NEEDY ALONE TO GET WORK ON FERA PLAN

Town Officials Hear Details of System That Supplants CWA — Minimum Week Wage Set at $15.75.

Frank Cheney, Jr., chairman of the Manchester Federal Emergency Relief board; Hayden L. Griswold, supervising engineer, George H. Waddell, certifying officer and Miss Jessie M. Reynolds, welfare worker and social service nurse attended an instruction meeting of the state relief board yesterday afternoon in the House auditorium, State Capitol at which over 300 mayors, selectmen and social service agents and workers were in attendance.

The meeting was opened by Miss Eleanor H. Little, acting supervisor of the Federal Emergency Relief administration for this state, who was introduced to the gathering by Governor Cheney.

Washington Orders
At the opening of her discourse, Miss Little read a telegram from Washington from Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Relief Administrator, to the effect that no person on relief, under the FERA plan which will begin next Monday, will be allowed to work less than 54 hours a month in unskilled labor; 30 hours a month in skilled labor and not less than three days a week for any labor.

Under the plan to be put in operation next Monday, work will continue on CWA approved projects, except that only those eligible for relief are eligible for employment under the new plan. Single men, due to the restrictions placed on hours of work, will probably receive direct relief.

Single Men's Dependents
In explaining the situation which now confronts the charity agencies throughout the state, Miss Hart, relief supervisor, said that in many cases single men may have mothers or other dependents which will enable the social service departments to include the single men in this category.

Miss Little outlined the budget standard and Miss Hart speaks in detail of the plan of arriving at the minimum of $15.75 for a family of five. A corps of trained social service workers worked with the state department to arrive at a standard budget for food, rent, light and cooking, clothing, household supplies and incidentals. Immediately, objections to the amount of the minimum allowance was voiced by the representatives of the town relief organizations claiming that the standard set was too high.

Two Shifts
An intricate plan of disbursing was explained, whereby the checks will be issued by the state treasurer. The present disbursing officers under the CWA will continue to disburse payrolls will be sent to the state office in balanced amounts from the towns maintaining FERA relief programs. It will be permissible, Miss Little stated, to stagger work so that two shifts of workers will be engaged, the paydays for these to come on Wednesdays or Saturdays.

One subject on which no immediate agreement could be reached was compensation. The plan requires the towns and cities to provide their own compensation at their own expense. The matter of compensation was tabled until the administration can talk the plan of blanket insurance and compensation over with the insurance companies.

The administration requires that

HAMILTON DOUGLAS COMMITS SUICIDE

Leading New London Contractor Believed Insane Because of Long Illness.

New London, March 30.—(AP)—Hamilton R. Douglas, 73, head of the local building firm of H. R. Douglas and Sons, and one of the leading contractors in Eastern Connecticut for the past 30 years committed suicide during the night at home in the Dingleville section of Waterford.

The victim of mental derangement induced by illness of a serious nature, the contractor lowered himself with a rope into a well evidently intending to drown, but the shock of the immersion in the icy water brought about heart failure and this was given as the cause of death by the medical examiner.

Douglas was born in France, Edward Island, Canada, August 6, 1860 and had resided in this vicinity since 1902, coming here from Winthrop, Mass. He erected many of the leading business blocks here and was also the builder of numerous educational and banking institutions. He is survived by his widow and two sons, both of whom were associated in business with him.

EXPECT SENATE TO END DEBATE OVER TARIFFS

Passage of Unchanged Bill Predicted Within a Week House Passes Measure 272 to 111.

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—After a round of good old fashioned tariff debate the Senate is expected to pass President Roosevelt's reciprocal treaty bill virtually "as is."

That was the prediction today of both Democratic and Republican leaders as they surveyed the measure passing along to them yesterday by the House.

Although the bill will probably remain in committee for more than a week, its appearance on the floor will end with a bang the four years of suspense from general tariff debate since Congress built the highest tariff wall in history during the Hoover administration.

Passes the House
After several days of comparatively listless argument, split distinctly along party lines, the Roosevelt-approved proposal passed the House yesterday, 272 to 111. It was first amended, however, to limit its life to three years and to prevent any reductions of foreign debt.

There is in the offing a proposed amendment to provide an intermediate commission, before which the parties concerned with the rates to be changed by the President could have a hearing before the tariff changes become operative.

Another attempt may be made providing for submission to the Senate of all reductions in the tariff made by the President.

To Lower Tariff Wall
Although he would have the power to raise as well as lower rates, it is generally conceded to be very unlikely that he would proclaim many increases since the aim of the legislation is to lower tariff walls around to foster an increased international trade.

Another point to be raised is whether it would be wise to confer so much power on the executive—constitutions or not.

Passage of the measure by the House cleared the legislative calendar perceptibly and Senate leaders cling to their previous hope that congress might get away between May 1 and May 15.

SEES SETTLEMENTS IN STATE STRIKES

Labor Commissioner Tone Reports on Results of Yesterday's Conferences.

Hartford, March 30.—(AP)—Discussions held yesterday between State Labor Commissioner Joseph M. Tone and managers of industrial plants in various parts of the state pointed the way toward settlements of existing labor troubles, the commissioner today said, in making known the outcome of these talks.

In the case of the strike of the E. E. Hilliard Company's woolen mills strike at Manchester, Commissioner Tone said Hilliard failed to agree on any point and the matter will go to the Boston labor board.

In the wage dispute at the American Mills Company in West Haven, the commissioner said, Mr. Smith representing the mill management, John J. Egan for the Connecticut Federation of labor, and Joseph Silvia for the workers went to West Haven after the conference and on returning Smith offered an increase in wages which was to be submitted to the union for its decision.

Norwich Strike
A half day was given over to the conference on the Worman Shoe Company strike at Norwich, the commissioner said. The outcome of this was, Tone said, the management was willing to take back every one, accepting a conference committee to be named by the workers, and accept collective bargaining. He said the company in taking back the strikers would re-employ a number each day and if all are not back at a date to be set a representative of the strikers will call up the commissioner, who would make up

STATE DAIRYMEN FEAR LOSS OF THEIR MARKETS

New Developments in Situations on Eve of Expiration of Contracts Worries the Farmers.

Hartford, March 30.—(AP)—Tenseness pervaded the Connecticut milk industry as the result of the following developments on the eve of the expiration of annual contracts and certainty that many farmers face complete loss of their livestock markets beginning Sunday.

1.—"Calf Raisers" Producers-Dealers Association meeting April 4 to vote on a marketing experiment to protect members who, unwilling to accept new C. M. P. A. contracts, will lose their market.

2.—Reports that the sixteen producers dropped from the C. M. P. A. yesterday include several liberal leaders of farm movements during the past year.

3.—Unprecedented emergency action of the C. M. P. A. to protect "unwanted" milk.

Cordon of Farmers
4.—A reported "cordon" of farmers stationed along the state boundary in an attempt to verify the complaint that shipments are imported without state supervision.

5.—Further discussions by farmers for co-operatively marketing milk direct.

George H. Robertson of Coventry, president of the Farmers National Association, which criticized the Connecticut Milk Producers Association openly during the past year, is one of the sixteen members of the C. M. P. A. dropped from the membership at yesterday's meeting of C. M. P. A. directors, the reporters were told today by one of the directors present.

The association management declined to comment or verify the list of names learned from this source until the sixteen have received official notification that they have been dropped. The majority of the men dropped are members of the Farmers National and live in the turbulent Colchester, Lebanon and Hebron areas.

Says He Was Dropped
At his home this morning, Mr. Robertson, veteran producer, said he had been reliably informed, though not formally, that he was dropped. Mr. Robertson said a "cordon" of Farmers National men are stationed on main roads leading into Connecticut, as part of his avowed program to prove his allegation that milk is entering the state without being reported to the proper state authorities. He is not ready to reveal how the mechanics of the checkup are working.

The 1,400 members of the Producers-Dealers Association today received by mail the call for the special meeting at the Hotel Garde, Wednesday at 8 p. m., to set on the proposal: "To start along experimental lines a milk marketing system primarily intended to take care

A woman dropped her baby from a third floor window in a frantic effort to save its life. The baby landed on a second floor awning, from which it was rescued by a fireman. A number of persons suffered broken bones in jumping out of windows.

Cause of the fire had not been determined and firemen could not learn from what part of the building it started. Guests who escaped said their first intimation of danger came when the flames burst into their rooms.

All available ambulances were pressed into service to carry the injured to hospitals.

Among those taken to hospitals was H. Koester, a St. Louis electrical company representative, who received a broken leg and burns on the face and hand.

GREAT GOLD RUSH IS ON IN ALASKA

Hundreds of Prospectors Lured by Gold Prices Are Starting for the Hills.

Juneau, Alaska, March 30.—(AP)—Uncle Sam's "Poor Little Stepchild"—Alaska—celebrated the 67th anniversary of her adoption today with another great gold rush.

Hundreds of prospectors, lured by President Roosevelt's new gold price of $35 an ounce, are heading in to the hills to search for new places for lone claims. Hundreds more are coming north by ship. Airplanes have taken many into the interior. Great purchases of machinery have been made by large operators who will work over tailings abandoned as unprofitable when gold prices were low.

Bought for 7 Millions
Uncle Sam paid $7,200,000 to Russia for Alaska, and today, the Juneau empire estimates she has brought a fortune to "Uncle" of almost two and one half billion dollars. The estimate subtracts the purchase price and Federal expenditures in the territory from the value of the vast flood of gold, silver, furs and other products that the territory has poured into the United States.

New Gold Rush
Reports of the "New Deal gold rush" came from virtually all mining regions of the territory, all of them predicting the biggest mining season this spring since the Klondike rush.

Gold operations, which started quietly in some places two months ago, began full blast with the approach of spring.

Estimated on the old gold basis of $20.67 a fine ounce, Alaska has produced since 1890 more than $419,781,000.

Most of the gold rushers are experienced in the Alaskan fields. Officials of Alaskan cities sent warnings that "tenderfeet" who have not sufficient money to "grubstake" themselves for the season should not come north.

ROMAN CHURCHES IN SOLEMN RITES

Pope Pius Personally Aids in Commemoration of the Crucifixion of Christ.

Rome, March 30.—(AP)—Pope Pius aided personally today in the commemoration of Jesus Christ's crucifixion by assisting at a pre-sanctified mass in the Sistine chapel.

The celebrant of the mass was Cardinal Pacelli and it was performed in the presence of 15 cardinals.

Elsewhere in Rome's many Catholic churches, black-vested priests prostrated themselves before bare altars and prayed long and earnestly in mournful commemoration of Christ's sacrifice by death for mankind.

The basilicas and churches were stripped of ornament. Tapers and candles were removed. Drapes of deep purple laid somber-black covered the sacred images. No masses were said, no sacrifices offered.

The solemn ceremony

The ceremony, which took place in all Roman churches, was called the "Pre-sanctified" because officiating priests partook in one kind only

WAR VETERANS' CHECKS TO BE READY MAY 6

Government Employees to Get Their Pay Increases by April 14—Treasury Prepares for the Big Job.

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—War veterans benefiting from the independent offices bill will receive their government checks on May 6 and government employees will get their pay increases by April 14.

The veterans' administration today continued study of the bill passed over President Roosevelt's veto. About $100,000,000 annually will go to veterans, the largest portion being destined for 29,000 "presumptive" disability cases from the World War.

Officials pointed out that checks are paid the first of each month, vouchers having to be made out by the 22nd or 23rd. Even if it were not a tremendous task to complete vouchers and have the checks made out by Treasury disbursing officers, they said, the amounts to be paid April 1 would be inconsiderable.

Not Retroactive
The 75 per cent restoration of payments to the 29,000 ruled out by review boards under the Economy Act, and to several thousand Spanish-American veterans, was not retroactive. Several years ago the administration discontinued its practice of paying semi-monthly, so the checks mailed to reach recipients by May 5 will cover the three days of March since the act went into effect, and the month of April.

Meanwhile a possibility developed of payment early in April of the 5 per cent restoration of government salaries which the law declared should be retroactive to February 1.

It was said at the office of Comptroller General McCarl that he was considering issuance of a circular to guide department heads in making out the increases. The Treasury disbursing office had almost completed leading checks for April 15 and officials in the office of Comptroller General McCarl that he was making up for payments in advance of the regular mid-month date.

GUARD CONTINUED OVER RICH CHILD

Records Show That Heir to Two Millions Was Protected All Through Year.

Greenwich, March 30.—(AP)—Guarding of seven-year-old James S. McCarthy, Jr., heir to a $2,000,000 estate and son of the late Mrs. Margaret McGowan Huntington McCarthy and Dr. James S. McCarthy from possible kidnapers in 1933 cost $1,457,110. It was disclosed with the filing of the annual accounting of the boy's estate in Probate Court here.

The boy's mother was formerly a Standard oil heiress whose estate at the time of her death several years ago amounted to $8,000,000.

The boy's father was a resident of Greenwich for several years but now lives in New Haven. Before his marriage, he was an interne in Blythewood sanitarium in Greenwich.

Papers filed yesterday showed that the sum expended for guards was specifically spent for "department of police guard service" in New Haven.

When the McCarthy's lived in Greenwich, several kidnap scares involving the boy resulted in the stationing of police about the grounds of the Huntington home.

On one occasion, a watchman who

TURKEY TO ARREST INSULL; AWAITING PAPERS FROM U. S.

BANDITS STEAL NAVY PAY FUND

Lock Officer in Safe and Get Away With About $3,000; To Investigate Case.

Norfolk, Va., March 30.—(AP)—Bandits struck Lieutenant T. C. Edrington, S. G., U. S. N. yard crafts pay officer at the Navy yard, locked him in a vault for several hours last night and escaped with approximately $3,000 of government money, it was learned today.

Lieutenant Edrington was in the vault counting his funds yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock when he was struck over the head by an unidentified intruder, naval officers said. The man or men then swept up all cash in sight, locked the door inside and escaped.

Lieutenant Edrington remained in the vault until 10:15 o'clock last night when he was released by a sentry, who was the first to discover the robbery.

The officer was suffering from a lump on the head as a result of the blow, but today apparently was suffering no ill effects.

A board of inquiry was named at the navy yard today to investigate the robbery.

Lieutenant Edrington said he did

SEVEN HOUR DAY FOR COAL MINERS

Wages Also Boosted to $5 a Day—Action Prevented Strike of 350,000.

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—Miners and operators agreed today the action of the General Appalachian Bituminous Coal Conference in clipping the eight-hour day to seven and boosting wages to $5 daily.

An accord, reached shortly after midnight, averted the threatened strike of about 350,000 miners. It marked the first shortening of the eight-hour day by a basic industry of such magnitude.

John L. Lewis, international president of the victorious United Mine Workers, told the joint conference, "I cannot but feel that with this magnificent start we are entering a new era of more rational relationships in our industry."

Charles O'Neill, one of the leading operators in the region, expressed belief that the agreement, which ended six weeks of almost continuous negotiation, signalled the death of the eight-hour day in the entire industry. This hour scale had been in operation for 36 years.

Starts Experiment
"It starts an experiment with the seven-hour day and the operators feel that with our present relationships, it will prove just as great a success as the eight-hour day," O'Neill told newsmen.

Two discordant notes marred the negotiations, however. Operators from the Fairmont region of Northern West Virginia withdrew from the conference, while negotiations between the United Mine Workers and the smokeless Appalachian operators of Southern West Virginia were disrupted.

The new wage scale increases the basic daily wage of the miners in

To Hold Chicago Utilities Magnate for Extradition Proceedings; Expect Little Delay After the Legal Formalities Have Been Complied With.

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—The Turkish government informed the State Department today that it would arrest and detain Samuel Insull for extradition proceedings.

Robert P. Skinner, American ambassador to Turkey, messaged the department that the Turkish government had definitely promised formally to arrest Insull upon receipt of a certified copy of the warrant of arrest and a complete text of the "judicial record."

