land and predicted the decisive battles of the war in Africa would be fought along the Libyan-Egyptian border. Egypt, a large Italian population, estimated at 70,000, felt growing apprehension, fearing Italian attack upon this country. Thus far, although the British have imprisoned several thousand Italian suspects of Fifth Column activities and many have been discharged from utilities and other employments, the Italian navy comparative liberty. When no ill effects developed he was returned to jail and later announced that he would resign. Doctors who were called in took X-ray pictures of the man's stomach which failed to show any gas and he was kept in the jail until brought before the Superior Court for sentence. This morning the hunt for Swanson had been given up in Manchester and a dragnet has been thrown around Hartford, it has been reported that he was seen going in that direction. The hunt for the man made in Manchester was not reported at the local police station. Chief Gordon said this noon.

Horse Ridden by 20,000 Children Is Retired

Arkansas City, Kas., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Jerry, the horse most widely known to 20,000 children rode, has today been retired. J. E. Matthews, harness shop owner, said the animal to an antique fancier in Bethesda, Md. Jerry had been a part of the "Gray-haired women would bring in their grandchildren and let them how they themselves sat on Jerry's back when they were girls." Matthews said, "I wasn't here when he was out and Tim Glad of it." Jerry was made of wood.

French Court Gets Charges On War Guilt

The chief objective in yesterday's trial was to establish the great responsibility of the German government in the outbreak of the war. The trial was held in the city of Paris. The court heard evidence from various witnesses, including German officials and military leaders. The charges against the German government included aggression, war crimes, and the use of force against civilians. The trial is expected to continue for several more days.

Italian Troops Fighting Main British Army

A wild animal hunt took place on North Main street this morning and any parachute troops that may land in the vicinity of Depot Square, Manchester, will find the Italian troops well equipped for any emergency. The Italian troops are reported to be well trained and equipped with modern weapons. They are expected to play a significant role in the defense of the city.

North End Is Excited Over Wild Animal Hunt

That's more than you can do, retorted the other small boy. Quickly accepting the challenge, "Give me the gun. You go up the street with a stick." Then he raised the gun, listened carefully and hit the can. That blind boy, Walter Raleigh McDonald, today is chairman of the "Blind Men's Club" in Manchester. He is an accomplished musician and a graduate of the Atlantic Conservatory of Music.

Blindness Is No Handicap For Two Georgia Officials

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 13.—(AP)—You didn't even hit the ball, a blind farm boy taunted when his companion shot at a can and missed. "That's more than you can do," retorted the other small boy. Quickly accepting the challenge, "Give me the gun. You go up the street with a stick." Then he raised the gun, listened carefully and hit the can.

Bowen Reports Blind Corners

Blind corners which constitute a hazard to the safety of the city, were reported to the Board of Selectmen by Town Engineer J. Frank Bowen, ordered last week to conduct such a survey. The growth of the city has made it necessary to place signs at blind corners to warn motorists and pedestrians. It was stated, so far as Bowen is concerned, that the signs should be placed at all blind corners where there is a change in the direction of the road.

Plan Details Of C C Outing

W. A. Cole, chairman of the committee to charge of the Chamber of Commerce outing tomorrow afternoon, today issued instructions to those planning to attend the annual affair at Lake Compounce in Bristol. All drivers are asked to meet in front of the Hotel Sheridan, headed north on Main street, a little before nine o'clock.

Slackers and Marriage

In every country in the world there are slackers. Even among people as homogeneous as the Czechs of Bohemia or the Poles of Poland, there are men who are not interested in their own country, who are not interested in their own people, and who are not interested in their own future. These men are the slackers. They are the men who are not interested in their own country, who are not interested in their own people, and who are not interested in their own future. They are the men who are not interested in their own country, who are not interested in their own people, and who are not interested in their own future.

National Guard Bill

The circumstances that the House Military Affairs Committee has approved of the Senate National Guard bill was unanimous and that the Senate measure was adopted without serious amendments would appear to indicate that the authorization of the calling of the Guard for a year's training is likely to be made with little further delay. It is expected that the bill will be passed by the House in the next few days.

Serial Story

MURDER INCOGNITO

BY NORMAN KAHL

Cast of Characters: MARTIN SAYLER—A lawyer with too many secrets. DALE APPLEBY—Sayler's secretary. RHODA WATERS—Appleby's fiancée. HAZEL LEIGHTON—Sayler's sweetheart. WINSTON MARDELL—a gambler who has a grudge against Sayler. GEORGE BARBOUR—Sayler's police investigator.

It don't know. We were sitting in the drawing room. Sayler had gone back to his room a little before. He wanted to see one of his guests—Miss Leighton. When she came into the room, she found him here—just like this.

"What about the shirt?" "No one heard it."

"The lieutenant bent over the lifeless form and lifted the heavy shoulders. For several seconds he stared blankly at the stained white coat front and at the mocking eyes of the dead man. O'Leary turned to Sergeant Carroll.

"The medical examiner will be along in a minute. Bring him when he comes," he instructed.

O'Leary thrust his hands in his big pockets and stood for a moment looking at the body. Three of the walls faced outside, and the window on the right could be seen from both sides.

"One divan was set directly in front of the fireplace. Another was placed against the west wall. The window on the left was closed, and the curtains were drawn back. The fireplace in the center of the south wall French windows, that opened directly into the room, were closed. On the other side of Sayler's desk, on the other side of the room, was a large desk. It was covered with a heavy carpet. The desk was covered with a heavy carpet. The desk was covered with a heavy carpet.

"What time was that?" "Nine-thirty."

"How long was Miss Leighton in the room before the rest of you arrived?" "About ten minutes."

"As a matter of fact, she wasn't in the room at all. She was in the doorway. As she opened it, she screamed, and she fell into the room. She fell into the room. She fell into the room.

"Sergeant Carroll entered the room, followed by a small, bald man with thick spectacles and a thin, gray mustache. He entered the room. He entered the room. He entered the room.

O'Leary quickly introduced Dale and the medical examiner. "Now, Mr. Appleby, O'Leary suggested, "I'll ask you a few questions. You can go back to your room. You can go back to your room. You can go back to your room."

"Go back to the kitchen and get me a glass of water. I'll be right back. I'll be right back. I'll be right back."

"What was going on here?" "I don't know. I don't know. I don't know."

Will Withdraw Three Envoys

State Department to Comply with Russian Request on Officials.

Washington, Aug. 13.—(AP)—The American government prepared today to withdraw its representatives in the three Baltic states whose independence from Russia spanned a brief 22 years.

While disapproval of Russia's absorption of Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia, the State Department was understood to have decided it could do nothing but comply with a Russian request to recall diplomatic and consular officials from the three countries.

At the same time, conversations continued in the effort to improve relations between the United States and Russia. The State Department is expected to announce the appointment of a new acting secretary of State, for more than a year yesterday. It was understood that the new secretary would be more than a week.
