MYSTERY ENTERS CHICOPEE BLAST

One Woman Killed and Scores Hurt When Gas Explosion Occurs.

Chicopee, Mass., April 27.—(AP)—Police and fire officials who are investigating an explosion that demolished a cottage dwelling here early today were fairly definite in announcing at 9:30 a. m. that one life had been lost, that of Mrs. Joseph Prinko, one of the occupants of the house.

That the explosion was caused by illuminating gas appears to be established by the investigation. John Prinko, 10, told the investigators shortly after the explosion that his parents and a boarder, Victor Beaulier, had gone to Vermont Wednesday. Police are seeking to verify this statement which might seem to conflict with the fact that Mrs. Prinko was a victim of the blast.

ANNOUNCE PROGRAM FOR BIBLE MEETING

Convention to Be Held in Hartford May 5-6 at Bushnell Memorial.

The program committee of the National Federation of Men's Bible Classes, Harry Slack, New York; Russell Fairhurst, Newark; Harlan L. Crowell, Stamford; Arthur M. Guttery, Hartford and James Johnston, East Hartford, announce the following program for the Tenth annual convention of Men's Bible classes to be held in the Bushnell Memorial Hall, Hartford, May 5 and 6 beginning at 2 p. m. on Saturday, May 5. Haggart, president of the National Federation of Churches and Honorable William Ward, Honorary president of the World Brotherhood, from London.

The keynote of the convention will be given by Rev. John L. Davis of New York City. Dr. Davis was formerly pastor of the Methodist church in New Britain and under his able leadership the Everyman's Bible class of that city became one of the best known Men's Bible classes in the United States. It was largely through the influence of this class that the National Federation of Men's Bible classes was organized at New Britain, April 26, 1924. The latter part of the afternoon session will be given over to four group conferences as follows: "The Bible, Its Use as a Guide in Daily Living"; "Prayer, When, Where, How, and Why"; "Problems of Class Teachers and Leaders of Christian Men"; "Problems and Value of Class Organization".

George L. Lewis, Milton S. Button, Frank Russell and Clarence C. Palmer, all of Hartford, have arranged for the Fellowship Supper at the Connecticut State Armory at 6 p. m., where all the delegates will be served at one sitting. "The Climax of Another Great Day" will be the subject of the address by Rev. Lester H. Cies at the mass meeting at 7:15 p. m. in the Bushnell Memorial Hall. Mr. Cies is one of the outstanding leaders of Christian men, is pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Newark, and received over fourteen hundred new members into that church in the first four years of his pastorate. He is leader of the Class Everyman's Bible Class of Newark which has had an average attendance this season of nearly fifteen hundred men.

Assisting at this service will be a men's chorus of one hundred and fifty voices under the leadership of C. Harvey Lidstedt of East Hartford. This gathering will close with a religious drama under the direction of Professor Edna L. Baxter of the Hartford Seminary Foundation. J. Earl Custer, Rev. C. B. Jensen and Lester S. Kittredge of Hartford have arranged for over night entertainment for the out-of-town delegates.

There will be three services on Sunday beginning with the Sunrise Service in Bushnell Park at 6:30 a. m., sponsored by Harlan D. Crowell, President of the State Federation of Connecticut. The Ideal Bible Class session will be held in Bushnell Memorial Hall at 9 a. m., sponsored by the Pennsylvania Federation of Men's Bible Classes, with Joseph Montgomery, former National President of Philadelphia, presiding. John Johnson, leader of the Mt. Airy Men's Bible Class of Philadelphia, will give the message.

The final session will be the men's meeting at 2 p. m. in Bushnell Memorial hall with Dr. O. F. Bartholow, pastor of the First Methodist church, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., as speaker. Dr. Bartholow has been pastor of this church for twenty-nine years and is known as the originator of the Military Plan of the Men's Bible class movement. It was through the influence of the famous Bartholow class that leaders in other churches received the inspiration which led to the formation of other large classes in the various sections of the country.

W. C. T. U. OFFICER'S $130
SPENT ON BOOZE SPREE

Peekskill Woman's Handyman Is Jailed for Stealing Money Intended for Taxes.

Peekskill, N. Y., April 27—Most of the $130 which Mrs. Charlotte Holmberg, secretary of the local Women's Christian Temperance Union, had intended to pay her taxes went for liquor on a forty-eight-hour spree, the police said yesterday when they locked up Alexander Blair on a charge of taking the money from Mrs. Holmberg's purse.

Blair, handyman employed by Mrs. Holmberg, wandered into her home at 950 Diben street on Tuesday, the police said, and abstracted the cash, which had just been drawn from the bank. He rounded up Walter and Frank Cuat, brothers, and James Boyle and went to a roadhouse in Yorktown Heights, where, the police said, they picked up Frank Monegro, a taxi driver, who drove them on a tour of beer gardens.

Police had been looking for Blair on Mrs. Holmberg's complaint, and when the party drove into town this morning he was arrested. He told the police that he gave $100 to Walter Cuat, and Cuat, the police related, admitted it, but said he had only $26 left. This he returned to Mrs. Holmberg, and when he promised to pay the balance at $5 a week no charge was made against him. Blair was held on a grand larceny charge, but the others were freed.

30 MILLION AFFECTED
BY DAYLIGHT SAVING

New York, April 27—(AP)—The annual American effort to arrest the sun and stretch daylight over the recreative end of the day will start Sunday and affect some thirty million people. Clocks go ahead one hour in several states.

Another hundred million persons will be affected elsewhere in the world before the summer is over. The figures come from the Merchants Association of New York which every year undertakes the task of studying the situation.

Statutes bring statewide daylight saving to Massachusetts and Rhode Island. New York observes it in 202 cities and villages, New Jersey in 118, Pennsylvania in 70, Illinois in 21, Indiana in 19, Delaware in 3 and Vermont in one.

State laws forbid it in Connecticut, Maine and New Hampshire. Nevertheless, the Merchants' Association reports, 33 cities will observe it in Connecticut, 36 in Maine and 20 in New Hampshire.

Michigan and Ohio don't have daylight saving time, but accomplish the same thing by following eastern standard time throughout. The entire territory of Hawaii comes under the new time. So do 62 cities in Canada.

AMUSEMENTS
CONCERT STAGE LURES
NEWEST RADIO STAR

Lanny Ross Featured in "Melody in Spring" Coming to State Theater Sunday.

Lanny Ross, silver-voiced tenor, who has become a national radio favorite and is making his screen debut with Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland and Ann Sothern in "Melody in Spring," which comes on Sunday to the State Theater, admits that he has still another ambition which he hopes to fulfill soon.

Featured in the two leading mediums of entertainment, prominence in either of which the average person would consider a triumph, Ross now is preparing himself for an appearance in a full fledged concert. He is directing his efforts towards the concert stage as an interlude in his radio and screen work. In his opinion, it represents the highest form of musical presentation, being superior even to opera.

"On the concert stage," he points out, "there are no scenic backgrounds, no orchestral accompaniment, no lighting effects. The responsibility is entirely the artist's. He must hold the audience by quality of voice, manner of delivery and an apt selection of numbers designed not only to cover the major divisions of the complete range of vocal music, but also to please sharply contrasted tastes."

Ross's career constitutes a perfect example of a man's favorite avocation superseding his chosen vocation. Training as a boy in the choir school of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, in New York City, paved the way for his assumption of leadership in Glee Club activities at Yale.

He won scholarships, made records on the track team, engaged in fraternity activities and various other things, but never forfeited an opportunity to sing, even touring Europe with the Glee Club, as soloist, in the fall of 1922.

While studying law he studied also voice languages and opera at the Juilliard Foundation and appeared on radio programs with increasing frequency. He completed his law course, was admitted in 1931, accepted a position and was about to begin work when radio suddenly claimed him.

Now, having justified his decision to sing rather than orate, having established himself on both the screen and the stage, he is looking forward to the time when he may feel his voice will justify the supreme test—a concert tour.

Then, he confessed, but only then, he may be content to rest on his laurels for a time.

"Melody in Spring," directed by Norman McLeod is a love story set to melodious songs with an accompaniment of laughter. Ross is shown as a young tenor with ambitions to get on the radio broadcast of the Blodgett Dog Biscuit company, owned by Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland.

The first thing he does is to fall in love with Ruggles' daughter. While Ruggles isn't so sold on the young man, Ross nevertheless crashes through with the girl on one arm and the fat radio contract under the other.

The co-feature will be Jack Holt in "Whirlpool."

SANDY BEACH BALLROOM
TO OPEN SUNDAY NIGHT

Phil Emerton's Diamonds Engaged for Opening Dance—To Bring Big Bands.

The 1934 season at Sandy Beach Park and Ballroom will be ushered in Sunday evening, April 29th, by George Bokis, the popular proprietor of the Tolland County Play-ground. The best dance orchestras in New England will be brought to Sandy Beach Ballroom, opening Sunday, April 29th, with the celebrated Phil Emerton's Original Diamonds of 12 pieces. This opening attraction is a sample of what the music at Sandy Beach Ballroom will be this season.

