

STRIKE REPORTS HERE CONFLICT FEW AT THEIR WORK IN THE CHENEY PLANT

MOST OF WORKERS IN NEW ENGLAND AGAINST STRIKE

the South Almost 50 Per Cent of Mills Operating Today—Violence Reported in Georgia.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
The first big day of the general textile strike was hailed by union leaders today as a "tremendous success" while employers declared that a poll of the industry in New England indicated the majority of workers were opposed to the strike.

In New England where the mills were closed yesterday because of the Labor Day holiday, mills employing an aggregate of 125,000 it was reported that at least 50,000 were idle.

In the strike centers of the Carolina survey indicated that approximately 60,000 were idle and the same number working.

In the dozen or more other textile states affected by the strike indications were that at least half of the workers were idle.

Northern Fights
The most disorder reported in the strike today was in Maine, where at night fights were numerous, there were several arrests and many threats of war against one automobile load of mill office workers was overturned when it encountered a picket line.

The full effect of the strike on the 600,000 workers actually at work when the strike was called remained to be determined.

A strike of 10,000 cotton goods garment workers in St. Louis and 4,000 more in Kansas City ordered by the International Ladies Garment Workers Union was expected to begin momentarily.

In Paterson, N. J., union leaders said they expected the Paterson Labor Relations Board to rule that they might call out 15,000 of the 20,000 silk workers in the Paterson area by night fall.

SILK STRIKE, FAILURE
New York, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Peter Van Horn, chairman of the silk code authority, said today that a survey of the textile strike as applied to silk, rayon and synthetic fabric industries showed the strike was "almost a complete failure."

Van Horn said that the "entire south is operating normally" and said that the survey did not show "a single mill shut down in this district."

Reports from New Jersey, he said, disclosed that the strike was a "complete failure," with all mills under operation.

No mills were shut down in New York state, he said, while the survey in Pennsylvania showed less than five per cent of the workers responded to the strike.

Van Horn said that the trouble in Pennsylvania which constitutes about one-half of the entire industry up until now was limited to three out of the state's 400 mills.

In New England, he said he learned, approximately 10 per cent of the operations were down.

"It is evident," Van Horn said, "that less than five per cent of the total industry has been affected to date, and that the strike call has been a failure as it applies to the silk, rayon and other synthetic fabric manufacturers under the silk code authority."

"Even in the few districts where silk closed the workers are not sympathetic to the call of the general strike," he said.

"The workers operating in mills of the silk code, notwithstanding the extravagant statement to the contrary made by the strike leaders, are not being misled by the strike leaders and the cotton industry."

Life-Long Friend
Paterson, N. J., Sept. 4.—(AP)—All was quiet at the home of Mrs. Jersey textile district today, with 4,000 silk workers in the Paterson area going to their jobs as usual and with several thousand operators in the basic woolen mills showing.

EX-PRESIDENT HOOVER CONDEMNS NEW DEAL

In First Comment Since He Left White House, He Scores Roosevelt's Policies and Future Plans.

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover condemned the New Deal today in the name of liberalism.

The former president, writing in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post, describes the foundation of "the American system" as individual liberty, and the base of "economic regeneration" as "the very theory that man is but the pawn of the state."

It is Mr. Hoover's first political pronouncement since he stepped out of the White House and Franklin Delano Roosevelt walked in.

"It is my hope," Mr. Hoover writes, "to show that to resume the path of liberty is not to go backward; it is to return to the path of progress from following the will of the whims which lead either to the swamps of primitive greed or to political tyranny."

Philosophy of liberalism
From the pilgrims at Plymouth to the army in the Argonne, he says, Americans have decided that the "human spirit might be free."

He continues:
"From these sacrifices and in the consummation of these liberties there grew a great philosophy of liberalism.

"The liberty is an endowment from the creator to every individual man and woman upon which no power can encroach and not even the government can deny."

Under this philosophy and through struggle, we have developed the principles and forms of our social, economic and governmental life—the American system."

Mapp Got Nine Votes
Nine votes on the last ballot went to Commissioner Henry Mapp, the Army's chief of staff, four to Commissioner Catherine Bramwell Booth, the commander's niece, and two to Commissioner Samuel Huron, who was hoping to become a senator from New York. After the liner docked, he said.

EVANGELINE BOOTH ARMY WORLD HEAD

Daughter of Founder of Salvationists First Woman Chief of Organization.

London, Sept. 4.—Commander Evangeline Booth, leader of the Salvation Army in the United States, was elected last night to be general of the world-wide Army which her father founded in 1845.

The results of which employees of those mills went home.

Sympathetic Strikers
The victory for the commander on the fourth ballot after the Army's High Council had been locked in an indecisive electoral struggle for three hours. On the first three ballots she had all other candidates, but was just short of the two-thirds majority required to elect her.

It was growing dark outside the congress hall and the clock on a wall by the door was striking 8 p. m. when Commissioner Earl Larson, the president of the council, solemnly announced the result of the final ballot. The figures were not made public, but it is understood the members of the council were the commander, receiving 59 votes.

