrued to the treasury of the town a refund of the $80 per cent accredited charity charges totaling $28,000, of which to date over $20,000 has been expended.

In the event of the refusal of the Board of Selectmen to foster a work-relief program under the Federal Emergency Relief it is expected that the charity expense of the town will increase in the same proportion that it lessened when the CWA took over the charity lists and placed the larger per cent of able workers on local works.

It was mentioned at today's meeting that the Selectmen are opposed to providing work relief, believing it is cheaper to give outright charity.

LOCAL UNION EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETS SATURDAY

Will Take Action on Closing Charter to All Silk Workers Living in Manchester.

There will be an executive meeting of Local Union No. 2125 United Textile Workers of America in Odd Fellows Hall Saturday morning at 9:00 o'clock.

Final instructions are to be given to the local council delegation who are to attend the Connecticut Textile Council meeting Sunday in Mystic.

This executive committee will vote to recommend to the next regular meeting of the local union to close the charter to all Cheney employees, also to all other silk workers residing in Manchester but who are employed in other silk textile mills outside of Manchester.

mit from the state, costing $100. The Selectmen have not been notified that such permit has been taken out, and the matter was turned over to the police to investigate.

A reaction from the recent special town meeting at which the voters turned down the article to purchase and appropriate $5,800 for six modern 50-point voting machines, was renewed by the Selectmen at a special town meeting.

The owners of the machines hold that if a special meeting cannot be held during this time, the company would be willing to accept a renewal lease contract with option date to expire on October 6, four days after the annual town meeting.

It is provided, however, that the new lease contract must be signed by the proper officials on or about March 20 and a cash payment of $750, to be made on March 20. In the letter stated, would be at the rate of five per cent.

It was the consensus of the meeting that it was good business to hold the machines for further service at future elections, basing their opinions upon the experience of the past few elections when lines of voters extended to the Center street sidewalk and completely around the Municipal building.

The Selectmen voted approval of the general plan which was acceptable to them, but the legal and other aspects of the case will be reviewed and will be discussed with the members of the Cemetery committee. The town counsel will also be asked for his opinion. It is expected that the matter will be placed before the voters of the town at a special town meeting.

Charles Stays of East Center street appeared before the board prepared to make an offer for the standing old oak trees located on town property near the Porter and Howard reservoirs. He agreed to cut only such trees as are large enough for lumber, ties and cordwood.

Mr. Stays stated that many of the larger trees, mostly those last year, were worthless and should be removed. In executive meeting the request was denied, the Selectmen asking the stand that cutting of the larger trees be deemed full grown by CWA help.

William Pitkin, outside highway foreman, gave the Selectmen a history of the work done on the highways and streets since the last meeting and urged the rental of a small truck for use on the streets. Trucks formerly used for other purposes two days each week, he said. He also suggested turning in a small obsolete V-snow plough formerly used for the small town tractor towards the purchase of a large wing plough for use on one of the large town trucks.

John H. Leppen, local insurance agent, in a letter to the Selectmen, asked that a part of the town's insurance business be given him.

Town bills totaling $29,681.79 were reviewed and ordered paid. The largest expenditure for February was the County tax payment in $16,094.23. Other large items in the February list were $1,868.55; Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, $728.90 and Manchester Electric Company, (street lights) $2,089.22.

Alterations and additions amounting to $1,400 by Louis Chesney of East Middle Turnpike and one plumbing inspection, submitted with checks of $1 in each instance, was the lowest report of the building and plumbing inspector in several years.

The reports of the Public Health Nursing Association and Miss Cassie M. Reynolds, social service worker, were read and approved.

150 ART MASTERPIECES TO BE DISPLAYED HERE

Hope to Encourage Better Appreciation of Art in Manchester by Exhibit.

"Tell me what pictures hang upon his walls, and what books are his companions, and I will tell you what manner of man he is."

In line with the trend for the use of pictures as a decorative note as well as a better appreciation for the best in art, two of Manchester's public schools have arranged for an exhibit of reproductions of the works of artists of many generations.

During the week of March 26 a collection of 150 masterpieces, representing French, Italian, Flemish, English, Dutch and American schools of art, will be arranged in the assembly hall of the Hollister street school and at the Barnard school the following week. The exhibit embraces a variety of landscapes and portraits, showing the original colors as well as the brush strokes.

The tie up with this exhibit it is planned to present a special art program, Tuesday, March 27 at 2:30, by the pupils of the school, who will pose in living pictures chosen from these masterpieces. Appropriate music will be played while the pictures are shown.

