LABOR STRIKES BACK AT DARROW REPORT

Calls It "Disservice to the Nation"; Fight Among Members of the Board Itself One of Developments.

Washington, May 24.—(AP)—Pot shooting between friends and foes of NRA went merrily on today as Clarence Darrow's National Review Board sought to surmount internal dissension and wind up its work.

Darrow and Hugh S. Johnson, opponents in a first-class denunciation match three days ago, took a leisurely automobile drive together late yesterday but about all that could be learned of their conversation was that it dealt with historical topics.

A furious attack from organized labor, labeling the Darrow board's report "a disservice to the Nation and its citizens in a time of great economic stress" added to the board's troubles as it tackled the preparation of its second report regarding small business and the NRA codes.

Internal Explosion

The Darrow group, already pointed for extinction by President Roosevelt at the end of the month, also suffered an internal explosion which threatened for a time to cause its immediate dissolution.

William O. Thompson, a member of the board, accused Lowell Mason, the board's counsel of tampering with the records. There were remarks about Mason's one-time connection with the Samuel Inull interests. One thing led to another, resulting in an abrogation of speaking terms among several members of the board.

The Darrow-Johnson ride was in the NRA chief's limousine. The only other person along was Miss Frances Robinson, Johnson's assistant.

Visits President

The NRA administrator earlier had conferred a long while with President Roosevelt over plans for remodeling many NRA processes designed to eliminate the causes of some of the existing complaints. Announcements of the new policies were held in abeyance.

Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, a supporter of Darrow, fired another shot at the NRA. After demanding that Congress stay in session until existing "abuses" are corrected, he asserted he intended to take the Senate floor daily on this subject.

Because of activities at a review board hearing on the garment code, the Darrow group was the target for a denunciation by American Federation of Labor leaders who compose the NRA labor advisory board.

These dropped their own complaints and quarrels with Johnson to charge the board with pandering "to the worst elements in our political and economic life."

U. S. BANK CREDIT FAILS TO EXPAND

In Past Six Months Report Shows It Has Contracted by 300 Millions.

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Despite all the recent hullabaloo about the necessity of expansion of bank credit for business recovery it just has not expanded.

In the past six months, weekly reporting banks in 91 cities which are members of the Federal Reserve system show a contraction in commercial loans of approximately $300,000,000.

Declines in recent weeks have mostly been small, but per cent. Last week, the total at $4,563,000,000 was off only $4,000,000 from the previous week.

But discouraging as this may seem to proponents of the credit expansion theory, some banking authorities say it is not discouraging at all, that continued contraction of commercial credit is a natural accompaniment to the early phases of business recovery, and has in fact taken place in previous recoveries.

After World War

It is recalled that the sharp but rather short depression which followed the World War touched bottom in the summer of 1921. From the summer of 1921 to the middle of 1922, records of industrial production show striking gains, while commercial loans of the banks continued to decline rapidly. It was not until the middle of 1922, a year after industrial recovery set in, that the volume of commercial credit struck bottom, and began to expand.

The fact that loans continue to contract in the early stages of recovery some banking authorities explain, is not necessarily an indication of unwillingness on the part of the banks to loan, but rather reflects the ability of borrowers whose

TWO MEET DEATH AS AUTOS CRASH

New Haven Salesman and New York Man Killed — Two Seriously Injured.

New Haven, May 24.—(AP)—John D. Meade, New Haven salesman and pharmacist and a man identified by papers in his possession as Antonio Katak (224 West 22nd street), New York, were killed today in an automobile-truck collision. Two others were injured seriously.

Thomas Kasek, 27, of Southington, driver of the truck, told police he had picked Katak up in New York. Kasek suffered fractures of the ribs, a punctured lung and severe lacerations.

Edward Lucas, 29, of 286 Bruce street, Newark, N. J., suffered a fractured nose, scalp lacerations and injuries to his back. He was a passenger in the automobile which Meade was driving.

Mistaken Identity

The automobile was registered in the name of Leo F. Meade of (Conover Place) Red Bank, N. J., a brother of the dead man. As a result, Dr. George H. Joslin, medical examiner, originally identified one of the victims as the New Jersey man.

Dr. Joslin also gave the identity of the second victim as Tony Kasek, brother of the truck driver, but the latter identification was made after Thomas Kasek had been questioned at the hospital.

Meade was employed as a salesman by a wholesale drug concern. He was formerly connected with the Pharmacy firm of Baker and Meade and during the World War served in the navy as chief pharmacist's mate. He leaves his widow, a West Haven school teacher, and several brothers and sisters.

SCHWAB TO RESIGN JOB IN INSTITUTE

Steel Master in Address Scores Securities Act as a Handicap in Trade.

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. and chairman of the American Iron & Steel Institute, today announced his intention of tendering his resignation from the Institute. The veteran steel master said, however, that he did not know whether the resignation would be accepted.

The Bethlehem chairman told members of the Institute that if the steel industry's current operating rate of 55 per cent of capacity can be continued the price schedules for the third quarter will permit most steel companies "to earn something on their investment."

The stockholders, said Schwab, are entitled to return on their investment, "and no government policy can endure which would pauperize any section of our population."

Hits Securities Act.

He declared that the time had arrived to remove all barriers to natural and normal employment and that "certain legislation" should be modified, referring particularly to the Securities act. Any legislation regarding the sale of securities, he said, should be drawn along lines contemplating free business activity "as operated by honest men."

He contended that the anxiety which business feels toward pending legislation is "very real," arising from the experience of business men in the past. He expressed the belief that the public is now beginning to appreciate the dangers that lie in the enactment of legislation that may unbalance the economic structure.

"More than at any time in the past," Mr. Schwab continued, "I am glad to be with my fellow workers in the steel industry today because I feel that this is the most hopeful and the most important gathering which we have held in our history."

Forward to Recovery.

"It is a time for good cheer and clear thinking. The American public has found a channel to future prosperity. Over the last year we have witnessed a steady march toward recovery. Governmental aid has contributed to this progress. Natural forces controlling in the emergence from previous depressions have also been at work.

"Our industry has given complete cooperation to President Roosevelt in his efforts to bring about recovery and I am confident that the administration recognizes that the time has now arrived to allow business and industry to consolidate its gains and to proceed under the fullest measure of self-government."

NAVY SURGEONS AWAIT WARSHIP AT LONELY ISLE

Will Not Operate Immediately on Sea Adventurer as Appendix Has Broken — Arrived in Airplanes.

Los Angeles, May 24.—(AP)—Naval surgeons who made a 1,000-mile emergency flight to aid William Albert Robinson, stricken sea adventurer, waited today in lonely Tagus Cove in the Galapagos islands for the arrival of the U. S. destroyer Hale.

After examining Robinson as soon as they arrived alongside his boat, the surgeons found his appendix had broken, spreading poison.

In wireless messages relayed here, they said they considered an immediate operation inadvisable and would await the arrival of the Hale which left the Canal Zone about the same time their two naval seaplanes took off for the Islands.

May Operate

The surgeons planned to put the adventurer aboard the war craft and speed him back to Balboa, operating enroute if necessary. The Hale was expected to reach Tagus Cove about 6 a. m. today.

Since wireless messages first carried medical advice from Los Angeles to Robinson's bride, the former Florence Crane, Chicago heiress, the fishing trawler Santa Cruz has been standing by the tiny honeymoon boat supplying ice packs to the adventurer.

One Companion

The arrival of the naval surgeons spelled welcome relief to the bride of the Cambridge, Mass., textile engineer. She and her cousin, Donald West, had been the only immediate companions of the adventurer since he began the cruise last June from New York in the 32-foot boat in which he once sailed around the world.

The Navy, responding to Mrs. Robinson's frantic appeals for aid, when her husband became ill, quickly organized a rescue expedition.

No more lonely place in the world could be found for a man to suffer an attack of severe illness than Tagus Cove, said scientists who have explored the equatorial islands. It is situated between two smoking volcanic islands.

ITALY IS NOW READY' DUCE TELLS SOLDIERS

Mussolini Addresses Half Million on Anniversary of the Nation's Entrance into the World War.

Rome, May 24.—(AP)—Italy is "ready for any eventuality," Premier Mussolini told half a million soldiers, blackshirts and Fascist youths crowded before the balcony windows of the Venice Palace today on the anniversary of the nation's entrance into the World War.

"Italy wishes peace," Mussolini shouted, "but is now ready for any eventuality."

"Are you ready?" he asked.

A tremendous shout of "yes" went up in answer.

The nation also celebrated the eighth annual levy of the Young Black Shirts.

Ceremonies in Rome were climaxed with a gigantic review of the some 10,000 members of the National Infantrymen's Association in the Piazza Venezia.

The review, before the famous balcony of the Palazzo Venezia while Premier Mussolini answered their shouts with the Roman salute and words of praise for their fidelity.

Graduation Day

The levy marks a day of graduation for hundreds of thousands of youngsters in the Fascist youth movement. Today 126,270 boys of the Ballia, or those between 8 and 14, passed into semi-military under the Fascist scheme. They doffed their "kids" tasseled turbans and hats and donned the uniforms of the Avanguardisti—or youths between 14 and 18.

To them the day meant the start of serious military training.

From the Avanguardisti 191,853 boys were graduated into the ranks.

OUTLAWS' BODIES AWAITING BURIAL

Over Fifty Bullets Riddled Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, Southern Bandits.

Arsenic, La., May 24.—(AP)—Society wrote "final" today to the criminal careers of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker—but two mothers mourned the loss of a wayward son and daughter.

Governor O. K. Allen of Louisiana congratulated the six officers who ambushed and killed Barrow and his quick-shooting woman companion yesterday. A coroner's inquest held the officers did their duty.

The bodies of Barrow and Bonnie Parker, riddled with buckshot—were laid out in Dallas awaiting burial tomorrow.

