TOWN'S HEROES HAILED AS THEY PASS IN REVIEW

Veterans of Three Wars Are Honored in Memorial Day Program - Stirring Address by Rev. Karl Richter

Manchester veterans of the Civil War, the Spanish-American War and the World War, with the assistance of local units of the Connecticut National Guard, Boy and Girl Scouts and members of the various fraternal and civic societies, renewed allegiance to the memory of those who died in the service of their country with a patriotic parade yesterday.

Rev. Karl Richter

Under a cloudless sky and forced to endure the discomfort of a brassy sun, the marchers assembled in front of the Army & Navy club and passed in review under Marshal George H. Weddell before thousands of persons who lined Main street from the clubhouse to the center. The parade was half an hour late in getting started.

Headed by a platoon of police, the parade finally began to move between a lane of automobiles which flanked both sides of Main street and made it necessary for those on foot to get into the street to obtain a better view.

With eyes focused straight ahead, shoulders thrown back and marching in perfect alignment, officers and men in the Howitzer company and Company G, 169th Infantry, received the plaudits of the onlookers for their extremely military-like appearance. The Girl and Boy Scouts, too, made a splendid showing while the music, furnished by several bands, gave the necessary colorful touch to the parade.

Small boys were seen to gaze with undisciplined admiration at the buglers and drummers in the American Legion band, directed by Drum Major Leon Bradley wearing a massive bearskin shako. This drum corps, as usual, was one of the principal centers of attraction in the parade.

Danbury, May 31.—(AP)—Only four of the twelve persons who were aboard the United Airlines Transport which crashed on a heavily wooded hillside at Bethel early yesterday morning, remained in the Danbury hospital today and of these the condition of only one, L. E. Letson, of Chicago, co-pilot, is considered at all serious.

Letson's broken legs were fractured above the knees, when he was crushed under the smashed front of the pilot's compartment, is suffering from shock as well as from his injuries. His condition is described however, as "fair."

The others in the hospital are Mrs. Margaret Anderson, a writer, of New York City, who sustained a broken neck and a fractured finger; and William Marotta of New York, who was severely cut.

BOLIVIANS ASK AID OF LEAGUE TO END STRIFE

Sensational Development Comes at Very End of Council Parley; Paraguay Refuses Mediation Offer.

Geneva, May 31.—(AP)—Bolivia appealed to the League of Nations under two articles of the covenant today to end its war with Paraguay in the Chaco Boreal of South America.

This sensational development came at the very end of a League Council meeting after representatives of both nations had spoken to the assembled members.

First, Costa Durals, Bolivian delegate, invoked Article 13 whereby disputing nations may ask arbitration.

He was answered by Caballero Bedoya, Paraguayan representative, who said: "We cannot allow arbitration to be a snare for the nation's good faith."

Then Costa Durals appealed for a settlement of the dispute under Article 15 which authorizes the Council to make recommendations for the settlement of disputes without the vote of the disputants.

Military Measures The latter article is a step preceding the possible application of military measures against an aggressor nation. It authorizes the council to publish a report of the dispute.

If the Council unanimously agrees on its recommendations, the members of the League undertake that they will not go to war with any party to the dispute which complies with the recommendation.

The Bolivian representative announced that his nation was forced to resort to Article 15 declaring that Paraguay had failed utterly to bring about a peaceful contribution to a plan of settlement.

He said that, on the contrary, the Paraguayan representative had destroyed all hope of regulating the dispute under processes of mediation.

Earlier in the session he insisted that the proposed international embargo would mean the "finish" of Bolivia. He charged that Paraguay has a munitions factory.

Moves to Avert Textile Strike General Johnson Calls Head of Union for Conference; Walkout Stated Monday.

Washington, May 31.—(AP)—Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, which called a general strike in the cotton textile industry for Monday, was summoned today to a conference with Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator.

Johnson's request for the conference today was unexpected. Johnson, the cotton textile code authority, Robert Bruce, chairman of the Cotton Textile Industrial Relations Board, and union officials were to meet tomorrow in an effort to avert the walkout.

TO KILL MILLION CATTLE AS SUN BURNS UP FEED

In Many Parts of West Rain Has Not Fallen for a Month - Wheat Crop Is Rained.

Kansas City, May 31.—(AP)—A blazing sun mocked the water hungry wheat lands today, condemning a million cattle to premature slaughter and burning down another million bushels of wheat.

Temperatures which hit 106 degrees doomed the cattle. The government announced they would be slaughtered to relieve farmers in Minnesota, the Dakotas and Texas, where feed shortages prevail.

