FIRE RUINS TURN HALL, CENTER OF POLISH ACTIVITY

Big Wooden Structure On North St. Is Destroyed Early Today — Firemen Save Adjacent Houses.

Turn Hall, center of social and athletic activities among the Polish residents of Manchester, was destroyed by fire early this morning. The large wooden building, at 71 North street, housed, in addition to the meeting hall, the North End Market conducted by Joseph Kuroski, owner of the property. The entire block, including the store and fixtures, was valued at $15,000 and is nearly a total loss.

Had Gained Headway.

The blaze was discovered by Mr. Kuroski who was sleeping at the rear of the building at about 3:45 this morning. He attempted to put in a telephone call for the fire apparatus but was unable to do so because of the heat. His hair was burned before he could get out. Neighbors called the Bon Ami plant and the alarm was sounded from No. 53, North street and Wood Lane. The fire had gained considerable headway when discovered and Mr. Kuroski could not determine its cause. Chief Edward Coleman said this morning that it was impossible to determine the origin of the blaze since the entire front of the building was in flames when the department arrived.

Adjacent Houses Saved.

Two large two tenement houses on each side of the burning building were saved by the daring work of the firemen. Risking serious burns the fire fighters stuck to their posts alternating the two lines of water from the blaze to the sides and roofs of the adjacent houses. In this way the fire was confined to Turn Hall and the houses escaped with but a scorching on the sides nearest the burning building.

No Wind.

Fortunately there was no wind and the water pressure was excellent. Flames and smoke billowed high in the air carrying embers for a considerable distance but largely to the east in the direction of open fields. Had a wind carried the flames to the north or south the firemen would have faced a disastrous conflagration. The houses in this vicinity are all of wooden construction and are built close together.

Danger from Wires.

PALESTINE, HAVEN FOR GERMAN JEWS

Head of Commission Claims It Is Only Place Ready for Refugees.

London, May 2.—(AP)—James G. MacDonald, high commissioner, told the council of the High Commission for Refugees today that Palestine offers the only immediate area of colonization for German refugees—who are mostly Jews—as far as operations on an appreciable scale are concerned.

He said that none of the other many proposed schemes are at present practicable. These include North and South America and the Mediterranean area of Africa.

There were openings in these areas, however, he said, for small groups.

MacDonald said that the total refugees in April were 63,200 in comparison with 59,300 in December, and said their plight was desperate since tens of thousands of refugees were "destitute, homeless and uncertain of tomorrow."

He pleaded for a more practical and sympathetic consideration by various governments and ordered to permit refugees to travel, work and live unmolested. He urged national studies of the underlying causes of friction between racial and religious minorities and the prevailing majority.

He said that the refugee exodus from Germany is now moving in an orderly fashion and was no longer panic-stricken but that conditions of admission into adjacent countries for these people was more severe, causing a need for a change in admission regulations.

Referring to the numerous projects for colonization, MacDonald said that lack of financial arrangements at present hindered the carrying out of such schemes. He indicated, however, that there were more immediate possibilities for agricultural and industrial settlements in Argentina.

FRENCH REPORT NEW SPY PLOT; ARREST AGENT

Declare Organization Is As Large as Other in Which Two Americans Were Implicated.

Paris, May 2.—(AP)—Police announced today that a huge "German spy organization" had been uncovered with the arrest of an agent in Paris and that warrants had been issued for other members of the group.

Secret service agents were said to be searching for the spies, but even the name of the agent arrested here was not made public.

The organization was uncovered, authorities said, as the result of investigation of charges against a French army officer, Captain Froge, who was taken into custody in connection with the mysterious disappearance of plans for the defense of the city of Belfort.

Authorities charged the spy organization is as large, if not larger than that for which Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon Switzer of New York and New Jersey and 13 other persons now are in prison.

Captain Froge, who had been under investigation for a long time, was just about to be cleared of all charges, police said, when the secret service "caught an accomplice in the act" of espionage.

The prisoner arrested in Paris was described as "an officer of a foreign power." He was arrested Saturday night, but was held secretly and questioned.

The Paris prisoner's revelations were "so important," police said, that authorities immediately notified the examining magistrate at Belfort. Froge in civilian clothes was crossing the square in front of the court house just as the secret service agents came out the door with their warrant.

SCHOOLBOY PILOT SEEKING RECORDS

Bob Buck to Go to Europe to Compete in Small Plane Class.

Miami, Fla., May 2.—(AP)—The freckled 16-year-old Westfield, N. J., schoolboy pilot who spanned the United States in record time four years ago, now proposes to tackle Europe in his own small plane class. Hardly home from three months of aerial adventuring in Yucatan, Bob Buck today revealed he had plotted a summer of assaults on speed records between Continental capitals with Paris as the axis.

Even more ambitious is the youngster's—his is four months past his 20th birthday now—plan for a dash over the 7,412 miles of jungle, sand and water that lie between Capetown, South Africa, and London.

Buck, who flew his plane from California to New York in 23 hours and 17 minutes in October, 1930, a junior record still at the top of the books, calls for his European invasion in June.

Has New Plane

A fast, two place monoplane with a 145 horsepower motor to come within the category of most of the class records he hopes to better, will be stowed away in the cargo hold.

Flying from Paris, Bob will point for Berlin, Moscow, Madrid, Geneva and almost every other chief European capital except London in his trials for new speed.

"I won't attempt the London mark," he said, explaining that is

Radicals Parade Might On New York's May Day

While 1,500 police, reinforced by as many reserves, vigilantly guarded the line of march, New York Socialists and Communists showed their strength in separate May Day parades celebrating the anniversary of the day set aside for the commemoration of the workman. Here the Communist parade is seen getting under way in the downtown financial district.

FOUR POLICEMEN INJURED AS REDS RIOT IN PARIS

Four Hour Pitched Battle Fought as Communists Turn Apartment House into a Fortress.

Paris, May 2.—(AP)—Police fought a pitched battle with Communists in a "tough" quarter of Paris early today as a climax to "Red May Day" in France.

Four policemen were wounded as the Communists, entrenched behind flaming barricades in a blind alley and windows of a municipally owned apartment, poured a stream of pistol fire into the ranks of police and mounted guards.

Only after a four-hour siege were police—commanded by their prefect, Roger Dangeon, in person—able to storm the Communists citadel and drive them to cover.

By 5:30 a. m. calm had been restored, but special squads carrying bullet proof shields and gas pistols swept into the apartment house fortress, routing the defenders and hustling the captives off to jails.

Starts at Midnight

The rioting flared at midnight, when—after a surprisingly quiet day, the nation over—hundreds of Communists shouting defiance entrenched themselves in the alley.

Ripping up floors and tearing out doors in the apartment building, the Reds dug in with a trench across the alleyway and raised barricades to the Rue Nationale, along the left bank of the Seine, to which the alley extends.

Make a Fortress

Later took a leaf from the book of Socialists who fought in Vienna, the nation over—turned the fourth and fifth floors of the building into a fortress.

The Communists wrecked some of the apartments.

Today it was disclosed that the riot was caused by a Communist strike.

The Communists sought to prevent taxicabs from leaving a garage in opposition to the May Day Communist-sponsored general strike.

New Strikes Are Reported; One Man Is Shot to Death

By Associated Press

From the docks of gulf ports to the paper mills of Ontario, Canada, new strikes prevailed over broad sectors today with one labor dispute costing a life.

Murphy Humphrey, 22, was shot to death yesterday in the strike of 4,000 longshoremen of the gulf ports, demanding higher wages.

He was one of a crowd of about 300 into which 15 shots were fired at Lake Charles, La. Seven negroes were arrested.

Union officials said they expected the strike to spread to New York terminals of coastwise lines.

Three thousand pulp and paper employees were on strike at International Falls and Fort Frances, Ont., to enforce their demands for a new employment contract with higher wages and a 38-hour week.

Six hundred employees of the Sinclair-Fraser Oil Company in Seminole, Okla., voted to walk out tomorrow unless the company meets all terms of a five-point agreement. Holding their plans in secrecy, discontented Kansas coal miners debated whether to march on strip mines along the Kansas-Missouri line. The Missouri National Guard watched the state line west of Lamar, Mo.

On the bright side about 1,600 coal miners in the Southern Tennessee fields were ordered back to work.

Conferees continued toward a settlement of the strike of two thousand Cleveland gasoline station attendants and the disputes at the Fisher Body Corporation plants.

STABILIZATION FUND PUZZLES WALL STREET

Believe It Is New Move of Major Importance But Not Just Certain What It Is. Some Opinions.

New York, May 2.—(AP)—Formal setting up of the Treasury's $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund this week has Wall street wondering if some new monetary move of major moment is in the making.

The fund, created from profit accruing to the Treasury through devaluation of the gold dollar last January, may operate in the Foreign Exchange Market, or in the market for U. S. Government bonds.

But the dollar has recently settled down to a state of exemplary stability in the world markets, and U. S. Government bonds have risen to the highest prices in years.

So Wall street sees little stabilizing to be done, unless something new is impending, which might momentarily disrupt the Foreign Exchange Market, or the market for Government securities. In that case, of course, the Treasury would want to have the fund ready to operate.

Part of Program

Of course, it is pointed out in Wall street, setting up the fund at this time may be merely a part of a long term program, and may not indicate anything new in the offering. It may just be a step in financial preparation.

Among the things which might make the fund handy, it is explained, would be any monetary step, such as a further boost in the gold price, or any important reorganization of silver. Either development might give the dollar a monetary convulsion in the exchange markets, and prompt some selling of U. S. Government bonds, as did the inauguration of the gold price fixing last October.

Dodging Money Problem

But the Administration has indicated lately that it is veering away from money manœuvres, and has taken positive action to squelch the rising tide of Congressional sentiment to do something drastic for silver.

Adding up all the evidence, Wall street fails to get anything intelligible in the form of an answer. It was clearly explained when the stabilization fund was formed that its operations would be secret, like those of the British equalization

VOTE FOR HEFLIN GIVES HIM CHANCE

Latest Figures Show Former Senator May Be a Candidate at the Run-off.

Birmingham, Ala., May 2.—(AP)—Former Governor Bibb Graves of Montgomery and Major Frank M. Dixon of Birmingham, making his first political race today apparently headed for a run-off on June 12, to determine the Democratic nominee for governor.

In the same run-off, unless the trend in remaining boxes switches, former Senator J. Thomas Hefflin, bidding for a political comeback, and Congressman Miles B. Allgood will contest in the Fifth Congressional District.

Latest Figures

Tabulation of 1,129 out of the 2,186 ballot boxes in the state gave Hefflin a plurality of less than 12,000 over Dixon, with Judge Leon McCord of Montgomery third. The vote was, Graves, 56,869; Dixon, 44,874; McCord, 31,197. This included returns from 65 of the 87 counties in the state.

District contest. Hefflin on nine boxes from Chambers county his home, jumped from third to second place with a substantial margin. The tabulation from 70 out of 248 boxes in the district gave Allgood 2,598; Hefflin 2,112; and McCord, Joe Starnes of Guntersville, 1,552.

DIVERGENT REPORTS MADE TO HOUSE ON DR. WIRT'S CHARGES

TREASURY REPORTS ON EXPENDITURES Spent Only Little More Than Half of What Had Been Estimated.

Washington, May 2.—(AP)—The Treasury spent $5,822,427,211 during ten months of the fiscal year, only a little more than half of the outlay estimated by the budget for the full year ending July 1.

The deficit at the close of the ten-month period was $4,334,444,123 as compared with President Roosevelt's estimate of $7,309,000,000 deficit for the end of June.

The public debt at the close of April was $26,118,280,752. The budget estimated a June 30 public debt of $29,847,000,000.

April spending was the largest since January. This was due chiefly to a $300,000,000 item for the sinking fund. Without the sinking fund entry, April spending was $5,442,793, as compared with $610,232,937 in March, $635,321,855 in February and $980,579,087 in January, the peak month.

Emergency Spending

Emergency spending dwindled to the lowest figure since November. April emergency outlays were $369,623,464 as compared with $448,806,000 in March, $447,323,000 in February and $808,007,000 in January.

RANSOM OF $15,000 AWAITS KIDNAPERS

Robles Family Still Hopeful That June Will Be Returned Within Few Days.

Tucson, Arizona, May 2.—(AP)—The $15,000 ransom to free six year old June Robles awaited the call of her kidnapers again today.

There was no public indication the kidnapers or their representatives had come forward to meet the Robles family's offer, first made Monday night when they announced official investigation of the case would be withdrawn pending negotiations.

June's mother was under care of relatives as she hoped for some word of her daughter, who was seized as she returned from school last Wednesday and spirited away in a rickety old sedan.

Family Hopeful.

The family, never losing hope, appeared resigned it might be a matter of two or three days before the kidnapers sent word they are ready to negotiate.

There were others too, who hoped and waited for June's return—her school playmates who yesterday signed a plea in which they begged "please send back our playmate."

All official activities in the case were halted. Among those who waited were hundreds of quick-on-the-trigger westerners—the cowboys, ranchers and expert trackers, but they were ready at a minutes' notice to stalk the countryside again.

COMMUNISTS CALL ONE HOUR STRIKE

But Majority of Workers in Havana Remain on Jobs Despite Order.

Havana, May 2.—(AP)—A one hour strike called by Communists today fizzled out when the majority of workers in the city remained at work through the day.

Traffic, however, was partly paralyzed despite the fact street cars operated on normal schedules.

The strike had been called in protest against May Day incidents which resulted in death to one person and the wounding of ten others.

Two bombs were exploded early today in mid-town in Havana. A woman was among those wounded when snipers fired from house tops yesterday into massed thousands marching in a Communist parade.

A soldier died this morning of wounds suffered when his hat containing tear gas and hand grenades exploded.

Police and soldiers allowed the parade to proceed until the firing started in Reina street—"bloody Reina street" they call it. Then tear gas, clubs and pistols were used to clear the area.

The Communists charged the police were members of the politically powerful A. B. C. society. Authorities accused the Communists of planning the shooting to incite outbreaks.

Answering protests against the breaking up of the march, Colonel Fulgencio Batista, said "the incident was regrettable, but we could not permit disorders of the kind of the

CLAIMS RETAILERS DID THEIR SHARE

Head of National Organization Reports on How the Code Was Obeyed.

Washington, May 2.—(AP)—David Owens, Charlotte, N. C., department store manager and president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, said in an address here today that members of his association believe they have done their "share in solving the unemployed problem in retailing."

Owens, speaking before a round table conference held in connection with the convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States advocated "more wide-spread compliance to provisions of the present code" before wages are increased and hours decreased again.

"To write a code," Owens said,

"governing hours and wages and stipulating what are and what are not unfair trade practices for such a wide-spread empire as all of American retailing was a job of staggering proportions."

Thought Impossible

"If anyone had told you just five years ago that we would be able to agree on a code that would overturn many of the great economic theories and business policies and procedures, you would have laughed and said: 'Why be ridiculous, that can't be done'—and so a word here in compliance to the prodigious task attempted and accomplished by the Administrator is nothing more than is his due."

"The retail code is perhaps not a perfect instrument, but it has done great things, and has gone a long way towards eliminating many of the evils found in the retail field, and has given us a measure of self-government which, if we continue to work with the necessary and desirable changes here and there, will make the efficient retail store a still more important and useful servant of the consuming public."

"May I speak as a member of the National Retail Code authority for a moment and say that the work of this body has been quite seriously handicapped due to the fact that action by the NRA on our recommendations for exceptions and interpretations have been slow in coming through. Maybe we ought not to be so vexed about this when we realize that government action in a democracy is always slow."