The prayer of the mother of Barrow, ruthless killer, that she might see her son once more alive was not fulfilled as officers led by the relentless manhunter, Frank Hamer, former Texas Ranger, put an end to his bloody trail.

The mother of Bonnie Parker fainted when told of the death of her daughter.

Lured Into Trap

While the two mothers were inconsolable, other relatives and friends of the two slain bandits expressed relief at their end. Most of them agreed their deaths by officers' gun-fire were better than being taken alive. Barrow and his cigar-smoking companion were brought down by a tip to officers from an erstwhile friend, who lured them into a trap. The pair thought they were going to join friends when they were suddenly attacked and riddled.

Prayers of Brooklyn Boy Get Him $11,000 Verdict

By DALE HARRISON
Brooklyn, N. Y., May 24.—(AP)—With a saint as his pleader and God as his judge, little Nicholas Marzano has won an $11,000 verdict against the South Brooklyn Railway Company.

The records are more material. They set forth that the 12-year-old boy's lawyer was Charles Breitbart, and that the decision to give him $11,000 for injuries suffered three years ago was returned in Supreme Court yesterday.

Those are the material records. But Nicholas, his left leg permanently shortened by the accident on which his action was based, knows differently. He knows, and he will tell you if you ask him, that his pleader was Saint Rose of Lima, patroness of America and lover of little children.

"It was the saint who listened to the testimony and to his own humble prayers, and it was she, become a Holy Spirit, who interceded for him before that other Supreme Court where—winners will tell you—

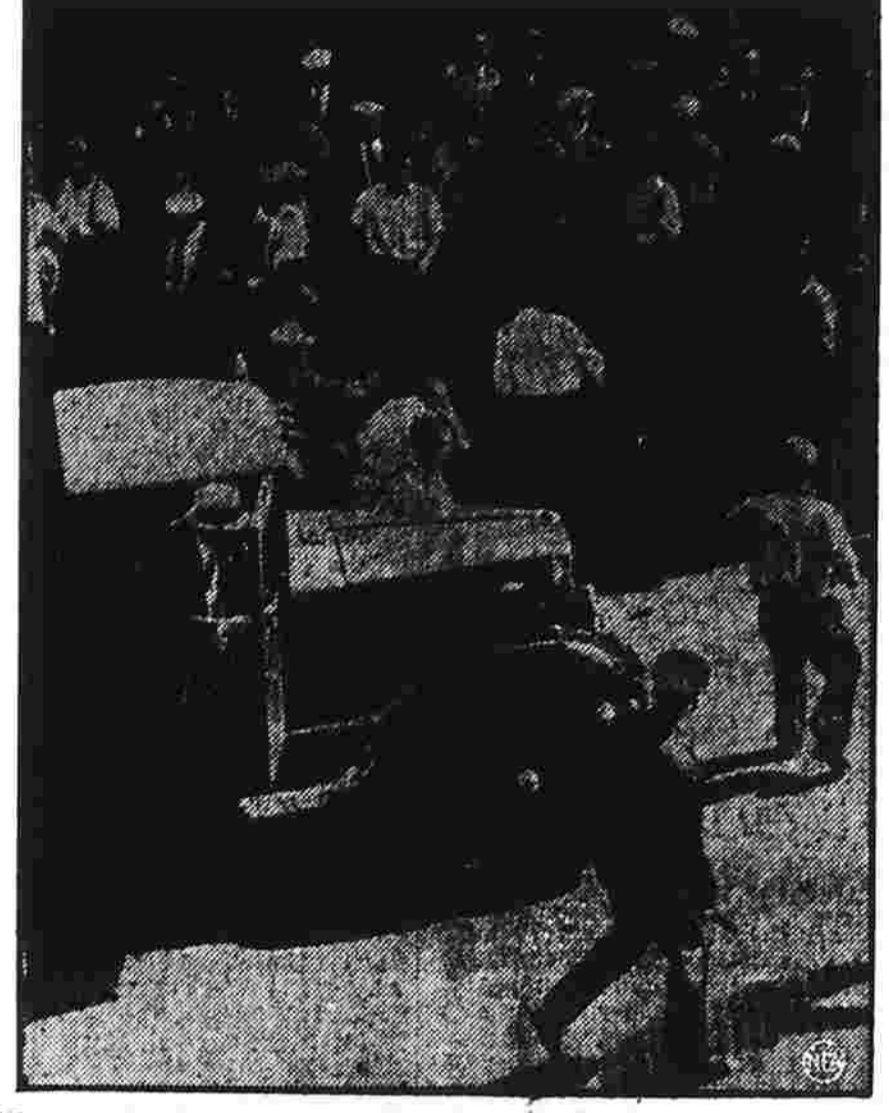

the good God sits in judgment. The trial took three days. Through it all Nicholas prayed, asking holy intercession by Saint Rose. He did not pray, as older men might pray: "God, give me a lot of money from the railway company." He prayed instead "for a just verdict."

On the opening day on the stairway leading from the rotunda of the Court House to the second floor, he dropped to his knees, and made his silent prayer.

He prayed most earnestly on the second day when his father collapsed while testifying; but it was a prayer then not for a "just verdict" for himself, but for the welfare of his father.

When it was over yesterday, and he who had been injured when a street car struck a wagon in which he was riding had won a $11,000 verdict, he dropped to his knees in the courtroom and there, with the strong right and the crippled left leg, bowed under him, he spoke devout thanks to his saint, Rose of Lima, and to his God.

Heds Crack In Drivers' Strike

With more than two score injured and martial law threatened, rioting continues in the Minneapolis truck drivers' strike. Here is shown a clash between a special police squad and strikers who attempted to halt delivery of perishable food at the market district. The photo was snapped as deputies arrived to reinforce police in quelling warring pickets. Note the second man beyond the automobile hood with hands raised to ward off the blow. Five thousand drivers who walked out have been joined by 35,000 building trades craftsmen.

TEAR GAS USED BY MILITIA AT TOLEDO STRIKE

Over Score of Bombs Hurlled at Trouble Makers After All Night Fighting Around Big Plant.

TOLEDO, O., May 24.—(AP)—National Guardsmen, who began patrolling the area around the Electric Auto Lite Company plant here early today after a night of rioting by strikers and sympathizers, threw tear gas bombs into two groups of men who threatened the guard lines today. The men were routed.

More than a score of tear gas bombs were thrown at two groups of jeering strikers and sympathizers after the crowd refused to comply with instructions of soldiers to keep out of the plant vicinity.

BULLETIN!

Toledo, O., May 24.—(AP)—The siege of rioting strikers which kept 1,500 employees of the Electric Auto Lite Company hemmed in the plant during all-night disorders was lifted today by detachments of Ohio National Guardsmen.

The troops reported all was quiet as evacuation of the embattled plant started.

Rain and the long awaited arrival of the troops had thinned the crowd of nearly 10,000 strikers, sympathizers and spectators which thronged the street around the plant last night to less than 100.

Bayonets and machine guns appeared, the guardsmen threw a coronation around an area six blocks long and one block wide, and the remaining strikers were forced to withdraw.

Sporadic pistol shots had been heard until a few hours before the troops arrived, forming a "military" siding, civil authorities to maintain order.

Defied Authorities

Only a few hours before, shouting defiance at police and their tear gas, and hurling insults and bricks at the seated employes, the rioters had defied attempts of more than 120 civil officers to evict them.

As the guardsmen with their bayonets, machine guns, rifles and "stronger" tear bombs cleared the restricted area quickly, the evacuation of those imprisoned for 15 hours was begun.

Women going first, the employes left the plant in groups of a dozen. Most of the workers were taken away in automobiles.

Machine guns were mounted in the streets at the four corners of the restricted area. Search of nearby residences for a reported "snipers nest" was begun.

J. Arthur Minch, vice president of the company, announced after a daylight survey of the plant that he believed property damage from the rioting was slight.

HIGH COURT RULING HURTS NEW HAVEN

City Will Have to Pay for Its Water Held Up Pending Decision.

New Haven, May 24.—(AP)—The opinion of the Supreme Court of Errors upholding the decision of Judge Patrick B. O'Sullivan for the city of New Haven, and upholding the ruling of the Public Utilities Commission that the New Haven Water Company may raise rates and treat all towns it serves as a unified system, is going to cost the city a lot of money.

It seemed probable today there would be no further litigation over the issue and the board of finance today will take first steps toward devising means of paying water bills of 1932, held up by reason of the pending court action, which is estimated at about $150,000.

Asks Charter Change

As the city appears to have been deprived of its "free-water" privilege granted when the company was chartered, Mayor J. W. Murphy has said he may ask the next Legislature to change the company's charter so that in it will be incorporated the original intention to give the municipality free water service in exchange for franchise rights. The city has had free water for municipal fire, street watering and other uses since about 1902 and until the public utilities commission ruled that the company was entitled to payment for water it uses.

The controversy over water is of long standing and the Supreme Court's decision has again awakened keen interest in the financial burden the city is now to assume for its water supply on top of a load which has made the meeting of the budget a very difficult problem.

BOARD MAY REVOKE PACKAGE PERMITS

Liquor Commission to Make Its Decision Known Later in the Day.

Hartford, May 24.—(AP)—The State Liquor Control Commission will take immediate action which may result in the revocation of several hundred package store permits. The commission at a conference late this afternoon will definitely decide the course to be pursued for alleged violations of the liquor control act by package store permittees during the period when the Federal restraining order was in effect.

Whether the commission, on its own motion, will cause the nearly 400 package store permittees to be summoned for hearings for determination or revoking the permits, or whether it will be decided to turn over to prosecuting agencies in the towns and cities of the state such evidence as the commission now has in its possession relative to alleged violations of the liquor control act are the two questions to be discussed at the meeting.