The department immediately called a copy of the warrant to Ankara, capital of Turkey, and arranged for a copy of the indictment to be delivered as quickly as possible.

Later Ambassador Skinner reported that the Turkish government proposed to return the papers to the proper Turkish court.

Pending Insull's formal arrest the little cargo steamer Malotia was detained in Istanbul harbor by the Turkish authorities.

The United States and Turkey signed an extradition treaty in 1923, but it was not ratified by the United States Senate until last February 21. The Turkish Assembly has not ratified yet, and it is understood here it must do so before Insull can be extradited under its provisions.

AWAIT DOCUMENTS
Istanbul, Turkey, March 30.—(AP)—Samuel Insull has finally been called by the United States government, after a long and exciting chase, through the co-operation of Turkey, it was indicated definitely today.

Though Turkish officials have not yet announced the exact date, the step arm of the strong Kemalist regime blocked the passage of the steamer Malotia opposite the mouth of the famous Golden Horn and held the ship's lone passenger virtual prisoner while the United States awaited the receipt of documents from Washington.

Formal steps toward his actual arrest are to be taken any moment, it was indicated, as soon as the necessary papers are in order.

Expect No Delays
The history of Turkey under Mustafa Kemal led foreign circles to believe that there is unlikely to be any such delays in the handling of the Insull case here as occurred in Greece.

Negotiations between Ankara officials and American Minister Skinner are expected to write final to the strange Odyssey of the man who is wanted in Chicago on charges of embezzlement and larceny in connection with the collapse of the utility empire he once ruled.

Sailed Into Trap
The fugitive from American justice virtually sailed into a trap without thinking, apparently, of the customary rapid-fire action of modern Turkish officials.

"The Mystery Man of the Mediterranean" was reported still trying to evade arrest and he was constantly wirelessly his lawyers in London for advice.

At Ankara last night a lengthy session of the Cabinet was held and the Insull case was discussed thoroughly.

MYSTERIOUS STRANGERS
Constanza, Rumania, March 30.—(AP)—The possibility of a new attempt at intrigue on behalf of Samuel Insull, was seen today in the reported mysterious landing of three strangers near Tatlageac.

Harbor authorities here received information that a ship had approached the Rumanian shore near that town and had landed three men who immediately entered a waiting automobile and sped inland.

It was suspected here that the trio might have some connection with Insull.

At the approach of the ship, a fisherman put out in a small boat and went alongside the vessel. Three men with hand baggage entered the small boat and it headed immediately for the shore.

The information gave a clue to the name of the vessel nor to the identity of the mysterious strangers, Tatlageac is 60 kilometers south of Constanza.

THE TREASURY BALANCE
Washington, March 30.—(AP)—The position of the Treasury March 28 was:

Receipts, $108,912,966.00; expenditures, $106,928,757.55; balance, $4,884,209.11; customs receipts for the month $29,848.00; receipts for the fiscal year ending July 1, $2,300,174,838.00; expenditures, $4,794,405,158.00 (including $2,804,523,636.00 of emergency expenditures); excess of expenditures, $2,494,230,320.00; gold assets, $61,196,442.74.

THE BARGAIN HOUND

It's hard to find words to describe Milkowald's Easter flowers and plants—they are so exquisitely lovely. Take a bit of time tomorrow to drop in and see them.

Easter dresses are as feminine as lavender and old lace. The 1934 girl in her new spring frock has almost as little chance of being mistaken for a 1928 flapper as—well, as Queen Victoria herself.

Saturday Special! The first quality chiffon and semi-service stockings at the Norton Shoe regularly 59 cents are 54 cents. (54c) for tomorrow only.

You'll have loads of time for "fixin' up" Sunday morning if you don't have to bother about cooking breakfast. It should be remembered at the right angle and trip over the Easter Breakfast at the Y. M. C. A. It is to be served between eight and ten o'clock.

Birds-eye Frosted Foods should be included in your Easter menu, especially the raspberries and strawberries—they make the most delicious sherbets and shortcakes. Get them at Pinehurst—dial 4151.

George W. Stimpson's booklet, "Nuggets of Knowledge," published in 1928 gives the following explanation:

"The association of rabbits and eggs with Easter dates from early times. It should be remembered in this connection that Easter, to some extent at least, is the Christianization of a heathen festival. In both India and Egypt rabbits and eggs, as the symbols of fertility and reproduction, were closely identified with the spring festival which corresponds to our Easter. The word 'Easter' itself is indirectly derived from an old Saxon word meaning 'rising.' Easter was the festival to welcome the return of Spring, the season of new birth. Since rabbits and eggs were associated with this festival from early times, it was natural for the imagination of man to link the two together and invent the story that the rabbits lay the Easter eggs."

The whole family will appreciate a box of chocolates, two and a half pound box, 75 cents at Hale's—a real holiday treat!

If you have a jacket dress of which you've grown a little tired, why not transform it into a one-piece model? Cut the sleeves out of the jacket and put them into the sleeveless dress and, if the frock needs a collar, make one out of the material in the back of the little coat.

Spring dress colors are as varied as they are handsome. All the pink shades from palest pastel to deep, rich rose tones are used. And then there are greens which borrow from nature herself—leaf greens, grass green and the green of ocean waves on a sunny day—they're luscious!

Blue, of course, is in the limelight. Was there ever an Easter when it wasn't a good choice? Navy, medium blue, lighter shades, including hyacinth—take your pick! And don't forget about black. But, then, how could you? Trimmed with touches of vivid printed silk or white pique, it's flattering to nearly everyone.

Neutral colors are important. You'll see plenty of gray, beige, cream, and white, with touches of off-shade tones, including dusty pastels.

Brer Rabbit rules Hale's candy delectables. His choicest delectables can be seen in all sizes! And not so very far away from him you'll see the most delicious looking decorated Easter eggs, 50 cents to $1.00. There are also some little marshmallow eggs and all kinds of chocolate novelties—3 for 5 cents to $1.00.

In many families Easter dinner is almost as much of an event as the Christmas feast and this year especially the promise of Spring fills us with the desire to celebrate with feasting. If you have ham for breakfast you will want to choose lamb, veal or chicken for your Easter dinner. These meals are seasonal and delicious for special occasions.

It's spring again which means it's time for a permanent. You'll be going without a hat soon, you know, Dial 7484 and make your appointment at The Lily Beauty Parlor.

"An Easter Lily in Every Home" is the slogan of the day. Another idea that should be off-repeated is that of donating an Easter lily to one's own church in memory of a departed relative or friend. It will thus do double duty, for the church will make a practice of sending the lilies to hospitals or shut-ins after they have served for the purpose of decoration.

Week-end hostesses might like to know that Hale's are featuring Shari chocolates at 29 cents a pound.

A succulent menu for a late supper is petty shells filled with creamed sweetbreads and mushrooms, hot buttered rolls, olives and hearts of celery, tomato jelly salad, rhubarb tart, coffee.

For something right tasty the Cocktail sausage at Pinehurst hits the spot.

Things look like what they aren't—tricks of clever designers' shears, no doubt. You see what appears to be a two-piece dress. You know that two-piece frocks are fashionable, so you think no more about it. But, suddenly, you discover that a cute little peplum has made your eyes deceive you. Sure enough, it's a peplum dress which looks two-piece. The same thing happens when you think you see a redingote. It may be that, but it's just as likely to be a one-piece dress with a panel of contrasting fabric sewed down the front from neckline to hem.

Redingotes, by the way, are smarter than ever this year. The sweet little printed frocks are topped by unlined, lightweight woolen coats which don't quite close in front, allowing the dresses to be seen. The windblown theme is prevalent in this category. Rippling revers, collars that blow forward, jabots of self material that fly out over coats' lapels—all these style points make redingotes as flattering as a tunic dress on a mature figure.

Tunics are headliners, too. It may be due to the Russian influence or to the fact that women know how slenderizing they can be. But, whatever the reason, they're right in vogue, especially the newer pleated types.

The Easter bunnies at the Princess Candy Shop have a certain appeal that I dare you to resist. They're all made of Peter's chocolate and are almost too good to eat (but you'll eat 'em and love 'em.)

The story of how potato chips came into being is quite a tale in itself. The story goes, that way back in 1853 a certain young man was dining at Moon's Lake House in Saratoga, New York. He had an order of fried potatoes, but sent them back because they were too thick. George Crum, the colored chef and a man of more or less quick temper decided that this time he would make certain that the young man's potatoes were served thin enough. Accordingly, he shaved off a number of pieces from a potato and dropped them into the boiling fat.

The chef took them out in a moment and out of curiosity tasted them himself. To his surprise they were very much to his liking. Mrs. Cary Moon, the owner of the place, liked them also and she gave them the name of Saratoga Chips. She had the chef make up a lot more and then had them placed in white cornucopias, and they became popular almost overnight.

It is not known whether the young gentleman at Moon's Lake House, who expressed dissatisfaction at his first order of potatoes, was delighted with their unusual appearance upon their second serving or not.

May the sun shine on your Easter bonnet!

LANDLUBBER LOVE ENDS UP IN BRIG

Seaman Asked Girl to See His Tattoo Marks—Trouble Followed.

Bridgeport, March 30.—Somewhere out of New York today, an oil tanker was pounding through the waves to Mexico. In the forecastle, the able seaman was roasting out ribald old chantes, but one carefree bass was missing. In the bunks, duds and sailors' chests were thrown hither-yonder, but one bunk was sadly in order. On the after-noon watch, the crew stolidly lined up at the starboard rail to watch their frouzy boat clear tugs and liners, but one place at the rail was vacant. And all because of love! It happened yesterday.

Thomas Baine, 32, was hitchhiking from Hartford to join the tanker at New York harbor. At Main and Porter streets, between rides, he tested his sea legs. They were okay.

A breath of spring romance fluttered by. That was okay, too. "Hello, girl," said Seaman Baine, tentatively.

No answer. "I'm going to Mexico, and I'll bring you back a peon or a peseta or a Past President, if you're nice," coaxed the able seaman.

No answer. Able Seaman Baine went on his way to Main St. and North Ave., humming "Barnacle Bill." That reminded him! No dame ever frosted Barnacle Bill!

He returned to the fair young maiden. "I'll make it the head of a Revolutionary," he raised.

"Oh," said the dame faintly. "Able Seaman Baine construed this as consent."

"That's great, girl," he shouted, "where'll we go? Pitzer show? That reminds me again. How would you like to see some real Hollywood tattooing?"

That was O.K. too. At this juncture, fate intervened. Lieut. John E. Barton, head of the Night Patrol, was peering out from behind the curtains of his home on Porter St. Mr. Barton was a sailor himself before he was a policeman, and he knew full well what it meant when a seaman displayed his tattoo marks. He called a cop.

The patrolman hauled Able Baine into jail, and presented him before Judge Hugh J. Lavery in City court. Judge Lavery, who has gone through the quagmire of mal de mer, looked with jaundice on the man who has dedicated his life to the sickening sea.

"Five days in the brig," he roared, dismissing, in landlubberly fashion, the story of romance.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS BUSY REHEARSING PLAY

Only Seven Characters Will Appear in "The Rale McCoy" April 17.

Mrs. J. L. Handley, who is directing the three-act play, "The Rale McCoy," for production by the Manchester Community Players at the Whiton Memorial hall on April 17, reports that rehearsals are going unusually well. The cast requires only seven characters, with Mrs. Mark Holmes and Joseph Handley playing the leads. Supporting players include Miss Gwendolyn Prescott, Miss Phyllis Fallow, Russell Potterson, Alec Dickson and Walter Henry.

Although the players have had numerous rehearsals for mystery plays this is the first one produced by them. The scene of all three acts is the sitting room in the home of the McCoy's in Kinshinch, Fermanagh County, Ireland, and the time is the present. While most of the cast are familiar with the Irish brogue, it will not be overdone.

"The Rale McCoy" was one of the most popular plays in the repertory of the Irish Players from Dublin, who played it more than 500 times in the British Isles alone, and many additional times when they toured this country two years ago. It is a mixture of mystery and comedy, in which laughs take the place of shudders as the plot unfolds.

The entertainment is given under the auspices of the committee from Ever Ready Circle of Kings Daughters appointed to raise funds for a suitable interior memorial to the donors of the Whiton Memorial Library, the late Dr. F. ## MRS. HILL CELEBRATES HER 106TH BIRTHDAY

State's Oldest Resident Advises Younger Generation to Work So as to Live Long.

New Haven, March 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Rebecca Pearson Hill, believed to be Connecticut's oldest resident, observed her 106th birthday today with an admonishment to younger generations to go to work.

"If people want to live to an old age," she said, "they should do as much or more work than I have."

Explaining her observations of the lassiness of younger persons, she said: "They think they have to have an automobile to go anywhere. They have forgotten how to walk."

"Of course I have ridden in automobiles. I've been to Massachusetts and I'd like to go again right now."

Mrs. Hill lives with her granddaughter, Mrs. Henrietta Ferrigo of New Haven. She was born March 30, 1828 at Newbury, Mass. She married Henry Clay Hill in 1849. He died 36 years ago.

NO SOVIET CREDIT UNTIL IT PAYS UP

Johnson Bill Provides for Agreement On Old Debts Before Credit Is Extended.

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—No credits will be extended to Soviet Russia through the Export-Import Bank if the Johnson bill becomes a law until a debt and claims funding agreement has been negotiated between the United States and Russia and approved by President Roosevelt.

Officials here fully concur in that interpretation placed on the Johnson bill by William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to Russia.

The debt and claims funding agreement, now under discussion between Alexander Troyanovsky and State Department, is expected to range for payment on approximately $325,000,000 in claims of the U. S. government and American citizens and corporations.

Of the total $187,000,000 is a direct government obligation for loans made the short-lived Kerensky provision government in 1917 before that regime was overthrown by the Bolsheviks.

The negotiations have been in progress since recognition of the Soviet by President Roosevelt. A definite settlement is expected soon by officials.

Will Extend Credits. The Export-Import bank was organized to promote trade with Soviet Russia through extending credits to American manufacturers and exporters.

The Johnson bill, now before the House after Senate passage, would prohibit the granting of any credits to any nation defaulting debts owed the United States government.

Soviet Russia does not regard itself as in default to the United States, as the Bolsheviks, upon assuming power, specifically disavowed the obligations of the Czarist, Kerensky and other preceding governments.

The State Department holds to the contrary, and considers the Soviets, as the successor of other Russian governments, obligated for the debts of those governments.

Under that policy it had been definitely decided not to make any distinction between Russia and other defaulting nations.

SUMNER R. VINTON TO LECTURE HERE

Widely Known Traveler to Speak Before Mothers' Club and Church.

Sumner R. Vinton of Roselle, N. J., widely known platform lecturer and traveler who delighted audiences of school children at High school last season and adults at the Center Congregational church and the Y. M. C. A. has been invited to return to Manchester next week for two engagements. Thursday evening at 8 o'clock he will lecture in the Second Congregational church auditorium under auspices of the church missionary committee, Mrs. F. C. Allen, Mrs. Harry Rylander and Mrs. Joseph Wright. His subject on this evening will be "The Land and the Man," or Christ and Palestine, one of unusual appeal to church people at the Easter season.

The lecture will be profusely illustrated with recently colored slides made from photographs taken by Mr. Vinton, who is expert in this work, and artistically and accurately colored by Mrs. Vinton.

Mr. Vinton was born in Burma. His parents were natives of Wilmington and were pioneer missionaries. He was educated in this country and is a graduate of Brown University. His understanding of the natives throughout India and other parts of Asia is based on a residence of 17 years there and extensive travel in many countries.

Rev. Marvin S. Stocking of the North Methodist church, who has frequently heard Mr. Vinton and has engaged him to lecture at churches of which he was pastor, says: "Mr. Vinton is a most unusual speaker, and I have never seen anything to equal the illustrations used in his lectures."