Phil Emerton's Diamonds generally conceded the finest entertaining dance orchestra that has ever visited eastern Connecticut, made such a sensational impression at Sandy Beach Ballroom last season, and owing to numerous requests of the management to bring them back again, arrangements have been completed to have them as the opening attraction at Sandy Beach Ballroom, Sunday, April 29th. The Diamonds have scored hit after hit all through the winter months, playing to capacity crowds in both theaters and ballrooms. They have made four Vitaphone movie shorts and have just completed an engagement at the Kentucky Hotel in Louisville, Kentucky where they replaced Mal Hallett and his famous orchestra. The Diamonds have shown their supremacy as an entertaining and a dance loving orchestra and this season they have promised to surpass everything in orchestration and novelty. The management has already booked some of the greatest orchestras on the road this season, including Edward J. McEnelly and his Victor Recording Orchestra, Weede Meyer and his Orchestra and Doc Payton and his International Famous Orchestra. Watch for detailed announcements on these attractions and many more.

JEW FORBIDDEN TO WED
MOTHER OF HIS CHILD

She Is "Aryan" So German Nazis Prefer to Condone Illegitimacy of Babe.

Berlin, April 27—The district court of Frankfurt on the Main has declined to permit a nineteen-year-old Jew to marry an "Aryan" girl who bore him a child, on the ground that it would be worse to countenance such an inter-racial marriage than to approve of illegitimacy.

According to the "Frankfurter Volksblatt" the court reasoned as follows: "The mother, who entered relations with the Jew in 1933, when wide circles of people already were enlightened on racial problems, is not deserving of any better fate. She must be punished for her thoughtlessness and lack of consciousness of her responsibility. Should the court comply with the petitioner's request then a new mixed marriage would be concluded, and a Jew would be enabled to produce, with the special approval of the state, a series of other bastards."

Says Party Alignments Have Been Swept Away—Talks About France.

Plainsboro, N. C., April 27.—(AP)—Addressing the North Carolina Bankers Association here, Speaker Rainey today predicted the revaluation of the franc by France within three months and expressed belief the party alignments swept aside in the election of President Roosevelt would result in rule of a "merged party" in the future.

The Illinois Democrat said that France is in dire straits and that more soundly than any other country in the world it has come to light as in the offing. He quoted Sir Josiah Stamp, noted British financier and economist, as telling him France soon must again revalue its franc.

Rainey said the United States would not materially increase its currency, but added that without violation of laws of economics it could issue eight or ten billions of paper money against the gold it has on hand.

"This is a revolution we are in," he said, "not the kind of revolution Doctor Wirt talked about, but a real revolution which is taking us out of the slough of despond, out for better days to come."

In a New Era

Describing the efforts of the present Administration as aimed at restoring buying power, Rainey asserted the Democrats and Republicans in Congress "are going along together doing things they never thought they would do as party men" due to the fact the Nation is in a new era.

"We are on our way," he asserted. "Political parties merged in 1892 to get out of the position the country was in. That was not a Republican victory and not a Democratic victory. It was a victory of the merged parties."

"You will never see another alignment of old parties like you have seen. Regardless of the name it is known by, there will be a hundred years of time which will see our political destiny held in a merged party."

Other Parties

"There will be other parties, too, but they will be parties of the Extreme Left. Communists will be in them, and more important in them than ever before. The groups of the Extreme Left will include those who believe in tearing down what we have and inflating currency. "But the merged parties will take this country down the wide straight road which means perpetuity of this great government through centuries to come."

The way tobacco is cut has a lot to do with the way Chesterfield burns and tastes

There are many different ways of cutting tobacco. A long time ago, it used to be cut on what was known as a Pease Cutter, but this darkened the tobacco, and it was not uniform. The cutters today are the most improved, modern, up-to-the-minute type. They cut uniformly, and cut in long shreds. The tobacco in Chesterfield is cut right—you can judge for yourself how Chesterfields burn and how they taste.

Everything that science knows is used to make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder... the cigarette that tastes better.

NEW TYPE QUAIL TO BE LIBERATED

Northern Connecticut Next Week Will Receive About 500 Bob Whites.

Hartford, April 27.—Nearly 500 bob-white quail of a new type are to be liberated in northern Connecticut starting next week in a move by the State Board of Fisheries and Game to provide Litchfield, Hartford, Tolland and Windham Counties with quail able to withstand the most severe winter weather, according to a bulletin of the Board today. If stocking with the new strain proves successful it is expected that bobwhites will become as common in northern parts of the state as they now are in some southern sections.

The new strain of quail has been developed by the Board from among the hardest breeding stock available in the country. Some of the parent birds were secured in northern Wisconsin and others from states which mark the extreme northern range of the species. Due to selective breeding of these northern birds Superintendent of Fisheries and Game, Arthur L. Clark, believes the progeny will thrive in their new environment.

To develop the sturdy new strain the Board enlisted the aid of state game breeders and also supplied them with the breeding stock at cost. Under contracts with the Board the breeders have been required to keep no other quail in their pens and to give first preference to the state in all sales of progeny from the selected birds provided them. The present liberation is the first sizeable lot of the new strain supplied by the commercial breeders.

With the co-operation of State Forester Austin F. Hawes, a new program of game and forest management has been launched to provide natural food and cover for the quail and other game birds. The program calls for leaving strips 100 feet wide around all 10-acre blocks being reforested in the future by CCC and other workers. The strips are to be allowed to grow up into hardwoods and shrubs beneficial to wild life as well as of aid in the protection of evergreen plantations from crown fires.

Over 9,000 food bearing shrubs, including honeysuckle, privet, dogwood and barberry, purchased by the State Board of Fisheries and Game, were planted in State forests last year and are expected to be flourishing this season. In addition, 4,448 oak, ash, black locust, black walnut and chestnut trees formed part of the plantings made by the State Forestry Department. All are considered particularly beneficial to game, the bulletin states.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Racine, Wis.—When police found Paul Roszek, 48, badly beaten and unconscious they asked Edwin Collins, 51, how it happened.

"We were fighting a nice friendly fight until Roszek started to use a sledge hammer," he said. "Then it got serious."

Collins went to jail and Roszek to a hospital.

Erie, Pa.—Warden Matt Hess told Slim Young, the best window washer ever looked in the county jail, that if he would wash all the prison windows a parole would be granted. Young worked feverishly, washing for freedom.

But he was saying things to himself as he walked out of jail. The parole had been granted before he accepted the warden's bargain.

Chicago—Last December, Leonard Danielson, 28, electrical engineer was trapped in a $125,000 mill fire. Charles Schrank, 46, a miller, entered the blazing building and rescued him.

Danielson repaid the debt. Schrank was trapped on the 12th story of the mill which was again in flames. Climbing the blazing stairway, Danielson rescued him.

Chicago—A woodcock's spring romance came to a sudden end when it careened dizzily against a store window.

Children rescuing the bird believed it had been pursued by a hawk, but attendants at the Field Museum said it was merely in love.

A woodcock, they said, falls in love each spring and chooses a nest. Then, it performs its "mating flight," swooping and dashing about.

Benwood, W. Va.—The day of the town election dawned bright and warm, but Louis Kepple, ardent Democrat, was dismayed—his wooden leg was gone. What was more, his friend, Police Chief Pat Scully was up for re-election and needed votes. Kepple called Pat and the latter called the Democrats. They carried Kepple to the polls.

The Democrats won and Chief Scully located the missing limb.

Vancouver, B. C.—After he failed to make good his promise to double money by dipping it in medicine, Pete Mukan, 39, was convicted of stealing $1,795 from John Kusyk.

Kusyk said his life savings were wrapped in a parcel and dipped in a dish of liquid. When he opened the parcel later he found only worthless paper. Mukan was sentenced to two and one half years.

Brewster, Mass. Though Louis Crocker insists he is a Republican, he is officially a member of a Democratic town committee. Some wag wrote Crocker's name on the ballot in the pre-primary election and that vote elected him.

of the American Federation of Labor, in so far as they relate to the closed shop, have no backing in the White House. Mr. Sloan's statement reflects the facts of the law and the sentiments of manufacturers—and, beyond doubt, of a very large preponderance of American workers. But in default of an out-and-out declaration by the President it is inevitable that the A. F. of L. will continue to promote, as it has been doing for months, the belief that the closed shop theory has the full sympathy and support of the Roosevelt administration.

SILVER OWNERS' GUILT
 The force of implication in the publication of Mr. Morgenthau's list of holders of silver is exactly that, and no more, which would lie in the publication of a list of persons who, within the last year, bought real estate, or cotton, or a share in a moving picture theater, under the impression that President Roosevelt meant what he said and was going to bring about the restoration of prices to the 1928 level.

CONNECTICUT RELIEF
 No criticism is to be made of the determination of the meeting of municipalities yesterday to send a committee to Washington to protest against the slashing of federal relief in Connecticut. These industrial states of the Northeast, which have always been the heaviest contributors proportionately to the national treasury, have received but scant consideration at the hands of the federal government as compared with the solitude extended to other areas, especially the agricultural states. Particularly have they suffered from the operation of the sheer whims of a bureaucracy as erratic as it has been ineffectual. It is full time that, concerning the extent and methods of federal relief, Connecticut spoke up in meeting.

