No Tin Cans Wanted Now

Philip Shreve, chairman of the local salvage committee, said today by checking scrap piles around town he noted some persons are depositing tin cans and paper in the piles. He particularly noted that this has been done since such articles must be separated from the scrap metal and makes a difficult task for someone at the scrap yard.

Only scrap metal with the exception of tin cans, and scrap rubber are being collected today. These articles may be deposited at the scrap yard around town.

A drive for the collection of tin cans will be held in Manchester on the first week in November, Mr. Shreve said.