The Manchester Mothers club has engaged Mr. Vinton to repeat his lecture, "The Beauty of the Commonwealth," in connection with its regular meeting Friday evening, April 6, in the parish hall of Center Church House. This is one of the most popular of Mr. Vinton's lectures and was repeated by request here several times last season. Mrs. Albert Harrison is chairman of the committee of hostesses for that evening.

As usual Monday night's ball will be formal. There will be refreshments during intermission consisting of chicken salad, cakes, ice cream and coffee.

James Forde, chairman of the transportation committee, has asked all Masons who can help in some of the preliminary work to report with their cars at the Masonic Temple at one o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

DOCTOR EXPLAINS MUSCULAR ACTION

By Watching Tail of Tadpole Under Microscope He Learned Details.

Philadelphia, March 30.—(AP)—How a living muscle expands and contracts, and how it recovers and repairs itself after injury, was described today to the American Association of Anatomists by Dr. Carl C. Speidel, professor of anatomy in the University of Virginia.

What happens when a tadpole gets a "Charlie-horse" was detailed by Dr. Speidel, who gave for the first time the reactions of individual muscle fibers to such injuries and irritations as bruises, cuts, burns, scalds and starvation.

The observations of the University of Virginia anatomist were made of intact living animals under very high magnification, and the technique used was the same as that carried out in his investigation of nerves in the transparent end of tadpole tails, which won for him the $1,000 research prize of the American association for the advancement of science.

Tells What Happens Explaining that a tadpole's tail when bruised shows the same type of injury which in man is known as a "Charlie-horse," Dr. Speidel said the repair takes place more quickly than is commonly supposed, and he outlined graphically what takes place within the irritated fibers. He also reported that he had watched for the first time in a living animal the complete development of striated muscle, from a single cell to a mature cross-striated fibre. This has been observed in tissue cultures before, but not in a living animal.

By close observation the University of Virginia professor was able to determine the time at which a developing fibre first becomes capable of twitching. The first movement occurs just after the first appearance in the muscle of cross-bands or striations. He reported observing several varieties of muscle contraction including one type, "a peristaltic-like contraction wave" that has been seen before.

Regarding this newly noted contraction wave Dr. Speidel explained that near one end of a muscle fibre a marked contraction zone forms, in which some of the contraction bands contract sharply with the cross striations of the relaxed remainder of the fibre. The zone of contraction advances along the fibre like a wave. Behind the wave immediate relaxation takes place. Such contraction waves may be repeated many times in the same fibre, he observed.

Dr. Speidel's observations make it impossible to hold rigidly the "all-or-none" law of muscular contraction which states that if a single muscle fibre contracts at all it contracts fully.

In his studies of the muscle fibres of nerves, Dr. Speidel has used small frog tadpoles slightly anesthetized and placed on a specially prepared microscopic slide. Individual muscle fibres are then observed in the transparent tail fin under very high magnification. Moving pictures of the movements of muscle fibres under the microscope are being made by Dr. Speidel who reported that this method has been especially effective for bringing out the first slow movements observed as the fibres originate and develop.

MAKES CERTAIN TO KILL SELF

Woman Takes Poison, Slashes Throat, Sticks Head in Furnace, Then Leaps From Window.

Morgantown, W. Va., March 30.—(AP)—When Mrs. O. B. Fawley slew her two children last night she took extraordinary pains to make sure she herself did not survive her act.

The coroner's reconstruction of her movements after the shooting is as follows:

She went into the bathroom and drank poison; She slashed her throat with a broken glass;

Going down into the cellar she thrust her head into the furnace door, singeing most of her hair off and burning her clothes;

She returned to the second floor and jumped out a window. She tumbled off a porch roof and fell into the yard. She managed to crawl under the porch, where she died.

FAMOUS ARTISTS IN NEW PROGRAM

Ponselle, Martini and Stueckgold in New Radio Series.

Ross Ponselle, world-famous soprano; Nino Martini, noted radio tenor and Grete Stueckgold, popular concert singer, will sing the best-loved American songs of yesterday and today in a new series of broadcasts to be heard three times weekly over the Columbia network, beginning Monday, April 2.

A forty-piece orchestra and a chorus of sixteen voices, directed by the nationally-known CBS conductor, Andre Kostelanetz, will accompany the vocalists and present unusual arrangements of modern dance tunes and ballads.

Presented under the auspices of Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company, in behalf of Chesterfield Cigarettes, the program will be broadcast from 9:00 to 9:30 p. m., e. t. every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday. Miss Ponselle will hold the spotlight on Mondays; Martini will be presented in the Wednesday night period; and Grete Stueckgold will be the Saturday evening star.

For the first week only, Grete Stueckgold will be heard on Wednesday, with Martini taking the Saturday position.

Every program will be broadcast from the Columbia Radio Playhouse in New York, where the most modern technical equipment, including wide-range, high-fidelity microphones, will transmit the voices and the music with an unparalleled richness of tone.

The three great singers will bring their unusual vocal talents to the presentation of many familiar and well-loved American songs, such as "Kiss Me Again," "Just a Song at Twilight," and "At the Bend of the River." Songs of more recent composition will also be included in the vocal programs.

Familiar arias from the most famous of operatic productions will form another portion of the vocal presentations with a special selection featured on each of the programs. Miss Ponselle, Martini and Grete Stueckgold will sing numbers which have been associated with their names throughout their public careers.

The orchestral and choral interludes will be unique as performances of present-day popular music. Kostelanetz, whose scintillating arrangements of current tunes rank high in the favor of radio listeners throughout the country, has prepared special versions of many danceable melodies to be played in smooth, rhythmic style. An extraordinary feature of his orchestra will be the use of twenty-three string instruments out of the total of forty. This unusual set-up will provide Kostelanetz with the opportunity of obtaining freshness and variety in every number. The gentle rhythms of the waltz will be given a premier position in each program with a special waltz melody included in every broadcast.

The programs have been designed to flow calmly from opening to closing in the manner Kostelanetz made popular, when he first presented a complete program without the usual announcements of numbers interrupting the musical continuity.

In the forthcoming series, both Miss Ponselle and Grete Stueckgold are taking part in a regular radio series for the first time.

DIG UP TREASURES IN SAHARA DESERT

Scientists Report that Civilization Once Flourished in These Sandy Wastes.

Algiers, Algeria, March 29.—(AP)—Professors Guérin and Bégasse of Algiers University reported today they had found indications that a civilization, now lost, once flourished in the Sahara desert.

The two French scientists returned from an exploration of the Tassili des Ajer region, 30 miles south of Fort Polignac, to say they had dug, from the barren sands, rich art treasures.

These, they said, included rock paintings and carvings with stone age axes and tools.

Describe Paintings They said the art was closely akin to that of ancient Egypt and the Orient. They described a painting of eight horses and chariots, each carrying a driver and said they resembled those used by the famous Guaramantes described by the Greek historian Herodotus.

Many animal pictures, including portrayals of elephants, rhinoceroses, giraffes and ostriches led the scientists to believe the Sahara was once a moist land covered with vegetation similar to equatorial Africa.

They described the art as of a prehistoric richness far exceeding in technique the realism the rock carvings previously found near Oran.

NEW HAVEN TO RUN STREAMLINE TRAIN

Will Make Boston-Providence Trip at Mile a Minute or Better.

In his annual report to the stockholders of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company, out today President J. J. Pelley reveals that the New Haven is negotiating for one of the ultra-modern streamlined trains and has already determined where that train shall run when it is delivered. The train, according to President Pelley's report, will consist of either three or four streamlined articulated cars and will be propelled by oil-electric motors. The body construction will be of alloy steel and aluminum, the trucks will be equipped with roller bearings and the train fully air conditioned.

The train, announcement is made, will operate between Boston and Providence, a distance of 44 miles, and including a stop at Back Bay station will make the trip in 44 minutes or less.

"There is," the report continues, "a dense population in the cities of Boston and Providence with considerable travel now operating over the highways between these two metropolitan areas. It is hoped that the introduction of this attractive new service will bring back to the rails a substantial volume of this business."

The report indicates that the streamline train does not constitute the only effort planned by the New Haven to recapture passenger business from highway competition. The report contains the following paragraphs: "Recovery in passenger travel normally follows the recovery in general business activity. This has already been manifested by the upward trend of your Company's passenger business during the past few months."

"In keeping with the policy of providing adequate and modern equipment to handle this traffic, and at the same time to bring about the return of some business which has been lost to competitive carriers, your company has undertaken an extensive program of repairing and improving its passenger train cars. This program provides for the general overhauling and modernizing of passenger car equipment, including the repainting, repair or renewal of car bodies, roofs, floors and upholstery, together with interior refurbishing. Modern air-conditioning will be applied to certain of the newer type de luxe coaches, as well as to all dining cars."

"In addition to this program, the purchase of 50 modern airconditioned steel passenger coaches will assist in adding to the attractiveness of traveling on the New Haven. The new coaches will be lower than the present cars, and through the use of alloy steel will be approximately 17 tons lighter in weight, thereby reducing costs of operation. Some of the other improvements will be in the interior trim, decorative scheme, de luxe type of lighting fixtures and double windows. The seats will be of special tubular construction and conducive to the greatest riding comfort possible. Heavy insulation will add to the interior quietness."

President Pelley reports a deficit of $4,853,832, after fixed charges, for the year 1933. This deficit, he states, is before guarantees on separately operated properties of $1,123,441, but after allowing for depreciation accruals of $4,371,762. This report further states that "the freight traffic of the New Haven Railroad for the year 1933 did not compare as favorably with the previous year as did that of a majority of the other railroads. The report shows, however, that during 1931 and 1932, railroad freight traffic in southern New England did not reach the low levels experienced in other parts of the country."

The report further points out that during the closing months of 1933 and up to the present time there has been a definite upward trend in both freight and passenger traffic of the New Haven Railroad.

Total operating revenues in 1933, according to the report, were $67,224,751, showing a decrease of $7,748,501, or 10.3 per cent under 1932. Freight revenue decreased $2,338,200, or 5.7 per cent; passenger revenue $4,338,191, or 17.5 per cent; and all other revenue $1,075,110, or 11.7 per cent. Operating expenses, as indicated by the report, show a decrease of $3,788,180, or 7.1 per cent under 1932, the figure for 1932 being $49,227,027.

RESERVE OFFICERS BALL IS PLANNED

Brilliant Affair to Be Held at Hotel Bond on Friday, April 6.

Hartford, March 30.—A striking military ceremony such as has not been witnessed here in many years has been planned in honor of the Army and the distinguished guests who are to attend the first annual military ball of the Hartford Chapter, Reserve Officers Association of the United States, on Friday evening, April 6, in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Bond. For the first time in history, the Colors of the 189th Infantry, the 122nd and 318th Cavalry regiments, the 19th Division, 5th Battalion, Naval Militia; the First Company, Governor's Foot Guard, and the Putnam Phalanx will be massed together in a grand salute to Army Day and that for which it stands.

Enthusiastic Response
In announcing completion of the arrangements for this massing of the Colors, the ball committee stated tonight that the proposal had met with most enthusiastic response on the part of the commanding officer of these military and naval organizations, and that each has picked a special color detail to represent the unit in this impressive formation. Nothing could be more fitting, said the committee spokesman, than to have these seven organizations, leaders in this city's and state's military affairs, joining together in a tribute to the Army and its achievements. Through them and the scores of distinguished people who have accepted invitations to military and civil interests throughout this part of Connecticut will be represented in this brilliant gathering.

Prominent People
This ceremony will come at 10 o'clock, and will be followed by the grand march. In this will be seen such distinguished people as Lieutenant Governor Roy C. Wilcox and Mrs. Wilcox, Brigadier General William F. Ladd, the adjutant general of Connecticut, and Mrs. Ladd; Mayor J. Watson Beach and Mrs. Beach, and many state officials and military officers with their ladies. The music will commence at 9 o'clock. It is requested by the committee that guests be prepared to stop dancing at promptly 10 o'clock when bugles sound for the massing of the Colors. They may resume immediately after the grand march.

Tables Reserved
Major F. W. Whitman, vice chairman and treasurer, announced tonight that tables for parties planning to attend may now be reserved by writing to him at P. O. Box 283, New Britain. He urged those desiring tickets to communicate with him at once as only a limited number will be sold at the door on the evening of the ball. In subscribing to tickets each person should state clearly whether or not a table also is desired.

AIR MAIL CONTRACT HOLDERS STUDY PLAN

Farley Rules That Firms Which Ousted Officers in 1932 Conference Cannot Bid.
Washington, March 30.—(AP)—Holders of air-mail contracts withheld decision today on whether they would reorganize, pending a glimpse of specifications for new contracts.

There were arguments on both sides of whether the air-lines would shake up their organizations and seek new bids or continue as they are without air-mail aid. The post office department has ruled that firms cannot bid until they have ousted officers who participated in the 1932 conference on which collusion charges are based and until they have divorced themselves from holding companies and affiliated firms.

GAS CO. EXPLAINS THAYER PAYMENTS

Says There Is Nothing Secret or Sinister in Money Paid the Senator.

New York, March 30.—(AP)—The Associated Gas and Electric Company denies ever paying money to State Senator W. T. Thayer to influence legislation. "There is nothing secret or sinister in connection with payments made by a subsidiary of Associated Gas and Electricity to Warren T. Thayer," it said in a statement yesterday.

"Mr. Thayer was for many years prior to 1924 one of the owners of Chasam Power Company, a small electric company operating in northern New York, and was vice president and general manager of that company."

"The company had been established and operated by local interests for the purpose of supplying electricity to Mr. Thayer's home town and the farmers living in the surrounding territory."

"Late in 1924 Mr. Thayer sold control of this company to Associated interests, although he continued as an officer for some time thereafter, and in his contract agreed that the company had good franchises for the territory in which it operated. It later developed that the franchise in the village of Chateaugay had expired and Mr. Thayer undertook to secure a new franchise for the company. He merely did what any honorable private citizen would do, attempt to make good on his contract.

"The expenses referred to were incurred in this connection and the election referred to was the village election at which the issue of this franchise was in question. As a matter of fact, the company was not granted the franchise. There was no secrecy about the matter and the payments made were proper expenses to be paid by the company."

Connection Well Known
"Senator Thayer's long connection with the utility business, which continued for some time after his election, was well known at the time he became a member of the Senate in 1921."

"The effort to twist the payment of expenses of Mr. Thayer in the franchise matter into a charge of improper political activities is merely another indication of the attempt to which the foes of utilities are willing to go to mislead the public in an unjustified campaign to create

NAZIS ORGANIZING
HERE, SAYS ARTICLE

Magazine Asserts That
Troops Are Drilling in 19
United States Cities.

New York, March 30.—Existence of a fully-organized, nation-wide organization in the United States to establish the principles of German Hitlerism in this country and to replace democratic principles of popular government, will be disclosed in an elaborate documented series of articles, the first of which will be published in tomorrow's weekly issue of the magazine, Today, edited by Raymond Moley.

The exposures, which are detailed and circumstantial, are the result of months of investigation by the magazine, aided by Samuel Duff McCoy, newspaperman whose sensational expose for the New York World in 1923 brought about reform of the Florida prison camp system.

Rapidly Expanded
Nazi propaganda, subversive of American principles, is being pushed "at maximum intensity" form a score of American cities, the magazine declares, and the organization is spreading with such rapidity that more than 400 new members a week are being added to the rolls of the New York City organization alone. Recruiting extends from coast to coast.

The American organization, under the direction of national leaders in constant communication with Germany, employs the Nazi Swastika emblem, trains "Storm Troopers" imposes upon its members the rigid discipline identified with the Nazi system, and is throughout highly military in character, says the magazine.

Secret Drills
During this last week of March, 1934, troops wearing a foreign uniform have been secretly drilling in nineteen American cities. In twenty cities this week, meetings have been held in behalf of a political philosophy alien to America as the uniforms of these troops.

Hitlerism has invaded America. The invasion is upon a systematic and nation-wide scale. It has been laid out and being carried out by men professing allegiance to the principles of the Nazi Party in Germany. It has had the approval and, in repeated instances, the active support of official representatives of the Reich.