Following the morning hearings on applications for permits, the commission let it be known that immediate action is planned in the situation. The attorney general, Warren B. Burrows, in an opinion filed with the commission yesterday, held the Federal restraining order in effect pending the decision of the Constitutional Court as to the constitutionality of the Liquor Control Act, was not a bar to the revocation of permits for violations of the law.

BRAND WHITLOCK, FORMER U. S. ENVOY TO BELGIUM, DIES

Famous World War Diplomat Had Been Ill for Months—Had Had Two Operations—Is Credited With Saving Brussels from Destruction by Germans—Was 65 Years Old.

Paris, May 24.—(AP)—Brand Whitlock, former United States ambassador to Belgium, died here today.

Mr. Whitlock, who was 65 years old, died at noon.

He had been ill for some months. He was taken to the Sunnybank English-American hospital March 8 and underwent a serious bladder operation at that time.

He had been improving slowly and friends said they thought he was on the way to recovery.

A second operation was performed yesterday for the bladder ailment and the famous diplomat appeared afterward to be doing excellently. However, today his heart failed.

Mrs. Whitlock was with him throughout his illness and beside him when he died.

Funeral Saturday.

Funeral services will be Saturday at Holy Trinity church and the burial will be in Cannes.

While these plans are incomplete, it was expected that the Belgian government will be represented.

Mrs. Whitlock said, after her husband's death.

"Mr. Whitlock underwent a second operation and appeared to be doing excellently but, unfortunately his heart was unable to stand the strain and gave way."

The operation was performed by a specialist from Paris.

Grand Whitlock, who won fame in the field of letters as well as diplomacy, was born at Urbana, O., March 4, 1869.

In recent years he had been in poor health, spending much of his time abroad. He was seriously ill of pleurisy in 1931 but recovered, only to be stricken the following year with an attack of shingles.

The death in February of King Albert of the Belgians, a close friend of the American for 20 years, was described by Mr. Whitlock as a "grievous calamity."

Because of his repeated appeals to Germany in the early days of the war on behalf of those condemned to prison or death he became known in Belgium as "Le Ministre Protecteur."

By prevailing on authorities not to attempt to defend the city against advancing German forces he was credited with saving Brussels and the King later thanked him for that action.

A boulevard in Brussels was named for him.

NEW ORGANIZATION PLANNED IN STATE

Liquor, Milk, Hotel and Restaurant Interests Form An Alliance.

Hartford, May 24.—(AP)—Liquor, milk, hotel and restaurant interests of the state met secretly in New Haven today and formed an alliance which may bring influence to bear on the forthcoming political campaign and 1935 legislative policies.

At the meeting held in Hotel Taft were representatives of the Connecticut Hotel Association, the Connecticut Milk Producers-Dealers Association, the Connecticut Restaurant Association and the Connecticut Package Store Association.

It was understood that discontent with the operations of the milk and liquor control acts brought the four groups together for the purpose of joining forces in a program designed to protect their mutual interests.

Membership Claims

The hotel men claim a membership of 80 in their organization as well as support from thousands of employes and their relatives. The milk interests claim a membership of 9,000, the restaurant association, 8,000 members.

The new organization, a leader said, is being led by Willard B. Rogers, managing director of the Bond hotel and when completed will be the largest association of its kind in the state.

"We will interest ourselves actively in all matters of administration affecting the state and local communities," a leader stated. "Furthermore, we hope to line up all our members to back only those candidates for public office whom we believe to be fair and just to all groups concerned."

Alcorn as Candidate

The name of State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn was discussed by many of the forty present as one who might receive wide support in the organization for governor if he is nominated by the Republican party.

Samuel Caplan, president of the Package Store group, was authorized by his executive committee to call a meeting of his entire organization for Sunday in Hotel Gard, Hartford.

SWANSON'S VIEWS EXCITE JAPANESE

Refuse to Agree to Extension of Present Limitations of Naval Forces.

Tokyo, May 24.—(AP)—Secretary Swanson's insistence on maintenance of the 5-5-3 treaty naval ratios as among the United States, Great Britain and Japan, evoked today a strong official expression of Japan's refusal to agree to an extension of present limitations and agreements beyond 1936.

Japan insists that the Washington and London treaties be replaced by new agreements fairer and more reasonable and affording Japan genuine assurance of security," said Rear Admiral Tsuruyoshi Sakane, chief of the navy office's propaganda bureau, in a written statement to the press.

Now Outdated

"The Washington ratios menace the Japanese Empire's safety," the statement said. "The Washington treaty was framed to meet special conditions immediately after the war and now long outdated.

"Armaments compete must be offered in accordance with changing political, scientific and technical conditions. The London Treaty was a temporary compact and was intended to extend past 1936.

"Both treaties are unworkable, and new ones must be negotiated."

Sakane did not question the power of Japan's naval power, but he said that the United States and Great Britain and the United States upon which she is expected to place the heaviest burden of maintaining the world's peace.

The association suggested that the best way to keep the grant might be to ask for an even larger amount, in his address opening a meeting of the organization in the Hotel Broad.

OBITUARY

Deaths. Walter Russell of New York, one of the foremost sculptors in the country, designed the memorial. He visited Hartford a few weeks ago to confer with the trustees. Mr. Russell's conception of the shrine, the plans for which have the approval of Twain's only surviving daughter, Mrs. Ossip Gabelewitsh, is a circular masonry structure 110 feet in diameter, with a central shallow pool surrounded by a semicircular pavement inlaid with characters and scenes from the Twain books. In the main group is a statue of the humorist seated and holding Tom Sawyer in one arm, while Arthur is at his feet, and Huck Finn, Joan of Arc, Pudd'nhead Wilson and others of his best known creations. While there are other groups of characters in the design, it is not intended to complete them at the start but to add to them from time to time.

IN DRIVE TO END TRAFFIC HAZARDS

Roadside Market Associate to Join Drive Against Highway Dangers.

Hartford, May 24.—The elimination of traffic hazards will be one of the principal objectives during the present marketing season of the Connecticut Approved Roadside Market Association, Inc. This action resulted from a meeting at which representatives of the State Department of Agriculture, Highway, Motor Vehicles and State Police met with a committee from the Roadside Market Association.

It was the unanimous opinion of those present that in order to bring about the desired safety, some licensing system governing the erection and location of roadside stands should be established. This would necessarily be a legislative function and it was left with the committee of the Roadside Market Association to draft a suitable bill and submit same to the next session of the legislature.

Standardized Rules. The administrative heads of the various state departments assured the committee of their full co-operation in its efforts to standardize rules and regulations and eliminate traffic hazards along the highways. It was brought out at the meeting that while filling stations and large commercial billboards are regulated through a licensing system, there is not at the present time adequate legislation controlling the location of roadside stands or the erection and placement of signs advertising such stands.

Connecticut Products. The Connecticut Approved Roadside Market Association, Inc., is a voluntary organization of stand owners who sell primarily only those products raised on their own or neighbors' farms. Each stand displays the uniform "Connecticut Farm Products" shield and the products are subject to inspection for quality by the State Department of Agriculture. The organization is self-supporting and the inspection costs are largely covered by the membership fee which has been reduced to five dollars for this year.

Bowers Secretary. All eligible stand operators in the state are urged to avail themselves of the opportunity of working for the betterment of roadside marketing in Connecticut by becoming members of the state association. Sherwood G. Bowers of Manchester is secretary but all applications for membership should be made through the State Department of Agriculture at Hartford, as it is necessary to certify such applications before the use of the official emblem can be granted.

Charles M. Larcomb of West Hartford, supervisor of schools, is building a two story house on the land which he recently bought on the Burnt Hill road. The house has been raised and is nearly completed. Willimantic Trade school students are at work on the chimneys. Mr. Larcomb has set out white pine and other fir trees on the eight acres of land on which the house is located. Mr. and Mrs. Larcomb spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Porter, as their place is not as yet ready for occupancy. They will use the place as a summer home and for week ends. Mr. Larcomb was formerly a supervisor of the Hebron schools.

The Hebron town baseball team will play the Bolton team Sunday at 3 p. m. on the Amston field. The Hebron Cardinals, a junior team, will play the Jewett City Red Sox on the Jewett City diamond, the same afternoon.

There were two or three thunderstorms felt about here Monday afternoon. But little rain fell, but in Salem there was a great quantity of rain, almost amounting to a cloud burst. Another electrical disturbance was felt here Tuesday evening, with quite a fall of rain. It is unusual have so much thunder and lightning so early in the season. Mrs. Alphonse Wright entertained the Ladies' Afternoon Bridge club at her home Tuesday, from 3 to 6 p. m. Three tables were in play. 30 NAVY BERTHS OPEN IN STATE

Men May Apply at Recruiting Stations in New Britain or New Haven.

The Navy recruiting station in New Haven has received orders to enlist thirty men from the State of Connecticut for the month of June. The quota assigned to this district is the same as the number that is being enlisted this month. It is expected that there will be a larger quota assigned this district for the month of July, inasmuch as that will be the start of the new fiscal year for the Navy.

The quota is so arranged as to take men from the whole state. Men applying to the two sub-recruiting stations in New London and New Britain will be given the same opportunities as those men that apply to the main office in New Haven.

Men accepted for enlistment must be of good character and high standing in their respective communities. No men with police records are accepted for enlistment. Men applying need not have High school education but they must be able to pass the mental test given at the recruiting station. All men must be able to pass the rigid physical examination as required by the Navy department.

Upon being accepted for enlistment the men are sent to the Naval Training Station in Norfolk, Va., for the routine three months training period prior to being sent to one of the ships of the fleet for duty. After finishing training the men are given a short leave of absence after which time they must return to the Virginia station and make ready to go to sea.

The President has indicated his favor and it is expected that the machinery for placing loans will be in motion shortly.

