

THREE POLICEMEN SHOT BY BURGLAR; HIMSELF WOUNDED

West Hartford and Hartford Police Engage in Gun Battle— But One Seriously Injured as Result.

Hartford, May 25.—(AP)—Three policemen were shot today by a man who later was arrested on a charge of burglary after he himself had been wounded.

The injured, all taken to hospitals in Hartford, were Policemen Christopher Kelley and Paul Beckwith, Detective Philip Dooley and Carl Hansen.

Charged with robbing a West Hartford hardware store Hansen first fired at Policeman Kelley with a 12 gauge shotgun wounding him in both legs.

Police said Hansen then compelled the driver of a bakery wagon to drive him from West Hartford to a Hartford diner.

Notified that Hansen was carrying a shotgun, Hartford officials sent three patrolmen and three detectives to the diner. The police detail arrived there just as Hansen was leaving.

Fires At Police
Ordered to stop, Hansen fired at the police and then fled behind a stone balustrade.

In the exchange of fire that followed, Policeman Beckwith was shot in the right hand and Detective Dooley was wounded in the lower part of the body.

Meanwhile Detective Thomas J. Hickey circled about Hansen's hiding place. He commanded the fugitive to surrender. Hansen fired, but missed and then was felled by a blast from the detective's riot gun that inflicted wounds in the legs and lower part of the body.

Kelley Badly Hurt
Policeman Kelley a member of the West Hartford police department was the most seriously wounded. Officials said the policeman escaped Hansen just after the latter left the store he is charged with robbing. Hansen went to the Hartford diner, located at Maple avenue and White street, to order a meal. Patrolmen became suspicious when they noticed his shotgun.

WEALTHY WOMAN COMMITTS SUICIDE

Mrs. Caroline McKim, Widow of Stanford White's Part- ner, Kills Herself.

New London, May 25.—(AP)—Despondent because of ill health, Mrs. Caroline R. McKim, 66, widow of Robert McKim, a partner of Stanford White, the noted architect who was slain by Harry K. Thayer, shot and killed herself this morning at her summer home at 159 Glenwood avenue. The house had been opened yesterday when Mrs. McKim arrived from her home at One West 88th street, New York City. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Katharine Dettman, wife of Lieutenant Frank C. L. Dettman, U. S. N.; a secretary, Miss Viola E. Jordan and two servants the Misses Elsie and Teresa Comyn.

Found By Servant
Mrs. McKim was discovered at 8:40 a. m., by Teresa Comyn when the latter went to her bedroom to call her for breakfast. Clad in a night gown, she was lying on the floor near the foot of the bed with a .32 caliber revolver alongside the body. She had placed the muzzle of the weapon into her right ear and the bullet plowed upwards through the brain and emerged in the right temple. Death, according to Dr. Emanuel Henkle, who reached the house first and Medical Examiner Charles Kaufman who arrived shortly thereafter was instantaneous. Both physicians agreed that Mrs. McKim had been dead not longer than an hour or two. None of the other occupants heard the shot.

Was In Ill Health
According to information imparted to the medical examiner by members of the household, Mrs. McKim has been suffering for some time from insomnia resulting from an

TWO MORE COPS SLAIN IN HUNT FOR DILLINGER

Indiana Officers Killed In Cold Blood as They Sought to Halt Auto—No Clue to Slayers.

East Chicago, Indiana, May 25.—(AP)—Two more police officers lost their lives in the bloody game of "Get Dillinger."

In this city, where Policeman William P. O'Malley was slain January 4, by a man definitely identified as John Dillinger, two officers, Martin O'Brien, 44, and Lloyd Mulvihill, 28, were machine-gunned to death late last night.

There was no clue today to the identity of the killers.

Dillinger, fugitive from Crown Point jail where he was held for trial for the murder of O'Malley, was suspected, but it was only a suspicion. The only two men who might have been able to say positively as to the identity of the killers were the policemen, and they died instantly.

Policeman Mulvihill and O'Brien, veteran officers who knew Dillinger by sight, had been assigned to guard a road along which it was believed Dillinger might travel last night. The road patrol was established after word from Indianapolis that a man believed to be Dillinger had been seen there yesterday.

Decided to Halt Car
An automobile believed to have carried four or five men approached at high speed. The two officers, traveling in a police squad car apparently decided to halt the car and investigate.

Just what happened is not clear. The officers' bodies were found slumped in the front seat of their car, with a dozen machine gun slugs in the neck and head of each. The attack must have caught them by surprise, as the pistol of each officer was still in its holster.

A watchman for a packing company, passing that way about half an hour after the shooting, discovered the squad car.

Shortly after word of the double murder was flashed to police, an automobile somewhat larger than that in which the killers were believed to have been riding was reported seen in Hammond. Four or

Try to Join Columbia Army; Now Are Eager to Go Home

New York, May 25.—(AP)—Two young adventurers who set forth from Ludlow, Vt., to join the Columbian army pinned today for another destination—home.

The youths, Sergeant Harold Bennett, 23, of the Vermont National Guard, and Frank Marro, 18, were arrested by a railroad detective last night as they looked longingly at outgoing freight trains.

They said they left their homes in Ludlow Wednesday, after Sergeant Bennett received a letter from the minister of war at Columbia, advising him to apply to the consul at New York if he wished to join the army.

But when they arrived yesterday, they were informed at the consulate that Columbia was not at present

FORD BUYS BOOK; IS SHY QUARTER

Motor Magnate Has To Wait For His Secretary To Produce a 25 Cent Piece.

Gettysburg, Pa., May 25.—(AP)—The chuckles in this historic community today are at Henry Ford's expense.

Stepping from a Pittsburgh-Philadelphia train to stretch his legs yesterday, the motor magnate was approached by B. J. Hardy, book salesman, who inquired: "Like to buy a history of the Battle of Gettysburg? Only a quarter."

"Well, I know a great deal about that battle," said the gray-haired traveler, "but I'll take one."

But the quarter was not forthcoming.

"Well, have to wait for my secretary," Ford explained with a smile. "I haven't any money."

CAPITAL, LABOR SET TO BATTLE TO THE FINISH

Gen. Johnson and Sec. Perkins Warns of Danger; Steel Workers May De- clare General Walkout.

Washington, May 25.—(AP)—Threats of a final fight this summer between industry and labor unions—with the battle lines extending across the Nation—stirred the capital today.

News of deaths in Toledo, where troops fired on strikers in savage rioting—came on the heels of a threat of a general strike in steel unless employers recognize the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, told newsmen things looked "very ominous indeed." Some government officials reluctantly agreed.

Johnson's Warning
Hugh S. Johnson has warned of the danger of a possible epidemic of strikes; so has Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor.

From Senator Wagner, (D., N. Y.), came an assertion that passage of his labor disputes bill, now in Congress, was urgent. This would strengthen the hand of the National Labor Board and strike at company-dominated unions.

It has aroused much opposition by industry.

It was around the question of unionism that labor leaders and some government officials feared a final fight. Unions, pointing to NRA provisions guaranteeing work-ers the right to organize without coercion, have collided in many cases with employers whose interpretations of the law have differed from those of labor leaders.

HATTERS GRANTED HALF OF DEMANDS

Danbury Shops Wage Dis- pute Is Settled By Board of Arbitration.

Hartford, May 25.—(AP)—Deputy Commissioner of Factory Inspection William J. Fitzgerald, acting as the fifth member of the board of arbitration, elected to settle a wage dispute between the Danbury hat manufacturers and their employees, today filed the finding of the board with both parties of the controversy.

The employees had demanded a return to the 1929 wage scale and the decision of the arbitrators gives them about one half the difference between that now received and the 1929 scale.

The other four members of the board were R. K. Reynolds, superintendent of the Malloy Hat company; Henry Goodman of the Beiber-Goodman company; M. H. Greene, international president of the United Hatters Association and John J. O'Hara, president of the local hatters association.

Summary of Awards.
Summarizing the award, the employees will receive the following scale of wages, retroactive to April 30, 1934 and continuing to April 30, 1935:

Coming and hardening departments, men's hats, $1.72 a hundred hats with five cents per 100 hats for each size over existing rates and on January 1, 1935, the minimum wage shall be 70 cents a dozen in all factories for this week; on white, pastel and mixed hats, seven cents over existing rates and on January 1, 1935, a minimum of 75 cents a dozen; hour work in sizing and starting departments, 87 1/2 cents per hour to 90 cents in one shop and $1 per hour in the other, this applying to work done on a regular hourly or weekly basis.

It is his intention to send to Capitol Hill early next week messages on war debts, a National water use program and a proposal for reconsideration of the levy on coconut oil.

He will leave the Capital next Wednesday on a trip of several days, beginning at Gettysburg battlefield on Memorial Day and including a review of the fleet the following day. Then he will visit his old school at Groton, Massachusetts, to attend the graduation exercises of his youngest son, John.

McNeil Seeks Accord On State's Patronage

Washington, May 25.—(AP)—the Senate on previous occasions this session in which a nomination has been opposed by the member from the state from which the nominee was appointed, has shown he will receive the support of that body if he asks to have the nominations rejected. These circumstances have led to belief here at least one, and possibly all three, of the nominations will be rejected unless a compromise is reached as a result of McNeil's visit today.

McNeil, leader of the faction in the state which supported Roosevelt for the Presidential nomination dictated the nominations of Frank S. Bergin as district attorney, Dr. Edward G. Dolan as collector of inland revenue, and Mrs. Francis Dixon Welch as collector of customs. Senator Loneragan, who asked that State Chairman David A. Wilson be nominated district attorney, has checked action on all three nominations.

Whether or not he planned to see Senator Loneragan, who has tied up in Senatorial subcommittee the three major patronage nominations which were made over his opposition, could not immediately be learned. However, with the end of the Congressional session scheduled for the next few weeks, some action, probably next week, appears certain.

