TAX COMMISSION

Piecemeal disclosure of the recommendations of the State Tax Advisory Commission do not encourage the expectation that through its services this state will arrive at any complete and satisfactory solution of the tax problem. Throughout those portions of the report that have been made public there runs a vein of pessimism—indicated by such adjectives as the sales tax, the absence of any income tax, the conclusion that real estate does not, after all, bear an undue burden, and the fact that the proposed to put the taxing power in the hands of finance boards.

STEAMBOATS

Interesting little news stories in the New York papers yesterday afternoon, that the last trip of the steamship Lincoln was completed and the line's books closed failed to recognize the fact that the so-called New London line, 94 years old, was a substantial part of the New England Navigation Company, in its turn the marine department of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad company.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

Of course there are some excellent proposals in the report, and these in turn are making the taxing period conform to the fiscal year—so have the budget of every municipality prepared, the appropriations made and the tax laid in advance of the period of expenditure. But surely it need hardly have taken a year and a half for a special commission to figure that out. Everybody knew of this necessity before the Commission was appointed.

LEAVING ROOSEVELT

The National Committee on Economic Security is one of the first if not the first of the citizens' agencies which have been looking for New Deal cooperation in the national rehabilitation to let it be known that no longer pins its faith to President Roosevelt's liberalism. That body, weary of administration discussions as to whether to multiply zero by two or ten, is preparing to go to Congress with an unambiguous, almost unambiguous bill of its own—one "with teeth in it."

NOT VERY URGENT

One good thing about this present Board of Aesthetics, it doesn't begin the daylight out of Manchester's people with its suggestions.

ALL MAN

George O'Laughlin of St. Paul, Minn., would, one may be sure, resent being called a Spartan father. He has a young son, Russell. The boy came home the other night with a hole in his trousers leg and a wound in his knee. George O'Laughlin is no fool. He knows a thing or two about what goes on in the Twin Cities; he knew Russell, too. He asked questions. Russell told him that some boys had made a hole in his trousers leg and a wound in his knee. George O'Laughlin didn't do like so many fathers—try to figure out some way of saving the boy. He sent for the police. The son was indicted for second degree murder.

NEVADA SOMEBODY

Nevada somebody dug up a decoy made of rods and feathers—1000-year-old evidence that the Indians were the first to deceive wild fowl.

DECEYS WHITE IT SLEEPS

Barber's collection numbers more than 200 notable specimens, each with a bit of folklore attached to it. There's one specimen of a wooden spoon which was used by a pioneer settler in the West. And a fine wild swan, fashioned by Samuel T. Barnes of Haverd Grove, Ill. In Connecticut, Barber found a graceful sleeping blue-bird which had its nest tucked under a wing for 60 years. And so on. He prizes a mounted specimen of a wild pigeon, which species long has been extinct, and out in his automobile when the stand struck it up. He dived his hat back under the hat as the piece was finished and he went the proud love his own son ten times as much as a young man, though obviously a bit puffed.

CHURCH THEY CAUGHT

Newark, N. J.—(AP)—Women members of three Newark churches complained to police that their members were stealing. The police arrested a woman, charged him with grand larceny.

Know Your GROCERIES

DID you know that the speed with which a bread dough rises depends to a great extent upon the kind of flour that is used?
 Did you know that the way coffee is roasted is an important in producing fine uniform flavor as careful blending?
 Did you know that some shortenings can impart a delicious delicate flavor to the foods in which they are used?
 As a matter of fact there is some very important information to be had regarding the groceries you use day after day. It is information that will guide you in improving the taste-appeal of the food you prepare. And by using this information in buying groceries, you will realize that there's genuine, tangible economy in paying for quality.

HEALTH-DIET ADVICE

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by the doctor who will be addressed in care of this paper. Enclosed stamped, self-addressed envelope, for reply.

The formation of gall-stones inside of the gall-bladder seems to be brought on by a sluggish flow of bile and does this better than on this treatment. The patient should either by wrong diet or a lack of exercise. The patient should take an orange or grapefruit juice during the daytime, fasting from four to eight o'clock of the night. Juice every two hours. The fast should be continued from five to ten days and repeated, if necessary, every few weeks. The patient using a diet in between composed principally of non-starchy vegetables with small amounts of such proteins as eggs and meat.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (Continued in Triangle)
 Question: Mrs. Theda H. writes: "My father has been troubled for a long time with a pain in the joints after sitting for a period of time. There is no swelling in the joints. What would you suggest?"
 Answer: It is difficult to know just what is causing the soreness without being able to examine your father. This might be due to a form of lumbago or simply defective circulation in the region. I would suggest that he take a short fruit fast and use hot sitz baths for from fifteen to twenty minutes two or three times a week following a cold shower over the lower back and circulation. If the trouble remains after following this treatment for a reasonable length of time, I believe the best plan would be for him to consult a physician.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (Continued in Triangle)
 Question: Mrs. L. DeG. writes: "My husband is suffering from a complaint which the doctors call 'Triguna.' Would be very grateful if you could explain the cause and cure, if any. The doctors here seem to know little about it."
 Answer: Black Tongue is a disorder over the gall-bladder area. With a series of X-ray pictures, it is possible to observe the gall-stones dissolving while still in the gall-bladder. The best treatment is to scrape the tongue and have local treatments given with the actinic light. Then the tongue should be painted with an antiseptic. Care should be taken to keep the mouth clean by rinsing it out with salt water several times daily and seeing that the teeth are properly cared for.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (Continued in Triangle)
 Question: Reader asks: "Will you please let me what might be the cause of a headache in and just above the eyes after meals?"
 Answer: The kind of headache you describe is usually caused from an irritation of the gastro-intestinal tract, as in gastritis or colitis. Bad mixtures of food which produce indigestion or stomach irritation are perhaps the most responsible for the kind of headache just after the meal.