"It is said that a government agent will always agree to any reasonably sound proposition so long as you don't ask him to sign his name to it. We have heard it whispered from high official sources that maybe we would be asked to increase wages another 10 per cent and reduce working hours an equal amount, and to this proposal our National association respectfully declines to agree.

"The department stores, specialty stores of the National Retail Dry Goods Association have, by compliance with the code, already increased their payrolls 15 per cent and added nearly 14 per cent more persons to these payrolls, and it is our belief that we have done our share in solving the unemployed problem in retailing, and that strict attention for a longer trial period should be given to seeing that a more widespread compliance to the provisions of the present code is secured."

SEWALK DISPLAYS OUT BY POLICE ORDER

Chief Gordon Instructs Merchants to Keep Goods Back of Building Line.

A town by-law that has not been enforced since 1912 was put into force by orders of Chief of Police Samuel G. Gordon yesterday following complaint that the streets were being used as places where goods were being displayed for sale.

The order affects every business place. There is a town by-law which prohibits the use of any part of the sidewalk for the displaying of goods and also for selling them.

There was a time when merchants displayed goods by placing them on the curbing in front of their stores, but the recent trouble has been caused by stores setting up stands outside of their stores and offering goods for sale to people passing by.

The order instructed merchants to keep all goods displayed back of the building line.

DRAWING UP RULES FOR VETS' CEMETERY

Regulations governing the Veterans plot in the East Cemetery are being compiled by the Veterans Cemetery committee for submission to the East Cemetery committee and the Selectmen. When the code of regulations is accepted the tract to be separated for the burial of veterans will be designated.

The Board of Selectmen several months ago approved the request of the Veterans for the establishment of a "Soldiers' Field" in the East Cemetery similar to Hartford's cemetery.

CONVICT IS KILLED ATTEMPTING ESCAPE

Tucker Prison Farm, Ark., May 2.—(AP)—Attacking a trusty guard with a garden hoe in a break for freedom, Clifton Harback, 26, westward Arkansas bank robber and murderer, was shot to death at Camp No. 1 today.

He was the fourth convict slain by trusty guards in escape attempts at Tucker farm in the past week and a half, and the eighth killed this year.

Harback was serving a life sentence for the murder of Dolph Guthrie, a teller, following the robbery of the First National bank of Memphis, Tenn., in 1927.

Eugene, is serving a 10-year sentence and Johnny Wilson is under a life sentence for the same crime.

A. G. Stedman, prison superintendent, said that Harback with other convicts was cutting weeds when he attacked the trusty with a hoe. The guard, whose name was withheld pending a coroner's inquest, escaped the blows, and shot Harback with a shotgun.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, May 2.—(AP)—The Stock Market mills ground slowly today as the meager speculative fuel appeared to be without any appreciable motivating force.

Trading during the greater part of the session was in a dull, listless pace of the year to date. The ticker tape barely moved at times. Even the so-called professionals seemed to be more timid than usual and there was little or no public participation. News of a humiliating nature was lacking for the most part, and only a few scattered specialties were able to climb out of the rut.

Wheat dipped and rallied nervously. There were more reports of rain in the Midwest. Crops. Other cereals showed some improvement. Cotton rallied 3/4 of more a bale, but lost part of this under profit-taking. Silver futures were little better than even, although the bar metal was lifted 1/4 of a cent an ounce to 42 1/2.

Rubber was fairly firm. Bonds were mixed. Dollar rates were mildly irregular.

Radio Preferred A got up 5 points and the B stock 2 on the corporation's bright first quarter showing and indications that some dividend might be declared later in the year if good business continued. U. S. Smelting, Dome and McIntyre advanced a point or more. Spiegel, May, Stern dropped 4 and American Telephone lost another 2 points.

Celanese Industrial Rayon and Allied Chemical recovered about a point each. Auburn came back 2, but the other motors did nothing. The rails, alcohol, steels and aircrafts were almost silent. Consolidated Gas and the other utilities were hesitant.

Further pressure on American Telephone, and some selling in other public utility issues, reflected the announcement of the New York Public Commission that it had taken steps toward a reduction in rates charged by the New York Telephone Co., and six other telephone and power and light companies throughout the state.

Scattered buying in the gold mining stocks was said to have been based on opposition to the new Canadian tax as well as hopes that, sooner or later, the administration may again boost the domestic price of the metal in order to assist the recently lagging commodities. Most banking quarters, however, were of the opinion that less dependence was now being placed on the gold rate as a price stimulator and it was not believed more dollar devaluation was contemplated at this time.

A loud chorus of protests came from brokerage circles regarding Counselor's figures in Wall Street's gains during the period when the public figuratively "lost its shirt" in the market and subsequently pawned the rest of its garments. Claims were advanced that if the income statements of various commission men were analyzed, it would be found the majority went into the "red" along with the customers. In the meantime, it was the consensus in boardrooms that publication of the so-called "profits" of Stock Exchange members, together with Congressional debate on the control bill, had cast a wet blanket on market activity.

Old-Fashioned Quilt Contains 9,792 Pieces

With more than 150 in attendance, the May dinner and quilt exhibit of the Woman's League at the Second Congregational church last night was adjudged one of the most successful projects held by the church women this season.

The meal was served at 6:30 and as the diners arrived their attention was divided between the attractively set springtime tables with their green paper streamers and daffodils, and the flowers that bloomed on the quilts with which three of the rooms were filled.

"Grandmother's Flower Garden," one of the most popular of the present-day patchwork designs, was shown in a variety of arrangements at least six of the 85 exhibitors, and came in for no little admiration for the beauty of the prints and the way they were assembled.

The League chose this design as the prize quilt for their Mother Goose fair in November, and the unquilted spread was on view last evening.

Mrs. Frederick Polman who is in charge did lively business selling holders, each one of which bears a number, and the person lucky enough to draw it at the time of the bazaar will win the completed quilt.

Beautiful Designs

It is impossible adequately to describe the beautiful, intricate designs and the exquisite needlework on some of the quilts, both antique and modern. In the display were more than a dozen knit and crocheted in different designs, no two alike. One especially handsome filet crochet spread, made all in one piece was greatly admired. Another on white heavy linen, elaborately embroidered in white satin stitch, was brought from Ireland. Another quilt made in Ireland 80 years ago was in a striking red design on a field of white and beautifully quilted. Most unusual was a bedspread brought from South America, hand woven by the Cordoba Indians, of mountain sheep wool and richly embroidered in colored wools. An American hand woven flax spread 150 years old was another interesting quilt while one in the old-fashioned log-cabin design made by the grandmother of a Manchester man contained no less than 9,792 silk pieces!

Perfect Needlework

A striking "Star of Bethlehem" quilt made by a woman of 92 was a marvel for perfection of needlework as well as intricacy of pattern; another in the same design made by the great grandmother of the exhibitor had a running vine of oak leaves all around the spread. An interesting autograph quilt made by the women of a Pennsylvania church and given to the pastor on leaving the parish, was exhibited by his daughter. The colors were red and white, diamonds being placed on a wheel-like circle of red, and the autographs in indelible ink were written on the white pieces.

Crazy Quilts

Other patterns included the Rose of Sharon, double wedding ring, sunburst, basket, butterfly, the popular rosette of the moment, "crazy" quilts and other designs too numerous to list, but making a collection which for extent and beauty has never been exceeded in this section.

The quilt committee, Mrs. F. W. Williams, Mrs. J. M. Williams, Mrs. Wallace Jones, Mrs. C. B. Loomis, Mrs. Joel M. Nichols and Mrs. C. J. S. Sackland, with a host of others spent much time in arranging for the exhibit, and their reward was in the interest and admiration created.

The supper under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Wright and a willing corps of workers, included roast lamb with gravy and mashed potatoes, peas and carrots, jellied vegetable salad, rolls, coffee and ice box cake with vanilla ice cream. It was a menu that pleased everybody.

GREENS AT THE HEIGHT OF POPULARITY NOW

Fields and Roadside Being Combed for Dandelions and Nettles.

Park lawns and fields are being combed for dandelion greens, brooks are watched for the first signs of watercress and roadides scanned for nettles as unemployed persons with no occupations to take up their time search for the greens considered such excellent blood purifiers in the springtime.

The young dandelion greens, not all of which have sprouted blossoms, are at their best right now. They are tender and are not as bitter as they will be later on. The only trouble with dandelion greens, however, lies in the necessity of washing them thoroughly before putting them in water to boil. Even then, sand particles may be found. This holds true of nettles, which frequently are dust covered unless picked immediately after a heavy rain.

Watercress is already being sold in many of the local stores but it is not yet abundant at the edges of brooks in this vicinity. However, small shoots are beginning to appear and within a week it is expected, this delectable green will be available in large quantities.

ABOUT TOWN

Miss Evelyn Peckham won the five dollar gold piece drawn at the meeting of the Woman's Benefit association last evening in Odd Fellows hall.

Delegates from the Center Congregational church who attended the 64th annual meeting of the Hartford East association of Congregational churches and ministers at the Rockman church today included Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bidwell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Revell, Mrs. Emma L. Nettleton, Rev. Watson Woodruff also attended, and Mrs. Lucius Foster, Mrs. James B. Johnston, Mrs. Walter Hobby, Mrs. W. B. Lull, Mrs. J. A. Hood, Mrs. Phoebe-Carrier, Mrs. E. E. Fish.

The W. E. A. Guards will rehearse tomorrow evening at 7:30 in Liberty hall, Galloway street.

Mrs. Margaret Hunniford of Center street was today admitted to the Maples hospital on Oak street.

C. M. Baker of Port Chester, N. Y., has leased a house at 104 Center street in order to occupy it during the next few days. Mr. Baker is connected with an advertising agency and will have his office in Hartford.

The Manchester Public Health association is invited to Miss Nellie Hollister and to C. Elmore Woodruff for the loan of tents for the hospital health day program yesterday afternoon. Mr. Watkins also provided chairs for use during the afternoon.

Application by the silk industry at Washington for a week's shutdown has apparently encountered unexpected opposition in NRA quarters, it was reported in the trade in New York. According to the reports, the NRA is tending to frown upon shutdowns as doing nothing to aid the objective of increasing purchasing power. L. E. Tompkins, government representative on the Silk Code Authority, it was said, has asked for further data regarding the shutdown. Yesterday, the Uptown Credit Group sent out a petition to the silk trade urging the end of E. O. M. dating, which was felt to delay month-end orders and lead to chiseling.

REVEALS TOBACCO BUYING CONTRACT

Connecticut Cigar Leaf Growers Would Benefit by Marketing Agreement.

Washington, May 2.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace today tentatively approved a marketing agreement under which four tobacco companies would contract to purchase at least 18,500,000 pounds of cigar leaf tobacco at prices approximately 100 per cent higher than prevailed last season.

The agreement is being submitted to the Birch Brothers Tobacco company, Liggett and Myers Tobacco company, P. Lorillard company and the Scotten-Dillon company.

It would apply to stemming grades of cigar leaf grown in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont.

The average minimum prices for the tobacco, which would be purchased between December 1, 1933, and June 30, 1934, are: 8 cents per pound for 1933 crop tobacco purchased direct from growers; 6 1/2 cents per pound for 1933 crop tobacco purchased from co-operatives; 7 cents per pound for tobacco of crops prior to 1933 and stored in a tobacco warehouse if purchased from growers, and 6 1/2 cents per pound if purchased from co-operatives.

If the contracting buyers failed to purchase the quantity they agreed to a penalty of two cents per pound of such deficiency would be paid to the Secretary of Agriculture and in the event buyers failed to pay the prices stipulated the Secretary would have power to demand payment of the difference between the minimum price and the actual amount paid.

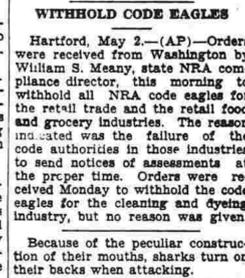

After acceptance by the buyers and final signature by the Secretary the agreement is expected to become effective as of December 1, 1933.

WITHHOLD CODE EAGLES

Hartford, May 2.—(AP)—Orders were received from Washington by William S. Meany, state NRA compliance director, this morning to withhold all NRA code eagles for the retail trade and the retail food and grocery industries. The reason indicated was the failure of the code authorities in those industries to send notices of assessments at the proper time. Orders were received Monday to withhold the code eagles for the cleaning and dyeing industry, but no reason was given.

Because of the peculiar construction of their mouths, sharks turn on their backs when attacking.

where Doctor Wirt said he heard the revolution talk by six other persons, McGugin reported:

"We do not believe that there was a one-hour conversation among seven people in which the person (Dr. Wirt) did all the talking with the exception of one of the remaining six uttering one sentence."

"We believe that the remaining six testified that nothing more was said than one sentence by one of them forces the logical conclusion that they must have said that which Dr. Wirt quoted them as having said."

Otherwise, they would have told what they actually did say at this party instead of giving the preposterous and unreasonable testimony that of the entire six all that was said by any of them was one sentence by one person.

Scores Majority

"The majority members of the committee in accepting the testimony of these six witnesses and denouncing the testimony of Dr. Wirt disclose their determination in this proceeding to protect and exonerate those who were not in sympathy with traditional American government under the Constitution."

The majority, referring to Doctor Wirt's report of a conversation with William I. Westervelt about Frederick C. Howe, Farm Administration Commissioner, said that the talk could not have figured in Doctor Wirt's original assertion.

But McGugin said by one conclusion could be drawn from the majority members' refusal to summon Howe and Westervelt.

"That conclusion," he said, "is that they were fearful or believed that the complete truth of this statement would be established, and having been established, every citizen of the land would know that it was the designed purpose of Frederick Howe, Consumers' counsel of the A.A.A., to retard recovery for the purpose of bringing about a revolution."

CHURCH BOARD VOTES TO RETIRE CANNON

Jackson, Miss., May 2.—(AP)—Bishop James M. Cannon, Jr., is on trial again today—fighting out from his churchly office—as friends and foes at the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, mapped battle plans.

The Nationally known crusader against liquor who was acquitted less than a week ago in Washington on charges of conspiracy to violate the Corrupt Practices Act, maintained silence on the effort to remove him from the College of Bishops.

Friends rallied to his support as

GRAVE ON TRAIL POSES MYSTERY OF GIRL PIONEER

Guernsey, Wyo., — (AP) — In 1849, when covered wagons were pushing along the Oregon trail, Lucindy Rollins died and was buried beside the trail.

She was 24 years old. She came from Dayton, O., and died on June 11, but whether she was bound, whether her companions reached their destination, whether she has living descendants are facts unknown to those who found her gravestone.

At first only her name on the weatherbeaten stone was visible to George O. Houser, Guernsey newspaper editor, and Fred Burton, who discovered the marker. Under a magnifying glass the rock yielded the date of Lucindy's death and her home town.

Stone Preserved

The Wyoming historical landmarks commission immediately authorized Houser to place the crumbling stone in a matrix of concrete with a glass window, while efforts are made to find out who Lucindy Rollins was.

Newspaper stories of the discovery are relied upon to bring to light such facts about her as are known. It was thus that descendants of Mary Holmesley, who died on the way to Oregon in a wagon train in 1852, were informed of her burial place. Her grave was discovered several years ago by L. G. Flannery, then editor of a Fort Laramie newspaper, who published an account of his find.