At the same time it is to be admitted that the delegation from this state which is to take its case to Washington will labor under a very serious handicap. The first question to be asked, at Washington, is: "What has the state of Connecticut, as a state, done to aid its municipalities in carrying the relief burden?" The inescapable answer to that will be, "Nothing." If the further question "Why?" is asked, then perhaps Governor Cromwell will have gone along with the committee and will answer the inquiry.

SLANDERED VETERANS
 Though the clamor raised a while ago over the passage of the General Offices Bill over the veto of the President has died down, the veterans of the World War are not altogether satisfied to let it go at that. They have not forgotten the many bitter things said about them by many citizens and many newspapers and they are not disposed to rest under the aspersions cast upon them as "plunderers of the treasury." They are, on the contrary, evidently determined to keep the controversy alive, for they are still demanding attention to certain facts.

TIME FOR SHOWDOWN
 The announcement of President Alfred P. Sloan of General Motors, that his great corporation flatly refuses to countenance the closed shop for which the American Federation of Labor is so desperately working, may well be expected to precipitate some sort of crisis in the attempt of the latter organization to control the labor situation in the country. Sloan's pronouncement, while explicitly recognizing the principle of collective bargaining and making no attempt to defend the company controlled union, is a straight and uncompromising challenge to the A. F. of L. the importance of which can hardly be exaggerated.

There is every reason to believe that President Roosevelt, when he entered on his term of office with a firm determination to see to it that labor got a better break than heretofore, accepted without much examination the notion that the American Federation of Labor was a pretty fine institution, fundamentally sound and led by able and disinterested men concerned only with getting justice for their followers—an idea inherited from World War days when Samuel Gompers, shrewd and far seeing and statesmanlike, did more than any hundred other American labor leaders ever did to gain respect for national labor unionism. Mr. Roosevelt's Secretary of Labor, Miss Perkins, has displayed from the beginning of her tenure a positive infatuation with the American Federation of Labor.

MACHADO
 While the legal counsel of former President Gerardo Machado of Cuba professes to make light of the fact that an extradition warrant has been issued in New York for Machado, the wily Cuban statesman apparently intends to take no unnecessary chances of being turned over to the courts of his country to be tried for a long series of more or less political murders. As soon as the first intimation of an attempt to extradite him appeared in print Machado vanished from his New York residences and his whereabouts were "unknown" to federal officials today.

MOTHS, TOO?
 The impeccable New York Times, in telling of a long search for the owner of $80,000 unclaimed for five years in a safety deposit box of a branch of the National City Bank, refers to the treasure as "accumulating dust" since 1929, when its owner, an actress named Mona Douglas, died of tuberculosis in Phoenix, Ariz. Now one may wonder whether or not an action for libel might not lie against the Times if the makers of the deposit boxes in that branch bank were to bring suit. What kind of a safety deposit box is it, anyhow, that isn't dust proof?

Health and Diet Advice
 By Dr. Frank McCoy

While the practice of sitting for a few minutes each day with the feet elevated on a desk or table in a poor social custom, it is a good way to prevent varicose veins. One who has been standing for a long time may note a sensation of heaviness, fullness and fatigue in the legs which is relieved when the heels are placed higher than the hips.

Varicose veins occur in the superficial veins of the legs and thighs and appear tortuous, jagged, blue or purplish. The walls of these veins are thicker than normal in some places and very thin in others. This swelling and enlargement occurs most often with the veins of the leg; in them the blood is more or less trying to flow uphill against the force of gravity. To control the flow, the veins are fitted with valves, which are to keep the blood from flowing backward. While the blood is pumped up by the heart and by the contracting power of the arterial walls, the heart force is not very strong by the time each impulse reaches the veins in the legs; if any condition then occurs which prevents the return of the blood from the veins, it will accumulate, causing the valves to break down, the veins become enlarged, distended and stretched and varicose veins are present.

The cure depends upon: 1. Removing the cause as far as possible; 2. Strengthening the walls of the veins through local treatments; 3. A general health building regime to revitalize the blood so that the veins will be better nourished. Where the patient is overweight, it is helpful to reduce and, where the cause is prolapsus of the abdominal organs, these organs should be raised to the proper position as this will pull the weight of the lower pelvis and relieve the blood congestion in the lower limbs. Where the cause is too much standing, it is always helpful to secure more rest.

The best local treatment which you can give yourself at home to strengthen the vein walls is to hold a piece of ice lightly against the vein. Press the ice against the protruding vein after raising the leg. Continue this treatment for the first four or five days for several months. Another treatment which often gives relief from the aching in the legs is the use of hot showers followed by cold; allow hot or warm water to spray over the legs for about five minutes then use the cold for about one minute. This is an excellent toning treatment.

are independent if you wish to shrink the veins to normal. These who can obtain local treatments given by a physician with certain electrical apparatus will find them beneficial. Varicose ulcers should be treated by your doctor with the sodium light of the close contact high frequency spark.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 (Cataract)
 Question: Mrs. J. N. O. of Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I would like to know if there is any treatment that will restore cataract eyes."
 Answer: It is sometimes possible to stop the formation of cataracts through adopting hygienic ways of living, but this is usually not advisable after the cataract has really started. It is generally better to let the growth continue until it reaches a size where it can all be removed by a surgical operation. There is a fair percentage of good results from these operations. It is often necessary to remove the entire lens of the eye, but wearing glasses with heavy lenses will substitute for the one removed so that often a patient can see just about as well as before the cataract started to grow.

(Agar-Agar)
 Question: Mrs. R. K., Baton Rouge, La., writes: "Is agar agar good for constipation and how is it taken?"
 Answer: Constipation is caused by eating too many concentrated foods and not enough of the green ones, lack of exercise, prolapsus of organs, kinks in the colon, etc. The effect of agar is to provide more bulk and it is a safe aid to use while you are adjusting constipation through removing its causes. One of the best ways to mix same in a cooked cereal for breakfast, using about a level tablespoonful to each person.

(Celery)
 Question: C. L. N., of Riverside, California, writes: "Is celery good for your children and also very old people?"
 Answer: Well bleached celery is good for everyone. It never creates any digestive disturbance and can be used by anyone who is able to use any kind of food at all.

ASKS ROOSEVELT TO VISIT N. E.

New England Council Chairman Invites President to Vacation in This Section.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—President Roosevelt was invited today by the New England Council, on behalf of New England, to spend some part of his vacation this summer cruising in New England waters. In a letter presented at the White House by John S. Lawrence, chairman of the Massachusetts Division of the Council, the President was invited by Colonel William A. Barron of Crawford Notch, N. H., chairman of the Council's recreational development committee, to accept New England's hospitality this summer.

"New England will feel honored in providing in part the means of relaxation from the responsibilities and burdens of your great office," Colonel Barron said.

James Roosevelt of Boston is reported to have secured a yacht for his father's use this summer if the latter is able to spend any time in New England waters.

For the President's use when cruising "down east," the Council also presented the Chief Executive with a new illuminated map of the New England coast, showing the name, location and insignia of each of the 192 yacht clubs of New England. With decorations in color, and the burgees of the yacht clubs making a gay border, this map, prepared by the Council with the co-operation of The Sportsman Magazine, was described by yachtsmen as a useful guide to the sailing waters and snug havens from New York to the President's summer place at Campobello Island.

The map includes, among other illuminated decorations, a picture of the Amberjack II close hauled under full sail with a brisk breeze forcing her sail under. The picture is an artist's reproduction of a photograph of the Amberjack II as the President cruised with her in New England waters last year.

While the presentation at the White House was made by Mr. Lawrence in his capacity as an official of the New England Council, he is also an old yachting associate of the President.

Mr. Lawrence and the President were formerly joint captains of a houseboat "Larocco" which was being the winters of 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925 and 1926. The Larocco in a summer storm in Miami waters was driven five miles inland, where she was sold for a house and had a front door made at her starboard rigging. The peculiar name comes from "La" for Lawrence, "Ro" for Roosevelt, and "Co" for company.

POWERFUL BROADCAST STATION OPENS MAY 2

Cincinnati, April 27.—Formal dedicatory exercises of the world's most powerful radio broadcasting station—500,000-watt WLW—are to be conducted here Wednesday, May 2. At exactly 9 o'clock that evening the pressing of a small electric switch will unleash this tremendous surge of energy carrying the voice of Fowl Crosby, Jr., radio pioneer and founder of the Crosley Radio Corporation, into every corner of the earth as he inaugurates WLW's full-time operation on a power of half a million watts.

Four national and local WLW staff orchestras will head this galaxy of radio stars—all exclusive WLW artists—during the first section of the dedicatory program, from 9:00 to 10:30. These include the Crosley Symphony Orchestra under the direction of William C. Sizess, WLW Director of Music; Henry Ties and his orchestra; Virginio Marucci and his Southern Americans; and the Flying Dutchmen under the baton of Phil Davis.

Individual artists listed on the program will include such favorites as the air as Margaret Carlisle, the Ponce Sisters, John Barker, Mary Alcott, the Charioteers, the Rhythm Jesters, Johnny Muldowney, Joe Emerson, Sandra Roberts, Flora Blackshaw, Carl Grayson, Charlie Pamerson, the Crosley Male Four, Jack Borch and Oklahoma Bob Albright. The Crosley Glee Club of 35 male voices will also have a part in the program.