Senator Loneragan is reported on reliable authority to have turned down compromise proposals offered thus far in conferences between him, Cummings and Farley.

At the same time, the attitude of

PACKAGE STORE PROBLEM UP TO STATE ATTORNEYS

State Liquor Board Places Burden on Other Should- ers; Alcorn Says Lower Courts Should Act.

Hartford, May 25.—(AP)—The burden of deciding whether to prosecute package store proprietors for acts committed during the period of the temporary injunction rested today with the state attorneys, but whether any prosecution would result remained problematical.

The State Liquor Commission announced after an executive meeting it would leave it to the state attorney to decide whether any action should be taken against package stores which sold liquor after 6 p. m., eastern standard time and in quantities of less than one quart.

Cases of "serious" violations noted by its inspectors, the commission said yesterday, would be turned over to state attorneys for action. In the category of "serious" violations, Frank S. Bergin, commission chairman, placed cases involving the sale of liquor after the hours and in smaller quantities prescribed by the control act.

Alcorn's Position
Hugh M. Alcorn, state attorney in Hartford county, asserted that such cases involved misdemeanors and should be handled by the local courts. He said that if any of them were referred to his office he would refer them to the prosecutors of the lower courts.

State Attorney Samuel H. Hoyt of New Haven county was in Philadelphia and could not be reached for comment. But Nelson R. Duran, New Haven city prosecutor, said he contemplated no action against the package stores.

The liquor commission announced its decision relative to prosecutions after it had been advised by the attorney general that it had the power to revoke the permits of package stores that sought the protection of the temporary injunction.

In its recent decision dissolving the restraining order and upholding the constitutionality of the state control act, the Federal Constitutional Court suggested there be no prosecutions for acts committed while the injunction was effective.

Temporary Calm Follows Night of Terror in Which Troops Kill Two—Over 150 Injured—Son of Late President Taft to Act as Mediator—To Hold Autopsy on Strikers Killed.

Toledo, Ohio, May 25.—(AP)—Seven gas bombs were fired at a crowd of 400 persons gathered at Champlain and Elm streets late today. The National Guardsmen sought to break up another riotous throng.

The crowd was pushed back by the successive clouds of gas. A few members of the group had stoned the Guardsmen with stones and bricks.

Toledo, O., May 25.—(AP)—A thousand Ohio National Guardsmen with fixed bayonets and machine guns held back a crowd at the strike-torn Electric Auto-Lite Company plant today as Federal and state authorities sought to ease the tense situation with mediation.

Charles P. Taft, Cincinnati attorney and son of the late President of the United States, headed a group of mediators trying to bring strikers and company officials to a common ground. Progress was slow.

Coroner Frank G. Krefl of Lucas county today planned an inquest tomorrow into the death of two men shot by Guardsmen during rioting yesterday. County officials and guard officers will be called to testify.

The coroner announced that a body of Frank Hubay, 27, one of the two victims, led him to the belief that the wounds were inflicted by shotgun slugs and not rifle bullets. There were three gunshot wounds in Hubay's head, one in his chest.

The other victim for whom an inquest will be held was Steve Cygion, a 20-year-old youth. Several others were wounded by gunfire and approximately 150 have been injured in the three days of rioting at the plant.

Admiral Frank D. Henderson in Columbus announced today leaving immediately for Toledo and would attempt immediately to bring the disputing forces together in an effort to reach an agreement.

NIGHT OF TERROR
Toledo, Ohio, May 25.—(AP)—With rifle fire and tear gas, Ohio National Guardsmen gained control today of a riot-scarred factory district, where two men have met death and 150 have been injured in strike disorders.

The militiamen, 740 strong, repelled brick tossing strike sympathizers in nine hours of desperate guerrilla warfare at the plant of the Electric Auto Lite company.

They pressed the soldiers fired into the burning, riotous yesterday afternoon, killed Frank Hubay, 27 and Steve Cygion, 20 and wounding several.

Stopped for a time, the rioters strengthened their forces and returned to battle last night. Two men were shot and three others were injured. The crowd numbered 6,000 at the height of the riots.

New Developments
Prospects for peace negotiations were complicated by new developments toward a general strike in Toledo.

Fifty-three persons were arrested by the militia for civil offenses and charged with rioting. None was armed.

Quiet was restored shortly after midnight in the area of machine guns and bayonets just five blocks northeast of the burning plant.

In the scores of injured were many women. In previous rioting during a three day period approximately 100 suffered minor injuries from clubs, stones and teargas.

Four more companies of Guardsmen, an armored car and trucks loaded with gas bombs were ordered into Toledo to tighten the hold of the military authorities bringing to nearly 1,000 the forces of the militia.

Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson announced officials of the company had agreed to shut down the plant today and tomorrow.

Charles P. Taft who was dispatched here by the Federal Department of Labor, took the lead in negotiations.

Union leaders clung to the original demands of the five weeks old strike which included a ten per cent pay increase and union recognition.

The rifle fire and the popping of gas bombs, the clatter of rocks and other missiles, the screech of ambulances sirens and the shouts and jeers of the rioters were raised last night.

Eight blocks from the heart of downtown Toledo, the rioters were reported they could hear the shouting.

That some of the rioters were armed with gas bombs became apparent in the early morning. At that time

MARKET TRADING VERY SLOW TODAY

News Developments Slow Up Business; Issues Unchanged or Bit Lower.

New York, May 25.—(AP)—The Stock Market appeared to be deep in the doldrums today and speculative enthusiasm was at an even lower ebb than in the preceding session.

News developments generally were negative if not neutral and the few traders who visited the boardrooms were deaf to the pleas of customers. Labor clouds still obscured the economic skies. The Washington-Congress scene was also a little murky. Some equities firmed moderately on scattered buying, but as many issues were either unchanged or slightly lower.

Equities were inclined to ignore a rally of about 2 cents a bushel in wheat which was based largely on further drought reports. Rubber futures recovered substantially and cotton and silver were fairly steady. Bonds moved lazily in a restricted range and foreign exchanges registered unimportant fluctuations.

A rather firm tone was displayed by shares of American Telephone, Bethlehem Steel, Union Carbide, General Motors, Chrysler, American Can, Dupont, Case, United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, American Sugar Refining, Schenley, American Commercial Alcohol and Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit. Most of the metals were easier, the oils were at a standstill and the utilities merely marked previous closing levels.

CHARLES SCHWAB RESIGNS OFFICE

Steel Magnate, at 72, Gives State of Health As His Reason.

New York, May 25.—(AP)—The American Iron and Steel Institute accepted the resignation of Charles H. Schwab as its head last night, after vigorous efforts on the part of the membership to persuade the steel magnate to change his mind had failed.

Mr. Schwab explained that he felt it imperative to conserve his health by withdrawing as much as possible from business affairs. He is seventy-two years old.

"My state of health, my age, my inability to take any active part toward the good of the institute make me feel this step is imperative," he said in his letter of resignation.

He has been head of the institute since the death of Elbert H. Gary in 1927. He still retains his chairmanship of the board of the Bethlehem Steel corporation.

When he returned last month from Europe, where he had gone to rest, he made the statement that "as president of the Iron and Steel Institute I am behind President Roosevelt in everything he does."

El Paso, Tex., May 25.—(AP)—Two United States customs officers were wounded, one seriously, and two suspected smugglers were believed to have been shot in an exchange of fire on the Rio Grande near Fares last night.

Inspector William White was shot through the neck, but physicians said they believed he would recover. The other officer, J. T. Cressap was shot in the jaw. The suspects opened fire on the officers when they were ordered to halt on the American side. PEARSON TO STUDY DURING SUMMER

Local Musician Hopes To Get Leave of Absence To Take Special Course.

Helge E. Pearson, organist and choirmaster of the Emanuel Lutheran church and director of the Bethoven Glee Club and the G. C. Club, is planning to devote the coming summer to the study of music, it was learned today, which will make it necessary for the local Kiwanis Club to seek elsewhere for a director for the Kiwanis Kiddies Camp at Hebron.

Camp Director Four Years
Mr. Pearson has been director of the camp for underprivileged children for the past four years and was to be invited to take that position again this year. The financial returns from the recent Kiwanis Club show make it possible to conduct the camp this summer. Last year the camp was held for a two-week period in July, one week for boys and the other for girls. James Turnbull is chairman of the camp committee this year and will hold a meeting early next week to discuss plans for the camp.

May Go To Rochester
Mr. Pearson's plan to study this summer is dependent on whether or not he can obtain leave of absence from his church duties. He plans to take a six weeks course at the Eastman School of Music at Rochester University in Rochester, N. Y., after which he may spend three weeks at the Westminster Choir School on Lake George.

OPEN FORUM

Editor, The Herald:
It surely is a terrible disgrace to John Barleycorn to have someone after picking his bones for thirteen years adopt his name especially one with a Ha! Ha! like the cartoon and graveyard bunter, the Hyena.

Evidently there is nothing left of the corpse of prohibition. Its bones were picked clean even before it died, therefore, the chilling Hyena Ha! Ha! Don't forget Mr. Ha! Ha! Jack, that so-called Christians with their teachings, dogmas, creeds, and superstitions have been the cause of the human race swimming in blood for 1900 years. Not away with the churches. Clean them. Let the teacher preach the same thing the wandering teacher of Judea did, and then no one will need a brass band to tell a heartless world how holy he is.

Re-opening of the Manchester store of Montgomery Ward & Co., at 823-80 Main street will take place at 9 a. m. tomorrow. Mr. Lyons, local store manager, has extended a sincere invitation to all the shoppers of Manchester and vicinity to be present and inspect the newly remodeled store and the service which the Montgomery Ward organization is prepared to furnish.

Three floors re-arranged with the customers' shopping comfort as a major aim, have been stocked with merchandise to meet every need, the display being facilitated by the installation of the latest type fixtures.

