The concluding business was a vote for the club to invest in a $500 U. S. Government bond.

quadrants in the attack said that great areas were visible long distances from Coons and that the glow from the burning city could be seen on the horizon almost within 20 miles of the Netherlands coast.

Defense fire was relatively light and only a few searchlights were in action when the early arrivals reached their goal. Later planes encircled the heavily ground fire and night fighter planes.

The number in one R. C. A. F. plane was flight sergeant L. F. Thomas of Richmond, Va.

Last night's raid was indicated by the announced loss of an R. C. A. F. bomber, however, perhaps by a force of 300 to 400 planes.

The last previous raid on the mainland occurred a week ago when single bombers made a daylight attack on the upper Rhine.

The R. A. F.'s attack last night marked the seventh night operation against targets in Germany.

Treat Britain meanwhile had a night raid except for a scattered force of bombers.

Two German fighters were shot down, but there were no casualties.

Raymond E. Cooper Will Make Address at Firemen's Banquet

The Manchester Fire Department will hold its annual banquet Sunday evening at headquarters at 8 o'clock. Raymond E. Cooper, recently appointed Regional All-Union Warden for the district east of the Connecticut River will be the principal speaker of the evening.

Both companies of the department, as well as the auxiliary members will be in attendance.

New Call System

There was some speculation as to whether or not the committee of the city will be able to give some idea as to how the new system will operate.

Chief Roy Graveland said this morning that he hoped the residents in the district as well as those living outside of the limits of the department, would take reasonable care when the new system is installed.

For many years the annual banquet of the department has been one of the highlights of the season and according to reports today, this year's affair will rank with it in the past.

Morrison Graves, administrative secretary of the American Society of Licensed Societies, Washington, reported that at the start of the war, only one American was known to have a good command of this several government agencies competed for the service. Since then the society has found some 10,000 Americans who speak the language in the United States.

The marriage of Miss Adella W. Wright to Sergeant Earl W. Tost will take place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in St. James' church.

Turkish Widely Spoken

In the present emergency, it is realized that Turkish is one of the most widely spoken languages in the world. English surpassed it at Indiana as emergency Turkish course, where the students will study nothing else, has been assembled under direction of Dr. C. F. Voelgel, in the present semester, the course has a dozen students, but in the next semester will accommodate 20 or 30.

Japanese was another long language, one year before Pearl Harbor, in all American educational institutions, only about 20 students were studying Japanese seriously. Before we got into war, even Pearl Harbor numbered only hundreds, so far as educational files show.

Americans Better Prepared

In Chinese and Arabic, Americans were better prepared, particularly in Mandarin Chinese, the national language.

One Arabic language, Moroccan, in which Americans were almost completely unversed now is being taught at the University of Pennsylvania. The vernaculars of India, such as Bengali, Punjabi, and Hindustani, are as little known as Malay and Thai. So too are most of the Balkan languages, the tongue spoken around Dakar, Korean and almost all the languages of our largest South American neighbor, Brazil has been stepped up along with the French and German. Columbia is teaching Persian, Egyptian, Arabic and Dutch. Harvard has Hungarian.

Blame Owner For 2 Deaths

Bridgeport, Oct. 16.—Carl A. Hatheway of Greenwich, an official of the Palmer Engineering Company, was held criminally liable by Coroner Theodore E. Steuber today for the deaths of two workmen who were fatally injured in a cement block wall cave-in at Hatheway's elder mill in Greenwich.

The deceased Raffaele Sella, 68, of Sheepshead road, Greenwich, and Frank Lodato, 62, of 3 Bible street, Con Cob, were killed Aug. 19, when a wall of an apple pit which they were building for Hatheway collapsed.

The pit, according to the coroner, was 48 feet long, 12 feet wide and 10 feet deep. Hatheway, it is said, failed to obtain a permit from the town of Greenwich for the construction of the pit, and the immediate cause of the cave-in was the thickness of the wall.

A child playing with toy blocks of proportionate size would not attempt to build a similar wall except with the idea of seeing it topple to pieces," said the coroner in part.

"This wall was so unsafe that it should have been obvious to the untrained eye. It appears that the earth beneath it was being excavated and the wall had to be pushed back a number of feet."

"The underground is of the opinion that the finding is not the responsibility for industrial accidents, but that the contractor or owner with knowledge of the condition of the soil could have avoided serious danger."

Senate Committee Proposes Taking Lower Age-Groups

The legislation of which the House is to vote tomorrow, for which two hours of debate were allotted, also provides for an amendment to prevent married men from being inducted ahead of single men.

Decision Left to Youth Representative Colmer (D-Mass.) included in the Rules committee meeting that the House will meet as to whether they would seek to amend the law to require that a man be married for another six or seven months until they complete this school year.

Representative Nichols (D-Ohio) brought up the issue of the 18 and 19-year olds, saying he understood that condition had been considered by the committee.

To Use "Infiltration" Plan Mr. Nichols said that it had been left out of the request of Army of Kiska, and that while the War department had a school for 12 months training, it planned to "infiltrate" some of the younger soldiers into other divisions.

Executive Mr. Resistance The American troops encountered no resistance and no difficulties in making a landing on the island.

Washington in Wartime

The clerical consisted of the Secretary Morgenthau's guests for a special dinner at the Washington Hotel. The dinner was held in the morning and set out for the installation of the new building.