DIRTY BUT RIGHT

The facts of war are stark and dirty and foul. This is true of the war against banditry as of war between organized armies. There is a tremendous literature around the subject of war, heroic and full of thrilling romance. The world has been fed on it for centuries. It is mostly untrue. There is also an immense literature around the subject of law enforcement against criminal bands—most of it false and much of it highly injurious. The detective or the sheriff who walks
 up to the killer and by sheer dominance of personality takes his gun
 away from him and puts on the handcuffs is a highly glorified creature of fiction. However, he has been so firmly established in the literature that for many years he has been, all too frequently, an ethical pattern for peace officers—and the country's cemeteries are full of dead policemen and sheriffs in consequence.

No such illusions possessed the hard boiled former Texas Ranger
 who headed the posse that put an end, yesterday, to the bloody career
 of Clyde Barrow and his bragging,
 murdering gun moll, Bonnie Parker.
 Fred Hamer, intensely practical and
 accepting the facts of war as dirty,
 did not hesitate to employ lies and treachery to draw Barrow and his woman into an ambush, nor, when
 the quarry came within gun range,
 to shoot first and without warning.
 He has an extremely nasty job to do and he did it without making the mistake of trying to make it look
 nice and heroic.

The point is that Hamer's way worked. The Southwest is rid of a scourge which might have continued
 for years if the authorities had kept on observing ethical niceties. The thing to do was to shoot Barrow
 and his companion to death on sight
 —to summon them to surrender
 would have meant merely some more dead officers and another escape for the outlaws. So Hamer and his men shot them to death
 without giving them the smallest chance.

HELP IN EMERGENCY

Not so many years back any traveler stricken with almost any acute illness in such a remote spot
 as the Galapagos Islands would have to depend on his own stamina
 and good fortune to live to tell about it. Unlike the fever, whose ravages natives of the tropical climes had learned in a crude way
 to doctor, appendicitis is one of those major diseases science has discovered and alone knows how to correct. Surgery alone can help the victim of the disease in its acute stages.

Few tropical islands boast of surgeons, fewer can afford the surgical equipment necessary for an appendectomy. But the world has taken some great strides even within the memory of the youngest reader. Although surgeons and operating rooms aren't set up at every outpost where New Yorkers with aching tummies are likely to turn up, there has been perfected means of communication so that aid can be summoned pretty quickly.

Take the case of Explorer Wil-
 ham Albert Robinson. Stricken down there in the Galapagos, 1,000
 miles from the Panama Canal,

down in the Pacific near the Equator,
 radio messages brought word
 of his dilemma and soon a scaphane
 with an eminent surgeon aboard
 was on its way to his aid. Many an operation has been performed on the high seas with instructions
 radiogrammed to the ship's surgeon
 from a distant port. The wonders
 keep piling up.

But we don't have to go to far away Galapagos to realize the wonders of surgical and scientific advancement. Most Manchester residents can easily remember when an acute illness suffered by a person
 living in this vicinity meant a trying uncomfortable and, in some cases a treacherous ride to a hospital in Hartford. No one can question that many a death could be attributed to the distance it was necessary to travel for surgical care.
 The same was true of serious accident cases. Manchester had good physicians and surgeons in those days, as good as most cities the same size, but it lacked complete laboratory and operating room
 equipment.

Not until the Memorial hospital
 was made possible by the great generosity of Manchester citizens were
 the residents of the town given protection against this danger incurred
 in traveling a long distance to a hospital. Emergency cases are no more frequent today than they were in the days before the hospital was established here but a far greater number of them are successfully cared for now. The funds appropriated for a Manchester hospital
 could not have been more wisely
 spent. No humanitarian, or municipal project of any kind has ever been undertaken here that has meant so much to the general well being, the real worthwhileness of the town.

CONVENTION CITY

Hartford commercial groups,
 employing the executive graces of the Hartford Chamber of Commerce, have adopted a quite aggressive policy of seeking new avenues
 of trade via the Convention City route. Our townman, Willard B.
 Rogers, whose business acumen
 Manchester shares, with Hartford,
 to a very limited degree, is chairman
 of the committee with this particular Chamber of Commerce function in charge. Certainly such an ambitious program needs as helmsman
 an aggressive and ambitious type
 such as Rogers.

There is no denying the value of convention business. It is all
 "found money." It is a "cash and carry" source of revenue that has few if any ill effects on the regular trade. Every convention held in any town or city is that much gain
 for certain classes of businesses,
 providing, of course, the cost of bringing the convention to the city
 isn't too great.

No doubt the Hartford bureau
 which W. E. Rogers heads has taken into careful consideration to what extent it can go to induce societies, associations or other groups
 to hold their conventions in Hartford. That item can become a very costly one for any municipality.
 Just ask any property owner in Atlantic City, N. J. Unless a curb is put upon the commission having convention promotion in charge a pretty sizeable debt can be incurred.
 Most likely the Rogers committee
 has taken early precautions against this danger.

Hartford has many advantages
 that make it attractive as a convention city. The motto adopted by the committee, "Hartford, the Convention City of the East", is extravagant to say the least, but knowing the chairman in charge we might have heard our handsome neighbor call "The World's Greatest Convention City" and remained quite calm. Whether Hartford can claim the title Chairman Rogers has given to it in the face of such eastern city competition as Portland, Maine, Swampscott, Mass., Boston, Providence, Narragansett
 Pier, or even New London's Eastern Point without challenge remains to be seen, but it surely is something
 to aim at.

Hartford, naturally, isn't in the market for the "Tom, Dick and Harry" type of convention. A city of quality and exclusive features, it would, of course, appeal to that kind of convention group. The higher type of industrial associations, the business office groups, those artisi-
 cally and educationally minded, religious conferences, and so on are just the field for the Hartford committee's endeavors, and,

unless we are greatly mistaken, the committee doesn't have to be told
 so. Surely that kind of convention
 cannot find, this side of Cleveland,
 a city more apt than Hartford for its meetings. It's a gem of a city,
 no two ways about it, and we're
 proud to be a proud neighbor.

NOT AS AGREED

The President's silver bill is not
 what it was quite definitely promised it would be. Instead of declaring, as the country was plainly given to understand it would, that hereafter the metallic basis of United States currency shall consist of three parts gold and one part silver the bill provides that "the proportion of silver to gold in the monetary stocks of the United States should be increased, with the ultimate objective of having and maintaining one-fourth of the monetary value of such stocks in silver."

Since it was understood well
 enough that the rest of the bill would consist mostly of provisions enabling the president to delay and make gestures, practically the whole
 value of the expected bill was known
 in advance to lie in the declaration of policy. By making that declaratory feature ambiguous and effective only at some remote future period Mr. Roosevelt has offered to Congress a measure that is of far less value than he had promised.
 Whether it is of any value at all is a matter of debate. Certainly Congress should never accept the bill in its present form. It is improbable that it will.

It must be peculiarly exasperating
 to those senators and representatives who have lived with this silver question all their lives to have a casual student of it like Mr.
 Roosevelt and a deliberate deflation-list like Mr. Morgenthau draw up any such joker measure as this and
 hold it out, like cheese to a mouse,
 as bait, actually expecting to fool
 people with it. The cheek of it is immense.

Still and all it only needs the substitution of a few words in the second section to make this a very valuable bill indeed. There are a lot of people in Congress who know that, and what the words are. It is to be hoped that they succeed in getting them in.

OF EVIL REPUTE

Minneapolis is one of the American cities whose police departments
 have come in for much criticism at the hands of sleuthing writers within the last year or two. If half the unfavorable things said about the police of both of the Twin Cities, St.
 Paul as well as its sister community, are true then conditions there are in an advanced state of decomposition.

Certainly there is something queer when events like those of Tuesday transpire. Five thousand striking truckers made a concerted attack on a force of special policemen—evidently recruited from the city's business circles—who were guarding trucks operating in the produce market district. In order to get at the special policemen they drove back a detachment of regular officers who, though armed with shotguns, rifles and pistols, gave way without firing a shot. Then the mob proceeded to beat up the special police with clubs, fatally injuring one and sending thirty-five more of them to the hospitals. The dispatches say nothing about any regular police officer being injured.

There is nothing about all this to prove that the Minneapolis regular police have been playing into the hands of mob leaders or that they encouraged the outrageous attack
 on the specials, but taken in connection with an already unsavory reputation their proceedings are at least
 open to suspicion.

LABORERS, TEACHERS

They have their own point of view down in Westport. Of a sudden it was discovered that all relief
 funds, local and federal, had run out. The relief director asked the Board of Finance for a $12,000 appropriation to enable her to carry on. She must have $4,500 of this for immediate aid to sick and helpless indigents, including payment of rents due June 1. The Finance Board gave her $4,000, leaving a $500 deficit in this most urgent item
 and making it necessary to tell the relief project workers that the town
 could do nothing more for them.

Then the Board of Finance adopted a resolution proposed by the school board raising the salaries of the town's school teachers seven-
 and-a-half per cent.
 That is, of course, nice for the teachers and probably not a penny more than they deserve. It is to be hoped that, next school pay day,
 some of those destitute discharged
 relief project workers will not stick
 up the teachers and take the amount
 of that raise away from them.
 They might grow careless and take
 the whole roll.

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

A Young Man from Columbia Greets
 New Deal Leaders a Big Job—
 First Wedding in a Capital Government Building—Suiciders Fall
 Hard for Tipsters.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 Evening Herald Washington Correspondent.

Washington, May 24.—Such
 a prize as may be awarded to the youngest man who makes most outstanding among big New Dealers
 in 1934 seems destined for Milton
 Handler.

He is the National Labor Board's
 general counsel and he held a press
 conference, now famous here, consideration among big New Dealers
 in 1934 seems destined for Milton
 Handler.

He is the National Labor Board's
 general counsel and he held a press
 conference, now famous here, consideration among big New Dealers
 in 1934 seems destined for Milton
 Handler.

