

THINK 146 KILLED IN MINE EXPLOSION

Sixty Bodies So Far Recovered—Only 15 Miners Escape—Poison Gas Adds to Horrors of Tragedy.

Sarajevo, Yugo Slavia, April 23.—(AP) Rescue workers abandoned all hope today of finding any survivors in the depths of the blast-wrecked Kakanj coal mines. Officials included in a death estimate of 146 the 86 men still unaccounted for. Sixty bodies had been recovered. Fifteen miners escaped or were rescued. Even the hope of recovering the remaining bodies faded as water welled up in the pit. Gas which overcame a number of diggers added to the hazards of rescue work. Many of those who had sought to reach the victims turned their effort to building caskets. Believed It Quake At Belgrade, an official investigating committee laid the explosion to unusual quantities of methane gas. So terrific was the explosion Saturday that peasants thought it was an earthquake. "There was a thunderous roar," one peasant, ploughing near by at the time, related. "The earth heaved. I thought it was an earthquake. Then great sheets of flame and dense columns of smoke poured out of the pit."

ASSOCIATED PRESS HAS 1,315 MEMBERS News Agency Holds Annual Meeting; President Noyes Makes an Address.

New York, April 23.—(AP)—The largest membership in its history—1,315 cooperating newspapers—was reported to the annual meeting today of the Associated Press. Members of the organization heard the report of Kent Cooper, general manager, outlining the year's endeavors, voted on five members of the board of directors, and prepared to hear Cordell Hull, secretary of state, the principal speaker at the annual luncheon. Frank B. Noyes, president, who presided at the luncheon, who gave the annual toast to the president of the United States, also spoke briefly on the freedom of the press. "We believe," said Mr. Noyes prepared address, "not only that the constitutional right of the free press should be scrupulously guarded, but, beyond that, that the collection and distribution of the news should be equally scrupulously guarded that it shall not fall into the hands of special interests, whether Capitalistic or Communist, but shall remain unbiased. That is our trust, and, God permitting, we will honor it." (In his toast to President Roosevelt, Mr. Noyes recalled a phrase from a presidential nominating speech which stuck in his memory, and added: "Happy Warrior."

The speaker characterized his candidate as a "happy warrior" and to this day I can invent no more apt description of the man I have in mind—the orator who was then describing another man—than is contained in these same two words—"the Happy warrior" who today in a world perplexed beyond words in meeting problems that are anguishing troubled peoples, still maintains a gallant and unperturbed front and meets his problems with undiminished optimism. General Manager Cooper, in his report said "my own conception of the Associated Press is that its task is such a big one that whatever it does should be done on a scale that leaves no doubt anywhere that its form of organization is highly effective, the loyalty of its members to it unquestioned, and the ability of its staff fully equal to the demands upon it."

Washington Staff. He recalled one time, a staff of ten or 12 men covered a National convention. Such a staff, however, he said, could not tell member newspapers throughout the entire country what was going on in their respective state delegations. "Accordingly, the National conventions in 1928, the first since this management was installed, there were sixty-five men and women assigned to the job. In 1932, there were seventy-five."

Mr. Cooper review the activities in the various departments, noting that "the foreign service had one of the biggest news years since the World War," and that the news

AIRMAIL BILL TO BE RUSHED IN THE HOUSE

Postoffice Committee Approves Administration's Temporary Measure—To Be Debated Tomorrow.

Washington, April 23.—(AP)—The House post office committee today approved the Administration's temporary airmail bill authorizing the Postmaster General to make one-year contracts and calling for creation of a special commission to make a broad survey and recommend a general aviation policy. The rules committee will take up the bill tomorrow and give it privileged status to rush its passage. The bill would set the airmail postage rate at 5 per cent an ounce, and provides that in the temporary one-year contracts the rate of payment shall not exceed 30 cents per airplane mile for loads not over 300 pounds. Loads above that total would be paid for at the rate of one-tenth of the base figure for each additional 100 pounds of mail. The measure also would allow companies prosecuting claims against the government to bid for and carry mail, but require the successful bidders to keep their books open to post office department inspection. It would authorize the secretary of commerce to prescribe safety methods for airmail lines, and stipulates that the pay to pilots, mechanics and laborers shall be not less than that paid in 1933. The special commission would comprise nine persons appointed by the President—three Senators, three House members and three other persons. After a thorough survey, this commission not later than January 30, 1935, would submit its recommendations to Congress. Contractors who obtained one

10,000 QUIT WORK IN AUTO PLANTS

Hope That 50,000 Miners Will Go Back to Jobs Under New Wage Agreement

(By Associated Press) Strike orders affecting 10,000, in three automobile plants darkened the Nation's industrial picture today. Calls were issued yesterday for strikes at the Fisher Body factory at Cleveland, where 7,000 men are employed, and at the Chevrolet Motor and Fisher Body plants at St. Louis, involving 3,100 workers. A hopeful note appeared in the bituminous coal industry with President Roosevelt and Hugh S. Johnson, NRA chief, striving to end labor troubles. The President asked striking miners, numbering nearly 50,000, to return to work under a new wage structure. Both sides in the rail wage controversy fired new statements before the public, each blaming the other for the discord. President Roosevelt has suggested that the 10 per cent deduction from basic wages be extended six months longer. The present agreement expires June 30. In the automobile industry, strikes already were in effect in tool and parts factories at Detroit and Toledo.

Union recognitions questions led to the Cleveland strike order, voted at a meeting of metal trades workers. The strike was ordered effective at 7 a. m. today. The St. Louis strike, union leaders said, resulted from the refusal of the Chevrolet and Fisher companies to re-employ 118 men, most of whom had been active in union affairs. At Wichita, Kas., about 125 union printers were on strike, handicapping publication of the city's three newspapers.

Norfolk Man Drives Wife and Youth Is Killed IN STOLEN AUTO Refuses to Stop at Police-men's Orders So They Open Fire on Him.

BULLETIN! Norfolk, Conn., April 23.—The remains of Jacob Wersula, 45, and his two children, Helen, 10 and Robert, 9, were removed from the ruins of their home by state police and Deputy Sheriff Thomas Leshey early today. The children and their father died in the flames of their home at 10 o'clock last night in a fire set by the father after he had quarreled with his wife and his father-in-law.

Norfolk, Conn., April 23.—(AP)—Two children and their father were believed to have perished today in a fire which police were told had been set by the man after a family quarrel. Discovery of human bones in the ruins caused police to express the conviction that Jacob Wersula, 45, and his two children died in the

HULL DESCRIBES NEW DEAL POLICY

Secretary of State Tells Editors No Dictatorship Is Planned.

New York, April 23.—(AP)—Cordell Hull, secretary of state, today named a middle-course recovery policy "sound liberalism" as the "very essence of the New Deal." Standing before publishers and others gathered at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press, Hull tossed aside talk of dictatorship. The Roosevelt "rehabilitation" program, he said, would preserve "all the fundamentals of popular government."

"It is never wise," said Hull, "especially in time of crisis, to hearken too much to the extreme reactionary or the extreme Radical x x x." "We enthroned no dictators. We made no secret trades with private, self-interest groups—we merely drew together the different and scattered groups of democracy into a common effort, openly conceived, openly discussed, openly chosen." The tall, soft-spoken secretary of state expressed confidence that what he called Mr. Roosevelt's middle course between extremes would result in "recovery, restoration and rehabilitation which would embrace the rights and liberties of the individual and the progressive improvement of the social and material condition of the masses."

SENATE SILVER BLOC TO IGNORE F. D.'S WISHES

Senators After Parley Vote to Keep Up Fight for Mandate—Plan Is Humiliating, Says Borah.

Washington, April 23.—(AP)—The Senate silver bloc decided today at an informal meeting to demand enactment of the Dies silver bill in mandatory form despite the opposition of President Roosevelt. Almost a score of senators attended the conference at which the decision was reached, but only half of them were still on hand when the vote was taken. The vote was preceded by a round table discussion in which Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) led the move to continue the campaign for mandatory legislation and Senator Pittman (D., Nev.) advocated seeking legislation "the President will stand for."

No Veto Threat. Thomas reported to the group the President's refusal at a conference Saturday to agree to mandatory legislation, but members of the committee who conferred with the chief executive said he did not threaten a veto. Senator attending the conference today expressed their views one by one, and then listened to a series of brief talks by outsiders, including Father Charles E. Coughlin, of Detroit, advocating silver legislation.

"Let's bury the philosophy of the Rothchild's and the Federal Reserve System and get back to the Constitution where Congress has the right to coin money and regulate its value," Coughlin shouted. "If the Democratic or Republican parties can't get back to the constitution, we will start another party. We're going back." Favored by Majority. Most of the Senators supported Thomas in demanding mandatory legislation. Senator Borah (R., Idaho) announced his views with a statement that he could not "see anything giving more permissive legislation."

SOCIETY LEADER DIES IN NEW YORK

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Had Been Ill for Last Three Years—Was 80.

New York, April 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, 80, a leader of American society, died last night. She was more than 80 years old and had been in poor health for the last three years. Her husband, grandson of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, who amassed the family fortune through vast railroad interests, died in 1899. Three children survive—Eugenie General Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney and the Countess Laszlo Szechenyi, wife of the former Hungarian minister to Washington.

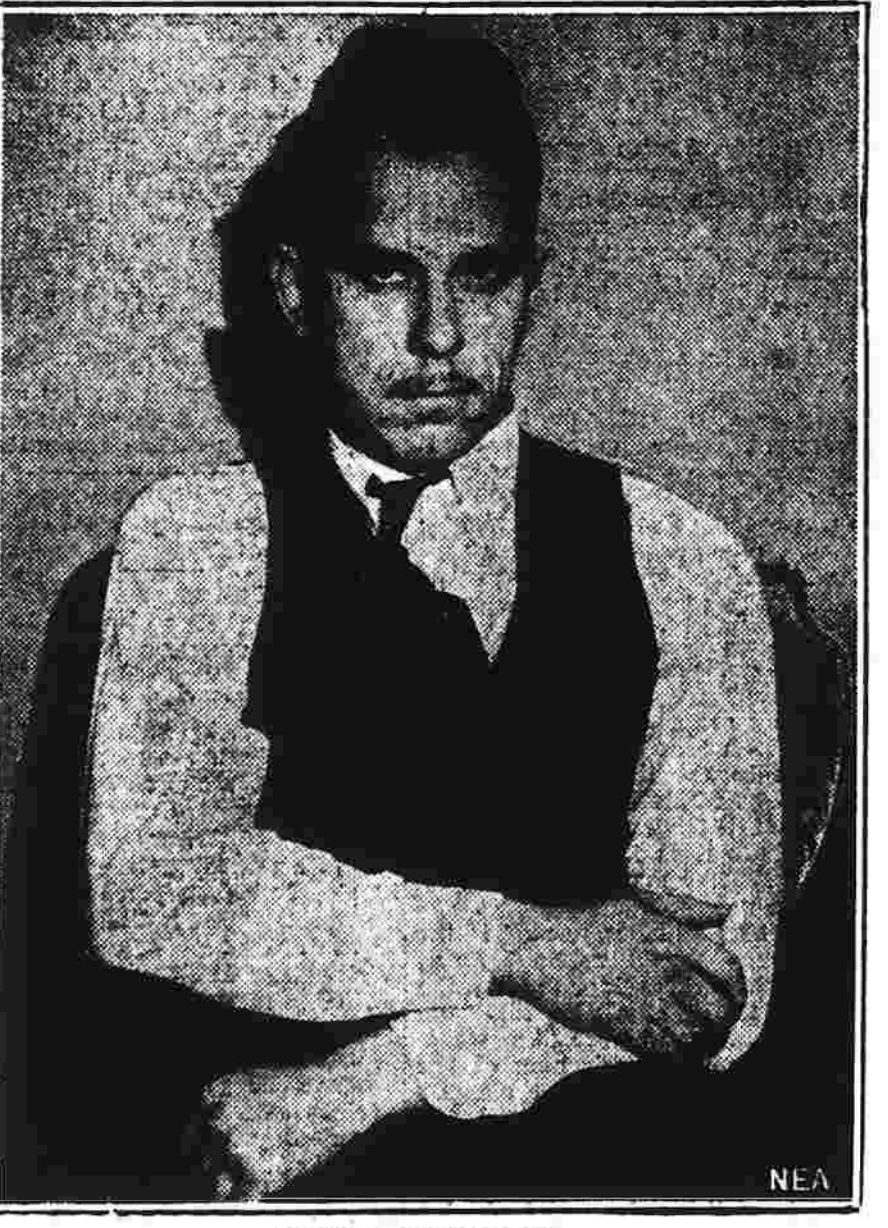

Mrs. Vanderbilt, oldest of the eight Mrs. Van Albrites in the "social register" and known as the Dowager Mrs. Vanderbilt, had been in virtual retirement since the death of her husband. Her last years were divided between her town house and her palatial residence at Newport, R. I. Mrs. Vanderbilt was the daughter of Abram Evan Gwynne of Cincinnati, and Lettie Moore Flagg. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mrs. Roosevelt Denies Senator Schall's Charges

Washington, April 23.—(AP)—After Senator Schall (R., Minn.) had failed to keep an appointment with her at the White House, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today arrived late at her press conference and sweepingly contradicted the statement the Senator issued yesterday against her furniture factory. Schall said in a statement last night that Mrs. Roosevelt was charging five times what others ask for furniture similar to that produced at her Hyde Park, N. Y., factory. Mrs. Roosevelt told reporters she called the Senator at 9:15 o'clock this morning and he agreed to come to the White House at 10:30. She said she waited until 11 and expressed regret that he failed to appear. She expressed that she preferred telling him first what she

JOHN DILLINGER

Midwest Killer Escapes from Forest Hideout With Small Army in Pursuit—Federal Officer Slain by Machine Gun, Two Are Wounded—Police Shots Kill Man Fleeing from Woodland Dance Hall Where Dillinger and Six Had Hid for Days.