The delegates are: Joseph Moriarty, Clarence Peterson, William Allen, Clarence Wetherell, William Barron, Edward Frazier, William Leggett, Ernest Ubert and Lawrence Redman. The alternates chosen were: Walter Balch, John Gienney, Hilding Gustafson, Frank Valluzzi, Chesterfield Pirie, David Toomey, Bertie Mosley, Harold Dougan, and James Hines.

A committee for Convention activities was selected, headed by Joseph Moriarty, assisted by the following: William Allen, Harold Dougan, Bertie Mosley, Walter Balch and Hilding Gustafson.

The local post has won the cup for the best appearing unit in the Convention parades during the past three years, beginning with the Wilimantic Convention of 1931; the New Britain Convention of 1932, and the convention parade last year in Bridgeport.

Plans are complete for the joint annual anniversary banquet of the post and auxiliary which will take place Saturday evening, April 7, in the Rosewood cafeteria, Depot Square. Thomas Conran will cater and a large assembly of post and auxiliary members are expected to attend.

A fine supper will be served at 6:30, followed by a program of entertainment and dancing. Tickets for the supper and entertainment may be secured from the following members: William Barron, Harold Dougan, Clarence Wetherell, Lawrence Redman, and Commander Neal Cheney.

It is claimed that the secretary and lecture manager plotted and successfully destroyed the affection existing between Wells and his wife, with the result that on February 17, 1932, without the consent and knowledge of his wife, Wells went to the state of Morelos in Mexico and secured a divorce. Less than a month later, according to the complaint filed today, Wells and his lecture manager were married in Alexandria, Va. This, according to the first wife, completely destroyed the likelihood of herself and Wells ever adjusting their differences.

In June, 1932, the first Mrs. Wells instituted divorce proceedings in New York and received absolute divorce upon allegations of misconduct between Wells and his lecture manager wife. The allegations of misconduct were given by the first Mrs. Wells as occurring in 1928.

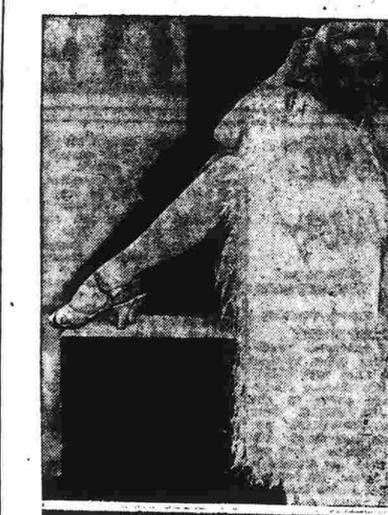

The New York decree was granted on June 7, 1932, and it is understood now that Mrs. Wells is preparing for her former husband's arrest and refusal to abide by an alimony order passed at the time.

World zinc output for February was 97,074 short tons against 105,732 in January. The United States share of last month's total was 30,172 tons compared with January production of 59,994.

Declines at Pittsburgh and Chicago have reduced the iron age steel scrap composite from $13 a ton to $12.75. Pig iron and finished steel averages are unchanged at 16.90 a ton and 2.028 cents a pound, respectively.

Hartford, March 21.—(AP)—A state-wide drive of United States Internal Revenue field agents to secure compliance from liquor dealers in the striking of strip stamps over the mouths of all bottles began this morning under the direction of Edward G. Dolan, collector for Connecticut. Strip stamps, designating the amount of the contents and the name and address of the dealer or manufacturer affixing them, must be pasted over the mouth, extending down equal distances on each side of the bottle, according to the Federal rulings. Stamps for containers of less than one-half pint costs one quarter of a cent, while stamps for all larger containers cost 1 cent.

FEATHERS IN FASHION

Sally Rand, featured player in Paramount's "Bolero," which comes on Sunday to the State Theater, proves that she is in step with the season's styles by displaying her charms in an ostrich ensemble. Miss Rand, nationally known as "The Fan Dancer," makes her screen debut in this picture.

EXHIBIT OF RARE SHAWLS AT CHURCH

Program of Music, Readings and Tableaux Given by Local W. C. T. U.

A delightful program of music, readings and tableaux, followed by a tea, was given yesterday afternoon in the parish hall of Center Church by the local branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, in connection with a shawl exhibition which for variety and numbers displayed exceeded anything ever held in town.

The entertainment opened with a song by C. Elmore Watkins, well known furniture merchant, whose talent as a singer was recognized in High school and college days. Mr. Watkins prefaced his number with a brief explanation of the composer who is well known to him, Frederick Field Bullard, a writer of martial songs. Mr. Watkins' rich bass voice was especially suited to "The Sword of Ferrara." His sister Mrs. Lura Watkins, accompanied him, and in response to an enthusiastic recall, he gave the markedly contrasting number, "That Gentle Maiden."