Service to Customers
The Manchester store is a complete department store which not only brings a huge assortment of merchandise directly to Manchester shoppers, but also makes available a "service order" plan whereby the store can secure any desired goods not on the shelves, according to Mr. Lyons.

Hours of Business
The store will be open daily from 8:30 a. m. until 6 p. m. except on Thursdays and Saturdays, when the store will remain open until 9 p. m. Mr. Lyons has been associated with the company for the past six years.

In re-planning floor space in the building occupied by Montgomery Ward & Co., emphasis was placed on ease of shopping and departments so aligned as to bring together related merchandise. The three floors are the basement, the main floor and the second floor.

Basement Merchandise
In the basement are sporting goods, hardware, electrical wares, tires, tubes, and auto accessories, stoves, ranges, plumbing and heating equipment, and farm and garden implements.

On the main floor the women's fashion accessories—gloves, handbags, lingerie and foundation garments, besides toilet accessories, hosiery, piece goods, draperies, bedding, notions, infant's wear, and shoes for all the family. There is also a complete men's wear department, featuring suits for men and boys, shirts and related accessories, and a complete line of work clothing.

Furniture for the Home
On the second floor are articles pertaining to the home, such as furniture, rugs, radios and electrical appliances, including washing machines, ironers, and electric refrigerators. The general offices are at the rear of the messanine, where the time payment department is also situated. The stock rooms are on the basement floor.

Newest Fashions on Display
A large part of the main floor is given over to a display of the newest in women's fashions—coats, hats and dresses. These shipments, according to Mr. Lyons, have just been received from New York and represent the latest popular styles.

Modern Fixture Equipment
Noticeable among the store's equipment are fixtures designed to display goods most readily. The majority of merchandise is placed on low, well proportioned tables finished in mahogany and equipped with nontarnishable base rails and partitioned with glass screens.

A crowded and disorderly effect in the showing of merchandise is avoided by this means. Convenient aisles afford ease to patrons in passing from one department to another.

Ward's Price Policy
In accordance with the Ward policy adopted many years ago every article sold by the company is marked in plain figures. One price is made to all, and this price is as near actual cost as it can be made, and allows the company the smallest margin of profit on which it is possible to operate.

The budget plan offered to patrons of the store makes it possible for the customer to purchase and enjoy the service of furniture, electrical appliances, fixtures for the home, plumbing equipment, etc. It is one of the accommodations Montgomery Ward's list in its long line of purchasing conveniences. It is the desire of the firm to offer the customer every possible avenue by which home enjoyment, labor saving, better sanitation in food preservation, and higher standards of living can be arrived at.

Nominal Payment
With the thought that it might be convenient for many persons to purchase articles that run up into considerable expenditure at a single time, Ward's has devised a plan whereby these articles can be purchased for a nominal amount as the initial payment, with the balance deferred over such a period within the family budget.

Hundreds of thousands of people have taken advantage of this liberal plan and found it an admirable way to happier homes.

In 1927 he was awarded the Howland Memorial prize by Yale University.

CITIES SERVICE AUDITING IS HIT

Writeup Retained On Books, Commission Told; Firm Says States Ordered It.

Washington, May 25.—Testimony that Cities Service Company, although writing down valuations in its public financial statement as of December 31, 1930, retained such write-ups totaling $24,515,310 on the books of the company was presented today in the trade commission's utility inquiry.

A. E. Lundvall, commission investigator, who previously had reported this total write-up, pointed out that $176,534,781 of it was eliminated from published financial statements, but that the original writeups were maintained on the books.

Lawyer Replies
At the same time Robert Burns, Cities Service counsel, issued a statement saying the investment costs thus "recorded on the books of the operating utilities were placed there under the order and direction of public utility commissions under whose jurisdiction the companies operated."

Mr. Lundvall said the write-down shown on the financial statement left a net write-up of $70,020,529, equal to approximately 7 per cent of the company's plant and investment account.

The effect of valuation write-ups tends to increase, commission experts have often said, the amount of income a utility company may obtain, since its rates are based on total valuation of a property, and the larger the valuation the larger the legally permitted return.

Mr. Burns, in his statement, denied the alleged write-up figures ever were taken into account by rate regulatory bodies.

"It is the actual value," Mr. Burns said, "of the property involved fixed by appraisal which is the rate basis. The Trade Commission report expressly states that it does not purport to go into questions of fair value or of fair rate of return or of reasonable rates for services."

SOLELY HOLDING COMPANIES
Washington, May 25.—Robert Burns, counsel for Cities Service Company, in explanation of evidence brought out at the hearing of the Federal Trade Commission today, declared that Cities Service Company and Cities Service Power and Light Company have no operating activities of their own, as they are holding companies.

"The properties are owned and operated by the subsidiaries," Mr. Burns said. "A holding company's function is primarily one of financing the requirements of the operating company. Cities Service Company's financing has always been effected through Henry L. Doherty and Co., who have always been the company's fiscal agents."

WOMAN KILLED, CLUBBER SOUGHT

Negro Being Sought As Attacker; Second Murder Since Last Sunday.

Fredericksburg, Va., May 25.—(AP)—Search for an unidentified attacker of a couple near here Sunday night was redoubled today following the death of Fannie Kurz, Brown, who was found unconscious in Battlefields Memorial park.

Miss Kurz died in a hospital without regaining consciousness. Brown is in a critical condition with head injuries and has not been able to tell authorities how he and his fiancée were hurt.

The two were found Monday lying in a shallow depression in the park, hours after the assault was believed to have occurred.

Authorities found a two-foot section of a lead pipe within a few hundred yards of the spot. They were told by at least six persons that a negro has been lurking in the park. Another clue studied by investigators involved a man sought for a club killing in Anacosta, D. C., on Sunday and later traced to Fredericksburg.

TWO DEAD, 50 NJURED WHEN BUS HITS TRUCK

Crash Occurs During Blinding Rainstorm Near Richmond, Va.— Fire Breaks Out.

Richmond, Va., May 25.—(AP)—A head-on collision between a bus and a truck, followed by fire, left two persons dead and at least 50 injured today.

The crash occurred in a blinding rainstorm near here last midnight. The bus was filled with negroes on a pleasure trip. Fire broke out while rescuers worked frantically. A woman was burned to death. Approximately 45 of the injured were brought to Richmond hospitals.

Others were sent to the Petersburg hospital. The crash drove the front wheels and the motor of the truck through the front of the passenger bus.

Paul C. Rand, 26, driver of the bus, and W. J. Whitlock, 20, of Richmond, driver of the truck, suffered head injuries.

Since the front of the bus was demolished, the dead and injured had to be removed through the windows. Eight cars were commandeered by State Officer J. C. Aaron, the first policeman on the scene, to carry the injured to hospitals. The fire broke out about forty minutes after the crash.

C. F. Loflin, of Ashboro, N. C., who was driving toward Petersburg, said the bus sidwiped his machine and forced him into a ditch. He said the bus then skidded across the rain-drenched road directly into the path of the truck. The truck was heavily loaded with tobacco hogsheads.

FRIDAY, MAY 25.

GOV. ELY'S ADDRESS

Reading in the morning news columns that 300 of the leading bankers, business men and industrialists of Connecticut stood up and cheered Governor Ely of Massachusetts last night at the annual banquet of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce "after he had finished assailing the NRA," and then reading the text of Governor Ely's address, one may well be just a little puzzled to know exactly what the State Chamber members were cheering about. One may even wonder whether in every instance they were definitely aware themselves—and whether they were all cheering for the same reason.

It was perfectly evident from the Bay State governor's remarks that he was viewing with alarm. But viewing what? Not by any means the National Recovery Act, for the governor not only endorsed the general purpose of that act but the spirit in which it was being administered by President Roosevelt, whose intentions, the speaker declared, were fine and high. Not even the effects of the NRA, because to its example and results he attributed the general awakening of trade throughout the world which he declared has come to pass.

The NRA, we gather from the text of Governor Ely's speech, is a fine and helpful thing—as a temporary measure—but would be terrible if it were to be fastened on the country as a permanent fixture. But such a contingency, it is to be deduced, is no proper occasion for this alarm, because the governor expressed his complete conviction that President Roosevelt has no idea of converting it into a permanent one. Neither, so far as we can discern from careful perusal of the speech, has anybody else except, perhaps, a small number of professional labor leaders.

What strikes us most forcefully in the matter of this address, in common with any number of such talks, is the apparent absence of any particularly constructive suggestion—the lack of any alternative proposition that might probably be substituted for the NRA.

We, too, feel considerable apprehension concerning the NRA. It has always seemed as though many of its major measures were more or less crazy, and we feel thoroughly convinced that the machine that has been erected for its administration is clumsy, overwise and imperfectly articulated. But we fail to see how much good is to be accomplished by continually pointing out the faults and errors of the NRA device in a concerted effort to discredit it and bring about its elimination if we have nothing better to put in its place than a return to the almost complete economic anarchy which preceded it and of which it is the logical successor and heir.

Governor Ely gives us no hint. He merely finds himself in a state of blue funk over the horrid thought that NRA "regimentation" may lead to Socialism—possibly overlooking the fact that this route to Socialism, if it tends in that direction at all, is certainly a far longer one than we should find under our feet if, by any chance, the New Deal for its many and egregious faults, should be incontinently scrapped and we were to return by magic to the policy of rugged individualism which led us up the heights ending in the precipice of 1929.

It is to be doubted whether another single word of criticism is needed to convince such people as make up the membership of Chambers of Commerce that the NRA is an extremely imperfect piece of economic mechanism. Their own experiences have been utterly convincing on that point. Is it not, then, time that such groups devoted themselves very seriously to the job of discovering some better and fairer, less disturbing and quite possibly less dangerous plan for re-establishing industry, trade and agriculture in this country on a workable basis—instead of listening avidly to superfluous criticism that, unfortunately, leads nowhere but to a conviction already established.

