FRANCE WELCOMES BRITISH ROYALTY ON GOOD WILL TRIP

King George and Queen Elizabeth Arrive in Paris On Visit of State; Line of March Closely Guarded.

Paris, July 19.—(AP)—A booming salute of 101 guns welcomed King George and Queen Elizabeth of England today on their arrival for a visit of state to France.

The royal party, appearing in King George's monarch of an empire of nearly 400,000,000 people, came with his consort by boat and train from London to this capital and was greeted by gray-haired Albert Lebrun, titular chief of state for 102,000,000 people.

The visit of the British sovereign was designed to reaffirm—as did a similar visit by King George V in 1914—the common front of two of the world's greatest empires.

The royal party arrived at the Hotel de Boulogne station in the aristocratic northwest corner of Paris a square, gray-stained structure under green cupola visiting royalty traditionally descends.

The royal train arrived at 4:40 p. m. (10:40 a. m. e. s. t.). The King and Queen were in uniform of an admiral of the fleet. The Queen was all in white and the King in the uniform of a general.

Marines lining the platform pressed arms while the King's hand played "God Save the King" and the "Marseillaise."

The appearance of the King and Queen brought volleys of cheers from the thousands of people who lined the streets surrounding the station, while the royal salute sounded from the guns of the Valerien fort in the western suburb of Suresnes.

Flags Are Run Up

The British royal standards and the French tricolor ran up on gilded staffs. From a huge cage concealed by banks of flowers, 10,000 white doves were released as their Majesties appeared, a symbol of Franco-British aspirations for peace.

King George and Queen Elizabeth arrived at Boulogne this morning from London and came to Paris over 120 miles of carefully guarded rails which became, in effect, their private automobile for the occasion. Noble guards, gendarmes and police lined the entire route.

Premier Edouard Daladier and his cabinet were present to greet the sovereign by Lebrun, after which the King inspected the Marine Guard.

Hide Through

Then the Queen took the arm of the Premier and the King the arm of the Premier and they entered automobiles for a 15-mile ride through Paris to the foreign minister's residence.

NEW DEAL BAN ON LONERGAN IS CALLED OFF

Five Minutes After Senator Asserts Loyalty To F.D.R., Cummings Says All Objections To Him Are Gone.

Washington, July 19.—(AP)—A pledge of loyalty to President Roosevelt's objectives apparently removed today any administration opposition to renomination of Senator Lonergan (D., Conn.), a foe of the court and government reorganization bills. It was announced by Cummings, a resident of Connecticut, late yesterday.

Cummings, a resident of Connecticut, did not indicate he was speaking for anyone other than himself. The timing of his comment, however, led politicians here to believe a general agreement to support Lonergan had been reached by party leaders.

E. K. Fitzgerald

This belief was strengthened by an immediate statement from national committee man David E. Fitzgerald that Lonergan's speech should encourage his renomination and re-election.

Both the Senator and Cummings touched indirectly on Lonergan's opposition to the President's major proposals. Said Lonergan: "There have been differences, of course, between me and those with whom I have been associated. It is

Nazi Attacks On Jews Affect the Stock Market

Berlin, July 19.—(AP)—Influencing since March, complaints of an absence of buyers, the month and decrease by Germany's national director, Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, appeared edged word—bitting, resulting in a stock market tumble. In the morning of German stock exchanges appeared in July, a likely result of a sharp long-term decline in the Jewish hegemony of business life.

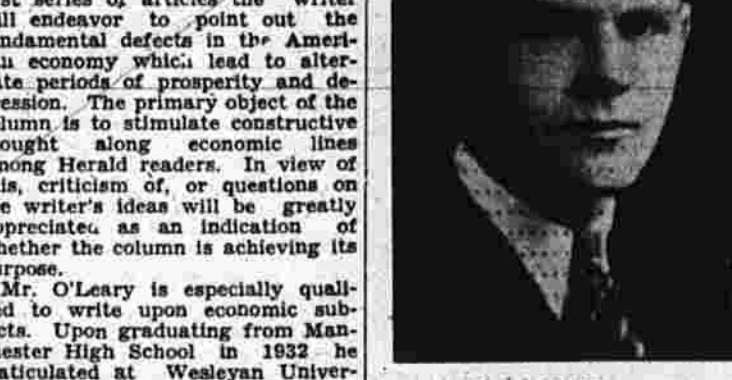

The so-called "Aryanization" program for the government to lend to private industry by a cause of the Jewish bourgeoisie from exchanges, it induced Jews to realize on their share holdings.