Daughter A Soprano To be Watkins is to be a musician, and another entertainer was one of the daughters of Mr. Watkins, Miss Miriam, who is a young singer with an especially sweet voice. Miss Watkins' public appearance in town since her graduation from Mount Holyoke last June, but many of those in the large audience heard her for the first time yesterday and were impressed with the beauty of her voice. Her choice of numbers included "My Lovely Calls by the Sea," "Shepherd, Thy Demosel Vary" by Thomas Brown and "Mary of Allendea," by Hook. She received an enthusiastic encore and returned to sing the sprightly "No John No." Mrs. Rush accompanied her niece.

Hartford Reader Pleases New to local audiences was the work of Mrs. Katherine Conrow Blair of Hartford, until recently of California. Mrs. Blair is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Conrow, the latter a well known reader. Mrs. Blair's group of numbers displayed to excellent advantage her versatility. Her rendition of one of "Willie Goes Out to Lunch" was especially clever. For an encore she recited an engaging little poem in Negro dialect. Another number "Danny" showed her familiarity with Irish brogue, and her final number, "The Minuet," called for considerable dramatic talent and drew forth hearty applause. Miss Nellie Lull then played on the piano while a number of living representations of some of the great masterpieces in art were posed by members of the Union, closing with an impressive tableau from the Pilgrim's Progress.

Rare Shawls Shows The rear and side walls of the spacious hall were covered with rare and interesting shawls, many of the double ones extending from ceiling to floor, while in front of the stage, on the piano and on tables and screens were draped the most exquisitely embroidered shawls from all nations of the world, as well as shawls of Indian, Persian and Persian, Indian and Persian designs; shawls for utility as well as for adornment only.

Considerably over a hundred were loaned for the exhibit by women of the town and surrounding towns. A few that intrigued the audience were shawls from India, loaned by Mrs. Sanford Benton. The intricate pattern, rich in warm colors and artistic stitchery and over-laid design, drew the attention of the audience.

Mrs. C. R. Burr showed several handsome shawls, among them one purchased in Iran—a blanket shawl which the Irish peasant mother wraps around herself and infant when she takes it out for an airing, in lieu of a baby carriage. Mrs. Annesley Trotter loaned an exquisite shawl more than 100 years old, the property of her grandmother. It had an all-over Dresden pattern and a cream ground. Mrs. Stuart S. Segar loaned a beautiful cashmere in rose color with border, a family heirloom for more than 100 years.

George As Gills Mrs. Rosa Brookings, president of the local branch, received the gift of two handsome scarfs from her daughter, Miss Ann Brookings, who is teaching in the African Mission field. Mrs. Brookings was one of them and the other was draped on the piano. Miss Grace Robertson displayed a lovely shawl in white silk embroidery on white silk net. Mrs. Mary Cook Williams had a choice collection of decorative and utilitarian shawls long in the Cook family.

Mrs. Hart Dexter of Windsor showed two black shawls, one of them worn by her grandmother as a "mourning" shawl after the death of her brother in the Civil War. Mrs. Louis Grant and Mrs. C. H. Burr loaned handsomely embroidered shawls, but perhaps the most interesting in this section was one provided by Mrs. George Wallace, which was covered with flowers in pastel shades on an eury field.

The W. C. T. U. planned this party for February 20, the day of the 1864 blizzard. The table decorations were all in red, white and blue for Washington's birthday and these were used yesterday with Mrs. W. R. Tinker in charge. Mrs. F. A. Verplanck, Mrs. Brookings and several of the other members served the guests delicious sandwiches, assorted cookies, candies and tea. Credit in no small measure for the artistic and social success of the affair is due to the committee, Mrs. William Rush, Mrs. C. Elmore Watkins and Mrs. Fayette B. Clark.

Grand Patriarch Bertie H. Dunbar of New London of the Grand Encampment L. O. O. F. of Connecticut will make a special visit to Shepherd Encampment No. 37 in Odd Fellows Hall, Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock. All encampment members are urged to attend as important business is to be transacted. Prior to the Encampment meeting there will be a committee meeting at 7:00 o'clock with Grand Patriarch Bertie H. Dunbar, George Wright, Fred Robinson and Beverly Wright of Shepherd Encampment attending.

Willard Greenon, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Greenon of 11 Lincoln street underwent a mastoid operation on Monday. His condition is good.