BAKERIES

One of the most interesting developments in the NRA controversy is the action of three thousand members of the New York State Association of Retail Bakers in abandoning the Blue Eagle because, as the association has formally declared, "the government has failed to carry out its part of the Bakers Code. The bakers adopted a resolution setting forth that the American Federation of Labor had discouraged the government's approval of the code and asserting that the Federation had publicly announced that the small handcraft baker 'is doomed and ought to be doomed.' Many thousands of citizens will agree with the bakers' insistence that such a statement is a violation of the whole purpose and spirit of the NRA.

It is probable that there is no other single line of industry in which the effects of great combinations upon the well being of the public is quite so direct and so obvious as those in the baking business. It is unlikely that there is one experienced housewife out of twenty, throughout the country, who would not rejoice to see every one of the great baking corporations dissolved and driven out of business and the service returned to the hands of a multitude of small proprietor bakers. Because they are utterly convinced that the product of the little neighborhood bakers is not only more individual, more appealing to the appetite and far less dreadfully standardized, but wholesomer and more honest.

The very fact that all over the country small retail bakeries survive in the face of the competition of the great baking corporations must carry some measure of conviction of the superiority of their wares, because in sheer matter of price they cannot compete at all. The little local bread bakery that proves itself capable of carrying on in the face of corporation competition of a pretty ruthless type is also proving that it makes better bread. And this is especially true of the thousands of small concerns that continue to supply their neighborhoods with biscuits, cakes and pastry closely approaching in quality the best "home made" and out of all comparison with the wholesale products of the great baking combinations.

If the issue in this New York State fare-up continues to be drawn between the bakers' contention that they have a right to live and the A. F. of L. position that they have no such right, we may expect to see the women of the nation rallying in force to the support of the little independent bakeries.

PAROLE SYSTEM

The parole system for convicts has fallen under heavy indictment recently. Both of those wholesale butchers of human beings, Claude Barrow and John Dillinger, one now dead the other still alive to do more murders, began their bloody careers of slaughter immediately upon being paroled long before their prison terms had expired. Two separate groups of cop-killers in New York, apprehended with the last month, turn out to have been convicts who, had they been kept behind bars for even a major part of their terms, would not have been free to commit their atrocious felonies. In one of these latter instances it was our own Connecticut Board of Pardons that turned loose the mentally deficient and morally perverse individuals who, out of sheer half-mad ugliness, shot down two police officers, killing one of them.

It would seem to be pretty clear proof of the complete breakdown of the purposes of the parole system that when an examination of the record of nearly every perpetrator of some particularly shocking crime of violence discloses that almost his entire criminal career has been followed in time borrowed from an original prison sentence, which had it been served in full, would have assured his safe sequestration during the entire period.

If this indicates anything aside from the reckless exposure of society which is self evident, it is that the parole is no such incentive to reform as it was expected to be. It may be and doubtless is true that a considerable number of paroled prisoners do not "repeat"—that they become either good or careful. But nothing is more certain than that society cannot, for the possible good of these—who, it must be remembered are after all criminals—continued to turn loose, after hardly more than a gesture of punishment, malefactors who seem to conclude that their parole is a license to run amok.

TWAIN MEMORIAL

The decision of the directors of the Mark Twain Memorial that the proposed half million dollar monument to the memory of the great author shall be erected in Hartford is not only gratifying to the people of this state but is in conformity with a rational view of all the various claims in the case. Some time ago we expressed the hope that, above all, the memorial should not be placed in New York City, because in that strange maelstrom no memorial to a personality and no tribute to an idea can long survive the frantic changes perpetually in progress and no personality or memorial can ever succeed in making a permanent impress in the seething mass of that great hive's fluxing fabric.

Washington, as the national capital, wanted the memorial and so did a Missouri town or two because Missouri was the state of Sam Clemens' birth and upbringing. But Hartford, as the author's home for many years and the scene of much of his best work, is the logical choice.

From all accounts the memorial is to be a thing of beauty. It will be a very important addition to the Capitol City's artistic adornments. Again Hartford is lucky. Always is our neighbor city getting something beautiful and valuable without spending a cent for it. And this time we can't even get more about it but, on the contrary, must unqualifiedly rejoice.

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON
 New York, May 25.—It looks like a dampish and very gay summer, especially good for wild oats. Roadhouses are blooming along the highways, and metropolitan rooftops are bright with awnings, music and cash customers. Ex-speakeasies, blinking in their first spring sunshines, are expanding into backyard gardens. And Paris itself won't boast as many sidewalk restaurants, what with Gotham drugstores, even, putting out a couple of tables and a potted palm. The sunken plaza in Rockefeller Center is to have an outdoor bar and tables next to the establishments of Henri, who is supposed to have invented crepes Suzette.

High in the air, all the hotels have been refurbishing their sky salons in preparation for the outdoor trend. The Starlight Roof Garden of the Waldorf-Astoria is a spacious perch with a bamboo bar. Eric Madriguera's music, Margot's dances, Carmen's songs . . . The Sky Gardens of the St. Moritz, overlooking Central Park, are blue and silver now, and have their bar in the Gossip Room . . . Over on the Jersey cliffs above the Hudson is Ben Marden's Riviera, one of the grandest spots in the life anywhere . . . For fastidious dining there's a penthouse cafe called Bella Vista . . .

Bobby Sanford has started casting his third annual Showboat Review. It's really on a showboat, too; you take a steamer in a little way up the Hudson and transfer to the remodeled schooner Buccaneer, which is anchored off Tarrytown. After the festivities the steamer appears for the return to town . . . The historic old Claremont inn on Riverside Drive, where George Washington once had temporary headquarters, has sliced its prices and will have tables on the lawn, and a dance orchestra . . . And there's likely to be free public dancing in Central Park, with a 75-piece CWA orchestra.

Word comes that Louis Wilson, proprietor of Montparnasse's Dingo, is home sick for New York. His business is ailing, too, because Americans in great numbers seem to be staying away from Paris. So the Dingo will move here in October . . . So, probably, will Joe Zell, another languishing expatriate . . . Lou Schwartz, high-life impresario who blazed a wide trail through the prohibition era, is back in town and making all sorts of plans. He's the fellow who helped to promenade by the night-club route such people as Joan Crawford, Helen Morgan, Ethel Merman, Harry Richman and Helen Kane . . .

Elly Rose, the theatrical producer who remodeled a showhouse into a glorified night club, the Casino de Paris, and is taking $40,000 a week out of it, now is in the midst of another experiment. He has found another theater and has made it into a genuine continental-type music hall for the masses—open from 11 a. m. to the following 3 a. m.; vaudeville, newsreels, dancing on the stage, hostesses, and a hundred singing waiters. All this and luncheon for 50 cents; dinner for 75 cents.

It's my guess that Mr. Rose (who by any other name would still be a genius) will be able to provide hostesses and avoid criticism. At least, he's the only one who ever succeeded in renting out girls without offending anybody. At the Paris, where even highest society drops in for an evening of luscious fun, male dancing partners, for hire, are a cherished institution. Attired in tails, with green scarves for identification, and wearing a robot-like air of rather grim propriety, they face a measured tread with ladies whose escorts don't want to dance. Or can't.

Health and Diet Advice

SINUS TROUBLE

It is often interesting to classify the letters which come in to me, and I have noticed that certain diseases are more common in certain classes than in others. For example, the patient with high blood pressure is often a successful business man, while the patient with muscular aches and pains is likely to be doing heavy work. I would describe sinus trouble as a disease of the educated classes. Like colitis, it is most often found among those who have received a good education and who are smart enough to begin to get ahead in the world. Many of the letters I receive asking for information about sinus trouble come from patients who own small businesses, or who are professional men. There seems to be some connection between the nervous strain of the life led by the "brainy" person, and the fact that such people secure little exercise, which makes them more prone to develop an infection of the sinus cavities.

In understanding sinus trouble, you must first understand that some of the bones of the face are hollow. These hollow cavities join the internal nose, being connected with it by small openings. The cavities of the cheek bones are called the antrums; the cavities in the forehead just over the eyes are termed the frontal antrums; the cavities in the forehead just over the eyes are termed the frontal sinuses, and so on. These hollow bony cavities are lined with mucous membrane which is served by the same blood circulation as the rest of the body, and, when the blood is loaded with wastes and impurities, they may easily fill up with mucus or pus, as the mucous membranes work overtime, discharging waste materials.

In catarrh similar wastes are thrown off through the mucous membranes of the nose. As a rule, both catarrh and sinus trouble exist together. While the mucus from the nasal membranes may easily escape, this is not true of the antrums which collect in the sinuses and antrums since from these it must drain out through very small openings which are also lined with mucous membrane, which may become swollen as the inflammation extends up from the nasal cavities, making the exits even smaller. Slowly, as the pus and mucus gather, the cavity fills up and, since the bone is not elastic and cannot give way before it, the pressure causes terrible pain.

The pain from sinus trouble sometimes becomes almost unbearable, it is variously described, such as boring, shooting, darting, spitting, etc. Puncturing the sinus and draining out the pus may induce a temporary improvement, but it is well-known that in many cases the treatment does not completely cure the trouble; and the sinus often fills up again and the operation must be done over. There is no doubt, however, that making these openings larger makes it easier for further infection to enter.

The only treatment which I have found to empty the pus from these cavities and to build the lining back to a normal, healthy condition, is the fasting and dieting treatment. In addition, local treatments may be helpful.

In most cases of sinus trouble, certain local treatments, including the ultra violet ray, other physiotherapy treatments and mild antiseptic washes, are beneficial in helping to establish better drainage and if the treatments are supplemented with the fast and diet to clean up the systemic toxemia, this will be all that is needed to bring about a lasting cure of sinus trouble.

SAY KING ALFONSO SEEKS A DIVORCE

Spanish Newspapers Report
That Former Monarch
Plans Legal Action.

