

HI-JACKERS FOILED IN GETTLE 'SNATCH'

Emissary Carrying $60,000 in Ransom Shoots His Way Out of Trap—Two Suspects Caught.

Los Angeles, May 14.—(AP)—The kidnapers of William F. Gettle, oil millionaire, and their victim hid safely away as dawn broke today after a night of sensational episodes in which an emissary, carrying a ransom of $60,000, escaped, presumably from hijackers, after repeated attempts to contact the abductors.

The denouncement of a bizarre series of maneuvers came about 3:30 a. m., when the intermediary, traveling in a small car with a black satchel containing the ransom in $5 and $10 bills, shot his way out of a trap.

Before he drew a revolver to protect himself from a group he believed to be hijackers he had spent nearly five hours patiently driving through metropolitan Los Angeles, picking up at intervals instructions which were to have led to the actual delivery of the ransom.

After coming upon the third of these notes and while driving on a dark street between the old river bridge and the city of Maywood, about eight miles southwest of the central Los Angeles business district, three machines closed in upon him, police reported.

He Opens Fire Quickly sensing from the tenor of the notes that the machines could not possibly contain the kidnapers and fearing an attempt by outsiders to take the ransom from him, he opened fire. Shots were exchanged. The emissary whose name, upon police request, was withheld due to a telephone hearing, police headquarters he was safe, and a squad of detectives rushed to his protection.

The first report of the encounter came from a patrolman who had been stationed in the district and it led to a police raid on a garage where the ransom had been paid and ordering scores of fast police machines to surround the district.

Prearranged Plan Over an area of possibly 30 square miles the machines took strategic positions. Throughout the night, as though moved on a gigantic checkerboard, they had followed the progress of the emissary. This had been accomplished by disguising the broadcasts, the automobiles

KIDNAP WITNESS KILLED BY GUNMEN

Machine Gun Used by Slayers Who Disappear After Crime; Woman Arrested.

St. Louis, May 14.—(AP)—Machine gunners who had the help of John C. Johnson, 47-year-old negro farmer, a state's star witness in the 1931 kidnaping of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley, socially prominent St. Louis physician.

The slaying of Johnson as he dozed beside the home of Deputy Sheriff Harry Newbold was followed by the re-arrest and subsequent release on reduced bond of Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench, alleged "finger woman" in the abduction, and the departure from St. Louis of Adolph Fielder, 370-pound former Maplewood justice of the peace, whose story to a newspaper resulted in the indictment of Mrs. Muench, Johnson and four others.

Before going into hiding, Fielder told friends "it might be a good idea for me to put a few miles between myself and St. Louis."

Less than 12 hours after her re-arrest on a capias issued by Circuit Judge Robert F. McElhinney of St. Louis county, Judge Ernest S. Gantt of the Missouri Supreme Court late last night ordered Mrs. Muench released on $25,000 bond, half the amount under which she had been at liberty.

Murderers Flee. County authorities had made little progress today in their effort to identify two men who fired a volley of shots from a machine gun at a motor car. Johnson, free under $10,000 bond, stayed at the officers' home for "making good."

HOLD ENGINEER AS SUSPECT IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Body Found in Park—Had Been Strangled With Her Own Belt—Had Left Party—Engineer Is Suspected.

San Francisco, May 14.—(AP)—Twenty-two hours after the broken body of Miss Louise Jeppesen, 25, Utah girl, was found in Golden Gate Park, Millard Hickman, port engineer for the Matson Navigation company, was booked by police on a murder charge here today.

Hickman admitted, Captain of Inspectors Charles Dulles said, that Miss Jeppesen, member of a prominent Ogden and Salt Lake City family, was in his apartment until 8 a. m. Sunday, but that she then left alone.

The girl, whose body was found about an hour later in the park, was criminally attacked, beaten and strangled with a belt and scarf torn from her ensemble outfit, police said.

Others in the party who were Captain Dulles said Hickman, 40 years old, was in a party of four dancing and drinking with Miss Jeppesen Saturday night and into Sunday morning. Hickman, Captain Dulles said, declared he had no knowledge of the girl's death.

WELFARE DIETS FAIL IN TESTS

Hartford Clergymen Report $12.80 for a Week Lacks Variety and Quantity.

Hartford, May 14.—(AP)—The families of two Hartford clergymen who voluntarily have experimented with a welfare diet have each, after a week's test, asserted the allowance is insufficient to maintain them in a condition of full effectiveness.

The Rev. Charles C. Noble who has five in his family, said one prescribed diet, despite the careful selection of food for it, lacked both sufficient quality and quantity.

The Rev. Fletcher D. Parker whose family number seven, including a maid, says the allowance of the diet is too small. In their week's experiment Mrs. Parker lost three pounds, Mr. Parker, two, the maid, three, and each of three children had a loss of from one pound up to three pounds, while the four-year-old child lost no weight.

Cost $12.80 a Week The Parker experiment was on a net outlay of $12.80 for the week. Mrs. Parker did the shopping. A dollar was allowed for soap, ice and some accessories. Cooking expenses was not included in the total outlay for the seven.

Mr. Parker gave it as his opinion that a lessened diet makes for physical and mental uneasiness.

Mr. Noble after his week's experiment pointed out that the diet became monotonous. The children became irritable, quite out of keeping with their usual buoyant spirits about meal times.

Locked Quantity The food for the Nobles' meals was obtained largely from the city's stores. The three small girls did not lose weight, but Mr. and Mrs. Noble did. Noble said the city store food lacked variety and quantity. It was not fresh as if bought out of a market or grocery.

Kidnap Victim's Family

Wealthy and retired, William F. Gettle's interests centered in his family when kidnapers abducted him from his newly acquired estate near Arcadia, Calif., to hold him for ransom. The kidnaped oil man is shown here in a recent picture with Mrs. Gettle, whom he married 10 years ago, and their four children: Betty, 8-year-old twins, Bobbie, 6, and Jimmy, 4.

FORTY PERSONS KILLED BY EXPLOSION IN CHINA

100 Injured When Big Gas Tank Bursts—Flames Following Blast Lay Waste Residential Section.

Hongkong, May 14.—(AP)—Forty persons were estimated killed today and 100 injured when the explosion of a huge gas tank at West Point, Victoria, laid waste a residential section. All of those killed and injured were Chinese—most of them women and children.

Flames which followed the blast destroyed a tenement block of seven houses opposite the tank. The explosion shattered buildings in an adjoining block.

The sheet of flame which shot from the exploding gas tank apparently cut off the inhabitants of the tenement houses before they could reach safety after the blast.

Two other tanks close by remained intact.

West Point is on the northern side of Hongkong island, on Victoria harbor.

Many Rescued Every available piece of fire equipment in the city was rushed to the scene. Firemen rescued many women and children from the burning houses and children from certain Hungarians.

These Hungarians, says the report, lost their lives, crossed the border and were captured by Yugo Slav guards on the pretext that they were smuggling.

Shot and Bayoneted The report alleges that several were shot and bayoneted after a forced march through a snow-covered forest in their bare feet "the population indignantly expressing horror at the treatment."

Hungary charges that in some cases the Yugo Slavians refused to allow the Hungarians to give medical aid to the men shot and that "one man, mortally wounded, was allowed to lie on the ground with a Yugo Slavian constantly covering him with a rifle and he died there six hours later."

"The situation," says the complaint, "is grave and is without precedent in Europe. Its nature seriously affects the relations of Hungary and Yugo Slavia."

It is needless to tell the League of Nations the dangers which may arise today, more than ever, from conflicts between states which are not settled in time."

French Envoy Present Louis Barthou, foreign minister of France, attended the private meeting presided over by Augusto Vasconcelos of Portugal and persons cognizant with the recent Paris conversation said that disarmament prospects were gloomy unless Barthou was able to get unbreakable promises for his nation that France will be given military assistance if attacked.

France would like a military alliance with Great Britain but, failing this, desires a security system reinforcing the Locarno Pact. If she obtains this, she might consent to reduction of armaments, it was said.

However, declared a French spokesman, "France cannot accept a legalization of German rearmaments, which violate the treaty of Versailles."

The question of the boundary conflict between Peru and Colombia may be cleared up without League assistance, for Colombians said today that the negotiations at Rio de Janeiro between representatives of both nations are proceeding satisfactorily.

BRITAIN MAY PAY DEBTS IN SILVER

Move Afoot in Congress to Take $85,670,000 Taken Payment in Silver.

Washington, May 14.—(AP)—A move was afoot today to permit Great Britain to pay her June 15 war debt installment in silver if she desires.

Senator Thomas (D. Okla.), was described as ready to add to the projected Silver Nationalization bill a clause renewing authority to accept on that war debt.

Decision to put over the Hungary-Yugo Slavia question was reached at a private meeting of the Council which convened today its 79th session. It was intimated that the Chaco conflict between Paraguay and Bolivia may be taken up at the same time.

Great Britain made one token payment in silver under the authority of the Thomas Inflation amendment to the Farm bill. That authorization has since expired.

Otherwise the war debt situation appeared in a state of suspended animation today. The Roosevelt administration's position is that the United States is willing to talk things over individually with any of the debtors.

Mr. Roosevelt takes the view that payment of any or all of the $175,000,000 will be acceptable. But if

SUSPECTED SLAYER MAKES HIS ESCAPE

Slips Hand from Cuff and Disappears in Darkness; Other Suspects Held.

Streator, Ill., May 14.—(AP)—Vincent Okaren, 20, Rockdale, implicated with two other youths in the slaying Saturday night of John A. Ball, Dana, Ill., grocer, and threatened with lynching slipped from his handcuffs last night, and escaped by running through a field.

The three, who had been spirited away from a crowd which threatened to lynch them, were being brought from an inn east into the slaying at Mineola to Ottawa, Ill.

At Starling, Sheriff E. J. Welter, stopped at a tavern to investigate a recent holdup, taking with him another deputy. Two other officers remained in the automobile with the three prisoners.

Gave the Alarm Suddenly Joseph Kowalsky, 16, and his brother, Walter, 18, both of Morris, Ill., the other two in custody, cried out that Okaren had escaped. The officers started in pursuit, but he eluded them.

A search of the field and nearby farmlands proved fruitless, and the two other prisoners were locked up at Streator.

TWO FLIERS HOP OFF ON JOURNEY TO ROME

Japanese Say Russians Shot Manchukuoan Sailor

Tokyo, May 14.—(AP)—A Japanese army report said today that rifle fire from Russian military positions on the Russian bank of the Amur river Saturday killed one Manchukuoan sailor and wounded another aboard a steamer.

The shooting took place near the confluence of the Amur and Sungari rivers. The Amur forms the northern boundary of Manchukuo.

A Fango (Japanese) news agency dispatch from Hsingling (Changchun), capital of Manchukuo, said the foreign office was preparing a protest to the Soviet consul-general at Harbin, Manchukuo.

Tokyo government officials expressed the opinion that serious Russo-Japanese friction as a result of the incident was unlikely in view of the serious efforts being made by both governments recently to arrive at a friendly solution of Russo-Japanese issues.

ASK FEDERAL GUARANTEE FOR BUILDING OF HOMES

President in Message to Congress Outlines Plan to Create Jobs and Assist Recovery.

Washington, May 14.—(AP)—Government insurance of private financing for home construction and repair was proposed today by President Roosevelt in a message to Congress.

The President urged action at this session on the two-fold program which he said would add to employment and provide "tangible, useful wealth in a form for which there is great social and economic need."

Loans for modernization would be made by private agencies which would be insured by governmental agencies against loss up to a certain percentage of their advances.

Mutual mortgage insurance under governmental direction to enable private agencies to make first mortgage loans on newly constructed houses up to 80 per cent of the appraised value of the property would be provided. New mortgages would be allowed on existing homes up to 60 per cent of the appraised value of the property. The loans would usually carry not more than five per cent interest.

Federal Insurance The President proposed further Federal insurance for share and certificate holders in building and loan associations, similar to the insurance provided for bank depositors.

Also Mr. Roosevelt would provide incorporation of mortgage associations under strict Federal supervision to increase the amount of mortgage funds available in regions where interest rates are unduly high.

"Modernization of commercial and industrial structures," said the President, "is envisioned, as well as residential, but the new features providing governmental assistance are confined largely to home improvements."

THE MESSAGE The President's message follows: To the Congress: "May I draw your attention to some important suggestions for legislation which should tend to improve conditions for those who live in houses, those who repair and construct houses, and those who invest in houses?"

"Many of our homes are in deplorable condition and not fit for human habitation. They need repairing and modernizing to bring them up to the standard of the times. Many new homes now are needed to replace those not worth repairing."

"The protection of the health and safety of the people demands that this renovating and building be done speedily. The Federal government should take the initiative immediately to co-operate with private

Seeking Former Prisoner To Help Out Astronomers

Chicago, May 14.—(AP)—A former prisoner is being sought as one of the few men in the world with sufficient skill to assist in the production of the world's largest telescope.

Dimayed at the breaking of the mold for the 72-inch lens for the new University of Texas Observatory, New York glass makers communicated with Sheriff Harry Crawford at Geneva, Ill., yesterday asking for the address of John E. Melish.

For many months, while he awaited trial, Melish was permitted to work in his laboratory because of the demands of science for his unique skill.

Capt. George R. Pond and Lieut. Cesare Sabelli Expect to Make 4,500 Mile Non-Stop Flight to Eternal City in 40 Hours—Stormy Weather Ahead of Them.