Learned of Mother

In Oregon a daughter of Mary Holmesley learned the last resting place of her pioneer mother who failed to survive the difficult trek to the Oregon country. The Holmesley gravestone was preserved in the same manner as the Rollins marker.

The year in which Lucindy Rollins died — 1849 — was the year of the California gold rush. In that year, too, the Mormon migration to the Salt Lake valley was in progress.

OBITUARY DEATHS

MRS. JOHN CAIRNS DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Native of Manchester and Wife of Former Prominent Citizen Here Passes Away.

Word was received in Manchester this morning of the death in Redondo Beach, California, on Saturday of Mrs. John Cairns, widow of the late John Cairns, a former Manchester man, known for his activities in connection with the real estate owned by her on Main street.

Mrs. Cairns was born in Manchester, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Carney 67 years ago and met and married John Cairns when he came to Manchester, as he did in those days, selling jewelry. They first made their home in Meriden where Mr. Cairns conducted a store in addition to continuing his trips on the road, and published a labor paper. Later they moved to Watbury, coming from there to Bolton where they made their home during the summer and in Manchester during the winter. The Bolton property was later disposed of and his interest devoted to Manchester.

Eleven years ago Mr. Cairns' health started to fail him and he moved to California, locating at Oakland where he died. After his death the family moved to Redondo Beach where they purchased a home and have since continued to live in that state.

Mrs. Cairns is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Charles Jennings and Mrs. Ronald Waldo, both of California, and a son John, who resides in California. Burial was yesterday in California.

THE BARGAIN HOUND

I nosed about in Marr's Delicatessen (State Theater building) this morning and did my mouth water! They have the most delicious things and they're opening tomorrow.

As each season of the year comes around, there is a corresponding desire in every woman for that touch of novelty in her clothes. Few can resist the attraction of the decorative element introduced in styles with the varying seasons, even though they may belong to the category who purposely adopt the more simple styles because they shrink from dressing conspicuously. In the fall fur trimmings are irresistible, though the weather usually does not demand it.

Much gayer and sprightlier in character, however, are the expressions to meet this feminine demand for decoration when related to spring or summer clothes.

Half's have a whole corner of the gayest pillows you ever saw—you'll want several to brighten up your porch at home or at your summer cottage. The most attractive Bar Harbor sets are moderately priced at $1.00 and there are piles and piles of cretonne pillows at only 29 cents.

The perfect summer wardrobe should include a printed frock with crisp lingerie touches, a dark silk jacket dress and some sort of an ensemble consisting of a lightweight woolen coat and another silk dress, printed or plain. Three such costumes are not merely a nucleus for a daytime town wardrobe—they are a complete wardrobe in themselves.

Fluffy feminine frocks call for collures to match. A croquinole permanent at The Lily Beauty Parlor is the answer. Make your appointment early. Dial 7484.

Spring appetites crave something just a bit different. Mrs. Rowe had this in mind when she prepared her menu (read on page 3) for her demonstration tomorrow. It's at 2 o'clock at the Odd Fellows' block. All the food will be prepared by the electric range that The Manchester Electric Company will install in your kitchen for a year's free trial. You are invited to attend these demonstrations free of charge.

Very hot or boiling water is the simplest and quickest way to remove fruit stains from table cloths and napkins. If the whole cloth does not need laundering, stretch the place with the stain in embroidery hoops and pour hot water through.

Marlene Dietrich can't resist those mannish touches. After an entire winter dedicated to the fluffiest of feminine attire, Miss Dietrich started the spring season with a series of trim tailored suits displaying neatly divided skirts.

The first of these divided skirts made its appearance when Miss Dietrich attended the preview of her current picture, "The Scarlet Empress."

Doesn't this weather make you want to climb into some new spring cottons? You just can't resist the ones I saw at the Wilrose Shop this morning—lovely cool linens, smart little plaques, tailored broadcloths and something entirely new called dotted swiss gingham that will always look crisp. They're priced from $1.95-$3.95 and they're just dainties!

The Bargain Hound will trot along at a happy pace if you mention her when you purchase articles advertised in her column.

COLUMBO IS FIRST IN TURF CLASSIC

Great English Horse Is Winner by Length to Continue Unbeaten Record.

New Market, England, May 2.—(AP)—Colombo today continued his unbeaten record on the English turf by winning the two thousand guinea first of the great three year old classics of the year.

R. B. Stresborough's French-bred colt Easton was second and the Aga Khan's Bedruddin was third in the field of 12 which started. Lord Howard De Walden's Blazonry was scratched just before post time.

Colombo, owned by Lord Glanely, won seven races as a two-year-old and his first start of the year last week. Colombo, trim son of Manna, a derby winner, finished the mile a length ahead of the French horse with Bedruddin a length and a half further back.

The winner of the 126th renewal of the classic stakes was held at prohibitive odds of 2 to 7 while Easton was 20 to 1 and the Aga Khan's horse 50 to 1.

The first of his objectives reached Colombo now will be pointed for the Derby, for which he probably will be an even money favorite, and the St. Leger—the great "triple crown" of the turf.

He has been hailed as the best English horse since Isinglass, of 40 years ago, one of 13 who have won the three races in their century and a half history. The race, first run in 1809, was worth approximately $40,000.

Because of the overwhelming favoritism of Colombo there was special place betting on the others, in which Easton was quoted at 3 to 1 and Bedruddin at 10 to 1.

WIFE SAYS NOTED ACTOR STRUCK HER

Suit Demandig $3,000 Monthly Alimony Brought by Mrs. Richard Bennett.

Los Angeles, May 2.—(AP)—Charges that Richard Bennett stabbed her with a nail file, beat her and threatened her life were made today by his wife, in a separate maintenance action.

The suit demandig $3,000 monthly alimony asserted Bennett "so beat and struck his wife last month that she had to go to a hospital for treatment." In an "Oklahoma hotel," she said, the actor jabbed a nail file into her cheek while in one of the "maniacal moods" to which she charged he was subject.

Mrs. Bennett accused the father of the famous trio of sisters—Constance, Joan and Barbara Bennett—of threatening her life with a pistol and cursing her vilely.

Once, the actor's wife charged, she found him garbed only in a "bedroom robe" in his bedroom with a "female secretary." When she protested, Mrs. Bennett alleged, she was told to get out if she "didn't like it."

To this the actor replied the secretary was an elderly woman who had been in the employ of the couple for more than a year.

I's attorney said Bennett had offered his wife half of their community property, which she valued at $75,000, but refused to pay alimony because he felt the fault of the separation was more hers than his own.

The actor married the former San Francisco society woman, the Angela Raisch, in 1927. The three acting Bennett girls are his daughters by a former marriage.

On his first South Pole trip, Admiral Byrd took two refrigerators to keep food from becoming too cold.

WRITER DISPUTES LAWYER'S CHARGE

Claim That Lincoln's Assassination Was Hired by Bankers Is Challenged.

Ottawa, May 2.—(AP)—A claim that John Wilkes Booth was hired by "international bankers" to assassinate Abraham Lincoln has been advanced by a Canadian lawyer-history student.

Testifying before a Parliamentary banking committee here, (Gerald G. McGeer of Vancouver went back to 1865 and said Booth was the tool of a bankers plot hatched in Canada to assassinate the American president because of his policy of greenback currency.

"They (the bankers) were the men interested in the establishment of the gold standard money system and the right of the bankers to manage to currency and credit of every nation in the world," McGeer asserted.

New York, May 2.—(AP)—"Just loose talk" was the comment today of Ida M. Tarbell, biographer of Abraham Lincoln, on the statement by a Canadian lawyer that John Wilkes Booth had assassinated the emancipator at the instance of "international bankers."

The lawyer, Gerald G. McGeer, made his assertion during his testimony before a Parliamentary banking committee at Ottawa.

Booth, he said, was employed by a group of bankers to remove Lincoln because of his monetary policies. "McGeer's statement is not supported by any evidence that I have ever encountered," said Miss Tarbell. "I do not think there is any truth to it. It is just loose talk."

Historians are generally agreed, she said, that Booth was not motivated by anyone in shooting Lincoln. "He was entirely on his own," Miss Tarbell said. "He shot Lincoln because he regarded him as a tyrant—a destroyer of his beloved South.

"He did it because he thought he was a hero—a martyr to the cause of the South. Booth's love of the dramatic also influenced him. The money question was not involved."

A device has recently been placed in production in England that renders gear-shifting unnecessary on a motor bus.

DILLINGER CLEWS ALL PROVE FALSE

Cold Trails Dull Search for Elusive Desperado and His Gang.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 2.—(AP)—Cold trails and false clues dulled the search for John Dillinger and his gang today.

The latest false tip came from Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., where an amateur sleuth decided a stranger was George (Baby-Face) Nelson, Dillinger ally.

Without taking local authorities into his confidence, Gilmore Layton telephoned Department of Justice headquarters in Chicago yesterday that Nelson was in a Wisconsin Rapids hospital.

W. A. Roer, inspector for the department, hurried to Wisconsin Rapids with two carloads of Federal agents.

After briefly questioning Layton the inspector announced it was a "false alarm." He learned the man suspected of being Nelson was a correspondent school salesman.

Reported to have escaped from three police officers in a Chicago suburb Monday, the Indiana gunman and his henchmen were sought last night in the St. Paul area after a bullet riddled car was seen speeding through that city.

EXTORTIONIST ARRESTED
New York, May 2.—(AP)—Frank Valinoti, 19-year old laborer, was in jail today charged with the attempted extortion of $10,000 from John Tychinsky, Greenwich Village restaurant owner.

Police placed a dummy package yesterday in a hallway designated by a threatening letter which Tychinsky received, and seized Valinoti as he allegedly picked it up. Another man escaped, apparently unhit by the bullets fired after him by the officers. The prisoner denied the charge.

ARMORY ROBBED
Warsaw, Ind., May 2.—(AP)—Thirteen .45 pistols were missing from the National Guard armory here today, but whether they have been added to the armament of the fugitive John Dillinger, who obtained several bullet proof vests at the local police station April 13, was a question on which police declined to speculate.

Edward Felter, custodian, discovered the loss when he arrived to close the building last night.

Old laws penalized grocers and others for short-weight sales; out of this grew the "baker's dozen" when the baker put in an extra bun or doughnut for good measure.

ROCKVILLE

MERCHANT OF VENICE

PORTRAYED BY PUPPETS

36 English Students at Rockville High School Take Part in Interesting Show.

Miss Harriet Wood's English class of the Rockville High school presented a "puppet show" of the "Merchant of Venice" Tuesday afternoon.

The home was attractively decorated with beautiful spring flowers and the occasion was the birthday of the bride's mother.

The bride was tastefully attired in a gown of white lace over satin and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and white lilies.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Maple Inn in Somers.

Following the wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left for an unannounced wedding trip.

The going away costume of Mrs. Taylor was a tan suit with beige fur trimmings.

Upon their return they will reside at 87 Union street and will be at home after July 1.

Mrs. Taylor is a graduate of the Rockville High school and trained for library work at the City Library in Springfield.

The speaker at the semi-monthly luncheon of the Rockville Lions club, to be held this evening at 6:15 o'clock at the Rockville House, will be Joseph F. Lamb of New Britain.

The guest speaker is superintendent of Landers, Frary and Clark, one of the largest concerns in that city.

Mr. Lamb will deliver a talk on the topic, "Alaska," and will tell of his trip to Alaska which will be illustrated with many interesting views.

Rev. Henry B. Olmstead, recently elected president of the Rockville Lions club, will preside at the meeting.

Auto Merchants Meet. A meeting of the Tolland County Automobile Dealers association was held at the Rockville House Tuesday evening at which more than a score attended.

Half Holiday Arranged. The stores of Rockville are again to be closed during the summer months Thursday afternoons as in the past.

A meeting of the Rockville Retail Merchants Association was held in the Police court room, Memorial

Three Court Cases. Three cases were before Judge John E. Fink in the Rockville City Court Tuesday morning, the largest number to be tried in more than a month.

The case of Charles Weber, charged with the violation of the liquor laws at the Park Package store, which he conducts on Main street, was nolleed. This case was continued from April 3 and the nolle was recommended by Prosecuting Attorney John B. Thomas on the grounds of lack of intention and a question as to the exact time that the violation was committed.

The prizes awarded to the winners of the whist and bridge party last night were: Bridge, men, first, Howard Keeney; second, Rowell Porter; third, Herbert Schonhaar; women, first, Mrs. Howard Keeney; second, Mrs. Herbert Schonhaar; third, Mrs. Penn. Whist, men, first, Ernest Mackey; second, Perry Slater; third, Herbert Bidwell; women, first, Mrs. Walter Mitchell; second, Mrs. Edwin T. Loomis; third, Vera Warner.

PROFIT SYSTEM

Editor, The Herald:
If so permitted by the Editor would like to say a great big old fashioned AMEN to the "Editorial" of the Saturday Evening Herald in regards to the visualizing community, showing how the profit system brings on depression and have no criticisms at all to make but would like to add a few remarks, if they are in order, by an old farmer economist.

Take the pattern community and multiply the conditions a few hundred thousand times and you have the present world depression and there may be more truth than poetry in the statement:—"And how to get out of it is the Devil's own problem." For according to the Scriptures (and that is where we ought to get the answer to all of the great problems of life) the Devil will have a solution to this problem which will at least PROMISE to solve it and "Cause craft to prosper in his hands" unless we get busy and solve it according to God's way.

Many are coming to see that increased production in proportion to wages is commercial suicide and is brought on by "The oppression of the hiring in his wages" Malachi: 3:5, and there is no doubt in the minds of those who have eyes to see, that we have practiced the oppression of the hiring in his wages on a world wide scale and the consequences get more far reaching and lasting as we make "Improvements" in our methods of increasing production in proportion to wages.

And production is being speeded up in proportion to wages in order that those who own and control the means of production for their own special benefit may have a larger and larger profit and the sky is the limit as far as ever reaching the satisfaction place.

This sin like all other sins is very deceitful and though it promises a benefit to all directly or indirectly yet it makes the conditions so that we all get the worst of it and even the capitalist who seems to get the benefit for the time being, eventually "Kills the goose that lays the golden egg" when he destroys his own market by decreasing the buying power of 85 percent of his market for the goods he has to sell.

Eighty-five percent of the population of any country are hiredlings so that the bulk of the consuming ability rests in the pocketbooks of these wage or salary workers and if their wages will only let them consume about 15 or 20 percent of their production, there is bound to be periodic depressions unless these surplus productions can be disposed of in a foreign market.

The foreign markets have purchased machinery from us in the past and are making their own surplus production and are trying to undersell us they pay a still smaller wage than is paid here and are able to sell at a profit at reduced prices, so the tendency and the absolute necessity that rests upon the progress of the buying and selling business and the production business when we produce for profit rather than for use, is to speed up production or cheaper production and beat the other fellow to it.

The only way this can be done is to either lessen the wages paid to the worker or to get some improved method or machine whereby we can get home production out the worker for the same wages and in both cases the result is the same, for the facts are that God has provided the raw materials free and the only cost that enters into the cost of production is the labor cost.

So far so good; and probably most of us will agree so far but the question that will and should come before us:—"What are we going to do about it, or can we do anything about it?"

It is one thing to diagnose the patients disease and another thing to prescribe the proper remedy that will surely bring about a cure and a still harder proposition sometimes to persuade the patient to take the medicine, especially if he does not like the taste of it.

According to the Editorial and according to the actual facts in the case it is very evident that it is considered "legally right" to carry on business by the profit system even though it may demoralize the whole human race, politically, religiously and financially and the majority seem to think that this is morally right also.

