

PRESIDENT PROPOSES SERIES OF PARLEYS ON SLUMP IN TRADE

To Call Business Leaders To Discuss Ways To Control Overproduction — Green Testifies Before Senate.

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed today, while a Congressional committee wrestled with causes and cures of the present slump, that he proposed a series of conferences with business leaders on how to eliminate over-production and glutted markets.

Principal part of discussion in the talks, the President revealed at his press conference, will be attacking the market-overproduction problem through ridding business of what administration spokesmen call "evil" practices such as high pressure salesmanship.

Mr. Roosevelt talked with William B. Knudsen, president of General Motors, yesterday after Knudsen had told the Senate unemployment committee that a sudden drop in sales in November and December had caused his company to lay off 30,000 men January 1. He predicted reviving prosperity in the spring.

The President said the conference produced no suggestions for future action, but that some ideas might be forthcoming in future meetings. He did not name any of the executives he would see later on.

Labor Head Testifies.

The unemployment committee received from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, suggestions for seven moves to end the depression.

First was regulation of hours to believe shorter work week and maintenance of present wage scales. Others included expansion of federal building and relief programs broadening the Social Security program and stimulation of private house building.

Green found the economic situation "gloomy" but Robert E. Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck and Company, saw cause for optimism in declining inventories. He forecast increasing employment in consumer goods production by March of April.

Meanwhile President Roosevelt acted to switch one of his closest economic advisers, Joseph P. Kennedy, from the domestic to the international field. He nominated Kennedy to be ambassador to Great Britain. Kennedy is chairman of the maritime commission and served as first chairman of the securities commission.

Other diplomatic moves he announced today were:

Embassy at Moscow Sends Formal Note To Soviet Officials Asking Information

Moscow, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The United States Embassy today presented a formal note to the Soviet foreign office asking whether Ruth Marie Rubens of New York was under arrest in Russia and if so on what charges.

The note, delivered on instructions from Washington, demanded full information concerning the disappearance of Mrs. Rubens, who had been known here as "Mrs. Donald L. Robinson."

She had arrived in Moscow Nov. 8 in company with "Donald L. Robinson" who disappeared Dec. 2.

The request for information was based on the State Department's findings that Mrs. Rubens was an American citizen. Her passport picture was identified by American officials here two days ago as that of the "Mrs. Robinson" who ran a desert resort.

The Embassy expected a reply to its note in view of the written statement by the Russian government to notify American officials in thirty hours of the arrest in Russia of anyone traveling on an American passport.

In an interview the Soviet government said it withheld all information on the case which created an international sensation.

The note apparently made no mention of the man "Robinson," since the State Department had not established his American citizenship had been fraudulently obtained.

It might be free.

American here considered it possible that if Mrs. Rubens had been arrested she might already have been released and deported because

300 AIRPLANES, 24 SHIPS HUNT GIANT BOMBER

Chief Of Staff Confident Flying Boat Is Afloat; Navy Aviation Cadet Is Lost From A Light Plane.

San Pedro, Calif., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Three hundred navy planes and 24 warships searched the seas between Santa Barbara and San Diego today for a giant service patrol bomber missing since Wednesday with seven men aboard.

Naval officials disclosed that Seth P. Hawkins, cadet attached to the Cruiser Chicago, fell from the rear cockpit seat of a light plane yesterday and disappeared into the Pacific 100 miles offshore. The plane was engaged in a "routine flight."

The pilot, Aviation Cadet J. H. Mack, Jr., reported Hawkins' disappearance upon his return to the fleet base here, but was unable to say whether a sudden downdraft had hurled him from the plane.

Confidence that the missing patrol bomber would be found was expressed by Capt. Alva D. Bernard, chief of staff to Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, commander of the aircraft scouting force.

"I expect to find this plane in any kind of sea," said Capt. Bernard, chief of staff to Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, commander of the aircraft scouting force.

Aboard the 33,000 pound, twin engine cruiser, officers said, were emergency rations and a small still for converting ocean water into drinking water.

