TRADE PUCKMEN RALLY TO DOWN HIGH SCHOOL IN TORRID CLASH, 4 TO 2

Bob Guthrie Sends Red and White Into 2-0 Lead in First Period But Mechanics Come Back to Win; Daigle, Karkevich Star.

By THOMAS J. CHARRA

Battling rivalry to retain an early 2-0 lead garnered in the opening session, Manchester High faltered and bowed to a superior Manchester Trade hockey team by the comparatively close margin of 4 to 2 in a scintillating game at Center Springs on Tuesday night.

Manchester, which had a 2-0 lead at approximately 10:00, was considered an element to witness Manchester's comeback to a 2-0 lead in a return ice engagement between the local adversaries.

Third Trade Victory.

Yesterday's contest marked the High's second defeat in a row. It starts this season and in turn answers Manchester's first victory in five attempts to date. The Trades, having played five games thus far, have won four, losing only one. This record is being maintained by doing much to instigate an interest in hockey among the students, and support from local sportsmen.

WENCKEN INVITES REDS TO MARYLAND

Tells the Arkansas Liberals That Free Speech Is Guaranteed in That State.

Baltimore, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Liberalism, its doctrine, facing a legislative probe, was invited today by H. L. Mencken to come to the Maryland Free State and receive "an unconditional guarantee for free speech."

"You will be at liberty to teach spiritualism, vegetarianism, Communism, Calvinism of cannibalism, or all of them together," the outspoken Baltimore man declared. "You will be next door to Washington and hence to the brain trust with its enormous reserve of advanced thinkers. I engage to find 300 lead of revolutionary young professors to help you."

ICKES PROTESTED NAVY'S PWA FUNDS

(Continued From Page One) out that the allocation was arranged for before the Public Works appropriation was approved by Congress, but the secretary said he did not have such knowledge.

"How do you explain?" asked Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.). "The entire $238,000,000 appropriation on the very day, June 16, 1933—that the Congress voted the money and the President signed the order giving it to the Navy?"

"I would not know that," Ickes said. "I wouldn't be the fact that the Navy acted the moment the executive order was signed indicate why the Board of Public Works felt it had no latitude in regulating the allocation?"

This will be an open meeting.

OPEN FORUM

THE TOWNSEND PLAN

Editor, The Herald:—You have read many ideas of many different types of people, of the young people, the rich and the poor people, as to how the government is to get all this money from the people of 60 and more years of age can distribute so much of the time in the Townsend plan. Did you read the Open Forum in the Manchester Herald Monday, Jan. 21, written by John H. Long, editor? If you did, make an effort to get to the Open Forum. I had a copy of that date. Read it and you will see the very good explanation of the Townsend Revolving Pension Plan.

I am surprised that the business men of this town, and different towns, who own our Chamber of Commerce have failed to come out and express themselves or tried to help our local Townsend club, by joining and supporting the movement.

Have you filed to date to join or help the local club? With your personal leadership and finance, what

FALCONS DEFEAT NORTH ENDS 27-25

Falcons Win First Bid for Town Intermediate Title Last Night at 'Y.'

The Intermediate league got under way last night at the 'Y. M. C. A., with the Falcons getting the North Ends by a score of 27-25. The game was unusually fast and rough in spots. Early in the game "Clint" Kenney, who has been turning in good performances, and Kev, Kev, found the floor too small and came to blows. As a result, they were barred from further play.

Although Coach Alton Johnson's charges held the lead all but a few minutes of the game, they were not able to cope with the onslaught in the closing minutes of play. In the final quarter "Clint" Kenney was evicted from the personal foul rule, making it necessary for the Falcons to continue with four men. With only a minute and a half to play "Berge" O'Leary treated the fans to the most spectacular shot of the evening, "swinging" a one-handed shot from well past the middle of the floor, giving the Falcons a one point lead. A foul shot by Smith put an end to the scoring. While all the players turned in good performances O'Leary, Stevenson and "Clint" Kenney were individual stars with Kenney starting for the North Ends.

Saturday the Falcons meet the class East Side at 8 p. m. The score:

A QUIET LITTLE MAN WHO SLEW HIS WIFE

Here's a Fictional Version of the Crippen Case by Miss Catherine Meadows.

By BRUCE CATTON.

A murder case like the famous Snyder-Grey affair looks unutterably mean, sordid, and stupid to the outsider. We forget that beneath each case there is a personal tragedy—a built-up tension of unendurable emotions which culminates in violence and which, however they look to the public, are not in the least sordid to the principals.

You get a reminder of this in Catherine Meadows' new novel, "Dr. Moon."

Miss Meadows has written a fictionized version of the notorious case of Dr. Crippen—that quiet little Englishman who killed his wife, buried her body in his cellar, fled to America, and became famous through being the first fugitive criminal to be caught because of the wireless telegraph.

Objectively, this is a typical murder case—grubby, sordid, grotesquely bizarre. But Miss Meadows gives it dignity by showing it through the eyes of the little doctor himself, and by understanding how a quiet, unobtrusive man can be goaded and driven to a point where murder seems his only solution.

How closely she follows the actual personalities I know not. She makes her doctor a meek, well-meaning chap, his stenographer, an innkeeper a mouse-like girl who innocently entangled herself in disaster, and his wife one of those female hussies for whom murder is too good.

Indeed, she leaves one feeling that the doctor should have been going to the gallows, but the freedom of the city and three round chairs.

It makes an unusual and an interesting book. Published by Putnam, it calls for $2.50.