The board, he said, still stuck to
 the principle of majority representation in collective bargaining, which
 F. D. had repudiated.

Handler, who is about 30 years
 old and a loan from the Columbia University faculty, spoke truth. Unwittingly, he made himself appear as a lonely champion of American labor under NRA.

But his superiors and associates
 regard him bitterly as a youth who speaks out of turn at the wrong time.

Senator Wagner, NLR chairman;
 Frances Perkins, General Johnson,
 Harry Hopkins and Don Richberg
 had been in daily, tense huddles in an attempt to frame a revised Wagner Labor Board bill which would be relatively satisfactory to both
 labor and industry.

Roosevelt, nervous as a result of the breakdown of his original and subsequent labor policies, was watching closely.

NLR shuddered under the impact of industrialists whose labor disputes had been settled on the majority representation basis and who
 now wanted a redecision on the auto settlement basis to strengthen their company unions.

(In the huddles, Wagner and Hopkins waged a hot fight for the majority representation principle and an independent, strong NLR. Perkins sided with them except when she demanded an NLR under her Department of Labor.

(Johnson and Richberg wasted
 an NLR under NRA control, which would be equivalent to letting industry control its labor relations.)

Roosevelt read about what Handler had said and quickly scribbled
 a note to Wagner. The note didn't show anyone the note, but his friends think it was some simple question such as "What the hell?"

Wagner raged and stormed against Handler—called him "that damned young squirt." He waggered the huddle with Johnson, Perkins, Hopkins, and Richberg to find everybody hollering because Handler, as if speaking for NLR as a whole, had demanded the original strong Wagner bill which they were trying to revise.

So Handler leads the field for the prize. But that was his first own personal press conference and almost certainly will be his last.

New Deal in Weddings.
 The first wedding in a government
 building here which anyone remembers came about after a negro couple from Richmond, Va., called on a negro friend who is a Department of Agriculture laborer and said they were looking for to get married.

The friend remembered a negro messenger upstairs who was a property ordained minister. The ceremony was performed in the basement.

Tipsters Land Suiciders.
 Most of the people you see around town and can't identify must be writing "tip services" for gullible
 folks in New York and smaller communities. The mails are clogged with those confidential weekly letters which purport to give the "low-down" and "inside stuff" on what's happening and what's going to happen here.

A few tipsters can guess better
 than most others, but the business is largely a racket. Any attentive newspaper reader is usually as well informed as the subscriber to those weekly letters—and far less likely to be misled as to future developments.

Business men, of course, are the worst suckers. And it must be admitted that some of the New Dealers themselves follow the tip sheets.
 They, too, would like to know
 what the heck they're going to do next.

CHECK UP ON MENTAL HABITS

In today's article I am going to give you a way to check up on your mental habits. In changing your life
 so that you will win more friends,
 more prosperity, and greater success it is important to change those bad habits which have been holding
 you back, and to learn to substitute
 for them those good habits which will be helpful to you.

You will readily understand that the character of your life depends largely upon the habits you have formed. Usually these habits of behaving in a certain way had their beginning in childhood; however,
 they do not need to remain with you throughout your life. The basis of all success and all increase in power
 is to build up those habits which are desirable in every way.

To form a habit of thinking in a way which is desirable and helpful,
 the first rule is to take away those habits which are harmful and to put in place of them those which are desirable. Then repeat the good habits of thought and keep on repeating
 them and the time will come when they are a permanent part of your character. Remember that during the time you are practicing good habits you temporarily weaken the old habits which were not good and
 by continuing with the desirable
 ones you find they grow stronger
 with use.

The way to change your habits is not to sit down and worry about them. The way to make them over is to put something else in place of them. Herein lies the secret of mind power, of making yourself over for the better. No matter how undesirable your present mental habits
 may seem, your case is not hopeless
 and you can help yourself to a better way of thinking.

The first thing you are to do is to find out which habits need to be broken. To do this, get a pencil and a piece of paper and sit down where it is quiet. Now honestly check off
 the list I am going to give you.
 Mark with a large X the habits
 which you feel are hindering you.
 Here is the list: Irritability, carelessness, moodiness, anger, doubt,
 indecision, gossip, jealousy, fault-
 finding, nagging, putting things off, day-dreaming. There are many others which you may think of in your mind, but these are the ones
 which particularly apply to your case, such as the habit of untidiness
 or tardiness. Add this to your list.
 Now that you have a list of the habits you want to change check off
 the following list of desirable or good habits and pick out the ones
 which you want to build up or strengthen: Cheerfulness, friendliness, fairness, decision, sincerity,
 loyalty, tolerance, patience, kindness, etc. Add the names of others
 which you admire in your friends.
 Do you wish that you were always considered? Do you wish that you could stay with something until it is finished? If you earnestly desire to change, this is a good sign as the stronger the desire, the more likely
 you are to succeed.

check yourself. An honest effort to improve will be rewarded. I want to say to you that you are born to win,
 not to fail, you can climb out of
 your bad habits and win popularity,
 love, prosperity, or anything else
 you sincerely desire.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Insomnia or Sleeplessness)
 Question: Mrs. E. V. S. writes:
 "For a long time I have found it hard to sleep or to sleep the night
 through. What would cause this?"

Answer: The principal cause of insomnia or sleeplessness is digestive troubles, such as excess fermentation of food which produces gas
 pressure against the heart or diaphragm. Even though you are not conscious of such pressure, it is sufficient to irritate you and keep you from getting into a deep slumber. If you would like to secure an article on the subject of Insomnia or Sleeplessness, it is advisable that you send me your name and address, and enclose 5 cent stamps and I will be pleased to see that the article is sent to you. The cure of insomnia is relatively simple and of course the patient feels much better in every way after he once begins to secure sound restful sleep each night. When writing to me address your letter in care of this newspaper.

(Abcess on the Kidney) Question: Mrs. E. M. writes: "Your articles are very good and I enjoy them each day. Will you please tell me what is the cause of an abcess
 on the lining of the kidney. What are the symptoms?"

Answer: Such kidney trouble
 sometimes develops simply because the kidneys are overworked and are forced to eliminate poisons which should be thrown out through other means. Another cause is from the irritations of kidney stones. An ab-scessed kidney is always a serious condition and each case must be properly diagnosed and treated accordingly. Do not expect the trouble to cure itself until you remove the cause and take the proper treatment
 or use any local treatments which may be necessary.

PINNEY TO GRADUATE FROM NAVAL ACADEMY

Son of Retired Navy Captain Is Registered as a Resident of Manchester.

Frank Lucius Pinney, Jr., son of Frank L. Pinney, retired naval captain, will be one of 21 midshipmen to be graduated from Annapolis on May 31 with distinction. He is registered at the academy as being a resident of Manchester. It was in Manchester that his father, Captain Frank L. Pinney, was born and from which town he registered when he was a student at the same school.

The parents of the new naval officer are now residing in Washington. Pinney did not attend the schools in Manchester as his father was in active service and spent little time in this town.

John Preston Wiley of Washington is the honor man of the class. The high standing that Pinney has shown during his term at Annapolis will carry with it a commission in the navy.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sore and sick and the world looks black, don't swallow a lot of calomel and water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, which often breaks out in blanchitis. You ache and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't take for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 50c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

Dirges Sung at Death Feast of Doomed Man

Pelham Manor, N. Y., May 24.—A never return. I want to die in the West. "I have one favor to ask, I want the 'dirty six' to sing 'The Last Roundup,' for this is it—and everybody join in."

Scarcely an eye was dry when the song was finished. Zimmerman upbraided them. "I want this to be a happy occasion and not one of sorrow," he declared. "Death comes to all of us sometimes; what difference does it make when it comes?"

DR. W. R. STEINERT TO HEAD MEDICOS

Hartford Physician Elected President of Medical Society—Others Chosen.

Bridgeport, May 24.—(AP)—Dr. Walter R. Steinert, of Hartford, was elected president of the State Medical Society at the second of its two day sessions here today.

Others elected to office were: Vice President, Joseph A. Gironardi, of Willimantic; C. Mansfield Craig, of Middletown; treasurer, Fred G. Graves, secretary for a term, Charles W. Comfort, Jr., of New Haven.

The Medical Society Council brought in a report today requesting the State Board of Finance and Control to give immediate consideration to a program of reconstruction of the State Hospital for the Insane at Middletown in an attempt to eliminate over-crowded conditions.

A study throughout the state in an effort to establish a sickness insurance is also authorized in a resolution presented by the Council. It also favored the preparation of a program of medical economics for presentation before the next session of the General Assembly.

It was voted to hold the 143rd annual meeting May 22 and 23, 1935 at New Haven.

Dr. Steinert is a member of the council of the state association and one of the delegates to the American Medical Association. The retiring president is a professor at Yale University.

Clinics were conducted at St. Vincent's hospital in the day by Drs. Andrew McQueeney, B. L. Smykowski, John A. Maxwell, Michael Brodsky and H. R. Deluca.

The registration at press time was more than 250.

U. S. BANK CREDIT FAILS TO EXPAND

loans have long been "frozen" to repay and to re-establish their credit ratings. Capital Not Working In the meantime, strong corporations which are in a position to expand operations rapidly usually have a lot of free working capital in their treasuries which they have not been using during the slack times, and are able to finance themselves.

So it is not until recovery has made some progress, according to this theory, that a widespread demand for commercial credit develops. When recovery has gone far that opportunities for profitable operations become widespread, then the weaker concerns that need credit are considered reasonably good credit risks.

Rather than finding employment in commercial loans, bank funds in the early stages of recovery, it is explained, are more likely to go into stable investments such as gilt-edged bonds. As a matter of fact, that is what has become of the bulk of the big increase in deposits in the past year. The money has gone into bank investments in U. S. Government bonds. Investments in other securities, as shown by the statement of weekly reporting member banks, have in the aggregate failed to expand.

of university reserves or Young Fascists of Combat. There were 10,000 more of these graduates this year than last, a fact played up as significant in the Fascist press because these young men are eligible for duty in the Fascist militia.