Biddleford, Me., May 14.—(AP)—A belated report from lookouts at the Fletcher's Neck Life saving station at noon said a plane believed to be the Rome-bound craft of Pond and Sabelli was heard at mid-morning. The ship was not visible either because of its altitude or its distance from shore.

THE HOP-OFF.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 14.—(AP)—Capt. George R. Pond and Lieut. Cesare Sabelli soared away from Floyd Bennett Field at 6:24 a. m., eastern stand time, today with the announced intention of reaching Rome without a stop. They said their large orange and maroon monoplane could make the 4,500-mile flight in about 40 hours.

Pond, a former navy flier, and Sabelli, one-time Italian war ace, had been planning the flight for months. They had hoped originally to make the attempt last fall but abandoned the idea because of unfavorable weather.

Their plane, "Leonardo Da Vinci," with 880 gallons of gasoline, carried enough fuel to last more than 40 hours.

Weather reports indicated favorable winds, but noted a low pressure area over the North Atlantic coast which the fliers said they would fly over.

They set a course over Cape Race, Newfoundland, and the Great Circle route. If the weather holds, they said, they may abandon the attempt to make Rome and land in France or Spain.

Today's attempt is the first trans-Atlantic flight of the year. Only a few times in the past were at the airport to see them off. The sky was overcast as the big plane soared away.

The plane made a perfect take-off, rising easily into the air after a run of about 1,000 feet.

Pond, who was at the controls, kept the plane at an altitude of 100 feet as it flew over Jamaica Bay, then banked it sharply and darted away toward the northeast. It had disappeared from sight less than five minutes after leaving the ground.

The "Leonardo da Vinci" is powered with a Wright J6 motor, capable of developing 300 horsepower. It has a maximum speed of 150 miles per hour and a cruising speed of 120 miles.

The fliers are carrying a wireless receiver and have made arrangements for hourly weather reports.

Loans Flying Suit Sabelli is 37 years old and lives in New York. His flying suit was loaned to him by Fyvie Rex of Cleveland. It bears the autograph of Ethel Barrymore, Frank Hawkins and Jimmy Doolittle.

Pond, 40 years old, is considered an outstanding navigator and pilot. He makes his home at the Explorers' Club in New York.

The flight, if successful, will be the first from New York to Rome. Thirteen persons have been lost in five other attempts.

Sabelli, who became an American citizen several years ago, gained wide notice in 1925 when he and Roger C. Williams projected a flight to Italy in the giant seaplane "Roma." The flight did not materialize and later Sabelli sought $250,000 damages against Bellanca Aircraft Corporation, saying that after he spent time and money planning the flight the Bellanca, who had agreed to sell him the plane, got it back from him.

Captain Pond added to his aviation laurels in 1929 when he and another flier successfully carried mail to and from the liner Leviathan, which was outbound bound 60 miles off Ambrose Channel lights. It was a forerunner of the ship-to-shore service of more recent days.

Pond spent a year in the Army's 12 assorted squadrons, three years of tomato juice, a jar of orange juice, a quart of coffee, a gallon of water, three pounds of eating chocolate, Italian bread sticks and two cans of emergency rations comprising dried fruit and preserved vegetables.

The plane carries the number 13137.

AIRBORNE FEARED Rome, May 14.—(AP)—The Italian military officials at Washington yesterday said they were trying to get the plane to Rome. The plane was seen at the airport at Rome yesterday.

Eight Killed, Five Hurt In Trying to Save a Dog

Fontainebleau, France, May 14.—(AP)—Eight persons—six men and two women—were dead and five injured because of an automobile racing driver's efforts to save the life of a dog.

The driver, Eric Cochin, an army aviator, lost control of his car and it hurtled into a mass of spectators when he swerved during a race in Fontainebleau forest to avoid hitting the animal.

Cochin died in a hospital. One of the women killed was decapitated. The spectators had attracted Cochin's attention to the dog, warning him and crying out when it dashed out upon the speedy car.

The dog apparently escaped unhurt.

FORMER PATIENTS HOSPITAL GUESTS

Fine Program Presented Saturday—Miss Watkins, Mr. Pearson Sing.

National Hospital Day was observed at the Manchester Memorial hospital with unique and appropriate ceremonies Saturday afternoon when the hospital was host to about 100 former patients of the hospital over three-score years of age.

Those who attended were delighted with the program of old songs so well known to everyone in attendance and the novelty of the setting under bright skies and on verdant green lawns added much to the annual observance of National Hospital Day.

Rev. Watson Woodruff delivered an appropriate address on the value of the hospitals to the communities of the Nation. He described in detail the growth of hospitals in Canada, the United States and the Orient and stated that 750,000 persons daily spend a portion of their lives in institutions similar to our own.

The current observance of National Hospital Day was observed in honor of Miss Mary Cheney, who for so many years assisted the members of the board of trustees, of which she was a valued member, and whose special delight was in doing something unobtrusively for its staff and patients within its confines.

Day. The idea took from the start. That first year over one thousand hospitals arranged programs. Each year more hospitals joined in the movement.

"Do you know that there are seven thousand hospitals in the United States and averaging one hundred patients daily per hospital; that there are seven hundred thousand men, women and children on hospital beds daily? That is close to three-quarters of a million."

"Do you know that there are five hundred thousand trustees, members of medical staffs, nurses, dietitians, laboratory workers, attendants working or on call every day, twenty-four hours a day? Quite an army that. Think of the good they do. Think of the lives they save. Think of the plagues and pestilences they prevent. Think of the doctors and the nurses they train."

"The hospital today is rather a remarkable institution. The medical profession has made wonderful strides in the last decade. Doctors have learned to keep from getting out of date and to keep on the hand."

"A good hospital is a distinct asset to any community. The care of the sick is big business. The generous support of and substantial expenditure in the hospital is a vital factor for community welfare."

"We who live in Manchester are proud of our hospital. We have reason to be. It is an unusually fine hospital. It is a common place for us who frequently visit it to hear men and women patients speak enthusiastically about its service, its atmosphere, its beauty, its homeliness, its cuisine."

"If you do not know your hospital today is your opportunity. It is a part of the idea of Hospital Day that people should visit it and inspect it and examine it. This is your privilege today. The more you see of it the better you will like it."

"Manchester Hospital is not a gloomy or fearsome place. There are sad things, of course, but no gloom. This is a cheerful institution in which long faces are unknown. I should know. I know the superintendent and the office force and the medical staff and the nurses and the building superintendent and the women who work on the floors, and I can personally guarantee that when you come here you will get service with a smile."

"And now I am asked to say a few words about the dear woman whose gentle face and figure were very familiar to all those who frequent this place, Miss Mary Cheney, chairman of the Board since its beginning. As I said at her funeral service, Miss Mary was more than a woman among us. She was an institution and a symbol and she could very easily become a tradition in which there was some thing to be learned from her example and stood for the highest and noblest of things. To what a host of people, men and women and children, brought relief and happiness and good cheer."

"Some of the people to whom Miss Mary was kind did not deserve her kindness and she knew it, but she kept right on being kind. They did not fool Miss Mary. And some of the people she helped did not thank her and she noticed it, but she kept right on being kind. But many did know and many rejoiced and were glad."

"Friends and admirers in this community were legion. She did more good than she knew and she had more friends than she knew. She never dreamed how many people loved her for what she was and for what she did."

and consulted together. Now could they arrange it that he should do a great deal of good and not know anything about it? At least it was shadow fell behind him where he could not see it, it should have mirrored working power. And thereafter whenever his shadow fell across a piece of parched ground, whenever he fell on dried up brook, the water ran once more over the stones, and whenever his shadow fell on the face of a crying child, the crying changed to laughter, and whenever his shadow fell upon a tired woman, she felt strong and rested once more. But the man knew nothing about it and the people respected his modesty and did not tell him about it and gradually his name was forgotten and he became known as the Holy Shadow."

"Miss Mary Cheney was one of those shadow fell upon many a life to revive and to bless. She too, did a great deal of good that she knew nothing about or thought nothing of. She had more friends, more admirers, more well wishers than ever she dreamed."

"At the conclusion of the program a lunch of fruit punch and cookies was served by Miss Claire Gordon, hospital dietitian and her staff. Many groups availed themselves of the opportunity of inspecting the hospital departments at close range during the day."

TWO FLIERS HOP OFF ON JOURNEY TO ROME

(Continued from Page One) arrive by day or by night. The Ciampino is better illuminated. The fliers are expected to reach here around 3:30 a. m. Wednesday, (9:30 p. m. Tuesday, e. s. t.). The weather in the Mediterranean area has been extremely uncertain recently with several violent storms. Today is cloudy with a strong south wind. The departure of the fliers aroused great enthusiasm and the news was displayed on Page One of the afternoon newspapers.

It was recalled that no non-stop flight has been made from the United States to Rome although Yancey and Williams arrived in 1929 following a stopover in Spain. Others have tried the flight and the planes "Old Glory" and "American Nurse" went down in the attempt.

IS KNOWN IN STATE New Haven, May 14.—(AP)—Captain George R. Pond, who with Lieutenant Cesare Sabelli is flying across the Atlantic, spent considerable time in Connecticut in 1930 making preparations for a flight which ended disastrously after weeks of delay.

He was chosen as chief pilot of the K of New Haven, giant flying ship for a projected non-stop refueling flight to Buenos Aires. The flight was originally scheduled to start from New Haven, but later the starting point was shifted to Brainard Field.

After days of tedious waiting and frequent postponements, the ship took off on May 30, 1930. Shortly afterward it returned to Brainard Field because of its failure to make contact with the fueling plane. Again the plane took off only to land in New York, because its crew explained, of a leakage in its oil pipe.

SIX LOST LIVES New York, May 14.—(AP)—Six fliers have lost their lives and two planes have been lost at sea in six attempted flights to Rome. Here is the record: Sept. 6, 1927—The Old Glory lost at sea. In it Lloyd Bertaud, J. D. Hill and Phil Payne.

Sept. 19, 1928—Forced Landing made by the Roma 30 miles at sea; returned with a crippled motor. Four airmen, Roger Q. Williams, Cesare Sabelli, Piero Bonelli and Dr. Leon Piscicelli aboard.

Oct. 11, 1928—Forced landing by the Columbia, manned by Roger Q. Williams and Piero Bonelli, on the Mincola. L. In it were Williams, Bonelli, Roger Q. Williams, Cesare Sabelli, Piero Bonelli and Dr. Leon Piscicelli.

PEACE DECLARED IN SOUTH ARABIA

Armistice Agreed Between Ibn Saud and Iman Yahya, Ruler of Yemen.

Jidda, Arabia, May 14.—(AP)—Peace settled over southwestern Arabia today after months of bitter fighting between the conquering Ibn Saud, King of Saudi Arabia, and the Iman Yahya, ruler of Yemen.

An armistice was agreed on, it was announced officially here, on terms laid down by Ibn Saud. His armies are in control of most of the ancient state of Yemen, bounded by Asir, Saudi Arabia, British-controlled Aden and the Red Sea. Envoys were reported meeting to plan a permanent peace at Taif, Arabia—5,500 feet up in the Hejaz mountains where Ibn Saud has been directing his armies by radio from his marble palace.

It is presumed the bespectacled, bearded monarch—most powerful Arab in the world—will set up a nominally independent Yemen, under Saudi domination. This angle of the armistice aroused some alarm in British circles where some believe Ibn Saud may eventually attempt to extend his empire into the Arabian Peninsula.

British, French and Italian warships have lain in the Red Sea near Hodeidah, Yemen's principal port, since fighting and looting broke out after the downfall of the city's administration, when the city's defenders fled before Ibn Saud's advancing armies.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, May 14.—(AP)—Stock market sentiment generally was tinged with indignity today and prices, as a whole, pointed downward. After some minor rallies in the early trading, the list was subject to rather sharp selling pressure around noon and the ticker tape lagged behind for transactions for a time. Losses ranged from 1 to 4 or more points before support arrived. The actively dwindled on the recoveries. Many stocks dropped to new lows on the year or longer.

Influences again were principally psychological in nature. Grain dropped as fresh forecasts of rain in the drying-out agricultural districts appeared. Wheat dropped more than 2 cents a bushel, but came back sympathetically with wheat. Rubber futures were fairly steady. Rubber ceased. Bonds were irregular. International dollar rates were fairly even.

Shares of Allied Chemical, at the worst, were off around 8 points. Continental had a sharp drop. International Harvester 3 and American Can, Case, U. S. Steel, Dupont, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Sears Roebuck and Company, Bethlehem Steel, and Kennecott, Chrysler and General Motors were a bit soft. The rails held their declines to fractions, as did most of the oils.

Commodity houses reported that short selling has become perceptibly, but that the bears showed disposition to take profits of the sizable dips. Early margin calls were numerous and some of the declines were attributed to liquidation of various shaky accounts.

MOVES TO PROTECT PACKAGE STORE MEN

Spellacy Asks That Owners Be Not Prosecuted if Decision Goes Against Them.

Hartford, May 14.—(AP)—Thomas J. Spellacy, counsel for the package stores in their effort to improve the unconstitutionality of the Connecticut Liquor Control Act, has filed a request with United States District Judge Edwin S. Thomas that when the Constitutional Court has filed its decision in the question of the law's upholding, a paragraph be included in the decision which would save from prosecution in the state courts, proprietors of package stores who might have violated the provisions of the law during the period when the Federal injunction was in full force and effect.