George E. Farrell of the agricultural adjustment administration estimated the daily wheat abandonment due to drought at one million bushels—roughly $850,000. He noted the drought conditions are especially acute in northern states.

No Rainfall for Month Nevertheless farmers in Kansas which grows a fourth or more of the wheat produced in the United States, looked with increasing concern at their blighted and deadened fields. In many parts no rain had fallen for more than a month.

Walter W. McLaughlin, director of the Illinois Department of Agriculture, foresaw the danger of milk famines in many cities of that state unless dairy farmers receive help against the worst drought in Illinois history.

Augmenting the drought menace in the Northern states were hordes of grasshoppers which have begun to feed on crops in Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, Wisconsin and Michigan.

High Temperatures Memorial Day marked a veritable tide of record smashing temperatures with Sioux City, Ia., the Nation's hottest, with 108 degrees.

HUNTED DOZEN YEARS, TAKEN IN A COURT ROOM

Fingerprints of Man Arrested On Other Charge Link Him With Murder - Wanted in Boston.

Waterbury, May 31.—(AP)—Tangredi Tortora, alias Alberto Bruno, 31, of 22 Abbott avenue, Waterbury, and 168 West 24th street, Bayonne, N. J., was arrested at 8:58 o'clock this morning in City Hall on a widely spread murder charge preferred by Boston police.

Tortora is also wanted by New York police as a suspect in the slaying several weeks ago of a New York detective named Cassidy and has been implicated in three murders in Chicago.

Had Vanished Detectives and vice squad officers combed the city immediately, but Tortora had vanished, forfeiting the $1,000 bond.

Tortora returned to Waterbury this morning, according to Captain Keegan, in the belief that he had not been identified as Bruno by his fingerprints as the discovery had been withheld from the newspapers by police.

Arrested in Court Detective Lieutenant William Follard and Vice Squad Officer Frederick Hickey arrested him this morning as he was about to enter the court room with his attorney and bondsman.

AIRPLANE MAGNATE FEARS KIDNAPERS E. L. Cord Is Now in England to Escape His Foes in the United States.

London, May 31.—Three attempts to kidnap members of his family from his home at Beverly Hills, Calif., have been graphically described by E. L. Cord, American automobile and airplane magnate, to English acquaintances.

One of the attempts involving the use of a mysterious airplane, was said to have resulted in the advice of a California police chief to the American millionaire to take his family out of the United States for an extended visit abroad.

It was learned definitely today that Cord has been in England since the middle of April, a date corresponding to the sensational kidnaping cases of William F. Gettle in California and June Robles in Arizona.

AIMING TO MAKE CAMPS SANITARY

State Health Department Says Rigid Inspection Has Brought Results.

Organized camps to which more and more children and adults are flocking for vacations each year are subject to rigid inspection by the State Department of Health.

The site preferably should be on high ground. Low wet areas may contain mosquito breeding places. Stagnant pools should be drained, filled in or oiled to prevent breeding.

Each organized camp is inspected annually by the department and rated good, fair or poor with respect to sanitary conditions.

Wogman relieved him in the sixth and was touched for six hits which accounted for four runs. The winners scored in every frame except the first, second and seventh. With the game well in hand Capt. Phillips made numerous substitutions. In the eighth inning Dymess came through with a triple with three men on and four singles and an error made way for five more. McKay, Nichols and Dickson starred at bat for the winners with R. Sturgeon for the losers.

There was little glass that fell inside and just where the bullet landed could not be determined. The shooting was reported to Officer John Cavagnaro who investigated. The hole indicated that the bullet entered from an angle as though shot from the south, but it is thought that a spent bullet in falling took the course that it did and happened to drop on the skylight.

 Local Booters Battle to 1-1 Deadlock in Dull, Slow Clash Before Small Crowd of Holiday Fans.
 Contrary to expectations a small crowd turned out to witness the second game between the local senior and junior soccer teams. Those who watched the teams battle to a tie score of one goal each must have been somewhat disappointed at the display given. Compared with the previous game it was dull and slow and devoid of any sustained excitement. The players, however, cannot be blamed if they reserved their energy at times for the heat war terrific.

BATTLING LEADERS
 After a shaky start the Olympic defense settled down and for the last hour of the game it was more than equal to all demands. In the first half-hour the team as a whole suffered on account of hesitancy in the back line. This, however, disappeared when they began kicking with the accustomed power and length the slight advantage in the game began to swing towards the wearers of the red and white. The first goal, however, must be charged to a defender when he hesitated in making a first time clearance and finally kicked the ball weakly to an opponent who promptly took the advantage to make the play which led to the score.