Those entering the Ballila class numbered 140,150. Piccole Italiane, or girls of Ballila age, were recruited to the number of 71,115 and there were 30,956 Giovani Italiane or girls reaching the Avanguardisti age.

The levy figures represent only fractions of the total number of youths enrolled in each category. They are the totals for recruits admitted into classes where they will have anywhere from four to six years of training before graduating into the next class.

40 PER CENT CUT IN ERA BUDGET

Would Mean Removal of 85 Workers from Local Relief List.

Manchester may expect to receive a cut of from 33 to 50 per cent in its budget for NRA administration, the local committee was told yesterday afternoon at the state meeting of relief administrators in the State Capital. Pending the decision of the Federal Relief Administration on the appeal of the State of Connecticut for an increase of $4,000,000 for state relief, all budget quotas of towns and cities will be reestimated, using the budget of April as a basis upon which the calculations will be made, also considering the extra relief load borne by the respective towns and cities.

STRIKERS SHORT IN RELIEF FUNDS

Recording Secretary of Local 2127 at Hilliard's Turns in Resignation.

Strikers from the E. E. Hilliard plant have been short in their relief funds this week due to the resignation of the recording secretary and the returning by her of checks which had been sent to Local 2127 to be used for relief. The resignation of the recording secretary was turned in a week ago tomorrow. At that time she took exception to a rule which the local had put in force that no relief would be furnished to those who did not do picket duty. When it was insisted that this rule would be followed out she resigned. At the time there were four checks that had been sent to the local, made out in her name. Having turned in her resignation and no longer being connected with the Local, she mailed back the checks.

BROWNS RISE FROM 7TH TO 3-WAY TIE FOR 3RD

Play Good Ball in Home Stand to Climb Rapidly; Yanks, Tigers, Indians Lose; Pirate and Cubs Are Beaten in National.

By HUGH S. FULLEBTON, JR. By Associated Press

The St. Louis Browns haven't yet become the sensations of the American league, but since they settled down at home to face the Eastern clubs they have turned in some successful performance.

The Browns have taken two out of three from the Red Sox, duplicating that performance against the Athletics, and opened a third series yesterday with a smashing 6-2 triumph over Washington.

Tied For Third The triumph climaxed the Browns two days' climb from seventh place into a three-way tie with the Senators and Detroit for third.

The Tigers lost when three of their pitchers failed to halt Philadelphia 15-hit attack and the Athletics won an eleven to five decision.

The league leading Yankees ran into a 14 to 2 shellacking at the hands of the Chicago White Sox. Ted Lyons pitched six hit ball to give the Yankees their sixth defeat in seven games in the west. The defeat was less costly than the others, however, as the Red Sox halted Cleveland 7-5.

Leaders Are Beaten Pittsburgh and Chicago, the National league's leading pair, suffered set-backs. Fred Frankhouse limited the Pirates to five safeties while Boston battered Heinie Mene and Waite Hoyt in the late innings for a six to one triumph. The fourth place Giants took care of the Cubs, 5-2, giving Guy Bush his first defeat after seven pitching victories.

The Brooklyn Dodgers came to the aid of their New York enemies by slapping a 5-3 defeat on the third place Cardinals reducing the St. Louis margin to a half game.

Harvey Hendrick, timely hitting enabled the Phillies to defeat the last place Cincinnati Reds 3 to 2.

EXPECT BIG CROWD AT MONDAY'S FIGHT

Estimate Ross-McLarnin Bout Will Draw a Gate of Over $300,000.

By THOMAS J. CHARA

New York, May 24.—(AP)—The realization began to grow upon the faithful of the Metropolis today that in all probability the third largest gate in the history of warfare among the smaller men of the ring will be taken in at the Long Island bowl Monday night when Jimmy McLarnin defends his welterweight title against Barney Ross.

So high has been the enthusiasm among the fans that a sell-out of the Madison Square Garden bowl, holding some 70,000, was predicted freely with tickets scaled to a top price of $10 for ringside seats, the match can draw approximately $300,000.

Such a sum would stand in the record books third only to the first meeting of Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler, both lightweight, in Jersey City in 1923. The first drew $387,000, the second—the greatest gate ever gathered below the light-heavyweight division—$453,648.

Neither of the two major heavy-weight fights of last season, Max Baer's knockout of Max Schmeling and Primo Carnera's defeat of Jack Sharkey for the heavyweight title, drew over $300,000.

The stars of the show, Ross and McLarnin, returned to the final stages of training grinds today after visiting the New York commission for the stamp of approval on their condition yesterday.

METHODISTS NOSE OUT GREEN NINE 10 TO 8

The Methodist Young Men's club won their second victory of the season by defeating the Manchester Green team through erratic play and numberless errors 10-8.

The Green scored in the second on two luffs, a single and an error and again in the third on two singles and a luff. Spillane gave way to F. Hewitt in the first of the fifth and was greeted with six singles, a luff and an error to score six runs.

The Green rallied in the fourth to score three runs and also another in the sixth.

Joe Lovett made a spectacular catch of a foul ball that fell in the fourth. Judd starred with the willow. The Young Men's club hope to continue their winning streak by taking the Princess Knights into camp Saturday afternoon at Middletown.

HIGH SCHOOL NINE GAINS EARLY LEAD TO DEFEAT LOCALS

Five Run Edge Proves Too Much for Mechanics to Overcome as Team Loses 4th Game in Nine Starts.

By THOMAS J. CHARA

Manchester Trade bowed for the second time to the powerful and almost invincible Windsor Locks High aggregation in a closely matched seven inning contest by the score of 8-5 at Windsor Locks yesterday afternoon.

This victory marked Windsor's ninth win in ten starts this season and the Mechanics fourth loss in nine attempts to date.

Draghi, Windsor's ace hurler, again pitched an elegant 6-hit ball, issuing but one pass and retiring seven local stickmen via the strike out route. Big Bill Keish took over the ball for the Traders and after allowing eight rather "scratchy" bingles over the infield was relieved by Tony Quartus in the latter part of the third chapter.

Quartus in Form Quartus was in brilliant form on the mound yesterday afternoon and checked a bill that had the delegation from up north all baffled, allowing no hits and only one pass in the two and one third inning shut out that he tossed.

Manchester Trade resumed its heavy artillery cannoning in the person of Captain Eddie Raguskus, whose timely triple in the fourth inning sent the ball over the fence for a home run. Raguskus, who timely triple in the fourth inning, sent the ball over the fence for a home run.

The Traders coasted along without a tally until the first of the fourth when Lashinskie singled and Raguskus, Manchester's biggest bombardier of the day, poked out his first hit that won for three bases, scoring Lashinskie.

Then Keish, with third base populated, clouted out his first of a pair of bases during the fifth. Raguskus hit a very fast grounder to Logan who bobbed, the ball and Jarvis was safe enough at first. Keish in the meantime came around from second and crossed the pan for the third tally.

The locals were hushed in the fifth by Draghi's brilliant control but in the sixth, after the smoke cleared, Manchester rang up two more markers.

Keish connected with Draghi's first offering for two bases. Jarvis sent a hot ground ball to Joe Barberie, who muffed the hit. Jarvis hit the throw to the initial catch. Keish advanced to third on the play and made an attempt to steal home. On the throw to home Pease dropped the ball and Keish scored.

Jarvis was advancing to third when Pease, in his section, hit a very wild to the system, the ball going high over Logan's head. Jarvis scored with the fifth and last tally for the Trade.

Windsor's Tallies John Barberie crossed the platter with Draghi's opening inning marker on Logan's clean single through the infield to give the home team an early one run advantage. Logan again found Keish's delivery in the third and started what later resulted in a four run accumulation.

Messrs. Phorio, Joe Barberie, Micha and Ferrara followed suit, all getting singles with short, "scratchy" Texas leaguers.

Three more runs were garnered by Windsor in the fourth with two singles, two passes and a timely double by Micha to sew up the diamond contest for his mates.

Quartus was sent to the slab at this crucial moment in an attempt to curb the carnage. Tony, needless to say, was successful and saved his mates from Windsor Locks' slaughterer attack with his dazzling speed and splendid control.

Bristol Hands M. H. S. Net Team Its First Defeat Of Season To Gain Loop Lead

Bristol High's tennis took undisputed possession of first place in the Central Connecticut Interscholastic League yesterday afternoon by trouncing Manchester High's netmen at the Nathan Hale school cement courts to the tune of 5 to 1, the final doubles match being cancelled due to the lateness of the hour. It was the first defeat for the Red and White in six starts this season.

Bristol won the first two singles with ease, Harris whipping Urbanetti, 6-2, 6-1, while Parsons defeated the local Harris, 6-4, 6-2, and Harris, 2-6, 7-6, 8-6.

Manchester travels to Yale for the state tournament tomorrow and Saturday and the team will leave here at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. The locals depend on the double travel to Hartford to play in the Hartford County tournament at the Hartford Golf Club.

Next week, Manchester has only one matched schedule, playing Bristol again in the Bell City. On Decoration Day the local team will travel to Hartford to play in the Hartford County tournament at the Hartford Golf Club.

OLD-TIMERS CARRY BIG THREAT IN AUTO EVENT

Veterans Speed for Gold and Glory in 500-Mile Grind at Indianapolis Next Wednesday; Many are in the "Roaring 40's."

Indianapolis, May 24.—(AP)—If automobile racing is strictly a young man's game, there are a lot of old boys in it who have been fooling themselves—and the racing public—for a good many years.

Some of the speed demons here preparing for the 500-mile race to be run May 30 have passed the 40-year mark and have no intention of hanging up their goggles.