The question came before Judge Thomas at a conference in chambers last Wednesday. The office of the attorney general was represented by Assistant Attorney General William Nelson, who outlined the court that the question of enforcement is not a problem for the attorney general, the sole interest at this time being in the constitutionality of the law. The point discussed served to recall that when the Federal injunction was first issued, the offices of the attorney general and the liquor control commission issued warnings that violations might result in revocation of permits, if the law was found to be constitutional.

CHURCH SURVIVAL CONDITIONS NOTED

Prof. George P. Hedley Outlines Principles Continuance Depends On.

To a group which nearly filled the chapel of South Methodist church last evening, Prof. George P. Hedley of Hartford Seminary stated the conditions under which the church can continue to exist as an institution in discussing the question, "Can the Church Survive?" This was the second in the present series of Open Forums being conducted each Sunday night throughout May at this church, under the leadership of the pastor, Rev. Leonard C. Harris.

Prof. Hedley who is a brilliant and popular speaker, gave a most illuminating and challenging address, drawing on his fund of general religious information, he presented the topic from a historical viewpoint and brought it face up to the present day conditions. He enlightened his remarks with frequent illustration and quotation of appropriate verse.

The subject was, "Can the Church Survive?" and in beginning Prof. Hedley prefaced his remarks with another question, "Should the Church Survive?" and then proceeded to show the conditions under which it should.

Only if—
(1) it recognizes itself as being only a means to an end. The Church which exists merely for its own sake has no right to existence. The institution is significant only in so far as it renders genuine service to its members, to society at large, to each of the individuals of whom that society consists.

Signs of hope are, increasing activity of clergy and laity in community enterprises; willingness to recognize, and to participate in, services rendered by other institutions and individuals.
(2) It is intellectually honest. The world no longer will tolerate obscurantism. The Church must be willing to re-examine all its traditional positions and attitudes, and honestly to evaluate them in the light of modern knowledge and thought.

Signs of hope are, the popularization of critical knowledge of the Bible, and of the tendencies of philosophical enquiry; increasing freedom of expression in pulpit and pew.
(3) It learns to discriminate between essentials and non-essentials, and so to substitute unity for discord. Most of the grounds on which denominations were organized are now meaningless; and even among major religious groups we are obligated to discover common ground rather than to bicker over differences of tradition and theory.
Signs of hope are, increasing cooperation between religious groups; mutual respect of those who hold differing opinions; willingness to learn from another; uniting of local churches and allocation of territories.
(4) It meets the challenge of the present economic, political and international situation. Too long the Church has held itself aloof from these matters, or has allowed itself to become the tool of the established order. Unless its ethical positions carry over into the total life of mankind, it is convicted of user-futility.
Signs of hope are, growing public realization that, in all the varied relations of men with one another, the ideal way may prove to be the truly practical way; freedom claimed by clergymen, and granted by laity, in discussion of such questions; pronouncements of ecclesiastical bodies on problems in this field.
(5) it offers to humanity the discovery of inner resources adequate to meet all the complex and bewildering situations in which we find ourselves, as individuals and as a society. We shall not define our resources all in the same way—and our duty final definition; but unless we have a conviction of the ultimate reasonableness of the universe, and of the worth of life in and for itself, we shall remain in chaos. It is the opportunity and obligation of the Church to provide means by which we shall clarify our thinking and direct our emotions, so that the center of life may remain steady through all the storms that beset us.

Signs of hope have been evident throughout the centuries, wherever men and women have accepted an ideal, and have controlled their lives in adherence to it.
At the conclusion of the address several questions from members of the congregation brought out some very interesting points. This part of these forums is proving most valuable.
Next Sunday evening the speaker will be Prof. Hornell Hart of Hartford Seminary. He will discuss the subject "The Roosevelt Revolution—Is It the Way Out?"

NEW HAVEN OBSERVES POWDER HOUSE DAY

Stirring Chapters of Early History Reenacted by Second Co., Governor's Foot Guard.

New Haven, May 14—(AP)—Powder House Day—recalling one of the most stirring chapters in the early history of New Haven in which Captain Benedict Arnold played a heroic role—was observed today by the historic Second Company, Governor's Foot Guard.

The ceremonies marked the 159th anniversary of the departure of Captain Arnold and the company for Cambridge, Mass., in 1775 to assist in the Revolutionary War.
Many military guests from all parts of the east came to New Haven to witness the re-enactment of the historic demand by the company for the keys to the powder house. The keys were given up by a reluctant selectman only after his first refusal brought a threat that the powder would be taken by force.
Major Charles E. Lockhart, commandant of the Foot Guard, was cast for the role of captain Arnold in today's ceremonies and Sheridan T. Whitaker, former city judge, played the part of the selectman.
Governor Wilbur L. Cross and his staff were to be guests at a luncheon preceding the powder house ceremonies. The observance will close tonight with a banquet.

MOTHER
When evening stars adorned the skies
And birdings filled a nest,
She bowed and closed their sleepy eyes,
She held me to her breast.

Then rose lullabies were sung
And dreamland waited soon,
And I was rocked with gentle care
Beneath a cradle moon.
Her smile was Heaven, and her heart
Was filled with love and cheer,
She kissed the pain when I fell down
And brushed away each tear.
How golden are those memories
So cherished, true, and fine,
That picture one I'll always love,
That mother dear of mine!

Congressman Higgins of Tolland county, who is widely known in Rockville, the county seat, has received a letter from Regional Director Hatch relative to the painting which was selected at an exhibition held at Youngs hotel, Boston.

The following is the letter received from Regional Director Hatch, which was forwarded to Higgins: "Now that the public works art project has drawn to a close, we are making a distribution of the work done in New England. We have designated a water color painting by Y. E. Soderberg, of Mystic, Conn., for use of your office and feel certain that you will be interested in it."

"A retrospective exhibition of the work done under the project was held in Boston and was received by both newspaper critics and the public with great enthusiasm. This exhibition included sketches for nearly one-half of the fifty-one mural projects, a large number of easel paintings, portraits, sculpture, etchings, and scientific drawings, as well as representative examples of work done for educational purposes in the public schools and for the health department.

"The project has been an enormous inspiration to the artists who have worked for it and has helped them find their place in community life. You will realize this if you are familiar with Mr. Soderberg's work, for you will see by the example we are sending you a very definite progress and vigorous outlook."

"I hope you will enjoy the painting, which remains the property of the United States Treasury."

Professor James M. Muir, of Quincy, Mass., the first Superintendent of Schools in Rockville under the consolidated school plan, spent the week-end in Rockville with Mrs. Muir.

Mr. and Mrs. Muir were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas F. O'Loughlin and George P. and Miss Laura J. Wendheiser, of Elm street.

After spending the Saturday afternoon at the Avon golf course, Mr. and Mrs. Muir arrived in Rockville early last afternoon and called on their numerous friends in this section.

In the summer of 1916, Mr. and Mrs. Muir left Rockville for Quincy, Mass., where the former has since been superintendent of schools.

A visit was made to the different stores in Rockville by Mr. Muir who also called on his friends at the Rockville House where he made an inspection of the property.

On Sunday Mr. Muir visited the Union Congregational church and greeted his numerous friends there. Relative to the business in Quincy, Mr. Muir stated that the shipbuilding industry in that community is showing a marked improvement and that the firms have more than $40,000,000 in work on their books at the present time. Mr. Muir states that this means about a five year program in the shipbuilding industry.

Notwithstanding the fact that it was in 1911 that Mr. Muir retired as superintendent of the schools of the Town of Vernon, which includes the city of Rockville, he recalled many of the incidents when he was in Rockville and wished to be remembered to all former members of the Vernon Town school committee and school faculties.

Charged with failing to give one-half of the traveled portion of the highway to an oncoming automobile, Miss Mildred O'Neal, of Wallingford, entered a plea of nolo contendere when presented before Judge John E. Fisk in the Rockville City Court Saturday morning.

The case was of short duration and Miss O'Neal was returning from a trip to Canada on the night in question and suddenly turned out for a fallen tree, when she collided, accidentally, with an oncoming automobile.

The crash came with such force that the two automobiles were badly wrecked and Miss O'Neal and the occupants of the other automobile were taken to the Rockville City hospital. It was several weeks before they were discharged.

Miss O'Neal has since been suffering from the crash and has been receiving treatment.

Prosecutor John B. Thomas stated that he was not calling witnesses as he understood that Miss O'Neal was to plead guilty. Judge Downes, defending attorney, stated that he would not dispute the facts but would rather plead nolo contendere because of a civil suit he expected to be filed.

Judge Fisk stated that he was certain that Miss O'Neal did not intentionally caused the accident and that "what nine out of ten people would do under the circumstances."

Willington, pleaded guilty to the charge of failing to stop his automobile while driving through a through street. He was charged with driving an automobile from Brooklyn street to Vernon avenue without coming to a stop in compliance with the sign at the intersection.

Judge Fisk accepted the plea of guilty and noted the case upon payment of $4 of the costs. This saved the young man from a criminal record.

Alec McDonald of Brooklyn street was before the court on the charge of intoxication. He was arrested by Sergeant Peter Dowgievicz and entered a plea of guilty.

A penalty of thirty days in jail and costs of $18.18 was imposed by the court.

As McDonald had no money to pay his fine, Judge Fisk placed him on probation for a period of four months to pay the costs and suspended the jail sentence.

High Court Session A short calendar session of the Tolland County Superior Court was held this morning by Judge Ernest C. Simpson of New Haven, with ten cases on the bench.

In addition to the short calendar session today, a criminal case was also listed, being that of Nicholas Sklaraky, of Hebron, who was arrested last Wednesday on a bench warrant issued by Judge Simpson.

Nicholas Sklaraky, of Hebron, was before the Tolland County Superior Court back in 1932 at which time he was fined $100 and costs and placed upon probation to pay. He has failed to pay the fine or costs and as a result was arrested last Wednesday by Sergeant Harri-son L. Hurlburt of the State Police Barracks. He is now charged with non-support of his wife and six children under 16 years of age.

Special Church Ceremony A large number were present Sunday afternoon at the annual ceremony of the Children of Mary Sodality at St. Bernard's Catholic church at which time they "crowned the Blessed Virgin Mary."

The ceremony was held in the church at 3 o'clock and a very interesting talk was delivered by Rev. George T. Sinnott, pastor.

The members of the Children of Mary Sodality appeared at the church dressed in white and the ceremony was most impressive.

Miss Helen M. McCarthy had the honor of placing the crown upon the statue of the Blessed Virgin because of her faithfulness in attending the meetings of sodality during the past year.

Miss Katherine McCarthy and Miss Phyllis Hefferon assisted, while the crown bearer was Miss Marie Condon. The train bearers were William Pfunder Jr., and Allen Burke.

A special musical program was presented by the senior and junior choirs.

Mothers Day Program A special program was presented at the different churches of the city Sunday morning in observance of Mothers Day.

The Mothers club of the Union Congregational church had charge of the special program at the church Sunday morning with Miss Muir.

Constance Leigh, superintendent of the Newington Home for the Crippled Children as the speaker. Mrs. Bessie Heck, president of the club, presided while Mrs. Herbert Cockayne led in prayer and Mrs. Raymond Schruppf led the litany. A special musical program was presented by the mothers of the church. The members of the club also acted as ushers and collectors for the day.

Newell Homestead Destroyed The old Frank Newell Homestead at Crystal Lake, located on "Newell Hill," was totally destroyed by fire Sunday morning.

The fire occurred at about 10:30 o'clock and destroyed the one and one-half story house which measured about 24 by 40 feet.

The loss is estimated at about $3500 and is partly covered by insurance.

Both the Rockville and Ellington fire departments responded to the alarm and saved adjoining property from loss.

The valedictorian will be Miss Hannah Cohen, of Vernon, who has attained an average stand in scholarship of 94.83 in the past three and three-quarter years.

The salutatorian will be Miss Fannie Winokur, of Vernon, whose average was 83.87 per cent in the past three and three-quarter years. Both young ladies are graduating from the commercial course of the Rockville High school.

The names of other high standing pupils are to be announced on the program at the graduation exercises which are to be held at the George Sykes Memorial school Thursday evening, June 21.

All consumers of water furnished by the Ellington Water company and anyone else interested in this situation are invited to attend.

The members of the Connecticut State Department of Health and the local health officer, Dr. John E. Flaherty, of Rockville, will be present at this meeting to discuss the situation.

Plan Grand Chief's Visit The members of Damon Temple, Psychian Sisters, are to receive an official visitation of Grand Chief, Mrs. Elizabeth Morganson, of Meriden, and her official staff this evening.

The officers of the local temple are completing plans for the visitation. A very interesting program is being arranged, which will open with a supper served by the Ladies Aid society of the Rockville Baptist church at the church social rooms at 8:30 o'clock. This will be followed by the visitation.

followed by an entertainment program in Foresters Hall. The meeting will open at 8 o'clock and it is expected that there will be many visiting members throughout District No. 3 present.

Briefs Mrs. Ellen L. Chappelaine, mistress of the Rockville House, spent Sunday with relatives in New York city, making the trip by auto with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Finley.

Kiowa Council, Degree of Pochontas, and Tankerosan Tribe, No. 51, Improved Order of Red Men, are to hold a public card party this evening at Red Men's hall, Rockville National Bank buildings. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

The Ladies Catholic Benevolent association will hold a meeting Tuesday evening in their rooms in the Prescott block.

The regular meeting of the Board of Selectmen will be held Tuesday evening with First Selectman Francis J. Prichard presiding. Considerable routine business will be acted upon.

MONDAY, MAY 14.

go funny ways about solving it; if the liquor problem is a bigger and more conspicuous puzzle than it was in the days of the old time saloon system—at least the orderly and well motivated people who are the most distressed by it must admit that it is what they rooted for.