THE BARGAIN HOUND

Dropped in at the Memorial Corner Store, corner Main and Haynes street, and found the most delicious home cooked pastries, cakes and nut bread.

Unbleached cotton, stenciled with gay little figures, is inexpensive and makes a stylish summer drape for informal rooms. First, select the patterns and then buy a good stencil with edges that won't break after the second or third pair of curtains. Place the stencil on the borders, or wherever you want the pattern to show, hold it firmly in place with one hand and paint over it with the other. Then carefully remove the stencil and wipe it off before you begin again.

A 3 quart copper casserole baking dish (standard price $3.00) is yours for four Ferndell Food Labels and $1.75. This is a real bargain. Inquire about details at Pinehurst. Dial 4151.

The girl with a limited income and a well-filled date book will find she just can't get along without that summer swaggar coat. In peasant linen, gabardine, twill plique, velvet or corduroy, it will double for both a daytime or evening coat and will look equally happy in town or out.

If you're planning big doing over Memorial Day you'll want your permanent before the last minute. Make your appointment early at the Lily Beauty Parlor. Dial 7484.

For traveling, the hand-knit top coat is ideal and more and more women are adopting it as the most practical wear, whether the journey is to be made by air, automobile or train.

Get to Norton's early tomorrow for it's the last day you have a chance to get a pair of $2.50 slippers for $1.87. Summer's coming and you'll want an extra pair.

Tomorrow ends the sale of prints at Cheney's salesroom. You still have a chance to get some very, very attractive prints and crepes at special sale prices. You're sure to want one more blouse or dress to "fill in."

While a great deal of the youthfulness of the young demands accessories trimming, much also depends on its general silhouette. You can always convey a "young" look with slim, tailored styles or, if you go to the other extreme, by an abundance of ruffles and feminine touches. One of the essential things to be learned is that a stiff trimming suits certain styles and fabrics, whereas soft and tricky gadgets are better complements to correspondingly soft mediums.

Your menu need never be monotonous when you have such a delicious variety from which to choose as Garzone's offer you. How about a watercress salad at Sunday dinner? Watercress is only 10c a bunch. There are loads of other delicious things including native rhubarb, 3 pounds for 25 cents, large pineapples 25 cents, and honey dew at 38 and 43 cents.

Scorched foods is one of the most vexatious things that can happen in the kitchen. It makes dinner late and tempers very short. But don't worry about it. When vegetables become scorched, just remove the cover at once and set the pot in another pan of cold water in about 15 to 20 minutes, the scorchy flavor will be gone, or if not altogether, then partially at least. If the food should be burned on the bottom, cut away the burned part, reheat the vegetable and season with a small piece of charcoal, if hands can be cooked with the scorched food and will draw out the unpleasant flavor.

Watkins' Housecleaning Sale goes on! This morning I specially noticed the most attractive little bouddoir and table lamps at $1.49. I also noticed that the regular prices on these lamps were up to $2.98. Take a peek at them—they're in the front window.

The new utility ensembles for formal and semi-formal wear will greatly reduce wardrobe budget worries for the average woman of moderate means. Not only can she select a floor-length jacket outfit that is a perfect evening gown without the jacket and a dinner dress with it, but, if it's one of the new utilitarian creations, it can be worn to garden festivals, extra-special bridge parties and the like.

Next to their practicability, fabrics are the most outstanding features of these late spring models. Most of them are simply cut, relying almost entirely on their materials to give them glamor. You can stick to rough or flat crepe or be typically 1934-ish and go in for novelty fabrics as well as triple sheers, delicate chiffons or some of the interesting starched laces. It's smart to have the jacket contrast with the dress in either color or material.

Say a word for the Bargain Hound when purchasing articles advertising in her column and she'll "woof" for you.

FIRE LOOKOUTS REPORT 3 FIRES

Town Forest Fire Warden John Jensen Kept Busy Answering Calls.

Three times this week Town Forest Fire Warden John Jensen has been notified by lookout tower men that there were forest fires burning in Manchester. On Tuesday he was called from the Somers tower and told that there was a fire in the northeast part of the town. Shortly after the warning from Somers, a local call was sent in giving the location. Mr. Jensen gathered a force of twenty men and drove out to the fire. Ninety gallons of water were carried in the fire fighting apparatus now furnished the forest fire warden. It was second growth timber land that was burning. The water was applied to the stumps, the workers formed around the burning area and confined the fire to two acres.

At 1:30 yesterday afternoon he was again called. It was reported at Hartford that the Somers lookout had spotted another fire in Manchester. They had rechecked the report and noticed smoke in the vicinity of Highland Park. Mr. Jensen at once went out to investigate and found that the two lookouts had "shot" the location properly but this was also a bonfire that had burned out when Mr. Jensen arrived.

HOSPITAL NOTES A daughter was born at the hospital yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. William Christians of St. Johns street. All clinic tonal and adolescent patients were discharged today. Mrs. George Schiller of 24 Bidwell street was discharged yesterday.

DAILY BROADCAST FOR MANCHESTER Merchants, Radio Station and C. of C. Will Make Program Possible.

Through the efforts of the local Chamber of Commerce and the operation of Station WTIC of Hartford, Manchester will go on the air with a daily program half-hour duration starting when WTIC extends its schedule of operation from a part time to a full time basis. This change was scheduled to take place last Sunday but it was announced today that it would not be effective for ten days at least and therefore the daily programs will not start before the week of May 6 at the earliest. Until that time local broadcasts will be Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings. The overwhelming success of the half-hour program of organ music given each Thursday morning for the past three weeks at the State Theater, sponsored by the J. W. Hale company, Mohr's Bakery, Watkins Brothers and the State Theater, led the Board of Congregational Churches to recommend that action be taken to arouse interest in presenting another sponsored program on another morning of the week. Station WTIC agreed to present a daily organ recital from the State Theater and a similar broadcast for a second broadcast. The Chamber of Commerce went to work immediately and this morning succeeded in signing Kemp's, Inc., Ernest Bartley, E. J. Hill and the Manchester Electric company as sponsors of a program each Tuesday morning from 8 to 8:30 o'clock, in addition to the half-hour program each Thursday morning. Collin Driggs will furnish organ music in both sponsored broadcasts and artists who meet with the approval of WTIC will be used from time to time. On Monday Wednesday, Friday and Saturday mornings, from 8:30 o'clock an organ recital will be broadcast from the stage of the local theater by Mr. Driggs, which will be sponsored by WTIC, and a half-hour program will also be presented each Sunday afternoon from 3 to 3:30 o'clock. It is felt that these radio programs will do much to advertise Manchester and attract out-of-town business. It is the first time since the inception of radio that a campaign of this kind has been conducted and the results are expected to prove a high success.

MILLEN CONFESSED CRIME TO FRIEND

Prize Witness of Prosecution in Needham Murder, Tells His Story. Dedham, Mass., April 27.—(AP)—A school boy friend, Saul Messinger of Coney Island, N. Y., testifying in Dedham court today, confessed to his part in the robbery of the Needham Trust Company Feb. 2, with its killing of two policemen.

Milken, a candidate for the New York police department, lives up to the pre-ribe statements of the state that he would be the prize witness for the prosecution. In tones audible throughout the court room, the New Yorker told how he had known Murton, now trial with his brother, Irving and Abe Faber, for the murder of Patrolman Forbes McLeod of the Needham police department, as a school boy in the Roxbury district of Boston.

Gets Phone Call Early in February, Messinger said, he received a telephone call from Murton at Messinger's home in New York. He said he took a taxi with him to the hotel. There he met Murton and Irving and another Milken brother, Harry. A short time later Norma Brighton Milken, Murton's young bride, who is held under indictment in connection with the Needham crime, entered the hotel room. Murton, his wife and Messinger and the latter's fiance went to dinner. After that they accompanied Messinger's fiance to her home.

"Did you go to the hotel again?" District Attorney Edmund R. Dewing asked. "Yes, the next day." "And did you have any talk with Murton Milken about a town named Needham?" "Yes." "What did Murton Milken say?" "Confessed Murder." "He said he had robbed a bank in Needham. They got about $12,000 and that during the robbery an alarm went off. A cop came and he and Murton ran out. They were out and got into their car. Another policeman stepped into the street, and he fired shots at him. They drove away at about 80 miles an hour."

The story Messinger told, held the spectators motionless. In the prisoners' cage the Milken brothers glared, especially Murton, as he heard his old friend brand him as a confessed murderer.

There was no labor local formed yesterday, but it is expected that such an organization will be completed within a few days. The meeting which opened at 2:30 this afternoon was to learn about the possibilities of such an organization and to consider the question further.

There has been a refusal of any advancement in pay that morning. It was reported that ten men had gone to work for the Burr company in the fields in Wapping. It was also reported to the strikers by pickets that two of those who had gone out from the Vanderbrook nursery had returned to work today. The truckmen, who were recently organized, have been notified that there is a strike on and the trucking organizations operated by union operators are not to transport nursery stock from either of the nurseries.