Madrid, May 25.—(AP)—The newspaper La Libertad today published a report from France that former King Alfonso XIII is planning a divorce from the former Queen Victoria.

It stated that the couple would ask the Pope for an annulment shortly.

At the same time, the newspaper El Sol published a dispatch from Paris saying that Alfonso's son Juan, will soon announce his engagement to Princess Maria, the youngest daughter of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy.

TO DELAY ACTION

Paris, May 24.—(AP)—Close friends of former King Alfonso and former Queen Victoria of Spain said today that there was a foundation for rumors that the royal couple wish a divorce.

They said, however, that nothing had been done on the matter and that the royal couple was hesitating at taking action because it was late in life and also because a divorce might have a bad effect upon Monarchists' hope for the restoration of the throne of Spain.

Some of the friends said they thought that if Alfonso would abdicate formally, the way might be cleared for the annulment.

Spanish court circles professed ignorance of the reported engagement of Prince Juan to Princess Maria of Italy.

Up to 6900 more firing charges in every gallon of improved Super-Shell

"MY CHEVROLET seemed so slow in getting up speed—until I tried your super-charged gasoline," says Miss Velma Curran, of Baltimore, Maryland.

"A '29 FORD with 55,000 miles behind it ought to be retired. But not this car of mine; super-charged gasoline has it doing a swell job," exclaims Frank S. Stafere, of Philadelphia.

"MY '26 PACKARD EIGHT, which has gone over 48,000 miles, had begun to show its age until you came out with this gasoline. All its old power is back now," states E. M. Hogan, of Watertown, Mass.

More Mileage and More Power now possible for motorists through new Super-Charging process developed by SHELL...

THINK WHAT IT MEANS to you to have these extra firing charges packed into every gallon of Super-Shell!

Every firing charge inside the cylinders drives your car forward. These added firing charges are a free gift of power and mileage.

Even a single ounce of this super-charged fuel contains as many as 54 extra firing charges! Up to 6900 extra in every gallon.

The whole country's talking about its EXTRA MILEAGE! Owners of Fords, Chevrolets, Plymouths are reporting that Super-Shell is giving them from 1/2 up to 2 more miles per gallon.

Remember, too, that Super-Shell has a higher anti-knock rating. And it's also adjusted for climate. In fact, Shell originated "climatic control" seven years ago.

You'll find this new-type gasoline in Super-Shell pumps... and at no extra cost. Get a tankful today.

HERE—inside the cylinders of your car—are the firing charges that generate the power to turn your wheels. Naturally, all these EXTRA firing charges in Super-Shell give you greater mileage and more power.

RACING CARS and big transport planes are equipped with mechanical super-chargers that force gasoline under pressure into the combustion chambers to get more firing charges per gallon. By Shell's "re-making" process, Super-Shell itself is super-charged with up to 6900 more firing charges per gallon.

DRUNKEN DRIVING MENACE TO NATION

Bay State Governor Says It Is Not Safe to Walk on Any Street.

Washington, May 25.—(AP)—Drunken driving was called the greatest menace to traffic safety in an address today by Governor Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts before the National conference on street and highway safety.

Citing traffic violations in Massachusetts as an example, Governor Ely said, "Unless this record is improved, it will not be safe for anyone to venture upon the highways of Massachusetts or of any other state."

"Strenuous firm measures must be taken by the authorities with the support of the people to eliminate from our highways drivers of automobiles whose judgment has been impaired by the use of intoxicating liquor."

Governor Ely put emphasis on the question of education of the public in traffic conditions. He said there is a "peculiar psychology that goes with driving an automobile."

Peculiar Psychology... "The driver seems to become angry at any slight interruption. Traveling at a speed which exceeds that of any known agency except the airplane, and even though he is not going anywhere in particular, he often acts as though he would like to commit a murder if compelled to stop at an intersecting street or to slow up in order to avoid hitting a pedestrian," he explained.

"Too many motorists feel that brakes were put on their cars only to be used when they wish to stop, and yet brakes are one of the most important parts of the automobile, placed there for use. Too many motorists have no sense of danger in the trial of automobile accident cases they would sense danger at every turn in the road, at every cross street, with the appearance of every pedestrian and particularly every child."

question—which can promise most to the voters in the way of increased payments and increased taxes—of securing them. Perhaps the finest test of our Democratic system of government will be its ability to resist this worst type of political bribery."

Old age pension systems provide mass unemployment, Sargent said, disorganizing the "mass work" theory of social practice in the case of the indigent. The system also invites increasing willingness to rely on the public treasury for support and it is opposed to meet, he said.

M. H. S. ROUTS TRADE TO AVENGE PREVIOUS LOSS

COLLECTS 15 HITS OFF TWO RIVAL HURLERS; WINS BY 15 TO 4 SCORE

Mike Haberen Limits Mechanics to Seven Scattered Bingles as Red and White Gains Easy Triumph; Both Teams in Action Today.

By THOMAS J. CHARA
Coming back after a decisive 11-0 shut-out by Bristol High Wednesday afternoon, Captain Chuckie Smith and his mates hit their stride yesterday and obtained sweet revenge from Manchester Trade when the Red and White bombed the Mechanics with a fusillade of 15 safe bingles to sew up yesterday's ball game 15-4 at Mount Nebo grounds.

Traders Off Form
On Wednesday the all-around work of the Traders was simply superb, without a single miscue throughout the entire game with a strong Windsor Locks High school nine. Yet they looked like birds of another color yesterday in their clash with the local High school aggregation.

Sour pitching, poor support and weak hitting, a combination that seldom makes for success, resulted in a lifeless performance that insured victory for the Kellyites before the contest was anywhere near half over. Coach Crowley's outfit made their crabbest showing of the season in this second tilt with the Red and White while Manchester High, with its superior all-around playing, was clearly entitled to their easy triumph.

Haberen Takes Losers
Mitch Orlovski weakened under Manchester High's batting onslaught in the early chapters, before being replaced by Quartus in the seventh, was reached for 11 safe hits. Orlovski was far from normal yesterday afternoon.

To make the reverse all the more humiliating was the fact that the Trade was downed, and downed easily by Mike Haberen, who was knocked out of the box by the Mechanics in his triple engagement at Mt. Nebo that ended in a 25-17 decision for the Traders.

Haberen went the entire stretch yesterday and was just as effective at the close as he was at the beginning, being touched for seven hits, one a triple by Bill Keish. Errors Help High Orlovski's backing was extremely wobbly from the beginning to end. The four tallies in the first were gifts from an erratic Trade school infield as were the four runs garnered by the High in the ninth, though accumulated by clean hitting, were all registered after Quartus' error given the opportunity to retire three easy High school substitutes via the strikeout route.

Manchester Trade collected two second-inning markers on Rautenberg's brace of errors from then on were washed by Haberen's brilliant control until the ninth when Keish poled out his timely triple and crossed the five-sided polygon later on Jarvis' grounder to J. May at first. Quartus counted with the fourth hit on Cooney's long drive to left field.

On the other hand, Rautenberg's, Fedurtha's and Haberen's singles accounted for the three run accumulation in the fourth to add to the High's margin of four previous runs in the first seven chapters.

Cobb Hits Single
Cobb connected with a mighty triple in the fifth and was home on Bedurtha's timely Texas leaguer over third base.

Three glaring errors by the Traders and a single by the boys from across the street were the combination that piled three more runs upon the 5-3 advantage in the eighth round.

Four markers in the ninth, after "ony Quartus was given the chance to strike out three comparatively weak High school substitutes, put the game on ice for Manchester High with a sweet 15-4 judgment that delighted the multitude over on Coach Kelley's side of the diamond, who still remembered the Trades' 25-17 triumph in the previous contest.

Cobb Star
Cobb and Cobb did the heavy hitting for the visitors, both getting

Carnera Fires Managers, Trains Alone

Primo Demands New Deal Before Baer Go; Rubber Guides His Ring Affairs

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service.

Pompton Lakes, N. J., May 25.—An amazing situation exists at Dr. Joe Bier's pretty little health farm on the shore of the lake here.

Primo Carnera, to date one of the most managed boxers in history, trains alone for the defense of his title against Max Baer on June 14.

One of his handlers, Bill Duffy, of the night clubs, is in jail. Income tax trouble put him there.

Carnera is not on speaking terms with Louis R. Sorel, the former bank solicitor who holds a contract calling for 50 per cent of his earnings.

So the Italian giant, who before previous pugilistic parties has been surrounded by agents, guides, and spongers of all types and Broadway mobsters, winds up in the hands of his rubber, Billy DeFoe, on the eve of the most important battle of his twisted life.

Sorel parked Carnera here on May 1 and did not return for three weeks. Plainly, there was good reason for his absence, for Primo the Ponderous threatened to chuck him into the lake.

DeFoe is the old St. Paul feather. He is thoroughly capable in his line, but hardly the man to solve the many angles that go with a heavyweight championship prize fight.

DUNLAP, LITTLE REACH THE SEMI-FINAL ROUND

Freestwick, Scotland, May 25.—(AP)—America's lone survivors—George T. Dunlap Jr., and W. Lawson Little—qualified today for the semi-final round of the British Amateur golf championship.

By virtue of some nifty niblick work, Little overpowered T. Dunlap, finalist a year ago, by 4 and 2. The San Francisco youngster was irregular off the tee but saved himself with brilliant recoveries from traps and bunkers.

Dunlap, American amateur champion, defeated Alex Walker, member of the famous whiskey family, 3 and 2. Walker played the back nine underdogly to contribute to the American's sixth consecutive victory.

SENATORS NOSE OUT A'S IN JUNIOR LOOP

Gain 12-11 Victory in Season Opener; Indians-Yankees Tilt Called Off.

The first Rec-Legion Junior League game to be completed resulted in a win for the Senators over the Athletics, 12-11, yesterday. The game was played in the rain which accounts for the large number of errors and passed. It was a good game despite the uncertain playing conditions, the boys playing head-up ball until the last out.