That there are a great many more places where strong drink is sold than are needed in this town is completely obvious. It is just as obvious that there are more of them than can continue to be operated decently for any great length of time.

Then what?

The Connecticut Liquor Control Act was a terrible mess when it was receiving the encomiums of so many of our best citizens a year ago; it is, naturally, a terrible mess now that it is in operation. It might as well be realized that there can never be any satisfactory administration of the law until we have a satisfactory law—and that the way to bring about better conditions is to insist on the establishment of a better system.

Meantime it is not, perhaps, a matter of the utmost importance that in proposing to limit the open time of the taverns to a single hour on Sunday afternoon the Selectmen seem to have resorted to needless indirection. Possibly the clearest and most sensible provision in the Liquor Control Act is the one that "the towns or the municipal authorities of any city or borough may fix by ordinance the times of sale under such permits and such ordinances shall supercede the regulations of the commission within the limits of such town, city or borough."

The right of the town to forbid altogether selling on Sunday or any other day, under that provision, would seem to be clear enough. Certainly there is no court ruling against it, for no town has yet availed itself of the provision and the question has never gone to the courts.

Whether or not the taverns alone can be selected as the subject of any kind of a closing mandate is another matter, because the section above quoted explicitly applies to "places operating under hotel permits, restaurant permits, tavern permits and club permits." There may be some question as to whether any closing time by-law would not have to apply to all of these in order to be valid.

However, there need be no expectation of any sort of satisfactory regulation of the liquor traffic until all the forces of good order and decency in this state combine in an honest and earnest effort to promote liquor legislation that is both intelligent and of honest social intent.

areas, over which such an unjustifiable furor has been kicked up, will have been forgotten altogether.

FIRST DUTY

"We will keep our hands off until tomorrow at 6 p. m.," said District Attorney Buron Fitts of Los Angeles, referring to the Gettelle kidnapping. "Our first concern is the welfare of Mr. Gettelle."

With all due respect to the feelings of Mr. Gettelle and his family, it is a serious question whether that individual's welfare has any right whatever to be the first consideration of the Los Angeles authorities. The first duty of those authorities is the protection of the entire population, not of one person; and the policy of police and prosecutors in keeping hands off while private negotiations are carried on with kidnapers is adding enormously to the incentive to this type of crime.

Mr. Fitts' "first concern" is, obviously, not with his first duty.

Health and Diet Advice
By Dr. Frank McCoy

START CURE OF ECZEMA NOW

The patient with eczema in a severe form can think of nothing else—the affected skin is fiery red, the itching may be so bad that he has a constant desire to dig with the fingernails and the more he scratches, the more tormenting the itching becomes. He may also suffer from keen embarrassment if the eczema is on the hands or face.

The chief cause of eczema comes from the inside of the body; and my experience has shown me that eczema is a curable disorder when the internal cause is removed. To totally overcome eczema, you must avoid those wrong food combinations which build up a systemic acidosis which is followed by a burning of the skin as the irritating fluid is thrown out through the pores. An ordinary case of eczema is caused by a wrong diet and is cured by learning how to eat correctly. Some of the errors which are most potent are: Using wrong food combinations such as starches and sugars, overeating of all kinds of food at one meal and the use of too many sweet foods.

The symptoms of eczema may be either the patient over a considerable period of time and I have seen cases where eczema has proved troublesome for as long as twenty years. The symptoms most commonly present are: Redness of the skin; a feeling of heat; and itching which may seem almost unbearable. If the eczema is of the dry variety, there forms a scale but if it is of the wet or weeping variety, there is considerable oozing of a clear fluid which will stiffen linen, and, as the affected area dries over, crusts form. Deep cracks may develop which are slow to heal.

When eczema exists, washing with soap and water may serve to make the irritation worse and it is a good plan to clean the parts with clean cotton and olive oil.

The first thought of the patient with anything wrong with the skin is to find something to rub on it. This is unfortunate as, while such outside remedies may provide a measure of temporary relief and act to soothe the itching, they cannot be considered an effective or permanent cure.

The treatment which I have found to be the best for eczema is the short fast followed by a cleansing diet and I have seen many hundreds of seemingly stubborn cases which were entirely cured by this method. It is often helpful to the patient in bringing about a more rapid recovery if he secures local treatments with the ultra violet ray light, or if these cannot be taken, to secure sunbaths over the affected part. This local treatment will get wonderfully quick results; but if the disease is to remain cured, the patient must remove the real cause which is coming from the inside of the body.

If you have this annoying skin trouble, I want you to do this: Get a piece of paper and write a one hundred and fifty word story about your case. Put this in an envelope. Now get one large envelope and write on it your name and address. Put this in your letter with two four-cent stamps, seal it, address it to me in care of this newspaper, and then drop it in the nearest mailbox.

New York, May 14—Meanderings: Broadway expected John Cury, the Tammany boss, to resign on account of ill health. He certainly had a bad case.

Walter Chrysler, Jr., complains that he's being drawn against his will into Papa Chrysler's vast industrial web. With the result that Junior hasn't much time for book printing, art collecting and orchestra management.

Henrik Van Loon collects those off-color accidents which sometimes slip into newspaper headlines.

Hard-boiled Ben Hecht has a roll house on his suburban estate overlooking the Hudson river. Built the house himself, too, and peopled it with sophisticated Mexican dolls which, by the way, he doesn't allow visiting children, if any.

Few strollers seem to recognize Thomas Meighan any more. And I think it saddens him, if any.

Marguerite Clark (whom I'd never have recognized) went to the Simpson Club to hear Estelle Taylor sing. Irene Bordoni and Paul Whitman attended the opening, too.

Speaking of silent-film stars, I find Blanche Sweet is playing with a stock company in an outlying town.

When June Knight left for Hollywood she also left a stricken fellow who sent her four white orchids every morning, four purple orchids every eve.

Seeing George Jean Nathan in a theater, I always think of how much he looks like Eddie Cantor when animated. It wasn't the play that interested him the other night, but Frances Langford, the night club singer, who sat beside him.

KILLINGS KEEP ON

With newspapers throughout the state co-operating with Motor Vehicle Commissioner Connor to the extent of their power on Saturday by giving front-page display to his urgent plea for week-end caution the automobile death toll nevertheless was continued. Half a dozen lives were needlessly snuffed out and the nature of the fatal accidents seems to indicate the extreme of mad recklessness.

Long ago we reached the conclusion that while admonition against heedless automobile driving may be of some use it is of little avail in the very quarters where effective restraint is most needed. The kind of drivers who cause the grisly list of fatal accidents are not, unfortunately, the kind who can be reached by advice. Those men and women who possess sufficient intelligence and enough of normal human instincts to be much affected by pleas and warnings such as those issued by the motor vehicles commissioner hardly, as a matter of fact, stand in much need of urging to reasonable care. The type of driver who kills himself and his fellow beings on the highway is the kind who either does not read at all or meers at every rational and advisory thing he does read.

There are many such—the world's smarties. Nobody is going to tell them! And far too many of them are behind the wheels of automobiles.

There is small basis in the fatality history of the last half dozen years in this state, for any faith that the highways can be made reasonably safe through any policy of moral suasion. We have given more than a fair trial to the system of allowing the driver to be his own judge of the safety of speed under existing conditions. Several thousand of our people are in the cemeteries as a result of that system. If it not, then, about time that we abandoned that system and had recourse to a regulatory code with teeth in it?

It is simply unbelievable that the police power of the state of Connecticut is unequal to the task of preventing this slaughter on the roads. It is a question of whether there is courage enough, stamina enough—guts enough—in this state to establish and enforce a set of regulations that would be, inevitably, annoying and irksome to thousands upon thousands of skilled motorists but which at the same time would indubitably have the result of cutting down to a minimum the terrific roster of automobile fatalities.

If we prefer our freedom to drive as we please over our freedom from perils imposed on us by reckless and speed mad lunatics, then we shall have to go on as we are. If we want some measure of safety on the roads we shall have to make some sacrifices of our own inclinations to pay for it.

THE DROUGHT BUILD-UP

The "build-up" of the drought scare continues, though under a handicap. On Saturday this newspaper pointed out that the extremely florid stories of crop disaster in the great agricultural areas clicked suspiciously in timing with the pendency of certain amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment act which are being bitterly opposed by a powerful aggregation of processors, handlers of farm products and other Big Business interests who find, in the present loose writing of the law, opportunities for profit for themselves. We went so far as to say that our guess was that the drought tales were grossly exaggerated.

Yesterday one of the most reputable Wall Street brokerage houses made public the result of its own survey of the crop situation. It gives the spring rainfall for the various grain-belt states as much below normal but in only two states, North Dakota and South Dakota, as less than half; in all the others from 58 to 79 per cent.

"While low enough to cause considerable damage if moisture deficiency continues over the next two or three weeks, these percentages," the survey report continues, "do not indicate a hopeless condition, although we must now reconcile ourselves a short spring wheat crop. The outlook for winter wheat is still fair and a normal crop is possible. Even the dust storms have not wrecked prospects."

This report goes on to forecast, in the event of good crop conditions hereafter, a spring wheat crop large enough, taken together with the prospects for winter wheat, to more than provide for the country's needs by some fifty million bushels. Since there was a carry-over of 250,000,000 bushels from last year the conservative estimate, in spite of the actual rain shortage and the exaggerated ballyhoo hung upon it, increases next fall's prospective carry-over to 300,000,000 bushels or twice that of normal times.

In addition to all this there has been considerable rain in the Midwest during the last forty-eight hours and it is a reasonable thing to expect that within a month the frightful devastation in the farm areas, over which such an unjustifiable furor has been kicked up, will have been forgotten altogether.

FIRST DUTY

"We will keep our hands off until tomorrow at 6 p. m.," said District Attorney Buron Fitts of Los Angeles, referring to the Gettelle kidnapping. "Our first concern is the welfare of Mr. Gettelle."

With all due respect to the feelings of Mr. Gettelle and his family, it is a serious question whether that individual's welfare has any right whatever to be the first consideration of the Los Angeles authorities. The first duty of those authorities is the protection of the entire population, not of one person; and the policy of police and prosecutors in keeping hands off while private negotiations are carried on with kidnapers is adding enormously to the incentive to this type of crime.

Mr. Fitts' "first concern" is, obviously, not with his first duty.

SUNDAY TAVERNS

The law under which Manchester now has more than half a hundred places where alcoholic liquors can be legally purchased, and under which is brought up the queer local proposal to limit the selling time on Sunday to a single hour, is the law, it might be as well to recall, to which the church people and other highly respectable element of this community, at the time when it was under discussion in the Legislature, gave their well-nigh unanimous support.

If that law is not now working to the satisfaction of the good folks who gave it their enthusiastic backing; if there are so many licensed places that they get into the community's hair, so to speak; if the town finds itself up against a Sunday liquor question and thinks it has to

U. S. Airmen Soon May Be Battling One Another in Jungles

NRA Brings Joy to Georgia Village . . . Light Cast on Three Senators' Records . . . Poultry Code to Combat Racket.

By BODNEY DUTCHER
Herald Washington Correspondent

Washington, May 14—American aviators soon may be shooting one another down in South American jungles, for inside the State Department it is considered better than an even bet that Colombia and Peru will soon be at war over Leticia.

The possibility of Americans battling one another comes as a result of employment by the government of Colombia of 25 U. S. aviators and a like number of mechanics. If Peru likewise calls in American technical aid, well.

Washington frowned on action of the aviators in going to Colombia, despite the fact that technically they will be instructors, as officials have good reason to believe that strife will result among the League of Nations commission now in charge of Leticia turns the area over to Colombia late in June.

Brazilian efforts at mediation have gotten nowhere, and both Peru and Colombia have been feverishly strengthening their air forces, spending millions in this country for planes and equipment.

Several of the aviators who have gone to South America are Reserve Corps officers. Their participation in a foreign war would be a cause of worry to the State Department.

Any American aviator who entered actual combat would lose his right to this government's protection.

They'll Swear by NRA . . . Just to prove that NRA isn't all sour apples, Senator Robert Wagner tells of what it did for a Georgia town of about 250 persons, located 50 miles from the ocean.

Only two persons in the village had ever seen the sea. Nearly everybody worked in the textile mill, sometimes at wages of $8 a week. Hours were so long that when Sunday came the community was too tired—as well as too poor—to go anywhere.

Suddenly minimum wages and maximum hours gave the workers two free days a week and more money than they ever dreamed of. The first thing they did was charter a little train.

The whole town piled on and went for a couple of days at the seashore, wallowing in the water and yelling and shouting their excitement until the train took them back Sunday night.

Three Senators' Records . . . Here are their voting records on some important roll calls:

David A. Reed of Pennsylvania voted for: Overriding the Roosevelt veterans' veto. Big Navy. Economy act. Anti-injunction bill. Sales tax. Repeal Beer.

He voted against: Bonus. Cotton control. Thirty-four week. LaFollette-Costigan unemployment relief and modified Democratic substitute. Income tax publicity. NRA. Farm act. No federal pay cut on salaries below $1000.

Arthur Robinson of Indiana voted for: Overriding veto. Bonus. Big Navy. Philippine Independence. Thirty-hour week. Income tax publicity. Anti-injunction. NRA. $500,000,000 unemployment relief. Farm act. No pay cut under $1000.