For purposes of organization, the United States has been divided into three areas: Eastern, Central and Western Divisions, each with a sectional "leader" responsible only to the national leader whose headquarters has been in Chicago. A magazine to further the propaganda was established at Brookline, Mass., by K. G. W. Ludecke, American correspondent for the official Nazi organ in Germany, the Volkischer Beobachter. His magazine, named "The American Guard," and bearing the Swastika on its title page, is quoted verbatim as follows:

"We repudiate the doctrine of popular sovereignty.
"Our political conception is organically conceived, and consequently the very antithesis of liberal democratic ideas.

"We talk about democracy and liberty—yet we accept the terrorism of the racketeer, the despotism of money, the tyranny of the International Banker, the servitude of interest!"

"Without Leaders"
"Everything is organized—except common sense and courage, honesty and honor! A land without leaders. A people without vision. No group, no organization of any weight to check the menace of the underman and Jew's intrigues!"

"Believing in the authority of leadership, in the value of personality, we advocate a state of truly sovereign authority which dominates all the forces of the nation, coordinating them, solidifying them, and directing them toward the higher ends of national life, which is at the same time in constant touch with the masses, guiding and educating them and looking after their interests."

Every applicant for membership in Friends of the New Germany, including American citizens, takes the following pledge, as shown in an exact reproduction of the membership card of the organization, published in company with many other exhibits in Today's Magazine:

The Pledge
"I hereby declare my entry into the League of Friends of the New Germany. The purpose and aim of the League are known to me and I pledge myself to support them without any reservation.

"I acknowledge the leadership principle according to which the League is being directed. I do not belong to any secret organization of any kind (Freemasons, etc.). I am of Aryan descent, free of Jewish or colored racial traces."

Professed Nazi Party representatives have been coming from Germany into the United States since 1923 to establish "cells" (local Nazi units) in cities throughout this country, says the magazine. "German military officers have been delegated by Nazi leaders here to impart military training.

"At this moment, Nazi 'cells,' or units, are in active existence in the following American communities:

Where Started
In the Eastern Division: Manhattan, Brooklyn, Long Island and White Plains; Hudson County, Cliff, Tenn. and Newark, New Jersey; Rochester, Buffalo, and Philadelphia; Chicago in Baltimore and in New Rochelle are in process of formation.

In the Middle or Central Division: Chicago; Detroit; Milwaukee; St. Louis; and Cincinnati. Cells at Hammond, Brown, and Gary, Indiana, are in process of formation.

In the Western or Pacific Division: San Francisco; Oakland; Los Angeles; and Portland, Oregon.

The disclosure includes the names of all of the important organizers working in the movement here, and the list of the members.

PRESS CENSORSHIP ON NRA ORDERED

Hereafter Public Relations
Department Will Hand Out
News to the Reporters.

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—Orders regulating the issuance of news to the press have just been given all NRA officials. They establish stricter rules for news announcements than have existed since the early days of what General Hugh S. Johnson has called his "goldfish bowl" administration.

All subordinates were "reminded" in a memorandum that "information to the press (other than that issued from the Administrator's office) should go out through the public relations department and not direct to reporters."

Last winter the Treasury decided to establish strict rules for news. In the resultant furor, charges of censorship were made. The rule was subsequently modified.

Alvin Brown, executive officer who sent out the NRA regulations, added this caution:
"Will you please convey this information verbally to all in your division whom it might affect."

This limited the copies in existence to no more than a dozen or so, but the order was found after deputy administrators began answering newsmen's queries with the formula: "You'll have to ask Mr. Lawson about that."

(William V. Lawson, one-time Chicago newspaperman, is head of the press publicity section at NRA).

Johnson, who, in speeches denouncing the idea of censorship frequently has called newspapermen to witness that NRA business is conducted openly—"as in a goldfish bowl"—recently has made known displeasure at some accounts of NRA doings. He has held but one press conference since the end of February when a series of officialy-invited public criticism meetings, code authority sessions and automobile strike negotiations began.

Had Free Run
Since the first months, when rules prohibited contacts between subordinate officials and reporters, the latter have had virtually free run of the organization.

A few deputies this week have continued the usual practice of giving explanatory information direct to newsmen.

However, in the division headed by Administrator Kenneth M. Simpson, handling metals, mining, shipbuilding, automobiles, etc., conversation with reporters has been limited to the state of the weather—and very little of that.

News originating from this division was believed to have brought down the order.

Queer Twists
In Day's News

Memphis, Tenn.—Fred G. Wages, 53, Pharmacist, part of Holy Communion at Trinity Lutheran church, returned to his pew and fell dead. His death disrupted Holy Thursday services at the church.

Berlin—Doctors who write prescriptions which druggists can't read have been put on the spot. The possibility of a patient's getting arsenic instead of calomel so disturbed sick fund officials they complained to the government, resulting in general orders to doctors to brush up on the hand-writing.

Quincy, Ill.—Howard Holzgraeft is feeling better and well he should for he is out playing again after recovering from:
Tonsillitis; diphtheria; measles; mumps; chickenpox; whooping-cough; he got them in the order named.

Omaha, Neb.—The Omaha police department is still blushing as a result of the indignation expressed by an elderly gentleman who paid a fine in traffic court and received a half dollar in change.

A short time later the half dollar fell on the desk of Sergeant Julius Stagger with a dull thud.
"It's had enough to be fined, but to get a phoney half in change. Phooey!" sputtered the court victim.

Nashville, Tenn.—A negro and two white men ran for a City Council seat in a special election yesterday, but today the votes could not be found.

After election officers had finished counting the ballots, the lights went out and there was a sound of scurrying toward a rear door.

When the lights went on, the ballot box was missing. Election officials said the count showed that the ward, which has a large proportion of negro citizens, had elected the negro candidate by a wide margin.

Philadelphia—Bees buzzed in a bottle and snap dragons mounted their glories or lay wilted and lifeless for the edification of Common Pleas Court.

It was the case of the 1,000,000 snapdragons versus the one million bees. Herbert and Drus Allman told the court the bees fertilized the snapdragons in their greenhouses and made them commercially worthless. Joseph Rexer wanted to know if the Allmans could identify the bees as coming from his apiary.

Judge Harry S. McDevitt will ponder whether he should enjoin the bees from trespassing.

STRIKES IN AKBRON.

Akron, O., March 30.—(AP)—Walkout of more than 700 machinists from eight shops today nearly doubled the number of workers on strike in the Akron district.

All shops making tire molds and doing other machine work for the rubber industry are closed by the strike, union leaders claim. The machinists are asking union recognition and wage increases averaging 15 per cent.

Low-Priced Six Cylinder Car
Received at Local Showrooms; Many Improvements.

The first of the new low-priced Oldsmobile six-cylinder cars to be received here are now on display at the showrooms of the Oldsmobile Company, the local Oldsmobile dealer. A special invitation is extended to the public to see and drive the new models.

The new Oldsmobile six is an entirely re-engineered car. It has line-action wheels, center control steering, ride stabilizer, and nothing to cause misapprehension when driving on rough roads, or when making emergency stops. The new car is a real winner.

In appearance, the new Oldsmobile six models are pleasing and ultra-modern, styled in the modern stream-line mode of body designing. Interiors are unusually spacious and are furnished with every new convenience to heighten the pleasure of driving. The new Oldsmobile six is a real winner.

COLUMBIA

About two inches of snow fell during the night Saturday, but quickly melted under the rays of the warm sun of Sunday.

At the morning service of the local church two young men from Wesleyan College were present, part of a Deputation team of ten. The other eight were divided two by two and attended the other churches in the Tri County Union.

The two at Columbia were Robert Nutelet and Kiyotaka Yoneda, the latter a young Japanese. Mr. Yoneda spoke something of the customs of Japan and also gave a short address in place of the regular sermon. The choir sang "Hosanna" and Mrs. Edith Lehman sang "The Palm." As an offering, Vernon Northrup sang "The Old Rugged Cross." In the evening the whole ten young men conducted the meeting of the Tri County Christian Union held this month at Westchester.

The young people met in the chapel Sunday afternoon to meet the two young men from Wesleyan socially.

Thursday evening of this week the Tri County Christian Union will hold a Communion service in the Columbia church and the Columbia choir will sing.

At the meeting of Columbia Grange held Wednesday evening a class of seven candidates were given the 3rd and 4th degrees. State Deputy Ira Wilcox of the East Central Pomona Grange jurisdiction was present for the annual inspection of the Grange. There were also two other state officers present, Deputy Milo A. Apple of the Quinceburg Pomona Grange jurisdiction, and State Ceres Mabel Church of Natona Grange, besides visiting Grangers from Tolland, Hebron, Natchaug, Canterbury, Coventry and Greenfield, Mass. Those taking the degrees were Lois Clark, Louise Miller, Mrs. Nellie Cole, Mrs. Laura Squibb, Mabel Phillips, Mary Shirk and John Buryk. A candidate from Tolland Grange was also given the work with the Columbia class. Supper was served in the lower hall at the close of the meeting. There were 73 present in all.

A Deary meeting will be held at the hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock by the Tolland County Fern Bureau, with J. S. Owen as the speaker. The subject of the discussion will be the amount of pasture that can be utilized. It will include an examination of the more profitable pasture grasses and clovers with respect to amount, time and quality of growth, soil conditions and the general management of the pasture. The meeting will be held in the lower hall at the close of the meeting.

BIG GROUP ATTENDS SUNRISE SERVICE

Close to 125 Go to Sunset Hill for Good Friday Program at 5.30.

Close to 125 members of the Young People's Federation of Manchester attended the sunrise service at Sunset Hill this morning at 5.30 o'clock. The weather was perfect and the gathering was one of the most successful ever held on Good Friday.

Symbol of the Cross
Rev. Watson Woodruff of the Center Congregational church spoke to the large assembly of young people on the subject "The Meaning of the Cross," pointing out that the cross was a symbol of shame before the coming of Christ, but with His crucifixion it became a symbol of goodness and salvation.

Hymns Sung
Two other hymns were then sung, "Just As I Am" and "The Old Rugged Cross." An offering was lifted and Rev. Woodruff led in meditation before making his address. The service closed with the singing of "Rock of Ages" and the Epworth League benediction led by Mr. Burr. Helge E. Pearson led the singing. Coffee and doughnuts were served by the South Methodist Epworth League after the service.

DENY STRIKE SETTLED

Middletown, March 30.—(AP)—The striking employes of the Cyan Silk Company denied today that the strike has been settled.

Pat Morrissey of the Federal Labor union had announced that this strike and another at the Middletown Silk Company were settled and that the men would return Monday.

The workers, however, asserted that Alexander Cayan, manager of the silk company failed to keep a verbal agreement for a new wage scale. They said they seek both the new wage scale and unionization of the plant. The plant has been idle since the 55 workers walked out Wednesday noon.

OPEN FORUM

"ONTO HIS TUB"
Editor The Manchester Herald:
It may be interesting for you to learn from me, whose home is in Boston and Danvers, Massachusetts, and who has been making "The Edgewood House" on Center street in your world renowned "Silk City" Manchester, Conn. my comfortable and commodious headquarters for the past few months that I make it one of my daily joys and duties to peruse most carefully each and every column of your most interesting and newsy up-to-date publication.

Having for many long years in my business career been in the newspaper game myself, employed in the capacity of a correspondent, composing articles for publications such as lodge installations, weddings, church functions, obituaries, murders, fires and funerals, etc., I cannot but entertain and comprehend the highest appreciative conception of the interesting, inspirational and edifying articles that appear in its columns.

"The Daily Health Service," "Care of Children," "Manchester Data Book," heralding the coming religious and social events in the "Silk City," "Sport sheet," news items of all suburban cities and towns and in two of these recently strange to say I have seen the names of two former pastors in my own home town, Rev. John Elyms Holmes, D.D., of Community church and Rev. Charles B. Rice D.D. of the First Congregational church of Danvers Highlands. All this being very interesting.

Lastly but not leastly and not to be forgotten "the Overnight AP News." The composer of this article must eagerly seek this out daily and has not been unrewarded for having done so. Certainly The Manchester Evening Herald must be "Johnny" on the spot and also "right unto her job" as the following coincidence is quoted with perfect veracity, "Some friends from the city and town from which I had corresponded with me imparting the information, "That three men had been critically injured by an explosion which occurred at the plant of "The Leader Oil Company" in the Danversport section of my home town and were in the hospital dying as a result. Another correspondent wrote me a very interesting account of "the Community Block Fire" estimating a damage of $20,000, still another intimate friend from "The Witch City" Salem, Mass., sent me a detailed account and complete story of the burning and total loss of "The Crombie street Congregational church" of this quaint city, the fire thought to be the torch of a wicked incendiary. Out of friendly courtesy I replied to all three correspondents and informed them up in "the Bay State" "that I had been able to hop something over on them" and that for all I was "sent of my native state, this was how ancient history to me as my information had been previously divulged in these columns by "the Overnight AP News Column" of the Manchester Evening Herald whose editors, reporters and printers commendable for their speed and verities always furnished the latest news from all points near and far and was an interesting sheet well worth the reading.

IS THERE A GOD?
Editor, The Herald:
The most common proof and perhaps the oldest argument is from the design. The heavens show forth in the glory of God. The universe points to an intelligent and infinite designer. In the history of the universe of man, we see the evidence of a divine intelligence that designed them all. And the voice of conscience which speaks to us is one of the strongest and most convincing proofs. We know when we are doing good or evil for our conscience tells us. God has given us a beautiful world to live in and everything to make us happy but it's man that hasn't done right. If he were fair and square in all his dealings with his fellow man, there would be no wars, no crime, no suffering. The world would be a paradise. The only way to get rid of these things is to have a God who will punish the wicked and reward the good. The Bible tells us that God is a just God. He will not let the wicked go unpunished. He will punish them in the end. The Bible also tells us that God is a merciful God. He will forgive the sins of those who turn to Him. He will give us a new heart and a new life. He will give us a home in heaven. The Bible is the word of God. It is the light that guides us. It is the power that saves us. It is the life that gives us hope. The Bible is the best book in the world. It is the book that we should read every day. It is the book that we should study every day. It is the book that we should love every day. The Bible is the word of God. It is the light that guides us. It is the power that saves us. It is the life that gives us hope. The Bible is the best book in the world. It is the book that we should read every day. It is the book that we should study every day. It is the book that we should love every day.

FEDERAL TRADE GROUP DENIES CHARGES

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—The Federal Trade Commission today denied testimony today from A. H. Robertson, a commission administrator, that Liberty signed in the sale of the Erie, Pa., municipal power company to the Kentucky-Tennessee Light and Power company, an Associated Gas and Electric company subsidiary.

Following testimony that W. T. Thayer, a New York state senator, had written to Governor George A. Boker, asking that he appoint the Liberty company to the Erie, Pa., municipal power company, the commission administrator, that Liberty signed in the sale of the Erie, Pa., municipal power company to the Kentucky-Tennessee Light and Power company, an Associated Gas and Electric company subsidiary.

Part of a court decision in the suit of the city against the Kentucky-Tennessee company was quoted. "That the contract was obtained by the Liberty of George L. Fryer, city attorney of Erie, Pa., through the agency of J. H. Byrd, (who represented the company) and his partner, the company therefor being provided by the defendant, and by other corrupt and unethical practices."

AMERICAN HEIRESS SEEKING DIVORCE

Mrs. Cornelia Vanderbilt
Cecil Files Suit in Paris—
Couple Have Two Children

Paris, March 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Cornelia Vanderbilt Cecil, American millionaire, and the husband she chose from the British diplomatic corps, have come to the parting of the ways.

The only daughter of the late George W. Vanderbilt acknowledged today through a friend that she has asked court permission to file suit for a divorce from John Francis Amherst Cecil.