Local Union No. 2125, of the Textile Workers of America, has set Saturday, April 14, as the date for a ball and further plans will be made at the regular meeting of the Union this coming Saturday. Thomas Trotter has been named general chairman of the event and it is planned to engage an outstanding union orchestra to furnish music.

A permit has been issued by the building inspector Edward C. Elliott Jr. to Joseph Rusciano of New York for alterations in the three-story block at the corner of Bissell and Foster streets owned by Grube of New York. The store on the street floor will be made over into a restaurant and the entire block will be stuccoed. Cost of the repairs will be $800.

Miss Florence Eileen Dowd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Dowd of 98 Wells street and Albert Guay, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Guay of 66 Park street, Hartford, were married Tuesday afternoon in Berlin, Conn., by Arthur H. Bushall, justice of the peace. Mr. and Mrs. Guay will reside in Hartford.

Manchester Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls will hold a food sale Saturday afternoon at the J. W. Hale company's store. Members are urged to have their donations at the store at 1 o'clock. Miss Harriet Knight, chairman of the committee, will be assisted by Miss Jane Bantley, Miss Ernestine Montie and Mrs. Mildred Noren of the advisory board.

Center Church Women's Federation has set the date of April 18 for the presentation of a three-act play, "Three Pigs," the cast of which will be almost entirely from the young people of the volunteer choir. Mrs. Henry Lowd will be the director. Mrs. Sidney French will be in charge of music and Mrs. Edna Case Parker and Mrs. Elmer Weden will supervise the sale of home made candy which will be conducted before the play and between the acts. Mrs. Lowd has called a rehearsal for this evening at 7 o'clock in Center church parish hall.

Six out of ten people have one leg shorter than the other, according to a noted physician. Is that why they run around in circles?

ENGLISH VILLAGE WINS SHOW AWARD

Typical Countryside Scene in Devonshire the Center of Flower Show Attractions.

New York, March 21.—A bit of England's countryside, a perennial subject for praise in song and prose, has been reproduced at the Annual Flower Show at the Grand Central Palace. It was the center of attraction yesterday for delighted sightseers and for the more judicious but no less approving committee of award.

The picturesque display, depicting a peaceful English village reminiscent of the writings of English authors, won the highest award of the exhibition, the gold trophy of the Royal Horticultural Society, offered this year for the first time.

The award was for "the outstanding exhibit" in the class of English villages staged by an amateur at the 1884 show." In accordance with the conditions of the prize, the village gardens are brilliant with the blossoms that are typical of England and which can be readily reproduced in the climate of the Middle Atlantic States.

Illusion of Village Completed The village surrounds a quaint old green, on which a group of ducks and ducklings are idling near a quiet pond. The rustic scene is emphasized further by a hand-hewn wooden bench set under a gnarled tree. Around the green winds the main street of the village. The twisting street is bordered with small garden plots, each staged by an amateur at the 1884 show." In accordance with the conditions of the prize, the village gardens are brilliant with the blossoms that are typical of England and which can be readily reproduced in the climate of the Middle Atlantic States.

A novelty which is also the post and telegraph office, occupies the center of the picture. Its single window displays seeds, tobacco, toy soldiers, rubber rabbits and candy. A stone walk bordered with panicles, crocuses, tulips and phloxes leads to the entrance. Above the door is a window box containing bright red roses against a background of green vines that trail down over the entrance.

At the end of the street, next to a thatched cottage with a rustic covering, is the village inn, with a rustic signboard reading: "The Crowing Cock, since 1761." Near by is a wooden bench where wayfarers may rest.

The exhibit was so popular with the more than 30,000 visitors who thronged the show yesterday that crowds were lined up four deep throughout the day to view it. The display was arranged by the Garden Club of America, with the cooperation of the garden club of Morristown, Lake Forest and Lenox, Summit, Somerset Hills, Wilmington, East Hampton and Rye, Bedford and Greenwich.

English Influence Evident The English influence predominates in this year's flower show, is evident also in a picturesque replica of a Devonshire garden. This exhibit, arranged by John Scheepers, won one of 12 gold medals. Its center is a brook and a quiet pool, near which turtles bask. A low-roofed, weather-beaten mill is at one end.

Several thousand bulbous plants, including masses of narcissi, daffodils and multi-colored jonquils dot the landscape. The riotous display made the more striking by contrast with a background of evergreens.

LABOR TROUBLE FEARS DOMINATED THE financial markets today and most specific categories exhibited a heavy tone. Presidential intervention in the motor and rail situations brought hopes of an early adjustment of existing differences, but traders generally showed an inclination to step out of the picture until further assurances are received from Washington.