Fog hampered the search by battleships, cruisers, destroyers and two Coast Guard cutters last night and partly cloudy weather was forecast for today.

The aircraft carriers Lexington and Saratoga sailed from Long Beach late yesterday, each with 12 planes ready to take to the air at dawn today and join other fleet planes.

Activities Kept Secret

Secrecy shrouded activities of the missing plane, which was a member of the VP-1 squadron of Patrol Wing, but it was reported engaged in bombing practice off Santa Barbara. Battleships had been in gunnery maneuvers in that area.

Aboard were Lieut. Truman E. Carpenter, 28, pilot of P-35; Aviation Cadet Philip O. Browning, 28, co-pilot; Lees Hummel, Mo.; Edgar Anglin, aviation chief mechanic mate, 31, Norfolk, Va.; G. A. Mills, 22, radioman, third class, Prescott, Mich.; C. C. Creech, 22, aviation machinist mate, third class, Richard, N. Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt named Joseph P. Kennedy, chairman of the Federal Maritime Commission, today to be ambassador to Great Britain. He will succeed the late Robert W. Bingham of Kentucky.

The Kennedy appointment was announced at Mr. Roosevelt's press conference at which he also disclosed he had selected Joseph E. Davies, ambassador to Russia, to be ambassador to Belgium. Davies will succeed Hugh Gibson, retiring.

The President also sent to the Senate today the appointment of Hugh H. Wilson, now assistant secretary of state, to be ambassador to Germany.

The head of the Committee for Industrial Organization who came here a week ago and announced he would see nobody while taking a brief rest said today it didn't work out that way.

General Protests, Threatens Gravest Consequences; Battle Is Imminent For The Control Of Railroad.

Shanghai, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Major General A. P. D. Feiler-Smollett, commanding British troops at Shanghai, protested today against an attack by Japanese soldiers on two British officers of the Shanghai municipal police. General Feiler-Smollett accused Japanese armed forces of invading the British defense zone in the International Settlement and was reported to have warned the Japanese military that repetition might result in the gravest consequences.

A Japanese embassy spokesman, questioned concerning the attack, said "we have no information."

Inspector F. G. West, one of the officers, said he and Sergeant A. R. Turner were watching Japanese soldiers search Chinese peddlers near the line between the British defense zone and the Japanese occupied area and remarked that the peddlers were receiving unnecessary rough treatment.

Both West and Turner on the spot, said a Japanese policeman shouted, "Is none of your damned business," and struck Turner on the head. Several Japanese soldiers then rushed across the line, the Nazi Court Accuses Jewish Red Star Line Owner Of Violating Exchange Laws.

Hamburg, Germany, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A special Hanseatic court today convicted Arnold Bernstein, shipping head of the Red Star and Arnold Bernstein shipping lines, of violating Germany's rigid foreign exchange laws, fined him 1,000,000 marks ($400,000) and sentenced him to 30 months in prison.

The formal charges against him were treason and infringement of Germany's foreign exchange laws.

Two of five defendants were acquitted. All those convicted were given lighter sentences than those demanded by the prosecution.

The 31 months Bernstein had in detention for trial were deducted from his prison term. The state's attorney had demanded a five-year sentence and a fine of 4,500,000 marks ($1,800,000).

TAX LAW CHANGES NEARLY COMPLETED

Rep. Vinton Reports Revision Will Aid Small Firms; Little Loss In Revenues.

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Rep. Vinton (D., Ky.), whose House tax subcommittee has worked for months to draft a "fair" schedule for business taxation, said today "I think we have succeeded."

"We started out with the idea of giving relief to small corporations and to hardship and inequity cases," he said. "I think we have a very splendid bill."

"Of course it won't meet with the approval of those using corporate devices for evading taxes."

The committee finished its proposals today. They cover the whole Federal tax structure, and administration leaders hope to enact them in five weeks.

The major recommendations provide for complete overhauling of the income tax, and amendment of capital gains taxes. These levies have become the chief source of government revenue.

Some corporations would pay more tax, Vinton said. But in general, he said, the subcommittee's new tax system would grant relief to small business.

