DEMAND EXTRA POLICE DURING VOTE ON SAAR

Governing Commission of Saar Region Requests League of Nations for Protection During Voting.

Geneva, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The governing commission of the Saar region—where a plebiscite will be held in January to determine whether it shall become French or German territory or remain under the control of the League of Nations—today informed the League of Nations that it needs at least 2,000 additional foreign police to maintain order during the period the report covers. The commission declares that the situation in the Saar had become so much worse that it was beyond control.

It asked that the additional officers of the law be recruited in foreign countries, recommending that they be appointed from countries which are members of the League and in which the German language is spoken.

The commission requested that the president of the League Council approach various countries, one of which it was presumed, would be Switzerland on the subject of furnishing additional police.

The commission alleged that the Saar gardeners are maintaining the regular relation with the German secret police and that their espionage activities are being undisturbed. It said it doubted the ability of increasing the local police force by recruiting in the Saar.

Could Call Troops
The commission said it had been able to maintain its authority in the Saar thus far largely because of the Council's resolution empowering it to call upon troops stationed on the frontier for aid and this statement was regarded as an allusion to the possibility that it could request the aid of French troops in the event of serious disorders.

But we cannot envisage without the gravest apprehensions the possibility of the commission, "the consequences of such intervention if we are obliged to resort to it."

It was upon this basis that was emphasized the necessity of authorizing the recruiting in foreign countries.

Firemen's Association Issues Annual Report

Bridgeport, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Five firemen in this state lost their lives as the result of actual fire duty during the past year, David W. Hartford, secretary of the Connecticut State Firemen's association stated in his annual report, part of which was released today.

The complete report is expected to be one of the high lights of the 31st annual convention of the State Firemen's Association, to be held at Waterbury, Friday and Saturday.

Forty-two children were made fatherless through accidents and illness resulting from fire duty during the period the report covers. By a special act of the State Legislature, these children are protected through the association, until they reach the age of 16.

The firemen who lost their lives were Austin E. Dungan and J. Raymond Lyons of Hartford; Edwin B. Thornton of Bridgeport; Amos Neighton of Stonington and Harold F. Potter of Waterbury.

During the past year the report stated there were 276 claims made on the general state fund for firemen injured on duty. The total amount paid from this fund was $21,175.50, which includes $2,750 paid in death claims, $4,438 for disability and $4,987.50 for the care of orphan children.

On the special fund of the association there were 19 orders drawn on the fund for the care of firemen injured on duty. The total amount paid from this fund was $388.40 was paid during the fiscal year ending May 1.

Thomas F. Wagner has been appointed press representative of the association.

Wagner charged the provision in the code relating to discounts was changed without the knowledge of a group of shoe manufacturers of which he was a member. He said the code as changed has no binding effect and is not as a matter of law the standard of fair competition for the boot and shoe manufacturer's industry.

NATION'S BANKS READY TO MAKE HOME LOANS

Federal Housing Commission Expects to Be Completed Before Nightfall; Financiers Cautious.

Washington, Aug. 14.—(AP)—By tonight the Federal Housing Administration expects every city to have at least one bank where property owners can obtain insured loans for repairs and improvements.

Roger Steffen, director of modernization credits, said so today in a telegram from bankers piled upon his desk.

His chief, James A. Moffett, backed him up with an optimistic statement about bankers' willingness to make such loans.

"Enough banks already have accepted the loan insurance plan," Moffett said, "to handle more business than we can get them immediately. The response of the bankers has been fine. They may not come in 100 per cent but that is not necessary and we never expected it."

The Housing Administration announced the names of bankers selected in cooperation with the American Bankers Association to advise and inform financial institutions in each state on the modernization program.

Moffett and Steffen looked forward to the conference here later today with some of the members of the group.

CRITICIZE N. R. A. AS DICTATORIAL DURING HEARING

Federal Trade Commission in Test Case Is Told Recovery Administration Has Violated Shoe Code.

Washington, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Recovery Administration was charged with being "a dictatorial form of government" in a major test case before the Federal Trade Commission today involving the shoe fixing powers.

Edward J. Ramsey, New York shoe manufacturer, answering the NRA's complaint that he was violating the shoe code by granting excess discounts, said Congress violated the Constitution in delegating legislative powers to the Executive.

The letter he said, delegates legislative powers to an appointed agent known and designated as the dictatorial form of government intended by the framers of the Constitution.

Code Changed.
Ramsey charged the provision in the code relating to discounts was changed without the knowledge of a group of shoe manufacturers of which he was a member. He said the code as changed has no binding effect and is not as a matter of law the standard of fair competition for the boot and shoe manufacturer's industry.

Meanwhile, the commission was conducting a hearing in another test case, likewise involving price fixing, in which three rubber companies are contesting the NRA's complaint against them for refusing to list their price lists with the Rubber Code authority.

The shoe companies won two legal victories when the commission refused the NRA's motion denying the commission had complete jurisdiction, and refusing the NRA's demand to exclude certain records.

Ramsey, in his answer, charged that the NRA in fixing the shoe code was not designed to promote monopoly but to bring about a fair competition.