Since she and Cecil, former secretary to the British Embassy in Washington, have agreed to terms, it was thought the court would approve a decree without difficulty.

The couple, whose marriage ten years ago was one of the gala events of international society, have agreed that their two children will spend half their time with their mother at the magnificent Vanderbilt estate at Biltmore, N. C., and the other half with their father in England.

The children are George Henry Vanderbilt Cecil, 8, and William Amherst Vanderbilt Cecil, 5.

The romance between the only child of George W. Vanderbilt and the Hon. John Francis Amherst Cecil was one of the notable ones of Washington, New York and southern society. They were married in 1924 at Biltmore house, the beautiful estate situated on a tract of thousands of acres at Biltmore, N. C. Representatives of four nations attended the magnificent wedding.

Cecil, regarded as a rising young diplomat, gave up this career to take over the management of the Vanderbilt estate. The couple spent much of their time at this country home.

The former Miss Vanderbilt inherited most of her father's fortune, estimated at $50,000,000 when he died.

The suit was the result of an automobile accident at the south end terminus on May 28, 1933, in which the plaintiff was injured.

Mr. Burke died after the action was brought and the suit was filed against the Hartford National Bank and Trust Company, executors of the estate. The amount of the settlement was not disclosed. Attorney George C. Lesner appeared for Mr. Herrman and Charles J. McLaughlin for the defendant.

Fishing Day" as Yacht De-

Miami, Fla., March 30.—(AP)—Sailing the warm, blue waters of the Bahamas in absolute relaxation, President Roosevelt neared Nassau today for a brief visit. He planned a stop in this capital of the British Bahamas, but the schedule called for a departure by noon.

The first full day out at sea yesterday brought "good fishing" for the President, but the details of the catch were lacking.

Vincent Astor, owner of the yacht "Nourmahal" and host to Mr. Roosevelt, reported last night to Marvin H. McIntyre, a secretary to the President, established at headquarters in the Miami Biltmore hotel here.

"Now, underway for Nassau after good fishing day. Leaving about noon."

A pulpit bible from Birmingham, England, used by two world-famous preachers in Carnegie chapel, was presented to the Congregational church of Birmingham, Ala.

MAGNELL DRUG STORE GETS LIQUOR LICENSE

Oldest Druggist in Town Given
Permit — All Drug Stores
Here Now Licensed.

Charles J. Magnell, proprietor of the Magnell Drug Company, has received his license to dispense liquors under the act recently passed upon by the Supreme Court allowing the sale of liquor by druggists in containers not less than a half pint and without a doctor's prescription.

Mr. Magnell is one of the oldest druggists in Manchester and made his application with others soon after the court ruling. A special officer from the internal revenue office came to Manchester last week and investigated the petition. A search for the application which had gone astray in Hartford, was started, resulting in its being found and in proper order and the permit was at once granted.

This now gives every drug store in Manchester a permit to sell liquor.

The plot does not concern her life and the characters are fictional, with New York the setting. She did not divulge the theme of the story.

Both men were arrested by Police Officer Joseph Frenies at 19 Ridgewood street last night after a complaint over their boisterous actions had been received.

NORMAN THOMAS RAPS JOHNSON IN SPEECH

Tells Strikers That Blue Eagle
Is Black and Blue from Bat-terings.

Camden, N. J., March 30.—(AP)—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for the presidency in 1933, says labor has been "badly whipped" in the automobile industry controversy which was settled by President Roosevelt.

Calling on them to fight to the limit, Thomas told striking employees of the New York shipbuilding company last night that "General Johnson's interpretation of the NRA will soon make all of us serfs and ultimately lead us to Fascism if allowed to continue."

Union leaders, amid wild applause, replied that the walkout would continue and that picket lines would be reinforced, both on land and on the Delaware river. They estimate 3,000 employees are on strike, demanding $1 an hour for skilled labor with other wage advances in proportion.

"You are staging the most important and significant strike in America today," said Thomas. "The Budd and West cases show that a powerful employer can and will bludge the NRA. The Blue Eagle has been so battered around that he is black and blue."

Thomas also criticized Clinton L. Budd, president of the shipbuilding concern, for voicing an opinion on what constitutes a living wage. Budd said he didn't want $30,000 a year as living wage, but he obtained a raise in salary.

FRIDAY, MARCH 30. WHAT FOR MONEY? "What shall we use for money?" inquires administration department heads required by the anti-retroavalanche of Wednesday to restore salaries and veteran benefits.

Not for one minute since its institution has the Connecticut Board of Milk Control operated in the interest of either the producer or the household consumer of milk.

A DREAM BLOWS UP. Senator Glass, always in health or illness desperately jealous of the prerogatives of the Federal Reserve System and of the privilege of the Federal Reserve banks to make something for themselves out of every situation of whatever character that may rise, has written a bill of his own to displace the industrial Loan Bank bill proposed by the administration recently as a measure of aid to the smaller industries.

ONE OF F. D.'S MEN. Until the political thugs of Kansas City took to shooting and beating up each other in election day rows this week most folks in these parts never heard of "Big Tom" Fendergast, Democratic boss of the Missouri city.

MILK PROPAGANDA. Prevented by Supreme Court action from controlling the milk supply of Connecticut and the proceeds therefrom according to its own completely untrammeled will, the State Board of Milk Control is now engaged in an endeavor to frighten the producers of the state into a reduction of present quotas to 85 per cent by April 1.

there was published this week in a Connecticut newspaper this amazing argument: The dealers have to face a diminished market for household milk, many consumers having turned to tinned milk "because so much publicity has been given to the milk controversy that they have lost confidence in fluid milk."

What on earth the war between the milk trust and the farmers has to do with the liking or need of the people for fresh milk is beyond understanding. Of course the demand for fresh household milk has lessened. In the face of grievously diminished family budgets the Board of Milk Control has established in Connecticut the highest price for fluid milk existing anywhere in the United States.

People are turning to canned milk because they simply cannot buy the fresh fluid article at prices six or seven times as great as those at which the big dealers are enabled by the Control Board to buy the same milk under the name of "surplus."

Children by the thousands are going fresh milk for the starkest reason that their parents cannot buy it for them. Milk is being stingily measured out in any number of homes where it should be generously used for the one and only reason that it is priced outrageously high.

Not for one minute since its institution has the Connecticut Board of Milk Control operated in the interest of either the producer or the household consumer of milk. All its efforts have been in the direction of making milk sufficiently scarce to be a practical, convenient and enormously profitable subject of monopoly by those who neither produce it nor consume it.

worst election for murders and other outrages ever experienced by Kansas City. And this is the administration which wasn't going to have federal office holders devoting their time to political activities in their home states, districts or towns. One may wonder what part of Mr. Mitchell's time, during the last couple of months, has been devoted to the business of the Department of Commerce.

FREE FROM POISON. New York state, where up to now there has been but one legal cause for divorce, has a bill before its legislature establishing three years' desertion as an additional cause. Though it has been reported favorably there was a hot fight in the hearings before the committee's action was taken.

Children by the thousands are going fresh milk for the starkest reason that their parents cannot buy it for them. Milk is being stingily measured out in any number of homes where it should be generously used for the one and only reason that it is priced outrageously high.

There is ground for much thought in this latter sentence. From a thousand puppets we hear shocked protest against divorce because of its effect on the children. But it is seldom that there is protest against legal compulsion upon children to grow up in the bleak de-moralization of a home where there is no love.

When Roark Bradford dropped in on the play in Memphis and wanted to throw a big banquet for the cast Curtis persuaded him to give them a couple of dollars apiece instead. In four years away from Harlem there have been five marriages. And three deaths. First to go was Wesley Hill, the original Gabriel, killed by a taxicab during the engagement in New York. Samuel Davis, who succeeded him, laid down the shiny trumpet two years ago in Indianapolis. And Salem "Whitney" died in Chicago recently. He was the one who argued with "De Lawd" for the privilege of taking "two kraigs" of liquor on the ark—the better to balance it, he said.

Theater owners are making indignant noises through parched lips, about the alleged unfair discrimination of the state liquor control board. For the Metropolitan Opera House has a bar, and the legitimate theaters have none. None of them, that is. A couple of optimists put in bars on the eve of repeal, but officials were adamant and nothing huskier than sarsaparilla has been served—By the way, the only strictly stag bar in town is, of all places, at the Ritz-Carlton. It's a duplication of the Ritz bar in Paris—Louis XVI style, with lots of gold and teakwood and a Bacchanale of cupids. Rather sissy cups, too; not in the least reminiscent of saloon days.

"It Must Be Nice To Be A Railroad Worker"

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON. New York, April 2.—After four years of triumph and vicissitudes and celestial squabbles, "The Green Pastures" is doubling back on its 14,000-mile trail so that De Lawd, Gabriel, Moses, O'Kling Pharaoh and the rest of the big cast can spend a summer vacation in Harlem.

On stage as well as off, Harrison is "De Lawd" of his septa company. Once a bellhop, waiter, railroad laborer, dramatic reader and teacher, he is 69 now, and has rocketed to world fame and wealth. He bears the same humility toward his work and still reads over his part twice before each performance to keep himself in the spirit of the play. Actors and company officials see to it that no visitor disturbs his meditations during the hour before curtain-time.

Performers still bring him their problems and disputes, and borrow money from him too. "De Lawd" is the easiest touch in the show, and nobody knows how he saved enough to buy two houses in Chicago. His sole personal extravagance was the purchase of a diamond ring; bought it, he said, because it's just like one he used to admire on the hand of a restaurant patron in Detroit when he was a waiter.

First meal will be one of the finest treats you have had in a long time. You may find your mouth actually watering for each bite. Continue with a sensible well-balanced diet, and you will be able to handle your food in such a way that you will forget you ever had any stomach trouble.

If this is what has happened in your case, I suggest that you write to me in care of this newspaper. Enclose one large, self-addressed, stamped envelope, give me a careful history of your case, and I will be pleased to send you any instructions which I believe might help you.

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER. The Herald Washington Correspondent. Washington, March 30.—The war between men and women has broken out again on this front. It keeps Washington correspondents in a constant fret.

Each of the various newspapermen's clubs has had the female issue up in recent weeks. In part years they've gradually been forced to recognize the existence of the other sex, but the girls scored no gains in this winter's disputes.

The National Press Club's first big concession was installation of a ladies dining room, quite separate from the rest of the club, for which wives and other relatives were given cards. Two organizations of newspaper women later asked and received cards. But the dear hearts were in for a setback.

Suddenly, after repeal, arose an insurgent movement of members to abolish that dining room. Certain unchivalrous gents demanded that the room be used for a bar. They presented the familiar argument that the club must be kept as a sanctuary where wives couldn't penetrate. Their strength was so great at the annual meeting and at a special meeting on the issue that the ladies' dining room was cut in half and the rest of the space used for a "taproom"—big enough for a couple of tables.

This club, however, last year came to the point of permitting women to enter its quarters when accompanied by members. The White House Correspondents' Association, with no club-rooms, annually survives the gibes of its several dues-paying female members who aren't permitted at its big stag banquet to the president.

It stuck to the custom this year, pointing out that the newspaper girls have their own clubs, their own parties, and their own press conferences with Mrs. Hoover.

The dumbness of congressmen, always a favorite topic of capitalist conversation, is getting an especially heavy ride at this season. Chief reasons: The big protest election of 1932 brought in quite a few strange specimens with the tide. Roosevelt's NRA campaign, which selected a few congressmen who were House of vitally important measures which members don't study, don't debate, and don't understand. ("Dumb, driven cattle!" cracked Carroll of Texas, the only one who voted against the CWA appropriation.)

An unusually high proportion of speeches, according to many complaints, show the member doesn't know what he's talking about. It seems up to the voters to elect a few congressmen who will stand out from the herd. You can't keep a good man down, and to prove that one may list some who recently have distinguished themselves sufficiently to attract attention.

1. Shoemaker of Minnesota, who got into a fight with a taxi driver and subsequently was charged with assault. 2. Fulmer of Georgia, who told sawmill operators in his state to use "common sense" and ignore the NRA lumber code. 3. Berlin of Pennsylvania, who brought liquor bottles onto the floor to illustrate his speech.

A few dozen people who couldn't crowd into Constitution Hall heard Roosevelt's NRA speech outside by courtesy of the White House chauffeur, who turned on the presidential car's radio set for them. . . . Group Conference No. 5 at the code meetings, concerned with "small enterprises and minorities," became generally known as the "Little Man, What Now?" session. "Old Ironsides," the frigate Constitution, saw its first wedding when the present captain's daughter, Miss Grace Gulliver, was married there to Lieut. Wells Thompson, U. S. N. . . . Anne Dill recently told her papa that he mustn't wear his stove-pipe hat on a minor visit and the President replied: "Well, these aren't times for high hats, anyway."

EXPECT FIVE CORNERED RACE AGAIN IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

GIANTS PICKED AS THE CLUB TO BEAT IN PENNANT TITLE

Pirates Loom as Biggest Threat Among Four Real Rivals; New York Hurriers Not Figured to Repeat.

By ALAN GOULD

New York, March 30.—(AP)—The National League is tying its own Blue Eagle this spring, testifying to a recovery program already well under way.

Since the Giants regained world championship prestige for the old guard last fall, new owners have taken hold of the tail-end Cincinnati Reds, three pennant challengers have fortified their lineups at considerable expense and four new managers have taken charge of the spring drills.

The comeback outlook is for a sensational championship race, with the Giants picked as the club to beat and the Pittsburgh Pirates looming most impressively among four real rivals of Bill Terry's aggressive outfit.

Don't Expect Repeat

Baseball men do not figure it in the book for the Giants pitching staff to repeat its marvelous 1933 performances, especially as the aid of the heavy Gus Mancuso behind the bat will be missed for at least another month.

The Pirates, despite erratic pitching, finished second last year. Outside of the box the Buos have more all-around class than any other club in the league and the addition of Red Lucas figures to give the hurling department just the work horse it needs.

Klein Aid to Cubs

Chuck Klein's addition to the Chicago outfield, at a cost of $125,000 figures to pay substantial dividends. Much also is expected from a rookie pitcher, Dick Ward, and George Stainback, an expensive outfield recruit.

The St. Louis Cardinals and Boston Braves both figure to be in the pennant scramble making it a five-cornered affair for the second straight year, chiefly because each has unusually strong pitching prospects. The Cardinals also have enough speed and power to lift the club to the top. Virgil Davis, the slugging backstop is the principal addition.

The Braves will sorely miss their veteran pepper box, Rabbit Maranville, the victim of a broken leg in an exhibition game two days ago, but Manager Bill McKechnie has come up with another pitching "find," Clarence Pickrel, to aid an already well-balanced staff.

Reds Most Improved

New pilots have taken the helm of the other three National League clubs but all any of them can hope for is to remain out of the cellar. Of the trio, Bob O'Farrell's Cincinnati Reds, occupants of the cellar in 1933, have shown the most improvement, especially in hitting, but it is a question how consistently the pitching staff will help. Casey Stengel, new boss of the Brooklyn Dodgers, also has limited pitching prospects, with a staff built around Van Mungo, and lacks real batting drive. The Phillies, handicapped now by the absence of Dick Bartell with a spike wound, pin their hopes on Jimmy Wilson's ability to get results from a stock of erratic pitching arms.

Mrs. Payne Whitney Has Pair of Derby Hopefuls

By ORLO ROBERTSON (Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, March 30.—(AP)—Although lacking a horse of the calibre of the mighty Twenty Grand, Mrs. Payne Whitney, mistress of the Greentree Stables, has in Spy Hill and Black Buddy a pair of colts that rate strong consideration in ranking the three-year-olds for the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness.

Spy Hill in Shape

Spy Hill, a strapping son of the English sire, Spion Kop, is a 40 to 1 shot in the Derby futurity books while Black Buddy, sired by Bud Lerner, is held at 50 to 1. Of the pair, Spy Hill is considered the most likely to start. The colt is bred to stay any distance and that is why he secured in the Kentucky classic. His sire won the 1930 English Derby while his dam, Marvella II, is by Gainsborough, also an English Derby winner. From the Greentree farm at Red Bank, N. J., came word that Spy Hill wintered well.