Brokerage opinion was rather bearish as the Chief Executive prepared to confer with the automobile manufacturers this afternoon and with union leaders tomorrow. Whether a compromise can be arranged was a question widely debated.

Stocks failed to follow through on the yesterday's rally and losses of 1 to 2 points were suffered, offset by leading issues. The activity expanded moderately on the decline. Intermittent rallies failed to get far. Commodities, including grains, cotton, rubber and silver eased. Bonds were hesitant, international dollar rates recorded insignificant changes.

Shares of Homestake Mining, on the first sales in several days, yielded some 30 points. U. S. Smelting was off more than 3 and others, down 1 to more than 3, included General Motors, Chrysler, Dupont, American Smelting, Allied Chemical, American Telephone, U. S. Steel, American Can, Case, Bethlehem Steel, Aggritt & Myers B. American Tobacco, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Western Union, Santa Fe, Union Pacific and N. Y. Central. The oil, alcohol, stearates and utilities were fractionally lower.

SEAT PRICES TUMBLE The price of New York Stock Exchange seats tumbled $25,000 today. In the first transactions since proposed Federal legislation to regulate securities trading took definite form.

The Exchange announced that one transfer was arranged at $110,000, and another at $100,000. The last previous transfer was on Feb. 8 at $100,000.

In 1933, the price of seats on the New York Stock Exchange was $100,000. The price of seats on the New York Stock Exchange was $100,000.

Non-support she might stand but when her husband declared that her feet were too big, her dancing partner, and that she was as awkward as an ox, it was more than Sheila Terry, film actress, could endure. She testified in asking divorce from Maj. L. E. Clark, New York banker, in a Los Angeles court. The source was granted

He was born in Charlotte, Mich., and is survived by his widow, the former Cordelia Lossy of Elmira, N. Y., and two sons, Fredrus L. and Marcus D. Baldwin.

Dr. Baldwin held degrees from Boston University and the University of Munich where he studied several years. He served on a number of state commissions in Massachusetts and was secretary of the Massachusetts Employees Insurance Association from 1912 to 1914.

He was an editorial writer on the Boston Evening Transcript for 14 years and also was the author of several books on economics.

DIES FROM GAS FUMES IN CLOSED-UP GARAGE

Bridgport, March 21.—(AP)—Anthony G. Smith, 58, of Darien, was a victim of carbon monoxide gas poisoning behind the locked doors of his garage late yesterday.

Medical examiner, gave a verdict of accidental death.

Smith's body was found on the running board of his automobile by his daughter Estelle, several hours after he went to the garage to work.

She said he had closed the doors to keep warm.

Survivors include his widow and resides Estelle, another daughter Edith and three sons, all of Darien. Funeral services will be in Stamford Thursday and burial in Darien.

BRAZIL TAKES ACTION TO KEEP OUT JAPANESE

Tokyo, March 21.—(AP)—High government officials were described "gravely alarmed" today at a Brazilian move toward inclusion of restrictive measures against Japanese immigration in that Nation's constitution.

The situation was compared to that of almost exactly ten years ago when the Congress of the United States voted to bar the Japanese.

Brazil in recent years has offered the largest outlet to Nippon's surplus population. In 1933, 22,310 Japanese emigrated there.

The foreign office instructed Kyujiro Hayashi, ambassador to Rio de Janeiro to handle the Brazilian affair tactfully, but firmly.

TO HOLD FLOWER SHOW—New London, March 21.—(AP)—A flower show to be arranged by students of botany will be held at Connecticut college Saturday, April 7. Of ten exhibits, the plant science group which sponsors the show, will have five.

The others will come from estates and florists in New London.

The students will show cacti, a terrarium, aquaria, naturalistic woodland setting, and types of walks used in landscape architecture.

INSPECTION ORDERED

Hartford, March 21.—(AP)—Federal inspection of divisions in the Connecticut Naval Militia have been ordered and the twentieth division at Bridgeport will be inspected May 10.

ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

by KATHARINE HAWLAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

FABBITO, a handsome youth, becomes a fugitive when he flees from Florida to Cuba with BEAU and LOTTIE, two thieves, following a masquerade party at the home of rich JIM FIELD. Beau has killed TED JEFFRIES, one of Field's guests, and stolen the Jeffries pearls. Fabbito does not know this, or that he himself is accused of the crime. He believes himself innocent but fears scandal if she tells the world. She goes to Havana, hoping to find Fabbito.

Meanwhile SIR AUBREY, a titled Englishman and Fabbito's father, begins a search for his son.

