Hundred Flashes Observed
Accompanied by a wailing of sirena heard across the channel, 100 of these flashes were observed from one point along on the British coast.

While Aug. 15 dawned without the launching of the long-expected bilitzkreig, it was assumed the British were striking at all the possible gathering places for the troops, tanks, guns, boats and machines which Hitler is planning to use for the supreme attempt.

Watchfulness Heightened
Rumors that German troops in Norway had been rehearsing with bagpipes and had collected Scottists kills as well as British uniforms for trick landings heighten.

At least four planes were sent crashing or were forced to land in this short, 15-minute combat. The bombers struck suddenly, and in a few minutes the deadly "bump" of bombs could be heard inland.

The Fress Association also reported "widespread enemy air activity off the northeast coast," and over a southwest cuast town yet another half-hour battle, engaging "about 30 planes," developed "This was described as "the fercest fight this town has seen" with "planes falling out of the sky," some in flames.

Cannon shells and machine-gun bullets spattered the streets, and the planes shook the housetops with their roar.

The Air Ministry, raising its figure on German planes brought down in these battles since yees terday morning, said that 31 German aircraft had been destroyed—man aircraft had been destroyed—to the fact that more bombs could be heard inland.
