Off to Become RCAF Flier

Clifford McKinney, Jr., In Canada to Train For War Pilot.

Clifford Miles McKinney, former Herald newboy, left Manchester Thursday night enroute to Toronto, Ontario, Canada, where he will soon begin training for a pilot's berth in the Royal Canadian Air Force. Clifford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William McKinney of 191 Chestnut street and a graduate of Manchester High school in the class of 1935.

Few young men were as determined to fly as young McKinney. He gave up a good job recently in the Hamilton Standard Propeller Company, East Hartford, in order to go to Canada to take his examination for training. Even at that time there was great doubt that he would not eventually make the grade, as he did not have college training in certain required subjects. But early this week he received notice of his acceptance as a trainee in the RCAF and took good bye with his family at the depot at 9 P. M. on the left for training.

Take Flying Lessons Clifford McKinney spent all of the money he earned selling Herald's during his years as a newsboy taking flying lessons at Heralds Field. He was given a limited license at the age of 14 but due to his age was not permitted to take up passengers, unless accompanied by another older pilot.

He persisted throughout in his determination to become a fighter pilot, making his first trip to Canada last January. He shuttled back and forth from Manchester to Canada doing his best to convince the RCAF officers that he really meant business and wanted to become a full-fledged pilot.

He was spending so much time going back and forth between Canada and Manchester, that he gave up his job in the East Hartford plant and on his return secured another in the Pioneer Parachute Company, still awaiting the report on his examination.

Clifford was the happiest youngster in Manchester when he received notice early this week that he had been accepted for training and that he would soon be assigned to a Canadian flying school for his preliminary training.

His family are divided in their feelings about his desire to train to become a RCAF pilot but his great ambition to make the grade outweighs somewhat their feelings in this regard.

Flying His Hobby While in school, Clifford took part in school athletics but did not specialize in any sports as flying was his goal even at that time. Two other brothers, Wadsworth and William McKinney, were also Herald newboys. Clifford succeeded in Wadsworth's route and William succeeding Clifford in turn.