The increased income tax on corporations would apply to 200 or 1,000 firms which Vinton described as controlled by a few individuals and used by them as a device for evading payment of high surtaxes on their personal incomes.

Dividends in this country would apply to them and be subject to the new tax. Fair and colder weather here this week and a forecast for tomorrow was "fair and colder."

Rain would cease in southern New Hampshire by evening, Noyes predicted, and the forecast for tomorrow was "fair and colder."

Weekend Prospects Good For New England Ski Fans

Boston, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Skiing promoters anticipated an early start-off migration today as a steady rain fell over Central New England but the weatherman warned against too much pessimism.

It said it would be a good weekend-end and that the ski season was open for those who could drive to Vermont ski country.

G. Harold Noyes, senior meteorologist at the Boston Weather Bureau, assembled his reports from all sections and announced: "We can't guarantee the skiers 100 per cent but there is a little snow at the end of the rainfall to prevent any snow melt."

"LOOSE HANDLING" OF FUNDS FOR HIGHWAYS COST STATE HEAVILY

Highway Dept. Power Being Argued Today Before Supreme Court

Hartford, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Deputy Attorney General Dennis P. O'Connor today told the Legislature obviously intended to establish a check over the operations of the Highway Department when it created.

The Highway Department spends over 20 million dollars a year without any checks and balances," Mr. O'Connor said. "It was the obvious intent of the Legislature to give someone a check over its operations, too great a power to be given to any one person."

The deputy attorney general was arguing on the appeal of the state from a decision by Judge John A. Cornell in the Supreme Court that the Commissioner of Public Works had exceeded his authority in advertising for bids and the contracting for construction and reconstruction of trunk line and state aid roads.

The sole question before the court, Mr. O'Connor argued, is whether the act is within the "real assents" of the state as defined by Chapter 126 of the acts of the 1937 Legislature. This is the chapter which established the Public Works Department and put all real assets under the charge of the Public Works Commissioner.

Provisions of Act

The act provides that the Public Works Department shall have control over real assets including structures, service systems, land, interest in land and land value.

Passengers And Crew Rescued After Pilot Finds His Way To Newark Airport; Plane Not Badly Damaged

Newark, N. J., Jan. 7.—(AP)—A transport airliner carrying five men passengers and a crew of three crashed in the mud and water of a treacherous swamp today when its pilot under Newark airport during the storm-early morning hours.

The plane came down shortly after 3 a. m. (E. S. T.). Until dawn the passengers stayed inside the protecting cabin waiting for help. Pilot Elmer Rousch of Chicago plunged through the marsh in the dark to the airport three miles away, led a rescue party back to return the passengers to safety.

Rousch suffered a cut over one eye in the bumpy landing but none of the others, the airline said, was injured. After walking through mud and water to the airport, the passengers warmed up on hot coffee and sandwiches and went on to New York by automobile, apparently none the worse for their experience.

The passengers were Jack Ryan, William Ogilvie and A. R. Watkins, from Worcester to Plymouth, N. H., were riding out for Sunday. All main highways were open for those who could drive to Vermont ski country.

Work is progressing rapidly on the sensational ski jump being readied at Brattleboro, Vt., for the international ski jumping contest.

Watkins, who gave his address as 733 Yates avenue, said he was "praying hard" when the big airliner first hit the soft ground but was confident everything "would be all right" after we bounced the third time.

Misjudged His Position

Rousch, near exhaustion after his trek through the swamp in the rain, had misjudged a sand to hand the runway because of the low visibility.

The official airport report gave the visibility at the time as three-quarters of a mile and the ceiling as 2,000 feet. Airline officials said conditions were variable and indefinite however.

The 8-ton plane, due here at 2:30 a. m., had a flight from Chicago with stops at Detroit and Buffalo, and was en route to Newark when it crashed in the middle of an 8-square mile swamp south of the airport.

The sole landing place was a 200-year-old

LATE NEWS FLASHES!

NO DECISION YET

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt told reporters today they could expect no information from the Supreme Court to Associate Justice George Sutherland regarding a successful nomination given to the Senate.