The game at the West Side between the Indians and the Yankees was called off in the 7th inning, the score 8-411 due to darkness. All ties and cancelled games will be rescheduled and played at the end of the season.

FOUR TEAMS IN TIGHT RACE FOR NATIONAL FLAG HONORS

PIRATES CLING TO FIRST PLACE WITH HALF GAME MARGIN

Cards Right Behind and Cubs are Third; Giants 4th, Only Game Out of Lead; Yanks Still On Top.

By HUGH S. FULLETON, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The current trend of the National League race instead of heading toward a decision, appears to be toward completion, the four contenders as closely bunched as possible.

Today's standing found Pittsburgh's Pirates with a clear lead of a half game after their 7-3 triumph over the Boston Braves, coupled with New York's 7-1 victory over the Cubs. Chicago had dropped to third, a few percentage points behind the Cardinals, who trounced Brooklyn 7-3, while the fourth place (Giants) were only one game out of the lead.

A home run by Harry Lavagetto, rookie infielder touched off the Pittsburgh fireworks. Carl Hubbell, trounced by the Cardinals his last time out, held Chicago to four singles. The Cardinal advance resulted from steady and timely hitting with Dutch Leonard as the principal victim.

Cur Davis won the other National League contest for the Phillies, 5-0, as he limited the Cincinnati Reds to three hits.

Browns Win Again
The St. Louis Browns continued their sparkling American League advance into third place by a six to five victory over Washington as Ray Pepper hit a home run with Hart and Cliff on base in the seventh to win the game. Detroit stepped one percentage point behind the Browns despite a 6-3 triumph over the Athletics.

The Yankees stopped their downward slide by taking a 2-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox behind Lefty Gomez while Cleveland and Boston were rained out. Gomez, who won the only Yankee victory in the west, held the Sox to three hits.

POPE PIUS GREETING COLLEGE STUDENTS

American College at Rome Celebrates 75th Anniversary of Its Founding.

Vatican City, May 25—(AP).—Pope Pius gave a special audience to 60 alumni and 200 students of the American college at Rome on the occasion of the college's celebration of the 75th anniversary of its founding.

The students were accompanied by Monsignor Eugene S. Burke, Jr., of Newark, N. J., the rector of the college, and the Rev. George A. Parker of Chicago, president of the alumni association.

His Holiness delivered a cordial address, congratulating his audience on the college's phenomenal growth from 1859, when it numbered 12 students, until now when it is the largest national college in Rome.

TOLLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Young are the parents of a daughter, Frances May, born May 10, at the Johnson Memorial hospital, Stafford Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Charter of Ellington, Charles Luce and Miss Ruby Adams of Manchester, Mrs. Otto Horn and son of Mille Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. George Luce of Hazardville were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Charter. They also had for overnight guests Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Julius West of Hazardville.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Du Fore and daughter, Margaret, were Sunday guests of out-of-town friends.

The upper entrance to the North cemetery is improved by the road being widened and other changes made by the Tolland Cemetery Association.

Harold Clough had the misfortune to cut his foot while repairing a fence and has been unable to walk on it for several days.

The Men's club of Tolland will hold its May meeting at the Federated church social rooms, Tuesday evening, May 31, at 8 o'clock, daylight saving time. The speaker will be a representative of the State Department of motor vehicles, who will present motion pictures of highway safety. A musical entertainment will be furnished by George Neff and son. All men in the community are welcome.

Professor Samuel Emerson and two daughters of Ocean Point and Orlando, Florida, were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Easton and Mr. Emerson's sister, Mrs. Marshall, recently.

A business meeting of the Federated church Sunday school officers and teachers was held in the social rooms of the church last Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bushnell and son were recent guests of Mrs. Bushnell's sister, Mrs. Morris and family at Westerly, R. I.

Nine members of Tolland Grange were guests of Ellington Grange Wednesday evening, when the Grange was inspected by the Worthy Deputy of East Central Pomona Grange, Ira Wilcox. The fourth degree was conferred on a class of candidates by the Ellington Grange degree team. Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Mrs. Martha Waldo who has spent the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Spicer and family of South Willington, has returned to her home. Her son, Leroy Waldo and family, who have resided in South Willington, will care for her during the summer months.

COLUMBIA

The flower exchange under the direction of Professor Wilkinson of Storrs, under the auspices of the Tolland County Farm Bureau was well attended and flowers from this and neighboring towns. Those having a surplus of some particular kind of plant were able to swap with someone else for something wanted, and so everyone was happy. After the meeting everyone hurried home and set out their new acquisitions. An obliging thunderstorm came along later in the evening and the rain wet down the wish some of the rain would go west where it is needed more than here, as some of the gardens are still too soaked to plant, and the season is getting late.

The well child spring conference was held in the lower hall of the Town Hall Tuesday afternoon. The spring meeting is always a busy one, as the school nurse and the state nurse make a special effort to round up all children who will enter school next fall, that they may have thorough physical examination. Miss Marion Holmes and Mrs. Margaret Woodward were the local women assisting the staff from the state Board of Health.

Some person or persons with a perverted sense of humor, and doubtless fortified with liquor, came down through the Green about midnight Monday night and, starting near the entrance of Mrs. Welch's place, took particular pains to see how many mail boxes they could run into and knock over. They evidently went on to Wilimantic, as several on that road were also knocked over, the last one being very near the Wilimantic town line.

Lewis, Miss Odais, Mrs. Emerson and Miss Wendall were dinner guests Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Jennie Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavergne Williams have returned home after a hurried trip to Portland, Ind., having been called there by the illness of Mrs. Williams' mother, who died before her daughter arrived. Mrs. Williams has the sympathy of her many Columbia friends in her loss.

Mrs. Julia Little, Madison Woodward and Jasper Woodward motored to Amherst, Mass., recently to call on Mrs. Carrie Locke.

Donald Woodward, substitute rural carrier, was on the route Wednesday, the regular carrier, Raymond Lyman, having still a few days of vacation remaining.

The Center School played baseball with Old Hop River School at Eastman's Corners Wednesday afternoon. The score was 13 to 3 in favor of Center School. This was largely due to the fine work of the pitcher, Joe Kowalski. Both schools and a few outsiders attended the game.

Neighbor's Night was observed by the local Grange Wednesday evening. Three Granges had been invited, but Coventry was the only one to send a delegation and furnish a program. A gentleman from Goodwill Grange who was present also gave a solo. The Coventry program consisted of a sketch, readings and music which was much enjoyed by the audience. There were 65 present. Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served in the lower hall by the refreshment committee.

Nineteen members of Columbia Grange visited Echo (Mansfield) Grange Tuesday evening and furnished part of the program. Mrs. Edith Leham sang a solo, Clayton Hunt gave a reading, and there was a short pantomime sketch from the Columbia patrons.

AWARD SCHREIBER $104,000 CONTRACT

Local Builder Will Be Kept Busy Until December On School Project.

Gustave Schreiber & Son, 285 West Center street, Manchester, yesterday was awarded the contract to erect a new one-story stone and brick building for the town of Old Lyme, and will start work on the new project Monday.

The contract was awarded to Schreiber & Son from among seven invited bidders and the cost will be $104,000. The plans are by Ernest Sibley of Pallades, N. J., today recognized as one of the leading architects in planning for schools. The Old Lyme building will cover nearly a quarter of an acre, will have a front of 185 feet and a depth of 165 feet, with 20 school rooms, a superintendent's office, rest rooms, nine toilets and auditorium 41x81 feet, which will also have a stage.

The center section of the building will be of selected stone of different colors and will be 91 feet long. In appearance there will be little to indicate that it is a school, as there has been a big departure made in the style of construction; yet there is provided all that is considered proper as to cross lights of the school rooms and the heating and sanitary conditions.

The work when first considered was to have been taken up as a PWA project, but the committee of the town of Old Lyme, wishing to have more to say about the construction, decided to take it up as a town project.

While most of the regular Schreiber employees will be engaged in the work, which is to be completed by December 15, there is provision in the contract calling for the use of local labor as far as possible. The concrete work for the foundations will be done by Aceto-Smith, of Manchester, and they will get the job started on Monday. The other work, such as stone and masonry work, brick laying, plastering and carpentry work will be done by the Schreiber concern; the plumbing, heating and electrical work will be done under separate contracts and the painting will be by some contractor other than the general contractor.

Thomas R. Mahl of Old Lyme is the assisting architect and the general engineers are Howland and Hook of New York.

The securing of the contract for the work will keep the local concern busy all this year. In addition to the contract for the school, the company is building the superintendent's house at Seaside Sanatorium in Waterford, which is a $80,000 contract, in addition to laying sidewalks around the grounds. This work will be completed early in August, at which time it will then be possible to use the full force on the school project.

This must be finished in December, as the new school is being built on the site of the old school, which already has been torn down. The pupils are being taken care of in different halls in the town. As there was no general call for bids and only invited bidders took part, Mr. Schreiber feels pleased with the award.

VIC VAAST ORCHESTRA AT RAU'S TOMORROW

Marks First Appearance in This Vicinity of Band of O'Bands; Violin Trio Featured.

This coming Saturday night will mark the first appearance this season of Vic Vaast and his Band 'O'Bands at Rau's, Crystal Lake. This orchestra played at Rau's last season and had a host of followers. This year the band has been augmented by a violin trio. Another feature will be the vocal numbers by Miss Phyllis Love, the Sweetheart of the South, who is now traveling with Vic Vaast and his Orchestra.

Pete Shand, the hokum man, is still directing the band and entertaining the patrons with his amusing antics.

The following Saturday night, Ed Murphy and his hotel Bancroft orchestra will be at Rau's.

COBALT CAMP'S MINSTREL SHOW

Manchester Men Take Prominent Part in Affair Held in Middletown.

