Yarnell Points To Basic Issue

Philadelphia, Oct. 8.—(AP)—The basic issue confronting America today, says Retired Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, retired, "is whether this nation is prepared to live indefinitely as an armed camp and whether our form of government can survive the pressure of events abroad."

The admiral, who retired last year as commander of the Atlantic fleet, spoke last night at a meeting of the Philadelphia Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Naval Reserve Officers' Association.

Retired Admiral Asserts America Must Be Prepared For War

Hartford, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Retired Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, who spoke last night at a meeting of the Philadelphia Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Naval Reserve Officers' Association, asserted that America must be prepared for war.

"Washington is not going headlong into a military adventure," he said. "It is trying hard to avoid war. It is trying to get the balance of power in Europe and Asia to tilt in its favor. It is trying to get the balance of power in Europe and Asia to tilt in its favor. It is trying to get the balance of power in Europe and Asia to tilt in its favor."

Americans in Orient

The advice of the United States State Department to American citizens that they leave China, Japan and Indo-China as soon as possible appears to have come to many American residents of those areas as something in the nature of a surprise.

There is any spot in the Orient that hasn't been likely to erupt into a violent war since the last year, its name and location would be difficult to give.

It transpires that there are not where near enough American ships in the Far East waters to service the Americans living in the specified countries, who appear to number somewhere from 10,000 to 15,000.

This situation is no longer to be understood that the Americans in the Far East should have been content to sit comfortably in their homes and their homes, with the Orient falling to pieces around them.

Explanation Required

From source appearances the disposition of the case against young John Cappello of this town, not long ago arrested here for an outrageous assault on a six-year-old girl and bound over for trial in the Superior Court on a charge of rape, is a most extraordinary proceeding.