The big Pocomoke mill at Norwich, one of the largest in eastern Connecticut with 1,500 employees did not open and in the Norwich area the effects of the strikes were more noticeable than elsewhere.

Leaders of the strike movement in meetings which laid out a plan of campaign had stated they did not expect to succeed in all the plants struck at Cheney Brothers were the only ones in their particular line on strike throughout the country. All others had declined to obey the strike order of the union officials and had gone to work this morning.

These At Work Here
It was announced, employees of the Russell Manufacturing Company were at their homes today as usual, not being as yet affected by the textile strike. The company has the largest mill in the city, employing about 800 hands.

The Fritchell Silk Co., which has 25 weavers, called out at the Middletown plant, while work went on as usual at Higganum.

The walkout was a sympathetic move, strike leaders said. Those who were told by Carl Johnson, secretary and treasurer of the company that their return to work was entirely up to themselves.

At the Portland Silk Co., officials said the employees were on strike but there was no disorder. Normally between 125 and 150 are employed there.

The Middletown Silk Co., employees have been out on strike since last Friday.

Reports in State
The plants closed by textile strike reports today followed: Cheney Brothers, 1,500 workers, operating in full.
Winham Silk Company, 125 working as usual.
National Silk Company, 250 operating.
Manchester—Cheney Bros. silks all but two departments closed.
Wareham—Wareham Mills, cottons, 400, did not open.
Central Village—Wyanadotte Textile, 400 employees were on strike.
Dunham—Dunham Mills, cottons, 400, did not open.
Branford—Branford Company, five plants, cotton goods, did not open.
Dartmouth—Dartmouth Company, 450 open and closed.

SCHOOLS OF STATE RESUME SESSIONS

Estimate That More Than Third of Million Youngsters Take Up Studies.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
The little red school house on the side of the country road and the almost palatial buildings in cities opened their doors for the school year.

More than a third of a million youngsters in Connecticut, some of whom were in the last school year at 145,762 and 108,000 of young boys made their first steps toward the achievement of a high school diploma.

It will be several weeks before the complete enrollment figures are known but advance information in numbers while high schools will show an increase.

Thousands Pay Tribute To Daniel Boone's Memory

Booneboro, Ky., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Thousands of Kentuckians were joined by visitors from other states yesterday in paying tribute to the great pioneer whose sturdy band founded this first white settlement in the western empire that Daniel Boone.

Numbered among the visitors were Daniel Boone descendants of Boone and representatives of the governors of Tennessee, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Missouri, which states also have a part in the Boone legend.

Described in an address by Gov. Lupton as "the foremost pioneer in our nation and its greatest frontiersman," Boone was also mentioned by U. S. Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky and Congressman Virgil M. Chapman of Paris.

Judge Samuel M. Wilson of Lexington, chairman of the Boone Bicentennial Commission, which is conducting a series of observances of the Boone bicentennial, presided over the commemorative exercises.

C. Frank Dunn of Lexington, secretary of the commission, said "efforts were being made to have the government issue a Boone memorial stamp."

In his address, Governor Lupton likened Boone to President Roosevelt, describing the latter as a "man who has brought to our country a New Deal that will save this western empire that Daniel Boone had so much to do with establishing."

Representatives of governors of other states present to the audience included Daniel K. Miller of Sikeston, Pa.; J. R. Williams of Knoxville, Tenn.; Tom Van Ant of Fulton, Mo.; and Lew M. O'Bannon of Corydon, Ind.

8,500 OF STATE'S 32,000 WORKERS ARE ON STRIKE

No Acts of Violence Reported—Several Strikes Sympathetic as Employees Have No Grievance.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
The general strike call to the textile industry found a sympathetic response in a number of the cotton and woolen mills of northeastern and eastern Connecticut today, and while the first figures were far from definite, the estimate at noon was that between 8,000 and 9,000 workers were on strike.

The textile mills of the state employ normally about 32,000 persons, according to the manufacturers, but today to induce velvet workers to return to their jobs they maintained that the velvet industry is not included in the strike call. Despite assertions made by Ward Cheney, president of the firm, that he had positive information from velvet centers that all hands were at work, local union officials maintained that the velvet industry is included and only a skeleton crew was allowed to report to finish necessary work already in process.

Official statements were issued by both Cheney Brothers and the local union publicity committee. They will be found elsewhere in today's Herald.

Velvet Workers Out
Officials of the firm of Cheney Brothers were attempting today to induce velvet workers to return to their jobs when they maintained that the velvet industry is not included in the strike call. Despite assertions made by Ward Cheney, president of the firm, that he had positive information from velvet centers that all hands were at work, local union officials maintained that the velvet industry is included and only a skeleton crew was allowed to report to finish necessary work already in process.

