fire house in the list of assets and the exclusion of the West Side recreation building, drew a remark from Raymond Goales, member of the third district committee, who said it was not quite fair that the town assume the bonded indebtedness of the 8th district which included the 8th district firehouse.

Objects To Figures Frederick W. Pitkin of the third district asked for an explanation of the figures of his district, and after it was explained that a tax of $14,642 or 6.87 mills on the grand list of 1932 would probably be levied within three years to come within the time limit of the act, he objected.

He said that the third district built a better school than was required at the time, knowing that the debt would be spread over 20 years.

About $20,000 had been paid off on the debt and he considered that it was unfair to the district taxpayers to ask them to pay $14,642 in three years.

The question of including the West Side Recreation building in the figures of the districts checked all progress sought by the Selectmen in preparing and planning for the equalization tax payment and Rudolph Patterson, accountant for the equalization board was asked to prepare a "breakdown" of the items in all districts for study by the various committees.

"Breakdown" of Use Selectman David Chambers suggested that in considering the West Side Recreation building to decide whether or not it should be classed as a school building and to be included in the ninth district assets, a two-way survey should be conducted.

He said that a floor space computation should be made, listing the areas used for school purposes and for recreational activities during the 24 hours and also a study of the duration of time consumed by both activities.

On a question of laying a tax by districts, Howard Taylor of the fourth district asked how the expense of collection would be charged. He was told that the cost of collection would necessarily be borne by the districts in addition to the equalization tax.

A conference will be held between the equalization board, the Selectmen and the town counsel in an effort to arrive at a satisfactory basis upon which to prepare a new set of figures and to lay the equalization tax in the eighth districts.

Notice of a claim for damages was received by the Selectmen from Albert Egleston of Cooper Hill street. The letter, received May 27, stated that Mrs. Egleston, his wife, had been injured in a fall on the sidewalk on March 10.

The meter was left with the public safety and was not to be removed until the claim which requires submission of claims within a stated period, which in this instance had elapsed.

Special Constables Frank C. Busch was made a special constable to serve as such on all land and in buildings, property of the Recreation committee. John R. Foster was appointed as constable to serve on the grounds of the Manchester Country Club.

Bonds of Grant P. Skewes and Andrew J. Sroks, recently appointed special constables in the park department, were accepted by the board.

A report of the Manchester Public Health Nursing association, submitted by Miss Dorothy Buttle, was read and accepted.

Protest of U-turn Ordinance A letter of protest from Elmer A. Wenden, chairman of the Merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce, on the U-turn ordinance was read by the secretary.

The letter stated that the merchants were dissatisfied with the ordinance and that greater danger existed on Main street, due to speeding, than from U-turning. The letter was referred to the Board of Police Commissioners.

A list of jurymen was approved by the board for the June term. Several appointments were made in place of those who had died during the year.

New York, May 5.—Favorable dividend changes in the past week numbered 26 as compared with 17 the week before, says Standard Statistics Co. The list comprised 13 increases, 8 resumption, 6 extras and 3 initial payments. Four unfavorable revisions, all of them omissions, compared with 6 in the previous week.

New York Central's current assets on March 31 totalled $79,832,187 against $74,728,406 on the same date a year ago. Current liabilities showed little change, amounting to $113,966,619 against $112,080,843.

Recreation Center Items of Interest

Today The men's plunger period will be held from 7 to 8 o'clock. The bowling alleys will be open for anyone wishing to bowl.

A public whist party will be held at the West Side Rec on Cedar street. Play will start at 8 o'clock and prizes will be awarded the winners.

In the dance program in last night's paper, the name of Eleanor Struff was omitted inadvertently from the jockey tap dance. Her name should have been included in this group.

Last night the Girls Inter-Bowling League, which has bowled at the Rec all winter, had a banquet in Hartford. The cup won by the girls of the German church was on display. Later the girls went to the Morgan Lays and rolled a couple of games.

The pictures of the dancing classes are at the Rec and any mothers interested in seeing them or ordering are requested to go to the office at the Rec building.

The weekly hits on Monday night will be a combination hot dog roast and hike. Those planning to go should let Miss Fenerty know immediately so there will be plenty to eat. A small fee will be charged to cover cost. Call Rec office or Miss Fenerty before Monday afternoon.

Miss Gertrude Fenerty, instructor of the dancing classes at the Rec wishes to thank all of the mothers for their help in making costumes, and in helping to make a success of the affair of Wednesday afternoon. Also all those who helped sell tickets, etc., especially thanked for their kind service.

BRITAIN'S DEMAND

London, May 5.—(AP)—Great Britain and Italy have demanded that King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia state his ultimate objectives and expectations in his war against the fleeing Yemeni. It was learned authoritatively today.

At the same time, it was learned in official quarters, that the British government is studying reports that Italy has a "treaty of a defensive sort" with the Yemeni and therefore is alarmed because she backed the wrong horse.

It was emphatically stated, as reports piled up telling of Ibn Saud's conquering forces, relentless drive toward Sana, capital of Yemen, that the British view Italian interest in the situation as entirely similar to Britain's—protection of her nationals.

One of the chief worries of the British is why the Imam of Yemen is dead and, until this rumor is verified or disproved, the government will be unable to consolidate its position.

The final setback party by the Degree of Postulants will be held in the lodge room in the King Albert building, Monday evening at 8:30. There will be six prizes and refreshments.

Blyvester Jackmore of this town, a first class seaman on the U. S. S. Brazos, is recovering from an attack of pneumonia at the Brooklyn Naval hospital. He has been stationed on the Pacific Coast for two years and came east with the fleet, the sudden change in climate bringing on his illness. His condition was critical early this week, but his sister, Miss Clara Jackmore, who has been visiting him for the past few days, said today that he was making rapid strides toward recovery.

JAPAN PREPARES FOR TRADE WARS

(Continued from Page One) Trade leaders pointed to the government's new trade protection act—under which the Cabinet may quickly hike or lower import tariffs by decree or limit and prohibit imports.

The British trade warning, given Japanese Ambassador Matsudaira by Walter Runcie, president of the British Board of Trade, is being studied by the foreign office's commercial bureau.

There were strong indications Japan would flatly refuse to bow to Great Britain's ultimatum that the Tokyo government must modify its trade program and tactics.

Will Not Hurt Japan Trade leaders expressed the opinion that even if Great Britain does impose quotas on Japanese goods Nippon will not be hurt seriously—especially since Japan's imports from the British Isles in 1933 totalled $8,000,000 yen or almost as much as was exported there, $9,000,000.

Hence they said, the Tokyo government would be able to make reprisals. The Japanese are confident too, the British Dominions will not follow the mother country's lead—especially Australia, which sold to Japan in 1933 four times her purchases, and Canada which sold seven times as much as she bought.

WALTHER LEAGUE'S ANNUAL BANQUET

Society Dines and Elects Officers at Zion Church Last Evening.

The Walther League society held their annual banquet and election of officers for the coming year at the Zion Lutheran church on Cooper street last evening.

A delicious supper was served at 6:30 o'clock, consisting of baked meat loaf, mashed potatoes, creamed peas and carrots, cole slaw, home made buns, coffee, vanilla popovers, pudding and cookies.

Following the supper, Rev. H. F. R. Steeholz gave an interesting and suggestive talk to the young people. Speeches were also made by Roland Lashinske, Edith Audriod, Norman Lashinske and Richard Haggenow, expressing their interests in the different activities of the league.

A business meeting was then called to order by the president, Miss Martha Kismann. After reports of the Secretary and Treasurer and committee chairmen were given, the election of officers took place.

Martha Kismann, president; Norman Lashinske, vice president; Emma Keish, secretary; Pauline Steeholz, treasurer; Mildred Maticholt, entertainment committee chairman; Elda Matcholt, refreshment committee chairman; Clarence Freiheit, membership committee chairman; Emma Keish, advertising manager.

The president also presented the trophy which was won by the Girls' Bowling team of the church at the Recreation Center for the past bowling season.

The members of the league are all looking forward to another bright and active season. Two of the outstanding events of this month will be the Rally and Bowling Banquet to be held in Hartford on May 8 and the Nation Wide Fellowship social which will be celebrated by each Walther League Society throughout the country on May 23rd.

KING OF BELGIANS MURDERED, ASSERTS ENGLISH LECTURER

"It is an outrage on the dead." ALWAYS USED ROPE Brussels, May 5.—(AP)—Official Belgian circles expressed disgust today with the address of Col. Graham Seton Hutchinson last night before the Nottingham writers' Club in which he said that King Albert had been killed by a blow on the head, not by accident.

These circles said that messages received here regarding his statement would not bear examination. They pointed out that King Albert invariably used a rope when solo mountain climbing, thus being able to anchor himself to some projection as a safeguard against missing his footing while descending.

Likewise, it was pointed out that it was nonsensical for Hutchinson to say that no one in Belgium dared speak of Albert's death as it is a patent fact that the scene of the tragedy is visited daily by hundreds of persons.

OBITUARY

DEATHS

Mrs. Annie (Bunkill) Symington, of 27 Huntington street, wife of the late Isaiah Symington, died early this morning at the home of Mrs. Anna M. Clay, registered nurse, of 163 Main street, where she had been taken yesterday morning.

Mrs. Symington was 68 years of age and lived in Manchester for fifty years. She was born in Rockville. Her husband, who conducted a clothing store here, died ten years ago. She leaves three sons, Harold R., of this town; Richard H., of Hartford; and Dr. Clifford L., of Westfield, Mass.; and three grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of her son, Harold Symington of 28 Munro street. Rev. Watson Woodruff of the Center Congregational church will officiate. Burial will be in East cemetery.