If private ownership and control of the means of production has placed millions of good men and women and even little children on the unemployed list with all of the consequent results of what that means in the deprivation of the necessities and comforts and luxuries of life, in the face of an overproduction of these things, then there is only one other, alternative and I hesitate about even mentioning that for fear of causing a riot in the mental anatomy of the average thinker.

The minute one mentions the "Government ownership and control" of the means of production, most everybody will say:—"NO, NO, NO" and the much grating, too much passing of the buck or too much crookedness and so forth and so forth, and most of us sad to say are compelled to agree that this is so, but most of us will agree also:—"That it ought not to be so."

If there is any one place where we ought to respect to find righteousness in practice it is in that institution we call "The Government" which was instituted in the first place to meet out justice and righteousness to all men alike and to give the "earth and the fullness thereof to all the children of men."

What this poor old sin sick world needs more than anything else is a world wide government that is righteous enough so that the average man can truly trust them with the government ownership and control of the means of production, that can and will put the unemployed to work at productive labor and then give them sufficient wages that will enable them to consume their own production and then there will be no overproduction nor underconsumption nor will the taxpayer have to dig up to meet the expense of keeping the men to work in places where they cannot produce their own wages.

Such a government could produce in a very few hours labor all that we need for use and there would be no need of any one sweating for a living if we would stop the few from trying to live off the sweat of the other fellows brow by means of the profit system.

God has been very gracious to us and given us a mighty good world to live in if we would only learn to behave ourselves towards Him and the laws of life that govern our relationship with others in this great scheme of life.

God gave us this job of government back in the beginning and we are demonstrating that our way is a failure and it looks like we had got pretty near to the end of our rope and had better turn back to God and look to Him to set up that government which He has promised to us, which is to be a Kingdom form of government.

God has His King chosen and the King has been choosing His volunteer administrators of that government to be, where righteousness will be administered from one central source out to the utter most parts of the earth in a thousand years of a sample of just how God would rule a world through The Lord Jesus Christ His Son, who will teach us righteousness and then we can beat our swords into plowshares and our spears into pruning hooks and each man live under his own vine and fig tree, or get the product of his own labor.

The Lord Jesus Christ in accordance with the will and purpose and power of His Father God designed and created this world and the fullness thereof and gave to us the grace of life and if there is any one to be King over all the earth it is He and I know of no other that I could recommend but I expect to be there when He is crowned, and to be patient till the coming of the Lord.

I am expecting no other way out of this mess, for man will never do of himself what he will have to do to get out of this mess because he does not believe in the Word of God enough to even read it, much less to pay any attention to it, so "Cheer up the worst is yet to come" for the worst must come before we will learn our lesson.
There is just two ways of obtaining knowledge:—"Take God's word for it" "Or get it by experience" and the unbeliever must always take the latter course and "the way of the transgressor is hard", and we are finding it so.

Righteousness exalteth a nation but sin is a curse to any people."

DAYLIGHT SAVING

To the Editor of the Manchester Herald:
Your editorials are usually so fair in content and so excellent in form that it really grieves me to take issue with the one you wrote on Daylight Saving Time and printed about a week or so ago. There are several very good reasons why we should not have D. S. T. The one is the opposition of the farmer. Another is that High School pupils in farther outlying districts must get their buses one hour earlier, and last but not least, the mothers of school children. And there are other reasons of minor importance. If you will refer to the letters in the "People's Forum" of the Hartford Courant published in the issues of Sunday, April 15 and Sunday April 22 you will find these reasons very ably and convincingly I dare say, set forth by the writers. Possibly you will change your opinion whether there are real reasons why we should not have D. S. T. I also think that you are wrong in imagining that there is no question that the majority is in favor of D. S. T. There is on the contrary good reasons to believe that the very opposite is the case. The Hartford Courant has a "People's Forum" which is used quite extensively by its readers, more so, than is the case in any other newspaper that I know of. Now I have followed up the letters on D. S. T. pro and con published during the past weeks in that paper and I have found that to date fourteen opposed this change of time, whereas only three spoke in favor of it. What does this show? To my mind it is a convincing proof that a clearly cut majority does not want D. S. T. Add to this my experience in questioning quite a number of people about their likes and dislikes in this respect, resulting in eight answers against and two in favor of D. S. T. out of every ten.

I am glad that the "Manchester Herald" published my suggestion in regard to a postal referendum. So did also the "Hartford Times" whereas the "Hartford Courant" nicely crossed out this part of my letter. A letter of complaint was left unanswered by them.

CARRIERS CAUSE TYPHOID FEVER

Water Borne Type Eliminated — Deaths in State Cut 99 Per Cent.

The only actual typhoid fever remaining in Connecticut today is the so-called residual type caused by typhoid germ carriers; water-borne typhoid has disappeared entirely and milk-borne typhoid from supplies infected by carriers has been greatly reduced by strict sanitation and supervision, according to an article by William C. Welling, director of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health, which appears in the department's monthly bulletin issued today.

Analyzing the Connecticut statistics on typhoid fever, Mr. Welling shows that during the five-year period 1875-1879 the average typhoid death rate per 100,000 population was 52.4. In 1933 the actual rate was 0.5 or a reduction of 99 per cent in 58 years. Even in 1909 the rate was 14.8 deaths and 85.2 cases per 100,000, 155 deaths from the disease having occurred in the State in that year. In 1917 there were 119 deaths from typhoid, but since then the death rate has been steadily decreasing.

The statistics show, however, that typhoid is still a dangerous disease for those unfortunate enough to become infected by carriers' germs, for death in 1933 resulted in 11.5 of every 100 cases.
Typhoid fever was once a major public problem and if the death and case rates of half a century ago still prevailed there would be 9,000 cases each year instead of less than 100.

The reduction is due to many factors, Mr. Welling explains. The waterborne typhoid has disappeared from public water supplies due to chlorination when necessary and due to careful supervision of water-sheds. The pasteurization and supervision of milk supplies has reduced milk-borne typhoid and the examination of food handlers has reduced the spread from this source. Other factors are better disposal of sewage, greater cleanliness of habits and better living conditions.

Carriers cause all typhoid today. A small percentage of recovered cases of typhoid remain carriers and may communicate it to others through one channel or another unless preventive advice is given and followed. A carrier may remain a carrier for an indefinite period—as long as 40 years. If further reduction in typhoid fever is to be attained, it can only result from more intensive study not only from the epidemiology of the disease, but also greater laboratory investigation into individual cases and complete examination of food and milk handlers, repeated at regular intervals.

WILL CONVERT DWELLING INTO PRIVATE HOSPITAL

Mrs. Ida K. Carlini of 176 South Main street has purchased through the agency of Everett T. McKinney, the eleven-room house with an acre of land, located on Vernon street, from Mrs. Mary Mitchell. It is the intention of Mrs. Carlini to make alterations in the property and open it as a private hospital. Her daughter is a registered nurse and will have charge of the hospital when opened and will be assisted by Mrs. Carlini, who is a practical nurse.

DEFICIT OF $30,630 IN CHARITIES SEEN

Town Treasurer Estimates Appropriation Will Be Greatly Overdrawn.

A deficit of $30,630 in charity costs is anticipated for August 15, the end of the town fiscal year.

WHI Reach $150,000 The estimated expenditures for direct relief of the balance of the year is $20,000 and for indirect relief $6,000, which would make the total expense for the years 1933-34 for charity, $128,630.

At the meeting yesterday Miss Eleanor H. Little, state administrator of the Emergency Relief Commission, stated that she was told in Washington during a recent visit that Connecticut could only count on but $6,000,000.

Town Treasurer G. H. Waddell stated at the meeting that Manchester's tax receipts would be 20 per cent less this year and that many taxpayers had asked for charity.

Under the CWA plan 489 men were employed at the peak of the emergency work program, which number was reduced ten per cent each week.

Summary The summary of expenditures under the CWA shows a total of $88,682 spent for labor from Nov. 23, 1933 to March 31, 1934.

HOPE TO SETTLE PEABODY STRIKE

6,000 Leather Workers Await Outcome of State Board Conference Today.

Peabody, Mass., May 2.—(AP)—Hope for a quick settlement of the strike of six thousand leather workers rests in today's scheduled meeting of the state board of conciliation and arbitration with representatives of the strikers and tanners.

The workers voted to strike Monday after demanding a 25 per cent wage increase and recognition of the National Leather Worker's union.

Pickets were stationed throughout the strike area yesterday, but all was quiet excepting in Lynn, where a disturbance occurred outside a non-union factory ended in the arrest of three men.

The trouble began in Lynn when a group of pickets seized John Stuzen, 30, a non-union worker, as he left the Gonkrow Leather company factory.

Tobias Hobson, an early English stable owner, kept horses to hire, and every customer was required to take the horse next to the door.

And here's how Jane's mother-in-law made John's favorite salad: 1 cup cucumber diced, 1 cup radishes thinly sliced, 1/2 cup onions thinly sliced, 1 large red tomato cubed, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of paprika, 1/2 cup Ivanhoe Mayonnaise.

APPEAL WITHDRAWN Bridgeport, May 2.—(AP)—The final chapter in a negligence suit which resulted in the second largest jury verdict in the history of Fairfield county, was written today when a satisfaction of judgment was filed in the Superior Court in the case of Otis T. Wingo, Jr., against the Connecticut Company.

Wingo, son of the late Eugene Wingo, former Congressman from Arkansas was granted damages of $20,000 against the Connecticut Company for injuries alleged to have been received in an automobile trolley-car crash here.

The traction company withdrew its appeal to the Supreme Court after taking the preliminary steps necessary to such a procedure.

THIRD OF INSURANCE IN TOWN RENEWED

Fire Policies Placed by Selectmen Are Awarded to Several Agents Here.

One-third of the fire insurance on town property coming under the jurisdiction of the Board of Selectmen but not of the Board of Education, was renewed yesterday.

Of the total amount of fire insurance carried on town property, 85 per cent is controlled by the Board of Education and 15 per cent by the Board of Selectmen.

Due to an increase in the valuation of town properties for fire insurance purposes, made following an appraisal by Bliss & Cole, of Hartford, the town will be obliged this year at least to pay an additional $22,500 in fire insurance.

It has been decided by the Board of Selectmen that the new insurance of $28,250 be awarded to five Manchester insurance agents who previously have never written any town fire insurance.

The old insurance which was renewed was awarded to the following: Fayette R. Clark, $38,250; John L. Jenney, $28,250; Everett McKinney, $5,000; Richard G. Rich, $9,150; Clarence H. Anderson, $5,750.

DAMAGES AWARDED Bridgeport, May 2.—(AP)—Damages of $14,704, representing the unpaid balance of a $15,000 demand note executed by the late Augustus H. Bullard, are awarded the Black Rock Bank and Trust Company against the First National Bank and Trust Company, executor of Bullard's estate.

The decision was handed down today by Judge John Richards Booth of the superior court.

OBSERVE HEALTH DAY AT HOSPITAL

Dr. Howard Boyd Tells Local Mothers of Methods to Reduce Mortality Rate.

On a vivid green carpet of spring grass, over 100 mothers and babies observed National Health Day at the Manchester Memorial hospital yesterday afternoon. The warmth of the day and the bright sun brought out an unusually large number at the annual event sponsored by the Manchester Public Health Nursing association in cooperation with the Manchester Memorial staff.

Miss Margaret Bennett, of the Connecticut Dairy and Food Council, Hartford, conducted a demonstration both on the lawn and explained to the mothers the importance of the value of proper diets for babies between the ages of two and six and for expectant mothers. The values of the essential foods were shown on charts with the proportion of essential elements shown opposite each product. Literature, explaining the diets suggested was available.

Dr. Howard Boyd, of the Manchester Memorial hospital staff who, with Dr. N. A. Burr, has conducted the clinic for pre-school children at the health center, gave an interesting account of the progress made during the past century in reducing the mortality rate of children through immunization for diphtheria, smallpox and preventative measures for the control of tuberculosis. He said that tuberculosis had been driven down from first place in diseases to sixth place in the past 40 years, and that immunization for diphtheria and smallpox had resulted in advancing the life expectancy rate from 40 years to 60 years in 1933, with the anticipation that each year will result in the addition of one-half year to the rate.

Dr. Boyd told the assembled mothers that it was their duty to follow all the health rules for their own and their children's sakes, and for the benefit of the community. The baby of today, he said, who is making mud pies in the yard will some day, perhaps, be a fine cook; the boy who is tinkering with an old clock may possibly be an accomplished musician. To this end, he said, it was the duty of all mothers to see their physician whenever illnesses and faults in the child's behavior appear, and if not to visit the child's clinic so that minor faults may be corrected.

The consensus of Dr. Boyd's interesting talk to the mothers was that "as a twig is bent, so grows the tree," and that neglect upon the part of the parents may possibly result in the child reaching maturity facing handicaps in life that were not intended. Dr. Boyd was introduced by Mrs. William C. Cheney, president of the Manchester Public Health association.

The winners in the doll carriage parade which was held on the hospital lawn were: First prize, Barbara Hampton, 68 Birch street; second, Marion Stawesher, 279 North Main street; third, Elaine Florence Hauschild, Manchester Green; fourth, Elizabeth Glode, 1701 Tolland Turnpike.

Refreshments of punch and wafers were served by the members of the Manchester Public Health Nursing auxiliary.

HIBERNIANS TO INSTALL OFFICERS FRIDAY NIGHT

County President Barnicle of Hartford to Be in Charge—National Officers Coming.

Installation of officers of Manchester Division, No. 1, A. O. H. will be held in Tinker Hall, Friday evening, May 4 at 8:15 p. m. The installation will be in charge of County President D. Barnicle of Hartford and officers from divisions from Rockville, East Hartford, Hartford will be present. National Hibernian officers and State officers will be present at the ceremony.

Officers to be installed are: President, D. F. Remy; vice president, George H. Williams; recording secretary, P. E. McVey; financial secretary, John F. Tierney; treasurer, James Egan; guard, James McSherry; sentinel, Patrick Tierney; chairman of standing committee, Cornelius Foley; chaplain, Rev. William P. Reidy.

ARREST ALLEGED SPY

Paris, May 2.—(AP)—A French army officer, Captain Froge, was arrested today on a charge of espionage, based on the mysterious disappearance more than a year ago of plans for the defense of the city of Belfort.

Captain Froge was called as a witness in the original investigation of the affair, but his stubborn denials, good record and the uncertainty of a handwriting expert who testified caused the government to hesitate to accuse him.

DEPLORES SALES APPEAL ON PRICE

U. S. Chamber Hears Price Wars Are Destroying Confidence in Advertising.

Washington, May 2.—(AP)—A competitive price war using unreasonable claims and ignoring facts was described today to the department of manufacture of the United States Chamber of Commerce as destroying public confidence in advertising as a selling medium.

The statement was made by Robert H. Montgomery, of Lybrand, Ross and Montgomery, New York, at one of the round table discussions of the chamber's annual meeting.

Asserting many manufacturers and retail merchants had based sales appeals almost exclusively on price in recent years, Montgomery said:

"The competitive price battle has been waged with such unreasonable claims, and with such a careless disregard for the facts, that the public is losing confidence in advertising as a selling medium, and in resources which they once trusted implicitly."

Instead of glorifying cheap and inferior products, Montgomery said

HEPBURN IS READY FOR NEW PICTURE

Actress Will Have Director Whom She "Considers Best" in Joan of Arc.