Business circles, on the other hand, were inclined to believe that a general stagnation of world markets, reflected here in a slight reduction of exports, was partly responsible for the drop in the stock market.

O'Leary To Write Series For Herald

Beginning Today The Herald's New Column Written by James J. O'Leary, Editor of "Home Economics"

Beginning today The Herald's new feature column written by James J. O'Leary, editor of "Home Economics". In this column Mr. O'Leary will attempt to analyze current economic problems that are of vital interest to every thinking man. In the first series of articles the writer will endeavor to point out the fundamental defects in the American economy which lead to alternate periods of prosperity and depression. The primary object of the column is to stimulate constructive thought along economic lines among Herald readers. In view of this criticism of, or questions on, whether the column is achieving its purpose.

Mr. O'Leary is especially qualified to write upon economic subjects. Upon graduating from Manchester High School in 1932 he matriculated at Wesleyan University, White River Junction, Vt., where he received his master of arts degree in the same field in 1937 after a one-year stay of study. During the past year Mr. O'Leary attended the Duke University Graduate School of Economics in Durham, N. C., where he will return in the fall in order to complete the requirements for the degree of doctor of philosophy.

Mr. O'Leary's first article follows:

HOMO ECONOMICUS

What is of greater importance to the average man of today than his own pocketbook? It is the medical profession. It is the medical profession which is the most important factor in the maintenance of the standards of living in this country. M. D.'S IN ROW OVER FEDERAL HEALTH PLANS

President's Committee's Vast $850,000,000 Program Is Quickly Attacked By A.M.A., Backed By Doctor

Washington, July 19.—Officials of the American Medical Association heaped criticism today on a Presidential committee's recommendation for a $850,000,000 government health program. The far-reaching venture, proposed to the national health conference yesterday, would have two general aims:

1. It would expand general public health facilities, try to eradicate tuberculosis, venereal disease, and malaria and to control pneumonia and cancer deaths, and develop material and child health centers.
2. It would use some state, local and Federal funds to build hospitals, maintain free beds, and give grants-in-aid for research.

Dispute Quickly Starts

President of the proposal by a committee on medical care appointed by President Roosevelt started an immediate dispute.

Dr. Ivin Abel of Louisville, Ky., president of the A. M. A., termed the program unworkable. Dr. Hugh Cabot of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., a leader of the "free" group in the medical profession, said: "Maintenance of the standards of medical practice by the medical profession as at present organized has been grossly unsatisfactory."

Dr. Olin West, secretary of the A. M. A., and Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Association's Journal, joined Dr. Abel in preparing a more complete criticism of the proposal.

Further Studies Needed

In his first comment, Dr. Abel argued that further studies were needed because medical care varied widely in different localities. He added: "Those people who think that they can devise a centrally controlled medical service plan which can be fitted to the varying conditions of the states, counties and cities of this country are discharging theories which no practical health administrator could possibly approve."

Dr. Cabot said he did not feel much confidence in the results of the A. M. A. survey of medical needs. He asserted that thousands of persons needed medical care while thousands of young physicians "are starved to death by Dr. Cabot's plan."

IRISH PREMIER PRAISES 'DAREDEVIL' CORRIGAN FOR 'WRONG WAY' HOP

Unexpected Dublin Guest

Dublin, July 19.—(AP)—Prime Minister Eamon de Valera congratulated Douglas G. "Daredevil" Corrigan today on his "wrong way" flight from New York to Dublin.

The prime minister hurried from a Cabinet meeting to greet the 31-year-old Californian and hear the details of the daring flight in the old plane which Corrigan, in a 14 1/2 hour flight, brought to Ireland instead of California because of a little "mistake" in direction.

After thanking Dr. Valera for Ireland's kindness to him, Corrigan, appearing as fresh as if he had just hopped across the Irish Sea, visited government buildings to straighten out difficulties arising out of his failure to have any of the papers a flier abroad is supposed to carry.

Not to Fly Back

Officials of Ireland's department of external affairs told him there would be no difficulties in his visit.