"He is in grand shape," said Trainer Bill Brennan, "and will be popular for the Derby and Preakness."

Black Buddy, which may be reserved for later racing, rated high among the juveniles. He finished out of the money only four times in 11 starts, he won $35,330 with victories in the juvenile and national steeplechase at Belmont Park.

Whitney's Hopes

Numerically, C. V. Whitney also has a strong delegation in training for the Derby. He names Roustabout, Fogbound, Collateral and Jabot. Odds on the quarter, which wintered in Kentucky, vary from 80 to 1 on Roustabout to 50 to 1 against Jabot. Jabot turned in the most impressive two-year-old record, with six victories and a pair of seconds in 14 trips to the post. Roustabout, however, came through with a triumph in the Grand Union Hotel stakes at Saratoga and ran third to Singing Wood and Sir Thomas in the $100,000 Belmont futurity.

Local Sport Chatter

At 4 o'clock this morning, the Charter Oak Girls began their journey to Baltimore, Md., to participate in the national duckpin bowling tourney tomorrow against the outstanding pin topplers of the East. The local team has entered the team doubles and singles events.

Charlie Kobart left for the tourney last night with the Wooster team of Hartford, which will roll an exhibition match in Washington en route to Baltimore. Kobart will pair with Fido O'Brien, veteran Hartford pinner, in the doubles and will also enter the singles. "Sparky" Saldella, holder of the town single record, is also bound for the tourney, giving Manchester an impressive representation.

You can look for some deceptive huddle systems in the St. Mary's football system this season for "Slip" Madigan, coach of the Gallopers. He is in Hawaii studying the hula-hula formation. Here he is observing the mysteries of the dance as demonstrated by his two daughters, Mary, left and Patsy.

BASEBALL BRIEFS

By Associated Press THE PHILLIES Winter Haven, Fla., March 30.—(AP)—Lou Chiozza, who came here with the least publicity, has the best chance among candidates for infield vacancies in the ranks of the Phillies. It was Chiozza who drove in the winning run against the Boston Red Sox yesterday, repeating his performance of their previous encounter.

YANKEES St. Petersburg, Fla.—Danny McCarthy, veteran right hander, finally has turned in a game that makes it appear as though he'll be of considerable use to the New York Yankees this season. Danny pitched the first six innings against the Boston Braves yesterday, granted only four hits and one run. He walked none and fanned three.

TIGERS Lakeland, Fla.—Detroit's Tigers, beaten by the Athletics again Thursday, 5 to 3, came back to their own training camp today to meet the Columbus team of the American Association. Although each team got 10 hits Thursday, the Macks hit when hits meant runs.

SENATORS Biloxi, Miss.—After two consecutive floppings by the Cleveland Indians, Manager Joe Cronin has put his Washington Senators back into sort of a laboratory workout on baseball fundamentals.

For two hours yesterday the kid manager had his charges practicing the fine points of defensive and offensive play, including a bit of base stealing.

RED SOX Sarasota, Fla.—No more traveling for the Red Sox until they break camp for the season next Monday. The Braves come to town today and Gordon Rhodes will pitch six innings against the triebmen. Either Welch or Walberg will finish out the game.

BRAVES St. Petersburg, Fla.—The last St. Pete game of the 1934 training camp season behind them, the Braves travel to Sarasota today for the second game of their five-game spring series with their Boston rivals the Red Sox. Ben Cantwell, who has been under the doctor's care, may pitch a few frames to keep his arm in action.

GIANTS Orlando, Fla.—The ball may be livelier but you can't prove it by the New York Giants. They seem to be the same light hitting team that won the world championship last year through super-fine pitching and all-around alertness. So far they have compiled a batting average of .261 in 18 games.

DODGERS Orlando, Fla.—As if he didn't have worries enough, Casey Stengel, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, now has lost the services temporarily of one of his best outfielders. Danny Taylor got his knee in the way of a fast ball tossed by Walter Beck in batting practice and broke it by will be on the sidelines a week.

ATHLETICS Fort Myers, Fla.—The Philadelphia Athletics "home season" in Florida is over; but the seeding process goes on apace. George DeLoe and Rip Radcliff, convinced that it really was a deal, have gone to their new club, Louisville. Ed Carroll, semi-pro pitcher, is on his way home to Baltimore and Joe Korman, of Pleasantville, N. J., another semi-pro twirler, was told by Connie Mack that the manager would try to place him in a Class D league organization in Pennsylvania.

LEFTY GROVE RETURNS Fort Myers, Fla., March 30.—(AP)—Robert Moses Grove's return to the quarters of the Philadelphia Athletics, accompanied by the president and the general manager of the Red Sox, brings the word that nothing serious has happened to the pitcher since the Boston team's $125,000 twirler.

Major League Prospects

NEW YORK YANKEES By ALAN GOULD

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 30.—(AP)—With a club that was the leading run getting machine in the major leagues last year and shows no sign of losing its potency in this respect, the New York Yankees rely on a revamped infield and much better pitching to keep them in the pennant race this year.

Wealth Of Managers

On both counts Manager Joe McCarthy believes he has real reason to be confident the Yankees will give the champion Senators or any other rival a battle down the stretch. It is naturally a question of how long the eminent Mr. Ruth will cavort in right field on a daily basis. Bunting power, however, is not what the club needs most. With hitters like Red Rolfe, the sensational new shortstop, Lou Gehrig, Ben Chapman, Tony Lazzari and Bill Dickey, in addition to Ruth, plenty will do all the backstopping necessary, but he has a promising young understudy in Norman Kras, up from the Newark farm. Arndt Jorgens also is available.

Two New Infielders

For the second time in three years the Yankees plan to start the season with two new infielders. The experiment did not click long in 1933 when Jack Saltgaver started at second and Frankie Crosetti at third, but McCarthy appears to have decided Rolfe will do all the shortstopping necessary and team up with Ben Hafner, the Baltimore recruit, at second.

The shakeup puts Lazzari on third and leaves Crosetti and Saltgaver as the likely utility infielders. Lary may replace one of these two if he is not traded. First base will be well taken care of by Lou Gehrig. Sam Eby, a great spring hitter, probably will start in center field, flanked by Chapman and Ruth, but Earl Combe is still available. Bill Dickey, minus his appendix, will do all the backstopping necessary, but he has a promising young understudy in Norman Kras, up from the Newark farm. Arndt Jorgens also is available.

Up To Pitchers

This puts the main issue squarely up to the big red headed right hander, Charles Rurus Rufing, and Senior Vernon (Lefty) Gomes, whose decline in effectiveness last year represented the difference between a world championship club in 1933 and a second place outfit in 1934. If both Rufing and Gomes return to top form, McCarthy will have plenty of pitching, for Johnny Allen and Russ Van Atta, sophomores southpaw, figure to do even better than last year when Allen won 15 and Van Atta 12.

From the group including Charley

Devens, George Uhle, Danny MacFayden, Johnny Broaca, Harry Smythe, Floyd Newkirk and Jimmy de Shong, the Yankees will select 4 or 5 reserves for relief work and doubleheader duty. With at least one infielder and outfielder to spare, Lyn Lary and Myril Hoag, Manager McCarthy has been anxious to fortify his pitching department by the trade but so far his overtures to other clubs have not been fruitful.

The ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

FABBITO, a handsome youth, comes a fugitive whom, due to circumstances beyond his control, he flees from Key West to Havana with BEAU and LOTTIE, two thieves.

Beau has killed a man and fled a narrow escape from the Florida home of wealthy SIM FIELD. Fabbito does not know this or that he himself is accused of the crime. Fabbito loves Field's daughter, ESTELLE, and she loves him. BECA TREADWAY knows Fabbito's name, but bears scandal if she tells this.

In Havana Fabbito tries to find NORRIS NOYES who befriended him as a child but his efforts fail.

Beau, impressed by Fabbito's natural ability as a boxer, arranges several profitable matches for him.

SIR AUBREY, a titled Englishman and Fabbito's father, begins a search for his son.

Marcia Treadway receives an invitation to visit the Fields in Havana.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVI

Fabbito, known now as Juanito, was hard-boiled in muscle and in viewpoint, leaner and slightly taller. He had learned in the last three years that entertaining vacationing millionaires was a job that never ended. Once he had let himself get a little soft and had been knocked out. The memory of that incident stayed with him. Because of it he rigorously abstained from wine, women, late hours and other dissipations—both mild and otherwise.

The memory of that knockout was charted for him, also, in an uneven scar high on one cheek bone and echoing the slant of his eye. In the same encounter he had received several body blows that had troubled him for some time.

Beau and Fabbito had opened an establishment of their own on the outskirts of Havana beyond the Cristobal Colon Cemetery where jaded men would come to exercise and bathe to bring back at least a hint of youthful vigor. Beau "kept 'em movin'." Lottie served them bouillon and dry biscuits, and a "rubber" did his work after they had been bathed, salted and had left the force of a lot of ice water on their flesh. This business, as Beau said, "paid damned good." It was a smart venture in a land where tourists are often over-indulgent and later regret it.

The gymnasium was housed in a glaringly white building that had been altered to make it suitable. There rummy-eyed men of flabby flesh wheezed loudly as, with eyes intent and cheeks puffed out, they pumpeled one another, tripped, fell and executed footwork that made even Fabbito wince as they would lie down, panting, only to be ordered to their baths by Beau, whose pitiless tongue could lash like a whip.

The same vague aura that takes men away from growing metropolitan clubs and toward the more exclusive chined trainer, made wealthy travelers desert luxurious hotels to go to Fabbito's place. There they were bullied and ordered about, told in language that sometimes encompassed Gilbertian terms what they were and were not to do. Later they would emerge, pink of skin, refreshed and resolved to be more temperate.

Fabbito, too, was a drawing card. He was an unsmiling, hard-eyed young Greek who sometimes looked at them with scorn that was not even faintly veiled. Men who felt this scorn were likely later to speak of him in an apparently casual tone but always a little awe crept into their voices.

Fabbito fought occasionally and always for a good purse. He still kept before him the dream of some day finding Noyes and of going away with him to some quiet, peaceful retreat. Beau evinced great scorn, concealing secret envy, for Fabbito's ability to hold on to his money. "You're sure going to be a wealthy old miser!" he sneered often.

The thought that any of them should ever be apprehended for the murder at Field's Camp was troubling Beau less and less. He had grown a small moustache that changed his appearance surprisingly. Lottie's hair had taken on an amazing shade of red and her eyebrows were plucked in a way that altered her expression. Fabbito had changed, too, having grown taller and more slender. The scar on his cheek also gave him a different look. He was, moreover, known to all Havana as a favorite with the rich tourists. Yes, Fabbito was secure. "Big Field himself couldn't touch him," Beau thought, "so long as he knocks out his man."

"You keep in shape!" he warned Fabbito. "If you don't we'll all have to pay for it."

"Have you noticed me going out any wild parties?"

"No. But, just the same, you watch your step."

"I'm doing it!" Fabbito answered shortly.

"Give us a couple more years," Beau prophesied, "and we can buy the Ritz and give it to the first kid that comes along."

They divided their earnings, which were large during the winter season, into thirds. Fabbito, under the name of Juanito Lopez, bought land, invested in some sound bonds, gave prodigally to the orphanages of Cuba and gambled a little.

Across the hard-beaten road where each day played out with cane-laden carts, stood a suburban grocery store and in the apartment which was above Lottie, Fabbito and Beau lived. The road was their front yard, the roof their garden. Beau who could lean over the rail of the open, swinging, rear seat to call Chap bottles as large as was satisfied, these five bottles of lager were among the few things necessary for his peace. Fabbito didn't care where they lived. Lottie murmured "a good deal about drinking the 'swell house' at La Playa de Marianao, the fashionable bathing beach where the Havana Yacht Club is located. "You can always see something goin' on there," she pointed out but she never persuaded the others to move.

Fabbito read between workouts in the gymnasium, cross-country runs and rub-downs. Books gave him the peace and forgetfulness he could find nowhere else. The truly happy, he realized, do not need an anodyne for life nor to turn sharply from the sweetness of the past because of its contrast with the present. He wondered often about Estelle Field—what she was doing, and where she might be and whether or not she was happy. He preferred not to think of her because thinking of her was painful. Nevertheless, when his anodyne was dull or when the old hunger was too strong to be quieted he found himself thinking of her. He hoped—with an ache—that she was happy.

Fabbito had sent more than one messenger to Key West to search for Noyes but not one of them had found any trace of him. A lame old woman lived in the shack on the island, he learned. She had broken her hip a few years before, she told the inquirer, and it left her so that she could move only a few steps. She lived alone. Her old neighbors, she said, helped her. No, she had never seen a thin-faced, stoop-shouldered man who wore eye-glasses with heavy lenses. Never! God could witness that as truth. Never had she seen such a man!

Fabbito would have found her protestations a bit too hearty but those he sent were so eager to see what the next turn of the road might bring that they missed this important sign post. Fabbito had offered a large reward for finding the man whose name they did not know but whose description they could have narrated in their sleep.

Returning after the search each messenger pocketed his expense money and remuneration, concluding that the one he sought was dead.

But Fabbito would not believe Noyes was dead. He lived only for his dream of some day finding his old friend. It was the only hope he had. Lottie and Beau were not the sort of companions with whom he could be content. "Good whom he felt, were lost to him, and a life of meager joys ahead. He had become a rather jaded, somewhat cynical young man.

In the grip of a mood which was a mixture of dull hopelessness and sharp disgust, Fabbito turned toward Havana on a raw, February morning. The warmth of the previous day had been wiped from the air by a north wind and the sky was low.

The apartment had been creepingly cold and during breakfast Beau had been bitter and sharp of tongue, making Fabbito, as she often did, a target for her anger. Her back hurt "like hell!" she said. Then she tossed her head, sniffed and glowered at Fabbito.

"It was liftin' you while you said that fever that done it," she went on. "I had to do everything for you. You just laid there like a log."

Fabbito had heard this before.

Ninety per cent of school children are said to have defective teeth.

THESE FROCKS TAKE THE CAKE AT AFTERNOON TEAS

Street Length Skirts Have the Edge On More Formal Longer Variety—Taffeta's Popular.

GLADYS PARKER

The appropriate frock for the tea, cocktail or whatever-you-like-to-drink time of late afternoon has long been a disputed thing among the fashionists. The skirt length has been the main point of the argument which is still unsettled, leaving you all to take your choice. It's pretty much of a toss-up with the street length having a slight edge on the more formal longer variety.

Brown, beige and blue striped taffeta is the high style fabric of the season. The dress at the left of the sketch, in a young girl's garment with an amusing stand-up collar to frame the countenance. The high bodice and raglan sleeves are slightly full, accenting the fitted and happily slenderizing skirt. This is a grand dress for a young girl and takes the writer's vote for propriety. Field dainties in lovely pastel colors form the print of the dress in the center. While this outfit has a more formal length, its high neckline and flattering pleated sleeves keep it appropriate for late afternoon. The back of the skirt has a straight panel, flaring from the knee. The bodice is intriguingly slit from neck to waist.

Good old black and white goes very glamorous at the right of the sketch. Organza in millions of tiny pleats edges the bodice point and elbow sleeves. The frock itself is simple in line with kick pleats in the skirt, and raglan sleeves. Rhinestone buttons, fastening the bodice, add a touch of glitter.

eye, except a small cinder or piece of dust lying loosely on the surface. In making such removals, you might follow this simple routine:

Tell the patient to look down, then gently pull the upper lid downward by the eyelashes and double back over a match or toothpick covered with cotton, or some similar device. If the foreign substance is easily visible, it can be removed with the corner of a clean handkerchief.

Never use a hard object in removing a foreign substance.