Mercer, Wis., April 23.—(AP)—John "Wooden Gun" Dillinger, will-o-the-wisp terrorist, again eluded an army of Federal agents and deputy sheriffs early today in a north woods hideout, where he and six men and five women companions had hidden in an armed camp since last Friday. His latest escape cost the lives of two men and the serious wounding of four others. Dillinger and six members of his machine gun gang were at bay in the woods of the Lac Du Flambeau resort region. They were fleeing over roads soft from melting snow, and a force of 50 was close behind. One Department of Justice agent was among the dead and another was wounded.

Narrowest Escape Cornered late last night in Little Bohemia, a Spider Lake dance hall and tavern nine miles southeast of Mercer, Dillinger had had the narrowest escape of the weeks of pursuit in which the government men have trailed them about the country.

Three young women were left behind and hurried when the besieging forces filled the resort, a sprawling building housing living quarters, a bar and a cabaret, with tear gas. The first victim, a bystander, was Eugene Boiesonau, killed outright by the Federal agents' fire as he and two companions drove away from the resort.

Shots As Warning The shots warned Dillinger and his band, who had taken forcible possession of the resort Friday, mounting a machine gun on the roof and posting lookouts. They fled out a rear door and separated in the thick Wisconsin woods. Three turned up a few minutes later at Mitchell's resort, commandeered a car, and drove off ahead of the Federal men. One other, carrying a machine gun over his arm, ran into a nearby tavern. Turner's resort, and demanded of Alvin Turner that he furnish him a car.

Before Turner could reply an automobile containing two government men and a constable drew up outside. Shouting "Who's that?" the desperado ran out and opened fire with his machine gun. W. Carter Baum, a Chicago Federal agent, was killed, Constable Carl C. Christensen of Spider Lake, Wis., was critically wounded; and J. C. Newman of Chicago, a Department of Justice agent, was seriously wounded. Two of Boiesonau's companions were struck by bullets.

The Department of Justice, in its official report, said Dillinger and three followers, among them John Hamilton, his first lieutenant, escaped from the resort to the lake shore at its rear door. Use Tear Gas Bombs Between midnight and dawn, 126 gunshots were fired by the Federal agents then approached the house, forced open the door, and threw in tear gas bombs. The three women, between 20 and 25 years of age, ran out, gasping and choking. Their names were withheld.

The department named as the three with Dillinger: John Hamilton, escaped Michigan City, Ind., convict; Tom Carroll, St. Paul bank robber. Homer van Meter, with a record as a kidnaper and stickup man. Dillinger came to the camp from Sault Ste. Marie, said J. Edgar Hoover head of the Federal investigating bureau. Arriving at the camp Friday, the gang and its three girl companions had had a continuous "party" since then.

Dillinger left his luggage behind in a suitcase identified as his when found an assortment of pajamas and silk shirts. Identifiable about two dozen other articles, including a hat, a pair of shoes and a pair of socks, were found in the suitcase. It was because the government

MILLEN JURY VISITS BANK HOLD-UP SCENE

District Attorney Reenacts Alleged Crime in Needham Where Policeman Was Slain.

Dedham, Mass., April 23.—(AP)—Part of the trail of pillage and murder the state claims the Millen-Faber gang trod during a brief career of crime was retraced today by the jury, which will decide the guilt or innocence of the gang of chills that they killed a Needham policeman.

Soon after court convened, District Attorney Edmund R. Dewing gave the jurors a brief explanation of the scenes they would be shown in Needham, asking them to pay particular attention to certain spots. Bank Visited The cavalcade of cars went first to the Needham Trust company, where, on February 2, bandits made away with $14,500 after slaying two men and wounding two others. The jurors went into the bank and made a minute inspection. The route the raiders took leaving Needham was then retraced.

The trail then led to the place in the woods at Norwood where small boys found the remains of the bandit car. This was the place where police really got on the trail of a solution, they claim. In the wreckage of the car, they found a makeshift battery, and it was through this, the state contends, the crime was placed at the door of the Millen brothers and Faber. Money Discovered Over the main highway, the cavalcade went to the Dorchester district of Boston. There, in a barn, Dewing explained, was found money wrappers which were identified as among those taken from the Needham bank during the crime.

Then the party returned from the Court House, there to hear the district attorney make his opening address. The usual crowd was on hand to see the defendants enter the Court House. They looked rested after their week-end of leisure. Murton Millen smiled a bit more than usual. Perhaps it was because of his brief interview yesterday with his 19 year old wife, Norma Brighton Millen, in the Dedham jail. For several weeks they were in the same building but had only one fleeting glance of each other.

New York Surrogate Orders Poughkeepsie Man Taken Before District Attorney.

New York, April 23.—(AP)—Jens Nelson, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., farmer and claimant of the $4,000,000 estate of the slain Edward W. Ridley, was branded an imposter today by Surrogate James A. Foley and ordered taken to the district attorney's office.

The surrogate acted "after a Poughkeepsie jeweler testified that the seal of both a birth and death certificate produced by Nelson and dated 1896 was made in Poughkeepsie in 1934. Herbert C. Smyth, Richard Arnold and Alexander Dow, attorneys who have been fighting for several months to uphold Nelson's claim that he was the son of Ridley, were granted permission by Surrogate Foley to withdraw from the case. Born in Sweden. Surrogate Foley said that suspicion was cast upon Nelson's claim from the beginning of the litigation. He said that records showed Nelson, who claimed to have been born in Michigan, had never been in Michigan on any occasion, in insurance applications and selling life in

NAZARENE CHURCH APPOINTS PASTORS

Rev. Samuel Young of South Portland, Me., Is Named District Superintendent.

The 27th annual assembly of the New England District of the Church of the Nazarene closed Sunday evening with the evangelistic service held in the High school auditorium. Saturday was the day for the clearing up of all the remaining business at hand. An item of the most importance was the election of the district superintendent. The superintendent of the past year, Rev. John Gould, in reading his report announced that about 1000 members had been added to the church in the past five years that he has been the superintendent. Two churches were organized during the year. These successes are due to the faithful and sacrificing labors of Rev. John Gould, the retiring district superintendent. The district officers elected Saturday are as follows: Rev. Samuel Young, district superintendent; Rev. Virgil Hoover, secretary; Asa R. Shepherd, Colporteur.

The statistical report showed a net increase of 233 members. There was much rejoicing by the assembly members when this was announced. At the Saturday evening service the Young People's Society took charge at which time Rev. Kimber Moulton was the preacher. The Sunday services were largely attended, the High school auditorium being filled to capacity. The first service at 9 o'clock was that of an old-fashioned praise and testimony meeting led by Professor Frank Smith. At the 10:30 service Dr. J. B. Chapman, general superintendent, delivered the sermon. He spoke on "The Characteristics of a Normal Church." In part, Dr. Chapman said: "A normal church must first be spiritual. The church is an institution which ministers to the spirits of men and thus to perform its mission it must be a spiritual church. A normal church must be a compact and cooperative church. The church of God moves on like a mighty army under a united force. A mob can never face an army and an unorganized force can never hope to win against an organized force. The blessing of God comes to give heart unity and compactness gives up cooperation. Whom the devil would defeat he first divides. A normal church must be sound in doctrine. A normal church must have an inward vision—it must always be aware that the goal, the purpose is always out yonder. A normal church is aggressive in temper, vision, and faith. A normal church must remember that it is building character and must be patient in the process. Henry Ward Beecher once said, 'The church is not a museum for the showing off of eminent saints but a workshop for the production of useful Christians. The business of the church is to bring on and produce the finished product of a Christian character. If your church is not doing this you have a museum. You older Christians must not expect immediate maturity from the younger ones but have lots of patience with them. A normal church must be invincible or inexhaustible in its resources; by this, I mean it is not for a single period but to serve each succeeding generation; this is evidence of its success. When we leave town or die the church will live on. It will continue its task as long as it is in existence or until Jesus comes. The Church of God is she that looketh forth as the morning, fair as the moon, clear as the sun, and terrible as an army with banners.'"

The music of the afternoon ordination service was in charge of Professor Clarence J. Haas. Dr. Chapman, in ordaining the candidates, charged them with the words of Rev. John Wesley that they 'beware of pride, beware of fanaticism in not expecting something for nothing, beware of the sins of omission by not doing as much as you can, beware of looseness in that you don't show a 'doesn't-matter-much spirit', beware of self-seeking, beware of making a scism in the church, and lastly be an example in all things by living the above approach, and live what you preach.' At the evening service special songs were rendered by the following: the male quartette of Eastern Nazarene College, Miss Ruth Belmont and Miss Helen Mayhugh both of the College at Williston, Mass., and a trio of the Fitchburg Church of the Nazarene. The appointments were read by the retiring district superintendent, and the service was then turned over to Dr. J. G. Morrison who delivered the sermon of the evening. He spoke on the theme, "How to be Comfortable With God." He said in part, "A man must be enough like Jesus Christ so that he will be comfortable when he meets Him. A man full of sin would not be comfortable in the presence of a holy being. To be comfortable when you meet God you must be regenerated, made over new, born again into a new world, made a new person, born of the Spirit. Your blue blood ancestry will not do; you must be born again, and when that happens you will know it. If this were not possible you might lose your religion and not know it or mist it. A knowledge of sin forgiven can be known as definitely as any other experience of life. As you walk with God you will see your need of a second work of grace; an experience that destroys carnality, that pull toward sin toward the world, toward hatred, toward pride. Entire sanctification brings this liberty, it cuts the world-pull, and gives an upward pull, a pull toward God, a holiness pull, a perfect love pull, and a mission pull. We must have exactly this to be comfortable in the presence of God."

Eleven persons came forward and gave themselves to God. The assembly of the Church of the Nazarene in 1934 will convene at Williston, Mass., in the month of April. Professor Clarence J. Haas of the Eastern Nazarene College, Williston, Mass., reported the meetings of the district assembly. The following resolutions were passed: "Coming to the close of the twenty-seventh Annual Assembly of the New England District of the Church of the Nazarene with hearts filled with gratitude for the signal victories of the past year, we wish to express our appreciation to the assistance received from sources both human and divine not only throughout the past months but also during this Assembly. "We therefore, resolve to assure our General Superintendent, Dr. Chapman, that we deeply appreciate the wisdom, tact and sweet Christian spirit he has manifested in presiding over this Assembly. "We further resolve to express to our retiring District Superintendent, Rev. John Gould and his faithful wife, Mrs. Olive Gould, our heartfelt gratitude for the unselfish and sacrificial service rendered by them on the District during the past five years. To our newly-elected District Superintendent, Rev. Samuel Young, we pledge our loyal support and our sincere appreciation to Rev. Virgil Hoover, District Secretary and to his assistants; to our District Treasurer, Asa R. Shepherd; to our Assembly Treasurer, Rev. E. G. Anderson; and to our Women's Missionary Treasurer, Mrs. Susan D. Shepherd. "To the faculty of Eastern Nazarene College, as represented by its beloved president, Rev. R. Wayne Gardner and his efficient assistants, we express our deep appreciation for their loyalty and sacrificial service in behalf of Christian education. "We are also greatly indebted to the college quartet for the inspiration received from their messages in song. "To the pastor, Rev. H. B. Anthony and his good people of the Manchester church, we extend sincere thanks for the gracious hospitality accorded us. The dining room and kitchen force are especially commended for their cheerful and courteous service. "We also desire to express our appreciation to the City of Manchester for the use of its public buildings and the cordial welcome into its homes. "To the Manchester Evening Herald we also extend thanks for its kindly courtesies. "We are deeply appreciative for the pleasure accorded us in having with us as visitors, Mrs. J. B. CHILDREN STUDY STATE'S HISTORY

Settling and Development of Connecticut Stressed in Educational Programs.