By PAUL PACKARD

Cobalt, May 25.—Members of the 181st Co., C. C. C., put on a minstrel show and dance last night in St. Aloysius Hall in Middletown. The hall was filled to capacity, and the event was pronounced a real success. The show featured several Manchester men. David Haugh amused the audience with his impersonation of the radio comedian, Joe Penner, singing "You Nasty Man." Mr. Haugh also acted as an emcee, and performed all sorts of humorous antics throughout the show. John Mosser made a decided hit with his singing of the popular ballad "Wagon Wheels." Mr. Mosser has a remarkable baritone voice and was forced to respond to an encore. Two other Manchester brothers, Florian and William, sang in the chorus.

Lawrence Tomm is gaining quite a reputation for himself as a member of the Camp Jenkins baseball team. Tomm plays first base in a capable manner, and is a hard hitter. He specializes in extra base blows, looking on singles as beneath his dignity.

A thunderstorm which hit Camp Jenkins last Monday evening gave the boys quite a thrill. The lightning struck several places about the camp, putting out the lights for a time, and wrecking the telephone system. New phones had to be installed.

John "Scotty" Hall of Manchester is probably the most popular man in the camp. "Scotty" drives one of the best cars in the camp, and in the camp mail twice a day. It is his duty to mail carrying that he owes his popularity. The boys are always waiting for letters from the "femmes" and from the folks back home.

FUNERAL AT HARVARD

Boston, May 25.—(AP)—Funeral services for George B. Roorbach, Harvard Business school professor who died suddenly Tuesday night in Washington, will be held today in the Baker library of the Harvard Business school. Professor Roorbach, whose field was foreign trade, had gone to Washington in connection with duties he had assumed recently as a special advisor in the department of state. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Ann Hubbs Roorbach, and six children, all of Cambridge.

Bananas are raised by the mayor of Miami, Fla., in his back yard.

REFUSE TO PAY RANSOM FOR U. S. MISSIONARY

American Consul to Put Responsibility Up to the Chinese Government.

Shanghai, May 25.—(AP)—The Rev. Howard Smith, kidnapped American missionary, appeared doleful today to long captivity in the hands of the notorious bandit leader, General Ho Lung. The renegade chief's negotiator for the $35,000 ransom demanded arrived from Chungking today and was told by officials of the American consulate and of the Christian Missionary Alliance that no ransom would be paid.

Instead, the Americans made known they are preparing a note addressed to the National government at Nanking and to Szechwan provincial authorities maintaining responsibility for the ransom lies with them.

The negotiator promptly withdrew from the conference. Mr. Smith's home is at Washington, Pa. He was kidnapped May 8 near Fanching in Szechwan province. His wife and child were not molested.

ILLEGAL LIQUOR STILL IS SEIZED IN SHELTON

Shelton, May 25.—(AP)—Joseph Pasacko, 45, and Michael Smarr, 40, were to appear before United States Commissioner Robert Algorn today following their arrest after a raid on a local still.

The pair was seized last night when Federal agents of the alcoholic tax unit continuing their drive to wipe out liquor tax evasion in the state, swooped down on an illicit distillery at 410 Howe avenue and seized a 100 gallon still and a large quantity of illicit alcohol and whiskey.

The raiders, under Joseph C. O'Keefe, seized and surrounded the three story brick building, under suspicion and caught Pasacko in the act of operating the still, which was running full blast.

The arrests of Pasacko and Smarr climaxed three days of an intensive drive here during which six other arrests were made, other stills seized and three cars allegedly engaged in illicit liquor traffic confiscated.

LOST ASSIGNMENT LIST FOR MINISTERS FOUND

Brief Case Containing Material for Methodist Conference Discovered in Worcester.

Worcester, Mass., May 25.—(AP)—Executives of the New England Conference of the Methodist church, which will be held next week in Springfield, heaved a sigh of relief today for the "steal" of some 280 Methodist ministers in New England, which had been lost, has been found. In other words the brief case lost by Rev. Dr. J. Franklin Knotts of Melrose, superintendent of the Lynn district, which contained a tentative list of assignments to be made at the conference, has been recovered.

Mrs. Evelyn Keyes of 84 Reed street discovered the brief case lying in the middle of Harvard street near Walnut street, where it had fallen off the running-board of an automobile operated by Dr. George A. Martin, superintendent of the Springfield district. Dr. Knotts had stood the case on the running-board of the Springfield auto after a conference in Wesley church and it fell off after the car started its run to Springfield.

Rev. Dr. George E. Heath of Wesley church here claimed the brief case after Mrs. Keyes had notified him. The case will be returned to Dr. Knotts today.

Machine gun posts were manned by the Guardsmen, but at times Governor George White, vacationing in the city, was seen near the scene.
The night fighting began when the crowd advanced on a detachment of 25 National Guardsmen at the edge of the embankment.

DONNA of the BIG TOP by BEULAH POYNTER

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DONNA GABRIEL, circus performer, falls from the trapeze and is injured. To please her partner, MADELINE SIDDAL, Donna goes to Madeline's home to recuperate, pretending to be the other girl.

Donna is ashamed of this deception but keeps it up, even when BILL SIDDAL, Madeline's cousin, asks her to marry him. AMOS SIDDAL, Madeline's grandfather who owns the farm is blind. Mrs. PLANTER, housekeeper discharged by Donna is her enemy.

Donna and Bill are married. Meanwhile Madeline has married OON DAVID, circus animal trainer, and takes part in the animal act.

Amos Sidal has a stroke. In New Orleans Madeline goes into the cage alone with the Bengal tiger. The tiger springs and she is killed.

CHAPTER XXVI
Donna started up in the darkness. Her heart was beating wildly and there was a queer, smothering sensation in her throat that made the weight of the bed clothes unbearable.

She found her blanket robe slipped into it and noiselessly crept across the floor. Ancient boards creaked under her feet and the wind, whistling through the trees, added a note of eeriness.

She reached the door, uncertain why she wanted to leave the room. Her hand was on the door knob when Bill stirred and mumbled sleepily. "That you, sweetheart?"

"Yes." "What you doing up?" "I—I thought I heard Grandfather call," Donna answered thickly, grasping at the first excuse that came to mind for what now seemed a foolish impulse.

Bill switched on the night lamp beside the bed and sat up. "Surely Miss Perkins would hear if he wanted anything. Come on back to bed and I'll run down and see if he's all right."

Suddenly, Donna wondered with a spasm of fear, if it had been Grandfather Sidal's voice that had awakened her. He had not spoken for weeks, but suppose in the night—

She stood, hesitatingly, on the threshold of his room, gaining courage to face what might be death. Then she entered. Amos Sidal lay just as he had for so long—motionless, his snowy head scarcely less white than the pillow case, his thin, colorless face turned toward the window.

Donna tiptoed across the room, bent over the old man and gently touched his forehead. It was moist and warm. She drew a deep breath of relief. His withered eyelids lifted, his blue lips parted, there was an effort and a croaking whisper issued from his throat. "Mad—die!"

She dropped on her knees beside him and pressed her lips to his guarded hand. "You spoke!" she sobbed. "Oh, Grandfather, you spoke! You are going to get well!" Almost hysterical at the seeming miracle, she ran into the sitting room and aroused Miss Perkins.

room Amos Sidal's eyes were closed and he was sleeping peacefully. Not wishing to disturb Bill again, Donna took a heavy robe from a closet and curled up on the couch until morning. Bill found her there when he came down to breakfast at the first dawn of day. Hearing his steps, she closed her eyes and pretended sleep but he was not fooled.

Even her news that Grandfather had spoken in the night was not of as much importance as the fact that Donna had been unable to sleep.

"What is the matter, Honey?" he asked, sitting down beside her and taking her hands in his. "Have you been working too hard or are you sick? Or just bored?"

"Bored! With you here?" "Winter is coming on," Bill said, glancing through the windows at the gray, murky sky and the trees dripping raindrops.

"What a question! Of course I'm not sorry." She looked at him earnestly. "You don't really think I've ever regretted our marriage?"

"No, indeed. Well, once in a while when I see you sitting so quiet as though your thoughts were a thousand miles away I've wondered if the pull of the circus wasn't tugging at you."

"Never." "And there's none of the old crowd you'd like to see? No one that you used to like?"

"Bill!" she twinkled at him. "It isn't the circus you're jealous of, it's my old hedges! You're jealous because you think maybe there was some other man I cared for before I did you?"

"Admitted. I've wanted to ask you but never had the nerve."

"Because there wasn't any." "It's true. Men never meant anything in my life. Of course, I never knew many outside of the circus. The worth-while ones were married. The very few who might have cared for me well, I couldn't see them. Then you came along and see what you did to me!"

"Most girls of 20 have had love affairs," he said, not quite satisfied. "For your sake, darling, I wish I could dig up an ex-sweetheart, but I couldn't do it and be truthful."

He rubbed his nose against hers with a playful gesture of affection. "Not for my sake, dear, I'm darned glad I am the first man in your life. I've a hunch I'd be jealous as sin if I ever thought some other guy had kissed that little red mouth of yours or tangled your curls like this."

"You spoke!" she sobbed. "Oh, Grandfather, you spoke! You are going to get well!" Almost hysterical at the seeming miracle, she ran into the sitting room and aroused Miss Perkins.

"What is the matter, Honey?" he asked, sitting down beside her and taking her hands in his. "Have you been working too hard or are you sick? Or just bored?"

soon be jumping around like grasshoppers at your command, and the next thing you know you'll be dancing a hornpipe."

The old lips parted in a smile, but there was a slight negative movement of the white head. "No, Bill," Amos Sidal said laboriously. "No, I reckon. My time is close at hand— Maybe I ought to put my horse in order—be ready when—the Lord sends for me."

"That will be a long time, I hope," Bill said cheerily. "When you go to town, Bill—ask Ben Hoskins to come out. I ought to make a will. Been putting it off and—you'll send Ben Hoskins out?"