He had a press conference there against the decision in the matter as yet.

HIGHWAY CONFERENCE.

Hartford, Jan. 7.—(AP)—State's Attorney Lorin W. Willis of Fairfield county arrived at the State Capitol today for a conference with Attorney General Charles McLaughlin on the Merritt Parkway land deals situation.

He also asserted that "there is room for a great deal of improvement in the layout of highways."

The commissioner cited the Merritt Parkway as one example, saying that the layout of the road was determined by the desire to save a tree.

"No engineer should tolerate a location where a tree determines the location of a highway," Hurley said. "If it was necessary to retain this tree the design should have been such as to permit the tree's existence and at the same time render the highway safe for operation."

HURLEY IN FINAL SECTION OF REPORT TO GOV. CROSS DECLARES AN AUDIT WOULD DISCLOSE AN "APPALLING LOSS," GOVERNOR TELLS NEWSMEN HE WILL MAKE A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION.

Hartford, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Robert A. Hurley, commissioner of public works, charged that loose handling of funds by the Highway Department bureaucrats resulted in "serious loss" to the state.

"Everyone of these bureaucrats in its operation handles funds loosely, with serious loss to the state," Hurley asserted in the final section of his 100-page report covering a study of the Highway Department, made public today by Gov. Wilbur L. Cross.

The last of the commissioner's report was given to newsmen as an Attorney-General Charles McLaughlin and State's Attorney Lorin W. Willis of Fairfield county prepared to confer on the Merritt Parkway land deals situation.

At the same time it was learned from a source close to the governor that the chief executive had sent the entire Hurley report to Commissioner John A. Macdonald of the Highway Department for his "consideration."

Hurley, a Democrat, and Macdonald, Republican, have argued pending before the Supreme Court of Errors to decide who shall be in charge of the State Highway Department activities.

Referring to the alleged loss to the state through the department's handling of funds, Hurley said further:

"It is impossible to tell what this total would amount to without an accurate audit and investigation. Unquestionably such an audit and investigation would disclose an appalling loss."

Asked at a press conference if he planned such an audit, Gov. Cross said:

"The chief executive also was asked if the question of Macdonald's tenure of office was under consideration.

"No charges have been brought against the commissioner," Gov. Cross replied.

The governor also said he had not asked Commissioner Macdonald to reply to Hurley's charges.

He also asserted that "there is room for a great deal of improvement in the layout of highways."

The commissioner cited the Merritt Parkway as one example, saying that the layout of the road was determined by the desire to save a tree.

"No engineer should tolerate a location where a tree determines the location of a highway," Hurley said. "If it was necessary to retain this tree the design should have been such as to permit the tree's existence and at the same time render the highway safe for operation."

THE ONLY BEANERY

"The result of this particular case is self-evident, and the only remedy is destruction or removal of this tree and leaving up the pavement for a street on both sides of the tree, relaying the original line."

The commissioner criticized bridges for the Merritt Parkway, saying the space between lanes was 21 feet wide but instead of being carried over or over the bridges at this width it was lowered to 12 feet.

"When you consider that this occurs at each bridge and that there are 40 or 70 bridges in the thirty-mile stretch of the Merritt Parkway, it is a serious matter."

Police were called when Mrs. Duval ran amuck after suddenly quitting minutes and that for 30 cent battle with the cook. Miss Wray agreed that extremely poor judgment and hazing had been displayed.

Mussolini Announces Immediate Building Of More Battleships

Rome, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Italy is to begin immediate construction of two more 25,000-ton battleships, 12 destroyers and an important number of submarines, it was announced today.

When the Littorio and Vittorio Veneto were launched last autumn, Mussolini moved his fleet posthaste in an unusual manner. He ordered the new ships to be built in Trieste and Genoa, and he built in the latter city, the two new battleships, the Vittorio Veneto and the Littorio, launched last summer.

Italy would have four first class battleships, two of which are to be built in Trieste and two in Genoa. The two new battleships are to be built in Trieste and Genoa. The two new battleships are to be built in Trieste and Genoa.