In Havana Fabbito hopes to meet NORRIS NOYES, who he believed Fabbito as a child. Noyes also is a fugitive, wanted for a crime years before. Fabbito goes to the hotel where they had agreed to meet but Noyes is not there.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVIII

Fabbito said, as he turned to leave the hotel, "I will return later to inquire for my friend. It may be that he will be here then."

Having thanked the proprietor and was for starting to go, for which he knew better than to offer money, he went out into the street.

For many days and many weeks thereafter Fabbito awaited his return. Each new footfall that echoed on the polished tiles would send his heart to beating rapidly. But Fabbito did not come back to tell his friend he was seeking. Maria went to find the towering blond youth with the sad blue eyes was dead. He had wanted so much to find his friend and get her home.

One day some long weeks later a girl came with an interpreter to ask for such a gentleman as the tall, blond young man had described.

"Tell 'em I gotta see him if he comes," she said urgently and the interpreter repeated the words. "Tell 'em I gotta because I got something important to tell him. Tell 'em I'll leave my address and he'll come there. Tell 'em he goes by the name of Smith. If it ain't too late by then—when he comes—it may be a matter of life or death."

On that black night when Fabbito left the Mirasol, despairing, baffled and balked, Marcia Treadway made her way to El Nuovo fronton to settle in a box from which she could watch the fastest game in the world, Jai alai.

Down, down below her was a well marked court, backed by a high stone wall and on the court were drawn close and girded with small ball from these baskets, catching it again with almost instantaneous speed.

Marcia sat with a good stake in her hand and watched the game with a player's momentary clumsiness, calling loudly, jumping, groaning, feeling untold riches drawing close and gibbering in high, shrill Spanish. There was a great tension about the game. Even Marcia felt it and thought the orchestra's playing of a lullaby to be absurd. The well-marked words of "I don't dare give Mrs. Field the test I now think would locate her trouble."

"She will die shortly," the other doctor said, "and someone will name the disease that kills her 'terribulous anemia'."

"I suppose so. They're a vile set and it's a damned shame when one who doesn't belong with them is pulled into the pack."

The doctor had become fond of Norma Field through his study of her. He knew she had done her best to make her marriage a success. Once, he realized, she must have looked as her lovely daughter did; now she was the saddest woman he had ever known.

"What do you suppose will become into her cheeks beneath the rouge. Never had anyone been dependent upon Marcia. Fabbito would have to be dependent upon her and she would be very good to him. Because he was young she would not be too exacting about his conduct. Her cheeks grew warmer. She remembered the blue of Fabbito's steady eyes and his repulsing Jeffries offered tip that day when the motor boat would not go. Fabbito would come to care for her in time and she would be very good to him.

Again she searched the crowd for an unusually tall youth with blond hair but the men below seemed all to be dark. For a moment she could not hear the music back of her, so loud had grown the roar of voices from those below. "Lisarraga!" they shouted. "Lisarraga!"

Jim Field sat by Estelle's bed where she lay, white and inert.

"We're going to Cuba for a while," he told her. "I have a home just outside of Havana that I'm sure you'll like."

"That will be nice," she answered dully. She looked at the ceiling but instead of the ceiling she saw a knife—the knife she had seen her father as she sat with Fabbito on the beach. She knew he had not done the thing of which they accused him. He had not killed Mr. Jeffries.

"Father," Estelle said after a hard swallow, "know that Fabbito didn't do that—"

Field frowned. The doctors had murmured heavily of obsessions and how they sometimes "dive" make her scoldingly. "We won't think of that—"

She sat up in bed, her lips trembling. He saw that she was going to cry again. Suddenly her face convulsed and she was crying. "You must listen," she wailed almost hysterically, "because I know he didn't do it. I know because I talked to him. People who talk the way Fabbito did don't do things like that. I know he didn't father—"

But Field was disappearing and the nurse was back with something in a glass that would, Estelle believed, make her see that had swallowed it, lie back, supine and drowsy.

"I won't take it!" she whimpered. But she did take it after a while. In the case of "The Wonder Bar" the studio knew that Al Johnson would play the same role he created on the stage. All the other parts had to be filled.

One of the casting director's duties is to give screen tests. Even stars of long standing must be given tests for particular parts. These tests involve acting and make-up. Another duty is to know what players are doing and when they can be available for the production. He must know whether they are free lance or contract players. If they are free lance players (those who are not under contract for more than one picture at a time and work at any studio) he must know whether to deal directly with them or their agents, whether they are contract players at another studio, he must enter negotiations with their employers for a loan for a specified period and picture. If they are contract players at his own studio, he must make arrangements to have them available at the time the picture is scheduled to begin shooting.