"Sure, if you want me to." (To Be Continued)

URGES COURTESY TO ALL CITIZENS

Retiring Coast Guard Academy Superintendent Addresses Graduating Class.

New London, May 26.—(AP)—A charge to the members of the graduating class of the Coast Guard academy to be courteous to all civilians with whom they come in contact aboard ship was made today by Captain Randolph Ridgely, Jr., the superintendent of the academy in his farewell address to the graduating class.

He advised the future officers to "enter into no controversies, remembering that you are a public servant—the taxpayers money pays you—and the fact that the President saw fit to send your name to the Senate for a commission as an ensign in the U. S. Coast Guard and that body saw fit to confirm your nomination is sufficient evidence as to your education, refinement, character and manhood."

The address was in connection with the 48th commencement of the academy which began today and will continue through Monday.

Five cadets are in the graduating class; the number being small because of a shift of policy from three to four years. The five were originally members of the class of 1933, the last three year class, but remained over a year.

My goodness! You know how to bake," said Doty. "This is dandy cake. Gee, I could eat another piece or it, if there's enough."

"Well, miss, just help yourself to some. Eat on, as long as there's a crumb," replied the kindly baker. "I just love to see you stuff."

"Perhaps the reason it's so grand is cause you, two girls lent a hand. I think you'd make good bakers. Would you like to stay with me?"

"Of course, I bake the live-long day, but I'd let you have time for play. My wife would tell you fine, and you'd be happy as could be."

Wee Doty smiled and said, "You're kind, but we just couldn't stay behind. You see, we're both born travelers, an' must be on the go."

"I know the other Tinymites would miss us, while out seeing sights. We will, however, stay a while and help you mix more dough."

SENSE and NONSENSE

THE BEAUTIFUL AND DUMB
Betty eats carrots for Vitamin A, spinach for Vitamin B. From a heard of cows that le-lurely browse on yeast, comes C and D.
Betty is balanced right up to the chin with vitamin this and that—But there's not enough letters in our alphabet to balance her under her hat.

Tom—Do you know anything about firing?
Man—I thought I did, but the girl I tried my system on married me.

With the advent of her first baby a mother thinks she has discovered an entirely new language.

A minister was sent for by an elderly lady:
Elderly Lady—Oh, sir, I hope you will excuse my asking you to call, but when I heard you preach and pray last Sunday you did so remind me of my brother, who was took from me, that I felt I simply must speak with you. He was a salesman, and such a wonderful talker.

Minister (sympathetically)—And how long ago did your brother die?
Elderly Lady—Oh, sir, he isn't dead. He was took to the asylum.

A philanthropist is one whose generosity is praised because he left what he couldn't take with him.

Walter—All right, sir, all right. You will get served in time.
Diner—Yes, but I'm anxious to get through this meal before you raise the prices any more.

Give a stubborn man his way and he will credit you with having excellent judgment.

Little Junior (on return from dentist's)—The doctor told me before he began that if I screamed, cried or hollered it would cost me a dollar, and if I was a good boy, it would be only 50 cents.
His Mother—Did you scream, darling?
Junior—How could I? You only gave me 50 cents.

So live that you will have to peep out of the window to see if a bill collector is at the door.

Little Grace—Why are there no marriages in heaven, Daddy dear?
Daddy (after stealthy glance around)—Because that would not be heaven, my dear.

Grandma Samantha Smathers near Brushville says in her days the young fellows didn't think so much about a girl's beauty as they did about a comfortable hammock on a cool porch and a nice cake.

Little MacDonald (to butcher)—Give me 10 cents' worth of dog meat, and be sure it's fresh for the last time you gave it to me Daddy got awfully sick.

One of the pleasant episodes of life is making plans to spend money that you never get.

Sunday School Teacher—Junior, can you quote something from the Bible to show that a man should not have two wives?
Junior—Yes—'No man can serve two masters.'

Neighbor—Why are you letting your son study those dead languages at college?
Father—I'm expecting to make an undertaker out of him.

If people would stop talking about war and planning for war, munition makers would have to engage in some other line of business.

Magazine Editor (to author)—I'll give you 50 cents for this joke about President Roosevelt.
Poor Author—What's the matter with you! You gave me $1 for the same joke about President Coolidge.

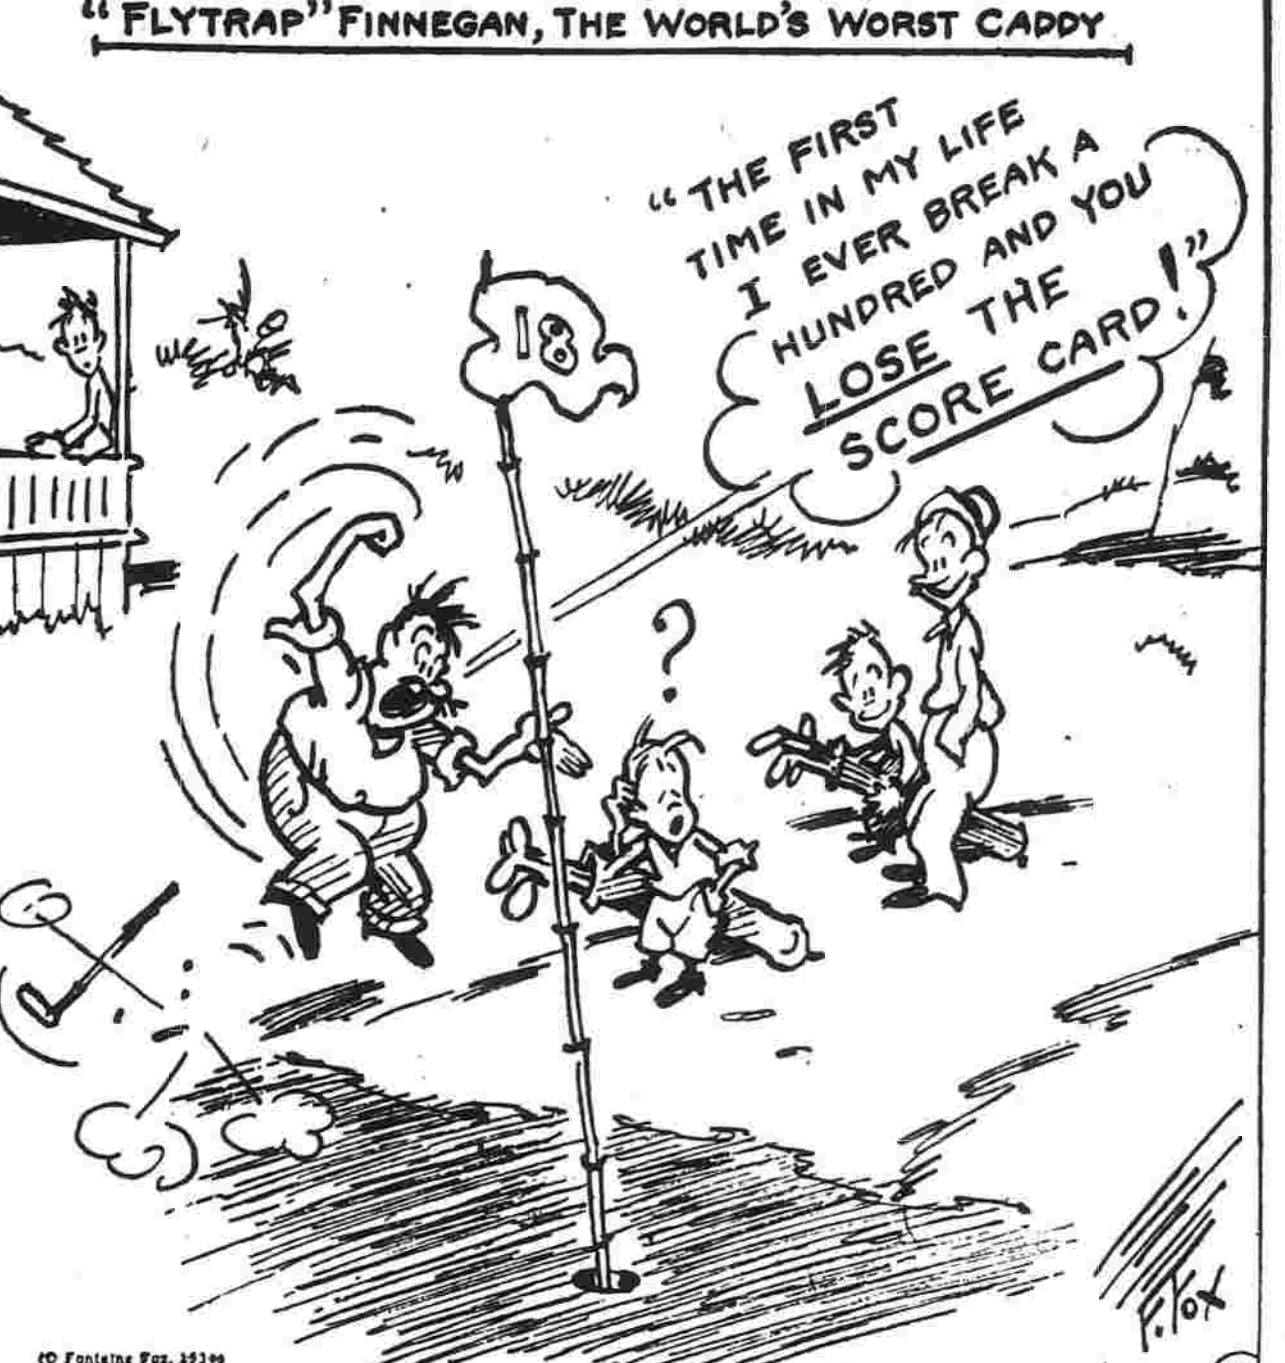

One of San Francisco's municipal courts sets aside three days a week as Chinese days; on those days, all defendants in the court are Chinese.