NEW YORK'S SENATE KILLS LOTTERY BILL

Albany, N. Y., April 27—(AP)—The New York Senate today defeated for a second time this session legislation proposing creation of a lottery sponsored by the New York City administration to raise funds for the unemployed. The vote killing the bill was 22 most unanimous, five ayes to 22 noes.

The measure, sponsored by Senator Julius Berg, Bronx Democrat, proposed creation of what would be known as the Municipal Supplemental Relief Corporation. Due to the corporation would be $2.50 for six months, estimated to raise between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 annually. Trustees of the corporation would be members of the Board of Estimates and Apportionment with an advisory board to include leading citizens of the city.

The bill proposed officers of the corporation be drawn by number from a box, their salaries to be determined by the amount of money taken in. The remainder of the fund would be distributed to the unemployed. Senator George R. Fearon, Republican minority leader, led the opposition with the declaration, "This plan isn't on the level." "If we are going to have lotteries, we will have to amend the Constitution," he said. A similar bill was sponsored in the Assembly by Ernest Lappano, New York Republican, but was killed in committee.

FUNERALS

Robert D. Phillips Funeral services for Robert David Phillips, of 43 West Middle Turnpike, were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Church of the Nazarene, of which Mr. Phillips was a charter member and one of the trustees. The church auditorium was filled as relatives, friends and neighbors gathered to pay their final respects. Banked under the bier at the front of the church was a profusion of flowers, numbered among which was a beautiful sceptre wired by Thomas Wilson, a former member of the church, from Los Angeles, Cal.

Following a short prayer, the congregation united in singing two hymns—"The Unclouded Day" and "Will There Be Any Stars." Rev. Harris B. Anthony, the pastor, who was in charge of the services, then rendered a solo, "Sometime We'll Understand" and followed this with a prayer. Mr. Anthony next sang, "The Peaceful Valley." He based his sermon that followed on Romans 5-1. "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Jesus Christ; who walk not after the flesh but after the spirit." In his eulogy Mr. Harris spoke of Mr. Phillips' 37 years of faithful stewardship as an officer of the Church of the Nazarene; described his praiseworthy traits of character and dwelt upon his deeply religious nature. The closing hymn was, "The Last Mile of the Way." Benediction was then pronounced. Mr. Harris was in charge of the committal services at the grave. TRADERS GAIN VICTORY, 8-3 ON 5-RUN OUTBURST IN 11TH

STAFFORD HIGH IS BEATEN BY LOCALS IN CLOSE CONTEST

Rally Breaks Up Three-All Tie That Lasts from 7th Inning; Keish Gives But 6 Hits in 10 Frames.

Coming through after a decisive 14-2 drubbing by Windsor Locks Wednesday afternoon, Captain Eddie Raguskus and his local Trade School mates hit their stride Tuesday afternoon when they snuffed out Stafford High school by a score of 8 to 3 at Stafford Springs, the victory being gained on a five-run outburst in the eleventh that broke up a three-all tie lasting from the seventh inning.

Stafford scored two runs in the last half of the first on two errors by Lashinski who upon injuring his thumb was relieved by Sweet in the second inning.

Keish relieved Quartus on the mound in the second period and from then on both teams battled on even terms until the sixth inning when Sweet, Quartus and Orlovski hit singles that loaded the bases with none out. Phelps executed a spectacular squeeze play by bunting along the base line and beating the ball to the initial scorer Sweet. N. Panciera then threw to second in order to put out Orlovski who had by this time taken a long lead. Quartus on this play crossed the platter for the second run to tie the score, 2-all.

Score Tied Again Since the game was started at 4 o'clock, it was agreed to play but seven innings.

Going into the first half of the seventh, Smith, lead off man, struck out. Jarvis singled and on the next play reached second on a fielder's choice. Sweet grounded, third to first, for the put out. Quartus then singled to score Jarvis, putting the mechanics in the lead, 3-2. Quartus however, was put out on second when he tried to stretch a single into a double for the final out.

In the last part of the seventh Matteson, lead off man for Stafford and N. Panciera filed out in succession, the former to second base and the latter to Smith at short. Keish walked his next man, Sweet, who stole second on the pitch placing himself in a scoring position. Pellizzari hit to second base and reached first on an error by Phelps and at the same time scoring Julian thus tying the score, 3-3.

Keish off Quartus 2, Keish 6 in 10, Williams 9 in 7, Pellizzari 3 in 2, V. Panciera 1 in 2; stolen bases, Manchester, Smith, Keish, Phelps; Young 2, Julian 3. FAMOUS WRITER ON SPORTS JOINS BIG STAFF OF HERALD

Harry Grayson Is Named Sports Editor of NEA Service; Has Had Twenty Years of Experience

Today The Herald is pleased to introduce to you Harry Grayson, new sports editor of NEA Service, Inc., whose interesting and colorful comment on sports becomes a regular feature of this paper's sports page.

Grayson scarcely requires an introduction. He left the New York World-Telegram to join NEA after having spent 20 years roaming over sport fields in Portland, Ore., San Francisco and Los Angeles. He is as well known in Chicago, Montreal, California and the Pacific northwest as he is on Broadway.

While Grayson specializes in boxing in New York, his work was brilliant when he turned to other sports — racing, baseball, track, and field, hockey, tennis, swimming, basketball, rugby, cricket, fencing and table tennis.

Few have traveled farther to watch athletes perform than has Harry. His assignments have taken him to all corners of the continent the last being a trip with Columbia's football squad for the Rose Bowl conflict against Stanford New Year's Day.

It was on that afternoon that Grayson saw his 19-year-old nephew, Bobby Grayson, the Cardinal's sophomore fullback and signal caller, play for the first time.

Grayson attracted nation-wide attention in the boxing world in 1928 when he was one of a mere handful of critics to pick Gene Tunney to lift the great Jack Dempsey's heavyweight crown.

They were calling Tunney "the Greening Village Folly" at the time. They said he was too timid, and some were wagering he wouldn't show up for the fight.

Others of the writing fraternity tried to talk Grayson out of his choice, but he stuck by his guns. "Tunney will win every minute of the ten rounds. He may knock out Dempsey in the first," he telegraphed his newspaper.

It will be recalled that they scarcely had put up their hands when the Man Mautler's knees sagged under a whistling right.

"I knew Dempsey's true condition when he was in the ring when the last shot had been fired, and who ever beat Tunney?"

Grayson dislikes to make comparisons, explaining that those who have gone on before are seen in the 110-meter hurdles. Pitted against him, however, is Don Smith of Virginia, Southern Conference champion.

WITH THE WALKER CUPPERS Johnny Fischer Cincinnati Youth Combines Slugging Power With Accuracy.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth of a series of articles on the careers and personalities of the members of America's 1934 Walker cup golf team which meets the British at St. Andrews May 11-13.

By BOB CAVAGNARO Associated Press Sports Writer New York, April 27.—(AP)—Johnny Fischer, tall and spare golfer-son of a Cincinnati letter carrier, typifies the slugging younger generation of American linksmen.

With all his power and remarkable distance the fair-haired, gangling youth possesses amazing accuracy, and the combination of these assets should prove profitable next month when he plays in Scotland with the American team against a golf contingent of Britons in the Intern. Jona Walker cup competition.

Like Gus Moreland and Johnny Goodman, the young and robust open champion, Johnny just learned his golf—he wasn't taught. He learned about the game as a caddy and started to play from the experience gained therefrom.

Confident of his air and control, Johnny is a gambler of the fairways. His motto is "all or nothing." To play safe would take the thrill out of the sport for him. On dog-leg holes he plays the angles, recklessly flirting with the wooded sides of the fairways and yawning traps.

A senior at the University of Michigan, Fischer first commanded the spotlight in 1932 when he won the Big Ten championship and the national intercollegiate title. He went to the national amateur at Five Farms in Baltimore that year and stole the play in the qualifying round with a 6-73 to tie the qualifying record for the national tournament.

It took one of the nation's best and most admired golfers, Francis Ouimet, to check the rushing youth. Ouimet, captain of the 1924 Walker cup squad, had to use all of his tricks to beat Fischer, 1 up, in a 36-hole semi-final.

"Let The Wind Blow," He Says Fischer came back last year in the national amateur and improved on his 1932 qualifying performance, negotiating the two 18-hole test rounds in 141 for a new record over his native Kenwood course in Cincinnati. His admiring townfolks banked heavily on Johnny to continue that form through the final, but Johnny was abruptly pushed to the sidelines in the second round by Sidney Noyes, one up in 18 holes.

Fischer is 22 years old, measures more than six feet and weighs about 150 pounds. He's one of those fear-noting individuals and least of his worries are the tales of the gales that blow over the royal and ancient links at St. Andrews. "Let 'em blow and blow hard," said Johnny. "He's one of the longest drivers in the game and usually keeps the ball right down the middle of the fairway, like the part in your hair."

Another lighter for Derby eligibles will be offered Tuesday in the Preparation Purse, a mile race more commonly known as "the Derby trial." The South Louisville and the Preparation will give turf followers a more accurate line on the condition of western hopefuls for the $30,000 added Derby May 5.

