REFRIGERATION BREAK IS QUICKLY REPAIRED

Leaking Ammonia at Market Here Does No Damage - Uses Mask to Reach Break.

A leak of the ammonia in the Food Market's refrigeration system in the Rutledge building on Locust street last night made it impossible to remain in the store. It was at a time when the meat supply was at its peak and the market was busy with the New Year. A telephone call brought Chief A. J. Foy of the South Manchester fire department to the store with a gas mask. This was put on the case and not exposed to the fumes. A telephone call brought Chief A. J. AUCTION MARKET ASSET TO TOWN

Recognized by Civic Progress Group and Assistance Is Offered.

The Civic Progress Committee has taken recognition of the importance of the Manchester fruit and vegetable auction market and at their meeting Thursday went on record to assist in such ways as the officials of the market association would see fit. It was brought out before the committee that there are now 160 members in good standing in the association. An effort was made by the officers of the market to secure another location for the market next summer and fall that will be less exposed to the sun and rain. The sales at the market, it was reported, had gone over $135,000 and with the likelihood that there will be a good peach crop this year this amount will be greatly increased.

HEALTHIER! No more "winter morning snuffles" for Bob. OLD COMPANY'S LEIGH ANTHRACITE has every room in the house warm as toast in the morning.

WEALTHIER! More money to spend for Mrs. Jones. OLD COMPANY'S LEIGH, the longer-lasting fuel, cuts heating costs, leaves handy dollars in the family purse.

WISER! No more "trick" substitutes for Mr. Jones. He's learned that bargain fuels cost more in the long run, require twice as much attention as OLD COMPANY'S LEIGH.