Phil (Red) Shafer of Des Moines, Ia., who has been racing 43 years, is 42, according to Speedway Records. Chester Gardner of Long Beach, Calif., who finished fourth last year, also is 42. Zeke Meyer of Philadelphia, an annual contender on the brick saucer, is in his 40's.

Have Seen Speed Doubled Leon Durray, of Los Angeles, who threatens to make a comeback in the racing game after a year of retirement, will be 40 his next birthday. He holds bot' the 2 1/2 and 10-mile records for the local course.

The old boys of the roaring road, who have seen top speed for racers actually doubled in their racing lifetimes, may not be so reckless as the youngsters but they are threats as long as their cars hold together.

Shafer and Durray have been racing in the Indianapolis speedway classic since 1922. Neither has ever won, but each has taken away his share of the $100,000 annual purse divided to the first 10 finishers.

Shaw In Front Row Fred Frame, another Californian who won the big race two years ago, has a grown son, Ralph Hepburn is another old timer with 18 years experience. Dave Evans, who began racing in Texas many years ago, is another speed demon who is far removed from the Youngster class.

Others include Cliff Bergere, the stunt man; Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis, who won the race last year and won a front-row place in the trials this year, and L. L. Corum, co-winner with the late Joe Boyer of Detroit, in 1924.

They all are here and plan to participate in the 22nd annual running of the 500-mile classic.

CONTINUE MARCH Ridgewood, N. J., May 24.—(AP)—Maureen Orrcutt, the Englewood candidate for assemblyman who represents the Ridgewood Country Club and her young rival New Jersey girl honors, Charlotte Glutting of Rock Springs, continued their march toward the finals of the women's Metropolitan golf association championship as the field was reduced to the last eight today.

Other quarter final encounters sent Mrs. E. J. Holleran of Greenwich, against Mrs. Leo Federman of Lakeville in the lower.

MISPLAYS AGAIN BIG FACTOR IN DOWNFALL OF LOCAL NINE

Visitors Score Five Runs in 1st and 2nd Due to Wildness of Bob Smith and Fielding Errors of Mates; Then Collect Nine Hits, Six of Them Doubles, to Pile Up Margin; Sonstroem Hurls Fine Ball; Face Trade School Today, Middletown Tomorrow.

Fielding errors and pitching wildness were the outstanding factors in Manchester High's defeat by Bristol High in a twilight encounter at Mt. Nebo yesterday before a crowd of nearly 500 fans but nine lusty bingles that included six doubles contributed to the final score of 11 to 0. The result virtually shattered the Red and White's hopes of a C. C. I. L. title this season, while it kept the Maroon and White in the thick of the battle.

A cursory glance at the final score leads to the impression that Bristol's heavy slugging barrage brought the downfall of Manchester but such was far from the case. The damage had already been done before the men of Monahan unleashed their seige guns on Robert "Bam" Smith and sent him to his second League defeat in five starts.

Smith's lack of control in the early innings, combined with three errors gave Bristol a four-run margin without connecting for a single hit and also brought Jackie May to the mound to relieve Smith until the fourth, when the latter returned to duty. By that time Manchester had been thoroughly cowed and it was just a matter of what the final score would be.

Sonstroem Tames Locals "Wally" Sonstroem was on the slab for Bristol and limited the locals to eight scattered hits in a superb display of effective hurling. He chalked up eleven strike outs and issued but one walk. In only one instance did Manchester get a runner beyond second and that was on the lone holding error by the locals.

Bristol played heads-up baseball all the way, taking advantage of every break of the game. It is interesting to note that the visitors tallied five times on fielders' choices in close plays at the plate.

Two fielding gems featured the contest, if such it could be called, each team executing a double play. Manchester's came in the third when Jackie May made a bare-hand catch of Utke's bunted fly and caught Palau off third. Bristol's came in the fourth when Rautenberg grounded to short, Utke threw to Vodaraki to get Comber at second, the latter then tagging first to catch Rautenberg.

Two walks and a wild pitch by Bob Smith set the stage for Bristol's first two runs in the first, both scored on a fielder's choice. Three errors filled the bases in the second and two more runs crossed the plate on another fielder's choice after which Bristol's first hit of the game accounted for the fifth run.

Bob Smith was obviously rattled and was shifted to first when relieved by May. The latter was reached for two hits, both doubles, and one run before Smith came back to pitch in the fourth. The switch in hurlers made little difference to Bristol and two doubles and a single and an error sent two more runs across the plate. Another double, an error, a fielder's choice and a long fly brought home No. 8 and No. 9 in the fifth, after which Bob Smith settled down to the task of pitching good ball.

For the last three innings he allowed a single hit, which combined with Churray Smith's third error of the day produced the final tally of the game.

Dick Cobb Features Sonstroem and Sylvester starred at bat for Bristol, each rapping out a double and single, while Richard Cobb, covered right fielder, was Manchester's outstanding stickman, clouting three singles in four trips to the plate. Rautenberg got two hits in the same number of attempts.

Today the High school is playing the local State Trade school in a game that was postponed from last Monday because of rain. Tomorrow afternoon, Middletown High comes here for a League tussle in which Manchester should emerge victorious if recovered from the effects of yesterday's debacle. The locals won the first engagement, 7 to 0.

First Inning Bob Smith walked Vodaraki. Sonstroem fouled out over first. Vodaraki stole second, went to third on a wild pitch. Cobb walked, then went to second. Sylvester grounded to third and was thrown out at first as Vodaraki and Maro scored. Palau grounded out. Two runs, no hits.

Second Inning Digiiovanni grounded to third, Hutchinson fumbled and runner was safe. Utke grounded to short. C. Smith bobbled and both men were safe. Cobb fanned. Ryan dropped a roller toward third, Hutchinson fumbled, filling the bases. Vodaraki bunted down to third and was thrown out at first as Digiiovanni and Maro scored. Ryan going to third, Sonstroem doubled to left, scoring Ryan. Jackie May went in to pitch for Manchester. Sonstroem went to third on a wild pitch. Maro flied out to center to retire the side. Three runs, one hit.

Local Sport Chatter

Well, the old "hoodoo" has come and gone—and is there "wailing and gnashing of teeth"?

After watching the game yesterday afternoon we are of the opinion that the greatest sight of the afternoon was the wrecking of a freshman's bicycle. . . . the front wheel was removed and the rest of the "bike" thrown in the bushes. Was the freshman's phase out?

It was evident from the first man up, that the loyal supporters were not won't with the team. After Hutchinson bobbled two in the row he got plenty of red raspberries. . . . Bob Smith got himself into a hole deep enough to bury any team for the afternoon, in the first. Only two runs scored, catch and heart was gone when those two crosses. It was not until the latter stages of the game that the red-legged youngsters found themselves. Just over-awed—that's all.

The machine-like operation of "Wally" Sonstroem was nice to watch. "Wally" failed to get rattled and worked on his batters like the veterans that he is. He has been in too many class games for a little thing like a baseball game to get under his skin. He had plenty of stuff, fanned eleven and walked only one man.

"Chuckie" Smith played in hard luck all afternoon. The M. H. S. mine slapped the first ball pitched to him to left center—right into the hands of the left fielder.

SOME SPARKLING PLAYS . . . Hutchinson's catch of a foul fly in the crowd in back of the third base bleachers. . . . Utke's stops and throws, often beating the M. H. S. runners by yards. . . . Jackie May's bare-hand catch and double of a Bristol runner off third. . . . Wally Sonstroem's drive to left which rolled up the banking and onto the football field. . . . Cobb's smashing drives to center field and one to left—all healthy smashes. . . . Cobb's steal of second in the eighth. . . . ported to be the slowest man on the team. . . . he was full of pep all afternoon, chattering away in right-field, trying to bolster up the team's lagging spirits.

When Bob Smith was tottering with nervous impatience, Bedurtha took time out to fix his right shinguard. Bob fretted in the box waiting for his pint-size catcher to get in position again.

Previous to the game it was noted about that Hutchinson was removed from the team for skipping school. Known to the team, this had a psychological effect on the players. Both Hutchinson and Cobb raced on the field at the last minute and played the banner game of the year without betting or sealing practice.

Manchester High's golf team will be idle for the rest of the week. As Middletown High has cancelled the match scheduled for this afternoon. The local team faces Bulkeley at West Hartford next Tuesday.

KNIGHTS TO PRACTICE The Princess Knights will practice tonight at the Mt. Nebo. The Knights have a busy schedule this weekend. Friday night at 8:15 Highland Park will furnish the opposition at Middletown Park. Saturday at 8 o'clock at Mt. Nebo the Whitehead Young Men's Club will host the Knights. Sunday at 10 o'clock the Knights will meet a team from Rockville at Mt. Nebo. The Knights hope to have a good season.

CHARTER OAK ALLEYS PLAN SWEEPSTAKES The success of the recent series of one-ball sweepstakes at the Charter Oak alleys has led Joe Farr to plan another event that will be conducted on a slightly different basis. It will be held tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock and prizes will be offered on the percentage of entries in the tournament. The sweepstakes will be held on an odds or even basis, but it is the bowlers who decide before starting competition, whether the scores will be kept on the odd number or the even number on the first ball. This method should serve to increase interest in the event and a large field is anticipated.

DONNA of the BIG TOP by BEULAH POYNTER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DONNA GABRIEL and MADELINE SIDDAL who call themselves "The Gabriel Sisters" are circus performers. When Donna is injured by a fall from the trapeze Madeline arranges for her to be taken to GRANDFATHER SIDDAL'S farm to recuperate. To please her partner Donna pretends to be Madeline. She is ashamed of this deception but keeps it up, even when BILL SIDDAL, Madeline's cousin, asks her to marry him.

Meanwhile Madeline marries CON DAVID, animal trainer with the circus, and takes part in the animal act.

Donna and Bill are married. MRS. PLANTER, housekeeper discharged by Donna, is her enemy. Grandfather Sidal has a stroke and Donna writes Madeline about his illness.