He voted against: Repeal. Economy act. Increasing CWA appropriation from $50,000,000 to $250,000,000. Cotton control. Beer. LaFollette-Costigan bill and Democratic substitute. Sales tax. Hamilton F. Keen of New Jersey voted for: Overriding veto. Big Navy. Economy act. Beer. Repeal. Anti-injunction. Sales tax.

He voted against: NRA. Farm act. $500,000,000 unemployment re-

Code Fights Racket . . . All the talk of regimentation and "government control of business" reminds one that the only NRA or AAA code which gives the government something to say about running an industry is just now going into effect.

This is the live poultry code for the New York metropolitan area, which provides, instead of a code authority from the industry, a code supervisor selected by Secretary Wallace and General Johnson, who has full authority in code administration except as he is responsible to Wallace.

The industry, now represented only by an advisory board, asked for a dictator because it was loaded down with rackets which took such toll as to threaten its survival.

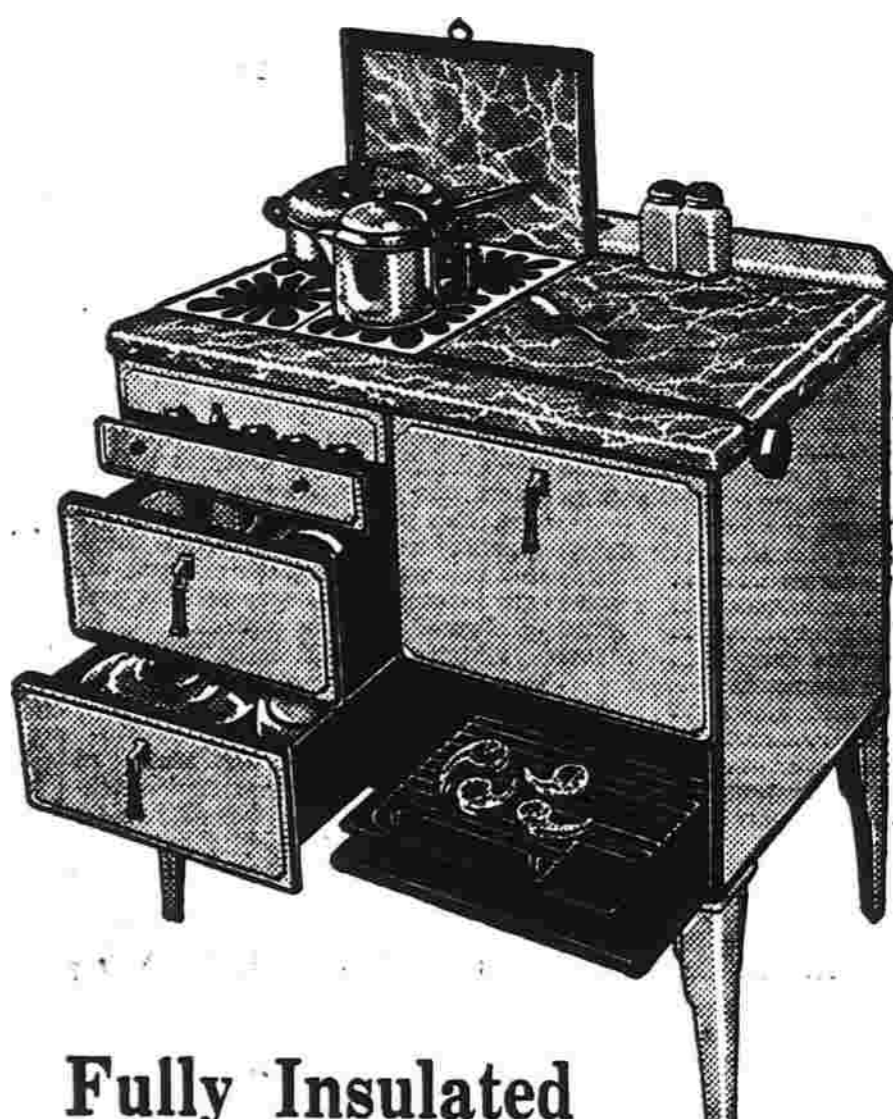

The dictator will be Code Supervisor Leroy Peterson, former consumer representative in AAA, who can outvote the whole industry.

SAM INSULL TALKS FOR SOUND MOVIES

Former Utilities Magnate Says He Will Fight for Complete Vindication.

Chicago, May 14.—(AP)—From a room in St. Luke's hospital Samuel Insull has sent his version of the collapse of his utilities empire. "I went down with my ship," he said. "The depression was too much for me. You will be convinced that although my judgment was bad, I was not dishonest."

The 74-year-old ex-financier who once had $200,000,000, was talking at the invitation of sound motion picture men. They visited Insull in the hospital where he is recuperating from the strain of his recent conflict with Federal authorities who allege he used the mails to defraud and violated the National Bankruptcy law.

"I have been fighting since boyhood," he said. "When I first arrived in this country 53 years ago all I had in the world was $200 and the promise of a job as secretary to Mr. Thomas A. Edison. Today I haven't that $200 or a job either."

"But I've got the biggest battle of my life on my hands and I'm ready for it. I am deeply thankful for the demonstration of loyalty on the part of old friends and friends I didn't even know I had. Men and women whose names I've never even heard came forward to go bail for me."

"It encourages me in the most important fight of my life—not only for freedom, but also for complete vindication. When the whole story is told, as it will be told, you may say I made a mistake, but you'll know I did everything I could to have the investors in my companies."

While Insull was talking, the government, through United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green, announced that "Insull is here and here to stay." The former utility magnate contends he was brought to America from Turkey illegally.

"How he got here is a matter for the State Department," Green said of the expected plea of Insull's counsel that the Federal Court is without jurisdiction.

"He was served with Federal warrants after he was on American soil," Green added, "and that, I think, settled the entire matter of jurisdiction of the courts."

Insull's preliminary hearing is set for tomorrow, but Green said it probably would not be necessary for Insull to appear in person. It was indicated he would continue to rest in the hospital, where he is a non-paying patient.

He is not required to pay because the institution was the beneficiary of his charities during the hey-day of his career.

CHINESE BANDITS HOLD MISSIONARY

Demand $35,000 for Release of Kidnaped Rev. Smith of Pennsylvania.

Hankow, China, May 14.—(AP)—Bandits under the command of the dread General Ho Lung demanded $35,000 ransom today for the kidnaped American missionary, the Rev. Howard Smith of Washington, Pa.

Mr. Smith was seized by renegades May 8 near Penghsien in Szechwan Province.

The ransom demand was communicated to the Christian Missionary Alliance headquarters here.

Mission and United States consular authorities were considering means of obtaining the missionary's release, but gave no thought to the bandits' demand since the mission's policy is not to pay ransom for kidnaped members. Besides, attaches said, the mission has no funds for the purpose.

Outlaws under the notorious Ho Lung have terrorized sections of China for many months. The renegade general is said to have large supplies of arms and to be immensely wealthy.

Fearing incursions of Kishui, in West Hupeh Province, American missionaries were reported to have evacuated that city today.

In addition to demanding the $35,000 ransom, Mr. Smith's captors specified that a $3,500 shipment of medicine must be sent them before the missionary will be released.

It was reported the bandits were compelling Mr. Smith to teach them English.

Mrs. Smith and a child were reported to have escaped unmolested at Penghsien.

600 PERSONS GUARDED

Chicago, May 14.—(AP)—The Chicago Herald and Examiner stated today that more than 600 persons in all parts of the country are on a "national protection list" and are being safeguarded by Federal and state authorities against possible kidnappings.

The newspaper asserted that 90 agents working from the Washington headquarters of the Department of Justice have been assigned to the exclusive job of watching the "hot cases"—those in which actual threats have been received.

The paper said the authorities had taken the "jump" in a number of cases, having afforded protection to those persons not threatened but who were considered as possible intended victims.

questioned were Thomas Dee, 40, official of an engineering concern; and Miss Blanche McKay, attractive blonde residing at a San Francisco hotel.

Dee and Miss McKay, both of whom declared they left Hickman's apartment prior to Miss Jeppesen's departure and knew nothing of her death, were released by police shortly before dawn after several hours of questioning.

Did Not Know Her Miss McKay said she was employed as a stenographer by the Federal government, and insisted she did not know Miss Jeppesen.

The police got me out of a sick bed to pile all this on me," she said. "I know nothing and don't know why I'm here."

Hickman, who told police he first met Miss Jeppesen May 8 through Dee, was quoted by Captain Dullea as saying:

"At no time have my relations with her advanced beyond a proper state."

Miss Jeppesen, Captain Dullea said Hickman claimed, "passed out" during the Saturday night party.

Assistant District Attorney Peter Mullins, who participated in the investigation, however, said employees at the hotel apartment reported they had seen Hickman enter the elevator with the girl.

SHOWER PARTY GIVEN MISS IRENE KEENEY

Lieutenant Irene Keene of Troop 7, Girl Scouts, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given by the girls Friday night at the home of Miss Virginia Armstrong of Buckland.

The purpose of the program is two-fold: first, to return many of the unemployed to useful and gainful occupation; second, to produce tangible, useful wealth in a form for which there is great, social and economic need.

The program consists of four major, inter-related divisions: 1. Modernization, repair, and new construction; 2. Mortgage insurance; 3. Mortgage associations, and 4. Building and loan insurance.

"The modernization phase of the program will furnish National guidance and support for locally-managed renovating campaigns throughout the country and protection for home owners against unwarranted cost advances. For these purposes and to assure adequate financing at low cost and on moderate terms of repayment, a new governmental agency is required.

"Modernization of commercial and industrial structures is envisioned, as well as residential, but the new features providing governmental assistance are confined largely to home improvements."

"Loans to individuals will be made by private agencies which will be insured by a governmental agency against loss up to a certain percentage of their advances. This insurance against loss on the rehabilitation loan will be met by the government and will be confined to advances of credit that meet standards and conditions designed to protect both the homeowners and the co-operating agencies."

"To make funds available for new home construction and to improve the mortgage market, the second phase of the program is long-term mortgage financing. It provides mutual mortgage insurance under governmental direction to enable private agencies to make first mortgage loans on newly constructed houses up to 80 per cent of the appraised value of the property, and to make new mortgages on existing homes up to 80 per cent of the appraised value of the property."

"Just 42 Buckets More, Pal"

This young fellow has about given up... the job. He already toted 16 buckets and now the big beast is crying for 42 more. Well, it's all water in the tub, and the dromedaries, with the World Brothers Big Desert, and can go many days without a drink, but the day you see them "fill up," then you will realize how they will give out for so long. The big circus will exhibit in Manchester on Tuesday, May 15, at Dougherty and Center streets, giving two complete performances, at 2 p. m. and at 8 p. m., the main doors opening one hour earlier.

The loans will usually carry not more than five per cent interest and will be amortized by periodic payments over 20 years. Similar insurance arrangements are provided to help finance low-cost residential projects of the slum-replacement type.

The third phase provides for the incorporation of mortgage associations under strict federal supervision to increase the amount of mortgage funds available in regions where interest rates are unduly high because sufficient local funds are lacking. The activities of these associations will be limited almost entirely to insured residential mortgages.

"Insurance for share and certificate holders in building and loan associations, similar to the insurance provided for bank depositors, in these institutions are custodians of the funds of small savers, and it is essential that they should be given every reasonable protection."

Insurance in order to arrest any further drain on these institutions and to put them in a position to resume their normal useful functions."

"I believe that the initiation of this broad and sound program will do much to alleviate distress and to raise perceptibly the standards of good living for many of our families through the land."

WORK SUSPENSION SUBJECT OF UNION

Will Be Leading Topic at U. T. W. Convention in Paterson, N. J., This Week.

Discussion of the closing of the silk mills in the country this week to curtail production will be in the front ranks of important matters to be taken up at a meeting of delegates to the United Textile Workers of America to be held in Paterson, N. J. this week.

Believe It Unnecessary Members of the union feel the shutdown was unnecessary and believe union officials should have been given an opportunity to present their views to the Silk Textile Code Authority before the closing was ordered.

There will be a meeting tonight of the executive committee of Local 2125 to name four local delegates to the Paterson session of the National Silk Textile Council this week. The delegates from Manchester expect to leave tomorrow and spend the remainder of the week in the New Jersey city.

It was said today that the local delegation will be especially interested in the Jacquard and novelty crepe work which will be discussed at length Saturday in Paterson.

Council Meeting President Arthur Shortt attended a state council meeting in Middletown yesterday. A session of the New England Textile Council will be held in Pawtucket, R. I., next Saturday, May 19, at which Local 2125 will be represented.

It was learned that the government would attempt to show that Dr. May was with Mrs. Smart several times during the four days that Dillinger lay wounded in Mrs. Salt's home and at the apartment of Mrs. Beth Green, thereby refuting his claims that he was "in fear of his life."

Mrs. Green, also charged with conspiracy to conceal and harbor the Indiana killer, has pleaded guilty. She is expected to be the government's star witness.

TO STUDY WEATHER BUREAU PROPOSALS

Sen. Loneragan Advised Inspection Will Be Made—Other Capital Data.

Washington, D. C., May 14.—Senator Loneragan, Conn., was advised today by the U. S. Weather Bureau that an inspection trip soon to be made along the airways in New England to improve weather reporting service, will include a trip by airplane to Hartford.