NEW G. O. P. CHIEF TAKES OVER POST

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Glenn Frank, taking over the chairmanship of the Republican party's program committee, asked today for the assistance of every group in the nation, "regardless of party, or of sectional interest."

Frank declared the new chairman's first duty will be to secure the spirit of the members who have already written to him. "I am sure," he said, "that this commission will not be an agency of party fault-finding or vindictive attack. It will seek to place the party in a sincere, open-minded responsible attitude for the principles and use of national funds that will keep America a going concern."

IN THE ARMS RACE

No better evidence could be asked for that Presidential budget messages have no real significance. As we said yesterday, there is no precedent for the practical certainty that Mr. Roosevelt will, within a very few days, submit to Congress a budget which will be altogether outside of any budgetary provision. The budget message contains a complete expenditure for national defense—in other words for armament and military and naval expenditures—of close to a billion dollars. But there is no one in Washington who believes that the program provided for under the immense expenditure will not be increased by a very great expenditure, perhaps several hundreds of millions, if the current conference between the President and his military advisors result in the additional authorizations expected to be decided on as necessary.

Like it or not, regard it as justified or unjustified, there can be scarcely any other view of the present situation than that the United States has entered the world's armament race. It is a curious and as well as a sinister thing that we should have done so. Because the President and his military advisors seem to be planning that we shall not only be in the race but shall lead it. Because, meaning either the American government or the American people, have no foreign policy whatever except if it be the very general and vague one of remaining at peace with everyone of being a "good neighbor" to everybody.

Perhaps we can be just as good a neighbor with our windows screened with sandbags and our neighbor shot at us, and with machine guns peering over the sandbags and pointed at our neighbor's house, as if our window sills contained nothing but geraniums and our window panes only Red Cross membership cards. But it is hard to believe. Harder still to make the neighbor believe.

Perhaps we can afford, better than some of the other nations that have dedicated their sweat and their tight belts in the service of Mars, to get out in front in the arms competition. But unless the American people are greater fools than we think they are, they are going to demand to know where the road is in this race, what the prize and what the entry fee. They are going to demand to know what they see those stocks of battlehips and clouds of planes and shafts of anti-machine and destroyers are intended to back up.

What does this administration mean by "national defense"? Does it mean the defense of continental America against foreign invasion? If so, why is it planning to build super-battleships at $70,000,000 each instead of a fleet of destroyers submarine rams and torpedoes and bombing planes literally by the thousands with the same money?

Or by "national defense" does it mean forestalling future attacks on immediately carrying war to the potential enemy and rendering invasion ten or twenty years hence impossible by putting the expected invader permanently in a wheel chair right away?

If the people of the United States, like those of Italy, Germany, Japan, France, and even Britain, must lighten their belts and pay through the nose for war preparations, they have an absolute right to know what it is all about, what alliances Mr. Roosevelt has in contemplation, how as possible, whether the United States is to be leader or follower in any alliance; whether it is proposed to play a lone hand and

Question: Ward W. Ingraham: "Are there any exercises which are helpful in overcoming prolepsis?"
Answer: When the vital organs are prolepsed, such exercises as usually accompanied by the formation of adhesions will tend to bind the organs, making it difficult to move them. The best remedy is to use exercises which will overcome the adhesions. Such exercises are of two kinds: one is to remove the adhesions before they are formed, and the other is to break them up after they have formed. As a general rule, the best exercises are those which are done in a relaxed state of mind and in a comfortable position. One should avoid any strenuous exercises which might aggravate the condition. G. O. P. LEADER

Acceptance by Glenn Frank of the Republican party's program committee leadership is about the most hopeful event within the party since the debacle of 1932. Another person holding in a general way much the same views as Dr. Frank might occupy the position without any great effect upon the future of the party. His personality, however, is so marked, and his tenacity and resourcefulness so great, that it is almost altogether impossible that he will influence in the formulating of party policy, will be of decisive importance.