The circus is in New Orleans. Con tells Madeline she must go into the cage alone with Lucy, the tiger, driving the evening performance.

NOD GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXV

Contrary to expectations, Renfro was not at all enthusiastic about Madeline going into the cage alone with Lucy.

"I don't trust that beast!" the circus owner said. "I never have, and I never will. Oh, I know Madeline has been working with the cat for several weeks but, just the same, she's afraid of her. If she should suddenly lose her nerve--"

"But she won't," Con protested. "Why, you've seen for yourself how well Lucy behaves now. Madeline can handle her as well as I can."

Renfro shook his head. "I'm not afraid that anything will happen when you're in the cage, Con. With Madeline it's different. An accident now would ruin our business here and, God knows, we need the business."

Con laughed. "Then what are you complaining about? This act will get business for you. It's going to be a sensation! Give the crowd some real thrills and watch them flock in!"

But Renfro was not convinced. It required several minutes of argument before the circus owner finally gave a grudging assent. Even then he refused to make the announcement that Madeline would enter the cage alone with the tiger.

There was an air of hushed suspense in the big tent a hour later when the striped beauties and their larger, less ferocious cousins, the lions, filed in through the wooden enclosure and took their places in the huge steel cage. Madeline stood rear at hand and watched Con go through the act that had first won her a reputation as a circus performer.

The great spotlight shone on Con. Madeline's slender, yellow-clad figure was in the shadows. But when, just before the finish of the usual routine, Con paused and announced that Miss Gabriel would put the tigers through her paces, the glowing light swung about and fell directly on Madeline, lighting her beauty and emphasizing the delicacy of her figure.

Drawn by snow-white horses, another cage was brought into the arena. Lucy, looking magnificent and at the same time repellent, glared through the bars as the cage was made a circuit of the tent. Then the other animals were driven back through their run-way and Lucy, snarling, spitting and dodging, was prodded with prongs until she entered the massive cage.

Perhaps at that moment Con had a premonition of what was to happen. Perhaps he felt a twinge of conscience or a spark of tenderness toward the girl who stood beside him. He leaned toward her and whispered, "If you're afraid, Honey, we'll call the whole thing off."

Madeline raised her shadowed eyes to his, a bitter smile twisting her lovely, rouged lips. "I'll go out in a blaze of glory," she said. She was thinking that this was to be her farrowest appearance with the circus. As soon as the act was over she would tell Con that she was through with him and with Renfro's circus forever.

The door of the cage was opened then and, armed only with a whip, Madeline slid through the aperture. Spectators held their breath. The big tent that had been hushed before seemed utterly still and silent.

There were men on guard outside with revolvers but few of the watchers knew that Lucy stood in the center of the cage, her yellow eyes meeting Madeline's, as the graceful feline body crouched low.

Step by step, the girl advanced, speaking softly. "On the chair, Lucy. On the chair."

Suddenly a man in a seat just behind the first row awoke to his feet. He gave a low, mirthless laugh and called out in a voice that penetrated the entire tent. "Go to it, Baby! I said I'd be here and here I am!"

Unmindful of her danger, Madeline turned. She saw Trafford, standing in the second row, and the leering grin on his face. It was at that instant-while her attention wavered-that the tiger leaped.

The rest happened so swiftly-a vivid splash of orange and white and black shooting through the air, the blood-curdling scream and the great beast beating the slender body to the ground-that the horrified spectators were gripped in complete inactivity by the shock.

Even the men on guard to prevent accidents were too stunned to move. Con cried out, "Good God!" and tore at the fastenings of the door. Perhaps because he jerked so violently, the lock caught and jammed. Then a sprang out. The tiger sprang into the air, gave a yelp and fell back across the mutilated, bleeding body of the girl.

It was then that the audience came to life. There were screams and groans and women fainted. Even men, shuddering and sicken, hid their faces behind trembling hands.

Con tore open the door of the cage and reached his wife. As he lifted her small figure in its gay finery of yellow and purple his voice could be heard above the tumult crying, "Who the devil shot the tiger?"

Madeline was still breathing as Con carried her across the arena to the nearest dressing room, which was La Belle Matilde's, but it was obvious that life was ebbing fast. A doctor who had been in the audience and witnessed the tragedy offered his services. It took only the briefest examination before he told them the girl had only a few moments to live.

Meanwhile Trafford, the man who had caused the accident, slipped out of the tent unnoticed, sobered by what he had done and discovering that revenge was not sweet. He lingered near the entrance to the grounds, waiting to hear whether Madeline lived or died.

For the first time in his career Renfro forgot that "the show must go on." The accident in which Donna had been injured had been bad enough, but Donna had not been torn and mangled and certain to die. A merciful God could not let Madeline linger long.

When the spectators, in a body, rose and left the big top Renfro made no effort to stop them. There was no announcement that the girl was not badly injured and that the performance would continue. The circus owner was so shocked to think or to care what happened next.

Renfro was a simple soul-a kindly, generous man at heart. Though ambitious and somewhat mercenary, he had always placed human life before financial gain. He had heard Con demanding to know who had killed the tiger, and dull, cold contempt filled him. To think that a man, carrying his wife who was unquestionably dying in his arms, could even think of the brute that had destroyed her!

As Con stepped back from the couch where he had placed Madeline the circus owner said hoarsely, "You've killed her, Con. I didn't want her to go into that cage, and you know it. You sent her to her death!"

"Nobody's blaming you," Con hiccupped.

"And you're through," Renfro added. "Whether she lives or dies, you're through."

Con's lips were distorted in a grimace that was intended to be a smile. "Thanks," he said. "So you kick a man when he's down. But with my best animal dead and my wife--"

"Your best animal!" snapped Renfro. "I wish I'd shot the damned beast myself! To think that you can mention that cat in the same breath with your dying wife!"

"Please gentlemen--" the doctor protested.

Both men stopped talking. There was a moment's silence and then the faintest murmuring came from the couch. "Con," Madeline said softly. "Con--"

He knelt beside her and her fumbling fingers stroked his cheek. "Kiss me, Con," the girl whispered. "I love you so much. If you don't forgive me--"

He kissed the pain-drawn mouth, pressing his own against it in a agony of contrition. Only when her lips grew cold and her tortured breathing ceased did he draw back. Then, like one suddenly stricken blind, Con David stumbled out of the little room, out of the run-way and into the open air.

Lurching drunkenly, he made his way through the alley where the concession stands were grouped, past the sideshow of freaks, the peanut and lemonade vendors to the exit from the grounds.

It was the irony of fate that he should be the one to inform Ned Trafford of Madeline's death. But Con did not know who the man was who accosted him. The animal trainers flamed, blood-shot eyes saw only the bulk of a man in the shadows. He did not recognize Trafford's voice.

"How is she?" the man in the shadows asked.

"Dead! Dead!" Con answered. "He staggered on toward the city, still wearing his costume of yellow and purple. Yellow had been the color that Madeline had feared. She had said that it brought bad luck!"

RUBINOW DOOR PRIZE WON BY MRS. J. BROWN

From the display of Bon Ton corset fashions at Rubinow's last evening one comes to the happy conclusion that Bon Ton has created garment for every age and figure.

The various garments were modeled by Mrs. Ely a Garace, Bon Ton's premier model, while Miss Sadie B. Klee, stylist from the New York Bon Ton Studio explained the features of each style.

While Bon Ton has gone forward and created the ideal garment for the modern snug fitting clothes, the white lace-up-the-back model of several years ago is still in evidence for those who still prefer it.

Several of Rubinow's attractive summer suits and dresses were modeled to give those attending an idea of how flawless is the fit of the Bon Ton under the most bias of the bias cut skirt.

In addition to the various garments modeled, Miss Klee gave information on several corrective garments that are inexpensively made by Bon Ton.

The door prize of a $5.00 Bon Ton was won by Mrs. Jennie Brown of 92 Washington street.

Miss Klee will be at Rubinow's corset department for the remainder of the week and cordially invites all to step in and ask her questions on the type of garment suited to their particular figures. Her consultation is without obligation. One will be sure to find it helpful and most worthwhile.

Miss Mary J. Mullen, Rubinow's corsetiere, has various Bon Ton garments to show at anytime.

THE TYNIMITES

By HAL COCHRAN
Illustrated by GEORGE SCARBO

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The baker took a loaf of bread from his big oven. Then he said, "Now, sit down, all you Tynimites, and watch me mix some dough."

"The dough will wind us as a cake," cause that is what I said I'd make. You'll shortly see that I mix the ingredients just so."

"Gee, can I help you?" Goldy cried. "To make a cake I've often tried, but I have never had much luck. Perhaps I'll learn from you."

The baker answered, "Say, that's grand. I like wee tots who'll lend a hand. Just come up to my table and do as I tell you to."

Then Dotty jumped right up to shout, "Oh, my, you cannot leave me out. I'll also help a little bit, and do the best I can."

The baker told them that and this "Oh, I hope nothing goes amiss," said Goldy. "Don't you worry, it's all right," replied the man.

The fluffy dough, when mixed just right, was promptly pushed right out of sight, into the monstrous oven. "Twon't be long, now," Scouty cried.

The baker waited for a while and then he shouted, with a smile, "Ah, ha! The cake is brown, right now. I'll bring it right outside."

He quickly pulled it into view. Wee Duncy cried, "Hurray for you! Your cake, sir, looks just wonderful. Please frost it, if you can."

The baker said, "Why, that's no trick. I'll put the frosting on real thick." He smeared it all around the top. Then down the sides it ran.

Soon Coppy jumped and shouted, "Gee! You've marked your fine cake with a T. I know you at stands for Tynimites. You are a thoughtful man."

The pretty cake was cut and then the kindly baker smiled again and said, "All right, now, help yourselves, and eat all that you can."