This action was taken after the Senator had urged careful study of four proposals by the Hartford Chamber of Commerce to enlarge the Bureau's service in the vicinity of Brainard Field. These proposals were as follows:

- 1.—To close the Hartford office of the Weather Bureau in the Federal building.
- 2.—Transfer Meteorologist Raple to the Aeronautical Division of the Department of Commerce, and station him at Brainard Field with such of his present equipment as may be needed there.
- 3.—Telegraph Brainard Field the 8 a. m. observations from about 75 stations, especially including for spring and early summer, the Canadian stations: Hallowbury, Harrington Harbor and Belle Isle.
- 4.—Approve the installation of an extension microphone at Brainard Field by Broadcasting Station WTIC.

In its report to the Senator the Weather Bureau clarified what appeared to be a misstatement by the Hartford Chamber of Commerce indicating that a consolidation of the Weather Bureau with the Aeronautical Division of the Department of Commerce was probably inevitable. Weather Bureau officials pointed out that no such consolidation is contemplated. They said, however, that a careful study is being made by an interdepartmental committee with a view to developing a close and effective co-ordination as possible of the weather and communication services of the two departments.

FARM BANK LOANS

Washington, D. C., May 14.—The Farm Credit Administration has informed Senator Loneragan, Conn., that loans by the Federal Land Bank and the Land Bank Commissioner during the month of April totalled $234,600 for the state of Connecticut.

Of the total sum there were 41 Federal Land Bank loans, representing $85,300 and 66 Land Bank Commissioner loans representing $149,300.

A report of loans made in the state from January 1, 1933, through April 30, 1934, showed 265 Federal Land Bank loans representing $656,900, and 383 Land Bank Commissioner loans of $721,800. The total of all loans was $1,378,700.

Applications for crop production loans will not be considered after May 15, the Senator was informed. A previous extension of fifteen days had been granted. This, it was pointed out, is a seasonal loan and does not involve the Land Bank Commissioner and Federal Land Bank loans which continue.

RAILROAD PENSIONS

Washington, D. C., May 14.—Railroad employees pension legislation will have an excellent chance for passage before adjournment of Congress unless there is unexpected delay in the legislative program, according to Senator Loneragan, (D) Connecticut, a member of the Senate Interstate Commerce committee.

The Hatfield-Wagner measure, S.3831, was favorably reported by the committee last Friday and is now waiting action on the Senate calendar. Senator Loneragan said that its provisions for a retirement system for railroad employees had remained almost intact, and that the committee had been very favorably impressed with the measure. He was active in its support in the committee hearings, and has also been an advocate of such legislation for several years.

As the bill now stands, pensions are to be payable from and after the age of 65 years, the Senator said, or upon completion of 30 years of service. Retirement is to be compulsory at age 65, with a provision for an agreement by the employee and the railroad to extend the employment from year to year, but not beyond age 70. Compulsory retirement at age 65 shall not apply to officials of carriers until five years after the act takes effect.

Administration of the system is to be under the direction and supervision of a board composed of five members, to be appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate.

EAST HARTFORD WATER

Washington, D. C., May 14.—An application by the town of East Hartford for a permit to lay several hundred feet of pipeline on the bed of the Connecticut river to carry a supplemental water supply from Hartford to East Hartford, was filed today with the Secretary of War by Senator Loneragan, (D) Connecticut.

According to information furnished the Senator by John J. Burke, president of East Hartford, the town's water supply is inadequate and it is absolutely necessary to obtain the supplemental supply from the Metropolitan District of Hartford. The State Highway Commissioner refused permission to run a pipeline across the boulevard bridge, and it became necessary to plan a pipeline along the bed of the river.

Senators Loneragan said that two plans had been submitted, one calling for 700 feet of pipe from State street in Hartford to Pitkin street in East Hartford, and the other for a stretch of pipe approximately 1-200 feet in length across the river just a short distance north of the stone arch bridge.

ANNAPOLIS ADMISSIONS

Washington, D. C.—The Navy Department has notified Senator Loneragan, of Connecticut, that his two principals to the Military Academy at West Point successfully passed their physical examinations and will be admitted to the Academy.

They are: Fred C. Teich, Jr., New Britain, Conn., and Elmer E. Hallinger, Bridgeport, Conn. Both candidates had previously qualified in their mental tests. They had been selected for nomination by the Senator from a list of candidates who took a preliminary competitive examination held by the Civil Service Commission.

LAFAYETTE MEMORIAL

Washington, D. C., May 14.—The Senate today passed H. J. Res. 317, by Representative Condon, Rhode Island, requesting the President to proclaim May 20, 1894, as General Lafayette Memorial Day in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of his death. Action came after a favorable report by the Senate Judiciary committee on a bill introduced by Chairman Ashurst and Senator Loneragan, Conn., which pressed for passage of the measure.

POLAND IMPORTS

Washington, D. C., May 14.—The State Department has assured Senator Loneragan, (Conn.) that it will continue its effort to effect a satisfactory adjustment with Poland to relieve American manufacturers of difficulties encountered by a compensating system by which imports from Poland are required to balance their exports with an equal export trade.

Upon complaint of the Manufacturers Association of Connecticut, who recently submitted specific cases in which Connecticut manufacturers had lost considerable export trade to Poland because of the system, State Department officials launched an inquiry several months ago and reported that the Polish government had adopted a foreign trade policy designed to preserve a favorable balance of trade through the reduction of imports by value below the value of Polish exports. This policy is being put into effect by various means, Senator Loneragan was advised, including the adoption of import quotas and contingents, and the utilization of the compensating system.

The report to Senator Loneragan said that the department hopes that the efforts of its representatives in Poland will ensure for American trade with Poland the equitable treatment to which it is entitled and will bring about an early amelioration of those conditions which you report as adversely affecting exports from Connecticut to Poland.

EQUAL NATIONALITY BILL

Washington, D. C.—The National Woman's Party has expressed appreciation to Senator Loneragan (D) Connecticut, for his active support of the equal nationality bill which passed the Senate last week. The measure had passed the House on April 24, and had aroused much debate in the Senate. Senator Loneragan was among those in charge of a private poll on the measure to assure its passage.

The measure corrects discrimination embodied in the general nationality law and in the Cable Act which was passed in 1922 and which removed discriminations in the old law affecting citizenship of American women married to foreigners. In addition to granting mothers equal power to transmit citizenship, it equalizes the law for men and women in the matter of renouncing citizenship upon marriage with an alien, the transmission of citizenship by naturalized citizens, and the time required for an alien marrying an American citizen to acquire citizenship.

NO RESTORATION OF TEACHER PAY

Supt. Verplanck Sees No Possibility of Giving Back Recent Cuts.

"There will be no restoration of teachers' salaries," declared Superintendent of Schools Fred A. Verplanck today when asked if the Board of Education contemplated recommending such a course.

Teachers and other employees of the school department were notified of a 15 per cent cut in their salaries in September of 1932. Two months later employees receiving under $2,000 a year received an additional reduction of 7 1/2 per cent, while those getting under $1,000 a year received cuts of 5 per cent and then 2 1/2 per cent.

Mr. Verplanck said the 1934-35 budget is to be discussed at meetings during June of the Board of Education. The 1934-35 school year ends July 1. The 1933-34 appropriations for school purposes were itemized by Mr. Verplanck today as follows: $288,198, for running the schools; $16,000, for maintenance of school buildings; $5,000, for the Trade School; $1,000 for the Evening Schools; $2,000 for the Library and Recreational Centers.

Using the 1933-34 figures for a basis, the Board of Education will work out the new budget next month. Mr. Verplanck today declined to estimate the amount of the new budget. He said the figures would be more accurate when all bills are finally in.

Mr. Verplanck stated that there will be "very few changes in the personnel," and those have not yet been determined. There will be no major changes in the teaching staff, he indicated.

Financial Standing

From other sources it was learned that the town is no better off financially this year than last year, and this is one of the principal reasons why teachers' salaries will not be restored.

A meeting of the Board of Education

was held last Thursday night but only routine matters were discussed, according to Mr. Verplanck.

PUBLIC ACCLAIMS FRIGIDAIRE '34!

HERE ARE THE FACTS

Nowhere in refrigeration history is there a record of enthusiasm approaching that being shown the new Frigidaires '34. Letters and telegrams are pouring in daily to Frigidaire headquarters telling about the greatest reception ever given to any refrigerator. And the story is always the same. Visitors flocking thru showrooms, floors are crowded to capacity, enthusiastic comments on the beauty, economy and new conveniences of the Frigidaire '34. Unprecedented sales, the greatest in the history of electric refrigeration. For the first time since 1928, the Frigidaire plants worked 7,000 hands all winter to fill up the warehouses with cabinets. Since March 1st, 11,000 men and women have been working on day and night shifts to take care of the demand for the '34 Frigidaire, and at this very moment, many of the popular models cannot be had in any quantities, and people everywhere are waiting deliveries. The public acclaim for the Frigidaire '34 is the greatest ever known, and Frigidaire sales are being made so rapidly, that, not only will they lead in sales as they have in every past year, but at the present rate there will be three Frigidaires sold this year to one of all other makes combined. 2,000 Frigidaires are being shipped daily from the mammoth production lines, enthusiastic reception and public sales prove that this is a

DONNA of the BIG TOP by BEULAH POYNTER

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DONNA GABRIEL and MADELINE SIDDAL who call themselves "The Gabriel Sisters" are circus performers. Years earlier Madeline ran away from her grandfather's home.

When Donna is injured in a fall from the trapeze Madeline arranges for her to be taken to GRANDFATHER SIDDAL'S farm. To please her partner Donna pretends to be Madeline. She falls in love with BILL SIDDAL, Madeline's cousin, and though she is ashamed of deceiving Bill and Grandfather she is afraid to tell them the truth.

Meanwhile Madeline marries OON DAVID, animal trainer with the circus. He tells her he is going to put her in his animal act. Madeline is terrified of the lions and tigers but finally makes a public appearance in the act.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XVI
Madeline's terror was curiously like stage fright. She was quivering in the knees and sick in the pit of her stomach as Con led her across the arena, but when she stepped into the cage and heard the burst of applause from the audience her fear vanished, just as stage fright vanishes after the first few words are spoken.

She felt calm, rather elated, and found herself enjoying the sensation of giving thrills to a multitude. To be sure, all she did was to stand with her back against the door and watch her husband put the cats through their paces, to stand without cringing when a long, striped body slithered over her feet and a grey yellow tail lashed against her ankles.

But the audience was well aware that here was the animal dancer. She carried no protection. Of course the revolver Con used occasionally held only blanks and was fired more for effect than anything else—but few of the spectators knew this.

Just at the end of the act Con turned, swept Madeline into his arms and kissed her. The audience cheered.
"You were great, honey," he said enthusiastically. "You weren't afraid, were you?"
"Not a bit," she answered. "Just the same, I'm glad to be on the good old sawdust again."

"We're going to have the greatest act in the country before we're through! When you have Lucy crawling to you you won't take any back talk from any one. We'll name our own price—go to Europe, go anywhere we want to!"
"Lucy!" Madeline gasped. "You want me to work with Lucy?"
"Why not? You know how many of the other tricks. We'll break her with new ones, make a star act. While I'm putting the others through the routine you can put Lucy through her act. It should be a riot!"

"You've a lot of confidence in me, haven't you, Con?" she asked, nestling against his shoulder.
"I'm going to make a real performer out of you yet," he laughed.
Madeline had been married almost a month before she wrote Donna the news. Then the letter contained more about the animal act than it did of Madeline's marriage. Donna read the letter the day she walked without the aid of a cane. Standing under an apple tree heavily weighted with golden fruit, with the sunlight throwing crimson splashes upon her copper curls, she was a picture that made the heart of the young farmer watching her contract swiftly.

Donna smiled as she read of Madeline's happiness, frowned over the dangers of the animal act and then tore the letter into pieces, letting the wind flutter them about her head. That was the end of the Gabriel sisters' act. Perhaps now that Madeline was married to the man she loved she would want Donna to announce her real identity and she, Madeline, would get in touch with her grandfather.

Donna was thinking of this last possibility when Bill reached her side. Consequently she was in tragedy in her eyes and wistfulness about her mouth.
"Bad news?" he asked abruptly, his gaze indicating the fluttering scraps of paper.
"No, not exactly. My partner is married and has decided to become an animal trainer, that's all."
"Does that make you unhappy?" Bill's voice thickened. "I guess I was right when I said you wouldn't be satisfied here."
"I wasn't thinking of myself," Donna answered. "I'm through with the circus unless you and Grandfather decide you don't want me here. I'm quite strong enough now to take a few lessons in management of the farm and unless you are too busy to give them to me I'd like to start."
He scowled. "As for instance—?"
"I don't know, exactly. You said I was needed here and that if I had been at home you could have continued your medical course. Well, I'm home to stay and you can go back to school this fall."
"Yes," sarcastically. "You'd be great at a plough, and you could easily tote 10 or 12 gallons of milk morning and evening and—"

Society To Bow At British Courts Glittering Pageantry Marks Buckingham Palace Functions

London (AP)—Twenty-eight hundred debutantes and young matrons—with scarcely three dozen Americans among them—will curtsy before King George and Queen Mary in the 1934 royal courts.

The functions, to be held May 15 and 16 and June 12 and 13, represent in splendor and ceremony occasions without peer in the social calendar.

Ambassador's Big Trial
For Robert W. Bingham, American ambassador, to the Court of St. James, the approach of the courts has spelled one of the most delicate tasks of the office he has held for nearly a year.

It is his personal prerogative to frown upon or to approve the applications of several hundred Americans who seek to be commanded to appear before British royalty. And out of the several hundred he can pick only eight for each court, plus the few diplomatic pressents who will make up the sum total of America's participation in the glittering pageantry.