More than 800,000 children in the public and parochial schools of the state are engaged in an intensive study of Connecticut's colonial and modern history as a part of the educational program in connection with the observance of the state's Tercentenary. This activity was instituted by the committee on education in the schools of the Tercentenary Commission and is being carried on with the cooperation and under the direction of every teacher in the elementary and high schools. It has led to detailed study of the founding, the story of the days of settlement, and succeeding history, and the arrangement of pageants, plays and games of particular historical interest which will be staged during 1935, the state-wide tercentenary year. Pamphlets Prepared. Two inclusive pamphlets, "The Story of Connecticut," and "Material for Use in the Schools to Characterize the History of Connecticut," have been prepared by the committee. The first summarizes the important events of the settling and development of Connecticut, tells of notable men and women, the government and institutions, industries, and of the people and races in the state's population. The second contains suggestions for school programs and topics for study with outlines of colonial character and conditions, early customs, houses, dress, games, schools, the church, food and other information of early Connecticut. Places of historic interest are listed, early turnpike maps are attached and there is a complete bibliography for reference and additional study. Colonial Literature. All of the teachers have received these pamphlets and already many schools have complete programs frequently exceeding in detail and extent the suggestions of the commission. The art, literature and music of the colonial and later days have become popular subjects for study. Pupils trace the poetry and prose, the hymns and "popular" songs, those composed here or brought from the mother countries. Phonograph records of the early songs and music have been introduced. Colonial Homes and Villages are being constructed in miniature by many classes. The completeness and detail of these are indicative of the interest of the pupils. Pioneer cabins are being reconstructed and furnished with the home-made type of furniture of the early settlers. Other models depict the attempts of the colonists to make their homes and surroundings more attractive and beautiful. Copies are made of the more famous furniture manufactured here.

Tercentenary Report. A "Tercentenary Report" has been requested of all towns, to be prepared by the pupils and teachers, which should prove a valuable historical contribution to the town records or local library and the State Library. This will include authentic information about Indians and Indian settlements, the first white settlers, the first public buildings, public property, first industries, and transportation routes and methods. Thirty-nine towns have thus far reported, and fully one-third of the information has been gathered by school pupils. The Commission hopes that a greater percentage of children will engage in this work as it develops. Much of the information is being used in the construction of a map which will show all the roads of the state, and by symbols and other directional means give the most convenient routes to places of interest in Connecticut. Character Development. The committee and the teachers, in their cooperative efforts, are stressing character development. All of the work planned for the children is expressive of how the state developed mainly because of the character of its founders and their descendants and the men and women who have come to Connecticut through the years. The children are shown that the state became great because of those who worked to develop it, that it became an industrial leader because of the industries. Of interest, too, in the program for school children, is that stress can be given to the fact that throughout its history the people of Connecticut have emphasized the importance of education. The school has been since the very earliest days one of the first institutions in every settlement. History, the children are being taught, shows that even where communities consisted of only a few families, educational training was insisted upon, and always Connecticut has been a leader in the nation in the establishment of schools, colleges and universities. The members of the committee

MISS BETTY MOOREHOUSE INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Struck by Taxi on Main Street Opposite Johnson Block — Taken to Hospital.

Miss Betty Moorehouse of 99 Prospect street and Sherwood Cone of 24 Foster street were painfully injured at 8:30 last night when they were struck by a taxi opposite the Johnson block on Main street while they were crossing from the west side of Main street to enter the state theater. They were taken to the Manchester Memorial hospital by Foley. It was reported today at the hospital that their injuries were not serious. Foley was arrested by Officer David Galligan on a charge of reckless driving and his case was continued in town court this morning on week. Officer Galligan, who investigated, said that the taxi was traveling south on Main street when the accident occurred directly in front of the Johnson block. Both received bruises and lacerations about the legs and body.

WORN OUT EXCUSES

The position taken by President Roosevelt with relation to silver re-coinage, that the United States is powerless to do anything substantial about it without the cooperation—which means the consent—of all other nations, is an idea that he must have gotten out of the money debates in Congress of forty years ago. It is precisely the same argument that was employed at that time by those politicians who, because their people back home believed in silver, had to pretend that they were in favor of currency expansion while, for private reasons of their own, they wanted to play the game of the deflationists and stick to the new gold standard which was proving such a useful tool of the money monopolists.

These politicians knew, and Mr. Roosevelt can hardly fail to know, that no agreement of any value for the rehabilitation of silver can be reached with a score or two of foreign countries. Too many of them are dominated by international bankers. Almost countless attempts have been made in the past to arrive at some sort of a bimetallic world agreement and not one of them ever got to first base.

Mr. Roosevelt's second argument, that nobody knows how much silver there is in the world and that nothing can be done about restoring its monetary status till we find out, is merely another way of saying that nothing should be done at all. Nobody knows, for that matter, how much gold there is; because the gold in the ground is just as much a factor in the metal money question as the gold in coin or bullion or watch cases.

The whole matter sums up to this: President Roosevelt has never made much of a study of the money question; he doesn't know too much about it; he has been too busy since he became President to give the subject sufficient thought; and he is just acting under the advice of men who are very especially interested in maintaining the condition of deflation which, in the last analysis, is absolutely certain to defeat all the well intentioned undertakings he has launched, unless Congress takes the determination of the currency question out of his hands.

BRITISH "RECOVERY"

We are hearing a good deal, just at present, about the highly satisfactory trend of affairs in Great Britain, where recovery is supposed to be well under way without resort to any of the extraordinary devices that are being tried in this country. Much is being made of the fact that Britain has managed to get through its last fiscal year with a surplus instead of a deficit in its treasury and this is hailed as almost a proof that that country has emerged from its depression.

These assumptions lose sight of a number of facts. One is that a balanced budget may mean much of little. Britain had a balanced budget two years ago and paid off many millions of French and American credits. Nevertheless there were more labor troubles and rioting immediately thereafter than there had been for many years.

Also it might be well to remember that Great Britain has adopted, as the cheapest and least troublesome solution of unemployment, a policy which seems to have become a permanency—that of supporting its idle population on the dole. Millions of people, over there, have been living on a government pittance so long that there has been created a class—and it is a large one—with neither hope nor ambition, a class which merely exists as wards of the nation and, for anything likely to be done about it, under the present policy, will continue indefinitely to exist that way. The support of this vast idle portion of the population has been assumed with the courageous philosophy characteristic of the British people. But it is acceptance of the theory that the poor ye shall have with you always. And in order to keep bodies and souls together, among these unemployed, the property element is paying taxes which, if they were merely suggested in this country, would bring about such a clamor as would make the present protests against the New Deal sound like profound silence.

Great Britain's present degree of "prosperity" is wholly relative. It has been brought about by currency inflation, by tariff taxation and by acceptance of the apparently inescapable fact of a permanent pauper class comprising a very substantial part of the potential workers of the country.

Perhaps we shall not be able to do any better, despite the fact that our resources are so much greater. But it is extremely doubtful if the very people who are making so much, just now, of Britain's improved condition would be in the least satisfied with our own government if it were to bring about the same results by the same methods.

SILLY SEASON

Is it not about time that the Republican party adopted some sort of national leadership and some sort of a national policy and ceased leaving the opposition tactics in the hands of such ludicrously impossible persons as Dr. Wirt and that former Chicago alderman and contractor Representative Britten, whose only idea of effective criticism of the administration is to set up the utterly ridiculous cry of "Communism"?

Britten's latest performance is to discover a "little red house in Georgetown" from which, he declares, the government is being administered by a gentleman named Cohen, another named Concoran and another named Landis.

This Britten is the same individual who, a few years ago, made a trip to Europe and came back popular, shouting his discovery that Great Britain was actively preparing war with guns—upon the United States.

What with such futile bogey-making as these idiosyncrasies of Britten's and Wirt's, and with people like Professor Kemmerer prating about a return to the gold standard, the only effect is to fortify and strengthen in the sympathies of the people an administration which is wide open to intelligent, reasonable criticism because it is making a profound mess of its own program and is going reactionary at a time when reactionism is the very last thing supportable to nine-tenths of the American people.

It is perfectly evident that President Roosevelt is not measuring up to the size of the job he tackled—that his vaunted program was only a rough sketch and that he is working not from a detailed blueprint but by a pretty ineffectual system of trial and error and without any very clear ideas how to make his general scheme work. In such a circumstance lies every opportunity for constructive and intelligent criticism. There are plenty of brains in the Republican party capable of taking full advantage of the blunders and confusion into which the Democratic administration has fallen. Then why on earth should the party permit the stupidest and least competent people among its membership to shove themselves to the front as its spokesmen?

JAPAN AND OUR FLEET

It is a little difficult to see why the recent "statement" by Japan in effect warning the nations to refrain from such dealings with China as would be likely to make that country strong and more than hinting that Nippon would use force to prevent them if necessary, should excite the astonishment it appears to have occasioned. There is absolutely nothing about the Japanese ultimatum to put it out of character with every move Japan has made in the last two and a half years.

Only the wilfully blind could have failed to interpret the invasion of Manchuria, the establishment of the dummy Manchoukuo kingdom, the forays into north China and particularly the enormity of the Shanghai outrage, as part and parcel of a Japanese determination to completely dominate the eastern Asiatic mainland, eventually driving out all European and American trade and relationships in the Orient. The present challenge is scarcely more than a routine step in a regularly developing plan that has been in operation, in full view of the world, for years.

Even the moment of the declaration might have been forecast. The ultimatum to the world was delivered at the very hour, almost, when the United States fleet was passing through the Panama Canal, voluntarily and perhaps with the greatest wisdom, leaving the Pacific practically in control of the Japanese navy.

There was an earlier Roosevelt who never would have taken the fleet through the canal at such a time—and if by any chance he had done so he would have ordered it to go about and return on the very day that the Japanese world defiance was given out.

THEY WANT MACHADO

Efforts are to be made, it is understood, by the Cuban government to obtain the extradition of former President Machado, now living in New York City, on charges of murder. If the Cubans once get Machado into their country they have a lot of other things besides murder with which they are prepared to charge him. His chances of escaping from all of his potentially numerous trials without being condemned to death would probably be small.

In its extradition treaties with foreign countries the United States exempts political offenses from the list of extraditable crimes. Though plenty of ground exists for suspicion that President Machado resorted to the gentle art of assassination on many occasions in maintaining his strangle hold on the island country, it would probably be very difficult to prove that they were not political killings.

Senor Machado is not exactly the kind of a person whom Americans care about, and New York has never made the slightest fuss over him during the months he has been living there in relative seclusion, but it would appear to be more than likely that the Cubans will have to be extraordinarily convincing in order to bring about his extradition. He probably stands in very slight danger of Cuban justice so long as he chooses to remain on American soil.

Health and Diet Advice
By Dr. Frank McCoy

TREATMENT FOR NEURITIS

The usual cause of neuritis is a toxic or poisonous irritant which has been circulating in the blood and has accumulated around the affected nerve, causing it to become inflamed. The treatment should be designed to remove the toxic cause and should be begun as early as possible to prevent any damage or injury to the nerve such as may result after prolonged inflammation.

The best method I have found for eliminating any toxins which may have formed in some type of the fasting regimen I would advise that the patient take a five-day fast on any one of the following: fruit juices; orange juice; tomato juice; grapefruit juice; or unweetened pineapple juice (canned). These fruit juices not only provide the body with vitamins but they also furnish the alkaline food minerals which are so necessary in overcoming the acid condition so often found when neuritis is present.

The famous author on food subjects, McCann, has written: "In certain forms of neuritis in which the tissues are irritated by acid secretions, the alkaline mineral elements of fresh fruits invariably prove of great benefit."

Following the fast, one must be sure to include plenty of cooked and raw vegetables in the diet, as these will assist in overcoming any constipation and thus lessen the tendency to irritation from "stagnated wastes." Also one or two enemas a day for a short time after the fast in order to keep the colon as clean as possible.

In some cases neuritis is due to what can be termed "mechanical causes." If a spinal vertebrae is slightly out of place, or if muscles, ligaments, or adhesions are pressing on the nerve, a definite neuritis often results which can only be cured by a treatment designed to remove the mechanical cause. A temporary relief from the pain of neuritis may be secured through using hot applications or electrical treatments. The patient should rest and keep the affected part warm. The hot water bottle, the electric pad, hot applications, or treatments with the deep therapy lamp are all helpful. While heat will relieve the pain for permanent relief you must rely on the right diet, keeping the intestines cleaned, and the proper manipulative treatment.

