Larry backed out of the cabin of Bentley's plane, raised his hands, and turned slowly to face his captors.
"Collins!" Bentley shouted as he recognized Larry. "What are you doing in my plane?" His automatic was aimed at Larry's chest. Back of him, Bill stood, his arms cradling a sub-machine gun.
"I'm hearing about your airplane, so I came up to take a look at it," Larry answered, playing his comby role to the last. "You and I haven't been friends, so I thought I'd come for an invitation. When Pete sent me out to watch the calves tonight, I came on up here and took a look around. I never was a plane before, so I crawled into your plane. Mighty nice. Mighty comfortable. Guess I must have dropped off to sleep."
"You've been asleep? That's a good one," Bentley laughed echoed through the hangar. "How long you been here, Collins? When did you wake up?"
"I must have come in here about 10 o'clock. Tied my horse to a bush about half a mile or so down toward the canyon. First thing I knew this guy was yelling about something he'd found, then you said you were going to shoot, so the plane, so I came on up when you said to."

Here's What Users Tell Us About Electric Range Cooking. ANSWERS TO A QUESTIONNAIRE TO MANCHESTER USERS.

Question: If your best friend asked you for a frank opinion of the electric range and electric cooking, what would you say?

Answer: Well, I've had mine only a short while but I'm already absolutely sold on electric cooking. It's really a pleasure to cook and bake with a minimum of time and effort, to bake a pie without baking the whole house, and when you finish cooking to clean the whole stove in about 2 minutes, and gaze with satisfaction upon well-cooked, delicious meals that bring flattering comments on your ability as cook from husband and friends. I would certainly suggest an electric range to any girl just starting out in married life as the solution to any difficulties in keeping her husband's stomach filled.