Of course the Tinies didn't know where Duncy was, but Nick said, "Oh, we'll find the lad before I'm through, unless my plan falls flat."

He kept on running through the trees till Doty panted, "Tell us, please, just where you're going. Goodness sakes, why do you run like that?"

"Well," answered Nick, "I'm going to find some little fellows who'll be kind and help us locate Duncy. There is no time to be lost. The lad may get into a mess. He'll gladly welcome us, I guess. We're going to save him from that big b'oon bird, at any cost."

"Be patient for a little while. We'll run about a half a mile and then you'll see a real strange camp, with tents in nice, long rows. I'll get a bugle when we're there, and blow some notes into the air. A very strange thing happens every time the bugle blows."

It wasn't long till Goldy said, "I see the camp. It's just ahead." And,

HOW BIG MOVIES ARE MADE

By Alex Ewelew.

Here is the real story of "Wonder Bar," the big production starring Al Johnson, which will have its New England premiere at the State Theater in Manchester on Easter Sunday, April 1.

II CASTING

The "casting script" is finished, but movies do not make themselves so the various departments get busy. Until the actual shooting begins, all of the departments have definite jobs to do. A definite time in which to do them. One of the most important jobs, from the standpoint of public and producer, is casting, or choosing the players for the picture.

Casting is in the hands of a "casting director" who is responsible to the studio heads and makes his suggestions about players to them in conference. He must know many things and the first thing he does before bringing his specialized knowledge into use is to read the "shooting script." In that way he learns how many stars, principal players, character actors, bit players and extras are needed. The script tells him, without giving him names, the kind of people he must line up for the cast. Standing must be given tests for particular parts. These tests involve acting and make-up. Another duty is to know what players are doing and when they can be available for the production. He must know whether they are free lance or contract players. If they are free lance players (those who are not under contract for more than one picture at a time and work at any studio) he must know whether to deal directly with them or their agents, whether they are contract players at another studio, he must enter negotiations with their employers for a loan for a specified period and picture. If they are contract players at his own studio, he must make arrangements to have them available at the time the picture is scheduled to begin shooting.

Of course the Tinies didn't know where Duncy was, but Nick said, "Oh, we'll find the lad before I'm through, unless my plan falls flat."

He kept on running through the trees till Doty panted, "Tell us, please, just where you're going. Goodness sakes, why do you run like that?"

"Well," answered Nick, "I'm going to find some little fellows who'll be kind and help us locate Duncy. There is no time to be lost. The lad may get into a mess. He'll gladly welcome us, I guess. We're going to save him from that big b'oon bird, at any cost."

Handsome Dan Is Back In Shape of Frankfurters

New Haven, March 21.—(AP)—Six frankfurters were the latest clues in the dognap mystery of Handsome Dan II.

The Harvard Lampoon wanted the Yale boys to believe that these were all that remained of their football mascot. But Eli undergraduates quick to recover from momentary panic, concluded by a frankfurter were obviously of the Cambridge variety and of a very poor quality at that.

"We cannot believe that although Dan may have been imbued with Harvard indifference that he could have changed so in form," said James W. Miller of Morristown, N. J., after conferring with fellow members of the Bull Dog committee.

"The frankfurters arrived by special delivery last night from Cambridge, Mass., enclosed in the package was a note saying:

"Records from the Lampoon."

From Cambridge came word also that William J. Bingham, Crimson athletic director was satisfied that the Harvard swimming team had nothing to do with the disappearance of the bull dog just a week ago today.

"It was most unfortunate," Bingham said, "that the dog disappeared while our swimming team were guests of the Yale Athletic Association. I hope that if any Harvard undergraduates have taken the dog they will consider that good judgment and a sense of sportsmanship dictates that the dog be returned immediately."

Bingham's exonerated of the Crimson swimming team strengthened Eli adherents in their conviction that a Boston debutante was taking care of Dan, ready to produce him as the guest of honor at the initiation dinner of the Lampoon, undergraduates humorous publication, or as leading man in the Hasty Pudding show Tuesday night.

And Yale men prayed that if Dan should attend either of these functions, he would forget his manners long enough to convince his Crimson hosts that there is still plenty of bite in the bull dog.

He is an encyclopedia and directory of movie personalities and phone numbers.

REFUSAL TO TAKE CUT MAY CLOSE COAL MINES

New Glasgow, N. S., March 21.—Collieries of the Acadia Coal Company were manned today by their maintenance forces despite "peace-picketing" by Amalgamated Mine Workers, who sought to have them desert the dumps.