Charles T. Fisher's Mats Hari again has been backed into favoritism for the Kentucky Derby, despite the fact just one filly has won the historic classic, only one member of that sex has run second, and five have run the Kentucky Derby.

The filly honor roll for the Derby follows: Reggett first in 1915; Lady Navarre, second in 1906, and the following thirds: Flamma in 1912, Guldure in 1913, Bronzewin in 1914, Viva America in 1918, and Guderey in 1921.

Will Foxx Break Ruth's Home Run Record Of 60?

A's Burly Belter Thinks He Will If He Has 18 by June 1; Must Have Every Break in Luck, He Says; Sees Race as Mad Scramble.

By EDWARD J. NEIL New York, April 27.—(AP)—If you don't care to worry along through the closing days of September adding up Jimmie Foxx's home runs and wondering if he'll break Babe Ruth's record of sixty in one season, here's a short cut.

Put a ring around June 1, on your handy calendar. "If I have 18 by then," says the burly belter of the Athletics, "I'm on my way. I'll make it. If I'm under 18, well—"

Jimmie shrugs his wide shoulders and grins cheerfully. He's only 27 with years of slugging still ahead of him. He hit 53 in 1932, two shy of the Babe's great mark.

"You have to have every break in luck," Jimmie explained. "You've got to be in there swinging every game. I always get away to a slow start and have to make up ground later in the season. One minor injury will ruin everything."

Jimmie has a suspicion too, that the American League ball this year isn't as fast as the National League whiffle.

CHURCHILL DOWNS OPENS TOMORROW Phils Edge Giants, Cards Smear Bucs, Braves Blank Dodgers; Tigers Regain Lead in Amerk by Beating White Sox as Yanks Lose.

Louisville, Ky., April 27.—(AP)—The annual spring meeting at Churchill Downs opens tomorrow with the mile and a sixteenth Clark Handicap for older horses sharing interest with the six-furlong South Louisville purse for three-year-olds, offered as a tune-up for Kentucky Derby eligibles.

Failure of Gallant Sir, handicap star of Norman W. Church's Northway stable, to arrive at the Downs leaves Col. E. R. Bradley's entry of Burgoon King and Broker's Tip, both Kentucky Derby winners, the probable public choice for the $2,500 added Clark Handicap, a race as old as the Derby itself.

Another lighter for Derby eligibles will be offered Tuesday in the Preparation Purse, a mile race more commonly known as "the Derby trial." The South Louisville and the Preparation will give turf followers a more accurate line on the condition of western hopefuls for the $30,000 added Derby May 5.

PLEA OF HOSIERY WORKERS REJECTED

National Labor Board Decision First to Go Against Labor Federation.

Washington, April 27.—(AP)—The National Labor Board today rejected a plea from the American Federation of Full Fashioned Hosiery Workers at Indianapolis for the right to bargain collectively with the Real Bulk Hosiery Company independently of the company union which won an election last October.

The ruling sustained a previously adopted policy that collective bargaining should go by majority rule. This policy runs counter to repeated expressions by President Roosevelt and Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, to the effect that all groups of employees are entitled to recognition for collective bargaining.

The board did reverse, however, a decision of the supervisor of the October election under which the result was to hold good for the "duration of NRA."

The board recommended that the Federation Union and the Employee Mutual Benefit association, the company union, agree on a term not to exceed one year, at the end of which a new election would take place.

Today's decision was the first in which the majority rule principle had gone against the American Federation of Labor.

In announcing it, the labor board said the decision had been carried by a majority vote without indicating whether the federation members of the board or industry members had opposed the action.

pieces, hurled large sections of the walls for long distances, and badly damaged nearby buildings. Window glass was shattered for blocks around, and many residents of the neighborhood were thrown from their beds. The blast was heard for miles.

The known injured include: Mrs. Ann Petras, Frank Strenpek, Patrick Brinkman, Mr. and Mrs. Horridas Roy, George Roy, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boher, Florence Starzyk, Miss Emelda Tetraut, Miss Rita Tetraut, Mrs. Joseph Tetraut, Mrs. Dora Zaluchi and seven children, and Joseph Stachowicz.

The explosion was followed by fire which, however, was quickly extinguished. All policemen in the city were called to the scene and ambulances were sent from Springfield and Holyoke to assist the local fleet.

While the exact origin of the explosion was not known, Fire Chief Andrew Sears said that it was probably caused by gas.

The explosion caused a panic throughout the neighborhood, and the streets were quickly filled with screaming, terrified people who fled wildly, clad only in their nightclothes. Many of them were bleeding from cuts, and in some cases the police had to forcibly restrain them in order to put them under medical care.

told police he had found a woman's body on the Davis street bridge which crosses Lake Whitney. Among others, County Investigator Harry W. Tuttle, now chief of the West Haven police, was assigned to the case. In the clothing was an undeveloped roll of film.

An examination showed Mrs. Orr had died of a bullet wound through the head. On the ice of the lake beneath the bridge was found her hat and the cake. Tuttle established the woman's identity through the photograph from the film.

Letter intercepted
Orr, after shooting his wife, flung the small calibre revolver into a hole in the ice, and disappeared. Tuttle had the homes of Orr's friends and relatives watched. Two weeks later a letter written by Orr from San Francisco was intercepted. Tuttle traced Orr to the Army post at Fort McDougal on Angel Island where he was serving life, "Private John Smith." because he told a Grand Jury he had seen Athos Terzani shoot and kill Fierro during a demonstration which broke up a meeting of the Khaki Shirts in Astoria, Queens county, last summer.

Terzani was exonerated of guilt in the shooting, and Frank Moffer, a Khaki Shirt member, pleaded guilty to manslaughter, testifying that he had shot Fierro.

KHAKI SHIRTS HEAD GETS 3 TO 6 YEARS

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Art J. Smith, commander of the Khaki Shirts of America, today was sentenced to three to six years imprisonment for perjury in connection with his testimony he gave a Queens county Grand Jury investigating the killing of Antonio Fierro last July.

Queens County Judge Thomas C. Kadien pronounced sentence, saying: "Perjury is one of the most serious of crimes. In this case, it might have resulted in sending an innocent man to prison for life, or even to the electric chair."

Smith was convicted by a jury on April 15, but his sentencing was thrice postponed.

under the leadership of Japan; acting in close collaboration with other Asiatic powers," has been enunciated officially by the Tokyo government through Masayuki Yokoyama, consul general at Geneva.

No official reply, it was made plain, has come from Great Britain, but the answer given the Associated Press was represented as accurately reflecting the views of the British Indian administration.

It is no exaggeration to say that despite the political differences with Mahatma Gandhi's ranks, British authorities believe there is and always will be a real affection between India and "Mother England."

Contending the Indians are distrustful of the Japanese, the Associated Press informant said that during the World War—when submarine paralyzed British shipping the Japanese took over ninety per cent of India's imports.

Yet, he added, "within a few months after peace was declared, Japan's share suddenly declined because her traders lost the confidence of the Indian buyers."

GAVE UP WAITING
Bridgeport, April 27.—(AP)—After waiting 20 years for his wife, Katherine Fogarty Mogan, to return to him, Brian Mogan, a Stamford gardener, gave up hopes and appeared in Superior Court today in a petition for divorce. It was one of several granted. Mogan told the court that he was married in 1907, and that his wife deserted him five years later.

A petition brought by William H. Buckingham of Westport, against Lucille R. Buckingham of this city, was dismissed when it was learned that a suit brought two years ago by Buckingham has not been adjudicated.

Florence E. Walker, of Stamford, was granted a divorce from George Walker, also of Stamford. Cruelty was charged.

ROCKVILLE

CHURCH RECTOR ELECTED LION'S CLUB PRESIDENT

Rev. H. B. Olmstead Succeeds Dr. Clarence E. Peterson as Head of Luncheon Group.

Rev. H. B. Olmstead, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, was elected president of the Lions club at its meeting held at the Rockville House.

Other officers elected are: First vice-president, Luther A. White; second vice-president, Frank Little; third vice-president, Harry Conklin Smith; secretary, Allen L. Dresser; treasurer, I. Tilden Jewett; tale twister, William Demers; Lion tamer, Roy Playdon; directors, Lester W. Martin and Philip M. Howe, both of whom have another term of their two years to serve; and Dr. Clarence E. Peterson and Sherwood C. Cummings, who were elected for the two year term.

Rev. Dr. George S. Brookes, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the suggested list of officers. The other members of the nominating committee were Dr. R. C. Ferguson and Frank S. Prichard.

Dr. R. C. Ferguson, the first president of the club, presented retiring president Dr. Peterson with a past president's pin, and complimented him on the fine showing for the year. Thanks were also given to William Partridge, who has served for five or six years as treasurer.

The Lions club will hold its next meeting Wednesday evening May 2, with Joseph F. Lamb, an executive of the Landers, Frary & Clark company of New Britain as the speaker.

Mr. Lamb will give his illustrated motion picture talk on "Alaska."

Traffic Improvements Extensive traffic improvements for the business center of Rockville have been suggested for this summer to be undertaken by the public works department.

A definite program for the summer months is to be brought before the Common Council at its May meeting by the public works committee, headed by Alderman Kerwin Little.

