With only a few more weeks of football remaining, only a few dozen stars are left in All-American contention. Here are three stars still in the running:

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected at Pitkin Field Saturday for the seventh annual encounter between Holy Cross and Temple. This season has been marked from the beginning with close scores two of the games ending in the extra inning and a two-way tie. New England fans are looking forward to the opportunity of seeing the heralded Andy Tomasic on a dry field, but Holy Cross has reasons to fear that the cross of that team, for it is a matter of fact, is a matter of fact, is a matter of fact.

Main St. Store Scene of Fire

Confined to Rear Room Of Fradin's - Wednesday at 11 P. M.

Companies 2, 3 and 4 of the South Manchester Fire department were called at 11:08 Wednesday night for an alarm of fire turned in from Box 45 at Main and Bissell streets for what proved to be a blaze in the rear of Fradin's store at 757 Main street. The fire was confined to the rear part of the store although it was necessary to break in three windows in the rear and also the glass in the rear door. Smoke from the burning dresses in the small room got into the main store, but the firemen extinguished it before any other part of the store was damaged. The recall was sounded at 11:39.

Stock of Groceries Sold at Auction

The sale of stock and fixtures at Everybody's Market Wednesday afternoon did not fully materialize. The announcement resulted in a large crowd being present but the sale was late in getting underway. It was noted that in the list of liabilities was most of the equipment that had been sold on a conditional bill of sale. This was the big item of the inventory and when the owners made known their intention to protect the sale of their property it was decided not to offer it. The open stock of groceries was sold to Pious Brothers of New Haven.