Maintenance crews went to work in three mines today, unmolested by members of the A. M. W. though that union had called for desertion of the pits to "call the company's bluff" in a wage deadlock that has driven the management to seek court permission to abandon two of its mines.

When the working miners came out at five o'clock today for the early shift, they found pickets only at the Sellerton mine.

Refusal to accept wage reduction will result in eventual closure of the pits, it is claimed by the operators—liquitors of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, the parent company, which is without financial reserves.

FAVORITES ADVANCE

Brookline, Mass., March 21.—(AP)—Straight victories brought the favorites into today's quarter final round of the New England Women's Indoor tennis tournament at Longwood.

Top seeded Mrs. Marjorie Morrill Painter of Dedham, dropped but one game in her second round match with Mrs. W. M. Martin of Brookline. The second seeded Marjorie Sachs, of Cambridge was an easy victor over Mrs. Kendall Preston of Brookline.

John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, two presidents, died on the same day—July 4, 1826.

Four lumps of sugar are said to contain as much nourishment as a medium-sized potato.

BENEFIT DANCE

The Manchester Public Health Visiting Nurses Fund. Art McKay's Orchestra. FRIDAY, MARCH 22. Admission 50c. School Street Rec.

ABOUT TOWN

Captain and Mrs. T. J. C. Martyn of New York sailed last Saturday for Bermuda where they plan to spend some time. Mrs. Martyn is the daughter of Howell Cheney.

The Beethoven Glee club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Emanuel Lutheran church for special rehearsal in preparation for a number of concerts to be given in the near future.

Good Weather Is Coming! ARE YOUR SHOES IN GOOD REPAIR? If not, bring them in to us. We use nothing but

The Best of Leather and your choice of your favorite brand of rubber heels—O'Sullivan's or Goodyear Wingfoot—put on while you wait.

SAM YULYES 701 Main Street Johnson Block

Miss Marguerite Bengt of Manchester is on the committee arranging for the concert of the University of Notre Dame Glee club in Horace Bushnell Memorial April 9 under the auspices of Mount St. Joseph's Alumnae association.

Daniel, 8-year-old son of Rev. Frederick C. and Mrs. Allen of North Main street, who underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis Friday at the Memorial hospital, is making good progress and expects to return home the first of the week.

Troop 9, Girl Scouts will meet Monday at 8 o'clock at the School Street Recreation Center. The girls are requested to bring caps and towels for swimming.

What sounded like the firing of eight or ten shots aroused residents in the vicinity of the Center at 4 o'clock this morning and caused many to wonder if a gun battle was in progress between the police and lawbreakers. The sharp detonations were more like rifle or heavy caliber revolver shots than the backfiring of an automobile or truck. Inquiry at the police station, however, brought forth the statement that nothing untoward had occurred.

Rev. Otto Klette of the German church in Rockville will be the Lenten preacher tonight at the 7 o'clock service at the Concordia Lutheran church.

Women of the Moose will hold a setback party tomorrow night at the Home clubhouse on Brainard place. There will be six prizes for the winners. Mrs. Mary DeCiantis is chairman of the committee this week.

Charles Burr's team is scheduled to meet Rev. K. E. Erickson's team in the Y. M. C. A. volley ball league at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. The Y business men's team was recently defeated by Torrington, 7-15, 15-18 and 8-15, and will meet the Hartford business men at the Y this Saturday.

The Brotherhood of the Concordia Lutheran church will bowl this evening at 8:30 at Murphy's alleys.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Behrend of West street have announced the engagement of Mrs. Behrend's sister, Miss Mary E. Phillips of Rockville, to Fred F. Scherwitzky of that place.

The Manchester Grange degree team will meet at 7:30 tonight at the home of George Krause, 87 Walnut street, instead of at the home of Mrs. R. W. Hitt, 17 Pearl street.

The auxiliary to Mons-Ypres Post, B.W.V. will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Tinker hall. A social will follow the business.

The auxiliary to Anderson-Shea Post, V.F.W., will hold a card party tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock for the benefit of the banquet fund. It will take place at the home of Mrs. John Anderson, 39 High street. There will be prizes and refreshments and members of the post and auxiliary and their friends will be welcome.

Linne Lodge, No. 72, Knights of Pythias, will bowl at Murphy's alleys at 8 o'clock tonight, the league session having been postponed from last night.

Inasmuch and Shining Light circles of King's daughters will hold their meetings this evening at 7 o'clock in Center Church House.

BRIDGE AND WHIST Thursday, March 22, 8 p.m. Buckingham Church, L. A. Society Door Prize and Regular Prizes. Admission 25 Cents.