I have seen many hundreds of cases in which the patient was able to overcome any tendency to neuritis through following my method of treatment and I have also received a large number of letters from readers who have followed my instructions and have written me to tell me of the good results they obtained after following my instructions sent to them by mail. Letters of this kind encourage me to keep on writing these articles, which I try to make as helpful as I possibly can.

Since I have recently received many letters asking what the doctor meant when he told the patient he had multiple neuritis, I am going to take the opportunity to explain that multiple neuritis, or disseminated neuritis, means that several nerves have been affected at

Misfortune Also Makes Strange Bedfellows

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON
 New York, April 28.—Meandering backstage: It's getting around the Rialto that the Four Marx Brothers soon will be three. Brother Zeppo, acutely conscious that his presence has given rise to the gag, "Have you seen the three Four Marx Brothers?" is supposed to be planning to become an actors' agent. . . . Did you know, by the way, that there's a fifth Marx brother? He's in the cloak and suit business.

Jimmy Durante doesn't write the gags he uses, but he does compose some of the songs. . . . Jack Pearl will appear in a legitimate play if one can be found for him. . . . And Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., may come to Broadway next season. Just now the most interesting thing about him is his romance with Gertrude Lawrence. . . . Pauline Lord and Henry Hull are Hollywood's biggest captures from the stage. . . . Noel Coward's next play is expected to be full of symbolism, soft music, black drapes and psychoses.

Tallulah Bankhead will be cinema-bound after she returns from London.

Sport of Queens
 Mary Queen of Scots (Helen Hayes) plays ping-pong with Queen Elizabeth (Helen Menken) in the basement of the theater where the child's "Mary of Scotland" is showing. . . . Rudy Vallee, who seems likely to turn out to be every bit as scholarly as Gene Tunney, lectured to college students on music, highbrow and low. . . . Which reminds me somehow of Emanuel List, probably the only singer in the world who ever graduated from burlesque into grand opera. He came here in 1915 from Germany and signed a 40-week contract on the Columbia burlesque wheel because he thought it was some sort of comic opera. He stuck it out, though, after learning his mistakes, and later sang with several legitimate opera companies. This season he made his debut with the Metropolitan.

Two celebrities sat side by side at a performance of "A Thousand Cheers" recently, but each was a little awed by the proximity of the other and didn't have much to talk about. One was the aforementioned Mr. Durante; the other was Prof. Albert Einstein. There's a lot of dirt in the backstage hills play called "Tobacco Road." And I mean literally. Five tons of soil are scattered over the stage for the poor-whites to grovel in. . . . Edward Gore, tall, grizzled broker, entertains Mrs. Robinson, grand duchess of Hollywood, when she comes to town. She's his mother.

after a lapse of 90 years, "The A. Fine Old Bit of Americana, lost for nearly 70 years, has been revived for delighted audiences of the so-called American Music Hall, which is a remodeled Holy Roller church on East Fifty-fifth street. The play is "The Drunkard, or The Fallen Saved" and it was produced originally by F. T. Barnum at his museum in Boston in 1843.

Prohibitionists, acclaimed the creaky melodrama, and even staged street parades advertising it. This pleased Mr. Barnum no end, and after Boston learned that the "A. Fine Old Bit of Americana" was interested in box office receipts rather than the dry cause "The Drunkard" was brought to New York for a year's run, and later was staged in other cities. Sometimes during the Civil War the manuscript disappeared—gone away with by the liquor interests, prohibitionists charged. A few years ago, however, an actor found it while rummaging in an attic in Sacramento, and recently the play "has been revived in Portland, Ore. Cleveland and San Angeles.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Lumps Under Ear)
 Question: Vancouver, B. C.: "I have had hard lumps under my left ear for a year now. I thought they were mumps but my doctor said they were not. What can I do?"
 Answer: It is probable that the lumps to which you refer are swollen neck glands and I wish to advise you that if you had had mumps the swelling would not run for weeks for such a long period of time. If you care to receive a special article on the subject of Swollen Neck Glands, I will be pleased to send it to you if you will enclose a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your letter.

(Correct Weight)
 Question: Centralis, Washington: "I am 18 years old and my height is 5 feet 6 inches. I would like to know what my correct weight should be?"
 Answer: The average weight of a young woman of 18 who is 5 ft. 6 in. in height is 130 lbs. However, in checking up the weight with an average weight table, it is necessary to know that a ten pound variation either way is all right and thus it would be all right for you to weigh 140 lbs. if you have a large frame. I do not pay much attention to average weight charts as I feel that the ideal rule is for each person to try to hold the weight which seems best for him.

GILEAD

Rehearsals are being conducted daily in the Gilead hall for the musical farce "Listen to Me" which is to be presented by Miss Muriel Callow of the American Producing Company for the benefit of the Gilead Ladies Aid society in the Gilead hall, April 26, and the Hebron Town Hall, April 26. Among the young people who will appear in the chorus are Misses Madeline, Grace and Elaine Vay, Beatrice and Lorraine Porter, Shirley Fish, Ellen White, Jean Warner, Gloria Barasso, Beatrice Links and Theresa Hodge. The farce in two acts takes place in the Shelton Hotel. Edward Hooper, will be Mr. Davis; John Hooker, Bill the ball boy; Charlotte Warner, Billie the maid, the heirs to the hotel are Dick Marshall and Alice Richards, the parts being taken by Clarence Rathbun Jr. and Jeanette Rathbun. Miss Rose Motz will be Miss Stewart; Mrs. Rose Motz as Mrs. Sylvester and William Owen as Frank Weldon, the villain.

J. Banks Jones, health officer for the town of Hebron, has been notified of a case of scarlet fever by Dr. Friedman of Colchester, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rosenblum near the Colchester line. Their five-year-old son, Herbert, is the victim. There are two younger children in the family.

A daughter, Eleanor Carolyn, was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Post of East Hartford. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Post of this place are the baby's grandparents.

George Merritt of Andover has completed his job of painting the house at C. Daniel Way's.

Recent visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Hart E. Buel's were Mr. and Mrs. Strong of East Hampton and her mother, Mrs. Davis, of Stafford, and Mrs. Helen Gilbert and her daughter of Cambridge, Mass.

Clayton A. Hills has recently purchased a pair of farm horses from a dealer in Hartford.

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

By RODNEY BUTCHER
 The Herald Washington Correspondent

Washington, April 28.—Demand for detective fiction here has fallen off. Too many mysteries close at hand. More fun to do your own gumshoeing, speak your own dialogue, find your own clues, and reach your own solutions.

Many loose mysteries aren't ever solved except by consensus of opinion. But Washingtonians still prefer the puzzles offered by Roosevelt, General Johnson, the Brain Trust and others to the problems of Philo Vance, Hercule Poirot, and Lord Peter Wimsey. Take a few recent ones:

1. Did Roosevelt care much whether he was beaten on his veto of the veteran-federal pay out bill?
2. What's behind the NRA censorship order?
3. Were the airmail contracts canceled so as to give more contracts to E. L. Cord?
4. Who kidded Dr. Wirt?
5. Why did the Justice Department announce trial of its suit against Remington-Rand right after Barnum had viciously attacked the New Deal?

These are the most complete answers anyone can give at this time, though scores of wisecracks can explain more luridly and coarsely.

1. Apparently not. Administration defense in the House was supplied manager Roosevelt could have saved the veto in the Senate had he exerted himself. He hasn't yet whispered to anyone why he didn't stay and fight.
2. General Johnson is staggering from exhaustion. Recently he became incensed at a series of newspaper interpretations and comments.
3. Apparently it just happened that the peculiar airmail policy left Cord in an extremely favored position to bid for contracts.
4. Dozens of names have been mentioned in current gossip and several inaccurate versions have been printed. Perhaps several persons had a hand in it, but the list is narrowing and the tale will soon be told.
5. Such "coincidences" happen so frequently that it's a moral certainty the White House gave the word. But try and prove it!

Here To Last Bellow
 Senator Josiah Bailey of North Carolina was hero of one of the big moments in the Senate's fight over the veto. He began his defense of Roosvelt with a great bellow, but within half an hour his voice had worn down to a shrill squeak. The galleries were tired and irritated. But many leaned forward and some stood and craned as Bailey finally gasped:

"Mr. President, with my last breath, I want to say this—(He did seem like Bailey's last breath and there wasn't a tear in the big house.)

"The American people will never get out of this depression until they balance the budget." . . . It was Bailey's obvious cue to collapse. But he thought better of it, regained voice and roared bawling for another half hour.

Basket In Gorillas
 Don't buy any live gorillas from Washington by mail. It's a racket and a felony has just been indicted for collecting money through the mails for gorillas he didn't possess. . . . Curtis Dall, presidential son-in-law, hadn't been heard of here for some time until he publicly protested the Securities Act. . . . Alice Longworth forgone the Senate veto debate. Roosevelt, Ickes and Morgenthau are all enthusiastic stamp collectors. They trade with one another and traded with Litvinoff during Russian negotiations. Whether Litvinoff bona fide collector or bought stamps as an added attraction is still unclear. . . . Pat Harrison has been waving a bandaged thumb and forefinger in lighting a match. . . . Blind men are being given the newspaper-magazine collection in lobbed federal buildings and it's expected that 150 of them will soon be working at it with the result that most blind beggars will be on the streets.

$35,000 BLAZE
 Woonsocket, R. I., April 28—(AP) An early morning fire roared through the Union garage on Clifton street causing $35,000 loss. Two stores, which are a part of the building were swept and two light and one passenger automobile destroyed.

Police said they were questioning Albert Lindbergh, an employe of one of the stores, who told them he was sleeping in the rear of the establishment when the fire was discovered. They said there was reason to believe the blaze might have been started by a discarded cigarette. The garage property was owned by the Joseph C. Mallouf estate.

can visit by telephone

THE women who live on this typical Connecticut street are wise. Bad weather does not bother them! They can shop by telephone, visit by telephone, stay indoors all they please—and still keep in touch with others.

They save themselves trips to the corner drug store to telephone—and the nickels which these pay station calls cost. They know where each member of the family is and how long he will be gone. They are not nervous at night because they have a telephone ready for every emergency.

All this for only a few pennies a day. Isn't it foolish to go without—when the cost is so small? Why not call the-business office? No obligation.

HULL DESCRIBES NEW DEAL POLICY

against present policy," he said, "are in those parts of the world where the press is controlled by government officials who have power either to declare war or to force war."

Most of the diplomatic chieftain's address centered upon the Roosevelt administration's aims and hopes, and the pitfalls it hoped to avoid.

Among the recovery objectives named by him were preservation of the National credit, balancing of the budget as early as is practicable, avoidance of schemes for inflation, permanent exchange stabilization and monetary arrangements, restoration of American foreign trade, relief of unemployment and general improvement in working conditions.

"It is profound conviction" Hull declared, "that the administration of President Roosevelt is conscientiously, ably and patriotically grappling with the terrific problems of recovery, and that its fairness and its friendly interest can be absolutely depended upon by industry, by agriculture, by mining and by labor."

The State Theater in Hartford offers a program of local interest this week and many Manchester people are expected to take advantage of the chance to see Miss Gertrude Gerard of this town in the musical comedy production, "Bottoms Up," which is playing today, tomorrow and Wednesday on the stage of that theater.

THE BARGAIN HOUND
An entire sports and spectator wardrobe can be built around one skirt and a tailored jacket.

Girls who spend their summers in town, particularly in offices, should have several extra white collars and stiff dresses to freshen up dark colored suit dresses.

Moths thrive in woolen fabric that is soiled, so don't pack away the winter clothing, rugs and blankets until they have been dry cleaned or at least brushed and aired in the sunshine for several hours.

House cleaning and clothes cleaning time! Don't let a dress hang in the closet because of a few spots. Send it to the West Cleaning Company.

The vogue for white purses and gloves in matching fabrics is as prevalent this year as it was last season. If you get a white linen purse, washable slip, white crepe or gandy cuffs on dark fabric gloves should be removable and washable too.

Spring housecleaning means everything spic and span—and that means you'll want clean freshly waxed floors. No-rub Wax does the trick.

AMERICANS WIN AVIATION AWARDS

Wiley Post, T. G. W. Settle, Mrs. Anne Lindbergh and Com. Rosenthal Named.

Paris, April 22—(AP)—Two American aviation feats of 1928—Wiley Post's world flight and Lieut. Commander T. G. W. Settle's stratosphere balloon ascension—were rewarded today with the Harmon international trophies of the International League of Aviators.

In addition, Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh has awarded the national trophy to the outstanding American aviator for her flight around most of the Atlantic with her husband in search of a commercial trans-oceanic air route.