CARDS, DRESS MODELING FEATURE SAME PARTY

Next Week's Card Party at St. James's Hall Will Have a Nelly Don Innovation.

Nelly Don dresses will be modeled preceding the usual Wednesday evening card party at St. James's hall Wednesday evening. Through the courtesy of Elmer Waden of the J. W. Hale company, a fashion show of these popular women's garments will be held in conjunction with the weekly card party, and three of these desirable dresses will be given away as door prizes.

The men's prize will be in cash. Mrs. Mary A. Segerdahl, buyer in the apparel shop at Hale's, will select a number of the most attractive styles, and the young women who are to model them. The fashion show will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and continue to 8:30 when card playing will begin. Bridge, whist and setback will be played, with the usual prizes for the winners in each section. After the games the committee will serve sandwiches, cake and coffee.

The same low fee will be charged. Mrs. William F. Cotter, chairman, will be assisted by the following: Mrs. Harold Anderson, Mrs. William J. Siteman, Mrs. Cornelius Foley, Jr., Mrs. John Lappen, Mrs. Harold Garrity, Mrs. William F. Quish, Mrs. Robert Donnelly, Jr., Robert J. Campbell and Mrs. Felix McEvitt.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, May 5.—(AP)—Stocks edged quietly forward in the early trading today. Utilities were fairly steady. Cases was a shade improved following its heaviness late yesterday.

Loew's and Howe Sound gained around a point each. Lesser improvement was shown by U. S. Steel, Consolidated Gas, Dupont, New York Central, Chrysler and International Harvester. American Telephone was a minor fraction lower.

Passage of the Stock Exchange Control Bill by the House in virtually its original form was not unexpected in Wall street, and there were only faint hopes that the Senate would extract any of its "teeth." Opinions varied as to just how the measure, in its present shape, will affect the already drooping brokerage business.

Under the bill, as it now stands, exchange members will have to adjust themselves to government control of credits; control of manipulative practices; provisions for "adequate and honest" reports to securities holders by registered corporations; control of unfair practices of "corporate insiders"; control of exchanges and over-the-counter markets, and general supervision of trading and credits.

Steadily falling prices of steel scrap were being studied by market observers who, in the past, have placed considerable dependence on this staple as an indicator of future steel production. Yesterday's out of 25 cents a ton in scrap prices at Pittsburgh brought the reduction in the past 10 days to 75 cents a ton.

Interest in bonds during April was exemplified by Stock Exchange figures disclosing that the market value of all listed senior securities increased $582,393,612 during the month. In the same period the market value of listed stocks decreased $27,770,867.

Foreign exchanges were steady at the opening of business. The British pound was 1-4 of a cent higher at $5.11 3-4 and the French franc eased .00 1-4 of a cent at 6.62 3-4 cents.

MISS MROSEK GETS STATE LUTHER LEAGUE OFFICE

First from This Town in State Organization; League Hears Dr. Kirsch and Louis Schenk.

Forty of the sixty-five members of the Young People's society of the Concordia Lutheran church attended the meeting at the church last evening when Dr. F. A. Kirsch, mission secretary of the New York Synod, and Louis Schenk of Meriden, president of the state Luther League, were guest speakers.

Dr. Kirsch delivered an inspirational talk to the gathering on the subject, "What Can I Do With My Life?" He enumerated different ways in which a person should go through their daily life with Christ as their leader, and glorifying him.

Mr. Schenk spoke on the theme of life service and gave suggestions of work the members can perform to promote the work of their league. During his talk he made the interesting announcement that he had appointed Miss Anna Mrosek as recording secretary of the State Luther League, succeeding Miss Anna Retkowske of Norwich, who because of illness, is unable to fulfill her duties.

This is the first time a member of the Luther League of Concordia church has been honored with a state position. Her associates congratulated Miss Mrosek. The business session was followed by a social period, during which Miss Elsie Klein and her committee served refreshments.

Oak Lodge No. 48, International Brotherhood of Papermakers, was fully formed at a meeting held in Tinker hall this morning. The name Oak, applied to the local lodge, is not a new one, but is the same name of the International Brotherhood of Papermakers that once existed in Manchester. It was formed by papermakers at the time employed in the Oakland mill branch of the American Writing Paper company. The members moved away and the charter remained at headquarters.

When the application for membership in the Brotherhood was received last month the old charter was dug out and the name given to the new lodge. At the meeting this morning the final obligation was given to those who became connected with the Brotherhood.

JOINED NAVY IN 1887, RETURNS TO MANCHESTER

James McGovern Had Pension Cut from $60 to $42.50 Per Month.

James McGovern, who left Manchester in 1887 to enlist in the navy and served 28 years, returning to Manchester for a time and more recently becoming a resident of the Old Soldiers' Home at Noroton, came back to Manchester yesterday and will make his home here. Under a new ruling regarding pensions, he will have his pension cut from $60 a month to $42.50. The rule also has been changed so that a person, at the home who is entitled to a pension of $40 a month or more can not accept this pension and live at the home. To live at the home only $30 a month is paid in the way of a pension.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

Jesus Acclaimed As King

Text: Matt. 21:1-11. The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 5.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

The triumphal entry into Jerusalem has become celebrated in Palm Sunday. Our thoughts have been given to this recently, so that we come to the study of this lesson with the preparation of the Lenten season.

The description of the entry of Jesus into Jerusalem seems to have a unique place in the Gospel story. We find Jesus on different occasions seeking refuge from the opposition and the persecuting spirit of the multitude.

We find him for the most part, avoiding the thronged public places, giving his greatest teachings to individuals and to small groups as he wanders through the fields, as he sits by the side of the wall, or as he reclines in some home where he has been invited to supper.

In many of his public appearances we see him confronted with opposition and denunciation. A few days after the events described in our lesson, we see him in a different mood.

How does it come in our lesson, therefore, that we have this contrasted incident? Here as he rides toward Jerusalem from the Mount of Olives, the people cast their garments in the way and throw palm branches in his path, crying, "Hosanna, blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord."

We can hardly account for the changing scenes, but the contrast is one that has been by no means lacking in other periods of history and in the lives of great leaders and teachers.

History records so many cases where a man who has the plaudits of the throng today is suffering the violence of the mob tomorrow, or the man who is acclaimed as the very savior of his nation today was hurried and driven by the mob but a few years earlier.

In our own day we have seen a rather notable example in the rise to power in England, during the war period, of David Lloyd George, although in another war, the war of England against Boers, Lloyd George was the object of the vengeance of a mob, which threatened even to hang him.

Probably the chief teaching of this lesson arises out of this contrast and its emphasis upon the instability of the mob. The great need of the man who would discern true values, and who would always see things aright, is to get that sense of discriminating judgment that is not swayed merely by outward evenings or inward passions and emotions.

When we can observe some man who is subject to abuse and contumely, and can find in him some element of goodness, that bigotry and prejudice have no way to see, we have put reason above the sway of passion and ignoble influence and have come into the realm of moral values.

It is not so easy to attain this as would appear on the surface. It is in fact, the hardest way of life, and it demands his sternest and supremest discipline. Fortunately we have the discipline and the power of Christ to help us attain to spiritual discernment.

The man who is truly of the Christian spirit brings to life a sort of touchstone, in which the spirit of Christ in others is revealed. He can see in the prophet who is spurned and denounced and persecuted the true man of God, if God indeed be there.

It is easy to throw our palm branches in the way, but it is more difficult in the hour of Calvary to be able to discern the living Christ in the dying victim of human cruelty.

WAPPING

The Federated Sunday School Board held a regular monthly meeting last Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Burnham with fourteen present. Plans were arranged for the Sunday School social to be held Friday evening, May 18. The superintendent of the different departments will arrange for the refreshments, the chairman is Miss Elizabeth Pierce, assisted by Marie V. Collins, Mrs. Lillian E. Grant, Mrs. Mattie Lane, Miss Kate Withrel and Miss Ellen Foster. The games committee will include Levi T. Dewey and his class. Arrangements King, Mrs. Jesse E. Shepard, Mrs. Frank E. Bidwell, Mrs. H. V. Parker and Mrs. Ralph M. Grant.

Albert Petersen is planning to move his family to the place known as the Frank Moore home and the place vacated by him will be occupied by Truman Hills, who is to be married in June.

Miss Towling of Springfield, Mass., and a former teacher at the Rye street school, who has been the guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur C. Hills, since last Wednesday, returned to her home in Springfield, Friday.

ENTERING JERUSALEM

By GEORGE HENRY DOLE

International Sunday School Lesson Text, May 5: "God also hath highly exalted Him, and given Him a name which is above every name."—Phil. 2:9.

Why did the Lord enter Jerusalem as He did? Because it was so foretold. Why was it not said that He would come riding upon a horse or a camel? Because in ancient times kings rode upon asses and a sign of royalty, and judges rode on white asses as indicative of pure judgment. Why was the ass the symbol of royalty and judgment?

The symbolism of some animals, like the lion fox, lamb and dove are easily seen, but the meaning of the ass, is sure-footed, it climbs the mountains of higher thought, it is patient, it is a burden bearer, for reason happily gives us strength to bear our load of cares. Some see only the stubbornness of the ass; but nothing can move one from what is rationally discerned.

The Infinite can be perpetually and more deeply revealed only by the use of symbols, parables and dramatic representations; for how otherwise could the Infinite come out into the finite world? What language? Read the entrance of the Lord into Jerusalem as a drama staged by the Lord. It is a moving picture that reveals how the Lord must enter into every mind that comes to know Him.