Merida, Yucatan, May 2.—(AP)—Katharine Hepburn, awaiting a Mexican divorce from Ludlow Smith of New York, already is talking about a new movie on which she may start work next fall.

The red haired star disclosed the picture will deal with the life of Joan of Arc. She said details had not been arranged but that the director will be the one "I consider best."

Miss Hepburn hoped to leave Merida by plane for Havana today, remaining there until May 9, when she will sail for New York in the S. S. Morro Castle.

No difficulty was anticipated, she said, in obtaining a divorce decree. She intimated she and her business-husband had agreed to terms, through a local lawyer, Francisco A. Guillermo.

The Merida court proceedings were kept secret.

After a momentary flare up at the publication of details of her divorce action in a Merida newspaper, Miss

MOTHERS-DAUGHTERS OF CHURCH TO DINE

Concordia Lutherans Plan Banquet on May 14—Name Committees to Plan It.

Plans are complete for the Mother and Daughters banquet to be given in the Concordia Lutheran church on Monday evening, May 14. Serving of the dinner will start at 6:30 o'clock. The speaker for the mothers will be Mrs. Karl Richter and for the daughters Miss Anna Mrozek.

Miss Katherine Winzer and Mrs. Alfred Lang comprise the banquet committee, while the other committee members include: program and musical committees, Miss Eleanor Werner and Miss Elsie Roth; ticket committee, Miss Gertrude Kluck.

REFRIGERATOR DEMAND INCREASED BY BEER

With new avenues opened for commercial refrigeration since the return of legal brew and the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, 1934 will see a large increase in the sale of refrigeration equipment for the handling of beer and wines, according to Kemp's, Inc., Frigidaire representatives here.

"The liquor situation has become pretty thoroughly straightened out now," said Mr. Kemp, "so that those engaged in the business may safely install equipment and feel sure that they will remain in the business."

"Electric refrigeration is coming to be used more and more for the dispensers of beer are learning that an even temperature is essential to success and they are finding that the one sure way to insure this is through the use of mechanical refrigeration. They also are finding that pre-cooling is essential in the proper handling of beer if it is to be palatable."

"Frigidaire is receiving a large amount of this beer cooling equipment business, while Frigidaire equipment may be found in many of the larger bars for the cooling of wines and other bottled liquors."

Bees put a tiny drop of formalin in every honey cell before it sealed to prevent the honey from stinging.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 2

MAPPING RURAL ROADS

The new road map of Connecticut which State Highway Commissioner Macdonald is having prepared is accompanied by a feature which will be profoundly appreciated by thousands of motorists. It is the provision of a system of identification and orientation markers which, by use of this map, will enable the motorist to avail himself of the rural roads with far greater freedom and sense of security than at present.

An infinite number of people drive over the main stems in this state, again and again, without ever seeing many of the most beautiful spots in the commonwealth, simply because they know nothing or next to nothing about the rural roads and have little faith in their ability to small out the practicable ones unaided. There are a few drivers who seem to have a special road sense which enables them to find their way about the back country without getting into bog holes, breaking springs or becoming hopelessly lost in a maze of mere wagon tracks; but they are a very small minority. Most folks, when they go out for a drive, feel that they must stick to the cement.

Mr. Macdonald's new map and marker system is calculated to make the puzzle of the rural roads a puzzle no longer. The driver, spotting one of the rural markers at a state highway intersection, may compare its number with the numbers on his map and ascertain exactly where he will come out if he turns into that country road. Of course this first of these maps is unlikely to indicate every passable road in the state—that would entail an enormous job. But it will open up to many cement burners new fields of travel, it can hardly fail to relieve the main highways of a large portion of their holiday and week-end traffic load—and from time to time the system can be extended till eventually any motorist who wishes to can traverse the whole vast network of usable country roads at will and with understanding.

There are literally thousands of miles of rural roads in this state which scarcely ever know the feel of tires owned by anybody but their own neighbors. Many of them meander through scenes of surpassing loveliness. For years they have been holding out silent invitation to the leisurely holiday-making motorist "out for a drive"—but the motorist in most cases has never received the invitation, so to speak.

Mr. Macdonald's new undertaking is an inspiration. Is it too much to hope that it may develop to the point where some day there will be hardly a main stem highway in the state that cannot be followed in a sort of rough parallel, over rural roads, by those drivers who like the quiet and leisure of such roads and detest the rush of main highway traffic? There are many such routes even now, but very few know them. With a little directing of the "dirt roads" program toward that objective there could be more.

IMPOSSIBLE COMPARISON

There is a fact, particularly in evidence just now, for contrasting the crime conditions in England with those in the United States and for attributing the infinitely better state of affairs over there to the efficacy of Scotland Yard. It would be about as reasonable to compare the criminal and police record of Wilmington, Vt., with that of Memphis.

In Wilmington the criminal population, some years ago, consisted of one person. Whenever somebody's chickens were stolen the only thing the town's constable had to do was to go to the home of the town thief, bring him in and send him to jail. In Memphis the police are lucky if they succeed in pinning on anybody one of the usual two or three Saturday night killings among the Negro population, being up against a conspiracy of silence on the part of the darkies. It is doubtful if the Wilmington town constable, with his 100 per cent record of crime detection, would cut much of a figure trying to find out whose razor or whose gun evacuated life from the latest Memphis corpse.

Most of the people in England are English. Being English they are reasonably self controlled. Being English they are reasonably law abiding. The leaves of foreign blood in the country is small and confined to a very great extent to relatively restricted areas in a very few large cities. Long ago England got rid of most of her congenital criminal strains by shipping them, as convicts, to the American colonies and to Australia. We have some of them yet in the persons of the West Virginia and Kentucky feudists.

The United States has never gotten rid of any of her criminal families that way. Instead she has been receiving criminal strains from every corner of the earth, for many years. Scores of thousands of European and Asiatic adventurers, leaving their homes one jump ahead of the police—and often with police knowledge—have filtered into this country for decades. The prohibition era brought a deluge of them. They have bred here the greatest criminal class cursing any so-called civilized country in the world. Even when the children and grandchildren of these imported criminals are not active criminals themselves they have inherited cynicism and disrespect for law and order. We have infected our own stock from the moral lepers of the entire world.

The problem of the American police is a hundred times more difficult than that confronted by the police of England. It is the sheerest rubbish to be forever citing statistics showing how marvellously successful the English police are in the detection of crime and how terribly inefficient the corresponding agencies in this country.

The latest thing is to brag about the fact that the London bobby carries no gun. Imagine what would happen to that magnificent Metropolitan police if it should be transferred bodily to Chicago and go about without weapons. Why, the probabilities are that the hoodlums would make a holiday, gather up the entire force, take their pants off and throw them in the lake the very first night.

The difference between the job of Scotland Yard and the English uniformed police is the difference between preserving order and punishing crime in a country that has almost no criminal class and is about as big as the state of Georgia and preserving order and punishing crime in a country that has sopped up nearly all the worst criminals in the world and which in consequence has become tough and hard, reckless of human life, cynical and perverted and bloody, and which is too big and has too many roads and too many automobiles for the English sort of policing.

In England the English police do a magnificent job. Over here they would be less use than so many Boy Scouts. There is no comparison at all between the two problems.

TARIFF DANGERS

While we are in complete accord with almost everything that Horace B. Cheney, Manchester tariff expert, said yesterday at the Washington hearing on the Reciprocal Tariff Bill, there is one point on which we do not feel quite the same depth of conviction. Mr. Cheney at one time made the point that the administration of the proposed law would not be likely to be actually by either President Roosevelt or Secretary Hull but by subordinates, perhaps members of the same group that had advocated taking part of New England's industrial population out of the factories and putting it on the soil.

This very reasonable apprehension is predicated on the assumption that something would be done, by somebody, in the way of lowering tariffs under the permissive legislation. We are not so sure about that, though quite as sure as we want to be. President Roosevelt habitually asks for more power than he uses—and probably more than he ever intends to use. He has done absolutely nothing actual about restoring the 1926 price level, though he has ample powers. Perhaps he would board his power over tariff schedules as he has boarded his power over the currency.

In case the bill passes, we can at least console ourselves with the hope that he will.

A STUNNING DECISION

The Illinois Bell Telephone Company, which operates the phone system of Chicago and other communities in that state, is up against it good and hard. For eleven years the company has been fighting in the courts against an order of the State Commerce Commission reducing telephone rates. Now, in an opinion written by Chief Justice Hughes, the United States Supreme Court destroys what appears to be the last of the telephone company's defenses and orders it to refund to subscribers in Chicago alone no less than $21,000,000.

This is a stunningly big order in itself. Also it is one which there appears to be small chance of dodging. But that is not all. The Supreme Court's opinion simply wipes out the device of representing as depreciation reserves large amounts spent for capital outlay, and without that many such corporations will be without any valid ground for maintaining that rate cuts are confiscatory.

This is perhaps the most complete defeat ever suffered by an American public service company in an effort to overturn a rate order made by constituted authority. It must bring to many such concerns the conviction that it is no longer a certainty that, if you can only keep a controversy in the courts long enough, a utilities corporation will win in the end.

In the present case this appears to be the end, and the corporation has lost tremendously.

CANNON TO FADE

The Methodist Church South, through its Committee on Episcopacy, has displayed realization and understanding in voting the retirement of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., four years in advance of the date of his routine superannuation. The acquittal of the bishop for violation of the political corrupt practices act was convincing only in a very technical sense, and Cannon's fitness for spiritual leadership is a very long way indeed from having been proved by the testimony in that case.

Bishop Cannon had announced some time ago that he would "fight" any attempt to remove him. Now, however, he refuses to reassert such intention and the substantial majority in the committee in favor of getting rid of him, the vote being 48 to 28, would seem to indicate that the Methodist Church South has definitely made up its mind to put in his place some churchman who is a bit less of a practical politician.

Washington, May 2.—Notwithstanding steady business improvement, the New Deal situation on President Roosevelt's return seems more serious than at any time past. The atmosphere of hushed expectancy has been firmly based on knowledge that certain groups were in for a bad licking. You can't be sure in which groups—or how bad. The repetition may be tiresome, but a fundamental factor is that old conflict between the conservative business crowd, which insists government must keep its hands off if there's to be sustained recovery, and the social reformers, who believe business must be held in check if we're to avert another big crash with all its misery and losses.

NRA and AAA are under more than the usual fire. Conservative Democrats—the powerful element which fought Roosevelt's nomination and has been pretty well ignored here since—are more vocal and active.

The automobile truce may be breaking down and many other strikes threaten. Even the Republicans show signs of life.

Roosevelt must decide whether to back up General Johnson in abandoning the NRA licensing power, whether and how to support the stock market bill, securities act, Wagner bills, communications bill, the Senate's tax boost, food and drug bill, his own Break Trust and other liberal supporters.

Many of his men in Congress, facing elections, urge him to rock no more boats.

Brain trusters fear that not only their proposals may be lost, but that they may be tossed overboard as a result of concerted attacks against them.

The silliness of Dr. Wirt's charges doesn't comfort them much.

Jahncke Wears 'Em Down

Ernest Lee Jahncke, former assistant naval secretary, who roared so often and in such frenzy for Hoover in the last campaign is still here and seems bound to get a federal job in this administration sooner or later. He's that persistent.

Predictions are that he will land on some non-partisan commission.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 Coddled Eggs

Question: W. A. B. writes: "Will you please explain how to cook coddled eggs?"

Answer: Place the unbroken eggs in a deep pan which is not standing on the fire, and pour over them boiling water. At least one quart of water should be used to each of two eggs. Allow to stand for from five to ten minutes. When broken open, the eggs should have a jelly-like consistency, but should at the same time be so well cooked that there is no transparent albumen which has not been coagulated. If the pan is covered, less time will be required to get the same effect, but it is possibly more desirable to have the eggs cook very slowly for perhaps eight to ten minutes as in this way the are cooked more thoroughly.

Unbolted Cornmeal

Question: William writes: "What is your opinion of unbolted cornmeal?"

Answer: The unbolted, unrefined cornmeal is a healthful food and is placed in the starch class the same as all grain foods. When cornbread is used, it should be taken in combination with the non-starchy vegetables and not with meat, fish or fowl.

TREATING WITH ELECTRICITY

You all know how much I preach the philosophy of self-cure and believe the patient should learn to cure himself and not depend upon others for help except to learn from intelligent physicians how to change his bad habits of living to good ones. Yet, there are times when one is unable to get good advice regarding diet, exercise, etc., and feels the necessity of relying upon some treatment to assist in bringing about a satisfactory change for the better. A short outline of the treatment of the different ailments by electrotherapy may be of some help in encouraging you to consult a modern physician who has the proper electrical equipment to give such treatments.

It is first essential that you understand how this force can bring about a change in the body. The different forms of electricity can be used to produce either a mechanical or chemical action on the bodily structure, and many times these two actions are combined in one treatment.

The sinusoidal current will effect a muscle so as to contract it. By turning the current on and off the muscle contracts and relaxes in much the same manner as if exercise were taken. By the use of suitable appliances this current can be applied to any of the voluntary or involuntary muscles, and thus the muscles is strengthened in a very definite way.

This treatment is especially helpful in developing a better tone to the abdominal muscles and those of the large intestines, which muscles are weaker than normal with the majority of people.

You can readily see to what number of uses this contracting electrical force may be applied with benefit. Protruded organs of the abdomen can be raised to their normal positions with the resultant good effects which can then be maintained by substituting systematic physical culture exercises for the electrical treatment.

I have barely touched upon the uses for electricity in the treatment of bodily ills, but I trust if you are not well you will secure electrical treatments to help while you are learning how to live so as to stay well.

If you are now taking electrical treatments and would like an article which explains them a little more fully, I suggest that you write to me in care of this newspaper and ask for the article called "Physical Therapy Treatments." Please follow

Trouble has been the White House disposition to hand appointments on such commissions to Republicans who aren't Hoover Republicans.

And the Burns 'Em Up

Congressional cross-examiners say it's a toss-up whether they'd rather not have Secretary Frances Perkins or Mrs. Gifford Pinchot on the witness stand.

Mrs. Perkins irritates them by talking down to them and usually knowing more about the subject. Red-headed Mrs. Pinchot is saucy—she flips off disconcerting answers to their best questions.

"Now if General Johnson is making a failure—" began Senator Walcott of Connecticut, after she had attacked Johnson and NRA before the labor committee.

"He's not making a failure as far as big business is concerned," snapped Mrs. Pinchot.

Would Walcott defend the cotton code, she demanded. Walcott said he wasn't there to take sides.

Well, did he approve it? Well, the Senator had to admit he wasn't entirely familiar with it.

"I am the governor (Pinchot) any authority to prevent NRA violations in Pennsylvania?" Walcott asked.

"No! If he had, there wouldn't be any violations. That's too easy."

Walcott insisted that any employe had the right "as a free citizen" to discuss grievances with his employer.

"And as a free citizen he gets fired, doesn't he?" demanded Mrs. Pinchot.

Intolerance Bears Head

Old-timers in politics tell you to watch out for an outbreak of both red-baiting and religious bigotry in this campaign year. They anticipate promotion of underground rumors that the administration here is being pecked with Communists and Jews and that Jim Farley is filling the postal service with Catholics.

Such stuff already is being spread about in a small way. Later it may become organized.

More Jews are found in the government's legal division than used to be there, but they're a small minority in the upper reaches of the Brain Trust.

Two or three of the latter groups have "Jewish-sounding" names, however—which is just as good for secret propaganda purposes.