 (READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)
 The rooster that the Tinymites caught began to strut. It said, "I ought to show you some of my fine tricks. Just sit down on the ground." And then the farmer woman said, "That's all right, Tinymites, go ahead. It's worth your while to watch my bird, no matter where you're bound." Of course the Tinymites agreed. "Some entertainment's what we need," said Duncy. "We have never seen a rooster act before." The bird then flapped its wings a bit, and Scouty cried, "Look out for it! Unless I am mistaken, there's a tick on its store." "Oh, no," the rooster shouted. "You have guessed wrong, as to what I'll do. Just keep your eyes upon the clothesline hanging in the yard." "I am a tight rope walker, see?" The Tinymites then shouted, "Gee!" as Mister Rooster walked along, exclaiming, "It's not hard." The next thing that the whole bunch knew, into a tree the big bird flew. It tossed down monstrous apples till each Tinymite had one. And then it jumped to Duncy's head and grabbed his hat off. Duncy said, "We've seen enough of your fine tricks. This isn't any fun." Wee Scouty said, "Well, I agree, and on our way we all must be." They started down the road, and then a ladybug ran by. "Hey," Copy shouted. "What says you? And, is there something we can do?" "Just follow me," the bug yelled. "You can help me, boys and bye." They ran until they reached a hill, and then the Tinymites got a thrill. "My houses is burning," said the bug. "You see that now, no doubt." "There is a big wall, right near by. Oh, I'll be thankful, if you'll try to throw some water on my house until the fire is out." (The Tinymites are fire-fighters in the next story.)

SENSE and NONSENSE

A Word To Posterity
Oh, children when you're old and grey,
And taxes make you reel,
Remember that was what we spent
To finance the new deal.

To avoid colds keep your mouth shut, advices our physician. It's a good way to avoid a lot of other troubles, too.

Irate Shopper—I shall complain to the floor manager about you.
Saleslady (fearfully)—I have no doubt he will agree with everything you say.

Irate Shopper—Ah! Then he is acquainted with your shortcomings.
Saleslady—He thinks he is. He's my husband.

It was Longfellow who said that a man must be either a hammer or an anvil. But he overlooked the fact that a goodly number prefer to be the bellows.

Drunk (bumping into lamp post)—Excuse me, sir; (bumping into hydrant); Excuse me, little boy; (bumping into second lamp post and falling down); Well, I'll just sit here until the crowd passes.

The chief fault in news pictures is that the heroic officer always looks meaner than the desperate crook.

Mrs. MacFarland—It is very nice of Uncle Sandy to write and say he hopes we will have a lovely vacation, and not only that, he says he is sending enough sweets for the children to last them two weeks!

Her Husband—Ummm. That sounds almost too good to be true. But we'll wait and see.

So they awaited the mail, and the next day a small parcel arrived. Eagerly they opened it. It contained a dozen sticks of chewing gum.

If depression is a "blessing in disguise," as some tell us, we must certainly admit that the disguise is perfect.

Basler—Why didn't you study the time table; then you wouldn't have missed the train?
Rhodes—That was just the trouble. I wasted so much time trying to puzzle out the time table that the train got away.

Correct This Sentence: "I just phoned her that I'm bringing some fellows home for dinner," said the husband, "and she never gets sore and fusses with me."

Wife—I read in the paper that a scientist has discovered that singing warms the blood.
Her Husband—He must be right. I've heard singing that made my blood boil.

Try A Smile

You're frowny, and has it helped a bit along each weary mile? Begin today, and on your way, Try A Smile!

You've grieved and worried, and your heart was heavy all the while; Just be a man, use this plan: Try A Smile!

You've carried burdens pressing down, and stumbled on each mile; Begin today, and on your way, Try A Smile!

A local Bimbo says he knows a lot of old maids who try to appear young by sitting on their feet in an easy chair.

The old Scot lay dying, and the minister was at his side.
Old Scot—As a last request I'd like you to see that everyone who attends my funeral gets a large glass of whiskey before going and another after coming back.

Minister—I hardly approve of that, McPherson, but since it is your dying request, I'll attend to it. Now is there anything else I can do for you?

Old Scot—Yes, I think I'll not be with you on that occasion, so I'll have my two glasses now.

Dorothy—So Jeanette took a rib old invalid for better or worse?
Clarice—No, she took him for worse, but he got better.