The prophecy of the Lord entering Jerusalem in Hebrew reads that He would come to the daughter of Zion riding upon an ass and a colt, the son (ben) of an ass. The Greek in Matthew reads that He would come riding upon an ass and the male colt (polon) of an ass. John does not even mention the mother, but that the Lord came sitting upon a male colt (polon) of an ass. Why does one say that He rode upon both the mother and the colt, and another that He came sitting on the colt? The reason appears when it is seen that the mother is the symbol of the affections for rational truths, and that the male colt is the product of such affections, which is rational truth itself. The love-gospel of John is a deeper representation of the truth, for it represents the Lord as established in rational truth itself. Here is the lesson of that drama. The Lord enters us, and we enter into Christ, by both the mother and the colt, by the opening of the understanding. Mystery is no part of the Christian religion. Jesus said "Unto you is given to know the mystery." The Lord has promised to lead us into all truth. He does not ask us to believe in what cannot be understood. Have faith in Him. He is self-revealing in the Word. Obey His teachings, and as He entered Jerusalem, He will come into our hearts as King, and all within us will rejoice.

EMANUEL LUTHERAN Knut E. Erickson, Pastor.

Confirmation will be celebrated at Emanuel tomorrow morning at 10:45. The following young people are members of the class: Eric Gotberg, Eleanor Peterson, Marian Peterson, Sedzel Peterson, Enis Carlson, Mildred Janicke, Givers Larson and Barbara Trombly. We trust that all members and friends will count it a privilege as well as a sacred duty to be present to welcome and ask the blessing of our Lord upon these young people, as they publicly confess their faith and give their vows of fidelity.

The Beethoven male chorus will sing at the 7 o'clock service. This will be our last opportunity to enjoy their singing until next fall. The sermon theme will be "Not Hearsay, but Deeds Also." There will be no evening services during the summer months. Let us therefore be particularly faithful in attending services these Sunday evenings in May. Sunday evening, May 13, the Emanuel choir will give a song service. Sunday evening, May 20, a sacred concert will be given by the children's choir. Special efforts are being put forth to make both of these services particularly attractive, enjoyable and helpful. Sunday school and Bible classes at 9:30 tomorrow. The Women's Aid Society will meet Thursday afternoon at 2:30. All members and friends welcome and urged to come. The Brotherhood of the Emmanuel Lutheran church of Hartford will be guests of our Brotherhood next Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The Hartford men will furnish the program and promise us something very good. The men of our church are urged to come out to welcome our visitors and enjoy their fellowship. Evid Matson and the Fellowship committee are in charge of the arrangements.

ROCKVILLE PEERLESS SILK COMPANY IN ROCKVILLE TO CLOSE

Operations Will Be Suspended for One Week Beginning May 14 on Code Order.

The first actual pressure of code enforcement in Rockville is to be felt in this community next week as the Peerless Silk Textile company has been ordered to close for one week beginning May 14.

This will mean that a total of 135 employees will not draw their wages which total approximately $2,000. This action is in line with other firms in the silk industry although the local plant has been engaged mostly in the manufacture of rayon and only for the past six months has the plant been manufacturing silk. The rayon plants have not been asked to suspend operations.

The officials of the local plant state that there has been a marked increase in the cost of production under the NRA code, totaling nearly 44 per cent and a minimum wage has been fixed at $13. The Peerless Silk Textile company is in reality a plant for the manufacture of rayon goods it is hoped permission will be obtained to continue operations on this line of goods.

Home Economics Tour The advance home economics class in the Rockville High school taught by Miss Margaret McLean returned to Rockville at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon after a trip to Hartford. The party chartered a special bus and Miss McLean conducted the tour which started at 10 o'clock in the morning.

The day's program included a visit to the cafeteria of the Aetna Life insurance company, the demonstration rooms of the Hartford Electric Light company, the Hartford Gas company, the New Method laundry, the Fro-Joy Ice Cream plant and the Continental bakery.

The party comprised the following: Misses Margaret Dorman, Norma Gynell, Goldie Lavitt, Elizabeth Pease, Dorothy Reute, Hattie Silbavy, Marjorie Tuttle, Martha Williams, Julia Zelek, Amelia Deane, Helen Limberger, Alice Meacham, Erlina Riverburg, Ruth Taylor, Christine Tyler, Omilean Willis, Miriam Eisenberg, Janas Szialud, Emily Kupferschmidt, Annie Mitchell, Sadie Pestritto, Stephonia Rittlinger, Genevieve Sonaglio, Ruth Tuttle, Dorothy Worthington, Rachel Clark, Ruth Drensek, Olga May, Margaret Newcome, Gertrude Seifert, Mary Tonolis, Velma Webb, Marion Wright and Miss Margaret McLean, teacher.

The fast breakers of the Clerks Athletic club of Rockville are ready for the game with the New Britain Falcons which is to be played in Henry Park Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This is the second game of the season and unusual interest is being shown in the Rockville team which won its opening game last Sunday by beating the Bristol A. C. by a 5 to 4 score.

MIAMI STARS

The production "Beneath Miami Stars" sponsored by the Children of Mary Sodality of St. Bernard's Catholic church and held for the benefit of the church, was largely attended last evening in the Town Hall.

Much credit is due Miss Corinne Lee who wrote the production and directed its presentation. The production opened promptly at 8 o'clock with Clarence J. McCarthy as master of ceremonies. A very interesting program was presented including dancing and vocal numbers.

Following the presentation of "Miami Stars", dancing was enjoyed until midnight with the music being furnished by Arthur Stein and his orchestra. Both modern and old-fashioned dancing was enjoyed.

School Exhibition Plans are nearing completion in the different class rooms of the graded schools of the town of Vernon to present an exhibit of the work of the students during the latter part of May or early in June. The exhibition will consist principally of drawing and special school work. An invitation is being extended to the parents and friends of the graded school children to attend these exhibits to be announced soon.

FUNERAL OF ORREN C. WEST

The funeral of Orren C. West, 97, who died at his home at 13 Mount street Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, will be held from his late home Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Rev. Dr. George S. Brookes, pastor of the Union Congregational church, will officiate. Burial will be in the family plot in Grove Hill cemetery.

Mr. West was born in Colchester January 8, 1837, the son of James C. and Fannie (Bauch) West. He moved to Rockville with his family in 1848 and has lived here continuously.

More than half a century Mr. West conducted a retail ice business in Rockville and retired in May, 1921.

He was active in the political life of Rockville and Tolland County. For a period of three years he served as sheriff of Tolland county, having been elected in 1885. He was also a member of the Board of Aldermen of the city of Rockville for a term of six years and a member of the Board of Selectmen of the town of Vernon for a period of two years.

Fraternally, Mr. West was a member of Fayette Lodge, A. F. & A. M. and Adoniram Council.

He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Miss Grace B. West of Rockville.

BALDWIN AND GREEN IN EXHIBITION TILT

The Baldwin A. C. will play Manchester Green in an exhibition game Sunday afternoon at Jarvis Grove. This game will merely be a test of each team's strength before they renew their tilt in earnest. It will also give candidates for the teams a chance to show their worth and win their positions.

The Baldwin A. C. will hold a practice from ten to twelve tomorrow morning at Charter Oak lots. It is important that all candidates be there.

KIWANIANS' SHOW

DRAMA OF THE '90'S

Is Real Old Time Thriller With All the Old Time Gags Intact.

"Gold in Them Thar Hills" or "The Dead Sister's Secret," which Manchester Kiwanians, assisted by the Community Players will present Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at the Hollister Street school, a melodrama of the gay nineties, will remind many who attend the performance of such old-time thrillers as "Bartha, the Beautiful Cloak Model," "The Murder of the Polish Jew," "East Lynne" and others witnessed during the decade mentioned.

The first and third acts take place in the old homestead, the former in June and the latter on Christmas eve. The second act is at Big Mike Slattery's beer garden and dance hall on the Bowery, at which place Nell had sought refuge after having been cast out of her father's home. All the old lines are there—"Beneath this fancy shirt there beats an honest heart"—"The villain dirty work afoot"—"You are no longer a daughter of mine" and so on. Those who like to recall old-fashioned programs—should make a point of seeing "Gold in Them Thar Hills," as much for the fun they will get out of it as for the worthy object they will be assisting—maintenance of the Kiwanis Kiddies camp at Hebron.

William H. Bond, past president of the Kiwanis club, is chairman of the entertainment. His assistants are Elmer Weden, Arthur Knofia, Fayette Clarke, Harold Turkington, Thomas Bentley, John Eckhamlan and President Edwin Wills. The committee from the Community Players includes Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Holmes, Miss Faith Fallow, Mark Handley, Miss Helen Estes, Russell Potterson and William Ingraham.

"MARCH OF THE ALLIES" TO MARK LEGION MEET

Midtown Parade on Saturday Next Will Be Novel Feature of State Gathering.

Plans for the "March of the Allies" joint celebration of the American Legion and the "40 and 8" Legion's fun and honor society have been completed. This observance, which is to be held in Middletown, Saturday afternoon, May 12, will mark the close of the Legion's annual parade of the "40 and 8" Legion over the past few weeks, which has resulted in an increase of over 800 in comparison with the membership of the same date last year.

Four distinct events make up the program of the affair—a parade of Legionnaires and "40 and 8" members at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, a joint initiation of Legion candidates from all parts of the state in the State Armory at 5 o'clock, a "40 and 8 Wreck", or initiation, in the State Armory at 6 o'clock and the final event of Saturday's program, a banquet at Stouck's at 8 in the evening.

The parade is expected to be one of the most colorful ever held in Middletown, since each Vulture or County Group of the "40 and 8" each Legion county organization will appear in

SATURDAY, MAY 5

ESTATES AND GIFTS

Under the new revenue bill there still remains opportunity for a very rich man to "save" money by giving away his wealth during his life instead of leaving it for disposition after his demise—but not, relatively speaking, very much.