Lieut. Commander C. E. Rosenthal, famous dirigible expert of the United States Navy, also was awarded a national trophy. International trophies are provided for the "champion" aviator, spherical balloon pilot, dirigible pilot and aviator each year by Clifford B. Harmon, American aviation enthusiast.

National trophies also are granted by Harmon, the recipients for 1933 including the Italian, Francesco Agello, who established a new sea-plane speed record of 440 miles an hour; the Argentine, Luis Berra, who made the first balloon flight over the Atlantic; the Chilean aviator, Marcel Arredondo, and a woman flier, Viola Blackburn; the Salvadoran pilot, Herman Barón, and the Spanish flier, Mariano Barberón and Joaquín Collar, who perished on their flight to Mexico.

HEBRON

Bills incurred by the town for snow removal following the two later winter blizzards have all been handed in. The last batch of bills came only a few days ago. The bills total approximately $1,035. This is in addition to the cost of work done under CWA auspices, which would bring the expense up to about $400 more.

Mrs. Mary E. Mitchell entertained the Women's Bridge club at her home Thursday evening. Three tables were in play. Highest honors were captured by Miss C. E. Kellogg.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pratt of Bridgeport, who had planned to visit their relatives here last week, were obliged to postpone the visit until later, on account of an injury received by Mr. Pratt to his knee in a fall at his home. This has crippled him temporarily.

Elder Oscar Snipes of New London preached to the Seventh Day Adventists at Hopevale Saturday at 11 a. m.

Schools of the town closed last Friday for the spring vacation of one week. Local students who attend Windham High school are also having the week off.

Allan L. Carr has returned from a motor trip to Manchester, N. H., where he was the guest of his mother, Mrs. Herbert Carr, for a few days. He returned in time to officiate at the Sunday services at St. Peter's Episcopal church.

Albert Rathbone is recovering from a severe attack of grip and pleurisy. The whole Rathbone family has been affected, with an exception of Mrs. Etta Rathbone. Many others about the town have suffered with this form of grip.

Miss Irma Lord of the faculty of the Willimantic State Normal school is spending her spring vacation of one week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loren M. Lord. She is also visiting in Hartford part of the time, at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hamilton.

Mrs. Teresa Walsh, teacher of the Hebron Green grammar room, is spending her week of vacation at her home in Danbury. Other teachers of the town who do not live in Hebron have gone to their homes for the week.

Miss Gunvor Gronlund and Mrs. Charles C. Sellers of New London, were callers Saturday afternoon at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. Anne C. Gilbert. Mr. and Mrs. Sellers and baby Horace were also week-end visitors at their Hebron home.

People here are enjoying meals of dandelion greens. The dandelions are large and plenty, following the many rains and sunny days. Hebron delegates to the older boys and girls conference at Somers Friday and Saturday last were Mabel and Ellen Hills, Sherwood Griffin, and Bradford Smith.

A rehearsal of St. Peter's junior vespers was held Friday evening at the home of Miss Clarissa Pendleton.

ROCKVILLE

IMPROVEMENT PLANS AT GOAT FARM MADE KNOWN

Government's P. W. A. Approves Specifications for Alterations at Dangerous Corner Near Talcottville.

Government approval has been received from the PWA government headquarters at Bridgeport, alterations have been completed in the layout of the "death trap" elimination at the so-called "Goat Farm" and the contract has been awarded for the construction of the new Tolland turnpike highway through Talcottville and Vernon Center.

With the receiving of government approval of the project, which requires that labor be employed through the federal employment office at Rockville, the contract division of the Connecticut State highway department has notified the firm of M. A. Cammisa of Providence, R. I., that it is the low bidder and to sign the contract and return it to the office of the highway department in Hartford.

Information was received from the contract department of the Connecticut State highway department that the work can start any time that the contractor is ready to go ahead with the project.

The original layout for the elimination of the so-called "death trap" at the Goat Farm where four roads intersect, was an elaborate affair. This layout called for the installation of a long oval park, 400 feet in length and nearly 300 feet across with five spurs leading from the giant oval.

The new plan just completed by the engineering division of the highway department, calls for the installation of a park which is shaped similar to an egg.

These changes in the shape were made because it was not considered that the two roads on the Rockville end leading direct from Rockville to Wapping were important and that increased traffic did not call for such an expenditure in the immediate future.

In place of the "X" shaped intersection of the concrete roads and the macadam roads at the Goat Farm, this large egg shaped park will be inserted. The concrete roads, over which traffic now passes will be torn up at the start of the work.

The new layout at the "Goat Farm" is best illustrated by putting a large egg-shaped park up on a handle on the smaller end of the park with two spurs leading off the larger end.

The larger end of the egg-shaped park has a cross-line measurement of 300 feet or a circular radius of 150 feet while on the smaller end the radius is but 125 feet or a cross-line measurement of 250 feet. The length of the egg-shaped park is 300 feet to the center line of the highway on either end.

With the approach from the smaller end of the egg-shaped park on the Talcottville end, the concrete highway now in use will have to be torn up for a distance of nearly 400 feet. This concrete will be used to fill in the sections of the lots where the land is low, a proviso being in the contract that the concrete be used for a fill.

At the Talcottville end a "safety" approach is to be established in a triangular form with concrete roads leading on both sides to the main highways about the egg-shaped park. This "safety" approach is 150 feet in length and about 100 feet wide on the larger end. The corners are rounded with a radius of 15 feet.

At the opposite end of the "egg-shaped" park there are two main line spurs of concrete roads leading off, one to Rockville and one to Tolland. The former is now constructed and the latter is part of the project of the concrete road to be constructed to Lane's corner.

East of these roads leads off nearly parallel to the roads on either side of the "egg-shaped" park and spread at the extreme end. They are connected by a circular road at the end of the park at which point a triangular "safety" traffic approach is located, being about 65 feet long.

Traffic may go direct from the Rockville-Talcottville road without any diversion or may go from the Tolland turnpike to Talcottville on the opposite side of the park. The traffic from Tolland turnpike to Rockville must go around a circular road on the larger end of the park.

Several macadam and dirt roads are to lead from this "egg-shaped" park, being roads now in use, one leading cross-wise to Talcottville and another toward Wapping.

High Finance A small banking institution was involved in the financing of the annual New York-Washington trip of the senior class, now in Washington and the south for a week. More than $5,000 is involved in the financing of the trip which has been raised over a period of four years by various activities.

It has been the plan in the past to raise sufficient funds over the four year period to pay for this trip, either by class dues or by entertainments and socials.

Due to the depression period the class experienced more difficulties than any other class and found it difficult to get $5,000 together. A deficit was charged against each member this past month of close to $20, so the class needed $2,000 to complete the funds. With a per capita cost of close to $50, and a membership well over one hundred, several class "managers" were needed to get all the money together and to keep it in safe keeping.

A systematic system of bookkeeping was employed in keeping track of the accounts of the five score students. The daily dues were entered by "collectors" appointed by the class and regularly deposited in the savings banks. Principal Philip M. Howe acted as adviser and trustee for the class in raising and preserving the funds. He also acted as advisor on all entertainments and class affairs although all of the events were conducted by class committees.

Back Taxes In an effort to accommodate the public and to increase the financial standing of the city of Rockville, City Tax Collector Francis Ruppert will be at the Town Clerk's office, Mendon building, tonight collecting unpaid city taxes for the past few years.

Due to the fact that liens must be put on property upon which the taxes are unpaid at the close of the fiscal year August 31, Tax Collector Ruppert has agreed to hold a group of special sessions to save the taxpayers money.

He will spend each Monday evening for the next few weeks in the tax collector's office. Should the back taxes come in in substantial amounts he will continue each Monday as long as funds are being paid to the city treasury.

Monday evening has been suggested as this is the pay day in the local factories and there are many residents who cash their pay checks between 7 and 8 o'clock.

Parent-Teachers' Meeting The Parent-Teachers' Association of Ellington is to hold a meeting in the Town Hall Tuesday evening at which a large number from Rockville are expected to attend.

Miss Jennie Holton of Rockville will give a demonstration of simple exercises for keeping the body muscles in harmonious working condition. She will also deliver an address on the topic "Vital Health."

All parties interested are invited to attend this meeting. Group singing of beach songs will also be held after the meeting.

Preparing Henry Park With the baseball season to open in Rockville this coming week-end, the public works department is to start work putting Henry Park into condition for the season.

Superintendent of Public Works George E. Milne is to grade the park and it will then be rolled and graded so as to be in perfect condition for the summer months.

Automobiles are requested not to drive over the park diamond while passing through Henry Park. They are also asked not to damage the outfield.

Town Taxes Town Tax Collector William A. Kuhnly is to report to the Board of Selectmen Tuesday evening on his work of collecting the 1934 town taxes.

The report is expected to indicate the collection of more than 90 percent of the town taxes at the close of the discount period which ended on last Monday evening, April 18.

A discount of five percent was allowed on all taxes paid before April 16 and all taxes must be paid from now on. In addition to the collection of the full tax of 18 mills, there will be added an interest charge of nine percent on all unpaid taxes.

ALLEGING MISCONDUCT, WIFE SUES TOWNE HEIR Scion of Wealthy Stamford Family Defendant in Action for Divorce.

Bridgeport, April 23—(AP)—Papers being served today in a divorce suit by Mary Pendergast Towne of Norwalk, against Joseph Meredith Towne of Stamford, scion of one of the most prominent and wealthy families in that city.

The action to be returned to the June term of the Superior Court is what may be the last piece of litigation over the marital difficulties of Towne and the woman he fell in love with when she was employed in the home of his mother, Constance Gibbons Towne, whose father in law, Henry R. Towne, founded the Yale and Towne company in Stamford.

In today's action Mrs. Towne charges her husband with misconduct with Dorothy Conlin of Bantam on October 26, 1933. Today's action is also based upon an allegation of cruelty. In her suit, she asks for alimony and the custody of her minor son. A trust fund created for Towne from which he draws the income on 4,000 shares of Yale and Towne stock, has been attached in Stamford.

FEDERAL ORDERS Washington, April 23—(AP)—The War Department has announced the appointment of Edward Marinus Conkline, Jr., of 46 Clifton avenue, West Hartford, as a second lieutenant in the Coast Artillery Reserve.

James Francis Hattinger, Jr., of 418 Park street, New Britain, was named a second lieutenant in the Infantry Reserve.

QUEER KIDNAPING TALE TOLD POLICE

New Britain Man Says He Was Blindfolded and Driven Away.

New Britain, April 22—(AP)—Joseph Manzelli, 33, of 32 New Britain Road, Kensington, entered police headquarters in this city soon after midnight today and said he had been kidnaped in East Berlin more than an hour before, blindfolded and driven to a point in the northern part of this city where he was set free.

Manzelli said he was driving his automobile through East Berlin when three men, standing in the road, signaled to him with an electric flashlight. He stopped, they jumped into his car, forced him away from the wheel and blindfolded him, he said. They then drove many miles and finally liberated him on a road leading from this city to Hartford. He was not robbed of money or harmed, he said. When the men left his car they took his topcoat.

CHEMISTS' CONVENTION New London, April 22—(AP)—The Connecticut Valley and Rhode Island sections of the American Chemical Society met at Connecticut College today.

Dr. Charles Reese, president of the chemical society, spoke on "A Half Century of Chemistry." Dr. Reese was formerly director of the E. I. DuPont DeNemours Powder Plant. Preceding his talk, the visitors were welcomed to Connecticut College by President Katharine Blunt.

Tonight there will be an informal dinner at the Mohican Hotel.

KILLED BY AUTO Norwalk, Conn., April 22—(AP)—Mrs. George Gould of Jamaica, L. I., died at the Norwalk hospital this morning from injuries received some hours before when struck by an automobile as she was crossing the Boston Post road in Darien.

The police reported the car was driven by Donald Steele, 37, of Bloomfield, N. J. He was arrested to await an inquiry by the coroner and provided a bond of $2,500.

Mrs. Gould, who was 47 years old, had a skull fracture and other injuries. After being struck she was taken to the hospital by a passing motorist.

Head of Soviet Scientific Expedition Was Rescued Recently From Ice Floes in the Arctic.