Corrigan went out to Baldoon airport to see his wife and children. He had been in London to disclose he hoped to visit London to exhibit the plane. There also was some talk that he might take the machine to the Glasgow airport.

"I am not going home without the plane, but I won't fly it," the Californian explained. He said he would take it back by steamer.

He had lunch at the United States legation, where messages from many parts of the world poured in with congratulations on his flight.

Corrigan's antiquated plane was held by Irish customs officials, but he said this was a mere formality. He said he would fly to Dublin government in an effort to get around the grounds of the United States legation, where he is under technical detention because of his arrival yesterday without official papers. He is the guest of the minister, John Cudahy.

He put in much time chatting with the crowd which gathered long before he got up and discussing his plans with the minister.

The question of clothes did not bother him. He considered his immediate needs supplied, but said he might go shopping later.

He acknowledged that "folks here" still are tremendously excited about his trip, but after all it wasn't much. "They've been very kind to me in not having me summoned for landing without an air-worthiness certificate."

Borrowed Palms

The 31-year-old Californian who flew an aged plane the "wrong way" across the Atlantic, set all England and Ireland talking and was proclaimed on two continents as a "daredevil" hero, slept last night in the guest bed of the American Legation. He wore palms borrowed from an American minister, John Cudahy.

"I want a nice long rest," he told Cudahy last night. "Don't wake me for a long time. I'll sleep through breakfast."

He had to settle with Irish officials, but men with names like Corrigan and Cudahy are not likely to have trouble here getting over a technical difficulty when it concerns a flight like Corrigan's to Dublin.

He won't have to worry about clothes. Admiring tallies already have sent the daring aviator two new outfits, free.

He had offered contracts, too, although he had been less than ready to accept them.

Rumania Mourns Death Of Dowager Queen; Her Son Is Laid From His Exile.

Bucharest, July 19.—(AP)—The death of Marie, the Dowager Queen of Rumania, brought at least temporary reconciliation today between King Carol of Rumania and Nicholas Brana.

The King summoned his brother—the former Prince Nicholas, shorn of his titles and in exile in Italy—back to the court. He was to be crowned King of Rumania on August 26, 1937, for marrying a commoner—to attend the funeral of the Queen, who died Monday of the "river" at the age of 82.

New York, July 19.—(AP)—The heaviest buying time since the Stock Market started on a fast climb a month ago rolled up gains ranging to $14 or more a share today in New York. It was the first time since the market opened on Monday that the price of a share of stock rose more than 10 percent.

The bulls were wowed in the last hour of trading and advances were whittled down.

One representative, thinking Corrigan merely had intended to complete his transatlantic round trip with a non-stop hop back to Long Beach, offered $5 worth of oil for the right to use Corrigan's name in advertisements.

Corrigan declined to sign the offer to pay and was given the oil anyway.

The decision on the final details of funeral arrangements awaited the opening of her testament, in the city.

UNIFORM BUDGET PLAN IS ADOPTED

Selectmen Accept Martin Proposal; All Departments To Use New Form.

A new town departmental budget form, drawn up and proposed for adoption by Selectman Richard Martin at the last meeting of the Board of Selectmen, was voted accepted by the Board meeting last night, with the provision that in preparing the budget for the coming fiscal year, each town department must be required to follow the new form in drawing and listing proposed expenditures.

Heretofore each department has drawn its budget in its own manner, and there has been uniformity in the plan of making out these estimates. With the new form in use, all departments will follow similar lines, for instance, certain charges will be grouped together in all departments where before, one department might have listed fuel, light and water as an item, while another department would have added to these under the same heading an item for "miscellaneous." Accounts will be keyed with letters and numbers which will result in a quicker manner of checking totals.

It was explained that the adoption of the new form will hamper the operation of the internal economy of each department, now would the practice of changing departments within a department. It was explained that each departmental budget will be approved as a unit and that, during the year, if a department head finds his outgo on one item is in excess of expectations, while that of another item is low, he may rearrange his finances to care for this circumstance.

The new forms were unanimously called "a fine thing" by Board members, and the vote of adoption was carried without dissent.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Erickson and their children, Betty, Joan and John, of Chicago, Ill., are visiting with Rev. and Mrs. E. Erickson of Church street.