For instance if you happen to be flush enough to inventory your possessions at ten million dollars, and if you hang on to the whole package until the breath has permanently left your body, the federal government will reach out and take $4,416,000 of your ten millions in the form of an estate tax.

It is hardly to be expected, however, that there will be any dollar-day rush to take advantage of this eleven hundred thousand dollar saving. Under the old revenue law the gift tax on ten millions was only $2,312,125 and the estate tax was $3,116,000, a difference of $803,875—and yet the ten-millionaires who in life handed over their properties to their logical successors, under that law, were about as numerous as Admiral Byrd's house-guests in that one man observatory of his.

To be sure the tax "savings" on such an estate through the device of giving it away are larger under the new law than under the old and are rendered more important because they constitute a larger part of what is left, in either event, to the heirs, but it still remains to be seen whether these facts will have much influence in prying open the holding hand.

Moreover it's going to be a good deal more difficult, under the new law, to manipulate this gift business so as to dodge most of the taxes by making a flock of little gifts, though little gifts are still taxed at a much lower rate than big one. You could do that under the old law, but by the new one you have to pay on the total of gifts, not on each separately, so you might as well give son John his couple of million outright as to try the trick of giving him a couple of hundred thousand ten different times.

With a sixty per cent inheritance tax on great estates of over ten million dollars, and a forty-five per cent tax on gifts of such size it looks like cloudy weather all day for the poor little multimillionaires, whichever way they turn their eyes to the sky. Give away or keep till the trump blows, their estates are going to be soaked—unless they can stay alive till we get the kind of a Congress that will lower all these rates. Most of them, it is to be feared, would be so old by that time they would be tired of living and even tired of being rich. It's a long way off.

FARLEY AND AIRMAILS

Postmaster General Farley announces that when all the airmail contracts now being scheduled are let the total service will be extended beyond the pre-cancellation service by a total of 3,088 miles, reaching four states and twenty-one cities in addition to those that had the service before. All, so Mr. Farley says, at a cost of less than nine million dollars as compared with almost nineteen and a half million under the old contracts.

There is a small joker in this comparison since the total mileage flown daily will be 78,198 miles under the new arrangement as against 97,076 because the service will be less frequent on some of the routes.

Nevertheless, if Mr. Farley makes good even on this promise there will be little ground left on which to justify the bitter criticism of the cancellation of the contracts with which the country rang for weeks. The saving of more than fifty per cent will be an extremely hard fact to get around, particularly when many of the contracting companies are the same as formerly—slightly reorganized.

But much remains to be seen. Mr. Farley says, not that it is that way yet but that it is going to be. Henry Ford said he was going to get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas. Mr. Roosevelt said he was going to restore the 1928 price level. Lots of people say they are going to do lots of things—and never do.

CRAZY SCHEME

The scheme to fill in that wide part of New York Harbor lying between the Battery and Governors Island and then use the island and the broad causeway area as an airport is one of those things which people are very apt at first impulse to denounce as "crazy." And when they have thought the project over for a considerable time and it has lost its newness and they have had opportunity to mentally weigh the benefits against the disadvantages they are as likely as not to keep right on denouncing it as crazy. More likely than not.

It is estimated that the cost of the development would be from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 and the War Department has already set aside $50,000 to cover the cost of a survey of the project. When it is considered that the Battery is the one solitary spot where the millions of New York City and the millions of its visitors can get a glimpse of the gateway to the sea without trespassing on private or corporate property or paying for a ride to the top of a skyscraper, and when it is borne in mind that the marine view from the Battery is the most beautiful thing about that whole vast agglomeration of people and things that is called New York, the proposal to destroy it is simply grisly. The effect would be to turn the North and East River, so far as scenic aspect goes, into ditches.

And all this, if you please, in behoof of a system of air travel which would, as likely as not, be deadlier than the dodo before the vandal performance could be half finished. Who knows with any certainty that the aircraft of ten years hence will need more than a hundred feet of runway or any runway at all? Who knows that they won't be able, quite soon, to go straight up and straight down? Who knows, for that matter, that fifty years from now, or twenty-five, we shall be using any flying apparatus even remotely resembling the present planes? Nobody, of course. And yet these "progress" fanatics would be willing to make over New York or any other city on the basis of the absolute permanence of the 1934 airplane, ruthlessly subordinating every other consideration to the convenience of a system of transportation that is, after all, of small relative importance and which will probably undergo the most sweeping changes before it becomes worth any such sacrifices as they demand.

The more you think of this particular Governors Island causeway scheme the crazier and crazier it grows.

DEATH'S HOLIDAY

Death took a holiday in the case of Miss Mary Britt when, 34 years ago, the doctors at the Home for Incapables in New York City told her she could live but a very little while. Miss Britt was 66 then and a sufferer from arthritis. She is 100 now and because she cannot see well enough to read and cannot hear much that is said to her and cannot walk around a great deal since she gets dizzy, she sits in her rocking chair and rocks and sings and has a pretty good time. But like the young woman in the play she has no fear at all of the time when the shadow figure shall extend its hand and say "Come." She is, she explains, getting a little tired of living and has about decided that she won't keep on trying any longer after the one more birthday party, next January, which the people at the Home have promised her. She thinks that it will be about time, then, for her to go along.

She knows something about values, this ancient spinster. She is sane and normal and capable of striking a balance. When the hour comes to quit she will know. May her chair rocking just slow down to a stop and may her last breath bear the final note of one of her songs. There is something very beautiful about this prospect.

PIED PIPER

We're going to make a guess at the origin of the Pied Piper of Hamelin, the 650th anniversary of whose tragic abduction of all the children of the German town is to be celebrated this month with the biggest kind of an old-home week. Everybody is familiar with the story of how the Piper piped all the rats out of town and into the River Weser under a contract with the town burghers and how, when they welched on paying him, he piped away the children, too, and they never did come back.

All sort of explanations of the legend have been figured out but they all seem to us to be alike in one or two respects. Either they assume that the Piper made off with a whole swarm of children or they discredit the story altogether. Our guess is that there was such a person, that he was a rat catcher as well as a piper and that he did do the job of cleaning out the rats; that the town authorities, because he was a mere vagabond, thought it smart to give him the raspberry instead of the money he had earned and that thereupon Mr. Piper did steal a child or more probably two children, and make off with them. He might have been a Gipsy anyhow and medieval Gipsies could always make use of a few extra kids.

Everybody knows how stories grow in a few days. Given a couple of centuries, the disappearance of two children—like enough the burgomaster's—and the Pied Piper story could very well have reached its legendary proportions more than four hundred years ago.

Anyhow, if you think our guess is wrong, let's see you prove it.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER Washington, May 5.—The big trick now, if the administration can put it over, is to reproduce conditions under which the country emerged from the depression of 1922.

This depression is worse, but in the back of Roosevelt's mind is the assurance of his economists that automobiles and building were biggest factors in that recovery. Automobiles have been booming along and the National Emergency Council is supposed to add its big new construction program to the approaching PWA peak of activity to get out the rest of the picture and take care of some of the 5,000,000 unemployed in the durable goods industries.

NEC has been stimulated by confidential advance figures from the Commerce Department's national real estate inventory which indicate a widespread housing shortage. In seven of 10 cities investigators found more families doubled up than vacancies. How to get families undoubled isn't so simple, of course.

NEC still hides its plan. But reliable leaks indicate a system of government-insured loans, first for home renovation, then home building and finally demolition of obsolete industrial plants and erection of new ones.

The first phase involves loans of from $200 to $2000 at 5 per cent. Insurance companies and banks will be tempted to finance new homes at a similar rate.

They must cut carrying and service charges and extend amortization periods to perhaps 18 or 20 years. NEC hopes it might seduce a billion dollars into construction by the end of the year.

Spends Money for Hitler Dr. Otto H. P. Vellheer, from whom Congress bought a famous collection of incunabula for the Library of Congress at a cost of $1,500,000, has found a way to spend some of the money. And in the United States, too!

He lives here at the expensive Hay-Adams House and circulates propaganda for the German Nazis. His latest lengthy printed memorandum defends the Hitler campaign against the Jews.

Trouble Brews in Cuba Trouble will be popping in Cuba again after the sugar grinding season ends in May. Our officials have sighed and pretty well resigned themselves to that.

President Mandieta, whom we backed and materially aided, in the hope that he could handle a difficult situation, has proved weak and indecisive. The island remains in a dead-end state and it seems that any benefit Cuba is due to derive from the new American sugar act won't be felt before next year.