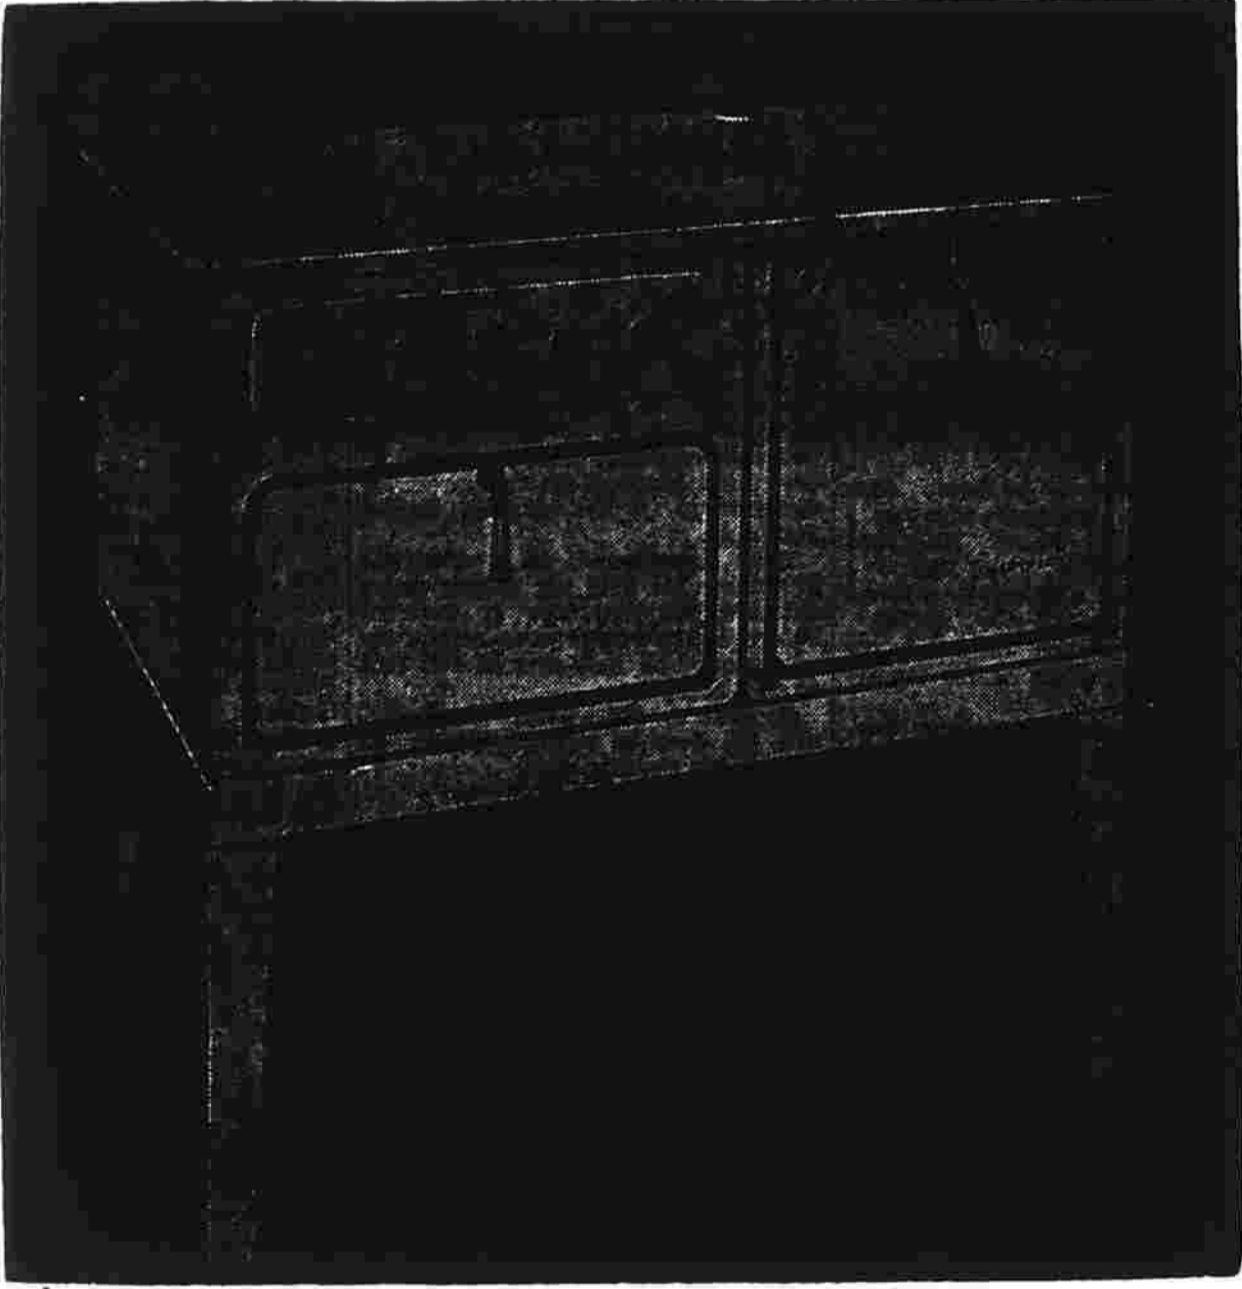

Nome, Alaska, April 22—(AP)—Prof. Otto Schmidt, leader of a Soviet scientific expedition rescued recently from ice floes of the Arctic ocean, had recovered so well today from an attack of pneumonia that he planned to leave Sunday for New York, en route to Moscow.

While he and Pilot George Ushakov made their preparations, the other Russian refugees rescued from the ice by airplanes were being transferred from Uelen and Van Karem to St. Lawrence bay, thence to Providence bay on the Siberian coast. There they will await the arrival of two Soviet ships now delivering to work through the ice of the Bering Sea.

The refugees members of the Wrangell Island scientific expedition were left stranded on the ice floes when the ship sank Feb. 12.

The ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

by KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

PABLITO, a handsome youth accused of a murder he did not commit, escapes from Key West to Havana with two thieves, BEAU and LOTTIE. In Havana, under the name of "Juanito," he becomes celebrated as a boxer and he and Beau open a gymnasium.

Pablito loves ESTELLE FIELD, daughter of rich JIM FIELD, and she loves him. They meet and plan to marry, but Field breaks up the affair, taking Estelle away. Two years later she becomes engaged to ALEC DAVIDS.

SIR AUBREY, titled Englishman and Pablito's father, has been searching for his son, employing BILLINGS, New York detective.

Following the trial, Pablito asks Lottie to marry him.

Field loses his fortune and David breaks his engagement to Estelle. She and her father return to Havana. MARCIA TREADWAY, who knows Pablito is innocent of the murder charge, at last tells the truth, clearing him.

Estelle writes to Pablito. NORRIS NOYES, who befriended Pablito as a child, comes to see him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVI

Pablito wrote Estelle, telling her bluntly that he was engaged to Lottie Hines, who had long been associated with him and Beau in their work. He would not add a word beyond the truth which stood out harshly on the page. After he had finished the letter he dropped his head for a little time to feel the cool paper against his hot cheek. Then, quite steadily, he sealed and addressed the envelope. As he sent it off he felt that part of his life was finished. He had an experiment, he remembered reading somewhere, "to which we are, by birth, committed."

He found things a little easier after he had mailed the letter. The door was shut and no longer swinging enticingly to tempt him to turn traitor.

He watched the progress of his new home with stolid disinterest. He and Noyes often went for long motor trips into the country. He sold some property at a profit and bought more, changed some bonds and lost a good sum thereby. Eating, sleeping, walking, driving, he was always striving with feverish eagerness to keep his waking hours filled to overflowing. This was the experiment, to which he was committed; this was the experiment called life.

"Do you realize," Noyes said a month after Pablito had written the letter to Estelle, "that you can go anywhere you like now, since Miss Treadway has made a statement to the police and Beau's running away has been accepted as a confession?"

Pablito smiled. Go where he liked? He was a prisoner in the experiment. He was still smiling as he said, "I can take trains and boats anywhere. I know that, I suppose," he added slowly, "that that is something."

Beau's wife disappeared soon after her husband. She went away with a pallid northerner who had been employed as a clerk in a cheap hotel. "I'm through with Beau," she said harshly, standing in the doorway with her traveling bag at her feet. "If you ever see him again," she went on to Lottie, "tell him so and that I wish he was in hell."

"Sure," Lottie agreed. "I'll tell him. Maybe he'll return the compliment."

"Lottie went into the big room where Noyes and Pablito were lounging and pretending to read the day's newspapers. "Lou's gone," she announced. "And, my God, she gimme a dirty look!"

Then she repeated the conversation, detailing what she had said and what Lou had said. Noyes made no comment. He folded his newspaper carefully and laid it on a nearby table, avoiding looking either at Lottie or Pablito. Noyes was embarrassed, Lottie saw. Pablito was not embarrassed by her account of the combat lately. "He don't even seem to know what he eats half of the time," Lottie decided with wonder.

She perched on the arm of Pablito's chair and asked with an assumed air of surprise, "That wasn't so lady-like, was it?"

There was no answer. Pablito was reading and had not heard what she said.

"Damn it!" Lottie flung out, "I can be just as much a lady as anybody else if I want to!" Dices and surrounding purple pouncing suit, compounded of pajama trousers, a vest and flaring cape, could not console her. She sat, her tears partially dried, on the edge of the bed, the lounging suit crumpled about her. She sat whispering to herself, "Isn't 'no' 'ain't' 'An' stop sayin' 'My God' 'an' quit callin' 'Noyes an' ole goat.'"

But she knew, sitting there, that the most painstaking mastery of the rules of grammar could not smooth the way ahead for her. There was something else that was wrong. Dabbing her nose and mopping her eyes, Lottie wondered what it could be. That night she found out.

They had motored in to Havana for dinner—Lottie, Noyes and Pablito—without having decided where they would go and discussing the subject on the way. Turning down San Rafael, the car was held up by a congestion of traffic at a narrow corner ahead. As they waited Pablito looked into the eyes of a girl standing with an older man on the curb. She nodded coolly, without a change of expression. Pablito's cheeks paled and then flushed violently. A moment later the car was on its way again.

"Who was that girl?" Lottie asked Noyes when she was alone with him at home later.

"I suppose it was Estelle Field," he answered without pretending to misunderstand.

"Oh," Lottie murmured. She went up to the roof then into the dark for the stars and moon were muted by a mist. She understood now, Lottie told herself, sitting shivering in the warmth. She had seen the girl Estelle had written Pablito. She had found it in his coat pocket and she remembered that had hurt her so. After a while she went downstairs into the big room once more. Noyes was gone to bed and Pablito was reading.

"Put down your book," she ordered roughly. With a little lift she settled on the edge of the table where she sat swinging her feet and smiling down at him brightly.

"I had a letter from Beau this morning," she announced. Pablito was instantly alert.

"Is he all right?" she asked.

"Sure. Gettin' along grand. He's sellin' Florida real estate to South American millionaires."

Pablito smiled.

"Lottie went on, "Pablito—" "Yes, Lottie." Suddenly he felt a gentleness toward her that he had not known before.

"Pablito, I'm goin' to Beau. Him and me have worked together a long time, you know. He asked me in the letter, 'I got today. I guess they ain't any use to pretend about it—you an' me ain't suited.'"

He did not see her face then for he was looking down at his tightly gripped hands.

"I never meant to—have anything changed, Lottie," he made himself say.

"Well, kiss me goodby!" she invited with a splendid jauntiness. He kissed her with more love than he had ever before shown. For a moment she clung to him and he thought he heard her sob, but when she raised her face he saw that she was dry-eyed and smiling. Smiling rather fixedly, but smiling.

Noyes said next morning as Lottie was about to depart, "But, chert, Beau is married!"

"Hell!" Lottie answered. "I never was so much for conventions!"

Until the bend of the road took them from sight she looked back at Pablito and Noyes. They were ahead, sitting motionless but Pablito. She was weeping silently and without troubling to wipe the tears from her cheeks. "If he knewed," she thought, "he'd know I do love him!"

"Stop at La Merced," she told the driver, and in the church she knelt. "Well, God, it's all over," she said in her conversational prayer. "Make her make him happy and it'll be all right with me—"

Out in the sunshine again Lottie said, "The doctor." Her ears dried on her cheeks as she rode in the heat of the day. She felt rested and yet dulled and heavy. "Anyhow," she thought, "I don't have to hope no more and I guess it was the thing to do—"

Sometimes, perhaps, the master weaver pauses to look at the tapestry that is made of lives; to pull a thread from the pattern that makes a color discord, to tie two other threads and then go on with the weaving. And sometimes there is a knot in the threads made of lives and a little pause and a little suspense while they are being untangled.

AMUSEMENTS

COMMAND TO SHOOT MUSIC TO HER EARS

Beautiful Ann Harding at One Time Worked for New York Insurance Company.

Whether it's cannon fire or camera fire, the command to "shoot!" is music to the ears of Ann Harding. For this star of "Gallant Lady," the 20th Century production which is this week's attraction at the State theater, was born in Fort Sam Houston, Texas—the daughter of General George Grant Gayley.

Her childhood was spent at various military posts, and as a young lady she attended private schools in New Jersey, finally graduating from the Baldwin School in Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, where she specialized in music and languages.

