DENY NAVAL ACTION BEFORE CONFERENCE

British Government Spokesman Declares Reports of Anglo-Saxon Nations Entering Agreement on Pacific Program Untrue.

London, Aug. 4.—(AP)—A government spokesman stated today that there can be no question of any united action by Anglo-Saxon nations before or after the 1935 naval conference.

Inquiries at the Foreign Office brought an official denial to reports published in America that the United States and Great Britain were negotiating on the possibility of combining their Pacific ocean forces in the event of a breakdown of the naval conference.

Confirms that Great Britain intends to issue the invitations for the conference, the spokesman stated: "You cannot expect nations to accept invitations to a conference if there are any separate arrangements made or even discussed between any two parties beforehand."

It is unfortunate that reports of such arrangements are circulating because they directly conflict with the policy Great Britain is pursuing. We are going into the conference hoping it will succeed and we will leave the whole conference to decide what will happen afterward.

A source close to the Admiralty declared there is no possibility that naval authorities could be undertaking even informal arrangements along the line suggested without the knowledge of the government.

It was recalled that Admiral Sir Lewis Bayly, who recently returned to England from Washington, had conferred with American naval authorities. The two navies are complimentary rather than competitive, but that he added that Anglo-American cooperation will ever take the shape of a formal agreement is, to say the least, unlikely.

Britain Not Opposed.
A government spokesman indicated that Great Britain is not at all firmly opposed to altering the 5-5-3 ratio as was Secretary Swanson of the United States in his speech this week, adding, nevertheless, "but we are not so sure what we can substitute for the ratio unless some sort of a sliding scale can be created which would remove the so-called stigma Japan attaches to the 5-5-3 agreement."

There still remains a serious question to keep navies within certain bounds.

Hacked and Battered Bodies of Aged Colorado Man and Wife Found.

Walsenburg, Colo., Aug. 4.—(AP)—The hacked and battered bodies of William F. Evans, 71, and their home in the Apache community 12 miles north of here yesterday.

The bodies were discovered by Otis Scott and D. C. Britner, highway workers.

Mrs. Evans seemingly had made a desperate fight for life. Her body, clad in a night dress, was found outside the house. A trail of blood led from it through the house and a her body, which had been found inside the cottage door.

Officers seeking the slayers of Evans and his wife hunted today for an escaped inmate of the Colorado State Hospital for the Insane at Pueblo.

VON HINDENBURG LYING IN STATE

Expect 200,000 Will Attend Funeral Services at Tannenberg Memorial Monument; Germany Saddened.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—(AP)—A death parade in which more than 100,000 persons may have a last look at the late President Paul Von Hindenburg is being planned as a part of the funeral exercises Tuesday at the Tannenberg memorial monument.

The march, which possibly will last all through the night, will pass through the "Hindenburg Tower" of the funeral exercises Tuesday at the Tannenberg memorial monument.

More than 200,000 spectators are expected to attend the services but officials regarded it as doubtful if all of them, even if they march three or four abreast, can be accommodated on the parade route.

To Broadcast Orations.
Every city, town and village of the Reich is expected to participate in the services at Tannenberg. The funeral oration to be delivered by Chancellor Adolf Hitler will be broadcast worldwide.

The nation's activity will be slowed down to a virtual stop, including a visit to the death bed of President Paul Von Hindenburg.

Resounding To Nazis.
The statement was regarded as reassuring to Nazis since Von Papen had been considered a leader of conservatives. He was named special envoy to Austria by Hitler last week.

A note of apprehension was sounded today as Germany, irrespective of religion and race, mourned her beloved Paul Von Hindenburg.

Adolf Hitler would serve as a trustee of President Von Hindenburg's noblest tradition and history, which will continue the work to which the life of the sainted marshal was devoted.

Hindenburg Death Mask.
A death mask of Von Hindenburg was taken by Prof. Joseph Thiele of Berlin. The body of the old warrior was undressed where he could be buried. It was first announced he would be placed in the national memorial at Tannenberg during the World War. A national funeral will be held there Tuesday.

Members of the family have indicated he will be buried in family vault at accordance with the wishes of the President once expressed.

Enable To Find Will.
Berlin heard rumors that inability to find Von Hindenburg's will was responsible for the uncertainty.

The body may be brought back to Neudeck after the services at Tannenberg, where Adolf Hitler will enshrine his predecessor.

Von Papen was a favorite of Von Hindenburg, and it was reported that he had a view of the president's funeral.

Hindenburg's Bier Set Up At Scene of Greatest Victory

The place where President Paul von Hindenburg scored his greatest victory as a soldier—Tannenberg, near his country estate at Neudeck, East Prussia—has become the mourning scene of all Germany. There, on the battlefield on which his troops stopped the Russians in 1914, the soldier-statesman's body was to be laid at rest under the great arch of the memorial (above), which commemorates his war-time triumph.

NATURAL MILK WILL KEEP TOO, TEFORD EXHIBITS

"If there's going to be a game to see who can fill the best tubs about milk staying good for a long time, I want to put in a word for good old fashioned natural milk," said Joseph Teford, milk dealer, of Academy street, in answer to "Way-lane Strangely's" story about pasteurized milk keeping from Sunday to Wednesday.

According to Teford he knows a farmer who kept his milk in the tubs for a week and it was just as sweet and as good as the first. He said he didn't bother to remove the can that had fallen.

Thirty days later this farmer brought up the can of milk and found it to be just as sweet and as good as the day of the milking. Teford maintains that it's contact with the sun's rays that spoils milk.

"WHITE COLLAR" UNION IN CITY IS WATCHED

Manchester People Working In Hartford Keep Eyes On Organization Moves

Hundreds of Manchester residents employed in the insurance office, department stores and other business establishments are urged to be watching with interest steps being taken to form a union of white collar workers in the Capital City.

A meeting was held recently for the purpose of organizing the Hartford local of the National Office Workers' union. Miss Laura Gordon of Hartford was elected temporary chairman of the local, which plans to effect a permanent organization in the near future. Miss Gordon is of the New York union, told the gathering.

The American Federation of Labor has never made any attempt to organize office workers. The demands of the white collar recruits have been wholly ignored.

Miss Lane went on to say: "Pick one department store and one insurance company, where working conditions are bad, and begin work of organization in those concerns. The purpose of the union is to enroll into one industrial union such workers as bookkeepers, typists, stenographers, accountants, switchboard operators, telephone and telegraph operators, office boys, department store clerks and others falling into the category of white collar workers."

The demands are: a living wage scale, a seven hour day and a five day week without reduction in salary, equal pay for equal work regardless of sex, age or race; immediate relief for unemployment and unemployment insurance to be paid by the government and employer; no wage cuts, no piece work, speed-up, overtime without pay and no unwarranted discharge.

Two insurance companies were reported at the meeting to have dropped a number of old employees to hire new help at lower wages, claiming that they desired to simplify college graduates. This was considered unfair, the gathering was told.