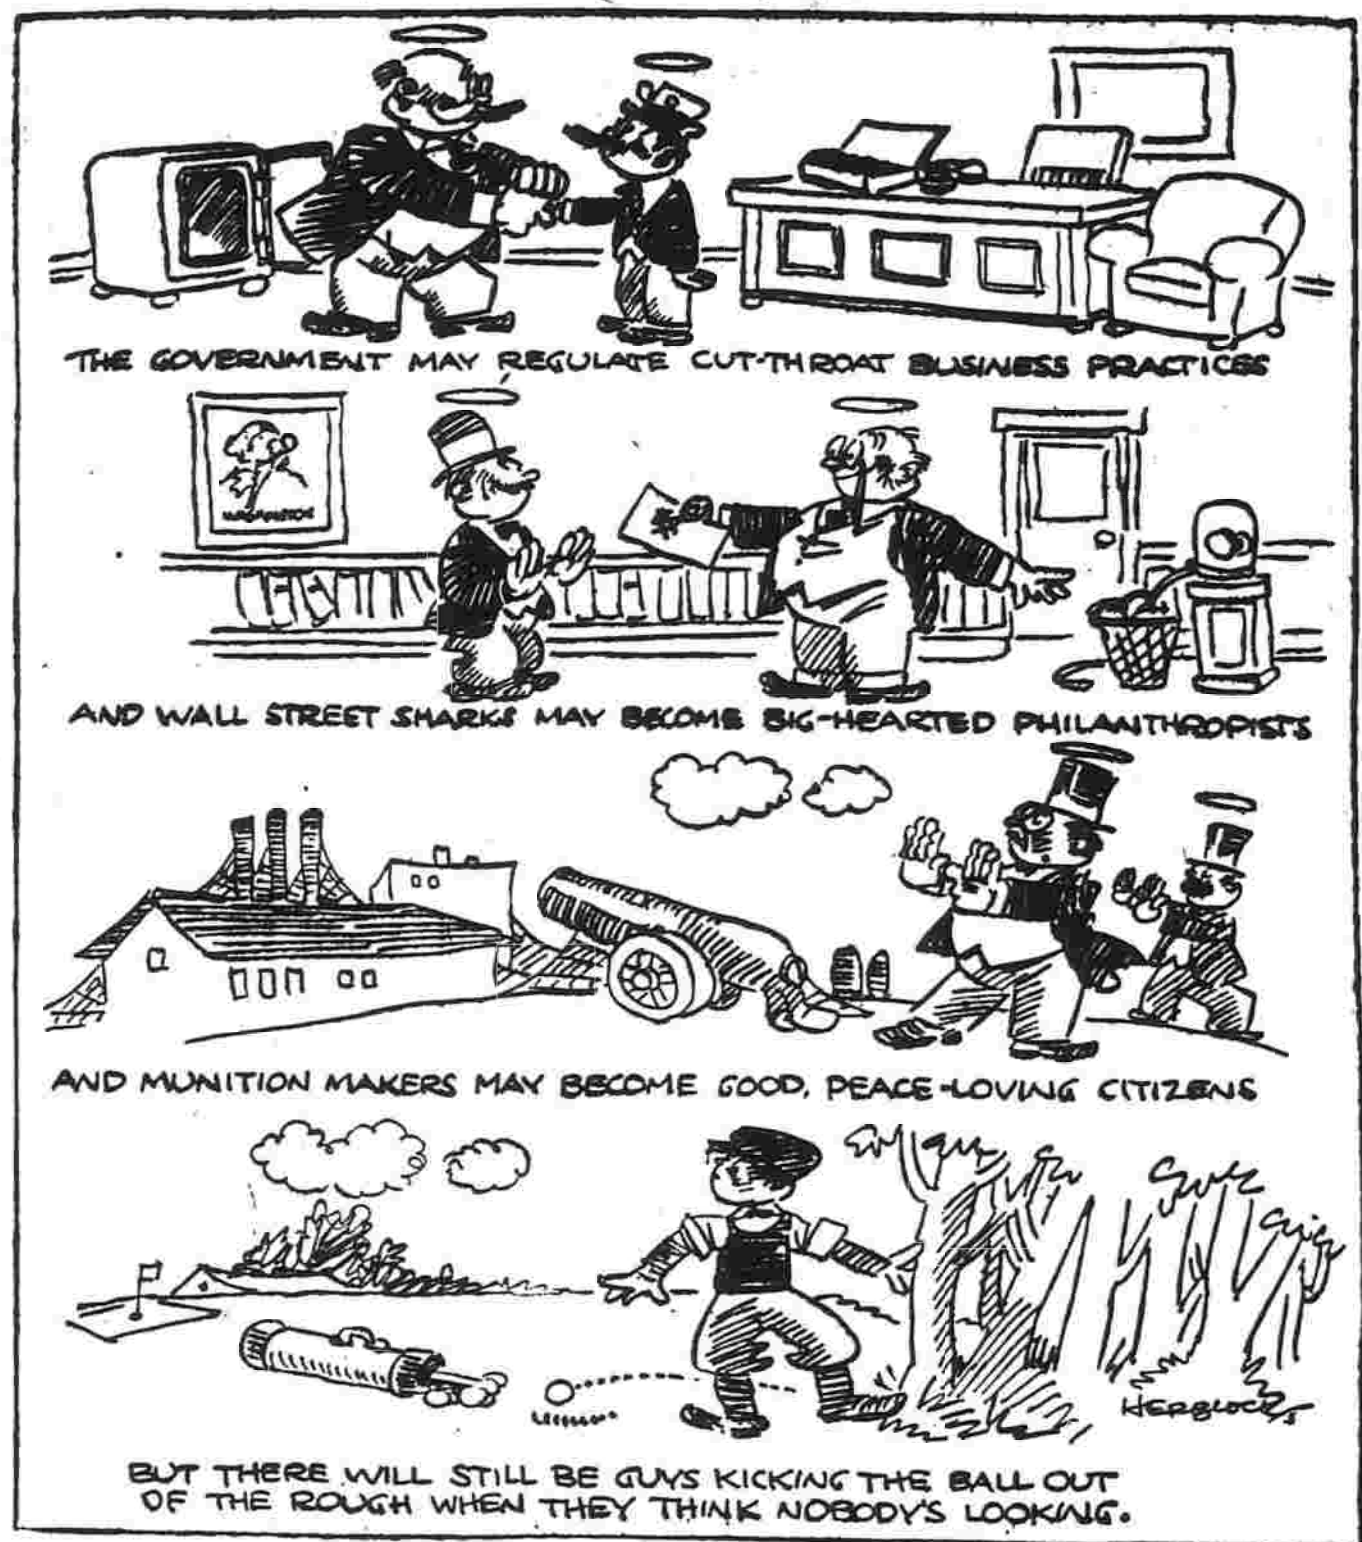

Differences between factions in the Havana coalition government—especially the old line politicians and the A. E. C.—are as sharp as ever.

Secretary Hull is placing such bets as he dares make on Batista, leader in that spectacular "revolution of sergeants" who is still in full control of the army. That remarkable ex-sergeant is the "strong man" of Cuba, but apparently has no political ambitions.

Pressure on Mandieta becomes too hot and conditions too dangerous, patriotic Batista probably will swing his support elsewhere, as he did when he deserted Grau San Martin.

Bread Price Rise Seen Bakers are privately threatening to raise bread prices after the bankery code becomes effective in the near future. Perhaps they won't. Skilled workers so predominate that minimum wages will mean little added cost, though shorter hours are something else. Liberal estimates of labor cost in a loaf of bread place it at one cent. New costs wouldn't mean anywhere near another cent.

The Limit To Human Virtue

A recent bread price boost in nearby Baltimore was met by angry protests from a league of housewives, who threatened to make their own. So the price was dropped again.

A group of Federal Trade Commission fellows were discussing a bit ruefully the other night their recent sensational disclosures as to operations of Associated Gas & Electric and the Doherty interests. Not that they minded the exposures. But those two big groups are almost the only one outside the P. Morgan utility domain anything tending to weaken them might tend to bring them under Morgan control.

Allegations of Associated's activities among New York state politicians already have instigated a receivership suit.

Health and Diet Advice

By Dr. Frank McCoy

CURING SIMPLE GOITRE

I am firmly convinced that the cure of simple goitre depends almost entirely upon the control of the amount of carbohydrates used by the patient.

The normal functions of the thyroid gland are dependent, to a large extent, upon the action of the small amount of iodine which this gland contains. When the thyroid enlarges, as in simple goitre, it is found that there is always a diminution of the iodine content.

I have seen these simple goitres develop with one person in a family where the diet was the ordinary mixed diet found on the average table. Plenty of foods containing iodine were used, but for some reason, one member of the family and not the others, developed a goitre. From my observation it seems to me that this one person grows a large thyroid not because he has not received sufficient iodine but because, for some reason in his case the iodine contained in his food has not been transferred to the thyroid, or its action in the thyroid has been interfered with. I have seen such a case improve at once as soon as all starches and sugars were entirely eliminated from his diet so that he used the rest of the foods he was formerly accustomed to but simply left out all grain foods, starchy tubers, and sugars. After a rest of several weeks from carbohydrates metabolism, this patient is then able to resume the use of a small amount of carbohydrates without any harm resulting or any enlargement of the thyroid.

It seems that in a case of simple goitre the patient has become so stuffed with starches and sugars that the action in the blood interferes with the work of the iodine which has something to do with producing a normal secretion of thyroxin, the valuable fluid absorbed by the blood from the thyroid.

The cure of a simple goitre is still more "simple" if a short fruit fast is taken preceding the non-carbohydrate diet. The gland reduces very rapidly under the fast, and the changes are so great that it is inadvisable to wait for the slower changes which would come from simply eliminating the carbohydrates. The best plan is to take a small amount of fruit juice each day, combined with large quantities of distilled water. A large thyroid may reduce to nearly normal size in two or three weeks of this fruit diet regime. A further reduction will take place on a well balanced diet from all starches and sugars have been removed.

If one fast is not sufficient, it

you ought to be congratulated upon the fact that you secured a good examination. The value of the complete examination cannot be over-estimated in the case of the patient with any tendency to a heart disorder or in any tendency to a disorder of the vital organs.

(Impetigo) Question: From "Frantic Mother": "One of my little girls has what the teacher says is impetigo. Could you tell me if there is any danger of the other children in the family catching it?"

Answer: Yes, impetigo is a contagious disease and it is possible that several of the other children may develop a similar inflammation. The treatment for impetigo is easily carried out and if you would like to learn more about the treatment which I advise, then I suggest that you write to me in care of this newspaper and be sure to send a large self-addressed, stamped envelope so that I can forward the article on Impetigo to you by return mail.