If you detect an injury to the eye, or you find a splinter of glass, a piece of metal, or some similar substance embedded in the eye, the best possible thing to do is to moisten a piece of clean sterile gauze with warm water, put it over the eye, and get the person to a competent specialist as soon as possible.

Sometimes, after a cinder or piece of dust has been taken out of the eye, the eye still will be painful because of scratches that have occurred. It is useless, under such conditions, to keep on turning the eyelids backward and keep scratching the surfaces.

If the pain is not relieved promptly after removal of a cinder or piece of dust, you should get professional attention immediately.

Redness of the eye, just outside the colored portion, represents danger. Any rupture of the eyeball itself is an exceedingly serious condition and should get immediate attention.

There is no machinery more dangerous to monkey with than the human eye.

MEN LOVELIER THAN WOMEN, DECLARES ONE OF THEM

By Helen Welshimer

Women are not shaping up as well as they used to. The anatomical curve has taken the wrong bend. Still, we've done the best that we could with the rib that Adam gave still. It wasn't his favorite rib, it's not our fault. The amusing part is that we have prided ourselves on the fact we were getting the second glance from our male contemporaries because women were good to look upon.

Men, Dr. Bisch says, are more beautiful than women. Their lines are more graceful, and the reason that they don't frequent the beauty shop as women do is because they are so pretty that they don't have to.

How mistaken we have been! We have always thought that the reason men didn't pluck their eyebrows, rouge their cheeks and curl their hair was because physical beauty was considered an attribute of women and men went in for more robust virtues. Now we have been told because man's anatomy is so much more attractive than that of woman that he can disregard the accessory touches.

Funny, isn't it, if it is anatomical charm that gives the gentlemen claim to the front row that we rarely have a beauty contest for men? Not one has the boardwalk of Atlantic City been the scene of a masculine parade! No silver cups have been given. Have men ever taken the train to Hollywood because they are the prettiest things in their town?

Zeigfeld was a little neglectful, too. He gloried in the American girl and didn't do his duty by the American man. Chorus girls have a mistaken habit of supposing that women's bodies possess more beauty than men's or producers wouldn't have chorus girls in their shows. Chorus men always stay in the background.

Oh yes, the artists never have had the right slant on anatomy, either. They give us bathing girls of our magazines.

Now this might be of course, because men at times can be more modest than women. But the fact is that men are more beautiful than women. Their lines are more graceful, and the reason that they don't frequent the beauty shop as women do is because they are so pretty that they don't have to.

ever watching the male contingent at a bathing beach? If you didn't you happen to notice bow legs, knobby knees and knock knees, skinny legs, Adams' apples, hairy chests? Yet it seems that men, as a whole, are built on lines more perfect than those of women.

Still—we must hand them narrow hips.

Seriously, though, it is quite probable that the perfect man has a more beautiful body than the perfect woman. We just haven't seen a perfect man, that's all.

Menckens made an interesting remark once. He said: "Compared to a woman's body a milk can or a cuspidor is a thing of intelligent and gratifying design."

Maybe it is. Maybe we've just never seen a dream walking.

DON'T FOOL WITH EYE TO REMOVE CINDER

Be Extremely Careful Getting Rid Of Any Foreign Substance; If You Have Trouble, Go to a Specialist.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

When you get a cinder in your eye, be careful how you try getting it out.

Here is probably the most annoying minor emergency condition that a person encounters, and wrong treatment may cause serious harm. If the foreign substance happens to be lying loose on the surface of the eye, or on the inside surface of the eyelid, it causes merely irritation and difficulty with vision. But when it actually is embedded in the eye, extreme care must be taken to avoid serious difficulties.

Experience shows that more harm comes from the wrong kind of emergency aid to persons who have had injuries to the eye, than from any other common injury. Frequently, experts who take care of such injuries find the surface of the eye marked with furrows and scratches, the result of effort of unqualified people to take something out of the eye.

No one has an expert should at once get a doctor's advice.

Your CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barker
© 1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

Strange how old names fit. The word "spoiled" in regards to the wayward and unpleasant child suits so well that no modern could invent a better one.

Many are the causes.

It would be difficult to decide which should be mentioned first. The answer, if anyone were to ask for one off-hand, is that the child has had his "own way" too much. It is probably to a certain extent the reverse. I have tried to show that certain natural developments will produce ill-temper, over-contrariness, and poor conduct of every sort.

But is true to this extent. Parents themselves often "condition" their children to certain demands, and then when they insist on the same things later, the easiest way is to give in and let them have their way, although it might be called "our way" as we are responsible.

How "Spoiling" Starts

We take them to a movie and let them stay up an hour after bedtime. Next night they want to stay up and even perhaps demand the movie too. If it is done often they will show temper, and eventually bedtime becomes definitely postponed and there is a scene if it isn't.

It acts the other way about too. If there are things the children do for themselves, and we let slip a few times, it will be hard to get them back into line.

It applies to small things too. Jimmy wants a clock, or a knife, or a can of varnish. Condition him once and there will be a battle next time. After a while he will assume a healthy attitude about everything he has a mind for.

Of course a baby will cry for things he cannot have, but I have seen a child of two go up to a table, pat a silver box and "mustn't touch." It is not impossible in the least to teach little children that certain things are forbidden.

Effect of Excitement

Another reason for the "spoiled" child is excitement. Excitement means too much artificial stimulant to brain centers that should get their satisfaction from normal daily life and normal play. This does not mean that the child cannot get happily, or even hysterically excited. But the excitement that too many tiny children are subjected to today, are movies, fast-moving cars, too much noise, and a general hurry bury that conditions them to a craving for the abnormal, or the adult experiences. There are many "spoiled" children who while continually for such stimulus and who lose interest in more suitable play.

Life of the pre-school child should be simple, active, companionable and healthy. Health has a lot to do with disposition. And here it must be mentioned that sickness induces a mother very naturally to "give in" and therefore spoils a child on her hands later.

A precocious or very smart child can be spoiled by exciting him before others and accepting "self" until it becomes over-conscious and demanding. It is repetition of exciting experience that spoils a child. Every child has the unusual happen occasionally. He can't go on even with little children without some breaks in routine, and joyous occasions marked with red letters. But when it is repeated too often and the expectancy set we inevitably have trouble.

IT'S THE CHILDREN WHO SUFFER WHEN PARENTS' LOVE DIMS

Causes Unhappiness In Youth

By HELEN WELSHIMER

Fathers and mothers are important people. Far more important, in the lives of their small sons and daughters, than they sometimes think. Recently, among the spangled signs that illuminate Broadway's make-believe world, the name of a heart-breaking tender, human play swung against the late winter sky. "Wednesday's Child," it is called. "Wednesday's Child" is a little boy, a huggable, tousled, yellow-haired youngster... whose father and mother stopped loving each other and loved other people instead.

They were so fond of Bobby. But they had so many new interests, and Bobby was so unhappy in his shattered little-boy world, that they decided to send him to a military school. Of course they came to see him. That was rather hard. You see, they weren't "acting" parents any more. Just—people to be polite to. After a while they would stop coming. Bobby's roommate told him. That would be easier. They put huge sums of money in the headmaster's safe, instead of bringing presents, although Bobby and his schoolmates were limited to twenty-five cents a week. Funny, isn't it, how parents sometimes forget to think?

in dark places and Bobby's playmates saw and taunted him about it.

Children do not have a background of experience against which to establish their values of comparison. Soon enough they must ride through the garden gates to conquest or defeat. For a little while they deserve to linger in a world where there is nothing more important than a game of pom-pom-pull-away, birthday cake or a new bicycle. They should go to circuses with fathers whose hearts hold little-boy dreams. They should attend Sunday School, as Bobby wished he could do. They should romp from school at half-past three to a mother who greets them with kisses and ginger cookies.

They should make friendships. Psychologists tell us that the early years are the formative years. If playmates fall out, as Bobby did, the drums play more slowly and the march is never again so brave and fearless. Nor is it so easy to establish older intimacies.

Sinclair Lewis, writing about another boy in his new novel, "Work of Art," laments the fact that his parents gave him so many toilet duties that he had no time to swim and hunt and grow comradely with his schoolmates. That is bad enough. But Bobby's plight was worse.

He was ostracized. The importance of his mother's kiss has nothing to do with the torture which was inflicted upon the child. Her lack of fitness, and consideration were pretty bad.

Wednesday's Child is full of woe, the old nursery rhyme tells us. Bobby didn't know about that. Just that he didn't feel hungry any more and it was sort of hard to run fast. Wednesday's Child.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

WITH 50 CENTS, HE BEGAN WORLD TOUR

Author Tells of Amazing Four-Year Homeymoon

When Erling Tamba, young Norwegian novelist, got married, he spent all his money on a 40-foot sailing boat. Then he and his bride set out on a cruise around the world.

They had less than 50 cents in cash, they lacked charts and navigation instruments, and their boat even had no spare sails.

Tamba tells about this unique honeymoon in "The Cruise of the Teddy."

By dint of sending stories back to a Norwegian newspaper, Tamba kept just enough of a trickle of cash coming in to buy supplies. He and his bride sailed leisurely down to the Canary Islands—and there Mrs. Tamba gave birth to a son. When the boy was 6 weeks old, they took him aboard and sailed across the Atlantic.

They went through the Panama Canal and set out across the Pacific. They visited the Marquesas and Tahiti and similar romantic spots, escaped disaster by virtue of their boat's sturdiness and Tamba's seamanship, got to New Zealand—and there Mrs. Tamba gave birth to a daughter. Pretty soon they set out again, with two tiny children aboard.

All in all, this amazing cruise lasted about four years. The book finally was written on the New Zealand coast, and Tamba and his family from drowning by the ship's collective teeth. Then he showed how wide this book is. It is probably the best thing you can buy a new book.

OTTO H. KAHN'S DEATH MOURNED

Actual Scope of Banker's Benefactions Went Beyond Public's Knowledge.

New York, March 30.—(AP)—While messages of condolence for the death of Otto H. Kahn, the international banker, poured in today from all parts of the world, artistic and musical New York mourned the passing of one of its greatest benefactors.

The actual scope of Mr. Kahn's efforts went beyond public knowledge. His support of the Metropolitan Opera company, the Theater Guild, the Philharmonic Symphony, and other major organizations was well known, but there are scores of obscure or little known artists in New York who felt his helping hand in need.

Whenever he could, the banker preferred that no one should know of his aid save the person benefited. Someone discovered in 1930, for example, that he had been donating sums for many years to negroes to encourage the development of their racial art.

Mr. Kahn had a well developed artistic bent, which was encouraged to the full by his education. In his youth he learned to play both the violin and the cello. At seventeen he had written two five-act tragedies in blank verse.

Arrangements for the funeral were to be announced today.

FRENCH COMEDY SUCCESS AT PARSONS' NEXT WEEK

Jacqueline Logan to Be Seen in Important Booking—Fine Supporting Cast.

Among the most important bookings at Parson's Theater this season is that of "Three and One," the risqué comedy success, which comes to Hartford for a week's engagement commencing Monday evening, April 2nd, following its recent run of four months on Broadway, which in turn was preceded by an engagement of two full years in Paris. Jacqueline Logan, widely known stage and screen celebrity, is starred, while Nana Bryant, King Calder and Shering Oliver are co-stars.

An adaptation from the French of Denys Amiel by Lewis Galanter and John Houseman, "Three and One" revolves about a rather unusual family. Lois Valois, a famous Parisian dancer in her younger days, has acquired, through the medium of several marriages, three sons who, following the characteristics of their fathers, are respectively a poet, a financier and an athlete.

Into their midst, at a country villa, comes a devastating young widow and each son is convinced that she is interested in his particular type of charm. With its racy dialogues, gay innuendoes, frank statements and risqué humor, "Three and One" is said to be adult entertainment of a highly entertaining nature.

The carefully selected cast adds to the keen enjoyment of the play. In addition to the quartette of principal artists, the company also comprises: Don Darry, Richard S. Bishop, Ethel Wilson and G. Bryan Gordon. The play's artistic direction is attributed to Theodore Viehman.

Kay Francis and Dolores Del Rio, the two dark haired beauties who perform the leading feminine roles in the First National picturization of "Wonder Bar," which comes to the State Theater on Sunday, appear in several ravishing gowns, costumes designed by Orry-Kelly.

Beaded fabrics lead the group—Miss Del Rio wearing two sequin gowns, one gold and one black, while Miss Francis wears a white beaded gown, showing an extreme low décolletage, with an enveloping cape of black velvet also richly embroidered with beads.

"Wonder Bar" is the international famous musical drama, with an all star cast, others being Al Johnson, Ricardo Cortez, Dick Powell, Hal LeRoy, Guy Kibbee, Hugh Herbert, Louise Fazenda, Fin d'Orcay and Merna Kennedy.

The picture is set amid the gay revelries of a Parisian night club with spectacular musical and dance numbers created and staged by Busby Berkeley in which 800 beautiful girls take part. Music and lyrics are by Harry Warren and Al Dubin while Lloyd Bacon directed.

OPEN FORUM

RADIO AMATEURS' WORK

Editor, The Herald:
May I through the column of your paper, give the people of Manchester a few notes on recent work of radio amateurs in assisting in emergencies.

On December 31-Jan. 1 heavy floods descended upon La Crescenta and Montrose, Calif., carrying away bridges, houses, automobiles, telephone and telegraph lines. The total rainfall being 15 inches, known dead 38, missing 60, homes demolished 400, property damage $5,000,000.

W6EAB on 3900 kilocycles phones at La Crescenta and W6FCE at Pasadena were the only means of communication in the flooded areas. These amateurs at the risk of their lives handled emergency messages and news reports.

In Swains Lake, Ontario in January a man lay near death with acute appendicitis. Word reached G. A. Côté, W6EAO, operator at the Ontario Forest Radio station at Swains Lake. Unable to get word through on commercial channels, VE3EO turned to amateur radio, contacting Joe Sky, VE3HA, Fort William. Sky immediately wired the Canadian news reports at Stouffville. A plane carrying a doctor was shortly headed for Swains Lake. An emergency operation was performed and the man's life saved!

Wallace and Kellogg, Idaho in December were isolated for several days due to bad floods. W7AQK (Kellogg) and W7BDX (Wallace) did praiseworthy SOS work with W7VS, Portland, Ore. and W7AMA, Spokane, Wash. Handling AP reports 4256 words, approximately 936 messages and news reports. Press dispatches to The Chronicle (Spokane paper) totaled about 8000 words. Weather reports etc. were exchanged.

Gaspé Peninsula, Quebec, January 30th: Two crack express trains imprisoned in snowdrifts as 50-mile-per-hour gale swept the worst winter storm in quarter of a century before it. Communications systems disrupted. Dr. J. Landry, VE2BA, was Mont Joli's sole means of communication from mid-afternoon on the 29th. VE2BA upon contacting Rev. C. E. Robert, VE2EC, Three Rivers, reported the westbound express from Maritimes blocked by the storm at Amqui, and the east-bound express from Montreal in the drifts at St. Siméon, and sent many other details of the tie-up.

Most radio amateurs throughout the entire country spend considerable amounts of money to build what is known as portable sets. These sets are movable and so constructed so as to be readily accessible in case of emergencies.

Although the amateurs in Manchester may never be called upon to perform these great services to the community, they always stand ready to serve.

Forrest F. Howell, W1BAX, 3 Edgerton Place, Manchester, Conn.

EASTER WEATHER

New Haven, March 30.—(AP)—Fair and warm weather prevailed over Connecticut today for Good Friday, and promised to keep right on doing so for Easter.

"We look for mostly fair weather over the week-end," reported the U. S. Weather Bureau, cautioning, however, that conditions were unsettled in the midwest and that it was too early to predict with certainty.

The thermometer registered 51 at noon today at the Weather Bureau.

John Hutchinsons, of Lehi, Utah, has a collection of more than 3,000 arrow points gathered from the shores of Utah lake.