Full length cushion for feet and legs . . . and a high comfortable back that you can adjust to three positions WHILE YOU'RE SITTING in the chair! Leg rest drops down to the ground, if desired in steamer chair position.

And here's a secret. If you should get caught without enough beds for overnight guests . . . the back of the chaissette drops down forming a full length couch! All this for only $10.95.

JAPS INCREASING SOUTH AMERICAN EXPORT TRADE

30 Per Cent Decrease in American Exports to Latin-American Countries in 1933.

Washington, May 2.—(AP)—A Japanese trade drive was disclosed today to have made phenomenal advances in Uncle Sam's own backyard of Latin America.

A department of commerce survey showed Japanese export increases ranging from 100 to 1000 per cent into a majority of South American countries, concededly to the detriment of American exports in many instances.

These figures, placed beside others showing a fifty per cent decrease in American foreign trade in 1933 as compared with 1930, were cited by an official as the cause of an administration desire for speed in negotiating preferential trade treaties.

Latest commerce reports said: "The Japanese are rapidly improving the quality of their exports and invading one new field after another. Indications are that they will continue to increase their share of the Latin American foreign trade."

BOLTON

A proclamation by Governor Cross was read Sunday morning by the Rev. Harold Wilts regarding child health day today.

The church committee met at the parsonage Monday evening. Several business matters were discussed.

The regular Thursday night Bible study will be held at the parsonage. Men are especially invited.

The Tolland County Democratic

association will meet at the Community House Monday evening, May 7. Several speakers will be present. Among them will be the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Michael A. Connor.

Bolton Grange will entertain East Central Pomona Wednesday evening at the Community House.

Tuesday evening the Cooperative Fruit and Vegetable Growers Association will meet at the basement of the Congregational church.

Miss Helen Berry and Miss Elsie Collins, who have spent the winter in Hartford, have moved into their cottage.

Misses Elizabeth and Margaret Daly have sold their farm to Mr. and Mrs. Mark Carpenter of West Hartford. This farm contains 110 acres. The new occupants plan to board and train horses, also to raise berries and vegetables.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Vandergrift, Pa.—It was not the hour, but the time that caused a dispute at the Hicks coal mine and 500 coal diggers remained away from work.

Under daylight saving time, operators wanted the men to go to work at 5:30 a. m. Instead of 6:30 to make railroad connections.

The miners did not show up. Their schedule would rob them of an hour's sleep in the "cool morning hours."

Grand Coulee Dam Site, Washington—Because he took a bath, Ben Klassen "made" front page of the newspaper here and it was not Saturday night either. After the water system was turned on in this new boom town, he was the first to friend, Harold Riley were fined $210 off.

Philadelphia—R. George Harvey, agent in charge of the U. S. Division of Investigations Philadelphia office, sent his best machine-guns and pistol shots to the midwest to hunt John Dillinger. Now, he's on a manhunt all his own. A sneak thief broke into his apartment, stole his wife's fur coat and carried off the baby's dime bank.

Springfield, Mo.—Mary's lamb followed her to school, but Mary takes her goat firmly in hand and leads it there.

No, the teacher doesn't object for May Devereaux is teacher at Bowerman school and takes her pet goat to school for the children to study.

Venus, Pa.—J. E. Bethz, named to office in the administration of President Garfield, has served more than a half century as postmaster of Venus. He was appointed by Postmaster Thomas James and has served 13 administrations. Venus was so named for five roads converging here, forming the likeness of a star.

Sarasota, Fla.—Bonita House went after one fish—a tarpon—and came back with two—a tarpon and a shark.

The shark swallowed the tarpon that Bonita was playing on her line, and fought for an hour and a half before it was landed.

When the shark was cut open the tarpon was found reposing in its stomach.

Chicago—Joe Paprock and his bath under a hotel "room and bath" and $60 respectively after housewives pounded on eggs without being able to break them. They complained some of the "eggs" they bought from the pair were not eggs at all, but stones of the same shape.

4 High School Students Win Scholastic Awards

Two Trade Teams Share Leadership Weavers and Electricians Come Out on Top of Trade School Basketball League.

Four Manchester High school students won awards in the national interscholastic competition sponsored by the Scholastic High School magazine.

Olga Kwash, '34, received the state certificate of honorable mention for Connecticut for her news story reporting of Captain Healy's speech at assembly. Bernice Livingston '34 received the Connecticut fountain pen for good penmanship in the literary division. The certificates of honorable mention will be awarded at a future assembly.

The Scholastic magazine offered prizes for poetry, essays, short stories, one-act plays, literary articles and, in the field of journalism for news stories, feature stories, interviews, sport stories, and columns.

In addition to the three national students won awards in the national interscholastic competition sponsored by the Scholastic High School magazine.

"You may well feel proud of these students and the classroom instruction given them, as the work from your school was selected by the judges from an unusual number of exceptional entries from more than 100 high schools in all 48 states and the United States possessions. Our heartiest congratulations to you, to your school, and to the students and their teachers.

"It is with great pleasure, therefore, that we advise you that the following students have won the places indicated in the 10th Annual Scholastic Awards, the group of awards for creative work in literature and the visual arts, conducted by Scholastic, The National High School Weekly."

BASEBALL NINE OPENS SEASON

High School Team Starts Auspiciously by Whipping Rockville 7 to 2.

Manchester High's baseball team had a merry time at the expense of the Rockville High team Monday afternoon in Rockville, winning by a score of 7-2.

Manchester started the scoring immediately. Judd, first man up, smashed a single to right center. Capt. Chucky Smith got on by an error of the first baseman. Rautenberg sent both men home with a single to left field. Bob Smith, the next batter, socked a long triple to the far open spaces of right field, scoring Rautenberg. Other scoring threats were halted this inning when Eckbert grounded out.

Three more runs were scored in the third when Rautenberg singled to center. Bob Smith singled to right and Eckbert hit to the second baseman, who threw the ball over the catcher's head in an attempt to get Rautenberg. Smith also scored on this play and Eckbert reached second. Comber and Hutchinson struck out and then the next batter, "Hank" Bedurtha, singled to right center scoring Eckbert.

Manchester's last run was obtained in the sixth inning when, in between the second and third put-out, Judd tripled over the center fielder's head and was sent home by Capt. Smith's Texas leaguer over short.

Little Jackie May pitched excellent ball and Rockville could only get one run and four hits from his delivery in the five innings he worked. Rockville got their second run off McCurry in the sixth when McCurry relieved Moszer who had started the inning. Moszer had walked two men and had three balls on the next man when relieved by McCurry.

Chicago—Joe Paprock and his bath under a hotel "room and bath" and $60 respectively after housewives pounded on eggs without being able to break them. They complained some of the "eggs" they bought from the pair were not eggs at all, but stones of the same shape.

COMEDY DEPICTS LIFE OF FAMILY

Paint and Powder Putting Finishing Touches On "The Family Upstairs."

Paint and Powder is putting the finishing touches on "The Family Upstairs," three act comedy, to be presented in the High School auditorium at 8 o'clock Friday evening, May 4.

The play, a comedy depicting family life in a tenement house which "Mother" insists on referring to as "our apartment," is bound to please with its family quarrels, pretenses and reconciliations.

Family life in a tenement is much the same as it is anywhere in a family which has only "Father's" $42.50 a week as income for the support of three daughters who must have "pretty clothes and things" and a wife and mother with aspirations to become "somebody" who can speak nonchalantly of our "little car" and our "new super-heterodyne."

"Mother's" main desire in life is to see her eldest daughter, Louise, make a brilliant social match, though Louise, who "works for a living and makes her own clothes," is satisfied to accept the serious attentions of a good-looking young bank clerk who has to support his mother and little brother, Herbie.

So runs the life of the Hellers in an eight-room flat. Their neighbor uses up all the hot water on Sunday morning when everyone wants to take a bath, the paper-hangers have the dining room all cluttered up just when Louise's boy friend comes to call, the bath tub leaks, Jerry gets expelled from school, and "Father" must give things "all lavied up." No wonder last evening the alarm clock, one of the necessary stage properties, went off on an "alarming" spree upon its first appearance on the stage. It must have a bit more coaxing to get its cues better than that.

However, it is certain that no one can afford to miss "The Family Upstairs" on Friday evening.

Tickets are on sale now and may be obtained from members of Paint and Powder or they may be purchased at the door on Friday evening.

DR. PHELPS

Dr. William Lyon Phelps—one of the most pleasing and delightful personalities that I have ever heard speak—stood before a group of women at the Hartford Public High school, April 23 and gave the last lecture in a series of twelve which he has been giving during the winter months at Hartford.

His tan, almost gray-colored suit with a tan shirt and brown tie to match, his well-polished black shoes and his habit of using his hands to stress a point in the course of his conversation, contrasted well with his self-confident, friendly and extremely impressive manner of speaking.

Dr. Phelps is not a large man—he is only a little more than five feet tall and yet he impresses you as being taller. His gray hair sprinkled with black, his white gold-rimmed eye-glasses, and his highly intellectual face are delightful to gaze upon.

Dr. Phelps was born in New Haven and later moved to Providence. He lived in Hartford during part of the 70's and 80's. He graduated from the H. P. H. S. several years ago and he is at the present time a retired professor of Yale University.

VARIETY

"Variety is the spice of life." The man who said, "All work and no play will make Johnny a dull boy," should have said, "All sameness and no change will make anything dull."

Everything has variety. We have dry and night, winter and summer, rain and sunshine. By nature, our desires are toward variety. We "go stale" or tire of the same thing.

One of the best examples of our need for variety is the depression which we are now passing through. If we had changed our financial code to fit our modern needs, we probably would not have had a depression. We had changed everything else—production, transportation, and our manner of living in general. Yet we left our financial background fundamentally the same as it had been for over a hundred years.

In the last year, we have seen more variations or changes in our government than in the whole preceding century. This might be due to the President's liking for variety and his knowledge that our laws needed revising. He, himself, has a varied program. He does not work all the time but sets apart some time each day for recreation or for doing what he pleases. He swims, plays handball, and even takes a short rest by petting his dog.

The big business men of today do not grind all the time or they would soon lose their minds and their bridges. They play tennis, golf or bridge. Some do showwork or tinker with radios or motors. We call these hobbies. They are only a change, a variation which gives a part of the body and mind a rest and builds up some other part.

That variety is one of the essential things of our life and is shown by a simple plant called "Red Rust." This plant is a saprophyte which, in order to live, must have change of hosts. A host is a plant or animal on which another plant or animal lives, getting its food from this host. One year "Red Rust" lives on wheat or grass, the next year it lives on barley. It must have the change of hosts or it will die.

Sometimes we read of an interview between a reporter and an old man, such as John D. Rockefeller, Sr. The one question that is always asked by the interviewer is, "What do you consider the reason for your longevity?" This question usually has the vaguest answer. I think a good answer might be—"Variety."

ACIDENT!

I can still remember a thrilling ride that I experienced about eight years ago. An uncle of mine, his wife and his brother were plying a visit. During the latter part of their visit, I was beginning to get bored, and I kept begging my uncle to take me for a ride in his automobile, but he refused. His brother, thinking it a pity that I could not have my own way, volunteered to fulfill my request.

My "chauffeur" had quite a difficult time starting the car, but when at last he succeeded, we swerved out of the driveway, just missing a huge tree and headed down the road lurching from side to side. I suggested that we go straight, but my suggestion was of no avail, for suddenly we plunged from the side of the road into the gutter. We scraped a near-by tree, tearing off most of the roof, besides a fence along the side of the road which had offered little resistance. We broke most of the windows; and on the whole we were quite a wreck as well as thoroughly frightened.

I remember the many tears and the apologies of my uncle's cousin who had never driven before in his life.

—Patricia Case.

COMPOSED IN BED

It always is a task for me to have to write some poetry. What'er it is, I like it not! It be verse with rhyme or not.

How I dislike to lie at night And try to think of things to write. Now really it is very bad That my attempts should prove so bad.

I stare at pictures, books and such, But cannot seem to get as much. As one faint gleam or any light On words that can be matched up right.

Like "weather," "feather," "catch," "latch." These words come to me in a batch. But meanings are too far apart; To use these words is quite an art.

These facts are true for only me. Since joy from poems is not to be. But there are those who really see Some fun in writing poetry.

—Lockhart Rogers.

21 TENNIS CANDIDATES APPEAR FOR PRACTICE

Courts Not Yet Ready, However, for the Staging of Elimination Matches.

Twenty-one tennis candidates showed up at the meeting called April 19, by Mr. Hartwell, the new tennis coach. They were: J. Petrillo, J. Judd, J. O'Reilly, R. Carney, H. Brown, C. Frost, E. Clark, J. Puter, E. Clark, W. Sinnamon, P. Vitner, J. Puter, D. Johnson, L. Urbanetti, L. Georgetti, R. Johnson, L. Harris, M. Zwick and N. Koehler.

Six prospective managers also gave their names, as follows: R. Carney, C. Frost, E. Clark, J. Puter, R. Johnson and F. Barratt.

Mr. Hartwell will, before coming to Manchester, was tennis coach at Lexington High, had planned to hold elimination matches Monday, April 30, to cut the number down to a workable group, but the courts were not ready.

A tennis team will, in all probability, be chosen from the tryouts, and the schedule to be used follows: May 8—Meriden, here.

May 15—H. P. H. S., Pope Park.

May 22—West Hartford, there.

May 29—Bristol, here.

June 5—H. P. H. S., here.

June 2—Bristol, there.

June 4—Windham, there.

June 8—Meriden, there.

—E. Schielege, '35.

SPORT SLANTS

Tra-la-la-la, spring is here. The weather entered the veins of our athletes and the Manchester teams celebrated by winning all of their opening games. The track team literally swamped Hartford High, the gold team has already defeated West Hartford twice and the opening ball team ended the gala opening by gaining a victory over Rockville High. If they persist in their new-acquired winning habits, followers of High school sports can get again and about "What team?" "What teams?" If the teams start losing, they can always fall back on sarcasm and employ it to express their opinion in various subtle ways.

BRAIN CLASSICS SHOWN IN TEST

Students Define "Husbandry" as "The Marrying of Two or More Husbands."

One of Miss Hojkin's English classes is studying "Silas Marner," a novel by George Eliot. If the great English authoress should see this definition made by the students of the class about her novel, perhaps she would turn over in her grave. The following are answers from a written test about "Silas Marner":

1. Godfrey's greatest fault was his honesty.

2. Squire Cass failed to be a good father because he didn't have any children.

3. Godfrey's horse lost his life when Godfrey was fencing with him.

4. The three most important events in Silas Marner's life were: adopting Eppie, getting back his money, and taking up smoking.

5. Silas was found guilty of circumstantial evidence.

6. Mr. Crakenforth was the husband of Mrs. Crakenforth.

7. Mrs. Crakenforth was the fat lady with double chin.

8. Then too, there are many meanings for words—perhaps in the future they will be added to definitions supplied by Webster.

9. The new explanation for the word "antenna" which Webster describes as being "long feelers on insects" are: a town in England, something to do with the intestines, beyond what is floral, feelers on insects and a flower which Eppie wanted.

10. The new explanation of "waistcoated" is "covered with vines"; of "pauper," a person who has no bills; and of "husbandry," the marrying of two or more husbands.

STUDENTS WITNESS PLAY AT WESLEYAN

See Paint and Powder Club Present "Henry the Fourth" Monday.

About twenty-five students from M. H. S. accepted the invitation of the Wesleyan University Paint and Powder Club and attended their splendid presentation of "Henry the Fourth," given Monday, April 23.