QUESTION AND ANSWERS

(Myocardial Damage) Question: From "Puzzled": "I have before me a copy of my doctor's report which he gave to me after an examination and states that there is present some myocardial damage. I haven't the slightest idea what kind of a trouble this is and I would appreciate it if you would explain it to me."

Answer: The myocardium is the heart muscle and therefore myocardial damage would refer to a damage to the muscular tissue of the heart. Even though you do not understand the report, I believe that you ought to be congratulated upon the fact that you secured a good examination. The value of the complete examination cannot be over-estimated in the case of the patient with any tendency to a heart disorder or in any tendency to a disorder of the vital organs.

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON

New York, May 5.—One of the most exclusive organizations in the world is the Between-the-Acts Club, which meets informally, irregularly and very briefly in the second-floor office of a Rialto theater.

Former Secretary of the Treasury William Woodin is a member. So are Dr. Albert Einstein, Sir William Wiseman, Al Jolson and, for that matter, Jimmy Hot-Cha Schnozola Durante. Qualifications for membership, you see, is being some kind of a celebrity, and an interesting celebrity at that.

When the Music Box theater was built, long ago in prohibition times, a snug little room complete with bar was installed behind a secret panel adjacent to the office. And last fall, when "As Thousands Cheer" began its apparently interminable run at the theater, Sam H. Harris, the producer, and Irving Berlin, co-author of the show, began entertaining a few friends in the office-bar. Then they decided to have the theater manager, a Mr. Morton, check on the distinguished customers at each performance and invite them up for liquid and conversational refreshment.

Members in Good Standing So as things stand, Morton is the entire membership committee of the Between-the-Acts Club. And he is very uppy in his lastest. Mere millionaires don't count. MOTHER'S DAY TWENTY YEARS AGO May 8th (how time does fly along!), the gentlemen of the Congress, with a surprising one-ness of mind, passed a joint resolution fixing the second Sunday in May as a memorial to the mothers of America, and ordered flags unfurled from all government buildings. Next Sunday, accordingly, we celebrate Mother's Day, 1934, and we are reminded of the banking institution which issued a thrift calendar. For each day of the 365, some Scotch, money-canny proverb was placed beside the date. But along with Mother's Day just two words appeared: Be Extravagant! Feeling that you subscribe to the same spirit about your own mother, we suggest that right here and now you start your gift-plans. Look through all the store announcements. As a freshman, he was a sub on the football team and, after playing a two games, was forced to quit because of parental objections. "Putt" also played on the freshmen basketball team. In his sophomore year he played football again and, before the season was over, he had crashed in as a regular end. He was the big star on the basketball second team the following winter. He was a regular end on the football team in his junior year and started playing basketball on the second team. His aggressiveness and smart play, placed him as a regular on the varsity five before the season had run its course. This year, "Putt" last in school, he was again regular end on the team. He injured his knee in the fourth game of the season, but in spite of that he played brilliantly enough to make the all C. C. I. L. league a right end.

He was elected captain of the basketball team before the season started. Because of his football injuries however, "Putt" was unable to play in any of the early basketball games of the season. He played well in later games however. When asked his greatest ambition, he apparently refused to be serious and said, "To graduate this year."

What is beauty? To some people it means simply a pretty face. Today I heard a girl saying, "If I were as cute as she, I should be just as lifted in being 'rain'."

There is beauty in music, art, poetry, and even prose; but real beauty, pertaining to people, is generally not visible as a mother's love for her child. It is shown through one's character, personality, and the small acts of kindness, done unconsciously, which helps to make life worth living.

CODE OF HONOR

Everyone should be capable of being trusted. The need of being in such a class is imperative.

But stocks and bonds are traded in a public exchange. Foods are sold over-the-counter and it's not the same thing at all. There's no "big board" to tell you what to pay for onions and cheese and soap and lard. All the more reason for you to know what NOT to pay!

Neusel Beats Loughran On Decision

REFEREE VOTES IN FAVOR OF GERMAN AS JUDGES SPLIT

Crowd of 10,000 Fans Almost Evenly Divided in Opinion; Teuton's Aggressiveness Wins Approval.

New York, May 5.—(AP)—Chalk up one more disputed victory for Walter Neusel and credit it to the young German heavyweight's aggressiveness rather than his skill or punching power.

A crowd of 10,000 split almost evenly in their opinions as to the merits of the verdict when Neusel was awarded a split decision over Tommy Loughran after their 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden last night.

But if the Philadelphia list the fight as Referee Arthur Donovan decided after the judges disagreed Tommy had only himself to blame. Loughran was content to hold on to merely every time Neusel charged into him, both fists flying.

Neusel fought the same sort of an aggressive rushing battle that brought him victories over Ray Impellieri and King Levinzky. He never stopped punching nor punning but missed more blows than he landed.

Despite his holding Loughran scored often enough to lead one judge to give him six rounds and Neusel four, but the other voted for the Teuton 5-4 with one even. Donovan cast the deciding ballot in Neusel's favor giving him six rounds to three for Loughran with one even.

One of those who most vehemently protested the decision was Max Baer.

"You won, Tommy," the Californian shouted. "His decisions like this that ruin boxing."

M. H. S. To Oppose Traders At Mount Nebo On Monday

Monday afternoon at 8:15 o'clock and the trade school better pitchers. The Mount Nebo, Manchester High and Manchester Trade will renew a diamond rivalry that has brought the Red and White five victories over the Mechanics in six starts during the last three years, the Traders lone triumph having been a 6 to 4 verdict last season after the high school had taken the initial contest, 7 to 1.

Looms As Natural
Monday's tussle has all the earmarks of a natural and a closely-contested encounter is anticipated by both Coach Tom Kelley of the high school and Coach Frank Crowley of the trade school. The Mechanics have been victorious in three out of four starts to date, while the Red and White is unbeaten in two starts.

CHUCK KLEIN IDOL OF CHICAGO CUBS' FANS AND PLAYERS

National League Batting Champ Has Infused Winning Spirit in Team; Is Highly Praised by Grimm.

Chicago, May 5.—(AP)—Thousands are shouting and whooping it up for Chuck Klein out at Wrigley field these days as the broad-shouldered hoosier bombards the distant fence, but his tremendous popularity goes even farther than that.

Wide-Open Admission
Before game time one day, I walked into the clubhouse and was struck with the wide-open admiration by the players for their new hero. Manager Charlie Grimm was close by and I mentioned it to him.

Seven Errors By Rivals Coupled With Four Hits Give Mechanics Victory

Quartus Limits Windy City Nine to Three Blows; Traders Score in Second and Sixth, Threaten Twice More; Orlowski Stars.

Manchester Trade gained its second consecutive shutout in four starts this season, when "Tony" Quartus, southpaw, limited Rockville to three hits in a seven inning contest at Mount Nebo grounds yesterday afternoon, bringing home the bacon by the score of 3-0. It was the Mechanics third victory in four games.

Manchester tallied one counter in the second and two more in the sixth, after threatening Rockville's platter once in the first with two men on and again in the third with all aboard.

Make First Threat
In the latter half of the first inning, Orlowski lead off man for the Trade, reached first on the initial sock upon being hit by a pitched ball, then immediately stole second on the first delivery to Bill Phelps, Phelps went down for the count of the first out.

Score First Run
Cook, lead off man in the second inning for the locals, reached first by virtue of an error by Deptula and second on a steal. Thompson chalked up two more strikeouts at this critical moment when he fanned Smith and Quartus. The visitors lineup will include Miss Alice D'Lugo, No. 1 honorary bowler of the United States.

FLETCHER-RAYBURN BILL INTERESTS CONNECTICUT

More Speeches by State Representatives On Market Curb Measure Than On Any This Session.

Washington, May 5.—(AP)—The House debate over the Fletcher-Rayburn Stock Exchange Control Bill brought speeches from more members of the Connecticut Congressional delegation than any measure brought before that body this year.

Representative Merritt drafted the minority committee report opposing the measure. Representative Bakewell joined him in opposition, on the other hand, Connecticut's two Democrats, Maloney and Koppelman, both appeared in its support.

Not even the red-proposed bill, which drew the unanimous position of Connecticut Republicans as well as a large proportion of the New England Democrats because of its vital relation to that section was met with the same opposition by the Connecticut delegation that greeted the Stock Exchange Bill.

Merritt's Charges
 Representative Merritt charged the bill would give too great power over corporate financing and therefore over the entire operation of the Federal Trade Commission. Such control he maintained, would discourage investment in corporate recovery.

Maloney denied the measure would hinder corporate financing. On the contrary, he said, its regulation would react to the benefit of the small, home England industries with their limited, closely owned capitalization and enable them more easily to meet their larger rivals conducted with a view to speculation in their securities.

Bakewell Opposed
 Although expressing himself as in favor of protective Stock Market regulation, Bakewell said he was opposed to the broad powers given by this bill to the Federal Trade Commission and to the margin requirements. He read letters from Brower Hewitt, West Haven manufacturer and N. W. Pickering of Ansonia, opposing the measure and said they were typical of many other letters he had received from Connecticut industrial leaders.

Maloney once cut into Bakewell's address.

After Bakewell had agreed the bill would offer a measure of protection to investors with the comment "a very wise man said that the only result of legislation that tried to protect the fools from the huge mass of the herd would be to people the entire world with fools," Maloney asked:

"Does the gentleman mean to infer that all the people who lost money in the Stock Market since 1929 were fools?"

"Certainly not," Bakewell replied, "and a lot of them would have been saved if some of the provisions of this bill had been in force."

"I want to repeat," he continued, "that I am not opposing the provisions to regulate the Stock Market. We are for that, but I am opposed to tacking onto this bill the other half of it, which has to do with control of industry, and I think we should take time to rewrite the bill so as to eliminate the objectionable and dangerous features."