Among the suggestions proposed is to be undertaken this summer is the relocation of the "Safety Island" at the intersection of Main and Union streets, which was installed a year ago.

This circle arranged to divert traffic headed in the four directions at a cross section of the roads, is about ten feet from the direct intersection of the highways and has proven a big inconvenience to the traffic, particularly to heavy trucks and buses.

Due to the fact it is set on a down grade, it makes it dangerous for the trucks and buses coming up Union street to go around this small park.

The present location was due in part to the large tree which is located within the curbed park. There is also a fire hydrant within this small grassed area but it is now understood that they both can be moved.

Forster's Name Presented The name of George Forster former postmaster for two terms, was sent to the Senate with several other names from Connecticut, by President Roosevelt. Mr. Forster has been notified that his name was presented.

Mr. Forster was thrice mayor of Rockville and formerly county sheriff. He has been active in politics since 1895 when he first served as a member of the third ward, serving the city five terms. Mr. Forster was elected as representative to the legislature in 1909. He also served as Democratic registrar of voters for many years.

He was born in Seneca, N. Y., in 1869, moving with his family to this city shortly after, and attended East District school. At the H. R. Whitlock school he specialized in civil government. He worked for a time in the American Mills, later as a salesman for the James J. Regan company, leaving this work to enter the shoe business and operate a store on Market street for many years.

Mr. Forster, if his nomination is confirmed will succeed George Dickinson, Republican, whose term expired in 1933, and who has been holding office awaiting the appointment of his successor.

There were three candidates for the local postmasterhip. The other two were: Frederick G. Hartenstein, foreman of the Rody Company and Maurice Spurling, insurance agent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Preparing For Summer Many property owners about Crystal Lake have been at work this week preparing their cottages for the summer season.

With the improved roads between Rockville and Stafford Springs through Crystal Lake section, a large increase in the number of daily visitors to the lake has been noted. People from distant points have acquired land about Crystal Lake and constructed cottages, making their homes here and traveling back and forth to their work going as far as Hartford and Springfield daily.

HARDWARE MAKERS END CONVENTION

Hear Speakers Say That Turning Point to Recovery Has Been Reached.

Hot Springs, Ark., April 27.—(AP)—Admired by their national president that their immediate concern is with the success or failure of the NRA and the realization that a turning point is being reached in its relation to the recovery program, hardware manufacturers of the Nation today were en route home after concluding a four-day meeting here.

Selecting Walter M. Bonham, of Knoxville, Tenn., as president, the Southern Hardware Jobbers Association ended its forty-fourth annual convention yesterday. The organization met in joint convention with the American Hardware Manufacturers Association which selected Atlantic City as the scene of its fall meeting.

P. Van Schick, Bridgeport, Conn., president of the manufacturers, told the organization in the closing address that "fundamentally the trouble with the NRA is that it attempts to increase consumption through a rise in money instead of products."

Criticizes the NRA He criticized the NRA for what he said was a "primary oversight in failing to make a clean cut outline of its policy on price fixing."

The first census was taken in the United States in 1790 and was conducted by a group of less than 700 marshals at an expense of about $45,000.

BUSINESS SECTION FIRE ATTRACTS FEW PEOPLE

Johnson Block Chimney Fire Extinguished With Scarcely Any Crowd Attracted.

A fire in the business section of Manchester was extinguished by No. 3 without the usual gathering of a crowd and few knew that the apparatus was out. At 9 o'clock last night a telephone call reported a fire in the Johnson block on Main street at Brainard place. No. 3 was detailed by Chief Foy to answer the call. There was no sounding of an alarm and the apparatus pulled down Bissell street onto Main street, turned into Brainard place where the firemen went to the chimney and soon extinguished the fire without any damage resulting to the building or contents.

CLEAR NEW HAVEN MAN OF MURDER CONNECTION

William Mirman, 29, Had Been Held on Suspicion in Slaying of Detective.

New Haven, April 27.—(AP)—William Mirman, 29, was cleared today of any connection in the slaying of a New York detective. A resident of New Haven, Mirman was released after a technical charge of idleness was not pressed in City court. He had been held in $10,000 bonds since Wednesday pending an investigation by New York police. A New York city taxi driver who was forced by the gunmen to help them make their get-away after they had fatally wounded Detective James J. Garvey of the New York police department, scrutinized Mirman in every pose at police headquarters late yesterday, but could not identify him. The cab driver, whose name the police withheld, had pointed out Mirman's photograph in the New York police rogues' gallery as resembling one of the two men who jumped into his cab after the shooting. New York detectives, Lawrence D. Dagher and Robert Rehan, questioned Mirman for an hour, but all he would say was that he was in New Haven at the time of the shooting.

CHILD NAMED AFTER ROOSEVELT MISSING

Widespread Search Underway for Baby Franklin Delano Roosevelt Goodman Gone Since April 5.

Miami, Fla., April 27.—(AP)—A wide-spread search was under way today for nine-week-old Franklin Delano Roosevelt Goodman, child of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Goodman, of Whitman, Mass., who has been missing since April 5. The child was placed in the care here of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moran, of San Fernando, Calif., police said, with the agreement of both families to meet a few days later in St. Petersburg. Goodman was to have been employed on a ranch owned by Moran, he told authorities, and the families were to have journeyed westward together. The Morans ostensibly went to St. Petersburg to withdraw funds from a bank there before the trip. The authorities today prepared to ask the Mexican government to aid in the search, as the Goodmans said the Californians had often spoken of a desire to travel in the southern republic. Announcement No. 2 of a Series

Modern beef-cutting methods employed at our meat warehouse provide a means of definite control of quality. Our Meat Experts reject any cattle not suitable for A&P Customers. Thus we can also make a definite distinction between the muscles which have to do with the locomotion of the animal (the less tender cuts) and employ these cuts only for the use for which they are best-suited. Beef experts at our meat warehouse are trained to do this.

Our clean, up-to-date markets are electrically refrigerated and are attended by skilled butchers ready to serve you in a courteous and efficient manner.

Our meat buyers are constantly on the alert to pick out choice quality that will be better than run-of-the-market. Yet A&P Customers buy their meats at moderate prices due to our large volume and direct method of distribution.

TRAFFIC CONTROL SURVEY FINISHED

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Ends Study of Plans in Three States.

Commissioner Michael A. Connor of the State Department of Motor Vehicles has had completed a survey of what could be accomplished in Connecticut through the establishment of a "State Traffic Control Commission" to consist of the Highway Commissioner and the Motor Vehicle Commissioner. A study was made of traffic control measures in New Jersey, Massachusetts and Rhode Island by members of the Traffic Planning Section of the State Motor Vehicle Department and the essential features of the proposal for a state traffic control organization in this state are based on active principles in force in these neighboring states. With uniformity in traffic control activities it is presumed that the highways of the state will be found capable of accommodating a larger amount of vehicular traffic than travels the roads today and with greater safety for all. Motorists traveling about the state, as well as motorists driving through the state from outside points are often perplexed to find different regulations and traffic controls in various localities. The plan will be given intensive consideration by Commissioner Connor who plans to discuss it with the department heads interested and, if the time appears opportunity and the plan has the required support, legislation to accomplish such a proposed setup may be introduced in the 1934 Legislature.

A torch has been devised that can cut steel in a sunken ship at any depth.

DONNA of the BIG TOP

by BEULAH POYNTER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DONNA GABRIEL and MADELINE SIDDAL, who call themselves "The Gabriel Sisters" are trapeze performers with Renfro's circus. Donna's parents, also circus performers, are dead. Five years earlier Madeline ran away from the middle-western farm where her grandfather, AMOS SIDDAL, lives.

dressing rooms, passing small groups of performers who smiled or ignored them. The "cue" of a strain of music, informed them that in two minutes the acts proceeding would make their entrance.

As she tripped lightly across the arena Donna gave a swift glance at the rows of seats, knowing full well that under the blazing lights she could not distinguish Bill Siddal from any other person.

Both girls discarded their cloaks and slipped their trapeze ropes and with a deft overhead movement Donna swung her lithe perfect body up a swinging rope that led to the flying trapeze. Once she was in position there, Madeline did likewise. The two worked without noise, a reckless disregard of life and limb.

Donna knew that when she swung herself from the trapeze, to grasp it with her dexterous instep an instant later, Con David always stood in the wing of the entrance, watching her. To him the trapeze act was a sheer defiance of the laws of gravity, while his own was merely the routine of existence. Donna, on the other hand, thought Con's performance with the lions by far the most dangerous feat in the circus.

Today Con's presence irritated her. She found it difficult to keep her mind on the count that was as necessary as the bars beneath her. Again and again her thoughts returned to the brief encounter with Bill Siddal. She wondered what he had thought of her—she who had never cared for any man's opinion before. She wondered how the trapeze act appeared to him, and if he really believed her to be his cousin.

Suddenly Madeline's sharp whisper, "Snap out of it! You almost missed me," brought an end to these speculations.

At last it was over—the chariot races, the wild west show, the grand finale. Lights were extinguished and the audience departed. Donna dressed quickly. She slipped into a printed silk frock that any small town girl might have worn. Her hat was a large straw hat with a wreath of daisies. Without making a sound she slipped into another. If she had heard her partner's question, she gave no heed to it for she did not reply.