Although it was a stormy evening, Theater 92, where the presentation took place, was "packed" and it was evident that the students were forced the club to refuse more than half of the many applications for the complimentary tickets.

The play, which started at 8:15, proceeded rapidly with only short intervals between scenes and ended at 11 o'clock.

The plot of the play is the story of Henry the Fourth whose son, Prince Hal, devoted himself to merrymaking in company with his old friend, Sir John Falstaff, who was far too fond of his bottle of sack.

Together with other friends, two employed themselves in relieving travelers of their purses and other such misdeeds. Henry the Fourth envied Henry Percy, Earl of Northumberland, who had a fine standing son, Hotspur. Hotspur and his father, however, turned against the king on his demanding certain prisoners taken by Hotspur and decided to place Edmund Mortimer, Earl of March, on the throne. The forces of the Percys and those of the king engaged in battle and Prince Hal, who has reformed, kills Hotspur but is sorry when he thinks of the noble traits of Hotspur as compared with his own guiding self. The battle ends in the victory of the king and the play ends with Prince Hal's about of victory.

The presentation was noteworthy for the fine acting, especially Prince Hal and Hotspur, and the excellent makeup of Falstaff and Henry the Fourth, looking like pictures clipped from a history book. Henry the Fourth was played by Gilbert Clee, president of the club.

COOKING CLASSES IN NEW QUARTERS

Held in Newly Improved Headquarters of Manchester Gas Co. Here.

Mrs. Arta Sutton Mixer, home service director of the Hartford Gas Company yesterday conducted the first of a series of six weekly cooking classes before an unusually large audience in the new and improved display room of the Manchester Gas Company in the Johnson block. The subject of the first class yesterday was "Low Cost, Well Balanced Meals." Suggested menus were discussed and attractive and economical dishes were prepared and cooked during the class.

The entire interior of the office and display room of the company has been rearranged and redecorated. A new background has been built for the display window and curtains have been put up at the windows along Brainard Place. The office has been pushed back to the rear of the building with a counter extending entirely across the width of the display room.

This change of layout allows for a much larger space to display merchandise and at the same time have room enough to conduct cooking classes there. A small stage has been built for Mrs. Mixer's use which will be left on the floor from week to week.

SEEK ORGANIZATION OF NATURE LEAGUE

State Fish and Game Board Invites Members of Club and Nature Lovers to Join.

Hartford, May 2.—Members of Connecticut Nature Clubs, Bird Clubs, Audubon societies and lovers of wild-life generally today were invited by the State Board of Fisheries and Game to participate in the formation of a State-wide Nature League through which for the first time direct and constant contact with lovers of song and insectivorous birds will be maintained in the Board's conservation activities.

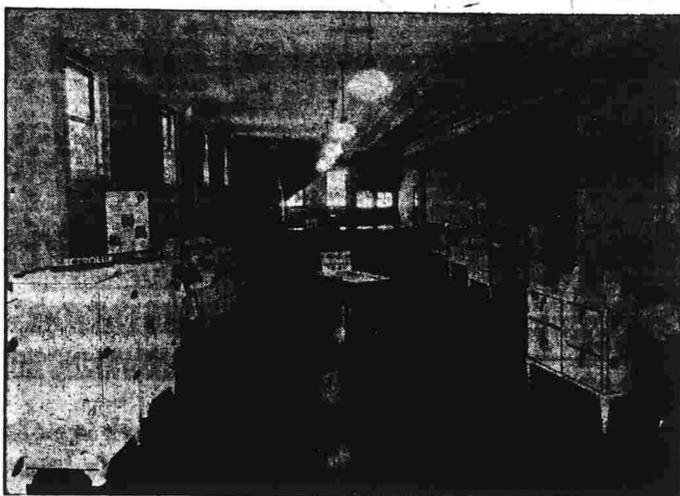

With the cooperation of State nature club officials a meeting for the purpose has been called by Superintendent Arthur L. Clark to be held in the hearing room of the Public Utilities Commission on Friday, May 4, at 2:30 p. m.

Plans call for organization of the League and the selection from it of an Advisory Council which would function in an advisory capacity to the Board similar to the present Sportsmen's Advisory Council which concerns itself principally with fish and game conservation activities. The Nature League would be entirely self-governing, with a president, a secretary-treasurer, and vice-presidents from each of the eight counties in the State. The officers would comprise the new Advisory Council.

Through organized cooperation with the nature lovers of the State the Board believes its scope of activities can be broadened through the management of wild-life sanctuaries, winter feeding campaigns for all species of beneficial wild-life, the accumulation of funds with which to supply grain in emergencies, such as the blizzards of early this year and other work particularly in the field of education. Contributions of one dollar per year for this purpose have been invited with all the funds to be dispensed by the League and with game wardens offered to assist in the League's emergency work.

Under the State fish and game laws the Board is accorded administrative supervision over song and insectivorous birds as well as game species. With the new organization functioning it is believed the welfare of the non-game species can be greatly furthered in the future with the combined aid of both sportsmen and nature lovers.

40,000 MOTHER'S DAY STAMPS AT POSTOFFICE

Purple in Color and Bear Likeness of Whistler's Famous Painting of His Mother.

The Mother's Day stamps will go on sale at the local post office tomorrow. The Manchester office received 40,000 of the distinctive commemorative stamps and the demand for them is expected to be greater than for any issue of special stamps of recent date.

The Mother's Day stamp is of the three cent denomination and is approximately the same size as the special delivery stamp, purple in color and bears a likeness of Whistler's famous painting of his mother, the original of which is now on exhibition in Boston.

PROGRAM OF SECULAR MUSIC TO BE GIVEN

Choir of South Methodist Church to Appear in Recital Friday Evening.

A delightful program of secular music will be presented by the choir of the South Methodist church, under the direction of Archibald Sessions, in the parish hall of the church Friday night, May 4, at 8 o'clock. All of the numbers on the program will be in popular vein, a majority of old time favorites having been chosen. It is a noteworthy fact that all the singers, both soloists and in the ensemble, are local talent.

There will be choruses for mixed and for men's voices, as well as some of Manchester's most popular soloists. Mrs. Estelle Keith Olson, Robert Gordon, Sydney Strickland, Eleanor Willard, Joseph Wass, David Hutchinson, Robert Von Deck, Edward Taylor, Eunice Hochenthal and Fred Bendall will be heard in solos. The ensemble will include Ruth Nyman, Ada Belle Crosby, Alice Scott, Marion Legg, Evelyn Custer, Florence Anderson, Ruth Lippinott, Belle Van Nelson, Evelyn Marcell, Elizabeth Fellows, Irene McKullen, Esther Sturgeon, Gladys Harrison, Paul Volquardson, Thomas Maxwell, John Munroe and Earl Trotter. Miss Miriam Watkins, soprano, one of Manchester's rising young singers, will also be heard in a specially selected group of numbers.

Accompanists will be Miss Madeline Buell and Miss Lilyan Hutt. The entire proceeds of the concert will go into the general fund of the church. Tickets may be had at Watkins or at the door.

V. F. W. RADIO PROGRAM
Commander-in-chief James E. Van Zandt and Representative William Conroy of Massachusetts, will be the principal speakers on a 30-minute radio program to be broadcast over a nation-wide network of stations affiliated with the Columbia Broadcasting System tomorrow from 10:00 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. e. s. t.

PEDDLERS TO FIGHT FOR LOWERED FEES

Will Put Town to Considerable Expense in Order to Force Vote Here.

Peddlers from Hartford and other surrounding communities, who are asking to force the town to lower the license fee for the privilege of selling fruits and vegetables in Manchester, through the preponderance of public opinion in their favor which they hope to obtain at the special town meeting May 18, are said today to be preparing to continue their fight if the first skirmish ends in defeat.

The town official said today he understood the peddlers' association was aware of the fact that all that is needed to bring about the calling of a special town meeting is to get 20 names affixed to a petition ordering such a session.

Expecting to Town "What there to hinder these peddlers from continuing to force the issue by drawing up one petition after another for the calling of a town meeting?" this official asked.

"Under the town by-laws," he continued, "a town meeting must be called if a petition containing at least 20 names is presented. These town meetings are rather expensive propositions. The stenographer who takes notes on the meetings gets about $25, there is the cost of advertising and other incidental expenses. The cost of numerous town meetings is therefore quite apparent."

It was pointed out by this official that these peddlers are convinced they are being discriminated against. He said bakery and laundry concerns in Hartford, for example, evade the $100 license fee by hiring ex-service men equipped with their discharge papers to drive the delivery cars in this town.

Show Discharge Papers As a state statute gives ex-service men the right to peddle in any community in Connecticut without paying the license fee, all these drivers have to do in case they are stopped and questioned by the police here is to show their discharge papers.

A majority of the peddlers, however, are not ex-service men and therefore are not entitled to this protective state statute. They are reported to be determined, however, to wage the fight for a lower fee relentlessly and are said to be ready to go into the courts for satisfaction of their plea to the townspeople are not offered. At an event, this town official said, the peddlers have in their power to cost the town plenty if they decide to present one petition after another for the calling of special town meetings.

SOUTH DAKOTA'S CHIEF EXECUTIVE RENOMINATED

Early Primary Returns Also Show Two Democratic Congressmen Will Run Again.

St. Louis, S. D., May 2.—(AP)—Returns from South Dakota's primary election show Democratic renominations today of Governor Tom Berry and two Congressmen—Fred H. Hildebrandt in the First District and Theo H. Berner in the Second—but left two Republican contents undecided.

Complete tabulation of yesterday's voting falls to give required majorities for Republican nominations for Governor and Second District. Congressman, the party's state convention will determine the necessary primary.

CUTTING PRIVET HEDGES TO ROOTS

Severe Winter Kills Bushes, Also Mountain Laurel and Rose Bushes.

Many privet hedges in Manchester have been killed by the severe weather of last winter and in order to try and save them for next year they are being cut back to the roots. The same is true of the state arbor, the mountain laurel, and there is indication that there will be little bloom of this flower this year.

At the Manchester Memorial hospital the flower garden has been badly affected. Rose bushes have been killed. The hedge in front of the Salvation Army headquarters on Main street is dead and has been cut back to the roots. Along the front of the state armory on Main street the hedge has been cut down and hopes are being held that there will be a growth next fall.

SUSPECT YOUNGSTERS OF STARTING FIRES

Blazes in Wooded Section On Middle Turnpike Thought Set by Boys in Vicinity.

A group of youngsters in the area of Middle Turnpike West near the Homestead Park section are due for apprehension by police, according to Fire Chief Edward Coleman of the north end department, if they persist in starting brush and woods fires just to watch the firemen work. Complaint has been made and an investigation is being conducted. It was said that arrests will follow any continuance of the practice.

SILVERITES PLAN NEW CONFERENCE

purpose of "ascertaining if the Dies bill as amended by the Senate agriculture committee can be so reformed as to make more flexible the Congressional mandate so as to permit the President to utilize the silver at a premium over the market value."

The Dies bill, passed by the House would authorize the acceptance of foreign silver at a premium over the world price for agriculture surplus sent abroad. It was amended by the Senate agriculture committee to give further recognition to silver in a nationalization program, including huge purchases of the metal.

JAPAN CONSIDERS ANSWERING HULL

Some Officials Suggest Stern Statement On Attitude of United States.

Tokyo, May 2.—(AP)—Whether to make a detailed reply to Secretary of State Cordell Hull's statement of America's position in the Orient or merely to deliver a note of polite acknowledgment was the question before the Japanese government today.

Some contended for a forceful reply. The newspaper Nichi Nichi said officials consider the most vital difference in American and Japanese positions Secretary Hull's declaration that no nation can "make conclusive its right in situations where there are involved the rights and obligations and the legitimate interests of other sovereign states."

Hurling Weakness Obstacle To Giants Flag Hopes

EAST AND WEST ARGUE ON MERITS OF LEADING CONTENDERS FOR DERBY

Mata Hari and Bazaar Are Claimed to Be Even Faster Than Cavalcade and Peace Chance, Both of Whom Have Set Track Records.

Louisville, Ky., May 2.—(AP)—With two record-breakers in the invading lineup, giving the East a decided edge in Saturday's Kentucky Derby, western turf followers tightened their belts another notch today and staunchly maintained that the two fillies, Mata Hari and Bazaar are even faster than Cavalcade and Peace Chance.

Mrs. I. D. Sloan's Cavalcade broke the track record for a mile and a sixteenth at Havre De Grace Saturday and Joseph E. Widener's Peace Chance shared a fifth of a second of the great Twenty Grand's record for a mile at Churchill Downs yesterday. On top of this, word was received that another Eastern hopeful, Mrs. Payne Whitney's Spy Hill, had worked the full derby route of a mile and a quarter in 2:04 1-5, faster than most derbies are run.

But Charles T. Fisher's Mata Hari, if the track is fast, and if she does not include in it a dash of temperament, will "tow-ropes" the field home Saturday, her backers declare. Partisans of Colonel E. R. Bradley, on the other hand, point out that Peace Chance defeated Blue Again, a victim of poor racing luck, four lengths yesterday, and that Bazaar beat Blue Again by the same number of lengths in a recent workout over the Derby route together.

Mata Hari and Bazaar both will make their first starts of the year in the Derby. With their prederby racing behind them, the probable field for the $30,000 added classic Saturday includes: Cavalcade; Time Clock, Peace Chance, Spy Hill, Agrarian, Discovery, Singing Wood, Speedmore and Sergeant Byrre.

West: Mata Hari, Bazaar, Blue Again, Sir Thomas, Rikulus, New Deal, Quasimodo, Likewise and Bender First.

BLUEFIELDS PRACTICE SLIDING AND FIELDING

The Bluefields went through a stiff sliding and fielding practice at their last practice session with 25 candidates looking for positions on the team.

One of the men who is making the young fellows step is ("Hook") Brennan. Hook has been playing ball a good many years, and today he stands out as one of the best outfielders in Manchester. Beside being a good player, he sets example in spirit and willingness to do what is right, and is a valuable asset to any team.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT MAY SEE CREW EVENT

Cambridge Mass., May 2.—(AP)—Reliable Harvard sources have reported President Franklin D. Roosevelt will attend the Harvard-Yale crew races in New London, Conn. on June 22 and watch his namesake son row on the Harvard freshman crew in its objective race with the Yale yearlings.

Young Roosevelt, Jr., will either stroke the Harvard first year men, or row at No. 6 position. Arrangements are being made, Harvard sources disclosed, for the President to follow the races either in the official boat or in the coaches launch.

The President, an enthusiastic alumnus of Harvard, from which he was graduated in 1904, has been unable to attend any of the college athletic events since his inauguration.

YOU'RE TELLING ME

One of the greatest figures in American turf history, Jockey George Ellis, who rode Mate to victory in his foremost triumphs, will stage a comeback in the saddle when the Aurora track opens this year.

Boring took a terrific flop at Madison Square Garden last year, playing to 84,944 customers in 12 shows, as compared with 206,228 for 18 performances in 1932.

Hoeky, on the other hand, had a great attraction, turning in a pulling 440,990 through the turnstiles.

They tell the following about Zeke Boura, rookie first baseman of the White Sox.

"Zeke was meandering down Michigan Boulevard in Chicago with a teammate and spotted a vendor of toy balloons. 'I'd like to take one of those home to my kid sister, but I can't get it in my suitcase,' remarked Zeke, innocently. . . . Art Erens, NEA Service sports cartoonist and golf writer, has been granted a student pilot's license to cut capers in an airplane. . . . please omit flowers.