Conflicting reports on the status of the general textile strike in other manufacturing centers led interest in the walkout in the Cheney silk mills here today. Telegrams, telephonic reports and Associated Press dispatches maintained that the strike call had failed in practically every textile center other than Manchester, while officials of the United Textile Workers of America insisted that these reports were not true and that the walkout had been a success. Although the exact number of Cheney employees who continued working was not given out an official of the firm said that "a very small number" kept to their jobs.

Van Horn's Address
Word was flashed over the private printer at Cheney Brothers shortly after 11:30 this morning that Chairman Peter Van Horn of the Silk Code Authority would deliver an address especially prepared for the silk workers over the radio at Station WEAH, at 8:30 this evening. Strikers were advised to "listen in" as Mr. Van Horn has an important message to impart.

At 11:45 o'clock this morning Horace Cheney received a telephone message from E. I. Walker, president of the Rhode Island Textile Association with headquarters in Providence. Mr. Walker stated that only three mills in the entire state of Rhode Island were closed this morning on account of the strike.

In Other Plants
The Edmond Cotton Blanket company, which has been closed three weeks because of seasonal inactivity, reopened this morning, but finding that the workers had heeded the strike call, shut down again for an indefinite period. The Bay State Silk Mills, having about 40 looms, also were closed. Loom fixers walked out in the Lorraine, Wyanadotte and National Mills in the Blackstone Valley but workers in all other departments remained on the job.

The Blackstone Valley Electric company, which furnishes power to cotton, silk and rayon mills located in that vicinity, reported to Mr. Walker that 65 per cent of the "average load" was in operation today.

Keeping in Touch
Ward Cheney was in telephonic communication this morning with sixteen of the leading cravat manufacturing establishments. All reported that the workers were on the job today velvet workers throughout New England and in the Paterson area generally had declined to respond to the strike call. It was stated that more than 40 in the cravat department, 60 in the dehouse, approximately 80 in the main office and a large number in the printing and engraving departments were working.

Exact figures were not available, but it was learned from an authoritative source that more than 40 in the cravat department, 60 in the dehouse, approximately 80 in the main office and a large number in the printing and engraving departments were working.

Officials On Hand
When the mills opened at 7 o'clock this morning the officials of Cheney Brothers were on hand to inform the workers that operations would continue as usual. Clifford Cheney appeared at the velvet mill, Austin Cheney in the cravat department, John Leames and John Nickerson in the dye finishing, William Cheney at the printing room and Horace and Ward Cheney at the main office. The latter two officials were at the mills as early as 6:30.

Men and women gathered in small groups and, under the protective covering of umbrellas, sought to maintain picket lines at the main office and the different mills. Picket duty proved rather unpleasant this morning owing to the heavy showers which occurred frequently.

Representatives of governors of other states present to the audience included Daniel K. Miller of Sikeston, Pa.; J. R. Williams of Knoxville, Tenn.; Tom Van Ant of Fulton, Mo.; and Lew M. O'Bannon of Corydon, Ind.

SPORT PROGRAM HERE TOMORROW FOR SHOES FUND

Expect Big Crowd at West Side to Witness Events; Prominent Local People to Be Present; Starts at 4:30.

Tomorrow evening, at 4:30 o'clock at the West Side playgrounds every baseball fan in Manchester will gather for the final round-up and "kick" in "shoes for the kids" for school. Present indications point to the largest crowd ever assembled in Manchester, at one time, since Centennial Day celebration. All the honor and glory of the successful gathering is mainly due to the untiring efforts of William Brennan, chairman of the committee and one of the best known sportsmen in the town.

Events at 4:30 Sharp
The first event, the baseball throw for distance will get underway promptly at 4:30 o'clock and from that time until the final out in the game between the picked teams from the East and West Side of the town not a dull minute. Base running to first, running the complete circuit of the bases, the managers race and the crowning event of the sport's program, the special 100 yard race between Red Haddon and Fritz Wilkinson, will take place before the umpires order play to begin.

Practically the entire official family of the town will be on hand. Chief of Police Samuel G. Gordon has promised adequate police protection. All youngsters, under sixteen years of age will be held back of the east side of the 100 yard dash runway. The stands will be absolutely reserved for those holding tickets.

Fans Support Plans
Although some are inclined to be skeptical, the plan is to be successful.

DEATH OF SINGER KEPT FROM MOTHER

Mrs. Columbo, Dying, Does Not Know That Her Son Has Been Killed.

Hollywood, Calif., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Horrifying between life and death, Mrs. Julia Columbo called today from a hospital bed for her son, Russ, but no answer came.

She did not know that the son, Russ Columbo, golden voiced singer, was dead, the victim of an accidental discharge of an old duelling pistol. For the third day he had failed to visit her as she lay suffering from heart ailment. Word of her son's death was withheld from her.

While the mother called pitifully for her son, the deputy city coroner's office prepared to call at 8:30 a. m. today the first witness in an inquest. Lansing V. Brown, Jr., photographer, will be the chief witness.