The young or larvae of the gypsy moth, forest pest, have been found flying the wind 2,000 feet high.

DAD CRABS THE FUN

Grace, I don't know what's come over Henry. He's always cross after dinner. I wish I knew what is disagreeing with him— Well, do try Crisco. It makes such a difference with fried foods and pies to use a wholesome vegetable fat.

MOTHER ASKS ADVICE

Henry, you're a different man since I've been cooking with Crisco. It just goes to show how important it is to use a fat that digests quickly. Okay! Pop's going to make us an airplane.

Be friendly to your stomach

Don't deny yourself the flaky pies and fluffy biscuits and crispy fried foods you can make with Crisco. Crisco is a wholesome and pure vegetable fat—it digests quickly. It doesn't overtax your digestion! Avoid greasy-soaked hot foods and heavy greasy party. Cook with Crisco, the most-tasting shortening that makes food taste good—and be good for you!

BANANA Gingerbread Shortcake

Cream 3 tablespoons shortening and 1/4 cup sugar thoroughly. Add 1 beaten egg and 1/4 cup molasses. Stir together and add 1 1/2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon. When thoroughly mixed, add 1/4 cup boiling water. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 20 to 25 minutes in two greased 8 or 9-inch layer pans. Cool, place 2 or 3 sliced bananas between and on top of layers. Cover with 1 cup heavy cream, whipped, and banana slices. Serves six to eight.

WHEN bananas are yellow tipped with green, that's your cooking signal. They make a marvelous year-round "vegetable."

When yellow ripe, they're fine for eating, yet still firm enough for cooking.

Yellow floaked with brown means fully ripe—the high point of mellow deliciousness—to peel and eat "as is"... to slice in milk for a well-balanced breakfast, lunch or supper... or for tempting desserts.

NEEDY ALONE TO GET WORK ON FERA PLAN

Six copies of each payroll be made out and sent to the State, Washington, the state FERA administration and local auditor, the town of origin retaining one copy.

Manchester will place approximately 250 men and women on work relief jobs next Monday. As soon as is possible the local FERA administration will place social service investigators in the Social division and the office or Work division will be continued as heretofore for the placement of the workers certified by the investigating department and for handling the time of the workers and making up the payrolls and maintaining a first aid department.

In response to an inquiry directed to the assembly by Miss Little yesterday afternoon, regarding the possibility of including in the relief plan "subsistence gardens," it is expected that Manchester will comply with the state supervisor's suggestion and that the gardens supervised by the American Legion committee for the past two years will be continued and the plan may be enlarged on a greater scale. Miss Little stated that it may be possible to secure fertilizer and seed from the government, reducing the expense in this connection. For the past two years the cost of seed and fertilizer has been borne by the contributors to the M. E. A. and the town.

Gardens maintained at several points for the past two years were successful, reducing charity cost to participating families appreciably.

Enlarge Department

The local FERA department will be larger than the same department under the CWA, due to the investigations to be conducted to determine the status of the applicant for work relief.

Three Members of Family Taken to New Haven Hospital—Was an Accident.

New Haven, March 30.—(AP)—Three members of one family in West Haven, were taken to the New Haven hospital for treatment early today after Mrs. Michael Trufan accidentally mixed insect powder into dumpling dough.

Police investigating the case said the sufferers, all of whom probably will be discharged this afternoon, are: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Sonn, son-in-law and daughter of Mrs. Trufan and Arthur Trufan, a son of the woman.

Captain James Cannon of the West Haven police said Mrs. Trufan, who is Russian and can not read English, mixed some dough for dumplings yesterday.

The dumplings were part of the supper eaten by Mrs. Sonn, 28, her husband, 33, and Arthur. Early today Mrs. Sonn was taken ill and aroused her husband who also complained of illness. Arthur and another younger member of the family when awakened also complained.

Spring Thaws in Asia Bring Threat of War

New York, March 30.—Japan and Russia are preparing for war, and the next two months will bring the answer to whether the impending conflict is to be plumed this spring. A careful forecast of the pros and cons of the situation has been prepared by Miles W. Vaughn, for many years newspaper correspondent in Japan and Eastern Asia, who finds exactly six pros and six cons in favor of the logic of the situation, he sums up, points away from war—"but," he adds, "war itself is not logical and facts are not always important."

Mr. Vaughn believes that the question of war or no-war depends to a considerable extent on the attitude of the Japanese war lords, who are to a considerable extent independent of Tokyo. Mr. Vaughn explains the situation as follows: "The Japanese army is largely independent because it always has been. The army announces itself to be the repository of the imperial tradition. Roughly that means it is the defender of the Emperor and responsible to the Emperor alone."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (Abnormal cravings Due to Lack of Food Minerals) Question: "Anxiously Waiting" writes: "Will you please answer through the columns of the Anderson Herald why I have such a great desire to chew soft coal. I cannot seem to stop this craving and enjoy having at least one teaspoonful a day."

Answer: The most common cause of such an abnormal craving is a lack of food minerals in the diet. The best way for me to help you is for you to write to me in care of the Anderson Herald, sending your full name and address on a stamped envelope. I will then be pleased to mail to you a copy of my article on Food Minerals which will tell you the names of ones you need and in what foods they are found. You do not need to be ashamed of this unusual craving as I can assure you that I doubt very much if there is any substance on the face of the earth that some human being has not craved at some time or other. Some people like lead pencils, others crave plaster from the wall, others crave raw starch, and I have found that there are many hundreds of people who crave coffee grounds.

(Inflammatory Rheumatism) Question: From G. M. San Bernardino, Calif.: "I need some advice in regard to my 8-year-old daughter who has inflammatory rheumatism. She has a fever, and there are times when the pain is almost unbearable and times when she feels quite good. Will you answer this in your newspaper column as soon as possible?"

Answer: It is almost impossible to give you the complete treatment for rheumatic fever in children in a short answer. The best plan is for you to write to me in care of the newspaper in which you are reading my articles. Please enclose a large, self-addressed envelope and 8c in stamps, and ask for the three articles on Rheumatic Fever.

Three rare specimens of a fish-eating bat known as pisonyx vivax, believed to exist only on the shores of the Gulf of California, have been added to the collection of the University of California.

... his assistant. He was taken from the rear and the next he knew he was locked in a vault.

The navy robbery coincided with reports yesterday that John Dillinger, mid-western jail breaker and desperado, had been in Virginia. Norfolk police were instructed to be on the lookout for a car bearing an Illinois license, said to have been operated by Dillinger.

Lieutenant Edgington was found by Chief Machinist Mate Thomas and was released at 10:15 p. m. When Lieutenant Edgington failed to return home at the usual time last night his wife became alarmed and called the duty officer at the yard. Thomas went to Lieutenant Edgington's office, saw the vault closed and started a search elsewhere, thinking Edgington left.

Thomas visited several other places in searching for the officer and then returned to the pay office. There he saw a slip of paper sticking from under the vault door. Picking it up, he found it was a note from the imprisoned man with the combination of the safe. Chief Pay Clerk Palmer arrived about this time and opened the safe releasing Edgington.

Lieutenant Edgington could not be reached by reporters for a statement today. Officers at the navy yard, when asked if he had seen his assailant, said that would have to be determined at the inquiry.

The accord means increased production costs for the operators, which they predicted, would ultimately have to be borne by the consumers.

Operators estimated additional coal costs of more than $25,000,000 would be levied upon consumers during the coming year.

The agreement provided for a joint commission of eight operators and eight miners to investigate the differentials on tonnage and day wage rates between the northern and southern districts with instructions to make recommendations to a joint conference in Washington, Feb. 18, 1935.

NEW YORK JUDGE COMMITS SUICIDE
Atlantic City, N. J., March 30 — (AP) — Despondent over ill health, police said, William Chivers 56, President Judge of the Municipal Courts in New York City, jumped from the eighth story of the Hotel Lady shortly before 9 o'clock today. He was found by police who removed him to the hospital where he was pronounced dead. The police report called the death a suicide.

An investigation revealed that Chivers had come here on March 21 with his wife and a brother-in-law, William Duke, to recuperate from the effects of an operation. Mrs. Chivers returned home last Monday, leaving her husband in the care of her brother.

Police said Chivers arose and dressed in his room on the fifth floor. From there he proceeded to the roof. His body was found in an alley beside the hotel.

Duke said he doubted his brother-in-law committed suicide. He said he believed the judge went to the roof sun deck to enjoy the early morning sun, and became dizzy and fell while standing near the railing.

GERMAN BISHOP NAZI PUBLICATIONS
Berlin, March 30 (AP) — With out specifically naming them, Bishop Nicholas Barmine in a Good Friday sermon in St. Hedwig's Roman Catholic Cathedral, referred to recent Nazi ultra-nationalist publications as "Propaganda of Satan." The cathedral was crowded to the doors and Dr. Barmine, the new bishop of Berlin, spoke with great emphasis about the alleged pagan literature now being distributed to the people.

Bishop Barmine warned that if the blessing of the church should be rejected, darkness and destruction would fall upon the land.

GIANT AIRPLANE TESTED ON SOUND

Hundreds Watch as Machine Taxis Along Water; Not Taken into Air Today.

Bridgeport, March 30.—(AP)—Sikorsky's giant air flyer, S-42, under construction at the Stratford plant for the Pan-American Airways, went taxiing in Long Island Sound, off Stratford harbor, today while hundreds of curious seekers lined the shores at Stratford light house to watch the aquatic maneuvers of the flying ship.

More Tests Needed. After several hours of intensive testing, the S-42 was nosed back toward the Sikorsky basin and hauled up on the runway. Officials of the plant said that they were satisfied with the preliminary tests, but no definite date was set for taking the plane into the air.

DETROIT ADDS THREE FOR DECIDING CLASH
 Detroit, March 30.—(AP)—Strengthened by the last minute drafting of three minor league players, the Detroit Red Wings take the game tonight against the Toronto Maple Leafs in the fifth and deciding game of the National Hockey league championship playoff.

The game also will decide who will play in the Stanley Cup finals with the winner of the Montreal-Chicago series.

To reinforce the front line attack, Detroit drafted Gene Carrigan, Gus Marker and Ron Moffatt from the Detroit Olympics, a trio of crashing puck artists, who have been big scorers in the International League.

Free Style Field
 A glance at the 220-yard free-style field shows Livingston has the fastest time recorded this year for that distance, 2:16.3. But Plichta and Stevens of Navy and Flackmann have been firing with that time for the last few weeks.

On down the list of events, capable boys are entered who will keep the race in doubt until the last few yards. Only in the 1,500 meter swim is there a ranking favorite and he is Jim Christy of Michigan, although how close he will come to the 19:07.2 world's mark set by Arne Borg of Sweden is another question.

On the basis of pre-tournament performance Yale and Michigan are favored to win. Northwestern, which surprised the swimming world last year when it slipped into first place in the Yale pool, doesn't seem to have the balance this year to repeat.

The dark horse of the meet is Southern California, competing for the first time in the 11-year history of the meet. The Trojans have sent a well-balanced squad and experts are predicting freely they will place a man in every one of the 10 events.

Seventeen conventions of as many national organizations of the Lutheran church are scheduled between June and November.

CRACK FIELD ENTERED AT OHIO STATE'S MEET

Fastest College Swimmers to Compete Today at Columbus; Seconds Divide Many of the Contestants.

Columbus, O., March 30.—(AP)—On the basis of previous performances turned in by the crack field of contestants, the keenest of competition was expected in the National Collegiate Athletic Association swimming championships opening at Ohio State University today.

Experts placed the results in nine of the ten results very definitely in the doubtful column and pointed to Dick Degner of Michigan as a probable repeated in the high board diving championship.

Preliminaries in all events were scheduled for this afternoon and tonight with only the 1,500 meter final up for decision. The other finals will be decided tomorrow night.

PROPOSED POWER PLAN OUTLINED

Maine Engineer Seeks $43,000,000 Loan to Utilize Coastal High Tides.

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—Plans for the distribution of power through a large section of industrial New England from the proposed project in Passamaquoddy Bay, Maine, were outlined before the Public Works Board of Review today by Dexter Cooper, engineer, principal proponent of the plan.

Cooper seeks a public works loan of $43,000,000 to construct a dam to utilize the high tides in that vicinity for a novel type of power project. The plan, Cooper estimated, would produce 487,000,000 kilowatt hours per year.

All members of the Maine Congressional delegation except Representative Beedy testified in favor of the plan. Much of Cooper's testimony dealt with a market for the plan. The Federal Power Commission has reported an inadequate market makes the project inadvisable.

Cooper said an aluminum plant which is contemplated as a part of the project would utilize 60 percent of the total output. Power would be available for immediate distribution in six counties in that section of Maine while it is eventually contemplated running power lines to Boston and other industrial sections of southern New England.

He originally contemplated, he said, distribution in that section through use of a submarine cable but has found that present scientific knowledge makes that plan impossible. However, he said, although they now contend to support construction of an overland transmission line to the Boston area, investigations are still being conducted into the possibility of the cable project.

At the suggestion of board members, Cooper planned to introduce figures later today to support his contention that power could be produced and distributed more cheaply through his plan than by the steam plants now in operation.

Frederic A. Delano, chairman of the National Planning Board, who said he was speaking as an individual, testified that he saw "no insurmountable difficulties in the project."

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE AGAINST TEAM MANAGER
 Accused of Keeping Money Intended for Soccer Players, Court Record Shows.

Bridgeport, March 30.—(AP)—Albino Perri of Danbury, a former employe of the Frank H. Lee Company in Danbury, and manager of the Soccer team that represented that company in the league is being tried before the Common Pleas Court here on charges of embezzlement of money that was given him to pay the players on the team. Perri denies the allegation.

Testimony was offered to show that the players were paid in some instances $20 weekly for "learning" the bat trade in the Lee factory and were paid $5 and expenses for each game. Perri declared that when the team was started he brought the players from Massachusetts and paid for their board, while they were "earning" their first week's pay. He declared that the existing conditions were made known to league officials but nothing was ever done about it by them.

Trial of the action will be resumed on Monday.

CLAIMS DR. WIRT DECLINED DEBATE

Michigan Representative Lashes Out at Gary Educator's Charges.

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—Representative Foulkes (D., Mich.) disclosed today that Dr. William A. Wirt of Gary, Ind., had declined a challenge to debate with him upon the latter's allegations that some Roosevelt advisors are Communist sympathizers.

The Wirt telegram as made public by the Congressman read: "Secretary Wallace recently published the statement 'there can hardly be even a satisfactory tentative answer until we decide which way we want to go. It should be debated in Congress, in public forums in city and in country schoolhouse meetings in every state. The people must be let in on the problem.'"

"The question is not a manhunt for a Communist. I congratulate you on your offer to assist in this effort to decide the way we want to go. I sincerely regret that owing to the limitations of time and physical strength, I can not assist you."

After referring yesterday on the House floor to a telegram from Wirt "in which he names a person high in the administration who made certain significant statements," Foulkes declined today to give the text of the newspaper report.

He said, however: "He (Dr. Wirt), Secretary Wallace as well as some others to the effect that 'brain trusters' had not decided yet which way the country was going."

"Apparently Dr. Wirt came in like a lion and is going out like a lamb. 'The other day he was thirsting for my blood and issued a virtual challenge to me. I accepted the debate proposal on condition that Dr. Wirt would also accept and I took it for granted that he would do so, since he had been so belligerent."

"Now, however, he backs out and says his 'limitations of time and physical strength prevent him from taking part in such an argument. His attitude indicates pretty strongly that he does not really want to debate the subject at all, in a fair and open discussion. What he wants is not a debate but an ex parte speech in which there is no comeback from any critics and nobody has an opportunity to thrust with him the points at issue."

"This is a confession of the weakness of his position. 'After virtually challenging me to a debate in which I was entirely willing to take part, he runs away from it and gives as his excuse his 'limitations of time and physical strength.'"

"I regret indeed that Dr. Wirt's spasm of pugnaciousness was so short-lived."