For a brief period she worked for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, but it was not long before she found herself a part of the group known as the Provincetown Players of New York's Washington Square. She had expected to carry a spear or do something equally unpretentious at the beginning, but the moment they saw her she was selected for a leading role—at $35 a week!

Three years of experience in stock companies followed and then Ann started Broadway with her magnificent performances in "Tarnish," "Stolen Fruit," "The Woman Disputed" and "The Trial of Mary Dugan."

Her then husband Harry Bannister was scheduled to appear in a Pasadena presentation of "Strange Interlude" as she preceded him to the Coast, intending to enjoy a quiet, wifely existence for a time, keeping house for her talented husband and their baby daughter, Jane.

But there was no hiding this brilliant girl's glowing light under a bush. She was "discovered" by Hollywood inside of a week, and she found herself fighting the temptation to accept one of five motion picture offers.

Among her spectacular film triumphs were "Holiday" for Pathé, "The Animal Kingdom" for R.K.O. and "When Ladies Meet" for M.G.M. Miss Harding is five feet two inches tall, with a vibrant, magnetic personality. Her wealth of auburn hair is always dressed in madonna fashion. Her eyes are blue gray and peculiarly expressive. She weighs about 108 pounds.

She is an accomplished pianist, enjoys tennis, golf, swimming, and is an ardent aviation enthusiast.

"Gallant Lady" is a Joseph M. Schenck-Darryl F. Zanuck production, is released through United Artists.

THREE DOGS KILLED IN TOWN BY AUTOS

Automobiles figured in three cases in Manchester between Saturday night and Sunday afternoon and three are dead as a result. The first fatal case was on West Center street, near Cooper street, Saturday night. The next was on Oakland street Sunday and Highland Park turned in the last case yesterday afternoon.

In each case a dog was killed and Warden Raymond Robinson was called upon to remove the bodies from the side of the road. As far as he was able to learn, each dog had been hit and killed by automobile drivers who did not stop.

MISS DOROTHY MARKS WINS WASHING MACHINE

Samuel Turkington Draws Lucky Ticket After Closing of Hale's Store Saturday.

Miss Dorothy Marks, 97 Main street, was the lucky winner of the VOSS electric washing machine which was given away by the J. W. Hale company and C. E. House and Son, Inc., during the three-day department managers sale held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week.

During the three-day sale a number of prizes was given with each fifty cents and over cash purchase. These ballots were deposited in a ballot box in the basement and the lucky winner was drawn by Samuel Turkington, town clerk, as soon as the store closed Saturday night at nine o'clock.

Both Elmer Weden, manager, and Herbert House, president of the Hale concern, were enthused over the sale and said that the VOSS electric washer was given away as a prize during this department managers sale caused quite a bit of enthusiasm. They were glad that the winner was a local customer of the store.

The VOSS electric washer that was given away is sold in the house-furnishing department of the Hale store. It is a large size washer with a porcelain tub. It is equipped with an attached electric wringer and is sold with the complete guarantee.

The winner is asked to call at the Hale store as soon as possible and see Mr. Weden, Mr. House or Paul Ferris.

LOCAL MAN ARRESTED AS RECKLESS DRIVER

Clifton L. Potter of 23 Lilley Street to Appear Next Monday in Court.

Clifton L. Potter of 23 Lilley street was arrested early this morning in East Hartford on a charge of reckless driving after he had collided with a parked truck, owned by Miss Betty Moorhouse of 99 Prospect street at 8:20 last night in front of the Johnson block on Main street.

Charles A. Phelon of East Hartford pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle without a license early this morning. He was arrested on Center street at 2 a. m., by Officer Joseph Prentice. He was found guilty and paid $10 and costs.

The case of James Foley, charged with reckless driving, was continued by Judge Johnson upon recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney William S. Shea for one week, under bond of $100. Foley was the driver of a taxi which struck Sherwood Clegg, 24 Foster street, and Miss Betty Moorhouse of 99 Prospect street at 8:20 last night in front of the Johnson block on Main street.

Deaths Last Night

Spokane, Wash.—William Farnham, 60, prominent lumberman. Santa Barbara, Calif.—Henry A. Vay, wealthy retired New York merchant.

New York—Mrs. Alice Gwynne Vanderbilt, widow of Cornelius Vanderbilt, railroad magnate, and mother of the brigadier-general of the same name.

Pittsburgh—William Thaw, II, 60, commander of the American navy in the Lafayette expedition during the World War.

TRUSTEES ELECTED

Middletown, April 23.—(AP)—The election of Professor Edward L. Thorndike of Columbia University as a trustee of Wesleyan University was announced today by the trustee board.

The noted educator and psychologist was graduated from Wesleyan in 1888. He is president of the New York Academy of Science and the National Association for the Advancement of Science.

ALLEGED DRUNKEN DRIVER IN CRASH

West Hartford Man Taken to Hospital After Car Strikes Pole.

Newell N. Hathaway, 32, of 226 North Main street, West Hartford, is at the Manchester Memorial hospital and the automobile that Hathaway was driving in at a local garage badly damaged, as a result of an accident on East Center street near the East cemetery at 5:30 yesterday morning.

Hathaway was driving east at the time and, according to witnesses who were following him, was unsteady in his driving. The car crashed into a pole. Because of his injuries and his inability to help himself, Quish's ambulance was called and conveyed him to the Manchester Memorial hospital. He was to have appeared in town court this morning but had not sufficiently recovered from his injuries.

The charge is operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

LARGE CROWD EXPECTED AT CARD PARTY TONIGHT

Prizes for Bridge, Whist and Setback at St. Bridget's Hall; To Serve Refreshments.

St. Bridget's weekly card party will be held this evening in the newly renovated hall located in the basement of the church. Play for bridge, whist and setback will commence at eight o'clock.

In addition to the prizes awarded for the highest scores in each section, there will be an attractive door prize.

Exceeding the distribution of prizes, an entertainment, one of the features of the evening, will be presented. As announced previously, the Dubaldo Brothers, Manchester's favorite young entertainers, will render their most popular "request numbers." Refreshments will be served.

Each weekly card party has drawn large gatherings to St. Bridget's hall. As this is the first social function to be held in the redecorated parish hall, the committee in charge has made a particular effort in preparing for a record breaking attendance. Mrs. C. L. Mahoney and Edward Moriarty will be assisted by the following committee: Mrs. William Shea, Mrs. William Halsted, Mrs. Inez Batson, Mrs. John McCarthy, Mrs. Joseph O'Gorman, Miss Eleanor Dwyer, Miss Madeline Sheridan, Miss Catherine McGuire, Miss Edna Fritch, Thomas Sullivan, James McLaughlin, Henry Mutrie, John Merz, Joseph Moriarty, James Holleran, Gerald Sullivan, Lawrence Moonan, Ernest Roy.

QUEER TWISTS In Day's News

Los Angeles—One night in the ring with Jack Dempsey was enough for Lloyd B. Davis, giant negro police officer, and municipal Judge Isidore Dockweiler agreed with him. Davis was awarded $35 judgment against Jack Kearns, former Dempsey manager, for the one night stand three years ago.

Kearns refused to pay him, Davis said, because he would not work out the week for which he was hired.

"One night against that man is enough for anybody," asserted Davis.

Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany—A sausage proved to be good robbery insurance for Alois Lechleitner. Walking home late at night, Lechleitner was attacked by a robber. The sausage, which Lechleitner broke the robber's knife and thumped him on the head.

The sausage withstood the rough treatment, but not the robber, who was knocked unconscious and surrendered to the police.

Montreal—King George V, the fourth English sovereign under whom she has lived, sent this message to Mrs. A. B. Buchanan of Montreal:

"The King and Queen send you congratulations and best wishes on your hundredth birthday."

Mrs. Buchanan was born April 22, 1834, in Ireland.

Falls City, Neb.—Three year old Wilfred Ebel's camera-eye forced his Daddy into a stage situation the script didn't cover.

Appearing in a parish play at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, the father, Louis Ebel, followed the script closely when he "misplaced" his cigaret case and then asked: "Now, where can I have laid my cigaret case?"

It's on the table under those sacks, Daddy," piped Wilfred proudly from his orchestra seat.

GOOD STRAWBERRY CROP PREDICTED

Shortage in States North of Connecticut Because of Severe Winter.

Strawberry growers, connected with the Manchester fruit market, have started removing the hay and pine covering from rows of berries and find that they have weathered the sub zero weather of last winter in fine shape. All look strong and healthy. Last year's crop is likely to be enlarged upon, judging from the condition of the vines now being uncovered, and with a shortage of berries in the sections north of Connecticut because of the cold weather, prospects for a big year are looked forward to. Last year, there was sold in the local market $55,000 worth of strawberries.

There will be little return from peaches this year.

In addition to having a successful year in the market in 1933, the members of the Strawberry association also report a saving made in the purchase of fertilizer and baskets for berries this year. They were able to buy in large lots and in so doing were able to get a much lower price.

PUBLISHER DIES

New London, April 23.—(AP)—Guy Holt, 42 years old, a New York publisher, died suddenly Saturday night at his home in New London, he was a guest at the summer home of Paul Kieffer of New York City.

Mr. Holt whose residence was at 3516 79th street, Jackson Heights, N. Y., went with his wife to the Kieffer place to spend the weekend. He was apparently in good health when he retired for the night, but was stricken by heart disease. The cause of death was announced in the report of Dr. John J. Donahue, the Montville medical examiner. The body was taken to New York yesterday.

The reason Penn's tutor is willing to climb halfway out on a limb with such a prediction is that two of the greatest miles in his country will race against each other in the Quaker classic.

There is one condition that Robertson demands for such a record-breaking performance—ideal weather and track. He figures that Venke, having been beaten by Cunningham repeatedly during the indoor season, will be at his peak in the outdoor.

Cunningham is not a "clock" miler. He doesn't set any time for himself during any part of the race; rather, he judges his pace by his competition. For instance, when the Kansas set a new world indoor mile mark during the Knights of Columbus indoor meet last winter, he faced stern challenges from Venke, Chuck Hornbostel, Frank Crowley, Frank Nordahl, and others.

He started out at an easy pace, but when threatened, bore down and finished 30 yards ahead of Venke, in 4 minutes 5.4 seconds.

Robertson is figuring that Venke, primed with the desire to win and

IRELAND TO OPPOSE SCOTLAND FOR TITLE

British-American Bowling Honors at Stoke Tonight; Pool Match Also Slated.

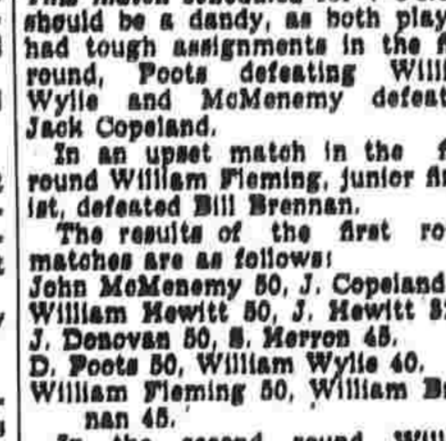

Tonight at Murphy's Alley, Scotland and Ireland will roll off for the British American Club championship, Scotland having won the first half and Ireland the second half.

In addition to the bowling match club members are in for a rare treat in pool, when Dave Potts and John McMenamy play off their second round senior tournament match.

When the famous old Charter Oak blew down in 1886, it was given a funeral service by patriotic citizens of Connecticut.

WITH THE WALKER CUPPERS

Johnny Goodman "Horatio Alger Boy" of Golf Ready to "Wham Dittie" Britishers.

JOHNNY GOODMAN

Beach five years ago, how he cleaned up everything in his path along the sectional championship trail only to miss by narrow margins in the big shows, and how he finally broke through to win the national open last year is history almost as familiar to American golfers as the exploits of the great Mr. Jones himself.

His friends say Johnny will go down in golf history as the only player who had to win the national open to get on the Walker cup team.

Johnny's going over to England last with the American Walker cup team. For once, he's going to the golfing wars in style, with his favorite war cry, "wham dittie," alloted up and ready for action.

Where the little giant-killer from Omaha's wrong side of the tracks ever poked up "wham dittie," no one knows, but it's his good luck charm.

As he stamped through the big field to win the national open championship of the United States last June at North Shore with a record-tying 287, Johnny "Whammed and wowed the ball and "wham dittie" put into submission.

"Wham dittie," he shouted when told he had been named on the Walker cup team after years of disappointments bitter enough to force most any golfer to toss away his golf sticks.

Since his victory in the open, Johnny has subordinated golf to his breadwinning job of selling insurance.

Except for a 72-hole "world's championship" match which he lost, two down, to Denny Shute, British Open champion, at Miami, Fla., last December, Johnny hasn't played much golf all winter.

But word is out that he is right near the top of his game.