Glittering it will be, too, this year for fashion has decreed that brilliant materials and metal or bead embroideries are to feature the season's gowns. Gloves will be required—and no restriction has been placed on colors.

Luxury Trades Profit
Sewing machines are whirring and luxury trades are booming for it is estimated that the courts will mean a turnover of $5,000,000 scattered among manufacturers, designers, shops, shoemakers, photographers, florists, caterers, places of entertainment and countless others.

For the favored few, for the 2,800 commanded to appear before the king and queen represent but a fraction of the number who seek the honor, the one grand moment in the full blaze of the social sun ends months of preparation.

At the rate of 10 to 12 a minute, they will march in stately procession into the great white and gold ballroom of Buckingham Palace where, seated on gold and crimson thrones and flanked by beautifully gowned women and resplendently uniformed men, the king and queen hold court.

Each debutante in turn sinks in schooled curtsy and graceful obeisance to the king, rises and repeats the ceremony before the queen, and moves on. The king and queen have heard her name and bowed when she curtsied—that, with the knowledge that social life holds no greater honor, in her reward.

King George and Queen Mary, shown framed in the gates at Buckingham Palace, are to hold four royal courts this year at which the pick of society's debutantes and young matrons, including 32 Americans, are to reach the social pinnacle of curtsying before the throne. Glittering gowns and bright colors are to be the rule this season.

STUDY REVEALS FAULTS IN TRICK EYE GLASSES
Authorities Declare Tinted, Wide Vision, and Shatterproof Lenses Are Unnecessary for Average Person.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN.
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

People have been spending a great deal of money unnecessarily in buying eyeglasses which are presumed, because of some special tint or coloration, to have virtues beyond those of ordinary eye glasses.

A few years ago tinted lenses were sold with the claim that they would eliminate glare, that they would not distort colors, and that they would increase ability to see. One kind of tinted lens was sold in light, but shut out glare.

The same arguments were applied to sale of windshields for automobiles. One of these was sold with the claim that it was made especially to prevent eyestrain.

Another type of lens for which great claims were being made was that with wide vision. Doctor Collett insists that this type of lens can hardly benefit the average eye glass wearer very much, because when one's attention is called to an object on a side line, the average person will turn his head to see it.

Under such circumstances, a wide angle lens is not of any special benefit.

Since most persons wear lenses for reading or for some sedentary occupation, there would seem to be little, if any, reason for the extra expense required in the purchase of wide-angle lenses.

Recently, several foreign companies have brought out eye glass lenses which they claim are non-shatterable and splinterless, and which provide absolutely clear vision. It is exceedingly difficult to prepare lenses for eyes which are of different refraction out of two pieces of glass with intervening flexible cellulose material.

The U. S. Naval Academy was founded in 1845.

America's typical high school girl is Trava Scott, Pasadena, Calif., above, if film judges can be believed. Trava was queen of the 1934 Tournament of Roses in her home city last New Year's Day.

Let Triumph of This Woman Inspire a Pattern of Life

BY HELEN WELSHIMER
When Caroline Miller got off the train in New York City the other day, carrying her hat in her hand so the reception committee could identify the woman whose first novel, "Lamb in His Bosom," had just won the Pulitzer prize, a belief in something lovely and lost came back again. Mrs. Miller didn't have a certain place and definite hours in which to write. She has a husband and children. She has to hunt for collar buttons, bandage skinned knees, bake birthday cakes, learn about cookies and dogs. But she won the highest award of the year.

Over and over people who want to write, sing, or paint say that if they would do it. Oh, yes, certainly! And if you were the King of Siam, you would sit on a throne! No, it would seem that if one wants to do anything badly enough, and has the innate ability, one will do it. If not, then there are always gardens to plant and other people's books to read.

As the fog crept in from the East River in New York the other night, an old man stood on a corner weaving a tapestry of sound from an old, old violin while a music box played an accompaniment. Once upon a time, perhaps, the musician had played second violin in a little music hall somewhere. Now he had played a sidewalk song. There were discords and breaks. He had never perfected his art. Maybe he thought that he knew enough when his teachers had told him to study harder, practice longer. Maybe the practice hours came late when he was sleepy or the neighbors had a cat whose reverberations on the night air jarred his melodies. So he gave up. Never the time, the place or the opportunity!

But genius doesn't grow that way. As Caroline Miller said, she had a book she wanted to do so she wrote it while fruit juices bubbled on the stove getting ready for jelly, and the butcher, the baker and the gas man came and talked about short cuts, whole-wheat bread and the meter.

Impatience, wise men say, is the besetting sin of the age. We want an Aladdin's lamp which will bring greatness at a single touch. But unfortunately—or no, fortunately!—the Arabian Nights' Tales were finished long, long ago. Centuries pass while an elm tree grows. Roses don't bloom overnight. It requires the richness and fullness of growth and experience to achieve anything that will be great and lasting. Weeds spring up. But we dig them out.

It sounds like a preaching, of course, but those who want to attain their heights will keep climbing and will use the very things which apparently retard them as a laboratory of development. They will realize that if they had perfect working conditions perhaps they would be so remotely removed from the general symphony of living they wouldn't pitch their songs as they should. They'll work—and when they have served their apprenticeship there will be a desk and a lamp and a typewriter whose keys don't stick!

Anyway, the fact that Caroline Miller wrote a prize-winning novel may make us all look around our own backyards for material for the pattern we wanted to perfect. As an artist painted a picture one day a friend of his looked over his shoulder and said:
"I'm sorry, but I don't see anything beautiful in that!" he explained, oblivious of the fact that nobody had asked him whether he did or didn't.
The artist smiled a little. "Don't you wish that you could?" he asked.
Maybe there is a reason why an unknown young woman in Georgia wrote a great book.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton
© 1934 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

A mother came to me about her sixteen-year-old boy. She complained of many things. He was lazy, wouldn't study as he should, fought with his sister. The entire indictment was just about the same as any other sixteen-year-old I ever knew except a few of the prodigies one runs into now and then.

And the summary of the case was the same, too. "He used to be such a fine boy. He always was so sweet and lovable and took such an interest in everything."
"Where had I heard that before?" "Growing pains!" I answered. But she had heard that one before. So we were just back where we started.

"Does he do anything?" I inquired. "Right?"
"Oh, yes. When he doesn't get." "What does he do?"
"Well, he likes to play ball. He's the best pitcher on the team."
"Anything at home? Any little things?"
"He's good at fixing. He can put well. He did over the porch willow, the chairs and swing, with cream enamel. They look like new. No, I hadn't any trouble about that. He loves to paint. Yes, he whistled all the time he was working."

And the list grew. The electric machines were kept in order. He didn't mind beating rugs either, but roared like a lion if his chores kept him home when he wanted to do something else. The big trouble was to get him started. He always had something else on hand and to catch him and hold him was almost impossible.

"I don't worry so much about now," she said, "as about the future. I'm afraid he'll grow up shiftless and careless and not be able to stick at anything. I talk to him until I am tired but it only makes him worse."
"I'm going to ask something personal. Do you run bills?"
"Why, yes. Of course. Everybody does."
"Then you know what credit means. The stores give you credit. That means they have some faith in you even though you may not always be able to settle each account promptly on the tenth."

"Couldn't you give Charlie credit?" It seems to me he does a good bit, but for all that no one extends him an account, and he probably realizes it. Everything he doesn't do is noticed but what he does do goes by the board and is accepted so casually he has gotten a bit resentful!
"Oh, but we do give him credit. I always praise him for everything."
"I'm sure you do. But in spite of it all you worry creeps through. He knows his mistakes count more with you than his good marks. And the reason he fights his sister is that he thinks she feels the same way and that you two are in league against him, which you probably are, although you do not realize it. He likes to use his hands. He will outgrow that to some extent but I hope not too much. When his 'growing pains' stop he will concentrate more easily. More things will interest him. Let him know that you approve of him. He'll react more quickly, because you will have more influence. It takes time and patience, and some fun. Don't forget the fun. He'll stay home more. A good-time Charlie of this sort won't be so lazy and sullen. He'll probably surprise you."

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart
© 1934 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

The minute leg-grooming is mentioned, someone is sure to bring up the subject of superfluous hair—and the argument starts. One girl says she does this to remove it, another says she does that. Well, it is a problem and no one can tell you which hair-removing method to use. Try one or two different ways and decide for yourself.

First, of course, you can use a razor. It's an effective procedure, but in the long run stimulates the growth and makes the hair a little thicker.

Then, there are various depilatories which do the trick. Smooth on the depilatory cream, allow it to dry for a few minutes and then take it off with tepid water. Very effective.

Wax is becoming more and more popular for removing hair on legs. This method actually discourages the growth, weakening the hairs as they are pulled out by their roots. Be sure and follow directions on the jar of wax. Warm the wax before applying and pull it off before it gets too hard.

Of course, if you have only an unnoticeable amount of fuzz, you might try bleaching instead of removing. Peroxide is effective and will, in time, make the hairs so light that they won't show through silk stockings.

UNCHANGED

By Helen Welshimer

I WALKED a row of twilights, Heart-hoping I would see Your face some quiet hour, And when you smiled at me Old dreams would stir, believing That your eyes, brave and wise, Remembering, would wander To our brief Paradise.

ONE sun-bright noon I found you, But you no longer wore The shining steel blue armor That I had loved before. The little road to Heaven Wound vaguely down the hill; Your plumes were grey and dragged. . . Why do I love you still?

Her arms ached with the yearning to enfold him. Her heart throbbed to pour into his ears the love she felt for him. How big was his love? Was it strong enough to stand the test of disillusion? Strong enough to defy the old man he adored? If she told Bill the truth would he turn from her and despise her? Dared she take the risk?

A'S TROUNCE BROWNS TO GAIN THIRD PLACE IN JUNIOR LOOP

YANKS DEFEAT 2ND PLACE INDIANS TO WIDEN THEIR LEAD

Pirates Take Lead in National by Two Points; Gehrig Hits 8th, Klein 9th Homer, Giants Beaten.

By Associated Press
When Connie Mack said early this spring that he thought his club might go somewhere in the American League this season if only a few of his young pitchers came through in good form, few if any of the Athletics' fans, thought of Joe Casarella as one of those who might help out.

As things have turned out, Joe, a former Philadelphia amateur who spent several seasons in the International League earning a reputation as a good seven inning pitcher, seems to have become one of the A's mound mainstays.

He took the play from another Philadelphia graduate yesterday when the fans celebrated Alan Strangely day at Shibe park and Casarella made it the occasion for a 9-3 Philadelphia victory.

The triumph gave the A's third place in the light race as Washington topped Detroit out of a high berth by shelling Tommy Bridges from the hill, to win 7-4. Philadelphia's position also was improved when the Yankees slammed the second place Cleveland club into submission 8 to 0 as Lefty Gomez allowed only four hits for his fifth straight victory. Lou Gehrig hit his eighth home run with the bases filled.

The Red Sox slaughtered Chicago 14 to 2. Bucky Walters' two homers, one with the bases full, and by Eddie Morgan, also with the corners crammed, produced the bulk of the runs.

Pirates in Lead
The National League standing produced an odd situation when the Pittsburgh Pirates, a half game behind Chicago according to one method of reckoning, took the lead by two percentage points. Each won yesterday. The Pirates assaulted Lefty Ed Brandt and the Boston Braves for a 9-2 decision while the Cubs defeated the Giants 7 to 3 in a four-run rally started by Chuck Klein's ninth circuit blow of the year.

The St. Louis Cardinals blasted out a 12 to 7 victory over Brooklyn. The seventh place Phillies had to go ten innings to defeat the eighth place Reds 5-4.

BALDWINS AND GREEN LOSE TO BLUEFIELDS

The Bluefields won two practice games over the week-end by defeating the Baldwin A. C. Saturday at McKee street, and Manchester Green yesterday afternoon before a large crowd at Jarvis Grove. Pitching was the feature of both games.

The hitting of (Babe) Patton who is making a great bid for a position on the Bluefields team was timely and far. He hit two triples and a double Saturday, and a home run Sunday. Jarvis of the Green also hit a home run.

Schmeling and Paulino Fight a Draw in Spain

Barcelona, Spain, May 14.—(AP)—Max Schmeling's second encounter with Paulino Uzcudun had gone into the record books as a draw today but the impression was generated by a wide margin in the feature match of Mont Juch stadium's 160-round boxing carnival yesterday. But at the finish the judges called it a draw.

Cornell Has Slim Edge In East's College Loop

Holds Lead by Half Game Over Harvard and Penn With Three Others Close Behind; Race Tightest Ever Known in League.
New York, May 14.—(AP)—The closest college baseball race ever known in the east swings past the midway mark today with six of the seven league teams still in the running.

The pre-season consensus favored Columbia as the champion, even though Ray White was missing. With Columbia's early misfortune, Yale, original second choice, slipped into high regard and into the second division with almost the same motion. First one team and then another have been favored in the last two hectic weeks.

Cornell, rich in baseball tradition, but without a recognized championship team to its credit (save in the old, old New York state college league back in the mid-eighties), now faces the real test. Yale and Dartmouth tumble into this on successive week-ends to meet a Cornell nine geared to rapid motion. Harvard, Penn Trail, Harvard and Pennsylvania, trailing the big Red nine by half a game, each with a mark of four victories and three defeats, are in a strategic position hardly less favorable than that of Cornell. They exchanged jobs at Cambridge two days ago, Pennsylvania winning the opener, 8-1, and Harvard the night cap, 6-2.