These would appear to be very little doubt that Dr. Frank would be a job with a lot of fighting in it. It might be a fairly easy one for a young man holding in a general way much the same views as Dr. Frank would get nowhere in the rehabilitation of the G. O. P. But Glenn Frank is very decidedly no young man. He is an old man, and his views are very much to the contrary that it may soon appear likely that the party will be turned over to a committee of policy rather than to a committee of men.

It is particularly true that with Justice Sutherland and Justice Van Devanter off the bench and their places occupied by jurists of even moderate ability but liberal opinions, there will be less likelihood of hyper-conservative Constitutional constructions, but with men like Hughes, Roberts, Brandeis, Stone and Cardozo still constituting a majority, it is a wild assumption to imagine that the Supreme Court will no longer be a brake on the New Deal if the New Deal gets to running amok with relation to the Constitution.

It is, in our view, a bit of an insult to the court to say, either in words or in effect, as already has been said without any apparent realization of the import, that the court will now be five pro-Roosevelt to four anti-Roosevelt.

We particularly like two paragraphs in Frank's letter of acceptance. After specifically recognizing in one of them that "extraordinary grave social and economic difficulties now confront the nation," he says: "The gravity of the situation cuts across the traditional boundaries of all parties, all sections and all groups. I hope therefore that this commission will have access to the deepest and broadest sources of our country's resources, and that it will be able to present a plan which will be a real contribution to the nation's welfare."

It is, in our view, a bit of an insult to the court to say, either in words or in effect, as already has been said without any apparent realization of the import, that the court will now be five pro-Roosevelt to four anti-Roosevelt.

We particularly like two paragraphs in Frank's letter of acceptance. After specifically recognizing in one of them that "extraordinary grave social and economic difficulties now confront the nation," he says: "The gravity of the situation cuts across the traditional boundaries of all parties, all sections and all groups. I hope therefore that this commission will have access to the deepest and broadest sources of our country's resources, and that it will be able to present a plan which will be a real contribution to the nation's welfare."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

(Progress and Events.)
Question: Ward W. Ingraham: "Are there any exercises which are helpful in overcoming prolepsis?"
Answer: When the vital organs are prolepsed, such exercises as usually accompanied by the formation of adhesions will tend to bind the organs, making it difficult to move them. The best remedy is to use exercises which will overcome the adhesions. Such exercises are of two kinds: one is to remove the adhesions before they are formed, and the other is to break them up after they have formed. As a general rule, the best exercises are those which are done in a relaxed state of mind and in a comfortable position. One should avoid any strenuous exercises which might aggravate the condition. G. O. P. LEADER

Acceptance by Glenn Frank of the Republican party's program committee leadership is about the most hopeful event within the party since the debacle of 1932. Another person holding in a general way much the same views as Dr. Frank might occupy the position without any great effect upon the future of the party. His personality, however, is so marked, and his tenacity and resourcefulness so great, that it is almost altogether impossible that he will influence in the formulating of party policy, will be of decisive importance.

These would appear to be very little doubt that Dr. Frank would be a job with a lot of fighting in it. It might be a fairly easy one for a young man holding in a general way much the same views as Dr. Frank would get nowhere in the rehabilitation of the G. O. P. But Glenn Frank is very decidedly no young man. He is an old man, and his views are very much to the contrary that it may soon appear likely that the party will be turned over to a committee of policy rather than to a committee of men.

It is particularly true that with Justice Sutherland and Justice Van Devanter off the bench and their places occupied by jurists of even moderate ability but liberal opinions, there will be less likelihood of hyper-conservative Constitutional constructions, but with men like Hughes, Roberts, Brandeis, Stone and Cardozo still constituting a majority, it is a wild assumption to imagine that the Supreme Court will no longer be a brake on the New Deal if the New Deal gets to running amok with relation to the Constitution.

It is, in our view, a bit of an insult to the court to say, either in words or in effect, as already has been said without any apparent realization of the import, that the court will now be five pro-Roosevelt to four anti-Roosevelt.