ELM CITY BOWLER TIES WORLD MARK FOR SINGLE GAME

Rolls 202 in State Meet at New Haven; Elks Team Sets Tourney Record With a Total of 1936.

New Haven, April 23.—(AP)—The Connecticut duckpin championships have been given a whirl-wind start, with the second day of play producing performances that equaled a world record and set two new tournament marks.

Members of the New Haven Elks bowling team were responsible for the feats yesterday at the Rogers Recreation alleys.

Wilbur (Monck) Carmody tied the previous world high score for a single game crashing the pins for 202 which is also a tourney high.

In addition to Carmody's sensational play, the Elks team rolled for a grand total of 1,936, thereby establishing a new Connecticut duckpin record.

The 1936 record was rolled by Carmody on the first game set in which the Elks were participating in the team event.

The Elks team collected sets of 719, 650 and 517 for a team total of 1,886, and a new Connecticut record.

New York, April 23.—(AP)—Columbia's Lions entered a crucial week in their campaign to retain the Eastern Intercollegiate league baseball title.

Already beaten once by Penn's "Dark Horse" nine, the Lions find the schedule operating against them. They must play a pair of double-headers, the first against Harvard at Cambridge tomorrow and the second against Cornell at Ithaca on Saturday.

Harvard's only league set resulted in a tie game with Princeton last week, but the Crimson has the strength to make Columbia plenty of trouble.

Yesterdays Stars

Lon Warneke and Chuck Klein, Cubs—Warneke limited Cardinals to one hit; Klein clouted homer, double and two singles in 22-2 victory.

Fred Schultz, Senator—Drove in all Washington runs in 4-3 victory over Athletics with home and fly.

Ben Chapman, Yankees—Led attack on Red Sox with homer, double, two singles and stolen base.

Joe Shautie, Reds—Limited Pirates to four hits in seven innings as relief pitcher.

George Puccinelli, Browns—Walked two home runs against White Sox, driving in four tallies.

Hurls Team Into League Lead With Victory Over Reds As Champions Lose

By H. S. FULLERTON, JR.

Who predicted the Chicago Cubs would have to rely on their tremendous slugging power to get into the National League pennant race evidently overlooked Lonnie Warneke, the tall right-hander from Mt. Ida, Ark.

He has pitched two games so far this season, won them both and allowed just two hits, one each to Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Double Only Hit Following up his opening day performance against the Reds, Warneke turned in the same feat against the Cardinals yesterday, as the Cubs won the weirdest kind of game, 15 to 2.

The only blow Lonnie allowed was a double by Jim Collins in the fifth which led to the two St. Louis runs.

The Cubs repped the brothers Dean, Dizzy and Paul, and Jim Winfield and Clarence Heise for 23 hits including Chuck Klein's third homer and one by Gabby Hartnett.

The victory gave the Cubs the league lead as the champion Giants surrendered their season's first setback at the hands of the Braves.

The score was 6-5 as Boston repped Freddy Fitzsimmons freely.

The Brooklyn Dodgers handed the Phillies their sixth straight defeat, 5 to 3, and the Pirates opened Cincinnati's bid in the other National League contest.

The Boston Red Sox drew a paid attendance of 44,887 at Fenway Park to see them take as 8 to 1 licking from the Yankees and Lefty Gomez. Some 6,000 more were turned away.

The champion Washington Senators, finally found a slinger who could go the route and defeated the Athletics 4 to 3 behind Al Thomas.

The first Sunday game at Philadelphia drew a 30,000 crowd.

Fine relief hurling by Buck Newsum, who granted only two hits in a 2-3 inning, helped the Browns beat the White Sox, 6-5. The Detroit-Cleveland contest was halted by rain.

ROSENBLUM TO FACE AL GAINER TONIGHT

New York, April 23.—(AP)—It's a dull week in the boxing business when Maxie Rosenbloom doesn't fight at least once.

He will meet Al Gainer, clever Connecticut 175-pounder, in a ten-round non-title bout at New Haven tonight.

Otherwise the National boxing scheduling for the week is almost a total loss except for an attempted comeback by Pete Latzo, New England middleweight champion.

Now a middleweight, Pete will clash with Billy Ketchell of Millville, N. J., in a ten-rounder at Philadelphia Friday.

MEDLEY SWIM RECORD IS BROKEN BY YOUTH

Providence, R. I., April 23.—(AP) Matthew Chrostowski, sensational local school boy swimmer, broke the former "Burr" Crabbe recognized world 200-yard course record of three minutes 42.1 seconds and his own unrecognized mark of three minutes, 39.4 seconds for the 300-yard medley swim in winning the New England senior 300-yard medley championship here last night.

Chrostowski's time was three minutes, 37.4 seconds.

FUN A-FISHIN'

By JIMMY DONAHUE NEA Service Sports Writer

One of the most glaring errors of dry fly fishermen is the tying of a fly on the end of a leader.

This task, sometimes performed sloppily, often results in too large a knot and faulty balance of the fly as it floats down stream.

The turtle knot is probably the most foolproof and dependable of the lot. This knot, illustrated here, is tied as follows:

Pass the leader through the eye and tie a simple slip knot beyond the eye.

Pass the fly through the loop and draw tight by pulling the leader while forcing the tightening loop around the shank of the hook close back to the eye.

If the end of the slip knot sticks out, it can be clipped off close.

There is one thing to remember about the knots connecting the different lengths of a tapered leader.

If fish are striking at those knots, your fly is too large.

Take off the fly that doesn't favor with the trout and put on the smallest you have in the book. Be sure to bring a response.

BETTING ODDS DROP ON 2 DERBY ENTRIES

New York, April 23.—(AP)—The Kentucky Derby, so far as the east and far west are concerned, had taken on a different hue today, following weekend developments which saw two eastern horses strengthen their ratings in the future book.

Discovery, the son of the temperamental Display, for which youthful Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt netted $20,000 last fall, was rated at 10 to 1, a decline of 10 points within a week.

The odds on John Simonetti's Sgt. Byrne fell to 20 to 1, while those on Norman Church's highly regarded Risikulus, son of Stimulus, soared to 30 to 1 and those on William Woodward's Revere to 50 to 1.

The prices were quoted by Tom Shaw, New York betting commissioner.

EAST SIDES PRACTICE

The East Sides indoor team will practice tomorrow evening at 7:30. It is requested that coaches Joe Twaronite and Ed Kovis appear.

"Bill" Tuliano has finally decided to manage the East Sides. The following players are requested to appear at this practice: Vince, Siomonds, Leone, Mosser, Brazowski, Deyorio, Muldon, Rossi, O'Leary and any other players who wish to try out.

Any team wishing a game call 7856 at 9:00, 207 Spruce street, town.

BITSY GRANT IS HERO DESPITE TENNIS LOSS

Pint-Sized Net Ace Defeats Giant Les Stoenen and Comes Within a Few Points of Downing Shields in Finals of Tourney Play.

White Sulphur Springs, W. V., April 23.—(AP)—He didn't win, but the hero of the 14th annual Mason and Dixon tennis tournament was Bryan M. Grant, Jr., pint-sized package of Dixie dynamite.

The nimble Atlantan, five feet three inches tall and weighing only 120 pounds, accomplished the downfall of the biggest man in the tournament, six feet four inch Lester Stoenen, and came within a few points of beating the second biggest competitor, six feet, three inch Frank Shields, in the final round yesterday.

He couldn't quite make the grade against Shields and the country's No. 1 ranking player finally won 2-6, 1-6, 6-3, 8-6, 6-4.

Wilmer Allison and George Lott, probable American Davis Cup doubles combination, defeated Shields and Stoenen, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3 in the men's doubles finals.

Jane Sharp of Pasadena, Cal., the women's singles winner, also shared in the women's and mixed doubles championships. She teamed with Stoenen to beat Berkeley's Beal and Florence LeBoutillier of New York, 6-3, 6-4, and with Norma Taubale of New York to defeat Katherine Winthrop of Boston and Miss LeBoutillier 6-3, 6-7, 6-1.

The airport at Newark, N. J., is the busiest in the world.

Charter Oak Girls Drop Two Games at Bridgeport

With both teams getting tough breaks that kept the individual and team scores at a low figure, the Charter Oak Girls lost two out of three games to the Leavitt Leader Girls at Bridgeport yesterday afternoon in a State League match.

Miss Clark of the home team captured high single with 111 and high three string with 312.

The Leavitt Leaders are in a tie for first place in the league standing, while the Charter Oaks are in third place. In yesterday's match, the breaks were all against both teams with the locals getting the worst end.

All the team scores were below the 500-mark, the Charter Oaks winning their only point by taking the third game, 437 to 461. The Leavitt Girls took the other two games, 486 to 437 and 488 to 463.

Charter Oak Girls Drop Two Games at Bridgeport

Clara Jackmore went best for the locals with a single of 109, and a three string of 311. Jennie Schubert bit exactly 300, being the only other bowler to reach that mark.

SENSE and NONSENSE

OUR PRESIDENTIAL PARADE

Washington, first—he arranged the finance;
Then came John Adams, who quarreled with France.
Thomas Jefferson, third—Louisiana he bought;
Fourth, Madison, under whom England was fought.
James Monroe gave the doctrine and let in Missouri;
Then Adams, whose tariff aroused men to fury.
Jackson, seventh, refused the bank a new charter
And made poor Van Buren to panic a martyr.
William Harrison died and by Tyler was followed;
Under Polk all the troops in a blood-war wallowed.
Taylor, eleventh, had trouble with slavery.
Fillmore put through the Clay compromise, with bravery.
Then Pierce struggled with the Nebraska division.
And Buchanan was in for the Dred Scott decision.
Abe Lincoln was wise in a time of depression.
When Southern states fought for the right of secession,
Andrew Johnson came next, was impeached and acquitted;
Ulysses S. Grant for two terms seemed fitted.
Hayes followed; then Garfield, whom Arthur succeeded;
Then Cleveland, who Congress by veto impeded.
Harrison's term gave the tariff a send-up,
And Cleveland again held the Democrats' end up.
McKinley waged war with the poor Spanish nation.
And Roosevelt, T. R., upheld arbitration.
Then Teddy named Taft, and the G. O. P. split up.
Next Wilson, and the sky with the World War was lit up.
A popular vote gave the League a hard smack,
And Harding was picked to bring normalcy back.
"Silent Cal" Coolidge urged the saving of cash;
Hoover came in — and then the great crash!
Lastly, Roosevelt the second, whose Recovery plan
Is aimed to relieve the "Forgotten Man."

Every woman ought to have a patent pencil sharpener. He thinks a kitchen paring knife is a poor implement with which to sharpen pencils, even in expert hands, and to use a razor is very dangerous.

Two sweethearts were together in her parlor. He held her in his arms and gazed into her sweet blue eyes.
He (heavily)—What would you do if I tried to kiss you?
She (quickly)—Yell for daddy.
He (springing away from her and gulping nervously)—Great Scott I thought he was in New York.
She (sweetly)—That's right, he is.

Marriage, with a woman, is by no means just a matter of love. If she has any sense at all, she realizes that she's going to have to depend upon the man she marries for a living—or else make him a living, herself.

Junior—I wish I had a million dollars. I'd go to picture shows every day then.
Senior—You'd take me with you, wouldn't you, Junior?
Junior—No. If you're too lazy to wish for yourself you can stay at home.

The older a man grows the more enjoyment he gets out of seeing things grow, providing the real work is being done by somebody else.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

An old-fashioned girl is one who doesn't play bridge, doesn't drive a car—who has been married a year but still loves her husband.

Newly Wed—Now that we are married, dear, I want to tell you I intend being the boss—or know the reason why.
His Wife—Don't worry, darling. You'll soon know the reason why.

For new and better refrigeration the COOLERATOR

Only the the Coolerator has the efficient under-the-ice circulation . . .

A patented and exclusive process that makes for better refrigeration, assuring constant cold at all times at the lowest possible cost.

A NEW KIND OF REFRIGERATION
 In other makes of ice refrigerators the air from the food chamber is taken up over the top of the ice and the cooling is accomplished by the use of the four sides and top of the ice cake.
 In the Coolerator only the under side of the cake is exposed and through the use of the patented Coolerator fin rack the ice melts down in long fingers, giving extra cooling surface.
 For this reason the ice in the Coolerator melts only from the bottom and leaves the top of the cake practically flat so that a new block of ice can be slid in on top of the old one.
 The Coolerator gives the same temperature in the food chamber whether the ice chamber is full or nearly empty.
 In the electric refrigerator there is the circulation of dry, stale air filled with the gases and odors given off by the foods in an almost air-tight chamber.
 These gases and odors are absorbed by the water that makes the ice cubes. In the Coolerator, these gases and odors are absorbed by the water from melting ice and carried away down the drain pipe without doing any harm.