Provisionary Arbitration.
The dictatorial provision, Ramsey said, is "arbitrary and illogical and meaningless in that there is no standard or basis of price provided and no prohibition against selling below costs and this has resulted in industry of reducing the selling price in proportion to the discount whether five per cent or more."

NOTED ARCHITECT DIES IN STAMFORD

Raymond Hood Was Pioneer in Development of Skyscraper; 53 Years Old.

New York, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Raymond Hood, internationally known architect, died early today at his home, Southfield Point, Stamford, Conn. Friends here were advised.

Hood was one of the pioneers in the development of the skyscraper. He was born in Fawcett, R. I., March 20, 1881, and studied at Brown University. Later, he attended the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris, France.

He began the practice of architecture in New York City in 1903. In 1929, Hood was a member of the international jury to select a design for a memorial to Columbus on the island of Santo Domingo.

He was a trustee of the Beaux Arts Institute of Design, New York.

His chief, James A. Moffett, backed him up with an optimistic statement about bankers' willingness to make such loans.

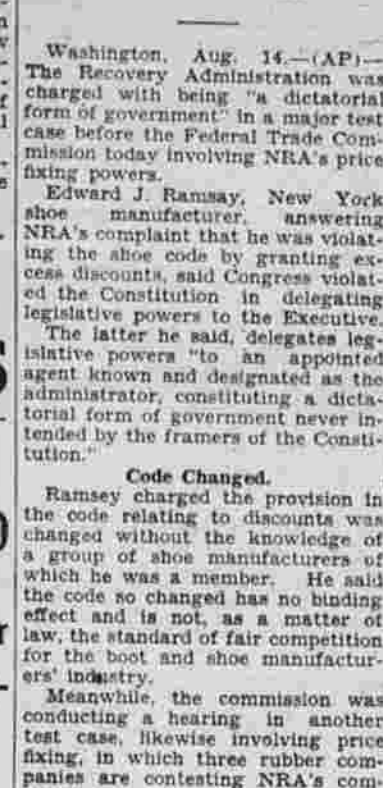

"Enough banks already have accepted the loan insurance plan," Moffett said, "to handle more business than we can get them immediately. The response of the bankers has been fine. They may not come in 100 per cent but that is not necessary and we never expected it."

EAST HARTFORD TEACHER REPORTED LONG MISSING

Miss Ethel Armstrong Last Seen in Marlborough, This State on June 22—Not Been Seen Since.

East Hartford, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Miss Ethel M. Armstrong, whose unexplained absence from her summer home at Canton, Mass., and from her place at Marlborough, which she left June 22, led to fears for the safety of the East Hartford high school mathematics teacher, is working in northern Vermont, Superintendent Percival S. Barnes, of the East Hartford schools, was informed today, although he did not have her exact address. She may be reached through the Providence, R. I., concern which employs her.

Miss Armstrong has spent her vacations for the last fifteen years in Camden and friends there and in Connecticut supposed she would do so this summer. Although she had confided to Miss Irene Connors of Hartford, that she might spend the summer selling books in Connecticut, Miss Connors said that when she left Marlborough she was called straggled to the top of her car.

Among summer residents of Camden who have joined in an effort to find Miss Armstrong is Kent Hubbard, president of the Connecticut Manufacturers Association.

FEDERAL PROBERS COME TO STATE TO INVESTIGATE MILK

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE, IS KILLED BY COP

Shoots Girl Who Repulses His Advances—She Is in a Critical Condition.

Muskegon, Mich., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Federal Trade Commission is moving its experts into Connecticut to begin an investigation of charges of high prices, monopoly, and racketeering in milk.

Legal and economic investigators of the commission, ordered by the last Congress to find out everything possible about the "Nation's milk," say they are after all the facts.

Entering a downtown drug store yesterday, Throckmorton shot the girl, Miss Opal Dry, a former beauty contestant, made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide and then was shot by Policeman Jim Houser.

Chief of Detective John Wolsey said the couple had quarreled because the girl was not going with Throckmorton for several months since his separation from his wife, "or late had tried to repulse his advances."

The girl, wounded in the chest, hip and groin, and with her left hand in a cast, was taken to the hospital. Witnesses said that after Throckmorton caught the wounded girl following him, he pressed the pistol to her back and said:

"Well, good-bye honey."

Twice he pulled the trigger but the hammer clicked on empty chambers.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Primary elections were held in four states today, ending campaigns marked with bitter words and the threat of Senatorial investigations.

The sharpest contests lay in Ohio and Nebraska, with less spectacular primaries in Idaho and Arkansas.

The Republican Senatorial race found Senator Simon D. Fess, O. P. stalwart, opposed by four candidates. For governor the Republicans had seven candidates in the ring and the Democrats four.

AAA OFFICIALS ANSWER CRITICS

President Also to Make Statement on Future Policies on Drought Relief.

Washington, Aug. 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt is expected to announce today his policy on the AAA's crop reduction, some of which, he said, are being stressed drought devastation to emphasize what they call the "sin" of artificial slashing of food supplies.

AAA officials have been touring the country, answering this criticism. They told farmers that human control was necessary to curtail overproduction, that depressed prices to restore farm-purchasing power, and thus to bring the national economy into better balance.

Not Smaller Crops
Secretary Wallace stressed yesterday that, though the AAA sought large cuts in production before the crop season.