Dale Harrison Tells About Mrs. O'Leary's Noted Cow

By DALE HARRISON

Send directors for six thousand acres. "Not in so many words" he said the boy wonder. "It was this way: For every four acres we had a cow. For every four acres of four we had a super-cow. These units of four acres were grouped into a unit of four acres. This unit of four acres was the unit that started the film 'In Old Chicago'."

This is on the word of Harry Zanuck, sometimes referred to as the boy wonder of Warner, Nebr.

"Ah, the cow," murmured the little man when your correspondent inquired about it as the film 'In Old Chicago' was being shown in the picture house. "I took her three days to get the hang of it. Human actors often take a week to do a single scene before the camera, but naturally we figured a cow would be smarter."

"You realize, of course, that this is a two million dollar picture, and you just consider the cow kicking over the lantern wily-wily."

"Of course not," agreed your correspondent.

The cow, it developed, didn't annoy him half as much as did the detail involved in handling the five or six thousand extra men on the picture. Harry wasn't sure whether it was five or six thousand. What another thousand or so would do for him, Harry wasn't sure. "Thousands and thousands of extra men," Mr. Zanuck said, "I had to direct each one personally."

"It's colossal," about your correspondent, who knows how to speak their language.

"Colossal," retorted Zanuck. "It's gigantic, or maybe I can think of another word."

"I still think colossal about it," said your correspondent, "and I'm sure you're right, but I'm sure you're right, but I'm sure you're right."

"Let us not quibble," said Zanuck. "We were talking about the extra men, not the cow. You know what you mean there were six thousand."

ROCKVILLE WELFARE COUNCIL QUITS FUND FOR COUNTY HOME

Balance of $61.35 Is Put To Good Use--Radio And Other Articles Are Purchased.

Rockville, Jan. 7.—The Tolland County Welfare Council, which was organized in 1932 primarily for welfare work for the children of the county, but which has been inactive of late, has been officially disbanded, and the financial balance of $61.35 has been turned over to the County Home at Vernon Center.

The amount was to be used to provide the children with special clothes which could not be supplied from the County Home fund.

Superintendent A. S. McClain stated that he was able to purchase a radio for $20 and this has been placed in the reading room. Several electric clocks were purchased and were placed in the building and main building to replace old worn out clocks.

An old Victrola has been made good by adding a crystal and amplifier resulting in the home having an instrument which can be used for advertising for both recreational and educational purposes. In the home clock has been replaced with a new one which is a section of classical records that can be used on the improved machine.

School Activities.

Following the meeting of the Board of Education on Wednesday evening, a report has been announced on a number of activities. The teachers committee has engaged a teacher for the special class which is to be started the end of January. Anne M. Dornis of Haven Normal School who has had the special training which the state requires for the Special Class Teachers has been secured. Superintendent of Schools Philip M. Howe has also contacted the parents of the pupils who will attend this class.

A new second year book in Latin has been adopted, a matter which has been under consideration for some time.

The building committee has reported that it has covered part of the floor at the Opera's Corner school which has no ceiling under it.

Th. W. P. A. has completed the washing and staining of the East School building and is now working in Maple street school. Two rooms were completed during the Christmas vacation and the workers are now painting the corridors and stair rooms.

The room on the top floor of the old High School has been renovated for the younger boys to play basketball, and play room. To prevent parking in the rear of the old High school building, parking posts and chains have been placed there so that automobiles can not drive in.

Superintendent of Schools Howe has recommended a visiting day for the grade teachers. The traveling expenses of four high school teachers to the High Haven conference Friday and Saturday January 4 and 5 will be paid and if necessary a substitute or two will be engaged the day they are to be absent. The need of having a good substitute list for janitors as well as teachers has been informally discussed by the board.

School Costs.

Superintendent P. M. Howe has analyzed statistics sent him by the State Board of Education which shows that in the school year 1937 the cost per capita of each grade pupil in Vernon was $69.97 as compared with the average of $34.98. This is in part due to having an endowed building, the town being at one extreme of the cost scheme and the other end of the cost scheme.

In the High School the cost in Vernon was $93.00 as compared with the average of $34.98. This is in part due to having an endowed building, the town being at one extreme of the cost scheme and the other end of the cost scheme.