Two of the amendments to the Kerr tobacco reduction bill proposed by Representative Koppelman have been included in the bill as reported by the sub-committee to the full committee on agriculture.

The one authorizing the secretary of agriculture to make individuals contract with growers who do not benefit from membership in any agency or association which cooperate with the department went in as drafted by Koppelman.

The other, that designed to curb importation in keeping with production of cigar tobacco was amended by the Department of Agriculture.

Koppelman's amendment would give the secretary power to assess a $25 tax on importations in excess of an amount to be estimated on the basis of the 1931 and 1932 importations. The amendment will extend the power of the Secretary of Agriculture to estimate the amount to be permitted to come in untaxed in accordance with its possible effect on the American production control plan.

Secretary Wallace handled the question before the commercial policy committee of which he is a member for Koppelman.

Wallace, the Congressman said, suggested that Koppelman appear with him before the committee on a certain day to discuss the question.

However, at the door of the committee room he told Koppelman the latter would have to wait outside, but promised to take the question up with committee members, shortly afterward the secretary appeared bearing a memorandum written out in long hand with suggestions for minor changes which would meet the questions raised by members of the committee. Koppelman then took the memorandum to agricultural adjustment administration officials for incorporation in a proposed draft of the bill.

Koppelman's resolution for an investigation by the Federal Trade Commission into the milk distributing industry has been placed on the House calendar and may be acted on Monday. At Koppelman's suggestion, Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, has introduced a similar resolution in the Senate.

Former U. S. Senator Hiram Bingham appeared before his successful opponent in the last election recently to speak at a committee hearing.

Senator Longman sat as chairman of a sub-committee of the Interstate Commerce Commission to consider a bill to prohibit air and water carriers issuing passes under certain conditions. Bingham appeared with Senator Black, Democrat, Alabama, author of the measure, to support it.

TO SURVEY FACILITIES FOR MATERNITY CARE
Maternal Welfare Committee to Appraise Available Service in Manchester.

Plans for a survey of the maternity facilities of Manchester with a view to providing the best possible care for all expectant mothers were made yesterday at the initial meeting of the Maternal Welfare committee, at the Health Center on Haynes street.

Dr. D. C. Y. Moore was selected chairman of the committee. The other members are Mrs. W. C. Cheney, Mrs. W. Holman, Mrs. J. F. Van Ness, Mrs. C. C. Currier, Jr., Mrs. Horace B. Learned, Mrs. Mabel Case Viot and Mrs. Walter Gorman, members of the Manchester Public Health Nursing association. Dr. D. M. Caldwell, chief of the obstetrical division of the hospital and Mr. George Lundberg and Mrs. Howard Boyd and Noah Burr, medical advisors of the P. H. Nursing association; Mrs. J. J. Albrington, superintendent of the hospital, and Miss Dorothy Buttle, visiting nurse of the P. H. Nursing association.

The purpose of the survey, according to Dr. Moore is to determine definitely those facilities which are commendable, and should be made available to every mother, as well as to disclose what aspects of maternity care are in need of improvement.

After the appraisal has been finished, the facts disclosed, together with the recommendations of the committee, will be entered in a nation-wide contest for the best appraisal, conducted by the Maternal Center Association of New York City in connection with its annual Mother's Day observance. Four different blanks are to be used, Dr. Moore stated. They are concerned with hospital facilities and statistics of births and maternal deaths. Facts concerning the care received by the mothers are to be shown in detail. Searching inquiry is to be made also into the extent and value of the education of mothers and what constitutes adequate care, as well as just what the care is which mothers are now receiving in the community. Specific plans for improving maternity care, based on the need shown by the facts found, will be decided upon at the next meeting of the committee.

"In the United States a whole," said Dr. Moore, "the death

SWEDISH POLITICAL CLUB TO BE ACTIVE

Will Press Campaign to Get Voters to Polls, President Olson Says.

A vigorous campaign to quicken the interest of local voters in community affairs so that they will go to the polls and vote on primary and election days is to be launched by the Swedish-American Political club, it was learned today.

John I. Olson, president of the club, said today that a meeting of the club will be held next Thursday night in Orange hall, at which time plans already promulgated to divide the town into sixteen sections, each section in charge of a captain, will be furthered.

To Raise Funds
 Mr. Olson said that the club will give a series of card parties, dances and other social affairs in the near future for the purpose of raising funds to make the club self-sustaining. A card party will be held soon and it is planned to have a well-known speaker present to give a talk.

The captains will be responsible for their respective sections and see to it that calls are made on the voters and steps taken to arouse their interest in community matters.

Too Early For Names
 Questions regarding reports that the club planned to place several candidates for town offices in the field, Mr. Olson said it was a little too early to make known the names of persons who have been mentioned for town offices. He admitted, however, that Rev. K. E. Erickson, pastor of the Emanuel Lutheran church, would receive the club's endorsement if he consents to be a candidate for the Board of Education.

It also was learned today that Carl E. Johansson, of 70 Haynes street, had been mentioned as a candidate for representative in the General Assembly and would receive the support of the Swedish-American Political club. Six persons have been mentioned for the Board of Selectmen, but Mr. Olson today declined to divulge their names.

$10,000 DAMAGES ASKED IN MRS. KEENEY'S DEATH

Mohr's Bakery Defendant—Follows Accident on Main Street Last November.

A suit in which $10,000 damage is asked, goes to trial in the Superior Court of this county, civil side, on Wednesday next week, brought against the Mohr Bakery, Inc., by the estate of Mrs. Frances J. Keeney who died at the Manchester Memorial hospital soon after being struck and injured by an automobile owned by the Mohr company and being driven by Robert P. Anderson of 8 Finlay street, November 29, 1933.

The accident occurred at 8:30 in the evening near the Montgomery Ward Company store as Mrs. Keeney, who lived at 659 Keeney street, was crossing the road. The suit was brought by Judge William S. Hyde and was assigned for a hearing before the court last week, but was not reached. At the short calendar session yesterday in Hartford it was assigned for Wednesday morning.

Deaths Last Night

Red Wing, Minn.—John T. Fulton, 62, superintendent of the State Training School here and president of the National Conference of Juvenile Agencies.

Indianapolis—Dr. Thomas Carr Howe, 66, president emeritus of Butler University, died here.

New York—John Greenough, 88, retired banker and president of the American Geographical Society.

THE TINY WIVES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tiny girls watch King Cole eat, and shortly he said, "What a treat! There's nothing I like better than my bowl of food each day."

"You'll notice that I'm rather fat. I always blame my food for that." Then Doty said, "I guess that we will run along and play."

"Ah, wait a minute," cried the king. "You youngsters will do no such thing. You've served me well and I am going to pay you with a meal."

"I'll light my pipe, if you don't mind, and then we'll see what we can find. You all look hungry. When you eat, much better you will feel."

Out to the pantry they all tore and there they found fine food galore. "Just help yourselves," exclaimed the king. "Then I've another plan. I'll leave you alone. I'll wait for you, back or my throne. I want you all to have enough, so eat all that you can."

My, what a feast the Tines had. Wee Goldy shortly said, "I'm glad that we came to this palace. It is almost a treat each day."

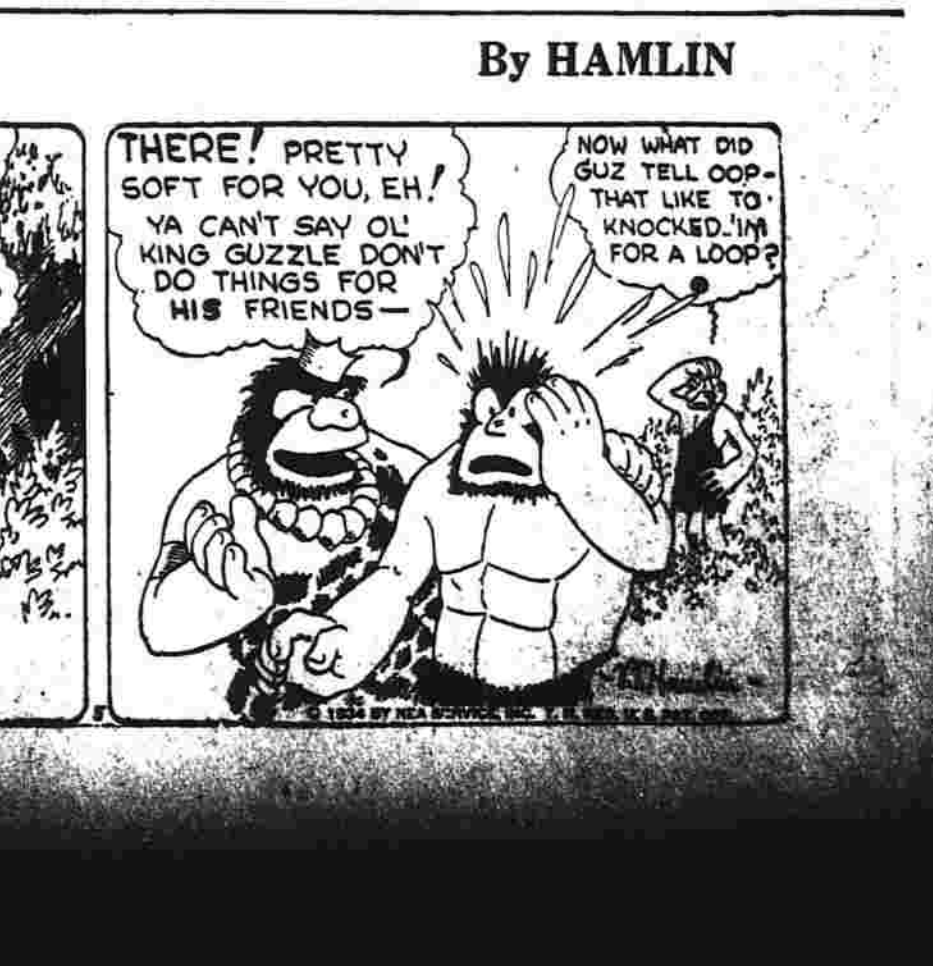

Then Duncy shouted, "Hey! Look there! I see something that's really rare. Then from a large icebox he took a platter of ice cream."