The average American transport plane flies more than 60 per cent farther in one year than the average plane of any European national system.

Local Sport Chatter

Starting from scratch in his first outdoor start of the season, Joe McCluskey smashed the course record in the six-mile St. Anselm A. C. road run in the Bronx Sunday afternoon, although he finished in eleventh place. McCluskey, who won the August W. Glatzmeyer Memorial trophy for fast-time honors.

The former record was held by William Steiner of the German-American A. C. and was set two years ago, being 23:50. McCluskey, Steiner and William Ruckel were the only entries who started from scratch in the field of sixty-four runners. James Crowley, Jr., with a time allowance of 3:30, won the event in the actual time of 30:19.4.

Steiner failed to match McCluskey's stride after the halfway mark and finished in twenty-third place. Ruckel finished 47th. It was McCluskey's first long distance start since he captured the Recreation Center's annual five-mile Thanksgiving Day race in 1932 for the third successive year.

Paired with Bert Snyder of Hartford, Charlie Kebab, town bowling champ, finished in fifth place in the men's doubles in the sixth annual state duckpin championship tournament at New Haven recently. Kebab and Snyder hit 758. Clara Jackmore of the Charter Oak Girls paired with Miss Fitzgerald, former of this town and now of Hartford, to place fifth in the women's doubles with a mark of 647.

Judging by the opening contest with Rockville, there certainly is nothing wrong with Manchester High's batting order. Judd, C. Smith, Rautenberg and R. Smith, batting in that order, accounted for nine of the Red and White's twelve hits and scored seven of the eight runs. If this quartet keeps up the good work they'll be fitting candidates for the title "Murderer's Row" made famous by the New York Yankees.

FINEST COLTS NAMED

New Market, Eng., May 2.—(AP)—Thirteen of Great Britain's finest colts were nominated over night for the annual running of the two thousand guineas, first of the three year old classics of the season, today.

The British turf program includes two other outstanding fixtures for three year olds, the one thousand guineas to be run Friday, and the Oaks, but both of these are limited to fillies. The two thousand guineas, Derby and St. Leger all are open to colts and fillies.

POSTPONE PRACTICE

The scheduled baseball practice for this evening of the Catholic Club's team has been postponed until tomorrow night at 5:30. Inability to secure the diamond is the cause of the postponement. The Catholic club will officially open its season next Sunday when they play the All-Burnsides.

"I Lick That Baer Good" Says Man Mountain Primo

New York, May 2.—(AP)—Tommy Hughran has been doing very little training for his ten-round bout with Walter Neusel, young German heavyweight, in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

"But I don't need much work," the Philadelphia veteran explained to one press, who wondered at the brevity of Tommy's drills. "I'm never very far out of condition."

Sopwith Launches America's Cup Threat

The latest word in center-board steel-built cutter yachts has been launched in Portsmouth Harbor, England. This craft, T. O. M. Sopwith's Endeavor, will be England's hope to regain the America's Cup which left Britain's shores in 1851 and never returned. The yacht is shown above shortly after its christening. At right are Sopwith and his wife at the launching.

NAME DONAHUE PRO AT EAST HARTFORD Former Assistant to Alec Simpson Here to Be in Charge of Golf Course.

Of interest to local golf enthusiasts is the announcement that Tom Donahue, former assistant to Alec Simpson when the latter was the Manchester Country Club pro, has been signed as professional of the East Hartford and West Hartford Golf Club. He will have as his assistant Benny Roman, former assistant pro at Wetherfield and Sunset Ridge, who has had a wealth of experience in the golfing line.

Donahue was for eight years professional at the Stoughton Manor Golf club and succeeds J. A. "Bud" Geoghegan. Donahue played as an amateur at Goodwin Park for several years and then was engaged to assist Simpson at the local club. He later took the position of pro at Stoughton. Donahue is one of the longest hitters in these parts. He is a good teacher and has an engaging personality that has won him a host of friends. He will teach and supervise tournaments at both clubs.

The East Hartford links, due to their proximity to Manchester, have attracted many local golfers. The course is now in top condition and the nominal fees charged last year prevail again this season.

ONE-ARMED HURLER HAS GREAT RECORD College Ace Has Won Three Games by Shutout Route; Leads Team in Batting.

St. Andrews, Scotland, May 2.—(AP)—The oldest natives around St. Andrews still were shaking their heads today after watching the fledgling of the American Walker Cup team tear around their hallowed course the last two days.

"I never saw anything like it," said one gnarled inhabitant after following a foursome composed of Johnny Goodman, Gus Moreland, Lawson Little, all members of the American team, and Johnny Dawson of Chicago, through their second day of practice over the links where the international matches will be played May 11 and 12.

The course, which is supposed to chill the world's greatest experts apparently has no terrors for the youngsters making up Uncle Sam's latest golfing challenge to Great Britain.

"All I'm looking forward to is another shot at the course," said Little, the Californian, who has been the cynosure of all eyes as a result of his phenomenal driving.

Goodman, the American open champion, has been playing a magnificent game from tee to green, but has had trouble adjusting his putting to the lightning fast greens.

Most of the team planned to accompany Captain Francis Ouimet on a shopping expedition to Dundee today.

8 to 0. Washington and Lee fell 9 to 0.

Out of the 28 scoreless innings he has pitched, there have been only 14 hits. They were so well scattered that they went to naught.

WITH THE WALKER CUPPERS William Little Golfing Courage Born Playing Amid Burial Bunkers In China.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the ninth and last of a series of articles on the careers and personalities of the members of America's 1934 Walker cup golf team, which meets the British at St. Andrews May 11-12.

By RUSSEL J. NEULAND (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Cheyenne, Wyo., May 2.—(AP)—A tempestuous, black-haired youngster of 15 years and his soldierly father sailed away from China a decade ago and from that event dates the golfing career of William Lawson Little, Jr., the "baby" of Uncle Sam's 1934 Walker cup team and a player whose fairway potshots and ballstrikes are believed thus far to have been only scratched.

He is 23 years old now, the son of Col. W. L. Little of the United States Army Medical Corps. Young Lawson figuratively was raised on golf. His father was, and still is, a better than average player.

While stationed in China Col. Little's non-playing partner invariably was his young son. The Tientsin golf course is laid out on the site of an old Chinese cemetery. It is nearly at sea level. Floods have washed up many of the graves. Other burial plots have been covered to form mounds. These combine to make the bunkers and traps of the course.

What a Mental Hazard

Local rules permit the lifting of the ball when it drops into one of these traps, but the mental hazard, to be sure, is not lightened. Friends who knew Lawson in China trace his courage under fire and his utter docility when behind to his experiences while trailing his father during those matches.

When young Lawson's father was transferred to Washington State his golfing days began. He first came into prominence, however, when another transfer sent the family to San Francisco's Presidio.

In 1927 he completed in the western amateur championship. His first opponent was the veteran Chick Evans. Evans won, 1 up, but he commented that his youthful opponent had the makings of a real player.

He won the northern California title in 1929 and a few months later at Pebble Beach, Calif., beat Phillips Finlay, 1 up, and Johnny Goodman, 2 and 1, before losing to Francis Ouimet, 1 up, in the national amateur. His victory over Goodman was notable because in the preceding round the latter had eliminated Bobby Jones.

Sculptured in Tenseness

Every muscle tense as he leaps for the ribbon, a la Charles Paddock, Bruce Humber, University of Washington sprinter, is a perfect picture of action. The west coast lad is expected to do great things in the 100-yard event this year.

GREEN MAY OPEN ITS SEASON THIS SUNDAY Practice Is Called for Tomorrow Night at Jarvis Grove at 6 O'Clock.

The Green Baseball club will hold practice at 6:00 p. m. tomorrow at Jarvis Grove. If the players indicate that they are in good condition a game will be sought for Sunday.

All indications so far point to a much better and stronger team this season than last. The manager with the help of the team intends to run a dance and a raffle in order to raise enough money to get some new ball suits this spring.

The following are requested to be on hand: Borillo, Grandi, Pinney, Begar, Fiddler, Harold Jarvis, Ray Jarvis, Carter, Jim McLaughlin, Ted McCarthy, Joe Lovett, Butch Lovett, Viot, Boligni, Kovis, Phelps and Popoff.

If there are any others who are interested in trying out for the team please come to this practice. If any one of these players mentioned cannot come to this practice get in touch with Grandi or Jarvis, Tel. 7026.

Yesterdays Stars

By Associated Press

Hank Greenberg, Tigers—Wallop homer and two singles against Browns.

Ralph Birkhofer, Pirates—Limited Cubs to five hits.

Don Heffner, Yanks—Tripled in ninth to start five run rally that beat Senators.

Burgess, Whitehead, Cardinals—His single in 11th drove in winning run against Reds.

Henry Johnson, Red Sox, struck out eight in pitching six hit game against Athletics.

George Watkins, Giants, led attack on Dodgers with two homers and a single.

Willis Hudlin, Indians—Held White Sox to five hits and one run.

Ethan Allen, Phillies—Batted in three runs against Braves with home run and two singles.

SPITTERS STAGE LAST STAND ON WEST COAST

San Francisco, May 2.—Two of the three major league spitball hurlers of 1933 are making their last stand in the Pacific Coast League. They are old Jock Quinn, veteran of both big wheels, and Clarence Mitchell, National League hero of the past decade.

Quinn is now a member of the Hollywood club, while Mitchell serves for San Francisco.

Bowman and Luque Belted Out in Free-Hitting Tilt Pirates Trim Cubs, Cards Top Reds; Phils Lace Braves; Three Triples in Row in Ninth Win for Yankees.

Even though they are pouncing on the new National League ball—the better style, it looks as if the world champion New York Giants might have to travel over a long and rocky route created by pitching weakness to reach their goal of another National League pennant.

The Giants have run into two severe setbacks already this season. Roy Parmelee was rendered temporarily inactive by appendicitis and Hal Schumacher has not been able to touch his 1933 form.

Hubbell Saves Game

Joe Bowman, the Portland rookie got through six innings in fair style as the Giants slammed Young Emil Leonard of Brooklyn around to the tune of eight runs in three innings, but he weakened badly and was yanked after six innings. Dolf Luque who relieved him, was belted out before he retired a man and finally Hubbell had to lead the hill for the fifth time in 12 games to save a 10-9 decision.

The triumph left the Giants only half a game behind the Cubs as Pittsburgh's Pirates stepped out behind Ralph Birkhofer's five hit outburst pitching and defeated the league leaders 4 to 1. Pittsburgh in turn advanced to third ahead of the Boston Braves, who took an eleven to seven lead from the Phillies, but Burleigh Grimes won his second victory for St. Louis in as many days when two homers by Jim Collins led the Cardinals to a 3 to 2 decision over the Cincinnati Reds in 11 innings.

Three Triples in Row

The league leading New York Yankees provided the biggest thrill of the American League program. Going into the ninth inning against Washington the score stood 1-0. They belted three successive triples and finished the 'ning with five runs and a 10-5 triumph.

Detroit's Tigers came from behind, scoring six runs in the eighth and held second place by beating St. Louis 5 to 4. Henry Johnson, making his first start, pitched the Red Sox to a 7-2 victory over the Athletics, allowing only six hits.

A developing trend in the scoring of Monday, the Cleveland Indians advanced out 15 hits, including four homers and trounced the Chicago White Sox 12 to 1.

DIXIE FOOTBALL ACE BADLY HURT AT PLAY

Knoxville, Tenn., May 2.—Three football players and fraternal brothers of the University of Tennessee were indulging in some horse play on Shields-Walsh Field here today when a lot of fun for Bill Morrison and Bill Lays—but it turned out to be extremely painful for Bobby Humphries, handsome end.

The boys were throwing things at each other. Lays played a heavy pick handle and started to throw it to Morrison. The handle slipped out of his hand and landed on the heavy club inside Bobby's chest.

Sony suffered a fracture of the ribs and a concussion of the brain.

DONNA of the BIG TOP

by BEULAH POYNER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DONNA GABRIEL and MADELINE SIDDAL who call themselves "The Gabriel Sisters" are trapeze performers with Renfro's circus.

Whether he actually tampered with the screws that held the trapeze to braces or whether an inefficient assistant neglected to make sure of their security no one ever knew. Not even Madeline's shrieks that Ned Trafford had tried to kill her convinced Renfro that his most efficient circusman could do such a thing.

His eyes seemed to have dropped far back in his head and under his grease paint his cheeks were like chalk.

"I do need you but without Donna—how is she, Doc?"

composed two letters. The first, he addressed to Donna and read: "Donna, Darling: The doctor says you will be well soon and on your feet and Renfro says I have to go on with the show. I know you will understand my running off like this. We'll need every penny to pay hospital bills. I'll write you every day. Oh, Donna, I'm just heartbroken; that this had to happen! Of course I'm to blame, I'm sure Ned did it but there's no way to prove it."

SENSE and NONSENSE

There is one thing to offer in behalf of the fisherman. When he catches nothing, he has little to say. Many others could well afford to follow his example.

IS THIS AN NRA DIVORCE?
"Code vs. Code," Hennepin County, Minnesota, District Court records, File 348123.

Graduates from local schools will receive a lot of advice in the next few weeks, some of it fundamental and more of it modern. It may not be necessary to add a line, but this is ventured: "The Bible is more reliable as a guide to living than the bootlegger."

As parting instruction were being given to a new traveling salesman the sales manager said:
Sales Manager—Well, good luck to you, my boy. Any important news should be wired us without delay.

The following day this telegram arrived, charges collect:
"Arrived safely. Got a lovely room with bath. Feeling fine."
To which the sales manager wired back, also charges collect:
"So glad. Remember to air your nightie. Love and kisses."

First Imbiber—I found (hic) a half dollar.

Second Imbiber—It 'sh mine, it's got my name on it.

First Imbiber—What's your name?

Second Imbiber—E. Pluribus Unum.

First Imbiber—Yeah, it's your name.

Gratitude

There is a debt we cannot pay, nor ever laws can reach, it runs forever and a day, is shared by all and each; it is not evidenced by name, nor bill nor promise made. Yet 'tis existent just the same, by solemn judgments laid. No obligation in the law, no tenure and no seal. Impressed with all to bind in awe, not pledged by those who kneel; yet at engagement far above the things that bind below—the lasting debt of Gratitude is the solemn debt we owe.

Not being able to quit talking at the right time is not confined to ministers, lawyers and other public speakers.

Traveler—So you still cling to that childish superstition about 13 being unlucky.

Companion—Yes, I can't seem to get away from it.

Traveler—But see how completely it is disproved. This glorious country started with 13 colonies.

Companion—Very true; but you see I'm an Englishman.

A man is reported to have recently secured a job as night watchman because he had reared nine children—he had learned to keep awake.

Wouldn't it be terrible, too, if all these alphabetical concoctions at Washington should finally crystallize as GOP?

Restaurant Manager (as he sampled the new cook's first soup)—You say you served in France?
Cook—Yes, sir. Officer's cook for two years and wounded twice.

Restaurant Manager—You're lucky, man. It's a wonder they didn't kill you.

There is a certain man who is reported never goes out in the evening because his wife is so ugly he hates to kiss her goodbye.

There are countries where the boy and girl never see each other before the wedding—here they don't see much of each other afterward.

It is a very good thing to remember that people who are entirely unreasonable in their praise are equally unreasonable in their criticism.

Youth—May I offer you some refreshment?

Girl Friend—Yes, you might give me a few moments to myself.