Pennsylvania's path is easier than Harvard's for the rest of the route. The Red and Blue next plays Princeton two games—one at Philadelphia, next Saturday and another in the Jungle a week later. But the Tigers have been known to be tough on Dartmouth's Indians last Saturday.

Dartmouth eased the Bengals out of the championship picture by winning the opening game, 8 to 4, but the Tigers repaid this unkindness by shelling the Indians 5 to 4, in the night cap.

FILL VACANT PLACES FOR THE OPEN TODAY

New York, May 14.—(AP)—The 109 vacant places in the National Open golf championship field will be filled by the annual sectional trials in 30 districts scattered from one coast to the other today.
Forty-one of the 109 available places in the open, to be played at the Merion Cricket Club, Ardmore, Pa., starting June 8, already have been filled. Thirty-six players automatically qualified by virtue of finishing among the top 30 and nine in the last championship or through their membership on the American Walker cup team, now abroad. Five other have won berths at Merion by the Los Angeles contest, which will be held at the end of the week.

OLYMPICS-RANGERS BATTLE TO TIE IN STATE LOOP CLASH

Local Booters Unleash Great Rally in Closing Minutes to Deadlock Score at 3-All; Keep the Lead.

Yesterday afternoon spectators watched the Ranger goals to the Olympics for 70 minutes, pile up a three goal lead and then lose those goals in seven minutes when they were unable to stem a desperate rally on part of the locals to save the game. The tie kept the Olympics in first place.

Last Minute Rally
Twenty minutes from time the Rangers seemed to have the game safely tucked away. They were leading three goals to nil and playing with the confidence of a team which had set out to do a job and had about finished it to their complete satisfaction. For 40 minutes in the first half and 35 in the second period they out-generated and out-played the Olympics. The opposition they were receiving was not what they expected from a championship team. For 40 minutes with only 20 minutes to go exceeded their most sanguine expectations. Their supporters certainly had good reason to congratulate themselves on the apparently certain victory.

What a transformation came over the game! The third goal scored against them seemed to awaken the Olympics from their lethargy. From a dull and indifferent team they were quick to react with a desire to do something, and they did. Where their feet had formerly been heavy and sluggish they became light and gay. The halfbacks and forwards began to work in unison and the offensive was on. Gray and J. Rooney began to connect close in, then a frontal attack and the Rangers were hurled back and finally hemmed in. No longer were they attacking. They were defending, grimly striving to hold what they had. Fight as they would they lost in seven minutes the three goal lead it had taken them 70 minutes to acquire.

Early in the game it was evident that there was something wrong in the Red and White machine. The ball was not running through to the forwards. Pullback was not working. Forward to them as quickly as they got rid of it and with it not only the five Ranger forwards but also the halfbacks. They stuck to their guns but were overworked. The game was not overworked. The game was not overworked. The game was not overworked.

The goal to the Rangers was an accident. Ferguson shot from the left. Simmons had the ball covered and moved to grip it. It never reached him as an Olympic defender in trying to clear had the misfortune to slide the ball to the other side of the goal. Prior to this the Rangers had had several opportunities to gain a lead. After this and until five minutes from the interval they had the better of the exchanges. Then the Olympics took the game in hand and came close to playing splendid football. Hamilton grasped the upright with a terrific drive. Several corners were forced in quick succession one of which was headed over the bar by Austin.

Score Twice More
It was expected that the awakening of the Olympics in the five minutes prior to the interval would be carried forward into the second period. Spectators however, were disappointed. The Rangers again took the game under control and playing splendid football. Hamilton grasped the upright with a terrific drive. Several corners were forced in quick succession one of which was headed over the bar by Austin.

Reversion of Form
When the teams lined up after the third goal it was noticed Hamilton had gone to center half. A Rooney made the ball centered and on the field. The Rangers were re-reversed. Simmons shot from the left. Simmons had the ball covered and moved to grip it. ## John Gullivan Rolls 280, Wins 1-Ball Sweepstakes

The seventh and last of the week-end one-ball sweepstakes at the Charter Oak alley today night produced the highest score rolled during the entire series, when John Gullivan rolled together scores of 71, 75 and 64 for a three-string total of 280 that was good enough to win with plenty to spare.
Joe Canada finished second with 210, Albert Avery was third with 207 and Frank Brennan, Al Pettis and Jack Saldana, the last two former winners of the event, tied for fourth and fifth prizes with 180.

Hewitt Hurls Catholics To Easy Victory, 6-1

Allows But Three Hits as Locals Trim St. Anthony's of Hartford, Fans 10 and Walks One; Raynor Features With Three Bingles.

The Catholic Men's Club, through the superb twirling of "Jock" Hewitt, hung up its third straight victory of the season at the West Side field yesterday afternoon, easily defeating St. Anthony's of Hartford by a score of 6 to 1. Hewitt limited the visitors to three hits, fanned ten batters and issued but one walk.
Hewitt started his great pitching feat in the first inning by striking out Al Dinocena and Giardi. In the second he struck out Raynor and a long high dropping shot just below the crossbar. Mullray got up to it and caught the ball. The next instance he was through the goal as both Kennedy and A. Rooney came in to make the kick. Kennedy was a fraction of a second ahead of his colleague and got the goal. From then on it was a battle royal for the winning goal. Neither side was able to get it and the final whistle came with scores of 6-1.

Play on Wednesday
To expedite the termination of the schedule the Rangers and Olympics have tentatively arranged to play a mid-week game in Hartford on Wednesday, 28rd, at 6:30 p. m. The Olympics will meet on Tuesday night at 7 p. m. at the West Side Rac to plan for this and dispose of other business.

GARNERS 52 1-2 POINTS IN WINNING 18 PLACES IN RHODE ISLAND MEET

Red and White Displays Well-Balanced Power in Whipping Nine Rivals But Do Best in Field Events; George Leary Again Shatters School Record in 880; Norwich Free Academy Second With 36 1-3 Points; New London Bulkeley Places Third.

Winning eighteen out of fifty-five places for a total of 55 1/2 points, Manchester High's track and field stalwarts successfully defended their out-of-state title at Kingston, Rhode Island, Saturday afternoon against nine rivals from Connecticut and Massachusetts. Norwich Free Academy furnished the greatest threat to the Red and White, taking second place with 36 1-3 points, while Bulkeley High of New London was third with 27 points.

Featuring the meet was the sensational performance of George Leary, who again lowered the school record for the 880-yard run by racing the distance in two minutes, 5.6 seconds to slip one and one-half seconds from his own mark of 2:07.1. Leary established the latter standard in a dual meet with Middletown recently to eclipse the mark set by Theodore Chambers, 2:13.3, back in 1927.

Manchester's smashing triumph was gained through overwhelming superiority in the field events, where its entries captured three firsts, three seconds, three thirds and two fourths for a total of 31 1/2 out of 77 points. In the track events, the locals took two firsts, three seconds and two fourths for a total of 31 out of 76 points.
Manchester failed completely to place in the 100 and 200 yard dashes and the javelin, events in which the Red and White is usually quite powerful. However, its weakness in these was offset by surprising strength in three events that are not so popular. Hard hit by the graduation of his outstanding stars, the tall, slender Red and White mentor nevertheless was able to develop a team of athletes that has swept to four straight triumphs this season. Yesterday he has added constant winners with a putting victory ahead of sportsmanship and the well-being of his charges. A great coach, he has the admiration and respect of the boys, who call him "Pete".

Leary Wins Easily
Fitch High was fourth in the final standing with 11 1-3 points. Stoughton and Memorial High vied for fifth with eight points each. Fairhaven was seventh with 7 1/2 points and Chapman Tech was eighth with 2 1-3 points. Wellesley High did not place.

So close was the finish in the dash events that the judges had great difficulty in picking the place winners. Salomonson and Fraser both finished well up front but missed placing. Harold Cude, holder of the school record in the 440, was second in this event, running at a slow time. Leary little trouble in winning the 880, taking the lead as he entered the final straightaway to finish ten yards up on his teammate, Lionel Courn, who unleashed a brilliant dash at the end of the race to second place in the drive to the tape.

Rogers Features
Joe Packard ran a good race in the mile and held the lead through the third and part of the fourth lap but was unable to match the dash of Pearson of Fairhaven, who stated cross country champion and placed second, with Charlie Donahue fourth. Fraser took fourth in the 220 low hurdles and Leckhart Rogers had things his own way in winning the 120 yard hurdles. Rogers also took first place in the broad jump to emerge as Manchester's leading point winner.

Wilson McCormick came through with a fine performance in the pole vault, taking the event with a jump of 10 feet, 9 inches, while Herbert Wolfram took third place. Ralph Smith finished in a tie for second in the high jump at 5 feet, 4 1/2 inches. Salmond Surprised
Leo Johnson and Orange Gersons placed third and fourth respectively in the shot, tossing the 12-pounder for distances that belated their previous efforts to take Al Simmons furnished a surprise in the hammer by making a toss of 107 feet, 6 inches (that gave him 2nd place behind the 130 yard hurdles). McCormick was fourth in the discus. Gersons took second with Frank Robinson third.

Manchester returns in action tomorrow afternoon at the West Side field in a dual meet against Meriden High. The meet, which was originally scheduled for Meriden but lack of a field there made a shift necessary. The first event will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

HOPES TO RAISE HOSPITAL QUOTA

Chairman Wm. E. Halsted Believes Residents Will Respond Generously.

At 8:15 o'clock tonight, a total of 128 volunteer workers in the annual Memorial hospital maintenance appeal will hold a luncheon meeting at the Masonic Temple that will mark the official opening of the campaign for $16,000. The expense of the luncheon will be defrayed by the executive committee and the Board of Directors of the hospital at no cost to the workers.

It is important that all workers be on hand at the aforementioned hour in order that the meeting may be ended as quickly as possible, 3 o'clock at the latest. A speaker, as yet unannounced, will address the workers on the importance of the drive and final instructions in regard to the house-to-house canvass of close to 3,000 prospects will be given. There will be eight tables in the banquet hall, one for each division of the organization, with places marked for each team.

A report meeting will be held at the Temple Friday evening and a final session next Monday night, the latter preceded by a luncheon that will also be paid for by the executive committee of the drive and the hospital Board of Directors.

William E. Halsted, general chairman of the drive, today urged that all workers attend tonight's meeting. Mr. Halsted believes the campaign will be a success if the townspeople furnish the cooperation and support which they have so generously contributed in the past.

it. In each instance where one of the family was absent from a meal an allowance was made for it in the city report opinions on the diet.

Mrs. James I. McGuire who had followed the diet for a week reported satisfaction with it. It has been estimated about 50 persons in the city will report opinions on the diet.

The Rev. Robert A. Moody, and his family of five, made the test on food from the city store, but his final conclusions have not been made. He said the three adults and three children were not hearty eaters. He noted that possibly the diet which maintained the Moody family would be insufficient for a family in which there were members engaged in active physical labor.

SENSE and NONSENSE

THE TAX MENACE
Cling a song of sixpence, taxes in a row,
Taxing what you purchase, taxing what you grow;
Taxes on your clothing, taxes on your fun,
Soon they'll tax the air we breathe, and then they'll tax the sun.

MISTRESS—Mabel, you will have to stop entertaining your gentlemen friends in the kitchen.
MABEL—I tried to get him to come into the parlor, but he's too bashful.

THE HONEYMOON IS OVER, WHEN THE BRIDE BEGINS TO WONDER HOW SHE CAN MAKE ENDS MEET, AND THE GROOM STARTS WONDERING HOW HE CAN KEEP BODY AND SOUL TOGETHER ON HER COOKING.

Jasper—Has young Spendmore anything saved up to prepare for his coming marriage?
Lester—Yes, he has a white necktie that goes with a dress suit.

In baseball circles there is an euphemism, "Not keeping in condition." It's ever so much nicer than "spifficated," "loosed," "passed out," or "dead drunk!"

One of our readers, a minister, says the only NRA the church needs is:
Nearness to God
Repentance of sins
Activity for the right.

The waiter was talking the order of a pretty girl who was accompanied by a florid, podgy, middle-aged man.
Waiter—And how about the lobster?
Pretty Girl—Oh, he can order whatever he likes.

SOMETIMES DEVELOPING A MAN'S WILL POWER ONLY MAKES HIM HEAD STRONG.
It all depends on the size of his wife, whether it's the little or large things that count in a man's life.

Youth—But I asked you, darling, to keep our engagement a secret.
His Sweetie—I couldn't help it. That hateful Ethel said the reason I wasn't married was that no man had ever been fool enough to propose to me. So I told her you had.

Perhaps one cause of the depression is that in the old days, mother made undies for herself and the girls from flour sacks. Lately she buys silk for all of them.

SUCCESS IN MARRIAGE DEPENDS WHETHER AT THE END OF A COUPLE OF YEARS WE HAVE A DIVORCE OR A BABY.

Customer—I'd like to buy a muzzie.
Store Clerk—How's this one?
Customer—Oh, that wouldn't do; it would hold the mouth too tightly shut.

Judge (to prisoner charged with burglary)—If you were in the house for no dishonest purpose, why was it that you were in your stocking feet?
Prisoner—I heard that there was sickness in the family.

We're very curious to know what goes on at the broadcasting stations that makes people laugh so hard at the comedians.

Junior—Say, Mother Dear, was baby sent down from heaven?
Mother—Yes, Junior.
Junior—They like to have it very quiet up there, don't they?

During Prohibition you could get a drink anywhere, now you can get one almost anywhere.

The monkhood flower grows only tumbling too far and striking the ground.

Dandelions need only the female parents in developing new individuals; the male cells are unnecessary.