"Can any of you youngsters play a tune before you go away?" "Where are the fiddles?" Scouty shouted. "Shortly you will see."

The fiddles were brought forth and then the old king smiled real broadly when three of the fiddles played a tune. It sounded very sweet.

Then Duncy cried, "I'll take a chance and try to do a little dance." As he performed, he shouted, "I am sure light on my feet."

(The Tines see the cow jump over the moon in the next story.)

SENSE and NONSENSE

The headless horseman was a myth, but the headless motorist is a stark reality.

Motor Tourist (with an eye to mountain scenery)—Have you a gorge?
Native—Well, sir, we supply a five-course dinner for seventy cents.

Car ... Careless ... Carless.

And maybe you think it's easy to find jokes that Ed Wynn, Eddie Cantor and Joe Penner won't pull on the radio before we can get them into print.

The car broke down and the driver, his wife and children couldn't start it. The mechanic came from the garage. He took one look at the machine, tapped it several times with a wrench and told the driver to start the engine. The bill was $25.00. The itemized statement read:
Tapping with wrench ..... $1.00
Knowing where to tap ..... 24.00

Nothing like a flat tire to spoil a joy ride and nothing like a flat tire to wreck a marriage.

Judge (in dentist chair)—Do you swear that you will pull the tooth, the whole tooth, and nothing but the tooth?

We know a local woman who should make a good motor car mechanic, if she could be taught to handle the tools—she is already expert on diagnosis, concisely characterizing anything that goes wrong with her car as "something the matter with the complicator."

Mrs. Gadabout—A husband should bring home the bacon!
Mr. Gadabout—Yeah! And a wife should be there to cook it.

If You Must Drive Fast, Don't Do It Unless You Are Sure You Can Think Fast—And Act Even Faster.

Husband—Let's have some fun this evening.
Bored Wife—O. K., and please, leave the light on in the hall if you get home before I do.

A machine has been developed that registers the thoughts of motorists. It is understood, however, it stripped its gears last week in a test when a woman in the car ahead put out her right hand and turned left.

Youth—Lucette paints and powders a good deal, doesn't she?
Boy Friend—Yes, when you kiss her it's just like eating a marshmallow.

We know people, and so do you, who are clean in appearance from the chin down and now if they would only clean up their minds, we would thoroughly enjoy them.

If you want to hear all the news, much of which isn't true, spend an afternoon with your wife at her bridge club.

Theories are like an automobile owner believing he can operate his car without gas. When he tries it, the fact stares him in the face that it is impossible.

The Fellow Rated As a Good Spender is Often in the Bread Line Complaining That He Never Got a Break.

Interviewer—I'm told Mr. that you began life as a poor bricklayer. What was your first step forward?
Great Contractor—I became a good bricklayer.

A Lazy Love Letter
You are a wonderful, marvelous gal.
Ditto, et cetera, and so forth, et al.

Daughter—Going to bed, mother dear? Aren't you going to sit up and wait for Dad?
Mother—What's the use? I have such a cold I can hardly speak.

Some boys' hearts are like one-way streets, says Giggling Gladys—all the affection going in, but none coming out.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

In accordance with a change in rate, applicants for airplane pilot licenses now will pay $10 for the original and $6 for all renewal examinations.

About 24 per cent of the registered drivers in Pennsylvania are women.

Nineteen different forms of tax levies are imposed upon motorists of the United States.

It has been estimated that in one year American motorists travel 180 billion miles on highways.

In the city of New York alone there are more autos than in most foreign countries.

Accidents involving commercial motor vehicles have decreased 31 per cent in the last five years.

On the major racing circuits today, cars that were built as long as ten years ago are still winning races.

Racing cars are "torn down" after each major event and worn parts replaced.

In the first known automobile race in 1894, from Paris to Rouen, France, 102 cars attempted to exceed the minimum qualifying speed of 7 1/2 miles an hour.

Sir Malcolm Campbell, world speed king, will try for a new record next August across the salt lake beds of Utah.

In checking the list of the G. A. R. men in Manchester it has been found that there is not one member of Drake Post, G. A. R. of this place now living. The oldest veterans in Manchester today are the Spanish-American War veterans who left Manchester for service 36 years ago yesterday.

After an automobile accident near the Goat Farm on the Talcottville-Rockville road at 12:30 this morning, Miss Sally Houghton of Everett, Mass., was brought to the Manchester Memorial hospital. Her injuries were not serious and after being given first aid she was able to leave. The automobile in which she was a passenger turned over in rounding the curve.

George Harris has moved from Oxford street to Henry street.
Dr. John Allison has moved from Porter street to Wellington road.

Russell Saunders of 17 Russell street is confined to his home by an injury to his foot which he suffered when he stepped on a nail on the street. The nail penetrated his shoe and pierced the foot.

Music for the Rebekah entertainment Monday evening in Center church parish hall will be furnished by the Joyner ensemble. Miss Grace Sower will play for the incidental songs and dances called for in the three-act play, "Inlaws and Outlaws". Miss Lillian Hutt will accompany Miss Lillian Black who will sing, and Robert Sherwood and Russell Roberts will play the banjo.

Miss Belle W. Hanna, secretary to the principal of the New Britain Normal School for many years and now of the Teachers' College, which succeeded the school, will live in Manchester upon her retirement next month. Several months ago Miss Hanna's request for retirement was granted and she has since made plans to live with a sister who teaches in the local public schools.

William Moore, former resident of Buckland, arrived from Florida yesterday in his house on wheels. Moore reports a fine winter in the south and plenty of good fishing at Punta Gorda, where Mrs. Moore and he spent the winter.

The camp meeting of the Luther League of the Emanuel Lutheran church will hold an important meeting Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the church. The following are requested to be present: Irving Carlson, Carl Gustafson, Raymond Benson, Viola Larson, Eva Modson, Robert Vennart, Louise Berggren, Clarence Wogman, Dorothy Anderson and Philip Franzen.

A well-baby conference will be held at the Health Center on Hartford Road Monday at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Frank Handley and James Crowe, co-chairmen of large committees of the men and women of St. Bridget's church in charge of the Monday evening card social, announced that a slight error was made in yesterday's advertisement. The door prize for men will be a carton of cigarettes, not shirts. The women's attendance prize will be the same as last week, a permanent wave. Prizes will be awarded in bridge, whist and setback and refreshments will be served by the committee after the games and all players will be welcome.

Miss Marjorie Lyttle, of Eldridge street, who recently was discharged from the Manchester Memorial hospital after undergoing a major operation, is now convalescing at her home.

All members of the faculty of the local State Trade school attended a meeting of the American Vocational Association in Putnam last night, at which Ernest Butterfield, commissioner of education, was the principal speaker. Charles Turner, chairman of the association, also spoke.

Edwin T. Ferris, of 298 Oak street, called attention today to the unusually large swarm of black beetles that passed over the eastern section of the town last evening. The beetles were so thick that anyone in that area who chanced to be out of doors could not help being hit by them. They were headed southeast and soon passed over the town.

POLICE COURT

Carlo Cassinari, who has been in jail since Wednesday following a continuation of his case on a charge of assaulting his wife, was sentenced to 60 days in the Hartford County jail after he had entered a plea of guilty in Police Court today.

Prosecuting Attorney William J. Shea informed Judge Raymond Johnson that Cassinari had been drinking beer and while in his cups had committed a vicious assault upon his wife. Mr. Shea also said it was a common occurrence for Cassinari to beat up his spouse when he was under the influence of liquor. Mrs. Cassinari was unable to appear in court Wednesday, and for this reason the case against her husband was continued to this morning.

John Gudiefeld, of Somers, was fined $100 and costs after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. Gudiefeld was arrested at Main and Bigelow streets early this morning after he had tried in his car to crowd Sergeant John McGinn on the street at Haynes and Main streets. He was examined and pronounced intoxicated by Dr. LeVerne Holmes. Friends of Gudiefeld were trying to raise the money today but failed and he went to jail.

Program Pleases Audience Last Night.

The concert presented at the South Methodist church last night by the choir, assisted by Miss Miriam Watkins, under the direction of Archibald Sessions, had several worthy and interesting features. Apart from the assisting artist each one of those participating was a member of the choir, and in this respect seldom does one find such a degree of talent existing in a group as this. There were many solos each one of which proved the high standing of the soloist.

The stage was set in drawing room fashion with the members of the ensemble in group informally and with an added effect of subdued colored lights made a very pleasing appearance. The following was the program: "Salutation", Gains; "My love dwelt in a Northern land", Elgar; through the State. At this point it might be of interest to note that many prominent music lovers were noted from Hartford and other places. Very fine choral work was shown in each of the numbers but outstanding was the "Finale" from the 3rd act of the Opera "Martha" and also the church scene from Cavalleria Rusticana, the well-known opera by Mascagni, while the staging of the Hunting song, from "Robin Hood" by the men was a very excellent offering. Miss Madeline Buell was accompanist for Miss Watkins. Miss Lillian Hutt was accompanist for David Hutchinson. Mr. Sessions acted as accompanist for all the other offerings and each of these individuals added considerably in their work to the several soloists and in the chorus work.