"It's funny your folks never write to me or one of you girls," giggled Madeline's assistant. "Or maybe they write to you together."

"They do," Madeline informed her. "Beat it, Ruth. I can finish alone." Ruth disappeared.

"What's Bill like?" Madeline demanded when she and Donna were alone.

"What you'd expect a young haysed. You'd never see him for dust, but," Donna smiled. "I like him. He was so embarrassed it was funny. I guess we were both embarrassed. I'm going to have supper with him after the show."

"I suppose the tight's shocked him out of a year's growth?"

"No, I don't think so. After all, bathing suits are so common that tight's shouldn't mean anything."

"Bathing suits!" Madeline sniffed. "Where would Bill Siddal see a woman in a bathing suit? Outside of Little Creek there isn't a place to swim within 50 miles, and no woman ever went swimming in Little Creek."

"I don't think," mused Donna, "that your cousin has lived all his life in this part of the country. We didn't talk very long but somehow I got that impression. You say you've never seen him—"

"There were some Siddals in Indianapolis," Madeline said. "Bill probably belongs to that branch of the family. But if he does you should be on Grandpa's farm? I can't imagine a city man caring for farm life."

"That's our cue," Donna said suddenly, not at all sorry to interrupt the discussion of the young man she had just met. Again she thrust her feet into the carpet slippers, flung a black cloak about her and left the dressing room. Madeline followed. They walked through a lane of "What were you doing?" Donna asked.

"Studying medicine. I'd have graduated this year if I hadn't quit. When Grandfather went blind some one had to be with him besides—"

"Didn't, Donna gasped.

"No, I didn't know." She shivered.

He looked at her sharply. "Mrs. Plenter said she saw you the same time she wrote me, but I don't trust that woman. She has her eye on Grandfather—I call him that—and would like to marry him, blind or not. Naturally she doesn't like me, for I see through her schemes."

"Who is she?"

"Why, the housekeeper. Surely you remember her! When her husband was alive she lived up the road about three miles. After you left she came over to stay with Grandfather."

"The name—er—slipped my memory."

"I suppose so. You've met so many persons in the last five years. I've a car in town but I reckon we'll have to walk to the square. I hope you don't mind."

"Oh, I don't."

"Blind! Did Madeline know her grandfather was blind? Did she know that a woman who might die cover instantly that Donna was an impostor was the housekeeper?" Donna asked hesitatingly. "You gave up your career to stay with Grandfather?"

"Some one had to."

"That was splendid of you." Walking briskly, they reached the edge of the town. Frame houses with wide verandas, surrounded by well kept lawns and shade trees, gave Donna a touch of nostalgia for the life she had never known. Children romping among blooming rose bushes and old-fashioned garden flowers brought a lump to her throat.

"It's such a pretty town," she murmured.

"Yes, Lebanon is attractive. And there are some fine people living here. I've made a lot of friends." The last statement was soon verified, for as they entered the square—four blocks of business buildings—two men called out greetings to Bill, then stared frankly at his companion.

"Maybe they remember me—"

Donna stammered.

"Don't think so. You're a show girl to them and therefore a curiosity. Do you recollect any of them?"

"No."

"We'll go to the hotel. There isn't a decent restaurant in town."

The public square was thronging with farmers and their families, for Saturday in Lebanon was always a holiday. The circus had brought hundreds of persons from all over the county and the Central House, the principal hotel, had more patronage than it could accommodate. Tables had been placed on the wide porch that was flush with the street, giving the place a continental appearance.

Bill bowed through the crowd and up the porch steps. "Got places for two?" he inquired of a bright-eyed little waitress, carrying a tray of dishes.

"Howdy, Mr. Siddal. Yes, I reckon we can find a place for you. That couple is leaving now." A gaunt-faced man pushed back his chair as the waitress spoke and missing, I don't know what she would do."

"Then Copsy said, 'They can't be far away from right where we all are. Why not start out to look for them right now? We'll all help you.'"

Soon Dotty shouted, "Marty, me! Just see who's sitting 'neath that tree! It's poor Bo Peep. She's crying, too! I'm going to find out why."

With Golly, she ran to the lambs, and said, "My, my, what's come to pass? We're friends who want to help you. Tell us, please, what makes you cry?"

"I just saw Boy Blue," said Bo Peep. "What has he done with my poor sheep? I know they're not with him. It's no wonder I'm in tears."

"Don't worry, miss. We'll look around until all of your sheep are found. I'm sure they must be grazing near, so please allay your fears."

"You see, a girl who's called Bo Peep asked me to watch her flock of sheep. If she knew they were missing, I don't know what she would do."

"Then Copsy said, 'They can't be far away from right where we all are. Why not start out to look for them right now? We'll all help you.'"

Soon Dotty shouted, "Marty, me! Just see who's sitting 'neath that tree! It's poor Bo Peep. She's crying, too! I'm going to find out why."

With Golly, she ran to the lambs, and said, "My, my, what's come to pass? We're friends who want to help you. Tell us, please, what makes you cry?"

"Don't worry, miss. We'll look around until all of your sheep are found. I'm sure they must be grazing near, so please allay your fears."

stalled inside to settle his bill, followed by his corpulent wife.

Bill matched at the vacant place, grinning boyishly at Donna as he held a chair for her. "I suppose it's the same all over the country. A circus draws everybody."

Just as the little waitress inquired if Donna would have steak or pork chops, another couple came up to meet the mischievous ones of Madeline whose curiosity had overcome caution. At a discreet distance, accompanied by Ned Trafford, the boss canvasser, had followed her partner.

"Donna could not suppress a gasp of dismay. In a frock very similar to her own and wearing a hat that was an exact replica of Donna's, she resembled between the two girls was so striking that Bill could not help but notice it. It would be like Madeline to come to the table and demand an introduction and Donna knew that if this happened she could not continue the deception. Suddenly she hesitated to spend that week-end in this country more than she had ever wanted to do anything in her life. The good opinion and respect of the sunburnt young giant sitting beside her became the most important thing in the world.

"What's the matter?" Bill asked.

"Nothing. I just saw my partner and I thought she—"

Madeline passed by. She grinned broadly, swept a keen glance toward Bill and under her breath whispered to Donna, "Con is roaring like one of his cats." Then with her arm linked in Ned Trafford's she continued down the aisle of tables.

It all happened so suddenly that Bill scarcely saw Madeline's face but he did hear what she said. Though his acquaintance with Donna had begun less than six hours previous he demanded, "as if wall within his rights. 'Who is Con?'"

"Oh, you saw him. He's in the animal act."

"Is he your sweetheart?"

Donna laughed gayly. "Of course not."

"But he'd like to be, huh?"

"Perhaps."

(To Be Continued)

A new type of rear signal projects lighted words onto the road surface behind the car, indicating that the driver is about to make a turn.

When Boy Blue jumped up to his feet, said, "I want you to meet my little pals, the Tynymies. We've come to visit you."

"Old Mother Goose let us all come to this land, so we'd have some fun," then Boy Blue smiled and bowed real low, and said, "How do you do?"

"Oh, we do everything we like," said Duncy. "And we like to hike around to see strange places. Why, we've been most everywhere."

"We've traveled far beneath the sea, and that's as thrilling as can be. We've also had a lot of trips away up in the air."

"My goodness, but that must be fun. Why, all I do all day is run around and tend my cows and sheep. Come, I must find them, now."

"While I was sleeping 'neath the hay, I guess they must have walked away. Unless I find them shortly there will be an awful row."

SENSE and NONSENSE

The man who delivers the goods usually collects.

Uppish Youth (trying to be impressive at dance)—There's a delicious sense of luxury when one is lying in one's bed and ringing one's bell for one's valet.

Sweet Young Thing—Have you a valet?

Uppish Youth—No, but I have a bell.

The written word is much better than one passed from mouth to mouth; but a kiss.....Well, that's different.

Applicant—Senator, you promised me a job.

Senator—But there are no jobs open.

Applicant—Well, you said you'd give me one.

Senator—Tell you what I'll do, I'll appoint a commission to investigate why there are no jobs and you can work on that.

Probably the most worthless thing in the world is a worthless check.

Junior—Daddy, what is dew?

Daddy—The rent, the note at the bank, and the instalment on the car.

BE SPECIFIC. When you say "colored girl," explain whether you mean hand-colored.

Daughter—Mother dear, that new clerk thinks I'm the nicest girl in town. Shall I let him call?

Mother—No, let him keep on thinking so.

If the meek ever inherit the earth, they'll find their property prettily heavily plastered with mortgages by those who were not so meek.

Little Boy—What's etiquette?

Slightly Bigger Brother—It's saying "No, thank you," when you want to say "Yes."

What is the difference between a thief and a person who will beat you out of an honest debt? asks a well known writer. Well, if there is any difference at all it certainly is in favor of the thief.

Mrs. Betts—I met your husband for the first time at the concert the other evening. He struck me as being a man of rare gifts.

Mrs. Potts (sniffing)—He certainly is! I've had only three presents from him since we were married.

Happiness is the feeling a woman has when her new dress is the admiration of the men and the envy of women.
